A MASS MEETING

NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

HARBOR QUESTION WILL BE DISCUSSED.

EVERYBODY INVITED TO ATTEND

Proposition Is To Issue Bonds For $350,000 or $400,000 To Improve Newport Harbor.

There will be a mass meeting in the Princess Theatre next Friday night at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of considering the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $350,000 or $400,000 for the improvement of Newport harbor. There will be some good speakers to inform those present on this important subject.

The meeting has been called by the Chamber of Commerce in order to ascertain the sentiment of the community relative to this issue. This meeting was to have been held this evening, but, owing to the circus and the special meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce in Santa Ana tonight, it was thought best to postpone it until next week.

The committee appointed by President E. E. French of the Chamber of Commerce, to investigate the harbor proposition, will report at this meeting. The following compose this committee: R. L. Obarr, Judge C. W. Warner, J. K. McDonald, C. R. Furr and L. M. Lindsley.

REV. COYNE WILL BE A "FOUR-MINUTE" MAN.

WILL TALK AT THE PRINCESS SATURDAY NIGHT.

Rev. Robert John Coyne, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, has joined the ranks and will enter active service Saturday evening at the Princess Theatre as a "Four-Minute" man.

Judge W. H. Thomas of Santa Ana has charge of the "Four-Minute" brigade for Orange county, and there will be one appear at each of the various theatres Saturday evenings.

The speakers will deliver patriotic talks of four minutes' duration on "What Our Enemies Are Doing."

VOLUNTEER POTATO VINE SEVEN FEET HIGH.

R. C. Holmes, who farms a tract west of the Holly sugar factory, harvested his crop of volunteer potatoes Tuesday. The crop was not large and but little time was required to harvest it, but it is worth special mention, owing to the growth of the vines and yield of tubers.

Mr. Holmes has some fine grape vines, and he threw some dressing around them. Shortly afterward a volunteer potato vine nosed its way out through the straw and said good morning to Mr. Holmes. The vine was given plenty of water and grew so rapidly that Mr. Holmes decided to let it grow up with the grape vines, and arranged so it would not fall on the ground. When Mr. Holmes was ready to dig his crop of volunteers he asked H. Dalby, the grocer in that vicinity, to be a witness. One of the vines measured 7 feet in length, and 42 potatoes were dug from the hill, 20 of which were large enough for table use. The potatoes had no cultivation whatever, only plenty of water.

EGGS ARE NOW SELLING AT 50 CENTS PER DOZEN.

Hens eggs have been doing a little soaring lately and are now being retailed at 50 cents per dozen, at which price the average citizen is unable to eat them oftener than about once a month, and then sparingly.

Many of the hens have been changing their clothing lately and have not been laying eggs, which probably accounts to some extent for the high price.

WILL BUILD HOUSE IN THE COUNTRY.

C. E. Kutzner has the contract for the construction of an eight-room, two-story residence for W. W. Blaylock of the Watersburg district, and will begin work next Monday or Tuesday.

P. E. WILL HELP TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS.

REPORT SHOWING COMPARATIVE FIGURES.

G. H. Grace, secretary of the central safety committee of the Pacific Electric, is preparing to inaugurate a campaign for the special purpose of reducing automobile accidents. In the study of the situation, Grace reports as follows:

"A comparison of the total number of accidents with the total number of automobiles shows that the number of accidents during 1915 was 2.20 per 1000 automobiles, as against 2.00 per 1000 in 1916, and 1.69 per 1000 for the six months ending June 30, 1917.

"When it is realized that each automobile crosses our tracks many times each day, and that we operate more than 7000 separate train and car movements daily along and across hundreds of streets and highways, it is readily seen that the percentage of accidents in the aggregate is exceedingly small.

"All of these casualties were avoidable and most, if not all, were due to the reckless disregard of consequences on the part of drivers.

"As a comparison, our records show that 138 persons were struck by cars in 1915, and 119 in 1916, the monthly average being 11.5 and 9.9, respectively, and for the first six months of 1917 the average is 6.3.

"However, the population has increased from approximately 600,000 in 1915 to 750,000 in 1917, the accident ratio being .02 persons per 1000 population in 1915, .015 per 1000 in 1916 and .01 per 1000 for the first six months of 1917.

"In other words, the number of accidents per 1000 automobiles, in 1915, was 110 times greater than persons struck by cars per 1000; 133 times greater in 1916, and 169 times greater in 1917.

"At the same time, proportionately with the increase in the number of automobiles and population, police records will doubtless show a steady increase in the number of accidents involving pedestrians and automobiles.

"It would seem quite evident, therefore, that the responsibility for the majority of accidents involving automobiles must be placed with the drivers.

"The railroad car travels in a fixed path and cannot cut corners nor dodge in and out to prevent an accident; the very celerity of movement or 'get up and get' possibility of the automobile invites the driver to take a chance, which is all the greater reason for extra watchfulness and care on the part of the motormen in looking out for the other fellow."

MEMBERS OF MASONIC ORDER WILL PICNIC.

Some members of the Masonic order and friends will picnic Sunday in Orange County Park. While this outing is not officially under the direction of the lodge, most of those in attendance will be members of the fraternity.

MRS. W. P. HARRISON PASSED AWAY AUG. 15.

Trustee D. W. Huston has received word of the passing away of Mrs. W. P. Harrison at Galesburg, Ill., August 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison resided in this city and conducted the Princess Theatre, leaving here for Iowa in June, 1915, and have many friends who will regret to hear of the untimely passing away of Mrs. Harrison.

STATE TREASURER IS MAKING RECORD.

Interest collections on state deposits reached high-water mark last month, when State Treasurer Friend W. Richardson turned into the treasury $23,313.39. This is an increase of nearly $4,000 per month, or over $40,000 per year, over collections on a similar total in former administrations. This big increase is due to the policy inaugurated by Richardson of gradually increasing the state rate of interest. The increase alone will pay the entire expense of running the state treasury and leave a big surplus over. When Richardson took office many depositors were paying only two per cent, the minimum amount provided by law. Now all depositors are paying from two and one-half to three per cent.

WORK ON NEWPORT JETTY BEGAN MONDAY

LARGE NUMBER VISITORS PRESENT.

COUNTY MAY VOTE BONDS

Celebration Arranged by Newport Beach Chamber of Commerce; Lunch Served.

The long-looked-for event happened Monday afternoon, when the first carload of rock for the construction of the jetty at the entrance to Newport harbor was dumped into the blue waters of the Pacific.

The occasion was one of much rejoicing among the citizens of the peninsular city, and marks a new era in the progress of the harbor town.

The Huntington Beach band played the "Star Spangled Banner" while the rocks were being rolled from the flat car into the ocean.

William Ledbetter, who built the Huntington Beach pier, has the contract for the jetty work.

The celebration for the beginning of the important harbor work was arranged by the Newport Beach Chamber of Commerce, and that body of boosters is to be congratulated upon the satisfactory manner in which all visitors were cared for, each one being served with barbecued fish, brown beans, buns, weiners and coffee.

The Pacific track has been extended along the sand spit to the trestle, where the rock is unloaded for the jetty, and a small engine and flat cars were run from the station at Balboa for the accommodation of those who desired to visit the scene of activity.

Boats were also operated from the Jackson-Norton dock, and some went one way on the boat and returned on the train, and vice versa.

The committee made arrangements to care for 2,500 persons, and it is estimated that close to that number were served.

The citizens of Newport Beach voted a bond issue of $125,000 for the work.

A large number of Huntington Beach people were present.

LUNG MOTOR WAS TESTED MONDAY.

CITY WILL PROBABLY BUY ONE LATER.

There was a Lungmotor test in the reception room of the office of Trustee R. H. Chapin Monday afternoon, which was apparently satisfactory to those who witnessed the demonstration.

E. W. Beeson of Los Angeles, agent for this section for this life-saving device, showed his machine up to the best possible advantage and proved himself to be a salesman of more than ordinary ability.

Mr. Beeson explained that his device was the best manufactured for the purpose. The machine was tested on Mr. Beeson, and he stated that he might become temporarily unconscious, but no one need become alarmed, because he would come out all right. The mouthpiece was then placed on Dr. Shank and Dr. Wilson and tests made.

Those present, besides the ones before mentioned, were: R. L. Obarr, Trustees Joseph Vavra and H. C. Decker; City Marshal John Tinsley, and the editor of the News.

SPECIAL CAR WILL RUN TO SANTA ANA TONIGHT.

TO LEAVE STATION AT QUARTER PAST SEVEN.

There will be a special car over the Pacific Electric line this (Friday) evening, for the accommodation of those who desire to attend the circus in Santa Ana. This special will leave the station at 7:15 and will return soon after the circus.

LITTLE CURLEY WON THE BOWLING PRIZE.

Avery Rennick, known as "Little Curley," was the winner of the weekly prize awarded Saturday night by Trustee D. W. Huston at his bowling alleys, the winning score being 207.

CLOSING MUSICALS A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

WORK OF PUPILS DELIGHTS BIG AUDIENCE.

The musicale, marking the close of the summer school of the Valentine Conservatory of Music and Arts, given in Odd Fellows' hall Friday evening, was a splendid success, and Mrs. Valentine Cunningham deserves much credit for her enterprise, as the expense entailed by such a recital is an item of considerable importance.

Mrs. Cunningham announced that Miss Gladys Bollon would be one of her assistants in the conservatory work in the future. Miss Bollon's rendition of "Grand March di Concert," by Wollenhaupt, displayed considerable technique, which qualifies her for the position.

Mrs. Cunningham also announced that the scholarships, which have proved so popular, would be continued.

An interesting feature of the entertainment, especially to those unacquainted with modern methods of teaching, was the normal lesson chart work in class, which was exemplified by Pauline and Mildred Manning and Theodore McCain, son of Trustee and Mrs. J. C. McCain of Newport Beach. The children sat at a table with their hands and forearms laying flat on the table and went through finger exercises as Mrs. Cunningham counted for them. They were given cards containing musical terms, which were called for, as in the game of authors.

Mrs. Cunningham stated at the beginning that the vocal work would be in low tones, but would show the proper register, as she had to tear down most of the previous work done by the pupils, and they were therefore just getting started, and the next recital would show their progress.

The work of Pauline Manning and Miss Estelle Vandruff was appreciated. Each of them have the physique from which singers are developed.

The audience was delighted by the appearance of Dick Hodges Foell, the ten-year-old boy violinist of Los Angeles, a pupil of Earl Valentine, brother of Mrs. Cunningham. Dick is a manly little fellow, and evidently has a splendid future as a violinist.

The program follows:

Part I.
Violin Solo, "Overture Norma," (Winner), Dick Hodges Foell.

Vocal Solo, "The Lily and the Bluebell," (Smith), Pauline Manning.

Piano Solo, "Soldier's Love," (Seiler), Miss Estelle Vandruff.

Piano Duets, "Songs Without Words," (Mrs. Cunningham), Misses Reed and Hahn; Mrs. Cunningham, Accompanist.

Violin Solo, "Il Trovatore," (Singalee), Introduction, Moderato, Finale, Dick Hodges Foell.

Vocal Solo, "Star of My Heart," (Petrie), Miss Estelle Vandruff.

Part II.
A Normal Lesson Chart Work in Class.

Piano Duet, "Scotch Airs," Theodore McCain and Mrs. Cunningham.

Piano Solos, "Poppy Waltz," Mildred Manning; "Melody Romantic," Pauline Manning.

Piano Solo, "Fantaisie Impromptu," (Motor), Miss Estelle Vandruff.

Sacred Solo, "Flee As a Bird," (Darra), Pauline Manning.

Vocal Solo, "The King of Dreams," (Galloway), Miss Estelle Vandruff.

Piano Solo, "Grand March di Concert," (Wollenhaupt), Miss Gladys Bollon.

Piano Duet and Vocal Solo, "America," Theodore McCain, assisted by Frank Hahn.

Piano Duet, "Gitana," (Heins), Miss Estelle Vandruff and Mrs. Cunningham.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMIES ADVOCATED SATURDAY.

DRYING OF VEGETABLES RECOMMENDED.

There was a fair attendance at the demonstration given by Mrs. Jessica Hazzard at the Woman's club house, Saturday afternoon, but perhaps not so many as would have been present had they realized the great value of the instructions given.

The women were given valuable instructions as how to can fruits and vegetables. The speaker strongly advocated the drying of vegetables.

The News Office prints calling cards, business cards, wedding and birth announcements, invitations, etc.

BEAN CUTTING IS ALMOST FINISHED

YIELD WILL NOT BE VERY LARGE.

15 BAGS PER ACRE ESTIMATE

Threshing Will Be Well Under Way in About Two Weeks; No Damage from Rain Anticipated.

The cutting of lima beans has about been completed on the 7,000 acres in this section, and the indications are that the 1917 crop will not be a bumper one, but the growers will receive a bumper price, which will net them more money than most previous yields.

It is estimated that the acreage is close to the 7,000 mark and that the yield will probably be about 15 bags per acre, although some authorities place it as high as 17 or 18. There are some fields, of course, that will yield 20 or more. The total yield that will pass through the warehouses of the Huntington Beach Warehouse Co. and the Golden West Celery & Produce Co. is estimated at 100,000 bags.

About all of these beans have already been sold at prices ranging from $4.50 to $10.50 per cwt., there being very few contracted at the lower price. The average price is probably about $8. Therefore, the ranchers in this vicinity will receive for their crop of limas between $700,000 and $800,000.

The cutting is considerably earlier than last year. Therefore, no loss from rain is anticipated, as occurred last year, when the average loss from this source was about 10 per cent, but in some instances running to about 30 per cent.

EDUCATIONAL POINTERS.

[V. B. Brown, Principal High School.]

School Opens October the First.

Enrollment of students, September 27th, Thursday, and 28th, Friday. All teachers will be present on those two days to advise with students.

The announcements have been mailed. We want to make sure that every boy and girl of High school age gets one. If you did not get yours, an error has been made. Write to the principal and ask for an outline of the courses. Many students are already replying to the letters with a proposed course of study for the year. That will be of much assistance to us in making out our program and arranging it most advantageously.

There are in our community boys and girls who have dropped out of Grammar school. Some of them should be induced to return to complete their requirements for High school. But they feel that they are too large or too old, or their mates are now ahead of them. We want to get in touch with all such, for the community wants them in Grammar school, or if they have completed Grammar school work, in High school. They should see the principals of the Grammar and High schools, so that their work can be outlined satisfactorily.

Again, there are others who have not completed High school, who feel that they are past the average High school age. High school has something for them. We want their names so that we can place before them our arguments for an education. In one of our High schools, not a large one, either, seven married women enrolled for courses. Some of them, with children in Grammar school, completed the four years' work. No doubt that is repeated in many of our schools.

The advantages of school are yours—why not enroll and get a more liberal education? We have excellent courses in typing, bookkeeping, music, drawing, woodworking, cooking, sewing, science, Spanish, English, history. You will enjoy them. They will be profitable to you.

If any persons have work to be done, work that students can do, will they please get in touch with the principal, phone 96 at High school, or 521, his residence? Will all students who want work to do report to the principal? We want to get the man and the job in touch with each other.

Remember that our High school will give some very thoro courses this year. Many are attracted by a large

"FIRES OF REBELLION" SATURDAY EVENING.

"KING OF THE RAIL" FOR SUNDAY NIGHT.

To those who enjoy the finer things in life and select their photoplays accordingly, an opportunity will be given to enjoy a real movie treat at the Princess Saturday night, when Dorothy Phillips will be seen in the Bluebird masterpiece, "Fires of Rebellion." In these days of social reform, the labor conditions come in for their share of interest, and "Fires of Rebellion" has for its theme the reformation of the conditions surrounding the working girl, and more particularly the factory girl. Like most Bluebird plays, it is realistic and its realism is convincing. It depicts the life in a town where one great industry dominates the social and material conditions, and tells in a series of gripping and forceful episodes how one girl rebelled and found her way out into the world of which she knew so little. She goes to a great city, seeking more congenial atmosphere in the opportunities to be found there, but finds instead of opportunities a network of snares and temptations, until finally, discouraged by her fight against the evils in which she finds herself entangled, she goes back home, content with the love of an honest man, and secure in the shelter of a humble home.

Sunday night, a film of great interest to every thinking person will be seen in "The King of the Rail." This is a wonderful picture in three reels, telling in the form of a story of thrills and heart interest the development of transportation from the time when the Indian made his pilgrimages in his canoe up to the present time of rapid transit through the air. In addition, there will be a two-reel comedy for the children, which is the acme of fun.

Few stars that have been seen at the Princess have produced a mere favorable impression than Harold Lockwood and May Allison. They will be in evidence Tuesday night in "The Promise," one of their very latest successes. It is the story of the making of a man from the raw material of a pampered college boy, spoiled, or nearly so, by the effects of modern civilization. He goes west, and, coming into contact with red-blooded men, is forced to fight his way to the top, and develop the best that is in him. The story is full of action and is peculiarly adapted to Harold Lockwood's style of acting; and in the development of the beautiful love story, May Allison plays a prominent part in a way peculiar to herself. All in all, the picture furnishes an hour and a half's true entertainment, that leaves one with the good, clean feeling of having been in the "great out-of-doors." The usual Tuesday night prices will prevail: Adults, 15 cents; children, 10 cents.

ONE MILLION FOR LIBRARY WAR FUND.

APPORTIONMENT FOR THIS CITY IS $50.

A movement has been inaugurated to raise a fund of $1,000,000, to be used as a war library fund. The work is in charge of the Library War Finance Committee of Washington, D. C.

Miss Proctor, librarian, states that the apportionment for Huntington Beach is $50. The literature sent out states that the librarian will be the campaign director, and that a War Council is to be organized in each library district, consisting of the library board and ten men and women.

The first meeting of the War Council is supposed to convene next Monday afternoon, and the first library conference Thursday afternoon or evening. The campaign subscriptions will open Monday, September 24th.

school, which may give more courses, but no better ones. The small school is notorious for its large percentage of superior students. Small classes mean more personal supervision, closer touch with the instructors, more opportunity for leadership. In a school of 600 a student with fair musical ability has one chance in 30 of getting on the glee club; in a school of 150, about one chance in 8. In a school of 600 students a boy has about one chance in fifty of making the basketball team; in a school of 150, about one chance in 13. The small school develops leaders.

When asked how he happened to become identified with the circus business, Mr. White stated that when a boy he was always interested in home-talent affairs, staging some of them in outside towns, and later managed a small company playing "Uncle Tom's Cabin," then going to one of the small circuses as manager.

Pioneers' Reunion.

A reunion of the pioneers of Westminster was held at Anaheim Landing Thursday of last week, when about seventy of the settlers and their families met for a picnic, many of them not having met since leaving Westminster thirty or forty years ago. The day was spent in visiting and renewing old acquaintances. Dinner was spread in the picnic hall upstairs, the loaded tables reminding them of the picnics of many years ago. The water-melons for the dinner were donated by Geo. Finley, a native son of Westminster. Those from this vicinity, who have lived here thirty years or more, were: John Y. Anderson, Harry Anderson, Mrs. J. F. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Larter, Mrs. Oren Byram, Mr. and Mrs. Everett and Mr. and Mrs. H. Larter. A very enjoyable day was spent by all, and it was resolved to make the affair an annual one, to be held on the sixth of September each year. John Y. Anderson, Mrs. N. Marquis and Mrs. J. F. Patterson were appointed a committee of arrangements.

WEEKLY GREETING.

As to people saying a few idle words about us, we must not mind that, any more than the old church steeple minds the rooks cawing about it.—George Eliot.

SENATORS PHELAN AND JOHNSON.

Judge Harlan G. Palmer, editor of the Hollywood Citizen, severely criticised Senator James D. Phelan, California's senior member of the United States Senate, for his opposition to the conscription of wealth for war purposes.

Any public official who will vote to conscript the lives of thousands of his constituents and against the conscription of the wealth of a few of them is a disgrace to the state or district he represents, and Senator Phelan has placed a triple time-lock on his political coffin.

When Senator Hiram W. Johnson made the statement in the Senate that if we can conscript the blood of the nation, we can conscript the wealth, he voiced a great truth, and the utterance will reverberate until it has penetrated every political crevice in the land, and sooner or later most of those, if not all, who opposed the conscription of wealth will be swept from office by the irresistible tide of righteous indignation.

HIS HANDS FULL.

[Editorial from Hollywood Citizen.]

Sometimes a man's friends can make him a lot of trouble. State Treasurer Friend William Richardson is one of those whose friends are keeping him busy.

This highly esteemed official of the commonwealth doubtless has more close personal friends throughout the state than any other public official.

With only a few exceptions, the thousand or more newspapers of the state feel as personal an interest in him as though he were on their staffs.

And all of these friends, and all of these newspapers want Friend William Richardson to be the next governor of California, and they keep saying so.

Friend Richardson doesn't know yet whether he wants to make the race for governor, and may conclude that he will be satisfied with another term as state treasurer, in which office he has been most highly efficient.

So he has told his friends that he would rather not be mentioned at this time in connection with the governorship.

But if this esteemed official is going to keep his friends from mentioning him for the governorship, it looks as if he would have to take the axe to all of them.

Every day some newspaper joins the ranks of those who are boosting Friend Richardson for governor, and they join the ranks not only by saying favorable things themselves, but by quoting several columns of favorable things that other editors have said.

If being governor is as hard a job as keeping one's friends from booming one for governor, a man who allows troubles to slip off less easily than does Friend William Richardson would not want the job.

SOME PHYSICIANS ADVERTISE.

[Editorial from Riverside Press.]

With the recommendation that the medical profession should advertise in the public press incorporated in its report, the sociology committee of the Ohio State Medical Association has taken a decided step toward revising the profession's code of ethics.

Never before has a state association committee decided to recommend so wide a departure from the beaten path. The committee, headed by Dr. L. Sylvester Goodman of Columbus, announced the opinion that "proper advertising" in the newspapers is legitimate and would benefit both the profession and public.

for their advertising. The spread of cults and healers of various types, the report continues, has been attributed by many to "the fact that they have kept the public informed of their many activities."

County medical societies have begun to use the advertising columns of the newspapers in obtaining publicity on matters of importance to the people and to the societies, and one academy of medicine in Ohio is considering a proposal to make use of paid newspaper space in disseminating authoritative information to the laity and establishing definite recognition by the laity of the organized effort on the part of the medical profession in their behalf, the report points out.

IN LITTLE RUSSIA.

"Being desirous of seeing Little Russia at its best, I drove, in summer," Harry de Windt writes in his recently published book, "Russia As I Know It," from Kieff to Kharkoff "in a 'tarantass,' a vehicle drawn by three horses yoked abreast. The middle one bears a high-arched wooden yoke, or 'duga,' with jangling bells, and advances at a rapid trot, while the horses on either side gallop.

"I have seldom enjoyed a journey more than this one through the Ukraine, which is, in every respect, a pleasant contrast to the bleak and cheerless northern provinces. Little Russia is, of course, the most fertile region on earth, but so are parts of Siberia, and I was here less impressed by the richness of the soil and prosperity of the peasantry, than the attractive appearance not only of the people, but also of their villages—now no longer surrounded by dreary plain and pine forest, but by fields of golden corn and rich pastures, where sleek cattle browsed in the shade of oak and chestnut trees.

"The houses were built, not of wood, but plaited wicker-work plastered with clay and surmounted by a neatly thatched roof, and their walls, which were either whitewashed or of a light rose or green color, were in cheerful contrast to the somber, weather-bleached buildings of Greater Russia. And yet the former are more cheaply and rapidly erected, many portions, such as the roof, window-frames, door-posts, etc., being kept ready for sale at the nearest 'Gostinnoi-Dvor,' or bazaar. And even the humblest dwelling has its carefully tended garden, where the sunflower always predominates, for it is cultivated here on account of its seeds, which are consumed in huge quantities by people of all classes from Kieff to the Black Sea. And I passed my first night in no grimy post-house, but a clean, sweet-smelling cottage, with lattice windows overlooking an orchard gay with pear and apple-blossom; while my evening meal was served, not on greasy oil-skin, but a spotless linen tablecloth. . . . Moreover, I slept in soft sheets, a luxury which I had never previously enjoyed throughout many thousand miles of travel in Russian rural districts.

"The 'Great' Russian is generally careless and slovenly as to his dress, but his southern neighbor loves bright colors and fantastic costumes, and devotes as much attention to his personal appearance as to his garden, which says a great deal.

"I lingered on the road for nearly a week between Kieff and Kharkoff, for this is truly a land not only of music and song, but 'with milk and honey blest.' Everything grows in abundance, grain of all kinds. . . . and especially fruit; for the tiniest cottage has its orchard, the produce of which is generally sent to Kieff, which is justly famed for its jams and preserves. And, from first to last, I drove over excellent roads through a panorama of verdant hills and dales, park-like grazing lands and clear, rapid streams, alternating so frequently with stretches of dark forest or belts of lighter woodland, as to dispel any semblance of monotony.

"The heat in the day-time rather oppressive, but sunset usually brought a cool, refreshing breeze from the Dnieper. And it was pleasant on a still evening, to sit out in the gloaming and listen to the distant voices of women returning from the fields, as they joined in some sweet, plaintive air of Little Russia; while, in the village street, men danced to the twanging of a 'balalaika,' or played 'landrail,' a game in which two long lines are attached to a post driven into the ground. To the former are attached two blindfolded players, one of whom has a short club and the other a hand-bell, which he occasionally rings to indicate his position, the discovery of which insures him a sound drubbing from his antagonist."

QUICK TIME FROM TREES TO PAPER.

From a tree in the forest to a printed newspaper in 145 minutes, or 2 hours 25 minutes, is the record made in a trial at Vienna, Austria, recently. The trial was made to see in how short a space of time a living tree could be converted into a newspaper. At 7:35 in the morning three trees were cut down; by 9:34 they had been stripped of their bark, cut up and turned into wood pulp. They then became paper, and the paper was hustled from the factory to the press. There the first copy, printed and folded, was delivered at ten o'clock.

To many the word autobiography implies nothing but conceit and egotism. But these are not necessarily its characteristics. If an apple blossom or a ripe apple could tell its own story, it would be, still more than its own, the story of the sunshine that smiled upon it, of the winds that whispered to it, of the birds that sang around it, of the storms that visited it, and of the motherly tree that fed it until its petals were unfolded and its form developed.—Lucy Larcom.

That is what we call Character—a reserved force, which acts directly by presence, and without means.—Emerson.

THE COMMANDMENTS OF THE BAGGAGEMASTER.

Few passengers fully realize the conditions a railroad baggageman is laboring under in his endeavor to give satisfactory service. He has been called everything under the sun, but with a little co-operation from the owners of baggage, hotel managers, transfer companies, etc., much of this hard feeling could be avoided. The Southern Pacific recently promulgated the following baggage commandments as a guide to travelers: Don't place liquids in your baggage. The container is liable to break and cause damage. Don't forget that your "doggie" requires a muzzle, strong collar and leash.

WELL-KNOWN TALBERT COUPLE FOOL FRIENDS.

Oliver Jones and Miss Maggie Ellis, two well-known young people of Talbert, decided they would get married, and that it was none of their friends' business just when and where the interesting event happened. The happy young couple went over to San Bernardino and had the ceremony performed last week, and their friends are just hearing the news.

The groom is one of the prominent farmers of this section of the county, being in partnership with his brother, Will Jones, and they farm about 500 acres on the Irvine ranch, besides crops in the Talbert section.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mellie M. Ellis of Talbert, and Mr. Jones is the son of Mrs. W. A. Jones, both families being prominent among the residents of this section of the valley.

DO YOU WANT A HOME MANUAL?

Mrs. Hazzard, who conducted the demonstration at the clubhouse Saturday afternoon, left some home manuals giving valuable information on canning and drying vegetables, and those who desire can get them from Mrs. T. B. Talbert, 378 Seventh street.

There were several women from other clubs present at the clubhouse last Saturday, among them being Mrs. A. J. Lawton of Santa Ana.

HAS RESIDED IN CALI-FORNIA SIXTY-ONE YEARS.

W. W. Martin of Los Angeles was in Huntington Beach Thursday looking after property at Ninth and Palm, which he has owned for the past four years, having purchased it with the idea of some day making his home here.

One might travel all over the Golden State and not meet a more interesting character than Mr. Martin, as he has resided in this commonwealth for the past sixty-one years, having landed at Marysville with his parents when he was eleven years of age. The Martin family left Tennessee in 1856 and crossed the plains in wagons drawn by oxen, the usual mode of travel across the country at that time.

Although Mr. Martin has been on the frontier all of his life, he does not know the taste of liquor or tobacco and never played cards. Mr. Martin states that many times he has been with cowboys and miners when they were starting to have a good time and paint the town red, and he would have all the jewelry and money the others desired to have after the ball was over, as they all knew he did not get drunk and could be depended upon to act as their banker and safe deposit vault.

Mr. Martin is past 72 and is in vigorous health, and says he has experienced very little illness during his life.

He made the trip from San Francisco to Los Angeles in 1872, by stage, and visited Santa Ana at that time, purchasing 80 acres of land at Tustin for $800, which he sold a few years later for $3,000.

DELEGATES OPPOSE AN INCREASE IN RATES.

E. E. French represented the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce at a banquet served by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night.

There were delegates present from the various commercial organizations of the county, and the decision was unanimously in favor of opposing the increase in rates asked for by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. and the Southern Counties Gas Co.

Committees were appointed to cooperate with the Associated Chambers of Commerce, and Mr. French is a member of the committee on the gas question.

SERGEANT TURNER WRITES FROM THE PRESIDIO.

To describe my trip from Huntington Beach to Los Angeles would be a loss of time, for all of you friends have traveled that road many times. However, upon leaving Huntington Beach at 1:30 Friday afternoon, I enjoyed the short trip to the city. I had quite a bit of business to attend to, and just got it nicely done in time to take the 5 p. m. train out of Los Angeles for the Presidio. One thing only have I found, so far, which has not been lovely, and that was the way some of our American soldiers were soused, who were leaving for American Lake, Washington. I can't understand how Uncle Sam can allow liquor to be sold to them or allow them to use it. Liquor is the curse of these fine fellows.

Before the train had pulled out of Los Angeles I had met young men who were being ordered out into the same service as I am in. All of these men, you understand, are enlisted men. Some of them go to Little Rock, Arkansas; some to Georgia; some to American Lake, etc. Of course No. 216, the party or company in which I belong all go to Camp Sheridan, Montgomery, Alabama.

Uncle Sam furnished us with good upper berths in a nice Pullman car, along with other passengers. No. 216 certainly was in a nice crowd and enjoyed every minute of the trip. I won't be able to tell you all that has happened, for that would take too long, but we have had our experiences and expect to have a good many more. One thing, the brake rods on the car we were in broke while going through a long tunnel at about 1:30 at night. Of course, that cut the air, and before it was fixed, all passengers were coughing from the gas, which came in in spite of all that could be done.

By the way, Uncle Sam is guarding these tunnels, and the soldier boys cheered us as we passed out and in of them.

We arrived in San Francisco Saturday morning and went direct to the Presidio, arriving just in time for mess. Of course these meals weren't put on in the style which Uncle Sam had paid for when we were riding on the train, for we had our meals in the diner; but, nevertheless, we did not come out hungry. We had potato, roast beef, gravy, tapioca, bread, coffee or water and plums. Butter—well, the army claims people live too high nowadays, so we go without.

After dinner we were told to get on our uniforms, but when we got down to the place where we were to get them we were informed that the boys were given Saturday afternoons and Sundays off, so we are to receive them Monday. Therefore, they are going to pay our hotel bill and meals over at San Francisco until Monday morning, when we are to report here at six o'clock.

We spent yesterday afternoon seeing Oakland and Berkeley. Today we have seen San Francisco from a bird's-eye view, and are over at the Y. M. C. A. building now at the Presidio, and have seen some of the camp already.

There are supposed to be 50,000 in all here, and I guess there is. Most of the fellows are very nice, and certainly a more accommodating bunch of young fellows couldn't be found than are here.

The men stay in houses or old exposition buildings and the camp is kept up in very nice and clean shape. I'll write more about that some other time.

Would be glad to hear from any of my friends at any time. My address for a while will be, Sergt. Forest B. Turner, c/o G. M. C., Chauffeurs, No. 216, 149 East Cantonment, Presidio, Cal.

AT THE BURBANK.

La Belle Helene will be the feature for the Burbank programme opening at the Monday matinee. Miss Helene is billed as "The Girl With the Auburn Hair," who gives realistic impressions of many of the celebrities of the stage. This is her first visit West, and she is one of the hits all along the circuit. In addition to possessing beauty and talent, she displays a pleasing personality. Wyndham and Moore, presenting "Bits of Vaudeville," is the riot call of the bill, and they pull off stuff that is entirely new and exceptionally clever. The third drawing card is promised by Gilbert and La Mont, who are two original entertainers, who style their vaudeville novelty as "Just Two Boys." Their offering is brimful of cleverness and novelty. Birkinoff, a Russian violinist, who renders some really worthy musical numbers and in a way that is thoroughly different from the ordinary soloist, gives the new bill a musical attraction of much merit. Celia Baker, an unusual acrobatic dancer, rounds out the bill.

Little Zoe Rae, in "The Little Pirate," is the new feature photoplay. There is a beautiful lesson for children and grownups in the story of "The Little Pirate," as well as a rich fund of humor.

Manager Cohn has arranged a programme of such variety that your favorite sort of vaudeville act is sure to be on the bill next week, and he feels sure that it will please everyone.

SOME WAR BOOKS AT PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Miss Proctor reports as follows about war books at the public library:

Have you read "Raymond," by one of the greatest scientists in the world, Sir Oliver Lodge? It may be called a memoir to his son, who was killed in this war; it not only follows him in the trenches, but his life beyond the grave.

"My Home on the Field of Honor" is a simple narrative of a woman left at home in her chateau, sixty miles northeast of Paris, during the perilous times of the great war.

"Obstacles to Peace," by Samuel McClure, is a discussion of the two obstacles, material and spiritual, the result being one of the most incisive and illuminating books of the great war.

"Uncensored Diary," by Ernesta Drinker Bullitt. She is an American woman, who accompanied her husband on a trip to Germany, Austria and Belgium, and these are a record of her daily experiences. The diary was not censored.

"Mademoiselle Miss" is a collection of letters from an American girl serving with the rank of lieutenant in the army hospital; how she was happy in her work preparing Christmas trees and surprises for the wounded.

"Over the Top" is the actual experiences of the author during his stay in the British army. For a year and a half, until he was wounded, he saw more actual fighting and real warfare than any war correspondent.

"When the Prussians Came to Poland" is the story of an American woman, the wife of a Polish noble, caught in her home by the German invasion. She tells of her experiences in the heart of the war zone, her Red Cross work, of her fight for the lives of her children and herself against typhus, and finally of her release and journey to this country. The author lectured in Los Angeles not many weeks ago.

"Private Gaspard" gives the atmosphere of war times. One sees the French on the eve of the terrible war. Following them, one finds the same ones fighting, suffering and dying. Private Gaspard, the hero of the story, wounded and crippled for life, is gay and brave. The spirit of the man is the spirit of France.

"The Worn Doorstep" is a series of letters of an American woman, whose English lover is killed in the war. She writes these letters to him who still lives for her in spirit.

"The Wrack of the Storm," by Maurice Maeterlinck, are the essays written since the beginning of the war. In his beautiful language, he gives a written picture of the struggle.

"Ambulance No. 10" is a series of letters written by a volunteer American ambulance driver. It brings one to the front and should be read by every American.

"The Wonderful Year" is an interesting novel by William Locke. An English schoolteacher visits France for the first time and travels about on a bicycle. In his travels he goes to Egypt and Hong Kong. The end of the year's adventure finds Martin Overshaw enlisting for the great war. And have you read "Mr. Britling Sees It Through," by H. G. Wells? Everybody wants it; the most popular book in the library. It is not a story of the conditions at the front or the horrors of war. Mr. Britling lives in an English village. Here he sees the changes which war brings. Read it.

SOME COFFEE!

One hundred and six thousand bags of coffee, the largest single consignment ever recorded, reached the port of San Francisco recently, announce Southern Pacific officials. The coffee is valued at $2,000,000 and is said to be destined for the American Army.

The Southern Pacific is also handling 140 carloads of sugar from Hawaii, consigned to Brooklyn and Philadelphia, the shipment moving eastward in three special trains. Still another big shipment recorded by the same company is that of a special train of twenty carloads of tobacco, which left for the east recently. Three additional carloads were attached to a special train of silk, which crossed the continent on a passenger train schedule. These shipments indicate the gigantic tasks that are daily confronting the railroads.

A BOY'S VIEW OF CELEBRATION.

[Contributed.]

Well, we went down to Huntington Beach

To celebrate the Third,
Just as we'd planned to ever since
The good news we had heard.

We got up early, did the chores,
While Ma put up the lunch;
And then we piled in Pa's machine
And started with the bunch.

The boulevard is somethin' great,
So we went pretty fast;
But many were ahead of us,
While some went speedin' past.

But we just rambled right along,
Until we got to town;
We brushed our hair and fixed our ties,
And Ma smoothed her new gown.

And then we went to the bathhouse
To watch the swimming races;
Of course, they all worked very hard
To try and get first places.

When that was over we went back
To visit all the stores,
For this was their reception day,
And they all had open doors.

Some had good things to eat and drink,
And some gave souvenirs;
They treated us so very good
We'll remember it for years.

And all this time the band boys,
In uniforms so fine,
Entertained us with their music,
All up and down the line.

Then Pa says, "Ma, I'm hungry,"
So, of course, we moved along
Down to the pavilion,
Where we found a perfect throng.

There were rows and rows of tables,
And of all good things to eat—
There were pies and cakes and doughnuts,
And melons large and sweet.

A man came up and down the rows
With coffee strong and hot;
'Twas free for everybody,
And it sure did take a lot.

When all the lunch was put away,
It must have been some fun
For someone to clean up that floor
For dancing later on.

By this time they were dancing
To music very sweet,
While some sat upon the sand,
To rest their weary feet.

And then we ate up what was left
In our lunch box, you see,
But most of us didn't want much,
Exceptin' Bill an' me.

Then we saw a great big canvas,
And men were making seats
All ready for a picture show,
Right out there in the street.

Well, we got there and took our pick,
Right in the very front row,
For, I tell you what, it takes a boy
To enjoy a picture show.

The band played "Star Spangled Banner"

When the flag came on the screen,
And the crowd was patriotic,
That was very plainly seen.

Were the pictures good?—Well I should say—
I couldn't tell you half;
They were there to please all ages,
But those monkeys made me laugh.

And when the show was over,
And Pa said 'twas time to go,
And said 'twas after ten o'clock,
I wished his watch was slow.

Or else he'd lost it in the crowd,
For folks was goin' down
To dance again 'till midnight,
And it made me scowl and frown.

But Pa says, "We'll come here often,
If you promise not to cry,"
And I says, "Three cheers for Huntington Beach,
May she live and never die."

SERVICE THE BASIS OF COMPETITION

A keen business man said not long ago: "I place all my business with men who know the game, with men competent to render efficient service. I have found by experiment that my interests are better looked after." The men who are able to render the best service must win out.

We invite you to do business with us on this basis.

Secrets of GOOD ADVERTISING

MULTIPLYING THE POWER OF THE ADVERTISEMENTS.

To get the fullest measure of effectiveness out of newspaper advertising, the advertisements should, first, be prepared according to the best accepted standards.

Then, when they have the utmost power built into them, that power should be multiplied by as many additional factors as can be found available.

For example, suppose a grocer were to advertise today a great sale of canned goods for tomorrow. He should take as many copies of the advertisement as required and paste one on each window, facing the sidewalk, and one in each conspicuous place in the store.

He should also give each salesman a copy of it to study and remember. Passers-by and customers will again see the announcement and be reminded of the sale. The clerks will know all about the sale and can often suggest it to their customers.

In this way the advertiser gets many more times the value of his advertising at practically no additional cost. That is how successful advertisers go about their campaigns and several local merchants are following the same plan.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY READY ROOFING.

For nearly thirty years the architects and contractors of California and adjoining states have regarded the well-known Pioneer Roofing as being the best prepared roofing on the market. Its makers have built up an enormous trade and now ship roofing materials to a number of foreign countries as well as doing a very large and growing domestic business.

Now comes the Pioneer Paper Co., in spite of the fact that materials of nearly all kinds have been advancing by leaps and bounds, and announces a new brand of Pioneer roofing (to be known as Pioneer Leader Roofing), which will retail at $2 a roll. The company emphasizes the fact that this roofing will be of the same high grade that has distinguished its products for nearly a third of a century. Furthermore, Pioneer Leader Roofing has a smooth finish on one side and a fine silver grit on the other—either side being applicable for use, according to the individual taste of the purchaser.

In view of prevailing conditions, a guaranteed roofing to sell at $2 a roll (100 square feet) is considered a splendid value, and dealers everywhere are reported to be stocking up heavily. If your dealer cannot supply you, the Pioneer Paper Co., Los Angeles, will send you samples on request and send you the name of its nearest dealer.
