TORONTO, 14th September, 1909.

To the Honourable J. J. For, K.C., M.P.P., etc.,

Attorney-General.

Toronto.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the accompanying reports respecting the various organizations constituted to undertake contracts of insurance, indemnity or guarantee in the Province of Ontario. Of these insurers the Ontario Insurance Act (R.S.O. 1897, c. 203) distinguishes the following divisions:

- A. Registered Dominion Licensees: being Insurance Corporations, Companies or Underwriters operating under or by virtue of the Insurance Act of Canada and registered by the Province of Ontario, for the transaction of insurance in the Province.
- B Provincial Licensees: being Insurance Companies licensed, inspected and registered by the Province of Ontario, for the transaction of insurance therein.
- C. Registered Friendly Societies: being Societies registered by the Province of Ontario for the transaction of insurance therein.

Of these divisions, the Companies comprised in Division B (Provincial Licensees) are alone inspected by the Province, and are here reported on in the usual form and with the usual financial details pursuant to the provisions of the Ontario Insurance Atc.

All of the Companies in Division A, except Ocean Marine Companies, make financial statements annually to the Dominion of Canada; and those statements, as revised by the Dominion Superintendent, can be found in the Superintendent's detailed Annual Report. The balance sheets, therefore, printed here, under Division A, are limited to those of Ocean Marine Companies.

The report upon Division C. (Friendly Societies) made on the 26th of January, 1893, related to their mode and place of incorporation; the statutes and instruments under which the Societies were constituted, and those by which they are now governed; the kind of insurance or insurance benefits undertaken; that report also showed inter alia whether or not the certificate holders generally are secured by a surplus fund; and, if a surplus fund is maintained, whether any of this surplus is held in Ontario, if any how much, how invested, and by whom held and controlled.

The present report upon Division C contains in substance the Annual Statements for the year ending 31st December, 1908, made by the Friendly Societies to the Insurance Department of Ontario, under section 96 of the Ontario Insurance Act (R.S.O. 1897, c. 203).

In order to prevent unnecessary delay in publication, the three Divisions have been placed simultaneously in the printer's hands—the pages of the several Divisions being distinguished by the Division letter prefixed. Division indexes have been inserted at the end of the volume. These indexes show the Companies and Societies standing registered at the dates therein mentioned.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J. HOWARD HUNTER,

Inspector of Insurance and Registrar of Friendly Societies.

FREEMAN V. CANADIAN GUARDIAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

October 17. Company—Shares—Forfeiture for Non-payment of Call—Promissory Note —Non-presentment—Effect of—Bills of Exchange Act, sec. 183—Condition—Extension of time—Suspension of debt—Revival on non-payment of note—Covenant under seal to pay Call—Effect of Parol arrangement—Remedy for illegal forfeiture —Declaration—Damages.

The plaintiff, in subscribing for 10 shares of the capital stock of the defendants, an incorporated company, covenanted under seal to pay \$12.50 per share and "all other calls, if any, as the same may from time to time be made." He paid the \$12.50 and an additional call of  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent, and received a stock certificate. The defendants subsequently made a call of 5 per cent., and, in writing to the plaintiff requesting him to pay \$50 therefor, they offered to take a promissory note for that amount, and enclosed a blank note for the purpose, stating in the letter that the giving of a note simply meant an extension of time for payment, and that in the event of non-payment the shares would be liable to be forfeited. The plaintiff filled up and signed the note, but made some alterations therein—one being the addition of the words, "at the Molsons Bank, market branch." This was accepted by the defendants, but was not presented for payment at the branch indicated, where the plaintiff at all times had a sufficient balance to pay it, and it was not paid. The board of directors thereupon purported to forfeit the plaintiff's shares, and notified the plaintiff of the forfeiture:—

Held, that, giving effect to the notice in accordance with which the note was sent, and consequently to the terms of which the plaintiff must be considered to have agreed, the sole effect of the note was to give time to pay the debt; and, the debt admittedly not having been paid at the due date of the note, the defendants were within their legal rights in forfeiting the shares.

But, if there were no such condition, the most that could be said was that the note was given for and on account of the debt, and the only effect of non-presentment upon such a note is upon the question of costs (Bills of Exchange Act, sec. 183); the note is, quoad the debtor, a promise to pay generally; and the debt, as the note became overdue and was unpaid and unproducetive in the hands of the creditor, revived.

Dictum of Armour, C. J., in Merchants Bank of Canada v. Henderson (1897), 28 O.R. 360, followed.

Held, also, that, a call having been regularly made, an action could have been brought upon the plaintiff's covenant, and payment enforced notwithstanding the parol arrangement.

Held, also, that the plaintiff would not, in any view, be entitled to damages for the forfeiture of his stock, but at the most a declaration that the forfeiture was a nullity, which relief had been offered to him and refused.

An action for damages for the alleged wrongful and illegal forfeiting by the defendants of ten shares of their capital stock subscribed for by the plaintiff. The facts are stated in the judgment.

The action was tried before Riddell, J., without a jury, at Hamilton, on the 14th October, 1908.

H. H. Bicknell, for the plaintiff.

Eric N. Armour, for the defendants.

October 17. Riddell, J.:—On the 3rd April, 1901, the plaintiff signed an application under seal for ten shares of the capital stock of the defendant company, covenanting therein to pay $12.50 per share and "all other calls, if any, as the same may, from time to time he made." He paid $125 upon this day and $50 on the 15th March, 1905, (a call upon the stock). On the 16th March, 1905, he received a stock certificate for ten shares, "upon which has been paid up 15 per cent., amounting to the sum of $150," the extra $25 having, as per the terms of the application, been applied to the surplus of the company.

On the 30th October, 1907, another call was made at 5 per cent., i.e., $5 per share . . . . payable in 30 days to J. M. Spence, the president, at the head office of the company, corner Queen and Grant streets, in the City of Toronto," and proper notice given of the call to the plaintiff. No attention being paid to this notice, on the 14th January, 1908, another notice was sent requesting "payment to J. M. Spence, president, at the head office of the company, corner of Queen and Grant streets, in the city of Toronto . . . . within 30 days from this date." It was added: "2nd. In the event of you being unable to make payment in cash, the company will accept your note dated on the first day of February, 1908, and payable at such time as may snit your convenience, not being for a longer period than three months, with interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum. The giving of a note simply means an extension of time for payment, and allows the shareholder the right to vote on account of his or her stock at any meeting of the shareholders held previous to the date on which the note falls due. 3rd. You are respectfully requested to take notice that, in the event of non-payment on or before the time and at the place appointed (being the head office of the company in the city of Toronto), the shares in respect of which the above call was made (being on the 30th day of October, 1907, and payable in 30 days) will be liable to be forfeited. 4th. . . . In the event of it being necessary for you to give a note, you will find blank (company's form) enclosed, which we would respectfully ask you to complete and return same to us. . . ." The blank enclosed was as follows :-

"Interest at 5 per cent. until paid."

There is put as a foot-note to this circular: "The payment to be made by you on account of said calls amounts to $50."

The plaintiff, as I find upon the evidence, drew a pen through the word "Toronto" where it twice occurs in the blank note and interlined the word "Hamilton;" the amount on the top line he filled in "$50.00;" the head date "February 11, 1908," the date in the note for payment "eleventh day of May next," the amount in the body of the note "fifty," and added "at the Molsons Bank, market branch." The note so filled was signed by the plaintiff and by him sent to the company.

At all times the plaintiff had a sufficient balance at the market branch of the Molsons Bank at Hamilton to pay this note, but it was not at any time presented. The receipt by the company for the note reads: "February 13th, 1908, . . . . Your . . . note for $50.00 to cover the 5 per cent. call on the 10 shares of the capital stock that you hold in this company, duly received. When your note has been honoured, a new certificate will be issued to you."

The note not having been presented, and therefore not paid, the board of directors on the 26th of May, purported to forfeit these shares, amongst others; and notice of such forfeiture was given to the plaintiff. The plaintiff became angry, and, consulting a solicitor, the solicitor wrote the company claiming that the forfeit was altogether unjustifiable, and adding: "The company were not authorized in forfeiting the shares, but since they have chosen to do so, Mr. Freeman now asks that the value of those shares be paid to him in cash. We place their value at $350. You will be good enough to send up your cheque payable to Mr. Freeman for that sum by return mail, otherwise we are instructed to commence action against you." The president of the company and one of the agents at once waited upon the plaintiff and offered to reinstate him if he would pay up the note. He did not quite agree to this, but did not absolutely refuse. However, he did not sign the application for reinstatement, and did not pay the note. Again, after the issue of the writ, but before the defendants knew of it, the president made an effort to get the plaintiff to accept reinstatement, but in vain. Upon the 26th May, 1908, the note had been returned to the plaintiff; and an entry appears in the stock register of the company that the stock was cancelled on the 26th May, 1908.

The plaintiff said at the trial that he would not accept reinstatement, as he considered he had been used so badly.

The conduct of the plaintiff may seem unreasonable, but, as is said by Lord Halsbury, L.C., in Powell v. Kempton Park Racecourse Co., [1899] A.C. 143, at p. 157: "It is absolutely immaterial what motive has induced the plaintiff to bring this action. Once it is brought, the Court before whom it comes must decide according to law . . . . whatever may be the motives and wishes of the respective litigants."

The present action is for damages "for wrongfully and illegally forfeiting the stock of the plaintiff to the defendant company;" the defendants plead that the note was payable at the head office in Toronto and has not been paid, also that they had offered to reinstate, and that there is no damage.

By-law No. 59 authorizes the call; No. 60, that it shall be deemed to be made at the time the resolution was passed; No. 61 requires 30 days' notice specifying the time and place of payment and to whom the call should be paid; No. 62, that interest at 5 per cent. shall be paid on default of payment on or before the day appeinted for payment; No. 65, that if any shareholder fail to pay, the board may serve notice to pay, and "the notice shall also state that in the event of non-payment . . . . the shares will be liable to be forfeited;" and that if such notice "is not complied with, the shares . . . . . may . . . . at any time thereafter before payment . . . . be forfeited by a resolution of the board of directors to that effect . . . . ;" No. 66, "when any share shall have been so forfeited, notice of the resolution shall be given to the shareholder . . . . and an entry of the forfeiture with the date thereof shall forthwith be made in the record book of the company;" No. 67, "any share forfeited shall be deemed to be the property of the company. . . . . ;" No. 68, the board of directors may at any time, before any share so forfeited shall have been sold, re-allotted, or otherwise disposed of, annul the forfeiture thereof upon such conditions as they think fit;" No. 38, "the affairs of the company shall be managed by a board of directors. . . . . . "

The call regularly made required the payment by the plaintiff of $50 on the 29th November, i.e., 30 days after the 30th October. The plaintiff owed the company after that day $50 and interest at 5 per cent.—at the time of the circular of the 14th January, 1908, he owed $50.31. The Company offered, in that circular, to accept a note for $50 payable at such time, not longer than two months, as may suit the convenience of the plaintiff. No rights of creditor intervening, I think the company had the power to make a compromise by taking a note in full satisfaction and discharge of the debt, even though the debt was by specialty, and the note for a less amount. But was such the effect of the transaction? Not to press the circumstance that the agreement of the plaintiff to pay the calls was under seal, the letter to the plaintiff offering to accept a note specifically stated that the giving of a note simply meant an extension of time for payment, and allowed him to vote at meetings held before the due date of the note. Of course, the latter statement is in view of R.S.O. 1897, ch. 191, sec. 64 (continued by 7 Edw. VII. ch. 34, sec. 43): "No shareholder being in arrear in respect of any call shall be entitled to vote at any meeting of the company." The notification meant nothing more than a statement that so long as the note was current, the plaintiff would not be in arrear and would not be compelled to pay the debt. It could not be construed to mean that the debt was to be paid and discharged by the note.

The argument of the defendants is that the note was wholly ineffective, as it was not in the form required, and was not dated the 1st February; the contention is that the form sent should have been used as sent without change, except that the blanks should be properly filled. The notice, however, does not make that a condition. It may well be that upon the receipt of the note, the company then were within their legal rights to refuse to accept it as not complying with their requirements; but the company did not so refuse. On the contrary, they accepted it, as is shewn by the letter of the 13th Fehruary. Giving effect to the notice in accordance with which the note was sent, and consequently to the terms of which the plaintiff must be considered to have agreed, the sole effect of the note is to give time to pay the debt. It is admitted that the debt was not paid at the due date of the note—the company, then, were within their legal rights in forfeiting the shares.

Supposing, however, that there was no such condition, the most that could be said is that the note was given for and on account of the debt. And in that case has the fact that the note was not presented any effect whatever? The plaintiff argues that, the note not being presented, the debt did not revive—no authority has been cited, and apparently the matter must be examined de novo.

In Byles on Bills, 15th ed., p. 372, it is said: "The delivery of a valid bill or note suspends the creditor's remedy for the debt, and if he either receive the money on the instrument, or be guilty of laches, it operates as a complete satisfaction." An examination of the authorities shews that the expression "guilty of laches" refers to the case of a bill of a third person being so received, and the creditor negligently allowing it to become unproductive, to the detriment of his own debtor-no authority suggests any diligence to be used by the creditor in the case of a debtor's own note, or indicates that anything except loss of the hill would be considered laches in that instance. See Clay v. Crowe (1853), 8 Ex. 295; Crowe v. Clay (1854), 9 Ex. 604. The law is more clearly expressed pp. 372, 373: "The taking a bill or note from the original debtor . . . amounts to an agreement to give the debtor credit for the time it has to run; but when that time has expired, and the bill or note is in the hands of the creditor unpaid, the liability of the debtor on the original debt revives." The cases cited, Belshaw v. Bush (1851), 11 C. B. 131 (should be 191), and Bottomley v. Nuttall (1858), 5 C.B.N.S., 122, are not, however, cases of the debtor's own note being given, but that of others; so, too, the leading case of Kearslake v. Morgan (1794), 5 T.R. 513. In Currie v. Misa (1875), L. R. 10 Ex. 153, at p. 164, it is said that "until it has proved unproductive, the creditor ought not to be allowed to treat it as a nullity, and to sue the dehter as if he had given no security." But I can find no case holding that it is necessary, in order to revive the deht, for the creditor to present for payment a note made by the debtor, or do anything but hold it. Bullen & Leake, 3rd ed., p. 540, says, "In pleading this defence (i.e., that a note had been given on acount of a debt), when the defendant appears to be the person primarily liable on the bill or note, the plea must shew that it is not yet due, or that it has been indorsed away by the plaintiff, so that the defendant is liable on it to a third party."

And the Bills of Exchange Act does not, in my view, assist the plaintiff. Section 183 provides: "Where a promissory note is in the body of it made payable at a particular place, it must be presented for payment at that place. 2. In such case the maker is not discharged by the omission to present the note for payment on the day that it matures; but if any suit or action is instituted thereon against him before presentation, the costs thereof shall be in the discretion of the Court." This is the same as 53 Vict. ch. 33, sec. 86 (D.), which was under consideration in Merchants Bank of Canada v. Henderson (1897), 28 O.R. 360. It was held that presentation any time before action was sufficient in Canada since the Act of 7 Wm. IV. ch. 5. Armour, C. J., (valde deflendus), was of opinion (p. 365) that "it may be that the effect of this provision is that, as far as the maker of such a promissory note is concerned, the promissory note is to be deemed and taken to be a promise by him to pay generally;"

though, indeed, the learned Chief Justice did not think it necessary actually to decide the point in determining the case then before the Court. I agree with the semble, and hold that the only effect upon the note of a debtor of non-presentment is upon the question of costs, and that a note of this kind, quoad the debtor, is a promise to pay generally. The debt then, as the note became overdue and was unpaid and unproductive in the hands of the creditor, revived.

There is another consideration, which is also fatal to the plaintiff. We have been considering the case as though the indebtedness secured by the note was a simple contract debt. That is, however, not the case. There is an express covenant on the part of the plaintiff to pay "all other calls, if any, as the same may from time to time be made." A call having been regularly made, an action could have been brought upon the covenant, and it is well established that "the taking a bill or note from a party bound by a contract under seal does not extinguish or suspend the remedy on the specialty, unless the bill or note be actually paid:" Byles, p. 374, citing Drake v. Mitchell (1803), 3 East 251; Curtis v. Rush (1814), 2 Ves & B. 416. And the defence that a bill or note has been given on account of the debt "affords no answer to a bond or specialty:" Bullen & Leake, p. 540. In Worthington v. Wigley (1837) 3 Bing. N.C. 454, it was held that in an action upon a bond, a plea that, after the day of payment and before action, the obligee received certain bills not yet due on account of part of the sum and money in satisfaction of the residue, was untenable.

In Drake v. Mitchell, supra, one of three joint committees gave a bill of exchange for part of a debt secured by the covenant, on which judgment was recovered, but it was held that even such a judgment was no bar to an action upon the covenant, the bill, though stated to have been given for the payment and satisfaction of the debt, not being averred to have been accepted in satisfaction not to have produced it in full. So also in equity, Curtis v. Rush, supra. Here there was a sum of £300 due for interest upon two bonds; the testator paid £100, and gave his premissory note for the remaining £200. It was held that this was not an abandoning of the specialty security. This was in the Court of Sir William Grant, M.R., and I do not find that any appeal was taken.

Upon this principle the defendants might at any time enforce the specialty obligation, notwithstanding the parol arrangement. In either view the action of the defendants was justified.

Even if this should not be the correct conclusion, it seems to me that all that has been done is at worst a mere nullity; that all the plaintiff could claim would be a declaration to that effect—this relief has been offered him and he refuses. There has been no dealing with the stock; it still remains as it was at the time of the alleged cancellation, and he could have it if he would accept it. At all events, he is not entitled, as I view the case, to anything upon this record.

The action must be dismissed with costs. I award costs because, though the action of the defendant company was seemingly harsh, they did their utmost before action and since to put matters right.

[Fire Insurance.—Limitation in Policy as to fraction of value recoverable. 14 O.W.R. 18.]

[Britton, J.]

[May 13th, 1909.]

TRIAL.

FRITZLEY v. GERMANIA FARMERS' MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Fire Insurance—Action on Policy—Defences—Untrue Statements in Application—Warranty in Application not Made Part of Contract—Failure to Disclose Incumbrances—Chattel Mortgages—Materiality to Risk—Variation of Statutory Conditions—Not Just or Reasonable—''Ordinary Contents'' of Buildings—Proofs of Loss—Absence of Fraud—Validity of Policy—Authority of President and Manager—Two-thirds of Cash Value of Unmentioned Property—Validity of Limitation—Valuation of Property Destroyed.

The plaintiff effected with the defendants an insurance for $500 upon ordinary contents of dwelling-house while contained therein, and $1,000 upon ordinary contents of barn, stable, and attachments while contained in the same. These buildings were described in the policy as standing upon the west half of lot 53 in the 2nd concession of Normanby. The policy was dated 8th February, 1908.

On 17th October, 1908, the barn and its contents were destroyed by fire, and the plaintiff claimed and brought this action to recover $1,000, alleging his loss to be greater than that sum.

W. Kingston, K.C., for plaintiff.

A. G. Mackay, K.C., and A. Spotton, Harriston, for defendants.

Britton, J.:—The defendants specially rely upon the following as matters of defence:—

- I. That in plaintiff's application for insurance he agreed that the questions and answers should form the basis of the contract of insurance, and that, in answer to the question "Has any other person any legal or equitable claim to or in the personal property therein mentioned," the plaintiff said "no;" and it is alleged that this answer was then false, to the knowledge of the plaintiff. It is alleged that, at the time of the application, other persons had legal and equitable claim to his personal property.
- 2. That the misrepresentation and suppression of the facts as to these legal and equitable claims were material to the risk upon the negotiation for the contract of insurance, and so rendered the policy void:
- 3. Upon this defence of misrepresentation, the defendants plead the first one of many conditions indorsed upon the policy as "variations in conditions and additions."
- 4. The defendants contend that the plaintiff incumbered part of the property insured, by giving a chattel mortgage thereon, on 3rd July, 1908, and that this, without notice to the defendants, rendered the policy void, under the 1st and 3rd statutory conditions of the policy.
- 5. Further, the defendants say that the proofs of loss and a false and fraudulent statement by the plaintiff were such as to disentitle the plaintiff to recover, the proofs of loss being, as the defendants say, a false and fraudulent overvaluation of plaintiff's loss.
- 6. The defendants say that they did not issue the policy. If any such was issued, it was done by some officer of the defendant company, who had no authority, and without the knowledge or consent of defendants.
- 7. And lastly, the defendants say that, if the plaintiff is entitled to recover, he is entitled to recover only two-thirds of his interest in the value of the goods destroyed by fire.

As to the first defence, it is quite true that the plaintiff's application for insurance contains a warranty of the truth of all his answers to the questions asked, and it is expressly stated that any untrue answer shall void the policy. But the defendants have not made the warranty any part of the policy or the contract of insurance, except in the way I will mention. It is not mentioned at all in the body of the policy. It is not one of the statutory conditions that any untrue statement in the application shall make the policy void. It is not so made void by any of the varied conditions.

The first variation or added condition upon which the defendants rely alleges that any incumbrance by way of mortgage, life lease, execution or other lien, shall be deemed "material to be made known to the company," within the provisions of the first statutory condition. The first statutory condition is as follows: "If any person or persons insure his or their buildings or goods, and cause the same to be described otherwise than as they really are, to the prejudice of the company, or misrepresents or omits to communicate any circumstance which is material to be made known to the company, in order to enable it to judge of the risk it undertakes, such insurance shall be of no force in respect to the property in regard to which the misrepresentation or omission is made."

This condition does not deal at all with the warranty of the truth of any statement of the insurance in the application, by way of answer to the questions or otherwise.

If that added condition is intended to prevent any judge or jury, before whom an action on the policy is being tried, from determining the fact of the materiality of the answer or statement, then I hold that condition not to be reasonable or just.

Not embodying this condition as to untrue statements in the policy distinguishes this case from such cases as Thomson v. Weems, 9 App. Cas. 671; Venner v. Sun Life Assurance Co., 17 S.C.R. 394.

In Stott v. London and Lancashire Insurance Co., 21 O.R. 312 the action was brought upon the interim receipts, and there was the clear warranty in what was the contract sued upon. See Butler v. Standard Insurance Co., 4 A.R. 391; Ballagh v. Royal Insurance Co., 5 A.R. 87; Reddick v. Saugeen Mutual Insurance Co., 14 O.R. 506; McKay v. Norwich Union Insurance Co., 27 O.R. 251; Coulter v. Equity Fire Insurance Co., 9 O.L.R. 35, 4 O.W.R. 383; Davidson v. Waterloo Mutual Fire Insurance Co., 9 O.L.R. 394, 5 O.W.R. 264.

In this case, I am of opinion and so find that the mere fact that on some of the chattels there were so-called vendors' liens, was not material to the risk, under the circumstances of this case. What is material to the risk is a question of fact to be decided in each particular case. There is no general rule that can be applied in a case of this kind. There are things obviously material to the risk about which, whenever they obtain, there can be no doubt whatever.

The application for insurance was on ordinary contents of the barn and stable No. 1, and contents of the dwelling-house. The latter was insured but not destroyed. There is nothing in the application to define what "ordinary contents" of barn and stable were.

Looking at the policy in the variations in condition No. 6, the term "ordinary contents" is explained in the note, and, as applied to barn and stable, covers farm produce generally, live stock (excepting thoroughbred stock and stallions used for breeding purposes only, which must be specially insured), farm implements (threshing machines, grain crushers, and cream separators must also be especially insured).

In that definition the principal articles in the barn in question were the crops. Then, by the application, the loss, if any, was to be made payable to this plaintiff, as his interest might appear. The implements on which the lien attached were purchased by the plaintiff, and, upon their destruction by fire, the plaintiff remains liable to the manufacturers or vendors of these, just as before.

I have no difficulty in arriving at the conclusion that any alleged misrepresentation or erroneous answer was not material to the risk in this case. I further notice that in this application which was drawn up by the agent of the company, the plaintiff when asked the question, "Does the applicant hold the title to the real estate above mentioned in fee simple?" answered "yes." This is not true, and the agent knew it was not true, because he knew it was occupied by the applicant as tenant, at a rental of $125 per year. This was a mere slip, as also was a misdescription of the number of the lot. The defendants have not sought to take advantage of these mistakes.

The plaintiff did, on 3rd January, 1908, execute in favour of a so-called Wisconsin corporation, called the International Harvester Co. of America, having an office in Chicago, a chattel mortgage on a good part of the property covered by the policy in question, for the sum of $144. The plaintiff says he did not know that the paper he signed was a chattel mortgage, and there is a good deal about the way it was obtained and the contents of the instrument that gives probability to the plaintiff's statement.

The giving of this chattel mortgage is pleaded as rendering the policy void under the 2nd and 3rd statutory conditions. I do not so read these conditions. The first condition, if widened by the first condition of the variations, only applies to the extent of making such a mortgage material to the risk, and so notice of such must be given at the time of application for insurance. Here the mortgage was subsequent to the application.

The 3rd condition, which speaks of a change material to the risk, has no application, this not being a change material to the risk. And in so far as the first of the variations in conditions attempts to alter or widen the first or third statutory condition, I disallow it, holding said variation in condition not to be just or reasonable.

I find that the plaintiff was not guilty of fraud in his proof of loss. He did not, in my opinion, knowingly make any false or fraudulent declaration to prove or in support of his loss.

After the fire the plaintiff was called upon by Andrew Shenk, the president, and Henry Mayentz, a director, representing the defendants. The plaintiff then truthfully, so far as he remembered at the time, gave these men all the information necessary to put them on inquiry as to the extent of his loss. The plaintiff, on his then enumertion, estimated the loss at considerable less than he afterwards stated.

The defendants did not offer to settle, but treated plaintiff with suspicion. They put him to strict proof of his loss. The plaintiff then sought assistance and made up his loss at considerably more than the amount first claimed, and more than I find the actual money value of his loss to be, but that is far removed from fraud. In my opinion, no fraud has been shewn. It is not a case upon the evidence of even well-founded suspicion. The origin of the fire is unknown, but nothing implicating the plaintiff has been shewn. I think he intended to answer all questions truthfully.

I find that the policy issued under the corporate seal and signed by the president and manager of the defendant company is valid and binding.

The denial of the authority of the president and manager on 8th May, 1908, to sign, seal, and deliver the policy, is hardly worthy of the company. If not a dishonest defence, it borders closely upon it.

The policy issued in pursuance of the application made on 7th November, 1907. The premium note was given of that day. The persons who signed the policy could on that day or any day after, up to 7th February, 1908, properly do so, and were authorized so to do.

It is said that on 7th February last, at the annual meeting of the defendant company, the authority of the president and manager to issue policies was cancelled and vested in an executive committee. That, in my opinion, would apply only to policies to be issued on future application or then unaccepted applications. This contract was complete, and the defendants recognized it as such.

At the time of the fire the defendants not only held plaintiff's premium note, but the money the plaintiff paid on the 15th October, 1908, as the first payment on this note. This was accepted by defendants, and the receipt signed by the manager states this payment to be "first fixed payment on premium note or undertaking for insurance under policy No. 8456." This is the policy sued upon.

The defence that the plaintiff is entitled to recover only two-thirds of the actual value of the property destroyed by fire, and not to exceed $1,000 in all, as to the contents of the barn, stable, and attachments, must prevail. The application clearly states that it is for insurance against loss by fire not exceeding two-thirds of the actual cash value of the undermentioned property at the time of the fire.

Variations in conditions No. 6 provide for the limitation in the policy. Graham v. Ontario Mutual Insurance Co., 14 O.R. 358, holds such a condition just and reasonable. Also see McIntyre v. East Williams Mutual Fire Insurance Co., 18 O.R. 79; Wanless v. Lancashire Insurance Co., 23 A.R. 224; Eckhardt v. Lancashire Insurance Co., 29 O.R. 695, 27 A.R. 373.

As to the actual cash value of the property destroyed by fire, there is certainly a wide descrepancy in the evidence. The plaintiff gives as his first estimate $953.65. The plaintiff's proof of loss made the amount $1,332.05. There is an agreement as to certain items amounting to $140.80, but beyond this the parties are far apart. The defendants, however, concede that if the plaintiff is entitled to recover at all, he is entitled to recover on the basis of a valuation of the property destroyed at $661.49. In this latter amount the horse is put down at $15, while the plaintiff asserts a value of $135. Both, in my opinion, are quite wrong in their estimate.

Without imputing motives to those who deposed to the value of the horse, I think $15 an absurdly low estimate. Other things were valued by the defendants at so low a price as to warrant my belief that a larger sum could have been obtained at a forced auction sale. The actual cash value of these articles, within the meaning of the policy, is what would be paid for them, by a man wanting the articles and having the money to pay, but not compelled to buy, to a person having the articles for sale and willing but not compelled to sell.

Upon the evidence, I find the total value of all the articles destroyed by fire and covered by the policy at $1,100.85. Two-thirds of $1,100.85 = $733.90. Interest should be allowed at 5 per cent. per annum from date of delivery of proof of loss, say 43 months, from 24th December, 1908, amounting to $14.52, making in all $748.42, for which amount 1 direct judgment for the plaintiff against the defendants, with costs.

No difficulty need arise by reason of orders given by plaintiff upon defendants for any part of his money, as the defendants disputing the claim presumably did not accept the orders.

Very probably some arrangement will be arrived at so that defendants will be fully protected either by money being paid to plaintiff's solicitor, upon his undertaking to apply it properly, or by the amount or part of it, except costs, being paid into Court.

The matter may be spoken to on settling the accounts, if defendants so desire.

FRATERNAL SOCIETIES; QUESTIONS IN THE LEGISLATURE OF ONTARIO.

Journals of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, 25th March, 1909.

Mr. Proudfoot asked the following questions: -

- 1. What steps have the Insurance Department taken to place Fraternal Societies on a sound financial basis?
- 2. Has the Department considered the evidence taken by the Royal Commission on Insurance in 1906, at which they had Counsel representing the Government? If so, what course does the Government intend to take?

To which the Attorney-General replied as follows:-

1. No steps have been taken beyond those set out hereinafter. 2. The Department has considered the evidence referred to in question No. 1. No legislation is at present contemplated.

The Commission referred to was issued by, and made its Report to, the Dominion Government. The Ontario Government is not in any way committed to the findings or recommendations of that Commission. The Commission recommended that the premiumrates of the Table known in the United States as "The National Fraternal Congress Table" be, by Dominion legislation, made obligatory, as a minimum, upon Friendly Societies in Canada. The Dominion Government at first favoured the recommendation and placed the necessary provisions in their Insurance Bill of last Session. The whole Bill was ultimately withdrawn

The Government Insurance Bill now before the Dominion Parliament completely expunges all provisions relating to such Societies. In explanation, the Finance Minister said, in effect, that the Societies appeared to be doing their best towards the reform of their premium-rates, and that no legislation on Societies would be offered.

Then, as to the National Fraternal Congress Table which the Commission would make compulsory on Canadian Societies-that Table closely follows, and indeed,except in the higher ages (where it slightly exceeds),—is almost a transcript of the Premium Rate Table which now for twelve years has formed Schedule A to the Ontario Insurance Act. (R.S.O. 1897, c. 203, Schedule A—continuing the previous Act.) The Two Tables will be found printed side by side at page C 260 of the Detailed Report of the Inspector of Insurance, published in 1906.* It will be seen that in many cases the American Table is identical with ours, and where it varies, the variation is merely trivial. The Ontario Table was in 1896 calculated by Mr. Hunter from the Mortality of the Canada Life Assurance Company for forty-six years; and for the direction and assistance of Friendly Societies was published as a Bulletin of the Insurance Department. This Table proved the then rates of Friendly Societies to be totally insufficient. So much interest was aroused in Canada and the United States that the first edition of the Table was speedily exhausted, and a second large edition was distributed. The reform of premium-rates has ever since been constantly kept before the Societies, so that the majority of them have greatly increased their premium-rates without any compulsion of law. Some of the Societies have adopted the Ontario Table. Others are gradually approximating to it. All are now fully aware of their responsibilities.

The Ontario Legislature in 1890 stopped the further incorporation of such life insurance societies. (53 Vic. c. 39, s. 9.) As from the 10th March, 1890, any further admission of such societies from abroad was prohibited: 55 Vic. c. 39, s. 10 (1).

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CANADIAN FRATERNAL ASSOCIATION (22ND AND 23RD APRIL, 1909) IN RELATION TO REFORM OF PREMIUM RATES.

Association's Journal of Proceedings p. 40 et seq.

PRESIDENT ESSERY: We will now be favored with an address by Mr. Hunter.

Mr. J. Howard Hunter, Registrar of Friendly Societies, was applauded, and spoke as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen:

I am in Mr. Lee's position so far as my pipes are concerned to-day, and therefore I may not be able to make myself heard. The first thing I desire to know is, on what subject you wish me to speak? If there is any particular matter in which I can be of assistance to you in any way, I will be glad if the matter comes within my jurisdiction, to speak to that matter.

Is there any particular matter the Association wish me to speak to?

PRESIDENT ESSERY: You have a free hand, sir.

MR. HUNTER: That is very good of you, Mr. President.

I may say that in matters relating to fraternal societies I have attained my majority. It is something over twenty-one years ago since I framed the first Bill in this Province relating to fraternal societies. It was not very well received. The only societies that gave active encouragement were the Ancient Order of Foresters and the Manchester Unity. Some of the others gave very strenuous opposition-very, indeed,so much so that the Legislative Assembly received, not one, two, or three, but I suppose some dozens of petitions every day against the Bill; and the government of the day suggested that the most strenuous of the objectors should be exempted from the operations of the Bill. I said rather than do that, the Bill should be withdrawn altogether; and I said then that within five years the Government would ask me to draw a much stronger Bill. So the Bill was withdrawn, and in 1892 the Government said, "Well, Hunter, you will have to give us another Bill; things have got so had and public sentiment so strong that we will have to do something, and do something pretty strong." So the Act of I892 was drawn, a very much more stringent Act than that of 1888, and this time it received the almost unanimous support of the societies. The events that had occurred during the intervening years, I think, had persuaded everybody-if the credit of the societies was to be preserved at all,—that some societies which were manifestly swindles, must be wiped out, and the rest must be put on, at all events some intelligible footing. Then the present system came in. At first I did not receive much thanks for my pains. Of course, no one dealing with a nettlesome question, such as that of friendly societies, could very well expect to walk on velvet. But my principle always has been, and what I would impress upon you is, hecause a question is nettlesome do not play with it!

"Gently, gently stroke a nettle,
And it stings you for your pains;
Grasp the nettle like a man of mettle,
And it soft as silk remains."

There is too much of that playing, gentlemen, with the serious question you have in hand; too much playing with it; it has become an exceedingly serious question now, and you can see from this session and from other sessions both of the Ontario House and of the Dominion House, that public opinion is hecoming exceedingly impatient with those societies that are doing nothing in the way of reforming their finances. It is not a question alone for those societies. You know perfectly well in all these years that I have been most strongly opposed to anything like obligatory legislation. I have endeavored in every way to persuade the societies to reform their own rates; but you can depend upon it that public opinion on this question is steadily rising, and that you are not well advised in neglecting so serious a question or putting it off, under the idea that the net rate—the cost rate—of insurance has not been ascertained. It has been ascertained, and you are merely "sparring for wind" when you are talking that way. You ought to be at work reforming your rates, -you that have not done so already. There will be a fearful collapse if you do not, and I would not be your true friend if I did not tell you so. In those early years I earnestly advised the reform of rates,-and just reflect how easy it would have been for those rates to have been reformed twenty-one years ago-no one would have felt the pressure-it was the delay that created the difficulty. It is every year's delay that adds to the difficulty. I remember so well-Dr. Oronhyatekha, of course, was the principal opponent of the first bill. He was quite sincere; the doctor and I hardly agreed on any two points, but I always gave him the credit of being intensely sincere. You will remember when he brought out his celebrated letter to Andrew Semple, proving that the then rates of the Independent Foresters were sufficient for all purposes. The doctor was very proud of that letter; he brought up one of the earliest copies to me, and insisted on reading it over to me, so that all the strong points would be properly emphasized. I listened very attentively, and he said, "What do you think of it, Mr. Hunter?" I replied, "If you will allow me to say so, you have made a fearful dish of crow for yourself to eat." (Laughter.) "Why," I said, "the two ends of that document contradict each other." I pointed out, and the doctor almost fainted when he found some of the extraordinary contradictions in the letter; he hurried back, called his executive together, consulted them, and withdrew the letter as far as he could, but a number had then been circulated; and sure enough in a few years when he came to reform his rates, he was met with that letter. You will remember the first attempt at reform in his rates. The man was perfectly sincere and desirous of getting at the truth. His argument was (and no doubt the same argument is to-day prevailing with some of you), that in the English table of mortality,—the H. M. table—the rate of mortality was far in excess of the mortality in this country. That was one of his chief beliefs. I told him that I was at work collecting the mortality of the Canada Life Assurance Company and that we would very soon get at what the actual mortality in this country was; that he could not expect to have better rates than the actual death bill paid by that company, for it is extremely conservative in its choice of lives. He said, "Very good, if you find the net premiums deduced from that mortality are higher than our rates I will move to increase our rates." So in 1896 I printed the results of my calculations. In making those calculations you will observe that I left out the first five years of the policies, first of all to get rid of the question of lapses, which generally occur in the first five years; and secondly, to get rid of the effect of medical selection. As our friend Dr. Millman will tell you, it makes a very material difference in the rate of mortality where more than five years have elapsed since the medical selection.

After the publication of that table in 1896, Dr. Oronhyatekha at once got to work and increased his rates; he took steps at once, acting on the faith of what he had promised. You will remember he increased his rates by what was then considered an enormous amount, namely 33 1-3 per cent., or something very large. I asked him why he had not come up to the full figure; why his new figures did not come up to the table I had published. He spoke then of lapses chiefly, and when he became president of the Fraternal Congress he referred my table to an Actuarial Committee. He was most anxious to prove his own rate sufficient, and he got the Actuarial Committee to work, submitted my table to them, and incorporated a good deal of the United States fraternal orders' mortality. The effect on the lower age rates was nothing at all, but at the higher ages the effect was to increase the rates. That was the history of those two tables. Of course there was the difficult question of the old members, which the doctor had not settled at his death, but which has been a very thorny question for his successor. I was delighted to see the attitude which Mr. Stevenson, the present Supreme Chief Ranger, has taken; he has come out frankly-and that is what we want to do in questions of this kind,—he has come out frankly, and you will remember how plainly he speaks to his members, telling them the exact position of affairs, that the account must be balanced; that there is no escaping it; and he tells them in the frankest way that in the past they have been making very serious mistakes. It could not have been otherwise, because they acted without actuarial advice-no doubt with the vory best intentions,—but best intentions will not pay the bills. We have had the very same kind of experience in our municipalities, and it is very instructive. Just you follow the history of our municipalities in their financial transactions. Our Ontario municipalities, as you know, issue debentures for long terms of years. Theoretically they are supposed to provide a sinking fund to meet the principal of those debentures at the end of the term. Some of those municipalities, perhaps not having actuarial advice, or for some other reason, were slipping behind, and though they were meeting the interest coupons from year to year, yet as the time for payment of the principal approached they were constantly coming to the legislature for the postponement of the payment of their debts. When one spoke to the treasurers of some of the municipalities, their doctrine was the doctrine of "new blood"—new ratepayers, new industries, -that was the kind of argument with which those debentures at maturity would be met—by the progress of events,—whatever that meant. You saw what the effect was, the credit of our municipalities dropped, and a while ago in a few cases the debentures became almost unsaleable. This kind of trifling on the part of municipalities could no longer be endured; the credit of all was suffering. Some of these gentlemen had mathematics of their own; with some of them twice five made twelve. Now, as long as you and I have that idea and keep it to ourselves, no great damage may be done, but immediately we attempt to pay a debt of $12.00 wth two fives, then the trouble begins, and it is no longer a private question, but it becomes a serious public question whether a man who does that kind of thing should not be restrained. So the Legislature had to step in. The old theory was that municipalities were autonomous-had an absolute right of self-government—that doctrine was worked out to the full. It was found it would not do. The Legislature had to step in and create a Board, known as the Railway and Municipal Board, which now settles these questions of debentures, and you can see the immediate effect that has been produced by that legislation on the credit of municipalities in Ontario, and on the value of municipal debentures ahroad. In the same way exactly you, gentlemen, should have a sinking fund to meet your maturing liabilities. Some of you have a partial sinking fund, but by an extraordinary misuse of words you call it a "surplus." (Laughter.) You are making trouble for yourselves every time you use that word "surplus." No later than this very morning a letter of complaint came in to the Government from a member of one of these large societies complaining of the rates that they are taking, and that they had a surplus of so much. I am getting letters almost every week asking me this question, "If this society has a surplus what do they mean hy increasing the rates?" The question is simply unanswerable, if there is a surplus. As a matter of fact there is no surplus, but there is a large deficit. What you have is a partial sinking fund—only a partial one—instead of an adequate sinking fund. If you would once for all explain that to your people, you would remove half the difficulty you meet in increasing the rates, because it is nonsensical if there is in a proper sense a surplus, to be asking the members for more money. Do not use that word "surplus," whatever else you do.

A DELEGATE: What shall we call it?
MR. HUNTER: A partial sinking fund.

Mr. Inwood: A partial reserve?

MR. HUNTER: It is a sinking fund,—every person will understand what a sinking fund is—that there is a maturing debt for which you are simply providing a fund. Call things by their proper names and you would not have one-tenth of the trouble in dealing with your people. But this "surplus" language has got into your literature, and you are troubled the instant you begin to move in the way of reforming your finances.

It is very encouraging to me, looking back over all these years, to see how much has been done voluntarily by the societies in reforming their rates, but some of you are still very inert and have done absolutely nothing. As you can see from the newspapers there was an attempt to get a royal commission this session to go into the state of these secieties. I opposed that upon the ground that much more mischief would be done than goed. If a commission goes to work searching among the liabilities of a friendly society any mathematician employed must bring out the fact that there is an actuarial deficit. There is no question about that, and it requires no ghost from the grave, or a commission either, to disclose that fact. But I have always taken the ground that as long as societies show a disposition to reform their finances, and translate that disposition into action, we should leave them to work out their own case as far as possible. The question is constantly being pressed that those societies which are doing absolutely nothing are galloping to their own destruction, simply because their chief officers are either unwilling to deal with a nettlesome question, or for some personal reason are unwilling to do so. If they were making some strong effort to reform things, it would be a dfferent matter. The great majority of you, I am glad to say, have moved, some of you vigorously, in the right direction. It is a question in which you have to carry your membership with you no doubt, but unless you sincerely believe first of all yourselves in the necessity, and then frankly disclose to your members the actual state of things, you cannot expect to carry your members with you. I am confident that you may rely upon them in most cases. Of course, there are old men who are affected always by these changes, and they perhaps go on the principle that the society will out-last their time. That is a dangerous element on which to build. Such old men will think that they will be done with the society in five, ten or fifteen years, and that is all they care about. That is certainly a very dangerous element to found the future of a society upon. I think you will do me the credit of having from the beginning told you the plain truth as to what was coming and what has come. At first it was said that the agitation was in the interest of the life insurance companies. As a matter of fact what the life insurance companies wanted was that you should all be left severely alone so that you would be hopelessly bankrupt in a few years, as you undoubtedly would be if unreformed.

Now, as to the rates. Of course there is this enormously difficult question of dealing with the old members. Some years ago I threw out the suggestion in this association, in settling rates, that the difference between the rates in the table and the ordinary commercial rates is so very great that it afforded you the chance to make a graduated scale—to graduate your rates so as to charge the younger members more than the absolute net rates and still give them much cheaper insurance than they could get from a commercial company. By doing that you assist the other branch—the older members; you assist the fund in providing for the older members.

Mr. Montague: By "younger members" you mean those coming in recently?

MR. HUNTER: If you are reforming your rates to-day, instead of taking as the new rate for the young men of 45 and under, the absolute net table, they can well afford to pay considerably more than that and still be below the commercial rate of insurance.

Mr. Montague: What about the old members?

MR HUNTER: In taking from the young members you are assisting the fund to provide for the old members. You would give your people very cheap insurance, without burdening the young people, and very materially assist those older men on whom you cannot now expect to place the full tabular rate. The tabular rate would be prohibitive in the case of those very old members. I was hoping that something of that kind might be done; at all events it is very well worth thinking of, and I am sure everybedy will wish you well in finding an equitable solution.

If there are any questions you would like to ask me, I shall be happy to attempt to answer them. (Applause.)

DR. JOHN FERGUSON: I have pleasure in rising to move a vote of thanks to Dr. Hunter for his lucid exposition, but better than the lucidity, for the frankness and fearlessness with which he deals with this very important subject. I can look back to the time when the early Bills were introduced in this Province, and with what strenuous opposition they were met. I can recall the early sessions of this congress, when discussions pointing towards the necessity of higher rates and a more adequate accumulation of-sinking funds were looked upon with extreme disfavor. The leaders of fraternal societies must face the question of mortality on which the law of nature acts in the case of regular or commercial insurance companies. We know that as age advances the aggregate death rate increases, consequently the rate you charge a man of twenty will not do when he is a man of seventy, and therefore in the period of life from twenty on, for a considerable number of years, you must make a margin of profit, so to speak, upon his rating, that that may be laid away to supplement the deficiency from the rate he pays at seventy. That is a sinking fund, and by the time a certain group of applicants have passed off it will be seen that the sinking fund has been completely exhausted in supplementing their own payings or premiums to the association. But the result is one of solvency and stability, so that those that live long are just the same as those that die early in the history of the association.

Public opinion is growing upon the subject, and in all the associations to-day doing business in this country, there are many members who know full well that an inadequate income from assessments spells out disaster and ruin, as sure as it will to the commercial house that buys goods at 100 cents on the dollar and continues to sell them at 90 cents.

Coming to the question of rates, it was advanced, and strennously advanced, that the H. M. Table of Britain was too high for Canadian work. Many years ago when the Canadian Life Experience was obtained, and one sufficiently extensive to be accurate, it was hoped that that objection had been silenced, and that the societies would then be only too willing to accept the situation and say, "This will be a rate that will answer our purpose, on this rate we will admit all new comers, and as rapidly as possible under this rate re-adjust those we have admitted at a rate less in amount than this." But this was not the case. The Society leaders still closed their eyes and kept working on at a rate much below what Canadian Experience showed to be a necessary net mortality. When I speak of a net mortality rate, I wish to say a word; a net mortality rate will provide for the payment of the amount due under that rate, without any consideration of lapses. All who have been admitted may stay in the association to the date of death, and their heirs be paid their full benefit. But some do drop out, and do leave a partial accumulation in the funds of the association. That would cause the sinking fund to become larger than it need be, if you did not give surrender values to those who dropped out, extending insurance to those who wish it, and those privileges or options. But note this fact: at short intervals you can do, in what they call commercial life, a stock-taking, in insurance work a valuation, and if that valuation shows that, by lapsing, your reserve is a little larger than it need be, that valuation will enable the executive of the society to remit an assessment or two to the members.

I concur considerably with one of the last remarks of the speaker, that in adjusting the rates some leniency should be shown to the older members. It is quite true that they have had their protection all these years on an inadequate bargain, but that was not entirely their fault, they were misled in the transaction, and they believed they were paying for what they were getting, but now they are told that that was not the case, and they will say that you are breaking faith with them and freezing them out when they are advanced in years. To meet that difficulty the societies I think could well afford to create a somewhat special sinking fund to meet their cases, and to assist in supplementing the society's assessments that may be necessary to levy upon them, and that special sinking fund might in some way be derived by a slight extra amount during the 'younger years, when life is vigorous, the earning capacity good, and where the insured would still be getting his insurance at a lower rate than he could get in a commercial company, with the H. M. table and working expenses, and that extra might safely and properly be set aside to assist in the working out of the relief of these older members.

Before I take my seat I wish to say a word,—I have said it many a time, but I think it well to emphasize it, and that is the difference between an adequate rate and an adequate sinking fund. You might have an adequate rate, and not have an adequate sinking fund, because you might not be securing the average interest that that rate was based on, and might be making losses on investments. The adequate sinking fund can always be determined, and that is an absolute test. The consequence is this: every society that pretends to protect the interests of the families of those it admits as members must carry an adequate sinking fund or an adequate reserve, and that adequate reserve can always be determined by one who knows the principle of actuarial calculations, and at intervals of five years every society should be put through a test valuation, and if the sinking fund is shown to be sufficient, things are in clear water, if the sinking fund is larger than it need be, an assessment or two can be remitted, but if it is under water level it is absolutely necessary to call in a special assessment or two to assist it, or to make an addition to the rates you are charging. Unless the societies will come out and say that these well known rules should be followed, they are in the situation of the unfortunate ostrich, who thinks it is safe when its eyes are under the sand.

Bro. J. A. Paterson, K.C.: I desire earnestly to second the motion Bro. Dr. Fergusen has made to thank Dr. Hunter for his kindness in coming to us and explaining ever and ever again the old principles laid down so distinctly and with that clearness and grasp which Dr. Hunter so splendidly possesses. It is a noble thing that a government officer should be able to see so clearly what is in front of the Friendly Societies, and that he should stand, like a bold captain of a vessel, on the bridge and warn the steersman against what might happen, unless he steers wisely and truly according to the compass. And so we are indebted to Mr. Hunter again to-day for explaining to us these principles upon which Friendly Societies indubitably stand. He has invited us to ask him some questions, and I would like to ask twe:—

- 1. Does he consider that we in Ontario, or in Canada, are in a position that we can go and ask for such legislation as will compel Friendly Societies—not immediately, but in the near future, say in 1911, 1912, or 1913, to come up to certain adequate rates?
- 2. In his opinion and from his past experience, does he think a Government Bill might be introduced, if we could get it, would it be advisable to ask it in all the previnces of Canada, so that there would be one law governing the great subject of insurance?

I would like, with the permission of the Association and of Mr. Hunter, to ask those two questions.

PRESIDENT ESSERY: You have heard the motion made by Dr. Fergusen and seconded by Mr. Paterson; what is your pleasure?

Metion carried unanimously.

PRESIDENT ESSERY: Mr. Hunter, I desire on behalf of the Canadian Fraternal Association, to tender you the vete of thanks you have heard so ably moved and seconded. We are delighted to have you with us, not only personally but as an officer of the Ontario Government, and we are more than delighted that when you come to visit us you are not afraid to tell the members of this Association what you think. We would not be half so delighted with your presence, or with your company, if you did not do just what you have done to-day and what you have done in the past. We hope that on many future occasions it will be our privilege to have you with us. (Applause.)

MR. HUNTER: Mr. President and gentlemen; I thank you very sincerely indeed, and when I say I thank you, you know I always say what I mean. I thank you most sincerely for your kind and encouraging words. As you can imagine, I have a greath many unpleasant duties to perform. I may say that a majority of my duties are unpleasant, but I suppose I must take that as part of the office. I am the whipping boy of the school. (Laughter.) You will remember in the old English schools the nobility used to send their boys, and when one of them got into any trouble he was not flogged, but a poor boy for a consideration took the whipping which properly enured to the son of one of the rich men, and he was known as the whipping boy. (Laughter.) In my case, as you have remarked, from the newspapers, I got a good many drubbings, and sometimes from both sides, which I took to be compliment. Whenever I find that to be the case, I think I must be walking about straight. (Applause.)

In answer to the questions that have been asked by Mr. Paterson, I think the first is a very serious one indeed; that is, fixing an absolute minimum standard for all societies, to take effect say at some future day. Of course, if I saw there was a general movement all along the line in favor of reform, I would be disposed to say no, but it is perfectly clear to my mind that things are approaching such a crisis that unless societies move voluntarily, one of two things will have to be done, either the society will have to stop or it will have to reform. It will have to either end or mend. You cannot expect the public, with the fast growing intelligence on these subjects, to stand by and wait until an absolute disaster occurs. And see how unfair that is to the other societies doing their best to repair the past. It is extremely unfair. Any view I may express is purely personal, because I have not conferred on the subjects, and the Government determine this question. As to the Government's policy on the matter, no policy of that kind has has yet been adopted, though the Government and myself have been constantly pressed of late on this question of obligatory rates and obligatory reform, and that is why I urge upon you to do it yourselves; surely it is much more graceful, and has a better effect upon the public, and a better effect upon the societies; it is better that it should come from yourselves than from any outside pressure. I have been always consistently opposed to government pressure on societies in this matter. I have endeavored to persuade you, but I have never put, or attempted to put, any actual compulsion of law upon you in the matter of rates, but have always been opposed to it. Like any other observant man in the community I cannot blind my eyes to the fact that the state of things now is such that you cannot, nor can any government long resist the pressure of the public opinion that is growing up on the subject.

As to the second question, namely, one law for all the provinces of Canada on the subject of insurance, of course that would be extremely desirable. I have done a great deal in my time towards making what I am vain enough to think has been workable legislation, and of course from my long tenure in office I have had considerable to say in legislation outside of Ontario. The Province of Quebec, I am sorry to say, has not adopted our Act in its entirety; they have gone a little wide in some of their legislation, as Mr. Lee pointed out. However, I think there was every desire on the part of that province to do what was right. I am very much with you in the idea of a uniform law. I have had a great deal to do with the uniformity of the law in the matter of fire insurance. Some six different provinces now have, I believe, practically the same law governing the fire insurance contract. The spirit is good, and with a shove astern such as friend Lee gives them occasionally, they will reach the right point in the end, but I quite agree with Mr. Paterson, and probably with all of you, in thinking that we should have a uniform law, so that when you go from one province to another you will not find a different set of principles of law, a different set of cases to consult, in order to ascertain the rights and wrongs. For instance, payment into Court is a very important matter, and there are other matters of that kind. I hope sincerely that your efforts will be successful in assimilating the law, and you can depend upon it, that anything I can do to help you in that direction will always be cheerfully done. (Applause.)

PRESIDENT ESSERY: The next item is No. 7 on the programme, Reception and Address of the Hon. Chas. E. Piper, President of the Fraternal Congress of the United States. The President is here with us to-day, to return a visit paid last year. I have simply this to say to him—that he will see a difference between this Association and his own, that where his association has hundreds of delegates, both men and women, ours is comparatively a small number, but he will find the same spirit in the Canadian Fraternal Association he will find in those over whom he is called to preside.

I am going to tell you something more than that—the President of the National Fraternal Congress of the United States is the ablest fraternalist they have upon their membership roll; (Applause), that he is not there by a matter of favor simply, but he is there because he was the best man or woman among them all, and they had some very fine ladies, and I never heard more able debaters or a more intelligent set of women, who understood what they were talking about, than I found upon the floor of the Congress over which Bro. Piper presides.

Without any further introduction, I shall introduce him to you, and I trust that while he is among us we will show him every courtesy, and I am sure you will deem it an honor to have him with us. (Applause.)

HON. CHAS. E. PIPER, upon rising to speak, was received with very hearty applause, and spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Canadian Fraternal Congress:

I am sure your chairman is more than kind in his introduction, and it almost embarasses me to be set adrift with so strong a recommendation as he has given to me.

There is a difference between this Congress and our Congress, and it is not confined to numbers. When we consider the rate question in the States you can see about the room those who are ready to rise to their feet at the earliest opportunity, and sometimes unwilling to wait until the opportunity comes, that they may continue to tell us that it is young blood that counts, and enthusiasm and love for the order, and all those things, that make up a pretty good society, but do not pay death bills. (Laughter.)

I am glad to be here in Torento; it is not my first visit, fer I got my early start in life here in Canada; went to school in boyhood days, and found my mother here—or possibly I might say that she found me here. (Laughter.)

I remember some years ago coming to Toronto under peculiar circumstances; you will remember the great Epworth League convention held here a few years ago; I happened to be the national treasurer at that time and came from a little village outside of Chicago, and your paper announced me as Hen. Mr. Piper, and I was waited upon by a delegation of distinguished citizens and given the right of freedom to your city.

I have two or three things on my mind which I desire to present in an informal way. I do not want to discuss the question which seems uppermost in your minds. To me, the Fraternal System is passing through the third stage of its existence—possibly not squarely into that stage as yet.

I look upon the fraternal system in its first experience when we were all shouting for the "pocket reserve" (Laughter) and building on the hope that we could raise children enough to pay our debts at least, and perfectly willing that they should have the opportunity to hump for somebody to pay theirs when they wanted to call for the money.

And I look upon the second stage as the one you are talking about—adequated rates and adequate reserves, for I think we are pretty near through that question. I think the time has come when not a single executive in the business can with honor stand before his membership and withstand the movement for adequate rates. The time has passed, and those societies that are not planning to get upon adequate rates and to have adequate reserves now, are putting themselves in a position where they never will have adequate rates, nor will they ever have adequate reserves. The society that has not taken warning, in my judgment is travelling in the other direction at the present moment, and whether we reach adequate rates through the pressure of the law, or through our own plans and our own efforts makes little difference; the call has been issued, and the society that does not respond at ence will begin to journey in the other direction.

I had the pleasure of addressing the Jeint Committee on Legislation in Detroit last evening, and I heard the leader in a society that boasts continually of being the largest fraternal organization in the world, say to the committee, "You must not pass any laws, we won't let you, we are big enough to manage our own affairs; we know that we ought to have adequate rates, but we are not quite ready to take up the question; we propose that you will let us alone until we get ready, and we will take care of our own organization,"—utterly oblivious to the fact that in demanding such delays and such special consideration for themselves that they were thoroughly blocking the way for many other organizations, and enabling the management of societies that are unwilling to do the honest thing, under their cover to continue the mismanagement for their own personal gain and their own personal profit. Adequate rates will be here, I think, sooner than some of us expect, and perhaps sooner than some of us are able to meet them.

I think we are entering upon the third stage, getting back to those things that stirred us in the earlier days, for when everything else is done in the line of having adequate rates and adequate reserves, you still would have no reason for existence if that was your only claim for patronage or membership from the public. I find that as societies approach adequate rates, they lose largely the old-time enthusiasm of the membership; members are so prone to say, "We are paying for what we get, our full duty is met when we pay our monthly contributions, let the management go and run the business," and they lose interest, and the society loses strength, and the expense of management increases so rapidly that it becomes a serious question whether a man ought not to take his protection in a commercial company and let the society take care of itself. That would be true with reference to an organization which confines itself purely to the problem of furnishing protection. And I think we are not only entering upon the third stage, but that at the very time we are attempting to settle the question of rates, every management ought to be able to work along fraternal and helpful lines in every direction—the social life in the organization—moving along all lines that draw upon men's hearts and men's minds, that they may be bound closely to the organization and holding for the management of the societies a support that cannot be based simply upon financial strength and financial integrity. To my mind we meet at this time a peculiar condition on the part of the membership, and in my own society I am pleading for it all the time. I want a membership which is not in the society simply for the pretection it gives, possibly I had better charcterize the membership in two or three different ways, so that you may get the thought that is in my mind. Of course I want an intelligent membership, a membership that studies the principles of insurance, studies the statements of the organization, that waits patiently for the valuation time, and then it takes up the valuation and analyses it, and sees to it that his or their particular society is moving along safe lines. You cannot have a successful organization unless you have a wide awake intelligent membership.

But I would have something more than that in my membership. I would have a loyal membership. I have little use for a man in party politics (and if I remember rightly you had party politics in Canada in the early days, and every once in a while you grow as enthusiastic as we do in the United States in determining political questions) and I say I have little use for the man to whom it makes little difference who wins in the conflict. I would rather be with the man who is whipped than with the man in the middle of the road, who is ready to cross over on the winning side; I like a man with a reason for the faith that is within him, and who will stand for his own when it is right, and to have a little predilection for his own, even when he thinks there is a little wrong in it. In fact, be as we are in some family matters. A man and his wife may have a discussion between themselves, but when an outsider interferes with the row it usually results in the family uniting and in the discomfiture of the peacemaker; and I feel that we should have a membership that has some of the traits of that particular cast of families I have in mind; a membership that is willing to sacrifice, if necessary, for the old man, willing to give up some of its substance, if necessary, so that in re-adjusting the old man need not be deprived of his protection.

And I like an enthusiastic membership. There is no use in loving a girl unless you are willing to tell her so, and telling her in such a way that not only will she know it, hut her friends will know it, too. I never knew a girl who was satisfied with the love of a man unless she could point to the fact that he was hers, and that they would not have the privilege of taking him. I remember once we were trying to build a church in our community, and you know there are times when the money runs low, and you have to devise way and means of getting more people to contribute. We were low in pocket and our building was not complete. I met a little girl, not over five years of age, on the street one day, and she straightened up when she saw me, and said, "Brother Piper, sit down," and I sat down on the grass with her and a bevy of little children, and Mabel said to me, "We are having a hard time building our church, aren't we?" and I said, "Yes, we are, but we are going to build it," and she doubled up her little fists and said, "You're just right we're going to build it." She was willing to give her last penny; and she had but three with her at the time, but she was making sure that that church would be built.

We need an enthusiastic membership in times like these, when we are trying to square ourselves with distinguished government officials, who know what we ought to do and who are really reluctant to tell us that we must do it, or to put on the brakes.

I think it is possible to have a membership that really love the organization to which they belong, and that is the capstone of it all; a membership can become accustomed to liking their society, and helping those in the society that need help, that they will find growing up in their hearts a genuine love for the institution to which they belong.

I will not detain you longer. I would like to have you work out the subject along these points, using them for text posts, and if you work them out in the societies, all difficulties about getting upon an adequate reserve basis will disappear, for a membership possessed of those qualifications will do and dare whenever it is necessary.

I thank you for the privilege of being here to-day, and particularly for the privilege of hearing Mr. Hunter. Gentlemen, I thank you for your hearing. (Applause.)

Bro. J. A. PATERSON, K.C.: We cannot let an address of this kind pass without recognition. It is not possible for this association to receive the largest, the biggest man of that great National Fraternal Congress, which comprehends such strength, wisdom and enthusiasm that it almost takes off his feet any visitor who is honored by being permitted to attend its sessions. Bro. Piper is, as you know, the president of that great Congress, that great and magnificent combination, that aggregation of wealth and wisdom-wealth in the highest sense of the word,-wealth of citizenship, wealth of love, wealth of brotherhood, which distinguishes those great Americans. You, Mr. Chairman, and myself, were visitors to their convention last year; we enjoyed our relaxation at Put-in-Bay; we were treated with great generosity; we were noted as two Canadian representatives-you, yourself, as the one officially appointed, while I simply followed. I was asked to say or read something on Canadian Fraternal Law, and of course I did the best I could. You will remember that we held up our own national ideal. We told our brothers there that we came from a great country, just as we came to a great country; we had some jocularities by the way; we were in the presence of a great national convention; we were not far from the spot visited by a Commodore Perry in 1811 or thereabout, and our American cousins did not let us forget that; we saw their monuments fitly and beautifully made.

We did what we could to show that Canada was just as great in enthusiasm. had just as great a spirit of nationality, just as great a spirit of brotherhood and kindliness as our American brothers. I remember, Mr. Piper, noting (and I did not like to state this on any public platform in your country, but I did state it privately) that you represented there the figure of Victory, and that figure had wings on it, in the hotel gardens. It recalled to my memory that in the days of Ancient Greece, when the Greeks, wearied with victory and sated with conquest, when they had beaten the Spartans and had driven the Persians into the sea, and the memories of Thermopylæ and Marathon were still theirs, they determined to erect a statue to Victory, and Phidias, the great sculptor, erected a beautiful female figure, without wings, and the sculptor was asked why so? and he said that the Athenians had achieved the climax of victory —Victory without wings—and that Victory would never fly from them, but that it would remain with them forever. And we delight in the thought that we can erect temples and shrines and statues on both sides of the international boundary, to wingless Victory—victories in commerce, victories in science, victories in statesmanship, victories in love, in religion, and all the great and good things that make a nation great and true. And thus we long ago abandoned the mere physical struggles, just as King Arthur drew his sword Excalibur, and flung it away into the deep sea, never to be unsheathed or worn or used again.

Our distinguished guest has certainly shown by his address that he is not only a man of head, but a man of heart; I think that is a combination not very often noticed; we have men of great intellect but they are cold and even dismal; we know of such men in our own country—men of great intellect, but not much heart; but the felicitous speech of our friend indicated that he was a man of heart when he showed the principles under which we should work, and which I feel sure are exemplified in himself, and when he stated so clearly the principles on which the most successful membership of our orders ought to be built.

Mr. Chairman, I now, without saying anything further, move a very hearty vote of thanks to him who has come so far to speak to ns, and who bears to us the brotherly greetings of that great national Fraternal Congress, and I am sure he will take back from us a message of that strong and enduring brotherly feeling both in head and heart that distinguishes this Canadian Fraternal Association.

Dr. Emory: (after a pause) Mr. Chairman, our brethren hesitate, but it is due to the magnitude of the task placed upon the individual who seconds it. As a very humble member of the Association, without any attempt to add to what has been so beautifully said by Bro. Paterson, I desire to express my own personal feelings in regard to the address we have listened to, and which we have all appreciated; and I have great pleasure in seconding the motion that has been made by Bro. Paterson.

PRESIDENT E. T. ESSERY, K.C.: Brethren, are you ready for the motion? If so, signify it by a standing vote.

The members of the Association, without exception rose to their feet, and signified their approval by vigorous applause.

President Essery: Bro. Piper, on behalf of the Canadian Fraternal Association, I desire to extend to you the vote of thanks you have heard so ably moved and seconded. Our Association is delighted to have you present to-day, and we trust it will not be the last time you will do us the honor of visiting us. On an occasion of this kind, when we are gathered together, the voice of a brother from a distance, who is able to convey to those present his ideas in the manner you have conveyed them, is very much better than could possibly be done by any of the members upon the floor. Hereafter we shall always look for a visit from the chief executive officer of your Congress, and, whether you are in office or not, you will always find a hearty welcome on the floor of this Association, and every member will be delighted to shake hands with you and say they were glad to meet a man who has done so much for fraternalism in the United States, as you have done. (Applause.)

MR. PIPER: Mr. President, I thank you of course, for your kind words and your expression of them. I ought not to take any more of your time, for I do not usually attend meetings of this character for the purpose of taking up time. They say sometimes that I am a "big" man. (Laughter.) They tell a story of a man of large parts who was at a way station and very anxious to reach a destination; as the train next in order was not scheduled to stop at that station, he telegraphed to that station at which the train was to stop last, to have the train stop at his station for a large party, and the train stopped and the large man got on. The conductor looked anxiously about and said, "I expected to see a large party here," and the man responded, "Well, here I am." (Laughter.)

Before Bro. Piper resumed his seat, five minutes intermission was declared for the purpose of shaking hands with the visitor.

AFTERNOON SESSION-SECOND DAY (23RD APRIL, 1909).

The Association assembled at 2 o'clock, the President in the Chair.

Moved by Bro. Alex. Fraser, seconded by Dr. Ferguson, in view of the repeated appeals made at this Association by Mr. Howard Hunter, K.C., Superintendent of Insurance for Ontario, urging that fraternal societies of Canada should not delay taking whatever steps may be found necessary in order to improve their condition;

Therefore, he it resolved that this Association instructs its secretary to bring to the notice of the affiliated societies the importance of their taking, without delay, such steps as may place them on a financial basis which will challenge and command the confidence of the public, especially with regard to the adequacy of their sinking funds. Carried.

RE-ADJUSTMENT OF RATES (1908) IN THE INDEPENDENT ORDER OF FORESTERS.

HUMPHREY ET AL V. I.O.F.

Judgment in Supreme Court of the State of New York.

Mr. Justice Edward K. Emery.]

[13th January, 1909.

IT IS ADJUDGED:

First.—That the Plaintiffs were not entitled to the injunction granted herein on the 28th day of September, 1908, by Mr. Justice Charles H. Brown.

Second.—That under the charter of the defendant Corporation, the contract entered into between the parties, which includes the complainant's application for membership and the Constitution and Laws of the Society, the defendant Society had the power to readjust the rates of assessments of members of the said Society, and to increase such rates where necessary to enable the Society to meet its obligations to them and other members of the Society.

- (a) That it was necessary that the defendant Society should readjust the rates of its members who joined such Society before 1899 by increasing the same, to enable it to meet its obligations to such members and other members of the Society.
- (b) That the action of the Supreme Court, the legislative body of the defendant Society, at its session held in June last, in readjusting by increasing the rates of assessment payable after October 1st, 1908, of all members who joined said Society before 1899, was reasonable and within the legislative powers of said Supreme Court.
- (c) That the proceedings of the said Supreme Court, at its session held in June last, in enacting the amendments complained of the then existing laws of the said Society increasing the rates of all members of such Society who joined the same before 1899, were regular and became legally binding upon the Plaintiffs and upon all other members of said Society joining before 1899.

THIRD.—That the Plaintiffs and each and every member similarly situated shall, upon application to his proper Court be granted either the right:

- (d) To reduce his Benefit Certificate to the amount which his old rate of assessment would have paid for under the Constitution as amended, providing the member sends through his Court before the 27th day of February, 1909, his application to reduce according to the defendant's present adopted Form No. 250, together with his Benefit Certificate to be endorsed with the reduction, and thereupon Defendant shall so endorse and return to the Recording Secretary, and the member will be deemed to have been continuously in good standing for the reduced amount of Mortuary Benefit from the first day of October, 1908, so long as the old rate of assessment is paid; or
- (e) The full amount of each Benefit Certificate may be continued by each member furnishing a Health Certificate on Defendant's present adopted Form No. 4, to the satisfaction of the Medical Board, upon payment of all arrears of assessments on or before the 27th day of February, 1909, and if any such member desires to avail himself of a borrowing privilege similar to the former option, he may do so by dating the application for the loan as of the 1st Day of October, 1908, and forwarding the application together with the Health Certificate and Benefit Certificate to be endorsed within the said time.
- (f) In the event that either the relief provided for in "d" or "e" is not accepted by the members, the Financial Secretary is prehibited from receiving any other dues and assessments, and such dues or assessments credited to any member in the Suspense Account at the Home Office shall be returned to such member, and all rights or privileges of such member in said Order shall cease and determine.

FOURTH.—That the Plaintiff's complaint be dismissed upon its merits without costs.

*The C. L. (5) Table is deduced from the Mortality experienced by the Canada Life Assurance Company during the forty-six years, 1847-1893.

The OM (5) Table,—one of the British Offices Life Tables, 1893, was published in 1902 by a joint committee of the Institute of Actuaries, England, and the Faculty of Actuaries, Scotland, and was deduced from the mortality among the male policyholders of sixty British Companies ("Offices") for the period 1863-1893 (including lives on the books in 1863, and new entrants since that date). In the case of each of the two Tables here compared, the first five years' experience of policies is excluded, so as to eliminate the disturbing effects of recent medical selection and of early lapses. The limit of life in each of the two Mortality Tables is 102 years.

Note 1.—Ninety-eight years is the limit of life in the Mortality Table of the National Fraternal Congress.

Note 2.—In Friendly Societies the premium is not paid yearly in advance, but is usually paid in 12 equal monthly instalments, with 30 days' grace for the payment of each instalment. The sum, therefore  $(1,000\ qx)$  shown in the third column ("Yearly Insurance Cost") may be taken as the Natural Premium or Single-year Step Rate Premium.

If the premium were all payable in advance, then for the Natural Premium the sum shown in the third column against any age would be discounted for one year at 4%; i.e. would be multiplied by .961,538, the present value of 1 payable 1 year hence. For example, at age 30 the Natural Premium would, instead of 5.552, be 5.552 x .961,538, or 5.338.

Table D (1) brings together the Net Single Premium  $(A_x)$  the Net Annual Premium  $(P_x)$  and the Annuity  $(a_x)$ , the relation between these three functions being expressed by equation:

$$A_x - P_x \left(1 + a_x\right)$$ or  $P_x = \frac{A_x}{1 + a_x}$ whence  $P_x = \frac{1}{1 + a_x} - d$ ;

the value of d at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. being .0338164.

Table D (3) brings together the net Single Premium  $(A_x)$ , the Net Annual Premium  $(P_x)$ , and the Annuity  $(a_x)$ , the relation between these three functions being expressed by the equation:

$$A_x = P_x(1+a_x)$$ or  $P_x = \frac{A_x}{1+a_x}$  whence  $P_x = \frac{1}{1+a_x} - d$ ;

the value of d at  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. being .0430622.
