REPORTS

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE, SELECTMEN AND TREASURER

OF THE

TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

TOGETHER WITH A LIST OF THE

TAXES ASSESSED,

For the Year 1853-9.

BOSTON : WILLIAM WHITE, PRINTER, 4 SPRING LANE.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

EVERY relative position has its responsibilities, and to discharge the incumbent duties in a manner satisfactory to others and to ourselves, is not always an easy task.

The supervision of any department of learning is attended with difficulty, because of the spiritual nature of what is to be developed, and moulded; and obstacles are indefinitely augmented, when we come to training up children in the way they should go.

No wise and prudent lawgiver would ever issue an order, and define the penalty, unless it was compatible with intellectual and moral organization, and ought to be performed.

That there is a right and a wrong teaching, or educating of the young in the family, in our schools, and in our social intercourse, no observing individual will pretend to deny. Much that is defective in the modes of education can be easily pointed out; how to remedy the evils, is not as easily defined and executed.

The importance of our Common School System is cheerfully acknowledged by all making any pretensions to philanthropy or patriotism; and the consummation of its perfection has engaged, and is still engaging the time, and talent of some of the master minds of the nineteenth century.

Should not our schools enlist our special attention, if they contain the power of moulding the youth of our land, to industry, virtue, and a sacred love of country?

These are acquisitions the just and good in all past time have labored to attain, and saw by imagination in the future, but despaired that such perfection could ever be realized.

That every child in the community may be so trained, that a very small per cent. shall become disturbers of the peace, outcasts, and a by-word, direct testimony has abundantly proved.

In the year 1847 Hon. Horace Mann addressed a circular to eight of the most experienced and distinguished teachers of New England, propounding to them the following questions, and asking for answers:—

- "1. How many years have you been engaged in school-keeping, and whether in the country, or in populous towns or cities?
- 2. About how many children have you had under your care?
- 3. Should all our schools be kept by teachers of high intellectual and moral qualifications, and should all the children in the community be brought within these schools for ten months in a year, from the age of four to that of sixteen years; then what proportion what percentage of such children as you have had under your care, could, in your opinion, be so educated and trained, that their existence, on going out into the world, would be a benefit and not a detriment, an honor and not a shame to society? Or, to state the question in a general form, if all children were brought within the salutary and auspicious influences I have here supposed, what percentage of them should you pronounce to be irreclaimable and hopeless?"

"In answering this last important question," says Mr. Mann, "I am supposing all our children to be placed under the care of such a class of men and women as we now honor by the appellation of first class or first rate teachers; — of such teachers as are able, in the school-room, both to teach and to govern; and who, out of the school-room, will be animated by a missionary spirit in furthering the objects of their sacred vocation."

All of the eight gave their respective answers, and their unanimity of opinion was remarkable in naming the percentage that they thought might be so trained as to become good members of society, the supporters of order and law, and truth and justice. They all concurred that more than ninety-eight per cent. of all the youth in our land, if trained as above, would adorn society, and bless the world through the whole course of their lives.

If we are authorized to receive as correct the conclusions as stated by these deservedly popular and experienced teachers, how the weight of responsibility is enhanced which rests upon parents and superintendents of the great public educational interests of every community. All that has been said and written upon this momentous subject falls far short of describing the reality, or the great good that would result from the perfect education of every individual.

The imagination can only conceive of a finished education, by placing before the mind a man perfect physically, intellectually, and morally, and consequently, an eminently good man. Education means the harmonious development of all that constitutes a rational and immortal being.

To appreciate our Common School System, it is not enough to provide that schools be kept in every neighborhood, and to know that our children attend them punctually; we must visit the schools, study their internal workings, and become so interested in their success, and that we shall in our domestic relations, and manifest interest in the teachers, evince an ardent desire to do all in our power to make them most efficient and perfect in their operation. Your Committee have, to the best of their ability, labored assiduously to improve and render most productive of good all the public schools of this town; and they flatter themselves that in several particulars they have not been unsuccessful the past year.

Our movements have been of a reciprocal nature respecting particulars in the school-room, always endeavoring to show a proper deference to the profession of teaching, feeling that the details of practice can never be fully understood by theory.

We have been specially mindful of the wants of the Primary Schools, believing in the proverbial saying, "As the twig is bent, the tree is inclined."

We feel that the largest and best qualifications are needed for the primary department of teaching; and, not as has been believed, that any body, making any pretensions to learning, would answer to teach children.

None but those of great sympathy, of special exactness of attainments in the elements of language, having a nice and educated musical ear, of extensive general knowledge, and a happy tact to communicate, can cherish the fond hope that they may arrive to much eminence as Primary School teachers. The sounds of the letters, and the correct pronunciation of words, can only be perfectly and permanently learned with ease, before the child is ten years old; for what may be attained after that time in the elementary sounds, will only be accomplished by great care and much perseverance. That too little attention is paid to reading and spelling and correct pronunciation in our Primary Schools, is very obvious to your Committee, notwithstanding the great importance they are known to attach to this part of juvenile instruction.

That all the children can be so trained in our Primary Schools, as to make correct speaking general, is not to be expected in the rearing of one generation; but it is no argument against the effort, and furnishes no palliation for neglect on the part of teachers. However imperfect the home pronunciation may be, nothing of the kind should be allowed in the school-room.

The teacher should be more particular in correcting the wrong sound of a letter, than in pointing out arithmetical mistakes, for the latter will correct themselves, but the former will vitiate the taste, mislead the ear, and ruin the orthöepy of the pupil. No department of our educational system is so responsible for the correct speaking, reading and spelling as the primary, and hence the great accountability where the results are of a life long continuance.

While the young by reading, spelling, and singing, are being taught the perfect use of the ear, and the true power of the vocal organs, so that correct hearing and correct utterance shall afford delight, it is another duty of the Primary Schools to initiate the use of the fingers and hands in drawing lines and figures, to the delight of the child, and so lay the foundation of future excellence in penmanship and sketching. A large proportion of the time usually devoted to the study of arithmetic, we think must ultimately be spent in a manner better calculated to improve the young, by developing those faculties that are most easily impressed in childhood; and thus more effectually secure the full development of the reasoning and comparing powers. Variety must distinguish the Primary School, or discord will prevail; and hence the trouble that so often occurs which proper management might easily have prevented.

The intellect should be reached through the heart and affections; and then the very way that God has designed for improvement and happiness, and laid irrevocably in the mental constitution of children, will lead the teacher with the greatest certainty to ultimate success.

To attempt to force the young forward in any speciality of learning, and not train them as a harmonious whole, is to attempt to work in opposition to the Divine Architect, and produce a class of disagreeable beings, instead of lovely companions, kind fathers and mothers, and friends of humanity.

Our Primary Schools are on an average as good as we have reason to expect with the present state of public feeling, and with the impression that the teachers now have of their responsibilities, and of what parents and the public generally, think they ought to perform.

If stubborn stillness is one of the indispensables of the Primary School, it would be economical to have some mechanical apparatus which would fix the child immovably, and thereby save much time otherwise to be injudiciously expended, by not leaving healthy impressions upon the plastic nature of the children.

The immutable laws of body and mind require no such fixtures; for physical education declares, in unmistakable language, that great intellectual progress is only compatible with fine bodily health.

To weaken the body is to enervate the mind; and if mankind are not by intellectual and moral development, to add to their physical comfort, and length of days, there must be a disagreement in ourselves.

It is vastly more important that the physical condition of the pupils in the Primary Schools should be carefully watched by the teacher, than in the higher grades; for they are less qualified to discriminate for themselves, and their nervous systems are more easily and permanently disordered.

Many teachers have found their schools becoming suddenly restless and turbulent; and not understanding the cause, they have attempted to quell the tumult by positive requirements, and threatening injunctions; but the difficulty has increased reciprocally, and a painful alternative finally gave a temporary peace among the innocent sufferers.

All this might have been agreeably accomplished in a few moments by giving to the children additional draughts of pure air to restore a healthy flow of the blood, and remove the morbid condition of the brain; and then with a few strains of enlivening music their hearts would have been harmonized in mutual love. The cultivation of music in the Primary Schools is indispensable to their prosperity and the perfect success of the pupils in reading. The best singers have the ability, other things being equal, of becoming pre-eminently the best readers; not only on account of their nice distinction of sounds, but also because they have the greater flexibility of the vocal cords.

Music cultivates the sensibilities, and prepares the pupil to perceive the emotion of the writer, and consequently the voice will be modulated by the sentiment expressed. A perfect knowledge of Phonetics, which we consider an indispensable accomplishment for a Primary School teacher, can only be made available in teaching enunciation, by direct application to the distinct expression of letters and syllables, thus leading to the accomplishment of foreible speaking.

This department must be performed with all the perfection of harmony, which belongs to musical sounds, or it will retard rather than facilitate the pupil in the attainment of fine reading.

Nothing should exceed the accuracy with which instruction is imparted in the Primary School.

No change of importance has taken place in the arrangement of our Primary Schools, with the exception of removing teachers from one school to another; believing in their better adaptation to certain schools.

Few occasions for censure have occurred the past year; with the exception of too frequent tardiness on the part of a few teachers. The example is so very prejudicial, that we express a hope that the evil may be entirely and speedily discontinued.

The Primary School teacher occupies one of the most honorable, as well as the most responsible, positions connected with the profession, and no fame can be more enduring than that which is incorporated with youthful excellence. Our Intermediate Schools are only a gradation of the Primary, and the requisitions resting upon either, are with slight modifications equally applicable to both.

Our Intermediate Schools are successfully and earnestly engaged in drawing out the faculties, and in preparing their classes for the studies of the Grammar Schools.

The gradation now existing in our system of education is adopted to facilitate the tasks of the children in their intellectual progress, by associating minds of nearly equal attainments, thus diminishing the number of classes, and thereby making the instruction more general and impressive.

Our Grammar Schools are doing their work faithfully, and it would be productive of no special good to comment upon their comparative merits; for being situated in different sections of the town, they consequently are under local influences, which more or less modify their character. At our vacation, last August, the principal and the two female assistants of the High School resigned their places; and after mature consideration it was thought best to so far change the organization of the High School as to substitute a sub-master for two female assistants. We have had no reason as yet to regret the change; and until the number of pupils shall be much increased, no arrangement can be more efficient than the present. By this course, a saving is made to the Town of three hundred dollars in the expense of salary.

After much effort in endeavoring to obtain the most efficient individuals for the High School, we fortunately secured I. N. Beals for Principal, and George Brackett for sub-master. Thus far we have no reason to regret our selection, for we believe our High School is rapidly becoming one of the most efficient educational instrumentalities in our town; and is faithfully perfecting the intellectual and moral exactness which characterizes our Grammar Schools.

The last private examination of the High School was highly satisfactory, and the conduct of the pupils was very pleasing. The recitations showed a full understanding of the principles involved in the different departments of study.

Strict attention has been exercised by the several subcommittees and teachers to preserve and render inviting all the school premises and school-rooms; and to impress upon the children and youth that economy is a virtue; that neatness of person is likely to be allied to purity of mind; and that no scholar can give satisfactory evidence of future success and eminence, who is indifferent about his books, and the means of education provided for his use.

The average attendance has been better the past year, and parents have the power to make it perfect if they would; but without their co-operation no effort can possibly prove successful. Punctuality is beginning to be duly appreciated by the older pupils, and the number of those who are never tardy is steadily increasing. Irregularity of attendance is an evil of such a serious nature, that it is impossible to prevent its injurious effect upon the whole school, thus involving the innocent and unoffending with the guilty.

The term of office now fixed by statute law for the School Committee, affords them a fair opportunity to make trial of any supposed improvement in the management of schools; and they are always ready to give all proper information concerning their plans, which parents or guardians may desire to know. The Committee have been selected not only to superintend the schools, but as the medium of communication on all matters of importance between parents and teachers; and your Committee feel that no individual is prepared to speak understandingly about any school, or any teacher, unless he has visited the school-room, and seen for himself the manner of the teacher and his modes of instruction.

Your Committee are expected to be untiring in their vigilance for the prosperity of all our schools; and to be impartial in considering the claims of parents and teachers, and that their recommendations will be made, having in view the highest good of all.

It will be necessary to organize one or more Primary Schools the ensuing year, as the Maple Street and Prescott No. 2 are too large to derive the greatest advantage from the money expended, or secure to the children the instruction they absolutely require.

The whole number of scholars at present connected with these two schools is more than one hundred and seventy-five. The increase of pupils in the Forster Grammar School District renders the establishment of an Intermediate School in that locality highly desirable; and it is submitted to the consideration of the Town, as a special appropriation would be necessary to the accomplishment of such an object.

The whole amount of money expended for our free schools the past year will exceed $16,000, and the particulars will be shown by the Town Treasurer's Report. We have one thousand three hundred and thirty children between the ages of five and fifteen years. We have one High School with two male teachers, principal, and sub-master; four Grammar Schools with a male principal and female assistant for each; one Intermediate School with two female teachers; and two Primary Schools with two female teachers each; and ten District Schools with one female teacher each; making in all eighteen distinct schools, with twenty-six teachers, male and female.

The Principal of the High School receives $1,200, and the sub-master, $500 salary. The Principals of the Grammar Schools receive each $1,000 salary; and the female teachers and assistants, $300 each, with the exception of Walnut Hill and Maple Street Schools, the teacher of the former having $400, and the latter, $350, the labor in these schools being more arduous and difficult.

Hoping the ensuing year may be even more propitious than the past; that the children and youth may render themselves more distinguished by their virtues, and high intellectual attainments; that in future they may refer to our free schools as largely instrumental in securing their happiness and prosperity, we respectfully submit the foregoing as our Annual Report.

Somerville, March 7, 1859.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

The Selectmen of Somerville, at the close of their official term, ask leave to submit to the citizens of the town the following statement:—

From the commencement of the year, a gradual but manifest improvement in the appearance and prospects of the town has been observable.

The highways, from a variety of causes,—imperfect drainage in some cases, heavy grades in others, ill-defined boundaries, calling for constant watchfulness to prevent encroachments, and the almost total want of sidewalks,—necessarily require, if they do not in all cases receive, a large share of attention from a Board of Selectmen.

Notwithstanding these impediments to a rapid advancement, it is believed that some progress has been made, and that the time is not far distant when the difficulties peculiar to this locality will, in a great measure, be surmounted. Alterations in the grade have been thought expedient in some few places; but with these exceptions, our operations upon the highways have been confined principally to the usual repairs.

A considerable amount of labor has been performed, in various portions of the town, towards establishing and grading sidewalks, but in no place so satisfactorily as on Broadway, Winter Hill, where, for a distance of half a mile, the abutters having furnished stone edging, the town was enabled to form and pave suitable gutters. It has been ascertained that stone adapted to this purpose can be procured, if wanted to any considerable extent, within the county, at a moderate expense; and if the town should order a supply to be kept on hand, carting and setting without charge for such of our citizens as would pay the cost for the stone, encouragement could thus be given to an improvement greatly needed, and a favorable change in the appearance of our roads might soon be reasonably expected.

The southerly end of School Street has been widened to forty feet, and nearly $500 have been expended upon it in grading and removing fences. Another season will be required to complete the street to Broadway, when a perfectly straight avenue, nearly a mile in length, can be opened to the public. Great delay has attended this work, and numerous difficulties have been encountered, but it is believed that the ultimate result will be highly beneficial to the town.

To meet such drafts upon the treasury as might be necessary for the uses of this board, in the execution of the various duties imposed upon it,—including the expenses of the highway service,—there was appropriated, at the annual meeting in April last, the sum of $8,200, this amount being $3,400 less than was expended for similar purposes the preceding financial year. While abundant opportunity for a judicious disposition of all the money thus placed within their control has not been wanting, so great has been the desire on the part of the Selectmen to avoid any excess in their expenditures, that many really needful improvements have been deferred, and several hundred dollars of this appropriation remain still unexpended. For a single object alone,—that of renewing fences which are deemed necessary in dangerous places by the side of the highways,—this entire balance could very properly have been used. While such unsightly and dilapidated structures of this kind as now exist are allowed to remain, private citizens will be as neglectful in improying the aspect of vacant lots, and the growth of the town be in some degree retarded by its uninviting appearance.

The encroachments on Milk Street, referred to in the report of the last Board of Selectmen, have been removed, and the boundary line of the street, heretofore somewhat unsettled, has been definitely established.

Encroachments are believed to exist at numerous points on our roads, and changes are felt to be necessary in many other places. On the older and most important thoroughfares, well-defined boundaries are rarely to be found, and a fixed grade is nowhere established. On these matters, each Board of Selectmen differs from its predecessors, thus increasing the difficulty by a want of unity of action. A permanent and effectual remedy for such a condition of things can only be found in a complete and accurate survey of the town. The outlay required for this purpose would be the only objection that could be urged to its adoption, but the beneficial results that would certainly follow, would more than compensate for any necessary expenditure devoted to this object. In this connection it may be proper to suggest, that some of our fellow citizens believe it to be a matter of the highest importance to the future welfare of the town, to provide prospectively for a central avenue, commencing at some point in Charlestown near the Milldam, crossing the Joy estate, Washington Street, and the Lowell Railroad, to Church Street, and through that street, in nearly a direct line to West Cambridge village. Such an avenue—four miles in length, three of which are within our corporate limits—would afford innumerable delightful sites for private residences, and open the centre of the town to a direct communication with the city of Boston, tending also largely to an increase in population and wealth. A survey of such a route could not involve a great expense, and might prevent the erection of buildings in a position where they would interfere with carrying out this or any similar plan hereafter.

The subject of widening the bridge on Cross Street, over the Lowell Railroad, was referred to this Board, with the evident expectation, on the part of the citizens, that the work could be done without expense to the town. Nine bridges cross this railroad in Somerville, nearly all of which can very properly be designated as nuisances. To make expensive alterations upon any one of them, before a general plan for the improvement of the whole can be agreed upon, appears now to be unwise. Some require raising, others lowering, and all of them widening; and it is clear that the best method for overcoming the difficulties which surround the matter, will be to act in concert with the Lowell Railroad Corporation. It is thought by many that the interests of the town would be promoted most by the lowering of the railroad within our limits, thus permitting Washington Street to pass it on the same level, and allowing all the bridges crossing it to be placed in their proper position with reference to the grade of other streets.

Within the year, gas pipes have been extended to the top of Winter, Central and Prospect Hills, so that the larger portion of our citizens can now enjoy the advantages and luxury of gas light. In order that the town may be able to act understandingly, whenever the question of lighting its streets shall come before it, the Selectmen have ascertained that the expense of providing fifty suitable lamps,—the smallest number consistent with the rightful local claims of those residing on the lines of these pipes,—would be in the neighborhood of $1,000; and the annual expense for gas, including the charge for lighting, would not much exceed $500.

Four suits have been instituted against the town, by members of the "Stearns family," to recover taxes paid into the treasury by them for the last two years; but it is believed that a valid defence can be made to the claim which it is understood will be set up. The parties to this movement are non-residents; became possessed of estates in the town by inheritance; have contributed nothing to the improvement of lands which but a few years ago were estimated as of little value; appear to have no adequate conception of the importance which the enterprise of our own citizens has given to this property; refuse to part with it at the valuation of the assessors; and yet claim that this valuation is unjust and illegal. If, under any circumstances the courts should decide in their favor,—a very improbable result,—it is in the power, as it would be the duty, of the town, to render such a decision virtually inoperative.

It seems hardly necessary to call especial attention to the condition of the Fire Department, which has continued efficient and orderly, as the citizens have reason always to expect, from the character of the men comprising the present organization. The town stable was fired by an incendiary, on the 28th of March last, causing a loss, beyond the amount received for insurance, of about $500. Fires have been less frequent with us than in other years, and the disposition to commit acts of incendiarism, it is to be hoped, has ceased altogether. This is unquestionably partly attributable to the vigilance exercised by some of our fellow-townsmen, a large number of whom have been appointed by this Board as special police officers, with the express understanding that they would be watchful of the movements of parties suspected of any criminal design in this direction.

A substantial, commodious and convenient fire-proof room has been placed in the building used for a town hall, and the premises have been otherwise somewhat improved as well as beautified, at an expense in all not exceeding $400.

The lot connected with the Cherry Street School house—as directed by the town at its April meeting—has been graded, and the foundation of that building repaired.

A portion of the fence around the burial ground on Milk Street,—the property of individuals, who have to this time allowed the public to make use of it for interments,—has been rebuilt at the charge of the town, the Selectmen believing this to be due to the proprietors. There remains but little room for further public burials in this place, and ere long the lot on Broadway—purchased for the purpose in 1846—must be dedicated for use, unless our citizens shall judge it to be expedient to make some other provision for that object.

Early in the spring, efforts were made to abate the sale of intoxicating liquors, and with a degree of success which warrants the belief, that this practice can, with no great difficulty, be entirely abolished, whenever the major part of our citizens shall instruct the Selectmen to accomplish that end, and shall themselves exhibit a reasonable degree of earnestness in the matter.

The Somerville Horse Railroad Company have completed about four and a half miles of track by the side of the road, for the running of their cars, upon Broadway, Washington, Milk and Elm Streets, connecting at Charlestown with the Middlesex Railroad, and since July last furnishing half-hourly communication with the city of Boston. So far, this has fully answered the expectations of our citizens, and many of the most discerning among them feel confident that the conveniences thus afforded will have the effect of adding largely to the future prosperity of the town. subject of laying a new track in the direction of East Cambridge is now under consideration; and this, if accomplished, will better accommodate the inhabitants of that part of our territory bordering on Cambridge, and furnish more ready access than is now enjoyed by any town within the Commonwealth.

Considering the depression in every kind of business which marked the commencement of the year, it was hardly to be expected that much would be done towards increasing the number of buildings, until a more favorable season should arrive, and our community had been able to recover from the effects of the then recent monetary derangement. It nevertheless appears that nearly a hundred dwelling houses have been erected within the year, and it is probable that during this time there have been added to our population from four to five hundred persons. The means of frequent communication with Boston now afforded to our citizens; the freedom from tolls of every avenue leading to that city; the low price of the most desirable sites for residences; and the general improvement in every department of business; combined with the numerous other advantages acknowledged to be in our possession, afford good reasons for believing that the coming year will witness a still larger addition to the population and wealth of the town.

REPORTS

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE, SELECTMEN AND TREASURER

OF THE

TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

TOGETHER WITH A LIST OF THE

TAXES ASSESSED,

For the Year 1859-60.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

A GENERAL statement of the condition of the several public schools, the various topics of interest growing out of the management and supervision of them, and such remarks and suggestions as your Committee thought might be profitable to teachers and parents, make up the substance of the Annual Report, which is now presented for your consideration.

It has not been deemed important to discuss the qualifications of each of our teachers in this Report. However gratifying it may be to good teachers to receive commendation in so public a manner, we think they will always find their highest reward in the consciousness of duty well performed, and in the respect and affection of their pupils. Any faults in teaching are more easily corrected when dealt with privately. Favoritism is too apt to neglect real merit, while it does no more than justice to its own preferences. We have not hesitated to advise and remonstrate with, or even discharge teachers, when the public good seemed to require it, and on the other hand we have as freely commended what in our opinion was worthy of praise.

During the past year, 1,316 scholars have availed themselves of the privileges of public instruction. For their accommodation, a High School, five Grammar, four Intermediate, eight Primary, and three Sub-primary Schools have been sustained, employing in all twenty-six teachers. The Assessors give the whole number of persons legally qualified to enter the public schools on the 1st of May last, as 1,330. Regarding the two statements as exact for the present date, it follows that but 14 children fail to avail themselves of the advantages of public instruction. A gratifying statement truly.

HIGH SCHOOL.

We are aware that the opinion has very generally prevailed, for some years, that results were not obtained from the course of instruction in the High School, adequate to the expense of furnishing and maintaining it, and consequently it has not enjoyed that public favor and confidence which was so necessary to its highest success. confidently assert, was mainly owing to the failure of former teachers to conduct the school, so as to merit the approbation of the community by which it was established and supported. Feeling how much the prosperity of the High School depended upon the Principal, we spared neither time nor effort last summer to obtain the services of one whose large experience and uniform success should insure us against the possibility of a failure. The result has justified the wisdom of the choice. Not a word of complaint has reached the ears of the Committee since Mr. Babcock entered the school in September last, and that his instruction has been thorough and his government mild and efficient, the Committee have had frequent opportunities of observing during their usual visits. It is now a school of which the people of Somerville may well feel proud, and that they will generously provide for its necessities in future, and cherish it as one of the brightest ornaments of our public school system, we cannot doubt.

A course of study was arranged for the High School at the commencement of the school year. It was our aim to introduce no more than could be profitably studied during three years, by scholars of the average age and acquirements of those admitted from the Grammar Schools.

An advanced class will be formed of those who desire to continue their studies after the regular course is completed, and such branches will be selected for them to pursue as may be best suited to their needs.

Some may think that their children should pursue more practical studies than those laid down in this course. By these are commonly meant studies which shall afford the scholar the information necessary to conduct the ordinary operations of business. Now this is all taught in the Grammar Schools. There the pupil learns all the grammatical forms and arithmetical processes which are actually necessary to enable the merchant, the farmer or the mechanic to transact the business of their several occupations. The High School course aims to do more. It seeks to perfeet that discipline of the mental powers which is so well begun in the lower schools, and it is founded on the belief that there is nothing gained but every thing lost by compelling a child to go through the same routine of studies after he has once mastered them. Youthful minds love variety, and often commence a new branch with a relish that awakens a true love of study. After Arithmetic, Algebra, which gives the same kind of mental discipline, naturally follows, then other mathematical studies in course, presenting continually increasing and ever varying difficulties, to stimulate to active exertion and develop the highest faculties of the mind. Confidence in his own powers, the legitimate result of obstacles daily overcome, makes the student more ready to grapple with the real difficulties of after life, and contributes ultimately to his highest success.

As the study of the Latin language is one of the most important aids to mental discipline, it has been given due place in the High School course. A portion of the time for the two first years is devoted to it; not, however, with the expectation that in that period, a great extent of ground can be gone over by the pupil. The study of the elements of this language, under a competent teacher, calls into vigorous action every faculty of the mind. It follows the order of nature, calling first into exercise faith and memory. Much must first be learned, of which the pupil cannot see the immediate application, and he must rely implicitly upon the word of his teacher, that it will all be needed in the end. Then the constant repetition of words and grammatical forms, and the memorizing of rules and exceptions, wonderfully enlarge and strengthen the memory.

Translating from one language into another, is a process requiring a constant exercise of all the powers of the mind. Hidden meanings must be searched out; seeming differences reconciled; the proofs, adduced in favor of opposite readings, carefully balanced; truth perseveringly traced out, after repeated failures; and all the sources from which light can come, patiently investigated; conclusion after conclusion carefully corrected, until the mind gradually gains an accurate perception of the whole truth.

Latin and Mathematics constitute the bulk of study in the High School. The experience of the past, and the testimony of the most successful educators of the present times, is in favor of these studies, as affording the best means for giving thorough mental discipline, and thus preparing our children to discharge most creditably the active duties of life.

The benefits flowing from the faithful use of apparatus, illustrating the sciences of Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, are so great that we have not hesitated to make important additions to that which already belonged to the High School. The old apparatus was so much out of order that former teachers were discouraged in their attempts to exhibit it, and consequently the advantages to be derived from what the school already possessed were lost, for want of some repairs to make it available. The air-pump, which was never a good instrument, was worn out, and of course most of the pneumatic apparatus was useless. The wants of the school in this department have been supplied as fully as was consistent with due economy.

Every experienced teacher knows the difficulty, nay, the almost utter impossibility, in many cases, of conveying clear and definite ideas to the pupil, in the study of the experimental sciences, without the means of verifying book statements by actual illustration. Our text-books of Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, contain descriptions of experiments, intended to illustrate theories, to explain natural phenomena, and to exhibit the constitution of a great variety of organic and inorganic substances. Unless the learner can see the experiments performed, it would be better for him to omit them entirely than to burden the mind with a mass of bare, unsatisfying statements, which continually appeal to actual experiment for confirmation.

The waste of time and effort on the part of both teacher and scholar should be taken into serious consideration, for both, perhaps, must spend hours, the one in endeavoring to convey, and the other in trying to obtain, even a partial idea of the construction and use of an instrument, which would be comprehended in as many minutes, if the pupil could examine it.

The refining influence exerted by a case of elegant apparatus in a school should not be overlooked, and as a means of awakening enthusiasm, and of inciting to study and careful observation, it is invaluable.

It would hardly seem worth while to occupy much time in discussing the propriety of teaching Reading, Spelling, and Penmanship in a High School. But as the feeling is apparently gaining ground, that these branches should be almost, if not entirely discontinued here, as regular exercises, and give place to other studies, it seems to us that the subject should be at least noticed, with some of the reasons that have led us to revive these branches where they had, for a long time, received but little attention.

While in the preparatory schools the children have received good training, and when admitted to the High School undergo a satisfactory examination. After having remained there for a year or so, they have almost invariably retrograded in this respect, their reading becoming indistinct and lifeless, their spelling uncertain and erroneous, and their penmanship scrawling.

Now we feel that when a scholar graduates from the High School, it will detract very much, to say the least, from the credit of the school, if he is unable to pen a sentence neatly, or read it with appropriate expression, though he may be proficient in the dead languages, and capable of solving many knotty problems.

In youth the organs of voice are most flexible, the ear is most delicate, the muscles of the hand most pliable, and the memory most retentive. Let us have, then, that systematic training, so well begun in the other schools, kept up through the High School, and we shall have better scholars in all departments of study. We are happy to be able to state that the Principal of the High School heartily concurs in our view of the subject, and has now regular exercises in Reading and Spelling.

Last summer, while Mr. Beals had charge of this school, we engaged an able teacher of penmanship to give a course of lessons to the pupils, to which the teachers of all the other public schools were invited. Our object was to awaken an interest upon the subject, and give it an impulse which should be lasting. The result was very satisfactory. Penmanship is now regularly taught in the High School, and the copy-books of most of the scholars show great improvement since last September, though there must be still more interest and effort, if they would excel some of the pupils of the Grammar Schools.

Believing that the study of vocal music should receive some attention, we engaged an experienced teacher to give two lessons in singing, each week, to the pupils of the Grammar Schools. That extraordinary results would be immediately obtained, was not expected.

Singing by rote has been practised in our schools for some years, under the charge of the respective teachers. This may be continued without danger in the Primary and Intermediate Schools, but scholars of the age of those in the Grammar and High Schools should be taught the elements and gain the power of reading readily easy tunes. This, we believe, can be accomplished in the time which children usually spend in these schools, if they will faithfully avail themselves of the privileges now afforded them.

The refining influence of music upon youthful minds, all will acknowledge; of its soothing and refreshing power, any one can be convinced, by visiting our public schools and watching the effect of a singing exercise upon the feelings of the pupils. As a means of eradicating a false and vitiated musical style, and cultivating a true musical taste in our community, the introduction of singing into our public schools commends itself to every good citizen.

It would be desirable that all our teachers should be competent to teach the elements of this art, but that cannot be expected at present. The Principal of the High School has taken charge of this department there, and we would mention in terms of high commendation, the character of the instruction which his pupils receive.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

These schools are in fine condition. The teachers are energetic and faithful. Each school has excellent characteristics, which are due to the individual notions and peculiarities of its teacher.

There is among the teachers, marked diversity of opinion respecting the best method of teaching scholars to read, but all, we believe, aim to obtain the same results—an easy, fluent enunciation, and a full expression of the meaning.

This difference in training in the several schools, leads us to make a few suggestions.

Much of the teaching, in the land, proceeds on the supposition that scholars have, by nature, many faults to be corrected before they can become good readers. We do not think so. Healthy children have naturally clear, round and sweet voices, as any one may observe by watching a happy group at play, when their tones are invariably full, ringing, pure and expressive. Judicious training would preserve and confirm this tendency to perfection of utterance, originally implanted in the human voice and ear. From remissness on the part of many teachers, true enunciation, purity of tone and animation of manner, gradually give place to a careless, frigid style of reading, which is too apt to become permanent. Life should be infused into this The scholar, if ever so young or old, should be wide awake, his feelings enlisted in the sentiment of the piece, and his attention fixed, by proper explanatory remarks and corrections from the teacher. A distinguished teacher in elocution was once complimented on the fine reading of his child and the opinion expressed, that he must have bestowed unwearied pains upon her instruction. "On the contrary," said he, "I never gave her a single lesson. She has been in the habit of reading stories aloud, to her mother and myself on winter evenings, and the pleasure she felt she was affording us, together with her own interest in the exercise, has preserved and confirmed the naturally pure tone and lively style of childhood." Parents can aid the teacher in this department as well as in others, by encouraging their children to read aloud at home and by assisting them to understand difficult passages.

In some of the schools we find the language of the textbook required, while in others the teachers draw out the knowledge of their pupils by copious questions.

"Word for word, letter for letter, and comma for comma," was the motto of Jacotot, and his system has been adopted by many teachers in this country, but we doubt the propriety of carrying it out in its fullest extent, in our Public Schools. Scholars, so trained, may be always ready to make a fine appearance, and the unreflecting may be easily led to believe an exercise, an excellent one, which lacked a very important element—originality. The power of memorizing is easily gained, but to relate a historical fact in neat and original language, to state a mathematical demonstration clearly, and to elucidate an argument not in the words of the textbook, but in one's own language, is a higher effort of the mind, which comes from true mental discipline.

This power of making clear and full statements can never be gained by the memorizing process. The learner's thought is so absorbed by words, that the sentiment becomes of secondary importance. The failure to recall a word is sometimes sufficient to destroy entirely the sequence of ideas in the scholar's mind, and cause a total failure in recitation. Teach him to deal with thoughts, rather than with words, with the sentiments of a writer rather than with the form of his sentences. Very young scholars, if not hurried as they too often are, from the mistaken notion of rendering them prompt, will soon acquire the power of arranging facts methodically, and of expressing them in neat and appropriate language. On the other hand, we see little benefit arising from the practice of extracting, morsel by morsel, a poor lesson from a forgetful scholar.

INTERMEDIATE AND PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

These schools are generally well conducted, and the children, freed from that peculiar restraint which must of necessity be imposed upon them, in the presence of older scholars, are happy and make rapid progress. The discipline is mild and the instruction patient and thorough. This may be said with equal truth of all the Public Schools in town. Our teachers prefer to rule by moral influences rather than brute force. Still cases will arise which seem to make a resort to corporeal punishment unavoidable. Children, who have been accustomed to acknowledge lawful authority at home, only when enforced by the rod, will not be likely to yield cheerful obedience, at first, under a different treatment. The teacher, after exhausting all reasonable moral suasion, is perfectly justifiable in inflicting such bodily punishment as is necessary to polish the rusty moral perceptions of the delinquent and reduce him to normal subjection.

Some disciplinarians are still strongly in favor of administering punishment in the presence of the school, for the sake of the example, whose influence, they think, is beneficial upon the other scholars. Others, it seems to us, with more prudence and wisdom, chastise the offenders in private, thinking that they can sooner make a child comprehend and acknowledge the justice of his punishment, when alone, than when his pride and resentment are aroused by the presence of others; that his self-respect will not suffer so deeply, as long as he feels that the affair is a matter purely between himself and his teacher. Above all, the teacher avoids that lowering of himself in the best estimation of his pupils, which inevitably results from engaging publicly in the infliction of pain. Children, especially of the female sex, shrink involuntarily from these exhibitions, and soon come to associate their teacher, in their minds, with something tyrannical and cruel. The magic influence is broken. teacher is no longer, next to parents, the friend up to whom they look with affectionate reverence. Gradually fear undermines affection, and he who commenced to rule by the red must continue to rule by it. There is a delicate sensibility to suffering in the minds of the young, which it is very desirable to cultivate as one of the safeguards of virtue. If the offending child makes determined resistance and is of necessity harshly dealt with, he almost always has the sympathy of the school, for human nature invariably espouses the cause of the weak against the strong.

In our estimate of a teacher's efforts it is fair to inquire, by what means he obtains results, and what motives he brings to bear upon the minds of children, for the purpose of maintaining his rightful authority. Does he so develop the best nature of the unruly child into newness of action, that he cheerfully and affectionately obeys and loves good order and hard study? Is there that familiar, yet respectful intercourse, between teachers and scholars, which is the foundation of all true discipline, causing the pupil to assume school duties cheerfully, and making those duties react with beneficial influence upon his mind and heart? Does the teacher, in making the acquaintance of his youthful charge, seek out the dull, the diffident, the discouraged, and the despairing, and infuse by kind words and looks of encouragement, new life, new hopes, new energies and new resolutions, or does he bestow his kind expressions upon a favored few, while a sullen gloom pervades the mass of young hearts, which would gladly respond to genial influences and glow in the love of a true teacher? Rigorous discipline, without the redeeming qualities of gentleness and affectionate sympathy, lowers the teacher, exercising it to the level of a drill officer, and degrades education to a series of unsanctified intellectual efforts, performed under restraint and eagerly got rid of at the earliest opportunity.

An excellent teacher has given it as his honest opinion, after many years' experience and observation, that ninetenths of the troubles in the public schools arise from the inexperience, indiscretion, or unfitness, of the teachers. Another makes a broader statement still, and asserts that the success of a school depends, not mainly, but wholly upon the teacher. Yet how often do we hear the blame thrown upon the ignorance or neglect of School Committees, the indifference of parents, or the bad breeding of the children. Human nature is about the same everywhere, and in every community there is a fair share of common sense. Public opinion generally weighs a man pretty

And it is hardly just for a public school teacher to charge his failures upon the community in which he happens to teach. It were better that he should enter upon a rigorous self-examination, and endeavor to discover and correct those peculiarities which interfere with his success. The profession of teaching is a laborious one; perhaps the most prostrating of any in its effects upon body and mind. There is often a strange indifference to his comfort, shown by some of his pupils. Ingratitude meets his most earnest and honest effort, and if he forgets, for a moment, that he is dealing with young hearts, whose impulses are not yet controlled and guided by the wisdom of years, while he has had the experience of manhood, he runs the risk of becoming unjust and tyrannical.

Teachers can no longer expect to gain the highest results, in the management of children, by severity of treatment. The admonitions of the Committee, corporeal punishment, sarcasm, and the fear of expulsion, may sometimes maintain order, where there is no mutual love, but the continued influence of such motives dwarfs the moral nature of the child and defeats the great objects of education. And this thought leads us to say a word about moral influences. Much has been said and written about the necessity of the teacher's imparting moral instruction. In most minds the statement is associated with the observance of religious services and the stated inculcation of religious sentiments. They seem to be insensible to the numberless opportunities which occur, in the school-room, of correcting wrong impressions, of cultivating right habits of thinking, of gradually changing perverted tastes, of inspiring respect and reverence for the good and sacred, and love for the beautiful, of deepening the channel of the affections, of inculcating true notions of justice, benevolence, and charity, and of pointing out the evidences of the existence and goodness of the Author of Nature. These the faithful instructor will improve, and the good seed sown will spring up, blossom and bear fruit in the lives of his pupils. But to be faithful he must be a model of honesty, frankness, sincerity and virtue, or his words, however fitly and religiously chosen, will fall upon stony ground. We sometimes think that children get the true estimate of a teacher much sooner than older people. Certain it is that they confide more blindly, and if once deceived their confidence is gone forever. The teacher's presence in the school-room after this, is moral contamination. Instead of elevating, he depresses.

We once heard a teacher describe, with great satisfaction, his method of disposing of difficult questions, propounded by his scholars, which was to talk in such an indefinite and learned style as to utterly confuse the questioner, and then allow the matter to drop until he could examine the subject fully. To say nothing of the great moral wrong done to his own soul by such conduct, he ran a great risk of being detected, and consequently of exerting a pernicious influence upon his pupils. Children, however young, appreciate and love frankness, and there is no danger to the teacher in saying, plumply, "I do not know." "I will tell you as soon as I can ascertain." Such an answer never troubles them. They are always willing to wait and give the teacher time to answer their questions. However exalted may be their opinion of his acquirements, they have the good sense to acknowledge that he cannot be expected to know every thing. Perfect honesty must be the motto of the teacher, thoroughly enunciated by his whole intercourse with his pupils. A sacred regard for truth must shine forth in all his actions and words. The love of virtue is strong in young hearts, and if a constant example is set before them of the strictest integrity, without any repulsive features, the transition is easy from admiration to imitation. How important then that the teacher's character should be lovely, and his life pure and noble.

During the winter a Teachers' Association has been in operation in the town, and with happy results. Its members are such of the teachers and members of the School Committee as choose to connect themselves with it. The male teachers, without an exception, have shown a commendable zeal in availing themselves of the opportunity to better qualify themselves for the duties of their profession With two or three exceptions, the movement fails to excite much interest among our female teachers. The School Committee have no official connection with the matter, yet are pleased to see any proof of fidelity and devotedness on the part of our public teachers.

With a confident feeling that the Public Schools have made decided progress, during the past year, in all that pertains to good education, we leave them here in charge of our successors, trusting that the same generous co-operation we have received from our fellow-citizens will cheer them during the labors of the coming year.

REPORT OF THE SELECTMEN.

With the close of the municipal year, comes an occasion for a reckoning between the town and those to whom the management of its affairs has been intrusted.

Believing that the wisdom of the choice of their fellow-townsmen could be confirmed only by fidelity and devotion to the interests confided to their charge, the Selectmen have endeavored faithfully to perform the duties imposed, keeping in view the fact that their position was to be considered in no respect an ornamental one, or their obligations of a nature to be lightly regarded; and, while few occurrences of unusual importance have transpired, frequent demands upon their time and judgment have furnished occasions for the exercise of patience, prudence, and skill.

To meet such expenses as should be incurred under the action of this Board, the town, in April last, placed at its disposal the sum of $10,500, and, notwithstanding some extraordinary claims have been met within the year, a considerable portion of this amount still remains unexpended. Owing to the existing practice of terminating the municipal and financial years on the day of the annual election, no exact statement of the expenses of the town, or of the condition of its treasury, can be furnished at this time. Such a system not only renders it impossible for the Selectmen, or any other functionaries, to enlighten the citizens with an intelligent and satisfactory account of the transactions of the year, but prevents that scrutiny into the management of public matters which is so desirable to the citizens in making the yearly selection of their agents. It opens the way, too, for abuses which it may be found difficult hereafter to correct.

No very material improvement has been made in the appearance of the highways, nothing having occurred to favor unusual labor and expense in this direction. The roads are, nevertheless, in passable order, and may be kept in this condition, with no extraordinary outlay, for some time to come. This may not, and should not, satisfy the just demands of our own people, or of the residents of the populous communities about us. Is there not amongst us public spirit and ingenuity sufficient to devise and carry out an improvement in this respect, without too great a tax upon the limited resources of the town? Ledges of granite are to be found within our limits, and an economical plan for breaking stone of this kind would enable us to introduce a system of macadamizing, and to overcome in a great measure the difficulties inherent in the formation of our soil.

Sidewalks have been formed in many places, edgestones have been set and gutters paved to a greater extent than in any former year; but we still remain sadly deficient in these elements of comfort and beauty. Fencing to a large extent has been renewed, and in this particular the highways are less dangerous than at any previous period.

A section of Oak Street, found to be forty feet in width, has been graded under the direction of this Board, to whom the matter was referred, and its acceptance as a town-way is recommended. There being a street on Spring Hill with the same designation, it is suggested that this may be known hereafter as Houghton Street.

Pearl Street, from Franklin Street southward, has also been put in proper order, at the expense of the abutters, and ought now to be accepted as a town-way.

The subject of opening Three-pole Lane was, at the meeting in April last, submitted to the discretion of the Selectmen. So far as could be done without encountering serious obstructions, this passage-way has been graded and made available for public travel; but, inasmuch as this Board and that of the School Committee were not entirely agreed in reference to the disposition which should be made of the school-house now standing in the way of a complete opening, this matter is again referred to the town. It will be apparent to every one who may examine the questions here involved, that the rights of owners of estates in this neighborhood have in some manner been disregarded, and that it is not unreasonable for parties immediately interested to ask for an early adjustment of the lines of this thoroughfare.

School Street, which has for years employed some portion of the labor of those who were engaged in the service of the highways, is now opened from Milk Street to Broadway, and is likely to prove advantageous to our increasing population.

Reservoirs have been built under Franklin and Florence Streets, the two costing $1,000, one half of which has been paid by the contributions of persons residing near them. Hydrants, connecting with the Cambridge Water Works, are to be placed near the Union Glass Works, and in the neighborhood of the Franklin School-house, and these will furnish a security more than equal to that of reservoirs. Should the city of Charlestown, as is now contemplated, lay water-pipes through the easterly part of the town, the necessity for this kind of expense in that section will cease altogether,

The practice of keeping swine among the denser portion of our population, has led to numerous complaints; and this, in connection with questions which have arisen out of the presence of contagious disease, has developed such a degree of imperfection in our present By-Laws, as to demand their abolition, and the formation of an entirely new code. The experience of this Board in the matter has led to the conclusion that no useful system can be devised without employing to a large extent the services of some person well versed in the law. The present condition of the statutes of the Commonwealth points to this as a favorable period for considering the matter. Some of the difficulties which have been encountered might be obviated by constituting the Selectmen a Board of Health.

The course pursued by the town authorities in reference to the detection of incendiaries, has proved effectual in restraining the operations of this class of offenders during the past year; and, for purposes connected with this part of their official duty, the Selectmen have authorized an expenditure of about $700.

A number of persons have been arrested, some of whom are now in confinement in the State Prison; others are awaiting sentence; and there are still at large those who are known to have been participants in crimes here referred to, but whose arrest it has been thought advisable to defer. It is believed, from the knowledge in possession of some of our citizens, that the individuals who have for several years been engaged in this nefarious business, can be readily designated; and that, by keeping them under the surveillance of proper officers, the town may be protected hereafter, in a great degree, from the danger and damage incident to this species of villainy.

As directed by a vote at the meeting in April last, preparations for a complete survey of our territory were begun in July, and such progress has been made in the work as leads to a belief that the whole may be completed within a year from the date of its commencement. When this subject was presented for the consideration of our citizens, the survey was expected to involve an outlay of several thousand dollars, to occupy from two to three years of engineering skill, and to require a special appropriation to defray its expenses. It now appears probable that the whole cost will not exceed $1,500, and that this can be met out of the means usually placed at the disposal of the Selectmen. The reasons heretofore urged as to the necessity of a survey of this kind, have been confirmed by the experience acquired the past year, and while some important modifications of existing lines will undoubtedly be found necessary, great benefits must be derived from the establishment of permanent and certain boundaries to our streets. This work might have been greatly increased in value, by including a provision for fixing the grades of our highways, and this should not be lost sight of in the action of any future government of the town. Individual estates can also at any time hereafter be delineated on the plans now making, and an index prepared, by this means simplifying the duties of Assessors, and aiding them to overcome many obstacles to an intelligent and satisfactory performance of their laborious task.

In the Report of the Selectmen a year ago, reference was made to the condition of the bridges on the line of the Boston and Lowell Railroad, and to the necessity of such an understanding with the corporation as will secure, from time to time, some improvement in these structures. A recent occurrence under the bridge crossing Washington Street, which resulted in damages to the amount of about six hundred dollars, has again called public attention to this subject, and confirmed many in the opinion heretofore expressed, that the railroad should, at this point, pass the highway on the same grade. Whenever our people shall be inclined to assume the cost of filling the highway at this place to a level with the railroad, it is highly probable that the corporation will, on their part, provide for the support and care of a gate; and it is to be hoped that a matter of so much importance to the traveller, will receive such attention from our citizens as to lead them to adopt the best remedy for the present inconvenient and dangerous arrangement. The company have uniformly exhibited a commendable readiness to meet all reasonable claims made upon them by the town, and will, without doubt, protect us from loss on account of the accident here referred to.

Thus presenting a glance at the more important matters which have engaged attention, the Selectmen relinquish the trust reposed in them by their fellow-townsmen—the major part of their number desirous of relief from the onerous duties of the office—in the fullest confidence that no well-intentioned efforts to promote the welfare and prosperity of the town, will meet with harsh or ungenerous animadversion.

Somerville, March 3, 1860.

REPORT OF THE TREASURER.

By an inspection of the following statement of receipts and disbursements, for the financial year, ending March 1, 1860, it will appear that the town stands better financially, than one year preceding, by the amount of two thousand three hundred twentythree dollars and forty cents.

Thus—there has been liquidated of the town debt uncollected of the Tax of 1859, March

Uncollected of the Tax of 1858, Mar. 1859. 2,957 38 1,418 13

$2,323 40

It will be recollected that the town "authorized the Treasurer to borrow a sum of money not exceeding twenty thousand dollars on a credit of twenty years, for the purpose of consolidating a portion of the town debt, provided the same could be obtained at a rate of interest less than six per cent."

In accordance with the spirit of that vote, your Treasurer has hired the sum of nineteen thousand eight hundred and fifty-four dollars, at five and a half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually in Boston. The principal payable in twenty years from the date of the notes, which are two in number, and which are specified in their proper places.

It will be perceived that none of the funded debt of the town falls due the present financial year, but it should not be forgotten that the uncollected taxes are averaging more than $1,500 per annum, and the discounts and abatements to about $2,000, while the expenditures of the several boards quite as often exceed as fall within their appropriations. It would therefore seem advisable to guard against a deficit that will be likely to occur from year to year, by an appropriation that shall be be deemed adequate to cover these items of loss.

Statement of the Receipts and Disbursements of the Treasurer of the Town of Somerville, from March 1, 1859, to March 1, 1860.

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF SOMERVILLE,

MARCH, 1861.

The School Committee take sincere pleasure in being able to congratulate their townsmen on the very generally prosperous condition of the Public Schools. They feel an especial satisfaction in putting forth the statement, that the school-year just closed has witnessed a very marked advance over immediately preceding years, in most of the schools, particularly those of the younger grades,—both as regards the personal demeanor of pupils, and proficiency in the studies pursued. In some districts, where insubordination had become almost a matter of course,—frequently calling for the personal interference of the Committee, and sometimes of the civil authority,—there is, at present, a reasonable amount of good order. At the recent examinations, it was gratifying to see in some of the classes, certain lads acquitting themselves well, who, at one period, occasioned their teachers and the Committee no small degree of trouble. For this beneficial change, the credit is largely due to the efficiency, tact, and good sense of experienced teachers.

Early in the year a rule was adopted, that, wherever practicable, the graduating classes should be promoted every six months—instead of once a year, as heretofore—to all the schools except the High. The result has shown the rule to be a good one. The prospect of an early promotion has been a spur to the ambition of pupils; and the fact, that at the close of the Summer Term ending with the August vacation, classes were very generally promoted, proves that the labor imposed upon the pupils was not excessive.

Another rule was adopted, specifically defining the minimum of advance which the several graduating classes should make in their respective studies, as the condition of promotion at the end of the six months. This rule has operated well in two respects. First, it has served to bring classes of the same grade in different schools more closely together in their particular studies; so that, if a scholar, on change of residence, had occasion to enter another school, he would find the scholars in his new class studying in very nearly the same places in the text books, as the class which he had Again, the rule enables examining committees, in comparing the examination of one school with that of others, to do all something like justice. For example, because the first class in one school recites as promptly and as correctly as the first class in another school of the same grade, it does not follow that the two classes are equally meritorious, until it appears that the subject-matters of the two recitations are equally difficult. Because both classes spell the same number of words equally well, amounts to nothing as a basis of comparison, unless it also appears that the words given out are as difficult in the one case as in the other. Because both classes recite with equal correctness in arithmetic, proves nothing, unless it also appears that the problems are as hard to solve in the one case as in the other.

In making the comparisons between the several schools,—comparisons which it is natural and proper to make,—the Committee particularly note two things:—first, whether the exercises in different cases have been equally prompt and correct: and second, whether these exercises are, in themselves, equally hard—equally a test of the amount of progress, as well as the proficiency of progress.

Of course, in making comparisons, due regard is had for the peculiar disadvantages which may hinder the progress of a particular school. If one teacher has a larger number of pupils than another; or is compelled to have a larger number of classes; or has for pupils children less prompt and regular in attendance; or has a school in which pupils change more frequently than in other schools;—in every such and similar case, the particular evil will be taken into the account; and the claims of the teacher will be determined quite as much by the amount of patience and skill the peculiar character of the school has called into requisition, as by the educational results which may have been secured.

The Committee must in candor confess, that while the schools are generally in a prosperous condition, and are now, on the whole, in advance of what has been their merit in former years, still there are cases in which they can bestow only a qualified praise. More than in former times they have been gratified at the orderly demeanor of scholars, the round fulness of their voices, and the distinctness of their articulation—all of which are excellences of the highest order. But while in some of the schools these fascinating traits are so marked as to rivet the attention of visitors, and move them to the warmest encomiums, in other schools much remains to be done before equal admiration can be excited. Bodily weakness or irrepressible timidity of temperament may, in some cases, furnish a satisfactory excuse for lack of voice or indistinctness of articulation. It is, however, safe to assume, that such cases are rare exceptions to a general rule. The evil is censurable when visitors in a school have occasion for the general complaint, that they hardly hear, much less understand, what pupils say. No sound falls so musically upon the human ear, as a genuine human voice; few sounds are quite so disagreeable as a choked substitute therefor. Indeed, hardly any other defect in the character of a school can so try the patience and so vex the nerves of visitors as a mumbled, half-audible recitation. To teachers and pupils, let the words be emphatis.—Give us an orderly school room, give us correct recitations; but above all, give us that without which all the other virtues lose their worth and beauty;—give us voice, and this, genuine voice—not a screech as we sometimes have, nor a whisper as we much oftener have, but simply and purely, voice!

With regard to the personal appearance of a school, a teacher may justly feel a pride when the pupils move from their seats to take their places in the class, at once with promptness and without confusion or unnecessary noise; and when, having taken their places, they maintain a gentlemanly or ladylike bearing, and this without constraint. The Committee have seen movements in the schools that would delight the eye of a professional tactician; they have, in some instances, seen movements which even a moderate tactician would find annoying. Let it not be assumed, that the particular to which attention is here called is of but slight importance. The appearance, carriage, and general personal bearing of a scholar, even if they were but external accomplishments, have an importance too great to be overlooked. But these things are not mere accomplishments. They enter into the very essence of true education, which should as persistently aim at making ladies and gentlemen as at making experts in arithmetic and grammar.

The Committee do not care to be invidious in making particular application either of the approbation or the censure here implied. The application, in every case, may be safely left to the discretion of the individual teacher.

With regard to the proficiency exhibited by the schools in the several studies, the Committee deem it but simple justice to some of the teachers to make particular mention of the progress made in the very important department of reading. At some of the recent examinations, the Examining Committee listened with equal surprise and admiration. In one instance, a member was moved to the public avowal, that the reading would have done no discredit to a professional elocutionist. The Committee take the more satisfaction in giving statement to their approbation in this particular, from the fact that several of the teachers have, during the year, labored hard, and made sacrifices of time and money, to qualify themselves to teach more effectively in this branch of study. The result proves that teachers, as well as persons in other professions, need to take precautions to keep their qualifications as well as to get them. Indeed, the highest qualifications gradually and insensibly settle down into mechanical and lifeless routine, unless jealously retained by continued and pains-taking discipline. It would be unjust not to recognize the fact in this public way, that those of our teachers who have given their time and money for the purpose to which reference has been made, have abundantly demonstrated the wisdom of their course, in the good results now manifest in their schools. Still, the Committee are unwilling that the inference should be drawn that the reading in any of the schools is particularly open to censure. Save that in some cases, there is, as has been hinted, a lack of energy and voice, and, in a few other cases something of mechanical stiffness, the reading in all the schools may be set down as, all the circumstances taken into the account, of a high order.

With regard to the High School, the Committee have the pleasure to state that, for a rare example, the subject does not demand an extended and elaborate treatment. In former years, it took the bulk of the Report to explain the failures of the school. Last year, the Committee were able to announce, that the era almost vainly hoped for had actually come, when the town had a High School worthy its confidence and support. This year, a brief sentence will tell all that need be said. The promise made in the Report a year ago is fulfilled to the letter,—the town has a High School which deserves and receives its full confidence. The teachers work harmoniously, have the good will of the pupils, and evidently feel the responsibility of their position; and will, it is believed, work as faithfully to keep up the reputation of the school, as they have to create its reputation. Let the encouraging fact be put on record, that for a year and a half no word of complaint, as respects the High School, from scholar, parent or teacher, has reached any member of the School Committee.

The duty of parents having children in the schools, is a common-place theme; yet the theme involves practical points of such vital importance, that it cannot be too persistently urged upon the attention of those interested. The most common and perplexing difficulties are those which spring up between teachers and parents. It is certain that none impose such unpleasant responsibilities upon the Committee. It is believed that if parents took pains, in every case, to get a full knowledge of the facts, they would generally be less disposed to complain; for it rarely happens that a teacher does a pupil great injustice except under very strong provocation. It is true, that no provocation whatever can excuse a teacher in doing a pupil wrong; but reasonable parents will be slow to censure a teacher harshly for even a wrong, which, they themselves, under similar provocation, would have been tempted to commit. It ought also to be seen, that the virtues demanded of teachers are about as difficult as fallible human nature can hope to equal. To manage cases of insubordination which sorely try the temper, without losing command of the temper; to endure any amount of provocation, and yet never permit a pupil to perceive that the spirit is in the smallest degree ruffled,—this is a degree of self-control which a teacher must have, else his or her influence over the pupils is seriously impaired. Certainly, the justice which must censure any lack of this virtue, may reasonably be tempered with mercy.

Parents who wish the school well will never permit, on the part of their children, any unnecessary tardiness or irregularity in attendance. The indulgence which permits pupils to attend the schools when they will, and at what hour of the session they will, can hardly be censured in terms too strong. If the wrong done were confined to the tardy or the absent pupils, the right to complain, on the part of teachers, would be less; but the injury is felt by the whole school. The order, the classification, the progress of the school in every respect, are seriously affected. Let any person enter a school at the time it opens, and, remaining a half-hour, see the teacher's desk literally covered with small slips of paper excusing the generally unnecessary tardiness or absence of pupils, and he will sensibly feel the confusion that inevitably accompanies the practice. It is to be regretted that this evil abounds to a fearful extent in our Town.

The cheerfulness and efficiency of teachers would be greatly promoted, were parents to visit the schools more frequently. An encouraging word of approbation, where approbation is deserved—evincing an appreciation of the toils of the school-room—would cost but little; yet it would be most highly valued by the pains-taking instructor of the children. Let parents give some unequivocal evidence that they themselves are interested in the progress of the schools, and the good effect will be speedy and palpable. Parents may have reason to complain of teachers and committees; but have not teachers and committees, in this town at least, equal reason to complain of parents? Save on days of exhibition, how many parents have entered a school-room, in school hours, the past year?

The matter of further school accommodations in the Medford Street and Prospect Hill districts has engaged much of the Committee's attention. An appropriation made by the town at its Fall Meeting, will soon relieve, in part, the pressure for more room in those vicinities. A two-story schoolhouse, 44 by 33 feet, is now in process of erection on what was in part, the Pound Lot, on Medford Street. The building will furnish accomodations for one Intermediate and one Primary School. A contract for its completion has been signed with Benjamin Randall, Esq., who will probably have the building ready for occupancy by the first of June. In order to make the lot of suitable size, 5032 feet of adjoining land was purchased at a cost of $629. The Committee are confident that they have selected as convenient a location as was any way practicable. They have certainly made the selection to the very great economy of the Town.

The Committee will further state, that though authorized by the Town at the April Meeting, to make use of the Pound Lot, yet, as said lot was already in use, they deemed it expedient to consult members of the Board of Selectmen as to the expediency of making it the site of a school building,—and their approval was decisive.

Further school-accommodations in the Maple Street district are urgently demanded. There are at the present date, at least 130 pupils, and but one school-room! At present, relief is partially had by occupancy of two small rooms in a dwelling-house, as an Assistant's department. But the extra accommodations thus obtained are at the best, exceedingly inconvenient and uncomfortable. Another school-room of average dimensions cannot be furnished too promptly.

For the past four years the Primary School in the Prospect Hill district has been so large as to require the services of two teachers, while the room is hardly capacious enough to accommodate the number of pupils. The fact that fifty-six pupils now in this school, cross the Fitchburg Railroad in the vicinity of the Union Glass Works, seems to point to that vicinity as the proper locality for a Primary School House. A matured plan to meet the several wants here pointed out, will probably be presented to the Town at the April Meeting.

The Committee feel it but an act of justice to themselves, to state that extreme pains have been taken to make a prudent and economical appropriation of the money placed at their disposal. They have labored to systematize the expenses incurred for janitors' services, August cleanings, repairs, and other incidental outlays—to systematize them in a way to secure good work, and the utmost economy practicable.

To one feature of their appropriation of the money entrusted to them, they desire to call particular attention. In former years, it has uniformly happened that at the end of the school-year, when the Treasurer's accounts are closed, many bills against the town on the school account—generally amounting to some hundreds of dollars—remain unpaid; all of which must of course be paid out of the next year's appropriation. The Committee determined, that if possible, this practice should be corrected; and accordingly they have taken extreme pains to call in every bill. They now come before their townsmen with the assurance that every dollar owed by the Town, so far as schools are concerned, and so far as they have been able to ascertain, is paid. At the April Meeting, they will have no occasion to call for money to pay old debts. They also express the hope that this new practice will hereafter be carefully adhered to.

It affords the Committee much gratification to be able to add, that notwithstanding they have paid the debts of former years, and, for the new feature, all the debts of the year now closed; and further, have been compelled to incur expenditures which it was impossible to anticipate a year ago; still, they have succeeded in keeping all the outlays of money within a few dollars of the amount appropriated at the last April Meeting.

There are at this date 22 different schools, of the following grades:—3 Sub-Primary, 8 Primary, 5 Intermediate, 1 Mixed, 4 Grammar, and 1 High; employing 30 Teachers, at an annual expense for salaries of $13,050.

The services of S. D. Hadley, Esq. as Teacher of Music in the Grammar Schools, at an expense of $220 a year, have been continued, and with satisfactory results. The introduction of Music in the schools has had an excellent effect, whether considered as a branch of useful study and discipline, or as a form of cheerful recreation.

In concluding this Report, the Committee take the occasion to state that they do not consider the present generally prosperous condition of the schools, so much an end, as a promise of a still higher and more general prosperity in the future. To carry the schools still forward in their career of usefulness, is their most ardent desire; that the schools will continue to make advancement, is their earnest expectation.

REPORT OF THE SELECTMEN.

The Selectmen of Somerville believing that the trusts committed to them by their fellow-citizens, call for an explanation, at the close of their term of service, they would submit the following statement:

From the commencement of their term of service to its close, they have endeavored faithfully to perform their duty to the best interests of the town, as far as they, in their judgment, could see the interest of the town demanded.

In a town where there are so many miles of streets and sidewalks as in Somerville, and where our villages are scattered over so much territory, it should not be expected that we can have dry sidewalks and smooth streets at all times; but, as from year to year we should improve some, there is no doubt, and the Selectmen believing that the future welfare and growth of the town depends much upon the condition of its streets and walks, they have endeavored through the year to improve the same as far as possible with the material that could be obtained for that purpose.

To meet such expenses as should occur during the year, the town, in April last, appropriated the sum of ninety-five hundred dollars; and notwithstanding some drafts have been made upon the fund that were not expected, they have kept within the appropriation, though much more could have been expended if they could have obtained all the gravel from the gravel pit at Winchester which they could have wished. Notwithstanding the lack of material for streets and sidewalks, there has been considerable improvement made to the same during the year.

Central Street, from Medford Street to Broadway, has been widened five feet, making it now forty-five feet wide, the abutters giving the land for the same. A sidewalk from Broadway to the Lowell Railroad has been made, the abutters paying one half of the expense.

The march of improvement still progresses on Broadway, there having been some eight hundred feet of sidewalk made on the easterly side of the street, adjoining the estate of the Messrs. Jaques, they paying one half of the expense,—which makes a fine improvement.

Franklin Street, from Webster Street to Broadway, has been re-graded, by taking from the rise south of the Church, and filling the hollow east of the Church. Edge-stones have also been furnished and set almost the entire length from Webster Street to Broadway, making a decided improvement in the street.

Summer Street, from Central to Spring Street, has also been widened and improved, which was needed to straighten the sidewalk and make it passable.

The Selectmen have endeavored to repair and improve on all the streets in the various parts of the town, as fast and thorough as practicable—feeling the importance of good streets and walks—though believing that it must be a gradual work, each year bringing its demands for improvements.

A section of Summer Street, from Spring Street to Cherry Street, has been laid out and graded, under the direction of this board, at the expense of the abutters, and ought now to be accepted by the town.

Lincoln Street, leading from Perkins Street to Broadway, being forty feet wide, has been graded at an expense of about four hundred dollars, the abutters paying for the same, and should be accepted as a town way.

Tufts Street, at the April meeting, was referred to the Selectmen, and they finding it forty feet wide, notified the abutters to grade the same under the act of 1853. Some of the abutters commenced grading, and when their portion was completed, the season being so far advanced, it was deemed inexedient to proceed, and the street therefore remains in an unfinished condition. The Board recommend its completion in the Spring, according to the grade established, and then would advise that the same be accepted as a Town Way.

Cutter Street, running from Broadway to Webster Street, has been graded and put in a thorough condition, at a large expense by the abutters. It being a street with almost every lot built upon, and there being a large amount of taxable property upon the street, should be accepted by the town when it can be made forty feet wide, there being but a small encroachment. As the street was laid out a few years ago forty feet wide, this Board would recommend the town to remove the encroachments and accept the street as a town way.

Park and Bond Streets were in April last referred to the Selectmen. They having examined the streets, find them in a condition to be accepted; and finding another Park Street in the town, have accepted this street to be known hereafter as Bond Street.

Early in the year, the Selectmen were notified to appear in Medford, by the County Commissioners, to show cause, if any, why a street should not be laid out from Somerville to Medford, over Walnut Hill, so called. Accordingly, the whole Board, with the exception of one member who was sick at the time, appeared to oppose the laying out of such a street, believing that neither the town nor the public required the laying out of such a street, but that it was for private purposes and private speculation, and that private people and private property should pay for the same, believing that it was enough to ask the town to accept and maintain the street after it was built, as they do all other streets in town; but the County Commissioners believing that such a street was needed to get from Somerville to Medford, that the public might save some fifteen rods of travel by going over Walnut Hill, rather than go on level ground, and by their direction the road must be built. The Selectmen accordingly contracted with one Chas. Linahan, for the building and completion of the road for the sum of six hundred dollars; it is now nearly completed. In November last, at the November town meeting, an appropriation of eight hundred dollars was asked for and received, for the paying for the road when completed; and it will take nearly all of the appropriation, as the road has to be fenced on both sides, nearly the entire length.

The Selectmen, by vote of the town at the April meeting, have purchased two acres of land in Winchester, at a cost of seven hundred and fifty dollars, and paid for the same from the appropriation made for general purposes. The land is situated on the line of the Boston and Lowell Railroad, and is an excellent ridge of gravel, which from its surface is some fifteen feet above the railroad, and can be excavated from three to five feet below the road; and the top soil being rather shallow, it will leave from sixteen to eighteen feet of gravel in depth, which can be easily taken by the cars. The Selectmen made a contract with the Lowell Railroad Corporation to transport all the gravel which the town needed for five years, for twenty-five cents per cubic yard; the corporation reserving the right the first year, of bringing what they could, without interfering with other work, as it was late in the season, and they wished to transport it early in the spring.

The alteration and improvement that was desired to be made at the crossing on Washington Street of the Boston and Lowell Railroad, which was referred to the Selectmen to be accomplished, was not arranged as they, or the major part of the town would have desired, which would have been to have the hollow filled up and passed on grade with the railroad; but on consulting with the manager of the road, the subject was brought before the Directors, who refused to fill up or have it filled up, on account of liability of accident, and the expense that might thereby occur; though they were satisfied to have it filled up, the corporation ever after maintaining gates, if there was to be no expense in coming in contact with teams and loss of life, to fall upon the Corporation ever after. Finding that there could be no compromise made with them to have the two roads pass upon grade, the Selectmen then endeavored to make the next best bargain they could to relieve the public as much as possible of the obstructions to which they are now liable, and to this purpose the Selectmen obtained a proposition from the Corporation, stating what they were willing to do. They proposed to raise their road eighteen inches higher than it now is, and move the northerly abutment six feet further north, and to remove the middle abutment, and put a truss bridge across the whole span, making the two spans in one, that to be six feet wider than the two are now,—in consideration that the Town should pay one thousand dollars of the expense. The Selectmen, after due deliberation, came to the conclusion that if the Corporation would remove the northerly abutment eight feet instead of six, and carry out the balance of their proposition, they would close a bargain with them. that it was important that something should be done, the Rail Road Corporation accordingly agreed to remove the abutment eight feet instead of six, and to carry out the remainder of their proposition, and complete the same in course of the season, and the bargain was closed with them; but as they could not make the alteration in the specified time, they have since signed a contract to complete the same prior to November 1st, 1861, according to the agreement previously made; and the horse railroad company have agreed with the Selectmen to pay a portion of the. thousand dollars that is to be paid by the town.

It is well remembered that on the night of February 22d, 1860, an accident occurred under the Lowell Railroad bridge, in consequence of the overflow of water, whereby a bill of damages was brought against the town, which the Selectmen settled for five hundred and sixty dollars, which has since been paid by the Lowell Corporation.

The Selectmen having been called upon, settled a bill at the Insane Asylum at Worcester, for the board of Henry Kinsley, between four and five hundred dollars, which has been standing some three years, they believing the bill could not be any other way disposed of.

Depredations have been committed upon the Town Hall by breaking and entering three different times during the year, doing considerable damage by blowing open the iron safe and taking down a portion of the wall to the brick vault, and doing other damage, for which the Selectmen offered a reward, and used all available means possible to bring to justice the guilty parties, but have not as yet been successful in convicting any party, yet believing they have one under arrest who knows the guilty parties; and if so, they are in hopes they shall be able to bring them to justice; and believing as they do, if all that are concerned in the matter could be brought to light, it would reveal a depravity unequalled in the history of the town.

At the November town meeting, it was voted that when the sureties of Mr. Raymond, late Collector, paid to the Treasurer of the town fourteen hundred and twenty-one dollars and twenty-five cents, the Selectmen should cancel the bonds and discharge the bondsmen; and the sureties having complied with the requirements of the town, have been discharged.

Five officers were put on duty on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, and Saturday nights and Sundays for two months, on petition of citizens, for the protection of property and keeping of the peace; and no doubt was a preventative of some mischief and crime, though no special arrests were made, and nothing strange occurred during their service. There has been a number of incendiary fires, and cases of breaking, entering and stealing, as in previous years, and there has been no arrest which has proved thus far beneficial; but the Selectmen believe that there is much mischief done which should and might be prevented, if the means used could be brought to bear as it should be, by all parties working together, and with a determination to bring the guilty to justice, without fear or favor, let them be whom they would.

The Selectmen are of the opinion that if the town would choose three Constables instead of eight, and leave the Selectmen to appoint Special Police, from time to time, as they need them, there would not be so much clashing amongst the officers as there is now, and that it would save a great deal of hard thoughts and feelings which now exist; and they also believe that the time has arrived when the town should make special appropriations to defray the expense of Special Police, when needed.

The subject of lighting the Town Hall with gas has been a subject of much consideration by the Selectmen during the year, and they are of the opinion that it should be done, believing it to be less expensive as well as a great convenience.

The town survey, which was commenced in 1859, has been prolonged beyond what was originally expected, but is now nearly completed, and the Selectmen believe has thus far been done in a thorough manner, and will do credit to the Surveyor, and be an advantage to the town, when completed; it is now expected to be completed and ready to bring before the town at the April meeting.

The Selectmen have thus hastily glanced at the more important points of interest connected with their duty, and would most respectfully submit the same.

BENJAMIN RANDALL, MARK FISK, ALBERT KENNESON, THOS. CUNNINGHAM, HENRY A. SNOW.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

AT a meeting of the Town in April last, there was appropriated the sum of $31.950 for the payment of the ordinary current expenses of the Town for the fiscal year which has just closed, without making any provision for discounts and abatements on taxes assessed. By a vote of the Town, which has been in operation for some three or four years, a discount of 5 per cent. is made to those who pay on or before the 10th day of August, and of 4 per cent. to those who pay on or before the 10th day of September. The practical operation of this discount has been to induce the payment of at least one half of the whole tax prior to the last mentioned date, requiring a discount of $1000 to $1500, according to the amount paid entitled to discount. The abatements annually made by the Assessors ordinarily range from $300 to $500. It is to be expected, in a town of the size of Somerville, where there is a considerable class of transient population, that there will be some $300 to $500, mostly single poll taxes, that will be annually lost to the Town. Therefore, to cover these items of discounts and abatements, and taxes that cannot be collected, there should be raised a sum, annually, of not less than $2000, if this system of discounts is to be continued.

There seems to be a growing feeling among tax payers, in favor of making some alteration in regard to the termination of the financial year, or of deferring to a later day the choice of Town Officers, so that their reports may be printed and circulated before the election of their successors—an object much to be desired, and which I think can best be obtained by requiring the Treasurer and Collector to close their yearly accounts as early as the 1st of March, and that the same be audited within ten days thereafter. That the Town Officers be chosen in April instead of March. The Auditors then chosen, to audit the accounts of the Treasurer and Collector in the month of March following.

It would seem to be very desirable that the ascertained uncollectable taxes should be abated each year; and the amount thus abated reported to the Treasurer by the Assessors or the Selectmen, as the case may be.

Six thousand dollars of the Town debt will fall due the present year, which I would respectfully submit should be paid from taxes to be assessed, as authority was given the Treasurer, by vote of the Town last November, to borrow "a sum not exceeding $5.500 on five to ten years," for expenses connected with the new Medford Street School House, and which sum will soon be called for by the School Committee—so that if the $6000 be paid, the Town debt will still remain about the same as stated in the details hereunto annexed.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF THE TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

FOR THE SCHOOL-YEAR 1861-2.

Another school-year having closed, the School Committee, in accordance with custom and the requirements of law, have prepared an Annual Report embracing particulars of the condition and progress of the Public Schools, and of outward school accommodations, more especially as these particulars have been affected by their official relations during the year;—all of which they hereby submit to the consideration of their fellow-Townsmen.

The following Tabular Statement gives the several grades of the schools, and the number of schools belonging to each grade;—also the whole number of pupils that have belonged to each grade, and the average attendance in the same during the Winter Term or the six months ending with February.

GRADE,		Average Attendance.
1 High School,	83	77
4 Grammar Schools	360	311
1 Mixed School	38	25
6 Intermediate Schools	384	321
12 Primary Schools	842	615

We thus have a total of 24 schools; of 1707 different pupils in one term; and of 1349 as the average attendance during the same. During the Summer Term, the total number of different pupils was 1669, and the average attendance 1299.

The number of persons in the Town on the first of May last, between the ages of 5 and 15 years, is given by the Assessors as 1565. This number should be compared with the number of pupils during the Summer Term on account of the greater nearness of dates. There have been 76 pupils over 15 years of age, and 24 pupils under 5 years, the first of May, making a total of 100 to be deducted from 1669, -- leaving 1569 as the number between the ages of 5 and 15 in the Summer Term. This number compared with the 1565 given by the Assessors, shows a difference of but 4, and this difference in favor of school attendance! Of course, the two numbers here compared cannot be regarded as mathematically exact, but they are precise enough to show that the number of children in the Town, of suitable age for attending the schools, who, for any cause, are denied this precious opportunity, must be very small.

Recurring to the Winter Term, it will be seen, that while the whole number of pupils is 1707, the average attendance is but 1349—a difference of 358. This is the greatest falling off known during the official service of any member of the present Committee—a circumstance which is anything but gratifying, especially in view of the fact that the winter has been tolerably mild, and the travelling unusually good. But along with the causes which reduce the average attendance of pupils, sickness has operated to an extent very far beyond what has been usual. In nearly every district, teachers have deplored the great prevalence of disease, and particularly in the alarming forms of Scarlet and Lung Fever. Not only have the children suffering from these complaints been kept from school, but the fear of infectious results has justified teachers in refusing to receive even healthy children from families where the disease prevailed, and has induced parents to keep their children away from the possibility of the danger. Teachers who have served the longest in our schools, aver that at no former period have the ranks of their pupils been so seriously thinned by disease, and the fear of disease. Single families could be named, in which five children have been kept from school the whole winter!

Happily, this disturbing cause has led to but few fatal results, while its operation must prove transient. Already, the absentees are returning to their so long vacant seats. There is reason to trust, that on the opening of the Summer Term, the average attendance will go up to its former mark.

Of the condition of the schools in general, the Committee can speak, with great confidence, in terms of commendation. The occasional defects are not passed by unnoticed; but these are so few, and the excellences are so many and so palpable, that the Committee would do the teachers injustice, did they not, in this public way, acknowledge their very general fidelity and efficiency. No instance has come under the notice of the Committee, wherein a former condition of excellence has been lost or impaired; while in several particulars, occasions of censure have been removed. there are 31 teachers in actual service, it is impossible that all shall be equally well qualified for their work; impossible but that there shall be among them diversities of gifts, and different degrees of success; impossible but that there shall be occasions, and just occasions, of complaint from pupils, parents and committees; impossible, let it be added, but that in some cases, the injured party shall be the teacher, rather than the teacher's accuser.

The Committee record with unaffected sorrow, the inroad of death among the company of teachers. In the decease of Miss Josephine D. Smith, of the Forster Grammar School, the Town has lost one of its most accomplished, conscientious, and pains-taking instructors—one whose educational qualifications were of a high order, and whose enthusiasm in her calling, and high moral influence had repeatedly attracted the notice and won the approbation of the Committee and of parents. Now that she has gone to her eternal home, may her bright example of patience, fidelity and zeal remain to incite to deeds of excellence, those who shall succeed her in the sphere of duty upon the earth.

The Committee see no occasion for any elaborate statements respecting the condition of the schools; yet there are a few particulars pertaining to the sevaral grades, to which they will devote a brief word. And first of

THE PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

Twelve schools of the Primary grade, with a general attendance of about 700 pupils, - pupils who are receiving their first and most lasting impressions in that course of public training which is to fit them for useful manhood or womanhood,—present a spectacle upon which no person, appreciating the vast responsibilities involved, can look without emotion. Experience will soon assure any committee that whatever claims schools of a higher grade may have upon those entrusted with their care, the claims of the Primary schools are first in importance. To meet these claims, the first requisite is the employment of competent teachers; and a competent Primary school teacher is one who, in addition to intellectual and scholarly qualifications, has patience, gentleness, and kindliness of disposition, and at the same time, an energy and authoritative manner which compel the respect, as well as love, of the pupils. The Committee feel assured that the teachers in the Primary schools, as a body, are happily endowed with these qualities. In most of these schools the order—which more than anything else indicates the general character-is excellent. Not that there is an unbroken stillness, or a mechanical rigidity of position and movement; for such results, even if possible, are not desirable; but a reasonable amount of quiet, and a freedom of posture and action which give to the school a look of cheerfulness, and which indicate, on the part of both teacher and pupils, elasticity of spirits and bodily health.

The Committee must confess that cases sometime come under their notice, in which they could wish that the effort to preserve good order were not so apparent—that the teacher had the tact to govern more, and not seem to govern so much. The remark may be indulged in this connection, though applicable to schools of every grade, that the most efficient disciplinarians are themselves disciplined—that their manner is calm and their tone subdued—that a look, or a movement of the finger, is sometimes more effective than a word. The Committee have sometimes seen "confusion made worse confounded," by the teacher's attempt to restore order; have sometimes been in doubt which made the greater noise, the pupils or the teacher.

The very gratifying success with which some of our Primary teachers seek to develope naturalness of tone as contrasted with the mechanical drawl, technically known as a "school-tone," leads to the belief that other teachers of the same grade may make decided improvement in the same particular. The success of teachers in this vital department of their labors, is by no means equal. The "tone" of which complaint is here made, is the most serious evil in the schools. Happily, the evil is far from general; it is hoped that it will be removed altogether.

The Committee regret to find that the most unworthy views as to the proper requisites for teaching in Primary schools, are entertained, not alone by the public, but by persons applying for the office of teacher. Scores of young ladies apply to the Committee every year, with the modest avowal, that though they do not feel competent to teach in a Grammar, or an Intermediate, they think they could do very well in a Primary school! It is needless to say that every person who makes this stereotyped remark, betrays thereby her utter unfitness for the position to which she aspires. Go into the Grammar school and note the boy or girl who finds study peculiarly hard, who gets discour.

aged, who falls behind the class, whose progress is always towards the lower classes; and in four cases out of five, the cause of all is not a lack of natural gift, but a lack of proper training in the Primary school—in four cases out of five, it will appear that the dull pupil had the misfortune to start the career of education under the lead of a person, who imagined that any one who had seen the inside of a High School, "would do" for a Primary teacher.

THE INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

About 350 pupils under six teachers are receiving instruction of a high order in the Intermediate schools. standard of excellence which in former years has been acknowledged, has in no particular fallen off; while a few defects, in a few of the schools of this grade, have been mostly removed. The spelling--a very important department of instruction in the Intermediate grade—has been greatly improved; the reading continues to be most satisfactory, where before specially praised, and greatly improved where lack of voice and animation had given occasion for complaint; the arithmetic is generally more thorough; and the general discipline all that can reasonably be expected. It has been noticed that in nearly all the Intermediate schools, pupils in the first class fail to reach independent writing. As many of these pupils never go into a higher grade, would it not be well to carry the writing beyond the simple rudiments, —and this, even though the time employed should encroach somewhat upon that allotted other studies—that of geography, for example? Certainly, the rudimentary training in writing must on no account be slighted.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

The Committee have the satisfaction of reiterating the encomiums heretofore pronounced upon the Grammar schools. Good reading, good spelling, prompt recitations in history, geography and grammar, writing that must satisfy the most fastideous taste, and high moral and efficient discipline,—all these things must in justice be said of the four schools and about 350 pupils of the Grammar grade. The difference on the score of merit between the several schools is less than it was a year ago. It is one of the good influences of a really good school, that it spurs other schools on towards equal excellence. Perhaps the Committee have assigned too much work in arithmetic. The only defect in the Grammar Schools worth naming seems to be too great a quantity for the best quality of work in the branch of study just named. Whatever the real evil may be, the Committee have entire confidence in the ability and energy of the teachers promptly to rectify the same.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

In no former year has the average attendance in the High Heretofore the number of School reached the number 77. pupils who have left through discouragement has been fear-The past year, a few pupils have left on account of failing health; but so far as information has reached the Committee, the act of leaving has been felt by both parent and pupil, as a sacrifice. At all events, the present size of the school, and the comparatively small number who, for any cause, have withdrawn, bespeak the true character and reputation of the school. A few years ago, the High School had its basis in the inflexible requirements of the statute; the Committee believe that now it has a much more satisfactory basis in the esteem and appreciation of the community. Questions may at any time be put to pupils in other schools, to ascertain who among them are aiming for "the place where they teach Greek, Latin and Algebra," and it will be seen that even the youngest children in the Primary grade have started for the High School, and will feel its influence as an incitement and a hope through their whole course of instruction! Even if we throw out of the account, those most valuable results, the knowledge and training imparted in the High School itself, the good the school does in its influence upon all the other schools, would amply compensate for its cost. Many a pupil who will never enter within its walls as a student, will nevertheless be benefited by it, and feel the benefit all his days. The scholarly demeanor and methodical habits of the teachers, in the High School, as proved by the thorough classification, thorough recitations, and excellent discipline, need no commendation. A year ago, the school stood well; it has lost nothing since.

Two years of experience satisfy the Committee that the employment of Mr. S. D. Hadley as Teacher of Music, has been a wise and economical arrangement. His services have done much to improve, as well as to elevate, the "tone" of the schools.

NEW SCHOOL ACCOMMODATIONS.

Two new school-houses have been completed during the year. One of these is on Medford Street, on what was known as the Pound Lot. This very elegant structure accommodates a Primary and an Intermediate school, and amply meets the demand of the neighborhood for school accommotions.

The other building is located on the site of the old Maple Street school-house; has four rooms, all finished; and now contains three Primary Schools—where two years ago, there was but one! This fact sufficiently demonstrates that there was necessity for further school accommodations in this district. When appropriations were called for with a view to this building, the Committee were in doubt whether to finish more than two of the rooms. It appeared, however, that the other rooms could be finished while the building was being constructed, at a much less cost than at a subsequent period. Hence it was decided to finish all the rooms, even at the risk of slightly exceeding the appropriation. The excess of expenditure above the amount appropriated, is however, comparatively slight.

The Committee will however say in this connection, that while every bill has been called in and paid—so that not a dollar is now due from the Town on the School Account—the aggregate of expenses both for building and for current expenses, falls short of the appropriation.

The old school-house on the Maple Street lot was moved to a lot facing Prospect Street, purchased for the purpose, and has been appropriately fitted up for a Primary school. The result has been greatly to relieve the over-crowded and hence unhealthy room of the Primary school in the Prospect Hill district.

The Committee hereby make public acknowledgement of the thorough and workmanlike manner in which Benjamin Randall, Esq., builder of the school-house on Medford Street, and Michael Dechan, Esq., builder of the school-house on Maple Street, have fulfilled their contracts. Both of these gentlemen have seemed anxious to exceed their obligations, rather than to come short of the same. They have certainly given the Town a large amount of good work, at a very reasonable cost.

NAMES OF NEW SCHOOL HOUSES.

It has seemed to the Committee that the name of a street, though it may designate the locality of a school, is not a proper name for a school. While they had occasion to give names to new schools, they deemed it proper to assign names to all the schools heretofore designated by the streets on which they were located.

The school in the new building on Medford Street, was named the Brastow School—the Chairman, at the time, being absent at the seat of war, and the name determined upon without his consent or even knowledge.

The school on Maple Street was named the Jackson School.

The new school established on Prospect Street, near the Glass Works, was named the Union School.

FURTHER SCHOOL ACCOMMODATIONS NEEDED.

Further school accommodations are needed in the Prescott, Forster and Franklin districts. Two rooms remain unoccupied and unfinished in the Prescott school-house; and in view of the fact that the two Primary schools in the building number about 150 pupils, with the prospect of an increase in the Spring, the Committee respectfully ask that an appropriation be made at the annual Town Meeting for the finishing and furnishing of one or both rooms. The estimated expense for finishing and furnishing the smaller of the two rooms is $250, and for finishing and furnishing the larger room $325. Something might perhaps be saved from these estimates, if both rooms could be finished at the same time, and as both will probably be required at no very distant day, the judgment of the Town is respectfully requested.

The Forster school-house is full, and the Franklin overrunning—that is, has more pupils than seats, or room for seats. It is doubtful whether any disposition of the pupils will warrant the Committee in deferring a call for appropriations to provide more accommodations in both of these districts. The Town is respectfully requested to consider the question whether to enlarge the present buildings on the present sites, or whether to build anew on other sites. By estimate, the cost of lengthening each of the school buildings, the Franklin and Forster, about 25 feet, will not vary far from $1,400 each. A matured plan looking to the further school accommodations, will be submitted to the Town at the March Meeting, at which time the judgment of the Town in regard to the suggested enlargement of the buildings named will be respectfully requested.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR CURRENT EXPENSES.

The amount required for the support of the schools the coming financial year will be—by estimate—as follows:—

For Teachers' Salaries, - - $13,800.

'' Janitors' ' - 650.

Amount carried forward, $14,450.

	Amount brought forward,					14,450.
44	Fuel,	-	-	-		-	1,200.
44	Repairs,	-	-	1-	-		1,400.
"	Insurance,		-	-	-	-	200.
"	Contingent	Exp	ense	es,	-	-	600.
							$17.850.

The Schedule which follows is based upon the statistics of the Summer Term, and of course differs (though but slightly) from the general Tabular Statement given near the beginning of the Report, which statement is based upon the Winter Term. It is thought best to include the Union and Jackson 3d in the Schedule, though they were not formally opened in the Summer Term.

REPORT OF THE SELECTMEN.

The municipal year which has just closed, has been an eventful one in the history of the country; and, while it has demanded from all the exercise of economy and self-denial in private affairs, has rendered necessary, in public and national concerns, unusual expenditures and great sacrifices.

At a large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens, held at the Town Hall, on Wednesday, April 17, 1861, the very liberal sum of $4,323 50 was pledged for the purpose of rendering assistance to the members of the Somerville Light Infantry and their families-the 5th Regiment Mass. Volunteers, to which the Somerville company was attached, having been suddenly ordered to proceed to Washington, to aid in the defence of the National Capitol, then greatly imperilled by a threatened attack from those who had wickedly risen in rebellion against the best and most progressive form of government upon the face of the earth. (A brief account of this meeting, and also of the ceremonies at the departure and return of the company, have been registered for preservation upon the records of the town.)

The sum thus raised, over and above what was paid to the company at the time, was, by a vote of the meeting, placed in the keeping of the Selectmen, with directions to deposit it in bank, and to disburse according to the intent and purpose for which it was raised. The Selectmen feel that this may be the proper time to render an account of their stewardship, in this, as in all other matters entrusted to their charge.

Of the sum thus subscribed, $4,133 50 was from time to time collected, leaving a balance of $190 yet unpaid.

Various articles of necessity or comfort were purchased for the company, and presented to them previous to their departure; and sundry drafts from the commander, while at the seat of war, were duly honored. Several families of members of the company have been aided, in sums varying according to their necessities, to the amount of $881.53: and subsequently to the return of the company, it was voted by them to request the Selectmen to appropriate the remainder as a bounty for those members who should re-enlist, in the ratio of $20 for a married man, and $10 for a single man. This arrangement seemed to the Selectmen to be a very judicious one, and was accordingly adopted.

The account, therefore, upon the 1st of March, 1862, stands as follows:

In accordance with instructions received at the April meeting,—at which time an appropriation was made for the purpose,—the Selectmen have aided a large number of the families of residents of this town, who have left in defence of the national government. This has been no easy task. From the frequent attempts upon the part of some applicants to deceive or mislead; and from the mistaken ideas entertained upon the subject by nearly all of them,—caused, in no small degree, we are sorry to say, by the florid and extravagant advertisements of recruiting officers,—it has been necessary to visit most of the families aided, and to exercise the utmost caution in considering the claims and appeals of all those assisted. Many of those who are serving in the army, notwithstanding its well apportioned condition, and the good degree of regularity with which payments are now made, remit but little or nothing to their families; and some instances have come under the observation of the Selectmen, where the wife, with perhaps four or five children dependent upon her, instead of receiving any aid from the husband and father, has been importuned to send him money, clothing, &c., evidently supposing that however great his neglect of his family, they would receive all needed aid from the fund placed at the disposal of this Board.

In order to carry out the instructions received, in their fair spirit and interpretation, the Selectmen have endeavored to keep constantly in view a course of conduct, which, while it should be charitable and sympathetic, should also be prudent and economical.

The Act passed at the special session of the Legislature, in May last, authorizing the raising and disbursing of money in aid of the families of volunteers, provides that an annual statement of the disbursments of the Selectmen shall be made upon the first of January in each year, in order to enable the towns to obtain the amount of re-imbursement to which they may be entitled by the provisions of the Act. This statement has been made, certified to, and rendered in; and although the amount expected to be obtained from this source has not yet been received, and will not probably cancel the amount paid out, yet it is expected that not more than one thousand dollars of the five thousand appropriated, will be consumed.

The account as rendered in upon the first of January, was as follows:

Whole number of families assisted,	-	74
Whole amount paid,	-	- 11	$3,293 46
Amount of re-imbursement expected,	-	-	2,344 52
Leaving as amount of appropriation ex	pende	d,	$948 94

To meet the ordinary expenses of the town for the past year, there was placed at the disposal of this Board, in April last, the sum of $10,000; and on account of many unexpected claims having arisen during the year, some of which were for liabilities incurred in the year previous, this has been slightly exceeded.

The highways have, as usual, absorbed a large share of the attention of the Selectmen the past year, and are considered to be, at present, generally, in good condition. The gravel obtained from the lot owned by the town, in Winchester, although requiring considerable time to become compact, has, we think, demonstrated itself to be the very best material ever used upon the roads in Somerville; and the wisdom of securing a supply for a number of years, has become more and more apparent.

There have been a few new streets laid out and graded by the Selectmen the past year, the expense of which has been borne by the abuttors. Among them may be named Tufts Street, leading from Washington to Cross Street. This is now a beautiful street, affording a convenient way of avoiding the bridge over the Lowell Railroad, whenever it may be necessary, and being in a satisfactory condition, should be accepted by the town.

The new road over College Hill, ordered by the County Commissioners, and for which an appropriation of $800 was made, has been completed and fenced at a cost of $668 52, and by concurrence with the Board of Selectmen of Medford, has been named College Avenue.

About two-thirds of the width of Pinckney Street having been graded by the abuttors on one side, and curbstones furnished by them, the Board of Selectmen were petitioned to exercise the powers vested in them, and lay out the same. Accordingly, after having given legal notice to all the parties interested, to attend and show cause, if any existed, why it should not be done, they proceeded to lay it out of a width of forty feet, by taking a narrow strip of vacant land from the large field owned by the heirs of the late Timothy Walker: more than a sufficient equivalent for which will be rendered them, by their obtaining on their long line of frontage, all the rights and privileges upon a wide, well graded and accepted street, without contributing, in any other way, a single dollar towards its construction. The additional grading and graveling needed is nearly completed, under a contract made for the purpose, the expense of which was guaranteed by the residents upon the street. As but a few days' labor are required, and will be bestowed on the opening of the season, its acceptance is recommended.

Cutter Street, which had been previously graded by the abuttors, has been thoroughly macadamized and gravelled, and being of the required width, should be accepted.

An unusual number of requests for setting edgestones furnished by the abuttors, has this year been made, principally by residents at the East Village. According to previous usage, they have been set at the expense of the town; and as experience has demonstrated the necessity of supporting them by paving the gutters, it becomes a costly process, and is a luxury which should be but sparingly indulged in.

A considerable amount of other labor has been performed upon the highways, in different sections of the town; prominent among which may be mentioned the macadamizing of Broadway, at Winter Hill and vicinity, thoroughly gravelling of Highland Avenue, filling in and grading at the corner of Cross Street and Three Pole Lane, &c. &c.

The fact that our territory is so extensively covered, as it were, by a network of railroads,—although it affords ample facilities of communication with the Metropolis, and therefore contributes to render our town a desirable place of residence,—is fraught with great responsibilities, and imposes a great burden of care and duty upon the town authorities. And notwithstanding the exercise of the utmost vigilance on the part of the Selectmen, to render all our highways safe and convenient for public travel, it is unavoidable but that accidents will sometimes occur by reason of these liabilities: and it seems that this must continue to be more and more, as to a certain extent it has been, a source of great expense to us. And the conviction has forced itself upon the minds of this Board, that whenever the depth of snow shall cause a discontinuance of the running of the cars upon the horse railroads through the streets of the neighboring cities, it will be necessary to prohibit the clearing of the snow from the tracks through this town, as our highways are rendered exceedingly dangerous from this cause.

The case of the accident to William Crook, of Medford, in January, 1861, is an instance in point. For the injuries sustained by him, by the overturning of his sleigh upon the railroad track at the top of Winter Hill, the town was sued for the sum of $2000. As an equitable settlement could not be obtained from him, although strenuous efforts were made to do so, the case proceeded to trial, and a verdict against the Town, with damages in the sum of $530, was obtained, which, with costs of court and other attendant expenses, increased it to $984.64. It is, however, expected that the whole or a large part of this, will be recovered from the Charlestown and Medford Railroad Company.

An accident having occurred to Michael Hennessy, in July last, at a point in this town where the Fitchburg Railroad is crossed by a private way called Union Street, leading from Milk Street to Beacon Street, the attention of the Selectmen was specially drawn to the insecurity of this and other similarly situated streets in that neighborhood. They therefore caused several sign-boards to be prepared for the purpose of cautioning the public against travelling upon private ways, which will be placed at the entrances of all such ways as soon as the condition of the earth will permit. But this, alone, is but a feeble precaution, and it is deemed expedient that the town should take some definite action in reference to Union, Dane, and all similarly situated streets, to render them more safe and convenient for travel. The claim for the above accident, had at one time assumed most formidable proportions; and as the relative liabilities of the Town and the railway, could only be ascertained by allowing the case to pass through the tedious process of law, which is always expensive and at best uncertain, it was, by mutual concession and forbearance, amicably settled by the Town and the railway company uniting to pay Mr. Hennessy a satisfactory consideration.

An extension of time upon the contract made by the Lowell Railroad Company with the Town, for widening their bridge over Milk Street, being urgently solicited by them on account of the very great depression of the times, and it appearing that the public interests would not materially suffer in consequence, it has been granted; allowing them until July 1st, 1862 for its completion.

Early in the year, the Town was notified to appear at a hearing before the County Commissioners, in reference to the laying out of Medford Turnpike as a county way, upon the petition of Geo. Cutter and others. Upon careful investigation of the subject, the Selectmen were convinced that this measure is at present uncalled for, and would involve an expense to the Town of several thousand dollars. They therefore deemed it expedient to employ able counsel to appear in their behalf and oppose the measure. Of the decision of the commissioners, we have not yet been informed.

Upon the completion of the Brastow School-house, the old Medford Street building was conveyed by the School Committee into the charge of the Selectmen; and as it was an encroachment upon the lines of Three-Pole Lane as previously laid out, they endeavored to make some suitable arrangement for its disposal. It was first offered for sale; but no satisfactory bid being made for it, it was decided to remove it to the lot of vacant land belonging to the Town, on the corner of Mils and Prospect Streets, and fit it up to supply a necessity that had long been felt for increased accommodations for transient lodgers, and for a suitable room wherein to hold a Justice's Court and committee meetings. This room has almost been a necessity in the disbursements of the Relief Committee, who have held their weekly meetings there. After having taken the requisite portion of the building for these purposes, a considerable part of it yet remained, and it was converted into a neat and commodions tenement, which is now occupied by one of the teamsters in the employ of the Town, at a rent of $75 per annum. The expense of the above has been about $600, and has been paid from the ordinary appropriation for contingencies.

The location of the former Town Pound having been selected by the School Committee for the site of the Brastow School-House, a new one, of ampler dimensions has been constructed at the corner of Broadway and Cedar Streets, upon the estate sometimes called the Town Farm. This estate, originally selected with the intention of its being converted into a Cemetery, being, a large part of it swampy and wet, seems to this board to be very unfit for such a use; and if it shall be still the desire of the citizens to secure an estate for this purpose, it will be advisable to procure some more favorable situation.

A perambulation of the boundary line between the City of Cambridge and this Town, as required by statute, has this year been made by a committee from each government; the bounds properly adjusted, and a suitable record made.

The survey of the Town commenced in 1859, has this year been completed, and submitted to the County Commissioners for their approval. Sectional plans of all the streets, showing their lines, the location of monuments marking the angles, &c, have been prepared, and strongly bound in two large volumes. The large map of the Town, recently completed in connection with this survey, from the best and most authentic sources, is believed to be one of the best town maps in the State; and it is a matter of regret, that the efforts of the Civil Engineer who constructed it, to obtain subscribers enough to warrant the undertaking of publishing a lithograph of it upon a reduced scale, and also a good directory of the Town, should not have been successful. The entire cost of this survey, including the map, has been about $1900, and is very much less than even the lowest proposal originally received for its performance by contract.

In closing their report, the retiring board feel emboldened to offer a single suggestion in reference to the amount of appropriation which will probably be required for the ensuing year.

While they feel that in ordinary times, the amount of the appropriations entrusted to the Selectmen in each of the last two or three years, (about $10,000,) is not extravagant, and as a general thing could be judiciously expended annually, yet, feeling that in the present aspect of the country, nothing but what is of absolute necessity should be indulged in, a retrenchment of $1000 might safely be attempted, and therefore recommend the following appropriations:—

For Highways and Sidewalks, $6000.

For Contingent expenses, including Police, 3000.

$9000.

BENJAMIN RANDALL,
HENRY A. SNOW,
THOS. CUNNINGHAM,
ALBERT KENNESON,
CHAS. H. GUILD.

REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

OF THE

TOWN OF SOMERVILE.

The School Committee, on rendering account of their stewardship, confess they have had no small degree of solicitude in the discharge of their various official duties, especially in their efforts in making a prudent and proper disposition of the means the town has placed in their hands.

The people of Somerville have not been backward in their efforts, and desire to make their schools rank favorably with those in other towns in the Commonwealth; and in this they have not been unsuccessful. But few towns have heretofore expended more money for the support of public schools. their standing were to be determined by the amount appropriated—and the inference is not unnatural—they would be sure of an enviable rank. But this is not our only claim, nor does our duty here end. While we may be liberal in furnishing the means for carrying on the work of public instruction, we are not unmindful that a judicious economy and application of those means are properly demanded. A faithful discharge of duties on the part of Teachers and Committee is justly expected. To meet the just demands and expectations of our townsmen, is the sincere desire of the School Committee, and the consciousness of having discharged their duties to the satisfaction of their constituents, will be an ample reward for their labors

Are we doing all that may be justly expected? Has the money which has been so liberally bestowed upon our schools been judiciously and profitably expended? Do our schools realize all we have a right to expect from the means given and the efforts made to sustain them? Are our efforts made in the right direction? These questions properly press themselves upon our consideration.

The School Committee feel that our teachers receive no more than their services justly demand. To secure a good teacher we must give him a just compensation for his labor. Frequent changes should be avoided; and when a good teacher has been secured, we should be slow to part with him. Indeed any change is attended with risk, and is an experiment which should be tried with caution. Of course, the same remarks apply with equal force to female as well as male teachers.

Again, we all want capable and experienced teachers, who combine all the essential qualities required in a model instructor and disciplinarian; who can adapt themselves to all the various traits of character in their pupils, and be able to adopt and administer such a system of school government, as shall harmonize with the conflicting ideas of the community. In no profession or calling, is there more desparity of ability and success, than in that of teaching. The same competition exists here as in other callings. And, if we want good teachers we must remunerate them accordingly.

The Committee also believe that the number of teachers now employed, cannot without detriment to our schools, be reduced. The whole number of pupils in town attending school, during the last year, was 1,851. To instruct this number, 30 teachers have been employed, making an average of over 60 pupils to each teacher, a number sufficiently large, having a regard to the welfare of the school and the physical well being of the teacher. The Statutes of the Commonwealth (ch. 38, sec. 9) provide for even more than this. This section requires a female assistant for every public school having an average of fifty scholars.

The money required for fuel, repairs and care of buildings must depend somewhat upon circumstances not altogether within the control of the School Committee. Strict regard for economy has been here observed and it is believed that less could not be well expended.

Then the question arises whether the efforts of teachers and Committee are well directed. The duties of the School Committee are various, and sometimes of a perplexing character. They share with their fellow-townsmen the same interest in the welfare of their schools, and have not been unmindful of their trust. To the teachers, however, are we to look chiefly for the character and success of our schools. The system and course of study are similar, if not the same, as are in use throughout the Commonwealth. They aim chiefly to fit the pupil for the duties and common affairs of life; to render him a good and upright citizen; in short, to qualify him for usefulness. The course of study is the same as that prescribed by the General Statutes. It is the result of much study and experience, and, although open to criticism, may be safely pursued.

The method of classification in our schools economizes and lightens the labor of teachers, as well as increases the amount of actual instruction to each pupil. The objection to this classification, that it tends to reduce different minds to a level; that, while it compels the inferior mind to perform tasks beyond its powers, it prevents the superior mind from exerting its proper strength; is met and obviated in a great degree by a system of promotion. By this a healthy emulation is incited. The pupil is taught to feel in the school, as in the world, that his progress in the main depends upon his own exertions, and that his rank in school as in society must rest upon merit.

The present method of examining schools in Somerville, adopted about two years since, is calculated to awaken in teachers and pupils a desire to excel. The schools are divided into classes or grades. Sub-committees are appointed to examine all of the same grade. A system of marking is adopted to show the proficiency of each class. In the examination, every element of importance is taken into account; such as deportment, progress, accuracy, age and number of pupils. By this method we are enabled to compare one school with another of the same grade, from the same stand point. We can also determine the comparative proficiency of our teachers, and point out their short comings. By comparing the reports with that of the preceding year, we are enabled to approximate the progress of our schools from time to time. Teachers and pupils have manifested much interest in this method of examination, and the Committee feel that it has been attended with a marked degree of success.

The time occupied in school is all that the physical and mental welfare of the pupil and teacher will warrant. Both must have exercise and relaxation. The air of the school room is never any too pure, even with the best means of ventilation; and the minds of children are liable to be wearied under the strain of constant systematic study. It is even stated by some of our clearest observers and profoundest thinkers that the time daily employed in Massachusetts schools is too great, especially for our younger pupils. Time and experience, however, can only show upon what rule a portion of the day is to be set apart for the labor of the school room, having regard for the greatest possible progress consistent with the health of the pupil. It is difficult, even if not impossible, to fix the exact amount of labor in school which an individual pupil is capable of performing—much more difficult is the problem when applied to a whole school or community. No two pupils are of the same physical health and power of endurance. What would drive one to a premature grave, would be a mere diversion to another. We can make no rule without exceptions, and must rely upon long experience to determine the true one.

In answering the various questions which have thus far arisen, the Committee are fully aware that the true test is to be found in the actual condition of our schools and the progress the schools have made and are making. By this test we judge of the efficiency of our teachers. We do not expect to find every school all that we could desire. Nor shall we pretend that there is any school not open to criticism. On the contrary, there is much room for improvement in all our schools. There exist evils that have seriously threatened to impair the usefulness, as well as to thwart the efforts of teacher and committee.

Truancy has been the source of much complaint and annoyance. The evil has been felt the more for the reason that heretofore there has been no legal remedy to correct it. But there is a prospect that the statutes will soon provide means of correcting this evil. Irregular attendance in school, although in many instances impossible to provide against, has been the occasion of much regret. This evil can but retard the progress of the school. It is a great wrong to those who are constant in their presence, and renders it necessary in the teacher to perform much of his labor with imperfect success.

Imperfect sympathy between teachers, parents and committee is liable to exist, and has existed in some instances. This is perhaps but natural, since men are not infallible. These evils may in a measure be remedied by mutual effort on the part of teacher, parent and committee. Of these evils more may be said on another occasion.

Of our teachers now employed in our schools, the committee have rarely, if at all, had occasion to complain during the past year. Not an instance of a seeming or actual neglect of duty on their part can be recalled. On the contrary, they have manifested an unusual interest and solicitude to make our schools all that we have a right to expect and worthy of our support. It is not necessary to particularize. The most of our teachers have been employed for a number of years, and the measure of their success is well known. Teachers feel that it is to them we look chiefly for the success of our schools. The work is mainly to be done in the recitation room. It is through their will and efforts that the machinery of the school-room is to be kept in motion. We believe they have a full appreciation of the importance of their trust, and will discharge their duties with all fidelity.

But there are duties to be performed by others besides teachers, less active and less numerous perhaps, but equally imperative. There exist certain relations between teachers, parents and committee, with reciprocal duties to be by each performed. Each is in a measure powerless for good without the aid of the other. This fact is not by all sufficiently recognized. The duty of a teacher is peculiar. We justly expect much of him. He has a sacred trust in the education of our children. He is not limited to mere book instruction. He is to instruct them in all the virtues that aid and adorn humanity as well as "to point out the evil tendency of their opposite vices."

In this he should receive the sympathy and support of parents as well as Committee. In the discipline of his school he is to be aided and sustained in every reasonable and proper effort. We hold that no greater wrong can be inflicted upon a pupil, than an undue tenderness on the part of a parent in requiring a compliance with the rules of the school. The evil tendency of misdirected sympathy with pupils against the action of the teacher is pernicious in its influence.

Erroneous ideas ef discipline may prevail with the teacher, undoubtedly, as with parents. But for all this, there is a proper and perfect remedy provided. The Committee deem it their peculiar prerogative and duty to apply this remedy. It is their province to meet and adjust the difficulties that may arise in the discipline of schools, and to see that the rights of teachers, parents and pupils, are not disregarded. The Committee feel also, that they have a right to expect the hearty cooperation of parents, in their efforts to elevate and improve our schools. Much good may be done by the exertion of parental influence in the matter of discipline, and in the encouragement of their children in habits of study and obedience to the authority of the school-room.

A matter was recently brought before the School Committee affecting the power and duties of teachers and parents, as well as that of the Committee. As the matter created some little interest in town, and related to the removal of a teacher who had uniformly met with marked success, both as an instructor and disciplinarian, and involved some important principles, we feel impelled to make a report of our action.

A petition signed by Mr. J. L. Hollander, and others, was presented to the Committee, praying for the removal of the Principal of the Prospect Hill Grammar School, on account of alleged "acts of injustice" to Master Alvah Hollander, a pupil of that school. The teacher (Mr. O. S. Knapp) had previously addressed a letter to the Committee, complaining that reports were in circulation, calculated to impair his usefulness and injure his reputation as a teacher, and requesting an investigation. A meeting of the Committee was accordingly held and testimony was heard from both parties. The examination was had before the full Board, with the exception of Mr. Hall, at the time absent, and also of Mr. Emerson, who, for special reasons, was excused from serving. The opinion here expressed as well as the investigation, is therefore made without the consultation or vote of either of these persons. The occasion of the difficulty is briefly as follows:

Master Alvah Hollander was reported by the assistant teacher (Miss Gerry) to Mr. Knapp, for disobedience. He was required by Miss Gerry to disclose the name of an offender against school discipline. The boy refused. He was allowed to reflect upon the matter till the next day, when after conferring with his parents, he again refused to disclose, giving as a reason, that his ideas of honor forbade him. Mr. Knapp thereupon ordered the boy into an adjoining room. The boy refused to obey. The teacher was proceeding to put him into the room, when the boy made resistance and seized hold of the teacher's desk. The boy was then taken from the desk by the teacher and carried by force into the recitation room, and during the struggle, the pianoforte was pushed from the platform upon the floor, with a loud crashing noise. The boy was then required either to submit or be discharged from school. He chose the latter.

The Committee, with the two exceptions named, were unanimous in the opinion that the teacher should be sustained, for the following reasons:

First. The boy was clearly in the wrong in refusing to obey the assistant teacher when required to give the name of the offender. We regard the requirement as reasonable and correct in principle, whether applied to the offender or the boy who professes to act from this sense of honor.

It is a false notion in pupils to suppose that they are bound in honor or in any well founded sense of right, not to give evidence against each other when required. The thief can claim the same right and plead with the same force; and we cannot believe there is any sincerity in the assertion of such a principle. We do not justify or expect officious and voluntary tattling for every trifling offence. But when a pupil is required by his teacher to disclose, he is entirely relieved from the imputation of dishonor.

The avowed object in refusing to disclose, is to screen an offender from punishment. Why screen the offender from punishment? It is difficult to perceive how a pupil could wish to screen the offender, without at the same time justifying the offence. But it may be said that a boy may not justify the offence, but may fear retaliation by disclosing; Then where is his sense of honor? Honor is supposed to be disinterested in its character, and not an impulse of sordid selfishness. Honor based upon a fear of punishment or a desire to screen the guilty from justice, is at least a questionable foundation for an upright and manly character.

If a pupil refuses to disclose from his sense of honor, might he not be expected to acknowledge an offence he may have committed, from this same sense of honor, to save an innocent pupil from punishment! Would he not exhibit a higher sense of honor in the confession than in his refusal to disclose?

If it is genuine sense of honor that actuates the pupil in refusing to give evidence against his companion, a confession of the offence ought in every instance to follow. But it seems this principle is not what its supporters claim it to be. At the hearing of the matter, a case was related by a lad called as a witness by the petitioners, where a pupil in this school denied all knowledge of an offence actually committed by him, and knowingly allowed an innocent boy to be punished in his stead.

This principle of requiring a pupil to disclose is universally recognized. It is adopted in most, if not all of our colleges and higher schools of learning, and the rule is enforced with great severity. It is beginning to be regarded with favor even by pupils themselves. It is the principle upon which all governments are administered, and all judicial proceedings, both criminal and civil, are conducted; and it is difficult to conceive why a parent should not adopt such a course in the government of his own children.

Second. The boy was wrong in disobeying and resisting the teacher, when told to go into the recitation room. It was the duty of the teacher to enforce obedience. What otherwise, becomes of the discipline of the school. Here was a case of wilful insubordination. The authority of the teacher must be maintained. The boy might and should have gone into the recitation room himself without the use of force, and has no right to complain of the teacher for enforcing his commands.

Third. The boy on his own admission was not injured in the struggle. If any pain was inflicted, it was but the natural result of the difficulty of overcoming the resistance made by him. It required an exertion of strength greater than in a case of ordinary whipping. The boy had the sanction of his parents against the authority of the school. He was stimulated in his disobedience and resistance by parental influence. But the parent has no more right to interfere with the authority of the teacher than the mere stranger, and the teacher is not thereby relieved from the discharge of his duty, nor deprived of his power over his pupils.

If parents claim protection for their children from the enforcement of unjust rules, there is a proper channel through which to present their claims. It is not expected that all persons have the same ideas of school discipline. Nor can individuals reasonably expect that a school should be conducted so as to conform to their particular ideas. The community at large have an interest, and the good of the State is to be considered. Our schools are established not only that the pupil may be personally benefited by the instruction he receives, but that he may become an upright citizen, fit and worthy to enjoy the rights and perform the duties of a citizen.

Farther, it should be stated, that in the case under investigation, the boy acknowledged, that the Principal reasoned with him, patiently and earnestly, and that the application of force was the last resort. And it farther appeared from the testimony, hat such is the uniform course pursued by the Principal. The committee are of the opinion, that the emergency imposed a disagreeable duty upon the Principal. We think he is entitled to the thanks of our townsmen, for faithfully performing that duty.

The School Committee desire to make a brief and special mention of the High School. In a statutory sense it is a necessity. It aims at more than what is ordinarily considered at practical education, yet it embraces no branch of study but that has a practical and important bearing in the ordinary affairs of life as well as in shaping and developing the mind and character. It does not aim merely to deal just that modicum of learning which shall enable a person to go through the world and escape its impositions and secure thrift. All this and more can be obtained in the Grammar schools. It aims and purposes to afford those who are disposed, an opportunity of pursuing an advanced course of study. It is not expected that a large number will avail themselves of its advantages, nor is it claimed that all who avail themselves are benefited to the extent desired by its friends. Many enter to remain so short a time as hardly to obtain a smattering of the principal branches pursued here. Yet it is believed that a large proportion of the pupils who enter the school are amply rewarded in their efforts. Perhaps a few would be more directly benefited to remain in the Grammar schools rather than to enter the High school for so short a time. It would be hardly worth while for a pupil to enter for a period shorter than one year. It should be understood that the High School does not propose to finish the Grammar School education.

Does our High School answer the purpose for which it was intended? Our reply is emphatically, yes. The course of study is in substantial, if not in exact, compliance with the requirements of the statutes. A thorough system of instruction has been adopted. A sound and judicious discipline is enforced. A healthy moral tone and quiet harmony pervades the school. The teachers are earnest in their work and animated in their desire to increase its usefulness, and enhance its reputation. The pupils manifest a praiseworthy zeal in their studies. The amount of work accomplished, especially the last year, has been marked. The best of feeling between pupils and teachers prevails. The examinations evince promptness and accuracy. The pupils, without exception, manifest a disposition to do their part in making the school what it should be. The committee are unable to record a single occurrence of an unpleasant character during the last year. They have heard no complaints either from parents or pupils. It is now no longer a source of anxiety to the committee. The Committee feel that our citizens have but to make an occasional visit to our High School in order to be fully assured that it is entitled to their confidence and support. It has not received the attention and encouragement from the community which it deserves and demands. The teachers and pupils both appear to feel this. We earnestly hope that parents will visit the school and judge for themselves, and we believe that the expectation this brief report may give rise to will be fully realized.

The Committee have learned with sincere regret of the death of Miss Harriet Hill, one of our most efficient teachers, and a young lady of many rare and exemplary traits of character. She was ever found devoted and conscientious in the discharge of her duties. In her death our schools have sustained a loss not easily repaired. The Committee deeply sympathize with the friends and relatives of the deceased in their bereavement, and regard it as justly due, that they should pay a passing tribute of respect to her memory, and record the testimony of their appreciation of her services and character.

There are now thirty teachers employed in Somerville schools. They are distributed as follows: two in the High; eight in the Grammar; seven in the Intermediate; twelve in the Primary and one in a Mixed School. Instruction in Music has been given during the last year, by Mr. S. D. Hadley, with his usual success.

Below will be found a tabular statement of schools and teachers, in town.

The Committee are impelled to state that the increasing population of the town demands that more school room should be provided for in the Forster District. The limited accommodation has for the last two years occasioned much inconvenience and is the source of much just complaint, and larger space is now imperatively demanded. In the alteration which was made in the Forster School House a few years since it was then expected that further enlargement would sooner or later be needed. By a rough estimate it has been ascertained that the sum of three thousand dollars will be required to meet the expense of the proposed change. The Committee would therefore respectfully recommend the appropriation of that sum.

The Franklin School House has been enlarged during the last year, and the inside remodelled so as to make four large rooms with a single teacher to take charge of each. By this change one hundred more pupils are accommodated without the expense of an additional teacher. The Committee believe the change to be beneficial both in respect to economy as well as to the health and welfare of the pupils and teachers.

The amount expended on the building, including the enlargement, painting, ventilators, school furniture, repairs, and filling of yard, was twenty-five hundred and forty-six dollars and ninety-four cents, being $546.94 above the appropriation for the purpose. The Committee feel that less could not well be expended. The work was offered to the competition of several well known carpenters, and every proper effort made to bring the expense within the limit. The contract was taken by Mr. E. M. Paul. Owing to the scarcity of workmen, and causes alleged to be beyond the control of the contractor, the building was not completed within the time required in the specifications. The Committee respectfully request the town to ratify their action in the premises by an appropriation to meet the extra amount expended.

The School Committee are able to say that the ordinary school expenses during the past year have come within the sum given for that purpose. The amount thus appropriated was $16,200. In view of the upward tendency of prices in almost every species of property and labor, it is felt that a sum a trifle larger ought to be called for. The sum of sixteen thousand five hundred dollars is therefore recommended.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE SELECTMEN.

It seems eminently fit and proper, that the custom of rendering by the Selectmen at the close of each municipal year, a statement of their doings and of the condition and prospects of the Town, together with such suggestions for the future as their experience may enable them to present, although but of very recent origin among us, should, from its importance, be continued: the following is therefore offered as

THE SELECTMEN'S ANNUAL REPORT.

Never since the organization of the Town have the demands upon the time, the mental and physical labor and the pecuniary substance of the Selectmen, been as great as during the past year. The continuance of one of the most gigantic rebellions ever known in the history of the world, with its greatly increasing demands for men and money, has opened new and untried spheres of duty for the municipal authorities, where no precedents could instruct nor precepts guide. With an eye single to the welfare of the whole country and more especially of our own Town, the Selectmen have cheerfully assumed whatever duties and obligations seemed devolving upon them as conducive to these ends.

MILITARY.

The recruiting of men for the army was commenced very early in the season. On the 25th of May last, the announcement was made that the National Capital was again in imminent peril and was instantly followed by an order from the Governor for the immediate assembling of the State Militia upon Boston Common, prepared for whatever orders might await them. This order was with alacrity responded to by nearly all the companies in the State, our own organized company being very early in readiness and was escorted by the citizens with music to the place of rendezvous.

The services thus patriotically offered were not accepted by the General Government and the military enthusiasm of the people thereby received a check which operated as a severe drawback in all subsequent recruiting operations, rendering it necessary to institute the system of paying a bounty for the promotion of enlistments; so that when the call of the President, upon the 28th of June, for an increased force of 300,000 volunteers was made, this plan was universally adopted.

The quota of the Town under this requisition was 92 and it being so nearly up to the number required for an organized company, it was deemed best to assume the raising of a full company under the designation of "The Somerville Guard," as the assurance of electing officers of their acquaintance and choice, would be a powerful persuasive to induce men to enlist.

At a Town meeting holden July 19, 1862, there was chosen a "Citizens' Committee of Sixty," to coöperate with the Selectmen in matters pertaining to the raising of volunteers to fill the different quotas of the Town under the requisitions of the Governor, and the Selectmen would cheerfully acknowledge very efficient aid received from this committee.

To them they were indebted chiefly for the labor of conducting mass meetings in aid of recruiting, furnishing speakers and the music for the same, arranging for and carrying out programmes for escorts and in various other ways of effort, counsel and advice, by which the labor of this branch of their duty was greatly relieved.

The bounty of $100, authorized by the Town, Aug. 27th, to be paid to any one enlisting in the above company, proving to be a less sum than was generally paid in other towns and cities, was increased by private subscription to $125, and the ranks of the company were speedily filled. All the camps in this State being at the time in an exceedingly crowded condition, insomuch that much deprivation and suffering arose in consequence, permission was obtained to place our company in camp on Prospect Hill, until it should be necessary to attach it to some regiment about to leave. Here they remained for a few weeks, gradually becoming accustomed to the routine of a soldier's life and cheered by the friendly visits and the substantial tokens of the good will of the citizens. In due time this company was attached to the 39th Regiment, departed for Washington, and has since been engaged chiefly in picket duty upon the Potomac. It will be remembered that this is the regiment which, immediately upon its arrival and while scarcely a week old, arrested the attention of Gen. Williams and called forth the remark that "he supposed it to be a regiment of veterans." It gives us pleasure to state the "Somerville Guard" has thus far been remarkably exempt from casualty or fatal disease, and the men have proved an honor to the Town and the State to which they belong.

Even before the Government had been able to arm and equip the men called for by the first requisition, there followed another call for 300,000 more, and the 5th Reg. Mass. Vol. Militia, to which the "Somerville Light Infantry" were attached, having tendered their services and been accepted, recruiting was continued to fill their ranks to the maximum number required.

From the fact that so large a number of men had already enlisted in the army and also that the necessity of arming and equiping so large a force had produced great activity in almost every department of mechanical industry, much difficulty was everywhere experienced to raise the number of men required, and consequently there arose between the different cities and towns throughout the Commonwealth a sort of auctioneering or bidding up of bounty for recruits, and the sum paid in most other places ran up to such a degree that but very little could be effected by offering the bounty of $125, heretofore paid by the Town; it was then found to be absolutely imperative to increase the amount to $200, which was done by act of the Town Sept. 24th; even this was less than recruits obtained in many other places.

The laxity of the Government in receiving and mustering in recruits when obtained, became a source of great annoyance to the municipal authorities, and it was exceedingly disheartening to feel that with a long list of names upon the recruiting papers so small a proportion of the whole number could at any time be found ready to respond. Upon the departure of the "Somerville Guard," the camp on Prospect Hill was occupied by the "Somerville Light Infantry" until Sept. 16th, when they were ordered into the regimental camp at Wenham, and remained there until their departure for Newbern, N. C., Oct. 22d. This company has been also thus far highly favored as regards casualty and disease, although participating in the expedition against Goldsboro', in which their valor and efficiency was highly commended. The company is still stationed at Newbern, and is in every respect equally as well deserving of praise as the "Somerville Guard."

In an individual capacity and without any expense to the Town, some of the members of the board have visited the Somerville Guard and as many other soldiers from this Town in other regiments or in the hospitals as was in their power to find. The "Somerville Light Infantry" being stationed at so remote a distance it has not been possible to visit them personally, but in the distribution of goods donated from various sources, and in our own solicitous regard they have not been forgotten.

But notwithstanding the great amount of good it does a soldier to receive substantial tokens of remembrance and good will from friends, there is nothing cheers him so much as to see a familiar face and hold converse with one direct from the midst of the loved ones at home; and it was worth all the individual expense to be able to receive their cordial and heartfelt welcome, and to hear from their lips such expressions as "your visit relieves us of at least a month's duty," and many other equally lively and spontaneous exclamations.

Much confusion and uncertainty was experienced from an inability to obtain from headquarters any positive and final instructions as to the exact number of men required of this Town to fill its quota. Owing to a lack of uniformity in the interpretation of the law requiring the Assessors of towns to make a return of the enrolled militia or from some other unexplained cause, the final assignment for this Town demanding 142 additional men was so manifestly erroneous and unjust as to impel the Selectmen to institute efforts for its abatement; which, however, could not for a long time, nor without importunate effort, be accomplished. It is not to be presumed that Somerville would have been willing to stand alone as the only town in the State in which a draft should have been made, and as the men could have been obtained at that time only by the payment of about $200 bounty, it becomes apparent that their efforts in this respect have resulted in a saving to the Town of about $28,000.

While it cannot be denied that the system of volunteer enlistment generally adopted throughout the loyal States could not further be relied upon, and that it would be necessary to fill any more requisitions by conscription, the Selectmen feel impelled to yield their testimony to the successful working of the system hitherto.

To be sure there have been many abuses of the system by frauds and desertions, but which might in great part have been averted or overcome by the exercise, at an earlier day, of that diligence in ferreting out and punishing these crimes, which the government has recently evinced; it is true a debt is incurred by the cities and towns for the payment of bounty, but this only serves to transfer the obligation from being a debt of an arbitrary sundering of the most sacred ties and dependencies to one of mere dollars and cents, which in the scale of sacrifice and humanity can have but a feather's weight, and which, by the exercise of a little closer economy and the foregoing of a few superfluities and luxuries can be cancelled.

The number enlisted from this Town in both the three years term and the nine months term was about 568.

To whom there was paid by the Town a bounty of Add amount paid for incidentals, such as expenses of conducting Mass Meetings, expenses of Camp on Prospect Hill and subsisting men while there, posters, printing, etc., all of which was by concurrence of the "Committee of Sixty," we have

$33,289 35

Deduct amount obtained from the State for subsistence,

$323 20

Deduct amount paid to the Chairman, as recruiting officer,

 $$202 00 \\ ----- 525 20$

And we have as the total amount of expenses for Military, $32,764 15

This, it will be seen, is an average cost to the Town of $57.68 per man, and seems to indicate the exercise of as much prudence and good judgment in the management of this department of labor as the accounts of but a few of the towns in the State can exhibit; especially when, for the care and liberality shown by the Town of Somerville for her soldiers, she has a name and a praise wherever one of her soldiers is found.

STATE AID.

One of the most arduous of the duties of the Selectmen the past year has been the payment of the State Aid to the families of volunteers. This branch of service has greatly increased during the year. At the time of making the first annual return required by law there were but 74 families aided, including those of the three months troops. By the return made January 1st, 1863, it appeared there had been 250 families aided, to an amount of $13,060.33.

The amount claimed by the account as rendered the year previous has been all refunded to the Town excepting the trivial sum of $6.80; and even this small discrepancy arose from the extremely close manner of computing time adopted by the State authorities, and the account was admitted by the Auditor to be one of the most correct and methodically kept ones he received. There has been considerable suffering amongst the families of the soldiers the past winter from the remissness of the Government in paying the army; many regiments receiving no pay at all for several months, and many of the families without any other resource than the small amount of aid received from the State, so that it has been absolutely necessary to extend relief to some of them from an appropriation made for this purpose.

In accordance with a vote of the Town passed Sept. 24, 1862, there have been two families assisted in recovering the bodies of friends whose lives have been offered in defense of their country. Supposing it to be the intent of the Town to extend this aid only in cases where absolute inability on the part of friends existed, not much has been expended for this purpose.

HIGHWAYS.

Our highways have been kept, during the past year, in a good condition with an appropriation very much less than for several preceding years, and a very marked improvement is visible wherever the Winchester gravel has been, to any considerable extent, used. The past open winter, on account of its great and sudden changes, has tried the roads very severely; but, nevertheless, they sustain a very creditable comparison with those of many of the neighboring towns, where the composition of the soil and other natural facilities are favorable for road making. No new streets have been laid out during the year, nor any edgestone set, although considerable labor has been bestowed in the formation of sidewalks. There remains a considerable sum still unexpended of the appropriation for this department.

The long talked of raising and widening of the Lowell R. R. bridge over Washington street, which, for various causes, had been from time to time deferred by the rail-way company, has this year been completed, and proves to be of great advantage to the highway.

By this change the middle butment has been removed, an increased width of eight feet obtained for the roadway, the passage rendered safe and convenient for large and high loads of merchandise and the road-bed of the horse railway raised about two and a half feet, thus affording also a dry and comfortable footpath for pedestrians. The appropriation made by the Town of $1,000 has been paid to the Lowell R. R. Co. according to the terms of the contract made with them a few years since, and $100 was obtained from the Horse Railway Co. as their portion of the expense.

The bottom of this cut proving to be very wet and miry it was found necessary to pave it with granite blocks, involving an additional expense of about $200, but making it now a perfect and permanent improvement.

The claim of the Town against the "Medford & Charlestown Horse Railway Co." for indemnity in the "Crook Case," has been settled by the Company paying the sum of $375. Although this is by no means as much as was expected the Company would be willing to assume, it was not from any lack of laborious or persistent effort on the part of the Selectmen that a greater sum was not obtained. But on account of some conflicting testimony in the case, it was not deemed expedient to risk another lawsuit upon it, and therefore this amount was reluctantly accepted.

The line between the town of Medford and this Town has this year been perambulated according to law, and all the requirements of the statute in relation to the subject complied with.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Acting as a Board of Health, the Selectmen have been called upon to examine several premises complained of as sources of filth and public nuisance, and upon the most of these the cause of offence was promptly removed by order of the Board; but there still remains one of the worst cases, upon the well known premises extending from Washington street to Milk street. The parties interested were legally notified to abate, but without their evincing any readiness to respond, and the matter was placed in the hands of an able attorney in August last, with instructions to prosecute, and the case is now before the proper tribunal.

ENFORCEMENT OF LIQUOR LAW.

In reference to the vote of the Town passed Dec. 17th, 1862, "authorizing and instructing the Selectmen to enforce the statutes relating to the suppression of the sale of intoxicating liquors in this Town," no better report can be offered of their doings than by quoting directly from the "Boston Transcript" of Feb. 16th, as follows: "The movement commenced last summer by the several religious societies in Somerville for the suppression of the grog shops in that Town, and which resulted in a recent vote of the Town instructing the Selectmen to thoroughly enforce the laws, has been completely successful in causing the illegal and baneful traffic to cease. All the dealers in the Town—43 in number—have united in signing a written pledge to sell no more liquor in violation of law after the 15th inst., under penalty of immediate prosecution."

CEMETERY.

The Selectmen cannot refrain from once more urging upon the citizens a consideration of the great necessity of securing, without further delay, some suitable site for a Cemetery. At present there is no place within the Town consecrated as a burial place for the dead, excepting the small grave-yard near the Tube Works, and that is already filled.

Somerville does not abound in situations that are adapted for this purpose, and these few are rapidly being appropriated for building purposes; so that the opportunities for securing a favorable tract are becoming less every year. By the judicious purchase of a few acres of dry and well located land, which might be laid out with avenues and paths into family lots, reserving a suitable sized lot for a common ground; all of which might be done by a committee of the Town chosen for the purpose; it is confidently believed that the plan would be received with so much favor, that by an extensive sale of the lots, the net cost to the Town would be quite small. To aid in carrying out so desirable a measure, it is not doubted that many citizens who are already provided with lots in other cemeteries would willingly become purchasers in this.

LIGHTING THE STREETS.

Our Town is sadly behind the age and also the example of most of the suburban towns in respect to lighting the streets. While the Selectmen do not at the present time feel like positively recommending any action upon this subject, they can but feel regret that the increase of the Town debt by reason of the war expenses, should longer defer so desirable a measure.

WATER.

It is expected that the works for supplying the city of Charlestown with water from Mystic Pond will be completed during the coming year, and as the supply will be more than sufficient for the wants of the above city, either present or perspective, a willingness is felt by the Charlestown authorities to extend to our citizens the privilege of becoming water tenants, if they shall so desire.

There can be but little doubt that sooner or later this opportunity will be suitably appreciated and gladly availed of.

GENERAL REMARKS.

There will probably be during the coming season one more means of communication with the metropolis added to the already numerous facilities we possess, so that the man of business in Boston can reach his home in almost any part of Somerville with as much readiness and as little loss of time as those residing at the "South End" or on the new made lands of the "Back Bay." Abounding as Somerville does in natural elevations, affording the enjoyment of pure air with extensive and delightful views; possessing rich religious, educational and social privileges; the distribution of gas in nearly every part of the Town, and the luxury of a full supply of pure and soft water, soon to be added; there seems to remain almost nothing but the illumination of the streets to enable her to offer more and greater inducements as a place of residence than is possessed by hardly any other suburban town, and cannot fail to attract the attention of capitalists seeking for safe and profitable investments.

It seems to be very desirable that a law might be enacted, whereby Boards of Selectmen might be governed by the same principles in regard to their election and tenure of office, as those which now govern boards of School Committee.

If, for instance, in our Town there should be chosen a Board consisting of nine members, who should perform the duties of Selectmen, Surveyors of Higways, Board of Health, Military Committee, Fish Committee and Overseers of the Poor, the term of office of one-third of whom should expire annually, they could, by a suitable subdivision of labor, but with the advantage of the deliberations of the whole body upon matters of expediency relating to either branch, not only render the duties of the office less onerous than they sometimes become, but also secure to the Town the greatest amount of benefits and a greater freedom from objectional radical changes of policy.

The Selectmen, by endeavoring to confine their expenditures throughout the year to measures strictly necessary and unavoidable, leaving all new enterprises and improvements till that period when the return of peace shall again unite us as a prosperous and happy people, have the pleasure of stating that there remains of even the diminished appropriations of the year, a considerable sum yet unexpended.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

OF THE

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen—

Gentlemen—According to your request, I would most respectfully submit the following report:

The whole apparatus of the Fire Department, consisting of one engine and hose carriage, having been put in complete repair the past year, are now in good order; and being under the charge of able and efficient officers and men, the town may rest perfectly secure, knowing that when duty calls we shall always find them ready to perform all that is required of them. The company is now in a flourishing condition, although their numbers have from time to time been somewhat reduced by enlistments in the army.

If the town could be induced to make some alterations on the engine, by placing it on springs and larger wheels, and substituting a stouter beam for the present one, the engine would be made a first class machine, capable of doing much more execution, and give better satisfaction to the company attached to it.

I am happy to state that the number of alarms and fires have been less, and the amount of loss has been very small compared with former years. As we labor under great inconvenience at most fires for the want of ladders, I would call your especial attention to the subject of furnishing some means of getting the ladders belonging to the town to and from fires, and keeping them in some suitable place, where they cannot be used at all times and for all purposes. As they are now located, they are of no use whatever except in their immediate vicinity; and when wanted, it not unfrequently happens they cannot be found, they being "out among the neighbors generally." If a light truck could be procured, suitable to be drawn by a horse, so that they could be taken to any part of the town, it would facilitate operations at fires very much, at a small expense to the town.

I would likewise call attention to the necessity of having an extra hose carriage. As it frequently occurs that more hose is needed than is carried with the engine, it sometimes causes great delay before a supply can be obtained from the engine-house; and as we have now several hydrants, and in a short time shall have more, it would be a great benefit to the town. You will therefore see not only the utility, but the actual necessity of a measure so important.

Taking into consideration the limited means the Department has for extinguishing fires in so large a town as Somerville, it is a matter of much surprise, and ought to be one of thankfulness, that we are spared from larger and more disastrous conflagrations.

The accompanying documents will show the number of fires, reservoirs, hydrants, &c.

On behalf of the Board,

S. H. GOODING, Chief Engineer.

REPORT

OF THE

OF THE

TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

FOR THE SCHOOL-YEAR 1863-4.

In submitting to their fellow-Townsmen their Annual Report, the Committee proceed at once to the matter of chief importance, the condition of the schools.

At the recent examination, in February, arrangements were made to secure a thorough and comprehensive knowledge of the condition and prospects of the several schools. To this end, a special committee of three was appointed for each of the departments of Primary, Intermediate and Grammar,—the examination of the High School being assigned to the entire Board. It is believed that no one study has been passed by, and that in each case ample time was taken to perform the duty with thoroughness and impartiality. Each of the special committees prepared a written report of the results of its labors, giving such suggestions as the facts seemed to warrant. The insertion of these several reports in the Annual Report to the Town will, it is believed, add variety and special value to its contents. They are accordingly submitted. And first, of

THE PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

When the present efficient Superintendent of Schools in Boston received his first appointment to that office, he began, like a wise man, with the primary schools. It is in these that the foundation of an education is laid; and, if that is faulty, the superstructure cannot be perfect. It will exhibit unseemly cracks and fissures, which putty and paint may, for a time, conceal, but cannot close up. The edifice is permanently marred and weakened.

Faults in articulation and intonation, contracted in the primary school, or not eradicated there — when the organs of speech are flexible, and habits easily formed — are often detected in the grammar school, the high school, and even in college.

The Hon. Horace Mann gave it as his opinion that it is impossible to make good spellers at any other period of education than the very first; and the same holds true in many other respects. Carelessness and inattention will go from the primary school, growing with the growth and strengthening with the strength of the pupil. These facts, and many more, are readily explained when we remember that early childhood is the period when impressions are most distinct and vivid, and habits are most easily formed.

Such being the case, it follows that the office of a primary school teacher is one of the most important and responsible stations in the whole system of education. It certainly does not require so much learning to teach a primary as a high school, but it is even more important that the teacher should be a good reader, and understand the principles of reading.

It may be doubted, too, whether the call for discretion, good judgment, ingenuity, tact, and knowledge of human nature in every stage of development, is not as great in the primary school as in any other department of our school system.

The great object of all our schools is not so much to convey knowledge to the pupils as to develop and strengthen their faculties and show them how to acquire knowledge. The power to fix the attention on a given subject, and to follow out a train of systematic thought, is, perhaps, the highest result of education. Now, these may, and should be commenced in the pri-The attention cannot, of course, be fixed for so mary school. long a time here, as at a later period; and hence the necessity of judgment and tact in so varying the exercises as to secure attention and order, and at the same time, not overtask either the mental or physical powers of the pupils. Five minutes of earnest attention is worth more than an hour of listless looking at a lesson, while the thoughts are playing truant, and the limbs aching for a change of position.

To secure the desired result in any school, and especially in a primary school, care should be taken that the classes be large enough to excite emulation, and not so large as to make a given exercise wearisome. In our recent examination of these schools, we have noticed in almost every instance where the order or the recitations did not come fully up to our expectations, that there was an evident failure in classification. With the above suggestions, we are happy to be able to state that the condition of our primary schools, is, in general, good. No two, indeed, are alike in excellence, and none so good that they may not be made better. In some, the reading was very good. tinctness of articulation, the inflections, the emphasis, and the grouping of phrases, was such as would be praiseworthy in any school. In others, something of the "tone," as it is called, which results from pronouncing the words separately rather than the phrases, was still discernible. We, however, believe that our primary school teachers, as a whole, have labored faithfully, intelligently, and with highly creditable success.

B. F. TWEED,

J. G. HALL,

G. D. CLARK.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

The special committee on the examination of the Intermediate schools have tried to perform that duty faithfully, and they respectfully submit the following brief report, inviting thereto the attention of all who are, or ought to be interested in the general subject of education.

Your committee find the order in these schools very good; also, that the pupils generally have made a good degree of progress in their several studies, which is a pleasing evidence that the teachers in this department have been faithful to their trust. It is with much pleasure that we convey to you this information.

Your Committee would suggest that a system of reviews in spelling, arithmetic and geography can be adopted in these schools to great advantage.

When a study is commenced, more difficult than the one which the scholar has previously pursued, the pupil's mind is bewildered with the impression that this new undertaking is extremely difficult; and it will be so, until the mind is relieved of this unnecessarily depressing influence. This may be removed by a proper system of reviews.

When lessons are given in advance only, the pupil is all the while breaking new ground. If a review is given in connection with the advance, the latter is thereby rendered comparatively easy, and the pupil soon finds that which at first was disheartening is now easily comprehended. The mind is strengthened by the advance lesson, and thereby more readily comprehends the principles contained in the past lessons; and, by being fresh in the elementary principles of the study, which are brought into constant use in the advance, this labor is lightened, and the scholar soon finds himself possessed of that self-reliance and confidence which are essentially necessary to enable him to apply his energies with a resolute determination to overcome all obstacles. When, with suitable instruction, confidence is fully secured to the mind of the learner, no impediments can check the onward progress.

The records of these teachers exhibit, to those who realize and appreciate the advantages of education, one painful fact: that the average attendance is less than four-fifths—and this in a time of general health in the schools. Several causes contribute to this result—some of them unavoidable, others inexcusable. Amongst the former are sickness and pecuniary embarrassments, which are entirely beyond the control of parents or children.

For those who are thus afflicted, or unfortunate, we have no words of reproof; and we cannot do justice to our own feelings without expressing for them our heartfelt sympathy.

Another class are cases where children are kept out of school from pecuniary considerations. We look at the stupidity of such a proceeding with amazement. Suppose the parents add to their wealth one hundred dollars by keeping the child out of school a portion of the time, what have they gained? tender physical energies of the child are taxed to accumulate one hundred dollars more money, to be bequeathed to the child at the parents' decease, which, if properly invested, will bring in an annual income of six dollars; when, if the same time had been spent in fixing in the young mind the elementary principles of education,—thus expanding and strengthening it, and enabling it to direct intelligibly the fully developed physical energies of maturity,—a hundred dollars could easily be added to the annual income, against the six dollars interest. pecuniary advantages are in favor of a punctual attendance at school as one hundred to six, to say nothing of the mental enjoyment, and social position to which the individual would attain. For the misfortunes of this class we have no remedy, and we can only enter our earnest protest against the continuance of this practice, hoping that these few words may conduce to a change in this respect.

The third class comprise those who take no interest in their school; and whose parents care not where they are, if they are only out of the way. These pupils go to school or stay away at pleasure, and if required by the teacher to bring an excuse, write one themselves, or get some older rogue to do it for them, thus at an early age, entering the field of crime at a time when they cannot appreciate the magnitude of the offence committed or realize the danger that surrounds them. It not unfrequently happens that parents allow their children to remain out of school as long as they can without exceeding the limits of absence allowed, which by the rules of the school require a permit, and then send the child a day or two, and so on through the term. No argument is needed to show the moral tendency of this practice. The evil is palpable at a glance. children are educated to practise deception, what may we not expect of them at maturity?

The fourth and last class comprise those who finally drop out of the schools, as it were, by the wayside, finally graduating in the street, and thereby fitted for the penitentiary. Your Committee cannot witness this spectacle without feelings of deep sadness, especially when they contrast the condition of these children with what it might be, if a proper use was made of the opportunities so generously placed at their disposal. Your Committee are not aware that they are invested with such authority as will enable them wholly to check this growing evil.

AUSTIN BELKNAP, CYRUS F. CROSBY, GEO. H. EMERSON.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

The Grammar Schools are four in number, viz.: the Franklin, Prospect-Hill, Prescott and Forster, with a Master and female Assistant in each. The Franklin and Forster respectively occupy two separate rooms on the same floor in their respective buildings, and the two others a principal room, with recitation rooms convenient of access — allowing the exercises to be carried on by both teachers contemporaneously. These schools are intended to be grammar schools proper, with the exception that to the Forster is attached an Intermediate class.

Of the importance of such schools little need be said. They are a part of the anciently established institutions of the Commonwealth, and are among its chief glories. In them are graduated a very large majority of the youth who receive the benefits of our system of education, and therefore the perfection of their organization, a judicious selection of studies and textbooks, to be therein pursued and studied, care in the appointment and retention of teachers, and their management in every particular, are of the utmost importance. Of all these the Committee are fully aware; and as, in the past, they have done, so in the future will they endeavor to do what, in their judgment, the interests of these schools require.

The town has always shown its concern in these things, and, by cheerful and liberal appropriations for the erection, maintenance, and furnishing of school-houses, and for the support of the teachers employed, as well as for other current expenses, have given it a practical manifestation. But it is clear, from the nature of the case, that to obtain and secure the best results, the parents of the pupils must co-operate, and exhibit their appreciation of the importance of the education of their children in the various ways in which their assistance may be rendered. A suggestion on this subject, perhaps, is not needed to the majority of parents, for we believe that a very general and lively interest exists; yet, in particular cases, owing to inattention or want of consideration, it may not be here inappropriate. Much may be done at home, in awakening and preserving in the mind of a child, a sense of the benefits of scholastic education, of the value of time, — that period of youth which, once gone never returns, the place of which cannot be supplied by after years, — of the necessity of constant and punctual attendance at school, and of the evils of frequent absence or tardiness on frivolous pretexts. It may be unnecessary to add that the efforts of a teacher to inculcate good morals and good manners — the crowning virtues of a child — in the pupil, are likely to be vainly put forth, if not seconded by the parent.

The pupil, we think, should be taught furthermore to respect the teacher, and to believe in the justice of all reasonable requirements, and thus acquire and retain that confidence, from which cheerful obedience and alacrity will alone spring, leading to the path of success. On the other hand, we believe that it is the duty of the teachers to zealously labor to the same ends; to carry an even hand; to administer in their office at all times without partiality or prejudice, and without passion; to make themselves acquainted with the peculiarities of each scholar, and govern themselves accordingly; to preserve discipline; to be ready at all times to render needed assistance, and to watch over and guide those under their charge as with a parental responsibility.

These schools appear to be in a thriving condition, and the teachers disposed to use their best exertions for the prosperity of their respective departments. We regret that some of those who by long service and substantial success have gained our confidence, have for paramount reasons resigned their charges. The vacancies thus arising, have been, and will be filled with a careful regard to the public interests. We expect that much good will be derived from the adoption of individual in addition to class promotions, now rapidly being reduced to a system. We see already good effects in that regard, and anticipate that another year's report will announce a very satisfactory result. The Committee are now considering whether a more varied course of study in the upper department may not be beneficially pursued.

J. H. DAVIS,
C. S. LINCOLN.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The School Committee have confidence in once more commending the Somerville High School to the favorable consideration of the citizens of the town. A careful and thorough examination of the entire school, in all branches there taught, evinces many marks of excellence. Seven of the entire Board were present at the examination, and it was their purpose, so far as might be done in the short time devoted to this object, to test fully the condition of the school and to bring to bear the individual judgment of all the members of the committee. Care was taken in the first place to ascertain the exact grounds gone over by the pupils during the term in all branches; papers were prepared by the Principal for each recitation for all classes, and from thirty-five to forty-five minutes devoted to each exer-The recitation of each pupil was carefully noted and marked on a scale, from 1 to 10; 10 being the highest, and the aggregate of marks determined. The Committee are pleased to be able to say that while the amount accomplished by the pupils during the term has certainly not been exceeded, if even equalled in the same length of time, in this town, the instruction has been thorough and the percentage of answers large.

The following will give some idea of the success with which the examination was attended:

The 1st class averaged $95\frac{2}{10}$ per cent. The 2d class averaged $96\frac{4}{10}$ per cent. The 3d class averaged $94\frac{8}{10}$ per cent. The 4th class averaged $84\frac{6}{10}$ per cent.

It is but fair to remark, that the 4th class have attended the High School but six months.

The average of the entire school was $90\frac{1}{10}$ per cent.

It may be inquired by what standard the proficiency of the school is to be determined? Our answer is—

First. That it is and has been the purpose of the Committee to place the High School in a favorable rank with other schools of the same grade in the Commonwealth.

Second. The course of study adopted was carefully prepared after comparing a large number of Courses of Study adopted in other cities and towns.

Third. Special reference was had to meet the requirements of the General Statutes, the wants of the school as a whole, and at the same time to furnish means of a wholesome and useful discipline to the pupils.

Fourth. We have endeavored to secure the services of teachers equal to the task imposed upon them.

Judging from the test applied, we believe that a high degree of success has been attained. And we would fain add, that were all the duties of the School Committee attended with that degree of pleasure and satisfaction, which marked the recent examination, the office we have the honor to fill would cease to be irksome, and would be sought for rather than avoided.

Some of the peculiar marks of excellence of this school are, the completeness with which every thing is finished; the respect for, and confidence in, the teachers with which the pupils are inspired; the good order and cheerfulness that prevail; the uniform emulation and zeal with which the various studies are pursued, and correct habits of study.

The question has been asked, "Are not the pupils required to perform too much, more than their health will permit or capacity allow?"

We answer, the parents must judge for themselves whether the health of their children is equal to the labor required, and seek such a remedy as the nature of the case requires. No doubt there are individual instances where the ambition of the pupil or the length of lessons may impel him to perform an amount of labor beyond his strength. The Committee regard the health of the pupils as of the highest importance, and are ready to comply with any reasonable request on the part of parents, touching the welfare of their children. We also consider it a part of the duty of the teacher to look after the physical well-being of those intrusted to his charge. He is the one to judge of the strength and capacity of his pupils, and to so assign the various studies, as to fairly exercise and still not It is a matter requiring the highest judgovertax the mind. The emulation of teachers and ment to determine aright. pupils; the tendency of the age to improvement and excellence in education, may cause the question to be overlooked or undervalued. We are not aware, however, that there are any serious results from overwork in the High School. Judging from the general appearance of the pupils and the cheerfulness with which they enter upon their duties, there is at least the usual amount of good health found in the community. It can not be denied that there is much work done and some hard work in the school. This is expected; but so long as the work is performed in cheefulness, and with a healthy and generous emulation to excel, under the guidance of a judicious teacher, so as not to render the same irksome, there is little to fear from this source.

The Committee sincerely desire that the parents visit the High School more frequently. Much has been said upon this subject, and it is regarded as one of much interest. We feel assured that if parents will more frequently visit this school they will be amply compensated for their trouble and will themselves furnish corroborating testimony, to that, hereby offered, of the excellent condition of the school and of the faithfulness and efficiency of its teachers.

C. S. LINCOLN, CHAIRMAN.

GENERAL REMARKS.

A general remark, based on the several reports now submitted, seems called for, and to this effect: It is but justice to all parties to say that, in a few of the schools, the highest expectations of the Committee were more than realized. In some of the studies the year's progress has been very great; and the particular teachers—there is no occasion to call them by name—deserve the thanks of the community whom they have so faithfully served. The Committee would add, that teachers who take constant pains to add to their qualifications, particularly in the matter of reading, seldom fail to give evidence of their efficiency in the work, in the improved condition of their pupils.

It is with regret that the Committee are compelled to confess disappointment at the results evinced in a few instances. Imperfect classifications, lack of ambition on the part of pupils, and defective recitations, are among the complaints which the character of a few schools well justify. It is hoped that these evils will be remedied before there is occasion for another annual report.

As respects the average condition of the schools, the Committee feel a high degree of satisfaction.

INDIVIDUAL PROMOTION.

The schools are treated as a whole, and the division of them into Grammar, Intermediate and Primary departments as simply a convenience, it being intended that, from the lowest class in the primary to the highest class in the grammar department, there shall be as regular and uninterrupted a gradation as if they were all in the same room and under the same teacher.

The organization remains fixed, but a progression goes on among the pupils, and as members of the upper class in the grammar department are discharged, having finished their allotted course of study, new members are admitted to the lower class in the primary department, made vacant by an advance of one step; the several departments being like so many connected reservoirs, which, while they are being discharged at one extremity, are as constantly supplied at the other.

The ordinary manner in which progression and discharge take place is by classes, at stated intervals of time, say annually or semi-annually, without much regard, if any, to the qualifications of individual scholars; so that, at the admission of a pupil into any department or class, his future position can be accurately ascertained by mere computation of time.

It is true, that in extreme cases a variation is occasionally made by promotion or degradation, but this is simply a rare exception to a general rule.

This almost universal practice carries with it the weight of a long-established custom, but has very little else to recommend it. It seems to us to be neither reasonable nor philosophical. Whenever attacked it always seeks shelter behind extreme age and simplicity. So simple, indeed, is this old practice that classification seems to require no mental operation whatever in the teacher, but is made as readily as one would saw a stick of wood into a given number of lengths. In some cases it is a question whether a machine could not do it better.

It is somewhat singular that, nevertheless, upon the admission of a new pupil it seems to have been the custom to examine him and fix his place according to his qualifications,—the absurdity of any other course being too apparent to be disregarded,—but once in, time and time alone became the measure of his advance. Something like the traveller in Europe, he takes his seat in the car assigned him, and is locked in, to make the most of his companions until his exit at the end of the journey. He very soon discovers that there is considerable significance in the placard ever before his eyes announcing that there is "no change of cars" and that his ticket is "not transferable," although his object, unlike that of the traveller, is not merely to be turned out when the car stops, but to gather some information on his way.

To the fact that no discrimination is needed in reference to the ability and attainments of the several members of the class is undoubtedly owing to the other fact—long-continued usage,—and a further and grievous one, that inferior teachers are too often selected and too long retained.

This practice might answer well enough if children were like mere blocks of wood that could be shaped into any proposed form and moved at pleasure to any designated place without injury, but is improperly applied to intelligent beings differing widely in their capacities, growth of mind, ambition, and rate of progress.

Nothing seems to be more clear than that the position of a pupil should depend upon his capacity and acquirements, rather than upon his age, and in this position he will be altogether better able and more likely to exercise his faculties to advantage than in any other, whether he is dull or bright for his years. To be forced forward into a place which he cannot comprehend, or to be kept repeating only the lessons already perfectly familiar to him, must be attended with bad results. In the active business of life he will be judged, not by the class he was in, but by what he knows and how well he knows it.

One can learn little of a country through which he passes in the night time, borne onward with the velocity of a railway car, and, on the other hand, will add but little to his knowledge by travelling in a perpetual circle over the same ground. In neither case is interest likely to be excited, or preserved, if previously awakened.

Many a pupil has been dragged along in his class, with a reputation for dullness, which has clung to him in after life, simply because he was put into and kept in the wrong place, where he had no opportunity to exercise his capabilities, but was either in a constant struggle to accomplish impossibilities, or seeing the futility of any effort, abandoned himself to the current.

Even in the case of equal capacity of the mind, when developed, the progress of development is not the same. Maturity is arrived at earlier in one case than in another, and there can scarcely be a more grevious wrong than to keep a child in a place where, to sustain himself creditably, he must exhaust his strength, or on the other hand where no labor is needed and he must grow listless from inactivity.

There is a fitness of things in having a scholar occupy at all times his proper place. In the long run, patience and perseverance will do much to supply the want of genius, but place a child in a position where patience cannot be expected and there is no inducement for perseverance, and there can be no rational hope for progress.

It does not follow that, because a boy of ten years of age is in education behind his fellow of the same age he will be so at thirteen. The fleet do not always win the race. The progress of each one should tally with his present abilities and as they enlarge, his speed will increase.

The difficulties and incongruities above alluded to in the old practice have always been noticed by teachers, but the question has always been, "How are they to be avoided?" Discussion upon discussion in public and in private has taken place. The amount of labor, administrative talent, skill, or something else, requisite in the teacher has been descanted upon; the plea that no practical system has been devised, or if devised that it is applicable only to special cases, has been made; fears have been entertained of entering a labyrinth of difficulties from which extrication will be impossible, and, further, it has been urged that it is "better to bear the ills we have than to fly to those we know not of," until down has come the ponderous trip-hammer of "long-established usage," crushing debate and leaving the late disputants to travel along the ancient tow path.

To this subject has the attention of the School Committee of this town been frequently directed, and they have given it much consideration. It has so happened that, in one of the schools—the Prospect Hill Grammar School—there has, under the administration of its able teacher, for some time past been a departure from the old practice, and the scholars have been advanced, from time to time, with reference to their attainments, under a system peculiar to himself, with highly beneficial results. To a greater or less extent this has been done in some of the other schools.

It has not unfrequently been observed, in our examinations, that a prompt, active, intelligent boy or girl, has been pointed out as a promoted scholar, and, in some cases, of recent promotion. So advantageous, indeed, to all concerned, does the application of the principle that a scholar's advance in position should depend upon his abilities and progress in study appear to us, that we have adopted it as a rule. Of course it is yet something in the nature of an experiment, and preliminary to the adoption of any detailed system, the teachers have had communicated to them some general suggestions for their guidance, without being obliged to follow in a precise path; and, so far as we have been informed, the operation has been favorable.

The guardianship of the schools is no sinecure, as all know who have ever held it; and the labors of a School Committee, although unappreciated by too many, are always arduous and exacting; yet, in the investigation and pursuit of this subject, a more minute and careful examination of the condition of the schools, as to minute particulars, has been made than is usual, as the files of the Committee will show.

Among other things, it has appeared that there is a great difference in the space, in the text-books, gone over in classes and schools of equal grade. This we deem to be a defect, and to remedy it and obtain a substantial uniformity, meetings of the teachers in each grammar district, and of all the teachers, in general convention, have been held, for consultation and suggestion to the Committee in regard to the proper limits of study, and reports of the proceedings have been made, which we have now under consideration.

This attempt at uniformity will, we think, commend itself to every one, and we conceive it to be essential to the attainment of success in our labors.

It can hardly be expected that the details of any proposed plan will be here given; yet, in consideration of the very general interest excited, and the desire of the Committee to inform those whom they represent, in general terms at least, in regard to some of the operations deemed necessary in the practical application of the adopted rule, it may be remarked that, it is believed there should be daily advance lessons, reviews and back-reviews in the various studies pursued, commencing at proper intervals from each other—the advance, or new lessons, being of moderate length, and the reviews and back-reviews more extended, so that, within short periods of time, the two reviews will meet each other and extend to the advance lessons.

These two reviews should not commence so distant from each other and from the advances as to cover matter of which the pupils have not some some fair memory. The result will be that the scholar will have his lessons firmly fixed in his memory, with comparatively little labor, if the advance lessons are properly learned. The advance lessons will give him his first knowledge of the subject matter; the reviews will take him over the same ground before his memory is very defective, and give some degree of permanence to his impressions; while the back reviews will tend to firmly establish in his mind that with which he is already conversant.

It is well known to parents and teachers, that some repetitions are required in exercises given to children, and that the doctrine of "line upon line and precept upon precept," cannot be quite disregarded. If, however, the reviews are very distant from the advance lessons, they will, unless in remarkable cases of memory, appear very much like new ones, and require almost as much labor as in the first instance. This is especially true in those branches where the new lessons do not necessarily involve a knowledge of the previous ones, say in History, Geography, and the like, as compared with some branches of Mathematics, where a knowledge of the previous steps is absolutely necessary to any advance.

It is evident that the very common practice of spending the last three or four weeks of a long term in Reviews for the first time, in preparation for examination, is objectionable, imposing unnecessary labor on the student by reason of loss of memory, and crowding upon him in rapid succession long lessons that appear almost new. Reviews also at the close of each week of five days' studies do not seem to entirely meet the case, for still at the close of the term it is usually found necessary to take up much time in going over the whole ground again — compelling the scholar to complete the term in order to reap the advantages of the lessons already studied.

By the daily recitations in advance lessons,—reviews and back-reviews, however, many difficulties are obviated, — the memory is fixed, and the student is ready, at limited periods, to pass to his promotion; or, if for any reason he abruptly leaves his class or school, he carries with him a knowledge of what he has studied. Of course, when the advance lessons are reached by both reviews, a new starting point must be found. A fit teacher will not be destitute of judgment nor entirely wanting in administrative ability.

With these remarks, somewhat extended by reason of the supposed novelty of the subject, and in answer to repeated inquiry, we close, only adding that, if our success in the promotion of the cause of education among the Youth of this town bears any proportion to our sense of its importance, the labor will not have been altogether in vain.

Respectfully submitted,

ISAAC STORY,

Chairman of Special Committee on Individual Promotions.

THE CURRENT EXPENSES.

It is believed that no apology will be asked because of the circumstance that the current expenses have exceeded the ap-When appropriations were asked a year ago, propriations. the estimate was based on then existing prices of material and Does any reader of this Report need the proof that almost every article of sale, and every kind of labor, costs more, in most particulars a great deal more, than it cost a year But school-houses and fences must be repaired, no matter what the cost of lumber, paint, and labor. The Committee feel assured that the explanation of the excess of expenditure over appropriations will be so obvious to every citizen, that no complaint will come from any quarter. Committee have made every practicable endeavor to economize, and repairs have been made only as the public good seemed to demand.

THE FORSTER DISTRICT.

A year ago an appropriation of $5,000 was voted for further school accommodations in the Forster district, with general instructions to the Committee to exercise their own discretion as to the expediency of enlarging the present school-house, or building anew. On consultation with architects and builders, the Committee were convinced that any attempt to enlarge the present building, on any practicable plan, would be to give the district an unsightly structure, and so prove an occesion of constant and reasonable complaint on the part of citizens residing in that section of the town. It was clear that the sum appropriated would be inadequate for the erecting of a structure entirely new, and of capacity sufficient for prospective needs. After much consultation, it was deemed the wisest course to provide temporary accommodation for the present exigency, and defer the building of a new edifice till the Town could be informed as to the exigency, and make appropriations sufficiently large to meet the real necessity. Accordingly, a primary school was opened in a room leased for the purpose, on Broadway,—a school which has rapidly filled, and is now in successful operation. At the April meeting the subject will be laid before the Town, and its judgment and action asked with reference to future operations. The Committee are unanimous in the opinion that the district is entitled not only to more ample but to more convenient school accommodations.

FURTHER SCHOOL ACCOMMODATIONS.

The annual call for appropriations to build new school-houses, or to enlarge old ones, will be gratifying to citizens in at least one particular. It is statistical proof that the town is growing. And even in a financial aspect the fact is encouraging, for, with the increase of population, the relative current expenses are proportionally reduced. It may cost five times as much to educate a thousand children as it will cost to educate a hundred. It certainly will not cost ten times as much. The average expense of teaching each pupil will diminish as fast as the number of pupils is decreased. This explains the fact that the expense per pupil in Boston is less than in Somerville, notwithstanding salaries in the city are considerably larger; — the salaries of male principals in Boston are twice as large as those paid in Somerville. Our own statistics are to the same effect, as follows:

In May, 1857, the number of persons in Somerville between the ages of 5 and 15 years, was 1,262. The appropriation for current school expenses was $13,500.

In May, 1863, the number between the same ages was 1,888, and the appropriation was $17,500.

It will thus be seen that, in the course of six years, the increase of the school population was about 50 per cent; while the aggregate increase of school expenses was hardly 30 per cent; showing an actual reduction of expense per scholar of full 20 per cent! And this, too, it must be added, notwithstanding the salaries of all the male teachers and some of the female teachers have been raised, in the period, an average of near a thousand dollars a year.

It is worth while to add, in this connection, that, according to the reports of the census, Somerville made the most rapid progress in population, in the period between 1855 and 1860, of any town in the State. Doubtless the census of 1865 will show that the rate of numerical progress has in no degree slackened. And yet the number of masters has not been increased. The 12 additional teachers called for since 1857 are all females. It will not be amiss to state, that the present population of Somerville is about 9,000. It is the second town in the county, Newton being the first.

While the town thus continues to grow, the School Committee will have frequent occasion to reiterate the call for more school accommodations. The need in the Forster District has already been referred to. It must be added, that the need of more school room on Spring Hill is hardly less urgent. The schoolhouse which accommodates the Spring Hill primary, must either be converted into a two-story building, or a new house must be The necessities of the neighborhood are imperaconstructed. tive, and the April meeting should take measures to meet the exigency. The time has also come when the town must at least think of enlarging the Prospect Hill school-house, or in some way provide further grammar-school accommodations in the district. By another year, certainly, definite action in this particular will be necessary. There is one vacant room in the Prescott school-house, and this is the only vacant room in the town! If the school population is to increase at the rate of a hundred a year, it is easy to predict that more room must be furnished.

In concluding this report, the Committee submit the following:—

REPORT OF THE SELECTMEN.

The closing days of the Municipal year of 1863-64 admonish the Board of Selectmen that their constituents expect of them a Report of their acts in the discharge of their official duties, in doing which they feel that they have been performed in all honesty, and with a faithful care for the various interests entrusted to their charge.

The past year has been full of glorious achievements in the cause of our country; the limits of Secession, territorially, have been largely curtailed and the future looks bright for the extension of Liberty and Union.

Great sacrifices have been made in men and money, and more may be anticipated. Our good Town has been called upon to sustain its full share, and nobly has she acquitted herself in the past, as we have full confidence she will continue to do until the end.

In the contribution of men, and the pecuniary means to sustain the Government, Somerville has never faltered; in the various calls made, she has always been well in the advance, and where the citizens have been called upon for material aid, none have exceeded them in liberality; they feeling it to be a duty each individual owes to the common cause, to give freely of the goods which God in his providence has allowed us to acquire under the sure protection of our glorious Constitution, Union and Laws. We congratulate our citizens on the general prosperity of the inhabitants of this Town. Business of all kinds has been, and still continues to be, good; many of our people have succeeded far beyond their usual expectations, and this is not an exceptional case for Somerville, but applies equally to nearly all loyal portions of our country, and this prosperity is not the least thorn in the side of Secession, "May its shadow never be less." The Selectmen in making their Report must give large notice to the great right-arm of the nation,

THE MILITARY.

Somerville at the commencement of the year had two full Companies in the field, viz: Co. E, 39th Regiment, M. V, Capt. Kinsley, and Co. B, 5th Regiment, M. V. M., Capt. Parker, also some three hundred men and officers in the various Regiments and Batteries of Massachusetts and other loyal States. In June last the citizens assembled en masse to receive Capt. Parker and his command on their return from a campaign of nine months in the Government service, and the Selectmen joined heartily with the people in giving them a reception such as they had a right to expect, as a feeble return for their large personal sacrifices. It is with thanks to a merciful God that we are able to say that the ranks were full with a single exception; the name of Samuel G. Tompkins now furnishes one link in the chain of history, and is cut deep in the marble shaft in our burial place, there to remain with those of his fellow martyrs, the future glory of Somerville.

Capt. Kinsley's Company still remains in the field, reduced materially in numbers from the various vicissitudes of war; not many deaths have occurred but long marches and exposure to the inclement seasons have their effect on companies as on individuals. Seven of our boys have been taken prisoners, and one of them, Henry Howe, a brave fellow, who was never known to falter in the full duties of a soldier, has to be numbered with the victims of inhuman treatment in the vile prisons at Richmond.

The list of deaths, however, since the rebellion commenced, among the seven hundred volunteers from the Town, as far as they have come to our knowledge, will not much exceed thirty; this being a very small per centage, and calls for gratitude to the Almighty for his kind protection of our noble men.

The Selectmen have an arduous duty in the distribution of the State Aid; the sum of seventeen thousand five hundred and sixty-five dollars has been paid by them in the year 1863, to about 225 families; a large amount of care is necessary to guard against illegal payments, as the State will not refund a dollar unless paid according to law. In many cases desertions take place from the army, and the family continues to apply and receive the aid with knowledge of the fact. The Selectmen have no means of information, until perhaps some months afterward they receive notice from the authorities at the State House, dated back to the time of desertion, the Town in such case sustaining the loss.

At the session in April last a law was passed by which persons of the Town, who enlisted out of the State lose all claim to aid; several are thus situated, and the Town must assist them. Other cases requiring aid are those of persons discharged at the expiration of terms of service, with the seeds of disease in their system rendering them unfit for labor; these persons cannot be reached by State laws, but have been to some extent assisted by the Board. In 1861 at a Town meeting, the sum of five thousand dollars was voted to meet the emergency, but the fund was never raised. The Selectmen have however used for such purposes from the amount raised for State Aid. Several families of the soldiers have been during the severe weather supplied with wood and coal, when in the judgment of the Board extra aid seemed absolutely necessary. In most cases they had not received the pay allotted them. Such instances require great caution, as a portion of all communities, under the impression that this aid is a legal claim, press it when they could do well without it.

The Treasurer has received from the State 12,993 \(\frac{24}{100} \) dollars of the amount paid, as State aid during the year 1862. The late calls on our Town for men will keep the sum for this year fully up to that of last, so that it will be necessary to authorize the Treasurer to borrow money to meet the demand. The Interest account will be increased by State Aid about one thousand dollars.

During the month of July last, our citizens had to undergo the excitement incident to a draft. It proved an experiment in the true sense of the word, and a failure in the anticipated increase of the army; but we are proud to say that all of our citizens answered its claims without a shade of resistance in any shape; and to the draft of 186 men, 183 responded promptly—the result to the Government was the receipt of three thousand dollars in commutation money, four substitutes, and one good soldier, George Wood.

On the 17th of October, the President made a call for three hundred thousand volunteers, and the Somerville quota was set at ninety-two, to be filled by January 5th, 1864. At an extra session of the Legislature, in November, liberal bounties were offered by the State, and under the order of the Governor a system of recruiting was established, under very strict regulations. cordance with these orders a recruiting office was opened in our Town, and, at a large meeting of the citizens, a War Committee of twenty was chosen to counsel and assist the Selectmen as to the best method of filling our quota. Several war meetings were held, but with little All were anxious that the men should be prosuccess. vided, but few ready to respond to the call personally. We were soon obliged to follow the example of our neighboring towns. A Town meeting was called, at the suggestion of the War Committee, but it was understood that money to any large amount could not be legally raised, and at the meeting the small sum of $2,000 was voted, in anticipation of the recruiting money, to be refunded by the Government on all enlisted men. This sum not being, under the orders from the State, available as extra inducement, the Committee called a meeting of all enrolled citizens, to take counsel in the matter. A soliciting committee was appointed to raise funds to meet the emergency, and a liberal response being made, the Committee entered the market for recruits, and, after much labor, and with the reenlistments in the army, were, on February 1st, (the time having been extended to March 1st,) able to report the quota of ninety-two full. At this time a second call from the President for 200,000 more volunteers was made. In answer to this the citizens were assembled at the Town Hall, and the old committees were again requested to act for the people in filling the quota of sixty-one men, and the soliciting committee requested to open the subscription list in aid of the cause.

This call has been very fairly met by our liberal-minded citizens, and at this date our quota, as understood by us, is nearly or quite full. The duty of the Board in this matter has been arduous, and of a very unthankful nature. It is almost impossible to satisfy all; cavillers always did and always will exist; but the Board feel that their efforts have been directed to the end required by their constituents, and they have done their best under the circumstances. To the War Committee they are under many obligations, as they have had their almost unanimous approval, aid and counsel, in every point connected with recruiting.

In the payment of State aid, which has become a large item in the disbursements, this Board feel that it should be arranged so that our auditors could be able to pass more definitely on the matter, by requiring the Selectmen to give "orders," and the Treasurer to pay the same, as in other town business. This would greatly relieve the Board, and though largely increasing the duties of the Treasurer, would be more satisfactory to the citizens.

Many of our citizens are not aware of the fact that our Town has in its burial-ground a beautiful monument, erected under the supervision of the Military Committee of the S. L. I., with the balance of the fund contributed by the citizens, for the benefit of said Company, in April, 1861. They have done a grand and noble thing. The monument is intended to bear the names of all those from our Town who may be killed, or die from disease, while in the service of the United States. It is, in style and conception, an ornament, and an honor to those who caused its erection, and in time to come, if not at present, will be fully appreciated.

The lot in the burial place was presented to the Committee by our worthy citizen Enoch Robinson, Esq., the Board voting a small sum for enclosing the same. The monument, a beautiful work of art, was manufactured by one of our citizens, Charles E. Hall, of the firm of Powers & Hall. It will repay our citizens to examine this memorial of our brave men.

HIGHWAYS.

Our streets and sidewalks have had the usual amount of attention, and at present are in a very good condition. One great cause of expense on our streets is the sidetrack railroads, in many instances confining the water to the road; in other cases, when heavy rains occur, throwing it across the street, gullying, and destroying in a few hours the work of many days. It is to be hoped that this cause of trouble will, at no distant day, be done away with, and horse railroads located where they belong—in the middle of the street.

Mount Pleasant Street in East Somerville, has been put in excellent condition on petition of the abuttors.

The expense was rather large, but the work has been well done, and it is now a model street for Somerville.

On account of the press of business on the Lowell Rail Road, and the great scarcity of laborers, the Company have not furnished us with all the gravel from Winchester that could have been used to advantage. They have been notified of the quantity required for the coming year, and will no doubt furnish it in due time.

The disbursements under this head will come much under the appropriation, notwithstanding the increased rise in the price of labor, and other attendant requirements in this department.

STREET LAMPS.

Our citizens in different sections of the Town have availed themselves of the opportunity offered by a vote of the Town last April, that when abuttors should furnish posts and lamps, they would be located, and lighted at the expense of the Town, under the direction of the Selectmen. At this time we have ninety-two lights illuminating our highways and byways, and others are paid for, and will be located at the opening of Spring. These lamps and posts have been set at an expense of about $2000, which sum was liberally contributed by the citizens, and have now become Town property, to be taken care of, and lighted at the expense of the Town. It is surprising how soon some of our old citizens realize the advantages derived from "more light."

The expense of each lamp, including gas, lighting, repairs, &c., will not vary much from twenty dollars per year, and as we shall probably have by the first of July 125 lamps, it will require an appropriation of $3,500 to meet this additional expense, as some portion of the charges to the Town for piping, &c., has not yet been paid, and this in our opinion should find no opposers as light in our streets is one great step in the march of improvement, and a certain per centage of gain on the value of Real Estate. All such expenditures should and will undoubtedly meet with approbation from our wealthy men, as they are in a great measure to reap advantages therefrom. The large increase in our population during the last decade, is a sure precursor of the future, and with the many facilities for reaching our Town, and the great advantages to people settling in this place over those in the crowded cities, we may anticipate at no far distant day a population double at least our present number, thereby, bringing wealth to those of our citizens, who at the present time feel poor, in holding large amounts of the so-called unproductive Real Estate. All that is needed to bring about this much wished for state of things, is a liberal line of policy in our public improvements. Let everything when done, be well done, and with an eye to the future growth of our Town.

CEMETERY.

In April last the Selectmen were appointed a Committee to select and purchase a lot of land for a Cemetery, the cost not to exceed $12,000, with instructions to sell the property known as the Town Farm, and also a lot owned by the Town, on the corner of Franklin Street and Broadway, if, in their judgment, it was thought expedient. To this subject the Board have devoted a large share of attention, and thought, and, after a thorough examination of all the sites at all available for such purposes, have come to the conclusion that the Town does not contain a lot of sufficient size suitable for the purpose—all lots offered and examined having radical objections, either of soil, water, or locality—and they have not felt themselves justified in making so large an investment (at this time of heavy taxation), unless they could do so with a fair belief that their action would meet the entire approbation of our citizens.

A small lot, of one or two acres, might be found at a fair price, that would answer all the present requirements for town purposes; and the Board are unanimous in the opinion that this would meet the wishes of a large portion of our citizens.

According to the vote, the Town Farm and lot were offered at public auction. The lot was sold at 25 cents per foot, netting $3,277.22. The bids on the farm not coming up to the views of the Board, it was not sold.

The town undoubtedly requires a public burial place, and this Board would recommend that a small lot be purchased for this purpose.

CHARLESTOWN WATER WORKS.

By authority granted them by the Legislature, the Charlestown Water Commissioners have commenced, and nearly completed the laying of the main pipes through this Town, and the work along the whole line is being completed as fast as possible, and although subject to many delays the Commissioners hope to distribute the water to consumers next Fall. There are to be hydrants 500 feet apart connected with the distributing pipes, and unfortunately for the good of the street, that part of Broadway in which the pipe is laid, is to be again dug up that the distributing pipes may be laid. The Commissioners are desirous to know in what way the Town prefer to be supplied with water. They say the Town can have the water from the main, and distribute it as they may think best, or if preferred, as soon as a sufficient number of consumers apply for it, to warrant the laying of the pipes, they will do it, and sell the water on the same terms as to the people of Charlestown.

HORSE RAILROADS.

During the past year, this Board has been called upon to act on two applications for the extension of Horse Railroads in Somerville. The first on Milk street, from the flag staff in Union Square, to connect with the Cambridge Road at Miller's Creek. This location has been granted to the entire satisfaction of the Company, and also on such terms as will give to the Town a good centre track road; thus giving the citizens an opportunity to compare its qualities with the side track. There has been considerable complaint over the location, at the supposed exorbitant demands of the Selectmen on this Corporation, while granting to them the franchise to use one of our most public thoroughfares for an unlimited time (for the public good to be sure) but still, for the private emolument of the Company. This came, as in most cases of the kind, from interested Stockholders, but without any foundation in fact. The Board has been governed in this matter, as in all others, by their sense of duty to the Town they represent: First, to see that the Company were required and compelled to build a first class road, with every guard necessary to secure as good accommodation, and at as low fare, as our neighbors enjoy; secondly, without being oppressive to the Company. This we think we have accomplished, as before stated, to the mutual satisfaction of all parties.

The second application was for an extension of the Middlesex Road, on Broadway, to Franklin, through Franklin to Pearl, through Pearl into Cross, for a stopping place. On the various petitions in regard to this location, the citizens on the route, and in the vicinity, have had several hearings before this Board, and after a very thorough examination of all the facts and features of the case, have granted the location, with the full conviction that the true interests of the town, and especially this vicinity, would be benefitted thereby. In granting this location, the same care for the public good has been used, as on the other road.

In regard to Horse Railroads, it is the unanimous opinion of this Board, that the interests of the Town, and also of the Road, would be to locate all tracks in the centre of the streets, and it would be economy and money well invested, to aid the Company to change their tracks in this Town, from their present side location, (where they are and ever will be a nuisance) to the centre of the streets.

In concluding our report it is with much pleasure that we are able to state, that the Police Department have had less arrests to make on account of intemperance than in any former year for a long period. This is to be accounted for in many ways, but principally by the influence of the various societies and organizations for the encouragement of temperance.

The power of law has been proved in many parts of the State a failure on this subject, but good example and moral suasion have never been known to fail; there are ways of reaching the intemperate that are a power in themselves; a kind word of advice, is often more effectual to reform, than a year of imprisonment. Let all who feel an interest in this matter, do their whole duty as a brother to the wayward, and Somerville would soon become a model Town.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

THOMAS CUNNINGHAM, HENRY A. SNOW, JOHN R. POOR, S. C. WHITCHER, LEVI TIMSON,

Selectmen of Somerville.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

In offering to the citizens of the Town of Somerville the following statement of the receipts and disbursements from March 1, 1863 to March 1, 1864, the Treasurer would say that he has endeavored to use the funds coming into his hands to meet the necessary demands, without increasing the interest account more than possible; he has availed himself of all funds at hand to meet liabilities without resorting to borrowing on special appropriations as instructed to do by the town, consequently the treasury is at present at low ebb, and it will be necessary soon to borrow. The town debt has been reduced $6,700; as there is a note of $5,000 due the coming year, he would recommend an appropriation to meet the same.

The Treasurer has received from our soldiers in the army as allotments to their families, the large sum of $14,103 in amounts varying from five to two hundred dollars. The distribution of this money has been a very heavy increase in the duties of the office of Treasurer, but of much advantage to our town, as it is expended in our midst; and shows a wise provision of our State government. This money is often from the casualties of war not promptly received, and causes a necessity for assistance from the town, to a small extent, to some families; and the Treasurer would respectfully recommend that an appropriation to meet this demand, also should be made, so that it will not be necessary to draw on the appropriations of other departments. Let us be liberal to our soldiers, they deserve all we can do for them.

The system of collecting taxes adopted by the Town last year, has proved very advantageous; the Collector thinks a saving of about twenty-five hundred dollars has been made in discounts and interest, and the taxes have been as promptly paid as under the old system; a continuation of this plan for the future would be advisable.

REPORT

OF THE

OF THE

TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

FOR THE SCHOOL-YEAR 1864-5.

The School Committee in rendering this, their Annual Report, ask the serious attention of their fellow townsmen to such facts as they have to state, and to such suggestions as they feel impelled to offer, bearing upon the condition and prospects of the Public Schools. We desire the approbation of our fellow citizens to the extent in which we are found faithful to our trust. We expect censure so far as we have come short of duty. We submit to criticism as respects all our measures, provided it comes from persons who, by their own diligence in learning the facts, know whereof they affirm.

At the date of this Report thirty-four teachers are employed in the Somerville schools, as follows: two in the High; ten in the Grammar; seven in the Intermediate; thirteen in the Primary and one in a Mixed School. Instruction in Music in the Grammar Schools is given by Mr. S. D. Hadley.

A tabular statement of the several schools and teachers is submitted, as follows:

In the month of February every school is examined, each grade by a Special Committee, except that the High School is examined by the entire Board. The results of this general examination are our data for such an Annual Report as the Committee are able to make, so far as regard is had to the present condition and prospects of the schools. Our last examination was, we trust, thorough; and we believe we are in possession of a somewhat accurate and complete knowledge of the working condition of each of our twenty-seven schools. Each of the Special Committees has submitted to the Board a written report, and the four several reports, thus furnished, are now submitted. And first, in regard to

THE PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

The Committee charged with the duty of examining the Primary Schools, submit the following statement:

In accordance with the rules, the several classes in Reading and in Arithmetic, and the entire school, as respects Order, were marked according to their proficiency, in a scale of which 10 was the highest number. This number was not, however, made the test of any ideal or absolute excellence, but simply of the highest degree of excellence, which, under all the circumstances, could reasonably be expected. Accordingly, Reading which if exhibited by a professed elocutionist, might be adjudged very poor, was, perhaps, entitled to the highest credit, considering it came from a scholar in a Primary School. of Arithmetic, — a performance which coming from a professor should be set down as 1, might, nevertheless, in a Primary School, be adjudged 10. To the extent, therefore, that the number falls below 10, the Committee feel that the highest praise they would award teacher and pupil, must be modified. The several marks in each school for the same study being averaged, the marking was as follows:

Four of the schools were marked 7 in Reading, one was marked $7\frac{1}{2}$, four were marked 8, one was marked $8\frac{1}{2}$, two were marked 9, one was marked $9\frac{1}{2}$.

In Arithmetic, one school is marked 5, one 6, one $6\frac{1}{2}$, one 7, five schools are marked 8, one school is marked $8\frac{1}{2}$, one is marked 9.

In Spelling, three schools rose above 90 per cent, four came between 80 and 90, one stood at 79, ten between 60 and 70, and one at 36.

In Order, one school was marked 5, four were marked 8, five 9, three 10.

On account of the rudimentary stage of the studies, in a few schools, not very formal examinations could be attempted, and hence for such cases, the Committee made no marks. They are not, therefore, included in the above estimate.

The figures thus given render very especial comment needless. It will be seen that while a few rank high, a few rank low. The Spelling, as an average (for in a few of the schools it stood very high,) is the least satisfactory part of the examinations. The Committee, in candor, must confess to disappointment in several instances. Very particular attention is commended to this branch of study, in the grade where it specially belongs—the Primary School. The Committee also fear that the high average of proficiency in Reading attained in former years, has hardly been reached during the year just closed.

Let what is unfavorable in this report receive due modification, in view of the fact that the schools have suffered much from sickness, both on the part of scholars and teachers. The average attendance has been unusually small; and "colds" have been the rule rather than the exception.

The Committee find great irregularity—at least want of uniformity—as respects the several studies. For example, one school is far ahead of all others in Arithmetic, yet behind others in Spelling. Another school seems brilliant in the Reader, while it lags and stumbles in the Arithmetic. One has gone over twice as many pages as another in the amount of study. This want of uniformity is doubtless unavoidable to a considerable extent; yet in our Primary Schools it has reached a needless extreme.

Further, the Committee must complain of defective classification. Such phrases as "The first class in Spelling, "The first class in Arithmetic," have no rightful place in a school properly organized. The first class should be together in all the branches; and so of each class. It is not claimed that this precise, classification is practicable in all cases. Circumstances may compel exceptions. But the evil of which we complain is an evil, and to the extent of the teacher's power should be remedied. Indeed, the faculty to classify a school, and keep it properly classified, should be regarded as a criterion of a teacher's fitness for the duties of the school room. There is room for much improvement in the particulars here complained of in several of the primary schools.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE H. EMERSON, AUSTIN BELKNAP, LEONARD ARNOLD.

THE INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

In our examination of the Intermediate Schools, we witnessed much that is cheering and deserving of high commendation. All of these schools exhibit pleasing evidence of faithful instruction and diligent application to study. The order in most of them is very good, and in some it is excellent; and so far as we can determine it is secured mainly by mild means.

We have no commendations to bestow where good order is secured by harsh treatment only. The teacher who cannot control her pupils by higher motives than fear, should seriously question her fitness for her vocation. The school room should be made so agreeable and attractive to the young, that they will delight to resort to it, and in after years find its scenes among their most pleasant memories.

Teachers have committed to them, in a great measure, the present happiness and consequent future destiny of their pupils. For nothing contributes more surely to a virtuous and useful life than a happy childhood and youth. The consideration that the morning of life's day is all that many of their pupils will ever witness, should stimulate teachers to labor earnestly to render that brief period as cloudless as possible.

While we take great pleasure in commending whatever is praiseworthy, we cannot disguise our disappointment at finding the schools, with very few exceptions, so far below the standard of excellence we wish them to attain. Money is generously appropriated. School accommodations are ample. Teachers and pupils are provided with every needed facility for a successful prosecution of their work. All the appliances are furnished that liberality can suggest. Under these circumstances, we think we have a right to expect results rarely surpassed. If, therefore, such results are not realized, we should labor diligently to ascertain the cause, and faithfully apply the remedy.

Many causes, doubtless, contribute to lower the standard of education in our schools, most of which are under the control of, and can be remedied by, the earnest and persistent efforts of teachers. But the most faithful and thoroughly competent teachers, full of zeal and enthusiasm, and abounding with love for their calling, cannot accomplish all that is desired without the cordial support and cheerful co-operation of parents and school committee. For there are causes entirely beyond their control that exert a most deleterious influence upon our schools.

Prominent among these, and, in our estimation, paramount to all others, and the one to which we would especially direct the attention of parents, who alone can control it, is the want of regular and punctual attendance. Our tabular statement indicates that the average attendance in the Intermediate Schools is a fraction less than seventy-five per cent. If twenty-five per cent were the full measure of the loss accruing from this cause, it would be of sufficient magnitude to awaken serious apprehensions and arouse the community to apply the remedy. But pupils who are frequently or only occasionally absent from school, do not derive the benefit they otherwise would from the instruction they receive during the time they are present. So that this loss of one-fourth of the time spent out of school detracts very much from the value of the remaining three-fourths.

Every teacher knows, if he would awaken and render permanent the interest of his pupils in their respective studies, they must be present at every recitation, and master every difficulty, and comprehend every principle in the order it occurs. Much extra time and labor must be devoted to scholars who are irregular in their attendance, otherwise they will fall behind their classes, lose their interest, become discouraged, and perhaps decline into a state of listlessness or mischief, and become a positive annoyance to the teacher and the school. But the teacher cannot bestow this extra time and labor on this class of pupils, except to the injury and disadvantage of those who are regular and punctual in their attendance. So the delinquents are not the only sufferers. For the principle, "If one of the members suffer all the members suffer with it," applies with great truthfulness to the school. We will not multiply words, but would most respectfully submit this subject to the serious consideration of parents, with the conviction that could they fully realize the deleterious influence of this evil in paralyzing the efforts of teachers, destroying the interest of pupils, retarding the progress, and consequently lowering the character of our schools, they would not suffer its continuance.

The subject of education is one in which we all have a personal interest. To us is committed the important duty of rearing a well informed, thoroughly disciplined and highly cultivated community. As citizens of a free Commonwealth, we are recreant to our trust and the obligations incident to our rich inheritance, if we fail to accomplish all in our power to render permanent our institutions, based as they are, and ever must be, upon an intelligent Christianity.

The intellectual and moral training of the young transcends in importance all other considerations.

That first question with our fathers, "How shall the gospel be supported, and our children educated?" can never become less pertinent. The same spirit which prompted them to rear, side by side, the church and the schoolhouse, must ever actuate us, would we preserve and perpetuate the blessings they prized so highly, and which have been transmitted to us for our elevation and enjoyment.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

In regard to the Grammar Schools, the Examining Committee report as follows:

The Schools were examined very thoroughly in Spelling, Reading, Arithmetic and Grammar. The examination in Spelling was a written exercise, each scholar spelling 10 words. One school stood at 77 per cent, one at 91, one at 93, the other at 94.

In a scale of which 10 is the highest number, — and this standing for the highest excellence a Grammar School is expected to exhibit under favoring circumstances and conditions, — the reading was marked as follows:

In one school three classes had 7, and one class 9; in another school every class was marked 8; in a third, three classes were marked 8, and one class was marked 9; in the fourth school, one class was marked $7\frac{1}{2}$, two were marked 8, and one was marked 9.

In Arithmetic, one school was marked 8 for two classes, and 9 for two; another school was marked 7 for one class, and 8 for three; another was marked 8 for three classes, and 9 for one; another was marked 7 for one class, 8 for two, and 9 for one.

In Grammar, the average mark for one school was 8; for another school $8\frac{1}{2}$, for each of the other two, 9.

As respects Order, one school was marked 9, the other three were marked 10.

In Arithmetic, the scholars, with the exception of a few classes, excelled in the solving of problems. Very few mistakes occurred in giving answers; and a large number of test problems was given. The general deficiency was in the giving of explanations. The knowledge of principles did not equal the expertness of going through the process.

In Grammar, the several schools seem to have very nearly the same degree of proficiency, some, however, excelling in Parsing, and others in Analysis.

In Spelling, the Committee are highly gratified with the average result. It seems but just to state, that in the same school one class spells correctly one hundred per cent, and another ninety-seven per cent!

The average Reading seemed to the Committee the least satisfactory part of the examination. In a few instances, however, this study has reached a high degree of excellence.

As respects the Order, the Committee, without a solitary exception, can bestow nothing but commendation, generally very high commendation.

Respectfully submitted,

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

This school continues in charge of the same instructors as that of last year, with substantially the same course of study.

The examination was conducted upon the same plan adopted last year, and was participated in by nearly the entire Board. The Committee have aimed to make this examination a test of the true condition of the school and of the general improvement or progress of the pupils in the various branches pursued. In forming their judgment of the results of the instruction rendered during the last two terms, the Committee are able to determine, as it were, with almost mathematical accuracy, by reference to the recorded data of this and previous examinations. By this method it is easy to determine the exact rank of the pupil, and of the class for the different years, by computing the percentage of questions answered; and the exact standing of the school by reference to the previous year's report. Justice to teachers as well as pupils, however, requires other things to be considered; sometimes circumstances combine to hinder the progress of the school, or to present it to a seeming disadvantage. All classes are not of equal capacity or qualification. The different manner or form which the Committee adopt in framing questions, frequently confuses the pupil and sometimes causes an apparent failure.

Examinations must, from the nature of things, vary in character and form, in greater or less degree, and thus one class have an advantage over another. Sometimes, in relying too much upon the progressive character of the age in education, too great expectations are entertained, and we are apt to overrate rather than justly comprehend our disappointment. Although we rightly expect to witness improvements from time to time, in the development of our school system, it must be borne in mind that we are not treating with an exact science, but one in regard to which the greatest minds differ and will continue to differ. If we cannot frame a perfect system of study, bringing to our aid the wisdom and experience of the living as well as of the dead, we may hope to approximate a result not altogether without its merits and benefits.

Although it may be difficult to say in all respects what real advantage or merit this school may now possess over that of last year, the Committee met no difficulty in finding as a fact, that the school is in a very satisfactory condition, and as such commends itself to the support and favor of the citizens of this town. The discipline of the school is admirable. Without noise, apparently without effort or severity, the school is moulded to the will of the instructors.

as follows: 1st class, 89; 2d class, $88\frac{1}{2}$; 3d class, 94 3-10; 4th class, 84 6-10; the entire school, 88.

One thing is observable in this school though not an uncommon thing in other places, which somewhat impairs progress and usefulness, and claims the attention of parents; that is, the tendency, or inclinations of pupils, especially of lads to leave the school without completing the full course of study. This is discouraging to the teacher and school, depriving the pupil of a great privilege if not inflicting on him a great wrong. Lads are anxious to find employment, and in this anxiety their minds are so much withdrawn from their studies as to derive little profit from the school even while in actual attendance. If it were understood in the outset by the pupil that he entered for the entire course, his mind would be devoted with greater zeal to his work and become less ill at ease; and the labor, that otherwise might become fruitless, would engender in him better habits of thought and action, and render him a better and stronger man and more capable of filling the better positions of life and of performing its higher duties.

We cannot close this part of our Report without commending the subject to the candid consideration of parents. It is hoped, that the recent action of the past members of this school, in organizing an association of its Graduates, will furnish an additional inducement to pupils to complete the course of study presented by the Committee.

The course of study pursued for the last three years has been quite strictly adhered to by the Committee with the belief, that on the whole it was safer to continue it, than to try experiments. In undertaking a change, a broad field would be open, and having attained a commendable degree of success under the present course, it was thought advisable, at present, to continue it.

It has been thought by some, that the rule of adhering to the exact course is too strict, and that more latitude should be given, to meet with the wishes of parents and pupils. In answer we will say, that first of all, the success or well being of the school requires that some one system should be adopted. That system must be determined by the School Committee, with the aid, and under the immediate direction of the teachers, and with a view, as a whole, to the greatest approximate good to the pupil. By our election to this responsible trust, this matter is placed in our hands, and it is with much deference to the opinions and wishes of our constituents, conflicting though they be, that we enter upon the discharge of this delicate part of our duty. Relying upon the support and sympathy of our fellow-citizens, we shall endeavor to act in such a manner as to render this school, as much as lies in our power, of practical utility. Much might be said upon the comparative benefits of the various studies, and the discussions of such questions cannot fail to be of profit; but the present space does not permit, nor perhaps the occasion require, any formal discussion of these subjects.

It is not intended that this system shall be so inflexible as not to unbend to meet the wants of particular cases, but the Committee deem it as safer, on the whole, to reserve to themselves the power of acting as such cases shall be presented. They feel, as a rule, that the system should be adhered to, and only departed from, when the real wants of the pupil, in their judgment, demand it.

During the past year the Committee availed themselves of the opportunity of purchasing, at a low price, a valuable Mineralogical Cabinet, containing many valuable specimens from all parts of the world, collected at great expense, and with great care. This cabinet is accompanied with a valuable and carefully prepared index, and is placed in a convenient and tastefully made case. The same has been placed in the school-room, and is in a suitable condition to be visited and examined by any of the friends of the school. Under the direction of suitable instructors the pupils cannot fail to derive much pleasure and advantage, in this important and interesting branch of study, from the practical illustrations which this purchase affords. Although no special appropriation was made for this purpose, the Committee felt that the opportunity ought not to be lost, and the exigency of the case justified their action.

C. S. LINCOLN, Chairman.

THE PROSPECT HILL DISTRICT.

The crowded condition of the Prospect Hill Grammar School requires that either a new building should be erected or the old one enlarged. To say nothing of the convenience, pleasure and emulation which an ample, well lighted, well ventilated school-room would furnish to the pupil, as a sanitary measure alone, the sum required to meet the just wants of this district would be well expended.

This school has one principal and three assistant teachers. A primary school is also taught in the same building. Three rooms are entirely unsuitable. Two are so small as to render it necessary to divide the classes to enable them to sit comfortably. Besides, it is impossible so to ventilate them or modify the temperature as to render them safe for pupils or teachers to occupy. The primary school room is long, narrow, dark and cheerless. It is felt that great injustice will be done both pupil and teacher, as well as great discredit be reflected on the town, by longer deferring the matter. Some plan will probably be suggested at the April town meeting, and an estimate be made of the amount required.

THE TRUANT ACT.

Among the questions put to the School Committee by the State officials the present year, is the following:

"Has the town made the provisions and arrangements concerning Truants and Absentees required by law?"—Act, chap. 207, 1862.

This question the Committee must answer in the negative. In the belief that the good of the schools, as well as the requirements of the statute, demanded the Truant Act, the Committee, in former years, have endeavored to get the subject before the town at its April meetings, but in every case the time for action came at a late hour, and hence postponement seemed to be a necessity. But now that we are formally called upon to heed the statute, the town, at its April meeting, will, we doubt not, take the requisite means to carry the law into effect.

In concluding this Report, the Committee feel that they may assure their fellow citizens that the average condition of the schools is at least good, even if not, in all particulars, fully up to the standard of former years. Uniformity of excellence, though ever to be desired and aimed for, cannot always be reached. The new Board will, we doubt not, find the materials ample and the opportunities good, to bring the schools up to a very high standard of merit.

REPORT OF THE SELECTMEN.

Fellow Citizens, — As the years roll by we naturally review the past and contemplate the future, and by so doing correct errors and mistakes, and, if wise, profit by the lessons we have learned; and as the municipal year of 1864–5 has closed, you require of us an account of our doings, that you may see wherein we have erred, by omission or commission, and so enable the next Board the better to perform the duties of the office.

In fulfilling the trust committed to our care, we have not been unmindful of their importance; and all that has been done (although it cannot be expected in the nature of things every one will be pleased), in the opinion of the Board, was fairly and impartially and for the best good of the Town; and if all our doings should not prove correct, you will, we trust, look upon us as human and liable to err, and judge us accordingly.

HIGHWAYS.

The streets and sidewalks are in (for the most part) as good condition as the appropriation would allow, and it will be clearly seen that the appropriation was small when taking into account the high rates of everything connected with making or repairing highways. The roads of our Town are, more than most any other, subjected to hard usage from the constant travel with heavy teams, and the material used in repairing, is not in our opinion, such as is wanted to make good roads; and their being no better within the limits of the Town, your Board recommend the purchase of a gravel bank (if a suitable one can be found within a reasonable distance), where a large proportion of it will be stone, that can be broken and used with more economy than that now used and at the same time make a more acceptable road. To work economically it appears best to use more of our ledge stone, and it is advisable to have what is called a "Stone Crusher," not a hammer in the hands of a lazy man, but a machine driven by steam, that will do the labor of many men.

While there has been good improvement in some of the streets and sidewalks, by edgestones, grading, &c., and all compare favorably with former years, the main thoroughfares are not in a condition satisfactory to us, except one which leads from the flagstaff to Cambridge line, (i. e.) Milk street; that, we are pleased to say, is in better condition than ever before, and will be kept in good order at less expense to the Town, than any other of same length; from Medford street to Cambridge line it has been widened twelve feet, and the whole expense to the Town for widening, building wall, and grading street, does not exceed $700.

Washington street, from Charlestown line to flagstaff, and Milk street, from flagstaff to Cambridge line, is in bad order, and will be until the railroad is put into the centre of the street, then it can be graded to give good drainage, and the road can then be put in such order as the public have a reasonable right to require; and your Board are of the opinion, that it will be wise, at an early day, to make an arrangement with the Railroad Corporation to have the rails so moved, and the Town make a reasonable appropriation for same.

We trust you will fully consider this matter, and take such action as the case demands.

On Beach street, in front of Mr. Hamman's, we have straightened the line as per instruction from Town, by survey and plan made and drawn by Mr. Richardson, and by so doing, have in our opinion, enhanced the value of his and the property around it; and, although we do not acknowledge that he has any legal claim, believing it to be the wishes of the Town to deal justly with all, have offered him a sum for land taken, which we trust will be satisfactory.

And it is to be hoped that the next Board will remove other obstructions where the public good requires it.

Your Board having been fully convinced that the safety to life and property required the closing up of a private way called "Clark's crossing" leading from Milk street to Beacon street, gave notice to the Officers of the Fitchburg Railroad to close it, and they have done so, leaving suitable gateways to accommodate the abuttors.

The Town Farm (so called) from long neglect had become almost a barren waste, and to reclaim it a large expenditure was needed, but your Board thought it would be well expended and meet the approval of the Town, and have accordingly laid 750 feet of 6 inch and 2800 feet of 2 inch pipe to drain it, and have removed brush and stone, and had the whole piece ploughed; the expense so far has mostly been taken from the highway appropriation amounting to $800. This sum, with the extra amount paid L. R. R. to bring the gravel from Winchester, has made the amount expended on highways small.

As the Stable and Sheds do not well accommodate the wants, your Board advise that all buildings required for highway purposes be put upon the Town Farm, and by erecting a cheap house, some whom the Town are obliged to maintain, could be boarded with the help, and be made to earn something toward their support. This is a subject of much importance, and we trust will receive due consideration.

School street from Broadway to Ledge, about 900 feet has been widened 5 feet by J. R. Poor, with the expectation that all the other abuttors on either side will do likewise, and so make it more desirable for residence.

Broadway from Estate of late Edward Cutter to a point near Temple street, (as per plan) needs to be straightened, and if done, the value of real estate would be much increased on line so straightened, and if the abuttors will give the land needed to straighten, the Town can well afford to grade same.

The Report of G. L. Richardson not having been printed, we herewith publish it.

REPORT IN REGARD TO THE TOWN SURVEY.

The original location having thus been ascertained as nearly as practicable, it became evident that extensive encroachments had been made, and were being annually made, upon the rights of the Town. As abuttors would, in the lapse of time, come into legal possession of the lands thus enclosed, it was deemed advisable not only to ascertain the present legal right of the Town, but to erect a barrier against further encroachments. The most extensive encroachments were found to have been upon Washington, Milk, Bow, Cross and Beacon streets.

According to the General Statutes, chapter 46, section 1, "When buildings or fences have been erected and continued for more than twenty years, fronting upon a street, and from the length of time or otherwise the boundaries thereof are not known, or cannot be made certain by the records, or by monuments, such fences and buildings shall be taken to be the true boundaries thereof. Where such boundaries can be made certain, no length of time less than forty years shall justify the continuance of such fences."

Many of the encroachments already referred to have taken place within forty years. It was not deemed practicable to insist upon the ancient boundaries in all cases, as in some cases they could not be legally established from lapse of time, and in other cases good lines could be obtained without so doing. There was such a case in Washington street, at the foot of Prospect Hill, where it had been made twenty feet narrower than it was originally. In other cases the land of abuttors has been taken for the purpose of regularity and simplicity.

Preliminary or working plans having been made first of all, the streets requiring any alteration, showing the present position of fences, buildings, &c., and the names of the abuttors, and the Committee having established the future boundaries upon the ground, these boundaries were recorded upon said plans, thus showing the amount and shape of the alteration, and who were affected by it. Considerable delay was occasioned in this part of the work, as the rights of abuttors were to be considered as well as those of the Town. objects sought for in the new location were symmetry, simplicity and economy. In some cases curved lines have been adopted instead of a succession of short irregular straight lines, because the former are in reality shorter and more simple than the latter, a curve requiring to be defined only at its commencement and terminus. By the adoption of curved lines, finish and elegance is substituted for an irregularity. location of Cross street affords an illustration of Hogarth's waving line of beauty, which is technically a reversed curve.

The new locations having been finally decided upon by the Committee, were recorded in a book of plans showing the position of monuments, and the length of lines.

The perishable nature of wooden stakes and similar boundaries has been the cause of much perplexity in defining both public and private estate. On many of those streets which had been laid out within a few years by the Town, and of which plans had been recorded, the original bounds had been nearly all destroyed, so that it was difficult to find a starting point. It was then decided by the Committee that every angle should be defined either directly or indirectly, and in accordance with the Statute, by a stone monument sunk in the ground to the grade of the street, or a few inches below. For security, simplicity and economy, the monuments were to be sunk in the centre or travelled way of each street, and the exact point indicated by a drill hole. (Revised Statutes chap. 44, sec. 88.)

· On all streets with parallel sides, the monuments represent the intersections and angles of the centre lines. On those streets whose sides were not parallel, they are placed upon the side lines bounding private estates.

A general map of the whole showing this new location of streets has also been made; the different surveys having been connected together by triangulation with the State survey; parallels of latitude and longitude having been drawn, with distances in feet north and west from the State House. General topography, water lines, soundings, &c., are also represented upon this map.

GEO. L. RICHARDSON, Engineer.

STREET LAMPS.

They now number 115, and it is conceded that they are among the indispensable things required in all thickly settled neighborhoods. We think they have been well managed and given general satisfaction.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Report of the Chief Engineer to us we publish in full, and it will be well for the Town not to overlook the suggestions by the board of Engineers. To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:

GENTLEMEN,—Agreeable to your request, I would respectfully submit the following Report:

The engine has been in service at seventeen fires in Town the past year; the losses have been small considering the combustible material in their immediate vicinity, probably not exceeding $11,000, most of which was covered by insurance. We have been assisted at five fires by a portion of the Cambridge department, and at one fire by the entire Charlestown and a portion of the Malden departments.

During the year an addition has been made to the department by the purchase of a hook and ladder carriage, which has proved to be quite useful; it is housed and run by a party with whom a contract has been made by the selectmen for that purpose. Seven new hydrants have been placed on the pipes of the Charlestown Water Works. The engine has done good service but now needs some considerable repairs, which will be attended to very soon.

Fifteen years ago the inhabitants, in order to the better security against fire, purchased a new engine. Since that time the population and the taxable property has more than trebled, and several hundred buildings have been erected, yet no additions have been made for the means of extinguishing fires, with the exception of building a few reservoirs, and procuring a few hundred feet of hose; they have been contented to go on in the same old way, until last year, when they purchased a hook and ladder carriage, which is a very important part of the department, and should have a small company attached to it to take care of and manage at fires.

There is no town in the State as large as Somerville, which is so poorly supplied with the means of extinguishing fires. As the neighboring cities and towns have adopted the steam-engine system, we cannot expect much assistance from them, except in cases of very large fires; we shall, therefore, in future, have to rely on our own resources, which are very limited.

Probably but few of the inhabitants realize the exposed condition of different sections of the Town in case of fire, owing to the difficulty of procuring water. We have, in past years, been greatly favored in regard to having large fires, but the past is no guarantee for the future; we are liable at any moment to have them in our midst; we, therefore, would especially call your attention to a few suggestions in relation to those parts of the town where water is very much needed. Spring Hill is one of the most exposed, and, should a fire break out there, it would be almost impossible to obtain a supply, there being none to be relied upon in the vicinity; the houses being all of wood, and near together, there would likely be an extensive conflagration. One or two reservoirs should be built near the top of the hill, from which water could be carried to a great distance and to almost all parts of the hill.

At a small expense, by placing gates to stop the water, Miller's Creek could be made to afford a good supply in that vicinity. Winter Hill is now better supplied than heretofore by a number of hydrants set by the Charlestown Water Works. Central Hill is in about the same condition as Spring Hill, although not so densely populated, yet there is a great chance for an extensive fire. A reservoir, situated near the Church and High School-house, and filled by the water from the roofs of both those buildings, would be a great protection to that locality. A reservoir should be built on Prospect Hill, near the Brastow School-house.

Franklin street, and the neighborhood at the foot of Prospect Hill, is now protected by water in old clay pits, which furnish a good supply, but as they are private property they are liable to be filled up at any time. A reservoir should be located in that vicinity, and hydrants should be placed on the pipe which supplies the McLean Asylum.

Cutter and Glen streets are very densely populated, and without any protection whatever.

That portion of Somerville, familiarly known as "Brick Bottom," is better protected than any other part of the Town. An abundant supply can always be obtained when "tide is up," and from numerous duck ponds in that locality; but as those ponds may be filled up, it is very necessary that a reservoir should be built in Linwood street, which could be filled by the surplus water from the Lowell Railroad water-works, which pass through that street.

A hose carriage, with a good supply of hose, should be located somewhere in the east village, and a company should be raised for the same, and some arrangement should be made whereby the bells in that section shall be rung in case of fire in Town.

It will be seen the town is poorly furnished with the means to extinguish fires, and whether we have a hand or steam department, it will avail but little, if we are deprived of that most important part—water.

The following is a schedule of the entire force of the department:

1 Engine and apparatus.

300 feet leading hose—good.

In behalf of the Board of Engineers.

¹ hook and ladder carriage, carrying 8 ladders, 2 hooks, 2 crotch poles, 2 axes, 2 rakes, 2 hay forks, 2 buckets, 4 lanterns.

² ladders and 1 hook, located on Winter Hill.

² ladders and 1 hook, located near the engine house.

CEMETERY.

The Town is still without a suitable place for burial, and your Board recommend the purchase of one, if to be had at reasonable price within the limits of the town, or near to. There is a desirable piece in Medford, near our line, that we are told can be had at a low rate.

In the old burial ground, on Milk street, where the military monument in honor of our gallant dead is erected, there is a vacant lot, but little used, belonging to the McLean Asylum. It is of suitable size, and it should be dedicated as the last resting place for the remains of the fallen heroes of Somerville, and it is hoped the Trustees of that institution will relinquish their claim in favor of the noble souls who have sacrificed their lives in this war.

CHARLESTOWN WATER WORKS.

The main pipes that were being laid at the time of last Report, have been completed, and we think in a substantial manner, and much to the relief of your Board; for, while the work was going on, we had much trouble to protect the public from accident by the careless manner in which they left the ditches, piles of earth, &c. By the grant of the Legislature we think they are obliged to put in hydrants at their own expense, and so stated in last Report, that they would be put in on distributing pipe when laid; this they now refuse, and say they are not obliged to, only on main pipe. They also say, that if, by any means, they are compelled to put in hydrants on distributing pipes, they will lay no more in Town. Therefore, it may be policy to relinquish our claim for hydrants, except on main pipe, that the citizens who wish, may be supplied with water, and the Town be at expense of hydrants on distributing pipes.

HORSE RAILROADS.

The railroad, as per location granted, from flagstaff in Union square, over Milk street, to Cambridge line, has been completed to the satisfaction of your Board, and the cars have been run, but at all times not according to location; circumstances have caused us to be lenient with them. We are told that the road will soon fall into other hands, and the cars to be run according to terms of location. The location petitioned for on Broadway, to Franklin street, through Franklin to Pearl, and through Pearl to Cross street, was granted and accepted.

POLICE.

This department has, we believe, given very general satisfaction, and we are happy to say that among the Officers, all has been harmony. The number of warrants issued between March 1st, 1864 and March 1st, 1865, are eighty. As follows:

For Assault and Batt	tery,							•	٠	43
Polygamy, .				•		•				1

By this it will be seen that there has not been much ground for complaint of intemperance, and we think good order has generally prevailed.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

There have been some complaints made, and the nuisances abated. And there are others that must be; and as the parties have taken no notice, the complaints unless abated will be presented to the Grand Jury. And we trust this will be sufficient notice to all parties interested, and save the next Board further trouble.

REPORT OF WAR COMMITTEE.

The following circular, and the results therefrom, are published for the information of the citizens of the Town:

SOMERVILLE, July 15, 1864.

At a very large assemblage of citizens on the 5th instant, the undersigned were selected to confer with the Selectmen; with them to take measures for recruiting for the national army, in anticipation of a call for troops by the Federal Government; and to levy upon the inhabitants of the town such sum as might appear to be necessary to accomplish this purpose, with a view to avoid any necessity for a future draft.

We are unanimous in the opinion that it is desirable to raise the sum of $30,000; and the assessment upon you is for what is deemed to be your equitable proportion of that sum, as established by a basis agreed upon by us.

Enrolled persons have been assessed in a higher ratio than other citizens, the payment by them being considered somewhat in the nature of an insurance against a liability to draft.

A prompt response to this demand will be likely to prevent much of the trouble and anxiety which have been experienced heretofore, and will reflect great credit upon the people of the town.

Should it appear that the call upon you is for less than you believe to be your just share, the amount can be increased; and any reasonable cause for abatement will be heard and considered by the committee.

Columbus Tyler, Esq., has been appointed Treasurer of this fund, and will receive payments at the Armory Hall, corner of Prospect street, on the 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22d, and 23d instant, at from 4 to 9 o'clock, P. M.

We hope that you will not burden the committee with the necessity for a personal application for payment; but will constitute yourself an agent to induce others to respond, as also to aid the Selectmen in obtaining recruits.

A printed report of the contributions, in the order in which the money is received, will be distributed throughout the town.

MILITARY.

This part of our Report (although last) is by no means of the least importance, and it has been a part of our duty that has required much time and patience; and in our labors have received much aid from the Town's War Committee, and general co-operation of the citizens, and although it appears impossible to please every one, your Board feel that they have in all cases used their best judgment in answering the calls for men, and as you will see that the present call was filled in advance, and there is now to the credit of the Town 111 men, we have followed the suggestions of the War Committee. Since October 17th, 1863, to present time, and that call was extended to February 1st, 1864. Our Town has been called upon to furnish 509 men. The calls have all been met, having put in 620 which leaves a balance to our credit for future call of 111 men paid for; and your Board flatter themselves that the amounts expended by them for men will compare favorably with any Town in the Commonwealth.

The amount paid for State Aid from January, 1864, to January, 1865, is $15,852.31. This amount has been paid to 184 families, being an average of $86 to each.

The treasurer has received from the State Treasurer, on account of aid paid to families in 1863, $17,417.58. Beside the State Aid paid to families, your Board has been called upon to render aid to some who had for a long time received nothing from those on whom they were dependent, caused by delay of Government in paying men, men being prisoners of war, and the extreme high price of every thing necessary in a family, and by death of the soldier, that makes the one that was dependent on him for support, poor indeed; these, with many other reasons, have caused them to need assistance, and they have appealed to the sympathy of your Board, and none deserving of aid have been turned away empty.

There has been distributed in wood, coal, groceries and cash, from the relief fund, $1,531.22, which we trust will meet your approval.

Of the large number of men furnished by the Town, many have suffered in prisons of the South, and many died in the same.

The Company from this Town, commanded by Capt. Kinsley, after going through the campaign with Gen. Grant, were nearly all taken prisoners of war in the battle of Weldon Railroad, August 18th, Capt. Kinsley among the number, and at the last account from the front there remained but six of the rank and file of the original number.

And now, Fellow Citizens, in closing our report, may we all leaning upon the arm of Almighty God, with full faith, trust, and entire confidence, that He will in His own good time, relieve us from the terrible scourge of war that is now devastating our land, and once more make us a peaceful, prosperous and happy nation, and then from the ruins thereof will we raise a monument that will be the wonder and admiration of the world. And although we ever look upon the noble shaft on Bunker's height with love and admiration, and welcome with sacred veneration every thought or sound of their holy deeds, or the names of those true patriots in memory of whom it was erected, the monument we will erect will as far outshine that as the sun at noonday outshines the stars at midnight; the foundation, base and corner stone of which will be freedom, and the topmost stone a free school, and among the stars on the banner that will float from its summit, that will for ever remain one and inseparable, will be the stars of intelligence and refinement.

And if we will be guided by these, as the mariner is guided by the compass and chart, they will safely lead us onward and upward in the paths of duty, whether to man or God.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

JOHN R. POOR,
NELSON HOWE,
LEVI TIMSON,
FRANCIS HOUGHTON,
GEO. W. HADLEY,

Selectmen of Somerville.

TREASURER'S RERORT.

By vote of the town at the annual meeting, the Treasurer was authorized to borrow $20,000, to be applied to the current expenses of the year. This loan was effected in June, on a term of twenty years, from Miss Margaret Crudden, at five and a half per cent interest, payable semi-annually. Also $5000 to meet payment of note falling due December 1st, 1864. This amount was borrowed of the Warren Institution for Savings, on twenty years, at six per cent interest, the same payable semi-annually.

At meeting held August 25th, 1864, the Treasurer was instructed to borrow $21,000 to aid in filling the quota of the town. This was borrowed September 23d, from the Bunker Hill Fire Insurance Company, for twenty years, at six per cent interest, payable semi-annually. Under the special votes to borrow for State aid, anticipation of taxes, interest, soldiers' relief, &c., I have been governed by the strict necessities of the requirements, and by the vote of the town not to borrow until wanted. The cash balance in treasury is accordingly small, and will not probably meet all demands before the next annual meeting.

The State Treasurer has refunded from State, on account of State aid paid by town in 1863, the sum of $17,417 $_{100}^{58}$, and from same, on account of recruiting, $969 $_{100}^{47}$; also on account of corporation taxes $2496 $_{100}^{59}$. These amounts will be found credited to their proper departments.

The debt of the town, it will be perceived, has been largely increased, not from the ordinary expenditure, but from the calls made on us in common with all loyal towns and cities in the country for soldiers and material of war to suppress rebellion, and the increased cost of all articles required. The increase of debt will therefore call for a larger appropriation for interest.

A note of $5,500 falls due in March, 1866, for which it will be necessary to provide at the annual meeting for appropriations. About $10,000 has been received and disbursed as allotments and bounties to soldiers' families. As superintendant of State aid, under the direction of Selectmen, the sum of $15,413,000 has been paid to one hundred and eighty-four families, distributed in our town and in various towns in and out of the State; this duty involves much care and attention, and has been attended to in strict accordance with the laws of the State and a just liberality to soldiers' families.

REPORT

OF THE

OF THE

TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

FOR THE SCHOOL-YEAR 1865-6.

In compliance with the laws of the Commonwealth, the School Committee of Somerville herewith present the following Report:

At the annual meeting of the town, held in March, 1865, Messrs. E. P. Dyer, E. R. Morse, S. C. Whitcher and O. S. Knapp were chosen to fill the vacancies then existing in their Board. Mr. Whitcher, soon after his election, resigned his office, and by a joint vote of the School Committee and Selectmen, Benj. Woodward, Esq., was chosen to fill the vacancy.

Prof. Dearborn resigned the January following, and no one has been elected to supply his place.

Rev. George H. Emerson, who had held the position of Superintendent of the Somerville schools for eight years, resigned his office in April, and O. S. Knapp was elected his successor.

Your Committee found the interest intrusted to their charge at the commencement of the school year, in a very satisfactory condition, and have not deemed it necessary to make any radical change. A system of individual promotions had already been inaugurated, and was in partial operation. The teachers were generally active, faithful, efficient, and conscientious in the discharge of their duties, and enjoyed, for the most part, the confidence of parents and pupils.

The evils which we found common to our schools, were the result of the system — a system common to all our large towns and cities, and which has come about as a matter of course with an increased population, and a desire to economize labor and expense.

The old fashioned district school-house and the district school system were the natural outgrowth of a thinly settled country. Improvements in school buildings have been, for the most part, the result of a necessity for enlarged school accommodations, consequent upon an increased population.

The centralization of pupils, with graded schools, with annual classification and annual promotions and divided labor on the part of the instructors followed as a matter of course, not so much as the result of an effort to improve the system of instruction with reference to the pupil's interest as a learner, as with reference to the economy of his instruction.

It is obvious that it is less work and of course cheaper to assign the same lesson at one and the same time to a class of fifty than it is to assign a different lesson to each of the fifty, and that it is less work and cheaper to hear fifty pupils recite the same lesson in a class, than it is to hear the same number separately. These class lessons and recitations would perhaps serve their purpose, provided the pupils composing the class have the same mental and physical powers. Not till we can find a class of pupils precisely alike in every particular can their teacher assign a lesson that shall be equally adapted to each.

Individual instruction is the only kind that fully meets the wants of each individual pupil, but this would be very expensive; besides, it would be attended with the loss of a very powerful stimulant—a spirit of emulation that is obtained through a system of classification — the loss of which would more than counterbalance the advantage of individual instruction.

A system that shall as nearly as possible combine the advantages of individual instruction with the benefits and economy of class instruction is the one your Committee are undertaking to introduce into our schools.

We think this system is found in graded schools, if not graded too fine, with individual promotions aided by the repeated reviews which this system of promotions makes necessary.

To make this system any way popular with teachers, who regard their reputation higher than the pupils' interest, the excellence of a school should be based, to a considerable degree, upon the per cent. of promotions made, not upon the brilliancy of the school merely. Under the ordinary system of class promotions, and the usual basis of Committees' commendations, viz., the appearance of the school, it is made the teacher's interest to promote the dullest and retain charge of the brightest; and this is to some extent practised under the class system, when teachers are not conscientious, and Committees are unsuspecting.

Graded schools with annual class promotions, are a popular institution, and have become the established hobby of public school educators, and while we do not mean to do too great violence to the spirit of the times, we are free to say that although we regard them very excellent labor saving machines for teachers, they are not altogether adapted to the numberless grades of intellect, physical strength and ambition, found in the various pupils.

In schools said to be well graded, a single class are in one room under one teacher; so that pupils going through the several rooms never have an opportunity to learn from hearing advanced classes recite, subjecting them to a constant change of teachers, which has long since been regarded as a most serious evil.

The classes too are very large, so that their members are kept a long while in the class exercises, recite but little each, become inattentive, restless, sometimes noisy, and often get very weary of the recitation long before it is concluded.

To avoid the mischiefs growing out of schools graded to the extent we found them in some instances, we have adopted a system of parallel divisions.

In the Jackson District we found the Primary School divided into three grades, and each grade containing about four subdivisions; so that pupils, to get through the Primary School course in that district, were obliged to go through some twelve classes, and change teachers twice. If a pupil was promoted as often as once in six months, it would take him even then six years to get through the Primary School.

We have now established three parallel primaries in this district; and have so classified them, that pupils now pass through three classes instead of twelve, and are under the tuition of the same teacher during the entire Primary School course.

We have also established parallel divisions in other parts of the town.

This system of parallel divisions which we have adopted, gives us every possible advantage of the graded system, while it serves to reduce the size of the classes, and saves too great frequency in change of teachers.

PROSPECT HILL SCHOOL-HOUSE.

At the town meeting held in April last, it was voted to appropriate $7,000 for enlarging and altering the Prospect Hill School Building. The old house was insufficient in size, and the lower part of the building was divided into two rocms, both of them dark, damp, and defective in means of ventilation.

The building, as it is now arranged, contains six rooms of ample dimensions, each of them well lighted, all of them having windows facing the south, and is the best ventilated school building in town.

It has accommodations for about three hundred and sixty pupils, and is provided with numerous appliances that contribute to the comfort, convenience and health of the teachers and pupils. The cost of the alteration, exclusive of school furniture, is fifteen dollars less than the appropriation.

BELL PRIMARY.

Parents residing in the vicinity of the Dry Clay Brick Yard, petitioned the School Committee last fall for more convenient school accommodations: whereupon at a Town Meeting held in November last, it was voted to authorize the Selectmen under the direction of the School Committee, to sell the lot of land on Cherry Street, occupied by the Bell Primary, and with the proceeds thereof, purchase another lot more conveniently located, and remove the school building thereon.

The vote authorizing the sale was passed with the express understanding that the change of location could be made without expense to the town.

The Committee have not as yet received any offer for the lot sufficient to meet the expenses of the proposed removal, and hence no change of location has been made.

THE FORSTER SCHOOL BUILDING.

This structure was destroyed by fire on the 18th of last February; supposed to be the work of an incendiary. A part of the schools are kept for the present in the Town Hall.

It is highly important that a new building for the Forster School should be erected as early as possible.

Your Committee are of the opinion that a building should be erected that shall be durable, ornamental, and sufficient in size to provide, to some extent, for the anticipated growth of the district.

A building of such a character, built of brick, will probably cost about $25,000; of wood, about $15,000.

PETITION OF S. C. WHITCHER AND OTHERS.

On the petition of S. C. Whitcher and others, a hearing was had at the State House some time in January last, before the Committee on Towns, on the subject of setting off that portion of the town in the immediate vicinity of the Grammar School in North Cambridge, to Cambridge. The principal reason given in support of the petition was the lack of Grammar School accommodations in that part of Somerville in which the petitioners resided.

The Committee have for a long time had under consideration the subject of erecting a Grammar School Building in that locality, but from weighty and imperative causes have refrained from providing those conveniences which ought to be afforded to all the citizens of the town. In consequence of which, many of the residents in that locality sought to avail themselves of the schools in Cambridge. The Selectmen and School Committee and other citizens of the town were present at the hearing, and in reply to the petitioners, stated that the town of Somerville contemplated erecting a Grammar School Building and establishing a school somewhere in the vicinity of Beach Street.

Justice to the residents of that locality and the interests of the town require that some immediate action should be taken in this matter.

In the territory sought to be set off there is taxable property to the value of some $100,000; and there are resident there some of our most esteemed fellow-townsmen; and your Committee would earnestly request the town to take measures to provide them with such school accommodations as they require.

A piece of land, containing about four thousand feet, contiguous to the southeast side of Prescott School-House, is liable to be used for purposes that would greatly injure the schools in that building.

The land is sought by a builder, who wishes to erect upon it a row of cheap tenements, which would obstruct the light and vitiate the air of the rooms situated on that side of the building, greatly to the injury and discomfort of some two hundred and fifty pupils occupying those rooms.

It is earnestly desired that the town would make an appropriation sufficient to purchase the land and enclose it for a play-ground, before it is otherwise disposed of.

The Reports of the several sub-committees are herewith appended.

THE PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

The whole number of pupils belonging to this grade of schools is 983, divided by 14 the number of Primary Schools in town, gives an average number belonging to each of about 70. The daily average attendance is 736, making the average for each about 53. The usefulness of many of these schools is hindered by their size,—the Jackson, Union, Prospect Hill, Brastow, Harvard and Spring Hill Primaries, are all much too large, and the population in these localities is fast increasing, and your Committee are of the opinion that two additional Primaries are needed to relieve these schools, one in the vicinity of the Union, and another somewhere between the Spring Hill and Harvard.

While we do not expect that degree of order and quiet in these schools that we look for in those of a higher grade, we feel that in view of the fact that very many avail themselves only of these schools, and that the rudiments of our course of study are supposed to be learned here, too much care cannot be taken that they are not embarrassed with too great numbers, or any unnecssary hindrances resulting from want of rooms sufficient in size, properly ventilated and suitably furnished.

One year ago the Prospect Hill Primary was kept in a dark, long, narrow room, almost wholly deficient in ventilation, and supplied with chairs crowded close together, without desks, and the school was reported year after year in an unsatisfactory condition—the room itself was cheerless, the scholars noisy and restless. In the enlargement of the building, this school is furnished with a large well ventilated, sun-lit, cheerful room, the pupils are supplied with desks and chairs, situated a generous distance apart, and with the same teacher, and substantially the same pupils, in less than one year, though the number of pupils is not less than formerly, the order of the school is good, and its general appearance in the main highly satisfactory.

The very great improvement which has been brought about in this school as the result of better accommodations, suggests to your Committee the propriety of furnishing other schools as fast as circumstances will warrant, with such material wants as our experience has shown to contribute to their success.

Our recent private examinations of these schools show that spelling has been well taught in almost every instance. We do not expect to find accomplished readers in these schools, and indeed in this particular, our anticipations have not been often exceeded; the most we look for is correctness of pronunciation, distinctness of articulation, though it be labored. The inflection, unless the teacher exercises great diligence, is almost always upward, and the pupils read and recite with a tone that is by no means desirable or melodious. Some teachers have succeeded in breaking up this peculiarity of inflection and tone; yet many become so accustomed to it that they do not observe it, and their pupils acquire a certain school tone that teachers in the higher grades find great difficulty in overcoming. It is expected that in addition to the prescribed course of study in reading, spelling, and arithmetic for these schools, pupils will be instructed in the punctuation marks, Roman numerals, and the abbreviations; yet in scarce any of them were pupils taught in all these essential particulars, while in a few we found no attention was paid to either of them.

> O. S. KNAPP. E. R. MORSE. L. ARNOLD.

SUB-GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

At the annual examination of these schools, it was apparent that salutary discipline has been maintained, and that the pupils generally have made very commendable progress in the various branches in which they have been taught. It would hardly be just to say that all the schools appeared equally well in every particular.

Aside from diversity of talents in pupils, there is something in the size of a school, something in local surroundings, and very much in the home influences to which children are subjected, which often have a very important bearing on the welfare of a school. Teachers have diversities of tastes and manners, gifts of various kinds whose influence on the minds and habits of pupils is often quite marked. Some teachers excel in teaching one branch, and some in teaching some other favorite branch; and some excel in all. In some schools it was apparent that geography, in others that arithmetic had been the favorite study. In some, special attention had been paid, and with very gratifying success, to distinct articulation, clear enunciation. The Committee were particularly gratified with every evidence of special attention having been paid to the development of the vocal organs. In some of the schools of this grade the reading was excellent, the singing delightful.

The Committee expect schools of this grade to give attention to the development of the voice, and to become somewhat versed in the knowledge of punctuation-marks, and also of abbreviations. We are aware that teachers may plead want of time in the larger schools, to attend to minor matters, but these are not minor matters; they are of practical utility and of primary importance.

On the whole, we are prepared to congratulate the town on the pleasant and very gratifying results of the examination of these schools; and we earnestly desire that parents who send their children to them, will contribute all in their power, both by home influence and by visitation, to coöperate with teachers and the Committee in their endeavors to make the Sub-Grammar Schools of Somerville, as they may be made, second to none of similar grade in the Commonwealth.

E. P. DYER.J. L. LOMBARD.C. S. LINCOLN.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

Our Grammar Schools are under the direction of earnest, faithful, competent teachers; and their condition is in a high degree satisfactory.

The instruction given is thorough and accurate.

The order is excellent. In their discipline, mildness and firmness are happily combined.

Harmony and mutual good feeling, so essential to the comfort of both teachers and pupils, and so conducive to prosperity and success, prevail, with rare exceptions.

There is great uniformity in the methods of instruction. The amount studied is substantially the same in each school. Should a pupil be transferred from any class in either school to a similar class in any other school, he would scarcely realize the change.

The habits of order, industry, and punctuality acquired by the discipline of these schools, and the methods and system of instruction, are well adapted to prepare pupils to pursue with profit and advantage the course of study in the High School, the excellence of which must ever largely depend upon the character of the discipline and instruction of the Grammar Schools.

But with all their excellences, they have not yet attained to the desired standard of perfection.

Pupils, from their admission to the Primary Schools to their graduation from the High School, pass through twelve separate classes, — four in preparing for the Grammar School, four in the Grammar School, and four in the High School.

It is desired that the gradation of these several classes should be so easy that pupils may pass from one class to another, and from one department to another, with the same ease that they pass from the lessons of any day to those of the next succeeding day.

This desired result has been attained, with, perhaps, one exception. The experience of former years has shown too large a percentage of graduates from the Grammar Schools who failed to pass the requisite examination for admission to the High School.

Hence we infer the necessity of bringing these two departments of our school system nearer together; — not by reducing the requirements of the High School, but by elevating the character of the Grammar Schools.

A most excellent course of study is prescribed for the High School; but the benefits resulting from its pursuit must depend in a great measure upon the previous training of pupils in the Grammar Schools.

Another consideration, even more important, should influence us to use every effort to improve the Grammar Schools.

The number who avail themselves of the superior advantages of the High School is comparatively small, while the great majority of those who make up the community, complete their school education in the Grammar department.

While we would not neglect the few, we would labor most earnestly to secure the highest good of the greatest number, by using every endeavor to elevate especially that department of our school system which reaches and benefits the largest number of those for whose training we are responsible.

> J. H. DAVIS. BENJ. WOODWARD.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

This school still continues to enjoy the confidence not only of the School Committee, but it is believed of the entire community. The recent examination shows that the interest both of instructors and pupils is unabated, and a more hearty co-operation could not be desired. In the discipline of the school, there is no appearance of rigor on the part of the teachers, and no appearance of a disposition on the part of the members, to render a resort to a rigorous discipline necessary. Indeed, the school appears to be in a condition resulting rather from self control, than coercion; under the present incumbent, for a period of six years, the committee are unable to record a single instance of corporal punishment, or refractory conduct, and their interference has never been required in matters of disipline.

In consequence of the increasing number attending this school, it has been found necessary to provide an additional assistant; the classes entering the last two years being so large, as to require to be made into two divisions. Miss Sarah L. Graves was elected to this position at the commencement of this present school year.

It is evident to the Committee, that the entire school building is much needed, in order to accommodate the growing necessities of the various departments of this school. The teachers have found it difficult to give the classes the full benefit of all the instruction which it ought to afford. Experiments in Chemistry and Natural Philosophy, two branches rapidly increasing in public favor, have, from want of suitable room, been much neglected. This want is yearly increasing. To obviate this, it is proposed to make four rooms of the lower hall, one for recitations and experiments in Chemistry, one for recitations and experiments in Natural Philosophy, and two class-rooms for general recitations.

A Library containing books of reference has long been needed. In this respect our High School is far behind those of other towns, and we might add, behind one at least, of our own Grammar Schools. The Forster School has, by individual subscription, obtained a Library containing a fine selection of books. A resort to voluntary contributions, however, is not felt to be the method desired in the present case. Should the proposition to furnish our High School with a suitable Library meet with general favor, an appropriation will be asked at the April Town meeting.

This change, although involving the necessity of a new Town House, seems to be demanded by the wants and true interest of our pupils. The present recitation-rooms are small, difficult to ventilate, badly arranged, and wholly inadequate to accommodate the large classes entering from year to year. The attention of the citizens of the town is earnestly called to this subject.

The whole number of	pupils	attending	this	school	during	the

These facts alone evince the alacrity with which our pupils have sought to avail themselves of the advantages our school affords and the estimation in which they are held. The recent annual examination was conducted by the entire Board, and each class and pupil was questioned in all the branches pursued during the past year, and each pupil marked on a scale, from ten downward, according to his merit. One halfhour was devoted to each branch. It can hardly be expected that an adequate idea of the progress or proficiency of a school can be acquired, or the true standing or rank of the pupil be ascertained, in so short or summary examination. It would be unjust to teachers and pupils to judge them by so imperfect a test; a better method is the frequent visitation of the school; but the present method having been adopted and followed for several years, our judgments are determined from the same stand-point in each case, and rendered accordingly. At all events, neither pupils nor teacher need, in the present instance, fear any depreciation of their merits.

The rank of the classes was remarkably uniform.

It is not too much to say that the standing of the school compares favorably with that of the previous year. And it is a pleasure to the Board to record that, while our High School is susceptible of still greater improvement, and is capable of still greater usefulness, there are few things of which to complain. The readiness with which our fellow-citizens have responded to the frequent demands upon their liberality, affords the assurance that our schools will attain a still higher excellence.

REPORT OF SELECTMEN.

FELLOW CITIZENS;

Another year has passed away since our last Report, and we are again reminded that we must account to you for the manner in which we have fulfilled the trusts and duties committed to our care; and, as in time past, you may have seen where we could have done better, we can only say we have endeavored to act for the best good of all.

HIGHWAYS.

Under the good management of our present Superintendent, we are happy to say that our roads, streets and sidewalks the past year have shown an improvement, but not as much as we wished and intended, for the reason that the appropriation was not large enough to carry out the improvement your board believe the good of the town requires; but we trust the Town will be liberal in its next appropriation, and vote such sums as may be named as required for the ensuing year.

The stable has been moved, and suitable sheds built for the accommodation of carts, tools, &c., and thereby a long needed want has been supplied. One horse and wagon, four new carts, and four new harnesses have been purchased, and the change from two to one-horse carts is decidedly an improvement, and has saved the expense of two additional horses.

A new Pound has been built on the ground from which the stable was removed, corner of Milk Row and Prospect Streets. These improvements have been paid for, out of the appropriation for highways, also the grading of Walnut Street, all of which has cost $3000, and for these there should have been a separate appropriation, for the reason that the continued high rates of every thing connected with building or repairing of highways, has shown that a larger amount is required, if the Town wish its roads in such order as the judgment of the Board thinks the public good requires. The appropriation has been exceeded, but the excess has been in preparing materials for the coming year, and by so doing have given employ to laborers who were in need.

The petition for the surrender of the Medford Turnpike is again before the County Commissioners; the corporation have appealed to the Legislature to allow them to abandon the road, which, if done, will fall on the towns to take and keep in repair. This will incur a very heavy expense not only to put the road in suitable repair, but to keep it so; and the Board failing to see that it is of any roal benefit to the Town, will use all honorable means to prevent so heavy a burden, but will be willing that it be a county road, and the Town bear a liberal amount of the expenses.

The Board having received notice of a petition to the Legislature by S. C. Whitcher and others, to have a portion of the Town running from a point on Elm St. to a point near the Cambridge Almshouse, set off to Cambridge, appeared before the committee, stating reasons why their prayer should not be granted, and the result was the petitioners had leave to withdraw.

The estimated value of taxable property to be set off was $100.000. The ground of the petitioners was want of school accommodations, a want that has been seen by the Board of School Committee; and now it is for the Town to decide whether they will give the required accommodations, and thereby prevent another petition of like nature from our townsmen before the Legislature.

The old range way now called Walnut Street, has been much improved, at an expense of $1300, and we think by it a source of more income to the Town by increase in taxable property.

The improvement in sidewalks we trust will continue to be carried on until no one will have reason to complain.

The Town Farm is under cultivation, and will, we think, show good results.

THE STREET LAMPS

Now number 113, and although the expense of lighting the streets appears heavy, the lights cannot well be dispensed with. We think the lamps have been well managed, and the Board have heard but few complaints.

CEMETRY.

The Board have in view two lots of ground, one of which we think will be purchased this spring.

CHARLESTOWN WATER WORKS.

Since our last report there have been laid many feet of pipe for distribution of the water; but we are sorry to see the Corporation lay so small as four inch pipe, which in the opinion of the Board are too small, for in case of fire they do not yield a sufficient supply; and if they cannot be induced in future to lay larger pipe, in our opinion it would be good economy for the Town to pay the difference between four and six, or six and eight inch pipe. The water is of great value to some portions of the Town in case of fire, but it has been clearly proved that four inch pipes are not large enough, and called for the above suggestions.

HORSE RAIL ROADS.

The location for rail on Broadway, Franklin and Pearl to Cross Street, granted and accepted, has not been built, and it does not now appear that it will be.

The horse railroads on the sides of our streets, especially Washington and Milk Streets, are a source of much trouble, and will be until removed to the centre of the street; and we trust the Town will take measures to accomplish this desirable object.

POLICE.

The Police department the past year we think have given very good satisfaction; and by the annexed Report from them, it will be seen that they have endeavored to be faithful in the discharge of their duties.

In their Report they recommend a night watch for a part of the year; your Board will here add that it is their opinion the time has come for the Town to appoint a regular night watch, numbering at least four.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen of Somerville.

The officers of the Somerville Police Department, submit the following Report of their business from March 1st, 1865 to Feb. 26th, 1866:

Probably the number of arrests without warrants would amount to as many more.

In the course of the year past a large number have been taken in custody for examination by officers, and have not been confined.

Criminals of all classes have been unusually active this year. The officers of this Town have been upon duty night after night, for weeks together, and some of them night and day also, for many days in succession.

Such a demand for their services by citizens from all parts of the Town, seemed to require something more than the usual concert of action. Accordingly on the 19th of June, the officers held a meeting at the Police Court Room, and organized by choice of a Chairman and Secretary, and appointing a regular night of meeting; since which time the weekly meetings have been well attended, and much valuable information imparted at these consultations, that could be obtained in no other way.

The intercourse of the department has been marked throughout the year with the best of feeling; the utmost harmony has prevailed, and there has been a constant desire to assist one another in the discharge of their duties, and promote the best interests of the Town. And in this they have been ably assisted and encouraged by the Board of Selectmen.

The Department would recommend the stationing of a night-watch in certain parts of the Town, through portions of the year; also a few regular day officers.

Respectfully submitted,

JAIRUS MANN, Sec. Som. Police Dept.

MILITARY.

There is a military organization in Town numbering fifty-five members; but the sounds of war are no longer heard among us, and although we are suffering from its results, we have great reason to be thankful to the giver of all good, that with the return of peace we are enjoying such prosperity, and can lend a helping hand to our erring brothers, and cause them to take a higher stand in National affairs than they could have done with the dead weight that has kept them down so many years.

It is pleasing to know that the soldiers from our Town have done good service, and those returned are pursuing honorable employments.

There has been distributed in wood, coal, groceries and cash from the relief fund $1338 82; it has relieved much suffering and gladdened the hearts of many; and this we must continue to do, while such deserving objects demand not only our sympathy but assistance.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Our Town is so divided, and with the many warnings we have had, and so many times been clearly demonstrated the need of a larger Fire Department, it will be very unwise to longer delay the purchase of two engines; and as the stage-coach has made way for the locomotive, so the day for hand engines has passed away, and they must give room for steam fire engines, which, if we have, will be able to (if needed) return some of the many obligations we owe our neighbors for assistance in time of need.

And we here refer you to the Report of the Engineers.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:

Gentlemen,—In compliance with your request, I submit the following report:—

Since the last report there have been seventeen fires, the most of which were small, and with one or two exceptions have been covered by Insurance.

On the 8th of Jan. last, the Perkins St. Baptist Church was burned. Feb. 18th, the Foster School-house was destroyed; these being the largest fires we have had. There have been quite a number of fires by incendiaries the past year. I would recommend that a liberal reward be offered for their detection. April meeting, the Town voted to procure a Hose Carriage and Hose to be located in the easterly part of the Town. riage has been procured with 1200 feet of Hose. The Carriage was built by Mr Hartshorne, of New York. A house has been built for the Carriage, but owing to the high price of material the appropriations have been exceeded; all of which has been done in good faith, and I trust will meet with the approbation of the citizens. A better supply of water is needed in this Town, without which, we are liable at any time to have very destructive fires. Since the last report there has been one reservoir built on Spring Hill, and there should be a further supply furnished in that localOn Highland Avenue, Medford St., the north side of Prospect Hill, and on Washington St, on the south side; there is none to be had in either of these places. On Marshall St. there is a very poor supply; the buildings being of wood, and in many cases close together. Should a fire break out in any of these places, there is no means of stopping it, and the Board would recommend the citizens to give it their earliest attention, before it is too late. In East Somerville there have been six hydrants attached to the pipes of the Charlestown Water Works the past year, and there should be more placed on Cutter, Webster and Pearl Sts; these are some of the worst places in town for fires; though there are many places where a better supply is needed.

I would recommend placing gates on Miller's Creek, near the Methodist Church, also on Prospect St., the Town having a large amount of property in this locality. I would suggest that a better means of giving an alarm be furnished on Winter Hill and East Somerville, thereby preventing a great delay in case of fire in those localities.

There has been a Company organized to take charge of the Hose Carriage, and it has proved a great addition to the Department.

The Department now consists of one hand Engine with a company of thirty members. One four-wheeled Hose Carriage, with a company of twenty members. One Hook and Ladder Carrage drawn by a horse.

There is now in the use of the Department.

1.400 feet of good Hose, 300 " " fair " 300 " " poor

Owing to the great distance that Water has to be forced, there should be an addition of one or more Steamers to the Department, with a good supply of Hose for the same.

Hoping these suggestions will meet the approval of the Citizens, they are respectfully submitted.

In behalf of the Board of Engineers,

D. A. SANBORN, Chief.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The past year the Board have had but few complaints, and we think good attention has been given to sanitary measures for health; but we are admonished to look at every part of our Town this year, and see that nothing is left undone that can be done to prevent disease, and we sincerely hope that every one will see that their own premises are cleared from everything that may tend to it; and with the warning we have had, it behooves every one to be a vigilance committee to do all they can to ward off that fell destroyer cholera, that spares neither age nor sex; then if it sweeps over our land, we will have no reason to look back and complain, but will look upon it as a visitation of Divine Providence, and bow with submission under the affliction.

And now fellow-citizens, we feel that we have done our duty; but in closing our Report allow us to say we are more peaceful, prosperous and happy than we had reason to expect, so soon after a rebellion that devastated so great a portion of our country, and carried sorrow to so many homes; but thanks to our heavenly Father, the war is ended, and the firm foundation of freedom has been laid, on which the great monument is to be built; and although at times passions may rule the hour. and the workmen disagree, nevertheless the work will go on to completion, and all nations will look with wonder and awe upon the monument (whose topmost stone is a free school,) and in all after time will commemorate the memory of the noble souls that conceived and laid the foundation for such a noble structure, from whose summit will float our glorious old flag, which will be loved and feared more than ever by the whole world.

JOHN R. POOR, NELSON HOWE, GEO. W. HADLEY, LEVI TIMSON, FRANCIS HOUGHTON,

Selectmen of Somerville.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

By vote of the Town, February 25th, 1865, the Treasurer was authorized to borrow (for military purposes) \$14,400, with instructions, if possible, to obtain it for a long term; if not, to borrow for a short time at the best rates, with power to renew notes as required. He has found it impossible to borrow the amount for a long time, at such rates of interest as he thought would be satisfactory, and therefore obtained the money on demand at the current rate of interest, $7\frac{3}{10}$. When the taxes came in, \$4,000 of the above-named amount was paid, together with \$6,000, the demand note included in last year's report; as also all amounts borrowed in anticipation of taxes up to the last of September, 1865.

It will be seen that the Town debt is increased $11,500, but as there remains about $10,000 taxes of 1865 not yet collected, the debt may be assumed to remain nearly the same as in the previous report.

The Treasurer will require instructions in regard to the $10,000 unpaid as above, and also in regard to note of $5,500 due the "Warren Institution for Savings," on the 16th of March, 1866; also on note of $2,500 due Henry Partridge on the 5th of May, 1866.

The small amount in the Treasury at the close of the year will soon be absorbed by the current expenses; and as the wants of the various departments the coming year will undoubtedly be large, and many of them required before our taxes will come in, the Treasurer will be obliged to borrow in anticipation, and will require a vote to that effect; he therefore hopes that some of our many tax-payers of large financial abilities will attend the Town meeting, and give the citizens the benefit of their voice in suggestions to meet the wants of the Town. It is to be hoped that our citizens generally will be prompt in the payment of taxes, as it is of individual interest to each.

The payment of State aid, under orders of Selectmen, has been attended to, and has involved a large degree of labor. The amount necessary to meet payment has gradually decreased since the close of the war. On the first of April, 1865, it required about $1,200 per month; the amount to-day is $165, this is under the laws as they now stand. There is a bill before the Legislature to continue aid to widows, mothers, orphans and disabled men for three years. It will without doubt be passed, as, if Republics are ungrateful, Massachusetts is not, and she will take care of her pensioners.

A few statistics in regard to the payment of aid in this Town may interest some of our citizens. Since May, 1861, there has been distributed to 315 different families, $56,856.46, at an average of $180.50 to each; and has been paid in 8,610 payments, averaging $6.61. 1,107 of these payments have been made by letter through the office, and receipts returned, without the loss of a dollar to the Town or parties. The State Treasurer has paid to the Town, for the year, 1861, $1,964 72

Amount paid by Town,	56,856	46

Balance, $119 74

This amount, with some allowance in the final settlement, will pass to Relief Account. Under the old law we have now twenty applicants; the new law will increase the number to about fifty, requiring three to five hundred dollars per month, which must be provided for by the Town.

By the annexed accounts it will be seen that several of the departments have exceeded the appropriations. This can be largely accounted for by the continued high prices of all articles, and consequent high rates of labor. The note of $5,500, alluded to above, due March 16th, the Treasurer will pay at maturity, and ask at the Town meeting for further instructions in regard to the same. The whole amount received by the Treasurer, from various sources, during the year, is $171,338.23; whole amount paid, $164,534.01, showing a balance in the Treasury, at date, of $6,804.22.

The above remarks, with annexed accounts, are respectfully submitted, with the hope that they will meet the approval of the citizens.

THOMAS CUNNINGHAM,

Treasurer.

OVERSEERS OF POOR.

It has not been the practice in this town for the Overseers of Poor to make any public statement of their doings. Although a brief statement at this time may be considered an innovation, the facts presented be found worthy of perusal, and serve as an imperfect guide to the town in its future distribution of its charities.

The number who have applied for, and received assistance; during the year, appears to be 104, representing families of an aggregate of three hundred and forty-three persons (343). Of this number the Nationalities appear as follows:

Americans,			•	•	•	. '	١.١		•	19
England and	l Pro	ovino	es,					"		21
Scotland,				•	•	-				5
Ireland,	• 0		•							298

Some ten of those assisted have settlements in towns or cities of this Commonwealth, which places are chargable with the expenses we have incurred in behalf of these persons. And there will be found about an equal number who have a legal settlement in this town, who have been aided by towns or cities where they are now residing. The aid rendered in such cases is generally temporary and of small amount.

During the year twenty-two persons have been sent to the State Alms House at Tewksbury.

There is one family which had been aided by a neighboring town to the amount of nearly two hundred dollars, the settlement of which was either in Somerville or Charlestown, and the evidence relating thereto being extremly complex, in consequence of a long lapse of time, that it was deemed best to compromise the payment of this bill, as there seems to be a fair prospect that no further aid by this family will be needed or required. In doing this, it was expressly stipulated that this arrangement should not be considered as admitting a legal settlement of this family in Somerville.

It is highly probable that of the whole number of persons aided, not twenty of them have a legal settlement in this town. The mass of them being aliens, for whom State Alms Houses are provided, and to which we might have sent this class of persons calling for aid, but in most cases we find a widow with children, struggling hard to support her family, and who may, as her children grow up, be able to obtain a comfortable subsistence without the aid of any charity. We think the citizens of Somerville would be very reluctant to send such families to Tewksbury, where final separation might be the result, especially where industry, sobriety and frugality were practiced at home.

There are, however, serious abuses growing out of the practice of the town regularly furnishing fuel and some groceries to indigent families. Many who might and who should take care of themselves the year round, calculate, as a matter of course, to make no adequate provisions for their own necessities during the winter, but spend their earnings injudiciously in the summer, and then quarter themselves upon the town in the winter, determined in one thing, to get the last dollar from the town that will be granted them. When such a spirit becomes chronic, we think Tewksbury to be the best and only remedy.

There are various causes which have appeared to produce so much destitution. Husbands and fathers have fallen in battle or famished in Southern prisons. Intemperance has destroyed health, and even life, or has separated and estranged families that otherwise might have been united and happy.

The State Aid has been discontinued, and fuel, the principal item furnished by the town to the needy, has been extremely expensive, but still the expenditures of our Board will be within the sum oppropriated by the town for the support of the poor, and we have endeavored to relieve cases coming under our notice in a manner which our consciences and judgment would commend.

There are two insane paupers being supported at the Vt. Asylum at Brattleboro,'—one at $100 per annum, the other at a cost of $2.50 per week. These are the only cases that threaten to be permanently of much expense to the town at present.

The "Poor Debt" thus far has not been burdensome upon the town, and we do not consider it at all probable that its policy in this matter will be at present materially changed. With fair reductions of the prices of the necessaries of life, we feel confident that the expenses of this department may and will be materially reduced.

REPORTS

OF THE

School Committee, Selectmen, Treasurer,

AND

COLLECTOR OF TAXES

OF THE

TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

For the Year ending March 1, 1867.

BOSTON:

A. B. MORSS, PRINTER, 109 WASHINGTON STREET. 1867.

REPORT

OF THE

OF THE

TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

FOR THE SCHOOL YEAR 1866-7.

The School Committee herewith respectfully present their Annual Report.

Rev. Charles Lowe, who was elected a member of our Board, at the annual meeting of last March, resigned shortly after, and Dr. W. K. Fletcher was chosen by a joint vote of the Selectmen and School Committee to fill the vacancy occasioned by his resignation.

The town will have occasion to elect, at the March meeting of this year, four members of the Board to fill the places of Messrs. Knapp, Arnold, Hughes and Fletcher, whose term of service expires with the present fiscal year.

The Committee are happy to congratulate their fellow-townsmen, that our schools still continue to enjoy their usual prosperity. Substantially the same plan and system of discipline and instruction has been advised by the Board that has characterized its administration for the past three or four years.

We are still opposed to large schools; to large classes; to the ordinary system of classification and promotion: we are in favor of employing good teachers; of retaining those we have, if reasonably successful; of selecting our own High School graduates for teachers, other things being equal; of individual promotions; of parallel divisions, and of a judicious expenditure of the money at our disposal. We hope for continued improvement in our schools; we study to promote their highest interests. We believe they will average as well as any in the State: we are pleased if we merit the approval of our constituency.

The constantly increasing wants of our schools, growing out of our increased population, have added much to the duties and responsibilities of the Board.

There are now thirty-seven teachers employed in town; two new schools have been opened the past year.

Each school is visited by the Superintendent once a month; each has a private examination near the close of the winter term, and each has a public exhibition during the month of July. At each of these examinations and exhibitions the Superintendent is expected to be present; he is a member of each of the sub-committees, acts as clerk of the Board, approves all bills, keeps the accounts, is the financial committee, supplies the schools with all their material wants, conducts the correspondence of the Board, and under the direction of the Committee has the general supervision of all the schools in town. It can well be understood that to perform these duties faithfully, the time of the Superintendent must be nearly all employed. For this service he has received the past year the sum of $500. Your Committee would suggest the propriety of tendering him for his services the coming year a salary very largely increased. By thus visiting the schools, and devoting so large a share of his time in and for them, he gains a familiarity with their defects, their excellences and their wants that no other member of the Board can; he becomes acquainted with the methods of our best teachers, communicates them to others less experienced, is enabled to comprehend the cause of failure in some, and to offer valuable suggestions; he can see that the system of instruction is uniform, and that the best plans of the best instructors are made serviceable in all our schools.

The salaries of teachers for the year are as follows, viz:

Principal of High School				•	$2000
First Assistant of High School .	•	•			650
Second Assistant of High School					500
Principals of Grammar Schools		•			1400
Female Teachers for the first year		•		•	400
Female Teachers after the first year					475
Teacher of Music		•	•		300

Sub-committees have examined the several grades of schools and made written reports, which are herewith added as a part of this Report.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

At the recent private examinations of this grade of schools it was very evident, - in a majority of them at least, - that good order prevailed, and that thorough instructions had been given. The principal branches taught in these schools are reading, spelling and arithmetic, though other things are expected to be taught, such as punctuation marks, Roman and Arabic numerals, In some of the schools these branches and the abbreviations. seem to have been admirably taught; each pupil gave correct pronunciation, clear enunciation, distinct articulation and proper inflection, and both teacher and pupils manifested that degree of energy and interest that are truly essential to success in our Primary Schools; while in others there appeared to be a deficiency in discipline, tact and critical instruction. The teacher was apparently indifferent, and showed a want of true and genuine love for the work in which she is engaged, and a similar spirit of indifference and inattention seemed to pervade the whole school. As is the teacher, so are her pupils An energetic, interested, live teacher will always exhibit a school full of enthusiasm and life. There is still room for improvement in some of our Primary Schools. The idea, which is quite too prevalent, even at the present day, that any young lady is qualified to teach a school of this grade is as erroneous as it is ancient. If mental and moral culture, faculty of governing others and imparting knowledge, love of children, social capacity, tact, energy and experience are essential qualifications to fit a person for any grade of school, the teacher of a Primary School assuredly ought to possess them all. How eminently important it is that the young child should be correctly taught in the rudiments of science. There should be great allowance made in regard to the appearance of some of the schools, on account of their size. A lady having under her charge from seventy-five to eighty pupils, with no assistant, could not reasonably be expected to accomplish so much as she could with only fifty. It is the opinion of those best informed in matters pertaining to schools, that no teacher should have the special charge of more than Nearly all of the Primary Schools in town are fifty pupils. quite too large, for want of suitable accommodations; and we cannot expect so good results from them, while in this overcrowded condition. The Jackson Primaries have all of them been much larger than they should be, and your Committee have already organized another Primary School in that vicinity; also, another school has been established at Spring Hill to relieve the Harvard and Spring Hill Primaries, and yet more and better accommodations are really needed in some of these The Jackson, Harvard and Spring Hill Primaries schools. would all be much improved, could desks be furnished for them. The Union School has been supplied with desks during the past year, which add much to the comfort of the pupils and appearance of the school. Proper accommodations for, and attention to, this grade of schools will greatly improve the advantages of

by far the greater class of our pupils, many of whom do not attend school long enough to receive the benefits derived from the higher grade.

W. K. FLETCHER. S. A. CARLTON. JOHN A. HUGHES.

SUB-GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

These schools are intermediate, between the Primary and Grammar. They are eight in number. The greatest number attending any one of them is at the Jackson, 55; the least number is at the Forster, 32. The whole number attending them all is about 420, giving an average for each of about 50. They are all under the instruction of experienced and competent teachers. Although reading is well taught in most of them, yet the Committee would be pleased to find in two or three of them more attention paid to the vocal drill. All those exercises that develop voice, that cure unpleasant tones, that cultivate smoothness of utterance and distinctness of articulation, should be daily practised in this grade of schools. Spelling, arithmetic and geography are generally as well taught as can reasonably be expected. All that relates to a pupil's voice, his style of speech, is of first importance, and that branch of study and those exercises that shape these should receive especial consideration. Hence any and every indication that a teacher understands how to instruct her pupils in reading is gratifying evidence that she is at least so far fitted for her work.

S. C. WHITCHER,

Committee.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

These schools have been, in the main, under the discipline and instruction of tried and approved teachers. The excellence of that discipline is evinced by the deportment of the pupils, and the good order prevalent in the schools; and the fidelity of teachers in imparting wholesome instruction is attested by the very commendable progress made by their respective classes in the various branches to which their attention has been directed.

Some pupils have more comprehensive minds, quicker intellects, larger capacities for acquiring knowledge, and some have an earlier development of their faculties, than some others. Hence some members of a class appear much better on examination than some others, though the latter may have been even more industrious in their studies than the former. Hence, too, some classes are more brilliant than others. Some schools afford much better material for accomplished scholarship than some others. In the visitation of schools all these diversities are observable, and have their influence on the minds of visitors, and must be taken into account in the reports of committees.

At the late annual examination, in the minutes of the recitations of the respective classes examined, the marks made by the examiners give these schools a rank deservedly high. Though there is still room for progress, yet, in the judgment of the committee, these schools are, on the whole, all that the town could reasonably expect of schools of this grade.

In the department of grammar, the Committee observed with great pleasure a marked advance. They anticipate a still higher advance in the year to come. This department seems to have been in former years too much overlooked and neglected.

The man of business becomes familiar with the science of numbers, or at least with their practical use, from bringing his arithmetic into daily exercise. But how often do those who, through success in business, have attained to a high social position, or to public office and honor, on taking the pen or the platform, vainly regret their want of familiarity with the grammar of their native tongue. It is therefore very gratifying to know, that this interesting and very important branch of a common school education is receiving a larger share of time and attention in these schools than formerly.

E. PORTER DYER,O. S. KNAPP,J. H. DAVIS,Committee.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

This school continues to merit and enjoy in a high degree the confidence of the School Committee, and is gradually growing in public favor.

It is highly gratifying to witness the increasing desire of the pupils of the Grammar Schools to enjoy its excellent privileges.

In September 1859, it contained forty-three pupils in three classes. The course of study extended over three years. The first class was studying the Latin Reader. No pupils had ever been prepared for college. The attendance was very irregular. There was no graduation of pupils completing the course.

In 1860 a four years' course of study was established, which has been modified from time to time as the wants of the school seemed to require. In seven years, the number of pupils has increased one hundred and twenty-one per cent, and is now larger in proportion to the population of the town than in most High Schools in the State. The number who complete the course, though not as large as is desirable, is larger in proportion to the number entering than in most High Schools in the vicinity of Boston.

Since 1862, diplomas have been awarded to forty-two graduates, of whom five are students in college, two in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and ten have engaged in teaching.

The order of the school is excellent, approaching nearly to perfection, and yet no case of discipline has occurred during the seven years it has been under the direction of the present principal.

The following studies are prescribed for the regular course:

FIRST YEAR.

First Term — Algebra, Book-keeping, Latin, History, Reading.

SECOND YEAR.

First Term — Geometry, Natural Philosophy, Latin, Rhetoric. Second Term — Geometry, Chemistry, Latin, Rhetoric.

THIRD YEAR.

Second Term — Surveying, Chemistry, Latin, English Literature, French.

FOURTH YEAR.

First Term — Astronomy, Physical Geography, English Classics, French, History.

Second Term — Arithmetic, Botany, Intellectual Philosophy, French, History.

Vocal Music, Composition and Declamation throughout the course.

About one-fourth of the time is devoted to Latin and French, one-fourth to Mathematics, one-fourth to the Natural Sciences, and one-fourth to English Literature and Ethics.

During the year, forty-seven specimens of minerals from the Pacific Coast, the gift of Mr. S. C. Bradshaw, of California, have been added to the cabinet.

We hope soon to see the school supplied with a suitable library for reference, containing standard works upon the various branches pursued by the pupils.

For several years, the school has suffered great inconvenience from the lack of recitation rooms sufficiently large to receive the increasing classes.

When the contemplated alterations on the lower floor of the school building are completed, and for which an appropriation has already been made, teachers and pupils can work to much better advantage. These alterations will be made as soon as the Forster School is removed to the new building on Winter Hill.

From year to year the pupils, by voluntary contributions, amounting in all to some $200, have procured engravings and statuary for the decoration of their school-room. These exert a favorable influence upon the taste and morals of the school. Emulating their example, the Committee will soon take measures to render the immediate surroundings of the school building more attractive.

Committee.

FORSTER SCHOOL.

At the annual meeting held in March last, Messrs. John R. Poor, Austin Belknap, Charles S. Lincoln, John C. Tenny, E. E. Cole and S. A. Carlton were elected a Building Committee, with full powers to provide for the erection of a suitable school building in this district. Fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) was appropriated for the erection of a wooden building to contain six rooms, and $2,000 for furnishing it.

At a subsequent meeting in April, $1,000 was appropriated to purchase additional land. At this meeting, members of the Building Committee stated, that a brick building of eight rooms could be erected for $20,000, whereupon an additional appropriation of $5,000 was voted, provided such a house could be contracted for with responsible parties for a sum not exceeding $20,000; otherwise this vote was to be of no effect or validity.

At a meeting held the following June, the Building Committee reported that they were unable to make a contract on such favorable terms as they had expected, and asked the town to remove the restrictions imposed on them at the April meeting, and to appropriate $5,000 additional. The town, with its accustomed magnanimity, granted their requests.

In November, the town voted to finish off the upper story of the building then in process of erection for a Town Hall, and at the February meeting $2,600 was appropriated for that purpose. It was also voted to appropriate $1,000 for furnishing the hall and for the purchase of a bell; making the appropriations stand as follows:

""" 2,000 for furnishing.

April 30, " 1,000 for land.

""" 5,000 additional for brick building instead of wood.

Feb. 13, 1867, 2,600 for finishing hall.

""" 1,000 for furnishing hall and for bell.

Total thus far, $31,600

It is expected this building will be ready for occupancy about the first of April next. When completed, it will furnish accommodations for the present and anticipated wants of the district.

The entries, clothes closets and school-rooms are ample in their proportions, and are provided with modern improvements. The hall is designed for the use of the school, also for town meetings; the bell, for the school and for an alarm bell. The size and style of the building attest, in unmistakable terms, the liberality of the town in its expenditures for school purposes, and the cost at which it has been erected reflects great credit on the financial ability of the building committee. The school is still kept in the High School Building.

PRESCOTT SCHOOL.

The Prescott School-House was destroyed by fire on the 31st of December last. The building was insured for $15,000.

The loss being regarded but partial, we recovered of the Insurance Companies only $11,625. The schools have been provided with accomodations, while a new school building is being erected, in the vestries of the Baptist and Orthodox churches. At the recent town meeting, held in February, $20,000, in addition to insurance money, was appropriated for the erection of a new building.

A Building Committee, consisting of Messrs. Hughes, Davis, Carlton, Morse, Arnold and Knapp, of which Mr. Hughes is Chairman, have been appointed to contract for and superintend its construction.

Plans and specifications are now being prepared, and it is hoped to present a building ready for occupancy, some time in the fall. It was also voted, at the February meeting, to heat the Prescott and Forster School buildings by steam.

LINCOLN SCHOOL.

The Lincoln School is located on Elm Street. It has been built during the past year, at a cost of about $10,000, including land. It is at present divided into two departments, a Grammar and a Primary.

The Lincoln district comprises all that part of the town on and north of Cedar and Morseland Streets, also that part of the town known as the Patch. It was designed to take the place of the Walnut Hill, and the Bell Primary Schools; but, since its erection, a petition, signed by Jesse Simpson and others, has been received by the Board, requesting the Committee to continue the Walnut Hill School. We have decided to grant their request, provided a sufficient number of pupils attend the school to warrant its continuance. For teachers, we have employed Mr. H. P. Makecknie for the Grammar department, and Miss Mary E. Adams for the Primary, both of whom have had a highly successful experience as instructors.

JACKSON SCHOOL.

The number of pupils in this district has increased so largely the past year, that the Committee found it necessary to establish another school for its relief. A room has been rented in a building in the immediate vicinity, and another Primary School opened, with Miss Susan Rafferty as teacher.

A new school building will be needed in this locality soon.

O. S. KNAPP, Chairman.

REPORT

OF THE

SELECTMEN OF THE TOWN OF SOMERVILLE.

Fellow Citizens,—

Since our last Report another year has passed away and we are again reminded that we must account to you of the doings of the financial year just passed; and we will here say that our

are in better condition than last year, although the heavy rain has at times done much damage, and been a reason for some to complain of our Superintendent. We believe he has at all times endeavored to please and distribute the money as equally as possible.

The past year more money than usual has been expended on the cross streets. The two main avenues are not in such condition as the public have a reasonable right to expect; and although a large amount of money is yearly expended, Milk Street, in our opinion, will never be satisfactory until the Railroad is placed in the centre of the street and a suitable drain laid.

In years past, when labor and material were much less, there was not that foresight in regard to the roads and sidewalks that experience has shown the good of the town required, and we are now doing what should have been done years ago; no doubt it appeared at the time a matter of economy to expend the least possible amount on the highways, but time has shown that we are now paying dearly for the mistakes of the past.

There is not a town that has more natural attractions than ours, and none that has grown faster; but is the growth a healthy one? — we think not, — at least it is not an increase that will lessen taxes; on the other hand the want of improvements in the right direction has kept capitalists away, and athough we have a good class of people, a large majority of them are not able to expend much for improvement, and while they pay a small tax, they in turn tax the town largely to educate their children. This is one of the advantages of a republican form of government that the rich help to educate the poor, and feel it a privilege to do so.

Now, if the streets and sidewalks are put in order, that will make them attractive to strangers, and a due regard by the citizens in doing what they can by planting trees along the streets and seeing that the fences have a respectable appearance, it will do much toward the change so much desired.

It is advocated by many that the Railroad in our town prevents the improvements of the highways; in many respects this is true; and the Horse Railroads, located on the sides of the roads, especially Milk Street, have become a nuisance that should claim the attention of the town, and some steps taken that will cause them

ment of the Steam Roads through our town are a source of great annoyance, and cause the Board much trouble, and the time has arrived when the Railroad Corporations should be made to understand that our rights are no longer to be disregarded. By this we mean the long and disgraceful neglect to keep in suitable repair the bridges, crossings and drains. Some of us have been four years trying to have the evil remedied, and so far no real satisfaction has been had; and now, in many places, the town is liable to heavy damages, solely from their neglect; and we trust the next Board will have such instructions from the town that they may, if need be, apply to the legislature for redress.

The system of drainage is very deficient, and the town is called upon to take steps for immediate improvement, not only for convenience, but sanitary measures.

MEDFORD TURNPIKE.

The Board having been informed that the County Commissioners would lay out said turnpike as a county way, we, believing the town did not require it, and, if not already a highway (but made by a corporation for their own private benefit), there could be no evidence to show the Commissioners a good reason why such a road should be built; consequently they would not build or cause it to be built. On that part of the road from Charlestown line to the Toll House were a number of houses and room for more, and that portion the town was willing to accept, but could not without assuming the whole road; and believing it unjust and against the wishes of a large majority of the town, we applied to the Legislature for a statute, that would allow the Commissioners to make their building of the turnpike a county expense, and also, if the Commissioners final award appeared unjust and oppressive, the town should have the right to appeal to the Supreme Court for a rehearing; and, if we could show just cause, the Court should appoint three special commissioners living out of the county, to rehear the case, and their award to be final.

In all this we failed, and the same is yet in the hands of the Commissioners; and the Board are sorry to say that their efforts to protect the interest of the town was not seconded in the Legislature, by some of the members of whom we had a right to expect assistance; and consequently there will be an increase in taxes for highways which we deem unjust.

In some sections of the town there is a want for material to repair highways, and we trust the town will not delay too long in providing the same.

There have been some of the fences removed to the lines established by vote of the town, and ratified by County Commissioners; and we trust the improvements will be completed the coming year. On some of the streets, the trees branch too low, and the Board request the abutters to see that they are properly trimmed; if not, the town must attend to it.

There have been some claims for damages, and all has been settled with small expense to the town.

The town farm has been much improved the past year, and we think will now be a source of income.

STREET LAMPS

Now number one hundred and twenty, and, although some complain, we think they are very well managed; they are extended over much territory, and it is impossible to light all at the same time, but it has been the aim of the Board to have them so lighted and cared for, that all would be satisfied; and, so far as we know, there have been but few complaints.

CEMETERY.

The Board not having been able to agree on any location in town, recommend the purchase of a lot in an adjoining town if permit can be had to do so.

CHARLESTOWN WATER.

We have nothing of importance to add to our last Report except to impress upon all, the importance of laying larger mains, for we have, in case of fire, so often seen the need of a larger supply of water than is possible to have from four inch pipes, as it will not supply one steamer; and we trust the town in future will not allow less than six-inch in short streets, and in all others eight-inch pipe.

HORSE RAILROAD.

We have nothing to report since our last.

POLICE.

We think the department has given very general satisfaction, and we herewith present their Report; and we again recommend a night-watch, as we think the interests of the town require it.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen of Somerville:

The officers of the Police Department submit the following Report for the year ending March 1, 1867:

The criminal business of the last year has not been as large as formerly, but the result of our work will be, to the citizens at least, full as acceptable. We flatter ourselves that the incendiaries, who were so industrious upon our borders with Cambridge, are now receiving their well-merited punishment in prison.

Those bold and daring house-breakers and burglars have been disposed of: one by a violent death at the hands of the State Constables, at Chelsea, and others by long sentences to State prison.

Among the officers, nothing has occurred to disturb the harmony which has prevailed the past two years. In the discharge of their duties, each has been assisted and encouraged by the others, in accordance with their oath of office, and their earnest desire to add to the welfare of the town.

There have been complaints to the officers of a nuisance existing, which is a growing evil, viz: swill boys. This is something beyond the control of the police at present, but it is hoped your Honorable Board will look into the matter, and cause such provision to be made as shall meet the case. The complaints are often and loud, being for petty-thieving, impudence, and insulting conduct and language, and are a great annoyance.

We would also call your attention to the great number of truants about the streets, of which no notice can be taken by the Department until further action by your Honorable Board.

The Department are of the opinion that a regular night watch is greatly needed; and that one day officer in each division of the town would add greatly to the security of the inhabitants, and be a positive advantage in many ways.

The State Constables have made several seizures and complaints, and we have cause to believe that much good has been done by them in our town, as there are but a very few places where liquor can be obtained openly.

Respectfully submitted.

JAIRUS MANN,

Sec. Som. Police Dept.

MILITARY.

The experience of the last six years has given our people enough of military tactics and discipline; and, although we have a good company, it requires something more than a holiday dress parade for them to show true patriotism.

Our quota for the calls for the army was about 1,400; and, under the new law, less than $9,000 has been paid by our town for State aid, while Newburyport, whose quota was 1,500, has paid $32,000. This will show to the State they have no cause to complain. A large proportion of the money paid by us has been to soldiers that have moved into our town since the war. We are as much obligated to care for them as our own; but it is creditable to our citizens that so many have been able to care for themselves.

We find some cases that are not reached by State aid, and do not properly come under the care of the Overseers of the Poor, and we are in duty bound to care for them; and as the relief appropriation for aid to such cases has been expended, we advise a small amount—say, not exceeding $500—be placed in the hands of the Selectmen, to be used as in their judgment is needed.

The amount paid for State aid will be shown in the Treasurer's Report.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

At the meeting, in April, an appropriation of $10,-000 was made, to provide a steam fire-engine and the needed apparatus. The Board, with the Engineers, were appointed a committee to procure the same, and here report that we have attended to that duty, and purchased of Mr. Hunneman a steamer, hose carriage, hose, etc.; horses, harnesses, etc., of others, as is shown by the Treasurer in his report.

The steamer has given perfect satisfaction, and we believe it equal to, if not the best steam fire-engine ever built.

We have now, with the assistance our neighbors are always so ready and willing to lend, all the apparatus we really need.

We have seen many mistakes the past year in the management of our fire department, and we trust a change for the better in future will be made.

ENGINEER'S REPORT.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen.

Gentlemen, — Agreeable to your request, I herewith submit the following Report:—

Since our last Report there have been seventeen fires, and twentynine alarms; ten of which were caused by fires in Cambridge, eight from fires in Charlestown, one in Boston, one in Roxbury, one in Winchester, and eight false alarms.

The Department have rendered assistance in Charlestown six times; in Cambridge, once; and have received assistance three times from out of town.

At the April Town Meeting, the Town voted to procure a steam engine, and a Committee were appointed, consisting of the Selectmen and the Engineers, to procure the same; and, after examining the working of several different engines, purchased one of Messrs. Hunneman & Co.

The steam engine was placed in the department, May 26, and has not been out of service but two hours since that time.

Owing to the change from hand to steam, the Company has been reduced from forty-five men to twelve men. The Company now consists of an engineer and driver, who are permanently employed; an assistant engineer, who acts as fireman; a foreman of hose; and eight hosemen, one of whom acts as clerk.

HOSE COMPANY.

In July last, the Board received a communication from the Liberty Hose Company, that they had disbanded; and, at the same time, a communication that another Company was ready to take charge of the carriage, and they were accordingly appointed, and have performed their duty to the satisfaction of the Board of Engineers.

NEW HOSE CARRIAGE.

In August last, the Board of Engineers agreed with Messrs. Hunneman & Co. to build a four-wheeled hose carriage, to be drawn by a horse, — said carriage to carry 1,000 feet of hose, to run in connection with the steam engine; and, when it is completed, it will be of great advantage to the Department.

ALARM BELLS.

The town also voted, that the Engineers should procure a bell, to be placed on the hose house, thereby increasing the facilities for giving an alarm, and have since voted to place one on the Forster school-house; which, when completed, will prevent the great delay which has been experienced in obtaining an alarm from that part of the town.

WATER.

Since the last Report, there have been five hydrants attached to the pipes of Charlestown Water Works, and there has been one reservoir built on Spring Hill; and the Board would recommend that a further supply be furnished in that locality. The most thickly settled parts of the town are still without any supply of water. In some places it would be impossible to get any at all. The Board would recommend the laying as much as possible of sixinch pipe, instead of four inch, connected with the Water Works; as the four-inch pipe will not furnish a supply for hydrant stream, nor a full supply for a steam engine. The Board would recommend, that hydrants be placed on Broadway, at intervals of five hundred feet, from Franklin Street to Temple Street.

The Department now consists of one steam fire engine, built by Hunneman & Co., with a Company of twelve men, — and will soon have the horse hose carriage in connection with it.

A four-wheeled hose carriage, with a Company of fifteen men, carrying 600 feet of 2½ inch hose.

One hand engine which can be used in case of a large fire.

HOSE.

There is in the use of the Department,—

1,000 feet new hose this year,

1,200 " " last year,

800 " of old, some of which is almost worthless; and I would recommend the purchase of 500 feet this year, as it will be very much needed.

All of which is respectfully submitted in behalf of the Board.

D. A. SANBORN, Jr., Chief Engineer Somerville Fire Department.

With the close of the financial year, some of us will retire from the Board, with the presentation of the Report, and, after another election, our labors, as officers of the town, will cease; and if in the Report anything appears too harsh, we ask you to throw over it the broad mantle of charity, for we do not intend to reflect upon, or injure the feelings of, any one. We are not unmindful that we may have made mistakes of omission and commission, and we trust the town will grant us honesty of purpose in all our actions.

There are many conflicting interests, and a growing local prejudice, that we are sorry to see; but we hope each and every part of the town will be willing to grant to the other all its just rights, and all work together to make our town what nature has designed she should be, — second to none other.

JOHN R. POOR,

FRANCIS HOUGHTON,
SILAS H. HOLLAND,
Selectmen of Somerville.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The Treasurer, in making his Report, feels it his duty to make a few statements in regard to the financial condition of the town. It will be seen that the debt has not increased but $6,500; many votes have been passed by the town to borrow money, the Treasurer has only availed himself of the above votes as necessity required. Two demand notes of $10,000 and $5,000, which were at 7³ per cent, have been paid out of available The Treasurer's instructions on these notes were to borrow money at the best rates for short time, until it could be had at six per cent or under, - loans cannot at present be made for any length of time at that rate. Institutions that usually lend can get a better price for their money by holding government bonds, and they are for the present prohibited from taking a larger rate. The Treasurer has therefore taken such chances as offered to keep the Treasury in funds, as will be seen by reference to notes payable account. Notes to the amount of $34,050 fall due or are on demand the coming year. The most of these can probably be renewed, but, as the laws in regard to rates of interest are likely to be changed, allowing a higher legal rate than six per cent, and as money is evidently worth more, the Treasurer will require authority from the town to meet the increased rise in the rate of interest. The new law, if passed, does not come into effect until July 1, 1867. The town will be a borrower to a considerable extent in the first part of the financial year, on several votes, in anticipation of taxes, etc.

There has been received by the Treasurer the last year, from all sources, $199,967.32; and he has paid out $187,451.52, leaving a balance in the Treasury, March 1, 1867, of $12,515.80. Under instructions from the Board of Selectmen, there has been paid to about ninety-five applicants the sum of $9,341.81, as State aid, mostly under the application of the new law, giving aid to disabled soldiers, and widows and orphans caused by deaths of soldiers. The State has refunded to the town $8,000 of the amount paid in 1865, and there is now due for 1864 $135; 1865, $647.04; 1866, $7,592.54; in all, $8,701.58. amount, with perhaps some small deduction, will be available in part payment of State tax for 1867. The monthly payments are now about $700. The Treasurer will require a vote of the town to borrow or use such funds as may be in the Treasury to meet this demand. At the request of the Selectmen, there has been made, under advice and approval of the chairmen of the various boards, a valuation of town property herewith presented, amounting to $146,875, which shows a close offset to the town debt.

The above Report and annexed accounts are respectfully submitted.

THOMAS CUNNINGHAM,

Treasurer.

TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

For the Year ending March 1, 1867.

BOSTON:

A. B. MORSS, PRINTER, 109 WASHINGTON STREET. 1867. ,

REPORT

OF THE

OF THE

TOWN OF SOMERVILLE,

FOR THE SCHOOL YEAR 1866-7.

The School Committee herewith respectfully present their Annual Report.

Rev. Charles Lowe, who was elected a member of our Board, at the annual meeting of last March, resigned shortly after, and Dr. W. K. Fletcher was chosen by a joint vote of the Selectmen and School Committee to fill the vacancy occasioned by his resignation.

The town will have occasion to elect, at the March meeting of this year, four members of the Board to fill the places of Messrs. Knapp, Arnold, Hughes and Fletcher, whose term of service expires with the present fiscal year.

The Committee are happy to congratulate their fellow-townsmen, that our schools still continue to enjoy their usual prosperity. Substantially the same plan and system of discipline and instruction has been advised by the Board that has characterized its administration for the past three or four years.

We are still opposed to large schools; to large classes; to the ordinary system of classification and promotion: we are in favor of employing good teachers; of retaining those we have, if reasonably successful; of selecting our own High School graduates for teachers, other things being equal; of individual promotions; of parallel divisions, and of a judicious expenditure of the money at our disposal. We hope for continued improvement in our schools; we study to promote their highest interests. We believe they will average as well as any in the State: we are pleased if we merit the approval of our constituency.

The constantly increasing wants of our schools, growing out of our increased population, have added much to the duties and responsibilities of the Board.

There are now thirty-seven teachers employed in town; two new schools have been opened the past year.

Each school is visited by the Superintendent once a month; each has a private examination near the close of the winter term, and each has a public exhibition during the month of July. At each of these examinations and exhibitions the Superintendent is expected to be present; he is a member of each of the sub-committees, acts as clerk of the Board, approves all bills, keeps the accounts, is the financial committee, supplies the schools with all their material wants, conducts the correspondence of the Board, and under the direction of the Committee has the general supervision of all the schools in town. It can well be understood that to perform these duties faithfully, the time of the Superintendent must be nearly all employed. For this service he has received the past year the sum of $500. Your Committee would suggest the propriety of tendering him for his services the coming year a salary very largely increased. By thus visiting the schools, and devoting so large a share of his time in and for them, he gains a familiarity with their defects, their excellences and their wants that no other member of the Board can; he becomes acquainted with the methods of our best teachers, communicates them to others less experienced, is enabled to comprehend the cause of failure in some, and to offer valuable suggestions; he can see that the system of instruction is uniform, and that the best plans of the best instructors are made serviceable in all our schools.

The salaries of teachers for the year are as follows, viz:

Principal of High School		•		$2000
First Assistant of High School .	•	•		650
Second Assistant of High School			•	500
Principals of Grammar Schools	•	• [•	1400
Female Teachers for the first year	•	•		400
Female Teachers after the first year	•	•	•	475
Teacher of Music	•			300

Sub-committees have examined the several grades of schools and made written reports, which are herewith added as a part of this Report.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

At the recent private examinations of this grade of schools it was very evident,—in a majority of them at least,—that good order prevailed, and that thorough instructions had been given. The principal branches taught in these schools are reading, spelling and arithmetic, though other things are expected to be taught, such as punctuation marks, Roman and Arabic numerals, and the abbreviations. In some of the schools these branches seem to have been admirably taught; each pupil gave correct pronunciation, clear enunciation, distinct articulation and proper inflection, and both teacher and pupils manifested that degree of energy and interest that are truly essential to success in our Primary Schools; while in others there appeared to be a deficiency in discipline, tact and critical instruction. The teacher was apparently indifferent, and showed a want of true and genuine love for the work in which she is engaged, and a similar spirit of indifference and inattention seemed to pervade the whole school. As is the teacher, so are her pupils An energetic, interested, live teacher will always exhibit a school full of enthusiasm and life. There is still room for improvement in some of our Primary Schools. The idea, which is quite too prevalent, even at the present day, that any young lady is qualified to teach a school of this grade is as erroneous as it is ancient. mental and moral culture, faculty of governing others and imparting knowledge, love of children, social capacity, tact, energy and experience are essential qualifications to fit a person for any grade of school, the teacher of a Primary School assuredly ought to possess them all. How eminently important it is that the young child should be correctly taught in the rudiments of science. There should be great allowance made in regard to the appearance of some of the schools, on account of their size. A lady having under her charge from seventy-five to eighty pupils, with no assistant, could not reasonably be expected to accomplish so much as she could with only fifty. It is the opinion of those best informed in matters pertaining to schools, that no teacher should have the special charge of more than Nearly all of the Primary Schools in town are fifty pupils. quite too large, for want of suitable accommodations; and we cannot expect so good results from them, while in this overcrowded condition. The Jackson Primaries have all of them been much larger than they should be, and your Committee have already organized another Primary School in that vicinity; also, another school has been established at Spring Hill to relieve the Harvard and Spring Hill Primaries, and yet more and better accommodations are really needed in some of these The Jackson, Harvard and Spring Hill Primaries schools. would all be much improved could desks be furnished for them. The Union School has been supplied with desks during the past year, which add much to the comfort of the pupils and appearance of the school. Proper accommodations for, and attention to, this grade of schools will greatly improve the advantages of

SUB-GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

These schools are intermediate, between the Primary and Grammar. They are eight in number. The greatest number attending any one of them is at the Jackson, 55; the least number is at the Forster, 32. The whole number attending them all is about 420, giving an average for each of about 50. They are all under the instruction of experienced and competent teachers. Although reading is well taught in most of them, yet the Committee would be pleased to find in two or three of them more attention paid to the vocal drill. All those exercises that develop voice, that cure unpleasant tones, that cultivate smoothness of utterance and distinctness of articulation, should be daily practised in this grade of schools. Spelling, arithmetic and geography are generally as well taught as can reasonably be expected. All that relates to a pupil's voice, his style of speech, is of first importance, and that branch of study and those exercises that shape these should receive especial consideration. Hence any and every indication that a teacher understands how to instruct her pupils in reading is gratifying evidence that she is at least so far fitted for her work.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

These schools have been, in the main, under the discipline and instruction of tried and approved teachers. The excellence of that discipline is evinced by the deportment of the pupils, and the good order prevalent in the schools; and the fidelity of teachers in imparting wholesome instruction is attested by the very commendable progress made by their respective classes in the various branches to which their attention has been directed.

Some pupils have more comprehensive minds, quicker intellects, larger capacities for acquiring knowledge, and some have an earlier development of their faculties, than some others. Hence some members of a class appear much better on examination than some others, though the latter may have been even more industrious in their studies than the former. Hence, too, some classes are more brilliant than others. Some schools afford much better material for accomplished scholarship than some others. In the visitation of schools all these diversities are observable, and have their influence on the minds of visitors, and must be taken into account in the reports of committees.

At the late annual examination, in the minutes of the recitations of the respective classes examined, the marks made by the examiners give these schools a rank deservedly high. Though there is still room for progress, yet, in the judgment of the committee, these schools are, on the whole, all that the town could reasonably expect of schools of this grade.

In the department of grammar, the Committee observed with great pleasure a marked advance. They anticipate a still higher advance in the year to come. This department seems to have been in former years too much overlooked and neglected.

The man of business becomes familiar with the science of numbers, or at least with their practical use, from bringing his arithmetic into daily exercise. But how often do those who, through success in business, have attained to a high social position, or to public office and honor, on taking the pen or the platform, vainly regret their want of familiarity with the grammar of their native tongue. It is therefore very gratifying to know, that this interesting and very important branch of a common school education is receiving a larger share of time and attention in these schools than formerly.

It is not deemed necessary to extend this report farther, except to say, that, so far as they can judge, these schools are generally in a very gratifying and satisfactory condition.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

This school continues to merit and enjoy in a high degree the confidence of the School Committee, and is gradually growing in public favor.

It is highly gratifying to witness the increasing desire of the pupils of the Grammar Schools to enjoy its excellent privileges.

In September 1859, it contained forty-three pupils in three classes. The course of study extended over three years. The first class was studying the Latin Reader. No pupils had ever been prepared for college. The attendance was very irregular. There was no graduation of pupils completing the course.

In 1860 a four years' course of study was established, which has been modified from time to time as the wants of the school seemed to require. In seven years, the number of pupils has increased one hundred and twenty-one per cent, and is now larger in proportion to the population of the town than in most High Schools in the State. The number who complete the course, though not as large as is desirable, is larger in proportion to the number entering than in most High Schools in the vicinity of Boston.

Since 1862, diplomas have been awarded to forty-two graduates, of whom five are students in college, two in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and ten have engaged in teaching.

The order of the school is excellent, approaching nearly to perfection, and yet no case of discipline has occurred during the seven years it has been under the direction of the present principal.

The results evinced by the public exhibition and private examination reflect great credit upon teachers and pupils.

The following studies are prescribed for the regular course:

FIRST YEAR.

First Term — Algebra, Book-keeping, Latin, History, Reading.

SECOND YEAR.

First Term — Geometry, Natural Philosophy, Latin, Rhetoric. Second Term — Geometry, Chemistry, Latin, Rhetoric.

THIRD YEAR.

Second Term — Surveying, Chemistry, Latin, English Literature, French.

FOURTH YEAR.

First Term — Astronomy, Physical Geography, English Classics, French, History.

Second Term — Arithmetic, Botany, Intellectual Philosophy, French, History.

Vocal Music, Composition and Declamation throughout the course.

About one-fourth of the time is devoted to Latin and French, one-fourth to Mathematics, one-fourth to the Natural Sciences, and one-fourth to English Literature and Ethics.

During the year, forty-seven specimens of minerals from the Pacific Coast, the gift of Mr. S. C. Bradshaw, of California, have been added to the cabinet.

We hope soon to see the school supplied with a suitable library for reference, containing standard works upon the various branches pursued by the pupils.

For several years, the school has suffered great inconvenience from the lack of recitation rooms sufficiently large to receive the increasing classes.

When the contemplated alterations on the lower floor of the school building are completed, and for which an appropriation has already been made, teachers and pupils can work to much better advantage. These alterations will be made as soon as the Forster School is removed to the new building on Winter Hill.

From year to year the pupils, by voluntary contributions, amounting in all to some $200, have procured engravings and statuary for the decoration of their school-room. These exert a favorable influence upon the taste and morals of the school. Emulating their example, the Committee will soon take measures to render the immediate surroundings of the school building more attractive.

FORSTER SCHOOL.

At the annual meeting held in March last, Messrs. John R. Poor, Austin Belknap, Charles S. Lincoln, John C. Tenny, E. E. Cole and S. A. Carlton were elected a Building Committee, with full powers to provide for the erection of a suitable school building in this district. Fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) was appropriated for the erection of a wooden building to contain six rooms, and $2,000 for furnishing it.

At a subsequent meeting in April, $1,000 was appropriated to purchase additional land. At this meeting, members of the Building Committee stated, that a brick building of eight rooms could be erected for $20,000, whereupon an additional appropriation of $5,000 was voted, provided such a house could be contracted for with responsible parties for a sum not exceeding $20,000; otherwise this vote was to be of no effect or validity.

At a meeting held the following June, the Building Committee reported that they were unable to make a contract on such favorable terms as they had expected, and asked the town to remove the restrictions imposed on them at the April meeting, and to appropriate $5,000 additional. The town, with its accustomed magnanimity, granted their requests.

In November, the town voted to finish off the upper story of the building then in process of erection for a Town Hall, and at the February meeting $2,600 was appropriated for that purpose. It was also voted to appropriate $1,000 for furnishing the hall and for the purchase of a bell; making the appropriations stand as follows:

March 26, 1866, $15,000 for wooden building.

" " 2,000 for furnishing.

April 30, " 1,000 for land.

" " 5,000 additional for brick building instead of wood.

June 20, " 5,000 additional.

Feb. 13, 1867, 2,600 for finishing hall.

" " " 1,000 for furnishing hall and for bell.

Total thus far, $31,600

It is expected this building will be ready for occupancy about the first of April next. When completed, it will furnish accommodations for the present and anticipated wants of the district.

The entries, clothes closets and school-rooms are ample in their proportions, and are provided with modern improvements. The hall is designed for the use of the school, also for town meetings; the bell, for the school and for an alarm bell. The size and style of the building attest, in unmistakable terms, the liberality of the town in its expenditures for school purposes, and the cost at which it has been erected reflects great credit on the financial ability of the building committee. The school is still kept in the High School Building.

PRESCOTT SCHOOL.

The Prescott School-House was destroyed by fire on the 31st of December last. The building was insured for $15,000.

The loss being regarded but partial, we recovered of the Insurance Companies only $11,625. The schools have been provided with accomodations, while a new school building is being erected, in the vestries of the Baptist and Orthodox churches. At the recent town meeting, held in February, $20,000, in addition to insurance money, was appropriated for the erection of a new building.

A Building Committee, consisting of Messrs. Hughes, Davis, Carlton, Morse, Arnold and Knapp, of which Mr. Hughes is Chairman, have been appointed to contract for and superintend its construction.

Plans and specifications are now being prepared, and it is hoped to present a building ready for occupancy, some time in the fall. It was also voted, at the February meeting, to heat the Prescott and Forster School buildings by steam.

LINCOLN SCHOOL.

The Lincoln School is located on Elm Street. It has been built during the past year, at a cost of about $10,000, including land. It is at present divided into two departments, a Grammar and a Primary.

The Lincoln district comprises all that part of the town on and north of Cedar and Morseland Streets, also that part of the town known as the Patch. It was designed to take the place of the Walnut Hill, and the Bell Primary Schools; but, since its erection, a petition, signed by Jesse Simpson and others, has been received by the Board, requesting the Committee to continue the Walnut Hill School. We have decided to grant their request, provided a sufficient number of pupils attend the school to warrant its continuance. For teachers, we have employed Mr. H. P. Makecknie for the Grammar department, and Miss Mary E. Adams for the Primary, both of whom have had a highly successful experience as instructors.

JACKSON SCHOOL.

The number of pupils in this district has increased so largely the past year, that the Committee found it necessary to establish another school for its relief. A room has been rented in a building in the immediate vicinity, and another Primary School opened, with Miss Susan Rafferty as teacher.

A new school building will be needed in this locality soon.

O. S. KNAPP, Chairman.

REPORT

OF THE

SELECTMEN OF THE TOWN OF SOMERVILLE.

Fellow Citizens,—

Since our last Report another year has passed away and we are again reminded that we must account to you of the doings of the financial year just passed; and we will here say that our

are in better condition than last year, although the heavy rain has at times done much damage, and been a reason for some to complain of our Superintendent. We believe he has at all times endeavored to please and distribute the money as equally as possible.

The past year more money than usual has been expended on the cross streets. The two main avenues are not in such condition as the public have a reasonable right to expect; and although a large amount of money is yearly expended, Milk Street, in our opinion, will never be satisfactory until the Railroad is placed in the centre of the street and a suitable drain laid.

In years past, when labor and material were much less, there was not that foresight in regard to the roads and sidewalks that experience has shown the good of the town required, and we are now doing what should have been done years ago; no doubt it appeared at the time a matter of economy to expend the least possible amount on the highways, but time has shown that we are now paying dearly for the mistakes of the past.

There is not a town that has more natural attractions than ours, and none that has grown faster; but is the growth a healthy one? — we think not, — at least it is not an increase that will lessen taxes; on the other hand the want of improvements in the right direction has kept capitalists away, and athough we have a good class of people, a large majority of them are not able to expend much for improvement, and while they pay a small tax, they in turn tax the town largely to educate their children. This is one of the advantages of a republican form of government that the rich help to educate the poor, and feel it a privilege to do so.

Now, if the streets and sidewalks are put in order, that will make them attractive to strangers, and a due regard by the citizens in doing what they can by planting trees along the streets and seeing that the fences have a respectable appearance, it will do much toward the change so much desired.

It is advocated by many that the Railroad in our town prevents the improvements of the highways; in many respects this is true; and the Horse Railroads, located on the sides of the roads, especially Milk Street, have become a nuisance that should claim the attention of the town, and some steps taken that will cause them

ment of the Steam Roads through our town are a source of great annoyance, and cause the Board much trouble, and the time has arrived when the Railroad Corporations should be made to understand that our rights are no longer to be disregarded. By this we mean the long and disgraceful neglect to keep in suitable repair the bridges, crossings and drains. Some of us have been four years trying to have the evil remedied, and so far no real satisfaction has been had; and now, in many places, the town is liable to heavy damages, solely from their neglect; and we trust the next Board will have such instructions from the town that they may, if need be, apply to the legislature for redress.

The system of drainage is very deficient, and the town is called upon to take steps for immediate improvement, not only for convenience, but sanitary measures.

MEDFORD TURNPIKE.

The Board having been informed that the County Commissioners would lay out said turnpike as a county way, we, believing the town did not require it, and, if not already a highway (but made by a corporation for their own private benefit), there could be no evidence to show the Commissioners a good reason why such a road should be built; consequently they would not build or cause it to be built. On that part of the road from Charlestown line to the Toll House were a number of houses and room for more, and that portion the town was willing to accept, but could not without assuming the whole road; and believing it unjust and against the wishes of a large majority of the town, we applied to the Legislature for a statute, that would allow the Commissioners to make their building of the turnpike a county expense, and also, if the Commissioners final award appeared unjust and oppressive, the town should have the right to appeal to the Supreme Court for a rehearing; and, if we could show just cause, the Court should appoint three special commissioners living out of the county, to rehear the case, and their award to be final.

In all this we failed, and the same is yet in the hands of the Commissioners; and the Board are sorry to say that their efforts to protect the interest of the town was not seconded in the Legislature, by some of the members of whom we had a right to expect assistance; and consequently there will be an increase in taxes for highways which we deem unjust.

In some sections of the town there is a want for material to repair highways, and we trust the town will not delay too long in providing the same.

There have been some of the fences removed to the lines established by vote of the town, and ratified by County Commissioners; and we trust the improvements will be completed the coming year. On some of the streets, the trees branch too low, and the Board request the abutters to see that they are properly trimmed; if not, the town must attend to it.

There have been some claims for damages, and all has been settled with small expense to the town.

The town farm has been much improved the past year, and we think will now be a source of income.

STREET LAMPS

Now number one hundred and twenty, and, although some complain, we think they are very well managed; they are extended over much territory, and it is impossible to light all at the same time, but it has been the aim of the Board to have them so lighted and cared for, that all would be satisfied; and, so far as we know, there have been but few complaints.

CEMETERY.

The Board not having been able to agree on any location in town, recommend the purchase of a lot in an adjoining town if permit can be had to do so.

CHARLESTOWN WATER.

We have nothing of importance to add to our last Report except to impress upon all, the importance of laying larger mains, for we have, in case of fire, so often seen the need of a larger supply of water than is possible to have from four inch pipes, as it will not supply one steamer; and we trust the town in future will not allow less than six-inch in short streets, and in all others eight-inch pipe.

HORSE RAILROAD.

We have nothing to report since our last.

POLICE.

We think the department has given very general satisfaction, and we herewith present their Report; and we again recommend a night-watch, as we think the interests of the town require it.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen of Somerville:

The officers of the Police Department submit the following Report for the year ending March 1, 1867:

Whole number of Warrants issued, sixty-eight; a decrease of twenty-five from last year.

The criminal business of the last year has not been as large as formerly, but the result of our work will be, to the citizens at least, full as acceptable. We flatter ourselves that the incendiaries, who were so industrious upon our borders with Cambridge, are now receiving their well-merited punishment in prison.

Bound over to Superior Court

Those bold and daring house-breakers and burglars have been disposed of: one by a violent death at the hands of the State Constables, at Chelsea, and others by long sentences to State prison.

Among the officers, nothing has occurred to disturb the harmony which has prevailed the past two years. In the discharge of their duties, each has been assisted and encouraged by the others, in accordance with their oath of office, and their earnest desire to add to the welfare of the town.

There have been complaints to the officers of a nuisance existing, which is a growing evil, viz: swill boys. This is something beyond the control of the police at present, but it is hoped your Honorable Board will look into the matter, and cause such provision to be made as shall meet the case. The complaints are often and loud, being for petty-thieving, impudence, and insulting conduct and language, and are a great annoyance.

We would also call your attention to the great number of truants about the streets, of which no notice can be taken by the Department until further action by your Honorable Board.

The Department are of the opinion that a regular night watch is greatly needed; and that one day officer in each division of the town would add greatly to the security of the inhabitants, and be a positive advantage in many ways.

The State Constables have made several seizures and complaints, and we have cause to believe that much good has been done by them in our town, as there are but a very few places where liquor can be obtained openly.

Respectfully submitted.

JAIRUS MANN,

Sec. Som. Police Dept.

MILITARY.

The experience of the last six years has given our people enough of military tactics and discipline; and, although we have a good company, it requires something more than a holiday dress parade for them to show true patriotism.

Our quota for the calls for the army was about 1,400; and, under the new law, less than $9,000 has been paid by our town for State aid, while Newburyport, whose quota was 1,500, has paid $32,000. This will show to the State they have no cause to complain. A large proportion of the money paid by us has been to soldiers that have moved into our town since the war. We are as much obligated to care for them as our own; but it is creditable to our citizens that so many have been able to care for 'themselves.

We find some cases that are not reached by State aid, and do not properly come under the care of the Overseers of the Poor, and we are in duty bound to care for them; and as the relief appropriation for aid to such cases has been expended, we advise a small amount—say, not exceeding $500—be placed in the hands of the Selectmen, to be used as in their judgment is needed.

The amount paid for State aid will be shown in the Treasurer's Report.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

At the meeting, in April, an appropriation of $10,-000 was made, to provide a steam fire-engine and the needed apparatus. The Board, with the Engineers, were appointed a committee to procure the same, and here report that we have attended to that duty, and purchased of Mr. Hunneman a steamer, hose carriage, hose, etc.; horses, harnesses, etc., of others, as is shown by the Treasurer in his report.

The steamer has given perfect satisfaction, and we believe it equal to, if not the best steam fire-engine ever built.

We have now, with the assistance our neighbors are always so ready and willing to lend, all the apparatus we really need.

We have seen many mistakes the past year in the management of our fire department, and we trust a change for the better in future will be made.

ENGINEER'S REPORT.

To the Honorable Board of Sclectmen.

Gentlemen, — Agreeable to your request, I herewith submit the following Report:—

Since our last Report there have been seventeen fires, and twentynine alarms; ten of which were caused by fires in Cambridge, eight from fires in Charlestown, one in Boston, one in Roxbury, one in Winchester, and eight false alarms.

The Department have rendered assistance in Charlestown six times; in Cambridge, once; and have received assistance three times from out of town.

At the April Town Meeting, the Town voted to procure a steam engine, and a Committee were appointed, consisting of the Selectmen and the Engineers, to procure the same; and, after examining the working of several different engines, purchased one of Messrs. Hunneman & Co.

The steam engine was placed in the department, May 26, and has not been out of service but two hours since that time.

Owing to the change from hand to steam, the Company has been reduced from forty-five men to twelve men. The Company now consists of an engineer and driver, who are permanently employed; an assistant engineer, who acts as fireman; a foreman of hose; and eight hosemen, one of whom acts as clerk.

HOSE COMPANY.

In July last, the Board received a communication from the Liberty Hose Company, that they had disbanded; and, at the same time, a communication that another Company was ready to take charge of the carriage, and they were accordingly appointed, and have performed their duty to the satisfaction of the Board of Engineers.

NEW HOSE CARRIAGE.

In August last, the Board of Engineers agreed with Messrs. Hunneman & Co. to build a four-wheeled hose carriage, to be drawn by a horse,—said carriage to carry 1,000 feet of hose, to run in connection with the steam engine; and, when it is completed, it will be of great advantage to the Department.

ALARM BELLS.

The town also voted, that the Engineers should procure a bell, to be placed on the hose house, thereby increasing the facilities for giving an alarm, and have since voted to place one on the Forster school-house; which, when completed, will prevent the great delay which has been experienced in obtaining an alarm from that part of the town.

WATER.

Since the last Report, there have been five hydrants attached to the pipes of Charlestown Water Works, and there has been one reservoir built on Spring Hill; and the Board would recommend that a further supply be furnished in that locality. The most thickly settled parts of the town are still without any supply of water. In some places it would be impossible to get any at all. The Board would recommend the laying as much as possible of sixinch pipe, instead of four inch, connected with the Water Works; as the four-inch pipe will not furnish a supply for hydrant stream, nor a full supply for a steam engine. The Board would recommend, that hydrants be placed on Broadway, at intervals of five hundred feet, from Franklin Street to Temple Street.

The Department now consists of one steam fire engine, built by Hunneman & Co., with a Company of twelve men, — and will soon have the horse hose carriage in connection with it.

A ladder carriage drawn by a horse, carrying 170 feet ladders, two hooks for pulling down buildings, rakes, pitch-forks, axes, buckets and ropes.

One hand engine which can be used in case of a large fire.

HOSE.

There is in the use of the Department, -

1,000 feet new hose this year,

1,200 " " last year,

800 " of old, some of which is almost worthless; and I would recommend the purchase of 500 feet this year, as it will be very much needed.

All of which is respectfully submitted in behalf of the Board.

D. A. SANBORN, Jr., Chief Engineer Somerville Fire Department.

With the close of the financial year, some of us will retire from the Board, with the presentation of the Report, and, after another election, our labors, as officers of the town, will cease; and if in the Report anything appears too harsh, we ask you to throw over it the broad mantle of charity, for we do not intend to reflect upon, or injure the feelings of, any one. We are not unmindful that we may have made mistakes of omission and commission, and we trust the town will grant us honesty of purpose in all our actions.

There are many conflicting interests, and a growing local prejudice, that we are sorry to see; but we hope each and every part of the town will be willing to grant to the other all its just rights, and all work together to make our town what nature has designed she should be,—second to none other.

JOHN R. POOR,
NELSON HOWE,
GEORGE W. HADLEY,
FRANCIS HOUGHTON,
SILAS H. HOLLAND,
Selectmen of Somerville.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The Treasurer, in making his Report, feels it his duty to make a few statements in regard to the financial condition of the town. It will be seen that the debt has not increased but $6,500; many votes have been passed by the town to borrow money, the Treasurer has only availed himself of the above votes as necessity required. Two demand notes of $10,000 and $5,000, which were at 7.3 per cent, have been paid out of available The Treasurer's instructions on these notes were to borrow money at the best rates for short time, until it could be had at six per cent or under, - loans cannot at present be made for any length of time at that rate. Institutions that usually lend can get a better price for their money by holding government bonds, and they are for the present prohibited from taking a larger rate. The Treasurer has therefore taken such chances as offered to keep the Treasury in funds, as will be seen by reference to notes payable account. Notes to the amount of $34,050 fall due or are on demand the coming year. The most of these can probably be renewed, but, as the laws in regard to rates of interest are likely to be changed, allowing a higher legal rate than six per cent, and as money is evidently worth more, the Treasurer will require authority from the town to meet the increased rise in the rate of interest. The new law, if passed, does not come into effect until July 1, 1867. The town will be a borrower to a considerable extent in the first part of the financial year, on several votes, in anticipation of taxes, etc.

There has been received by the Treasurer the last year, from all sources, $199,967.32; and he has paid out $187,451.52, leaving a balance in the Treasury, March 1, 1867, of $12,515.80. Under instructions from the Board of Selectmen, there has been paid to about ninety-five applicants the sum of $9,341.81, as State aid, mostly under the application of the new law, giving aid to disabled soldiers, and widows and orphans caused by deaths of soldiers. The State has refunded to the town $8,000 of the amount paid in 1865, and there is now due for 1864 $135; 1865, $647.04; 1866, $7,592.54; in all, $8,701.58. amount, with perhaps some small deduction, will be available in part payment of State tax for 1867. The monthly payments are now about $700. The Treasurer will require a vote of the town to borrow or use such funds as may be in the Treasury to meet this demand. At the request of the Selectmen, there has been made, under advice and approval of the chairmen of the various boards, a valuation of town property herewith presented, amounting to $146,875, which shows a close offset to the town debt.

The above Report and annexed accounts are respectfully submitted.

THOMAS CUNNINGHAM,

Treasurer.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

EVERY relative position has its responsibilities, and to discharge the incumbent duties in a manner satisfactory to others and to ourselves, is not always an easy task.

The supervision of any department of learning is attended with difficulty, because of the spiritual nature of what is to be developed, and moulded; and obstacles are indefinitely augmented, when we come to training up children in the way they should go.

No wise and prudent lawgiver would ever issue an order, and define the penalty, unless it was compatible with intellectual and moral organization, and ought to be performed.

That there is a right and a wrong teaching, or educating of the young in the family, in our schools, and in our social intercourse, no observing individual will pretend to deny. Much that is defective in the modes of education can be easily pointed out; how to remedy the evils, is not as easily defined and executed.

The importance of our Common School System is cheerfully acknowledged by all making any pretensions to philanthropy or patriotism; and the consummation of its perfection has engaged, and is still engaging the time, and talent of some of the master minds of the nineteenth century.

Should not our schools enlist our special attention they contain the power of moulding the youth of our latto industry, virtue, and a sacred love of country?

These are acquisitions the just and good in all past times have labored to attain, and saw by imagination in the future, but despaired that such perfection could ever be realized.

That every child in the community may be so trained, that a very small per cent. shall become disturbers of the peace, outcasts, and a by-word, direct testimony has abundantly proved.

In the year 1847 Hon. Horace Mann addressed a circular to eight of the most experienced and distinguished teachers of New England, propounding to them the following questions, and asking for answers:—

- "1. How many years have you been engaged in school-keeping, and whether in the country, or in populous towns or cities?
- 2. About how many children have you had under your care?
- 3. Should all our schools be kept by teachers of high intellectual and moral qualifications, and should all the children in the community be brought within these schools for ten months in a year, from the age of four to that of sixteen years; then what proportion what percentage of such children as you have had under your care, could, in your opinion, be so educated and trained, that their existence, on going out into the world, would be a benefit and not a detriment, an honor and not a shame to society? Or, to state the question in a general form, if all children were brought within the salutary and auspicious influences I have
