SPONSOR: GLAM PROFESSIONAL

The sponsor supervises the Wikipedian-in-residence (WIR). They typically hold a managerial position in the GLAM and they have the responsibility of pushing the WIR’s projects forward. They assist with getting buy-in from other staff and advocating for GLAM-WIKI in their institution and sometimes beyond. They receive a project plan and updates from the WIR.

GLAM STAFF

Staff at the GLAM include curators, librarians, archivists, educators, scientists, and tech and web experts. They provide their expertise, images, and content to the WIR to organize. They receive increased visibility and access to their collections, as well as a new understanding of Wikipedia through brown bag and other events led by the WIR.

WIKIMEDIA VOLUNTEERS

Wikimedians include any volunteers on the projects who provide time for content creation and other on-wiki work. They receive the organized GLAM resources and distribute them throughout the projects. They also receive perks through GLAM events like Backstage Passes at media events.

GLAM-WIKI COMMUNITY

The GLAM-WIKI community receives new documentation from the WIR, as well as outreach and advocacy for the movement. They provide outreach resources for the WIR to use at events. They also distribute information and promote the WIR’s work through a newsletter, lists, and social media.

WIKIPEDIANS IN RESIDENCE serve as liaisons between a GLAM and the WIKIPEDIA community in order to promote understanding and share valuable resources.
