FIFTEEN KILLED ON INTERURBAN NEAR VANCOUVER

FIRST GUNS FIRED AT SPRING RIDGE

Liberal Candidates Open Their Campaign--Rousing Meeting Addressed by Drury, Munn, Houston and Morley.

A meeting in the interests of the Liberal candidates held in Odd Fellows' hall, Spring Ridge, last evening proved a decided success from every standpoint. There was a large attendance, considering the inclemency of the weather; the enthusiasm of all present was manifest and it was disclosed that the candidates of the party in this city are not only very popular but competent to wage an aggressive campaign against the government forces.

Ald. Fullerton presided and seated on the platform were the candidates, R. Drury, H. A. Munn and H. K. Houston and A. J. Morley, the independent candidate.

Mr. Munn was the first speaker, and on rising he was splendidly received. He believed the issues of the campaign to be, first, the record of the McBride government; second, the moral question; and, third, the railway proposals which the government had brought down. Taking up the last question first, Mr. Munn dealt in a very able manner with the features of the remarkable contract which Mr. McBride has signed with Mr. Mann. The more the people studied that remarkable agreement the more they were staggered by its details. He believed that the agreement as published in the press to be substantially correct. Mr. Mann, in an interview with an Eastern paper, had said that when it was published it would contain all the information. Well, what is it that is disclosed there? We know what Mr. Mann proposes to do but we do not know what Hon. Richard McBride has pledged the government to do. There must be another copy of the agreement in the possession of Mr. Mann, signed by the government but not made public. In that portion of the agreement we have seen nothing is said on the matter of freight and passenger rates or the grades--this is left to the imagination.

The speaker then went into the financial aspects of the agreement at length and showed what a huge responsibility the people of the province were asked to assume--a net responsibility of $35,000,000--to say nothing of taxes. The people were asked to endorse the note of Mackenzie & Mann for this sum. He believed that if an individual were approached by a friend who asked him to back his note for a large sum that he would be inclined to give the matter serious consideration. That was the same proposition as confronted the people of this country now, but the government was determined that no time would be given for consideration as to whether the British Columbia has a population of approximately 300,000. How many of that number have what may be termed a stake in the country? Possibly one in every seven. Well, every one of that seven will, if Mr. McBride succeeds in carrying his outrageous policy, be backing a note to the extent of $1,000 or $2,000. If the agreement with the government the people must be prepared to pay up. (Applause.)

It had been argued that there was no danger that the company would default. The province was said to have a first mortgage on the road. That agreement, if they would look at it, contains nothing whatever about a first mortgage. In Alberta the Canadian Northern depended upon local traffic for support. In British Columbia, there would not be much local traffic and there would be small revenue for many years to come. He had gone into the question pretty fully and he found that the Canadian Northern was a very poorly equipped road. It had been declared by supporters of the government that they had fine rolling stock. They had nothing of the kind. It was very poor and the speaker read from a report issued by the railway department last year giving the number of cars operated by the Canadian Northern. Now, continued the speaker, when we find that Mackenzie & Mann are running their road with leased cars and leased locomotives we ought to enquire what the people of British Columbia are going to get as security when they endorse their note for $35,000,000. He favored the expenditure of capital in the province on all occasions, but he was not prepared to see British Columbia back up such a wild-cat scheme. (Applause.)

What Does Island Get?

In respect to the Vancouver Island connection--it did not offer, even the semblance of the benefits which are to be conferred upon towns on the Mainland. This ferry proposal from English Bluff (daughter) was amusing, that was all; and the road to Barkley Sound, which, by the way, he was in favor of, was only a losing railway proposition--not one which the people should be called upon to assist to the extent of $35,000 per mile. What the people of Victoria wanted and what the people of Vancouver Island wanted was a railway running through the length of the island, with connection with a transcontinental system on the Mainland; and it would be unfair to the rest of the island if the people of Victoria were to endorse this project at this time--a project which in any event would discriminate against the large section of the island clamoring for a comprehensive railway policy.

As to the record of the government, said the speaker, it was a record of promises. (Applause.) Mr. McBride had promised to do "something" for Victoria, but up to the present nothing had been done. Mr. Munn then carefully enumerated the shortcomings of the government in respect to the interests of Victoria. As to his attitude on local option, Mr. Munn said he would be favorable at all times to the people being given supreme control of the licensing of the sale of liquor. Mr. Munn was asked a number of questions which he answered satisfactorily and resumed his seat amidst loud applause.

R. L. Drury, the next speaker, was greeted with tremendous enthusiasm when he rose to deliver his address, testifying to his great popularity amongst the workmen of Spring Ridge, who were present in large numbers. Mr. Drury delivered a slashing fighting speech, one of the best perhaps, that he has ever delivered during the course of his political career, and he was frequently greeted with loud applause.

Victoria Sacrificed.

Mr. Drury, first of all, plunged into a discussion of the record of the members who represented Victoria in the last Legislature. Taking up educational matters, as affecting Victoria, he scored the government for having grossly sacrificed the interests of this city. Lord Strathcona, in one of the public speeches he had delivered on the occasion of his last visit to the city, had said that Victoria possesses great attractions as an educational centre. He asked them, did the city occupy the position it ought to occupy as a place so described by Lord Strathcona? Take the question of the establishment of a normal school. In 1907 the government voted a sum for the establishment of a normal school in Vancouver. At that time a deputation went over to interview the government and asked that a similar board be established at this city. We stated that we had no objection to Vancouver being given a school, but asked for similar treatment. Mr. Redfern was one of the deputation, and he expressed himself as considering it a great handicap on the workman whose sons and daughters were debarred from educational features unless they could be sent out of the city. He considered it an outrage there were not in the city of Victoria to-day a city of 50,000, and the capital of the province--facilities whereby a young man or a young lady could qualify for the position of school teacher. There was no other city in Canada of the same population of which the same could be said. (Applause.) It was, however, true of Victoria, the city for which Mr. McBride was going to do something. (Laughter and applause.)

But, continued the speaker, such a situation was a very bad advertisement for the city. It comes home to everybody living in Victoria. The city was growing rapidly in population, and the members who represented us in the last Legislature had the right to demand that this city should be placed on an equal basis with Vancouver, but did they do so? No; they were silent. Had they no sense of their responsibilities? He hoped that those present would not forget to question these gentlemen when they came forward and attempted to give an account of their stewardship. But let them beware of accepting any promise. As a matter of fact they could make no promises in respect to the getting of a normal school, for the reason that the Minister of Education had stated last year that the next normal school would be located in Kootenay. Mr. Bowser was going up and down the country saying that his party were in favor of spending millions in the development of the country, instead of hoarding it up in the treasury. (Laughter.) Well, they could not fairly deny us a normal school, if the old representatives in the city had demanded it. (Applause.) Take the city of Hamilton, Ont. It was not the capital of Ontario, but only a few years ago it had a normal school, and when Mr. Whitney came into power he had it done away with and established in Toronto. What was the result? The people of Hamilton so valued a normal school that they rose up in arms, and when a supporter of the Whitney gov-

CANNOT GIVE MORTGAGE EXCEEDING $15,000 A MILE

Canadian Northern Railway's Power is Restricted By Conditions Governing Issue of Perpetual Consolidated Debenture Stock.

(Special to the Times.)
Winnipeg, Nov. 10.—The Free Press this morning points out that the Perpetual Consolidated Debenture stock of the Canadian Northern railway, which amounted a year ago to over twenty-four million dollars, is secured by a second mortgage on the entire system, with the further provision that the Canadian Northern cannot give a first mortgage to any province in excess of fifteen thousand dollars a mile. It quotes as its authority the last London Stock Exchange Year Book, which says that this debenture stock, which is registered in England, is secured by a general charge on the undertaking property and assets (other than land or money subsidies) of the company subject to the Ontario division bonds and to charges created or to be created not exceeding $10,000 per mile, the other than the 287 miles in Ontario or $15,000 per mile if guaranteed by the parliament of the Dominion or the legislatures of any of the provinces of Canada.

The Free Press says that this makes it impossible for the Canadian Northern to give British Columbia a mortgage for more than fifteen thousand dollars a mile, while the additional promised "charge upon the whole system" cannot be better than a third mortgage.

(Special to the Times.)
Vancouver, Nov. 10.—Fifteen men were killed and eight injured in an accident which occurred about 6:30 o'clock this morning on the New Westminster lines of the British Columbia Electric railway.

Various accounts of the accident are given, but all details seem to tally in one respect. A heavy car, loaded with big timbers, broke away from a train which was proceeding ahead of the 6:30 interurban car from Vancouver at the incline at a point between Lakeview and Collingwood stations. The runaway came with terrific momentum on the passenger car and swept everything clean down to the level of the seats. There were about 25 people in the car and not one had a real chance to escape.

According to one of the injured, who gave a short interview with a reporter, Motorman Thorborn yelled a warning to the passengers as he saw the big car bearing down on him and then tried to jump to safety. He was caught by the runaway and the life crushed out of him. His dead body has been brought to the city with others and are at the local undertakers.

The bodies of the victims are so terribly mutilated as to be unrecognizable. The victims were identified by articles on the remains.

The injured are being cared for at the general hospital. Carty and Trauford were reported at 1 o'clock to be in a very serious condition. The injuries of the others are not likely to prove fatal.

A. Johnston, who assisted in extracting the dead and injured from the wreck, was returning home from his work at the time of the accident. He had got off the car which was in the smash-up and was proceeding south on the Cedar Cottage road when he heard an awful crash.

"All was still for a moment," said Mr. Johnston, "then I heard cries and moans and at once knew that a collision had taken place."

"I hastened to the scene as quickly as possible, proceeding along the track. It was still almost dark, but the sight that met my eyes was indescribable. A coldness passed over me like a flash and for a moment I stood paralyzed. Afterwards I, along with others, who began arriving at the scene, commenced lifting the timber and wreckage off those whom we saw pinned down. There were so many cries for help all at the same time we hardly knew where to start first.

"The heavy 12 by 12 timbers were piled and scattered all over the injured, which took the many willing workers what seemed like hours to clear away. We took out twelve bodies up till the time that I was forced to abandon the rescue work through exhaustion.

"I think that everything was done by the company officials that was possible."

Others who arrived immediately after the wreck tell much the same story. Rev. Mr. Madill and family live directly opposite the place where the accident happened. His daughters heard the crash, which shook the house, and on looking out of the windows saw what had taken place. They all hurriedly dressed themselves and assisted in the work of rescue.

George Scott, who lives opposite the scene of the accident was just sitting down to breakfast when the accident occurred. He said:

"I heard a crash, jumped up and lit a lantern and rushed to the wrecked car which I could see dimly outlined near the top of the car had been torn off by the lumber which had forced the mass of men into a very small space, it seemed only a couple of yards square. Moaning and crying and occasional shrieking added to the horror of the scene.

"It must have taken us quite 20 minutes before we could get enough of the lumber off to liberate any of the poor wretches. I shall never forget the ghastliness of the scene when we did. One man badly hurt was lying unable to stir. A dead man was across his neck and another dead man across his chest. The eyes of another poor fellow were full of clotted blood--not his own--so that he could not see. They had all been jammed into a solid mass where dead and dying and injured lay helpless."

A broken coupling on the freight car caused the accident, according to the crew. They had left the lumber car on the main line and gone into a siding to get an empty car. When they returned they shunted into the standing car and coupled, but the momentum broke the coupling and sent the car down the slope.

D. McDonough, motorman of the freight; Fred Wiggins, conductor; and W. Bows, brakeman, are being detained by the police.

CONDUCTOR FORMERLY EMPLOYED IN VICTORIA

William Johnston was married to Miss Berridge, of Victoria, a sister of W. W. Berridge, employed at the Melrose company, Fort street. He worked on the cars of the local company for some time and afterwards went to Vancouver and later to New Westminster, where his wife resides at present.

A delegation from the convention went to the Liberal Association rooms and officially notified that body of the action. After this announcement, which was greeted with rousing cheers, D. A. ## JAMAICA HAS BEEN ISOLATED

LACK OF NEWS IS CAUSING UNEASINESS

Cable Communication South of Santiago de Cuba Ceased Last Night.

(Special to the Times.)
Halifax, N. S., Nov. 10.—Considerable anxiety is being felt here for the safety of the island of Jamaica. No communication has been received from Kingston since Saturday, when a fierce hurricane was raging. It is probable that land communication was interrupted by the storm, but it is not believed that it could wreck the cable line which connects Kingston with this city. It is feared here that another earthquake has visited the island and wrecked the cable.
The steamer Amanda, from Halifax, went aground on the west end of Jamaica last Friday. The vessel, which floated that night and must have encountered the hurricane. Nothing has been heard from it since.
Out of Commission.
New York, Nov. 10.—It was announced here that the West Indian cables are working only as far as Santiago de Cuba and that communication south of that point ceased last night.
The officials of the cable company do not know whether the interruption was due to a hurricane or an earthquake. The cables have been working poorly since Saturday, when the hurricane was reported. No connection with Jamaica is possible at this time.
This fact, taken in connection with the reports from Halifax that the British cable also is out of communication, leads to considerable uneasiness here.
The report from Cleveland that the seismograph there registered a terrific earthquake last night is the cause of apprehension, though the figures at Cleveland indicate that the quake was much farther away than Jamaica.
Earthquake Recorded.
Cleveland, O., Nov. 10.—Father Odenbach's seismograph recorded an earthquake early to-day, the main shock of which lasted for 23 minutes. The tremors occurred between midnight and 2 o'clock this morning.
The earthquake happened about 10,000 miles away, and Father Odenbach believes it occurred near China or Japan.
Cable Communication Ceases.
Havana, Cuba, Nov. 10.—This city lost cable communication with Kingston last night about the same time that the land line via Santiago failed.

admiralty for beginning of the construction of a Canadian navy.
In the Conservative camp all sorts of opinions are heard, and the coming caucus on Friday is expected to develop a lively row. At least a score of opposition members have already declared themselves opposed to R. L. Borden's attitude, supporting the principle of the policy laid down by the government. Many favor a direct contribution; others, like Monk, say "do nothing at all."
Mr. Borden is determined to adhere to the stand already taken, and will offer his resignation at the caucus. What the outcome will be no one can predict. A considerable section of the opposition is dissatisfied with Borden's leadership, yet no better man is in sight.
McBride and Roblin both want to succeed him, but do not command confidence or carry weight with the best elements of the party, who want a political sail trimmer and tricky opportunist as leader.

Suffragettes Break Window in Guildhall During Lord Mayor's Banquet.

London, Nov. 9.—The celebration of the King's 64th birthday and the inauguration of Sir John Knill as Lord Mayor, to succeed Sir George Truscott, made London an especially lively centre of interest yesterday, although the historical and theatrical side of the Lord Mayor's show was wanting.

The banquet at the Guildhall last night was the scene of a suffragette incident. The Lord Mayor was responding to the toast of the King when a crash of glass was heard and stained glass fell in fragments into the banquet hall. Shouts of "Votes for women" resounded through the room, causing considerable excitement and some amusement.

Two women who had gained the roof and thrown the stones were arrested. Another suffragist in evening attire who accosted Winston Churchill, president of the Board of Trade, in the vestibule, was ejected.

Premier Asquith, who was the principal speaker at the banquet, avoided reference to home politics, and dealt with international affairs. He referred with satisfaction to the Hudson-Fulton celebration at New York, where Admiral Sir Edward Hobart Seymour had worthily interpreted Great Britain's sentiment towards the United States. He was happy to be able to say, without the lurking apprehensions which clouded the international horizon last year, and although there still were possibilities of disquiet in Eastern Europe, that there was nothing, he believed, which would not yield to time and tact, and he knew of nothing which need stand in the way of a full and friendly understanding with Germany.

With reference to the Congo, His Majesty's government, the Premier declared, earnestly desired Belgium to make such dispositions as would justify the recognition of annexation.

PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR CANADIAN FISHERMEN

Nearly Eighty-five Thousand Persons Employed in Industry.

Ottawa, Nov. 10.—The report of the department of marine and fisheries for 1908-09 indicates that it was a prosperous season for Canadian fishermen. The total catch of fish, including seals, was valued at $25,451,000. This is a slight decrease from the yield of 1907 and 1908, the latter being a record year, but it is still a satisfactory showing.

The importance of the fishing industry is further illustrated by the fact that there were employed in the Canadian industry last year 1,414 vessels and 39,965 boats, the whole being manned by 71,076 persons. Besides these there were employed in canneries and in preparation of fish generally 12,753 persons, giving a grand total of those directly employed in the fisheries of 84,829. This is an increase of 2,127 over the previous year. It is noted that about 16,000 miles of net was used, valued at three and a half million, while the value of vessels and boats aggregated five and a quarter millions.

The total capital invested in the fisheries of Canada is placed at $15,500,000. Government expenditure upon the fisheries in the way of cost of protection and salaries amounts to nearly a million dollars. The revenue from fines and licenses totalled $32,715. The fishermen of the Maritime provinces received about $100,000 in bounties.

The report says an examination of the customs returns seems to demonstrate beyond doubt that importations from the United States are being replaced by Canadian fish.

Tonnage dues will be imposed by the Federal government on United States vessels trading to Canadian ports on the Great Lakes. This action is taken because under the new United States tariff a similar tax is placed on Canadian ships trading on the lakes.

GERMANS CLAIM VALUABLE PROPERTY

Determined to Retain Large Mineral Area in Morocco.

Madrid, Nov. 10.—That Germany seriously proposes to make trouble over its mining claims in Morocco, and especially over those in the Rif country, to which Spain lays claim, is apparent by concluding over yesterday the reports the Madrid government has received from its agents in Berlin and at other capitals, where the Kaiser's representatives have consulted experts on international law.

The advice of thirteen of these authorities has been taken. It is learned, by the Kaiser. All of them, including the celebrated Prof. Westlake, probably the best known of the entire group, are agreed that the coming internal conference on the elaboration of Moroccan mining laws, can deal only with the future and that the so-called Mannesmann concessions must, therefore, stand, no matter what the conference may result in otherwise.

When it is considered that Mannesmann brothers' concessions include an area amounting to one-tenth of the whole of Morocco, that they include also the most promising mineral regions in the country and that among them is one covering the Rif territory, it becomes apparent that the conference stands small chance of accomplishing anything very injurious to German interests or of much benefit to the claims put forward by any other country.

It is considered a certainty here that the Kaiser has taken expert counsel simply to furnish him with a pretext for handing over everything his countrymen want, and that he means to uphold his contention at any cost it made evident since the Mannesmann brothers have already given security to the Sultan for his percentage from the concessions.

Prather stated that the finding of an indictment against him was an outrage and placed the blame on others.

Men Accused of Looting Detective's Office Discharged—Other Cases Pending.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 10.—Jeremiah Van Wormer, William Corbin, Rex Hamlin and Albert McKinley, who were arrested on the complaint of Special Agent William J. Burns four months ago and accused of looting his private office of papers and documents connected with the graft prosecutions, because of lack of evidence. The charges likewise were dismissed.

Luther Brown, Eugene Platt and Attorney Frank Murphy, who are charged with grand larceny, and Attorney William M. Abbott, counsel for the United Railways, charged with removing stolen goods, will appear for preliminary hearing on November 20th.

The cases were an outgrowth of the graft prosecution in San Francisco. At the time the men were arrested, Detective Burns charged that men in the employ of the defence had stolen originals and made duplicates of his papers in connection with the graft cases.

Endeavor to Take Liberal Leader Across Boundary Line.

El Paso, Nov. 10.—Local Liberal sympathizers and Mexican political refugees in this city are considerably exercised over an alleged attempt on the part of the agents of the Diaz government to "railroad" across the boundary Jose Hurtado, a Mexican Liberal leader. Hurtado declared that certain United States marshals were connected with the plot.

According to the story, Hurtado was captured in an alley of an El Paso street by Deputy United States Marshal Stevens and a Mexican detective, who attempted to take him across the boundary line to Ciudad Juarez.

Local Liberals declare that Hurtado is sought by Diaz, and expressed their belief that the Mexican government is endeavoring to use the United States authorities to assist in transporting him across the country.

THE SECURITY (?)

The Colonist contains a featured article entitled "The Security," written for the obvious purpose of misleading the public with regard to the attempted deal of the McBride government with the Canadian Northern Railway Company.

Why does the Colonist insist that "a first mortgage is given" when Mr. Mann declared the other day in Toronto that the agreement contains "just what they bind both company and government"?

As the argument which follows hangs largely on that fact, the whole article is fallacious, and being based on false premises, is scarcely worthy of notice.

The Times has purposely refrained from criticizing the Canadian Northern system, for two reasons. One is that it has no desire to compare it unfavorably with other roads.

These facts should be distinctively borne in mind: (1) That the reputation of Mackenzie & Mann has been made as railway builders, certainly not as railway operators.

(2) That the Canadian Northern is not in any sense of the term a transcontinental railway. But when they do enter British Columbia they will have to compete against two genuine transcontinental lines.

The Colonist places the value of the Canadian Northern at $20,000,000 and claims that this is the asset which lies behind the guarantee of indemnity.

have been offered $25,000,000 for their property. What are the facts? The data which follows is from the report of the Department of Railways.

So much for mileage. What about the character of the road, and how does it compare with the C.P.R. and G.T.P.? The weight of rails employed, per lineal yard, is 56 and 60 pounds—a rail so light that it is rarely used now by big systems.

What about equipment, and how much of it do they own? First as to locomotives. The report of the railway department shows their locomotives to be as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Locomotive type and quantity. Includes Passenger, Freight, Switching, and Total.

In other words, the company owns about one-ninth of its cars. Presumably the remainder are leased from some holding company.

A survey of the company's stocks, funded debt, etc., is no more reassuring than of its equipment and the character of its road, but as the article quoted is careful to deal only in generalities it is perhaps unnecessary to go into that phase of the question.

BRITISH RULE IN INDIA.

It is well that Britons of the present day should be reminded occasionally of the stirring events of the past which played so important a part in establishing firmly and securely and permanently the foundations of the Empire.

was necessary to save the Indians from themselves. For more than half a century they have enjoyed the blessings of peace which could never have been theirs under a native regime.

The accident upon the inter-urban tramway line between Vancouver and New Westminster is the most lamentable occurrence the press of British Columbia has had to chronicle for many years.

A Times special dispatch from Winnipeg explains why Mr. D. D. Mann's agreement with the McBride government does not provide for a first mortgage upon the portion of the road which it is proposed to construct through British Columbia.

What Other People Think

A NEW THEATRE. To the Editor: Knock, knock! With bark and talk. The Knockers are knocking the town!

If "Sack and Buskin" (bless his generous heart) has been startled by an appeal on behalf of a project that threatens to pay less than five per cent. to its subscribers, let him be at ease.

As a result of the injuries received by him on Monday last owing to a premature blast, J. R. Williams died in St. Joseph's hospital last night.

Baby's Own Soap has the natural color and fresh fragrance of the vegetable oils from which it is made. It does not contain a particle of coloring matter or of "chemical process" perfumes.

old theatre is good enough for him, he might give thanks and keep quiet. If he thinks the proposed plan of building a new one sufficient for the needs of a growing people is imperfect, it is his evident duty to assist in forming a perfect plan—one that will pay him ten per cent. if he likes.

Here is the truth of it, in a few words: After many years, during which the pessimists and knockers spread the story that Victoria's theatre was too small for the stage, and the stage too small for the people, we have reached a point where our present credit and profitable moving pictures and continuous performances.

Large subscriptions are needed, and the collecting committee is going after them, with what time they can spare from their own business, and with very promising results up to yesterday, when "S. and B." pronounced their doom.

MORNING SESSION OF S. S. CONVENTION

The morning session of the Sunday School convention to-day showed no lack of interest on the part either of the delegates or speakers.

What Other People Think

A NEW THEATRE. To the Editor: Knock, knock! With bark and talk. The Knockers are knocking the town!

If "Sack and Buskin" (bless his generous heart) has been startled by an appeal on behalf of a project that threatens to pay less than five per cent. to its subscribers, let him be at ease.

As a result of the injuries received by him on Monday last owing to a premature blast, J. R. Williams died in St. Joseph's hospital last night.

Campaign in the Islands Shows Defeat for Late Member.

The opposition candidates will be heard by the electors of James Bay district to-night. A meeting has been arranged for South Park school to-night, at which the policy of the party will be outlined and the weakness of the McBride government and its policy revealed.

R. L. Drury, H. A. Munn and W. K. Houston, and A. J. Morley, the independent candidate, will be the speakers. Mr. Morley, who came on late at the Spring Ridge meeting last night, will be given a place early in the evening so that he may have a better opportunity to detail his views on public matters.

The chair will be occupied by ex-Ald. Cameron, who was one of the city's representatives in the legislature for a parliament.

The Islands Candidate, Percy Purvis, of Salt Spring Island, the Liberal candidate for the Islands, against A. E. McPhillips, is expected to redeem that constituency.

Mr. Purvis, formerly manager of the firm of Malcolm & Purvis, is well known and exceedingly popular throughout the constituency. As an able business man, working assiduously at all times for the good of the district, Mr. Purvis holds an enviable reputation. The fact that he is a local man, well acquainted with the needs of the constituency, weighs largely in his favor. Liberals and Conservatives alike can be heard to say: "What we want is a local man; we don't want a lawyer and an outsider."

Mr. Purvis is a fluent speaker, and he will, if elected, prove a valuable acquisition to the Liberal forces on the floor of the House.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Joseph McCoy, M.A., of Knox church, the company sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper. Happy addresses followed, conveying the best wishes of all to the happy couple. Beautiful music was rendered by the talented sisters of the bride.

Deceased was born in Golden and was 16 years of age. For some time he has been attending the Collegiate school here. A few days ago he was taken ill and to-day succumbed. Mr. Parson has been communicated with, and will arrive in this city shortly.

GOTCH WINS IN TWO STRAIGHT FALLS

Defeats Raicevich, of Italy, After Fine Exhibition of Wrestling.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Nov. 10.—Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of the world, defeated Giovanni Raicevich, of Italy, in two straight falls at the Coliseum here last night. The first fall was in 16 minutes 28 seconds, and the second in 5 minutes 28 seconds. The match was witnessed by a large and very enthusiastic crowd.

Gotch won the first fall with a crotch and bar arm hold. The Italian gave a fine exhibition of wrestling skill, but the champion was too agile and strong for him. Gotch had his famous toe hold on the foreigner four or five times, but Raicevich resisted it successfully, the crowd cheering wildly when Gotch changed his tactics.

In the second fall Gotch pinned his antagonist to the mat in 5 minutes and 28 seconds with a cross leg hammer and wrist lock hold.

TOM BURKE GOES TO PROFESSIONAL RANKS

Vancouver Fighting Fireman to Wrestle La Salle.

Thomas J. Burke, the fighting fireman of Vancouver, has now stepped down from the amateur ranks where he has held the championship in the middleweight and heavyweight class for the last few years and will enter the professional ranks.

Burke was last seen boxing in Victoria when he beat Harrison and Tommy Saunders in the middleweight class, and Stanley of Vancouver, in the heavyweights at the B. C. amateur tournament held here at the end of last winter in the A. O. U. W. hall. He has boxed all comers in the amateur class at Vancouver for some years and has disposed of them, retaining his amateur title at all times. He also held the wrestling championship in the middleweight class for the province.

His first fight into the ranks of the professionals will be with a challenge to Frank La Salle, the French-Canadian wrestler and holder of the professional wrestling championship. He wants to sign up with La Salle for a match to take place some time at the end of this month. La Salle recently issued a challenge agreeing to throw Burke twice to once, meaning that if Burke can throw him once before he throws Burke twice, Burke will be the winner.

The style asked for is catch-as-catch-can. The match on this basis will most probably be arranged at once.

DR. SPROULE HONORED.

Grand Master of Orangemen Presented With Portrait.
Toronto, Nov. 10.—Seldom has a more representative gathering been seen in Orange circles in this city than that which assembled at the Temple building Monday night to honor Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., grand master and sovereign of the order of Canada. The meeting was under the auspices of Ionic Lodge, No. 1882. Dr. L. M. Crowther in proposing the toast of the grand master of the evening reviewed the grand master's public and Orange career, and on behalf of Ionic presented him with a portrait of himself in oils.

Dr. Sproule, on rising to reply, was given a great ovation. After thanking all present for his hearty reception he said words fell from his lips to express his gratitude for their magnificent gift. In regard to the Orange order, he urged its members to form a closer alliance with the churches and pastors of the country, so that the grand old Protestant religion should be maintained.

Later Dr. Sproule presented the portrait to County Master William Bush, as trustee for the county lodge, and requested that it might be hung on the walls of the county lodge as long as the order remained in existence.

FIVE NEW NOVELS.

Cassell & Co., Ltd., the London publishers, with a branch at 42 Adelaide street west, Toronto, have just issued from their presses five new novels, two of which are the works of well-known authors, while the other three promise to achieve popularity once the reading public becomes acquainted with their merits.

"The Romance of Michael Trevail," is a work of serious purpose written by Joseph Hocking.

"The Red Room" is a work of a different kind altogether, from the pen of William Le Queux. This author reveals in the mysterious. As the London Morning Post says: "Mr. Le Queux has justly earned for himself the title of the Master of Mystery. 'The Red Room' is both mysterious and fascinating."

"A House of Lies," by Sidney Warwick, is a tale constructed upon more conventional lines than either of the foregoing, but the interest of the average reader will be sustained up to the very last chapter.

A production of an entirely different character from the three first mentioned is "The Smiths of Valley View." It is a humorous review of the domestic affairs of a very small fraction of the great Smith family, by Kettle Howard, just the thing to drive away ennui, and to insure the enjoyment of a quiet evening by the fireside during the long winter nights.

"The Shoulder Knot" is the last of the quintette. It is the only one of the five written by a woman, Mrs. Henry Dudeney. Of those enthusiasts writes: "The 'Shoulder Knot' indeed, was an imp of terror that sapped the man's courage, the shadowed his mind, and took all joy from his life. How he loved and how he found freedom in the story. The theme is veiled, but it is all probable and possible. The setting is real and human. The 'secret sin' which becomes the horrid familiar of Peter Bonsey, the delightful innocence and love of Christine, the charm of the rustic characters, make, under the skill of Mrs. Henry Dudeney, an appeal that is irresistible."

The Cassells' publications are all specially welcome during the holiday season, and Christmas is drawing near.

MAY BUILD ELECTRIC LINE.

Boston Capitalists Submit Proposal to Citizens of Bellingham.
Bellingham, Wash., Nov. 10.—Stone and Webster, the Boston corporation that operates the Whatcom County Railway and Light Company, the Seattle and Tacoma traction companies, and kindred electric light concerns, announces that an interurban line would be built from Bellingham to Mount Vernon if the citizens will take up $400,000 in stock of the Bellingham electric railway already in operation.

Stone and Webster estimate the cost of the road at $1,000,000. A committee of 25 citizens will endeavor to raise the necessary $400,000.

PEERAGE FOR ADMIRAL FISHER.

London, Nov. 10.—Admiral Sir John Arbuthnot Fisher, lord commissioner of the admiralty and first and principal aide de camp to the King was yesterday elevated to the peerage in connection with King Edward's birthday.

Sir John Fisher has been admiral of the British fleet since 1905. He was born in 1841 and entered the British naval service when thirteen years old, working his way up through all the grades.

THRILLING STORY OF THE INDIAN MUTINY

Brilliant Speech by Captain Clive Phillipps-Wolley at the Campaigners' Banquet Last Night Stirs His Hearers.

One hundred and fifty men, among them the Crimea and Mutiny veterans who are residents of Victoria, and soldiers who have fought for the flag in other struggles of the Mother Country across the seas, gathered last night round the tables set out in the form of a barrack square at the Driard hotel to commemorate the second anniversary of the establishment of the British Campaigners' Association here, and as a mark of honor to the Indian Mutiny veterans resident in Victoria.

Fittingly, the time chosen for celebrating the share these veterans had taken in England's most horrible war was the sixty-eighth birthday of his Majesty King Edward VII.

The veterans who were banqueted last night were Major Wilson, of the 42nd Highlanders; Captain Clive Phillipps-Wolley, Brinkley Robinson, G. Hughes, G. Misset, of the Northumberland Fusiliers; J. S. Bailey and G. Fernie.

The room presented a brilliant sight as at the long tables the gold lace and trim trappings of the officers of the Fifth Regiment, R. C. G. A., were side by side with men in civilian dress who wore medals earned by valor on the nation's battlefields, and by them the men of peace and commerce in the regulation evening dress. All did honor to the occasion.

The toast of the association, Major Wilson, a veteran of both the Crimea and the Mutiny, and an officer of the famous Black Watch, occupied the chair. On his right sat Capt. Clive Phillipps-Wolley, Mayor Hall, Major A. W. Currie, officer commanding the Fifth Regiment; G. H. Barnard, M. P., and others.

Message to the King.

In proposing the loyal toast Major Wilson read the following message that had been cable to his Majesty yesterday: "The British Campaigners' Association, commemorating the Indian Mutiny, tender you loyal homage and congratulations."

A telegram from Banfield Creek was read which sent congratulations to the association from that place.

Major Wilson outlined the history and objects of the association, saying there were 178 members enrolled, and that the association was in good financial standing. He told the guests that the object of the association was to aid the mutiny veterans and to commemorate the history of the Empire's struggles. From Calcutta to Victoria there were similar associations which had received the support of Lord Roberts, who had spoken enthusiastically about them. With a short account of the present military progress the chairman concluded.

The toast of the King was honored by cheers and the singing of the National Anthem.

When the chairman called on Capt. Clive Phillipps-Wolley that gallant gentleman was received with cheers, and a general move was made by those seated at the ends of the tables towards the centre of the barrack square. Capt. Wolley delivered a brilliant oration, and at the close was cheered to the echo. During the evening short addresses were delivered by the other veterans present, who told of their share in the Empire's wars.

Captain Wolley's Address. Captain Wolley, who was given the heartiest of receptions, said in part: "If I am to tell you this story in any intelligible form—the great epic of your race—I must ask you to help me, by attempting to get the ground plan of it clearly before your minds' eyes, and in order to do that, you must allow me to recall a few important facts to your recollections. "Roughly, then, remember, please, that the Indian peninsula is a triangle, the three sides of which are about 1,500 miles each in length; that this vast triangle contains one-sixth of the human race (252,000,000 men), and that until your England took charge these people were at constant war with each other; that they are irrevocably divided by race and religion from each other; that there is no bond of union between them; and that even if our race left India to itself, it would mean for the majority of the inhabitants of India only a change of masters—a change from those who insist upon peace, who teach and protect agriculture, who build railways and irrigation works, averting famines, and mitigating the ravages of cholera, and above all, offering the fair play of British courts of law to rich and poor alike—for those old masters, the warlike tribes, who made industry, and agriculture impossible, who harried the farmer, squeezed the trader, recognized no law, but that of the strong hand, and kept the unwarlike tribes always on the verge of famine. "I want to get this firmly in your minds. It is the answer to those of Mr. Kier Hardie's stamp, who tell people that India should be left to rule herself. "There is not, and never was, one India; but in that great triangle there was, and always would be, for England, incessant war between Hindus and Mohammedans, between the weak and the strong. "When you have read some inflam-atory article written in an Indian newspaper by a Hindu, taught in the schools of England, about India's fitness for self-government, read history or Kipling to find out what his fate would be if we left him to the mercies of Afghans, Maharrats and the splendid fighting men of Northern India. It is true beyond all question that England has enormously increased the happiness and prosperity of the vast majority of the 250,000,000 who live in India, and that if her influence were withdrawn, the many weak would again become the victims of the few strong.

"Now, here again, in brief, is the history of our coming. In 1639 a band of traders much like our own Hudson Bay people rented a plot of ground in Madras, five miles long by one mile wide, for which they paid a rent of $600 a year. A French company did much the same at Pondichery.

"Gradually (our version of gradually) these settlements of traders grew and about 100 years before the mutiny of which I am to treat, the French and English, each with their native friends, began to fight for the supremacy of India.

"Clive came on the scene about this time and began to teach India what an Englishman was worth. I am not going to be tempted even by him from my subject, beyond reminding you that in 1757 he held Arcot with 500 men for 50 days, against 200,000; that at Plassey he thrashed the French and their native allies at 17 to 1, with elephants and elephants thrown in; and that in 1757 he avenged the Black Hole of Calcutta, as the men who were shut up (73) avenged the murder-ghost of Calcutta, a hundred years later. In the hundred years between Plassey and the mutiny the little English trading company, which in 1639 had rented a five-mile strip in Madras, had so grown that it ruled all that was best in India and had enormous influence even among the fighting tribes beyond the northwest border, but the power by which it held all this was the power of personal prestige. Don't forget that.

"At the time of the mutiny we had 28,000 British soldiers to control 180,000,000 natives, say, roughly, 1 to 5,000, and India had begun to awake to the fact that the English had used the Indians to conquer India for England and were asking—'who or what is this John company; why should we not conquer India for ourselves?'"

"And then what the Hindus called the 'devil's wind' blew upon the Punjab; a native prophecy that the English power would only last 100 years was remembered; the crime of the greased cartridges was committed; those ominous small cakes (chupatties) began to appear mysteriously in every tiny hamlet with their message that all would soon be red, a few scattered cases of mutiny amongst the sepoys took place and then the first scene of the great drama took place at Meerut on a Sunday in May, 1857. But here I want to pause one moment, because here to me at any rate is the lesson to our race of the mutiny, although it has been shared over and over by most historians. Remember that we held India as the Hudson's Bay Company held your Indians by the power of the white man's word. They knew that the men who led them never feared and never lied to them. A white man's word was the only sure bond that they know or ever had known. And then after a hundred years we lied to them. Not willingly, thank God; not knowingly; but ourselves deceived by a fraudulent commercial company, we great and small, generals and subalterns, lied to our men. This I think was the way of it, and my witnesses are Lecky as an historian and General Roberts, our greatest soldier to-day."

Captain Wolley reviewed the evidence, now strong, that the officers were quite sincere when they assured their men that the new issue of cartridges were not greased with any animal fat, and continued: "Can't you understand now why officers like poor old General Sandeman actually cried on parade when the regiment he trusted was disarmed; why Col. Spottiswoode blew his brains out when his men mutined; why Wheeler would not believe in the disloyalty of his men and therefore lost Cawnpore; why on the other hand even those who left us gave us loyal service until the last moment. They couldn't believe their officers lied; the officers could not believe their men false. The parting was difficult to both, because one had trusted implicitly and the other knew that he had been worthy of that trust, while neither guessed at the lie that had come between."

The First Explosion. "Such was the spark that fired the magazine. The first explosion of any consequence took place in May at Meerut, a red-hot May that dried the very blood in the veins. The cantonment contained the 4th Dragon Guards, a troop of horse artillery, a battery of field artillery, the first battalion of the rifles, a company of foot artillery, and three native regiments.

and though it was the hour of church parade and all seemed peaceful, the place was full of unrest, a seething volcano just ready to explode.

"The chaplain was starting for the church when the native nurse warned him and his wife of what was going to happen; of course he did not believe it."

"But he took his children with him instead of leaving them with the nurse, and before he reached the church the rattle of musketry warned him that the mutiny had begun. Luckily owing to the heat, the church parade had been set half an hour later than usual, and the mutineers caught the 6th with their arms. This in some measure checked the first rush, but though the mutinying regiments would not kill their own officers, they shot mercilessly those of other regiments. Col. Finnis was the first to pay for his trust in his men. He fell riddled by bullets from the 20th whilst exhorting his own regiment (the 11th), with which he had served 40 years, to be true to their salt.

"After this hell broke loose. The mutineers opened the prison and let out 1,200 of the worst in India, and they and the native population looted the town, burned and slew men, women and children, saturated a sick woman in paraffin and made a torch of her, and then bolted by the high road to Delhi, an amazingly strong point, 40 miles distant, where the old pensioned Emperor, representative of the Great Mogul dynasty, and where we had left a magazine with vast stores of ammunition in the charge of three native regiments and a native battery of artillery amongst a population of 150,000, all ready to join the insurgents.

"And meanwhile the troops in Meerut could not make up their minds what to do and did nothing. The man in command was an exceedingly old man and had not the decision and go of a Lawrence, a Nicholson, or a Neville Chamberlain. And now, because time presses, I must still further condense my story. Indeed, one episode is a repetition of another. The mutineers' tactics were always the same. They revolted, killed their officers, looted, let out the prisoners, and then concentrated on Delhi, and of all these operations the release of the prisoners was the most dangerous because these men, loaded with loot, scattered each to his own village, and became proof to the village that the English rule was over and that it was time to join the mutineers. And so India was in a blaze, and by the light of that blaze I want you to see some of the incidents which restored India to Britain and wiped out her disgrace.

Incidents of Heroism. "Delhi perhaps gave us our first hero. The gates were thrown open to the mutineers, the prison thrown open by the mutineers, the handful of British officers was shot or sabred, as were the bank officials, telegraph clerks, the women and children and every one who bore a white shirt. Some few got away, women, many of them, to wander for weeks in the Indian bush until they gained death on our own lines. A few held out in cellars and native houses. Eleven children, with 16 men and women, with two guns, held a house for three days, dying of thirst. The fiends who could not subdue them set vessels of water in their sight, bidding them to give up their arms and they should drink. They gave them up and the 11 children and 16 men and women were set in a row and shot, but no water was given them.

"Fifty Europeans made a stand, in another house, were taken by storm, and imprisoned for five days in a cellar beneath the palace of Delhi. They were brought out and tortured to death by a mob of scoundrels, the heir apparent of the king of Delhi superintending and devising the torments. Hodson, of Hodson's Horse, paid this score and has been condemned by humane people for doing so. He had always boasted that if he had the chance he would make short work of this nest of vipers. Six months later he caught the Princes of Delhi and kept his word. He shot them with his own hand in cold blood, and took their bodies to the very spot where they had tortured the white men. Do you blame him?

"But Delhi did not fall like Meerut, though the odds were 100,000 to a handful. The great magazine contained arms and ammunition to have armed half a nation and was in charge of three mere boys, Lieutenants Willoughby, Forrest and Rayner, and six non-commissioned officers. At the first hint of the outbreak these nine barricaded and trained their cannon on the approaches to them. Willoughby had nine guns and there was therefore one gunner to each. The sepoys came swarming in columns down the streets, but the guns were served as steadily as if no hall storm of bullets were sweeping round them, no sea of devils bursting in the gates. A gate burst open, and a charge of grape swept a road through those who rushed to enter it, but by this time the enemy was over the walls. Buckley had both arms broken, Forrest had been hit twice, and then Willoughby lifted his hand, gallant Scully put his port-fire to the fuse and the great arsenal with its hundreds of assailants and half the gallant nine went into space in a leap of flame and a pillar of smoke.

"But I must leave Delhi for Cawnpore. Here we had all the elements of a tragedy ready to hand, a rich treasury, a huge arsenal undefended, at the most 200 English soldiers, half of them invalids, and a great company of white women and children, under Wheeler, who still trusted the sepoys, against four regiments of sepoys' unlimited artillery, a hostile population of 60,000 and behind them all, directing them all, that educated Maharratta devil, Nana Sahib."

Massacre of Cawnpore. Captain Wolley told of the gallant defence of the garrison of Cawnpore and then proceeded to the tale of Nana Sahib's treachery and the horrors of the massacre. Of this he said: "Out of the 450, some 200 were captives in the Nana's hands; three escaped, and the rest were dead; very few were un wounded. The men were shot before their wives' eyes, one dear woman, the doctor's wife, dying with her husband because the sepoys could not wrench her away; but the rest, women and children, were herded by the Nana into one dark room and there kept for days until he heard Havelock's worrying cannon sweeping away everything that stood between the British and their women; he sent a butcher and three others into that chamber of horrors, and one of them came out three times with a broken sword. There were pitiful sounds in the Massacre House that night, and next morning the butchers went in and finished their work, dead and living alike being cast into one dry well.

"Then all was horror-stricken silence until Havelock's men came. They had counted no cost to get there; they had reckoned no odds. The natives had concluded on page 10.)

CONCLUSION OF WOMEN'S COUNCIL

INTERESTING PAPERS READ AND DISCUSSED

Training of Children Dealt With by Mrs. Rocke Robertson in Able Paper.

The sessions of the Women's Council was concluded yesterday afternoon. There was a splendid programme of addresses, reports and papers by members of the council and by outsiders, a veritable feast of reason. The difficulty with the programme at each session was that it was too long and that there was no opportunity for discussion in many cases. The programmes were so long that many left before the close of each session, and those who remained were so fatigued that they were unable to remember half of what they heard. In spite of these drawbacks the meeting of the council has been very helpful and was one of the best since its inception in this city.

The afternoon was devoted largely to catching up with the business. A number of resolutions were considered which should have come up earlier. The first of these was one advocating the establishment of an industrial home for girls, and asking the provincial government to provide for such an institution. It was introduced by Mrs. Gordon Grant. She referred to the fact that on several occasions during the past year such an institution had been needed in this city.

The resolution was carried, but not before Mrs. Jenkins had paid a compliment to the police magistrate, George Jay, for the good judgment he had displayed in the disposition of girls who came up before him.

Mrs. Rocke Robertson read the report for the president of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society. It showed that a good deal of work had been done. Six patients were sent to Tranquille and a great many patients visited and helped. She gave an account of the methods of making money, particular reference being made to the Tag Day at the fair, when $600 was raised for the furnishing of the building at Tranquille, which was nearing completion.

Mrs. Byrnam and the other officers were hopeful that the rest of the money would be raised. She referred to the increasing danger from the plague. Were it not that fresh air and sunshine were fatal to it, it would be almost impossible to fight it. As it

Was, 400 were carried off every day in the United States alone.

Mrs. Byrnam said she hoped the ladies of the council would use their influence to have the expectation laws enforced.

A resolution was presented by the W. C. T. U., deeply deploring that the property of the city had been used for gambling purposes and desiring their intention to oppose any recurrence of the event.

In moving it was stated that during the past summer a great many people came here to engage in the royal sport of horse racing. The result was bitterly regretted. In many of the states to the south race track betting had been driven out. This continued until not a place could they find. Victoria opened her arms and the property of the city was turned into a gambling hell. Steps were now being taken to make this form of gambling illegal.

Mr. Magee said at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday last that he had the personal promise of Sir Wilfrid Laurier that he would have a prohibitive law passed.

Mrs. William Grant in seconding the resolution, spoke of the evil done. The Victoria Literary Society asked that the Tramway company be approached with a view to having the high steps of the new cars lowered.

Mrs. Gordon in speaking to the resolution, told of the discomforts of being pulled and pushed up to the platform of the cars by some of the members to whom nature had denied the length of limb necessary to get off and on easily. Mrs. Dickenson seconded the motion, saying that all the ladies and old gentlemen would sympathize with the object.

Mrs. McMicking said when she got off she went out backwards, but the difficulty was that people thought she was getting on instead of off.

Mrs. McNaughton told of having a bed-fall in getting off one of the high cars. The conductor was reported, with the result that there had been more care taken. She advised ladies to report all such cases.

Mrs. Jenkins said she suffered much inconvenience from the high steps. Mrs. Gray referred to the fact that the broom might be used more on the platforms. This was referred to a committee.

Mrs. Day gave her impressions of the Quinquennial Council. She said she would not give a complete report, but simply a few bright impressions retained.

The gathering was held in the University building. It was the greatest gathering of women the world had ever seen. There were women from every civilized country. Countess Grey, the president, was the central figure. The writer gave a description of the gown worn by Her Excellency on one occasion, although this was but one of the many costumes worn by that lady. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the greatest woman orator, small of stature, but great of mind, was also there. She spoke on the subject of Franchise for Women.

The report was long but very interesting from a woman's standpoint. The wearing of birds and egretts in hats was referred to as tending to cruelty and animalization of thoughts.

F. Andrews gave a forceful paper on Civic Government. He spoke of Canada being an independent nation within the Empire. It was therefore wise to question ourselves in regard to whether we were doing things in the best possible way. If things as they are were compared with things as they ought to have been, it would be found that we were only about half way along the road to good government. He referred to the methods used in carrying elections. San Francisco and Montreal were great examples of graft in municipal life.

Referring to the local municipal government, he remarked that there had never been a charge of graft at any rate for a number of years past against any of Victoria's mayors or aldermen, but they accepted free passes from the Tramway company, as did also the reporters for the newspapers. He insisted that this influenced the reports of cases in the newspapers where the Tramway company was interested.

The matter of police commissioners and the duties of the police were discussed at some length, as was also the appointment of license commissioners. Objection was taken to the method of appointment. He thought the conditions obtaining here was as subversive of good government as in any city he knew. The political machine was the worst of the evils in the city. This was very powerful but nothing would remedy it but smashing. It was difficult to smash the political machine, because in the words of John Stuart Mill, the people were mostly fools. The church people were divided on political lines with the result that they had little force. Judge Lindsay was returned in spite of the party machine, and when church people were willing to do this there was hope that reforms would be carried out.

The next paper read was that of Miss Crease. She thanked the council for having made her a life member and then proceeded to read well a thought out article on Immigration. She showed the foolishness of bringing people here by paying their fares in order that they might engage in domestic service. She complained that British girls were not any more careful in giving the necessary notice than Chinese servants.

The matter of giving references was discussed, and the methods used in inducing immigrants to come here. The new arrival expected to get very high wages, to drop into any kind of employment immediately on arrival, and to find that life here was full of excitement. She advocated sending abroad accounts of the exact truth in regard to these things.

There was an increasing demand for woman help. The committee advocated giving such information as would insure that those coming here should know what they were coming to.

Mrs. Rocke Robertson gave a good deal of good advice to parents in the training of children. Environment she considered was one of the most potent forces for good or bad. The establishment of law and goodness was the chief aim in the training of children. The power of one person over another was spoken of as of great importance. The influence of the parent over the child was very great and love was the most potent factor.

Obedience, prompt and unquestioned, should be required. What would otherwise be a fine character was often allowed to become a grumbling, dissatisfied person.

Children should be taught honor. They should play the game squarely. Health may be restored, wealth may be again acquired, she said, but honor once lost can never be regained. This should be accompanied by usefulness. Children should help do things and should be taught to use simple tools. Punctuality was an important thing and all mothers should know where their children are throughout the twenty-four hours. All children should be home before dark.

Discipline was very important. This could be taught very largely by example. Example was one of the great influences in the life of the boy or girl. Parents should be patient with the children and love them even when they do not please. Not only should parents refrain from setting bad examples, but they should surround them with the best of everything. She advocated teaching the children to church and teaching them the truths of the scriptures.

Mrs. Gordon Grant suggested asking each candidate for parliamentary honors a series of questions in regard to their standing on woman's franchise and other subjects affecting women. After some discussion the proposal was withdrawn.

Mrs. Jenkins was chosen as a candidate for school trustee at the forthcoming election as one who would represent the views of the council. Votes of thanks were passed to the press and the city council, and the convention closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

THRILLING STORY OF THE INDIAN MUTINY

said of the lifted Scots that they had sworn to wear a woman's dress until they had avenged their women, and it is said that a grim grey sergeant in kilts was the first to enter the chamber of death. He came out with a white face working strangely, and his feet red to the ankles. Down his lines he went with a tress of yellow hair in his shaking hands and he dealt out a thread of it to each, asking a life for every thread of it.

"Do you think that hell in arms could have stopped our men that day? No; we took full toll, and India knows now what it cost to take the blood of our women and children. He did not ask in vain. Our men paid for their women in full.

"Now I must omit something, and I am going to leave out Lucknow because it is better known. I think its song and story than the rest of the mutiny. Its defence by Henry Lawrence, relief by Havelock, and its final storm by Outram and Sir Colin Campbell, are as well known as the fact that though besieged in the residency for 80 days, believing almost that they were the last Englishmen in the country, the handful commanded by Lawrence saw to it that always above the topmost roof the banner of England flew."

Returning to events at Delhi, Capt. Wolley told of the siege and all its stirring events, of the death of that great soldier, John Nicholson, of the magnificence and insolence of the 3,000 British who pitted themselves against 40,000 Sepoys behind strong fortifications. Concluding, the speaker said:

Lesson From the Mutiny. "Now, gentlemen, I have shown you a leaf of the story of the mutiny. Read it yourselves. It is better than all novels. They are written by pens in ink, under the dim light of imagination. This story of your race is written with swords, in blood and tears, under the white light of truth, and the story is not finished yet. You may have to finish it.

"They talk of dangers ahead, and they count our guns and our ships, but they forget the personal equation of Britain. They tell you that Britain's manhood is rotten to the core; and I pick up by accident the book of an old friend, who has just been shooting lions in East Africa, and this is what I read: 'Barinto has now acquired a niche in history. The establishment of a British station led to bloody fighting. Two-thirds of the native garrison having been treacherously decaying away; were surrounded and speared to a man by overwhelming swarms of Turkana tribes. These, flushed by victory, dashed on the British post; but its solitary white occupant, Mr. Hyde Baker, aided by a handful of Indian police, held the place at bay for five days, until relief came.'" some boy—old Colonel Baker's son? "This Empire of ours is not an Empire in the sense that the Mogul Empire was an Empire; an Empire because it was ruled by one Emperor, for his sole benefit and glory. It is a building, of infinite tiny units, as the coral islands are built, but every unit is a man's life and a man's soul.

"In the past, such men as I have been telling you of, and such women, built this Empire, and such men as you are must continue building.

"It was built by men who reckoned their bodies, not as armchairs for the ease of their souls, but as gymnasia in which to temper and perfect them.

"It was built, I verily believe, under God as His Supreme Architect, to teach this world the great lessons of self-denial, unpaid service, and fair play, and every mean deed will damage the body of it and every mean thought will hurt its soul. Go then, with a new pride and a new humility, remembering not only that you are the present, ma-sons of Britain's Empire, but that you are integral portions of that Empire; that these magnificent, hard men, the Lawrences, Nicholsons, Herbert Edwardes, Havelock, Neville Chamberlain, and Outram were all sincere simple Christians; that sincere Christianity and the highest type of chivalry are inseparable, and that your own dear flag is made up of three crosses, one for England, one for Scotland, and one for Ireland, and all for the Dominions."

Vote of Thanks. A vote of thanks was moved to Captain Phillips-Wolley by H. P. McDowell and seconded by Mayor Hall. Mr. McDowell related the work of Sir Colin Campbell, who came with 70,000 men and a naval brigade and had cleared the way for the troops. He told of the relief of Lucknow and testified to the indebtedness of the audience for the splendid speech delivered by Captain Wolley.

Mayor Hall, in referring to the speech of the evening's orator, told the banqueters that the captain's grandfather had been killed in India and that his father was born there. He referred to the fact that Capt. Wolley had at one time been imprisoned by the Russians and all would be glad he had not been kept in the prison. His Worship also spoke of the heroism of Butler and said that his descendants were at present residents of the district. The mayor closed with a tribute to Butler's bravery.

Other Toasts. The toast of "The Guests" having been honored, Capt. Muirgrave and Major A. W. Currie replied. The former, referring to England's power on sea, said he had served three years ago in the navy at Esquimalt and considered his vessel as a link between the Imperial navy and the Canadian navy. He hoped to see more Imperial ships at Esquimalt, and to soon see the first of Canada's war ships stationed there. He referred also to the work of the naval brigades in the nation's wars.

Col. Medley, a son of one of the veterans of the mutiny, also spoke, calling ernment came forward for election, although a Tory constituency, they turned him down by a majority of 1,000, and elected a man in favor of restoring a normal school.

FIRST GUNS FIRED AT SPRING RIDGE

The University. Mr. Drury then took up briefly the question of the establishment of a university. He felt that the matter was almost outside of the pale of discussion inasmuch as the location of a site was now being considered by a royal commission. This much, however, could be said, that the representatives of Victoria in the last Legislature had done nothing to urge the claims of this place upon the attention of the government. The fact of the matter was that Premier McBride were sincere and really wanted to do something for Victoria he might have said: "I am going to see that Victoria gets the university," and it would have got it just as easy as we have got the Mackenzie & Mann railway contract (Loud applause.)

The speaker next dealt with the Court of Appeals. It was the custom in the other provinces to establish such court at the seat of government, but what did the people who were anxious to "do something" for Victoria do? They so fixed the act that when the court was constituted next month it would commence sittings at Vancouver and sit for a period of six months. Quoting from the Colonist, the speaker showed that that paper in 1897 had said that the stipulation that the Court of Appeal should sit in Vancouver was a great mistake, and this was the time for the representatives of Victoria to speak up and ask if the capital city of the province should be shorn of its rightful inheritance. But did they do so? No; they were silent. One gentleman in the House during the debate on the bill had said that it was only fair that owing to the great commercial importance of Vancouver the court should be established there. Such argument was quite absurd. Most of the litigation which engages the attention of the higher courts originates in the mining districts of the province, and Victoria was as central a point as Vancouver; and, besides, it was customary for the seat of government to be chosen as the place for high courts. Take the case of Olympia, in the state of Washington. Although a small city compared with Seattle and Tacoma, it had never been shorn of the appellate court. Then go across Canada and you would find that all the capitals are the seats of the higher courts. Then why should the distinction be made in the case of Victoria? He believed that a large majority of the people of Victoria would agree with him when he declared that Premier McBride is censurable for not having better safeguarded the interests of the capital. (Loud applause.)

Of course he would be a narrow-minded man who would restrict his vision to the interests of his own constituency, but it was rarely that the representatives of a riding had such a golden opportunity to make record for themselves as in the case of Victoria and her just claims. When they came before the electors of Spring Ridge they should be asked to explain themselves, should be asked if they had honestly discharged their duty to their constituents.

Railway Situation. Mr. Drury then took up the railway question. Just the other day he had been talking with a prominent resident of Victoria, and he had said to him that he believed that the record of the government, in its failure to look after the interests of Victoria, was enough to defeat the government candidates in the city. This gentleman had agreed with him, but had said he thought the railway policy "overshadowed" all other issues. He (Mr. Drury) had replied that it certainly did "overshadow" them—in more sense than one; and it was his further conviction that if the province should be so blind to its own interests as to endorse the contract with Mackenzie & Mann a shadow would be cast upon the country which would be there for many years to come. (Applause.) He sincerely hoped that, even were the government sustained, something might occur to avert what he really believed would be a disaster to the whole country. (Applause.) Mr. Drury then entered into an exposition of the financial details of the proposals and the various features of the agreement. He scored the premier heavily for having attempted to deceive the people by stating in his first interview regarding the contract that it was only the interest which had been guaranteed, whereas it was principal as well as interest. The bargain with the Canadian Northern had been termed a "people's bargain." The policy had been in incubation for four years, says Premier McBride, but the people are given no time to consider it. No wonder Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper had termed it an "unconsidered policy"; no wonder that Messrs. Tatlow and Fulton, who knew more about the contract than the general public did, rejected this so-called "people's bargain," and resigned from the cabinet. The country had only been allowed to look at the document which had been signed by D. D. Mann. What about the agreement which had been signed by the government of British Columbia? The government should place the people in possession of all the facts and publish what Dan Mann had taken away with him as his copy of the agreement. (Loud applause.)

THOMAS BRYDON AT COLQUITZ

SPLENDID MEETING IN HIS FAVOR THERE

Candidate, T. P. Paterson and J. S. Yates Discuss the Issues.

A well-attended meeting of Saanich electors was held in Colquitz hall last evening to hear the Liberal candidate, Thomas A. Brydon.

The chair was occupied by David Stevens, and on the platform were the candidate, T. W. Paterson, J. Stuart Yates and J. A. Grant.

The chairman pointed out that the constituency wanted a man like the Liberal candidate to represent it, a farmer with considerable interest in their midst and naturally the sort of man who could best represent them. The people of Saanich had, unhappily, too good reason to appreciate the need of representation by some one who really knew their needs. Residents could well remember how they had lost heavily through the destruction of fruit at the hands of a government inspector. Their late representative did nothing to see that compensation was provided for the losers. The people of the district had not been properly represented by the late member and he had no doubt they would take the present opportunity of voting for and electing a farmer, one of themselves.

T. W. Paterson referred to the fact that the premier had dissolved parliament before the expiration of its term in order to appeal to the people on a railway policy. He then went on to point out the weakness of that policy and contrasted it with the policy enunciated by the Liberal leader, one which he considered was well-adapted to meet the needs of the province.

Mr. Brydon made an excellent speech, dealing with the needs of Saanich along the lines of his speech at Saanichton and going into the railway question to some extent. He promised the people his earnest and faithful service in their behalf if chosen as their representative in the House.

J. S. Yates recalled how he had been turned down by the Saanich electors some years ago and attributed it to a dislike for lawyers on the part of the farmers. He hoped to see the same treatment meted out to his brother in the profession by the election of Mr. Brydon. He had known Mr. Brydon for a long time and knew that he was just the sort of man for the people to have as their representative.

Mr. Brydon had done splendid work as a member of Victoria city council and as reeve of Saanich. His ability as a fruitgrower was so outstanding that he had been selected even by a Conservative government as the best man available to act as a lecturer on these subjects.

A meeting will be held at Prospect Lake school to-night.

WEIR VESSELS ARE LEAVING FOR SOUTH

Captain David Baird, of the Frank Waterhouse Company, came here last night from Seattle for the purpose of getting the ship Ellisland away. This vessel has taken a very large cargo of lumber at Sidney and she is now loaded and should leave to-morrow.

Steamer Riverdale, the vessel which was chartered for the Australian Mail line, passed out last night about midnight. She is taking a million and a half feet of lumber from the Fraser mills, one hundred thousand feet from Vancouver, and three thousand cases of salmon, besides general freight.

When she arrives at San Francisco she will load twenty thousand boxes of fruit for Australia. Much of this will be carried on deck as the fruit keeps better on deck when packed green. Awnings are spread over it and in that way it arrives in good condition.

Captain Baird will probably leave for Seattle this evening.

FOURTEEN HOURS AT HARDY BAY

ST. DENIS EXPERIENCES DRITY WEATHER

Colley Survey Party Returns From Ootsa Lake Country.

The big gale of Saturday night caught the steamer St. Denis as she was passing across Queen Charlotte sound, and it was with the greatest difficulty that she was able to cross. Seas washed over the steamer, and she made little headway. Later she put in at Hardy Bay and laid there for fourteen hours unable to proceed until the sou'-easter had spent itself.

The steamer brought south nearly 2,000 cases of salmon and a quantity of box shooks from Rivers Inlet sawmill for the New England Fish Company. She also had on board two totem poles brought out by E. P. Colley, one of which is being forwarded to Dublin and the other to New York to be erected in Central Park.

Mr. Colley and a party of thirteen surveyors were returning from completing their season's work at Ootsa and Francis Lake. They had had very bad weather throughout the season, rain falling almost continuously. Contrary to the custom the rivers were higher in the autumn than they were in the spring, and another unusual thing was that there was a fall of snow about six to eight inches deep about a month ago.

Speaking of the country Mr. Colley said that there were now three families living in the country. At first there were nothing but men in there, but this is the beginning of the advent of women. The ranchers own many cattle, horses and pigs. All their stuff has to be taken in from Bella Coola, but as soon as the Grand Trunk railway goes through they will be only 50 miles distant, and it will be easy to connect with the settlement.

A number of bears have been killed in that country during the season. The survey party secured two fine black ones, the flesh of which they found very good.

The work of the party consisted largely of connecting up the former surveys. The shores of Fraser lake had been surveyed thoroughly, and much useful work completed. Mr. Colley is again at the Balmoral, where he usually stays.

The steamer St. Denis leaves for the north again to-morrow night.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to leave the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life." Mrs. LETITIA BEATH, Canifton, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women.

BIG CONVENTION OPENED HERE

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS HELD INITIAL MEETING

Interesting Addresses Given and Visitors Welcomed at St. Andrew's Church.

Judged by its first gathering in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church last night, the tenth annual convention of the Western British Columbia Sunday School Association bids well to become a pronounced success. There was a good attendance and the tone and ability of the speakers was inspiring in the extreme.

The speech of the evening was made by Marion Lawrence, the secretary of the World's Executive of the International Sunday Schools. His subject was "The World Wide Work," and in it the speaker led his hearers through the most important countries in the world where Sunday school work flourished.

An address of welcome was given by Mayor Hall, in which he said he considered the work of winning souls should be the greatest work in the world. This work he thought could best be done through the agency of the Sunday school. He wished the visitors God-speed in the work they were doing.

Rev. Joseph McCoy, spoke on behalf of the Ministerial Association. He knew there was a band of workers in the Victoria schools, but they would be helped by the visit of their friends from outside points and would become better fitted for their several vocations from having had in their midst such earnest Sunday school workers.

Rev. Mr. Westman, on behalf of the visiting delegates, expressed the pleasure he felt at again meeting old friends. He was glad to acknowledge the hearty welcome the visitors had received on this occasion. He said they had come full of fire to set all on fire, and to be themselves stirred. A great many methods had been tried to save the world, but they had found that the only way was to save the boys and girls.

Mr. Williamson, the new secretary, was introduced by H. J. Knott, of Vancouver, but formerly of this city. In doing this Mr. Knott explained that the growth of the schools had made it necessary to have a secretary for British Columbia. He felt sure Mr. Williamson would fill the position well and moved that this meeting confirm the appointment. Mr. King seconded the resolution, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. Williamson was surprised that he was called upon. He was glad to be there and the best thing he could say was that they should hand in their travelling certificates for signature.

George Carter gave an interesting talk on the "Retrospect and Outlook for the District." Looking back over the work in this section, he said, the product of the work which had gone before was present that night. They had grown up into manhood and womanhood and were now present at the 10th annual convention which like the past had been bright but the future was brighter yet. Right here on these shores West met East. Men of steel backbone were needed. The number attending the Sunday schools was steadily advancing. The Adult Bible students numbered in this country 250,000, all above the age of 16 years. The work, however, must not be left to the other man or woman. The outlook was bright but it might be brighter. In ten years from now the number of delegates should be too large for any hall in the city to accommodate.

Marion Lawrence, secretary of the World's Executive of Sunday Schools, said he was just an ordinary Sunday school worker, a layman of the layest

INDIGESTION, STOMACH GAS, HEARTBURN AND HEADACHE FROM STOMACH VANISHES

A Little Diapepsin Relieves Out-of-order Stomachs in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pepp's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve, sour, out-of-order stomachs or Indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Bilioussness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them; but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other stomach misery. Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.

kind. There was one word in the air and that word was "organize." Nine years before he had come to the city to organize them. At that time there was no organization west of Winnipeg. A secretary was appointed three years ago for the three western provinces and now for the first time this province had a secretary for itself. Conventions were being held all over the country and four of the international workers were in Canada.

"The Sunday school army," said the speaker, "is the largest army in the world. The Sunday school work is its best in the United States and Canada. The Sunday school work is the greatest in the world. Its representatives meet once a year and set to work 22,000,000 people in different parts of the world. This is the International Sunday School committee. It does its work cheaply for none of the men are paid."

The speaker told of the progress of the work in Mexico. There the priest-ridden people are anxious to attend the schools. There they had a secretary working and giving all his time to it. There were 28 delegates at a big convention recently and some of them walked 60 miles to get there. Great advances were being made and British Columbia had a part in this work.

There were also organizations in Central America, South America, and the Islands of the West Indies.

The Sunday School Union of London included the British Isles and the continent of Europe. He was present there on one occasion when George Williams was chairman. At that time the Sunday schools there were only for children, although to-day this had been changed and adults were now attending in great numbers.

Japan was organized three years ago. To-day there are three native secretaries and six teacher-training books have been translated into Japanese. Korea, too, is being organized. Twenty years ago there were only a handful of Christians but to-day there are 250,000 Christians in the country. They are feeling oppressed under the control of Japan and are turning to God. In Manchuria a similar condition exists. In China the work is growing as also in India. India, the speaker said, was a wonderful country. A great work was being done there. Free Sunday schools was the undermining of Paganism.

He gave a number of incidents of the work in India, where children had done missionary work. He told of the big conventions at Jerusalem and Rome. The whole world was atingle with Sunday school work. The material was there and the tools with which to work. The child and was the right one to begin the conversion of the world.

At the conclusion of the address a nominating committee submitted the names of Noah Shakespeare and T. W. Fry, respectively, as president and secretary of the coming meetings. These were accepted.

The music for the evening was in charge of E. O. Exell, who took the choir in hand for a free and easy way with admirable results.

At the close the visiting delegates registered and the blighting committee completed their work.

"EXPECTED TO DIE."

Bilioussness, Dizziness, Vertigo and Pain in the Back. Owes His Life to the Curative Powers of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork were the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known and most influential citizens in Woodstock. In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says:

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic bilioussness, so much overcome by constant headaches—dizziness that I got spoiled of ever getting well. I was always tired and languid, had no energy and spirit, found it difficult to sleep for more than five hours. My appetite was so feeble that I ate next to nothing and in consequence lost weight and strength. I was pale and had dark rings under my eyes that made me look like a shadow.

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and best of all I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness, languor and feeling of depression passed away and I fast regained my old time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well—thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills keeps the system clear, healthy, and thereby prevents all manner of sickness. One pill when retiring will make you feel like new. For health, strength comfort and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Cattaraugus Company, Kingston, Ont.

FINANCIAL SPY IS OUT MAKING NOTES

Leading British Financial Writer Talks of Railway Construction.

A friendly spy is amongst us, says the Montreal Star. He is George Falsb, one of the editors of the London Statist, and he is touring the Dominion to study the banking, financial, commercial, railway and agricultural situation and prospects. As a financial specialist, Mr. Falsb, who came to Montreal from New York, spent a few days in looking over the money market in the American metropolis, and discussed the outlook in an optimistic strain with the Star.

"I consider the present monetary stringency only temporary," said Mr. Falsb. "It is due to an accident; the cotton crop and the holding back of American wheat. As a result of the shortage in cotton and the consequent higher prices we are paying higher prices for our cotton to the Egyptian growers, and as the Egyptians prefer to get their payments in gold, it has drawn heavily on the British gold supply."

"The holding back of the American wheat crop has acted in a similar way but indirectly. The American wheat is drawn upon in advance every year in order to finance the Japs' tourist traffic. This year, the wheat from this continent has been held back for a higher price, I presume, and the result has been that we have had to buy wheat from Russia, for which we have had to pay gold. The German monetary situation being stringent has aggravated the drain, and as a result of all these influences the Bank of England discount rate has been raised to five per cent. I expect, however, that in a short time the stream of gold will set back and the situation will be relieved. For that reason I do not anticipate that the present money shortage will have any serious effect on the stock market."

In connection with his mission to this country, Mr. Falsb cited the floating of $75,000,000 of Colonial and foreign securities in the London market during the last year, of which $30,000,000 was for Canada. He then went on to give expression to some British criticisms of Canadian financing.

"I am not wishful," he began, "to speak in any way antagonistic to Canada. We are all much interested in you and anxious to see you prosper. But we do wonder whether you are not over-building in railways. We can understand that from Fort William to the Rocky mountains you can utilize all the railways you are building; for there you are opening up territory which will be taken up rapidly by settlers. We can understand too, that when you need a larger trackage in the Lakes, it was better to build another road than to add another track to that already existing."

"Would it not be better to spread the period of construction out over a longer period, say twenty instead of five years. A country which is importing large amounts of capital is bound to go ahead, but if that capital all comes in in a short period, is there not likely to be a sudden stoppage of prosperity when the inward stream stops, and you have to meet the outward drain yearly? At the present rate, you are adding about $1,500,000 to your interest obligations each year."

NEW GRAND THEATRE. A show of merit and containing four clever acts besides the usual stock features, is at the New Grand this week and drawing the usual crowded houses. The big act of the bill is the opening one with Inza and Lorella, a pair of expert tumbler who do several marvellous feats and turn double somersaults within the narrow scope of the Grand stage. The feats all round draw loud applause and the pair of acrobats keep the audience continually laughing by the comic work they introduce into the turn.

"Cupid's Conscience," a tabloid sketch of the funny kind, tells of an amusing situation into which a lady finds herself through announcing her engagement to a man whom she supposes does not exist. The man, however, turns up and at the point of a gun demands that the woman marry him. Her reason for the announcement is that she is bothered by fortune-hunters, she having the fortune to be possessed of a fortune. Ah, however, only happily and humorously. The two characters are well acted and the parts carefully drawn to life. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, who appear in the doings of the hour, tell of many things in a humorous way. Mr. O'Brien, however, has his best vehicle in "Thoroughbred," a recitation of his late partner's death. Pathetic and full of strength, the story as recited by him, is most affecting. The performers both win the friendliness of the audience and get an encore. Hoey and Mozar in songs and dances and witty sayings, make a good bit and support the bill in quality throughout.

Thomas J. Price is getting a good reception for his song, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," sung to the accompaniment of illuminated pictures and two motion pictures are about the most amusing shown at the Grand for many weeks.

WHITNEY ANXIOUS TO AID TEMPERANCE CAUSE

Ready to Join Every Reasonable Movement to Diminish Evils of Drink.

"There has come to me what comes to the lives of most men who have passed middle age; the longing to do something, that will be of lasting advantage to the world," was the declaration of Sir James Whitney, who presided at a great gathering which assembled in Massey hall, Toronto, to commemorate the 21st anniversary of the commencement of the Canadian Temperance League's work in Toronto.

"I desire as a citizen of Ontario," continued the premier, "to join in every reasonable effort to diminish and minimize the terrible evils of the drink habit. I will not say that has been my position for many years, but it has been my desire for some time past, and I appreciate the opportunity of taking part in these proceedings. Well, I have been told, 'Sir James added, after a pause, 'that men in public positions should hesitate to give expression to all their convictions for fear of the consequences. You hear that sort of thing on the street corners; you sometimes read it in the newspapers. Well, a course may be wondrously wise in measurable degree. But I have never been accused of hesitating to express my convictions—be they right or be they wrong—on any subject. This may be wise or unwise, but I have been accustomed to it too long to change now."

"So I say to you frankly, I am prepared to join in every reasonable movement which is shown to me to have for its object the minimizing and ultimate doing away with the evils of the drink habit."

"And having said that, let me add with the earnestness of one who has seen and known that if the time comes when the most ardent advocate of doing away with everything associated with the liquor evils will join hands with those of his fellows—perhaps some of them not even total abstainers—who are prepared to do at least something to lessen it, a coalition will be formed which will enable the cause of temperance to make more progress in one year than was ever dreamed possible."

Plants never freeze in a home heated by COLE'S HOT BLAST

You know where plants never freeze it doesn't get cold. Cole's Hot Blast maintains a continuous fire; it will hold fire from Saturday night to Monday morning; it will keep fire over night with a hot full of coal. With this stove you need only open a draft in the morning and the rooms are quickly heated with fuel put in the evening before. No other stove does this. Cole's Hot Blast stove saves half the soft coal or slack or lignite, because it burns the gas as it arises from coal, and as gas is half the fuel in coal, Cole's Hot Blast makes soft coal, slack or lignite go twice as far as any ordinary stove.

The unequalled fuel saving, the heat radiation, the even temperature, the holding of fire, are all the result of the patented features in the construction of this remarkable stove which cannot be used in making any other stove; and to the Patented Hot Blast draft which burns the waste gases in the fire—Saves fuel, as you know, at half gas. The make-up of the stove is interesting. Read: In an ordinary stove the gas (half the heat value) arises from the coal as the coal burns and the gas goes right on up the chimney. In Cole's Hot Blast the hot blast draft on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas. Makes the coal last twice as long.

NEW YORK MARKET

(Times Lensed Wire)
 New York, Nov. 10.—The stock market trading was of very small volume to-day. Generally speaking there was but little change in quotations until just previous to the closing, when some of the leading shares began to show pronounced strength.
 Union Pacific leadership was continued, and it made headway with only a fractional change in price until a few moments before the closing, when a gain of 1/2 points was forced by liberal support. Amalgamated Copper and other metal shares were inclined to display weakness with the publication of the Copper Producers' Association's report of an increase of 2,000,000 pounds in the surplus of copper. Toward the close of the day the Amalgamated reaped considerable benefit from the bullish move and closed a point advanced.

HINDUS WILL NOT RETURN TO B. C.

Three Japanese stowaways were sent back last night on the steamer Tango Maru. They were found on that steamer when she arrived here a short time ago and have been held in jail until the steamer returned. When the new emigration building is opened it will be used for this purpose, thus avoiding the necessity of sending men to jail who have been convicted of no crime.
 The steamer took a number of passengers from this port to the Orient. Some Hindus who went home expressed their intention of remaining there, and did not take the precaution of taking out papers from the emigration department.

FIRST GUNS FIRED AT SPRING RIDGE

Land For Settlers.

Mr. Drury next touched briefly on the policy of the Liberal party in connection with the opening of the land for settlement. He declared that the McBride government was pursuing the most ruinous policy. All the lands along the route of the G. T. P. through this province had been gobbled up by speculators, friends of the McBride government, and the consequence was that when the bona fide settler came along with his wife and family and was prepared with his spade to do the practical work of development he would be held up and compelled to pay fancy prices for the land. This was an outrage. (Applause.) The great territory to the north had already been despoiled by these land grabbers. (Renewed applause.) He favored the personal property tax being turned over to the municipalities, the election of public commissioners by popular vote and other reforms. It was high time that something was done to improve conditions in Victoria. (Hear, hear.) He recalled that Mr. Morley, when mayor, had gone over and interviewed Premier McBride on matters affecting the moral welfare of the city, and the premier had told him that he could do nothing to fix the personnel of the boards of police and license commissioners, as he had to accept the nomination of the executive of the Conservative Association. He would ask those present if any one element had got control of affairs in the city of Victoria and what was that element? "Ladies and gentlemen," declared Mr. Drury, "you have got a miniature Tammany Hall right here in the city of Victoria." (Loud and prolonged applause.) Conditions are anything but a credit to the city or the McBride government. (Renewed applause.)

Mr. Drury replied to a number of questions and resumed his seat amidst applause.

W. K. Houston.

Mr. Houston was the next speaker. He got an excellent reception, and though he spoke to a disadvantage, following Mr. Drury after a long speech, as he did, he nevertheless made what everyone considered a very able address. It may be taken as a certainty that Mr. Houston, before the campaign is over, will make himself heard by all taking an interest in the campaign in this city.

Mr. Houston won the hearts of those present by declaring that he would at all times stand for the right. He had great faith in the people, and he believed that the people should control the legislation of the country. If the people of Victoria did him the honor to elect him as their representative he could promise them that he would at all times be found voting for the right, for right's sake. (Loud applause.)

Mr. Houston hoped that the government which had just appealed to the country would be the last to be allowed to fritter away the rights of the people. Dealing with Mr. McBride's statements about the contract with Mr. Mackenzie & Mann, he said it was again illustrated that a truth that was only half truth was the blackest kind of a lie, and a lie has legs, for he had met people only that day who told him that the government was only going to guarantee the interest on the bonds, for Premier McBride had said so.

Now it was pertinent to inquire whose money the government proposed to spend in this agreement with the Canadian Northern Railway Company. It was the duty of every elector in the province who has any hope of the future to study that question well. He was amazed at Mr. McBride's lack of astuteness in formulating such an amazing policy. He might be riding for a fall. The speaker gave four questions which the Vancouver News-Advertiser had asked in criticism of the railway policy. The first was: Would the line really benefit the country by opening up a large area for settlement? He believed that could be answered in the negative. As a matter of fact the Canadian Northern were not anxious to open up any large section of country. They were only anxious to get to the coast in the quickest possible route. And by the easiest possible route. The next question was: Is the aid which is asked of proportion to the benefit which the country will receive? He believed that that question could also be answered in the negative. The third question was: Is the guarantee on the bonds too great an obligation on the part of the province, and would the assumption of such a burden result in the impairment of the credit of the country and thus limit its borrowing capacity? He had no doubt that the answer to this from an overwhelming majority of the people of the country proud to follow him, and he was sure that he was the best man that had yet appeared in the public life of British Columbia. Mr. Morley told an amusing story, apropos of the "railway policy," said Mr. Morley, "the McBride railway policy is being taken too seriously. The premier found himself in a tight place and could think of no other way out but to fall back upon the old railroad nest egg which he tucked under him and sat tight on for fear it should be discovered it was but a nest egg, and not the genuine article. The party rooster meantime was telling such divers tales in divers places as to what was in that wonderful railroad egg that the premier became alarmed and turned the egg over to R. F. Greene and rushed off to straighten out the lines up country. But here comes the end of the comedy. On the night of the nominations the wife sister and self were enjoying a quiet game of cards when about 3.30 an unusual thing occurred. R. F. Greene's game rooster set up a tremendous yell, starting up every other rooster in the neighborhood. The wife thought there must be something wrong, but I immediately surmised that R. F. Greene was busy at the convention and had left the rooster in charge of the egg, and that the rooster being an uncommonly keen bird, like its owner, had discovered the deception, hence the racket. (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. Morley then took up the question of so handling the resources of the provinces that they might be able to return sufficient revenue to run the government of the country without a cent of cost to the taxpayer, and he promised on future occasions during the campaign to deal with this phase of the situation fully. On concluding, Mr. Morley was loudly applauded.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman and the singing of the National Anthem.
