RIGHT WING OF GERMAN ARMY CRUMPLES

Allied Forces Are About to Cross the Vesle as Germans Continue to Retreat

NEW ALLIED VICTORY HAILED IN FRANCE AS EQUAL TO THE GREAT VICTORY OF THE MARNE IN 1914

ENEMY'S LOSSES IN RETREAT IN FRANCE HEAVY, IT IS STATED

Paris, Aug. 3.—The French troops who are pursuing the Germans between Rheims and Soissons have lost touch at no point with the rear guards of the enemy.
The losses of the enemy are declared to be heavy, according to The Petit Journal.

ENTENTE TROOPS SWEEP FORWARD ON SOISSONS-RHEIMS LINE AFTER TAKING SOISSONS FROM GERMANS

Far-Reaching Results Are Anticipated, Among Them Recrossing of Aisne River by Defeated German Forces; Paris Papers Say Highest Hopes Surpassed

Paris, Aug. 3.—The Allied victory is hailed here generally as being equal to the first victory of the Marne as a strategic masterpiece. What the consequence of yesterday's victory will be can not yet be gauged, but that it will be far reaching already appears certain to the commentators here. The enemy can not hold the Vesle line, it is believed, but must recross the Aisne, since as a result of the recapture of Soissons the Allied forces are able to debouch on both sides of the river and take him in the rear. The enemy appears to be perfectly aware of this, and also of the necessity of getting out quickly if he wishes to avoid unpleasant accidents. In accordance with his practice he already has set fire to his bases at Fismes and Braisne and a dozen other villages. The smoke which is rising to the horizon is believed to show that the enemy knows that he can no longer use those places.

Paris, Aug. 3.—The newspapers of Paris, commenting upon the importance and significance of the great battle, say that its results surpass considerably the highest hopes. The occupation of Soissons has made it certain that the Germans will be obliged to retire to the Aisne, as they did in September, 1914, the newspapers say, and they add that the fourth anniversary of the mobilization of the French army will be coupled in the future with "this magnificent victory, which the talents of the Allied generals and the valor of the Allied soldiers have today written upon the flags of the Entente nations."

TERRITORY RECAPTURED BY ALLIED FORCES

The above map shows the present location of the line between Soissons and Rheims, though the latest news is to the effect that a further advance between Soissons and Braisne has pushed the line further forward. Soissons is in the hands of the Allied forces. The Aisne, which appears to be the line on which the enemy will attempt to make a stand, is shown. The lower line indicates the location of the battlefield when Gen. Foch launched the great offensive.

Great Plan Being Worked Out Rapidly by Forces Under Direction of Foch and His Assistants; Crown Princes Army Moving to Aisne

Paris, Aug. 3.—French advanced forces have reached the river Vesle and are preparing to cross the stream. The Germans are continuing their retreat towards the Aisne.

London, Aug. 3.—The right wing of the German armies south of the Aisne appears to have crumbled before the attack of the Allies. The occupation of Soissons apparently was only a small incident in the grand scheme that is being worked out by the Allied commanders. From there Allied forces swept eastward along the south bank of the Aisne as far as Venizel and along the stream took positions which will facilitate their crossing.

ENEMY DID NOT SET FIRES IN SOISSONS

No Preparations for Retirement; Thought He Could Hold Out

While this movement was going on, the Allied forces on the plateau southeast of Soissons swept forward and reports say they have rolled up the German lines south of the Aisne and reached a point south of Braisne, on the Vesle river, about eleven miles from Soissons.

Allied troops have reached Serzy-et-Prin, about five miles from Fismes, the German base, which is reported in flames.

As the line stands to-day, its shape resembles a gigantic fish hook. The shank of the "hook" runs straight west from Rheims to Serzy-et-Prin, then bends slightly to the southward, and then curves northward to the hills south of the Aisne, where it sweeps to the east as far as south of Braisne.

At Disadvantage.
Reports from the front say the advance eastward from Braisne is continuing. If this movement succeeds the Germans, caught by Foch's "fish hook" will be compelled to fight at a great disadvantage, while their only retreat will be over the hills between the Vesle and the Aisne. There now seems to be no possibility of the Germans holding the line of the Vesle. The Aisne presents the first safe refuge for the defeated armies of the German Crown Prince.

Nearly All Retaken.
As the situation stands to-day the Allies have re-taken from the Germans nearly all ground won after the second day of the German offensive on May 27. As yet the efforts of the Allies seem to be concentrated on the task of smashing the German armies south of the Vesle and the Aisne, but it is not generally believed that General Foch will abandon the initiative at the Aisne.

Soissons has been in the hands of the Germans since May 29.

Many Prisoners.
Paris, Aug. 3.—Many prisoners were taken by the French at Soissons, which was occupied at five o'clock Friday evening, one hour after the Germans had been driven from the suburbs. Those of the garrison not captured, escaped by fleeing northward.

Toward Vesle.
Paris, Aug. 3.—Throughout last night the Allied forces continued to advance toward the Vesle. The war office here announced this afternoon. East of Soissons French troops reached the Aisne between Soissons and Venizel.

The statement reads: "Starting the night, our troops continued their advance toward the Vesle. On the left French troops reached the Aisne between Soissons and Venizel."

Moved On.
London, Aug. 3.—On the main battlefield in the Soissons region the French, after completing their occupation of Soissons, have occupied the south bank of the Aisne between Pommiers and Venizel, a distance of approximately five and one-half miles, advice received here to-day show.

On the easterly side of the Soissons-Rheims front, the line to which the Allied forces have advanced runs, according to the latest advices, from Serzy-et-Prin and Stigny, both in the Ardennes valley, to the highest point on the plateau between the Ardennes and the Vesle, and thence to Roznoy, Gueux and Thillois, and on to the Vesle at St. Brice, which is on the original line.

On the northern end of the plateau to the southeast of Soissons French forces have advanced from Venizel to a point south of Braisne, on the Vesle. The advance is continuing on the line farther to the east.

Bridges Destroyed.
French cavalry units are on the Vesle River between Champigny and Jonchery, north and northwest of Rheims. Up until 11 o'clock this forenoon Allied forces had not crossed the river at any point. All the bridges over the Vesle have been destroyed.

Burning villages north of the Vesle River between Muzon and St. Thely indicate that a further withdrawal of the German forces is intended. Fourteen large fires have been observed. The important centre of Fismes is in flames and there are great conflagrations.

GERMANS FORCED TO FALL BACK TO EASTERN BANK OF ANCRE IN ALBERT REGION

London, Aug. 3.—The Germans are executing a local retirement to the east bank of the Ancre in the region of Albert on a front of three or four miles, according to news received in London to-day.

The German hold on the west bank of the Ancre in that region has been precarious, and it seemed to be tenable only if it were intended to be made use of in the starting of an offensive. The retirement appears to indicate the abandonment by the enemy of any attempt at an offensive in that quarter at present.

London, Aug. 3.—British patrols last night pushed their way forward in the Albert sector, north of the Somme, and occupied parts of the German front line, the War Office announced to-day in the following report:

"A raid attempted by enemy troops yesterday morning in the neighborhood of Feuchy, near Arras, was repulsed with loss.

"During the night our patrols pushed forward in the Albert sector and occupied portions of the enemy's front line.

"The hostile artillery has been active in different points—between Bethune and Halluill."

Bolsheviki Ousted in Revolution at City of Archangel

Kandalaska, Russian Lapland, Aug. 3.—A revolution against the Bolsheviki and in favor of the Allies has occurred at Archangel. The Soviet troops have fled from the city.

Army Age-Limits in U. S. of Eighteen and Forty-Five Proposed

Washington, Aug. 3.—Secretary Baker announced to-day that he would recommend to Congress extension of the army draft ages to a minimum of eighteen years and a maximum of forty-five years.

Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the Senate Military Committee, following a conference with the War Secretary, said the new army bill embodying these ages had been completed by Secretary Baker and would be introduced simultaneously in both Houses of Congress Monday.

CROTHERS COMING.

Prince Rupert, Aug. 3.—Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, arrived here from Winnipeg last night and left this morning for Vancouver and Victoria, where he will investigate coast labor unrest. Mr. Crothers sailed on the steamship Prince Georg.

VANCOUVER RETURNED MEN TAKE LONGSHOREMEN'S HALL; ORDER A MAN OUT OF CITY

Vancouver, Aug. 3.—Returned soldiers at noon to-day took possession of the hall of the Longshoremen's Union here, ousting about 100 of the union men in the place and passing a series of resolutions expressing loyalty and deprecating the stand taken by Socialistic labor. No physical damage was done to either the union men or their property.

The demonstration was caused by a telephone message purporting to come from the longshoremen's headquarters to one of the military hospitals. The speaker on the telephone said the soldiers were cowards and dared them to make a demonstration against the longshoremen. Automobiles were hastily requisitioned and a large party of returned men was landed at the hall in a very short time. Headed by four officers, the men marched into the place, shoving aside those union men who attempted to stop them.

After the returned soldiers had left the longshoremen's hall a committee returned and served notice on the union officials that they must get rid of Jack Kavanaugh, a longshoreman who is largely responsible for the agitation which resulted in the sympathetic strike. They served notice that if he did not leave they would run him out of town.

Mayor Gale was notified and is attending the conference between the returned soldiers' committee and the union officials.

Threat Against Greeks.
On leaving the longshoremen's hall the returned soldiers marched to the Cambie Street grounds to await the reply of the union men to the demand that Kavanaugh should leave the city. During this speech-making that followed it was suggested that the Vancouver returned soldiers should emulate the example set by the Toronto men and clear out the many Greek restaurants here. The Greeks, it was declared, were growing rich out of the war, to which they had contributed neither men, money nor goodwill. The proposal met with approbation from the large gathering.

The conference between the committee representing the returned soldiers and officials of the longshoremen's union over the demand of the former that Jack Kavanaugh, forthwith leave the city, adjourned to meet again at 3 o'clock for further discussion.

The longshoremen have not returned to work on cargoes on the vessels in port and say they will not until the returned soldiers have dispersed.

Mayor Gale proceeded to the soldiers' meeting on the Cambie Street grounds and is urging them to cease demonstrating in force and avoid anything they appeared at the windows of the offices of the second floor.

Midgley at Window.

V. R. Midgley, business agent of the Trades and Labor Council, stood at the window of the offices of the Labor Temple, smoking a cigar.

"There he is; put him out," shouted half a hundred voices from the crowd to the soldiers in the building. A moment later there was a sound of breaking glass and a body of khaki-clad figures was seen to surge into the room. Midgley did not turn until a heavy hand fell on his shoulder.

"Throw him out," "He's a traitor," and "That's the agitator," roared the crowd. "Out with him."

Obedient to the demands for Midgley, soldiers caught him up and shoved him out of the window to the three-foot coping about the second-story windows. Pale, but still smoking his cigar, the labor man stood on the coping for a moment, until a roar went up: "Throw him down; let them have two funerals."

Then Midgley stepped away from the window, and amid the jeers and hoots of the crowd, worked his way along to the window of another room and disappeared.

Again Appeared.

A moment later he again appeared at the window surrounded by soldiers.

"Throw him out," again called voices from the crowd.

A khaki-clad arm shot out to swing the window, but as it opened Miss Fox—

MORE THAN 1,300,000 MEN SENT FROM STATES UP TO END OF JULY, SAYS MARCH

Washington, Aug. 3.—The total embarkation of American troops for France during July broke all records, more than 300,000 men being shipped, Gen. March, Chief of Staff, told the newspaper correspondents here during his semi-weekly interview with them to-day. The previous high monthly record was for June, when 276,000 men were sent overseas.

The grand total embarked up to the end of July passed the 1,300,000 mark.

General Pershing, as a result of recent transfers of American divisions which had been brigaded with the British, now has 1,000,000 men under his direct command, the Chief of Staff stated.

The number of American divisions actively engaged on that sector has been increased to eight, now including the First, Second, Third, and Fourth, all regulars, and the 26th, 28th, 32nd and 42nd, National Guards.

General March announced that it was the 42nd Division which met and defeated the Prussian Guards during the present week.

Major-General Hunter Liggett, commanding the First American Army Corps, is in active charge of that corps on the centre of the Allied drive in the Aisne-Marne salient, General March said. The American divisions forming this corps are serving continuously on this sector, the control of which is in the hands of Major-General Liggett, as commander of the first major American unit to get into action in France.

No Shortage.
Washington, Aug. 3.—There is no present danger of a shortage in manpower to keep the American armies filled up, members of the Senate Military Committee were told to-day during their weekly conference with General March, Chief of Staff.

REMEMBRANCE DAY MESSAGE BY BORDEN

Reaffirms Empire's Determination as Another Year of War Begins

London, Aug. 3.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—In anticipation of Remembrance Day, August 4, messages from Sir Robert Borden, Hon. W. F. Massey, General Sir Louis Botha and Sir Edward Kemp have been published urging the necessity of prosecuting the war unflinchingly until victory has been achieved.

Sir Robert's message, addressed to the Canadian troops in England and France as well as to the public, says:

"When the military despotism of Germany made its preparation for dominating the world by force, reliance was placed upon the discipline and endurance of the German people. The German rulers still believe that the national spirit of their people is stronger and sterner than that of our democracies. In the end, no army in such a war as this is stronger than the spirit of the people behind it.

"Four years ago the nations of the British Commonwealth took the fateful decision and set themselves to the task of defending liberty and public right in the world. The task is not yet accomplished, but the pledge that made must not be broken. Traditions founded upon never-dying history add the glorious achievement of a thousand years can not be forgotten.

"We are bound alike to those who stand steadfast in our battalions and to those not yet born, for whom we hold our heritage in trust, that our resolution shall not even falter until the full accomplishment of the purpose for which this war was undertaken, and to which we concentrated our efforts, our sufferings and our endurance. United by the tie of a common purpose and the bond of a common sacrifice, the free nations of the British Commonwealth will and must hold firm."

INHABITANTS BLOW UP ALAND FORTS

Washington, Aug. 3.—Incensed at the German control of Finland, the inhabitants of the Aland Islands, in the Baltic Sea, have dynamited the fortifications on the islands to prevent their becoming a menace to Sweden through German control, according to advices received here through official channels. The same advices said the Finnish Government had ordered the immediate dismantling of all fortifications on the Baltic coast of Finland except those at Viborg and Helsingfors. This is in accordance with the demand made by Germany in the agreement with Finland.

HEAVY TAX ON WAR PROFITS IN STATES

Wilson Thinks They Should Be Made to Pay Hand-somely

Washington, Aug. 3.—President Wilson has let it be known to members of the House Ways and Means Committee, which is framing the new $8,000,000,000 revenue bill, that he is interested in a heavy tax on war profits. The President has given careful study to the present tax system, and also to the British system, which imposes a flat tax of eighty per cent. on such profits.

The possibility of the president visiting the Pacific coast during the Fourth Liberty Loan drive, which will begin September 23 and end October 19, has strengthened into a probability. It became known some time ago that plans were being made for the president's participation in the next drive, which will be a greater affair than any of its predecessors. Congressmen from many states have invited the president to visit their states, but the plans are still too indefinite to be discussed.

A Conspiracy.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Evidence connecting at least one major official of the Shipping Board with an alleged conspiracy to obtain contracts from the Shipping Board at extra high prices has been gathered by Government agents, it became known today.

BUYERS AFTER HAY IN OKANAGAN AREA

Vernon, B. C., Aug. 3.—Outside buyers have been scouring the Okanagan for hay. Heavy sales have been made at $32 per ton f.o.b. Vernon.

The cherry shipping season is now over. The Okanagan output this year exceeded preliminary estimates, and when complete returns are available it is expected the figures will be not much short of double those of last year. Prices to the growers averaged about ten cents a pound.

Apricots and peaches are starting to move now.

MUCH WORK DONE BY BRITISH AIRMEN

Admiralty Reviews Activities in Near East and Home Waters

London, Aug. 3.—An Admiralty statement on aerial activities issued last night said:

"Detailed reports have been received from Royal Air Force units working with the navy in the Mediterranean, Adriatic and Aegean."

"Anti-submarine escort patrols have been well maintained in the Mediterranean and the Adriatic."

"As indicated in recent Italian official communications from Rome, our Adriatic formations have closely cooperated with the Italian air forces in raids on the Austrian naval ports of Cattaro and Durazzo and in the land operations at Yuzof and Avlona."

"In connection with the latter, one of our machines was forced to land within the enemy lines, but both the pilot and the observer were rescued the following day, on the Allies advancing and capturing an Austrian aerodrome."

"In the Aegean coast reconnaissance of the Dardanelles have been maintained."

"In two raids at Kuleburgas, on the Oriental Railway, direct hits were obtained on the railway station, which was much damaged. A raid on the Karaguchi station and the bridge which carries the Oriental Railway across the Arda resulted in direct hits on the lines close to the bridge, and among rolling-stock. A raid on the station and bridge at Yuzof, also resulted in damage to the station buildings."

"During a dawn reconnaissance of the enemy coast north and west of Limnos, six patrol planes were observed, where bombs were dropped, damaging two and destroying a third. A new enemy aerodrome at Uzunkopri was bombed, and photographs show much damage done. One hangar being completely destroyed."

"A raid was made at dawn on July 26 on Nagara and at night on Galata. A further raid on these two places was made during the night of July 28. More than half a ton of bombs were dropped, and large fires were started. One of our machines failed to return."

At Constantinople.

"The basin and dockyard at Constantinople were successfully bombed just after midnight on July 2, but full details have not yet been received."

"In home waters, during the period July 25-31, anti-submarine hostile aircraft were observed on all sides, but maintained. Submarines have been attacked with success."

"More than fifteen tons of bombs have been dropped on objects of military importance at Zebrugge, Bruges docks, and Ostend. Enemy shipping also has been bombed, and a direct hit with a 230-pound bomb was obtained on the stern of the leader of four enemy torpedo boat destroyers. Columns of smoke were seen to arise, but the mist obscured observation."

"Our bombing patrols and escort formations have been kept busy by enemy aircraft. Fifteen enemy machines have been destroyed and twelve shot down out of control. Five of our machines have failed to return, one of which is known to have landed in Holland. One of our seaplanes on patrol was shot down in flames. Two of the crew were drowned."

Report From Haig.

"Dealing with aerial operations, Field-Marshal Haig reported last night:—

"On August 1 we dropped over twenty-four tons of bombs during the day. A large number of these were directed on a hostile aerodrome from a very low height in the course of a raid by two of our squadrons. Great damage was done to the hangars and living quarters at the aerodrome. Six hangars and sixteen machines were set on fire and one machine was blown to pieces on the ground."

"Eleven hostile machines were brought down during the day's fighting and three were driven down out of control. One hostile machine was shot down within our lines by anti-aircraft fire and a German balloon was brought down in flames by our airmen. Two of the enemy night bombing machines were shot down over their own aerodrome by our night fighting pilots. Two of our machines are missing."

"During the night, in spite of unfavorable weather conditions, ten tons of bombs were dropped by us on railway lines and stations and aerodromes. The same aerodrome which had been attacked by day again was bombed heavily. All our night bombing machines returned."

RESISTANCE WEAK

London, Aug. 3.—"The Germans are burning villages behind their front as they retire," said the Reuter correspondent at French headquarters in a dispatch dated last night. "The effects of the French victory at the Marne and in the Champagne and General Foch's counter-offensive between the Aisne and the Marne are now being pressed on all sides by our guns, and with his communications swept by our guns, has again been forced to give ground. He is retreating with reluctance, continually hoping that the effort will prove too much for us, as it has for him."

"But unrelaxing pressure is bringing the results expected, and the Crown Prince's reserves are being exhausted at a quicker rate than ours."

German Statements.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—Via London, Aug. 3.—An official statement issued here this evening says:—

"On the battlefield in France there has been desultory fighting."

An official statement issued earlier in the day said:—

"Between Soissons and Fere-en-Tardenois the enemy yesterday continued his useless attacks. Strong artillery duels preceded these attacks, which were directed in the morning against our front on both sides of Villeneuve, and in the afternoon extended as far south as Harbennes. They were repulsed before our lines, sometimes in hand-to-hand fighting. Here the enemy once again suffered complete failure, without any gain in territory."

"During the strongest forces into action, British and French divisions attacked in the early morning from the line north of Grand Rozoy and Fere-en-Tardenois. On both sides of Beaureux their tanks, crossing our front lines, were able to reach the height north of this place. Here our artillery shot them to pieces."

"After bitter fighting, the enemy's infantry attacked on the northern slopes of the heights. Enemy attacks renewed here in the afternoon were sanguinarily repulsed."

North of Clerges.

"Between Cramaille and Fere-en-Tardenois attacks by the enemy's infantry, in a strike force and with tanks, broke down before our line. A strong enemy firing between Fere-en-Tardenois and the Bois Meunier was followed by infantry attacks only north of Clerges. They were repulsed."

"Quiet reigned on the rest of the battlefield."

"In the Champagne we have been successful in forefield engagements south of Mont Fichtel and east of Suippes. Northwest of Perthes, in local thrusts we pressed the enemy back out of his front lines, and north of Meaulx we repulsed partial attacks by the enemy."

"Yesterday we shot down fourteen enemy aeroplanes. Our bombing machines were active during the night, and destroyed, among other things, a big French ammunition depot north of Chalons."

U. S. AIRMAN HONORED.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 3.—Lieut. Edward V. J. (Eddy) Riebschneider, formerly a well-known American automobile racer and now an ace in the United States aviation service in France, has been cited for bravery by the French Government. He was awarded for the sending down in flames of an enemy aeroplane.

FORWARD SWEEP REPORTED BY PARIS

Progress All Along Soissons-Rheims Front was Announced Last Night

Paris, Aug. 3.—The following official report was issued here last night: "Attacks conducted during the last two days by our troops and Allied units on the front north of the Marne have obtained full success. The Germans have been pushed back over all the line and forced to abandon the positions of resistance they had chosen between Fere-en-Tardenois and Villen-Tardenois and to retreat precipitately."

"On our left our troops have entered Soissons. More to the south they have occupied the Crise along the whole river front."

"On our centre we are progressing widely north of the Ourcq. We have passed Arcy-Ste-Resquite and penetrated the Bois de Dole."

"More to the east, Coulonges, four kilometres north of the Bois Moutiers, is in our possession."

"On our right, Goussancourt, Villiers-Agron and Ville-en-Tardenois are in our hands."

"On this part of the front we carried our line about five kilometres north of the Dormans-Rheims road, on the general line of Vezilly and Loery, between the Ardre and the Vesle. We have occupied Guesus and Thillois."

"Aviation: On July 31 seven German aeroplanes were downed during the day. Twenty-two tons of explosives were dropped on aviation grounds between the Aisne and the Vesle and on barracks and encampments of the enemy in the valleys of the Ardre and Vesle."

ACTIVITIES ON LINES IN ITALY AND ALBANIA

Rome, Aug. 3.—An official report issued here last evening said:—

"There has been moderate artillery activity along the whole front. At Alano our patrols forced enemy advanced posts to withdraw, inflicting losses and taking some prisoners. A captive balloon and six hostile aeroplanes were brought down."

"In Albania the fighting activity has ceased in the last few days. Advanced lines of our covering troops have progressed nearer the positions of resistance. Yesterday enemy reconnoitering parties were repulsed and thirty-five prisoners captured."

French Horsemen Advance Ahead of Infantry; Germans Devastate Country

London, Aug. 3.—The Reuter correspondent at French headquarters on the battlefield in France wires that as the battlefront in France advances, the French army is advancing in pursuit of the retreating enemy with cavalry patrols far in advance, while the horse artillery and the engineers accompany the infantry. Rain has fallen heavily and the roads are in a state which sensibly retards the pace of the Allies' advance.

The description given by the correspondent of the devastation of towns, villages and farms by the enemy is true, and the destruction the Germans boast of is all the Germans have gained by three great offensives, which cost them hundreds of thousands of killed, wounded and prisoners.

Day of Successes.
London, Aug. 3.—The Associated Press correspondent with the French army in the battle zone wired last night that the Allied line then ran from Pommeuse to Soissons, thence to Belleu, the valley of the Crise, Cachise and Arcy-St. Restitue, through the centre of the forest of Nesles to the village of the same name and through the centre of the forest of Rheims and Lagery, l'Heroy and Tramey. North of the last named three places French cavalry had advanced about another mile to the Bois le-Moine and Treton. Brouillet was still in the enemy's hands, in flames, and farther east near Rheims, Thillois had been retaken.

The day was one of continued success for the armies of Generals Mangin, de Goutte and Berthelot. All along the line the Germans were forced to hurry their retreat, especially on the west and centre of the salient. The enemy was completely devastating the country as he retired, carrying out the German policy, the correspondent said.

General Retreat.
London, Aug. 3.—The Reuter correspondent at French headquarters in the battle zone telegraphed at 11 o'clock last night that the German retreat was general on all three sides of the salient conquered by the Germans in May and the Allied forces were pressing close on the heels of the retreating enemy.

Important Gain.
London, Aug. 2.—East of Rheims French forces have made an important recovery of ground near St. Hilaire, advices received here state.

Double Advantage.
With the American Army on the Aisne-Marne front, Aug. 2.—Via London, Aug. 3.—Much importance is attached to the advance of the Allied forces on the easterly side of the Soissons-Rheims front to the line of Gueux and Thillois. It is pointed to as serving the double object of protecting Rheims and placing the Allies in a position to cripple still further the already badly crowded Germans in their retreat toward the Vesle.

DESTRUCTION OF ENEMY ARMY IS PLAN

That is Still Allies' Objective in Fighting in France, Says March

Washington, Aug. 3.—Discussing the fighting in the battle zone in France, Gen. March, Chief of Staff of the American army, said during his weekly interview with the newspaper correspondents here to-day that the official dispatches covering the battle up to August 2 showed the present front running practically parallel to the Vesle and Ardre valleys, the next defensive line of the enemy. At that time the advancing forces were within six miles of this line, the dispatches, however, indicated that the Vesle-Ardrre line might have been turned already.

The objective of the Allied armies still is the destruction of the enemy's army, Gen. March said. The maximum retreat of the enemy up to August 2 had measured sixteen miles, the total length of the Aisne-Marne salient having been the net gain seven-four miles to forty-eight miles.

The pounding by the French and British at both flanks of the salient, Gen. March said, had resulted in the collapse of the German resistance on August 1 and the French had walked into Soissons.

Enormous Booty.
The complete success of the Allies is indicated in a confidential message which reached the Chief of Staff from an officer who at the time of writing had just returned from Eere-en-Tardenois. This officer reported that it was entirely impossible for any army to gather the number of guns and shells that had been abandoned by the Germans in their retirement.

The message added that the Germans had been driven back without time to bury their dead and the German bodies lay so thickly it was impossible to advance without walking over them.

The advance in the centre had averaged three miles on a front of thirty miles, the Chief of Staff said, while on the east flank, west of Rheims, an advance of four miles on a four-mile front already had been made.

The selection of Major-General Jesse McI. Carter, now serving as chief of the Military Bureau and commander of the United States Guard, to be formed in this country was announced.

Washington Interested.
Washington, Aug. 3.—News from France of the recapture of Soissons, the key of the German right flank in the whole Aisne-Marne position, besides being most welcome here, added to the keen interest with which military officials here are watching the situation in the battle zone. At the same time the taking of Thillois, west of Rheims, shows that the jaws of the great trap created by Gen. Foch at last have begun to close.

The re-entry into Soissons is noteworthy. The French were forced out of the city, the largest on that sector of the front, in the first German assault on the Chemin-des-Dames last May. Its capture by the enemy was a long stride on the road to Paris, a stride that was in fact definitely checked only when the Germans met Allied troops northwest of Chateau Thierry weeks later, and were halted in their tracks and hurried back.

To many officials here, the little stretch of line where the first two American divisions came into action below the Villers-Cotterets forest will mark the German high-water mark.

Of greater military significance, however, is the advance of the other jaw of the trap at Thillois. This is taken to mean that the French are pushing in to the north and west of Rheims, an advance that may well serve to force the enemy to continue his hurried withdrawal to the Aisne without a chance to stand along the Vesle. The left flank of his line at the Vesle is in danger of being turned before his forces south of that river reach it.

If the advance of the French on this line continues, it may well become a race for the Aisne with the enemy forced to abandon heavy material in a desperate attempt to get his forces in line before the river before they are cut off. The picture of a struggle to the death between the two armies drawn by Gen. March recently is being revised sharply.

Victory in France Causes Elation in London; High Hopes for Future

London, Aug. 3.—The advance of the entire Allied line in the Soissons-Rheims salient is commented on here with elation, although not without reminders that the Allied forces yet have a long way to go. Official and other dispatches are regarded as revealing a transformed situation, coinciding with the arrival of American detachments, so strong as to give the Allies a numerical advantage in reserves and justifying high hopes for the future.

The altered situation is attributed to two main facts, namely, that the American strength is beginning to tell with great effect and that the Allies are reaping an increasing advantage from unity of command. General Foch's skill receives many tributes.

Anniversary.
The newspapers devote much space to the anniversary of Great Britain's entry into the war and the preparations for the services of commemoration and intercession on Sunday, for which the immediate outlook on the front has furnished a setting of hopeful confidence that a little while ago would have seemed too sanguine.

Commenting on the anniversary, The Times says: "We are passing through a period of upheaval which may be more pregnant with good or evil than the French revolution, the rise of Islam or the downfall of the Roman Empire. The new heaven is working in all the Allied democracies and toward similar results. In the United States the results have been the clearest and most immediate. Her hopes have risen to the height of her destinies, and the Americans have realized for themselves that Germany has made them a nation, as she has made us an empire in a truer and larger sense than before."

"The Time Please?"

At the present time this question is asked of our operating staff in the cities of Vancouver, Victoria, and New Westminster 13,050 times each day. Time calls comprise nearly 4% of all telephone calls.

As the equipment required at the Central Offices is based on the number of calls handled, it will be seen that 4% of the equipment is used for time calls.

Because of the shortage and delay in securing equipment, and also the necessity at present of conserving the time of the operating staff, the saving of this 4% in both material and time, is a large factor in these cities.

On this account, the giving of time by Central will be discontinued after July 31st, 1918.

Berlin Paid Agents for News Regarding Munitions and Crops

New York, Aug. 3.—The German Government paid several hundred thousand dollars to agents in this country before the United States entered the war in return for information regarding American munitions and crops, according to a statement made to-day by Alfred L. Becker, Deputy State Attorney-General, who is investigating expenditures of Teuton funds in this country.

Evidence which has been obtained through the inquiry indicates, Mr. Becker said, that the agents used these agents through Dr. Edward A. Rumely, who was indicted by a federal jury here yesterday on charges of perjury in connection with the alleged purchase of The New York Evening Mail. Large sums were placed by the German Government at the disposal of Dr. Rumely, Mr. Becker said, the evidence shows, in addition to the money expended for The Mail stock.

DESERTERS GIVEN TIME TO REPORT

Will Not Be Punished If They Report for Duty Before August 24

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—An extra of The Canada Gazette issued at 7 o'clock last evening contained a proclamation retaining deserters and absentees under the Military Service Act from liability to punishment if they report for duty between now and August 24. It is recognized that many men who failed to report because of lack of a proper understanding will be glad and willing to do so if a period of grace is allowed. It is believed that establishment of such a period will bring to the colors many men whom it would be difficult otherwise to reach.

Men who are classed as deserters and absentees subsequent to August 24, the proclamation states, will be pursued and punished with all the rigor and severity of the law, subject to the judgment of court-martial, which will be convened to try such cases, and other competent tribunals.

The proclamation provides that "those who employ, harbor, conceal or assist such men will be held strictly accountable as offenders, and subject to the pains, penalties and forfeitures in that behalf by law provided for the offence."

Government's Purpose.
The purpose the Government has in view in issuing the proclamation is fully set forth in the following paragraphs:

"Whereas considerable numbers of men belonging to Class 1 under our Military Service Act, 1917, called out on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Forces for the defence of Canada under our proclamation of October 13, 1917, although they have thus become by law soldiers enlisted in the military service of Canada, have failed to report for duty as lawfully required of them under the said Military Service Act and the regulations thereunder, including the Order-in-Council duly passed on April 29 last, or have deserted or absented themselves without leave from our Canadian Expeditionary Forces;

"And it is represented that the very serious and unfortunate situation in which these men find themselves is due in many cases to the fact that notwithstanding the information and warning contained in our proclamation aforesaid they have misunderstood their duty or obligation, or have been misled by the advice of ill-disposed, disloyal or seditious persons;

To Avoid Penalties.

"And whereas we desire, if possible, to avoid the infliction of heavy penalties which the law imposes for the offences of which these soldiers aforesaid have become guilty, and to afford them an opportunity within a limited time to report and make their service available in our Canadian Expeditionary Forces, as is by law their bounden duty, and is necessary for the defence of our Dominion of Canada;

"Now know ye, that we, in the exercise of our powers and of our good will and pleasure in that behalf, do hereby proclaim and declare and cause to be published and make known that the penalties of the law will not be imposed or exacted against the men who belong to Class 1 under our Military Service Act, 1917, and who have disobeyed our proclamation aforesaid, or who have received notices from any of our registrars or deputy registrars to report for duty on a day now past, and have failed to so report, or who, having reported and obtained leave of absence have failed to report at the expiry of their leave, or have become

FOUR YEARS OF WAR.

The end of its fourth year of war finds the British Empire as determined as ever to continue the conflict until the ulcer of Prussian militarism has been cut out of the vitals of civilization. And not only has there been no relaxation of its vast effort, but notwithstanding the gigantic burden it is carrying as the keystone of the Allies, and the strain to which the heroic British armies have been subjected this year, it is a more powerful factor in the promotion of the cause for which it and its partners are fighting than it has been at any other time since that fateful night, four years ago, when, true to its glorious past, it drew its sword for freedom and justice. And never has it been more firmly united to its allies. To-day their armies stand shoulder to shoulder in one single organization under an incomparable leader, and in that organization the great republic of the West, the Empire's blood-brother, is rapidly taking a share proportionate to its incalculable resources and its noble traditions. In July more than 300,000 American troops crossed the Atlantic.

To-morrow the Empire will rededicate itself to its unfinished task. It will do so, not with "vain boast and frantic word," but in the spirit which animated Lincoln when he delivered his immortal eulogy of the dead on the field of Gettysburg:

"The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

THE STRIKE IN VANCOUVER.

The Vancouver Sun yesterday morning headed a strong front-page editorial on the proposal for a general strike yesterday because of the shooting of Goodwin, a draft-evader, with the question, "German or British—Which?"

The question was pregnant and pertinent, although it and the comment which followed it did not deflect the strike promoters from their purpose. That strike was so absolutely unjustifiable, so grossly an affront to the law in its encouragement of resistance to the Military Service Act, so clearly in its effect, whatever may have been its intention, an act of giving aid and comfort to the enemy of this country, so harshly unjust upon the general public, that we wonder that even a hundred men, not to say thousands, could have compromised with their consciences to the extent of participating in it.

The circumstances of the shooting of Goodwin will be investigated by the courts. The question which will be decided will not be, for an instant, the right of an officer to resort to extreme measures in apprehending those who resist the enforcement of a law authorized by the people of Canada for the reinforcement of our army at the front—an army in which trades unionism is numerously and gallantly represented—but whether those measures were called for in this particular case. What right had the strike agitators to prejudice the case or, if they did prejudice it, to inflict punishment upon the general public by paralyzing industry and stopping utilities. And if their action was not one of prejudice, then the authorities are confronted with an organized effort to prevent the enforcement of the Military Service Act in the case of everybody marked out for favored treatment by those responsible for the strike.

It is impossible to draw any other inference from the occurrence in Vancouver than that it was prompted either by some malign influence under enemy direction or the spirit which animates the I. W. W., or Bolshevism, which is just as bad. This inference evidently was drawn by the contingent of returned soldiers, who, indignant at what in its essence was a betrayal of the cause for which they had suffered and for which so many of their heroic comrades had died, that they were prepared to resort to drastic measures against the agitators. And it was drawn also by the citizens of Vancouver en masse whose disgust and anger over the outrageous development were unbounded.

Heavy penalties are prescribed by the law of this country against those who encourage resistance to the enforcement of the Military Service Act, and for those who furnish aid and comfort to the enemy by impeding in any way the measures adopted for the prosecution of the war. The security of this Dominion requires that those laws shall be enforced just as drastically as similar laws are enforced in the United States, where apostles of anarchy and discord are either filling the penitentiaries for long terms, or put in the army. And in such enforcement the Government will have behind it the support of the overwhelming majority of the people.

The Times cannot believe that a very large proportion of the men who went out on strike yesterday realized the significance or the possible consequences of their action. Many of them must have sons and brothers at the front. Do they not realize that their action, was calculated to encourage resistance to a law whose sole object was to provide support for those soldiers? Do they not realize that the proceeding, amounting to nothing less than incipient anarchy, was an insult and an injury to trades unionism, alienating from it public opinion, without which that organization cannot possibly survive? Surely they must realize that no community and no Government will permit any such an unwarranted campaign against industry and the public interest, that there are more than enough resources to put an end to it, and that the patience of both the people and the authorities is near the breaking point!

An altogether different spirit prevailed in Victoria yesterday, for which the labor organizations are to be congratulated. We feel convinced that most of them appreciate the fact that trades unionism has played too high and important a part in social development in this country, that in peace and war it has too good a record, to be stained by such tactics as those employed in Vancouver, and that its future as an agency for the betterment of working conditions must depend upon how it acquits itself in these times of national sacrifice and suffering.

THE FALL OF SOISSONS.

In consequence of the fine victory by the Franco-British troops, commanded by General Mangin, on the Hartennes plateau north of the Ourcq, Soissons, threatened from the south, has fallen into the Allies' hands, and the entire German front between that place and Rheims is in retreat. Thus the enemy has had to abandon the line south of the Vesle upon which he had decided to make his stand and to the fortification of which, it is believed, he devoted all his energies.

But that is not all. Following the capture of Soissons the French advanced to the east of the place and have reached the Aisne near its confluence with the Vesle. This means that there is a strong probability of the line of the Vesle being made untenable for defence, and in that case the Germans must fall back to the Aisne. If the French at Soissons should advance a short distance northward they would make it impossible for the Germans to maintain themselves behind the Aisne, and in that event the enemy would have to retire to the Craonne plateau along which runs the road known as the Chemin des Dames.

The Craonne plateau is only five miles north of Soissons. If it also were taken by the Allies, the Germans would be forced back behind the valley of the Ailette, in front of Laon, from which they launched their offensive last May. Hence Foch's brilliant strategy has opened up far-reaching military possibilities while already it almost has flattened the great salient which swept around from Soissons to Rheims, driving back the enemy for twenty miles at some points and effecting the capture of nearly 40,000 prisoners and great quantities of supplies.

It is not in the ground gained, however, that the chief value of the victory of the Allies lies. The real test of its importance is its relation to Germany's military power as a whole on the West Front. When the enemy began the offensive on July 15 which is having so disastrous a sequel he possessed a sufficient strategic reserve to enable him to follow it with what he planned to be a decisive blow. He had organized powerful forces in his rear which were to destroy the final vestiges of resistance by the Allies in a vast sweeping movement, extending from Châlons to Montdidier, towards Paris; at the same time another crushing operation was to be undertaken against the Meuse and Switzerland, while Prince Rupprecht was to strike heavily at the British front. And for dynastic reasons the chief stroke was to be delivered by the armies commanded by the German Crown Prince.

But while Ludendorff proposed, Foch disposed, as biding his time, the master-strategist directing the Allied armies always determined that he would. His counter-stroke was so perfectly conceived, timed and executed that to avert disaster to the Crown Prince's armies not only had the enemy's strategic reserve to be drawn upon for many divisions, but crack units had to be borrowed from the armies commanded by Crown Prince Rupprecht confronting the Allies' front in northern France and Belgium. How far this latter process has gone is known only to Foch and his generals, but we may be sure that when the army group of Prince Rupprecht has been substantially weakened Foch will launch another smashing offensive against it.

The salient in Flanders is scarcely less vulnerable than the Aisne-Marne salient proved to be, while in good time Foch will attend to the great bulging front which sweeps from Arras to Soissons and of which the German line east of Amiens is roughly the centre. In view of these possibilities no little significance attaches to the British advances at Merris and Meterin in Flanders, and between Arras and Albert in the Amiens salient, and the recent brilliant French local offensive north of Montdidier. The protection of these big salients, however, must become so difficult a problem once the enemy has passed to the defensive that Ludendorff is almost certain to make his best effort to retain the initiative until the campaigning season is over and, at least, to disarrange any plans he may suspect the Allies to be developing for another offensive.

MR. RUST RESIGNS.

The resignation of G. H. Rust as City Engineer will occasion general regret in the community. From the moment he entered upon his duties here he has shown himself to be an efficient, conscientious and courteous official charged with the determination to give to the City the best that was in him. He came at a time when Victoria was committed to a heavy programme of public improvements, the most notable of which was the development of the new waterworks system, which he carried to completion in a highly satisfactory way, notwithstanding the fact that he had to master a project designed by others, and conform to requirements in the specification of which, of course, he had no part.

Then came the era of retrenchment and economy which followed the collapse of the boom, which inevitably affected the extent of his organization and the scope of its activities. Mr. Rust loyally entered into the new spirit which, perforce, governed civic expenditure. He willingly agreed to a large reduction of the salary which had induced him to sever his connection with Toronto and come to Victoria. In short, he interested himself in the city's welfare without reserve.

It is regrettable that on certain occasions Mr. Rust was the victim of parochial treatment from some elements in the Council, which must have been a new experience to him, and which would have been new to any engineer whose previous experience with the public service had gone beyond that of a village. In the Sooke Lake incident he was treated like a subordinate clerk and at the time we were convinced that it would not be long before he would regard it as symptomatic of an attitude towards responsible officials which certainly no engineer of his prominence could tolerate without compromising himself. The fact that he did not sever his connection with Victoria then speaks volumes for his restraint.

Mr. Rust will return to Toronto, where he formerly was City Engineer, and resume the practice of his profession. The citizens of Victoria, who long ago learned to appreciate his sterling qualities, will wish him every success.

croft, the telephone operator at the Labor Temple, sprang towards it and pulled it closed again. She could be seen exhorting the soldiers not to do violence to the labor men, and in deference to her wishes they allowed the window to remain shut.

"Bring him downstairs," the crowd commanded. A moment later several soldiers dragged him out of the building, while those who remained within cleaned up the offices. Books, papers and letters were emptied from the windows to the street. Among the avalanche of printed matter that rained from above were some heavy black boards: "In memoriam. Special notice by Metal Trades Council: All members of unions affiliated with the Metal Trades Council will cease work for twenty-four hours commencing twelve o'clock noon Friday, August 2, 1918, as a protest against the shooting of Brother A. Goodwin."

Buffeted by Soldiers.
 These circulars when picked up further incensed the crowd, and upon the appearance of Midgeley on the street, he was jeered and buffeted by the soldiers. An immense Union Jack was produced and the labor leader was forced to kneel on the pavement and kiss the folds of the flag. Then, when it looked as if he would be roughly handled, Police Inspector D. D. McIntosh assembled his small force and threw a cordon of big bluecoated men about Midgeley, and with this protection forced a way back to the Labor Temple, where he was comparatively safe.

General Remarks. Later George Thomas, one of the leaders of the Longshoremen's Union, was ferreted out by the police and hustled by the crowd until rescued by the police.

Also Kissed Flag.
 Thomas, too, was put through the flag-kissing process. He begged hard against the force used against him.

"I'll kiss it, but don't make a public spectacle of me," he pleaded.

A few minutes later he was hustled away in an automobile under guard.

Another labor man started to uphold the labor "holiday" in an argument with a one-armed soldier. The soldier, during the discussion with a quick punch from his remaining arm, and the union man went down to the pavement minus several teeth.

While showers of printed leaflets came merrily gliding toward the sidewalks from the upper windows of the Labor Temple, the fluttering masses of white were punctured every once in a while by larger objects which dropped faster and hit the sidewalks with a thud. These were books, records, and finally a big metal seal of one of the unions which had been removed from the front suite of offices.

Speeches by Veterans.

From an automobile which had headed the parade through the streets to the Labor Temple, veterans addressed the throng, protesting in vigorous language against the "holiday" which was responsible for the "Hunnish" which was being advocated against those responsible for the strike, and it was declared that if the men responsible for the industrial tie-up did not call it off within a few hours, the soldiers would see to it that they were run out of town.

Out of City.
 Their decisions were as follows: That the leaders of Vancouver's organized labor, by their own actions, have become untrustworthy citizens, and that they be given a few hours' notice in which to pack their kits and take their families and leave the city. If this cannot be effected by constituted authority, then the soldiers themselves will undertake to ferret out these leaders and escort them to the city limits.

That every immediate effort be made to break the car strike within two hours.

That the veterans go to Mayor Gale forthwith and ask him to order the British Columbia Electric Railway Company officials to permit war veterans precedent in handling cars, to take the cars from the car barns and operate them for the relief of the public.

That, whereas, there is a ship prevented from loading supplies and provisions for men who are cutting across plane spruce owing to the strike of longshoremen, that a party of returned soldiers proceed forthwith to the dock and immediately proceed to load the supplies necessary for war work continuation.

Sergt.-Major, Chairman.
 Sergeant-Major Rihby took charge of the meeting, which was devoid of any hysteria and violence. The returned men, many of whom had exhausted themselves by the exertions in front of the Labor Temple, were content to sit and listen while their leaders devised a programme.

At a suggestion, twenty men stepped forward who announced their ability to act as motorists. The names of these men were taken, together with the names of those who would act as conductors. A third list was made up comprising veterans who were willing to ride on the street car platforms with their motormen comrades. Each car, it was arranged, should have an escort of two soldiers.

Referring to the deceased draft evader Goodwin, Sergeant-Major Rihby said that it was general knowledge that Goodwin's boast was that he would never wear the khaki. The speaker declared that the shroud he was now wearing would fit him better than the khaki he had evaded. As a soldier, said the sergeant-major, he was well satisfied that Goodwin must have been grasping the rifle-butt to his shoulder, the course of the constable's bullet plainly indicating, to the soldier at least, that the officer quite evidently shot in self-defence.

Having decided unanimously upon their programme, the war veterans disbanded upon the understanding that the would meet again at the Cambie Street grounds at 6.45 o'clock and paraded through the city on the way to their mass meeting at the Empress Theatre at 8 o'clock.

Paraded Again.
 When the soldiers after 7 o'clock formed for parade to the Empress Theatre, a young man uttered what was taken by a returned soldier to be a derogatory remark about the parade. He was immediately seized upon and was pummelled almost beyond recognition. With blood flowing from a dozen cuts, he bolted.

Attention was diverted from him by the interference of a middle aged man whom the crowd immediately suspected of being a German. Hardly had he opened his mouth than he was punched. Down he went, rolling over on the ground, several men industriously pounding him the while. He got up once and started off, but a football rush by a young man brought him to the ground again, and again he was pummeled and beaten over the head with a cane.

Outside the Labor Temple the soldiers shouted and boomed as they marched past, but there was no disturbance of any kind.

List Compiled.
 Vancouver, Aug. 3.—Returned non-commissioned officers who were prominent in yesterday's demonstration against labor leaders have compiled a "black list" containing the names of the labor men whom they hold responsible for the sympathetic strike over the death of Goodwin, the draft evader. This forenoon they said they were still determined that these men must leave the city.

Street Cars Running.
 Vancouver, Aug. 3.—Practically all the street railway employees reported for work this morning in response to the order cancelling the twenty-four hours' strike called yesterday noon as a protest against the shooting of Albert Goodwin. The Coughlan and Wallace steel shipyards worked with small staffs this morning. The staffs of the wooden shipyards reported for work with comparatively few exceptions.

The ship joiners and some of the patternmakers at the Coughlan plant met to-day and agreed to turn over their day's pay to the Red Cross. The ship joiners pointed out that they had refused to join the strike.

An Englishman, an Irishman, and a Scotsman were boasting about who could be the most extravagant.

The Englishman, to demonstrate his extravagance, took a ten-shilling note from his pocket, applied a match to it, and carelessly lit his pipe with it.

The Irishman, not to be beaten, hauled out a five-pound note and did likewise.

Then the Scotsman, not wishing to be left out of the contest, wrote a cheque for a thousand pounds, lit it, and applied it to his pipe.

The Lure of Tomorrow

Here's a Good One

An old Scotch farmer had been approached again and again by the local representative of a fire insurance company to protect his farm against fire. "Na, na!" the old man would say, with a wise shake of his head. "Ma farm will nae gang on fire!" Then one fateful day the unexpected happened. The neighbors were astonished to see the farmer racing up and down the village street instead of helping to put out the flames. As he ran he shouted: "Sandy! Sandy! Whaur's that insurance chap? It's awfu' that ye canna find a body when ye're needin' him!"

A SIMILAR kind of mistake to that of the Scotchman in this story is made by those who delay making application for life insurance protection. The insurance companies each year are compelled to reject thousands of people who have deferred their applications until too late.

The time for securing insurance is to-day, while health and strength last. Remember that the cost of insurance increases with the age of the applicant. The premiums are 25 per cent. higher at age 30 than at 21 years of age on the Whole Life plan.

Long and severe toil can build up a competence for your dependents—if life continues and if economy is practised. But by means of life insurance, the estate is made available immediately on the death of the assured, and does not depend upon the life and health of the policyholder being continued through many years.

Remember!

- 1.—The door of life insurance is opened only to those in normal health. Make your application before health declines.
- 2.—The cost of life insurance increases every year your application is deferred.
- 3.—To-day is ours, but we have no guarantee of to-morrow.

A BEDTIME STORY

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BILLIE'S LAND SHIP

Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
 (By Howard R. Garis.)

Once upon a time, not so very many years ago, Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, went for a walk in the woods about a mile from his hollow stump bungalow. All of a sudden he heard a pounding and a banging noise.

"Oh, dear me! I hope that isn't a woodpecker bird, trying to sharpen his bill, to get ready to bite me!" thought the bunny.

Then he heard a cheerful whistle and a voice sing:

"Oh, ho! Oh, hum! I'll have a jolly trip
 For I am going sailing in my new land ship."

"Hum! That's rather queer," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I guess I needn't be afraid of anything, and, as I never heard of a land ship before, I'll have to see what it is."

So he pecked through the bushes, and there, under a tree, he saw Billie Bunny, the squirrel boy. Billie had with him an express wagon, some sticks, a piece of bed sheet, some nails, a hammer and bits of rope.

"Well, Billie!" exclaimed the bunny uncle. "What are you making?"

"A land ship," answered the squirrel boy.

"What in the world is a land ship?" Uncle Wiggily wanted to know.

"Well, a water ship is one that sails on the water," explained Billie. "An air ship, such as you have, sails in the air, but a land ship sails on land."

"Oh, you mean a sort of automobile," said the bunny.

"Not exactly," spoke Billie, like a man asking for votes at election time. "You see an automobile goes by gasoline, but my land ship will go by wind. I am going to fasten a sail to my express wagon, and the wind will blow it along and I will steer it wherever I go."

"I see," said Uncle Wiggily. "But do you think you can make it work?"

"I guess so," replied Billie, hopeful like. "Anyhow, I'll soon have it working, and then I'll ride down to your hollow stump bungalow and give you a ride."

"All right," spoke the bunny gentleman. "I shall be glad to see you."

So Mr. Longears went on his way, and Billie hammered and nailed and sawed, and soon he had the bed-sheet sail tied on his express wagon. He had fastened something to steer by on the two front wheels and he thought he could sit there and have a nice ride, where the ground was not too rough and hilly.

"Well, I guess I'm ready for my first trip," said the squirrel boy, as he brushed the splinters off his tail. "I'll now get in my land ship and sail down to Uncle Wiggily."

By this time the bunny rabbit gentleman had come back to his hollow stump bungalow. He sat down on the porch and looked off through the woods.

"I want to see how it sails. Maybe I might want one like it myself."

All of a sudden a rushing sound was heard, and then some one squealed:

"Oh, quick, catch me! Save me! My land ship is running away!"

Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane looked, and saw, sweeping down the woodland path, Billie in his express wagon. Above him flapped the bedsheet sail, but the wind was so strong that the land ship went too fast.

"This way and that way it rushed, now standing on one wheel, now on two and sometimes on three, but Billie ever on all four wheels, as Billie wanted it to."

"Look out, Billie! You'll upset!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

And just then the land ship blew over and crashed to the ground, spilling Billie out. The squirrel boy fell on some moss; so he wasn't hurt much. But the land ship was broken all to pieces and the sail torn to ribbons.

"Oh, dear!" said Billie. "I didn't know it would do that. I guess land ships are no good."

"There's only one kind that is," said Uncle Wiggily.

"What?" asked Billie.

"That," said the bunny, and he pointed to his wheelbarrow. "Next time you want a land ride try that."

"I will," said Billie. And he did. And if the white shoes don't go out dancing with the lead pencil and get so marked up they can't come to the moving picture, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Sammie's water ship.

When the adopting or refusing of any change is fought out on the grounds of one's religious principles criticism must be made with caution. Nothing makes people offer such stout resistance as the belief in having religious grounds for so doing. It is not so very long ago that in different parts of Canada there were sturdy sects well nourished in the shelter of a religious belief.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Word has just been received by Mrs. F. G. Honey, 217 Linden Avenue, that her husband, Cpl. F. G. Honey, is in hospital as the result of shell gas. Honey was formerly well known here as the result of his connection with the Pacific Motor Co. Garage on View Street.

He left Canada with the 143rd B. C. Bantams and was drafted to the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders in France about twelve months ago. Twice before the corporal has been slightly gassed, although on one occasion he received enough of the gas to cause him to lose his voice for some time.

Honey was through the battle of Passchendaele and except for a short period to recuperate on the two previous occasions he was gassed he has been doing his duty continuously since going to France.

THE UNREST.

Now it's Capital blaming Labor, Now it's Labor striking back, So on they fight and wrangle; Obivision of the fact That they both have got the fever From their heads upon their toes, Yet they don't know what's the matter, They cannot see the cause.

The trouble's the mosquito, A veritable pest, In the form of profiteers, Who cause all this unrest. They are bleeding every body, There are none they do not bite, Profiteering is their hobby, And the Government won't strike.

It's incompetent and feeble, It lets this thing go on; So the mosquito pines the needle And stings its little victim, While drawing off the blood, Yet our double-headed hybrid Won't adjust the price of food.

It's so busy with our soldiers, That it fails would shift the blame To the municipal schoolteachers, Who throw it back again. But if it cannot fix the prices, It surely can't get them right, Which, when excessive, there's the license.

And they're only going to stop it, JOHN MURRAY, Tillicum, B. C.

PROGRAMME OF FIRST COMMUNITY SING HERE

Well-Known Numbers to Be Sung at Thursday's Concert

In connection with the first "community sing" to be held under the aegis of the Arion Club on Thursday next at Parliament Buildings, Frank J. Sehl, the conductor, has sent a letter to each of the choirs of the city seeking their co-operation to ensure the success of Victoria's initial movement in this direction.

Quoting from Mr. Sehl's letter: "The object sought in these 'community sings' is to bring the people together in a mutual feeling of helpfulness and also to cultivate a general taste for music and for singing in particular."

"The idea has taken hold exceedingly well in the United States and in Eastern Canada and the committee looks forward to a general response in Victoria."

While Mr. Sehl will officiate as conductor of the Arion Club on Thursday, a meeting to which all interested have been invited will be held in the Y. W. C. A. on Monday, August 18, to elect a conductor for future community sings.

The following is the complete programme for Thursday's concert:

- Mynheer Vandunck.....Sir Henry Bishop
- Archery Marching Song.....P. Lacombe
- Solos—(a) Sunset.....Alex Russell (b) Air from Daughter of the Regiment.....Donizetti
- Community Sing—"Onward Christian Soldiers".....J. Deane Wells
- Swedish Folk Song.....Hugo Junst
- "In Flanders Fields".....J. Deane Wells
- Song of Harold Harfarer.....

MUSIC'S INFLUENCE ON CHURCH SERVICES

Hand in Hand Throughout the Ages Religion and Harmony Go Together

Outstanding, because so rarely heard of, was the resolution recently adopted at a church convention of a certain sect to the effect that their rule preventing the use of musical instruments in the churches remain in force. The fact that this stand was reached after a debate of an hour and a half shows the question was not decided even by this sect without some opposition.

Resisted organs. When the adopting or refusing of any change is fought out on the grounds of one's religious principles criticism must be made with caution. Nothing makes people offer such stout resistance as the belief in having religious grounds for so doing. It is not so very long ago that in different parts of Canada there were sturdy sects well nourished in the shelter of a religious belief.

How any such view could be held to-day is inconceivable. From the earliest times religion has gone hand-in-hand with music. The core of the Jewish religion lay in its sacred songs. When the Jews were in captivity they sat down by the waters of Babylon and wept. They hung their harps upon the willows because their captors required of them a song which they could not sing in a strange land. The psalmist of old said "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord and to sing praises upon an instrument of ten strings and upon the psaltery; upon the harp with a solemn sound." In the days of King Nebuchadnezzar, the people were commanded that when they heard the sound of the comet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer and all kinds of music they were to fall down and worship.

The Reformation. Coming down to more modern times, the great Protestant Reformation was carried along on the waves of music. The "cello" was used in church music, and all the famous evangelists, in city and country, would no more think of putting away the use of music or musical instruments than of discontinuing their activities altogether.

Music is necessary to religious expression and musical instruments of some kind are necessary to render acceptable music. Surely the quality of our praise should be the very best effort possible! The incident cited in commencing is of importance only in that it shows up by contrast the vital place of music in the life of the church to-day.

WELL PRESERVED. "Ah," sighed the convalescent soldier at a base hospital, "what wouldn't I give for one breath of my native air!" "Where'd you come from?" asked an ambulance driver. "From Aberdeen."

"Aberdeen, eh? I came down from there before crossing. Wait a moment, and I'll see what I can do for you."

A little later there was a noise of throbbing engines, and a powerful motor-car drew up before the veranda where the soldiers were sitting.

"Now, then," said the obliging driver, "bend down to this wheel, while I unscrow the valve of this back tyre. I pumped it up in Aberdeen before I left. Put yer mouth right over it, and take a good sup when I let her go!"

Children and grown-ups alike will find opportunity for good wholesome fun in the lower field, where, under the direction of the Men's Auxiliary to the G. W. V. A., children's races will be held. Riders in a jinnicksha, bombing the Kaiser, and coconut shies will also be staged in this field. Entries are being received for a tennis tournament to be played off on the board courts. A specially attractive feature will be the vocal selections to be given during the fete. In the afternoon solos will be contributed by Mrs. Macdonald Fahey and Master Brown,

MUSIC FOR THE MASSES.

"I am convinced that many who think they have no taste for music would learn to appreciate it if they attended to good instrumental music with earnestness and attention." This observation which was once made by a close student of human nature is seemingly accepted as true by the governments of the Latin-American republics. "Let me tell you," declared the Director-General of the Pan-American Union in a recent address, "the Latin-American nations love music and the Governments of the larger ones see to it that the people have music. Buenos Aires possesses the second largest grand opera house in the world."

"The local authorities provide, that at least one member of every family, financially unable to attend the opera, be given a free admission for at least one performance during the season. The Government wishes that all its people should know, hear and appreciate the best in music. Caruso told me he never sang to a more appreciative audience nor had he ever received a greater inspiration from an audience than when he sang in the opera house at Buenos Aires filled from ceiling to pit with the poor of that city. Music has a wondrous appeal to the masses and it is the duty of every musician to appeal to the highest ideals of those about him with his music."

"There is no greater influence for law and order than music," continued the speaker. "It is the one element that will unify men of all stations of life and will divert attention from the affairs of life. I witnessed music frustrate the plans of a revolution in one of these republics, when I ordered a municipal band to play some native airs while waiting for the insurgents. By the time the leader came contentment had entered the hearts of the natives and the revolution was called off."

And other leading artists will sing during the evening.

Dancing on the lawn in the evening will doubtless attract many of the younger set, for which a good programme of dance music will be furnished. The proceeds of the fete will be devoted to the funds of the Great War Veterans' Association, and the ladies anticipate a large attendance to help this worthy cause.

The man who had made a huge fortune was speaking a few words to a number of students at a business class. As usual, the main subject of his address was his own successful career.

"All my success in life, all my tremendous financial prestige," he said, proudly, "I owe to one thing—alone, pluck, pluck, pluck!"

He made an impressive pause here, but the effect was ruined by one student who asked, impressively: "Yes, sir, but how are we to find the right people to pluck?"

VIOLIN INDISPENSABLE TO ORCHESTRAL MUSIC

Expresses Whole Gamut of the Emotions From Pathos to Frenzy

In the evolution of the violin many widely diverged instruments have had a share; those of Africa, India, Arabia and even Wales assisting in its development. As its name implies it belongs to the viol family, while the word "fiddle" comes from fiducula, a stringed instrument.

Of Cremona. The earliest makers of the modern violin were of Cremona, those of the Amati family are in the front rank, while the violins of their greatest pupil, Stradivari, are considered unexcelled even today. Paganini still remains the greatest of all violinists, though he used the make of Joseph Guarnerius.

The violin is so well known that a detailed description is hardly necessary. In essentials it consists of body and neck made of maple or pine, the bridge carrying the strings are of ebony, the bridge that bears up the strings, which convey the vibrations to the body or sounding-board, and strings themselves, which though called catgut are usually made from the gut of sheep or goats.

With the violin, of course, is the bow of horsehair, a very important article in itself, for even with a bad violin good music may yet be produced, but with a bad bow, never.

The violin is the most important instrument in the orchestra; the first violinist ranking next to the conductor, while the emotions expressed by the instrument range from the deepest pathos to the wildest frenzy, and while some other instruments might be dispensed with, the violin is simply indispensable.

CEREMONIAL SONGS AMONG THE INDIANS

Tribal Rites and Ancient Superstitions Woven Into Primitive Melodies

Man in his primitive state was accustomed to expressing his emotions by means of a series of guttural sounds which to the modern ear would perhaps scarcely be termed music, and this practice is still in evidence among the peasantry of Europe and the Indian tribes of North America.

Songs of Arts. The earnest and persistent efforts of Thurlow Learance in the study of first hand of American Indian music are familiar to many, says The Etude. Among others whose work in this line deserves mention is Miss Frances Denmore, who has spent much time since 1915 among the Mandan and Hidatsa, in North Dakota. She finds that they excel in the number and variety of what may be called "occupational" songs, having songs, for instance, appropriate to tanning a hide, preparing corn or setting a trap to catch an eagle. This last is a matter taken with much seriousness, the right to sing the song appropriate to eagle-catching being an hereditary right vested in one person of the Mandan tribe. The ceremonial song, supposed to fructify the seed corn in the spring, is similarly sung only by the "corn priest."

Songs of war and of the various man's societies were also recorded, the total number of songs transcribed figuring over a hundred.

Francis La Flesche, ethnologist, was visited on the Omaha reservation by Xutha Watonin, who gave a description of the ancient War Ceremony in this tribe, as he remembered it. The ceremony included various ritual observances and fourteen songs. Xutha Watonin died soon after his return home, his death being regarded by many as confirming the old-time belief that anyone who recites informally the rituals associated with these ceremonies will inevitably suffer dire punishment.

IMPRESSIONS OF A BIG COMMUNITY SING

The scene of the last performance in connection with the Seattle Girls' Victory Carnival, held on Sunday evening last, was never to be forgotten. Picture a stage such as one might see in Greece or Rome, with huge Corinthian pillars and raised dais, surmounted with urns of burning incense, a stage large enough to accommodate over one thousand persons, and you see the stage of the amphitheatre on the campus of the University of Washington, in the city of Seattle. The wonder of the sunset—the heavens flecked with gold and purple and pink lights—the reflections on the waters of Lake Washington, of which one caught glimpses through the tall, statelily firs forming the background of the stage, held one in breathless awe.

Nearly 25,000 Present. The huge amphitheatre held between 20,000 and 25,000 people, gathered to sing. On the dais was the Consolidated Navy Band, of 100 pieces, massed around the foot of a chorus of 1,000 sailors and men in khaki supplementing the chorus of bluejackets on the stage. The sight was inspiring. Lowell Paton presided at the grand piano, which was used as a supplement to the orchestra. John Henry Lyons—"Everybody Sing Lyons"—as he is called, stepped quickly to the front, and in a short time, under his magnetic influence, that huge audience and chorus were singing "Auld Lang Syne," "Old Kentucky Home," "Old Folks at Home," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," and the opening number of the programme was concluded by the singing of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" and "The Star Spangled Banner" by the standing multitude and the uniformed boys' attention.

Sailors Join In. Thus was swung into action under the hand of a forceful personality a volume of sound expressive of the holiest emotions to which it is given human being to express—not always "artistic," but as Mr. Lyons expressed it, "that's what we should be."

The Sailors' Band in two numbers, under the leadership of D. Moro, played with wonderful musicianship, the leader directing without baton and without score, two compositions combining many intricacies of time and expression. These, with a number of popular duets sung sweetly by two young ladies, were the more secular adjuncts to the programme.

Religious Music. Then quickly a picked symphony orchestra below the footlights played the opening bars of the "Inflammatus et Accensus," and under the baton of Silvio Reissiger a chorus of a dozen selected voices sang, the solo and obbligato being taken by Mrs. Roy Everett Miller. The dignity of the composition

ARION CLUB TO START COMMUNITY SINGING

On Thursday Next; Officers Elected at Annual Meeting on Monday

Community singing in Victoria will be inaugurated on Thursday next when the Arion Club will give its annual outdoor concert on the steps of the Parliament Buildings in aid of the Red Cross. Such was the decision reached at the annual meeting of the Arion Club on Monday evening, and it is hoped that the public will enter heartily into the spirit of the occasion and join in the songs which will be given. At Monday night's meeting E. Howard Russell gave an interesting description of the working of community singing in Tacoma and his remarks were received with much enthusiasm by the members.

General regret will be felt at the announcement that Frank J. Sehl has resigned from the honorary conductorship of the organization—a post which he has filled with much distinction for some time. A number, however, fortunate in having Herbert Kent to take the place of Mr. Sehl, he having been assistant conductor for some time, and is also the only remaining charter member of the organization.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: Conductor, Herbert Kent; president and assistant conductor, Frank J. Sehl; secretary, Philip Hughes; financial secretary, L. W. Hall; treasurer, W. H. Wilders; librarian, A. J. Mortimer; assistant librarian, J. Walton; auditor, Alexander Reid; and other members upon the Music Committee, Francis F. Patt, two other members upon the General Committee, B. C. Mess and H. A. Beckwith.

PAGANINI AND THE DOCTOR. The following characteristic story illustrating the great violinist's penuriousness, even got into the Parisian press. Paganini had been the guest of an English friend living in Paris, Douglas Loveday by name, and had enjoyed his hospitality for three months. Among Loveday's friends, who called almost daily, was a physician, and Paganini was the most part of his life in poor health, repeatedly sought professional advice from him. When the violinist was about to leave Paris, he received a bill from the doctor, amounting to 110 francs for professional services.

Paganini was exasperated at this, and even went so far as to declare that Loveday had forced the doctor upon him in order to secure a new patient for his friend; that the professional advice had been given merely in the form of harmless conversation, and that the physician was wholly incompetent anyhow. It was only under protest that he paid the 110 francs. Shortly afterwards Loveday received from Paganini a bill of 24,400 francs, 2,400 francs for twelve lessons, which the Italian had given his daughter, and 2,400 francs for having played eight times at Loveday's house. But Loveday rose to the occasion and retaliated by sending Paganini a bill of 37,800 francs for three months' board and lodging. Moreover, he gave Paganini's letter that contained the bill to the Parisian press, so that the whole ridiculous affair became noised abroad, to the great detriment of the artist's reputation.

Helps to Keep Young People on the Farm at Home.

A vital question facing the country, one in which every class is more or less ultimately interested, is the keeping people on the farms. Young folks will continue to crave for city life as long as there are bright, enjoyable and instructive pleasures to be had in the big centres. If life on the farm is dull and cheerless. Modern houses and labor-saving devices are taking a great deal of the drudgery from farming but the social life of rural communities is neglected. There are numerous country sides where about the only regular musical attraction is the Friday night choir practice. Unfortunately that only interests a few. What is wanted is plenty of music for the parents, the little folks and the youth who are not in the choir or who are not in touch with music in any way.

Pianos and Phonographs. To get to the very practical side of this great art—music, there are few attractions that would work so directly in keeping the young people satisfied with the country as to interject into every rural district a few dozen player pianos and phonographs so that music might hold sway without let or hindrance. A few tunes at noon-hour during harvest makes a pleasing break in the day. An evening of music is the finest incentive to stimulating a social life in the community. To entertain or to be entertained, music is the easiest and most acceptable help there is. It has been charged that the old-fashioned visiting among farmers' families is dying out. If that be true, music would be a great antidote for a falling-off in visitation.

Music in Winter. Perhaps the winter months need music the most. Dancing is a popular country winter pleasure and with modern musical instruments anyone can play for a dance. Furthermore, it is not necessary to have a big affair with an orchestra for the player piano and the phonograph facilitate the holding of a dance when just a few families get together, even if arranged on the spur of the minute. With music available every day, the boys and girls do not grow up in the feeling that their environment is lonesome. Their school days are spent more profitably on account of the rest that comes from a joyous home life. Parents and grandparents, too, are refreshed by lots of music. So let the old farmhouse resound with music every day! The place of music in the rural community reminds one of "the glue" in George Eliot's "Silas Marner"—"when I come to think on it, meanin' goes but a little way if most things, for you may mean to stick things together and your glue

City Engineer C. H. Rust Resigns; Comments on Strained Situation

City Engineer and Water Commissioner Charles H. Rust, after six years' service, has decided to leave Victoria for the purpose of taking up a position with a large contracting corporation in Toronto, for which city he will leave early in September.

Yesterday afternoon the letter of resignation was filed with the City Clerk, following a fire which Mr. Rust received. It will be brought to the attention of the Mayor and Council at the meeting on Monday night. The resignation takes effect at the end of August.

While nothing has yet been done, of course, respecting the question of appointing a successor to the position to be vacated by Mr. Rust, Assistant Engineer Frank M. Preston is looked upon as the most eligible candidate. Mr. Preston has been in the city since 1912 and has had inside and outside service have expressed regret at Mr. Rust's decision to leave the city, but under the circumstances they also intimate that they would like to see Mr. Preston appointed to the position, feeling that he has demonstrated the qualities required.

Speaking of his resignation, Mr. Rust stated this morning that he had been considering the matter for some time. "I felt that there was not a great deal of work going on and there was a feeling on the part of some citizens that they could get along with a less expensive engineer, especially in these hard times when there is such a strong desire to exercise economy," said Mr. Rust.

"This offer from Toronto came along, and as a matter of fact I expected it some days ago. It is not a municipal but a public corporation, though just at present I do not care to mention the name of the concern I am going to join. "I had previously discussed the situation with the Mayor, and I told him that I was quite prepared to stay on

CLERKS ASK FOR A MINIMUM WAGE

In Manifesto to Merchants; Want Increase in Pay and Forty-Eight-Hour Week

The view of the Retail Clerks' International Protective Association, on present industrial and commercial conditions now prevalent in Victoria and the steps that should be taken to place the business life of the city on a more stable footing were to-day laid before the Retail Merchants' Association in a letter to that body.

The communication, signed by Jas. Talbot, president of the local branch of the Retail Clerks' International Protective Association, and Thomas Elder, the secretary of the organization, reads as follows:

"You will be aware that much dissatisfaction has long existed amongst retail employees by reason of low wages, long hours and the high cost of living. It is a matter of common knowledge and general agreement that the conditions of life endured by the men and women who labor in stores are worse than those obtaining in nearly all other branches of industrial activity. We are strongly of opinion that, so long as these conditions obtain, dissatisfaction and unrest amongst employees will continue, and indeed increase. This in turn will adversely affect trade and commerce, and will inevitably react upon the material prosperity of the merchants themselves. On the other hand a general improvement in living conditions will inevitably bring about such a spirit of harmony between the clerks and the merchants as will ensure hearty co-operation, mutuality of interests and increased prosperity.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Were Numerous Yesterday; Some Damage Done When Cars Collide

Several automobile accidents of a more or less serious nature have been reported to the police as occurring yesterday. The chief of these in which a Cordova Bay jitney, and a car driven by a man alleged to be under the influence of liquor is reported elsewhere.

Harold Grant, in a letter to the Chief of Police, states that he was run into while driving a car along Government Street, between Humboldt Street and Belleville Street.

C. J. Wood reports having hit a Japanese while proceeding in a motor along Empress Avenue. The Jap was not seriously injured, and was able to walk away.

Cars driven by Howard J. Brown and J. W. Pomeroy collided with considerable damage to both vehicles. At about midnight last night, a car driven by J. E. Rice, collided with an "Oak Bay street" car, the fender of the latter being slightly twisted, and some slight damage being done to the automobile.

DRAWNS RECORD HOUSE

Second Performance of "Jane" Given Before Largest Audience Seen in Princess Theatre

A capacity house greeted the Red Cross Stock Company at the Princess Theatre last night for the second performance of "Jane," the brilliant farce-comedy. The attendance constituted a record since the Red Cross have taken over the theatre, practically every seat being taken. Thursday night's success was repeated, and if anything the comedy went with an even better swing, although the final curtain did not descend until half an hour after ten on the opening night—due to the fact that the continual merriment and roars of laughter somewhat hindered the progress of the performance. Each of the players ably responded to the enthusiasm imparted by an appreciative audience, and each scored a personal success.

So great has been the demand for seats that even at this early date it has been suggested that the "run" of "Jane" may have to be extended. Would-be patrons, however, are advised to book their seats without delay if they wish to see this exceedingly successful production before it comes to an end on Wednesday next.

AN UNEXPECTED RETORT.

A well-known French marshal had a mania for questioning his officers about their families invariably starting off with: "What is your father's profession, your mother's, and your sister's?" Some of the subalterns became so weary of this endless repetition that they decided among themselves to give each in turn the following reply: "My father is a shoemaker, my mother is a laundress and my sister is very flighty."

On the following Sunday, after the customary church parade, the marshal, who had already received the same answer to his questions from two or three of the officers, turned to another and started off in the old stereotyped strain: "What is your father's profession?" "He is a shoemaker."

"And your mother's?" "She is a laundress."

"That will do," interrupted the marshal, "I know the rest: your sister is flighty, and you will consider yourself confined to barracks until she behaves better!"—Tit-Bits.

AN UNEXPECTED RETORT.

A well-known French marshal had a mania for questioning his officers about their families invariably starting off with: "What is your father's profession, your mother's, and your sister's?" Some of the subalterns became so weary of this endless repetition that they decided among themselves to give each in turn the following reply: "My father is a shoemaker, my mother is a laundress and my sister is very flighty."

On the following Sunday, after the customary church parade, the marshal, who had already received the same answer to his questions from two or three of the officers, turned to another and started off in the old stereotyped strain: "What is your father's profession?" "He is a shoemaker."

"And your mother's?" "She is a laundress."

"That will do," interrupted the marshal, "I know the rest: your sister is flighty, and you will consider yourself confined to barracks until she behaves better!"—Tit-Bits.

HON. E. D. BARROW PRESENTS MEDALS

To "S. O. S." Boys of the Colwood, Sooke and Metchosin Localities

ENTHUSIASTIC EVENT HELD AT METCHOSIN

More Than a Hundred People Turn Out to Greet the Minister

The necessities and impositions of war during four years have produced many interesting developments, direct or indirect, if not immediate, practical value to the Allied armies. The creation of the armies themselves and the mounting of guns, munitions, and foodstuffs were the factors responsible for the dawn of a new era for willing workers at home. And perhaps the most recent cog in the machinery of war is the movement of the Soldiers of the Soil. To this younger made generation, its work on Vancouver Island, and in British Columbia generally, is the most important and the most difficult. It is the responsibility of the general run of Metchosin entertainment interspersed the speeches of the Minister, and it was no exception to the general run of Metchosin entertainment. An excellent musical programme interspersed the speeches of the Minister, and it was no exception to the general run of Metchosin entertainment. An excellent musical programme interspersed the speeches of the Minister, and it was no exception to the general run of Metchosin entertainment.

Energetic Community. Last night's event was organized under the joint auspices of the Metchosin Farmers' Institute and the Women's Institute, whose co-operative working plans have been responsible for increased production throughout the locality, and it was no exception to the general run of Metchosin entertainment. An excellent musical programme interspersed the speeches of the Minister, and it was no exception to the general run of Metchosin entertainment.

Department's Justification. Less than thirty minutes remained at the disposal of the Minister when he arose to address the gathering, the necessity to return to town in time for the midnight boat, curtailing his remarks to a minimum. He made a practical and earnest talk Mr. Barrow's first visit to Metchosin will be remembered. He inferred at the outset that the people of British Columbia would find in him no apologist, because it was patent to his mind that justification for the existence of the Department of Agriculture could only be found in its practicality and its capacity to increase the industry by sound co-operative advice and assistance. Upon the Institutes and kindred organizations of the province developed an opportunity to give many problems which proved to be a tax on the individual, and the Department could always be regarded as possessing a receptive mind as well as the will for conjoint action with the institutes.

District's Representatives. The Minister then proceeded in continuation of the theme by explaining his plan for the adoption of the District Representative system in British Columbia. Many references have been made to the subject in these columns, and Mr. Barrow made the clear advantages that would unfailingly accrue to rural industry by an intelligent administration of the plan. He scouted the old system where the occasional public meeting addressed by an agricultural expert would merely infuse a more or less academic atmosphere for the time being, leaving no practical value behind. With the District Representative method, however, the expert would be allocated to a specific district. His mission would be to familiarize himself with the problems peculiar to the locality, discuss them, solve them, and carry on the examples of one man's failure, and its advantages to the man on the next farm and so by the continual interchange of ideas with the attendant ocular demonstration there would be substituted sane farming principles for a more or less trusting-but-method.

Day of Expert Here. Mindful, however, of the many splendid farms of the province where men had toiled for years with outstanding success, Mr. Barrow declared that the "white-collared" gentleman was sometimes looked upon as superfluous. Nevertheless the march of events had demanded the ushering in of the expert, no matter what walk of life was involved, and he argued that the farmer above all men would be the last to say that he knew it all. As a man of the land himself Mr. Barrow sees a great deal of value in the District Representative system, and by the selection of the proper men for the job he told the people of Metchosin last night that there would be a repetition of the progress made under a similar programme in the continental growing states of the Union. Dealers in those sections, brought about by the dwindling cotton crop year after year, had given place to unbounded prosperity soon after the theory and practice of proper crop rotation had dawned upon them.

Bridging the Gulf. Not only was development in British Columbia necessary if the province was to realize her potential rural wealth, but it was equally necessary more and more an economic question. Much had been said of increased production so that more foodstuffs could be sent overseas; but as far as British Columbia was concerned it had to be remembered that it was not a question of creating a surplus in this province at the moment; it was merely a better attempt to bridge the gulf between production and the amount necessary to import into British Columbia to sustain her people. The more land brought under crop in this province meant just that much less drain on the supplies, and that was the assistance British Columbia could render to the Allied cause. That she must eventually feed herself from the produce grown in her own borders was becoming more insistent than ever, said the Minister.

Feed Shortage. The seriousness of mill feed shortage was touched upon by Mr. Barrow, and he reiterated his statement that British Columbia's yield of hay, etc., would be no more than seventy per cent normal, while sources of outside supply available last year would be closed this year. The export of more wheat and less flour meant, of course, still further curtailment in bran and shorts—a serious question last year; but with even a more serious outlook for the winter of 1918-19.

At a meeting of the Local Food Control Board yesterday morning, Mr. Barrow had taken up the feed question, and an arrangement had been arrived at to gather British Columbia statistics giving approximately normal requirements, so that the authorities would be in a position to know her needs and enabling the Board to see to it that no disproportionate curtailment took place in this Province. The Minister stated that the situation had been made the more acute by reason of the fact that storage facilities, for wheat in England were a good deal more extensive than for flour, with a consequence of less milling in Canada. Placing the rodent aspect on the general situation the Minister saw the need for the most rigid economy during the coming winter.

Plucky Girls. Before closing the Minister of Agriculture remarked that much had been said of the boys and their work in the fields; but it was not his intention to let the occasion pass without a word for the gentler sex. He had special reference to the berry pickers of the Fraser Valley and the conditions under which they worked. Mr. Barrow declared that the mosquitoes were virtually as thick as pea soup, yet those girls continued their work under positive torture. "Those girls were there to pick berries and they picked berries because they were no quitter and many of them became ill from the effects of the fearful experience," said the Minister, as he went on to suggest that it was up to the government to take steps to curtail the nuisance to the limit of its ability.

Medal Recipients. Mr. Barrow then presented medals to the following "S.O.S." boys from the Colwood, Sooke and Metchosin districts: Walter Arden, Charles Arden, W. Brynjolson, Eric Birch-Jones, Charles Helgeson, W. D. Higgs, Edward Hart, Tom G. Howitt, Ernest Hetherbell, Robert Kerr, David Moffatt, Neil McTavish, Bert Parker, Percus Reid, Kenneth Reid, Walton Smith, Thomas Sherwood.

Movement's Possibilities. During the course of his explanatory remarks Mr. Thompson said that the development of the Soldiers of the Soil movement had been responsible for the enlistment throughout Canada of less than 30,000 boys, and in British Columbia alone 1,900, to which Vancouver Island had contributed 300. He described the movement as of considerable benefit to the farmer and to the boy. The farmer's prejudice to the youthful worker had been effectively removed, while to the boy himself there had opened up great possibilities in the work as a character moulder, providing its own incentive to the citizen to-morrow to take his share in the remodelling of the nation after the war. Even if only a small percentage of the boys chose the rural life after the immediate necessity for their toil had passed, there would be an addition to the army of development that would mean much to the country, said Mr. Thompson.

Programme. Instrumental and vocal solos, part-songs and recitations were contributed by the following artists: Mrs. Brown, Miss Johnson, Miss Lillian Holder, Messrs. L. A. Young, E. Pierce, G. Guy, Milstead and the Rev. C. Swanson. Mrs. Nasmith, well-known in Victoria's musical circles, filled the role of accompanist in her own inimitable manner.

MANGANESE ORE FOUND ON ISLAND

Two Separate Finds Reported in Cowichan Lake Section

Discoveries of Manganese ores, some of which will be of the greatest use for war purposes, have been made in the western section of the Cowichan District during the past few weeks, according to a Hoboken, and J. Andersen, a Norwegian, have made discoveries in one part, and T. H. Service, a returned soldier, who had seen the ore twenty years ago, and re-discovered it recently with M. L. Douglas, has located another find. What with its most valuable spruce and other timber limits its iron ore in the Gordon River region and the present new find in the western section of Cowichan promises to become one of the richest regions of British Columbia. C. H. Dicku, interested in many mining enterprises in the West, is one of the owners of some of land on which the new mines will be located. W. M. Brewer, Government mining engineer, Nanaimo, is making an inspection this week.

WANT NEW ROAD.

An endeavor is being made to open up a road along the sea front at the foot of Tzouhalem Mountain, from Green Point to the Genoa Bay mill. The growing importance of the mill has led to an increasing need for better road facilities. It is hoped that the Government, the Municipality of North Cowichan and the mill company will co-operate to bring about better communication to Genoa Bay. At present the usual route is by road to Cowichan Bay, and by boat across the Bay to the mill, a round-about route.

In Seven Innings Game, Elks Beat Soldiers by Two Runs to One

With the series not half way finished, the Cubs have a valuable lead in the league table with three wins and one draw game to their credit.

Additional interest will be centered in the diving contest at the P. N. A. gala to be held here August 21 owing to the keen rivalry existing between two of the chief competitors.

FORCES OF ALLIES CONTINUE ADVANCE

Germans Burning Villages and Materials as They Fall Back

On the French Front in France, Aug. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Allied advance along the Soissons-Rheims front continued through last night and this morning. The banks of the Aisne have been reached along the front from Pommiers, west of Soissons, to Venize, on the east of that town. Further east Allied forces have reached the district of Serches, Courvelles and Cersuult, and are not far from the River Vesle in the vicinity of Champey and Jonchery, finding all the bridges cut or burned by the Germans.

Just west of Rheims Allied troops have reached or are approaching Tinquex, Thillois, Gueux and Rosney, all between from Rouen to Rheims. Fires are illuminating the skies everywhere, the enemy burning everything as he retreats. More than forty concentrations were counted during the night.

Armored Cars.
On the French Front in France, Aug. 3.—London, Aug. 3.—The French armored cars have taken such an important part in recent operations that they may really be called a new arm of the service. French tacticians have worked out a method of employing them so that these cars seem to have solved the problem of the rapid advance of artillery with infantry.

They are in constant touch with the commander of operations and co-operate with the aviation service and the artillery and infantry by means of their wireless signals. Carrier pigeons keep headquarters informed as to their progress.

The French now are employing 320 pieces of armored cars. The St. Chamond, weighing twenty tons and carrying a crew of eight; the Omeideur, of thirteen tons and manned by a crew of six, and the Renault, of six tons and manned by two soldiers.

The machines fight in large formations, forming batteries and groups. Batteries of light cars are easily concealable in shell holes and clumps of bushes. They have been particularly useful in the present operations in destroying machine gun nests and blockhouses and paralyzing the counter-offensives. They also have operated against enemy artillery. They might be called armored infantry on wheels.

The crews of these cars are giving extraordinary proof of their disregard of danger and bravery. Soldiers are not required to serve in the cars, they being manned by volunteers only.

The French mobile tanks present a striking contrast to the German machines which have been captured in recent fighting. Some of these weigh thirty-five tons and are bad copies of British and French tanks.

Message From Haig

London, Aug. 3.—Field-Marshal Haig, Commander-in-Chief of the British forces in France, in a message on the fourth anniversary of Great Britain's entry into the war, says to his troops: "The conclusion of the fourth year of the war marks the passing of the period of crisis. The Russian revolution set free large hostile forces, which were transferred to the Western front. The enemy's intention was to use great numbers and to gain a decision before the arrival of American troops could give superiority to the Allies. The enemy has failed. The steady stream of Americans arriving in France has restored the balance."

ENLISTMENT OF MEN OF U. S. IN CANADA

Sixty Days Allowed for Those of Twenty-One to Thirty

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—Instructions have been sent out to all the registrars and deputy registrars throughout Canada under the Military Service Act outlining the procedure in regard to the enlistment of American citizens in Canada subject to the draft laws under the new Canadian-American convention. All male Americans of the ages twenty-one to thirty, both inclusive, are given sixty days either to enlist or enroll voluntarily in the Canadian Expeditionary Force or to claim diplomatic exemption. At the expiration of the sixty days such of these men as have done nothing in regard to military service automatically will become subject to the Canadian draft laws.

There will be a general registration taken throughout Canada of all such men, and on the expiration of the sixty days they will be called upon to report for service. All Americans residing in Canada who wish to place themselves under the American draft law and desire information as to procedure should apply to the nearest American consul. Instructions to the consuls are now being forwarded from Washington.

American citizens resident in Canada of the ages thirty-one to forty-four, both inclusive, will be allowed thirty days from the date which may later be fixed for the registration of men of such ages under the laws of the United States, either to volunteer or to claim exemption. For the present, however, those men are not affected, since no call has yet been issued in the United States for this class.

Local Situation.
The following telegraphic instructions have been received by the American Consulate here: "Certifications of the Military Service Act are being exchanged between the United States and Great Britain and Canada were exchanged July 30th in London, this making the 20th conventions which were signed on June 3rd last effective as from July 30th.

"Under these conventions, all males citizens of the United States in Canada between the ages of 21 and 30, both inclusive, who are liable to compulsory military service under the laws and regulations in force in Canada on July 30th, may during a period of sixty days from July 30th, the date of the exchange of ratifications, enroll voluntarily in the American forces or may leave Canada for the purpose of military service in America.

"If such male citizens of the United States are not so liable to compulsory military service in Canada on July 30th, then they may enlist or enroll for service in the American forces, or leave Canada for the purpose of military service in America, or may return to the United States after the expiration of the sixty days, in which case they may be called upon to register for service in the American forces, or leave Canada for the purpose of military service in America, or may return to the United States after the expiration of the sixty days, in which case they may be called upon to register for service in the American forces, or leave Canada for the purpose of military service in America.

"Citizens of the United States in Canada who have already registered or who may register hereafter within the periods specified need not re-register upon their return to the United States unless called by their Local Boards, and are not subject to the Canadian Military Service laws. If within these periods of sixty and thirty days, American citizens in Canada do not enlist or enroll, 'Register,' or leave Canada for Military Service in the forces of their own country they will, unless exempted by the American Consul-General under article 3 of the convention, be liable to compulsory military service in Canada and entitled to exemption and discharge therefrom under the laws and regulations from time to time in force in that country in the same manner as if they were Canadians.

"Under article 3 of the convention, the American Consul-General at Ottawa is authorized to grant exemptions from military service in Canada within the respective periods of sixty and thirty days aforesaid as the case may be under certain rules and limitations which will be made known by the Consul-General upon request."

ANARCHIST PLOT TO BLOW UP AMERICAN TROOPSHIP IS FOILED

An Atlantic Port of the United States, Aug. 3.—An anarchist plot to destroy an American troop transport is believed by the authorities to have been frustrated to-day with the arrest of a man who said he was Frederick Rouchat. The prisoner, caught climbing a rope ladder upon the side of the steamship, a former German liner, said he had been selected by lot to blow up the vessel.

GERMANS RETREATING WITH GREAT RAPIDITY NORTH OF THE VESLE

Paris, Aug. 3.—The French army is holding several fords across the Vesle River. The Germans evidently give up the idea of making a stand there.

The Germans are retreating north of the Vesle with great precipitation. The German right wing on the north bank of the Aisne is in a dangerous situation and it is expected that it will be unable to hold its present position.

With the French Army on the Aisne-Vesle front, Aug. 3.—The army of the German Crown Prince continues in full retreat.

The Germans have no heavy artillery in action. They evidently foresaw that their positions were untenable. The German losses have been very heavy.

WORLD SERIES DATE

Cleveland, Aug. 3.—At a special meeting of the American League here to-day it was voted to continue the season until September 2. It was also decided to start the world series with the National League pennant winners on September 4.

AN ALLIED FORCE WAS LANDED AT ARCHANGEL AFTER REVOLUTION

London, Aug. 3.—A dispatch received here states that after the revolution in which the Bolshevik regime was overthrown at Archangel, in northern Russia, an Allied detachment was landed at Archangel, occupying the railway station and the telegraph office with insignificant resistance.

Apparently there were no losses to the Allied forces in the movement.

GEN. FOCH'S GENIUS GREATLY ADMIRER

French Military Men Pay Tribute to Leader; the Advance Yesterday

Paris, Aug. 3.—Friday's splendid success was but a link in the chain of victories which have followed one after the other since General Foch launched his counter-offensive on July 18. Rarely in war has a plan been followed out with such clockwork regularity, and military opinion here is lost in admiration of the splendid genius which conceived it and of the mastery with which it is being carried out.

Began Friday Morning.

The German retreat began Friday morning after the fall of the Tardenois line brought about by the storming of the Hartennes plateau by the troops of General Mangin the night before. General Berthelot's troops on the east entered Ville-en-Tardenois and advanced on both sides of the Aisne valley. American troops in the centre marched toward the Vesle down the Orillon valley, while from Hartennes French troops debouched into the Crise valley, taking in the rear the previously impregnable redoubt of Buzancy.

Little by little the movement quickened. The Dormans-Rheims road was left three miles behind the Gueux. Poilly, Vesilly, Goussanourt and Coulognes were passed at a bound.

The Forest of Neales was cleaned out and the Dole Wood entered. The Arcy Wood was but a mouthful.

On Heights.
On the west Allied troops carried on to Maastet-Violaine, Chacrise and Septmonts. By mid-afternoon Allied troops were established solidly on the heights on both sides of the Crise, that is to say, south and southeast of Soissons.

The fall of Soissons, which the Germans were obliged to evacuate, irrevocably decided the fate of the battle. It was the pivot of the whole German line. Even admitting that the German left could cling to the narrow plain between the Vesle and the Aisne, the right wing could not have remained in the air, as its only supports were the Soissons plateau and the nearest spur of the famous Chemin-des-Dames. Thus it should be held there, the situation would have been where it was at the end of September, 1914.

U BOAT SANK SHIP IN BAY OF FUNDY

Sent Down Lumber-Laden British Schooner Near Grand Manan

New York, Aug. 3.—An Associated Press dispatch from Eastport, Maine, this morning said: "The crew of nine men from the lumber-laden four-masted British schooner Dornfontain were landed at Grand Manan, N. B., to-day. The men reported that their vessel was sunk by a submarine last night while between Briar Island and Grand Manan."

Grand Manan Island is eight miles east of the eastern extremity of Maine and Briar Island, N. B., is thirty-five miles southeast of Grand Manan, on the eastern side of the Bay of Fundy.

Washington, Aug. 3.—After removing a quantity of provisions from a lumber-laden schooner near the Nova Scotia coast yesterday morning the crew of a German submarine set fire to the vessel. The Navy Department was informed to-day by the commandant of the First Naval District. The name of the schooner was not given.

The Department's statement said that nine men in a dory landed at Gannet Rock light at 6:30 a. m. to-day and reported that the schooner had been torpedoed at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning, thirty-five miles east southwest of Briar Island, and near the coast of Nova Scotia.

The submarine appeared to be about 200 feet long and carried two guns. Naval officers believe this may be the same submarine which began operations last month in the trans-Atlantic ship lane near Long Island.

BEST RESTAURANTS WERE SMASHED IN TORONTO

Sixteen Cafes Broke Up by Returned Soldiers and Sympathizers

Toronto, Aug. 3.—On the day following one of the most disorderly outbreaks in this city ever has seen, nineteen men are in the hands of the police on charges of disorderly conduct, but the real story of the event is seen in the dismantled and ruined premises of about sixteen restaurants on Yonge, Queen, Bloor and Dundas Streets as they were left by a crowd of returned soldiers and sympathizers last night.

The damage will easily total $50,000, the sufferers being Greek restaurant proprietors in some of them scarcely one pane of glass remains whole. Plate glass windows were shattered, furniture smashed, counters up set, mirrors smashed and marble top tables thrown down and broken. The Marathon Restaurant on Yonge Street looks as if a tornado had passed through it, and every other place is a replica, more or less complete, of the Marathon.

The trouble started in some dispute on Thursday between a returned man and the waiters in the White City Cafe, kept by a Greek. A number of returned men apparently got together and the riot began there last night about 9 o'clock, and soon Yonge Street was in the hands of the soldiers and their sympathizers. Place after place was visited.

Into the Street.
The police were able to do little else than look on while the raiders became more and more reckless, and the following destruction of fixtures set about throwing tea, sugar and flour, and in fact everything they could get their hands on, into the street. The worst element in the crowd began looting and quantities of stuff were carried away. Money was taken from tills and canned goods slipped under coats.

"This is the time we get justice," yelled the soldiers as they led the crowds from place to place. The crowds cheered them on, girls and women laughed at the destruction and the mob became uncontrollable.

The arrival in motors of men from the barracks after midnight and the last of any other places to wreck finally restored some semblance of sense to the crowd and it gradually dispersed.

That the raid was well planned appears from the fact that motor cars conveyed parties of men to outlying places like West Toronto and Queen Street West, four miles from Yonge Street, and Greek restaurants there suffered almost as much as the downtown places.

GRAIN MARKET SOFT AT CHICAGO TO-DAY

(By Burdick Bros. & Brett, Ltd.)

Chicago, Aug. 3.—The start on corn was steady, but as the operation was immediately encountered, the market turned and soon developed extreme weakness. Notwithstanding the favorable weather report, holders apparently were more anxious to secure profits than to stand out or increase their commitments over Sunday, as selling by houses who were the most conspicuous buyers yesterday was the overshadowing pit feature.

Oats were heavy from start to finish and a further decline of one and three-quarters of a cent was recorded.

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNEPEG MARKET

Winnepeg, Aug. 3.—The cash markets again were without feature at the weekend session to-day. Prices were lower, caused by the good conditions prevailing throughout Western Canada and also were in sympathy with the heaviness on the American markets. The exchange will be closed Monday, which will be the civic holiday here.

Oats closed 1/2 lower for October and 1/2 lower for December. Flax closed 4 cents lower for October.

ACTION BY ALLIES IN SIBERIA DISCUSSED AT WASHINGTON TO-DAY

Washington, Aug. 3.—Viscount Itoh, the Japanese Ambassador to the United States, had half an hour's conference with Acting Secretary Folk to-day at the State Department, at which it was assumed that the acceptance by Japan of the American proposal for joint action by the Allies in Siberia was discussed.

The answer was understood to meet technically all the requirements laid down by the American Government. It was a successful consideration, however, and no formal announcement is expected for the present at least.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET STAGNANT

Lightest Trading in Many Months at the Session To-day

(By Burdick Bros. & Brett, Ltd.)

New York, Aug. 3.—Transactions on the stock exchange fell to the lowest point in many months to-day. The money situation and the various tax proposals advanced at Washington are the factors more than anything else that restrain a broader inquiry for securities at the present time. It is said that the President favors an 80 cent tax on all war profits.

GENERAL LECKIE IS ADVISED OF ORDERS

Three Weeks Grace for Military Absentees; Severe Punishment Thereafter

Telegraphic advices from the Adjutant-General of Canada have reached Major-General Leckie, General Officer Commanding Military District No. 11, this morning to the effect that an extra to The Canada Gazette was issued at 7 o'clock last night containing a proclamation removing deserters and absentees under the Military Service Act for liability to punishment, providing they report for duty between now and August 24 next.

While the period for reporting is extended to August 24, it is suggested that the Government in so providing has in mind the rigorous nature of the treatment that will be meted out to all offenders who do not take advantage of the clemency now extended.

As is only natural from the commander of this military district and as head of the military life of the province has in mind the rigorous nature of the treatment that will be meted out to all offenders who do not take advantage of the clemency now extended.

Further reference to the matter as applying to the whole Dominion and setting forth the apparent purpose the Government has in view in issuing the proclamation is made elsewhere in this issue under a dispatch from Ottawa.

EXPENSIVE DRINKS

Man Fined $50 for Driving Motor Car While Drunk, Causing Collision.

For driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor last night when his car collided with a Corvova Bay jitney and caused considerable damage, Norman Hepburn was fined $50 by Magistrate Jay in the Police Court this morning.

The collision which resulted in Hepburn's arrest occurred last night shortly before nine o'clock at the corner of Douglas and Yates Streets. C. W. Gieger, who was a passenger in the jitney which was struck and considerably damaged, stated that the car driven by accused came along Douglas Street at a fast rate of speed and that in his opinion the driver was under liquor influence.

The driver of the jitney J. F. McLachlan, stated that the car driven by accused cut across Yates Street and headed straight for the jitney which was on the left side of the road going west. All that was left for the driver of the latter car to do was to turn sharply to the right and the other car crashed into the jitney on its left side.

Mrs. Gieger, also a passenger in the jitney, was thrown by the impact of the collision upon the hood of the other car, but beyond a few bruises she received no injuries.

Accused pleaded that he was not accustomed to the vagaries of his motor, and his fingers had moved the gasoline regulator. The result was that the car took a sudden and unexpected spurt forward across Yates Street. He admitted having taken two drinks of rye whisky in the course of the day.

Sergeant Fry told the Court that accused had struggled when arrested and had threatened to have the officers dismissed. Hepburn, it is alleged, had stated that the Sergeant would be looking for a job with a pick and shovel as a result of the arrest and had behaved uproariously at the station. Later on when in the cells he

COLOR LINE DRAWN AGAINST LOCAL BOY

Roy S. Carter is Taken Into Custody; a Remarkable Record

Roy Sylvester Carter, colored, son of George Carter, of this city, was arrested by the Military Police yesterday under the Military Service Act, and removed to the Willows Camp.

Carter was taken into custody as he landed from the tug on which he has been employed for some time. He was before Magistrate Jay three months ago at the time his right to be at large was questioned, and Capt. Tweedale, the Assistant Provost-Marshal, agreed to present the facts to Ottawa with the idea of obtaining a certificate.

That certificate, however, has not been forthcoming, his family stated Carter being at large merely on a temporary one which prohibited him going away to the employment in which he was engaged on a Saskatchewan farm. Under the circumstances he was obliged to secure work here, pending some action by the authorities.

The peculiar circumstances of this case arise from the fact that he was frequently refused admission both to the Army and the Navy on account of his color.

Seven days after the war commenced, Carter tried to enlist with the 84th Fusiliers, but was turned down on account of his color. Again in August 15, 1914, he endeavored to join the Highlanders with the same result. On September 14 he once more tried to get into the 56th, and again refused admission. In March of 1915 he attempted to become a member of the Newcastle crew but he was turned down. In the following month he wrote to Sir Sam Hughes, then Minister of Militia, who referred him to Col. Ogilvie, D. O. C. Eventually he was informed that the officers of the Canadian Expeditionary Force were not obliged to take him if they did not feel disposed.

Later on in the year Carter saw Major Small of the C. A. S. C. who also turned him down. In the summer of 1917, while in Swift Current, he tried to enlist in the 77th Battalion, but he was still refused entry into the army. In October last he passed his medical examination at the Military Service Act, and applied for entry into the Aviation Corps as a mechanic's helper, but this effort proved as vain as the preceding ones.

On the ground that he had been turned down on account of his color, Carter applied for exemption at Regina and in this city, but both these claims were disallowed. A letter from the then Minister of Militia informed him that it was a case of going "over there" as a conscript.

In a letter to The Times in February last Carter pointed out that the reason he had endeavored so persistently to join up was that he felt an obligation to the country of his birth. He was proud to think that he had been brought up in Victoria, and he wanted to fight for the nation of which he considered himself a citizen.

WOULD FIX COAST PRICES ON GRAIN

Local Food Board Committee Takes Matter Up; Fish Market Possible

A meeting of the Provincial Committee of the Canada Food Board was held yesterday at which the following members were in attendance: J. Kingsham, chairman; W. H. Malkin, vice-chairman; H. E. Burbridge, T. W. Fletcher, A. E. Paterson, J. W. Gibson, and J. D. McQueen. Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, was also present by invitation, and took an active part in the discussion of the disposition of wheat and the possibility of his Department in any possible way in dealing with the grain situation.

Interviewed in this connection Mr. Kingsham stated that a number of matters relative to the work of food conservation in the province were dealt with. In view of the necessity for continued encouragement in the production and conservation of wheat supplies, the question of the disposition of the coming crop was one of the points discussed.

The desirability of arranging for coast prices on graded wheat is under consideration by the committee, and representations dealing with these matters have been made to the Board at Ottawa. The Provincial Committee expects to be in a position shortly to make some statement regarding the decision arrived at in this connection, but no statement was forthcoming as to the nature of the recommendations made to Ottawa.

LOCAL FISH MARKET

A. H. Sherman, Managing Director of the Defiance Packing Co., and J. W. Weart, M. P. P., appeared before the committee and stated that they had in contemplation the establishment of a market in Vancouver similar to that in Vancouver. It is understood that Mr. Weart is shortly to visit Ottawa to discuss this matter with the Canada Food Board.

Discussing the question of a local fish market with Mayor Todd this morning, the latter stated to The Times that Mr. Sherman called upon him yesterday in response to a letter written some time ago. Mayor Todd is inclined to believe that negotiations will be carried on whereby a market similar to the one which has been operating in Vancouver for some time may shortly be established in Victoria. If such proves to be the case the price of fish will probably be fixed at somewhat like the following figures: Cod, whitefish, haddock, flatfish, etc., five cents per pound; salmon, eight cents; halibut, fifteen cents; herring, two cents. The establishment of such a market is apparently contingent on the Government granting certain fishing rights.

COMOX LAKE TRAGEDY

The Inquest Verdict in Case of Late Albert Goodwin, Shot Evading Arrest.

The verdict of the coroner's jury returned at the inquest held on the body of Albert Goodwin at Cumberland was as follows: "We, the undersigned jury, empanelled to hear the evidence pertaining to the death of the late Albert Goodwin, after viewing the body and hearing the evidence produced, came to the conclusion that the said Albert Goodwin evidently met his death by a bullet from a rifle in the hand of Constable Campbell, who was trying to effect the arrest of the deceased Albert Goodwin, who was evading the Military Service Act."

POPULAR SOLDIER KILLED AT OTTAWA

Sergt.-Major Stewart, Formerly of 50th Highlanders, Meets With Sad End

Men of the 50th Gordon Highlanders, drafted to other units and now overseas, and the 50th men who have been returned to Canada, will learn with regret of the death of Sergt.-Major Robert McGregor Stewart at Ottawa on July 25. The Sergt.-Major was in Ottawa taking course in riding at the Canadian Military Police Training School when he was thrown from his saddle and died as a result of injuries sustained.

The Sergt.-Major was an expert horseman, having served in the Mounted Infantry, and having taken part in horsemanship and polo competitions. He was a member of the 50th Highlanders in the Imperial army and was over ten years in Burma, and different parts of India. He was champion musketry shot of his year in 1896. During the South African war he acted as Q. M. S. on a transport conveying soldiers from New Zealand and Australia.

Stewart is one of the best known men in the army in Victoria. An old soldier, who has seen service in the Boer War, he was a drill instructor, war broke out, and was in the 50th Gordon Highlanders until that unit was demobilized. His experience in the Imperial army was retained in his civilian life as a drill instructor, although he was among the first to volunteer for overseas duties. He was well passed the active service age, and although he had been in the service ten years in India, was as keen as any of the younger men to do his bit in France.

The hundreds of men who have passed through Sergt.-Major Stewart's hands in his capacity as a drill instructor entertain the highest regard both for his ability as a soldier and for the veteran personally. His call to Canada after his discharge from the army at the conclusion of the Boer War, and had won a reputation here as a dancer of marked ability. A native of Perthshire and characteristically Scottish, he was devoted to the bagpipes and dancing, of which later he was a clever exponent. Faultlessly dressed in full Highland uniform, scrupulously clean, brass buttons shining like the sun, his speoran white as snow, Sergt.-Major represented the fine traditions of the Scottish soldier of the old school, and in his capacity was the pride of the Scottish people of the city when he appeared at any of their gatherings. He was in great demand as a sword dancer, and has featured on programmes as representing his native dances of the Highlands at many fetes in British Columbia.

In a letter of sympathy received by Mrs. Stewart, Major Osborne, A. M. P. Commandant of the Military Police Training School, extends his condolence, and states "if it is any slight consolation to you in your poignant grief to know that he did not suffer, I am glad to hear that he was devoted to his duty to the end. His horse put its foot in a hole and threw its rider over its head. The poor sergeant never recovered consciousness." Major Osborne adds that Stewart was universally liked in the camp.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Speeders Trapped. To the Editor.—I am taking the privilege of expressing my opinion in regard to speeding on the Malahat Drive, as I was one of the parties who were fined for that offence last week. On the subject of speeding, the condition of the road as it is all well and good, but it is just the unfortunate who are lagging behind that are apprehended; the guilty ones are waiting at high speed, prove too quick for the police who are rather slow in discerning the number of their cars.

The authorities, in need of funds, do not seem to care on whom the fine is imposed; whether it be on the careful or the careless driver, as long as the money is procured. To talk of speeding at sixteen and a quarter miles per hour seems more of a huge joke than anything else, and this was the exact rate at which I was driving, according to the evidence given by the police. On that part of the drive at which the traps were laid, it is almost impossible to keep a car under control at a slower speed, on high gear, owing to the condition of the road in that vicinity. In the future it would seem to be advisable for the majority of motorists to drive at a higher rate of speed, in order to evade the police.

CHAS. GRASSIE, Box 213, Duncan, B. C. Percy, having promised to recite at a temperance concert, stood up to do so. He got along all right until he reached the words, "He stood beside the bier!" Then his memory failed him. "He stood beside the bier," he repeated, trembling. "Some evil spirits on the back benches murmured one to another. "He stood beside the bier," groaned Percy and drew a moist hand across his dripping forehead. "Go on," cried a voice from the rear. "I'll go flat while you're waiting!"

RETAIL MARKET QUIET AS USUAL

Feed Advances in Price; Very Slight Change in Other Departments

Feed was practically the only product on the local retail market the price of which altered during the past week, the cost of meat, vegetables and fish remaining almost unchanged. There was a temporary difficulty experienced by some of the dealers in securing supplies of fish, but the price has remained unchanged. As will be seen by the figures appended the cost of feed and hay has advanced considerably.

CONDEMNS STRIKERS OVER GOODWIN CASE

At A meeting of the Comrades of the Great War held at the club rooms last night the members went on record as disapproving of the action of the Metal Trades Council in Vancouver in laying down their tools as a protest over the shooting of A. Goodwin, alleged draft evader.

The men debated the matter hotly, and feeling against the strikers was high. The opinion was expressed that under the circumstances the action of the strikers was entirely unjustified, and provision should be made for punishment of men who would strike at such a time on grounds that the Metal workers had declared a strike. Men engaged in such an important branch of industry, and in trades so essential to winning the war, should not be allowed to disturb industry in this manner, the speakers declared, and if they continued to do so should be conscripted regardless of circumstances. The resolution was passed unanimously.

FOOTING IT.

Jimson lived at Highgate, and owned a flock of carrier pigeons of which he was immensely proud. His pride led to such continued boasting that it bored his friends. One of these friends, Tom Smith by name, told him one day: "I'm taking a trip up to Carlisle next week, and I'm willing to bet you a fiver that I can take one of your blooming pigeons up there and turn it loose and you will never see it again."

The bet was made, and Tom Smith, having arrived within two miles of Carlisle, clipped the pigeon's wings and threw the helpless bird out of the window. A fortnight later he returned to Highgate and asked Jimson for the five-pound note. "You haven't won it," remonstrated Jimson, who guessed the trick that had been played. "That pigeon came home."

Officers and Men of Kirishima Are Entertained in Suitable Functions

EXCHANGE OF VISITS BY OFFICERS

Kipling's lines, "For East Is East and West Is West, and never the twain shall meet," have lost their significance to Victorians, for during the past few days, the occasions have been numerous upon which Orientals have mingled with Occidentals under particularly delightful circumstances. Yesterday afternoon the officers of the Japanese warship "Kirishima" were the guests of the Work Point Garrison officers, and the occasion was one of the most brilliant social functions of the week.

The visiting officers were: Capt. Mimura, Commander Imamura, Commander Tsuji, Eng. Commander Sakaki, Fleet Surgeon Takata, Fleet Paymaster Koyama, Lieut.-Commander Asai, Lieut. Kimura, Lieut. Oshima, Lieut. Sasaki, Eng. Lieut. Makiura, Lieut. Kakusho, Eng. Sub-Lieut. Kimura, and Eng. Sub-Lieut. Suto.

Despite the somewhat cloudy weather the scene was a brilliant one, the flags and naval pennants decorating the front of the building, and the freshness of the greenward and the trees forming a charming background for the gay frocks of the ladies and the navy blue and khaki of the officers.

Each guest on arrival was welcomed by the reception committee, including Col. Cockburn, Capt. Mulcahy and Lieut. Warder, and the distinguished visitors were introduced to the Victoria officers and their ladies, and were quickly at their ease laughing and chatting over their experiences. Introduced to the game of bowls by Major-General Lockie, the officers spent some time in this pleasurable pastime, many of them achieving considerable prowess in a game hitherto unknown to them.

An especially attractive programme of music was furnished by the Fifth Regiment Band throughout the afternoon, and shortly after four o'clock, a dainty tea was served from the big marquee on the lawn. A number of tennis enthusiasts played on the courts to the west of the barracks, the game being followed with much interest by the visitors. Shortly after six o'clock the officers departed after expressing their appreciation to their hosts.

Consul Ukita As Host.

In the evening Capt. Mimura and his fellow-officers were the guests of Japanese Consul S. Ukita, who gave a dinner in their honor at the Empress Hotel. Happy augury of the long continuance of the friendship between the great allies was voiced in the post-prandial speeches by Mr. Ukita, Premier Oliver and Capt. Martin, superintendent of the Naval Yard. The ship's orchestra rendered a delightful programme during the banquet, which was held in the private dining room at the hotel.

The guests included: Premier John Oliver, Capt. Mimura, Hon. J. W. de la Roche, Hon. Dr. J. H. King, W. J. Bowser, Lieut. Kimura, Commander Tsuji, Lieut.-Commander Asai, H. C. Hall, M. P., Hon. B. B. Mosher, United States Consul-Postmaster H. F. Bishop, J. Kingham, president of the Board of Trade; Lieut. Gasaki, Lieut. Oshima, W. R. Dale, William Allan, Dr. G. L. Milne, Alderman R. J. Porter, John Cochrane, president of the Canadian Club; F. E. Morley, secretary of the Board of Trade; H. J. S. Muskett, Dr. H. R. Nelson, Capt. G. Sisman, Mr. Kumabe, J. M. Nagano and J. W. Weart, M. P. P.

Government Entertains Crew.

While the officers of H. I. J. M. S. Kirishima were being entertained by Mr. Ukita, four hundred of the crew were the guests of the Provincial Government at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night. Manager Denham had arranged a specially attractive show for the occasion, which was evidently much enjoyed by the sailors. The remainder of the crew will be entertained at the theatre to-night and Monday evening.

Each of the crew of the vessel has been presented with a souvenir card of welcome by the city of Victoria.

The card is attractively designed, bearing on its face the Union Jack and Japanese flag crossed, and the following legend beneath:

"The city of Victoria, B. C., extends a welcome to the officers and men of H. I. J. M. S. Kirishima, and of Capt. H. Martin, superintendent of Esquimalt Naval Yard, twelve representative petty officers of the visiting Japanese cruiser were entertained in a very enjoyable manner last evening by a similar number from the Petty Officers' Mess No. 1, R.N.C.V."

The entertainment took the form of a sumptuous dinner in the mess room, when a number of toasts were proposed and responded to with appropriate little speeches from the guests of the evening, and later the entire company motored to the Pantheon Theatre, where they enjoyed the first performance of the entertaining programme presented this week at the popular vaudeville house.

Petty Officers' Mess.

By permission of Capt. Mimura, of H.I.J.M.S. "Kirishima," and of Capt. H. Martin, superintendent of Esquimalt Naval Yard, twelve representative petty officers of the visiting Japanese cruiser were entertained in a very enjoyable manner last evening by a similar number from the Petty Officers' Mess No. 1, R.N.C.V.

At the Willows.

Four warrant officers and seventeen first-class petty officers were the guests of the 2nd Depot Battalion Sergeants' Mess yesterday afternoon at the Willows Camp. The Japanese warrant officers in charge of the party were T. Auraku, Y. Nakashima, S. Nagata, and M. Yamashita. Sergt.-Major Sanders, Rgt. Q.-M.-S. Newton, Camp Sergt.-Major Martin, and the other sergeants took the visitors over the camp, one of the points of most interest to the sailors being the quartermaster's stores department.

Refreshments were served by the

The city has placed the big lounge of the Ritz Hotel at the disposal of the Japanese sailors during their visit here, and this little attention has been much appreciated by the men. Chairs have been furnished by the city, and fruits, soft drinks, etc., are being contributed by local Japanese merchants.

ANTICIPATES SOON RESUSCITATION OF THE RUSSIAN FRONT

Y. M. C. A. Officer Says Two Million Men May Be Mobilized Readily

Propheying a new army on the Eastern Front, formed of the thousands of Russians who have been driven by disgust from the extreme license of Bolshevism and stiffened by Allied officers, L. D. Dunnington, Y. M. C. A. officer, gave to the "Times" on board the Atsuta Maru last evening some idea of what he thinks will occur in the re-construction of modern Russia.

In Charge at Minsk.

Mr. Dunnington has been head of the Y. M. C. A. work in Minsk, on the western edge of European Russia, and owing to its proximity to Poland, it was occupied early in the last advance of the Germans. The Y. M. C. A. workers then fled back to Moscow, and eventually were forced to leave the country. "From what I saw," says Mr. Dunnington, "I am satisfied that when the problem of transportation has been tackled efficiently there will be a rally in the interests of the Allies, and that an army will be formed two millions strong, perhaps more, to form a new front. We have the assurance that the Poles, the Don Cossacks, and many others will fight the Germans to a finish, and when the troops are properly officered the German position on the east will be very different from what it has been in the period since the break up of the Kerensky Cabinet."

Worked When They Liked.

"When we went in the government had guaranteed assistance to the Y. M. C. A., but on the break up of that administration we had to continue without the official support. When I arrived at Minsk the Bolsheviks were in control, and I had the greatest difficulty in getting a hut built. The men would not work more than three or four hours a day, and threatened to clean up the foreman for attempting to hurry the work along. Eventually, however, we got it through, and in dealing with the Russian soldiers I began to understand the fundamental problem which has to be solved in dealing with the situation, looking to re-construction."

The prevailing sentiment is gross ignorance, and therein lay the success of the pro-German propaganda. The Germans dealt largely with pictorial designs which appealed readily to the Russians, in which the Allies' objects were cartooned in a way to influence an illiterate populace. Had we had proper means to rebut the propaganda, the debacle would never have gone to the extent that it did. Hundreds we talked to had no idea where they were, or why they were fighting.

A Lovely Personality.

"Now if we can educate them, as we were doing in the Y. M. C. A. Yuts, in the ordinary rudiments of education, of crafts and sports, we shall have a new body of material, out of which can be fashioned a magnificent army. The Russian peasant has escaped the pressures, in his upheaval, of the French Revolution, because he is temperamentally different, and not so liable to be carried away by passion. Therein lies the possibilities of the Allies, that the Russian when he is rightly directed is the most lovable of men, that he has the child's mind in the man's body.

"From the conditions I found in Samarra, where we stayed before leaving Russia, I would have said it was impossible to rally a new army, but there has been such a remarkable change of sentiment, of cohesion of disintegrated sentiments in the last few months that the situation is most hopeful. The transportation problem, to whitened out by American engineers, and this is especially the case with regard to the Trans-Siberian Railway."

Land of Chaos.

Mr. Dunnington had interesting things to say with regard to the desolation and food shortage on the Eastern front, before the end came, of the squalor and degradation of the Bolshevik headquarters, and of the pitiable condition of refugees, particularly Serbians, a large party arriving there just before he left.

REASON WAS CLEAR.

A small English boy was asked: "How is it your father always wins money when he plays cards, but invariably loses when he backs horses?" Very promptly came the reply: "Please, sir, father can't shuffle the horses."

The Bilious Habit

Some people have bilious spells about every so often until they get to be a habit. The liver is at fault. Get the liver right by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the bile will not collect in the blood until it poisons you.

There is no one organ in the human body which has so great a control of health as the liver. Hence the far-reaching effect of this treatment.
