

GLENDALE WINS AGAIN

BASKETBALL EXPERTS DEFEAT FAMOUS WESTLAKE TEAM 40 TO 34

Normal Hill gymnasium was filled to overflowing Thursday night to witness the great basketball game between the Glendale Athletics and the famous Westlake team of Los Angeles city. The Westlakes are financed by the City of Los Angeles. From the very start the Glendale boys showed that they had the upper hand of the Westlakes. The Normal Hill team, nevertheless, put up a stiff fight and the first half closed with Glendale leading by only two points—18 to 16.

There was nothing so very formidable in this lead that the Normal Hill team had need to be discouraged and they showed that they still believed in themselves notwithstanding the lead of the visitors, by the snap and vigor with which they ran the ball and the accuracy of their shooting. However, there was more snap and more vigor in the Glendale team, which many times cleverly blocked the desperate assaults on their goal and, relieving the pressure by clever tricks, carried the assault to their opponents' territory and one by one added points to their lead.

Glendale's work was characterized by the closeness of its team play. There seemed to be a thorough understanding between the different members of the team and an electric sympathy that brought their united energies to bear on each point of difficulty or danger. Each member of the team played to the extent of his ability and played for the team and not for himself, and this brought victory. At the close of the second half the game stood 40 to 34 in favor of Glendale. Following was the lineup:

Glendale—Littell and Bidwell, forwards; Taylor, center; Stone and Farnor, guards.

Westlake—Swan, Silk, Trauger and Dye, forwards; Take, center; Cate and Rudy, guards.

The winning of this game puts Glendale once more in the running for the championship. Next Tuesday the club plays against the formidable Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. team. The game will be played in Glendale Tuesday evening, Feb. 8, at the gymnasium of the Athletics, First and Glendale avenue. It is hoped that a large attendance will gratify the local team on that night. The team is working hard to bring this honor to Glendale and is deserving of the strongest support.

On Tuesday evening the club has arranged to have a watchman at the gymnasium to take care of autos and other property of the audience. The Glendale team now has its mind set on snatching victory from the redoubtable Whittier college team, which leads the league. The next set of games will probably clear the way for this encounter, as Whittier's percentage at present is .666, while that of Glendale is .500.

RECEPTION AT BANK

It is expected that there will be a large and pleasing attendance at the opening of the new premises of the Glendale Savings bank, Saturday afternoon and evening. Mr. Ed M. Lee, president of the bank, Mr. E. U. Emery, vice-president, Mr. C. D. Lusby, cashier, and Mr. M. P. Harrison, secretary, have been active in making preparations for the reception of the guests on that occasion. The new bank home at the corner of Brand and Broadway is now in first-class condition. The mahogany fittings look rich and in good taste. The large plate-glass windows throw abundance of light into the interior, which looks substantial and modern and is in thorough keeping with the solid character of the bank itself.

The directors of the bank, Mr. E. U. Emery, sales manager of Newmark Bros., Los Angeles; Mr. George T. Paine, vice-president of the Bank of Edgemont, Edgemont, S. D.; David Francy, retired capitalist, Glendale; W. S. Perrin, Burbank Lumber Company, Burbank; J. H. Flower, real estate, Glendale; W. W. Lee, president, First National Bank, Glendale, and Ed M. Lee, cashier First National Bank, Glendale, have been working hard to have everything in shape for the opening.

At 2 p. m. Saturday a reception will be given for children and every child will receive a suitable present. From 7 to 9 p. m. the bank will open its hospitable doors to the community of Glendale, who are invited to inspect the new premises and to receive a suitable souvenir of the occasion.

WEATHER FORECAST—Rain Friday and Saturday; southwest winds.

CHURCH MEN MEET

FEDERATED BROTHERHOODS OF VICINITY HOLD REUNION IN CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Enthusiasm and confidence in the future of the churches was the keynote of the great meeting of the federated Church Brotherhoods Thursday night, when they met in the Congregational church. Representatives from all the churches in Glendale, Tropic and Casa Verdugo, which have organized brotherhoods, were present. The churches represented were the Congregational, Presbyterian, First Methodist and West Glendale Methodist.

In all 125 men sat down to a very excellent and excellently served dinner. One of the divisions of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Congregational church waited on table.

After dinner Mr. A. W. Tower, chairman of the Federation, called the meeting to order. He stated briefly the objects and accomplishment of the organization and prophesied for it a useful future.

In the course of the evening the male quartette of the Congregational church—Messrs. Franklin, Yarik, Beers and Abell—delighted the gathering by their singing of various harmonious pieces.

Dr. Durfee was elected president of the Brotherhood for the ensuing year. The speakers of the evening were then introduced. Ex-Lieutenant-Governor A. J. Wallace spoke at length on "Laymen's Movements." He traced the history of those movements from the beginning and pointed out their importance and significance. He showed that in all ages the men of the church had led in movements of world-wide importance. He pointed out the significant movements of the present age and the great revival of religious activity among men. Speaking on the subject of "California Dry," Mr. Wallace expressed the belief that victory would soon be attained.

Mr. Wallace was followed by Prof. Jerome Cross, principal of Pasadena High School. He said that the only solution of the serious problems of modern life was the leavening of society with the spirit of Christ. The life of the individual must first be hid with Christ in God. That would be the little leaven which would leaven the whole lump. From the individual would come the leavening of the community, which is nothing more than a collection of individuals. Thence the influence would spread to the life of the nation, which is nothing more than a collection of communities. Afterward it might be hoped that the world would see the spirit of Christ ruling the world itself, which is nothing more than a collection of nations. It is the work of the Church to spread this influence throughout the world until the kingdoms of the world become the kingdoms of God and he shall reign forever and ever.

The evening was productive of much spiritual good to all present and the spirit of optimism that prevailed was indicative of the advance that is being made by all the churches in their different lines; while the spirit of brotherhood that prevailed pointed to the coming of the time when, as Christ prayed, unity will be the characteristic of his church.

CHRISTIAAN TIMMER CONCERT

Quite a number of Glendale people have arranged to hear the Christian Timmer concert at Trinity Auditorium, Los Angeles, tonight. It is needless to say that this will be one of the great musical treats of the year. Mr. Timmer is a violin virtuoso of the first rank. As concert master of the famous Amsterdam Concertgebouw Symphony Orchestra he led the second greatest symphony orchestra in the world. He is a master of the first rank. The program he will present is evidence of his mastery of the higher flights of music. Mozart's Concerto, D Major, No. 4; Beethoven's Romances in G Major and F Major, Wienawski's "Legende" and above all Bach's "Ciaccona" for the violin alone, which are part of his program, tell musical experts that here is a virtuoso of the first flight. Those who hear this concert will be amply repaid for their journey.

"MOVIES" HOLD UP BANK

Large crowds witnessed a novel hold-up of The Bank of Glendale Friday night, when a movie company, under the management of E. W. Griffith, of the Majestic company, took a variety of scenes in the bank offices, ending with the hold-up of the establishment. The brilliant electric lights that illuminated the interior made a striking scene. The hold-up scene was in comparative darkness.

FIRE DESTROYS $50,000 MANSION

SIX PERISH IN BURNING OF MILLIONAIRE WIDOW'S NEW YORK HOME

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Fire today destroyed the $50,000 mansion of Mrs. Casimir Tag, millioaire widow of the late president of the Brooklyn German-American bank. Six died in the flames. Those who perished were Caroline Tag and Helen Tag, daughters of Mrs. Tag; Hannah Snaebly, a cousin; Jennie Steadman, Lizzie Cane and Fanny Cane, servants. A woman cook is missing. Mrs. Tag was slightly burned. The fire took place early this morning and the whole mansion was speedily wrapped in flames. The inmates were suffocated and burned before help could reach them. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

AUSTRIANS ACTIVE ON TWO FRONTS

OPPOSING SQUADRONS OF AEROPLANES BATTLE IN THE CLOUDS ABOVE THE TRENCHES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
VIENNA, Feb. 4.—The war office today announced that the Austrian armies were actively engaged on both fronts. The official bulletin stated that severe fighting is going on with the Russians and with the Italians. No results are reported. Strong air squadrons are battling with the air armies of the enemy above both fronts.

FIVE DEAD AND TWO MISSING IN FIRE

MAN BURNS TO DEATH IN WINDOW OF ATLANTIC CITY, NEW JERSEY, HOTEL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 4.—Five are dead and two missing in a fire which destroyed the $20,000 Overan hotel here today. A large crowd of spectators looked on while Paul Hendricks, 24 years of age, burned to death in a window of the hotel on the fourth floor. The young man's death took place in plain sight of the horrified thousands.

REINS AGAIN IN WILSON'S HANDS

PRESIDENT EXPECTS THAT HIS PREPAREDNESS MEASURE WILL GO THROUGH EASILY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4.—President Wilson is back again on the seat and the reigns of government are in his hands. Some of the most obstreperous of his party are significantly quiet now that their chief is back. The reception given the president in the course of his tour has evidently impressed some of the insurgent Democrats with a sense of the feeling of the people. The president's advisers say that the administration's preparedness program will have no difficulty in passing through Congress. It should be approved by the end of March.

DIFFICULTIES IN LUSITANIA CASE INCREASE

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS AGREE THAT DEMAND FOR DISAVOWAL MAY PROVE TROUBLESOME

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4.—All the administration officials here who can be induced to speak about the dispute between Germany and the United States regarding the Lusitania say that an amicable settlement is impossible unless President Wilson should consent to modify his demands. It is understood that the Kaiser is determined that Germany shall not admit that its torpedoing of the Cunard liner, with the loss of many American lives was illegal according to international law. On the other hand President Wilson has been so positive in his demands for disavowal that he is likely to repudiate any suggestion of referring the matter to arbitration.

PARLIAMENT HOUSE FIRE ACCIDENTAL

CANADIAN HEAD OF POLICE SAYS THERE IS NO TRUTH IN STORY OF INCENDIARISM

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
OTTAWA, Canada, Feb. 4.—Colonel Sherwood, head of the Dominion police today discredited the report that the Dominion parliament house at Ottawa was destroyed by incendiaries. The blaze, he says, started almost under the nose of a policeman and spread rapidly because the reading room in which it started was full of loose papers. The library was not damaged. The known dead are 6. They are Mme. Bray of Montreal and Mrs. Morin of Beauce, a policeman, a waiter and two attendants. The fine buildings are a total wreck and it will require $8,000,000 at least to rebuild them.

SHOW WAS SUCCESS

TROPICO VAUDEVILLE DREW BIG CROWD AND WAS CREDITABLE ENTERTAINMENT

Mostly everybody in Tropic turned out Tuesday night and witnessed a "really, truly" vaudeville show at the Auditorium. Act after act was put over in record time—not a dull moment in the 3-hour entertainment. It was an all-star bill, one that you often read about but rarely see.

Adams, Talbot and Adams put the whole audience into motion, said motion being lusty shouts from the small boy, who was very much in evidence. The other headliners, Wattles, Mellish, and Hibbert, scored heavily and equally well with the big enthusiastic crowd. Rube Word, Miss Ruth Mitchell, Sheekles & Gleason were sprung as good ones, and each artist was recalled several times before the curtain.

Emma Lee Weiler sprung a big surprise in the tale of the "Dog and the Underdog." Miss Weiler is a great elocutionist and received much applause. The real sensation uncovered and discovered by the Mothers' club was No. 8 on the program. This was Master Harry Jonas, a little mite of a chap, just able to sit at the piano alone. The child first tackled Paderewski's "Minuet," and rendered this movement with great power and effect. He responded with "The Evening Star," arranged by Liszt, from Tannhauser. It carried the audience with it, the beautiful, toneful melody of the mighty motif hushed the crowd to deathlike silence. The appearance was great and the work of the youthful player deeply appreciated.

It was a wonderful show all the way through and a great surprise to every one. The Acacia school was benefitted to the tune of something like $90, and a rising vote of thanks was offered to the Tropic Mothers' club. Believe me folks, it's sure a live one.—ALEXANDER.

STATE LAW WILL REQUIRE OUTPUT OF ALL DAIRIES TO SAFEGUARD AGAINST TYPHOID

"Pasteurize milk and prevent typhoid." This is declared the lesson of a recent outbreak of typhoid fever at Richmond, now proved to have been caused by typhoid bacilli in milk. Milk from the same dairy, drunk in Berkeley by a dozen times as many people, caused not a single case of typhoid because it had been pasteurized, by heating it to 145 degrees for thirty minutes.

The story of this triumphant proof that raw milk ought to be pasteurized before it is sold, save when thorough medical examination of the dairy employes can be required at frequent intervals, is told in a paper just published by Dr. J. C. Geiger, Assistant Director, and Dr. F. S. Kelly, Bacteriologist of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases maintained at the University of California by the California State Board of Health.

When typhoid was reported at Richmond, Dr. Geiger and Dr. Kelly discovered that all twelve patients had used milk from a large dairy near Richmond. They found that just before the Richmond outbreak a milk had been sent from this dairy to a Berkeley hospital suffering from typhoid. Undoubtedly he was the source of infection in this milk, for the epidemic at once ceased.

But if Richmond had twelve cases, the scientists asked, why did not Berkeley, where more than six thousand people drank this same milk, show a similar outbreak? On investigation they found that pasteurization had saved the day. The dairy sub-station at Richmond had been distributing the milk without pasteurizing it, while this same milk when sent to Berkeley for distribution was there carefully pasteurized by heating. Thus while the taste of the milk was not changed, any possible danger was prevented that disease might be spread in case a milk-er were suffering from typhoid, diphtheria, sore throat, colds, intestinal troubles, or any other of a large number of diseases which can be carried in unpasteurized milk. Such germs are destroyed by pasteurization.

Next fall a state law is to go into effect which will require all milk sold in California to be pasteurized unless it comes from a certified dairy. This milk-borne epidemic in which cases of typhoid were caused in one town and not a single case in a community close by, which used a dozen times as much of the same milk, is pointed to by the scientists as convincing proof of the great wisdom of the new law requiring pasteurization of milk and the immense

SOME LIBRARY NOTES

BOARD IS PLANNING ADDITIONAL SHELVING—MANY BOUND MAGAZINES AND NEW BOOKS

There was not a full attendance at the meeting of the Library board Thursday morning. The regular chairman, Dr. Bryant, was unavoidably absent and Mrs. Braly was also missed from her place. That prevented the transaction of certain business for which it was desirable to have a full attendance. The members present were Mr. Henderson, Mrs. Freeman Kelly and Mr. McElroy. Mr. Henderson occupied the chair.

It was reported by Mrs. Danford, the librarian, that there was immediate need for more shelving. She stated that many volumes of bound magazines were beginning to arrive from the binder and that more room was absolutely demanded. The increase in the number of new books was also making demands on the shelf accommodation that ought to be attended to forthwith.

This matter was discussed at length and plans for the most convenient and economical fitting up of the shelving taken up; but the disposal of the matter was left over until there should be a full attendance at the Board.

A number of routine bills were ordered paid. Miss Marjorie Singleton made application to the board as a prospective applicant for training in library work. Her application was received and the board conferred with her on the subject.

Certain improvements were ordered in the furnishings of the work room which will make that place more convenient for the librarian and her assistants.

Mrs. Freeman Kelly was instructed to write a letter of appreciation and thanks to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stone for their kind donation to the library of sixty-five volumes, including the important and fascinating historical novels of Miss Muhlbach.

It was reported to the Board that the outdoor work of leveling the ground round the library and making a lawn was proceeding satisfactorily. The pipes for sprinkling were all laid some time ago and the ground has now been leveled up, sown and fertilized. In a short time it is expected that the outside of the library as far as the grounds are concerned will be as attractive as the inside.

It was reported that Miss Nichols, assistant librarian, was absent from work on account of a severe attack of grip. The extra work is being done by the librarian, Mrs. Danford, and the other members of the staff.

Use of the reading room and consulting library is growing, according to the statement of Mrs. Danford, who notes with pleasure this increased use. It is also noticeable that the current magazines are in much better shape and more handy for consultation since the new covers have been placed on them.

TO STUDY NEW DRAMA

The Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet at the home of Mrs. W. E. Evans, 113 Orange street, Monday, the 7th inst., at 2 o'clock. A new drama will be taken up on this date and all members should endeavor to be present for the first lesson, as it is the one which will give the setting and ground to work from for future study. The play to be studied is "Winter's Tale," one of the last plays written by Shakespeare and therefore one of the best. It is considered his best example of pure expression and fine artistry.

The class is requested to purchase the Temple edition of this play, in the back of which will be found Robert Green's "Pandosto." Green was a dramatist contemporaneous to Shakespeare and "Winter's Tale" is founded on his "Pandosto."

Mrs. Garrett will continue the same method of instruction by which the class gained such a thorough knowledge of "Antony and Cleopatra." At the beginning of each lesson, roll will be called and answered by quotations from the play being studied. At the end of the year a prize will be presented to the one attending all meetings. In presenting the prize of last year Mesdames H. Lee Clotworthy, J. Glenwood Jones and Ernest Kimmel tied for first place, each receiving a huge bunch of violets.

value it promises to the community in preventing the spread of typhoid, tuberculosis, intestinal troubles, and a host of other preventable ailments of mankind.

SCHOOL COST IN CALIFORNIA

Some years ago the Russell Sage foundation, after having made a scientific study of state school systems, arranged the states in rank of efficiency. The four leading states were Washington, Massachusetts, New York and California. In comparing the cost of education in California with the cost in other states it is only fair that the state selected for comparison shall rank with California in efficiency.

Comparing Massachusetts and California is perhaps the fairest means of seeing how this state stands in this respect. Massachusetts has an excellent school system, economically conducted. The average daily attendance in Massachusetts is 486,869; in California 367,566. In Massachusetts expenditure for maintenance is $21,546,595; in California $20,937,786. The increase in average attendance in Massachusetts was 20,183; in California 26,820. In Massachusetts the average cost per pupil for maintenance was $44.28; in California $56.94. The per cent of increase in attendance in Massachusetts was .044 and in California .078.

Massachusetts has 17,880 teachers while California has 15,263. In the eastern state there are 27 pupils for each teacher; in the western 24. Where one great difference comes in that casts a great light on the matter of expenditure is the fact that while Massachusetts has only 6.8 per cent of its population in the rural districts, California has 41.3. Again in estimating and understanding school expenditures it must be particularly noted that in Massachusetts the percentage of population to the mile is 418.8, while in California it is only 15.3.

Each year California pays $12.66 per pupil more than Massachusetts for maintaining public schools. This is a difference of more than 29 per cent in favor of Massachusetts. It will be observed, however that the percentage of increase in attendance in California is almost twice as large as in Massachusetts.

It must also be remembered that the expense of maintenance in a rapidly growing school system is greater than in a moderately growing system. This accounts for a considerable proportion of the difference in cost. However, another important reason for the difference in cost is found in the fact already mentioned that in California there are a large number of rural schools with only a few pupils. Where, as in Massachusetts, 90 per cent of the population is in the cities, the whole system can be handled more economically. The rapid growth of California and the distribution of its population over a wide area are responsible very largely for the greater cost of education in this State.

The average daily cost per pupil in California is 44 cents. In Nevada this item is 52 cents; in Arizona 44 1/2 and in Montana 44 2-3 cents. This is undoubtedly to be looked at in the light of distribution of population. California ranks twenty-first in the amount expended on each $100 of assessed valuation. California spends 82 cents per $100 of assessed valuation for its public schools.

The report of the United States Commissioner of Education shows that in California 24 per cent of the total levy of ad valorem taxes for all purposes—state, county and other civil divisions—is for public schools. The average for the United States is 28.2-3 per cent. Thirty-two states spend a greater percentage of their incomes for the public schools than does California. Schools are expensive but the critics will never persuade the people of California that they are too expensive.

FINANCING THE WAR

Those who expect to find the war in Europe brought to a close speedily by reason of the financial exhaustion of one or other of the nations involved do not comprehend that all of the nations have vast resources that are as yet untouched. The financial condition of a nation is part of its economic strength. Nations have continued to fight as the United States did in the Revolution after they had become completely bankrupt. Other nations have fought as the United States did in the Civil war and as Prussia did in the eighteenth century until their paper money or their debased coinage was worth less than half its nominal value.

It was freely predicted, however, that the development of the international system of credit during the past few years would make national bankruptcy a more terrible catastrophe now than at any previous period. It was also freely predicted that a great war in Europe would be impossible, because it would produce bankruptcy and therefore could not be financed. When war did break out it was again predicted that it must necessarily be of brief duration. Both predictions have been proved to be erroneous. The war has already lasted a long time and the end is no nearer than it was a year ago. The financial transactions are on a scale even more stupendous than the numbers of men engaged, and the increase in national debts is astounding. Approximately $20,000,000,000 has already been borrowed and the end is not by any means in sight.

Still even these stupendous figures are not so astonishing after all when population is considered and the wealth of the nations engaged is taken into consideration. Per capita these enormous debts are no greater than those the nations had to pay at the close of the Napoleonic wars.

Wealth has increased far more rapidly than population during the past hundred years. The debts of the present time are considerably less in the percentage of accumulated wealth than was the debt of the United States fifty years ago, or the European debts a hundred years ago.

It is of course within the bounds of possibility that the war may continue until one or more of the nations becomes hopelessly bankrupt. All of them, however, are very far from that condition. Questions of finance have not made any change in the art of war except as they have contributed through enormous resource of credit to make it possible to conduct the vast operations of the war without hesitation or without troubling how they are to be paid.

Britain has resources so vast that the present expenditure, big as it is, has not touched the nation vitally and cannot begin to touch it vitally for a long time to come. Germany is not much different, though not so strong financially as England. Even now there are thousands of people in England who are benefitting financially by the war and the working people are receiving higher wages than they ever dreamed of.

In a letter from an English lady, part of which was published in The Glendale News some days ago, mention was made of how the income of the family was vastly increased by the rise in the price of rubber. War, while it destroys in one direction, builds up in another and the world will survive and prosper after this sanguinary conflagration as it did before and will probably create greater wealth than it has ever had.

PROMINENT VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Moore presided at an unusually pretty dinner event in their home at 1468 West Second street, Thursday evening, having as guests old friends, and people of great prominence from Toledo, Ohio, wintering in California.

Seated with the host and hostess at the oval board, artistically arranged in violet tones and smilax, were Mrs. John Gunkle, widow of the late Commodore Gunkle, who was known the world over as "Father of the News Boys' Association," Mrs. Thurstin, widow of the late Judge Thurstin of the Superior Court of Ohio, and daughter, Miss Alice Thurstin, also Mr. Dan Shaw, a widely known lumber man.

TROPICO

That the dear laddies and lassies, numbering twenty-four, who were but recently promoted from the third and fourth grades of the Acacia street school, should always remember with much happiness and pleasure their farewell to this school, their teacher, Miss Gladys Hamilton, entertained them with a very pretty party Thursday afternoon. Many games, dear to the children, were enjoyed, in which Miss Hamilton and Miss Mae Cornwell, principal of the school, led the merry, romping youngsters.

Dimice Parker won the prize in pinning the tail on the donkey and Norma Heaton the prize in the peanut race. But the crowning feature of the afternoon came, when a huge Jack Horner pie was placed before them and each youngster given a ribbon and instructed to "thrust in a thumb" when a heart shaped bon bon box, filled with dainties, was discovered at the end of the ribbon, and which proved a most delicious "plum." The pupils of the fourth grade who were thus rendered so happy were Mary Alice Ferry, Mildred Fisher, Norma Heaton, Gladys Martin, Helen Frankland, Elizabeth Goodrich, Kenneth Wellen, Paul Hall, Bridwell Martin, George Melrose, Ernest Marchello, Danny Berman and Glenn Roberts. Of the third grade pupils who were just as happily entertained there were Florence Melrose, Lois Oliver, Dorothy Dutton, Dorothy Watson, Dimice Parker, Lavina Hutt, Catherine Weller, Thelma Grote, Frederick Turney, Carl Springer and Stanley Ballentyne.

The joyous afternoon passed all too quickly for the children and when the good-byes were said, and the youngsters realized that they were bidding farewell to the Acacia street school, there was just a wee bit of longing that they could remain with their teacher, Miss Hamilton, who with Miss Cornwell has rendered school days at that building so happy and so interesting.

Mrs. Harriet Weir of 309 West Tenth street left for Long Beach Thursday morning, where she will remain several weeks.

After a six weeks' absence spent in Bakersfield as the guest of her son and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Geo. Bahrenberg, Mrs. J. E. Bahrenberg returned to her home, Twin Pines, on West Park avenue, Wednesday evening.

Councilman Allen E. Boyce of South Brand boulevard is extending his business trip to Oatman, Ariz., where he is very much interested in the splendid mining prospects there.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Kennedy entertained with a charmingly appointed dinner party at their home, 309 West Tenth street, Wednesday evening, complimentary to Mrs. A. E. Copley and Miss Lotta Copley of Decatur, Michigan, who are spending the winter in Los Angeles. Red Carnations and ferns centered the table at which generous hospitality was extended.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Marshall and their niece, Miss Elizabeth La Fontaine, who spent several months in Santa Barbara, have returned to Tropic and have taken up their residence on Acacia street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes of Logansport, Indiana, who have been the guests of their niece, Mrs. O. Earl Clements, of Laurel street, for several weeks, have gone to Los Angeles for a few weeks visit.

Mrs. L. C. Rice, accompanied by her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rice, of Lindsay, motored to Sierra Madre Thursday, where they spent the day at one of the orange groves near that foot-hill town.

MOVES IN REAL ESTATE

F. D. Silvius, who does a real estate business at the corner of Brand boulevard and Colorado boulevard, has been quite active recently. He reports that sales are picking up and that business generally looks better in his particular line. Within the past few weeks Mr. Silvius sold to Mr. C. H. Lewis of Glendale, a house and lot, at 1560 W. Colorado boulevard, lot 5, block N. This house and lot were the property of Mr. W. E. Hammond.

He also sold lot 104, Lomita street, the property of Mr. Robertson, to C. O. Potts of Glendale. Mr. Potts expects to erect there at once a 6-room bungalow. Another of Mr. Silvius' sales is lot 4, W. Seventh street, the property of C. F. Brinkley, to Mr. Jesse Champion of Glendale. This lot is part of block N, Valley View tract. It is understood that Mr. Champion will erect there a modern bungalow. All these transactions were cash sales. Mr. Silvius says that he has buyers for four more lots and expects to close those deals in the near future.

M. E. MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the West Glendale Methodist Episcopal church met at the home of Mrs. Carrie Adams on Thursday afternoon. At the business session, among the items was the treasurer's report, showing there had been forwarded to the Conference treasurer this quarter over $25. The mite box secretary reported forty-nine mite boxes distributed. A voucher was presented for $50, given to the David and Margaret Orphans' Home at Lordsburg, by F. J. Fambrough, one of the church men, as a Christmas offering.

The superintendent of the hospital work, Mrs. Flora Pixley, presented the needs of the Methodist Hospital, the society voting $10 to the work and thus making their president, Mrs. J. E. Henderson, an associate member of the Hospital board. There was a large attendance of members, with eight visitors present, five of whom joined the society. A reading circle of nine members was organized at the last meeting, and at this session was increased to fifteen. The program conducted by Mrs. Doty was a story telling hour, including Alaska, Porto Rico, American Indians, Mountain Whites and Frontier work, all very graphically told by different members of the society.

Personals

Mrs. Willis M. Kimball of 1303 Maple avenue will receive, as their hostess, members of the Monday Auction Bridge and Luncheon club, on Monday, February 7.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Henry Nelson of West Sixth street entertained in her home with a Kensington tea, members of the G. T. club, of which she is a member. On Wednesday the 16th, Mrs. J. Roman will receive at the club's hostess.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Daniels, 300 So. Central avenue, was the scene of a very pretty affair Thursday, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Desky of Salt Lake City, Utah. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Mark Desky, Mr. and Mrs. Salo Desky, Mr. Victor W. Daniels, Mrs. G. Phillips, Miss Eva Daniels, Mr. Harold W. Phillips, Miss Rita Phillips, Miss Helen Daniels and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Daniels. The decorations were in red and green and the place cards were heart-shaped valentines.

SURPRISE THEIR FRIENDS

News of the marriage of Miss Ruby Dale of Glendale and Dr. James Campbell of Pasadena, quietly solemnized in San Bernarerno Thursday, February 3, will come as a surprise to many of their friends. Mrs. Campbell is well known here both in the social world and musically, for she is considered a brilliant pianist as well as an instructor of rare ability.

Dr. Campbell and his bride will tour Southern California by auto and positively refused to disclose any of their future plans.

FIRST BIRTHDAY PARTY

Wee Ruth Von Bergen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Von Bergen of 1622 West First St., celebrated her first birthday anniversary on the 3rd inst., her mother entertaining other wee kiddies, their mammas and grown-up friends. The decorations, with the valentine motif prevailing, were beautifully carried out in red, carnations, hearts, satin ribbon and feathery ferns.

Place cards were individual cakes each lighted with a single red taper, marking covers for Mrs. Wm. E. Farlander and small son Richard, Mrs. W. A. Pickarts and little Albert, Mrs. R. Stilson and wee Miss Ann, of Los Angeles; Mrs. J. Swaner and Master Sonny Swaner, Mrs. Grover Cable, Mrs. Haaf of Los Angeles, Mrs. Horace Gillett, Mrs. Horace L. Baker, the presiding hostess and little honoree, who was the recipient of beautiful gifts.

YES, WE DEAL IN POSTAGE STAMPS

I have tried to be an honest man,
And lead an upright life;
I have never robbed my neighbor;
I have never beat my wife;
Yet I have that hang-dog feeling,
Common to the tribe of scamps,
When I ask the corner druggist,
"Do you deal in postage stamps?"

I could face a grizzly bear
Without the slightest trace of fear;
I could bear my breast to lightning
With the manful shout: "Strike here!"

Yet my mien is one of cringing,
Like the lowest of the tramps,
When I beard the druggist in his lair
And ask: "Do you sell stamps?"

Oh, how the shafts of cold contempt
Come sizzling from his eye!
A withering glare which plainly says:
"Is that all you can buy?"
And now my deathly forehead
Is suffused with nervous damp.
As I think upon my horrid crime—
I've asked for postage stamps.

How he counts the sticky wafers
With a grimly righteous sneer!
How I tremble with the feeling:
"O, to get away from here."
And he takes my humble pennies
As I hastily decamp,
With the brand of Cain upon me
Sealed securely by a stamp.

Take me to some tropic island
Where, upon a shell-strewn beach,
I can learn their savage patter
And forget my native speech;
There to free my mind forever,
"Midst those mango-shaded camps,
Of the day I asked the druggist:
"Do you deal in postage stamps?"

NORTH GLENDALE

Mrs. R. A. Siple of 1472 Sycamore avenue entertained a few of the ladies of the First Baptist church at her attractive home Thursday afternoon. A very delightful social hour was enjoyed and dainty refreshments were served by the gracious hostess to Mesdames Clifford H. Cunningham, John A. Cole, R. N. Moore, W. H. Woods and J. F. Cunningham, who in the near future will also open their homes to a group of ladies, the object of these charming social afternoons being to encourage mission study and to get better acquainted with each other.

Mrs. Bert Lyons of 1617 Ruth street, who is spending some time with her mother in Los Angeles, was the guest of Mrs. Lewis Cadwallader of 1624 Ruth street at luncheon on Thursday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Howard of Sycamore avenue are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine baby daughter, born February the first. Both mother and little one are reported to be doing nicely.

George J. Shoenheir of Los Angeles was in North Glendale on business last Thursday.

Cecil Adam of 1636 Ruth street is laid up with an attack of la grippe.

Miss Ruth J. Wright of 1649 Ruth street was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert King of Ocean Park last Thursday.

Miss Idelle Pittman of Redlands, Cal., is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Pittman, of 1001 North Pacific avenue.

PROF. SCHUFELDT TELLS LARGE AUDIENCE HOW TO LESSEN THE COST OF LIVING

That interest in the work of the Glendale Garden society is growing from time to time was manifest in the large audience that greeted Prof. Schufeldt of Los Angeles schools, when he opened his address on "The Care of the Back Yard," at the High School auditorium Thursday night. Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the Garden society, opened the meeting. She called attention to the fact that the society is going to hold the first free Flower Show on the Pacific coast, and enumerated the many novel features that would be introduced—prizes for hanging baskets made by children, prizes for plant stands, for fresh wild flowers, for mounted wild flowers. She told of the Potato club for boys, through which many of the vacant lots in the city would be planted to potatoes this year. She reminded her audience that the society would have a benefit at the Palace-Grand theater on March 22.

Prof. Schufeldt opened his subject by speaking on the start in life. Life is a road, he said, along which it requires intelligence to travel to the best advantage. Nothing is more mistaken that the idea so many people entertain that life consists in what one gets out of it. The real meaning of life and the true attitude toward it lies deeper than that. The greatest thing is to have a life that is worth while. That is worth far more than to be getting mere money.

"All the world," said the lecturer, "is a workshop. 'Service' is the keynote of the world—to do something that will advance the world a little; to help others to become better." Pointing to the first picture of his stereopticon illustrations, which represented a boy and girl standing within the circle of a mountain range, the lecturer said that there was nothing more instructive or more productive of good than the close touch of Nature. To live in the open; to breathe the pure air of the hills was to obtain one of the greatest things of life. "I remember," he said, "many years ago hearing Senator Cummings of Iowa speaking to an audience of young people and saying, 'Go into your own room; take a mirror and look into your own eyes and try to understand what you are.' I think, however, that it would be far more profitable to go into the fields or to the mountains and look into the face of God and ask, 'What is the meaning of this world?' You would find that the answer would be 'service.'" Pointing to a picture of an old millwheel grown over with vines, at rest after all its busy life and left by the wayside while other more modern machinery has taken its place, the lecturer said that the opportunities in life were as much in advance of those of the past generations as the modern mill is of the old millwheel. He drew a vivid picture of "the city to be," with its happy and contented population, its polite and intelligent children, its happy homes, its gardens helping to support the population and all working out the law of God.

In a series of attractive pictures from the stereopticon he showed the garden activities at the National Cash Register Company's grounds, where the company has its employees settled each family on its own lot, with community gardens, which all assist to cultivate. He showed many pictures of back-yards in Los Angeles in their pristine condition of neglect, with the usual collections of rubbish. Then he showed them transformed into veritable gardens of Eden. He told of the successful efforts of many different children in Los Angeles to create gardens out of small back yards and showed pictures of their success. The succession of beautiful gardens, created by diligent children out of waste land was wonderfully instructive, when, as Prof. Schufeldt said, one reflected what could be done with the 3000 vacant lots in Glendale.

He showed vegetable gardens that assisted materially in supporting families. He showed how a comfortable living might be had from a goat, a few chickens, and a vegetable garden. He told of boys who had learned to do something to add to the family finances and to finance themselves in getting a higher education. He showed the possibilities of the chayote, of the Oregon evergreen corn, of the tomato and of many other vegetables. He urged the young people to do something and concluded a most interesting lecture by offering to aid the people and children of Glendale by his advice.

ITALIAN FRUIT MIRRORS

As interior decorators are using so many looking-glasses, it is well to examine the great variety offered in the shops, especially the antique shops. One collection consists of several odd-shaped mirrors, with carved and painted wooden fruit frames; these are of Italian make, the colors being soft and well-blended.

Book-ends, made of the carved painted fruit, are also new and attractive.

VALLEY VIEW

E. T. Owen and family have moved from 1448 Colorado to a small ranch near Ivanhoe.

The family of J. E. Peters, 1500 Colorado, are quarantined on account of a very mild attack of scarlet rash suffered by little Howard. The boy has not been sick at all, the only symptoms being a slight breaking out. Mr. Peters was not exposed, hence is able to attend to business.

Mrs. L. C. Flutot spent a part of Wednesday and Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Ben Levy, in Los Angeles.

Charlie Stepler moved Thursday into his recently purchased home at 1506 Ivy.

FREE LECTURE TONIGHT

Under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon club the third free lecture of the series will be given in the High School auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The members of this woman's club of Glendale extends a hearty and cordial welcome to the general public.

Tonight, T. G. Burt of Occidental college, will give a most interesting and instructive address, choosing as his subject, "The Rhine in History and Legend."

INTERMEDIATES WIN

The Junior and Intermediate teams of the Intermediate school met the teams of the same class representing Echo Playground, Los Angeles, on the Echo grounds, Thursday, winning both games. Juniors scored 16 to 4, in favor of the local lads, while the intermediates squeezed out a hard-fought victory, 18 to 17.

For the Intermediates, Jimmy Anderson at center and McMillan at guard played strong games, and for the Juniors Card at forward and Bennett and Planette at guard were the stars, although all boys played a good, consistent game.

IDEALS ARE VALUED

Ideals are the greatest things in the world and should be encouraged, said Dr. Stephen Wise, New York rabbi, in a recent address. "Ideals are the most worth-while things in the world," he declared. "To have an ideal and to be ever in the pursuit of it is to live a useful life. The men that the world honor are those who have held to cherished ideals, even though in standing by their convictions they were a minority, pitted against the world. Idealists, with their impractical visions, are always in the minority; they are always unpopular, because it is their work in the world to stab away the consciousness of the majority. And the majority does not like to be aroused from its slumbers, to hear indictments of things as they are, for such indictments are a reflection upon them. Over and over the idealist has rendered the world priceless services."

NEW IDEAS FOR THE NEEDLE-WOMAN

"Things to make" are usually of interest to the woman with a gift for needlework or decorative art. For either of these lines, unbleached muslin offers possibilities. It may be made into pillows, scarfs, porch table covers or other pieces, and stenciled or embroidered with coarse threads in simple designs. Just a square of the muslin bound in linen of a dark or vivid tint is attractive, and the patterns may be of chintz cut out and applied either on the border or on the inner square.

When fashioned into a smock, chintz with nursery rhyme pictures makes a delightful play-time frock for the little child. Smocks of chintz for youthful gardeners, or those who play out of doors on spring days, may have a pillow made to match the frock, covered on one side with the chintz and on the other with oilcloth, so that the child may place them on the ground to sit on. It is not necessary to fill the pillows with feathers; straw or hay will answer. For the outdoor smocks, choose flower-pattern chintz.

Veils may be adorned with a tiny band of flat gilt braid where they rest against the crown of the hat, and a thread of gold may be worked in as a border at the lower edge.

Silk petticoat ruffles, ready-made, tucked or gathered, are a standard commodity in the shops. Some are designed to button on to a jersey cloth sheath skirt. In this way, one may have, at small expense, a silk ruffle to match each gown, and with the short skirts now worn, the matching ruffles are considered essential.

LITTLELANDS

Miss Hannah L. McKee was called to Pasadena last Wednesday to the bedside of a dear old friend who is 96 years old.

Mrs. Hartman of Los Angeles, a former resident of Cedar street, Littlelands, is visiting with Mrs. Rodeheaver, El Centro avenue.

Mr. Charles Thayer's brother, Walter S. Thayer, who visited here recently for a week, has gone home to his ranch near Fresno, which he purchased not long since.

The Pigeon club will meet next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. Randolph Fehr on East El Centro avenue. An invitation is extended to all who are interested in this industry.

Mrs. W. R. Mehard of Stephen's Way went to Los Angeles Monday morning to begin her work as stenographer in the office of the state accident commission department.

It was reported last week that the Hon. William E. Smythe is lying very sick at the Hollenbeck hotel with congestion of the lungs brought on by his exertions in behalf of the flood sufferers of San Ysidro near San Diego. This is the original colony of Littlelanders and it is reported to have been almost extinguished because of the terrible flood in that vicinity.

Poultry Meeting

After the town meeting Tuesday evening the poultry committee called a meeting and proceeded to complete the organization of a Poultry Association. After the reading of the rules by Mr. Woodruff several amendments were made and the rules adopted. This was followed by the election of officers, which resulted as follows: Mr. F. O. Hough, president; Mr. Rocky, vice-president; Miss Mary Lewis, secretary, and Mr. Simon Haverstick, treasurer. The meeting then adjourned to the call of the president.

Farewell Party Honoring Mrs. Mehard

Last Saturday afternoon at the pleasant home of Mrs. John T. Ward on San Ysidro road a few intimate friends of Mrs. Mehard gathered to do her honor. The occasion was in the nature of a farewell party and was given to show the esteem in which the recipient is held in the community. Mrs. Mehard goes this week to the city to fill an important position in the office of the state accident commission. Her friends were glad to thus honor Mrs. Mehard, who is a woman of influence in this place and one who has done her part in the upbuilding of the spiritual and social life of the colony. The afternoon was spent with needlework and friendly converse. At 4:30 o'clock the hostess, assisted by Miss Atkinson, served a lovely three-course luncheon. Everyone expressed regret at the going of Mrs. Mehard, who, however, will spend the week ends in Littlelands with her husband at their home on Stephen Way.

Ladies' Aid Meets at Bolton Hall

Thursday afternoon an interesting meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Federation was held at the club house. Mrs. Darlington was the hostess of the afternoon. Miss Hannah L. McKee was to have had charge of the program, but was called from town on account of a sick friend. The program consisted of music and a sketch of the life of Ruth, one of the interesting characters of the old Bible. The fact was brought out that through her marriage to Boaz she became the ancestress of the Savior. The study of the women of Bible times is a subject fraught with interest and may be made very attractive and beneficial. After the program light refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Town Meeting

Mr. Rocky reports eight clear days and seven days without rain in January. The rainfall for the month was 15.53 inches. For the entire season 21.04 inches. The thermometer stood below freezing several times during the month.

Mr. Wieman talked on the subject of finances as pertaining to the raising of funds for the upkeep of Bolton Hall. Several plans were talked of and on motion of J. H. Lamson it was decided to issue cards to the members of the community whereon voluntary pledges may be given to pay a certain sum for expenses of the hall.

Every one knows that there is a certain amount of expense incurred in the upkeep of any public building, be it church, club house, library or town hall. The people of this community are not mendicants, but are a law-abiding, self-respecting and independent body and every one here wishes to do his and her part towards anything that may be for the betterment, the uplift and the advancement of the colony. Therefore some means will surely be devised whereby the necessary funds for the expense of keeping the clubhouse in order and for heating, lighting and paying the salary of the custodian of the hall. Mr. Ashby announced that the Woman's club had appointed a committee to arrange for an entertainment, the proceeds of which were to go to help defray the expense of the club house.

Mr. Miles has learned of some valuable fertilizer which may be obtained by the people of the colony at the rate of about $4.40 per ton. This should be considered as the cost is very reasonable.

Birthday Surprise

On Monday evening was perpetrated what proved to be a complete surprise on Mrs. Linaberry. The occasion was her birthday anniversary. Through much connivance a friend had contrived to inveigle her from home for the afternoon, where on her return in the evening she found the house in festal array and a delicious four-course dinner ready to be served. A unique feature of the dinner were the place cards, which were original verse composed by Miss Grace Hatch, the gifted daughter of Capt. Hatch and Mrs. Linaberry's niece. Several of the most clever verses are given: The one to Mrs. Linaberry: This is your birthday, May you greet many more, And each be brighter than the one before.

May the shadow of sorrow ne'er fall on your door, But your days flow by like a song. Miss Osgood read:

Large of body and large of heart, The giver of this party, May she and her appetite never part, And tonight may she eat long and hearty.

Miss Hatch's read: The muse stands aghast and wrings her hands, There is nothing good to say, And one can't say bad things to anyone.

On any one's glad birthday, There were a number of others and a poem entitled "Verses to a Lady on Her Birthday." But limited space forbids their publication.

Home Croft Meeting

At the Friday night meeting Mr. Ashley presented a set of written resolutions expressive of the appreciation of the colony of the work done the past year in the canyons for the control of the flood waters. Honor was paid to all who in any way contributed to the work—Olmstead, Buck and their able corps of workmen. The resolution was accepted and unanimously adopted. After a song the meeting was turned over to Mr. Maxwell. Mr. Maxwell prefaced his remarks by quoting the old Scripture saying "Where there is no vision the people perish." Weld the people together and something can be done, but where the community is divided up into critical factions the result is fatal in so far as co-operation and growth are concerned. The speaker here gave a lengthy quotation from Charles F. Thwing. He thinks the Swiss motto, "Each for all and all for each" might well be adopted by the people of this community or any community. One never gets an inspiration without coming in contact with his fellows. There must be a common purpose, a common inspiration.

Big corporations make this their principle and act upon it. They stand together while the people are divided. Yet the people must have a spirit of toleration towards others. Mr. Maxwell read a selection from William Tell at this point.

Only by struggle are we developed and the moment the cause for struggle ceases that moment the individual begins to down.

Many things, the speaker remarked, are working in many avenues and may result in great things for Littlelands along the lines of the home croft movement. Measure a man by what he has in his head and not by what he has in his pocket. A man should so live that every one who comes in contact with him may be a little better. The great lack of our system of education is that it does not develop the ability to think.

In the Elizabethan period most people could not read nor write; in our time almost every one has the ability to do both, but the people of that period were superior to the people in ours in that they could think. Nations of the world have failed because their objects were money, power and pleasure. The fundamental principles of living as a community have never been applied so far. Mr. Ashley spoke of the teaching of the novel, "Looking Backward," by Edward Bellamy. He favors the industrial conscription incorporated in that novel.

A motion was made and carried that a letter of sympathy be sent to William E. Smythe who is sick at the Hollenbeck hotel in Los Angeles.

Harold Playter and family of Stephen's Way move to Los Angeles Friday of this week to make their future home.

Mrs. M. Mendenhall was a Los Angeles visitor Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Allen will have their home made glad by the arrival of their seven months old daughter, Dorothy, from the Children's Hospital of Los Angeles the latter part of this week.

The J. W. Lewis house has been leased to Mr. Catt, Sr., who will move to Littlelands about Feb. 10.

The most successful dance and concert held by the Monte Vista Valley Band was given at the Littlelands Clubhouse Saturday evening. Tamales and sandwiches were served and about $15.00 was cleared.

A Convenient Store

C. L. Kingsley, who formerly lived at Salt Lake City, Utah, thought he saw a good location for a grocery on the Sunland road, about half way between Roscoe and Sunland, and last November he started such a store, and has had no cause to regret his venture as he enjoys a fine patronage. In addition to a general line of groceries, soft drinks, etc., Mr. Kingsley conducts a gas and oil station for the convenience of motorists.

FANCY BASKETS

One of the new fancy baskets is intended as a gift; it may be filled with candy, but is afterwards to be used for a knitting-basket. A thick pad of a bright-tinted silk is made for the bottom; wax paper covers this as a protection. The outer rim of the basket is wound with a hank of yarn to match the lining pad, the yarn being knotted loosely at one side. Through the knot are thrust a pair of white bone knitting-needles, the top of one decorated with a bunch of tiniest flowers in bright colors. The yarn is held in place with small bows of narrow ribbon. There is no cover with the basket, which is of plain white straw of a sturdy weave.

A practical idea for lining the every-day work-basket is to make a bag as complete as though it were to serve as a sewing bag on its own account. Tack this firmly inside the basket, and work left within will never become dusty.

PARTIES

Decorated cakes are always an addition to the children's party, but need not be ordered from the caterer if one cares to do the making at home. In order to make leaves of white frosting for this purpose, take a piece of white bobbinet and cut leaves either after the natural ones, picked from some shrubbery, or after a conventional pattern. The next step is to give them a little curve, which is done by smoothing them over a greased bottle. Then prepare the whiteing and place it in a confectioner's tube, squeezing it out on the leaves in fern-like and dainty lines. For this work, place the leaves on the bread or pastry board, and let them stay on it until they are quite dry, when they will come off easily and in perfect condition.

The closer the arrangement of the leaves on the frosted cake the better, as it keeps the bobbinet from showing.
