ARRANGE DETAILS FOR OPENING OF SCHOOL MONDAY

One Continuous Session Will Be Held at Union High; Increase in Teachers

Glendale Union High school opens Monday.

A large number of pupils, ranging in intelligence from "strubs" to "P. G.'s" are expected to storm the portals of the administration building a few hours after day-break and clamor for admission to the classrooms. Their onslaught is being awaited with interest by the faculty, which will be coached tomorrow in a special teachers' meeting in the necessary essentials of defensive warfare.

"We are not going to have two half-day sessions this term, as some people seem to believe," remarked Principal George U. Moyle. "There will be one continuous session right through just as there has been before."

However, school will open earlier and close later than it ever has before. The first class will be called to order at 7:45 a. m. The last class will end at 4:15 p. m. No pupils will be permitted to register for the first period in the morning unless they find it to their advantage to do so. The second period will commence at 8:50 o'clock and it is expected that a large number of students will commence their day's work at that time.

Study at Home

Pupils will do most of their studying at home and will not report until they have a recitation and will be privileged to leave the school grounds as soon as their last recitation is over. Schedules have been arranged that teachers and students who report first will be the first to be through with their work.

Double periods have been eliminated from the schedule. A straight full hour period has been substituted throughout the entire schedule. Recitations which last term consumed forty minutes will be the same length and the extra twenty minutes spent in the classroom will be devoted to supervised study in that subject.

Increase Efficiency

The new arrangement is expected to increase the efficiency of the school despite the large additional enrollment. On account of the general crowded conditions, no new subjects will be introduced and the faculty, which has been greatly increased in size, will be hard pressed to take care of the additional classes required in subjects previously on the curriculum.

The English department has been strengthened by several extra classes in special English. These are intended for pupils who need special tutoring in grammar and rhetoric. They will be smaller than the regular English and, so far as possible, (Continued on Page 16)

JAMES ELSE WED TO COVINA GIRL

Ceremony Takes Place on Porch of Bride's Home, In Flower Bow

The wedding of James Henry Else, son of Mrs. Hallie Else of 445 West Millford street, and Miss Mildred Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Berry of Covina, took place yesterday morning, Thursday, September 7, 1922. The Rev. Betz of Los Angeles officiated at the single ring ceremony, which took place on the porch of the bride's home, amid a setting of greenery and flowers, and in the presence of a group of intimate friends and relatives. Mrs. Biehl of Los Angeles played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" and later Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

Bride in White

The bride's costume was of white, with wedding veil and shower bouquet. After the ceremony and a wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Else left by automobile on a honeymoon trip to Big Bear lake. On their return they will be at home at 445 West Millford street, where Mr. Else recently completed a new residence.

Mr. Else has many friends in Glendale who are extending best wishes to the young couple. He has resided in Glendale for a number of years and was a member of the 1914 graduating class from Glendale Union high school.

WOULD DIVORCE MURDERESS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—Lydia Southern, who was pictured as the female bluebeard and now is confined in the state penitentiary at Boise, Idaho, after being convicted of poisoning one of her husbands, was made defendant in a suit for divorce filed here by Paul W. Southern, the man to whom she was married at the time of her arrest in Honolulu.

W. L. Twining Pays $25 When Meeting Raises Sum of $300

Highlights of the "electrification" meeting at La Crescenta last night:

W. L. Twining offered to subscribe another $25 if the La Crescenta folks subscribed $300. That offer cost him $25. The fund now has $11,356. It lacks $13,642 of the $25,000 necessary to raise by September 18. Daily, $2000 must be raised. Statistics show that from La Crescenta alone 408 people a day use the car lines to Los Angeles. The minimum saving of 10 cents to the passenger by the lower rates offered on the proposed line means $40.80 a day saving to La Crescentans alone, or $14,688 in a single year, based on the present population.

LA CRESCENTA AID IS PLEDGED FOR RAIL SYSTEM

Glendale Delegation Visits Neighboring Community to Present Arguments

The people of La Crescenta are as a unit in support of the electrification of the Glendale avenue railway line.

This was proven at a meeting there last night when voluntary subscriptions totaling $300 were pledged to the fund of $25,000 being raised by the Glendale Advancement Association. In view of the fact that but thirty families were represented in the attendance—and most of those are home builders of limited means—yet an average of $10 per family was given to the fund necessary to raise for the realization of the electrification program. By far the larger part of La Crescenta's moneyed people are yet to be solicited.

Flying Squadron Is Heard

Officers and members of the Glendale Advancement Association, led by President C. W. Ingledue and Chairman P. J. Hayward of the railroad committee, invaded the foothill town and captured the meeting of La Crescenta Improvement Association held in the attractive school building there. The visiting campaigners were welcomed by a big delegation of the live citizenship, men and women, and the subject upon which the Glendaleans came was evidently familiar to most of the assembled La Crescentans.

Mr. Ingledue was introduced to the audience by President F. K. Czernicki of La Crescenta Improvement Association. The chairman of the Glendale avenue electrification campaign introduced his subject clearly with a synopsis of the history of what has been known to date regarding securing the proposed additional passenger service between Montrose, La Crescenta, Glendale and Los Angeles, leaving the explanations of the reasons to the speakers who followed.

Lon J. Hadcock was next on the platform. In a burst of spontaneous oratory he made his hearers feel so good about living in La Crescenta and southern California—that some of the women began to weep in sympathy for the unfortunates who live elsewhere. Mr. Hadcock talked led. (Continued on Page 16)

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 8.—Jesse Sweetzer, metropolitan champion, by playing a record breaking round of 34-35-69, led Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, five holes when they had completed their morning round in the semi-finals of the national amateur golf championship today. Sweetzer took the lead early when he holed a full mashie shot for a two at the second hole and he never relinquished it. He won the last five of the out-holes and was six up at the turn. It appeared as if there would be a golf tragedy but Jones played a masterful round, coming in but could only win back one hole.

SEARCH FOR FIEND WHO ATTACKED 7 PERSONS

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 8.—Poses today are searching for a fiend or maniac who last night assaulted and brutally beat Mrs. Harry O'Hara, a widow, her four daughters, one son and Joe Dobson, a young neighbor, probably fatally injuring three of his seven victims. The assault followed the hold-up, at the point of a gun, of Teresa O'Hara, 20, and young Dobson, 21, as they returned to the O'Hara home, eight miles west of this city, from Olympia. Forcing the girl to tie Dobson, the fiend then marched the two of them into the house and up to the bedrooms, where Mrs. O'Hara and three daughters, Agnes, 22, Frances, 16, Eva, 12, and son, Joe, 14, were in bed. From that time, about 11 o'clock, until nearly 3 o'clock this morning, the fiend teased and tortured his helpless victims and, as a culmination of his brutality, just before leaving the house, struck each over the head with the butt of his revolver.

LOCAL MAN SEES HUGE SPECTACLE IN MOUNTAINS

C. E. Hutchinson Tells of Gigantic Rock Crashing In Rattling Roar

C. E. Hutchinson of 246 North Orange street, who has made many excursions into the high Sierras and has just returned after another extended trip covering nearly two months, has many interesting "tales of the mountains" to relate. Mr. Hutchinson was particularly interested in the evidence of demolition and disintegration found in the high Sierras. He states:

"The destructive effect of avalanches of snow, some of quite recent origin, may be seen in many places. Most of these show that the descending mass overrides the deep snow farther down, and trees thus destroyed are usually broken off at the surface of the snow, which may be five or ten feet deep. Often these avalanches snap off trees six to ten inches through over a considerable area and pile them up in a tangled mass.

"The evidence of a destructive snowslide may be seen in Piute Canyon, back of Bishop. All of the trees, many of them one or two feet in diameter, and some larger ones, lie prostrate over an area, once well wooded, approximately 500 feet wide and 1500 feet long. Not a tree escaped.

Land With Great Crash

"One of the most awe-inspiring spectacles that I ever beheld was enacted this summer. I was resting my horse after a long pull up to the summit of Glenn Pass from the east, and was viewing the stupendous piles of granite to the westward when a rumbling voice from across a deep canyon attracted my attention.

"Looking around I saw a boulder ten or fifteen feet through, leaping fifty to 150 feet at a jump down the precipitous side of a mountain, and about half a mile away. Hardly was the boulder well under way when a terrible sound of grinding rocks came from a place high up near the summit of the mountain, which was undoubtedly where the boulder started.

"Looking up I was just in time to see a gigantic slab-shaped rock leaning slowly outward while (Continued on Page 13)

ORGAN FUND IS AIDED BY EVENT

Lawn Party at Kaemmerling Home Proves Success; Many Attend

Mrs. Mabel Franklin O'Connell, assisted by Miss Dorothy Shaw and Miss Josephine Franklin, all dressed as gypsies, garnered trade for the tent. Mrs. Elizabeth Byrnes acted as cashier at this concession.

Those in charge of the other booths included: Punch bowl, Mrs. L. P. Abel, assisted by Mrs. A. E. Chappell and Miss Isabel Franklin; ice cream booth, Mrs. I. J. McReynolds and Mrs. A. S. Chase; baseball throwing gallery, Robert McReynolds; grab bag booth, Mrs. E. D. Yard, assisted by Mrs. Minnie Patterson, Mrs. O. E. Von Oven, Mrs. R. G. Fayne and Miss Bingham; candy booth, Mrs. A. Hayward was awarded the first prize for having made the largest number of words out of "Congregational church organ fund," having nine-four. During the evening the young people's orchestra, with Miss Winifred Parker as director, furnished music.

Wonder if the city manager and school principal will be the battery, questioned one Rotarian.

The battle is expected to be fast and furious and a thrill has been promised to every spectator. The evening will be devoted to dancing in the new pavilion. A local orchestra has been engaged and the floor is being given careful attention. A number of "trick" hats have been received and the occasion is expected to be one of much mirth and hilarity. The spirit of the Mardi Gras will be the chief guest.

ADVANCE REASONS WHY CITY NEEDS NEW CAR LINE

Association Conducts Forum to Hear Arguments for Service on Avenue

An open forum meeting on the subject of the establishment of street car service on Glendale avenue was held in the Broadway Inn, 637 East Broadway, yesterday noon under the auspices of the Glendale Advancement Association.

Ex-Senator Leslie E. Francis, of Des Moines, Iowa, who expects to locate in Glendale in the near future, and H. E. Barum of Eagle Rock, who are interested in the promotion of the Sparr holdings north of Glendale, were guests at the luncheon.

"It is really a pleasure to me to come out in this great west and meet the royal people I am meeting here," declared ex-Senator Francis. "I feel that, while I have left friends in the east, I am making new ones here. You have been accomplishing wonderful things here and it is a pleasure to me to join with you in a small way. I think there is no more beautiful valley in the world than the valley of which this city is a part."

Should Not Hesitate

Surprise was expressed by Ex-Senator Francis that there should be any hesitancy in the raising of the $25,000 bonus necessary to insure electric service. He stated his opinion emphatically that every business man in Glendale and everyone who is interested in the welfare of the community should be behind the project.

P. J. Hayselden, chairman of the transportation committee, called attention with optimism to the intensive campaign which is to be raised next week to raise the balance of the bonus.

"We are going to make this a short, snappy and decisive campaign," he declared. "The amount of money that we have pledged at the present time amounts to $11,000. We have much to do and so far very few workers. It is necessary that the workers report to us at the office of Mrs. Mabel L. Ticht, which is our headquarters. There are too few of us to telephone you."

SPEAKER POINTS JAP WAR MENACE

Returned Missionary Tells Local Organizations of Nippon Policies

Japan and its militaristic policy was the subject of an address made by a returned missionary at a combined meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs at the Chamber of Commerce banquet hall over the Glen Inn.

Dr. Harry C. Whiting, a medical missionary from Korea, who has returned to this country to tell the story of the Korean oppression by Japanese, was the speaker and from personal observation he has made over a period of twenty years it was his opinion that every Christian nation should unite in killing the militaristic policy of Nippon which was incited by German educators.

Far from being a "jingo" performer, Dr. Whiting is earnest in his message with a view of awakening the world to peril of confronting Asia. Quoting the late Lord Northcliffe's interview with a Scotchman who has resided in Japan for years, he revealed the intention of the Oriental empire.

First, they want to take China; second, control Asia and third, dominate the world, according to the speaker. "Watch Japan" was the word of warning sent to Britain by Lord Northcliffe, he said.

Dr. Whiting briefly sketched the history of Japan's military strength from that day in 1853—not seventy years ago—when Commodore Perry first opened the port of Tokio to world trade. Since then the Japanese have taken the best out of every country.

For instance, there are Baldwin locomotives, standard steel railway cars, Bridgeman rails and American bridges; there is the English law and the English governmental system; and then there is the German militarism, the German cement system and the German colonial system.

"The Japanese can put 4,500,000 soldiers into a war any time they want to," said the doctor. He then told of Japan's small interest in the world war, financially—much less than China or any other country. He added that they obtained Shantung, 1040 square miles of territory in the Pacific "and when the United States asked for the island of Yap, we get only the right to land a cable there."

EAGLE ROCK WELL IS TESTED BY PUMPING

Water Flows Into Street As Investigation Continues to Uncover Facts

The Eagle avenue well of the Eagle Rock water department, which was recently condemned as being contaminated, is now pumping water into the street.

"It is our opinion that the pollution discovered when the well first started pumping after the repairing of the pump was merely surface pollution," says F. C. Eckert, superintendent of the department.

"This might be expected during the first few days of pumping after a pump has been taken out or installed."

The pumping is to continue for a day or so longer. Then a test will be made to ascertain whether or not the contamination was merely from the surface, as is now believed. If that is the case, no pollution should show in the next test.

Inasmuch as the water department will not run water from Eagle avenue well into the city mains until it has been proved that no pollution exists there, the water now being pumped is being run into the street, flowing down Sycamore avenue to Valley drive and south on the drive to the city limits.

"Within a few days," says Mr. Eckert, "we will have reports from state chemists who are testing the water. At that time we hope that the situation will be cleared up. If the tests show that the water from the Eagle avenue well is not contaminated, the plant there will be connected immediately with the city mains and operations will be resumed as before."

Postal Receipts In August Increased 10 Pct. Over 1921

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Postal receipts as a barometer of business, indicated today that business during August was 10 per cent better than in August, 1921, despite the industrial depression caused by the rail and coal strikes.

Fort Worth, Tex., showed the highest percentage increase among fifty selected cities, with a gain of 59.74 per cent. Fort Worth also led the country for July with $2.06 per cent gain. Akron, Ohio, was second with 38.45 per cent; Los Angeles was third with 21 and then followed Rochester, Boston and Salt Lake City.

For gross receipts New York led, followed by Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Kansas City, Cleveland, San Francisco, Brooklyn, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Cincinnati, Baltimore, Buffalo, Milwaukee and Atlanta.

HUMAN TORCH IS DEAD OF BURNS

Burbank Man Sprays Clothing With Gasoline, Sets Self Afire, One Theory

County and local officers joined today in an investigation to determine whether Payne C. Shumway of 557 Tuolumne avenue, Burbank, deliberately sprayed his clothing with gasoline and then applied a match, or whether his death was caused by an accidental explosion.

From evidence submitted to Coroner Nance it was almost conclusively decided that Mr. Shumway committed suicide.

Neighbors near the Shumway home were attracted yesterday afternoon by screams of pain and upon investigation they found Shumway with his clothes ablaze. They extinguished the flames with blankets and rugs and rushed Mr. Shumway to a Burbank hospital. He was still alive when he entered the hospital but died two hours later.

According to reports Mr. Shumway had isolated himself most of yesterday and about noon he was seen to enter his garage in the rear of his home and shut the door.

Further evidence supporting the suicide theory was a pile of personal effects found in one corner of the garage, indicating that he had carefully planned to take his own life and that he had methodically sprayed his clothing with gasoline and then touched a match to it.

On the other hand Dr. A. E. W. Yale of Burbank, who attended Mr. Shumway, stated that a little neighbor girl said she had seen Shumway dash from the garage with his clothing ablaze. It was apparently an effort to save his life, in the opinion of Dr. Yale, and might indicate that the fire and its consequent tragedy was accidental.

LUMBER DEALER ON AUTO TRIP SEES BIG STICKS

Stock Is All Sold Upon His Return, but He Knows There's Some Growing

There was hardly anything left to do business with when the boss got back.

"I came home just in time to order lumber to restock the plant," says Emil F. Swanson, proprietor of the Eagle Rock Lumber company, 401 South Central avenue, in that city. Swanson just returned from a two weeks' trip through the central and northern part of the state.

"While I was away the boys sold out nearly the whole stock. We are now busy getting the place fixed up as usual," he says.

"They must have done a whale of a business while I was gone!" On August 21, Mr. and Mrs. Swanson and the former's sister, Miss Lottie Swanson of Pasadena, left Eagle Rock for a vacation trip, driving north by way of Mojave, up the Owens river valley, past Bishop to Silver Lake, where they camped for two days.

Brings Back a Fish—Story
At Gem Lake, about 100 miles north of Bishop, Mr. Swanson declares, he caught one eastern lake trout so large it was sufficient for all three people for two meals! It was an elderly fish, Mr. Swanson admits, and had probably been browsing about the lake for several years, fattening up.

From Silver and Gem lakes the party drove up to the Tioga Pass road, the highest through road in the United States. The travelers spent a week camping in the Tuolumne Meadows along the Tuolumne river. Fishing was found excellent in that region, and they had all the trout they could eat.

Found Frigid Weather
While Eagle Rock people were annoyed by the recent heat wave, says Mr. Swanson, his group was experiencing some really cold weather—so cold was it that the party heated stones at night to use for bed warmers.

After a week of hiking and fishing in the Meadows the group continued on over Tioga Pass road, going through the forest of the Tuolumne Big Trees. They enjoyed the Yosemite Valley by the Big Flat road.

For three days they camped in the Yosemite. Mr. Swanson says that fishing there was not good, because of the number of tourists and vacationers camped there, but the party hiked about and saw the various famed scenic points in the valley.

Returning to Eagle Rock they left the Yosemite by the Wawona road, stopping in the Mariposa grove of giant redwoods. They returned by way of the Ridge route.

Traveled in Lizzie Ship
Not wishing to drive his sedan, Mr. Swanson used his Ford speedster, specially outfitted and equipped for just such a trip. The little car traveled over all the roads with ease, and the party did not encounter any grade too difficult. The only trouble they experienced on the entire trip was a series of blowouts in Mint Canyon, shortly after leaving Eagle Rock on the way north. This trouble was due to a defective tube, and after it had been replaced they covered the remainder of the trip without trouble.

Mr. Swanson is back at work at his desk in the office of the Eagle Rock Lumber company, getting the place stocked up for the fall demand for building material, and getting out the orders, already booked.

New Zoning Law Is Now In Preparation

City Attorney Rollin L. McNeill of Eagle Rock is today drawing up and preparing the amendment to the present zoning ordinance as provided for at the last session of the board of trustees held Monday evening.

This amendment has bearing on that portion of East Colorado boulevard from the intersection of Eagle Rock road north to Hill avenue, and changes this district from a business district to a residential section, permitting the erection of flats, apartments and bungalow courts.

INSIDE STORY OF RAILROAD PEACE IS REVEALED

President Jewell In Close Touch With D. M. Willard; Uses Special Train

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The inside story of the secret negotiations by which the railroad shophmen's strike is likely to be definitely settled so far as two of the largest systems is concerned was revealed today in a copyrighted story published in the Chicago Evening American.

The newspaper's informant—a person closely in touch both with the railroad executives and railroad employes—disclosed how intimate have been the relations between leaders of the strike, despite protestations of hostility, and some of the railroad executives.

B. M. Jewell, president of the striking shophmen, according to the story, traveled east to the Baltimore secret conference in the private car of President Daniel M. Willard, of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, attached to what amounted to a special train.

Close Communication
Jewell, according to the newspaper's informant, returned to Chicago after the Willard conference in New York had failed and issued his "fight to a finish" statement. It was said he remained in close communication with Willard and with President Harry E. Bryan of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad.

"The stories of the agreement sought which have been published are substantially correct," the informant states.

"The shophmen are allowed some concessions which have not yet been mentioned in exchange for concessions which do not mean anything regarding seniority but give the railroad an 'out' with the public and the men they have hired since the strike started.

Toward the end of last week the negotiations reached a point which seemed to call for direct contact between Jewell and the presidents he was negotiating with—Willard and Bryan.

"While his office was insisting that Bryan was in Chicago he was quietly on his way east. Then it was necessary to get Jewell east without the fact becoming known.

Boards Private Car
"Jewell got a telephone call direct from Willard's offices in Baltimore. That night he boarded Willard's private car which had been sent to Chicago, well stocked with provisions for his comfort. The car was attached to a fast express train not carrying passengers and Jewell went east. Every precaution was taken to keep the identity of the occupant of the Willard car secret.

"At Baltimore Jewell went into a personal conference with Willard and Bryan and reached an understanding for calling off the strike on the Baltimore and Ohio and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Only five or six other roads will be let in on it next week.

"Then Jewell called several union leaders to Baltimore to confirm the deal. Now Willard is in Chicago carrying out his part. The settlement is to be carried out slowly, affecting all roads."

Kiddies Dam Water; Are Cussed In Turn

The street is flooded! Some kids have dammed up the water flowing down the gutter on Sycamore avenue.

That was the emergency call received yesterday at Eagle Rock city hall yesterday afternoon. Reporters rushed to the flooded section.

It was found that a small dirt dam had been built in the gutter, a small puddle not quite as high as the curb had been backed up. The surplus water flowing over the dam. The kiddies had evidently been scared away, since none was in sight.

The little dam was near the corner of Sycamore avenue and Valley drive. Farther down the drive where the water was running in a small stream down the gutter, a number of small children were having the time of their young lives "going wading."

The miniature reproduction of the "old swimmer's hole," however, was deserted for the rest of the afternoon, the kids evidently fearing that the "cops" would arrest them for building the dam.

Dog Bit Leg Without Giving Any Warning

LeRoy Hughes, residing at 1357 Avenue 57, a collector for the Eagle Rock water department, was bitten by a dog late yesterday on Avenue 63, when he was collecting a water bill.

Mr. Hughes says that he is satisfied the dog was not suffering from rabies. Other than painting the wound with iodine, he is not giving the bite much serious attention.

"It's a little fox terrier, which has a mean disposition, anyway," relates Hughes. "While I was giving the lady of the house a receipt the dog came up and without so much as saying a word sank its teeth in the calf of my leg."

OLD SCORES
"Now I've had my revenge," said the shoe-shop proprietor to his friend, as a customer left.
"Revenge? How so?"
"Well," the young lady who just went out is a telephone operator. I gave her the wrong number."

Eagle Rock's Elite Gingham Gown Girls Pull Picture Party

The Gingham Gown Girls—the Eagle Rock organization of young ladies who have gone on record as being opposed to the latest of Parisian fashions that attempt to force long skirts and long hair back on the girls again—attended a showing of "The Rear Car" at the Majestic theatre in Los Angeles last evening.

Among the girls who attended the theatre party were: the Misses Pauline Miller, Donas and Evelyn Sample, Edith Baker, Loeta Bannister, Katherine and Phyllis Nelson. They were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Maude Evans.

After the show the entire party visited one of the Los Angeles sweet shops and enjoyed light refreshments.

"It was the best show we ever saw. Terribly exciting. Lights went out, we all stood up and screamed," relates Miss Pauline Miller in telling about the show.

Miss Miller says, "Just because some Paris dressmaker comes over to this country and tries to tell the girls in New York and Chicago that short skirts are to be tabooed is no sign that Eagle Rock girls are going to wear skirts that will drag in the streets."

Eagle Rockans are prone to admit that the style of long skirt has not been taken seriously in Eagle Rock—certainly not among the members of the Gingham Gown Girls.

Judge Looks Good But He Has Troubles

While Judge Harold Ide Cruzan appeared in the pink of health this morning as he sat up on the bench and "tried" the traffic offenders who came before him a few knew that only yesterday his honor had undergone quite a serious operation performed on internal parts of his nose and early this morning he had an ulcerated tooth removed.

"I may look good," quoth the judge, "but I don't feel that way."

Some expected to see the judge extremely heartless to the traffic offenders that came before him, but on the contrary his honor was especially lenient with the speeders that came before him.

Digs Cement Lined Grave for Himself

SALEM, W. Va.—Harlow W. Willis, veteran water pumper for the city of Salem, has just dug his own grave. He also has dug a grave for his wife. A traveling man, who tried to sell him some supplies, told the veteran pumper that he would not be around for quite a while, as he was going on a vacation. Then the man, who has worked twenty-two years for the city, with only eleven days off duty, waved his hand toward the hill at the highest point in the Odd Fellows' cemetery and exclaimed: "I'll take my vacation when I die, up there on the point!" Willis dug both graves, lined them with cement and filled them up with earth. When required it will take only a short time to remove the filling.

MAN KILLED BY ACCIDENT, VERDICT

Coroner's Jury Hears Story of How W. C. Holywell Is Hit by Auto

A verdict of "accidental death" was rendered yesterday afternoon by the coroner's jury at the inquest held at the Pulliam, Kiefer & Eyerick undertaking parlors over the body of W. C. Holywell, who was fatally injured Wednesday afternoon, when his bicycle was struck by a sedan automobile driven by Miss Eleanor Jones of 206 North Louise street.

According to pictures and testimony produced at the inquest Mr. Holywell was slightly hard of hearing, but had good eyesight. At the time of the accident he had just come out of the driveway of his home 543 Glenwood road, on the north side of the street, and was intending to go east. Miss Jones accompanied by her sister was driving west on Glenwood road.

Pictures in Evidence
A picture was produced showing that Mr. Holywell came out of the driveway and crossed the street to within ten feet of the curb, which would have been to his right going east. Another picture after the accident, showed evidence that Miss Jones' automobile had left the right side of the road she was traveling west and had zigzagged across to her left.

In her testimony at the inquest Miss Jones was unable to give a clear account of what had happened, but at the time of the accident she had evidently become confused and her car ran across the street and struck Mr. Holywell's bicycle, partly throwing and dragging him against the curb, with such force that the bicycle was completely wrecked and Mr. Holywell's side was severely crushed and his death followed.

Funeral on Saturday
A picture of the wrecked bicycle was shown at the inquest and from its position against the curb and near the body of Mr. Holywell it is thought that Miss Jones' car after striking bicycle and rider and dragging Mr. Holywell to the curb passed over his body.

According to Mr. Holywell's daughter, Mrs. Florence Reinhard, after the accident, when her father was taken to his home before being removed to the hospital, he recovered consciousness enough to ask, "Why didn't they keep on the right side of the road?"
Funeral services for Mr. Holywell will be held Saturday morning, September 9, 1922, at the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Cemetery where burial will take place. Dr. Ryland of the Mt. Hollywood Congregational church will be the officiant.

Frank Salmacia of the Glendale Music company, 109 North Brand boulevard, got back on the job this week after a vacation in the northern part of the state. While traveling he made the acquaintance of numerous tourists and was greatly impressed by their knowledge of Glendale and its rapid growth. One globe trotter told him that even people in Spain knew of Los Angeles and vicinity, although they were not sure it was in the United States.

MARINES LANDED AT SMYRNA PORT

Said to Have Seized and Fortified Theatre to Protect Americans

PARIS, Sept. 8.—United States marines have been landed at Smyrna from an American man of war, according to unconfirmed reports received here today.

The Americans were said to have seized and fortified a theatre.

The American commander explained that the landing had been made to protect American lives and interests in view of the possibility of fighting between the Turks and Greeks in and around the city.

SAILORS MUTINY, CAUSE OUTBREAK

Crew of Russ Warships Quit In Black Sea; Trouble In Provinces

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Another rebellion has broken out in southern Russia, said a Central News dispatch from Helsingfors this afternoon. Sailors on Russian warships are reported to have mutinied in the Black sea.

A revolution was reported from Crimea and other South Russian provinces a fortnight ago. Subsequently, it was announced that the movement was unimportant, and had been put down.

Nation Tackles $2,000,000,000 Building Deficit; Glendale Is Doing More Than Its Share to Increase New Structures

This chart shows how nearly the nation approached complete building stagnation. It is predicted that there will be five years of abnormally high building activity. Glendale figures show this city is doing a great deal more than its part.

Two billions of dollars is the valuation placed by economists upon the stores and residences that should have been constructed to provide for the country's normal development between 1914 and 1922. Consequently that colossal figure measures the shortage we have inherited from the days when soaring construction costs made building unprofitable, and when men and materials were being diverted to war purposes.

The chart shown above, based on the building permits issued the last twenty years in a score of the largest cities, indicates how nearly the country approached complete building stagnation. In 1918 the curve approached closest its base line. With construction at almost 90 per cent below normal, the country was supplying a little more than a tenth of the buildings it needed.

What Glendale would do to this building deficit, if it had a chance, is the object of local speculation.

Building permits in Glendale are expected to equal $6,000,000 this year. The population is estimated at 30,000, so that the figures show $200 worth of building for every person in the community. The population of United States in round figures is 100,000,000. At the same ratio, this country should do $20,000,000,000 worth of building this year. Deducting the deficit of $2,000,000,000 would leave a balance of $18,000,000 to the good.

Economists are finding that most business and industrial activities move in styles. From an examination of records it appears that normal and sub-normal periods are followed at regular intervals by "boom" or "peak" years. The chart shows how true this "law of cycles" is of the building trades. Beginning in 1903 we note the "peaks" in 1906, 1909, 1913, 1916, 1919 and 1922. They recur regularly at three or four year intervals. The phenomenal building activity now sweeping the country could have been predicted three years ago.

In future years it is not to be expected that the line will fall to any great extent. However it fluctuates, it must remain in the area of abnormally high activity. From 1903 to 1914 it rose and fell without wandering far from the normal line. Surpluses balanced deficits and no appreciable shortage could accumulate. But after 1914 the line was continuously below normal, and the need for new building became increasingly acute. Since the country must make up this tremendous deficiency while it is supplying its current needs, we must look for at least five years of abnormally high building activity.

The deficit is mainly in stores and residences. In relieving the shortage that exists in this type of construction alone, workmen who are really skilled in the building trades will find continuous and profitable employment for years to come.

GREAT MAN HUNT IN MINE MURDERS

Search for Thirty-Three of Those Under Indictment Now Under Way

By HARRY C. READ For International News Service. MARION, Ill., Sept. 8.—Fate turned the tables today when the forces of law and order made their way through the dusty back roads and lanes of little Egypt in the greatest man hunt the coal region has ever known. The law was out in its might to take its toll for the Herrin massacre of June 29 when nineteen men were brutally slaughtered by the roadside.

Percy Hall, a coal miner of Herrin, was taken into custody by deputy sheriffs early today. He was rushed to Marion and placed in the county jail on a charge of murdering Howard Hoffman, of Huntington, Indiana.

No Demonstration

Thirty-three of the thirty-seven men named in indictments for murder returned yesterday were the targets of the man hunters. The four arrested last night were lodged in the jail without a demonstration of any kind. They are Philip Fontanetta, a coal miner, who was lounging in the court house square when the indictment naming him was returned; James Brown, constable at the village of Culp; Charles Rogers and Leva Mein, both of Herrin.

There was no escape for the accused men, for the surveillance established by the United States department of justice had thrown an invisible but unbreakable net around the district. The deputies went about their work with a calm business-like attitude that spelled despair for those sought.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Mystery cloaks the death of an unidentified woman who was found early today huddled in a vacant lot adjoining a hotel at 565 Sixth street. Thomas Woodward, badly intoxicated, is being held for investigation by the police. He lives at the hotel and the police think it possible that the woman, might have fallen or been thrown from his room.

Your character can not be injured except by your own acts.

W. S. GAMBLE BACK FROM CONVENTION

Glendale Delegate to Mail Carriers' Meeting Had Interesting Trip

W. S. Gamble of 125 West Los Feliz road returned late last night from Eureka, where he has been attending the state convention of the Association of Letter Carriers as delegate from the Glendale association. At the election of officers for the next two years Mr. Gamble was chosen as delegate at large.

At the convention it was decided that the convalescence of letter carriers will be held in the same city and at the same time as the convention of postal clerks and with this in mind it was decided to hold the 1924 meeting in Berkeley.

Pension Law Change

It was announced by officers of the state association that probably the most important resolution passed at the convention was the one urging a change in the present mail carriers' pension law. The present law provides that a mail carrier may be retired at the age of 65 years but not before that time, regardless of the number of years he may have been in the service. The resolution passed at the convention requests that the pension be amended so that a carrier may be retired on 60 per cent of his salary after thirty years' service regardless of his age at that time.

Mr. Gamble states that he had a wonderful trip and found that the fishing and hunting in the country near Eureka were unusually good.

Greeks' Request for Peace Is at Angora; Making Final Stand Now

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Although the Greeks' formal request for an armistice was before the Turkish nationalist government at Angora today, the Turks continued their drive on Smyrna advancing on the city from three directions. It is reported from Athens that the Greeks are concentrating and will make a final stand in front of Smyrna.

Greeks Retreating

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.—Turkish cavalry is operating about twenty miles from Smyrna, according to dispatches from the battle front today. The Greeks are retreating in the Broussa and Salicli sectors. A cavalry engagement was fought at Salicli. There has been violent artillery on their way to Anatolia from Thrace.

The Greek army is now making its last stand in front of Smyrna for the defense of the city. There are thirty ships in the Smyrna harbor to carry away the refugees. A number of allied warships are at anchor in the harbor.

Commissioner Has Fled

PARIS, Sept. 8.—The Greek high commissioner at Smyrna, M. Storchados, has fled, said a dispatch to the foreign office today. The refugees at Smyrna are being transferred to Lemnos by warship.

France, acting upon the request of Belgium, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia, today consented to protect citizens of these countries in Asia-Minor.

BUILDING PERMITS IN SAN FERNANDO SHOW INCREASE

Pass Mark for Same Period Last Year; Festival at Tujunga Big Success

San Fernando has a boom all of its own, and the city records show that permits for $264,192 in building were taken out during the first seven months of this year, as against $182,299 for the same period last year.

In the meantime, also, there has been remarkable activity in unimproved realty. During the ten weeks ending September 1, a total of $375,000 in vacant lots have been sold and bought.

Seek Additional Clerks

With these facts staring them in the face, 'tis but natural that the valley town is going after better service from publicly and privately owned public utilities. The postoffice felt the shock of the first blows but the postmaster, who got the kicks directly was not only wise but efficient in seeing that they reached the "higher ups" whose red tape was responsible for the unsatisfactory conditions. Now there is hope of the early appointment of additional clerks to give the increased service that the growth of the community makes necessary.

Moon Festival Success

Up at Tujunga the populace is just recovering from the second annual Moon Festival, which opened Friday and kept the countryside on edge until it closed four days later. Local community celebrations of this character serve to give the community an identifying personality, is the belief of the Tujungans who conducted the affair. Incidentally, the Festival itself is reported as quite a success.

Raise in Water Rates

The recent raise in water rates at Tujunga and vicinity, affecting the Haines Canyon Water Company, is meeting with much unfavorable comment from the farmers and orchardists. Meetings between the interested factions have not resulted in a solution satisfactory to all concerned, but with the Chamber of Commerce, realty board and business association working on it, there seems an opportunity for adjustment. New schedules that will yield the company the same profit without placing the burden largely upon those who use water for irrigating have been suggested in number, and one of these will probably be accepted.

Sets New Record in Night Flying

Lieutenant Clayton Bissell

Lieutenant Clayton Bissell of the U. S. Army Air Service, has just completed the first airplane night flight across country. He started from Bolling Field, near Washington, at 9:30 p. m. and, being compelled by storms to fly in a roundabout route, arrived over New York at midnight. He used directional wireless to find his way, but on the return laid a straight compass course for the capital, reaching there at 2 o'clock in the morning.

HOLD RECEPTION AT ARTISTIC SHOP

Many Attractive Things on Display / Prove of Big Interest to Women

Betty Ellen, Glendale's new patroness of milady's wardrobe, made her bow to Glendale women yesterday afternoon at an artistic reception at the Betty Ellen shop, just opened at 215 South Brand boulevard by Mrs. E. Joralemon, Miss B. Soderstrom and Mrs. Edith Furbeck.

The shop and art studio have been delightfully fitted out and the many attractive things displayed yesterday on shelves, racks and models gave Glendale women hints of what they can always find at the Betty Ellen shop.

Receive Praise

The dresses, hats and lingerie shown were all distinctive as to lines and materials and the guests received at the shop were unanimous in their praise.

Mrs. Furbeck, as a china painter, needs no introduction to Glendale people. Her artistic work is well known and her collection of beautifully painted china offers a wide variety for the gift seeker.

Tall baskets of wonderful dahlias decorated the little shop and during the reception hours music was furnished and punch served.

DO YOU FEEL THIS WAY?

The Authorman has just been excited by an extravagance. After hovering long over the thoughts of the purchase, he has bought for himself a luxury which appeals to his imagination, a little model ship to adorn the mantel of his den, at a price which would probably seem small to the fanciers of these little ships but inconceivably large to one who hasn't dabbled in them. Yesterday, when he brought his purchase home the Authorman was high, very high. No woman with an extravagant and becoming new hat, with a Paris label sewed right into the lining, could have been any more excited than he as he bore it home in triumph and placed it first in this position, then in that and stood off to view the effect—like the woman trying on her hat.

But today the Authorman is down in the dumps.

"I Must Have Been Crazy"

"Why," he says, "did I spend all that money for that thing? What's the good of it, anyhow? What do I want it for? Think of the hours of work it represents. I must have been crazy."

And then wistfully (even as the woman with the new hat says: "Do you think it's really becoming?") "Do you think it really adds anything to the room?"

Do you recognize yourself in the Authorman's reaction?

I recognized myself at once.

It seems to me that whenever we purchase any luxury that lays hold of our imaginations and taxes our pocketbooks, an expensive hat or gown, a car that costs more than we ought to pay, a piece of handsome furniture, a fine bit of smart equipment, we pass through these same phases.

And the Next Day—

First, we flirt with the tempta-

BEAUTY CHATS

Remember hearing a woman tell her friends that whenever her husband came home of an evening so tired that he was easily irritated, she met the situation with a soothing footbath. She added that it had never failed to bring an apology later for his hasty words. There are few of us who have not had this man's experience, and it would be well if we learned to apply the same remedy.

Shoes, at their best, are far from the ideal covering for the foot. Realizing the anatomy of the foot and its relation to the rest of the body, it is surprising that more troubles are not traced to abuse of the feet. In the foot are the most active excreting pores. The foot also has nerves that respond more sensitively to the nervous system than those from other parts of the body. Yet we cover it most of the time with materials that do not ventilate easily, and give it very little care until we feel wretched because of our habits.

Since there is no present means of improving our habits, the best thing to do is to relieve the feet as much as is possible. One of the best ways to do this is with the hot bath. This will open all the pores and equalize the circulation, which so often is impeded by the pressure of the shoes. Since the feet are so delicately allied to

How Can I Make a Million?

An ambitious young man once put that question to the Master Money Maker, John D. Rockefeller, thinking he would get a complicated formula. But the Wizard of Finance did not befuddle him with a list of stocks to buy, or how to beat the oil game, or smash the cotton market. He merely replied:

"First, save a thousand dollars. The difference between 1,000 and 1,000,000 is only three ciphers."

It is not on record that the young man took his advice, so we do not know how far he got with his million.

But Rockefeller's advice was just what any wise man would have given. Saving the first thousand proverbially is the hardest and most necessary thing for a man to do to become a millionaire.

With his first thousand, fruit of much planning and self-denial, a young man has a better start toward accumulating a million than if some one had given him the thousand. He possesses abilities, character and stamina he could get no other way.

Start saving! It is not only the part of wisdom, but it is good sport. We pay 4 per cent on savings and compound them quarterly.

Brooklyn Woman Is First National Exhibition Head

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Miss Marjorie Martin, of Brooklyn, is the first woman ever to conduct a national exhibition. Miss Martin is the executive director of the First National Standardized Health Exhibition, which will be held the week of October 7 in the Twenty-third Regiment Armory, Bedford and Atlantic avenues, Brooklyn, with the co-operation of the National Health Council, the Health Department of the City of New York and the Medical Society of Kings county.

Practical demonstrations of what to do until your physician and nurse arrive in your household during illness, how to save lives in emergencies, and how to prevent disease and to prolong life will be some of the chief objects of the exhibition, the first in the history of the country.

Five important bodies are co-operating in the management of the exhibition, namely, the National Health Council, the Health Committee of the Medical Society of Kings county, the Public Health Committee of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, the Department of Health of the City of New York, and the Safety Institute of America.

The exhibition will mark the beginning of an attack on the century-old belief that the medical profession wishes to keep from the public the knowledge of how to prevent and cure ills that the practitioners may profit by their ignorance. The exhibition will try to shatter many fallacious but often fatal traditions about "hereditary" disease.

Not only will this be the first National Health Exhibition, but it will be the first time in the history of the country that a woman has assumed the role of executive director of a national movement not distinctly feminine. Miss Martin has had wide experience in matters relating to community and individual welfare. She has been prominently identified with the Missionary Education Movement, the 1917 and 1918 drives of the American Red Cross and the 1919 and 1920 campaigns of the Salvation Army, the Board of Missions of the Presbyterian Church, the Interchurch World Movement, and served as assistant to the director of the 1921 Brooklyn Industrial Exhibition, and managing director of a public health exhibition which was held a year ago in conjunction with the 116th annual meeting of the Medical Society of the State of New York.

They Say That

"Blessings on thee, little man, barefoot boy with cheek of tan," dwells emphatically upon the plastic nature of the child in its formative years, and the power of environment as affecting character. A child literally absorbs environment. Hence, in its early years, it is possible to guide the child and direct it aright and make such enduring impress that its whole character will be shaped and moulded according to those early patterns.

Here in California the outdoor life for children is practicable at all seasons. So mild is the climate, it is possible so to construct and ventilate school buildings that the child, even in school, is constantly in currents of fresh air.

A WEDDING BREAKFAST

I have prepared a menu that may be used for either a formal breakfast, luncheon or supper with equal correctness. If desired to use it for a luncheon and wish to have a little more elaborate service, a first course, could easily and appropriately be added. It could be, for instance, a cream soup with a spoonful of whipped cream on top of jellied consommé, with waters.

A breakfast (a formal meal served at one o'clock is, correctly speaking, a "breakfast") should be, if anything, more simple, that is, fewer courses—than either the luncheon or supper.

I, I, I, MYSELF; I THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME

CHAPTER XXV
Pussyfooting Prohibited

How time flies. Two months old! Isn't it fine that I can sleep all night now without getting hungry enough to awaken? Fine for my Muddie, too. She has an undisturbed rest.

Some babies don't develop such a force of character as I have so soon; but maybe it is because they are not so husky and healthy as I am and they need the night nursing longer.

You see, I have everything in my favor to make me an extra fine boy; healthy parents, milk made especially for me and me only—not for little calves, regular feeding times, not too much handling nor too little, not too much excitement, regular bathing, regular exercise, fresh air and plenty of sunshine—not in my eyes of course, and good sound sleep.

I must tell you a little more about my sleeping. I am never rocked to sleep, nor pushed around in my baby carriage; that is as bad as rocking. After nursing, I am put in my own bed, the room is darkened and I am left—and I just naturally go to sleep.

I used to cry some when I was first put down, but I soon found that I did not get taken up again, so I decided not to spend so much energy for nothing. Mama makes sure that everything is all right with me and that I am comfortable, and then she leaves me.

I am a good sleeper. I have been trained to sleep with the ordinary noises that go on about the house. One day, when Doctor found Mama and Daddy tip-toeing around and whispering for fear they would awaken me, she told them never to do that. She said a baby should sleep through the usual noises of the household, and that if they accustomed me to perfect quiet even slight noises would awaken me.

I guess they were very glad to know that they would not have to be so quiet, for my Daddy is nothing but a boy himself, and I guess he must have hated being quiet—most boys do.

I sleep most of the time. At least 18 hours every day, sometimes longer. Doctor says I shall be such a greedy sleeper as this for some time.

I do not have any pillow. It is not necessary for babies, nor children either, my doctor says; unless it is a very small one, more to support the neck than the head.

When I am put down after each nursing, I am put on the side I was not lying on before, and sometimes I lie on my tummy. In this way I am not constantly in the same position. I am wrapped up, not enough to get too warm and cause perspiring, but enough so that my hands and feet are kept warm, and that means I am warm enough.

I never should have known about this rocking business had not my Mama said to me one day as I finished nursing: "It is a temptation to rock you to sleep, beloved, you are so cuddly and appealing." And Grammie said: "Why don't you? You modern young mothers miss so much of the joy of motherhood in not rocking your babies to sleep. You were rocked to sleep, and so was Sue and George, and you did not seem to suffer from it that I can see."

I looked at Grammie and smiled and I looked at Mama and smiled, thinking I was going to have a big new pleasure added to my life. But Mama sighed and gave me a little hug and kiss on my head and put me in my little bed.

"I know, Mother dear," she said turning to my Grammie, "we must miss some very tender hours in not rocking our babies to sleep every night, but it is considered best for the babies' nervous systems to go to sleep without it and they do not get used to a habit that must some time be taken from them."

"Sometimes a bit irksome when you had to rock us to put us to sleep when you wanted to do something else?"

And Grammie smiled. "Well, of course; dear, one of the beautiful things of life is that time dulls the disagreeable in the past and brightens the happy."

Aren't they sweet, my Mama and my Grammie?

Hotel and household chinaware made in America has been found by recent government tests to be superior in ability to withstand chipping to those of Germany, France, England and Japan.

OUT OF STYLE NOW

Costumes of men of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries have been found in an ancient burial ground in the southwestern part of Greenland by a Danish scientist. They are the only existing specimens in the world of garments worn in that period. The temperature of the frozen earth for the past 600 years has preserved them from destruction by ants and moths. Several wooden crosses found bear inscriptions in the Gothic rune script and are considered to be of great historic value.

GRAIN CROPS GOOD

Reports from Russia indicate that the grain crops are good and promise to yield sufficient to feed that country, if properly distributed. This in spite of the fact that during the year of famine a large proportion of the working cattle and other stock must have been eaten and the energies of the population greatly impaired by undernourishment.

ENEMY OF GROUND MOLE

Blacksnakes are the most efficient natural enemy of the ground mole. For this reason they are used on the golf greens of Pennsylvania and are never disturbed. The snakes work only at night, are harmless to mankind and do not hesitate to go into the mole's borings to discourage that animal's operations.

The Riddle of the Frozen Flame

By M. E. & T. W. HANSHEW
Copyright, 1922, by Doubleday, Page & Company

After the preliminaries, which followed the usual custom (for the coroner seemed singularly devoid of originality) the bodies were uncovered, and a murmur of excited expectancy ran through the crowd. With morbid curiosity they pressed forward. The reporters started to scribble in their notebooks, a little pale and perturbed for all their experience of such affairs. One or two of the crowd gasped, then shut their eyes. Brellier exclaimed aloud in French, and for a moment covered his face with his hands; but "Tolniet" made no murmur. For she had not looked, would not look upon the grim horrors that lay there. There was no need for that.

The coroner spoke, attacking the matter in a business-like fashion, and leaning down from his slightly elevated position upon the platform, pointed a finger at the sined and blackened puncture upon the temple of the thing that was once Dacre Wynne. He pointed also to the wound in the head of Collins.

"It is apparent to all present," he began in his flat voice, "that death has been caused in each case by a shot in the head. That the two men were killed similarly is something in the nature of a coincidence. The revolver that killed them was not the same in both cases. In that of Mr. Wynne we have a bullet wound of an extremely small calibre. We have, indeed, the actual bullet. We also have, so we think, the revolver that fired the shot. In the case of James Collins there has been no proof and no evidence of any one whom we know being concerned. Therefore we will take the case of the man Dacre Wynne first. He was killed by a revolver shot in the temple, and death was—or should have been— instantaneous. We will call the prisoner to speak first."

He lifted a revolver from the table and held it in the hollow of his big palm.

"This revolver is yours?" he said, peering under his shaggy eyebrows into Merriton's face.

"It is."

"Very good. There has been, as you see, one shot fired from it. Of the six chambers one is empty. He reached down and picked up a small something and held it in the hollow of the other hand, balancing one against the other as he talked. "Sir Nigel, I ask you. This we recognize as a bullet which belongs to this same revolver, the revolver which you have recognized and claimed as your own. It is identical with those that are used in the cartridges of your revolver, is it not?"

Merriton bent his head. His eyes had a dumb, hurt look, but over the crowded room his voice sounded firm and steady.

"Then I take it that, as this bullet was extracted from the head of the dead man, and as this revolver which you gave to the police yourself, and from which you say that you fired a shot that night, that you are guilty of his murder. Is it not so?"

"I am not guilty."

"Hm." For a moment there was silence. Over the room came the sound of scratching pencils and pens, the shuffle of someone's feet, a swift intake of the breath—no more. Then the coroner spoke again.

"Tell us, then," he said, "your version of what took place that night."

And Merriton told it, told it with a ring in his voice, his head high, and with eyes that flashed and shone with the cause he was pleading. Told it with fire and spirit; and even as the words fell from his lips, felt the sudden chill of disbelief that seemed to grip the room in its cold hand. Not a sound broke the recital. He had been given a fair hearing, at all events, though in that community of hard-headed, unimaginative men there was not one that believed him—save those few who already knew the story to be true.

The coroner stopped fitting his fingers together as the firm voice when the face is pale.

RADIO EXPLAINED

BY LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

AMATEURS IMPOSED UPON

The writer is receiving numerous inquiries regarding various advertised radio devices and equipment, requesting advice upon their relative merits and, in numerous cases, investigated, grossly overrated claims. It must be borne in mind by the experimenter that many essentials are required to build a good radio set. For instance, the best transmitting condensers are now constructed with a mica dielectric. The mica must necessarily be perfect if the condenser is to be a good one, as it suffers large strains. Mica is not a commodity readily available, as it is mined in few and distant places, and the grade required by a conscientious manufacturer hard to obtain. It is true mica of a kind can be obtained in large quantities, but not the pure, unblemished large sheets required for radio engineering.

The unprecedented rise of radio to public popularity created a tremendous demand for equipment of all kinds. Prior to this demand there were a few old established manufacturers equipped with good facilities and offered by first-class engineers of proven ability. Their output was limited to the small commercial field existing

GRID LEAKS AND CONDENSERS

A new design for convenient panel construction is shown in the accompanying illustration of tubular grid leaks and condensers. The leak is built in a glass tube with ferrule end caps. It is airtight, moisture proof and is interchangeable. It is designed to fit standard bases. The outward construction of the grid and plate condensers is similar to the leak, the inner construction being of copper sheeting and good India mica. The mounting is standard and is substantially built. The leaks come in  $\frac{3}{4}$ , 1, 1 1/2, 2 and 2 1/2 megohm values. The condensers are .00025, .00025, .0001 and .0005 microfarads.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S THREAT

"Your pocketbook? Why, isn't it in your pocket?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper. "And what is going on, if I may ask?" she inquired, for well she knew something was going to happen when Uncle Wiggily acted in that gay and festive fashion—sliding down the banister instead of hopping from one step to another.

"Well, this is the first Friday of school after the long vacation," said the bunny gentleman, "and the lady mouse teacher is sure to let the animal boys and girls out a bit earlier than on other days. I thought I'd give them a little treat."

"What kind of a treat?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she found Uncle Wiggily's pocketbook asleep under the clock, where he had placed it the night before so the ticking would calm and soothe the money.

"I think I shall treat them all to ice cream cones," spoke the bunny rabbit. "I'll hop through the woods to the hollow stump school and wait for the children. When the lady mouse teacher lets them out, I'll form them in a marching procession, we'll go to Dr. Possum's drug store and eat ice cream cones."

"Don't give them too many!" begged Nurse Jane.

"You can't give hungry boys and girls too many ice cream cones, Janie!" laughed Uncle Wiggily.

"It's one of those things that never happen."

"Well, then don't eat too many yourself!" said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

Promising that he would be careful, Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods, and soon he came to the hollow stump school. He was just in time, for, as the day was hot, and as it was so soon after vacation, the lady mouse teacher let the animal boys and girls out very early.

"Oh, there's Uncle Wiggily!" cried Baby Bunty.

"Hurray! Hurray! Hurray!" cried the others.

"I've come to give you a little treat!" spoke the bunny. "How would you like some ice cream cones?"

"Oh! Ah! Lovely! Fine! Scrumptious! Delicious! Whoop!" cried the animal children.

"Form in line then," called Uncle Wiggily. "Forward, march!"

And on to Dr. Possum's drug store he led them.

"Well, well! What does this mean?" asked Dr. Possum, when he saw Sammie and Susie Little, Johnnie and Billie Bushytail and Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, to say nothing of the others. "Do they all want doses of castor oil?"

"No, indeed!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Ice cream cones for all!"

"What kinds do you want, children?"

"I want chocolate!" cried Baby Bunty.

"Please give her that kind," requested Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, no, I guess I'll take vanilla!" and Baby Bunty changed her mind.

"Please give her that kind," said Uncle Wiggily, patiently.

"Oh, no, I guess I'll have strawberry!" cried the little rabbit girl.

Book Reviews

Many are discussing James Joyce's "Ulysses," but few are reading it, as the book was published in Paris by subscription, in a limited edition. Meantime, due to its fame, there has been a revival of "A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man," the precursor of "Ulysses." The manner which Joyce develops in "Ulysses" to the point of exaggeration has its origin in the former book. Critics have agreed that its influence is discernible in the work of such artists as Dorothy Richardson and May Sinclair, to say nothing of lesser lights and of mere imitators. It is a manner forever to be reckoned with in the novel.

We learn from Paris that Mr. Joyce is again distressed by the eye trouble which during the years of his residence in Trieste and Zurich interfered seriously with his work.

Love has been the inspiration of poets since the world began, but it is equally true that ever since Eve's mistaken enthusiasm for the apple, marriage has been the inspiration of the humorists. On the fall list of Doubleday, Page & Co., George Ade has a book about "Single Blessedness." Dorothy Parker and F. P. A. have written a volume to the lyric celebration of the men and women they're "not married to," and Don Marquis takes several random shots at the ancient institution in his "Revolt of the Oyster."

Grace Owen, who edited and helped to write an interesting book on "Nursery School Education," which the Duttons published not long ago, came over from England to lecture on that subject at the summer session of Columbia University. Considerable and increasing interest in nursery school or sub-primary education is appearing among educators, as more and more science is showing how important for its future life are the training and surroundings of the child during its first half dozen years, and every one is realizing how meagerly the mothers of the children are qualified to undertake their task.

"Dr. Johnson: A Play With Words," which has been called the best essay on "Old Sam" ever written, will be published shortly by the Atlantic Monthly Press. It is by A. Edwards Newton, author of "The Amantities of Book-Collecting," and the title-page, embellishments, etc., sent out in advance by the publishers, promise a real treat to the eye as well as to the mind.

CRIPPLE TO WALK AFTER 39 YEARS IN WHEEL CHAIR

Infantile Paralysis Victim Regains Use of Both His Legs and Arms

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Through a triumph of surgery, Frederick W. Birge, 53, farmer, of Middlebury, Vt., is expected by physicians of the Hospital for Ruptured and Crippled to walk again for the first time in thirty-nine years. The date will be the anniversary of his loss of the use of both legs through infantile paralysis.

This is the earliest case of infantile paralysis on record in Vermont and is said to be the longest period of paralysis, terminating in recovery, in the annals of surgery.

Birge was 14 when stricken. His legs contracted into the position of one sitting. Efforts to cure him were without result, and the case was given up as hopeless. His life itself was limited to the range of a wheel chair.

Powerful Arms
He did not collapse into helplessness, however. Through his lower limbs were useless, his arms, by constant propelling of his chair and pulling himself up by anything he could grasp, developed almost the strength of a gorilla.

With his sister, he owns a sixty-acre farm in Vermont, producing poultry, dairy products, fruits and berries. Birge learned to pull himself up, hand over hand, into the seat of a wagon and thus managed his farm and sold his produce. It supports them both.

Eight years ago there was an infantile paralysis epidemic in Vermont, and when it subsided the state board of health established an after-care department, in charge of Miss Bertha E. Weisbrod, of Boston. One of the nurses visiting a boy who lived near the Birges heard of the neighboring farmer. She went to see him.

Sure to Walk
A year ago he was examined by Dr. Robert Lovett, of Boston. It was decided there was a possibility of his being cured if he could have the services of specialists.

On December 19 last Birge was removed to the Hospital for Ruptured and Crippled. Dr. Armitage Whitman, visiting surgeon, operated on both ankles and hips, straightening and stretching the legs. Recently the plaster cast which extends from his feet to his shoulder blades, was removed and temporary braces adjusted, and he will walk, the doctors say. Today he grasped the metal framework above his bed like a

President Jewell to Report on Agreement Discussed With Rail Chiefs

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Chief interest in the great rail strike centered on the expected return of B. M. Jewell, president of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, to Chicago today.

The chieftain of the striking shopmen was immediately to meet with his executive council and make known to them the details of the peace agreement discussed at secret meetings with rail executives in the east.

Conferences to start today will continue through tomorrow and will be the first formal step in the efforts of the shopmen to end the strike. The council composed of the heads of each of the six shopcrafts unions, will place in concrete form the tentative settlements discussed by Jewell in the conferences held in the east. Monday they will be presented to the policy committee of ninety and the way will then be clear to bring about a speedy termination of the strike.

No Discrimination
According to reports already received here the strikers, in effect, will receive their full pre-strike privileges, but there will be no discrimination against the men now at work. Everyone now on the job will be kept there. All strikers will be given their jobs back.

Although rail executives continued to deny that any peace overtures had been discussed, it was believed that at least six of the big railroads have already arrived at an understanding to back the shopmen on acceptable terms. Daniel Willard, president of the B. & O. railroad, said to be the leader among the rail executives in working for peace, had come to Chicago to sound out western executives on the peace proposals.

Hawaii Is Unable to Curb Drug Smuggling

HONOLULU.—Attempts to smuggle opium into Hawaii on a wholesale scale continue despite all efforts made by government agents to put a stop to the traffic according to a statement issued by W. D. Allen, agent in charge of the narcotic squad of the Honolulu customs office.

Evidence recently has come to light implicating members of the Honolulu police force in attempts to smuggle opium into the territory, and the theory is now held that the "opium ring" which is believed to exist extends into police circles.

A recent attempt to smuggle opium into Hawaii from a trans-Pacific steamer was frustrated by the customs officials, who forced the crew of a Japanese sampan which had met the steamer outside Honolulu Harbor to throw overboard two packages containing 150 lbs of opium, valued at $27,000, in order to avoid arrest.

Information that this amount of opium had been dropped overboard from the steamer was secured from members of the crew, and it is believed that the packages were picked up by the crew of the sampan and later dropped when chase was given by police launch.

Americans Blamed for Doping Horses

PARIS.—The biggest doping scandal since pre-war days, involving, according to report, several American trainers, is the sensation of that large part of Paris known as the racing world. Stewards of the racing club have the cases under advisement and it is expected that several trainers will be barred for life from French racing stables.

Frequently, throughout the season, dark horses have come in as winners, upsetting all predictions and all dope based on records. The saliva of some of the horses which had been acting peculiarly was examined by a veterinarian, Dr. Kauffmann.

L'Eclair pointedly states that these examinations were directed especially at several American trainers. According to the sporting editor of this paper doping is an American custom and, despite their energetic denials, if doping has been introduced into France, the Americans are responsible.

CHINA WILL BUILD FIRST RAILROAD UNASSISTED

Foreign Capital or Engineers Will Not Give Help In Construction

By WEBSTER K. NOLAN
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—China proposes to engage in a railway construction enterprise all her own—constituting an innovation in the history of Chinese economic development. The enterprise will be guided by no foreign hand; no foreign funds will figure in the financing of the project; no foreigner will tender advice; not a foreign engineer will be employed in the consummation of the task the new and ambitious China has set for itself.

The Chinese government proposes to build an extension railroad from the now operating Peking-Suiyuan railway. The extension will run to Paotowchen, a distance of 100 miles farther west to the Yellow river, according to advice received by the United States department of commerce.

Survey Completed
The survey of this line has been completed and most of the grading work has been done. But financial stringency compelled a suspension of further work.

The proposed extension was estimated to cost $6,746,000; but according to present plans a temporary type of construction will be used, including light rails and makeshift bridges. The stations and other necessary buildings will be little more than field shelters. With the present drastic economy there is still needed about $1,225,000 for material and labor.

May Open This Year
If the laying of the track can be started at an early date traffic to Paotowchen may be started before the end of the year. This will extend the length of the road to approximately 500 miles.

It is hoped to build another extension north to Urga later, when funds may be obtained more easily. This extension is of great importance from a military and political point of view, as it will contribute enormously to the development of Mongolia as a part of China. The branching off point is about 100 miles west of Kalgan, on the way to Suiyuan. It also has been hoped to extend the Urga branch still farther for a connection with the trans-Siberian railroad.

SELL LOTS FAST IN ROLAND TRACT

J. R. Grey Realty Company Reports Brisk Demand; Homes to Go Up

Following predictions made a week ago by the J. R. Grey Realty company, activities in Roland Square, the subdivision in the northwest section recently put on by them are going on rapidly. There are at present in the neighborhood of fifty men putting in the sidewalks and curbs and making ready for the paving of the streets and other improvements.

Nathan Rigdon, builder of Glendale, is now hauling the materials for the foundation of four houses to the tract, and it is his intention to start the buildings the first of the coming week. He will start four residences at once and go ahead with the other eight just as soon as the first four are well along toward completion. The foundations started this week are for residences that will cost about $8500.

Other builders of Glendale have purchased lots in this tract and will go ahead with the erection of houses just as soon as they can get the material on the tract, it is stated.

One of the pleasing phases of the sale of lots in Roland Square this week has been the fact that so many of the lots sold were sold to Glendale people. In speaking of this condition Mr. Grey, subdivision of the tract, whose offices are at 124 North Brand boulevard, said:

"The people of Glendale who have been here any time at all know real values when they see them. The prices of the lots in Roland Square are at least $100 to $200 below what they are worth right now, and many of the people here who purchased in Roland Square this week were quick to recognize the opportunity to secure a high-class lot at the figure we are offering these lots for. They are homesteads of the very best in a restricted subdivision, yet within reach of those of moderate means.

With the statement of the mayor and members of the city council that Patterson Park would in the immediate future receive the attention and improvements that have been decided upon, property in this vicinity has taken a sudden forward movement, and this in a great measure accounts for the rapid movement of so many of the lots in Roland Square, which faces the park.

The present purpose of the city is to place permanent 5-inch paving on Doran and Patterson, it is stated. This will go forward as soon as bids for same are closed, it will create two fine cross-town arteries to Burbank and the San Fernando territory right through this desirable section.

POSTAL OFFICIALS PLAN CHANGE IN RURAL ROUTES

Improvement in Delivery of Mail to Result, Says Postmaster Jackson

All rural deliveries made through the Glendale postoffice are to be re-routed during the month of October if the preliminary work can be completed in that time, according to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson.

Since before the first of the year, Captain Jackson states, the postoffice forces have been working on the problem of alleviating the difficulties and delays now occasioned in the delivery of mail on rural routes. Before any actual change can be made, every thing must be planned and worked out in exact detail, and the new plan approved by the postal department.

On Mileage Basis
Rural deliveries are paid on a mileage basis and the new routes must be so laid out that they will warrant the installation of the carriers, and also that they may be delivered in the most efficient manner. In mapping a route, the exact mileage from every turn must be ascertained, the exact number of boxes determined, the number of deliveries, the time of deliveries must be worked out, and a scale map prepared to give correctly this information. The map and plan must then be sent to the department for approval, and after it is accepted, the boxes on the route must be renumbered and the carrier taught the route.

Working On Details
Captain Jackson and his assistants are now working on these details, and hope to have them prepared and approved so that the changes may be made during October. Some of the present rural deliveries are to come under the city delivery system, according to present plans, and the new rural routes so arranged that regular deliveries may be made at all times.

Number Are Away
The postmaster points out the difficulties which confront the postoffice at this time and asks the indulgence of the patrons until the re-routing is effected. Three of the local force are absent on account of illness and the assistant postmaster, three clerks and three carriers are on vacations. In addition to the absence of so many employees, and the rural problem now being worked out, the mails are constantly increasing in proportion to the rapid growth of Glendale, and the force is finding it difficult to keep up a perfect mail service while hampered by the present conditions.

Labor day also occasioned harder work for the mail which arrived on that day piled up and had to be handled along with that of the next day. With over sixty employees, who are each entitled to fifteen days' vacation a year, Captain Jackson expresses the hope that patrons of the office will recognize the difficulties to be confronted now, and will be lenient in their criticisms.

When the sick men are back, the vacationists returned, and the rural re-routing problem solved and settled, the postmaster promises that the usual efficient and regular service will be maintained in all departments.

Basil King Writes Story of 'The Dust Flower' Now At Glendale Theatre

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation and Basil King have again given the public a motion picture to be devoutly thankful for in "The Dust Flower," made from Mr. King's new novel, which is being shown at the Glendale Theatre for the last times today. It is an excellent and stimulating an entertainment in its way as was the same author's "Earthbound," the screen sensation of two seasons ago. It is, however, totally different in story and structure from "Earthbound"—it is real and not fanciful.

Goldwyn has given "The Dust Flower" a great cast in which Helene Chadwick and James Rennie are featured.

Queenie, the wonder horse, will be seen in "Cured," while News and Review reels complete the bill.

LOCAL TEAM AND LUCKIEST BOY IN WHOLE WORLD CHINESE TO PLAY; WHATAMALLA!

Glendale Merchants Due to Take Chop Suey Lads for Hard Tumble

John A. Cobb's finger-busters are in for a novel sort of baseball game Sunday afternoon when they play the Los Angeles Chinese team at the Glendale baseball park, San Fernando road, at Park avenue.

The L. A. Chinese are members of the Greater Southern California Baseball Association, which numbers among its members most of the prominent semi-professional teams of the Southland, high among whom is Cobb's aggregation, the Glendale Merchants.

The Chinese have been cleaning up in Los Angeles and fell hard for an invitation to travel northward and meet up with the famed Glendale team.

Chop Suey Pitcher The little orientals have a well-developed outfield, and while their infield is said to be not so much, they have a good battery. Their pitcher is one of the best in the association, numbering among his recent conquests the striking out of seventeen players in a game with Huntington Beach. And the whole Chinese team has a reputation as heavy ones with the willow.

Cobb hasn't formulated the exact lineup for Sunday's contest. Walt Heidler is expected to be sent to the mound, but it is possible that Cobb may change his mind and put in Angerson. Walt went in late in last Sunday's game and pitched good ball, considering the fact that he had been out of the game for several weeks with an injured thumb. By Sunday he ought to be in shape to shoot them down the groove at will, and when Walt is in shape, it takes a husky catcher to stop his hot ones.

Praise for Acosta Myers, former catcher for the Palomar team, who played second base with the Merchants in their game last Sunday, will probably occupy an infield position again Sunday. Frank Acosta, the Merchants' classy third baseman, will be in at his old position. Acosta played what is generally considered the best game of any man on the team last Sunday. Not a thing went through him; he stopped some so hot they almost scorched his glove, and in addition to his fielding, he drove out a beautiful two-bagger.

The Merchants have played twenty-one games so far, and of these, have won seventeen. The team average of .809 is the lowest reached by the Merchants for a long time, and Cobb plans to help it along somewhat by taking the Chinese into camp Sunday. At that, though, he isn't much discouraged by the standing, so long as it stays above .800.

Dave Danforth Hurt In Players' Quarrel

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 8.—Dave Danforth, formerly of the St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox, was seriously injured in a fight in the club house here, it became known. Another player, George Boehler, premier Western league pitcher, was also injured. The affair started on the ball field when Boehler and "Mule" Washburn, of the Wichita club, engaged in a quarrel. The quarrel was renewed later in the dressing room. Danforth, who came to Boehler's rescue, was reported to have been kicked severely below the belt. He may be out of the game the rest of the season.

The bout will be a no-decision affair, as no decisions can be given under the New Jersey boxing rules. The men will weigh in at 315 pounds.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 8.—Fifteen of the nineteen title holders are on hand to defend their honors in the annual championship games of the Amateur Athletic Union, which open today with the junior events at Weequahic Park, where the meet was held in 1916. The senior championships will be decided tomorrow, with four teams favored to win—namely, the New York A. C., the Illinois A. C., of Chicago, the Chicago A. A., the Meadowbrook club of Philadelphia, and the Los Angeles A. C., defending champion.

The program will be concluded on Monday with the holding of the all-around and relay championships. Charley Paddock of Los Angeles, world's greatest sprinter, is the only absentee of note among the individual champions of last year; Paddock has allowed his titles in the 100 and 220-yard dashes to go by default. Most of the others will be very much in evidence.

They are Bill Stevenson in the quarter-mile, Alan Helfrich in the half, Jole Ray in the mile, Willie Plant in the three-mile walk, Earl Thompson in the high and low hurdles, Gus Desch in the 440-yard hurdles, Ned Gourdin in the running broad jump, Alberts in the running high jump, Knourek in the hop, step and jump, Knourek in the pole vault, Pat Ryan in the hammer throw, Pat McDonald in the 56-pound weight, Bud Hauser in the shot put and Pope in the discus throw.

The Winged Foot of the New York Athletic Club is generally expected to lead all others for the team championship, but its supremacy is by no means assured. The Meadowbrook Club has lined up Alfred Leoney, intercol-

For the first day in many moons a Giant pitcher lasted through nine innings. Scott performed the feat against the Phillies. His team-mates gave him a handicap of six runs to work on in the first inning. The Giants won 13 to 6 and maintained their lead of four and a half games over the Pirates.

NATIONAL SINGLES START TODAY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Prominent Tennis Stars In Contest; Impressive List of Entries Is Out

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—The national lawn tennis championship in singles will begin on the courts of the Germantown Cricket club today with the champions of four countries and eight of the world's top ten ranking players as members of a small but ultra-exclusive field. The event fairly bristles with class. In fact, so impressive is the list of entries that the ultimate survivor may regard himself as champion of the world, in spite of whatever claim the winner of the all-comers' tourney at Wimbledon may care to set up. That individual happens to be Gerald L. Patterson, of Australia, and in view of the fact that he is to be a starter here it is distinctly up to Patterson himself to beat the field or gracefully relinquish his right to the title.

Stars to Flash Listed in the order of their importance are the following dominant entries: William T. Tilden, 2nd, of Philadelphia, defending champion and former winner at Wimbledon; William M. Johnston of San Francisco, several times national title holder; Patterson and his teammate, James O. Anderson, who defeated Tilden at Chicago last year; Zenzo Shimizu, champion of Japan; Manuel Alonso, champion of Spain; Vincent Richards, still the boy wonder of lawn tennis, and R. Norris Williams, 2nd, of Boston, another former American champion.

Of the ten ranking players in the world, as listed by Wallis Myers, British critic, only B. I. C. Norton, of South Africa, and Andre Gobet, of France, will turn up missing for the event, and both can be spared so far as championship reckoning is concerned. Norton was something of a "bust" at Wimbledon this year, and Gobet, though forty, is a bit too old now to be figured seriously.

Three Loom Big Briefly, the championship would seem to be between three men, to-wit: Tilden, Johnston and Patterson, with Shimizu, Alonso and Anderson always dangerous. The impression has gotten about that this is to be Billy Johnston's year. The Coast entry is playing better tennis than at any time since 1919, when his blazing forehand drives carried him through Tilden to the title in the final round. Johnston has the soundest game of any man playing tennis today, and if his somewhat meager physical resources can stand up under another week of tournament play Billy should win.

Take Your Choice Tilden, however, is the more consistent and certainly the toughest entry to beat the world over. There is something about Tilden's game that defies accurate forecast of another man's triumph. He is at his best when pressed, and in a long-drawn-out match—which is usually the case when he is on the courts—can wear down any opponent. He is no specialist, but combines all the strokes in a remarkable blending of assets.

Patterson has a fine service and an equally strong forehand drive, but his backhand is so unsteady as to leave him open to well-sustained raids on this sector. Until he remedies his weak spot in his backhand he will take a lot of beating in the quarter; Hauser should win the shot put, and Earl Thomson, barring accidents, will take-walk in both hurdles.

Another fine performer with the Coast array is Glenn Hartranft, all-around star of the Stanford University team, and Flint Haner, his team captain this year, should also do well in the javelin event.

With Babe Ruth's third suspension for this season, the latest charge being vulgar language, the home-run hitter will be able to add the title of champion rough neck of the National league to his monicker. Just how much more Ruth will need before he hangs himself is not yet apparent, but his position with the fans and the powers that be is not so secure that he can afford to make many more chances.

There will be run on September 17 a relatively short, but considered the hardest long distance run in the United States. This event is known as the Dipsea race and is held under the auspices of the Olympic club of San Francisco, annually. The course is the Dipsea trail, a distance of about seven miles over some of the most difficult hill country in and about the Pacific metropolis. The first race was run in 1905 and it has continued each year uninterruptedly since then. The record for the run is 47 minutes and 56 seconds made in 1912 by M. Hartwell.

In the event that the fact was overlooked, it may be pertinent to mention that Frank Linnah, of New London, Iowa, is the national horse-shoe pitching champion, having just taken the title away from Frank Jackson, of Coach Dean Cromwell that Charlie Paddock's father said "His father is afraid that he (Charlie) will lose his reputation" is correct, then the so-called "world's fastest human" and Olympian games sprinter and world sprint record-holder, Charlie Paddock, stands before the world branded as an athletic coward.

For months past Charlie Paddock has consistently refused to enter track meets where the best sprinters of the country would meet him on level terms, until at last Bob Weaver of Los Angeles, former president of the A. A. U., and Dean Cromwell, his trainer and coach, have thrown up their hands in disgust with the statement "they no longer are able to uphold or defend him in his stand." These two men stood by him in the criticism that for months past has been burying Paddock deeper and deeper in its severity and widespread character.

Charlie Paddock is a great runner. There is no question or argument on that point, but he is the first man with the title of "champion" tacked to his name who has failed to live up to the logical qualifications of a champion and defend himself—on the cinder track—against all comers. He has run in various races in southern California where three or more records were made in the race against sprinters, who, with the exception of one, were "unknown." He also ran in the Hawaiian islands against untried and unknown sprinters and the Hawaiian association refused to credit Paddock with various records.

We know of many professional boxing champions who refuse to fight this or that man, but it is not for any reason of fearing defeat or sustaining their reputations as a boxer. The professional in any sport is in it for the dollars and cents and if he does not win what he considers his "title" entitles him to as champion he will not fight. If on the other hand he gets his set figure he will step into the ring with any man in the world. Not so Charlie Paddock who is credited with being America's champion sprinter.

Former A. A. U. President Bob Weaver says that Paddock has broken his word to him, and on the strength of this promise the committee in charge of the A. A. U. championship at Newark, N. J., guaranteed the Los Angeles Athletic club a certain sum of money.

The withdrawal of Paddock from this meet has placed Weaver, Cromwell and the Los Angeles A. C. in an embarrassing position and Weaver evidently does not feel justified in defending Paddock from any attacks that may be made on the sprinter.

The action of Paddock has done more to reduce his reputation than a defeat in level competition would have done. He always has the chance to "come back" after a defeat by a sprinter, but his positive refusal to compete for fear of "losing his reputation" automatically sets the tongues of the world wagging and the only inference the world takes is that Charles Paddock is afraid.

Tex Rickard Might Take Chance on Go

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—What with Jack Kearns, the New York state athletic commission and a squad of political "yes" men, all of whom have the instinct of self-preservation developed to a commendable degree, it is not surprising that the Dempsey-Wills enterprise continues to avoid a rush of promoters to the head. Kearns, it is said, demands the payment of $250,000 from the promoter the moment he signs for the bout. His idea is to get something out of the tangle in case executive approval is withdrawn and the bout stopped. Now for Muldoon and the commission. One of the provisions laid down by the chairman is that the promoter must deposit $250,000 with the commission as evidence of good faith. In short, Kearns and Muldoon are asking the promoter to go $500,000 "on the nut" before he sells a ticket. At the same time Muldoon makes known that no less than 40,000 seats be placed on sale at $2. That would bankrupt anyone attempting to finance the proposition. The more one looks at the adverse side of it, the more one realizes that the bout may never be held at all. Everyone is inclined to regard the affair with the tender solicitude one displays in approaching a rattlesnake; everyone with the possible exception of Wills and his manager, who have nothing to lose. When it comes to a pinch, New York will have none of the bout, regardless of all the loose talk that has gone before.

ARREST MAN IN ELYSEE PALACE

Fanatic Shoots at Police When Found at Home of French President

PARIS, Sept. 8.—A man believed to be demented, who was acting in a suspicious manner, was arrested today in the home of President Alexander Millerand of France—the Elysee palace. The prisoner, who was described by the police as a "fanatic," succeeded in getting by the guards on duty at the entrance and was roaming through the halls when servants found him. When the gendarmes were called the man drew a revolver and fired in the direction of the approaching police. He was quickly seized, overpowered and placed under arrest.

KILLED FOR THE TEETH

Thousands of magnificent bull elk have been slaughtered illegally in the Yellowstone park region for the two teeth that may be obtained from each and sold to be worn as ornaments. Among the Indians the braves decorated themselves with necklaces made of grizzly bears and only the squaws wore elk teeth as decorations and they used only those from the animals killed for clothing and food.

Golden Chances of Today Fact Stranger Than Fiction Have You Young Friends? Cupid Working Overtime

By Gil A. Cowan

IN A GROCERY store here yesterday afternoon I met a man who was formerly marshal at Clarkdale, Ariz. That brought recollections of Jerome, the copper camp up on the hill, as it was from 1915 to 1918, when the business of war made metals valuable. There in Jerome six or seven years ago there was nothing to do but sit in front of the Connor hotel and talk with mining men about the great fortunes taken from the earth, hearing stories of men made rich over night by a lucky strike. And then thoughts turned to the oilfields of Texas, where army lieutenants and mess sergeants made fortunes while many of us boys were kept busy in Kelly Field or some other camp, gossiping about such "dog robbers" who could get passes for a week to take a plunge in the oil game. It also brought to mind the great Homer producing field of Louisiana which was brought in and many millionaires made while I ground out news about the bonanza of black gold. Neither could I forget the gas wells of Arkansas, nor a score of other opportunities which Dame Fortune flaunted in my direction. But, right here in Glendale today these same opportunities are existing in the real estate market. The wheel of fortune has but started to turn and the winning numbers are to be found all around. Why, to hear some of the good citizens recount how values have doubled and trebled and multiplied ten-fold since 1919, there is no need for anyone to argue with me as to what and where the gambler's best bet is today.

Right here in Glendale—and that doesn't mean right in the business heart of the city especially, there are chances to double your money in two years' time. And the chance to lose is practically nil. Poor people and rich people alike have shared in the prosperity of this town until you cannot get parking space for your car; you can hardly buy the common things of life, and you find the best dressed, well fed, happiest people anywhere in the world. Library reports show that fiction is the most popular among readers. Yet fact is stranger than fiction and far more interesting. For instance, in Glendale, along Verdugo road, there are more events in history than a dime novel ever dared contain. Once in a while someone scratches the surface with the story of "Mama Nanita," who at 117, still lives to recount the wild days of bandits, Mission fathers, bull fights, water rights, range riders, cattle rustlers and what not. Just as an artist finds local color in the Green Verdugo hills, so, too, might an author get inspiration for not one, but 100 stories with modern Glendale—the fastest growing city in America—as a final scene for all of the thrilling tales.

The circuses, school days soon and the return from vacationland give the city a good deal of youth these days, and it is a pleasant sight to see their bright and smiling faces everywhere in Glendale. The eagerness of the boy and girl to be up and going; their ruddy (if not sunburned) complexions; their wholesome selves, sufficient to the day in which they live. Say, we wouldn't turn back the pages of Old Father Time's year book and look at the dapper-looking youngster of yesterday. With all of their faults the "flipper" and the "flapper" have a great advantage. Not only is it an advantage for them, but they are making young folks out of old. A person doesn't need to find an El Dorado nowadays. All that is necessary is to have a few young friends. By the way, folks, have you noticed the crop of marriages in California recently. While the east reports Cupid on a vacation, the little prince of hearts must be shooting his arrows in every direction from Sunday until Saturday and working overtime, too, in this vicinity. In the good old days in Glendale, when not more than 5,000 people lived here, a wedding was almost an affair of state-wide importance. Now, by golly, they sneak off by the seads, get hitched and home again in a little bungalow and forget their bachelor friends. Really, there should be a society here for the prevention of cruelty toward old bachelors.

Bottomley Gets $2.50 for Racing Steed

LONDON.—When a man's down his luck never seems to brighten. While Horatio Bottomley, the former anti-American publicist, and member of parliament, languished in jail under seven years' sentence for fraudulent conversion of funds his racing stable was sold by order of the official receiver. One of Bottomley's stable, Manx Crag, brought just $2.50 at the auction.

EFFORTS TO SAVE MEN CONTINUES

Officials Abandon All Hope but Rescuers Work on In Final Attempt

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 8.—Hope for rescuing alive the forty-seven miners trapped by fire in the lower reaches of the Argonaut gold mine was all but abandoned today and an official of the Argonaut Mining company who expressed the belief that the men had perished did not object to halt the efforts of the rescuers in clearing the caved-in drifts on the 3600-foot level of the adjoining Kennedy mine, one of the avenues through which it is planned to reach the entombed men. At the present rate of progress, experts estimated it would take at least three more days to reach the end of the shaft and drill through the 75-foot wall of quartz separating the two mines. The miners now have been incarcerated twelve days.

Signals Not Registered

Reports that the men had signalled by "tapping" were discredited by mining experts today and this belief was further substantiated by the non-registration of any signals from the miners on the geophone, a delicate instrument installed for this purpose. Progress in excavating the muck and timbers in both the 3600-foot and 3900-foot levels of the Kennedy continued today. At the higher level, directors of crews said they were able with the aid of searchlights, to penetrate the darkness and see clear spaces above the debris for twenty-five to thirty feet. However, the work of clearing is comparatively slow because of the adhesive nature of the clay. Less than 220 feet of the cave-in on this level remained to be cleared today before the last barrier of rock is reached.

"The Loves of Pharaoh," said to be one of the most gigantic picture productions of a decade, will be shown today at the T. D. & L. theatre. More persons are said to appear in this production than in any other motion picture ever made. When Ernest Lubitsch, director of this picture, and also the creator of "Passion and Deception," announced at a luncheon in New York that 112,000 persons appeared in "The Loves of Pharaoh," some who heard him were frankly skeptical. Mr. Lubitsch turned for corroboration to his manager, Paul Davidson, who showed a receipt from a theatrical agency for its commissions for furnishing 112,065 extras during the filming of the picture.

DR. H. R. HARROWER PLEADS SUPPORT FOR NEW LINE

Urges Importance of Whole City Aiding in Raising Bonus for Railway

"The electrification of the car line on Glendale avenue to my way of thinking would be the most important developing factor possible in Glendale at present."

This assertion was made by Dr. Henry R. Harrower of 920 East Broadway who came forward when the matter was first brought up and gave $500 to the $25,000 bonus required by the Glendale & Montrose railway. He stated yesterday that his only regret was that a number of others had not followed his example. He considers the donation a wise investment in the progress of Glendale.

"This matter transcends in importance a number of other really big things in a transportation way that are under consideration," continued Dr. Harrower. "Somehow, I fear that the people of Glendale are not awake to the real sign of this proposition."

Urges Enthusiasm
"I have a live interest in the development of the 'east end' and perhaps some of my friends in other parts of the city feel that my enthusiasm for this problem is selfish. Whether this is true or not is immaterial. It is just as important from the standpoint of every citizen and property owner in Glendale and I think that everybody ought to be just as enthusiastic in putting this over as I have tried to be."

"If Glendale avenue is improved in this manner, it will not merely increase the values of property contiguous to the line, but it will be a very great benefit to the entire city, because it brings into our transportation complex a factor which is bound to make our transportation lords and masters," the Pacific Electric, sit up and realize that at last their grip upon Glendale has been broken. In the past they have been very free with statements to the effect that had it not been for the Pacific Electric, Glendale would not have developed as it has, which is no more true than had it not been for the people of Glendale, the Pacific Electric would never have come here.

Scores Commission
"My personal opinion, which I have not hesitated to express many times, indicates that the present state railroad commission is fully as interested in the welfare of the telephone companies and gas companies as they are in the people who pay them. They cannot be biased. This proposition may be perfectly all right both spiritually and temperamentally, but other conditions including the last one to combine all the transportation facilities in Los Angeles and thus remove forever an element of competition to my limited way of thinking is a menace to the transportation situation in this whole territory."

"Competition as everybody knows is the spice of life in business and I address protestation to the consumer and the public utility and those responsible for their maintenance, who attempt, at every turn, to stifle competition and make themselves masters of the situation. The Los Angeles situation in regard to telephones is but one example of this very thing."

Entering Wedge
"To come back to the proposition as it concerns us in the electrification of Glendale avenue and the appointment of a new transportation outlet to the big city, we will have entered a wedge which our friend, the Southern Pacific — Pacific Electric — will have some concern about."

"As I understand it at present, the sum of $9,000 is in sight, leaving $16,000 to secure. I also understand that a map has been made of all the property on Glendale avenue and an attempt is going to be made to secure $1 per front foot from the owners. This ought to be the easiest thing in the world and it would leave very little for the citizens to do. What success may be had in getting the local property owners to co-operate, it should be brought home to the rest of the people in town what this really means, and it should not be allowed to remain a local affair, the foster child of the East Glendale Advancement association, and something merely of interest to 'castlesiders.'"

VARIOUS PROJECTS BEING OUTLINED BY BOOSTERS

C. of C. May Have Building at Burbank; Considering Rotary Organization

Festivals, poultry shows, bean crops, oil hopes, annexation and other subjects are keeping the minds of San Fernando valley people from the "rust of disuse."

In Burbank, the newly acquired factory American Aluminum Metal Products Company, is reaching almost daily consignments of equipment and machinery which is assembled as fast as it arrives. It is planned to have the Burbank factory in partial operation by September 15. The leaders in civic life feel assured that this company is a substantial concern that will prosper in its new location and not cause the disappointment experienced in putting at least one previous factory into Burbank.

Chamber Commerce Building
A persistent, though unverified report, is mystifying and exciting Burbank. The lack of desire to talk on the subject by those most closely concerned makes it the more believable that there is some foundation for the statements that Burbank will soon have its own chamber of commerce building.

A fund of $12,000 to $15,000 for building is said to be available from public-spirited business men at any moment that somebody else will furnish the necessary ground. The articles of incorporation of the chamber already call for a $14,000 building fund.

Rotary Club Considered
Several Burbank men have interested themselves in the possibility of organizing a Rotary club there, and it is believed that an early announcement will be forthcoming to the effect that such an organization is under way. In the meantime, petitions are out for an Elks lodge. R. W. Colburn, J. C. Crawford, H. R. Ling and T. O. Covell are interesting the district inspector, R. C. Church, in the Rotary idea, while A. C. Gage, A. C. Finbach, H. W. Lewis and Pietro Romeo are trying to line up the Elks' charter.

Education and Business
Principal F. Stillwell Moore of the Burbank high school has announced that his institution is now ranking class A among schools accredited by the state university. In the same breath it is learned that a motor truck factory at Burbank just received a big contract from a nearby city.

To Show Pet Chickens
Civic development and agricultural activities are running a neck-and-neck race in Van Nuys. The poultry raisers are preparing to enter their pet chickens in the official Los Angeles County Fair and Market which will be held at Pomona, October 17 to 21. Among the prizes tempting the local bird fanciers are $1000 in cash and twenty-eight silver cups. B. R. Hollywood is aiding in the preparation of exhibits.

Fire Prevention Week
The Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce, aided by George J. Blake and Paul F. Shepard, insurance men of that city, are planning a fire prevention week to be observed October 2 to 9, and private as well as public fire menaces are to be eliminated.

Gathering Bean Crop
Bean growers of the valley are now gathering their crops, and it is a distinct boost to southern California's prosperity when 'tis admitted that they are having some difficulty in obtaining labor at fair wages. The farmers, however, are encouraged by the heavy crop and the good prices prevailing.

TO EXTRACT JUICE
A Danish chemist claims to have perfected a process by which the juice extracted from sugar cane is immediately purified without the use of lime.

PEACE MOVE FOR IRELAND IS NOW UNDER WAY

De Valera's Chief Aid May Have Been Arrested; Dail Will Meet

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service.
DUBLIN, Sept. 8.—Free state troops today began a sweeping movement to round up the republican irregulars, particularly in Limerick and Tipperary counties, preliminary to the meeting of the Dail Eireann (parliament) in this city tomorrow. Several battles were fought. Many republicans were captured.

Communication between Dublin and Cork is still interrupted. This led to a recurrence of the rumor that Eamonn de Valera had been captured. This report is discredited even by government officials, although it is admitted that Eamonn de Valera's chief aide, may have been arrested. Whether De Valera will make a dramatic appearance in Dublin tomorrow to attend the Dail meeting is problematical.

Will Release Republicans
While many republicans will be released from jail to attend the Dail meeting the government has decided not to liberate Sean O'Kelly, "Siam Finn" ambassador to Paris, and Dr. McCarroll. Claims aggregating $45,000,000 for damage done in warfare between free staters and irregulars will come before the Dail.

The Irish free state may be made or broken in the meeting of the Dail which begins tomorrow. This is the first meeting of the first parliament to be held after the creation of the new Irish nation. Grave problems face the Dail and the gravest is the selection of a man to lead the Irish nation out of its travail. Alderman William T. Cosgrave, head of the Dail since the death of Arthur Griffith, is looked upon as the likeliest candidate.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. —Advertisement.

quantities of broken rock fell down behind it with a rattling roar. The slab must have been as tall or taller than a two-story building, and seemed to move with remarkable slowness at first, but finally turned end over end and landed with a mighty crash on the inclined mass of rocks below.

Heard Miles Away
"A short time after the cessation of the grinding noise which followed the impact another terrific grinding noise began, followed by a great cloud of dust which wholly obscured the most spectacular part of the events that followed. So great was the sound produced that some men two miles away and beyond a ridge believed it to be thunder of considerable volume. After several minutes elapsed a great scar on the mountain side became visible and showed what appeared to be the remaining half of a great bank of snow where the dislodgment began. The melting snow had, no doubt, assisted in the work of destruction.

"Should I visit the Sierras a thousand times it is hardly probable that I shall ever again behold an exhibition so spectacular and so lastingly impressive."
"The majority of mountain visitors do not reach the wild and most impressive parts of the Sierras at all. They may find the beautiful, but the grand, the magnificent, lies beyond, just under the sky. Beauty does her best, no doubt, far below the austere crags, the menacing pinnacles and the defiant domes, but hidden away among these rocks, as if to escape detection, are the alpine lakes in surprising number, many of them gems of blue water from melting snows that lie the whole year through upon the granite slopes above them.

Autos Are Barred
"No auto road yet leads to this 'land beyond,' but foot trails and mule trails are not uncommon, and you should climb 10,000, 12,000 and 14,000 feet.
"Between these sky-land places and the haunts of the average tourist lies a land of trees and green meadows deep in wild grass, intermingled with beautiful flowers. To find these at their best you need climb no higher than 9000 feet above the sea. And, below this is that other land about which more is known. It is full of interest, but it is not the same. It has less of spice and is short of inspiration. The best is none too good."

Luncheon and Whist For Club Members
Mrs. Carrie Schmitt of 731 South Glendale avenue entertained the members of the semi-monthly club yesterday at a prettily-appointed luncheon and an afternoon at whist. Asters of pastel shades were used in decorating.

Members present were Mrs. H. M. Doll, Mrs. Charles A. Ridel, Mrs. Fred Huesman, Mrs. C. Hamilton, Mrs. J. Houle. The Misses Pauline and May Ruprecht substituted for Mrs. J. O'Neill Farrell and Miss Annabel Ruprecht.
Mrs. Earl Dillenberg was a special guest. Mrs. H. M. Doll made the highest score and was awarded the club prize, a handsome teapot.
The club will be entertained at the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Hamilton.

HOLD GIRL FOR THEFT
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Blanche Murphy, alias Mrs. Pearlman, was being held by the local police for the San Francisco authorities following a request from the northern officers to arrest her here. According to information received by the local police the young woman is wanted in connection with the sale of a stolen automobile.

Favors Car Line
Asked his opinion in regard to connecting Montrose and Los Angeles directly by a car line, Senator Francis replied:
"There is no question but that the development of a line such as that will help the entire valley and help it very materially. It will bring people there who are willing to make homes and it will extend the business of the entire community."
"We are plating approximately 6000 lots. We hope to sell them largely to people who will build homes. In other words, our program will be not merely to sell real estate at a profit and get out of the way, but we hope to sell to people who will develop and improve their property. We hope to sell to people who will build homes, and by so doing increase the valuation of all the property through there."
"This electric line goes right through the Newport property and this property of ours."
Sees Big Growth
"I have an idea that we will have from 10,000 to 20,000 people there in the next three or four years. There is no reason why we shouldn't if we sell to the class of people who will improve their property."
"I feel that just as the building of a new line railroad into a community is a benefit so would this line be a help not only to this valley but of far more help to Glendale. It is as certain as can be that however much community enterprise can be established a certain percentage of the people up there will come to Glendale as the next larger town to trade and a certain other percentage will go to Los Angeles."

Country Club IS NOW PLANNED
Verdugo Valley Site Near Montrose May Soon Have Golf Course
Glendale may have its own country club and golf links in the near future!
Preliminary plans for the laying out of one of the finest courses in the country and the construction of an adequate clubhouse are now being considered by Senator Leslie E. Francis, H. E. Barnum of Eagle Rock, and M. Walters of Hollywood, who are about to put on the market the Sparr holdings of 1500 acres in the Verdugo valley on the market.

The site contemplated is a mesa about fifty feet high and having an area of about ten acres. This location is on the west side of the valley about one mile north of the Glendale-Verdugo park and an equal distance south of Montrose.
Fine Links Possible
Golf fans, who have been let into the secret, are quite enthusiastic about the possibilities of the course and state that the links could be made the finest in the United States. They say that they have never seen a finer site for a country club in the world. This idea is in the infant stage, however, and nothing definite in regard to it has been settled yet. As a matter of fact Senator Francis and his associates are too busy at the present time to give it their active attention. They admit that they are favorably impressed with the suggestion and intimated yesterday that the project probably would be put over as soon as they have the necessary time to devote to it.

Verdugo Valley Site Near Montrose May Soon Have Golf Course
Glendale may have its own country club and golf links in the near future!
Preliminary plans for the laying out of one of the finest courses in the country and the construction of an adequate clubhouse are now being considered by Senator Leslie E. Francis, H. E. Barnum of Eagle Rock, and M. Walters of Hollywood, who are about to put on the market the Sparr holdings of 1500 acres in the Verdugo valley on the market.

The site contemplated is a mesa about fifty feet high and having an area of about ten acres. This location is on the west side of the valley about one mile north of the Glendale-Verdugo park and an equal distance south of Montrose.
Fine Links Possible
Golf fans, who have been let into the secret, are quite enthusiastic about the possibilities of the course and state that the links could be made the finest in the United States. ## LA CRESCENTA AID ARRANGE DETAILS FOR OPENING OF RAIL SYSTEM FOR SCHOOL MONDAY

Glendale Delegation Visits Neighboring Community to Present Arguments One Continuous Session Will Be Held at Union High; Increase in Teachers to a conclusion impressing upon the audience the necessity of pulling together vigorously at all times for public progress and particularly at this time to secure the advantages of cheaper fares and added service between Montrose, La Crescenta, Glendale and Los Angeles.

Twining Goes To Bat
Then, armed with a formidable array of indisputable figures, W. L. Twining "went to the bat" and immediately had his audience in uproars of laughter and mirthful appreciation of the succinct facts he presented in his unique, captivating, straight-from-the-shoulder way.

"Location, transportation and population are the three requirements to insure the progress of a city or community," Mr. Twining said in part. "La Crescenta, Montrose and Glendale have admittedly every advantage of location. The proposed Glendale avenue line will give us added advantage in transportation that can hardly be estimated in dollars and cents, although certain definite results can be foreseen beyond question of doubt.

"Population has been coming rapidly, but it will increase far more rapidly when we secure this new car line and save commuters 13 to 15 cents a day in car fare."

The Glendale flying squadron were the guests of the La Crescenta Improvement Association on this occasion. Among those who went from Glendale, in addition to the speakers already mentioned, were: Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Mrs. M. L. Tipton, Mr. and Mrs. Fraley, Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Perch, and Messrs. J. K. Todd, E. E. Harrington, H. L. Finley, G. C. McConnell.

Subscriptions Taken
After the routine opening of the meeting, Mr. Hayselden was given the platform. Mr. Haddock and Mr. Twining followed. The actual subscriptions were then taken, with Mr. Twining keeping the audience in a good humor while he saw that nobody was overlooked in the individual requests for subscriptions. Secretary T. O. Potts of the La Crescenta Improvement Association gave great aid in this work, listing the names and addresses of the subscribers. Before departing, Mr. Ingledue thanked the La Crescentans, and took occasion to express his appreciation also to those who had been trading with him for years until his recent retirement from active business.

Attorney Louis G. Guernsey of Los Angeles addressed the meeting with arguments in opposition to the referendum power and water bill which comes to the people for vote in November. The association had already heard other speakers at previous meetings, in favor of the bill.

LUTHER IS PINCHED
SACRAMENTO, Sept. 8.—Luther Burbank, plant wizard, was cited to appear in court at Suisun, following his arrest near there charged with speeding while he was en route here to attend the state fair.

students will be given individual attention.

Some Extra Classes
The foreign language department includes a number of extra classes to take care of the pupils who are obliged to study a foreign language, either dead or alive, in order to qualify for college.

The mathematics department will make a stronger effort than ever this term to segregate students according to their ability and capacity for progress. An innovation will be a review in arithmetic before freshmen are introduced to the complexities of algebra.

Sociology and economics, which have been separate half-year subjects, have been combined into one course under the head of "Social Problems." Civics remains a full half-year course for the senior year.

General science will be in big demand next term, according to early registration. This subject includes the fundamentals of the other sciences such as physics, chemistry, biology and physiology so that pupils, who take this course, are able to ascertain in which branch of science they wish to continue their studies.

Various Departments
Besides the regular courses in freehand drawing, the art department will continue its courses in costume designing and commercial art.

The domestic art department, where the mysteries of cooking, sewing and housekeeping are divulged, will be operated about the same as last term. Special arrangements are being made to accommodate part time students or those who are able to come for only an hour or two a day.

The music department is expected to make exceptionally good progress this year. Students will report for instruction in this subject every day instead of twice or thrice a week as previously.

The shops are expected to accommodate more students this year than ever before because of the change to the hour period. Consequently, a bigger enrollment is expected to the mechanical arts department which usually is crowded to capacity.

No new subjects will be taught in the commercial department, but new classes will be started to accommodate the increased enrollment.

Exercises Every Day
The principal feature about the physical education department is the fact that both boys and girls will report daily for their exercise instead of three times a week. More classes will be formed and it will be possible to segregate pupils who will require special exercises and body building calisthenics in separate units.

The faculty for the coming term is regarded as exceptionally capable by Principal George U. Morse, who calls attention to the fact that the new teachers have all made fine records for themselves either in college or teaching work elsewhere.

Those on Staff
The list of teachers for the next term will include the following:

Administration—George U. Morse, principal; A. L. Ferguson, vice-principal for boys; Mrs. Ethel H. F. Morse, vice-principal for girls; Irving H. Oliver, business manager.

English—Miss Jennie Y. Freeman, Miss Mary E. Creath, Miss Mary Hairgrove, Miss Ella M. Hardy, Miss Beatrice Helmer, Miss Dorothy Poppy, Miss Ruth Schindel, Mrs. Ruth B. Shearin, Miss Mildred Veazey, Miss Aileen Renison, Miss Mary Rigg, Miss Anna S. Elam.

Foreign Language—Miss Isabel Stevens, Miss Carey E. Haney, Miss Fay N. McEndree, Miss Mabel Taylor, Miss Daisy Monroe, Merritt L. Hobitt, Miss Mabel Odel, Miss Florence Carpenter, Mrs. Ethel M. Bailey.

Mathematics—O. E. McDowell, Frederick F. Borncamp, Mrs. Carol Willisford Koltz, Miss Inez Ledyard, Mrs. Fannie S. Sloan, Paul E. Webb, Miss Jennie A. McGregor.

Local Girl Says No Profiteering at Oberammergau

MISS HENRIETTA FOLZ
Glendale girl just back from trip abroad, who declares that American tourists to Passion Play are not over-charged. She had the honor of being entertained in the home of Anton Lang.

American tourists who visit Oberammergau to witness the Passion Play are not over-charged declares Miss Henrietta Folz, 350 West Myrtle street, upon her return to Glendale following a trip abroad.

Accompanying Miss Folz on her trip was an aunt, Mrs. K. F. Bickham, 744 West Seventh street, Los Angeles. They had the honor of being entertained in the home of Anton Lang, who has played the Christ during the last three seasons of the play, being 1900, 1910 and 1922.

Declaring that tickets for their seats at the play cost but thirty-five cents in American money, Miss Folz declared:

"Nowhere in Europe are American tourists treated more fairly."

The villages have been overflowing with tourists all summer. The homes have been crowded, but lodgings have been reasonably priced, according to Miss Folz.

No Production Extravagance
The only production extravagance permitted is in the jeweled and silken costumes, she states.

The actors wear no makeup and no lights are used—the theatre being partially exposed to the sky. The audience sits on plain wooden benches. Even now everything is declared to be as uncommercial as in 1663 when it was vowed to present the Christ-play as a thanksgiving for being spared from the plague.

Impressions of people and places European were sketched in a diary by Miss Folz. Many of these impressions were said to have been written at the convenience of train schedules, which differ in many respects from ours, will report daily for their exercise instead of three times a week. More classes will be formed and it will be possible to segregate pupils who will require special exercises and body building calisthenics in separate units.

ADVANCE REASONS WHY CITY NEEDS NEW CAR LINE

L. Twining of 1900 Canada boulevard, representative of the F. P. Newport company, who declared with enthusiasm that it shouldn't take more than forty-eight hours to put the campaign over.

"Every fellow who is going to get in this has got to get in with a vengeance!" he expostulated.

Lon Haddock of the Haddock-Nibley Realty company of Los Angeles called attention to the fact that real sincerity usually is manifested by enthusiasm. He said that he could not conceive why every person in Glendale should not be enthusiastic over this proposition. He said that so far as he could see the only reason is because some of the residents of the community have not been fully informed of the benefit which would accrue from an additional electric link with Los Angeles.

"Think of the fastest growing city in America being absolutely at the mercy of one street car line!" he exclaimed. "We have got to provide better transportation facilities."

C. W. Ingledue of 632 East Broadway, who presided, called attention to the fact that not a cent of the $25,000 bonus is to be paid to the Glendale & Montrose Railway company until the electric line is actually in operation.

$50,000 GEM ROBBERY
CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Bandits held up Adolph Kunsler, a New York jeweler, in a restaurant today and seized $50,000 worth of diamonds. The men escaped in the crowded traffic. Kunsler was taken to a hospital badly beaten.
