PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS,

TORONTO, 1st November, 1904.

To COLONEL the Honourable J. M. GIBSON, K. C., M. P. P., etc.,
Attorney-General,
Toronto.

SIR,—I have the honor to submit the accompanying reports respecting the various organizations constituted to undertake contracts of insurance indemnity or guarantee in the Province of Ontario. Of these insurers the Ontario Insurance Act (R. S. O. 1897, c. 203) distinguishes the following divisions:

A. Registered Dominion Licensees: being Insurance Corporations Companies or Underwriters operating under or by virtue of the Insurance Act of Canada and registered by the Province of Ontario, for the transaction of insurance in the Province.

B. Provincial Licensees: being Insurance Companies licensed, inspected and registered by the Province of Ontario, for the transaction of insurance therein.

C. Registered Friendly Societies: being Societies registered by the Province of Ontario, for the transaction of insurance therein.

Of these divisions, the Companies comprised in Division B (Provincial Licensees) are alone inspected by the Province, and are here reported on in the usual form and with the usual financial details pursuant to the provisions of the Ontario Insurance Act.

The report upon Division A (Dominion Licensees) made on the 26th January, 1893, described fully their mode and place of incorporation; their statutory powers, duties, rights and obligations; their internal organization; the relation of the members inter se; the liabilities of the members to the creditors of the Company; the kind or kinds of insurance for which the Company is registered in Ontario; and the extent to which assets of the Company have been deposited in various countries as special security for the policy-holders of those several countries. In the present report, except in cases of new licensees, it has not been considered necessary to set out all of these details. Where any change has occurred in the Company's power or status, of which the Department has received notice, the nature and extent of such changes are indicated.

All of the Companies in Division A, except Ocean Marine Companies, make financial statements annually to the Dominion of Canada; and those statements, as revised by the Dominion Superintendent, can be found in the Superintendent's Annual Report. The balance sheets, therefore, printed here, under Division A, are limited to those of Ocean Marine Companies.

The report upon Division C (Friendly Societies) made on the 26th of January, 1893, related to their mode and place of incorporation; the statutes and instruments under which the Societies were constituted, and those by which they are now governed; the kind of insurance or insurance benefits undertaken; that report also showed, inter alia whether or not the certificate holders generally are secured by a surplus fund; and, if a surplus fund is maintained, whether any of this surplus is held in Ontario, if any, how much, how invested, and by whom held and controlled.

The present report on Division C contains in substance the Annual Statements for the year ending 31st December, 1903, made by the Friendly Societies to the Insurance Department for Ontario, under section 96 of the Ontario Insurance Act (R. S. O. 1897, c. 203).

In order to prevent unnecessary delay in publication, the three Divisions have been placed simultaneously in the printer's hands—the pages of the several divisions being distinguished by the Division letter prefixed. Division indexes have been inserted at the end of the volume. These indexes show the Companies and Societies standing registered at the dates therein mentioned.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J. HOWARD HUNTER,
Inspector of Insurance and Registrar of Friendly Societies.

[PROCEEDINGS OF THE MUTUAL FIRE UNDERWRITERS' ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO.]

Address on the "Improved Financial Status of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies in the Province of Ontario."

Delivered by Mr. J. HOWARD HUNTER, M. A., K. C., Inspector of Insurance, at the Annual Meeting of the Mutual Fire Underwriters' Association, held in the Railway Committee Room of the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Friday, February 12th, 1904.

President McEwing presented Mr. Hunter.

MR. HUNTER,—Mr. President and Gentlemen,—Your esteemed Secretary, Mr. Black, came rather unexpectedly to me in the midst of business yesterday afternoon, and reminded me that a meeting of the Mutual Fire Underwriters' Association was, according to time-honored custom, due to be held to-day and to-morrow, and he asked me to say a few words to you. I explained to Mr. Black that there was great pressure of official business on me now; but he thought that as we were such old friends I would have no difficulty in speaking to you on some subject that would be of interest to you. I enquired from him what subject he would suggest? He thought it would be of interest to you all if I gave you a short sketch, from memory, of the financial development of mutual fire insurance in this Province, that is the development of the financial status.

The financial history of mutual insurance in this Province has never been published, and the early records are stored away in the older parts of our libraries. Mutual insurance in this Province has now become a venerable institution. It is nearly seventy years of age; but I do not think the words of the Psalmist would apply to it in the sense that its energies are exhausted at seventy, nor do I think they are likely to be exhausted at eighty years of age. I think it still has a long life before it and a field of great usefulness. The important point is that we make carefully the amendments that are necessary to keep the institution of mutual fire insurance in touch with the new order of things growing up day by day. The world is moving, and moving very rapidly; and we must take account of what will satisfy the world's wants.

Mutual insurance was established in this Province by a general Act of 1836, and that Act was considered a very bold move. The Bill which established mutual insurance was assented to by Sir Francis Bond Head, the then Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, without reserving the Bill for Royal Assent or reserving it for the consideration of the Home Office. The Home Office had its breath taken away by Sir Francis' assent to such a radical measure without referring to them. At that time, you will observe, only one fire insurance company of domestic growth was in operation in this Province. Only one—The British America Assurance Company, established in 1833 as a joint stock company, which of course it still is. The Colonial Office was then administered by Lord Glenelg, a very competent critic on financial matters. He did not veto the Mutual Fire Insurance Bill, but he offered some valuable criticisms on the Bill and on its probable operation. Perhaps it would be of interest to you to know the member who introduced that Bill. It was Mr. Wilkinson that introduced the Bill, and it was seconded by Mr. Roblin, of Prince Edward County. It received the general approval of the House of Assembly, passed its final reading with an opposition of only two votes, and went to the Legislative Council. It hung fire there for a time. The members of the Legislative Council were rather timid on the subject, but they finally agreed to the Bill, and, through Sir Francis Head, it received the Royal Assent. That Bill, or that Act as it had now become, provided for the establishment of one mutual fire insurance company for each of the Districts into which the Province was then divided. You will remember that in its earlier history the Province was divided into a number of Districts, such as the Home District (in which Toronto was situated), the Gore District, the Midland District and the Niagara District. This Act enabled the freeholders of each District to form a mutual fire insurance company for such District. Only one company could be established in each District, and the business of that company was confined to that District. An attempt was made in the House to relax the later restriction, but it was voted down by a large majority. There are several interesting features in that old Act, and some of them persist in the law to this day. Take for instance the qualification of $800 insurance for a Director. This is included in section 117 of the present Ontario Insurance Act. Some of the features of that old Act, however, did not work very well. The financial scheme is very interesting. Those pioneers were tramping the snow and making a track for you; and it is remarkable, considering everything, how well they planned their sections. The premium note was an essential feature; but there was a provision in the Act enacting that at the time of taking the premium note five per cent. of it must be paid. They recognized the danger of depending altogether upon assessments. They particularly had in view the danger of being left without ready money. In addition to the premium note, such as you are using, there was a statutory liability, amounting to five per cent. of the insurance, if the premium note were exhausted. That has been dropped out. It was found to be unnecessary, and to be a dangerous liability. I have said that Toronto was in the Home District. Under this old Act, Francis Hincks, a bright young man, who afterwards became famous in our financial affairs as Sir Francis Hincks, started the Home District Insurance Company, and continued to act as its Manager until he became Inspector-General in the Government of the old Province of Canada. It was he that financed the Government end of the Grand Trunk Railway in 1853. The Honourable John McMurrich was President of the Home District Insurance Company for the last twenty-five years of its existence. At last he informed me that in his opinion there was no longer any public necessity for it. It was established at a time when there was no insurance of a cheap kind in this part of the Province. That Company had an honorable,—a most honorable record. Of all those early mutual companies, every one of which had a most interesting history, there is only one surviving to-day,—The Gore District Mutual Fire Insurance Company. It is now more than sixty-five years of age. It is the oldest domestic insurance company of any kind surviving in Ontario except the British America Assurance Company, which was established in 1833. Now, I think that is a record to be very proud of, and it is a strong answer to those who say that there is some inherent weakness in mutual insurance. The Gore District is not a joint stock company; but it has seen joint stock companies come into existence, go into operation, and go to their burials; and the Gore District is still in full vigor, still growing in strength, and still showing that mutual insurance may be good insurance. Mutual fire insurance has very delicate machinery, more delicate I think than that of the joint stock companies; but, with careful management, and within proper limits, it is just as safe for the public. A very different doctrine prevailed when I first took office as Inspector of Insurance. Then the whole drift of public opinion was to turn the mutual companies into joint stock companies. I said then what I say to-day,—that it is not a question of inherent weakness, but a question of resources and of good management or bad management. Bad management will ruin a joint stock company just as quickly as it will ruin a mutual company. The early history of mutual insurance is full of instruction for us. One great difficulty in the early days was to get payments from the members fast enough to pay the losses. Many of the members neglected to pay. This early Act of which I spoke foresaw that there would be trouble. The Act provided that, if calls on the premium note were not met in thirty days, the Company could sue for the whole of the uncollected part of the premium note, pay the maker's liability out of what it had collected, and hold the balance in trust for that neglectful member until his policy expired. Then the Company had to hand over the balance if no losses happened. Another Parliament found it necessary to provide additional security. It fastened the premium note as a lien on the farm where the insured buildings were. That of course secured the company. It could sell the farm and all the holding in order to get its assessment; but the lien gave endless trouble. It was not safe to buy a farm on which there was mutual insurance; the title was not safe. After many years of trial, that provision was abandoned. I am pointing these things out to you to show you that even in the early days it was never the intention to rest upon the sole security of future assessments; and you see there was always a security for the assessments. The insurance was not given without a substantial sum in advance. There is the weak spot in the financial management of some of the companies that are represented here to-day;—they take nothing at the time of insuring. They give their policy holders six months' or nine months' credit, and depend upon the chance of collecting the assessments. They may collect them, and then again they may not. The man has had the protection afforded by the insurance, but the company has not had the consideration for that protection. If any member fails to pay what he owes the company, that amount is taxed over again on the men who have already paid. A great number of the old companies have passed through all that. I am pointing this out because it is a weak spot to-day in many companies. Many companies that have tried it have abandoned it. Some of the companies never allowed it to creep in. The Westminster Mutual is a hale veteran, about fifty years of age. I do not think that Company ever had to go to the bank for accommodation. It has always met its liabilities and always had something to the good. I remember on one occasion a deputation representing the Westminster Mutual came to me to ask my advice because they had so much money ahead. I spoke to them very frankly. You know how frank I am. ("Hear, Hear" and laughter.) There is not very often a mistake about my meaning. I gave them distinctly to understand that they had not too much ahead, and sent them home. It was not a month after that when a storm passed over their section of the Province that caused them a loss of $10,000.

PRESIDENT—You did not send that storm to relieve them of their cash?

MR. HUNTER—That is what it is to be a politician. Your President thinks he can get behind even the lightning.

Now, in connection with your surplus moneys I desire to say a few words. I see from your Annual Statements for the year 1903 that most of you have had a good year. The liabilities of the companies are mostly "Nil," with good sums in bank and investments besides. I desire to say something about investments. You will notice in the section of the Act respecting permissible investments (section 92 as amended by 1 Ed. VII., c. 21, s. 4), that a very wide selection is permitted. Of course it is not intended that you will suspend your own judgment in selecting investments. The enactment distinctly states that the investments must be "in other respects reasonable and proper." A fire insurance company with investments must keep itself in this position,—its investments must be easily realizable if anything happens. Most of the companies keep a large sum in the bank. It is prudent to have a substantial sum in the bank earning 3 per cent., and I have no doubt you have made arrangements to that effect,—but there is a point at which you might safely look for a better paying investment. Municipal bonds are as a general rule a good investment. If anything happened necessitating your selling them, you would have no difficulty in selling them at what they cost you, or better. You might get 4 per cent., interest, or better, on them. There is no one, I think, in this room so competent to speak on the subject of investments as my old friend, Mr. Strong, the veteran Manager of the Gore District Mutual. I have had the scrutiny of his investments for nearly a quarter of a century, and I must say that I consider his sagacity in selecting investments one of the most remarkable things I have ever met with. I may be wrong, but at the present moment I do not remember that his company has lost one cent in nearly a quarter of a century through his investments. If you went to his office inspecting, as I do, he would produce for you a stack of mortgages half as high as himself. I have gone over them most carefully, to see if the interest is paid regularly, and to see if everything else is in proper shape, and I have always found it so. Mr. Strong has made a lot of money for his Company. It is a very easy matter to put money into mortgages, but how Mr. Strong has managed that the mortgagors are persons who always meet their liabilities, I do not know. Of course he probably knows every man. That gives him a great advantage. He knows where to place his money so that it is absolutely secured. Carefully selected municipal investments form one of his investments. If you examine the statement of the Gore District Mutual, you will see the large revenue that company draws from these investments. While Mr. Strong is with us, (for I am very sorry to learn that he talks of withdrawing from the profession altogether,) while he is still among us, I for one would greatly like a few remarks from him on the question of judicious investing of the surplus moneys of insurance companies. Personally I have never had that experience. I can tell in a very short time when you are going wrong; I have no difficulty there. But that is a very different matter from managing, from inside the office, the investments of the company. The day will soon be here, I hope, when you will all have money to invest. The day will soon come, I hope, when you will not longer have to go down on your knees to any bank. You are financial companies. You should not have to crave for a loan, and be at the mercy of the money-lender. You should all be past that stage; and if you desire to retain the public confidence you should have a substantial reserve. The day for passing the hat has gone. Take the case of the City of Baltimore and its recent great loss. What would happen if the sufferers there had to wait until the insurance companies scrambled around trying to get money to pay their losses? The City would never be rebuilt! When your people have had a bad fire in their home or farm buildings, they need the insurance money quickly. It is true The Ontario Insurance Act gives the companies 60 days in which to pay losses; but I would say to you that if you are satisfied as to it being a bona fide claim and a case of destitution, do not delay in paying. You will strengthen your hands by early payment. I know there are cases in which fraud is tried on the company; and in such cases I say "Fight to the bitter end. Take advantage of everything the Act allows you." Many of you gentlemen have had large experience in these matters. If the loss is an honest loss, and the amount claimed is reasonably proved, and it is a case of destitution, do not wait the 60 days. It will strengthen you with the community when they learn that you are doing better than the law compels you to do. Now, how can a company, depending upon assessments and passing the hat when claims arise, how can such a company be in a position to do its duty to the community? It is not in a financial position to do its duty. Then, there is one thing you should never, as Directors, be compelled to do; and that is to give your personal security to a bank or money-lender for the company's liabilities. That was never intended by the Act, and it is not in any sense necessary. Some Directors have, through lack of moral courage, given their personal notes, and have had to pay these notes personally, and they deserved all they got. I say that when Directors put a company into such a position, they deserve all they get. They should provide for the wants of their company better. In singling out some of the old companies, I am doing so just to give you examples. We have here to-day the representatives of a great many old companies which have earned the respect of all by their honourable dealings. We cannot in Ontario treat mutual fire insurance as an experiment.

It may be interesting if I mention this fact to you. Last spring there came here a representative of the farmers of New Zealand,—Mr. Edwin Hall, the Secretary of the Farmers' Union of New Zealand. That is a very important body in New Zealand. They sent Mr. Hall here as their representative to learn all he could about our system of mutual fire insurance. He staved here for some days and I went over the subject with him and gave him all the information and all the material I could. They had only joint stock companies in New Zealand. He went back to New Zealand, and Mr. Matthew Kirkbride, the President of the Farmers' Union and a member of the House of Representatives of that country, introduced a Bill largely on the lines of The Ontario Insurance Act. The Bill was received with great favor, and Mr. Kirkbride carried the Bill through the House and it is now law in that country. They are very anxious to hear what you are doing here. They are following in your footsteps. I have sent them quantities of literature which will be very helpful to them, and anything you would send them bearing on the question of mutual fire insurance would, I know, be thankfully received. You see how your good work tells! There is an important colony of the British Empire into which our system of mutual fire insurance has been transplanted! Of course the New Zealand joint stock companies financed to the best of their judgment; but the rates there to-day are sometimes like the rates that prevailed in Upper Canada before the mutual insurance companies came into existence. Joint stock companies are at a great disadvantage in dealing with agricultural insurance. There are various elements entering into the question. But the mutual companies are on the ground, and their expenses are almost nothing. Your Directors serve for almost nothing. All these things enter into the question of insurance, with the result that in the early days Ontario farmers were paying in some cases as high as $1.25, or more, per $100 per annum; whereas now they are getting insurance on the mutual system in many cases for 25 cents per $100 per annum. Whether those in New Zealand, will be able to do as well time alone will tell. I have tried to start them well. I have given them all the information and all assistance in my power. I thought that this transplanting of our system to New Zealand would be an interesting and pleasing fact for you to know.

MR. BLACK—Shall we send them some of our reports?

MR. HUNTER—I assure you they will be highly pleased to receive from you anything that will assist them in their work. So you see how your influence has extended to the other side of the globe. While you have been doing good work here, that work has told on the other side of the globe! Good work always tells.

Now, I fear I have taken too much of your time. ("No, No"). I for one would like to hear our old friend, Mr. Strong, speak on the subject of investments. (Applause).

MR. STRONG—Mr. President and gentlemen.—I thank Mr. Hunter most sincerely for his kind words about me. On the subject of investments, I might say that I have not been alone in making these investments. I have been greatly assisted by a very valuable and competent Committee, initiated perhaps by myself some twenty-five or thirty years ago. A Committee of this kind of course means a little expense, but I am satisfied that the weekly meetings of our Executive Committee have been in a great measure the source of our success. There are always in my mind two questions respecting farm mortgages. I wish to know what the mortgagor is like, whether he is healthy or weak, and whether he is a young man or an old man. A strong young man should be able to pay the interest. So I ask, "Is the mortgagor a good man, and has he a good farm behind him?" If these two conditions can be answered favorably, then I am satisfied the mortgagor will pay. Mr. Hunter made some remarks about Directors assuming the liabilities of the Company. When I stepped down from the Presidency of the Gore District Mutual to become the Managing-Director, the Company was face to face with a considerable indebtedness,—a larger amount than the banks would carry,—and I was compelled to personally endorse all the debentures. That is all right if you have belief in the Company and confidence in your own ability. The result in our case has been that, instead of having a deficit of $25,000, we have a surplus of about a quarter of a million dollars. Then, in respect of investments, I never wanted those that made promises of abnormally large percentages. I was not speculating. I wanted something that I was certain was worth one hundred cents on the dollar, and made it a point to take only such. We have not a debenture in our vault to-day that is not worth more than its face value. Very often we receive circulars advertising "5 per cent Gold Bonds." I put them in the waste basket. Now I don't think I have anything more to say. I have given you all the information I can give. Those are the rules I have laid down for myself in making investments. I should not be complimented, because we have had a good committee. It is in the interest of a mutual company to have their Executive Committee meetings regularly and frequently. It is a great mistake to keep putting off the meetings for two or three months. The little additional cost to the Company of the fees that the Committee receive is money well expended. Another great trouble in many companies is that the Board is too large,—is unwieldy. We have reduced ours; formerly we had fifteen Directors, now we have nine. Personally, for most companies I think six would be sufficient. We get the best men we can, and we pay them well for their services. We do not pretend to make money out of our members. We have paid back to the members for many years all the earnings of the assets.

A MEMBER—You took good care to have a good surplus in the treasury before you commenced doing that?

MR. STRONG—Yes, we looked to that. When I took the management, the Company was on the assessment plan. When I made myself personally liable for the Company I adopted a new plan. We started taking 20 per cent in advance, or 21 per cent at the end of the year. Then we stopped taking 21 per cent at the end of the year and have worked on the plan of taking 20 per cent in advance ever since. We do not grade our risks as Mr. Beattie recommended.

MR. BLACK—You still have the rate you had 25 years ago?

MR. STRONG—Yes. Gentlemen, I thank you very much for your patient hearing.

A MEMBER—How often does your Executive Committee meet?

MR. STRONG—Every Monday morning.

MR. LEVI STAUFFER—Mr. President,—I have great pleasure in moving, seconded by Mr. Strong, the following resolution, "Resolved that we, the Mutual Fire Underwriters' Association, tender to Mr. J. Howard Hunter, the Inspector of Insurance, a hearty vote of thanks for the able and instructive address he has delivered to us to-day; and we express the hope that Providence will long spare his useful life to the Province of Ontario and its people."

PRESIDENT McEWING—Gentlemen,—You have heard the resolution that has been placed in my hands, moved by Mr. Stauffer and seconded by Mr. Strong. Does any member desire to speak to the motion?

MR. STRONG—Although I have already taken up a good deal of your time, I cannot allow that resolution to pass without saying a few words. Our friend, the mover, has not had, perhaps, the same opportunities of knowing the value of Mr. Hunter's services to mutual fire insurance as I have had. I want to say that many times since Mr. Hunter was appointed to the position of Inspector of Insurance he put me right when I was wrong, and I desire to thank him for that, as well as for his kind words to-day.

MR. BLACK—Allow me to make one remark. I have had the privilege of knowing Mr. Hunter, as I had of knowing his predecessor, Dr. O'Reilly. Mr. Hunter has cracked me over the fingers many times when we were both younger, and I thank him for it. I believe that mutual insurance companies are what they are to-day very largely because they have been in Mr. Hunter's care.

MR. COCHRANE—I wish to express the pleasure it is to hear Mr. Hunter. Mr. Hunter did me a great service nearly 25 years ago by giving me an insight into insurance that otherwise I might never have had. I have always found him upright and firm, and he always does just the right thing. We owe to him to a great extent the Statutory Conditions, and the mutual insurance companies of Ontario will never be able to pay what they owe to Mr. Hunter.

PRESIDENT MCEWING—Gentlemen, you have heard the motion, and I will ask you to express your pleasure by a standing vote. (To Mr. Hunter.) I have much pleasure, Mr. Hunter, in extending to you, by the unanimous vote of the Association, a hearty vote of thanks for the able and instructive address delivered to us to-day, and the hope of the Association that you will long be spared to the Province of Ontario and its people.

MR. HUNTER—Mr. President and gentlemen,—I can hardly find words to thank you for your extreme kindness to me. You can well understand that a person in my position has often disagreeable duties to perform, and how to do a disagreeable duty in the least offensive way is very often a most difficult matter. I will say that I have had the greatest possible assistance from the officers of the companies. The officers of the companies have been faithful and true to their companies, to their members, and to the public. Sometimes their opinions and mine diverge, but on no occasion has that divergence of opinion led to any practical inconvenience. I have great faith in a democratic institution of this kind,—for this Mutual Fire Insurance is a democratic institution; the people governing themselves, financing for themselves, and protecting their own property,—I have great faith in such an institution carefully managed. It is hard for me to find words to thank you for your kindness towards me, but I do thank you most sincerely.

AMENDMENT BY FRIENDLY SOCIETY OF ITS RULES RESPECTING BENEFITS:
(UNREPORTED CASE) Armstrong v. Toronto Police Benefit Fund, H. C. J., 30th April 1901, Street, J.: AFFIRMED BY COURT OF APPEAL, 24th DECEMBER, 1902.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

ARMSTRONG v. TORONTO POLICE BENEFIT FUND.

JUDGMENT—STREET J. 30th April, 1901.

Action tried before me at Toronto without a Jury on 18th and 19th April, 1901.

DuVernet for plaintiff.

Aylesworth K. C. and Symons for the defendants.

Under the Rules of the defendant Society in force down to 31st December, 1894, the plaintiff having resigned in good health after upwards of twenty years service would have been entitled to a pension for life of half his pay, and this is the claim which he made upon the fund on the 29th May, 1900, a fortnight after he resigned, and which he seeks to maintain in this action.

The defendants' contention is that the Rules were duly amended in December, 1894, the amendments coming into force on 1st of January, 1895; and that, under the amended Rules, a service of twenty-five years became necessary to entitle a member to half-pay pension. The plaintiff contends that the defendants had no power to amend the Rules to the plaintiff's prejudice; that these amendments were never duly made; and, even if there were power to pass them, they have therefore never become effectual. The questions are, whether the defendants had power to pass these amendments so as to affect the plaintiff; and, if they had the power, whether they have properly exercised it.

There is no dispute as to the length of the plaintiff's service, and it was agreed that according to the method prescribed by both sets of Rules it is twenty-four years five months and thirteen days. The defendants admit that the plaintiff became entitled upon resigning to a gratuity or allowance, under sub-sec (a) of section 25 of the rules coming into force on January 1st, 1895, of twenty days' pay for each year's service completed, the pay being computed for the whole period of service at the rate received by the member in his twentieth year of service, which was in the present case $2.00 a day.

The question of the power of the defendants to amend the Rules is governed by the provisions in force during the period of the plaintiff's membership which deal with the subject of amendments and the manner in which they may be made, for the plaintiff must be taken to have assented to those Rules which were in force when he became a regular member or which have since been duly passed.

The earliest Rules of the Society contained a provision, which has remained unaltered ever since, in the following words:—"additions, alterations or amendments to the Rules and Regulations of the Benefit Fund must be made at the regular meeting of the Committee, written notice of such change having been given at a previous regular meeting and a two-thirds vote of the Committee shall be necessary to carry such addition, alteration or amendment; and such addition, alteration or amendment before taking effect must receive the sanction of the Board of Police Commissioners."

There has therefore been, from the commencement of the Society and during all the time that the plaintiff has been a member of it, a Rule authorizing the Committee to alter the conditions of membership without any restriction as to the subjects with regard to which alterations might be made; and the plaintiff as a member of the Society must be taken to have been a party to the making of the amendments by the Committee, in whose selection he had a voice.

The plaintiff's position in this litigation is, that having paid certain annual dues for many years upon the strength of a Rule that after twenty years of such payment he should be entitled on resigning to a half-pay pension; and that this Rule gave him a vested right and entitled him to say that the Rule must not be altered to his prejudice. The answer to this contention is very plain, and it is this:—that there was vested in the Committee an unrestricted right to make changes in the Rules, in the face of which there could not possibly exist any vested right in any member to insist that they should not be changed.

There was therefore in my opinion power to make the change of which the plaintiff here complains, and the only question is whether the change has been duly made under the Rules.

The plaintiff's objection to the manner in which the amendments were passed is that there were not the requisite vote of two-thirds of the members of the Committee cast in favor of the amendments. There is no doubt that upon the face of the minutes this objection appears to be well taken; for the recorded vote is that five members whose names are given voted for the amendments and that three members whose names are given voted against them. But these minutes, although no doubt entitled to much weight as a contemporaneous memorandum of what took place at the meeting, are not conclusive. I have come to the conclusion after hearing the evidence that the Secretary made a clerical error either in his original notes of the meeting (which are not produced) or in transcribing them into the book, and omitted the name of one of two members of the Committee named Duncan. Nine members were present at the meeting all of whom voted upon the motions which preceded the final vote upon the amendments; it is sworn that no one left the room and that all nine voted upon the amendments, both the Duncans swearing that they voted for them, although the name of only one is recorded as having voted at all. Moreover the members of the Committee were aware that the amendments could not be carried except by a two-thirds majority, and they say they were carried by that majority.

In my opinion therefore the amendments were validly made, and were binding upon the plaintiff.

The plaintiff further objects that the defendants in tendering him the amount made up upon the basis of the amendments tendered the same after action and tendered a sum short by about $2.00 of the amount to which he was entitled, and paid into Court a sum short by the same amount. They have however in calculating the amount allowed for the broken period of five months and thirteen days over and above the complete period of twenty four years which is all he could claim under the Rules.

The plaintiff has also claimed a sum of about $30.00 from the defendants under the following circumstances. Down to the end of 1892 the Rules required members to pay in 3 per cent of their pay to the Benefit Fund.

An alteration was made by the Police Commissioners, coming into force on 1st January, 1893 as was supposed, raising the dues to 5 per cent., and the additional 2 per cent., was paid during the years 1893 and 1894 by all the members. Late in 1894 it was held that the alterations had been validly made. Thereupon the greater part of the members signed without objection an agreement to leave the 2 per cent. in the Fund. The plaintiff and a few others at first objected to do so; but upon being offered the alternative of signing the agreement or sending in their resignation they all signed it. Under these circumstances I fail to see how the amount can be recovered back. The mutual agreement to allow the 2 per cent to remain in the Fund for the mutual benefit of the members is a consideration which prevents any one member from withdrawing his portion of the amount, and there was nothing illegal in the alternative which was offered. The plaintiff was told by his employer that he might have his money if he chose, but that if he took it he could no longer retain his employment.

I think therefore that the plaintiff is only entitled to the sum which the defendants have paid into Court for him.

The whole contest has really been as to whether he was entitled to his half-pay pension under the old Rules, or to his allowance under the new Rules, and he has failed in his contention. He has moreover gone out of his way to charge the defendants with procuring him to be compelled to resign in order that he might be debarred from his right to a pension, and he has offered no evidence in support of his charge. I can see no reason why he should not pay the costs of the action and they will therefore be deducted from the money in Court if it has not been taken out, or paid by him if it has.

IN THE COURT OF APPEAL FOR ONTARIO.

ARMSTRONG v. POLICE BENEFIT FUND.

The Judgment of the Court was delivered by Garrow, J. A., 24th December, 1902.

GARROW, J. A.

The plaintiff's claim as set forth in his statement of claim is, (1) That under the defendants' rules of March 10th 1887 he is entitled to a life pension out of the fund controlled by the defendants, he having served as Policeman for a period of 24 years 10 months and twenty-five days, such rules requiring a service of at least twenty years to entitle a member to such a pension; (2) That the Rules as amended in December, 1894 requiring twenty-five years' service were irregularly passed, and that in any event he had then under the former rules acquired a vested right; (3) That if the Rules of December, 1894, are valid the defendants induced the Police Commissioners to compel the plaintiff to resign without a reasonable cause, thereby preventing him from serving the full period of twenty-five years; and (4) That the defendants improperly deducted 5 per cent of his pay instead of 3 per cent., for some years and he claims the difference.

Claim (3) may be at once dismissed from consideration: for, apart from the question of whether it states a legal cause of action, it is sufficient to say that there is no evidence to support it.

As to the other causes of action, I entirely agree with the judgment pronounced at the trial before Street J., without a Jury, who held that the Rules of December 1894 were properly and regularly amended, and are valid and binding on the plaintiff, and that the sum paid into Court is sufficient to satisfy his just claim.

The only question of fact really was whether Acting Detective Duncan voted on the resolution to amend these rules in December, 1894. The minutes of the meeting do not show that he did, and by omitting his name certainly imply that he did not, but the oral evidence conclusively establishes that he did so vote, and the minutes must therefore be held to be erroneous.

It is further objected by the plaintiff that Acting Detective Duncan had ceased to be eligible to represent his fellow Constables, the rules requiring that there shall be upon the Board five representatives of the ordinary rank and file. He was elected as one of the five, and it is not pretended or claimed that when elected he was not eligible; but the plaintiff's contention is that his subsequent promotion created a disqualification. He is described as "Acting Detective" at the time these amendments were passed. This may imply promotion, but no evidence of that fact was given. Assuming, however, that it is a case of promotion, he was still a member of the Force and there is nothing in the rules, (which I have carefully read), to disqualify him or to create or to provide for filling a vacancy, if it is a vacancy caused by such a promotion. Elections to the Board are under the rules held once a year, and in the absence of any provision for a disqualification occurring during the year by reason of promotion, and for filling what would otherwise be a vacancy, it is reasonable I think to assume that it was not intended that upon such a promotion Acting Detective Duncan's seat at the Board became vacant.

The plaintiff's main contention or at least one upon which his counsel apparently laid much stress before us, was that only the Society itself could pass or amend rules for the management of the Fund in question. This of course would be serious if it could be maintained, because there is no evidence that the Society as a Society ever met, or ever passed a rule; and the result would be that the Society is and throughout its existence has been wholly without lawful rules for the management of its affairs. But it is apparent that the contention, if well founded, would be at least as embarrassing to the plaintiff as to the defendants. The defendants have paid a sum of money into Court, stating that it is sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim. The plaintiff must prove that he is entitled to a larger sum, and he attempts to do so only by setting up the rules of March, 1887, while attacking those of December, 1894. But it is clear that the same authority, namely the Committee or Board of Management organized under the rules, passed both sets of rules; and if one is unauthorized as beyond the competency of the Committee, the other is also.

Incorporation of the defendants' Society was obtained under R. S. O., 1877, Chapter 172. There had been an unincorporated Society of similar purpose with printed rules and regulations in existence for some time before the application for incorporation. The written application for incorporation was made by certain persons, eight in all, styling themselves Officers of the Unincorporated Society, and a printed copy of the Rules and Regulations of the unincorporated Society was attached to and formed part of the declaration required by the Statute to be filed. This has been held, I think properly, to incorporate such rules and regulations into what may be called the Charter or Organic Law of the newly incorporated Society.

Re Ontario Insurance Act (Select Knights) 31 O. R., 154. And in the rules so attached as they stood at incorporation, there is a provision that additions, alterations or amendments are to be made at a regular meeting of the Committee, so that if these rules are part of the organic law of the Society, as I think they are, the amendments made from time to time including those of December, 1894, in accordance with the provision which I have in part quoted; are valid and binding on the plaintiff. There is no case of vested rights involved. The defendants' incorporation was obtained in December, 1894. His rights were then precisely those of the other active contributors, who had acquired no absolute right to a pension when the rules were amended in December, 1894. His rights were then precisely those of the other active contributing members of the Force, and this continued to be the case until upon the plaintiff's resignation he became entitled for the first time, as a vested right, to what under the rules and regulations then in force was payable to him, and the sum to which he thus became entitled appears to have been paid into Court. The plaintiff finally contends that if his other contentions fail he is entitled to some two dollars more by way of interest than was paid into Court.

Interest is payable as damages under the Statute, and I am not at all sure that the plaintiff was entitled to any interest as a mere matter of strict right. He at once upon his resignation made the contention which throughout this litigation he has urged, and in which he fails. The defendants could not have paid the money which they afterwards paid into Court, because it is clear the plaintiff would not have accepted it. He refused it when tendered to him after action, and down to the present moment he has refused to receive it as the proper sum. I think a jury might have withheld interest as damages under the circumstances, and if so the Court may. In any event the amount is too small to be of importance except as it might possibly affect the costs of the litigation, and as to that it could properly have no effect, the plaintiff having failed in his main contention. For these reasons I decline to enter into a minute calculation of whether the amount paid into Court included the full amount of interest on the claim from the time it became a claim against the defendants. With reference to the claim for the two per cent., paid into the defendants in the years 1893 and 1894, amounting to about $200.00 I do not feel disposed to interfere with the learned Judge's finding at the trial disallowing the claim upon what appears to me to be sufficient grounds.

The appeal therefore in my opinion wholly fails and should be dismissed with costs.

C.

ON RECENT ENACTMENTS AFFECTING FRIENDLY SOCIETIES; PREMIUM RATES FOR FRIENDLY-SOCIETY INSURANCE.

Address by Mr. J. HOWARD HUNTER, M. A., K. C., Registrar of Friendly Societies, delivered at the Thirteenth Annual Session of the Canadian Fraternal Association, Toronto.

[Proceedings of Association, Friday, 29th April, 1904.]

The President announced that J. Howard Hunter, Esq., M. A., K. C., Registrar of Friendly Societies, was present, and had kindly consented to deliver a short address.

MR. HUNTER: Mr. President and Gentlemen:—I hardly know what you desire me to speak on this morning. It was suggested, I think, that I should say something about recent legislation. If you refer to the legislation of 1904 affecting fraternal societies, I am then in the position of the author who wrote a treatise on "Snakes in Ireland," and began with the statement, "There are no snakes in Ireland." There was very little legislation this session, almost none, affecting friendly societies. You perhaps are interested in section I of the Act (4 Edward VII., Chapter 15) which went through:—

"On any application to the Insurance Registrar for incorporation as a friendly society under sections 33 to 39 of this Act, the applicants shall be required to show to his satisfaction that there is real and substantial reason and necessity for the society proposed to be incorporated, and that the granting of the application would not be contrary to law or to the public interests."

Of course you are aware that the policy of the Legislature was to prevent the further incorporation of Life Insurance Societies in this Province. That was settled in 1890. The policy of the Legislature was to enable the existing societies to reform their financing where reform was necessary, as it generally was; and this reform was not to be interfered with by the competition of perhaps some irresponsible young societies that might at any time be started. The difficulty in such a reform is largely a question of competition; for a reckless young society can get along, if the lives are reasonably well selected, for ten or fifteen, or even more, years. The effect of incorporating new societies would be to bring into competition with existing societies which were struggling with the question of financial reform, competing societies that had no sense of responsibility and no immediate liabilities impending. This would have put the existing societies at a very serious disadvantage; and, in fact, reform would have been indefinitely postponed. That policy has been adhered to. But the societies referred to in the new section just read are Sick and Funeral Benefit societies. There is a class of societies giving sick and funeral benefits which can be incorporated under the Act in connection with large manufacturing establishments. We have several of them in this city, but there has been a disposition lately to apply for the incorporation of other societies that are really speculative in their character, or entirely visionary, and it was thought wise to put a stopper on such applications. The friendly societies of this country are not intended to be in any case speculative; they are intended to be bona fide, and solely for the benefit of the members.

The only other section in the Act of this Session in which you would be specially interested is one (Section 7) relating to the case of beneficiaries predeceasing the assured. That provision of the Ontario Insurance Act (s. 159 (8) was amended in 1903 by 3 Edw. VII., c. 15, s. 7, but it was thought that the wording was not as clear as it might be made, and therefore the clause has in 1904 been recast so that all reasonable doubt has been removed. That is one of the most frequently used provisions in the Ontario Insurance Act. I hope now that the intention of the clause is placed beyond all possible doubt. The clause is now expressed as follows:

"(8) If one, or more, or all, of the designated or ascertained preferred beneficiaries, whether an apportionment has been made or not, die in the lifetime of the assured, the assured may, by an instrument in writing attached to or endorsed on, or referring to and identifying the policy of insurance by number or otherwise, declare that the share or shares of the person or persons so dying shall be for the benefit of the assured, or his estate, or any person or persons named or ascertained by him in that behalf, whether or not the person or persons so named or ascertained belong to the preferred class of beneficiaries: and in default of any such declaration the share or shares of the person or persons so dying shall be for the benefit of the survivor or survivors (in equal shares) of the said designated or ascertained preferred beneficiaries; or if there is no such survivor the insurance shall be for the benefit, in equal shares, of the children of the assured, and if no surviving children of the assured, then the insurance shall form part of the estate of the assured.

During the session of 1903 there were some clauses passed which I might briefly notice. I believe I have not spoken to you about them before. Section 3 of the Act of 1903 (3 Ed. VII., c. 15) removes all doubt as to the right of a beneficiary or an assignee, or other derivative claimant, to sue in his own name for insurance money. This right was for some years thought to be beyond all doubt, but lately some doubt was cast upon it, and the late Chief Justice Armour then a Judge of the Supreme Court, called upon me and urged very strongly that all possible doubt should be removed as to that right, because in some recent cases there were doubts entertained. I therefore drew this clause and submitted it for the opinion of Judge Armour, and he thought it would remove all possible doubt. This clause enacts: "Any person now being, or hereafter becoming entitled as beneficiary, or by assignment, or other derivative title to money payable under a contract of insurance, and possessing at the time of action brought the right, either at law or in equity, to receive, and the right to give an effectual discharge to the insurer liable under such contract for such money, shall be at liberty to sue for the same in his own name." It had been argued by some lawyer that the name of the policyholder, or the policyholder's executors, must be joined with the beneficiary in suing, which, of course, was never intended, never thought of except by some despondent lawyer who was at the last extremity for an argument.

Then here (3 Ed. VII., c. 15. s. 4) is an important section of last Session's Act. Some of your societies are constantly dealing with beneficiaries who have removed from the Province, and it has often been a serious question whether a receipt in the case an infant, executed by the guardian of that infant abroad, was a good discharge. You are naturally timid about paying away money unless you get a good receipt,—very properly so. Some of the Judges had raised doubts on that point. To clear the matter it was enacted by section 4 of the Act of 1903 as follows:—

"(4) Where the person (including corporation) entitled to receive money due and payable under any contract of insurance within the meaning of this Act is domiciled, or is resident, in a foreign jurisdiction, and payment, valid according to the law of such jurisdiction, is made to such person, such payment shall be valid and effectual for all purposes whatsoever, whether the person receiving and entitled to receive such money received the same in his own right or received the money as the agent, representative, trustee, guardian, curator, tutor or committee of another." That protects you in paying money in the case of persons domiciled abroad.

A question arose as to the limitation of action when death was presumed from absence. That has been rather a troublesome question of late years. A man disappears without any apparent reason, and is completely lost sight of. The widow, or alleged widow, makes a claim after seven years, declaring that she has not heard of her husband and believes him to be dead, and claims as if his death had been proved. The Courts have been rather disposed to allow that kind of proof of presumptive death. Then the question arose as to the interpretation of the clause of the Act (R. S. O. 1897, c. 203, s. 148 (2) as amended by 1 Ed. VII., c. 21, s. 2 (3), which allows the right of action within a year and a half from the time of the claim arising. The equitable way seems to be, as the new provision enacts, that the time should run from the expiration of the seven years. It was suggested at one time that the year and a half should be included in the seven years, but I do not see how that could possibly be done. First of all there must be either the actual death or the presumptive death before the claim could arise. Then a year and a half for the action must be allowed after that. This clause (3 Ed. VII., c. 15, s. 5) sets the question at rest. Then in section 8 of the same Act of 1903 the Legislature dealt with the case of those of your Societies which are liable for a gross sum to a member on his reaching a stated age. I think these contracts were very unfortunate; I have a strong opinion as to the unwisdom of such contracts, but there they were. They were made under power enjoyed by the societies before the Legislature took any active supervision over them. It was found that these claims were falling in en masse on the societies, and threatening to be a financial embarrassment. At the request of some of the societies interested, the Legislature enacted that a society might amend its Constitution and Laws so that instead of a gross sum payable on obtaining a stated age, equal annual instalments not exceeding ten in number might be paid without interest. That now forms part of the law. Those are the only points of interest in legislation on which I have not before addressed you.

I read with much interest the notices of your yesterday's proceedings in the newspapers. I was very glad indeed to notice that you had been favored with attendance of the President of the National Fraternal Congress on this occasion. The proceedings of that body I have read with a great deal of interest; they have been most instructive, and ought to be in the hands of everyone interested in the welfare of friendly societies.

I was struck with one or two facts mentioned in the last proceedings of the National Fraternal Congress (1903). It was there said that the insurance contracts on foot in societies forming that Congress aggregated more than five and a half billions of dollars. The amount is simply paralyzing, even to the imagination. And numerous societies are not represented in that Congress, but are represented in another Congress which is known I think as the "Associated Fraternities." I also noted in the proceedings of the National Fraternal Congress that the annual payments of insurance moneys by the societies in the Congress stood at fifty-two and a half millions for the year 1902, or over a million per week, distributed among 25,000 homes. Also that during the previous ten years the societies forming that Congress had paid out over three hundred millions of dollars in benefits to the beneficiaries of 192,470 members.

The very magnitude of these operations makes it the clear duty of the Fraternal Congress to examine as to the stability of the fabric. Such a fabric is undeniably grand, and imposing, and magnificent. But the disturbing question is, will it stand? To that question the Fraternal Congress has addressed itself, and investigated especially what a minimum rate for a whole life insurance of $1,000, should be, the expense of management being excluded. In 1899 the Fraternal Congress compiled a mortality table, and deduced therefrom a table of rates representing the minimum of safety.

In Ontario, of course, we have no such enormous sums in the form of liabilities, but still the amount is very, very large. So large that it has often been the source of great anxiety. As you are aware, in 1896, having the same question present to my mind as the Fraternal Congress afterwards had in 1899, I computed the minimum table of rates—that is, the minimum of safety—for a whole life insurance of $1,000. I took the experience of the Canada Life Assurance Company, a very carefully managed Company, as you know, erring very often on the side of safety in the selection of lives. The mortality in the Canada Life was considerably lower than the mortality shown in the tables that we know as the Hm Tables. Therefore I took the mortality of the Canada Life for 46 years, from 1847 to 1893, as the basis of my calculations, and, as explained in the Official Bulletin then published, I reached the net rates of premiums, (for of course, non-participating whole life policies,) which are the net rates that you now find appended as Schedule A to the Ontario Insurance Act (R. S. O., 1897, c. 203). Naturally, therefore, I followed with a great deal of interest the proceedings of the National Fraternal Congress when they published their tables; and I was very much gratified to find that their rates did not differ materially from the rates which I had arrived at—(Applause); and in some cases were almost identical. That, I think, ought to satisfy every reasonable mind that the minimum of safety has been ascertained. And if that minimum has been ascertained, the duty of the societies is perfectly plain. That duty is, the duty of financial reform. I was glad to observe, by one of the morning newspapers, that your President had been calling your attention to this question, which overshadows every other that can possibly be brought before this Association, the question of the financial stability and sovereignty of the societies.

Lately the National Fraternal Congress has been testing its own tables by the actual mortality experienced in the societies forming the Congress during the year 1902. The actual mortality experienced was found to be 95.03 per cent., of the mortality shown by the table; in 1900 it was 97.46 per cent., in 1901 it was 97.63 per cent. What more striking verification could you have or could you desire of the accuracy of that table?

One of the largest societies in the country has rectified its rates. A large number of other societies are gradually rectifying their rates. There is a general movement, but I confess I would like to see greater rapidity in the movement. Some of the societies seem not to appreciate the extreme importance of the question. I was very glad to see that the Independent Order of Foresters had made itself conspicuous in the question of the reform of its premium rates. From the respected head of that institution I have differed on questions from time to time, but we do not differ at all on the necessity of reforming rates; and I was greatly gratified that he had shown so good an example to all the rest in the matter of dealing with an extremely difficult and perplexing question. I fully appreciate your position as officers in dealing with your people. These societies were started at a time when there was very little information available as to mortality, and what information there was was in such a form as to be very unintelligible except to minds strictly mathematical. Having no guidance, you were just in the same position as those great English societies were in their early years; you went through the same phases, and I hope will reach the same result as those great English societies that have reformed their finances and have immensely gained not only in numbers, but in public confidence and in financial strength. Perhaps you are not aware how that reform was brought about in England. The Manchester Unity, in 1870, boldly published an actuarial valuation of its policies, and the result was extremely interesting to the Manchester Unity. It showed that actuarially the society was insolvent. There was an explosion. The officers were blamed. The officers that soon afterwards were extolled for being so bold and manly in taking a difficult question in a firm way and dealing with it; but first they were criticized for making this disclosure. It created a sensation in England; so much so that a Royal Commission was issued the same year to inquire into the financial solvency of friendly societies. That Commission sat for some years taking evidence, and the result was the Imperial Act of 1875, which requires a quinquennial valuation of friendly society policies. The two great English societies are not even now quite actuarially solvent; and they do not deny the fact. They say, "we are worth so many shillings and pence in the pound, and we are short so many shillings and pence in the pound,"—the shortage amounting in the aggregate to a considerable sum. That is their condition as to actuarial solvency. Of course commercially they are solvent; that is to say, they pay all debts as they arise; but they are not satisfied with that; they say "we must be actuarially solvent," and they have continually worked to that point, sometimes taking very strong measures with recalcitrants,—cutting off lodges that did not comply with the higher table of rates and cutting off even whole districts of lodges that did not comply. It is in that way that they have made the very radical reform that is so striking a feature of the English societies.

I have been reading with considerable interest papers that have appeared in the Fraternal Monitor, an excellent journal published in Rochester, N. Y., and an undoubted friend of fraternal societies. It cannot be doubted that it speaks in the true interest of the societies. It is anxious to see the same reformation accomplished here that has been accomplished in England. The great difficulty with us is how to get there. Among the leading correspondents or contributors to that journal are various actuaries, whose papers are always interesting and stimulating. It has been suggested that you reform by treating your policies as term policies and it is argued very plausibly that the ordinary society policy was in its origin a term contract. What would that mean? A term policy in your case means a policy the premium of which would vary year by year, if not month by month. Your policy-holders would have to pay the natural or yearly increasing premiums instead of the level or uniform annual premium. You call the monthly instalments of premiums dues, but that is only another phrase for premium,—the money consideration for the insurance. The natural premium is a yearly increasing amount as everyone will understand. A young man of 25 is a very different subject for insurance from a man of 75, and the difference in the natural premiums for the two ages is enormous. Now, in converting your policies, you have to deal with old men. If you were to convert your policies into term policies and charge year by year the natural premiums at the then attained age,—for that would be the only sensible way of working it out,—if you were to charge these old men, year by year, the premium proper for that year of their life, you would have a very warm time. I have brought together some data that perhaps may interest you. This is a subject that is considerably discussed in the United States just now and in a redifed form such a contract appears to have been tried by the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company of New York.*

Now, taking the Mortality table of the National Fraternal Congress, and taking four per cent., as the current rate of interest, the natural or "step-rate" premium for an insurance of \$1,000, for one year at age 25 is \$5.20. With each year of his life the policy-holder on this plan has to step higher than the year before—after descending deeper into his pocket. When he has reached 40 years of age, his premium for that year has reached \$7.17, or between $1\frac{1}{3}$ and $1\frac{1}{2}$ times what he paid when he was 25 years of age. At 50 the premiums would have reached \$11.44, or about 2 1-5 times the initial premium. At 55 it would be \$15.71, or more than 3 times; at 60 nearly $4\frac{1}{2}$ times; at 65 more than $6\frac{1}{2}$ times; at 70 more than 10 1-3 times the initial premium; at 75, the premium for that year would reach \$85.48, or more than 16 times the initial premium. The rapid advances in yearly step-rate premiums from ages 60 to 80 are seen from the following table of natural premiums based on the mortality experience of the National Fraternal Congress.

Age.	Natural or Step-rate Premium.	Age.	Natural or Step-rate Premium.	Age.	Natural or Step-rate Premium.
	$ c.		$ c.		$ c.
60	22 75	67	40 96	74	77 78
61	24 64	68	44 78	75	85 48
62	26 72	69	48 98	76	93 99
63	29 03	70	53 65	77	103 40
64	31 57	71	58 81	78	113 84
65	34 39	72	64 49	79	125 35
66	37 52	73	70 81	80	138 09

These are the natural or step-rate premiums for $1,000; and for policies of $2,000 and $3,000 would, of course, be twice and thrice as much. So that at the higher ages in the foregoing table the conversion of the policy into a yearly term contract, and the enforcing of natural premium rates would practically amount to cancellation of the policy.

Then there is this formidable legal difficulty, that a term policy was not the real intention of the parties that entered into the contract. The parties really intended a whole-life contract (Long v. A. O. U. W. (1898) 25 A. R. 147). In 1901 I explained to you the genesis of these Life Insurance Societies, and how it came about that things have taken their present form. Immediately after the Civil War in the United States, there were an immense number of bubble companies formed on the old line pattern. We often hear of friendly society bubbles, but our friends who talk so much about friendly society bubbles should remember that there were bubbles of the other kind—a great many of them—and they proved a great sorrow to the public. A great number of such enterprises were started as joint stock life companies, and they ran their course very rapidly. When they failed, as a large number of them did, it was found that the alleged reserve, about which they had been boasting for years, was not there. It had disappeared. If it had ever been there, it was wasted or stolen. The reaction on the public mind was naturally very sharp; and Americans, with that quick, intuitive action which is characteristic of the nation, started a new sort of organization, doing business in whole life insurance, taking a small amount per month. They said, "The Society will avoid the danger of losing its reserves by your keeping them in your own pocket; we will call on them whenever necessary by assessment. You need not therefore be in a nervous state of mind about the preservation of the reserves, for we are not going to have any large reserve, and we will call upon you whenever any money is necessary." Now, that addressed to a people who had just suffered so severely, gave an immense impetus to assessment life insurance in the United States. The State of Massachusetts, in 1877, passed a law to facilitate the creation of those societies, and the Legislature went to the extreme limit of forbidding fixed premiums and reserves. Just think of the length to which they went in their insanity. Under that Act, Massachusetts, as you know, was filled with these assessment life insurance societies, which became the scandal of the United States, and gave a black eye to fraternities, because many of those new creations assumed the name of fraternities, and adopted the lodge feature, with signs, passwords, and everything else. It was part of the scheme. There was a perfect carnival among these societies for a short time in Massachusetts, and when they fell down, as of course they speedily did, they made a great public scandal and loss to the community. Then the tide set back again in favor of reserves. People said, "after all, reserves are absolutely necessary; but the reserves must not be wasted or stolen. This is the moral that we should have drawn, instead of the moral that we did draw." Now, it was out of that carnival time and out of that temporary feeling against reserves that this present insurance contract arose. It was intended to be a whole-life contract. It was never intended to be a term contract. A term contract is, or may be, a new contract every time the assured pays a new premium; and the corporation may refuse the premium or impose new conditions. A term contract is like a fire insurance contract; you may call it a renewal every three years, but it is in law a new contract. The company is not bound to renew; or, if it does renew, it may impose entirely new conditions and a new premium. Now, that is the position in which a term contract is. Acting for your Society you would make a contract for a specific time, and at the end of that time unless you bind your Society to renew it on certain conditions, both parties are at liberty to renew it or not, and on such conditions as they may agree upon. That was not the intention at all of the Friendly Society contract in force in Ontario. It was an all-life contract under which the policy-holder, on paying or tendering the amount of the premium as the policy directs it to be paid, can force you to take that premium. It is not a new contract at all, but a continuation of the old contract. This was definitely decided by the Ontario Court of Appeal, in 1898, in Long vs. A. O. U. W., 25 A. R. 147. Compare N. Y. Life Ins. Co., vs. Statham (1876) 93 U. S. 24. Then, over and above all that, the Ontario Insurance Act expressly provides that on tender of the premium you must take it, and the contract must be continued. You can settle the premium by your By-laws, and friendly societies have the extraordinary power of changing the rates from time to time,* which, of course, has proved their salvation in many cases. They can say, "We will continue your contract, but by our Constitution and By-laws he have amended our table of rates; here is our table of rates, and you must tender the amount required by that table before we will continue your contract." But you cannot refuse to continue the contract on the tender of the proper premium.

*In Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Coy. v. Foster, on appeal from the Court of Appeal, England, (19 Times Law Reports 342) to the House of Lords (20 Times Law Reports 715) the Company contended that the policy in question was in terms or in effect a term policy renewable at an increased premium. The Court of Appeal had held that the policy and contract ought to be rescinded, and ordered that the Company should pay the policyholder £1,532-16-6, being the total of the premiums paid by him on the policy, with interest thereon at 4 per cent. per annum. The House of Lords (on appeal from the Court of Appeal) after, at the Company's request, hearing further evidence, dismissed the appeal, July 20, 1904.

*The decided cases were collected in the appendix to the Detailed Report (1902) of the Inspector of Insurance at p. C 172. See also in this present Appendix Armstrong v. Toronto Police Benefit Fund, and cases therein cited. But the law is otherwise even as to companies registered under Section 209 of the (Imperial) Companies Act 1862: Bailey v. British Equitable Ass. Coy., [1904.] 1 Ch., at 385. (C. A., England.)

MR. KETTLEWELL—Are we to understand, Mr. Hunter, that you take the position that a friendly society would not be at liberty to adopt the step-contract and apply it to its members?

MR. HUNTER—If you mean a "term" contract, that would be entirely changing the contract. We have no precedent for that, and the tendency of the decisions and the feeling of the Courts are against it. Some questions relevant to that came up in the case of the Mutual Reserve, * I think.

MR. LEE—Is not that what the Supreme Lodge of the A. O. U. W. has done in the United States?

MR. HUNTER—I would not like to say positively as to that.

DR. EMORY—That is in the States, not here. There are two or three societies that have changed there and gone entirely on the step-rate.

MR. HUNTER—If the contract was in its origin a "term" contract, or if you have the legal power to convert it into a term contract, then that would be all right, but our law has been always in favor of continuing contracts, and not term contracts. This term contract is playing a very conspicuous figure now, not only in friendly societies, but in commercial life companies. As you are aware, the cost of getting new insurance for commercial companies is becoming extremely large; in most line life companies it is a most serious problem, and very large sums are being paid in the form of rebates, and under all kinds of guises, in order to get the insurance, especially the first year's insurance. The company not receiving the proper consideration for the first year's insurance is not financially, in respect of that policy for that year, in a position to show the legal reserve the law requires. Then the United States companies, with their usual ingenuity, go to the Insurance Commissioners and say, "we have altered our policy forms; for the first year the contract is to be treated as a term contract, and in the subsequent years as a continuing contract." The effect of that would be virtually to cut out the legal reserve for the first year. I think that the Commissioners as a rule in the States have strongly discountenanced that device, because it is a palpable evasion of the intention of the law; and this paying extreme prices for new insurance should not be encouraged. Here is one very strong contrast in friendly societies, the low cost of getting new insurance. (Hear, hear). This is an immense strength to friendly societies. The great trouble in friendly societies is that you have, intentionally or otherwise, got your people to expect something for nothing. They want their insurance either for almost nothing or for half the proper price. They are not content with getting it much less than they would pay for it in a commercial life company. You would think that ought to satisfy any reasonable man; but they are not satisfied. They want it for half its actual value, or sometimes even less. The strength of the friendly society system is in the facility with which it gets new insurance; and the great weakness is that the members want too much. They overpower the better judgment of their officers. They carry all sorts of extraordinary resolutions, and the officers sometimes have a very arduous position indeed. These large legislative bodies are very difficult to handle; first, because those bodies are too large for efficiency; and secondly, because the members come there having given no serious attention to the all-important questions that are going to be determined. Perhaps they have not given five minutes' serious thought in their lives to questions that have been constantly before the minds of the officers for twenty years; and yet often in an airy, flippant way the delegates will dismiss or perversely determine these vital questions that go to the very root and existence of the whole society. I have had constantly brought home to me the difficulties that you as officers of these societies labor under. But one thing I do think, that you should candidly tell your people the true financial position, just as the Manchester Unity did. As the adage says, "Confidence gains confidence." You do not like, of course, to tell unpleasant truths. You say the members will make it very uncomfortable for us. I can thoroughly sympathize with that feeling. I am an officer myself, and I have had to take my share of misrepresentation and abuse in my time, I think. If misrepresentation, abuse and threats would kill anyone, I think I should have been dead long ago. (Laughter). In the English Schools, you will remember that whipping used to be an institution, perhaps I ought to say it was a religion. Now, the peers of the realm sent their sons to the great schools like the rest; but it was a different thing when it came to whipping a son of a peer of the realm. Yet discipline must be maintained. How did they accomplish it? A sturdy youngster, for a consideration, took the whippings due to the son of the peer. The master solemnly went through the farce of soundly whipping the whipping boy, and so blind justice was satisfied. I have often thought of late years that I am regarded as the whipping boy for the Legislature; but, though getting the trouncing, I don't get the consideration. (Laughter.) If Acts of the Legislature do not accord with the opinions, or fancies, or schemes of some correspondent or writer, or promoter, the Inspector of Insurance and Registrar of Friendly Societies and of Loan Corporations is castigated; it is said, "He should have put such an Act through;" or "He should not have allowed such an Act to go through." So that as an officer I quite sympathize with you in your position as officers. The natural tendency of all officers, of course, is to reduce the whole Litany to one prayer—"Give us peace in our time, good Lord," (Laughter.) That is the natural disposition of us all; but I do not know that we all give way to it. I do not think that anybody can say that the Supreme Chief Ranger of the I. O. F. has given way altogether to it.

DR. ORONHYATEKHA—Nor the Registrar of Friendly Societies.

MR. HUNTER—Nor the Registrar of Friendly Societies, I accept the amendment. But that is the natural feeling, and the path of duty is at times very difficult for us who are officers, realizing our responsibility and at the same time trying to carry the people we are advising with us. I think the proper course is to make complete disclosure of the position to our people, whoever they may be; then, if in the face of that they refuse to be advised, on them be the consequences. (Applausé).

Moved by Mr. Lyman Lee, seconded by Hon. W. H. Montague, that the thanks of this Association be and the same are hereby tendered to Mr. J. Howard Hunter, Registrar of Friendly Societies, for his kindness in attending this Association and giving his very excellent address. This Association takes this opportunity of expressing to Mr. Hunter their deep appreciation of the interest taken by him in the welfare of its various societies, and the great assistance rendered to the work by Legislation from time to time through his efforts, enacted by the Legislature of Ontario and otherwise.

In speaking to the resolution Mr. Lee said that he was the timid individual whom the doctor had referred to in regard to the amendment as to payment to a foreign guardian. He expressed the great pleasure that it gave him to move this resolution.

Dr. Montague seconded the motion and said that he had never listened to an address of any kind where he thought the subject was better handled, and he was sure that it was the opinion of all present that they were most deeply indebted for the large amount of information given by Mr. Hunter to the Association.

Dr. Oronhyatekha said that the table published by Mr. Hunter was one of the first reliable guides which the societies had found, and stated that in the readjustment of their rates the Independent Order of Foresters had found invaluable assistance, both in Mr. Hunter's table and that of the National Fraternal Congress.

Mr. Frost asked whether, in the opinion of Mr. Hunter, he thought the time had arrived when the principles of life insurance should be taught in the universities; and whether there should not be a Minister of Insurance.

Colonel McGillivray asked whether the Assessment Act had been amended affecting the taxation of the income of Friendly Societies.

Mr. Lyman Lee stated that the last question was in his department, and that therefore he might answer it: The income arising from the surplus funds of the society is now exempt from taxation, but a business tax is imposed on the property actually occupied by the society; seventy-five per cent. of the assessed value is assessed on the property.

Colonel McGillivray thanked Mr. Lee for his answer, and stated his appreciation of the historical sketch which Mr. Hunter had given of fraternal insurance. He also said he thought the members of purely voluntary organizations would endorse the action of their executive, even if it was decided to adopt the "term contract." He joined with the mover and seconder and the two supporters of the resolution in saying that he did not think the Association had ever had an address more to the point than the one just received.

The resolution was carried by a standing vote.

Mr. Hunter said he could not sufficiently thank the Association for the kind resolution passed, and then proceeded:

"Dealing with the questions asked, I think it would be wise to have insurance treated as a systematic study, say beginning with the university. That has been done lately in the university of Ann Arbor, in Michigan, and, I think, at Yale and Harvard. Some of these universities have written me from time to time for suggestions and facts; but unfortunately I have not always found time to fulfil their requests. There is an evident broadening of the public interest on the subject of insurance. Insurance is now recognized as a subject going to the root of all interests in the community—insurance of the person and of property. These two varieties underlie nearly all contracts now, the life insurance policy cropping up in connection with even purely financial transactions as an additional security. In answer to your question as to a Minister of Insurance, I may say that the Attorney-General of the Province has been for many years ex officio Minister of Insurance, and has given the greatest possible attention to the subject. In his explanations to the House he has gone minutely into the merits of the important Insurance Acts that he has introduced and carried. I have been very fortunate indeed in the chiefs under whom I have served. I served under Sir Oliver Mowat, who had charge of the Insurance Bills, and who took a very deep interest in the subject, and I have served under several other able Ministers. As to the question whether or not you have the legal power to substitute a step rate for the level premium, that is a somewhat different question from the one I dealt with. I was dealing with a term policy, pure and simple, that is one for a specified term, and there is an end of that policy unless the parties renew it, whether it be a year or five years. The question now raised relates to a whole life policy, with a rate of premium at present so and so, but by the express terms of the policy liable to alteration by constitutional provision or by-law from time to time, either to another level rate premium or to a step rate premium. I think that might be within your jurisdiction if such a contract refers to the constitution and makes the constitution as from time to time amended a part of the contract. In such a contract there might not be any legal difficulty in converting a level rate to a step rate; * but there must be a clearly defined right on the part of the holder of the policy to continue his insurance on complying; it is not to be a new contract; it is simply a variation in the mode of paying the premium, or in the amount of the premium. That is the extent to which I understand the question goes.

DR. MILLMAN—Is that not the intention of those societies you refer to in the States?

MR. HUNTER—I have not seen the contracts that have been made. It would be very interesting to get over copies of the contracts which have been adopted. I think any compromise in reason is better than a collapse. The Imperial Parliament has gone to a great length in the Insurance Act of 1870 (33-4 Vict. c. 61 section 22); where a motion is made before the High Court for the winding up of an insolvent Insurance company, (speaking now of a line company), the law of England is that if it appears not to the Court to reduce the amount of the company's contracts, the Court has a right to make an order to that effect. It is recognized there that the injury done to the public by the collapse of a life insurance company is so deep and widespread that the other alternative should be available. The Court has the power to continue the company by scaling down the policies. That is a tremendous power given to the Court, and shows how impressed Parliament was with the necessity of saving the institution if it could be saved. I think I have answered your questions now, and I thank you, gentlemen, and ask forgiveness for having taken up too much of your time. I thank you for your courteous hearing, and your very kind remarks respecting myself. (Applause.)

*But see now the decision of the House of Lords (July 20, 1904) in Mutual Reserve v. Foster, cited supra in note.

EXPECTATION OF LIFE.

The Average known as "The Expectancy" or "The Expectation of Life" is not to be used for calculating premium rates, or for any financial application of Mortality Tables: Cautions by leading authorities.

As financial calculations with serious results are still being erroneously based upon the so-called "Expectancy" or "Expectation of Life," it will be helpful to collect here some of the warnings that from time to time have been published by leading authorities.

Definition. By "Expectation of Life" at a specified age and according to a given table of mortality is implied the average number of years which persons of the specified age, taken one with another enjoy according to the given table of mortality.

T. B. Sprague in 13 Journ. Inst. Act. (1867) p. 381 note.

F. G. P. Neison, Friendly Societies' Actuary, England. More than a half-century ago, when reforming the financial basis of the great Friendly Societies of England, F. G. P. Neison pointed out the danger of founding any insurance or benefit upon the Expectation of Life. In his Contributions to Vital Statistics (3rd Ed. 1857, p. 99) he said:—

"For many purposes the mode of representing the value of life at various ages under the expression "Expectation of Life" will be found inadequate. The method by which that value is obtained for a given age, involves the consideration of the decrements of life at every superior age; and therefore in any table the Expectation of Life even at younger ages, will be affected by the irregularities of mortality at the older ages. It consequently happens that a comparison of different tables, especially at the younger and middle periods of life may shew an equal or nearly equal Expectation while there are in reality very different chances under the two tables of living a given number of years; and again, Expectation Tables may shew very different values for the same age, when according to the nature of the data there are equal chances of living the same number of years.

"From what has been said it will be seen that although the Expectation of Life expresses the true average duration in years of a certain number of individuals at a given age, yet it does not represent the chances of surviving an equivalent number of years; and consequently for medical and other purposes in which it is required to determine the relative value, improvement or other change which may have taken place within a given period of life another expression must be found."

Edward W. Brabrook, F. S. A., Chief Registrar of Friendly Societies of Great Britain. In 10 Journal of the Institute of Actuaries at p. 350, Mr. Brabrook said:—

"Reflection will show that the 'expectation of life' means nothing whatever. It is merely an arithmetical result. It does not import that any one person, or any number of persons, will live that term of years; but only that, if you add the years lifetime of a number of persons together, and divide by the number of lives observed, you obtain a given result. If some die n years earlier, others will die n years later. Those who live beyond have not really 'exceeded their expectation;' if it were so, all would live till the last age in the tables, for the expected age at death increases with every year of life completed. The 'expectation' is not an element in the premium to be charged, nor is it a measure available for any purpose whatever."

W. Sutton M. A., F. I. A., Ex-President of Institute of Actuaries, Actuary to the Registrar of Friendly Societies for Great Britain.

Lecture delivered 10th November, 1871, 16 Journal of Institute of Actuaries p. 451:—

"Before leaving the question of the construction of mortality tables there is one point about which I think it will be well to say a few words. You see in connection with most mortality tables another column giving what is called the expectation of life at each age. Now, although as a matter of theory the meaning of the expectation of life at any age is a perfectly simple matter, yet from various causes this phrase has been the source of endless confusion.

"The first confusion has been to consider this expectation of life as the number of years which it is probable that a person of the age x will live, in other words, that if the expectation of life at age x is m years, than it is just an even chance that an individual of present age x will live m years! Of course you will see at once that there is no connection whatever between the expectation of life, or average duration of life at any age, and the term of years of which the probability that an individual will attain to is equal $\frac{1}{2}$. This latter quantity is the vie probable of the French writers, and when translated into English as the probable lifetime has been mistaken for the expectation of life.

"Another misuse of the term expectation of life arises thus:—Suppose that the average duration of human existence in England in the year 1840 was found to be 34 years, and in 1860 to be 32 years—in other words, that the expectation of life at the age 0, or birth, had decreased 2 years during that interval of 20 years. What conclusion can we draw from this result as to the relative longevity of the inhabitants of the country at the two epochs? Clearly none whatever, unless we know the proportion between the numbers living at each age at the two epochs. And yet over and over again results of this kind are quoted to show how certain countries are declining in material prosperity and physical vigor, or the reverse.

"Another blunder into which this phrase expectation of life has led, and I am afraid still leads many persons, has to do with the application of mortality tables to pecuniary matters. Few persons except actuaries can see why an annuity on a man's life is not the same thing as an annuity certain for a term of years equal to his expectation of life as given by the mortality table employed; and although this mistake has been repeatedly corrected it is still ever and again misleading some one. To you, however, to whom the fact that there is a difference between the two benefits is well known, I need not say more than refer you to Mr. Sprague's mathematical demonstration of the question, published in the Journal, vol. x p. 52, and xiii, p. 381."

DETAILED REPORT

OF THE

Inspector of Insurance

AND

Registrar of Friendly Societies.

TRANSACTIONS FOR THE YEAR 1904.

PRINTED BY ORDER OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF ONTARIO

TORONTO:

Printed and Published by L. K. CAMERON, Printer to the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

1905.

To His Honour WILLIAM MORTIMER CLARK, K.C.,

Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR:

The undersigned has the honour to present to your Honour the Report of the Inspector of Insurance and Registrar of Friendly Societies for the year ended 31st December, 1904.

Respectfully submitted,

J. J. FOY,

Attorney-General.

TORONTO, Oct. 27th, 1905.

PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS,

TORONTO, 25th October, 1905.

To the Honourable J. J. Foy K.C., M.P.P., etc.,

Attorney-General,

Toronto.

SIR.—I have the honour to submit the accompanying reports respecting the various organizations constituted to undertake contracts of insurance, indemnity or guarantee in the Province of Ontario. Of these insurers the Ontario Insurance Act (R.S.O. 1897, c. 203) distinguishes the following divisions:

A. Registrar Dominion Licensees: being Insurance Corporations, Companies or Underwriters operating under or by virtue of the Insurance Act of Canada and registered by the Province of Ontario, for the transaction of insurance in the Province.

B. Provincial Licensees: being Insurance Companies licensed, inspected and registered by the Province of Ontario, for the transaction of insurance therein.

C. Registered Friendly Societies: being Societies registered by the Province of Ontario, for the transaction of insurance therein.

Of these divisions, the Companies comprised in Division B (Provincial Licensees) are alone inspected by the Province, and are here reported on in the usual form and with the usual financial details pursuant to the provisions of the Ontario Insurance Act.

The report upon Division A (Dominion Licensees) made on the 26th January, 1893, described fully their mode and place of incorporation; their statutory powers, duties, rights and obligations; their internal organization; the relation of the members inter se; the liabilities of the members to the creditors of the Company; the kind or kinds of insurance for which the Company is registered in Ontario; and the extent to which assets of the Company have been deposited in various countries as special security for the policy-holders of those several countries. In the present report, except in cases of new licensees, it has not been considered necessary to set out all of these details. Where any change has occurred in the Company's power or status, of which the Department has received notice, the nature and extent of such changes are indicated.

All of the Companies in Division A, except Ocean Marine Companies, make financial statements annually to the Dominion of Canada; and those statements, as revised by the Dominion Superintendent, can be found in the Superintendent's Annual Report. The balance sheets, therefore, printed here, under Division A, are limited to those of Ocean Marine Companies.

The report upon Division C (Friendly Societies) made on the 26th of January, 1893, related to their mode and place of incorporation; the statutes and instruments under which the Societies were constituted, and those by which they are now governed; the kind of insurance or insurance benefits undertaken; that report also showed, inter alia whether or not the certificate holders generally are secured by a surplus fund; and, if a surplus fund is maintained, whether any of this surplus is held in Ontario, if any, how much, how invested, and by whom held and controlled.

The present report on Division C contains in substance the Annual Statements for the year ending 31st December, 1904, made by the Friendly Societies to the Insurance Department for Ontario, under section 96 of the Ontario Insurance Act (R.S.O. 1897, c. 203).

In order to prevent unnecessary delay in publication, the three Divisions have been placed simultaneously in the printer's hands—the pages of the several divisions being distinguished by the Division letter prefixed. Division indexes have been inserted at the end of the volume. These indexes show the Companies and Societies standing registered at the dates therein mentioned.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J. HOWARD HUNTER,

Inspector of Insurance and Registrar of Friendly Societies.

APPENDIX TO THE DETAILED REPORT (1905)

OF THE

INSPECTOR OF INSURANCE

AND

ADDRESS ON "THE PROPER CONTENTS OF AN APPLICATION FOR FIRE INSURANCE."

Delivered by MR. J. HOWARD HUNTER, M.A., K.C., Inspector of Insurance, at the Annual Meeting of the Mutual Fire Underwriters' Association, held in the Railway Committee Room of the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, on March 28th and 29th, 1905.

[PROCEEDINGS OF THE MUTUAL FIRE UNDERWRITERS' ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO, Wednesday, 29th March, 1905.]

PRESIDENT LEVI STAUFFER, in presenting Mr. Hunter, said:

Gentlemen,—I have much pleasure in announcing to you that the Inspector of Insurance for Ontario, Mr. Hunter, is present with us, and is prepared, I believe, to deliver an address on "The Proper Contents of the Application and the Policy Respectively." I take much pleasure in introducing him to you, although I think you all know him so well that no introduction is necessary.

MR. HUNTER:

Mr. President and Gentlemen,—Your irresistible Secretary, Mr. Hugh Black, has, I find, put me down for an anniversary sermon, assigning as my text, "The Proper Contents of the Application and the Policy Respectively." But I may say that on these two documents hang all the law—and the losses! Therefore, on reflection, you will see that your Secretary has cut out for me a large day's work, and I think, perhaps, it will be better to confine my remarks to the Application alone. That of itself is a very fruitful subject, and will quite exhaust your time and mine, even though treated only cursorily. It was my intention to prepare a very solemn discourse, but for lack of time the utmost I was able to do was to peg out the ground with some notes of important cases on Applications decided mainly by our own courts. I shall offer some extempore remarks, suggested by these cases.

The "Application" (or "Proposal") is the document which ascertains and describes the property offered for insurance, and furnishes (or should furnish) to the Insurance Company, the particulars necessary to judge of the hazard.

In dealing with any question arising on Fire Insurance Contracts, we must keep constantly before our minds what the contract really is; and once we get a firm hold of the proper purpose of the contract, we can more readily shape our forms of contract and the other forms leading up to it.

A Contract of Fire Insurance (unlike Life Insurance) is a contract of indemnity; it is a contract to compensate a specific person in event of loss by fire. Now see what follows from that definition. A man can not be "compensated" for what never existed; or for what, if it did exist, was not at the fire; or, if at the fire, was not injured by the fire; or for what, if it fulfilled all these conditions, had no value; or for property, in which even though it possessed value, he had no ownership or insurable interest. Now, these are some of the material points that are sifted out by the Application. You will observe that nearly all the questions in the Application are directed to one or more of these points. Of course the insured need not be absolute owner of the property insured. But he must have at least an insurable interest in it; that is, he must be so related to it as to lose or be prejudiced by the destruction or damage of that property by fire. That relation is what the law calls "an insurable interest."

14 Geo. III., c. 48 (Imp.)—commonly called the Gambling Act—Section I. Lucona v. Craufurd (H. L. 1806) 2 Bos. & Pul. N. R. at 292-5.
De Forest v. Fulton Fire Ins. Co. 1 Hall (N. Y.) 84; 1 Bennett 223.
Ogden v. Montreal Ins. Co. (1854), 3 U. C. C. P. at 512-6.

You will remember that the insurable interest must exist at the commencement of the insurance, and must exist also at the time of the fire; but it may not necessarily be a continuous or unbroken interest. To illustrate that point. When a farmer fills his barn and places insurance on the "contents" he has an insurable interest in those contents. But during the year the contents of the barn are taken away, and the barn becomes empty. Then again it is filled with a crop, an entirely different crop. His insurance contract related at time of insurance to "contents." In strictness it related to the then particular contents of the barn insured. But those contents are gone and entirely different contents, though of the same nature, are now there. It has long been held that the contract covers such after-acquired and substituted contents. So as to the stocks of goods in the hands of merchants, brokers and warehousemen:

Butler v. Standard Fire Ins. Co. (1879), 26 Gr. at 350-1; 4 A. R. at 394.
Merchants Fire Ins. Co. v. Equity Fire Ins. Co. 9 O. L. R. 241.

Now in the case of the farmer there could not be an insurable interest on "contents" when there were no contents—when the barn was empty; so there was a complete break in the insurable interest during the currency of the policy. The insured had an insurance interest at the time the policy was issued, and, if the contents are of the same nature ("farm contents") at the time of a fire, he has then an insurable interest even though it has not been an unbroken interest. These then are important points to remember, that in Fire Insurance the insured must have an insurable interest both at the commencement of the insurance and at the time of the fire:

House of Lords in Lynch v. Dalzell (1721) 3 Brown P. C. 497, affirming King, L. C.;

Saddlers' Co. v. Badcock (1734) 2 Atk. 554, Hardwicke, L. C.;

Caldwell v. Stadacona Fire and Life Ins. Co. (1883) 11 S. C. R. at 256;
Crozier v. Phoenix 2 Han. (New Brunswick) 200. And contrast Howard v. Lancashire Ins. Coy., (1885) 11 S. C. R. at 94, where it was held that an interest acquired after insurance was not sufficient.

But in Life Insurance—which is not a contract of indemnity—it is sufficient that the insurable interest existed at the commencement of the insurance:

Dalby v. India & London Life Assee. Co. (1854) 15 C. B.; Parke, B. at 387.
Vezina v. New York Life Ins. Co. (1881) 6 S. C. R. 30; North American Life Ins. Co. v. Brophy (1901) 2 O. L. R. 559.

Where the insurance covers property that is changing in quantity or location, the insurance is technically described as "floating" insurance. Where the policy consists altogether of such insurance the policy is described as a "floating policy:" Martineau v. Kitching (1872) L. R. 7 Q. B. at 458.

Here is another interesting case. The lessee of a house insured the building for his own benefit. The lease expired during the currency of the policy. Just as soon as the lease expired, the insurable interest of the insured was at an end. After the lease had expired a fire took place. Then it occurred to the former lessee or to the landlord that it would be a good thing for the lessee to assign the policy to the landlord. The Insurance Company resisted payment of the claim on the ground that the former lessee had not an insurable interest at the time of the fire, and that the landlord was not insured. The Court held that there being no insurable interest at the time of the fire, the Company was not liable; and that the lessee, not having an insurable interest, could not convey to another a right of action which the lessee himself did not possess: Saddlers' Co. v. Badcock, 2 Atk. 554.

Which shows that you must look closely into every case where there is a lessee. That is only one of the illustrations which might be given on this branch of the subject.

Another important point is that if the insured has been compensated for his loss from any other source, he cannot then collect from the Insurance Company. Suppose sparks from a train fire his property, and he recovers the full amount of the loss or damage from the railway company, he cannot then collect anything from the Insurance Company. He cannot expect to be compensated for his loss twice over; if he were, that would be a case of profit, not compensation. What was done in one such case was this. The policy-holder first of all collected his insurance money from the Insurance Company, and then sued the railway company and recovered from them the full amount of the loss. But the Insurance Company became aware of what had been done, and was held entitled to recover back from him the difference between the amount of his loss (plus his expenses) and the total of the amounts he had collected from the railway company and the Insurance Company. The policy-holder was, as to that surplus, held to be trustee for the Insurance Co.: National Fire Ins. Co. v. McLaren (1886) 12 O. R. at 687 et seq. and cases there cited.

Now get a firm grip of that principle, for it is vital to your business; a policy-holder must not make a profit out of his insurance.

It would be contrary to public policy as well as to the insurance Policy for the assured to make profit out of his insurance. Incendiarism would become rampant all over the country.

Wright v. Pole, 1 A. & E. 621.

Wilson v. Lancashire &c. Ry. 9 C. B. 640.

This has lately been illustrated by the "valued" fire policy in the United States. Under that policy, the value of the insured property is fixed by the policy; and, in the event of a total loss the payment of the full amount of the policy cannot be disputed, though the actual loss may fall far short of the amount insured. The obvious incentive to over-insurance and incendiarism has already become a public danger; and has greatly increased the premium rates where the valued policy law prevails.

Then, furthermore, you must bear in mind that the contract is a personal contract. It does not run with the property. Though "property" is described as "insured," it is strictly not the property, but some person in respect of the property that is insured, and therefore entitled to compensation. You are insuring the applicant only; you are not insuring the whole world; you are insuring only for the benefit of the person named in the application and the policy. Therefore, if before loss the property is alienated with a transfer of the entire ownership, the policy cannot be assigned without your consent:

Lynch v. Dalzell (1721) 3 Brown P. C. 497.

McPhillips v. London Mutual (1896) 23 A. R. 524.

In this latter case it was held unanimously by the Ontario Court of Appeal (Hagarty C. J. O., Burton, Osler, Maclellan J. J. A.) that the assent of the Insurance Company to an assignment of the policy is essential only when the policy is assigned to accompany a sale of the property insured, and a new contract is intended to arise between the purchaser and the Insurance Company. In Salterio v. City of London Fire Ins. Coy. (1894) 23 S. C. R. 32, the policy forbade the assignment of it or of any interest therein. The policy was assigned by way of collateral security to a mortgage on the insured chattel property: Held, that the policy was void.

The mere alienation of the insured property without the written consent of the Insurance Company avoids the policy: Statutory Condition 4. But, after loss the assured can assign his right of action to any one; there is no question about that:

Waydell v. Provincial Ins. Co. 21 U. C. R. 612.

Kerr v. Hastings Mutual Fire Ins. Co. 41 U. C. R. 217.

Wattes v. Canada Farmers' Ins. Co. 13 C. L. J. 198.

Now in preparing the form of Application, you must bear in mind that if there are any faults or omissions in it the Company may be held as well as the applicant. Statutory Conditions No. 2 says that, in the absence of evidence that both parties consented to the change, the "policy" will be held to conform to the application. "Policy" in the Ontario Insurance Act means any contract of insurance within the meaning of the Act: s. 2 (54). So that an Interim Receipt is, for purposes of Statutory Condition No. 2, a policy:

Coulter v. Equity Fire Ins. Co. (1904) 7 O. L. R. 783; affirmed by C. A. 9 O. L. R. 35.

Therefore you have to exercise great care in preparing the application form, and also in having it filled in. If the application is handed into the Company with certain questions unanswered, and the Company accepts such application, that will be held against the Company. If, for example, the application does not answer the question as to encumbrances, it will not be held that the applicant said the property was unencumbered. It will be held that the Insurance Company was satisfied to leave the question unanswered. Such an incomplete application should be returned to the applicant to be properly filled in.

Where the applicant is not asked, there is no duty on him to communicate.

Klein v. Union Fire Ins. Co. (1883) 3 O. R. 234;

Reddick v. Sangeen Mut. Fire Ins. Co. (1888) 15 A. R. at 366;

Coulter v. Equity Fire Ins. Co. (1904), 9 O. L. R. at 42.

The first question generally found on the application seeks to locate the property which is offered as an insurance risk to the Company. The next questions, ask the applicant to state the nature of his interest in the property; the value of the property; the amount of insurance already on it; and the distribution of that insurance over the property covered by it. Then a number of other questions are asked with the same intention of enabling the Company to judge of the hazard undertaken, and to settle the premium proper to be placed on the risk if accepted. As to the first question, the location and description of the property, that question should be fully and correctly answered. There are several cases on record where the "contents" destroyed were not contained in the insured building, as the Company supposed; but, through the negligence of the agent, the Company was held liable. In the case of farm property the premises should be described by lot and concession. As to live stock covered by insurance, it often happens that the stock at the time of the loss was not on the premises owned by the policyholder, but was in distant buildings or premises rented by him. If you intend the insurance to extend to such cases, then in both application and policy it should be expressly stated so. The great art of avoiding litigation is plainly saying just what you mean. Don't leave out important words to save time. In legal documents, when you try a short cut through the woods you will often find the shortest cut through to be the longest way round. Some of the Judges have held the liability of the Company to be very wide where the liability was not clearly defined. In particular cases they have held the Company liable for horses belonging to the policyholder which were miles away from the insured premises, and were perhaps being temporarily stabled in some distant town or village.

You may remember a case that came up some years ago. I think it was in the County of Brant Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Company. A team of horses was on the highway, several miles away from the policyholder's farm, drawing quick-lime. Rain came on, heated the lime, fired the wagon, and destroyed wagon and horses. The Judge allowed the fire claim that was made on the Insurance Company in respect of that loss. Now that is a large extension of your liability.

If you intend ambulatory insurance, and that you shall be liable for such claims, well and good; but if such is your intention say so plainly in your forms. If, on the contrary, you intend that the contents shall be insured only so long as they are in certain buildings or on a certain farm, say so in express terms.

The expression "contained in" without any limiting words has in various cases been held not to mean "while" or "so long as contained in," but to be merely a description identifying the chattel intended to be insured. In Peterson v. Miss. Valley Ins. Co. (1868) 24 Iowa, 494, a horse described in the policy as "contained in a barn," was while away from home burned in an hotel barn: held to be covered by the policy. Similarly in Mills v. Farmers' Ins. Co. (1873), 37 Iowa, 400, where a horse insured as "contained in a barn" was killed by lightning on the way to the mill.

On the other hand the policy may be drawn too strictly, as in Haws v. St. Paul F. & M. Ins. Co. (1888) 130 Penn. St. 113; 18 Ins. L. Journ. 561, where the policy described the property as "contained in," etc., and had the ordinary lightning clause, but then added this saving clause: "This policy does not cover or insure property of any kind while removed from the particular building therein described, or kept or used in any other place or location, unless otherwise specified in the policy." Held by the Supreme Court (overruling Haws v. Fire Assoc. (1886) 114 Penn. St. 431), that the policy did not cover a horse killed by lightning while in a pasture field.

I have called your attention to the question of contents. Now there is a vital distinction between the insurance of "contents" and the insurance of "buildings." In the case of "contents," the insurance will attach to substituted chattels; that is, the insurance attaches not merely to the specific chattels in the buildings at commencement of the insurance, but also to substituted similar chattels belonging to the policyholder and in the building at the time of the fire. But that doctrine of substitution does not extend to insurance on buildings. I have had several letters from time to time as to the type of case where the insured building has been pulled or blown down, and another building erected on the same site. Take the case of a building pulled down and another building erected largely out of the old material—except, of course, the mortar! It has been contended by some of your policy-holders in such cases that under the terms of their policy the new building was insured by the policy that covered the old building. That certainly is a wrong contention. The policy on the old building does not insure the new building. You insured the old building not as so much timber, or as so much stone, bricks and lumber, but as a "building," as a distinctive unit. (Joyce on Insurance Secs. 2773-4, citing numerous cases). You did not insure it as building material, and therefore, if the old building is pulled down, the insurance is at an end, even though the new building is constructed out of the materials of the old building. And what is more, suppose it were a dwelling and the chattels were insured by you in the old building, and were described strictly in the policy as being insured only while contained in that old building, then, even though those identical chattels were in the new building, they would not be insured under that policy. If you intend the insurance to pass over, say so plainly, and don't have any litigation about it. Other policyholders, being more than usually reasonable men, have even claimed that after the old building was destroyed by fire, and the Company had paid the full amount of the policy, and the policyholder had with the money received from the Insurance Company put up a new building, the policyholder I say in more than one such case has ventured to claim that the new building is insured by the old contract. You can see the answer to that claim if you remember that an insurance contract is a contract of bare compensation. These policyholders want to be compensated twice over. They want their bread buttered on both sides.

A MEMBER: Supposing there was an endorsement on the policy to the effect that such insurance passed to another building?

MR. HUNTER: If there was such an endorsement by the Company on its policy, the Company would probably not make any trouble. I am speaking of the legal liability, and you should know clearly what that liability is. What the Company may concede is altogether different matter; but such a transaction would be rather a gift of insurance than a contract of insurance.

Now, when more than one building is included in the same application, it is customary to have a diagram of the buildings. That diagram is usually filled in by the Company's Agent. There has been a good deal of litigation on the question whether the diagram binds the applicant. The survey being properly agent's work, our courts have generally held that, that unless the applicant is plainly connected in some way with the diagram, he is not bound by it. So it is usual for the Company to get an admission from the applicant that he adopts the diagram, which is now usually on the back of the application. Remember that the agent is ordinarily held responsible for the diagram, and that, if the policyholder is to be committed to the diagram on his application, it should be carefully examined by him, and then, if he is satisfied, it should be completed in the way I have described.

It is not good practice for the agent to fill in the application. It is very bad practice, and should never be done if it can be avoided. If the applicant is illiterate and cannot fill in the application, then it should be fully explained to him. Some Companies stipulate that if an agent fills in the application he shall be deemed to be the agent of the applicant; but that contention, as a rule, has been disfavored by the courts. A man puts himself in a very awkward position as the agent of both contracting parties, and that practice is always disfavored in law. See remarks of Hagarty, C. J., in Quinlan v. Union Fire Ins. Co. (1883) 8 A. R., at 393-396; see also Wyld v. London and Liverpool and Globe Ins. Co. (1877) 1 S. C. R. 604, affirming 23 Gr. 442, Benson v. Ottawa Agric. Ins. Co. (1878) 42 U. C. R. at 293 et seq.; Naughton v. Ottawa Agric. Ins. Co. (1878) 43 U. C. R. 121; Hastings Mutual Fire Ins. Co. v.

Shannon (1878) 2 S. C. R. 394; Graham v. Ontario Mutual Fire Ins. Co. (1887) 14 O. R. at 363, 365.

A MEMBER: If the applicant puts his name to the application he adopts it?

MR. HUNTER: Suppose the applicant is totally illiterate, or does not speak or understand the English language? (Chatillon v. Canadian Mutual Fire Ins. Co. (1877) 27 U. C. C. P. 450). I believe there are more than thirty different languages spoken and written in the city of Toronto alone. The application is almost invariably printed and written in English for the Company's information. The applicant might afterwards truthfully set up that he was misled or misinformed; or that he did not understand the application. It is neither good practice nor good business for the Company to be put by its agent in such a position. Some law books say that as to the applicant insurance is a contract uberrimae fidei. Rather, as to both parties to the contract, the policy should rest upon "the utmost good faith;" for otherwise "Policy sits above Conscience." Always remember what, in a great insurance case, was said by one of the very greatest of British Judges: In Carter v. Boehm, a leading case on representations (3 Burr, at 1910), Lord Mansfield, C. J., said: "Good faith forbids either party, by concealing what he privately knows, to draw the other into a bargain, from his ignorance of that fact, and his believing the contrary." Cf. Shannon v. Hastings Mut. Fire Ins. Co. (1876) 26 U. C. C. P. at 395-6; 2 S. C. R. at 407-8.

Where there are a number of buildings included in the same insurance, the insurance should be distributed over them in specific amounts; that is, the insurance should not be "blanket" insurance. The property should not all be insured under one sum. The proper way is to divide the insured property into units—the several buildings, and their respective contents.

MR. COCHRANE: Is this form of diagram correct?

MR. HUNTER: Yes, it appears to me to be a good form. This is a diagram used by the Sydenham Mutual Fire Insurance Company in its Instructions to Agents. Such a diagram shows the relative situation and the distance of the buildings; it will also greatly assist in getting rid of controversies as to how the insurance was distributed. I am warning you against blanketing the insurance. If you do, you may focus the whole insurance on one point, instead of its being equitably apportioned over all the property as intended by the Company.

We saw at the outset that insurable interest is the indispensable foundation for a contract of insurance. Now we come particularly to the nature and extent of the applicant's interest in the property offered for insurance. Here I have to remind you that there may be several insurable interests grouped on the same property. The most familiar illustration is that of mortgaged property. There the mortgagor, who is the owner of the equity of redemption, has one interest; the mortgagee has another interest:

Ogden v. Montreal Ins. Co. (1854) 3 U. C. C. P. at 512-520;

but if the mortgagor, without the consent of the Insurance Company, conveys his interest to his mortgagee, then, the mortgagor's interest, being at an end, so also is his insurance, Pinhey v. Mercantile Fire Insurance Co. (1901) 2 O. L. R. 296. If during the currency of a policy on mortgaged property, the property devolves by will—is, say, devised to the widow for life with remainder to her son, then the amount of the mortgagor's interest becomes subdivided into two new interests, that of the life-tenant and that of the remainder-man. Where the change of interest in the property occurs as here by succession, or occurs by operation of the law or by reason of death, then the corresponding change of interest in the insurance takes effect automatically, and without the consent of the Insurance Company. (Statutory Condition 4). Where in any property offered for insurance there are a number of different insurable interests, you should sift out that matter; for the whole amount of insurance on the property should not exceed say two-thirds of the present value of all the then interests combined. In McIntyre v. East Williams Mutual Fire Ins. Co. (1889) 13 O. R. 79, the whole value of the property destroyed was found to be $2,200. The mortgagee was insured for $1,000 in Company A., and he received that sum to be applied on the mortgage debt. The mortgagor had an insurance of $1,000 in Company B., under a policy which agreed to pay only to the extent of two-thirds of his actual loss. The mortgagor claimed from Company B. the full $1,000, on the ground that two-thirds of the whole value, $2,200, exceeded $1,000. But it was held that $1,000 having been received from Company A., the remaining interest in the property was $2,200 less $1,000, or $1,200, and that the sum recoverable from Company B. was two-thirds of $1,200, or $800.

As to trust property, we obviously have the separate interests of the trustee and of the cestui que trust, and perhaps other interests.

In Keefer v. Phoenix Ins. Co., of Hartford, 29 O. R. 394: affirmed by the Supreme Court (1900) 31 S. C. R. 144, the assured, having the legal ownership of the property, but only a partial beneficial interest in it, and being a trustee as to remaining interest for a purchaser to whom he had contracted to sell, was on the facts of that case held entitled to insure in his own name for the benefit of himself and his cestui que trust.

The applicant's interest in the property offered you as an insurance risk should be very clearly stated. If the property is encumbered, you recognize how important it⁴ is that you should have an accurate account of all the encumbrances. You know how combustible a large mortgage makes insured property! A material under-statement of the encumbrances would void the policy. Here is a case where there was held to be a material under-statement of the mortgages. The application stated that there was a mortgage for $5,000, whereas there were two mortgages on which there was then due $6,160. The court held that the policy was void:

Wilby v. Standard Insurance Coy. (1883), 3 O. R. 115.

The cases already cited show that it is not necessary, in order to create an insurable interest, to have absolute ownership. Any interest (that is appreciable in money), in any kind of property, will support an insurance contract. A man built a house on what he thought was, say, lot A., and insured that house. The house was burned, and then it came out that the house was really built on lot B. The man had been a trespasser. On that ground, the Insurance Company resisted the man's claim for the insurance money; but the court held that the man had insured bona fide; that under a statute then in force he had an insurable interest in the house, because it was in consequence of an unskilful survey that the house was built on another man's lot, and therefore the Insurance Company was liable:

Stevenson v. London & Lancashire Fire Ins. Co. (1868) 26 U. C. R. 148. In this case the Court (Draper C. J., Hagarty and Morrison, J. J.) doubted "whether an Insurance Company, with which the actual occupier of a house, without fraud or wilful misrepresentation, effects an insurance thereon, can set up the legal title of a stranger to the land on which the house stands as a defence against the claim of the assured."

A question that is cropping up in the United States is the effect of insuring property held under a "Conditional Sale," or, as called in England, a "Hire-Purchase Agreement." I suppose you are all quite familiar with such agreements. Take 1 case where a man buys a piano, or a harvester, or some other article under such an agreement. The agreement stipulates that the article is owned by the seller until the last instalment is paid upon it; and, upon default of any payment due, the moneys already paid become forfeited to the seller, who can at once resume possession of the article. But frequently a farmer treats himself as the owner of a chattel which he has purchased under such an agreement, and he shows that chattel on his application as part of his property. The courts have not been disposed to press the matter unduly, and a decision has been given in the United States to the effect that even if the insured were taken to be interested only according to the strict agreement, still he was entitled to insure the property. But you can see the danger there may be in going too far in insuring property bought under such an agreement, while the ownership is vested in the seller. I do not know what your practice is in dealing with these chattels held under "hire-purchase agreement," but it is a question that it would be well to have an eye to. If the chattel were a very expensive agricultural implement bought on these terms, it might make a considerable loss for the Company.

MR. COCHRANE: To what extent was the insurable interest held good in the United States case referred to?

MR. HUNTER: One case was Reed v. Williamsburg City Fire Insurance Company (1883), decided by the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine, and reported in 74 Maine 537. The report does not specify the sum paid on the purchased article (a parlor organ), nor the sum remaining due, nor the sum awarded by the jury in the trial court. The Supreme Court held that the policyholder had an insurable interest in the article, and gave as the reason that, at common law, a common carrier, a warehouseman, and other bailees have an insurable interest in goods in their possession.

In the English case Inglis v. Stock (1885) L. R. 10 App. Cas. at 270, 273, the House of Lords decided that a man has insurable interest in goods if he is liable to pay for them, whether he has property in them or not.

The insurable interest of the seller under a hire-purchase agreement was considered by the Sixth Circuit Court of the United States in Kortlander v. Elston (1892) 52 Fed. Rep. 180. It was there held that, where a contract of sale of furniture provides that the title shall remain in the seller until the price is paid, then where the furniture is insured for the seller's benefit, and the seller pays the premium, the seller is entitled to all the insurance money arising from a loss, and the purchaser has no interest in that insurance money. The question that I am now asked by Mr. Cochrane involves the extent or measure of the insurable interest of the purchaser of an article sold conditionally under a hire-purchase agreement. I have no case at hand that squarely decides that question. But, theoretically, a man's insurable interest in an article would not be less than the loss he would sustain by the total destruction of the article. Now a purchaser of an article under a hire-purchase agreement would by its destruction lose all that he had paid on the article, and he would still be liable to the seller for the unpaid portion of the price. So that, theoretically, the purchaser might have an insurable interest in the article to the extent of the whole price.

But, on an application to insure the article, an Insurance Company, approaching the matter by a totally different road, would probably ask at least, 1st—What is the market value of the article in its present condition? 2nd—What fraction of the whole price has actually been paid? 3rd—What instalments are still payable, and when? It is evident that if the article—say an agricultural implement—has been much worn, and if a large part of the price is still unpaid, there might be temptation to pay off the balance by means of insurance money.

In a hire-purchase agreement, where insurance was effected for the benefit of the seller, but the purchaser paid the premium, the trial Judge in the case before cited (Kortlander v. Elston), had directed the jury that the seller had the right to apply so much of the insurance money as was necessary to pay the balance due on the furniture, and had the right to hold the surplus under the direction of the purchaser to reduce the liability of the guarantor of another debt, due from the purchaser to the seller. From this direction to the jury the guarantor, but not the seller, appealed. The Circuit Court held that the guarantor was not prejudiced by this direction; but said that a strong argument might be made in support of the view that the insurance money all belonged to the seller, and that the fact of the purchaser's paying the premium gave the purchaser only the right to be reimbursed to the amount of the premium. In this connection may be mentioned the important decision of the House of Lords in Reynolds v. Ashby (1904) A. C. 466. Machines were supplied by the seller of them to the lessee of a factory upon the hire-purchase system, the machines to remain the sole and absolute property of the seller till they had been wholly paid for; upon default in payment the seller to have power to end the hiring and resume possession of the machines. They were affixed, as the seller knew, to concrete beds in the floor of the factory by bolts and nuts, and could have been removed without injury to the building or the beds. The lessee made default in payment, and the seller brought an action to recover the machines or their value from a mortgagee of the premises who had taken possession. Held, that the machines had been so affixed as to pass by mortgage to the mortgagee.

The Ontario Act respecting Conditional Sales of Chattels (R. S. O. 1897, C. 149), s. 10, enacts as follows:—

"10.—(1). Where any goods or chattels subject to the provisions of this Act are affixed to any realty without the consent in writing of the owner of the goods and chattels, such goods and chattels shall not withstanding remain so subject, but the owner of such realty, or any purchaser, or any mortgagee, or other incumbrancer on such realty, shall have the right as against the manufacturer, bailor or vendor of such goods or chattels, or any person claiming through or under them, to retain the said goods and chattels upon payment of the amount due and owing thereon.

"(2). The provisions of this section are to be deemed retroactive and shall apply to past as well as to future transactions."

Insurance without interest in, or title to, the insured property is mere gambling, and directly incites to arson. When, therefore, the application is before the Company, then is the time to explore questions of interest or title. If the Company afterwards discovers the answers in the application to be false or misleading, the Company (without assigning any reason), can under Statutory Condition 19, cancel the policy on seven days' notice. But where a Company raises questions of interest or title only after a considerable time, and after a loss, and as a defence to paying the loss, appearances are against the Company. In Stock v. Inglis (1884) 12 Q. B. D. at 571, Brett (Lord Esher) M. R., said: "In my opinion it is the duty of a Court always to lean in favor of an insurable interest, if possible; for it seems to me that after underwriters have received the premium, the objection that there was no insurable interest is often, as nearly as possible a technical objection, and one which has no real merit—certainly not as between the assured and the insurer. Of course, we must not assume facts which do not exist, nor stretch the law beyond its proper limits, but we ought, I think, to consider the question with a mind, if the facts and the law will allow it, to find in favor of an insurable interest."

As to an Insurance Company setting up the legal title of a stranger as a defence, I have already cited the remarks of our own Court in Stevenson v. London & Lancashire Fire Ins. Co. (1868) 26 U. C. R. 148.

Where two or more persons have joint interests or an undivided interest in the subject-matter, the application should be accompanied by an agreement signed and sealed by all the applicants, making themselves jointly and severally liable for payments due or to become due either for premiums or on the premium note; also authorizing some named person, in behalf of all the assured and their interests, to give and receive notices and discharges, and generally to represent and bind all of the assured and their interests in all matters for purposes of the insurance and of the Ontario Insurance Act, Cf. Clarke v. Union Fire Ins. Co. (1883) 6 O. R. 653.

As to the value of the building offered for insurance, the owner will, of course, be predisposed to over-value it in his answers. The Company's agent should be able to form an independent opinion. A good practical rule in use in the United States is, first, estimate how much it would cost to replace the building by a new one of the same size, plan and materials; then, having ascertained the age of the building, deduct from the cost of a new building a certain percentage per annum for depreciation. Tiffany's Scale of Depreciation, which is used by the United States Government, is as follows:

- Brick, occupied by owner,—1 to 1¼ per cent. per annum.
- Brick, occupied by tenant,—1¼ to 1½ per cent. per annum.
- Frame, occupied by owner,—2 to 2½ per cent. per annum.
- Frame, occupied by tenant,—2½ to 3 per cent. per annum.

The application usually contains questions as to the exposure,—that is the proximity of any specially hazardous risks. I see here, Mr. Schumacher, of Walkerton, Secretary-Treasurer of the Farmers' Central Mutual Fire Insurance Company. His Company not long ago defended in a case (1 O. W. R. 168), where it resisted payment of a claim on the ground that the diagram furnished by the applicant was not a true diagram of the premises, and should have shown the existence of a dangerous risk in close proximity to the building he was offering as a risk to the Company.

MR. SCHUMACHER: Our agent wrote to the applicant asking him for "a diagram of the premises," but did not ask for the exposures. The applicant sent in a diagram of the premises, but did not show the existence of a saw-mill ninety feet distant from his building. It was on the ground of that omission we resisted payment of his claim when his building was burned; but we lost the case.

MR. HUNTER: Yes. The Court (Ferguson and Meredith J. J.) held that the plaintiff had correctly answered the question he was asked, and that he was not asked to show the existence of a dangerous risk off his own premises: Ball v. Farmers' Central Mutual Fire Insurance Company (1902); 1 O. W. R., 168. Cf. Benson v. Ottawa Agric. Ins. Co. (1878) 42 U. C. R. 282; Naughton v. Ottawa Agric. Ins. Co. (1878) 43 U. C. R. 121; also Quinlan v. Union Fire Ins. Co. (1883) 8 A. R. 376.

On the question of exposures as well indeed as on the numerous other practical questions entering into the business of general fire insurance, I would refer you to the valuable work of Francis C. Moore, entitled "Fire Insurance and How to Build," New York, 1903, 860 pages, price $5.50. (Agent for Canada, Bulletin Publishing Co., 18 Toronto Street, Toronto.)

Another very important question to ask an applicant for fire insurance is, whether he has any reason to fear incendiarism? It sometimes happens that a man has, for some reason or other, become extremely unpopular in his community, and has on various occasions been threatened. If such a man applies for insurance, it is only fair that the Insurance Company should be made aware of these threats. The Company may not, of course, refuse to insure his property, but it should have all information before it in order to judge the hazard of the risk it undertakes.

In Herbert v. Mercantile Fire Ins. Co. (1878) 43 U. C. R. 384, the policy was avoided for an untruthful answer as to threatened or apprehended incendiarism; at 389 et seq., Harrison, C. J., reviewed the law and the cases.

See also Campbell v. Victoria Mutual Fire Ins. Co. (1880) 45 U. C. R. 412;

Greet v. Citizens' Ins. Co. (1880) 5 A. R. 596;

Findley v. Fire Ins. Co. of N. Am. (1894) 25 O. R. 515;

Knisely v. British America Assn. Co. (1900) 32 O. R. 376.

Then again a very proper question to ask the applicant is, what fires have you had in the past? I think there are gentlemen present to-day who are able to say that some policyholders have quite a chronology of fires. If the applicant has been unfortunate several times over, that information should be in possession of the Insurance Company. In Stott v. London & Lancashire Fire Ins. Co. (1891) 21 O. R. 312, the policy was avoided, the applicant having untruthfully answered "no" to each of the following questions:

"Have you ever had property destroyed or damaged by fire?"

"Has this risk been refused by any other Company or Companies?"

Another important question is, what other insurance is on the property, and for what amounts? Another is, whether the risk has ever been refused by any Insurance Company? Still another is, has a policy on that risk ever been cancelled by any Company?

Stott v. London & Lancashire Fire Ins. Co. (1891) 21 O. R. 312.

This outline indicates the questions which are proper and necessary to be asked in an Application. There may be many other questions which special circumstances call for; and it would be well to leave blank lines in the application for the insertion of any special questions that arise out of special circumstances.

If you are going to make the applicant warrant the accuracy of the answers in his application, you should expressly limit that warranty to matters material to the contract: R. S. O. (1897) c. 203, s. 144 (2). That limitation should be in the Application. In a warranty, the literal accuracy of the answers may be insisted on; in a mere representation, the substantial accuracy is all that is required. That is the strict legal difference in England and in the United States between a "warranty" and a "representation." But under the Ontario Insurance Act, R. S. O. 1897, c. 203, s. 144 (2), (3), a misrepresentation, whether in breach of warranty or not, will not avoid the policy unless it has been judicially found that the misrepresentation was material, and would have affected the basis of the contract: Jordan v. Provincial Provident Institution (1898) 28 S. C. R. at 564.

Now a word as to what the Application should not contain. You should not load up your application with conditions; those properly belong to the contract. If the conditions are identical with the Statutory Conditions, it is a waste of paper to print them on the application. Those are properly printed on the policy; and if there are any variations, or omissions, or additions desired, these must also be printed on the policy in ink of a different color and in conspicuous type. So there is no benefit from loading up your application with conditions. If there are certain classes of property that the Company will not, under any circumstances, insure, then it is quite proper for the Company in the application to warn applicants of that.

There is another thing the Application should not contain; that is, the premium note as a sort of tail-piece. Probably you know something of the trouble that some companies have had from printing the premium note at the foot of the application. I do not see the object of doing so. In a notorious case (a Company long since defunct) that practice was used to defraud: and therefore we have the law as it is. R. S. O. (1897), c. 203, s. 127 (2) enacts:

“Where the premium note or undertaking is made upon a sheet or page which contains other matter, the premium note or undertaking shall be so entitled in conspicuous type, and shall be separated from such other matter by a blank space of at least an inch wide carried across the sheet or page, and if such other matter requires, or is intended to receive the assent of the maker of the premium note or undertaking, such assent shall be evidenced by a signature wholly distinct from the signature to the premium note or undertaking, and any violation of this section shall render the premium note or undertaking absolutely null and void.”

Now some Companies in getting their forms printed, left a little less than one inch clear space between the application and the premium note. I had to deal with such a case at the last session of the Legislature in the winding up of a company: 4 Edw. VII., c. 101. Its premium-note-makers took refuge behind that technicality. As there was not a clear inch of space between the application and the premium note, all the premium notes were technically bad. But suppose there is a full inch of clear space between the application and the premium note, and suppose an applicant, in signing his name to the application projected a looped letter into the blank space, how would a Court then measure the inch space? The law says a “blank space;” but a space is not strictly “blank” if there is any writing in it. You can readily see that trouble might arise. What is the object of running such risks? If the motive is only to keep the application and the premium note together, that can be done by a pin or a paper fastener.

Lastly, I have to say that there is no law to compel an Insurance Company to accept any application. An Insurance Company is not a common carrier of risks. You cannot be compelled to accept the original application for fire insurance, nor can you be compelled to accept any “renewal” which in Fire Insurance usually means a new contract. Legislation in the direction of such compulsion has been mooted in the United States—rather wild legislation.

A Company trying to keep a Policy Registrar under such an enactment would soon have to go into liquidation—or exile! Such a Company’s franchise reminds me of the privilege conferred on the poor of the parish by 52 George III, chapter 146, which penalized false entries in a parish register, and after making the penalty transportation for fourteen years, bestowed half the penalty on the poor of the parish!

To compel any Insurance Company to accept every application on tender of the premium and thus convert the Company into a common carrier of insurance, would be as sensible as to convert a bank into a common carrier of discounts, and compel the bank to discount every bill or note offered.

Now we have heard a good deal about Municipal Insurance. One of the necessities of Municipal Insurance would be that the municipality would have to become a common carrier of insurance. (Hear, hear). For instance, there are two ratepayers owning property of the same value and of the same exposure. How could the municipality say to one of those ratepayers, “You have a bad record. We will not insure you.” If there was a conviction for felony against that man, they could perhaps refuse him, but in the absence of such a conviction how could they say to him, "We don't like your way of doing business?" (Hear, hear). And in the event of being refused insurance, would he still pay insurance taxes? A municipality could not discriminate between two ratepayers, although there might be an enormous difference between the characters of the two men, and therefore an enormous difference in the risks. I am not going to address you to-day on Municipal Insurance; but that is only one of a thousand fallacies in it, and objections to it. It crops up from time to time, and we want to keep our people thoroughly informed regarding it. It is at best a dangerous delusion. Where would the city of Toronto be to-day if it had depended on Municipal Insurance, as was proposed in the City Council a few years ago? You remember a few years ago the City Council tried to get the Legislature to pass a Municipal Insurance Bill. Less than a year ago (19th April, 1904), fourteen acres in the heart of the wholesale district of Toronto was desolated by a conflagration, and since then some $10,000,000 insurance has been paid by Insurance Companies for the losses. Thus through those world-wide Companies, the burden was shifted to the shoulders of the world. Suppose the burden had fallen on the city of Toronto, and its ratepayers were taxed for $10,000,000 in respect of that loss? You may say that the city could raise the money by debentures. Suppose that fire-loss debentures could be floated, the consequent taxes would depopulate the city. But I ask you, would you invest your money in the debentures of a city that is its own insurer? (Hear, hear). Would any sane man invest his savings in debentures of a municipality which is liable at any time to such blows as that? If the city of Toronto had Municipal Insurance, its debentures could scarcely be floated except at a ruinous discount. Municipal Insurance periodically hovers in the air, and therefore in passing I have alluded to it.

Now while the Insurance Company is not bound in any way to accept any application, nevertheless, if the application is accompanied by a cash premium, or by a premium note, for say, three years, and if the Insurance Company either retains, or unduly detains, that money, or security for money, and a loss occurs on the property in respect of which the premium or premium note was delivered, the Company may be held liable for that loss: Dominion Grange Mut. Fire Ins. Ass. v. Bradt (1895) 25 S. C. R. 154. You see that case is different from a bare offer of a risk, unaccompanied by the premium or premium note.

A printed application is not of course necessary in law to set up a contract of insurance; and the contract itself may be oral: R. S. O. 1897, c. 203, secs. 2 (37), 168; Coulter v. Equity Fire Ins. Co. (1904) 9 O. L. R., at 42.

A most important question arising out of the Interim Receipt which is taken upon the application, is, What notice is legally necessary to terminate such a contract of insurance? In Dominion Grange M. F. Ins. Asso. v. Bradt (1895), 25 S. C. R. 154, one B. applied to the Company for four years' insurance, giving his premium note for that term and a four months' promissory note for the first fixed payment. The Company gave him an Interim Receipt for fifty days, according to the terms of which the contract of insurance might be terminated at any time within the fifty days by the Company mailing notice to the applicant, and in any event non-receipt of a policy within the fifty days was to be absolute evidence of the rejection of the application. No notice of rejection was sent to B. and no policy was issued within the said time, which expired on March 4th, 1891. On April 17. B. received a letter from the manager, asking him to remit funds to pay his note maturing on May 1st. He did so and his letter of remittance crossed another from the manager, mailed at Owen Sound, April 20th, stating the rejection of his application and returning the undertaking and note. On April 24th the insured property was destroyed by fire. B. notified the manager by telegraph, and on April 29th the latter wrote returning the money remitted by B., who afterwards sent it again to the manager, and it was again returned. B. then brought an action which was dismissed at the hearing and a new trial ordered by the Divisional Court and affirmed by the Court of Appeal. Held by the Supreme Court of Canada that there was a valid contract by the Company with B. for insurance for four years; that the Statutory Conditions in the Ontario Insurance Act (R. S. O. 1887, c. 167), governed such contract though not in the form of a policy; that if the provision as to non-receipt of a policy within fifty days was a variation of the Statutory Conditions it was ineffectual for non-compliance with section 115, requiring variation to be written in a different colored ink from the rest of the document, and if it had been so printed the condition was unreasonable; and that such provision, though the non-receipt of the policy might operate as a notice, was inconsistent with condition 19, which provides that notice shall not operate until seven days after its receipt.

Held, also that there was some evidence for the jury that the Company, by demanding and receiving payment of the note, had waived the right to cancel the contract and were estopped from denying that B. was insured. For this decision of the Supreme Court the Chief Justice (at page 164 et seq.) gave reasons at length. The important points for you to remember are, that an interim receipt is (equally with a policy) governed by the Statutory Conditions; and therefore that the contract of insurance set up by an interim receipt can only be terminated by the same notice as that which under Statutory Condition 19 would terminate a policy.

*A MEMBER: Is that notice necessary to be given whether the applicant has paid the first instalment or not?

MR. HUNTER: I think so. But why give a receipt for money which has not in fact been received? Not only have you given a receipt for money described therein as received, but you have actually received from the applicant his undertaking or premium note covering three or four years of insurance.

A MEMBER: The premium note should be returned?

MR. HUNTER: Certainly.

Now, gentlemen, I have addressed you on important questions (relating to the application) that have arisen out of the decisions of the courts. Of course I have not dealt with this large question of the application exhaustively; and I can only hope, in conclusion, that I have not dealt with it exhaustingly. (Applause.)

MR. BEATTIE: I beg to move, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, that the admirable address of Mr. Hunter be received, and that it be printed in the Proceedings of this meeting of the Association.

MR. PRESIDENT: You have heard the motion, gentlemen. What is your pleasure? I declare Mr. Beattie's motion carried.

MR. COCHRANE: I would like to have said a few words to that motion, but as the President has now declared it carried, I will refrain. There is a question, however, I would like to ask Mr. Hunter. One of our agents took a risk in the forenoon, to take effect at noon. The insured building was burned at one o'clock. Could we have resisted that claim successfully? No policy had issued; the application had never reached the Head Office of the Company; and of course had not been passed upon.

MR. HUNTER: Had an interim receipt been given to the applicant?

MR. COCHRANE: Yes.

MR. HUNTER: Then I think you were on the risk and could have been compelled to pay.

MR. COCHRANE: That bears us out. We did not resist, but paid the claim.

A MEMBER: Suppose the policy had expired by an hour and a fire occurred, would the Company be liable?

MR. HUNTER: When issuing a policy it is most important that you name the hour at which the insurance commences and the hour at which it ends. If you say it commences at noon of a certain day and ends at noon of another certain day, that limits the duration of the policy at both ends. But suppose you say nothing about the time of the day at which it begins or ends. The law is that a day begins immediately after twelve o'clock of the previous night, and runs until twelve o'clock of the next night. You can see that in the absence of a limitation in the contract, a fire occurring between these two legal limits of the day makes you liable. If you say in your policy that it expires at twelve o'clock noon of a certain day, and a fire occurs five minutes after twelve o'clock noon on that day, you are not liable. Twelve o'clock noon in a contract means that hour by standard time: R. S. O. 1897, c. 144, s. 2.

A MEMBER: I would like to know if nursery stock stored away is considered as "farm contents."

MR. HUNTER: I should not consider nursery stock as ordinary "farm contents;" it should rather be described as "merchandise."

MEMBER: A man who deals altogether in nursery stock has made application for insurance to our Company to the extent of $33,000 on his nursery stock. In the fall he collects the young trees, etc., and puts walls around them to protect them from the frost.

MR. HUNTER: Of course I have not had time to consider that question, but I should be disposed to say that such stock was merchandise and not "farm contents," and that it would be beyond the powers of a Farmers' Mutual to insure such nursery stock.

A MEMBER: If it were within the powers of a Farmers' Mutual to take such insurance, would it be wise to do so?

MR. HUNTER: I do not know what Company is meant; but I would like to know how an ordinary Farmers' Mutual would pay such a loss. How much money has the Company in the bank?

MEMBER: About $6,000.

MR. HUNTER: And $33,000 would be payable within sixty days after proof of loss! How would the Company pay that?

ANOTHER MEMBER: In case of an assignment of a policy could a new premium note be taken?

MR. HUNTER: You should take a new premium note and issue a new policy to the assignee; otherwise you will get into trouble. If you approve of the assignment and of the assignee, issue a new policy and take a new premium note.

A MEMBER: Suppose a policy expired at noon a certain day, and the Secretary of the Company wrote the policyholder that the agent of the Company could not get to see him immediately, but the Company would carry the risk until he did. Would that bind the Company?

MR. HUNTER: A somewhat similar case happened to the East Williams Mutual. The agent of that Company was alleged to have held out to a mortgagor that his policy would be continued by the Company notwithstanding that his mortgagee had for his own benefit insured the mortgaged property in another Company. The agent denied having said so; but the mortgagor and his wife and his daughter all testified that the agent said so. The Company was held liable for a loss that occurred during the time the risk was being so carried:

McIntyre v. East Williams Mutual Fire Ins. Co. (1889), 18 O. R. 79.

MEMBER: In the present case the policyholder had a letter from the Secretary of the Company, stating that the Company would carry the risk.

MR. HUNTER: If in writing that letter, the agent acted within the scope of his general powers, or of some special authority, I think the Company would be liable for the loss.

MR. FRANK HAIGHT: In consideration of the very instructive address of Mr. Hunter, I beg to move, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered him by this Association. I may say that we owe Mr. Hunter a great deal; and his address to us to-day has been more than usually interesting and instructive. He has given us a great deal of information and advice that we can use in our business every day.

PRESIDENT: MR. Hunter, I have much pleasure in tendering you the hearty thanks of this Association for your interesting and instructive address.

MR. HUNTER: MR. President and Gentlemen,—I thank you very much for your kind resolution, and for the kind words accompanying it. It always affords me great pleasure to help you in any way I can. I have had the very best relations with you during the many years I have been Inspector of Insurance, and have always found you anxious to ascertain, not the means of escaping payment, but the means of doing justice between the policyholder and the Company. Justice is what you should aim at; and, when justice is your aim, you can always count on me to help you in any way. (Applause).

II.

INSURANCE TEA SCHEMES.

Schemes to induce the purchase of merchandise by throwing in insurance, have again been exposed through the general collapse in England of the Insurance Tea Schemes. Of these schemes one of the most notorious is the Tea Pension system of Nelson and Co., Limited. For the compulsory liquidation of this company Mr. Justice Buckley, on the 8th February, 1905, granted a winding up order, and refused to entertain a proposal for reducing the company's insurance contracts under section 62 of The Life Assurance Companies Act, 1870, 33-4 Vict. (Imp.) c. 61.

The very instructive judgment of Mr. Justice Buckley in the case, delivered 16th February, 1905, is reported in the London Times of the 16th February, 1905; also in 74 Law Journal (at p. 292) as follows:

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

CHANCERY DIVISION.

(Before Mr. Justice Buckley).

In re Nelson and Co., Limited.

"This is a petition to wind up Nelson and Co., Limited, on the ground of its insolvency."

The insolvency is not, and cannot be disputed. The only defence has been that, in the interests of the unfortunate persons who are the policyholders of or entitled to the benefit of annuity contracts in the Company, the Court should adopt, with or without modification, a scheme which has been put forward, and which is said to be a scheme for the reduction of the Company's contracts under section 22 of The Life Assurance Companies Act, 1870.

"The business of Nelson and Co. (Limited), may be described as that of attracting married women to become customers of the Company, and purchasers of the Company's tea, at prices, largely—say, 40 per cent.—above its fair market value, by the delusive and reckless promise of impossible pensions to be paid to them if and when they became widows. The pensions scheme rested upon no actuarial basis of any kind. It ignored the age of the husband on whose death the pension would commence. It ignored the age of the wife during whose widowhood it would be payable. It ignored with some exceptions the health and expectation of life of the husband. The loading which was added to the price of the tea, and which may in a sense be regarded as the premium paid for the annuity contract, bore no actuarial relation whatever to the liability which the Company was undertaking. Under no circumstances could it have justified a pension of anything approaching 10s. a week. If the customers had known that they were overcharged 8d. a lb. for tea, and in the result might possibly during widowhood receive a pension of, say 6d. a week, the number of the Company's customers would probably have suffered considerable reduction. Even the 8d. a lb. did not go to provide for the annuity contracts; it went into the general business, and, under the limited company's contracts, the policyholder could look only to 75 per cent. of the profits realized by its employment with the Company's other funds in the business.

"The offer which the Company made was a mere reckless promise of an impossible pension with a view to induce persons to become customers. The company was incorporated on July 11, 1901. It took over the business of a man named Erasmus Jensen. At that date Jensen had some 150,000 to 200,000 customers, and had become liable to pay pensions to a large number of widows. There is some difference between those who began purchasing tea in Rasmus Jensen's time, and whose contracts were taken over by the limited company, and those who began purchasing from the limited company after July, 1901. It is not material to state the difference accurately for the purposes of this judgment. The most material point is that, from the time of its incorporation, the limited company only offered payment out of a fund—namely 75 per cent. of the Company's net profits on tea. The originators of the scheme had not miscalculated the credulity of the public to whom they appealed. The number of customers increased rapidly, and ultimately reached something like 500,000 or 600,000. The number of widows who became entitled to pensions increased with like rapidity; and, at the date of this petition, there were about 12,696 widows entitled to 10s. a week, and 7,084 widows entitled to 5s. a week, making a total of upwards of 19,000 widows entitled to pensions, which aggregate to a sum of between £8,000 and £9,000 a week. There is actuarial evidence which is altogether uncontroverted that the reserve which this Company should have had to meet the pensions thus payable and the Company's prospective liability in respect of current contracts which might result in pensions is nearly £30,000,000 sterling. The figure is not accurate, and cannot be made accurate without knowing the ages of the lives, a detail which, as I have said, the Company ignored. Making large deductions, as, for instance, a deduction on the footing that, say 75 per cent. of the persons who are now buying tea will cease to buy, and thus cannot become entitled to pensions, and, making certain other allowances, the reserve ought to be a sum measured, at any rate, by millions—£10,000,000 would seem to be about the lowest sum. To meet this gigantic present and prospective liability the Company have available for the annuitants less than £20,000. There is the statutory deposit of £20,000, and, further, a sum of about £2,782 to the credit of the widows' pension fund. But from these has to be deducted a sum of £3,353, which the Company says has been paid to widows over and above the share of profits to which they were entitled. The amount available is thus something under £20,000, a sum sufficient to pay, even in respect of the present current pensions alone, the amount due to them for little more than a fortnight.

"It would take a great deal to induce the Court to allow a Company whose past history is such as I have sketched to continue business. I must add, however, something as to what I have been able to learn as regards the constitution of this Company from the materials before me. The nominal capital is £101,000 in £1 shares. Of these, £100,000 were, under contract of September 19, 1901, issued as fully paid to Erasmus Jensen as vendor. Some further shares seem to have been issued, for in an agreement of December 6, 1901, I find Charles Alfred Goffin agreeing to sell 100,500 shares, being all the shares he held, to a Company called the Nelson Share Syndicate (Limited), for a sum of £220,000 to be paid in fully-paid preference, ordinary, and deferred shares of the syndicate. By clause 6 of that agreement Goffin was (subject to subsisting contracts which were not to be renewed) to have the exclusive right to supply to the syndicate and the Company all tea and other commodities from time to time required for the business. Goffin was a secretary or representative of a man named Catton. There was originally a share qualification required of the directors of Nelson and Co. (Limited)—viz.: £100. That was rescinded on March 19, 1902. Beyond Goffin and the person or persons, whoever they are, who stood behind Goffin, being no doubt the persons (whoever they are) who constituted the Nelson Share Syndicate, there were, so far as I can trace, no incorporators of Nelson and Co. (Limited) other than a few holders of one share. Goffin and those who stood behind him were the persons who would derive the profit from being the exclusive vendors to Nelson and Co. (Limited), of the prodigious amount of tea which was wanted to satisfy purchasers attracted by the devices which I have described. The machinery which will become available in the winding up of this Company may, perhaps, be usefully employed in ascertaining whether the object of its existence has not really been to create, by the promise of bogus pensions, an enormous market for tea which was to be supplied to the Company by Goffin or those who stood behind him to their own profit. The result of the Company's proceedings has been to lead to what was perfectly obvious from the first—a state of hopeless insolvency.

"Upon every ground a stop ought to be put to such a Company in such hands carrying on such a system of business as this. In the interest of the unfortunate victims, however, the Court is asked to consider a scheme of reduction of contracts under The Life Assurance Companies Acts. A scheme has been brought in. It is, in my opinion, open to insuperable objections upon several grounds. In the first place it involves that this Company shall continue business—a course to which, in the absence of overpowering reasons in the interest of the customers, I should not accede. Secondly, it proceeds upon a footing that a system of business shall be continued by which customers shall be attracted to become purchasers of tea at a price loaded with a sum to represent the premium on the insurance benefit, such sum, however, not being payable as a premium capable of being dealt with in manner required by section 4 of The Life Assurance Companies Act 1870, but included in a lump sum which is to be dealt with in a manner indicated in the scheme. Stating it in figures, the matter would stand somewhat thus: The tea purchased by the Company cost, it is said, 1s. 3d. to 1s. 5d. per lb., and would fairly be retailed at 1s. 8d. per lb. Sale of the tea was made, and would under the scheme continue to be made, at 2s. 4d. per lb., thus providing a loading of 8d. per lb. to form the premium income to support the annuity contracts. The scheme involves that a new company called the Nelson Trading Company (Limited), shall sell the tea and shall pay 75 per cent. of the loading (6d. a lb.) to this company (Nelson and Co. (Limited), which shall as between the two companies, be the insurer of what is called the insured customer of the Nelson Trading Company (Limited). A scheme of that kind is, to my mind, not a reduction of contracts of Nelson and Co. (Limited). It is a scheme under which a customer, if he is minded to make a new contract with the Nelson Trading Company (Limited), is to be entitled to a reduced benefit out of his previously existing contract with Nelson and Co. (Limited). This is not, in my opinion, within section 22 of the Life Assurance Companies Act, 1870. That section authorizes a reduction of the contract between A and the Company, but not a provision by which A shall enter into a new contract with a new Company, and as the result of that shall be entitled to a reduced benefit from his contract with the old company. Again, section 4 of the Life Assurance Companies Act, 1870, requires that a separate account shall be kept of all receipts in respect of the annuity contracts, and that the receipts shall be carried to and from a separate fund absolutely the security of the annuity-holders. The scheme of business which I am now asked to wind up, and the scheme of reduction which I am asked to approve, is one under which the payment which the assured makes by way of premium is not a separate sum capable of being kept separate and appropriated, as required by section 4. The 2s. 4d. per lb. which she pays is what I may call a contributory sum for securing two benefits—the present receipt of one pound of tea, and the expectation of a future sum of money contingent upon widowhood. I do not think that this is consistent with the Act of Parliament.

“Another fatal objection is that, as Counsel for the Company conceded, the reduction of the contracts which they propose is a reduction of inequality as between the policyholders. That which the Act allows is a reduction of all contracts to the relief of the common debtor, but not a reduction which operates in inequality as between the common creditors. I do not mean that absolute arithmetical equality must be insured, but a scheme which proceeds upon a principle of inequality of reduction is not, I think, within the Act. Again, as is pointed out in the report made by Mr. Ackland to the Board of Trade, no sort of benefit is granted to the existing customers of the Company which it not granted to new customers, unless it may be a trifling advantage in admitting the old customers to benefits within the first year.

“Other objections there are of a commercial rather than a legal character. Thus as matter of business, it is, I think, idle to anticipate that the new trading company could as a trading company ever legitimately get capital for its undertaking upon the terms proposed, namely, that 95 per cent. of its profits should be handed over under the scheme, and 5 per cent. of its profits should be the only fund for expectation of dividend. Again, there is no practical means of insuring that the trading company shall not so work its business, or to prepare its accounts, as that its net profits shall, as Mr. Ackland says, be whittled down to practically nothing. A suggestion was made by Counsel for the Company, that some machinery should be provided by which this court, or some authority, should retain control over the price which the Company should charge for its tea, and to ensure that the present system should not continue, under which the tea dealing company should be bound to buy all its stock from particular persons, of course to their profit. Such suggestions, to my mind, are illusory. Another objection which weighs strongly with me is that the effect of this scheme is to create what I may call a tied insurance business, a system under which customers are to pay too much for their tea upon the terms that the excess shall be taken by them, not to such insurance office as they like to insure an innuity, but that they shall be tied to Nelson and Co. (Limited), being such a company as I have described, as their insurers. I see no advantage, but every disadvantage, to the customer in this provision. It is said, on the other hand, that to reject any such scheme is to throw away the value of what is called—using a term singularly inappropriate to the facts of this case—the “goodwill” of the Company, and that the widows, being confined to 75 per cent. of the profits, can get nothing in the winding up beyond the £20,000. As to the latter, I am not sure that this is so; but I say no more upon the point, for it may well have to be considered in the course of the winding up. I am clear, however, that, even if this be so, it is more to the interest of the policyholders to put an end at once to this concern, even if that which they get out of the wreck be but a small sum.

“For these reasons I think that the scheme for reduction of contracts is impossible and cannot be approved, and I therefore at the conclusion of the argument pronounced a winding up order.”

NELSON'S TEA.

So this curious concern, strange mixture of philanthropy and freak finance, has come at last to the knacker's yard of joint stock companies. Its end cannot be called untimely, considering the surroundings in which it was born or the methods by which it worked, and the wonder is rather that it has not been wound up long ago, since it must have been in Queer Street for many months past. The idea of giving away 10s. or 5s. per week with a pound of tea originated in the brain of one Erasmus Jansen, a tea dealer of Louth, Lincolnshire, and caught on so quickly that in 1901 he had no less than 200,000 names on his books and 3,000 widows drawing annuities. Then the unfeeling Board of Trade stepped in and took proceeding against him for carrying on a life insurance business without having paid the deposit of £20,000, required under The Insurance Companies Act, a small but important detail Jansen had overlooked. Unable to find this sum himself he sold the business to a company for the nominal sum of £100, the authorized capital being £101,000, none of which was issued to the public. It was nearly all handed over to another concern known as the Nelson Share Syndicate, Limited, whose functions appear rather mysterious. The new undertaking found the deposit, and for a while things went swimmingly, the sales of tea running into many thousands of pounds worth a week. Sad to say, the claims for pensions also began to mount up rapidly as time passed, until in the end the 75 per cent. of the profits to which the sagacious promoters had limited the company's liability was no longer sufficient to meet the demands. Meanwhile there were ugly stories afloat of the huge commissions seized by certain officials and others belonging to the company on the sales of tea, commissions which rumor said amounted to as much as 1½d. per lb. Policyholders, for such the buyers of tea were, therefore began to feel nervous and finally presented a winding-up petition which Mr. Justice Buckley this week directed should be acquiesced in. There was nothing else for it, notwithstanding the offer made by certain individuals to find a guarantee for twelve months, for as matters stand to carry on the business on a proper basis, the company would require a reserve of £14,000,000. So it is just as well the Board of Trade refused to entertain any proposals to prolong the suffering, since things would simply have gone from bad to worse. The only persons for whom one feels any sympathy are the poor workers, who bought the tea dreaming that in years to come their wives would have some provision against starvation. Were it not for them, it is as well that the wretched concern, with its sham philanthropy, its vain boast of having solved the old age pension problem and other such nonsense, should be decently interred. But how about these who are alleged to have netted fortunes out of the thing?

From The Investors' Review, (London, Eng.) 18th February, 1905, p. 208.

“Mr. Justice Buckley, when stating his reasons for directing Nelson's Tea to be wound up, made a few scathing remarks on the way the scheme had been run. Its method, his Lordship said, was to induce married women to buy tea at a price 40 per cent. above market rates in the hope that by doing so they would get a small annuity should their husbands die. None of the customers appear to have grasped the fact that they were being overcharged to the extent of 8d. per lb. per week. Moreover this 8d. was not set aside for the specific purpose of providing for the annuities, but went into the general business, and the policyholders could at the most only hope to get a share of the profits. Naturally the promoters had reckoned on the gullibility of the British public, indeed it was their principal asset, and they were not disappointed, for when the crash came there were no less than 19,000 widows on the books. To carry on a business of this size a reserve of at least £10,000,000 would be required, and the company had at the outside a miserable £20,000. Mr. Justice Buckley also hinted that the machinery of the Companies' Winding-up Department might be usefully employed in ascertaining whether Nelson's business was not to create a demand for tea, but merely a trick to beguile people into paying for a bogus pension.

From The Saturday Review, (London, Eng.), 18th February, 1905, p. 201.

INSURANCE TEA SCHEMES.

The reasons given by Mr. Justice Buckley for pronouncing the winding-up order against Nelson & Co., the firm which did so large a business under the tea pension scheme, must be regarded as much more than a comment on this particular case. There are other schemes of a similar nature to that worked by Nelson & Co., to which the condemnation of the Judge applies with equal force. The plan adopted by a considerable number of tea companies in order to extend their business and to make larger profits than they would out of selling tea by itself is to charge a higher price for the tea, generally 2s. 4d. a pound, and promise their customers benefits in the form of pensions on becoming widows, or of the payment of a relatively large sum on the death of the husband. In order to create a large business these benefits are announced on a scale of liberality usually from fifteen to twenty times greater than the contributions available for pensions or insurance could possibly provide. In stating that Nelsons had incurred a liability which could only be met by having funds in hand to the amount of £10,000,000, Mr. Justice Buckley was deliberately and professedly understating the real facts of the case. We have the names of at least nine companies conducting business more or less on the lines which have been so severely condemned from the judicial bench. One of the most prominent of these is the British Widow's Assurance Company, Limited,* the accounts of which, as presented to the Insurance Department of the Board of Trade, are before us. From these it appears that the customers have paid £16,000 for their tea, and £9,000 extra in expectation of receiving pensions on becoming widows. Out of this £9,000 only £2,613 was paid to the pension fund. Out of this sum £924 was paid for pensions, whereas it is safe to say that £60 is the outside amount that ought to have been used for this purpose. This fact illustrates a very important point which is too little recognized. The customers who pay an extra 10d. a pound for their tea ought to acquire rights against the companies and reserve funds should be provided for meeting these liabilities as they accrue. Instead of doing this, pensions of much too large an amount are paid to the few who become widows, and the payment of these excessive pensions is used as an advertisement to attract new customers.

Another point which was raised in the Nelson case and practically illustrated by a company called the British Endowment Tea, Limited, is that there is nothing to prevent the companies raising the price of their tea to any extent they choose. The British Endowment, for instance, at one time charged 2s. 2d. a pound, then 2s. 8d. then 3s. 4d., and announced that it would be raised to 4s. 8d. a pound. This particular company, however, ceased supplying anything at all to either their agents or their customers, and it is stated that its business is to be taken over by the British Widows. The power to raise the price of tea in this way normally enables the companies to get rid of their customers and the attaching liability after fleecing them for as long as possible. It is to be hoped that the exposure of Nelson and Co., and the very important pronouncement of Mr. Justice Buckley, will suffice to kill these tea schemes once and for all; but such methods illustrate very forcibly the relative helplessness of policyholders in Life Insurance Companies. It might be thought appropriate to give the Board of Trade some power to prevent the continuance of insurance companies which are hopelessly insolvent. The matter is a difficult one to deal with, and any interference with the great majority of British Life Offices, which are conducted on a sounder basis than any other financial institutions in the world is not at all desirable. At the present time the Board of Trade is helpless and cannot even refuse to receive and publish in the official life insurance returns statements which it knows perfectly well are sometimes inaccurate and sometimes entirely untrue.

We could give many concrete instances from our personal knowledge in which the returns nominally complying with the schedules of the Life Insurance Companies Acts are quite misleading and sometimes intentionally so. In former years the Board of Trade used to enter into correspondence with some of the companies and publish the correspondence in the Blue Book. Feeling, however, that it was undignified to state in their correspondence that the returns were inaccurate or unsatisfactory, and then to have to publish the returns in any form which the companies choose to present them in, the Board of Trade relinquished the practice of publishing the correspondence. It is now left—in many ways advantageously left—to the criticisms of the press to expose unsatisfactory insurance features; but the task of the critics is rendered the more difficult by the existing inability of the Board of Trade to compel the companies to make true returns.

IT IS ILLEGAL IN ONTARIO TO SELL OR ISSUE BLANK POLICIES PAYABLE TO BEARER.

14 George III., C. 48, s. 2 (which section is in force in Ontario), enacts: "It shall not be lawful to make any policy or policies on the life or lives of any person or persons, or other event or events without inserting in such policy or policies the person's or persons' name or names interested therein, or for whose use, benefit, or on whose account such policy is so made or underwrote." This section has been applied in various cases, e. g., Hodson v. Observer Life Assurance Society (1857), 8 E. and B. 40; Evans v. Bignold (1869), L. R., 4 Q. B., 622; *Ogden v. CANADIAN FREE INSURANCE SYSTEM v. MAYELL & SON.

Unregistered insurance business—Right of insurance company to sell blank policies payable to bearer—Wagering and illegal contracts.

The plaintiffs organized a system ostensibly for the insurance of persons in case of accident or death. They took from merchants a contract agreeing to purchase from the System certain so-called policies, as per specimen, on certain conditions, at $60 per thousand, and to accept the same when forwarded, to be issued within a period of one year. The plaintiffs under the so-called policy were not bound to do anything, for underneath their name and address as printed on the document is the following undertaking of an incorporated insurance company:

"The Ontario Accident and Insurance Company will pay $500 to the legal representatives of the holder, or compensation at the rate of $5 per week in accordance with and subject to certain conditions printed on the back hereof. Signature of holder—
 _____, Witness _____."

The defendants as holders signed one of these undertakings, but it was delivered to them as an escrow, conditioned only to have force if certain other traders adopted the same system, which was that for every $3 worth of goods purchased for cash by a customer one of these so-called policies was to be given to the purchaser guaranteeing the payment of $500 to his or her legal representative whose death should, independently of all other causes, directly result from an accident caused by external violence and accidental means occurring within fourteen days from the date of the instrument, or of $5 per week to such person whilst totally disabled for a period not exceeding ten weeks.

There was no such insurance system registered in the Insurance Inspector's returns or authorized by law.

Held, I. The plaintiffs are not a company authorized to issue currency payable to bearer. They only profess to be a medium for circulating and wagering in the name of an incorporated insurance company, an illegal traffic in the sale of so-called life and accident assurance policies. It is in the nature of a gambling arrangement for the performance of an illegal act. It is therefore void. Any insurance in the nature of a wager is illegal, and sanctioning claim of the plaintiff would be to sanction an illegal device.

2. The plaintiffs promised nothing for the $60 per $1,000, and the Ontario Accident Insurance Company are not parties to the contract, and no consideration passed between them and the holder, and there was no mutuality of contract. The whole transaction was illegal and could have no force or effect.

3. The Ontario Accident Insurance Company, although a duly registered corporation for the transaction of insurance against accident or sickness, has no right to sublet or delegate its franchise to any other corporation or person, much less to an inanimate aggregation without personal responsible existence.

Action dismissed with costs.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES IN ENGLAND.

Increase in the Amount of Sickness Claims among Members of all ages. Annual Premiums for an All Life Insurance of $1,000 according to the Latest Experience of the Manchester Unity; Comparison with Premium Table in Schedule to Ontario Insurance Act, R. S. O. 1897, chap. 203.

A. Sickness Experience.

The recently published experience of the Manchester Unity for the five years 1893-7 shows an increase in sickness claims among members of all ages, that increase being strongly marked at ages 65 and upwards. In an official publication of the Society* (1903) Mr. Alfred W. Watson, F. I. A., has elaborately worked out the sickness and mortality experience of the society for the years 1893-7; and has contrasted that experience with the previous experience of the society for various periods; also with the combined experience for the five years 1876-80, of the friendly societies registered in England. I have here brought together in a Comparative Table Mr. Watson's final results as to sickness and mortality for the period 1866 to 1897 inclusive.

Remarking on the increase in sickness claims, Mr. Watson (p. 16 et seq.) says:

"The first point to be noted is the great increase in the responsibilities of the society in respect of aged members. From the column 'Exposed to Risk' it may be seen that the number of years of life passed through by members of sixty-five years of age and upwards was, in the period 1846-48, 1,265; in the period 1856-60, 8,901; in the period 1866-70, 32,200; in the period 1893-97, 139,894.

*An Account of an Investigation of the Sickness and Mortality Experience of the I. O. O. F. Manchester Unity, during the five years 1893-1897, by Alfred W. Watson, F.I.A., F.S.S., one of the actuaries of the Society, and a Public Valuer under the Friendly Societies Act; followed by Tables setting forth the deduced rates of Sickness and Mortality in Divisions Governed by Occupations and by Geographical Situation; with Life Tables drawn from rural and urban Experiences (separate and combined) in certain Geographical areas; and by Monetary Tables with interest at 3, 3½, 3¾ and 4 per cent. supplying the values of Sickness Benefits at the successive periods of incapacity for the Whole of Life, of Death Benefits, and of Annuities, with commutation columns by which may be obtained the values of Sickness Benefits, Terminable at any age, and of Temporary and Deferred Annuities.

"The special interest which attaches to the present experience by reason of the magnitude of the data at the higher ages has already been mentioned. It is considered, however, that the re-statement of the figures, in comparison with those of the earlier periods, will be of peculiar value to the members of the Order as illustrating by facts beyond the reach of criticism or contention, the gradual but inevitable increase of the liabilities of a friendly society as time passes, and the consequent imperative necessity for the accumulation of adequate reserve funds.

"It will be understood, of course, that each member who lived through the five years of the period under investigation was counted five times in arriving at the numbers exposed to risk. Making due allowance for deaths within the period, it is safe to say that whereas in 1847 the Society contained not more than five hundred members of sixty-five years of age and upwards, the numbers of such members had increased after the lapse of fifty years to approximately thirty thousand.

"A comparison of the sickness experience indicates a general and remarkable increase in the rate of claim. There is little difference in this respect between the experiences of the three earlier periods, but the experience of the years 1893-97 compares unfavorably with its predecessors at every period of life. Nor is the excess a comparatively small quantity; up to forty-five years of age the average sickness has exceeded that of the period 1866-70 by 21 per cent.; between the ages forty-five to sixty-five the excess is equal to 26 per cent.; and at the ages sixty-five and over is not less than 42 per cent.

"Premising that sickness depends to some extent upon the occupations of members, it might perhaps be considered that the increase in the claims arose, in a measure, from an increase in the proportion of members engaged in the more laborious occupations. The materials for investigation on this point are scanty, but, such as they are, they do not lend support to this theory. The only information as to the occupations which appears in the report of 1872 is that miners and colliers were in the proportion of 5.91 per cent. of the whole body of members comprised in the experience of 1866-70 and 5.76 per cent. of the experience of 1856-60. The classified experience of miners and colliers forming part of the new data is 5.85 per cent. of the whole, and a liberal allowance, in addition, for that portion of the mining experience which has not been separately tabulated (for reasons which will be hereafter explained) would not increase this percentage to an appreciable extent.

"The excess, unfortunately, is not to be explained away on any convenient hypothesis. A description will be given, in the following pages, of the various classifications which have been made with regard to locality, density of population, and occupation; and anticipating the remarks to be made on this part of the subject it may be said that the prevalence of excess in greater or less degree—over the general average of 1866-70 is all but universal.

"The first conclusion to be established by the new investigation is therefore that the average sickness per member has increased, and that to a very considerable extent."

* * * * *

"The broad results of these comparisons, view them chronologically from 1846-48 to 1893-97 are that sickness rates are constantly rising, whilst mortality rates, except at the later ages, are declining. * * * It may be pointed out that this experience is unfavorable, financially, in two directions. Not only is the sickness, per member, at each period of life heavier than was formerly the case, but a greater proportion of members than formerly now survive into old age, the period of life at which sickness is at its maximum intensity."

B. Mortality Experience.

As to the mortality experience of the Manchester Unity (Whole Society Table) for the five years 1893-7, that experience when compared with the former experience of the Society shows a diminished death rate at the lower ages, but an increased death rate at ages 60 and onwards. The net annual premiums calculated by Mr. Watson (p. 482-3) from this latest experience would, if applied to an all-life insurance of $1,000, stand as shown in the following Premium Table. These rates exceed those in the Schedule to The Ontario Insurance Act, R. S. O. 1897, c. 203, by differences increasing from 5.7 per cent. at age 18 to nearly 26 per cent. at age 55. For convenient comparison I have here brought together the two rates.

IV.

SOME FALLACIES THAT STILL VEX FRIENDLY SOCIETIES:

An Address delivered by Mr. J. Howard Hunter, M.A., K.C., Registrar of Friendly Societies, to the Canadian Fraternal Association, at the Annual Meeting, Toronto, 28th April, 1905.

[From the Proceedings of the Canadian Fraternal Association, Friday, April 28th, 1905.]

MR. HUNTER: Mr. President and Gentlemen,—It is, of course, very embarrassing for a modest man, after so flattering an introduction, to say anything. I do not know what you are expecting me to talk about to-day. Just at the 11th hour, I was going to say—but it is only 11 now—I threw a few notes together on: "Some Fallacies that Still Vex Friendly Societies."

It is most gratifying to see the yearly increasing interest that is taken in insurance finance by the members of friendly societies throughout this Province. During the past few years there has been a constantly increasing body of opinion coming forward in support of the executive officers in their measures for financial reform. It is true that, in some societies, the members are still in that half-awakened state which prevailed in England in the 40's—the days of the awakening of the Manchester Unity—when the elder Neison blew the first blast of his trumpet, and startled that great Order from its sense of security. Under that trumpet there was no more repose for the dreamers; and presently all but paralytics were afoot and doing. It heartens one to see the boldness with which, in a number of our societies, the executive officers have grappled the vital but nettlesome question of increasing premium rates.—"Courage, toujours courage!"—From the nettle danger you must pluck the flower safety. Every society launched with insufficient premiums, in its turn, learns—unfortunately not from the experience of other societies, but from its own—that in spite of all the new blood that can be thrown into the membership the burden of death claims continues to grow, until to every intelligent member the issue has plainly become, speedy reform or speedy dissolution. This issue sets the more active minds to search out the fallacy on which the society has heretofore been financed.

Some of the fallacies that in early years vexed our societies, have become so palpable as to be no longer dangerous. Present members are amazed that, under those now-exploded schemes, entrants of all ages obtained the same amount of insurance for the same premium. One would have thought it was plain that two members, one entering at 25 and the other at 45 years of age, were paying iniquitously different prices for the same goods. The same fallacy in another form was seen in raising at the death of a member his insurance money by uniform assessments on the surviving members. This assessment was obviously a uniform, though deferred, premium.

A large number of these early schemes were—consciously or unconsciously—in the interest of elderly lives. The founders of the society were almost invariably men who had already fallen into the sere and yellow leaf; and, if any of their number had qualms as to the unequal chance of the younger members ever getting any benefit, the doubter was put down with the rebuke that the young should pay for the old, a generalization very pleasant indeed for the old. As between Smith father, and Smith son, this might be a very proper filial duty. But what as between Smith senior and Jones junior? Here Smith senior cannot be made to see any fallacy. He will die in his error. But Jones junior has already seen light, and has broken away. These patriarchs of the early societies worked out a peculiar use of the motto, "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity," as curious as the use some of the present patriarchs make of mortality tables. Their idea of "liberty" was liberty for the patriarchs to rank upon the fund as first preference bond-holders. "Equality" to them meant, equality of premiums for youth and old age. "Fraternity" meant that they were the eldest of the brothers and were heirs to the whole estate. (Laughter).

But, in our day, the young blood—the Jones juniors in the societies—have made themselves heard. Reaction has set in, and, in the first fervor of reform, the old members now stand in some danger of being harshly used. In reforming rates, some of the societies in the States have placed the future premiums for these venerable members on the same footing as if they were, at their present ages, applying for insurance. In a large number of cases this is equivalent to excluding them from the society altogether; for such rates are simply prohibitive. These poor derelicts, wandering aimlessly around the precincts of the lodges—where they once occupied the chief seats, and even wielded the gavel—are surely a pathetic sight. They ask in broken and pleading voices, what has become of fraternity, of brotherly love? Some of them ask with satirical bitterness:

“Perhaps it was right to dissemble your love.

But,—why did you kick me down stairs?”

I am glad to see that, in Ontario, the old members are being used more gently and more generously.

Now, when on this point, I may call your attention to the very important consequence that in the States some of these elderly men have gone to the Courts for relief, and the hardship of the circumstances is so apparent that the Courts have been disposed to re-open a question we all thought was settled; that is, whether societies have the right to enact retrospective rates of premium. Now, there is the result of overworking a legal right. The nail, after being driven home, was hammered until the board was split.

You may remember that in the Fraternal Congress there was a very able paper read, I think it was in 1903, on these recent decisions. This unsettling of the law has resulted from the palpable hardship which has been inflicted in some of these cases by executive officers that logically no doubt might defend their position. But we have to consider other things in this world besides logic. There is such a thing in this world as humanity as well as logic.

Well, of course, those equal rates for all ages made conspicuous and disastrous failures. Then came the graduated mortuary assessment,—graduated over the surviving members according to their ages at entry. The fallacy obviously inherent in every mortuary assessment is the assumption that the surviving member who is assessed receives no consideration for that assessment unless and until some fellow-member dies. When Smith dies, it is assumed that then Jones for the first time gets value and therefore must pay. After a while—a surprisingly long while—it dawned on the understanding that what Jones got for his money—or should get for his money—was insurance on his own life and not on Smith's; and, this being so, that Jones should, in his lifetime, pay not for Smith's insurance goods, but for his own goods, nor should Jones in turn devolve the Jones debts on survivor Robinson.

These and similar fallacies are not now so troublesome and dangerous as they were a few years ago. A more persistent, because more plausible, class of fallacies now vex friendly societies. In resisting the actuary, the reactionaries break into the actuary's own workshop. They find hanging there certain delicate instruments; they walk off with them, and bend and warp them to most strange uses. One of these tools is ‘Average.’ The fact that an arithmetical average can be found of three abstract numbers does not imply that, if these three numbers are attached to three concrete objects, the average of the three abstract numbers will represent an average of the three concrete objects, or have any relation whatever to them. The average of the numbers 3, 4 and 8 is 5; but the average of three pounds of fish, four pounds of fowl, and eight pounds of mutton, is certainly not five pounds of fish, fowl or mutton.

Before any average can properly be taken of concrete things, the things must be not only of the same kind, but of the same quality. Otherwise the average may lead to fatal mistakes.

There was once a bluff sea captain who, with the aid of an uncle's legacy, had risen from the fo'c's'l to be skipper of his own brig; and, with the aid of a clever young mate, he managed for some years to keep his craft out of Davy Jones' locker. He had on board a chest provided with some bottles of active medicine which, as druggists' terms were, as he said, "jest book larnin' and brag," he numbered them from one to twelve in bold figures. Now 20 grains of number four was his favorite prescription for choleraic seizures. One night, upon an urgent call, the skipper found one of his men in serious case. He hastened to his chest for number four, but to his dismay found number four empty. What was to be done? He had heard other skippers talk much of averaging all sorts of things. Why not medicines? Twenty grains of four was obviously the same as 10 grains of three and 10 grains of five. No sooner said than weighed out, mixed and administered. Poor Jack's death was entered by the mate on the ship's log as due to "natural causes;" but he had really died of "average." (Laughter).

Not a few of the deceased friendly societies have died of average, and some are still at sea on the question.

Lives of different ages cannot be thrown together and averaged so as to infer from the average age either any rate of mortality or any rate of premium. The utmost that the standard tables of insurance do in either of these matters is to average lives of the same age. And even as to these lives, they are not taken indiscriminately, say, from the general population. They are lives that are insured after careful medical examination. In other words they are selected lives, as well as all of the same age. Now-a-days, for still greater precaution, in what are technically called "Select Tables," not only are the lives of the same age, and selected lives, but the same number of years must have passed since the selection.

This question of average has most seriously confused and misled friendly societies. A member of a society that has in it many young lives says, "the average age of all our members is only 35;" and he then infers that the death rate of the society is as if all the members were 35 years of age. Gentlemen, this is completely delusive.

Mr. George T. Dexter, Superintendent of the Mutual Life of New York, illustrates this point by taking the case of a society of 100,000 members; 50,000 aged 20, and 50,000 aged 50. The average age over the whole 100,000 would be 35. Now, using the American Experience Table, the deaths in one year on 100,000 members, aged each 35 would be only 895. According to the same table the deaths in 50,000 members, each aged 20, would be 390; and the deaths in 50,000 aged 50, would be 689. That would make 1,079, against the estimated number 895, making a difference of 184 deaths.

Now, let us take the matter a step further than Mr. Dexter, and suppose that each of the 184 was insured for $1,500. The calculation, based on the average would, on one year's death claims, be erroneous to the extent of $276,000. Of course the error would be still more serious if the disparity in age were greater. Suppose the average age were 40; and 50,000 of the 100,000 were of age 20, and the other 50,000 of age 60. Here the error would in one year amount to 746 lives and the error in one year's death claims would amount to $1,119,000.

The death rate then, in any society depends, not upon the average age of the members, but upon the several ages of the individual members.

Apply this fallacy of averaging dissimilar things to the business of some other financial institution; say a bank. Here, instead of the physical strength of the customer, we have to do with his financial strength. Instead of rating each customer on his own strength, and on that basis regulating his line of discount, how would it do to compound all the accounts together so as to "average" the financial strength of all the customers of the bank, and then give each of them an average line of discount?

In the present case such a method is far worse, for each customer of the insurance society, year by year, gets nearer to actual bankruptcy of health and total failure of vitality.

Another most persistent fallacy is that of founding premium rates on the rough sort of average known as the "Expectancy," or "Expectation of Life." On this matter I last year reprinted in the Appendix of my Detailed Insurance Report, warning given many years ago by the highest authorities in England on friendly societies. Just sixty years ago, in his Vital Statistics, the elder Neison warned friendly societies against the misuse of the "Expectation of Life." By one writer after another the warning has been reiterated, but this fallacy in some persons resists all exorcism. It will not be cast out. A man violently possessed of it shows the ancient symptoms. The poor sufferer cries aloud; works terribly with his mouth; talks figuratively, and most incoherently.

Now, this persistent fallacy involves a total misapplication of the Expectation Table. It is almost like looking for the value of bonds or debentures in a navigator's traverse table. The use of compound interest is inseparable from the calculation of the value and amount of future premiums. But the increase of mortality proceeds at such an irregular rate of acceleration that the calculation must be made from year to year, instead of upon the basis of the average time involved. If the premiums were calculated upon the "Expectation of Life," the shortage in the expected premiums would prove very serious. To illustrate this, a table was published some years ago, based on the American Experience Table, interest taken at $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. I have added to the table another column, "F," to show in each case the amount of the shortage.

American Experience at $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.

A	B	C	D	E	F

45	25	25.986	46.5706	1210.18	210.18

Taking from this table the case of a member entering at 20 years of age, it is clear that the error against the society would be $487. The younger the age, the greater of course the error. The errors shown in the table are errors for a policy of $1,000. In the case of a policy of $2,000, or of $3,000, the error would, of course, be twice or thrice as much. The result is, that where you calculate premiums on the Expectation as a financial basis you simply are altogether misled as to the moneys that will enure to the society. Even as an estimate, it is wildly wrong. That was a very favorite mode of computation in our societies a few years ago, and even lately I have seen calculations on that basis. Of course, where that system of financing was pursued in a large society, the aggregate shortage from all the contracts in the society would be enormous. The society would not know what was the matter with it, but it would die.

On this fallacious basis some recent schemes have been propounded, and it is not easy for executive officers, or for anyone else, to make it clear to the ordinary member just where the fallacy lurks in these plausible schemes. I believe the propounders themselves are quite honest and sincere in their views, but they are not sufficiently impressed with the magnitude of the task, or with the responsibility that they are assuming. The attitude of many of these gentlemen who, perhaps for the first time in their lives, have taken the question up at some meeting of delegates, having never given it twenty-four hours' serious consideration before, recalls Sydney Smith's description of Lord John Russell's alarming energy. He said, "There is nothing that Lord John Russell would not undertake. I believe he would perform the operation for the stone, build St. Peter's, or assume—with or without ten minutes' notice—the command of the Channel fleet. And no one would discover by his manner afterwards that the patient had died, that the church had tumbled down, or that the Channel fleet had been knocked to atoms." (Laughter and prolonged applause).

Moved by Dr. Emory, seconded by Mr. Snelgrove, that the thanks of this Association be tendered to Mr. Hunter for his very instructive address. The resolution was carried by a standing vote.

The President then tendered the resolution of thanks to Mr. Hunter, and in doing so spoke of the good advice for which the associations were indebted to him, and the wisdom of taking it. He said he had no doubt the advice contained in the present address would be accepted in the same way.

Replying to Vote of Thanks.

MR. HUNTER: I can only express from my heart my very sincere thanks for your kind words. It is not, of course, pleasant to point out some of these fallacies, but I think that now in this Province we have got beyond the point when there can be any danger in the way of disturbing public confidence. I think you have gained public confidence by the very fact that you have shown yourself courageous enough to reform. The same thing occurred in England. You will remember the tremendous struggle that occurred there between error and intelligence, and the victory that intelligence won. It is most inspiring to read in the histories of the English societies what they went through. There is certainly no risk to the societies now in your dealing outspokenly with your members. In all, or nearly all, the great societies of this Province, the executive officers have come forward and publicly discussed the financial position; have told the members the dangers that threaten and how they should be avoided; and I am glad to see that the members have such a high degree of intelligence that they appreciate not only the courage of the officers who spoke to them in that way, but they appreciate the reasons for the reform that was recommended. It is most encouraging to see—in the last five years for instance—a corresponding growth of confidence in these societies. And why? Because the public see that the societies are anxious for all actuarial information, all assistance. The societies are not excluding the light. They publish minute statements of their affairs; their expenses of management are kept down to a very low figure, and the public show increasing confidence. In the particular societies that have recently reformed their rates I am informed that, far from diminishing the membership, the increase of rates has had the opposite effect; that there has been a rally of business men,—of hard-headed thinking men,—to these societies, a class of men that were rather shy before. If that is so, I am very glad to hear it. It is certainly what you deserve for your courage in dealing with these difficult and perplexing questions.

Gentlemen, I thank you very sincerely. (Applause).

Mr. Frost asked whether the Registrar would still recommend that his rates just as they were formulated, should be adopted by the fraternal societies.

In Answer to Questions put by Members.

MR. HUNTER: I might say, in reply to the question respecting rates, that I see no reason at all to change the view I took when I first published the minimum rates that you now find in Schedule A to The Ontario Insurance Act, which are commonly called the Hunter Rates. The question of the minimum has since been tried and re-tried in the States, as you are aware. The Fraternal Congress, with this Ontario Table before it, thought that they could perhaps reduce the rates somewhat lower, and you see the result in the Fraternal Congress Table. From ages 20 to 55 the rates in the Fraternal Congress Table vary either way from the Hunter Table to the extent of from 1-12th of a cent to 4 cents in the monthly premium on an insurance of $1,000: so that the difference between those two tables comes down to a very small matter.

Then several other societies, each on its own account, undertook the same investigation. For instance, the Maccabees procured an independent actuarial calculation of their own experience. The resulting table, reported in July, 1904, by the Commission on Rates to the Supreme tent of that Order, differed very slightly from the Hunter Table. So slightly, that I do not think it would be worth while spending money or time in trying to elaborate an opinion as between the two rates. So far as our Province is concerned, I am satisfied that you will not, in your experience, find the Hunter Table to be too high, having regard to the constantly increasing number of our people moving into cities and towns, working there in factories under less favorable conditions, and exposed to increased danger through various employments. When these workers are taken off the farm, they are in a different class altogether from the great majority of our present population. Taking into account all these changes, which are occurring under our eyes, I do not think it would be safe for any society to place its rates below that Table. I endeavored there to put the rates at the minimum. When I calculated it, the ordinary table used was the Hm. Table. That was calculated many years ago, before there was a general observance of the Public Health Acts. The Public Health Acts of England, at all events, had not operated on the lives shown in the Hm. Table, and the rate of mortality in that table was somewhat high. But our people went to the other extreme, and said that the table was ridiculously high. It was in order to assist our people in getting to what you call a "rock-bottom" rate, that I calculated the table now in question; and I took the lowest mortality experience we had in Canada, the experience of the Canada Life Assurance Company. That company was very careful and stringent in its medical examinations. I took their experience as a safe foundation in the belief that rates founded on their mortality experience would be extremely low—the lowest that we could hope to attain. I would not suggest for a moment that a lower rate be adopted, because I think you will need at the least every dollar called for by that table. As to exact uniformity of rates, that is a matter of opinion among yourselves. There is a considerable diversity of opinion probably still in this Convention, and whether this Convention would forward matters by adopting a resolution for uniformity, I am not in a position to say. There is no doubt that the question is constantly making headway. Whether the time is ripe for that perfect uniformity which would certainly be most desirable in order to prevent unpleasant competition between societies, I am not in a position to say. The Hunter Table was calculated in 1896.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

The Ontario Insurance Act, Revised Statutes of Ontario 1897, chapter 203, section 149, (as amended by 63 Victoria, chapter 17, section 27, and by 1 Edward VII., chapter 21, section 2 (4), enacts as follows:

"149.—(1) Where the age of a person is material to any contract, and such age is given erroneously in any statement or warranty made for the purposes of the contract, such contract shall not be avoided by reason only of the age being other than as stated or warranted, if it appears that such statement or warranty was made in good faith and without any intention to deceive, but the person entitled to recover on such contract shall not be entitled to recover more than an amount which bears the same ratio to the sum that such person would otherwise be entitled to recover as the premium proper to the stated age of such person bears to the premium proper to the actual age of such person, the said stated age and the actual age being both taken as at the date of the contract.

"Provided that in no case shall the amount receivable exceed the amount stated or indicated in the contract.

"Provided, also, that where the application for and contract of insurance expressly limit the insurable age, and where the actual age of the applicant for insurance at the date of his application exceeds the age so limited, the contract shall, during the lifetime of the assured and not later than five years from the date of the contract, be voidable at the discretion of the insurer within thirty days after the error in age comes to the knowledge of the insurer.

"(2) For the purposes of the next preceding sub-section the word 'premium' shall mean the net annual premium as shown in or deduced from the Hm. Tables of the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, the rate of interest being taken at 4½ per cent. per annum.

"To facilitate the use of the Hm. Tables of the said Institute of Actuaries for any purpose of this Act the said tables may be taken as they appear in any published edition or collection of standard actuarial or valuation tables. 1 Edward VII., c. 21, s. 2 (4).

"(3) If the error in age includes a fractional part of a year exceeding a half year, such fractional part shall be computed as a whole year, but if the fractional part does not exceed a half year it shall be wholly disregarded in the computation.

"(4) When by the terms and for the purposes of the contract, the age of the person in respect of whose age the contract is taken to be greater than the actual age of such person, the number of years added to such age shall, for the purposes of the calculation provided for by this section, be added to the true age of such person.

"(5) Where any error is discovered in respect of any contract of insurance, or of the premium or premiums paid or to be paid upon such contract, nothing herein contained shall be construed in any way to prevent at any time before the maturity of the contract an adjustment between the insurer and the assured of the amount or amounts payable in respect of any insurance effected, or of the premium or premiums paid or to be paid.

"(6) This section shall apply not only to any future application for, or contract of, insurance, but also to any application heretofore taken, and to any contract heretofore made." 63 Vict. c. 17, s. 27.

Cf. Cerri v. A. O. F., 28 O. R., at 114-5; Re Parish (1904) 4 O. W. R., 425.

As to insurance effected upon his own life by a minor of 15 years of age or upwards, The Ontario Insurance Act, R. S. O. 1897, chapter 203, section 150 (6), enacts as follows:

"In respect of insurance heretofore or hereafter, by any person not of the full age of twenty-one years but of the age of fifteen years or upwards effected upon his own life, for either his own benefit or for the benefit of his father, mother, brother or sister, the assured shall not by reason only of his minority, be deemed incompetent to contract for such insurance or for the surrender of such insurance, or to give a valid discharge for any benefit accruing, or for money payable under the contract."

APPLICATION OF THE TABLES.

Example 1. In an accepted proposal for an ordinary all-life insurance of $1,000, the age of the assured had been erroneously given as 30 years instead of 35 years; what is the adjusted amount of the insurance?

From Table 1, the net annual premium for $1,000 for age 35 is $18.719; and for age 30, is $15.798; the proportion therefore is 18.719 : 15.798 :: $1,000 : x . This gives for x , or the fourth term of the proportion, $843.95, which is the amount legally payable under the above section.

Example 2. Here the data being as in example 1, except that the insurance was for $2,500; what is the adjusted amount of the insurance?

First find, as before, the adjusted amount of an insurance of \$1,000. Then the amount for an insurance of \$2,500 will obviously be $2\frac{1}{2}$ times as much; so that \$843.95 \times $2\frac{1}{2}$, or \$2,109.88, is the amount legally payable under the statute.

In the case of any other policy or contract of insurance falling within the scope of Tables 1 to 9, the amount of insurance legally payable is similarly ascertained.

Table No. 10 brings together the Net Single Premium (A_x), the Net Annual Premium (P_x), and the Annuity (a_x), the relation between these three functions being expressed by the equation:

$$A_x = P_x (1 + a_x)$$

$$\text{or } P_x = \frac{A_x}{1 + a_x}$$

$$\text{whence } P_x = \frac{1}{1 + a_x} + d;$$

the value of d at $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. being .0430622.
