VORWORT.

Eine Schrift wie die vorliegende läuft Gefahr einer doppelten Abneigung zu begegnen. Nicht nur sind die früheren Versuche ägyptischer Etymologen, eine Annäherung an Semitische und Indoeuropäische Etymologie zu vollziehen, von den beiden Gegenständen ihrer verwandtschaftlichen Neigung ziemlich unbeachtet geblieben: auch das mehrfache Unternehmen der Semitisten, ihrerseits Fühlung mit den Indogermanisten zu gewinnen, ist auf reges Misstrauen gestossen, und schliesslich stets abgelehnt worden. Bunsen, Benfey, Brugsch, Lepsius, Annessi, Rossi und andere haben vergeblich theils ägyptisch-semitische, theils ägyptisch-semitisch-indoeuropäische Sprachverwandtschaften herzustellen gesucht; Meier, Raumer, Fürst brauchen nur genannt zu werden, um das Schicksal der neueren ebräischen Avancen an die Arier zu kennzeichnen.

Unter solchen Umständen wäre es unnütz, den nachfolgenden Blättern eine andere Rechtfertigung mitgeben zu wollen, als sie für sich selber enthalten möchten. Es sei nur bemerkt, dass der Beweis auf Grund der ägyptischen Laut- und Stammwandlungslehre angetreten wird, wie sie in ihren Hauptpunkten in der Dritten Abtheilung dargestellt, resp. angezogen ist; dass die gleichmässige Anwendung dieser Laut- und Stammwandlungslehre auf das Ägyptische, Semitische und Indoeuropäische eine ursprüngliche wesentliche Gemeinsamkeit der Wurzeln und der Laut-, Stamm- und Sinnbildungsgesetze in den drei Gruppen ergibt; und dass die Sondergesetze der drei Gruppen, die nach der Trennung entstanden, demnach als das Sonderleben derselben beherrschend, das ursprüngliche Werden des vorher nach gemeinsamen Gesetzen Gestalteten aber nicht tangirend erkannt werden.

Diesen Sondergesetzen die alten gemeinsamen Gesetze hinzuzufügen; sie mit ägyptischer Hülfe in den beiden anderen Sprachgruppen, in denen sie ohne dieselbe nicht mehr nachweisbar sind, darzulegen; und somit ältere und weitere Verwandtschaften zu statuiren, ohne der gesetzlichen Grundlage der neueren und engeren zu nahe zu treten, ist der Zweck des Wörterbuchs. Die Einleitung enthält die Begründung.

Wenn das Ägyptische sein Versprechen hält, so wird es seine Zusammengehörigkeit mit dem Semitischen und Arischen dadurch erweisen, dass es, wie Pott in seiner grundlegenden Besprechung von Max Müller's Kennzeichen der Sprachverwandtschaft verlangt, nicht bloss zu einzelnen Worten dieser Idiome stimmt, sondern ihren entgegengesetzten etymologischen Bedürfnissen entspricht und sie somit beide unter 'einander und mit sich vereint.

Die längeren Reihen der angeführten Lautwechselbeispiele enthalten viele Fälle, welche in mehreren kürzeren ebenfalls zu verzeichnen gewesen wären, und bei den letzteren demnach zu ergänzen sind. Gelegentlich ist darauf besonders hingewiesen worden; hier sei im allgemeinen bemerkt, dass die verwandten Reihen sich in der genannten Weise gegenseitig stützen. Ueberhaupt sind, um nicht jedesmal einen allzu grossen Theil der Verwandtschaft aufs neue erwähnen zu müssen, die Anführungen der Lautwechsel gewöhnlich auf das nächste beschränkt. Der Index, für dessen Herstellung ich Herrn Dr. Georg Steindorff zu grossem Danke verpflichtet bin, zeigt die weitere Sippe, und ist somit eine wesentliche Ergänzung der Beispiele. Eine ungleich umfassendere Beispielsammlung zum Lautwechsel wird das Wörterbuch selbst bieten.

Die etymologische Theilung der Worte ist gewöhnlich nicht absolut, sondern relativ bezeichnet worden, soweit die eben verglichenen Worte es forderten.

Herr Stud. theol. et phil. Max Müller hat die Güte gehabt, mich bei der Correctur zu unterstützen.

Pillnitz, im Herbst 1884.

VIERTE ABTHEILUNG.

Aegyptisch-Semitisch-Indoeuropäische Sprachverwandtschaft . 365—393

ERSTE ABTHEILUNG.

Vergleichende Lexikographie und vergleichende Grammatik.

Da es Sitte geworden ist, Sprachvergleichung abzulehnen, es sei denn dass sie auf Gemeinsamkeit des grammatischen Systems und Lauts gestützt werden kann, so möchte es nicht überflüssig sein, die Erinnerung an Wilhelm von Humboldt's Urtheil über diesen Punkt zu beleben. Die Ansicht des grossen Philologen ist enthalten in seinem Essay on the best means of ascertaining the Affinities of Oriental languages (Transactions of the Royal Asiatic Society, June 1828) und lautet wie folgt:

„I confess that I am extremely averse to the system which proceeds on the supposition that we can judge of the affinities of languages merely by a certain number of ideas expressed in the different languages which we wish to compare. I beg you will not suppose, however, that I am insensible to the value and utility of these comparisons; on the contrary, when they are well executed, I appreciate all their importance; but I can never deem them sufficient to answer the end for which they have been undertaken; they certainly form a part of the data to be taken into account in deciding on the affinity of languages; but we should never be guided by them alone, if we wish to arrive at a solid, complete and certain conclusion. If we would make ourselves acquainted with the relation which subsists between two languages, we ought to possess a thorough and profound knowledge of each of them. This is a principle dictated alike by common sense, and by that precision acquired by the habit of scientific research.

I do not mean to say that if we are unable to attain a profound knowledge of each idiom we should on this account entirely suspend our judgment: I only insist, that we should not prescribe to ourselves arbitrary limits, and imagine that we are forming our judgment on a firm basis, while it is in reality insufficient.

The method of comparing a certain number of words of one existing language with those of several others has always the two-fold inconvenience of neglecting entirely the grammatical relations, as if the grammar was not as essential a part of the language as the words; and of taking from the language which we wish to examine, isolated words selected not according to their affinities and natural etymology but according to the ideas which they express. Sir James Mackintosh very justly observes that the affinity of two languages is much better proved, when whole families of words resemble each other, than when this is the case with single words only. But how shall we recognise families of words in foreign languages, if we only select from them two or three hundred isolated terms? There undoubtedly subsists among words of the same language an analogy of meanings and forms of combination easy to be perceived. It is from this analogy considered in its whole extent and compared with the analogy of the words of another language that we discover the affinity of two idioms, as far as it is recognizable in their vocabularies. It is in this manner alone that we recognize the roots and the methods by which each language forms its derivatives. The comparison of two languages requires that we should examine whether and in what degree the roots and derivative terms are common to both. It is not then by terms expressive of general ideas, such as sun, moon, man, woman etc., that we must commence the comparison of two languages, but by their entire dictionary critically explained. The simple comparison of a certain number of words, by reducing the examination of languages too much to a mere mechanical labour, often leads us to omit examining sufficiently the words which form the subjects of our comparison; and to avoid this defect we are forced to enter deeply into all the minutiae of grammar, separating the words from their grammatical affixes, and comparing only what is really essential to the expression of the idea which they represent. The words of which we seek a translation in different languages often cannot be rendered except by a compound term. Thus the sun in some languages is called the father, the author, the star etc. of the day. It is evident that in these cases we no longer compare the same words, but words altogether different.

To conclude: it is impossible to form a correct judgment on the resemblance of sounds, without having carefully studied the system of sounds of each of the languages which we would compare. There occur often between different languages, and still more frequently between different dialects, regular transformations of letters, by which we can discover the identity of words, that at first view seem to have but a very slight resemblance in sound. On the other hand, a great resemblance of sound in two words will sometimes prove nothing, or leave the judgment in great uncertainty, if it be not supported by a train of analogies for the permutations of the same letters. What I have remarked proves, as I think, that even if we confine ourselves to the comparison of a certain number of words in different languages, it is still necessary to enter more deeply into their structure, and to apply ourselves to the study of their grammar.

But further I am quite convinced that it is only by an accurate examination of the grammar of languages that we can pronounce a decisive judgment on their true affinities. Languages are the true images of the modes in which nations think and combine their ideas. The manner of this combination represented by the grammar is altogether as essential and characteristic, as are the sounds applied to objects, that is to say, the words. The form of language being quite inherent in the intellectual faculties of nations, it is very natural that one generation should transmit theirs to that which follows it; while words being simple signs of ideas may be adopted by races altogether distinct.

If I attach great importance, however, under this view, to the grammar of a language, I do not refer to the system of grammar in general, but to grammatical forms considered with respect to their system and their sounds taken conjointly. If two languages, such for instance as the Sanscrit and the Greek, exhibit grammatical forms which are identical in arrangement and have a close analogy in their sounds, we have an incontestable proof that these two languages belong to the same family. If, on the contrary, two languages do contain a great number of words in common, but have no grammatical identity, their affinity becomes a matter of great doubt; and if their words have, like those of the Basque and the Latin, an essentially different character, these two languages certainly do not belong to the same family. The words of the one have been merely transplanted into the other which has nevertheless retained its primitive forms.“

Wilhelm von Humboldt geht also in diesen, im einzelnen nicht immer ganz durchsichtigen, im Zusammenhang aber völlig verständlichen Bemerkungen von der Ansicht aus, dass da ein ganzes System grammatischer Formen schwerer übertragen werden kann, als eine Anzahl einzelner Worte, die Gleichheit der Beugungen ein verlässlicheres Kennzeichen der Verwandtschaft ist, als der gemeinsame Besitz selbst einer grossen Menge von Worten. Wir können es dahin gestellt sein lassen, ob sich diese Anschauung als eine allgemein gültige aufrecht erhalten lassen wird, seitdem es bekannt geworden, dass es in Afrika Sprachen mit verschiedenem Lexikon und gleicher Flexion zu geben scheint; jedenfalls ist Humboldt's Ansicht von den beiden Mitteln der Sprachvergleichung nur eine relative, und schliesst das Kriterium des Wörterbuchs nicht aus. Was er verwirft, ist nur die Vergleichung einer willkürlichen Auslese von Worten, unverbunden durch Sinn, ungeprüft in Bezug auf den Ursprung ihrer Bedeutung und die Veränderung ihrer Laute im Laufe der Zeit. Wo ganze Wortfamilien verglichen werden; wo die Stämme blossgelegt, in Sinn und Laut übereinstimmend gefunden, und in ihren Ableitungen als gleichartig entwickelt erkannt werden, da hält auch er den Beweis der lexikalischen Verwandtschaft für geführt. Mit einem Worte, er sichert die Rechte der damals erstehenden Vergleichenden Sprachwissenschaft gegen die gemischten Collectaneen der unmittelbar vorhergehenden Periode, wie Adelung's Mithridates und andere; aber er bezweifelt nicht den Werth der Wurzel- und Stammvergleichung, wenn man nach gehöriger grammatischer Behandlung nur sicher sein kann, Wurzeln und Stämme wirklich herausgeschält zu haben, und wenn man sie dann nicht in zerrissenen Fetzen, sondern in lautlich und geistig zusammengehörigen Reihen untersucht.

Es ist klar, dass dies das einzige Mittel der Sprachvergleichung für diejenige Periode sein, und für immer verbleiben, muss, in denen die Flexion noch gar nicht, oder noch wenig gestaltet gewesen ist. Die Existenz einer solchen Periode wird, abgesehen von dem Zeugnis isolirender und agglutinirender Sprachen, durch die Natur der Flexion selbst erwiesen. Was durch Composition entstanden, setzt das vorgängige selbstständige Bestehen seiner Theile voraus, und da diese schwierigen Prozesse sich nur allmählig vollzogen haben können, so wird für Wurzelschaffung, Flexionsversuche und Flexionsgestaltung je ein beträchtlicher Zeitraum anzusetzen sein. Es ist also von vornherein äusserst wahrscheinlich, dass es Sprachstämme giebt, welche ihre Wurzeln gemeinsam schufen, zur Zeit der Flexionsbildung aber schon getrennt waren, und demnach, in ihren Wurzeln mehr oder weniger eins, in ihren Beugungen mehr oder weniger verschieden sind.

Diese Folgerung wird durch das gegenseitige Verhältniss des Aegyptischen, Semitischen und Indoeuropäischen, wie es sich im Licht der nunmehrigen ägyptischen Laut- und Stammeslehre darstellt, thatsächlich bestätigt. Schon Bunsen erkannte dies (Three Dissertations p. 268 ff. Outlines I. 177. 190. 476. II. 4.), obgleich das hieroglyphische Material zu seiner Zeit zu dürftig entziffert, und das koptische zu wenig berücksichtigt war, um den Beweis der Stammgemeinschaft, den Delitzsch (Indogermanisch-Semitische Wurzelverwandschaft S. 12) vermisst, zu führen. Benfey berührt in seiner Schrift „Ueber das Verhältniss der Aegyptischen Sprache zum Semitischen Sprachstamme“ p. VII und 191 denselben Punkt in ähnlichem Sinne, und Bunsen, von Pott in seinen Etymologischen Forschungen II 91. citirt, nennt es einen engherzigen Satz, der nur in der Sphäre näherer Sprachverwandschaft, aber nicht darüber hinaus Gültigkeit besitzt, dass die Affinität der grammatischen Formen allein zur Annahme von Wurzelverwandschaft berechtigt.

Werden die Laut- und Sinngesetze des Aegyptischen, wie sie in der nachstehenden Dritten Abtheilung und in des Verf. Kopt. Untersuchungen S. 617—710 in ihren wesentlichen Zügen gesammelt, recapitulirt und belegt worden sind, auf die Semitischen und Indo-Europäischen Sprachen angewandt, so ergibt sich, dass die Stämme derselben den gleichen Gesetzen unterliegen und auf Wurzeln zurückführen, welche den ägyptischen grösstentheils identisch sind. Von denselben Wurzeln ausgehend, und denselben Laut- und Sinngesetzen in ihrer Stammbildung gehorchend, haben die drei Sprachfamilien häufig dieselben Wortgestaltungen hervorgebracht, noch häufiger aber mannigfaltige, im Aegyptischen nebeneinander erhaltene, oder als gesetzliche Sprossen erhaltener Stämme nachgewiesene Bildungen über die einzelnen Glieder der grossen Sippe vertheilt.

Was das Aegyptische für diesen Zweck so werthvoll macht, ist eben, dass es mannigfache bi- und trilitere Laut-, Stamm- und Sinnbildungsvarianten seiner Wurzeln nebeneinander und gesetzlich in einander übergehend erhalten hat, und somit Zusammenhang zeigt, wo die entwickelteren Schwestersprachen bereits gesonderte Laute, Bedeutungen und Stämme, die nicht mehr, oder nicht mehr in demselben Grade mit einander wechseln können, besitzen. Allerdings will dies nicht sagen, dass jede im Aegyptischen gesetzlich mögliche, und in den Schwestersprachen auftretende Stammbildungsvariante deshalb auch im Aegyptischen vorhanden war, oder erhalten ist; aber das Aegyptische sichert durch seine vielen vollständigen und zusammenhängenden Belege das Gesetz auch in den Fällen, in denen ein Theil derselben in den Schwestersprachen allein vorliegt. Alle in den angeestellten Vergleichen enthaltenen nicht-ägyptischen Worte entsprechen demnach entweder angeführten ägyptischen, oder sind auf dieselben zurückzuführen durch Gesetze, die im Aegyptischen nachgewiesen wurden, und die, wie sich an der Hand dieses Nachweises zeigt, in allen noachidischen Sprachen gemeinsam erhalten sind. Der ganze Sinn dieser Vergleichen lässt sich in den einen Satz zusammenfassen, dass sämmtliche in ihnen angeführte nicht-ägyptische Worte theils gleichzeitig ägyptische sind, theils es insofern sein könnten, als sie von Wurzeln abstammen und in ihren wesentlichen Zügen nach Stamm-, Laut- und Sinnbildungsgesetzen geschaffen sind, welche aus der gemeinsamen Ursprache im Aegyptischen zusammenhängender erhalten vorliegen, als in einer der anderen. Aegyptisch tritt damit als der ursprünglichste erkennbare Nachkomme einer Muttersprache hervor, die gleichzeitig in ganzen Reihen anderer, entwickelterer und einseitig verhärteterer Sprachen erhalten ist, deren trennende Sonderungen es in seiner wandelbaren Fülle einschliesst, erklärt und eint. Ob diese Muttersprache nun an einem Orte, oder an verschiedenen gleichartig entstanden, Gleichartigkeit ist jedenfalls vorhanden.

Nach allem Gesagten werden durch die Lautgesetze ihrer engeren Familie verbunden nur diejenigen Worte in unseren Vergleichen erscheinen können, welche einem in die verschiedenen Zweige dieser Familie gleichlautend übergegangenen Stamm entspringen, und demnach der späteren gleichmässigen Familienbehandlung ihres gleichmässigen Materials unterlagen; wo Worte dagegen an verschiedenen, wenn auch verwandten Stämmen der Ursprache gewachsen sind, muss es unthunlich sein, ihre verwandtschaftlichen Beziehungen nach dem, zur Zeit ihrer Schaffung noch nicht existirenden Lautgesetz der Familie zu beurtheilen, in der sie auftreten. In diesem Falle kommen die Lautgesetze der Muttersprache zur Geltung, welche die nachmaligen Familien noch ungetrennt enthielt, nicht die der Familien, die erst später entstanden. Lassen sich also zwei Worte nach den Laut-, Stamm- und Sinnbildungsgesetzen der gemeinsamen Ursprache, aber nicht nach denen der einzelnen Familie, oder Familien, in welcher sie sich finden, zusammenstellen, so ist ihre Erhaltung in den verschiedenen älteren Varianten, die der Urzeit möglich waren, erwiesen; umgekehrt, stimmt die Vergleichung zweier Worte zu den Gesetzen ihrer Familie oder Familien, so werden sie entweder denen der Ursprache gleichzeitig gehorchen, oder, in anderen Fällen, denselben widersprechen können. Im ersteren Fall können sie ihre vorliegende Gestalt sowohl schon aus der Ursprache in die Familie mitgebracht, oder erst gemeinsam in der Familie angenommen haben; im letzteren kann nur das letztere geschehen sein. Viele Worte, die man mit den Lautgesetzen ihrer engeren Familie nicht auf ihre nächste Verwandtschaft zurückführen konnte, und deshalb fernerliegenden oder fremden anknüpfte, werden durch die erkannten Lautgesetze der älteren gemeinsamen Ursprache diesen unangemessenen Verbindungen entzogen und ihrer wirklichen Sippe zurückgegeben.

Alle unsere Vergleichenungen halten sich innerhalb der nächsten Bedeutungsübergänge. Man übersieht beim Etymologisiren nur zu oft, dass nicht nur die Laut- sondern auch die Bedeutungsgesetze jeder Sprache zu beachten sind; man wirft, während man Hauchunterschiede in Regeln zu fassen sucht, in den Tropenreihen die ganze Welt nur allzu gewöhnlich bunt durcheinander. Und zwar in allen Sprachen mit derselben Willkür, da das Dasein eigenthümlicher Normen in jeder zu wenig in Betracht gezogen wird. Die Erklärung dieses Verfahrens liegt in der häufig auftretenden Unmöglichkeit, mit den Mitteln des Semitischen und Indoeuropäischen allein die in der Bedeutung nahe stehenden Worte lautlich aneinanderzubringen, so dass dann, was nach Semitischer und Indogermanischer Phonetik verwandt genannt werden darf, faute de mieux auch in den Bedeutungen zusammengekuppelt wird, seien auch die kühnsten und unbelegtesten Metaphern dazu erforderlich. Die Zeit ist hoffentlich nicht allzu fern, wo man in jedem Sprachstamm, wie in jeder Sprache, ebensowohl eine Semasiologie wird aufstellen können, wie eine Phonologie. Bis dahin heisst es sich Bopp's Warnung in seiner Vergl. Zergliederung des Sanskrit I erinnern: „Wenn man auf zu entfernte Bedeutungs-Beziehungen ein Gewicht legt, welche Worte wären dann nicht verwandt? So lange zwei Wörter nicht ganz das Gegentheil von einander ausdrücken, müssen ihre Bedeutungen irgend einen Berührungspunkt darbieten“.

Nach den Puranas und anderen mythischen Schriften der Brahmanen übergab Satyaurata, der indische Noah, seinem Sohne Sharma das Nilland welcher dasselbe nach langer Wanderung mit seinen arischen Genossen besetzte. Eusebius und Philostratus erzählen das Gleiche von den Aethiopen, wie sie die Aegypter nennen. Philostratus zumal führt die ägyptische Weisheit auf die indische zurück: „Sapientissimi mortalium Indi sunt; coloni autem eorum Aethiopes“.*

* Philostr. Vita Apoll. III, 20, IV, 6. Rühle von Lilienstern, Graph. Darstellungen 197 ff. Uhlemann, Aegypt. Alterthumskunde III, 59.

Diesen alten Zeugen haben sich seit Wiederbelebung der ägyptischen Studien fast alle ägyptischen Etymologen angeschlossen. In demselben Jahre 1808, in welchem Quatremère in seinen Recherches sur la langue et la littérature de l'Égypte einerseits die Unsicherheit aller etymologischen Forschung behauptete „la recherche des etymologies est par elle-même extrêmement hasardeuse et conjecturale“, andererseits aber dennoch die bestimmte Aufstellung nicht scheute, „que la langue Egyptienne est une langue mère qui n'a de rapport avec aucune autre“, gab Rossi seine berühmten Etymologiae Aegypticae heraus. In seiner Vorrede sprach der italienische Forscher diese denkwürdigen Worte: „Ex hoc studio in quo sum diu multumque versatus, ex diligenti ista verborum seu nominum comparatione factum est, ut Aegyptium sermonem qui a caeteris aliarum gentium linguis quam longissime distare a multis putabatur, cum iis certe quarum in Oriente usus erat, in plurimis convenire ac congruere deprehenderem; unde aliquod veluti lumen ad illius antiquitates sive origines investigandas accendi videretur“. Diese Ansicht ist freilich nicht durchgedrungen, weil der Verfasser das Hebräische für die heilige, und somit ältere Sprache haltend, die Lautgesetze des Ägyptischen nicht erforschte, und vielleicht nicht einmal erforscht haben würde, selbst wenn sie zu seiner Zeit überhaupt schon erkennbar gewesen wären. Die Fülle des Scharfsinns und der Gelehrsamkeit, welche er aber trotzdem in seiner Arbeit entfaltete, führte zu so vielen glänzenden Identificirungen semitischen und hamitischen Sprachgutes, dass eine Isolirung des Ägyptischen von Ägyptologen wenigstens seit seiner Schrift kaum mehr angenommen wurde. Ulrich Kopp, welcher wenige Jahre darauf in seiner Palaeographia critica denselben Gegenstand behandelte, gelangte durch Vergleichung von 400 koptischen und hebräischen Worten zu der Erkenntniss einer gemeinsamen Quelle: „probabilior igitur mihi quidem conjectura videtur communem utrique linguae fuisse fontem“. Dies Ergebniss wurde von Schwartz, dem grössten Philologen, der je Ägyptisch getrieben, nicht nur bestätigt, sondern erweitert. „Die Vereinigung aller dieser Umstände“, sagt Schwartz, Altes Ägypten 1033, „lässt mich Kopp's Meinung nicht nur beipflichten sondern die gemeinschaftliche Quelle über die Grenzen des gesammten Semitismus hinaus, auf den Ausgangspunkt des Indogermanischen Sprachstammes ausdehnen“. Mit derselben Entschiedenheit spricht sich Bunsen aus in „Aegypten's Stellung in der Weltgeschichte“ V, 1, 112: „Prof. Dietrich hat die Gesetze für die Bildung der vierbuchstabigen semitischen Wurzeln aus den dreibuchstabigen zur Anschauung zu bringen gesucht. Meine Zusammenstellung aller dreibuchstabigen Wurzeln lässt mir keinen Zweifel, dass es vielleicht noch geringere Schwierigkeiten der Forschung und etwas gründlichere Sprachphilosophie kostet, das Wichtigste nachzuweisen, nämlich jene frühere Bildung der dreibuchstabigen aus den zweibuchstabigen. Die Thatsache selbst ist für mich über allen Zweifel erhaben. Ich habe mich von drei wichtigen Punkten überzeugt. Erstlich, dass man, um diesen Preis zu erringen, aus dem, was geschichtlich semitisch heisst, hinausgehen muss, wie auch Ewald schon lange vorhergesagt hat. Zweitens, dass hierbei das Ägyptische noch wichtiger ist, als das Arische. Drittens, dass die Arischen Sprachen in einigen Stämmen das Älteste am treuesten aufbewahrt, also nicht übergangen werden dürfen.“ Und weiterhin S. 114. „Die grössere Hälfte aller uns erhaltenen alt- und neuägyptischen Wörter lässt sich nachweisen als geschichtlich, also blutsverwandtschaftlich mit dem Semitischen verbunden, und in den Urstämmen ebenso oft mit dem Arischen. Das Ägyptische bildet oft die Brücke zwischen beiden, welche bis jetzt fehlte.“ Bunsen giebt sodann auf Grundlage der Rossi'schen, und mit Beihülfe der Dietrich'schen Arbeiten ein vergleichendes ägyptisch-ebraïisches Vocabular, von dem er S. 116 sagt: „Meine Arbeit selbst ist nach zwei Grundsätzen gemacht: erstlich, dass keine Lautähnlichkeit als geschichtlich angenommen werden darf ohne erkenntliche und nachweisliche Analogie; zweitens, dass abgeleitete Bedeutungen oder gar spätere Bildungsbuchstaben und Sylben nicht mit in die Vergleichung gezogen werden dürfen.“ Von diesen beiden Requisiten wird das erste nicht durch eine systematische Lautlehre, sondern durch die wenigen Beispiele des vergleichenden Vocabulars, und die fragmentarischen Bemerkungen des Prof. Dietrich dargeboten; das letztere beschränkt sich auf einige Worte über einige Affixe. Somit war das Resultat vorauszusehen, trotzdem das Ziel erkannt, und die Methode, allgemein gesprochen, richtig, war.

Auch Lepsius trat in die Reihe der Vorkämpfer einer ägyptisch-semitisch-indoeuropäischen Spracheinheit. Über seine Betheiligung sagt Bunsen, Outlines of the philosophy of history I, 177:

„It seems to me to result from this preliminary view of the nature of languages, that we must leave the strictly grammatical comparisons entirely out of the question, as soon as we extend our researches beyond the nearest degree of affinity Lepsius, in his Essay on the numerals, and Dr. Charles Meyer, in his review of Champollion and Lepsius's Hieroglyphic Researches have practically rendered evident the insufficiency of the old system. They have established the fact beyond all doubt, that there exists an undeniable community of living roots between the two (Semitic and Indo-European) families. They have shown that in many instances the Egyptian roots present the intermediate link between both, as well in words as in forms. Lepsius has proved this as to the Numerals, and Meyer has clearly indicated other identical roots.“

Professor Lepsius hat viele Jahre später in seinem Standard Alphabet denselben Standpunkt eingenommen, und das Aegyptische als gender-language zu den anderen Hauptsprachen der kaukasischen Rasse, den arischen und semitischen, classificirt. Ihm folgten Brugsch, der in seinem Wörterbuch Ägyptisch, Semitisch und Arisch vielfach nebeneinanderstellt, Benfey, Stern, Maspero, der berühmte Director des Museums von Bulaq, und fast jeder Ägyptolog, welcher den Gegenstand berührte. Die gegenwärtige Arbeit will von Einzelvergleichen, wie sie sich der lexikalischen Behandlung aufdrängen, zu einer systematischen Grundlage in Laut- und Stammbildungslehre übergehen.

ZWEITE ABTHEILUNG.

Ueber Wurzeldeterminative und Pluriliteren.

Die Theorie der Wurzeldeterminative in den semitischen und sanskritischen Sprachen gründet sich auf zwei Erscheinungen. Ähnlich bedeutende Wurzeln von gleichem Lautumfange stimmen in dem, oder den, anlautenden Consonanten überein, gehen aber im auslautenden auseinander; oder ähnlich bedeutende Wurzeln von ungleichem Lautumfange stimmen in dem, oder den, anlautenden Consonanten überein, übertreffen aber die eine die andere um einen auslautenden. Im ersteren Fall soll der gemeinsame erste Theil beider Wurzeln die Urwurzel, sollen die verschiedenen Schlußtheile die verschiedenen Determinative sein: im letzteren Fall wird die kürzere Wurzel als die ursprüngliche, der überschüssige auslautende Consonant der längeren Wurzel als das Determinativ angesehen. Gelänge es, diese angeblichen Determinative als selbstständige, verkürzte Bedeutungselemente nachzuweisen, und die so erkannte Bedeutung in ihrem nüancirenden Einfluss auf den Sinn der Wurzel regelmässig wiederzufinden, so wären Entstehung, Dasein und Werth solcher consonantischen Auslaute festgestellt; würde nur die zweite Bedingung erfüllt, so wäre mindestens der Bedeutungswerth auslautender consonantischer Ansätze erkannt, und die Wahrscheinlichkeit ihrer Entstehung auf dem erwähnten Wege gegeben; ist aber keines von beiden der Fall, so haben wir es trotzdem immer noch mit einer Hypothese zu thun, die auf rationellen Voraussetzungen ruhend, annehmbar genug erscheint, so lange keine ebenbürtige, oder bessere Erklärung vorhanden ist, oder kein Gegenbeweis geführt wird.

Die Thatsachen haben zu solchen Versuchen anhaltend eingeladen. Um nur einige der wichtigsten Stimmen anzuführen, so sagt

Gesenius über die semitischen Triliteren in seinem Ausf. Lehrgebäude, 183. 184:

„So durchgreifend indess diese trilitere Gleichförmigkeit sein mag, so sind doch mehrere Erscheinungen vorhanden, welche es gewiss machen, dass sie nicht ursprünglich ebenso allgemein gewesen, sondern erst etwas später, wengleich immer noch in der Jugendzeit der Sprache, durch eine Art grammatischer Reflexion zu Stande gebracht sei. Diese Erscheinungen sind folgende: (Es werden dann aufgezählt a. Verdoppelung des auslautenden Consonanten, Hinzufügung der beweglichen Vokalbuchstaben. Anfügung des z ; b. einsylbige, nur orthographisch verlängerte Wurzeln c. Verben, die nur die zwei ersten Stammconsonanten gemein, den dritten aber verschieden haben).“

Bopp, auf diese Ausführungen Bezug nehmend, äussert sich in seiner Vergl. Zergliederung des Sanskrit, Erste Abth. S. 14:

„Dass dem Zustande, worin wir die Semitischen Sprachen kennen, ein älterer vorausgehen konnte, in welchem das Gesetz der Zweisylbigkeit noch nicht ausgebildet war, soll keineswegs bestritten werden, und mit dem was Gesenius in seinem Ausführl. Lehrgeb. 183. 184. sagt, bin ich vollkommen einverstanden.“

Grill, in seinem grossen Werk über das Semitische, gelangt (S. 445) zu folgenden Schlüssen:

„Gegen die Ursprünglichkeit der Triliteren und Pluriliteren sprechen insbesondere folgende Erscheinungen. Eine zumal im Arabischen beliebte Quadriliterform ist diejenige, die gradezu als Doppelbiliteren sich darstellt, مدمم, زليل, גדגד . Man kann und muss wohl freilich solche Formen zunächst auf Triliteren nach der Form גל, זל u. s. w. zurückführen, allein die Quadriliterform veräth eben deutlich genug, dass die Triliterenbildung nicht ihre eigentliche Wurzel, sondern nur ein Mittelglied ist, das selber auf der biliteren Wurzelform beruht, und die Reihe gl, gll, gl gl stellt gewissermassen die Wurzel gl nebst zweifacher Potenzirung vor, was ursprünglich ebenso in begrifflicher, wie in lautlicher Beziehung seine Geltung hat. Eine zweite Erscheinung ist uns damit schon in die Hände gespielt: es sind die so überaus häufigen Triliteren nach der Form גלל d. h. mit Verdoppelung des zweiten Radikals (Verba ג' ע'). Dass in diesen Wurzeln der Begriff vollkommen durch eine Bilitere bestimmt ist, lässt sich in keiner Weise in Abrede stellen; der Grundbegriff wird durch die Erhebung der Bilitere zur Trilitere nur in sofern determinirt, als er verstärkt und so zu sagen bestätigt wird. Hieran reiht sich als eine dritte charakteristische Erscheinung das nachweislich sehr vielfache Vorkommen von Wurzelreihen mit identischem ersten und zweiten Radikal und starkem Wechsel des dritten, wobei übrigens überall in den verschiedenen Bedeutungen eine identischer Grundbegriff hervortritt. Man vergleiche z. B. קצב, קבץ, קצה, קצר, קבע, קבו, קצה. In allen diesen Triliteren dominirt der Grundbegriff des Abschneidens, Abtrennens. Dieser Begriff kann nicht an dem zweiten und dritten Radikal haften, sondern nur am ersten und zweiten. Die Gruppe קץ muss also irgendwie und irgendeinmal im Semitischen an und für sich schon die Bestimmtheit erlangt haben, dass sich in ihr der Begriff des Abschneidens ausdrückte, und alles was in den Triliteren an diese Gruppe angetreten ist, kann nur secundäre Bedeutung haben, d. h. den Grundbegriff so oder so modificiren.“

Ahnliche Urtheile fällen indoeuropäische Etymologen, obschon die Erscheinung auf ihrem Gebiet bei dem weniger zahlreichem Auftreten von Triliteren, und zumal von ähnlich bedeutenden, nur in einem Laut differenzirten Triliteren, nicht so dringend zur Erklärung aufforderte. Dennoch ist der Versuch, den Bedeutungswerth der Determinative festzustellen, sowohl im Semitischen als im Indoeuropäischen längst als ein hoffnungsloser anerkannt, und, mit einer weiter unten zu erwähnenden speciellen Ausnahme, niemals auch nur in einigen Umfange gemacht worden. Ancessi, in seinen Adformantes dans les langues semitiques, resümirt in entschlossener Weise:

„Mais, dira-t-on, au lieu d'expliquer la nuance de sens, qu'apporte l'adformante au thème bilittère par le son de cette consonne, ne serait-il pas plus naturel et plus logique, de voir dans cet élément nouveau ajouté au radical le debris d'un mot, d'un verbe, qui se serait plus ou moins atrophié, mais qui aurait encore conservé sous cette forme réduite le sens du radical? L'adformante, en un mot, ne seraitelle qu' un son, ou représenterait-elle un sens? A priori, cette explication semble plus vraisemblable. Mais l'examen attentif des adformantes ne permet pas de l'admettre. Les adformantes ne sont que des sons et non des thèmes verbaux; elles représentent un ton, et non pas une idée. La gamme des adformantes, en effet, est trop graduée; les transitions sont trop ménagées pour qu'il soit possible, d'y voir autre chose qu'une série de notes: פרא, פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה. — פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה. — פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה, פרה. A coté de l'Hebreu, l'Arabe a ses gutturales, ses dentales, ses sifflantes supplémentaires, qui prennent rang sur cette échelle et garnissent les interstices étroits restés encore vides: فلج, فلح, فلي, فل. Et ce ne sont pas des mots forgés à plaisir pour le besoin d'un système; ils existent tous; ils ont tous une place dans le dictionnaire — "فطرط, فطر, فطرص, فطرت, فطرز, فطرش, فطرس —"

Das heisst, a priori lässt es sich nicht absehen, warum die angehängten Laute, da sie doch nüanciren, nicht die Reste selbstständiger, nüancirter Bedeutungselemente sein sollen; a posteriori ist die Aufgabe, sie auf solche Elemente zurückzuführen, indess so unmöglich, dass Annessi auf den Gedanken kommt, sie für musikalische Anhängsel, für interjectionsartige Empfindungslaute zu halten.

Die gelehrte und geistvolle Präfixtheorie des Prof. Delitzsch (Jesurun sive Isagoge in gramm. Hebr.) kritisirend, gelangt Pott zu ähnlichen Resultaten in seinen Etymol. Forsch. 2. A. II. 92:

„Die Annahme schwebt in der Luft, so lange nicht für die verschiedenen Consonanten, die angeblich nach Weise von Präfixen vorgeschoben werden, eine für den Verstand erkennbare, oder mindestens noch leidlich fühlbare, Sinnesfärbung nachgewiesen sein wird, welche sie denjenigen Wurzeln ertheilt, denen sie vorgetreten sein sollen.“

In demselben Werke II, 460 begegnet Pott auf indoeuropäischem Gebiete den gleichen Schwierigkeiten:

„Es stösst dies auf nicht geringe Schwierigkeiten, da unverkennbar die Grenzen von Wurzelvariation und von Verben mit z. B. denominativem Charakter sich nicht immer mit der wünschenswerthen Schärfe auseinanderhalten lassen.“

Corssen, Krit. Beitr. 116, sucht vergeblich einen anderen, nach ihm kaum wieder betretenen Weg zu empfehlen:

„Will man einwenden, das d in claudio sei ein blosses sogenanntes Wurzel-determinativ, so kann ich dagegen nur erwidern, einmal, dass ich mir überhaupt kein Suffix vorstellen kann, das nicht einen determinativen, den Begriff der Wurzel näher bestimmenden und ausprägenden Charakter hat, zweitens aber, dass ich mir nicht denken kann, wie blosser kahler Consonant ohne vokalischen Beiklang, für sich allein unsprechbare Lautbestandtheile, keine selbstständige wirkliche Lautwesen, sondern gedachte Lautmonaden, die der grübelnde und zerlegende Geist des Sprachforschers unterschieden hat, die aber für sich allein kein sinnenfälliges oder gedachtes Wesen bezeichnen — wie also diese Consonanten allein an Wurzeln gefügt werden konnten, um deren Bedeutung genauer auszuprägen. Man weiss nicht, woher diese sogenannten Suffixe überhaupt gekommen sein sollen, wenn man nicht annimmt, dass sie einst ein selbstständiges Lautleben und in ihrem Lautleib eine Gedankenseele, einen eigenen Sinn hatten, dass sie dann an die bedeutungsvolleren Wörter des Satzes sich anschlossen, nach Verlust ihres Hochtones allmählich ihre Selbstständigkeit einbüssten, mit jenen untrennbar verwachsen, und nur in der näheren Bestimmung und Ausprägung des Begriffes derselben ein Andenken an ihr ehemaliges selbstständiges Bestehen in der Sprache zurückliessen.“

Demgemäss führt Corssen das d in claudio auf da, dare zurück. Er würde für seine scheinbar völlig rationelle Theorie nicht erst zu streiten haben, wäre man nicht ziemlich allgemein vor dem Wagniss, die Bedeutung und den Ursprung einzelner Consonanten bestimmen zu wollen, zurückgeschreckt. Dies Wagniss würde gross genug sein, wäre die Bedeutung, oder richtiger der Bedeutungseffect der betreffenden Laute auf die Worte, denen sie dienen, immer derselbe; da dies nicht entfernt der Fall ist, so lässt sich die Theorie vielleicht annehmen, aber nimmer in die Praxis übertragen.

Fick in seiner Abhandlung „Wurzeln und Wurzelterminative“ (Vergleich Wörterb. 1. Aufl. IV) giebt nur gelegentliche Andeutungen; Curtius, Gr. Etym. 4. Aufl. S. 71 schliesst die Untersuchung in einsichtiger und entsagender Recapitulation wie folgt:

„Wurzelerweiterung ist eine aller Nominalbildung offenbar vorausgehende Erscheinung, insofern selbst die Ausprägung verschiedener Verbalformen schon erweiterte Stämme voraussetzt. Es ist eine Art Wortbildung vor der Wortbildung, oder mit anderen Worten eine ältere Schicht von Bildungen, über welche sich die in historischer Zeit übliche Flexion und Stammbildung gelagert hat. In Bezug aber auf den Ursprung dieser Zusätze bleibt uns, wenigstens für jetzt, schwerlich etwas anderes übrig, als zu bekennen, dass wir von ihrem Ursprung nichts wissen. Wir stehen hier an einer Grenze, über die unser Erkennen für jetzt wenigstens nicht hinausgeht. Demnach betrachten wir alle diese Laute als solche Elemente, welche, ohne in den Kreis wortbildender Suffixe zu fallen, wie Pott, Etymol. Forsch. I. 172. sagt, dem Principe der Bedeutsamkeit dienen.“

Hiermit werden also die Determinative auch im Indoeuropäischen nicht allein als eine unerwiesene, sondern als eine zunächst unerweisbare Hypothese erklärt.

Dem gegenüber stellen wir die Thatsache, dass sich die ungeheure Ueberzahl dieser angeblich selbstständigen Ansätze drei- und mehrconsonantiger Wurzeln durch die Laut- und Stammbildungslehre des Aegyptischen nicht nur für das Aegyptische, sondern auch, da sich zahlreiche identische Wurzeln in allen drei Gruppen nachweisen lassen, für das Semitische und Indoeuropäische, als An- und Auslautswiederholung zweiconsonantiger mit gesetzmässiger phonetischer Differenzirung erklärt; dass dieser Ursprung dieser Lautgebilde durch die parallele Erhaltung der betreffenden ägyptischen Wurzeln und der ihnen entspringenden erweiterten Stämme dargelegt und im einzelnen erkannt wird; und dass er auf nachweisbare ägyptische Lautgesetze zurückführt. Die nachstehende Dritte Abtheilung, und die folgende Vierte Abtheilung zeigen die Erscheinung an einer Anzahl der wichtigsten ägyptischen, sowie an einigen semitischen und indoeuro-päischen Stämmen; das Wörterbuch wird Belege auf dem weiten gemeinsamen Gebiet zusammenstellen.

Soweit sie ohne Vergleichung des Aegyptischen erkennbar wird, ist die Erscheinung im Indoeuropäischen und Semitischen öfter behandelt worden. Curtius, welcher sie „Gebrochene Reduplication“ nennt, handelt davon in seiner Griech. Etym. 4. Aufl. 299. 302. 361. 470. und in „Tragweite der Lautgesetze“ 17—19. Anlautreduplication im Anlaut im Indogermanischen weist besonders an Schallwörtern nach Pott, Doppelung 210; an Intensivirungen Gerland, Intensiva und Iterativa 44. Einige Beispiele von Anlautreduplication im Auslaut, und Auslautreduplication im Auslaut, ebenfalls für das Indogermanische, hat Pott, Doppelung 215; Fälle der ersten Art für das Indogermanische Gerland Intensiva, 152; Fälle der letzteren Gerland für das Semitische, Intensiva 78, Pott, Doppelung 18. Ueber die Ausdehnung und Bedeutung der Iteration für die Bildung der Sprache spricht Pott, Doppelung 13—24, Gerland, Intensiva S. 151. 171.

Eine selbstständige Entstehung drei- und mehrconsonantiger Wurzeln wird durch ihre häufige Geburt aus zweiconsonantigen natürlich nicht verneint. Zumal solche, welche die drei auch im Aegyptischen gemeinlich unvertauschbaren Gruppen der Gutturalen, Labialen und Liquiden in sich schliessen (von den häufig zweifelhaften Sibilanten und Dentalen nicht zu reden), werden unmittelbaren Ursprung beanspruchen dürfen. Die Unmöglichkeit, die Entstehung von sar, sarp chronologisch zu ordnen, bringt Max Müller (Lectures II. 313); die Unthunlichkeit in פֶּרַר, פֶּרֶן erkennbare Ansätze nachzuweisen, Renan (Hist. des langues sémitiques 89) zu demselben Schluss. Auf indogermanischem Boden besonders empfiehlt Curtius bei Besprechung der „Gebrochenen Reduplication“, die Wurzel determinative zu Gunsten dieser Gebilde einzuschränken (Tragweite der Lautgesetze 17—19). Auch Ewald, in seiner Kritik von Meier's Hebräischem Wurzelwörterbuch, führt vorzugsweise derartige Wurzeln als Beweis von Pluriliteren im Indoeuropäischen an (Götting. Gel. Anz. 1845. 196. St.)

Was die angeblich determinirten zweiconsonantigen betrifft, so reduciren sie sich auf einen Wurzel- und einen Determinativconsonanten, und werden bei dieser Dürftigkeit des zu analysirenden Materials nicht

allgemein aufgestellt. Fick, (Wurzeln und Wurzelterminative, Wörtb. IV.) und Curtius (Chronologie 208) gehen allerdings so weit. Ihnen widerspricht das Aegyptische in manchen Fällen nicht. Die neuesten Erklärungen siehe in Delbrück's Einleitung S. 79—85.

Zum Schluss gelangen wir zu dem, seinerzeit vielbesprochenen Meier'schen Wurzelwörterbuch der Hebräischen Sprache. In wesentlichen Grundsätzen nach allem Obigen richtig, war es dennoch ein vollkommener Fehlschlag. Meier erkannte Anlautsverdopplung in An- und Auslaut und Auslautsverdoppelung im Auslaut mit gleichzeitiger phonetischer Differenzirung der angewucherten Laute als den fruchtbaren Keim der Triliteration. Da aber das Semitische weder die biliteren Wurzeln seiner Triliteren erhalten hat, noch aus sich selbst heraus die behaupteten Lautwandlungen erweisen konnte, so fehlte jeder Maassstab zur Aussonderung der biliteren Urbestandtheile, und die Triliteren hatten völlig willkürlich gespalten zu werden. Das Aegyptische, welches ihm alle Desiderata, Lautgesetz, Urwurzel und erweiterte Wurzel nebeneinander hätte liefern können, wurde von Meier, trotzdem er eine Indoeuropäisch-Semitische Sprachverwandschaft annahm, perhorrescirt (Anhang III.) Das Hieroglyphische war allerdings 1845 noch nicht genügend entziffert, um für etymologische Zwecke verwendbar zu sein; aber ägyptisches Sprachgut und Lautgesetz konnte auch aus den Koptischen in allen wesentlichen Zügen erkannt werden und hat seine Vernachlässigung darum mit Recht gerächt. Bunsen, der schon damals Aegyptisch-Semitisch-Indoeuropäische Wurzeleinheit behauptete (Outlines of the philosophy of history 1, 185), konnte nicht umhin, von Meier's Abweisung des Aegyptischen ironisch zu reden (Ebendasselbst 1, 176). Zu Meiers Irrthümern kommt ferner die Capricirung auf lauter bilitere Primitive, die Annahme von lauter triliteren Perfecten mit Vermischung von Stamm und Flexion, und der ausschweifende Gebrauch, den er von der allerdings hergebrachten Willkür in der Metapherannahme macht. Er giebt das traurige Beispiel einer intuitiven Einsicht in ein Princip, die durch Unkenntniss exoterischer, auf einem anderen Gebiete liegender That-sachen auf Abwege geräth, dadurch gegen gekannte Gesetze des eigenen Stoffes fehlt, und schliesslich nur zu oft zu völlig irrigen

Ergebnissen führt. Dennoch war das Wahre in seinen Grundlagen selbst vom rein semitischen Standpunkt so weit ersichtlich, dass seine herbsten Kritiker es nicht anders als anerkennen konnten. Grill l. c. 441 macht ihm folgende bedeutsame Concessionen:

„Würde Meier unter seiner Reduplication nur so viel verstehen, dass je und je einer der Wurzelconsonanten in den Triliteren doppelt auftrete (eigentlich oder uneigentlich), und diese Erscheinung ausschliesslich mit der verbalen Begriffsbildung, also mit dem materiellen Wesen der Wurzel in Verbindung bringen, so wäre hiergegen nichts zu sagen. Allein wie er die semitischen Urwurzeln sich nach indogermanischem Schnitt einsilbig gedacht hat, so wendet er nun auch den Begriff der Reduplication in indogermanischem Sinn auf das semitische Verbum an, macht die Triliteren aus Wurzeln zu Stämmen, und legt dem dritten, hinzugetretenen Consonanten die rein formale Function der Perfectbildung bei, so dass wir im semitischen Perfect eine allbeherrschende Analogie zur indogermanischen reduplicirten Perfectbildung hätten.“

Und weiter S. 412:

„Was übrigens noch ganz besonders die Meiersche Theorie wiederlegt, ist die ganz unklare und unnatürliche Combination der vermeintlichen Reduplication mit der sog. Stammbildung, die wir deutlicher Wurzel- und Begriffsmodification nennen. Offenbar sind hier die disparatesten Dingen zusammengeworfen: ist in der Wurzel קבד der dritte Consonant Reduplication, so kann er ebendeswegen nicht die ursprüngliche Wurzel begrifflich modificiren, sondern hat eben eine bloss formale Funktion für den Wurzelbegriff.“

Meier konnte sich dieses Irrthums nicht entschlagen, weil derselbe gleichzeitig die Quelle der Wahrheit war, die er besass. Mit dem Aegyptischen ungenügend bekannt, und im Hebräischen die Anwendung des An- und Auslautwiederholungprincipes für stammbildende Zwecke nicht erkennen könnend, kam er nur allzu natürlich darauf, die geschaute Iteration nach indoeuropäischem Muster als Perfectum zu erklären.

Auch Philippi, im „Grundstamm des starken Verbums im Semitischen und sein Verhältniss zur Wurzel“ (Festschrift für Prof.

Fleischer S. 102.) fügt seiner Ablehnung eine halbe Annahme hinzu:

„E. Meier's Reduplicationstheorie ferner, nach der der sogenannte dritte Consonant durch Wiederholung des ersten oder zweiten Wurzelconsonanten der ursprünglichen zweiconsonantigen Wurzel zwecks Bildung eines Perfectstammes, und eventuelle Dissimilation des so wiederholten Lautes entstanden sein soll, ist längst zu den Todten gewandert . . . Bei Lösung dieses Problems muss man sich unseres Erachtens davor hüten, alles über einen Kamm zu scheeren. Das Wurzel-determinativ kann einen sehr verschiedenen Ursprung gehabt haben. In Fällen wie שרש, עלע, כרר etc. טיט, ררר etc. liegen anerkanntermaassen verkürzte Reduplicationsformen vor, שרש aus שרשר טיט aus טיטי etc. In anderer Weise dürfte durch Ausfall des dritten Radicals aus einem שרשר ein שרר, aus כרכר ein כרר entstanden sein. Im Athiopischen sind oft aus den in Rede stehenden Quadriliteris durch Assimilation des zweiten und dritten Consonanten Trilittere hervorgegangen, so qaqaja aus qajâqaja.“

Ebenso lebten in Porges, Verbalstambildung der semitischen Sprachen, die Meier'schen Principien mit einigen neuen Modificationen wieder auf, trotzdem die Anwendung, die er von denselben gemacht, mit Recht eingesargt war. Nirgends kam man aber zu einer eingehenden Durchführung, weil das, was Meier entbehrte, die ursprünglichen Biliteren und das Lautgesetz ihrer iterirten Dissimilation, mit semitischen Mitteln eben nicht zu ermitteln war. Es ist ja klar, dass wollte es seine Wurzeln vervielfältigen, das Semitische zur wesentlich triliteren Bildung gelangen musste. Den Vokalwechsel zur Flexion gebrauchend, vermag es aus je zwei Consonanten nur zwei Wurzeln zu schaffen; dazu ist seine Consonantenentwicklung eine mässige, seine Suffigirungs-, Präfigirungs-, und Compositions-fähigkeit eine geringe, und ein Triliteralismus überdies auch für die Durchführung vokalischer Flexion unumgänglich. Die verwandten Sprachen dagegen konnten sich an einer grösseren Mischung von bi- und triliteren Wurzeln genügen lassen, weil sie in den erwähnten Punkten vom Semitischen mehr oder weniger verschieden sind. Das Hieroglyphische scheut, hauptsächlich in seinen zweiconsonantigen Wurzeln, vor der ausgiebigsten Homonymie noch nicht zurück; das Koptische, theilweis auch schon das Hieroglyphische, differenzirt die somit glücklich bewahrten oder durch das bewahrte Gesetz wiederherstellbaren Biliteren, durch Iteration, Dissimilation und Vokalisierung; während das Indoeuropäische den Vokal fast ausschliesslich zur Wurzelbildung verwerthet, über den reichsten Consonantismus verfügt, und obenein die grösste Leichtigkeit in Vor- Nach- und Zusammensetzungen jeder Art von der ältesten bis in die neueste Zeit bewährt.

DRITTE ABTHEILUNG.

Ueber Aegyptischen Laut- und Wurzelwandel.

In Sinn und Laut ist das Aegyptische von einer Wandelbarkeit, welche in dieser Fülle unseren, aus entwickelteren und gefesteteren Idiomen gezogenen Sprachbegriffen stracks widerspricht.

Nicht allein sind Thun und Leiden, That und Gethanes, Ursache, Mittel und Zweck in den Bedeutungen ziemlich regelmässig vermischt ¹⁾; nicht allein durchschweifen die Metaphern weite Gebiete, in denen nur eine kindliche Auffassung das Uebereinstimmende dem Abweichenden gegenüber vorzugsweise betonen konnte ²⁾; nicht allein finden sich in der älteren Periode eine Anzahl mehr oder weniger gleichsinniger Worte für die nöthigsten Begriffe, und gleichlautender für die verschiedensten Bedeutungen¹⁾: sondern die ersten und nöthigsten Begriffe werden oftmals gradezu mit ihrem Gegentheil in demselben Worte untergebracht²⁾, und haben ohne das Gegentheil ursprünglich nicht gedacht, nicht gefasst werden können. Diese eigenthümlichen Verhältnisse sind des näheren erörtert in des Verf. Abhandlungen über den Ursprung der Sprache, die Unterscheidung sinnverwandter Worte, den Gegensinn der Urworte, den Koptischen Untersuchungen und den Oxford Ilchester Lectures.

1) φωρ scindere, scindi, vulnus; φωρι rumpere, rumpi, truncus; μασι securis, occisus; φωτι abscondere, occasus, Occidens; καθ litera, literae, scriba, doctor, magister; φωρεσ affligere, affligi, afflictio, afflictus; φωτ mactare, mactari, mactatio, victima;  καρ-υ, κλιυ-ι ferire, demot. krap, baculus, κελυ-σ pugnus, ictus, fissura, κελεβ-ιι securis, κρη-ωσ frustum.

2) φωή opus, res, causa, aliquid, negotium, lucrum; κεκε pupilla, caligo, caecitas; demot. kek, caligo, lux, ignis; σφραστ quies, silentium, meditatio, solitudo, vita contemplativa; φωλ vindemia, praeda, auferre, devastare, dens molaris; φωλεετ nurus, sponsa, nuptiae; κη sufficere, deficere, finire, consummare, cessare, sinere, quiescere, permanere; φωνε nuditas, pudor, turpitude, opprobrium, revereri; φωεσ mendicare, orare, laudare, vovere, expiare;  qer-à, funus, nubes, coelum,  kar, pluere, φωλ-ατε avis etc.

Der Flüssigkeit der Bedeutungen entspricht der schwankende Lautstand der Wurzeln. Eine ägyptische Wurzel kann reduplicirt werden (zet, zetzet, sequi). Sie kann, wenn sie einen oder mehrere Consonanten zählt, invertirt werden (teb \wedge \wedge terp, rumpere³⁾); und, wenn sie

1) asez, än, ten, tent, tenn, tenà, àtn, tem, temu, mtes, šā, šāt, šetā, šet, nesp, peht, pez, bezu, behi, sau, us, ush, ust, tes, zab, zeb, zebz, zet, hebt, hent, hesb, sek, sez, usz, asz, seha, keša, also 37 Worte für scindere; äb, saltare, cor, vitulus, murus, abire, ab, poscere, laeva manus, forma, species; zer, subvertere, victima, myrrha, sepulcrum, igitur, navis caerimonialis, vociferare, hostis, impius, subjectus, ferre, victus, ea ratione, illud spectans, per, dum etc.

2) gen, fortis \vee gen, debilis; zenp, capere \vee zenp, dare; tem, includere \vee tem, excludere; terp, prehendere \vee dedicare; sept, destruere \vee sept, construere; osaz unus \vee atque; un, esse \vee un, deesse; coq purgare \vee contaminare; solax scindere \vee adhaerere; zali aliquid \vee nihil; Σ λλοτ collis \vee vallis; cui vox, \vee Σ ουυ junctura \vee Σ i sumere \vee reddere etc.

3) In Bezug auf die Pronominalstämme beobachtet schon Schwartze Alt. Aegypt. 1501 diese Erscheinung. Auch sonst spricht er gelegentlich von „nur metathetischen Verschiedenheiten“, Alt. Aegypt. 1501. Gramm. § 363. Brusch beobachtet einige auffallende Metathesen im Wörterbuch, und bezeichnet sie als „dialektische“ oder „graphische“ Umstellungen. Für die erstere Vermuthung wird ein Beweis nicht angetreten; die letztere Erklärung übersieht sowohl die Häufigkeit der Erscheinung im Hieroglyphischen, als ihre Uebertragung ins Koptische, das keine Bilderbuchstaben mehr hat, also auch keine symmetrische Vertheilung seiner Schriftzeichen beabsichtigen kann.

deren mehr als zwei einschliesst, in zweien, gewöhnlich zwei zunächststehenden, mit oder ohne Gesamtmethese eine Theilumstellung erfahren (ⲡⲱⲛⲉ , ⲡⲱⲛ , jungere). Sie kann ihren Anlaut im An- oder Auslaut wiederholen (Ⲙⲏⲛ sen, Ⲙⲏⲛⲏⲏⲏ s-sen, respirare; ⲛⲉⲗ , ⲛⲉⲗⲛ vestire); und ebenso ihren Auslaut im Auslaut verdoppeln

(Ⲙⲏⲛ mes, Ⲙⲏⲛⲏⲛ mes-s, nasci); und die so verdoppelten Consonanten durch Vokale verknüpfen, und durch den gewöhnlichen Lautwandel des Idioms differenziren. Sie kann eine jede dieser Wandlungen mehrfach

(ⲧⲉⲙ tem, ⲧⲉⲙⲙ tam-m, ⲧⲉⲙⲙⲁⲙ tam-m-a-m, cutis), oder mehrere derselben nacheinander (ⲧⲉⲙⲙⲁⲙ keh, ⲕⲉⲗⲕⲱⲗ , ⲕⲉⲗⲕ , ⲕⲉⲗⲕⲱⲗ qehqeh-u, incidere), oder mehrere

derselben gleichzeitig ausführen (ⲃⲏⲛ ben, ⲃⲏⲛⲏⲛ b-ben-n, circulus; ⲙⲉⲕⲉ , ⲙⲕⲁⲉ \wedge ⲧⲉⲙⲕⲉ , affigere). Sie kann diese Prozesse mit polarischem Bedeutungswechsel und zahlreichen Suffigirungen und Präfigirungen verbinden; kann letztere auch allein, einzeln oder gehäuft, annehmen; und sich noch einigen andern, selteneren Aenderungen unterziehen, welche für die nächsten Zwecke dieser Schrift nicht aufgezählt zu werden brauchen. Sie kann schliesslich — und dies ist ihr häufigster Wandel — in einer ausserordentlich starken phonetischen Variation auftreten, welche sowohl Consonanten als Vocale berührt, in vielen Fällen neue Bedeutungsnuancen schafft, in anderen dagegen keine erkennbaren Sinnveränderungen zu Wege bringt. Diese Lautwandlungen bewegen sich meist innerhalb der, auch im Indoeuropäischen erkannten Reihen, und fallen mehr durch ihre Fülle und Häufigkeit als durch die Natur der Vorgänge an sich auf. Guttural, Palatal, Lingual zumal (der Palatal mit seinen Auflösungen in Spiranten), und m, n, sind im Indoeuropäischen ebenfalls belegt. Die Beschränkungen des Wandels werden in den Schlussbemerkungen dieser Dritten Abtheilung erörtert. Cf. Sievers, Lautphysiologie 61. 97. 71—74. Gustav Meyer, Griech. Gram. 190. 195.

Zur weiteren Erläuterung sei schon hier besonders hingewiesen auf die unserer nachstehenden Beispielsammlung folgenden Schlussbemerkungen des Vierten Kapitels.

Aus der Fülle von Belegen für die meisten regelmässigen Wandlungen der ägyptischen Consonanten folgen nunmehr einige Beispiele der gebräuchlichsten. Diese Beispiele sind sehr überwiegend so gewählt, dass sie nur die in dem betreffenden Fall zu belegenden Veränderung zeigen, also mindestens zwei, nur in einem Punkte abweichende Worte enthalten. Dies, und die fast gänzliche Ausscheidung gegenlautender und gegensinniger Fälle haben die Wahl auf ein ungleich kleineres Gebiet beschränkt, als es von der lebendigen Sprache geboten wird. Im Wörterbuch fallen die Rücksichten, welche der Einleitung diese Beschränkungen aufzuerlegen schienen, fort.

Der Lautwandel ist zunächst an selbstständigen, und danach an lautwüchsigen Worten belegt; einigemal sind, um die längeren Reihen zu vervollständigen, lautwüchsige Fälle zu denen der selbstständigen Worte voraufgenommen. Für die Vocale, welche bei den Lippenlauten nur gestreift werden, verweist der Verfasser bis zum Erscheinen einer besonderen Abhandlung auf seine Koptischen Untersuchungen, Den Beispielen, die durch die hergebrachten Bezeichnungen S. M. B. K. in sahidische, memphitische, baschmurische und Kircher'sche geschieden werden, sind einige erläuternde Bemerkungen am Schluss der ganzen Sammlung hinzugefügt. Die letzteren enthalten die nöthigsten Ergänzungen zur Würdigung der Beispiele. Daran knüpft sich die Erwägung des örtlichen und zeitlichen Nebeneinander.

KAPITEL II.

Lautwuchs ohne und mit Lautwandel.

A. Ohne Lautwandel.

Diese Abtheilung zeigt den Vorgang des Lautwuchses in seiner sichtbarsten Erscheinung, und zwar in allen seinen fünf Arten: ganze Doppelung, halbe Doppelung dreiconsonantiger, Anlautswiederholung im Anlaut, Anlautwiederholung im Auslaut, Auslautwiederholung im Auslaut. Um die Deutlichkeit der Beispiele zu erhöhen, wurden sie grundsätzlich auf Fälle beschränkt, in denen die ursprüngliche und die lautwüchsige Form nebeneinander erhalten sind — eine Begränzung, welche ihrerseits wiederum eine vorzugsweise Berücksichtigung der alten Sprache zu Wege brachte, insofern das Hieroglyphische in seiner, in diesem Punkte grösseren Formenfülle den gestellten Bedingungen häufiger entspricht, als das Koptische. Die Beispiele schliessen ferner fast jeden Laut- und Bedeutungswandel aus, so dass die Berechtigung dieser ganzen Vergleichungskategorie durch eine völlige phonetische und semasiologische Gleichheit schon auf der ersten Stufe ihrer Untersuchung gesichert wird.

Lautwuchs ist nur im Consonantismus wirklich zu belegen, da die Vokale zu häufig und zu selbstständig prä- und suffigirt werden, um einen sicheren Rückschluss auf ihren Ursprung zu gestatten. Bei Wurzeln, die einen Consonanten und einen oder mehrere Vokale zeigen, ist zumal im Hieroglyphischen, in welchem die Consonantenwiederholung häufig ohne Vokale oder ohne Vokalschreibung geschieht (su, s-su, am, am-m), nicht immer zwischen Doppelung und den weniger vollständigen Arten des Lautwuchses zu unterscheiden.

hört er zu Wurzel oder Stamm, und sein Ausfall in der Doppelung ist ein lautlicher Vorgang, dessen rein musikalische, den ursprünglichen begrifflichen Lautstand ignorirende Natur die gleiche akustische Tendenz der An- und Auslautwiederholung bezeichnend erläutert und erhellt; bei ελωλω neben εωλω ist ebenso die Einschlebung, oder doppelte Auslautwiederholung, des λ eine bloß phonetische Klangmalerei, und demnach wirkliche Reduplication nicht vorhanden. In anderen Fällen, wie κκεκκίλ neben κκίλ, ρτορτα neben τορτα, unšňš neben unš liegt Lautwuchs der ersten Hälfte der Reduplication im Anlaut vor (κκεκκίλ, κκίλινον und κκεκκομ, könnten auch das bekannte potentiale Präfix enthalten); in noch anderen, wie   ter, τωλ-κ, τλωκκε, geschah Lautwuchs beider Hälften im Auslaut, mit Abfall des Anlauts der zweiten Hälfte. In wieder anderen Beispielen, wie †κεκκοκ neben κεκ, haben wir ebenso klärlieh das causative Verbalpräfix †, in κκερκερ neben    qerqer und ελεελωσ neben λεελωσ wahrscheinlich das causative ε dare, efficere, vor uns. Darüber hinaus begegnen wir mannigfachen Zweifeln. Wo der erste Consonant ein ε ist, dem ein Glied der Guttural- Palatal- oder Sibilantenreihe als zweiter oder dritter folgt, kann er ebensowohl causatives Präfix, als, wie später erhellen wird, ein Ergebniss des Lautwuchses sein; wo dagegen bei anlautendem ε der zweite und dritte Consonant anderen Organen angehören, welche lautwüchsiges ε nicht erzeugen können, wäre Causativpräfix indicirt, ständen diesem ε nicht häufig Varianten mit Guttural- Palatal- und Sibilantenreihen anlaut, wie ρ, ψ, σ, gegenüber. Man ist also versucht auch hier auf verlorene Wurzeln mit Gutturalanlaut zu schliessen. Aehnlich steht es mit den verschiedenen t Anlauten, welche einerseits ebenfalls causativ, andererseits, obschon seltener, mit den drei genannten Reihen lautwüchsig verbunden sein können. Dazu kommen dann bei dem ausserordentlichen Reichthum an Wurzeln und Stämmen, welcher das Aegyptische auszeichnet, noch so verwirrende Fälle, wie das obstehende †ben, in welchem wir es entweder mit der Wurzel †eb, lautwüchsig †ebn geworden, oder mit Wurzel ben, durch causatives Präfix auf denselben Laut †-bn gebracht, zu thun haben können.

Eine besondere, und im wesentlichen leicht zu beurtheilende Klasse bilden die Beispiele mit anlautendem Vokal. Selbst da, wo es sich nicht entscheiden lässt, ob derselbe wurzelhaft oder präfigirt sei, hat der Vokal, als Präfix genommen, eine weniger ausgesprochene Bedeutung, als causatives ε oder τ, und kann deshalb ohne wesentliche Sinnverschiedenheit in der ersten Hälfte der Reduplication stehen, in der zweiten wegfallen.

B. Mit Lautwandel.

Nachdem somit die Thatsache des Lautwuchses durch eine Fülle gleichlautender und gleichsinniger Fälle von nebeneinanderstehenden Ur- und Lautwuchsformen in ihren fünf Gestalten erwiesen ist, schreiten wir zur Betrachtung des Vorgangs bei gleichzeitiger Lautveränderung. Und zwar empfiehlt es sich, nachdem die Thatsache des Lautwuchses einmal hinreichend dargethan ist, die Fälle, welche phonetische Differenzirung der ursprünglichen und angewucherten Laute zeigen, nach diesem letzteren Gesichtspunkt vorzugsweise zu behandeln, um dadurch einerseits ihre eigene Analogie, andererseits eine weitere allgemeine Grundlage für die Erkenntniss ägyptischen Lautwandels zu sichern. In ein- und demselben Wort in Erfüllung eines regelmässigen Stammbildungsgesetzes auftretend, wird diese Differenzirung nothwendigerweise zu einem wesentlichen Prüfstein aller Lautveränderung in einer Sprache, in der es von Homonymen, Synonymen und phonetischen Varianten wimmelt.

Die Beispiele sind fast durchaus so gewählt, dass sie Ur- und Lautwuchsform nebeneinander, und zwar in leicht erkennbarer, wenig veränderter Gestalt nebeneinander zeigen. Wird auf die eine, oder die andere dieser Bedingungen verzichtet, so lassen sich die meisten Arten des Vorgangs ausserordentlich rasch und zahlreich vermehren.

KAPITEL III.

Umstellung der beiden letzten Consonanten Dreiconsonantiger.

(Kann öfters durch mannigfaltigen Lautwandel oder Lautwuchs ohne Metathese veranlasst worden sein, oder bei suffigirtem und mit Abwerfung des ursprünglichen Auslauts nach innen geschlagenem t eine gleichzeitige Rückführung auf andere zweiconsonantige Wurzeln zulassen. Siehe Kapitel IV, und Kopt. Unters. S. 326. Dreiconsonantige mit Praefix und Zweiconsonantige mit praefigirtem Vocal gehören nur zweifelhaft in diese Kategorie, da Inversion der Wurzel vorliegen kann.)

KAPITEL IV.

Hieroglyphisch und Koptisch in der Etymologie.

Wie sich aus den vorstehenden Reihen ergibt und weiter unten des des Näheren zeigen wird, ist unter den nachgewiesenen Laut- und Stamm-Wandlungsgesetzen kaum eines von einiger Erheblichkeit, welches sich nicht im Hieroglyphischen und Koptischen gemeinsam belegen, und gewöhnlich ebenso vollständig im Koptischen allein belegen lässt. Der geführte Laut- und Stammwandlungsbeweis ist dadurch von der hieroglyphischen Periode grossentheils unabhängig gemacht, und würde wohl manches an seiner Vollständigkeit, aber wenig an seiner Sicherheit einbüßen, wenn das Hieroglyphische überhaupt nicht herangezogen worden wäre. Mit dieser Thatsache ist die Sicherung des Beweises gegen die noch vorhandenen, oder noch angenommenen Unsicherheiten hieroglyphischer Laute und Bedeutungen hergestellt, und eine Lehre ermöglicht, welche durch den weiteren Fortschritt des Hieroglyphenlesens mannigfache Zusätze erhalten, aber keinen Neubau ihrer Grundlagen erfordern kann.

Die fortschreitende Kenntniss der Hieroglyphensprache hängt hauptsächlich vom Studium der Texte des alten Reiches und des Demotischen ab, da die zwischenliegende Periode die verhältnissmässig bestgekante ist. Wie weit die Texte des Alten Reiches, bei der grossentheils schwierigen Natur ihres Inhalts und ihrer Sprache, sich dem sicheren Verständniss erschliessen werden, bleibt dahingestellt; dass im Demotischen dagegen nur neue Varianten der schon im Koptischen vertretenen Phase zu finden sind, ist bereits ersichtlich und anerkannt. Nichts kann wünschenswerther sein als diese Laut- und Bedeutungsvarianten zu verzeichnen, und dadurch immer vollere und eingehendere Nachweise der gefundenen Gesetze und ihrer Ergebnisse, sowie immer weitere Ausbildung und Ergänzung derselben zu erlangen; nichts wird das Wesen derselben unberührt lassen, als das Demotische.

Auch das Gewicht der Pyramideninschriften und der ganzen Texte des Alten Reiches für die hier in Betracht kommenden Fragen sollte nicht überschätzt werden. Es ist unbestreitbar, dass die alten Texte eine Anzahl ungekannter, präsumtiv älterer Wortformen enthalten, und durch sorgfältigere Schrift Abkürzungen und Irrthümer der späteren Schreiber in ein helleres Licht treten lassen. Wo aber einerseits das Gesamtbild des Laut- und Stammwandels durch die Varianten des Koptischen allein so überreich vor uns entfaltet wird; wo andererseits, wie unten nachgewiesen werden wird, zwischen Hieroglyphisch und Koptisch nur in wenigen wesentlichen Punkten eine regelmässige Lautfolge, in den wichtigsten Beziehungen der Consonanten aber nur ein Nebeneinander, kein Nacheinander erkennbar ist: da können die in der jüngsten Sprachperiode noch so getreu erhaltenen Züge durch die Kenntniss der ältesten Phase wohl vervollkommenet, aber nicht verändert werden.

Soweit sich Einzelheiten bisher übersehen lassen, enthalten die Pyramidentexte wenige Wurzeln, die wir nicht schon aus der späteren hieroglyphischen oder koptischen Zeit in einer oder der anderen phonetischen Stammgestaltung gekannt haben. In Bezug auf die Sprachform der Pyramidentexte entspricht ihre scriptio plena der Vokale mehr der koptischen, als der dazwischenliegenden hieroglyphischen Periode; betreffs der Consonanten ist das wichtigste die Schreibung von inlautendem m und n, wo es in manchen späteren hieroglyphischen Worten fehlt, in ihren — nunmehr als Varianten erkannten — Varianten aber auch schon hieroglyphisch und koptisch zu erscheinen pflegt. Wir lernen also durch die letzten Entdeckungen wenig neue Wurzeln kennen, und berichtigen nur die Verwandtschaftsverhältnisse einer Anzahl von hieroglyphischen Worten; wir obliteriren durch diese Berichtigung auch nicht einmal viele bisher geltende Wurzeln, weil m-lose Formen, wie sich aus dem Koptischen ergibt, bei der überschäumenden Exuberanz der ägyptischen Wurzelschöpfung, manchmal als selbständige Wurzeln neben den m-Wurzeln gleichzeitig bestanden haben. Die starke Synonymie bei einer geringen Anzahl auszudrückender Bedeutungen schuf eben für jede Bedeutung viele phonetische Typen; die starke Homonymie im Verein mit der ungemeinen Veränderlichkeit ergab danach vielerlei Varianten jeder Type. Eine genauere Verzeichnung und Erforschung der Pyramidenworte, wie sie gegenwärtig wohl an vielen Stellen betrieben wird, ist mithin wichtiger für die Lexikographie, als für die Lautlehre.

Wenn also in den Pyramideninschriften anstatt des altbekannten ab, purus, lavare, plötzlich ein dem koptischen $\sigma\alpha\alpha\acute{\epsilon}$, $\sigma\alpha\acute{\epsilon}$ noch genauer entsprechendes  uab, und zwar mit ab variirend, auftaucht, so folgt daraus noch nicht, dass dies Wort immer und ausschliesslich uab gelautet habe, und dass ab nur als eine zeitweilige und unvollständige schriftliche Darstellung des wirklichen Lautstandes aufzufassen sei. Bei der grossen Wandelbarkeit des ägyptischen Vokalismus können vielmehr beide Formen neben, oder theils neben, theils nach einander bestanden haben. Man vergleiche:

M. $\sigma\alpha\alpha\epsilon$ -coi, S. $\sigma\alpha\alpha\epsilon$ -coi, M. $\alpha\epsilon$ -coi, S. $\acute{\epsilon}\omega\epsilon$ -u, tectum, M. $\sigma\alpha\omega\epsilon$ \wedge S. $\epsilon\acute{\epsilon}$ -c, M. $\epsilon\alpha\acute{\epsilon}$ -c, tegere.

    aāan-i, K. εἰ, simia u. s. w.

  ab, M. οἰε-ε, contra,   | āb-ā,   ub, † οἰε-ε, contendere.

Und im Zusammenhang mit diesen, aus den Lautwechselreihen 144—176 vielfach zu vermehrenden Beispielen:

  * bek,   u-bek,   u-bez,   ā-pš, splendere, ā-bš, M. ορω-εἰ, ορο-εἰ, ορ-εἰ, S. ορ-εἰεἰ, M. ορο-εἰεἰ, ορ-εἰεἰ, ορ-αιεἰ, ω-ηεἰ, albus, candidus, nitidus, purus \wedge M. ηε-ε, S. ηε-ε, purgamentum \vee sordes, ορο-ηε, sordidus, putridus.

S. ορον, nitere, puritas, sanctitas,   uāb (Pyram. Inschr.), āb,   aāb, purus,   | āb, diversicolor,

 äb \wedge M. ⲕⲟⲩⲉⲟⲩ, splendere, M. S. ⲟⲩⲁⲕ, ⲟⲩⲛⲉ, ⲟⲩⲛⲛⲉ, B. ⲟⲩⲣⲉ, ⲟⲩⲣⲉⲕ, mundus, purus, sanctus, S. ⲁⲕ-ⲓ-ⲉⲉⲙⲉ, M. ⲁⲕ-ⲁ-ⲩⲛⲛⲓ \wedge M. ⲕⲁ-ⲩⲛⲛⲓ, S. ⲕⲁ-ⲉⲛⲉⲛⲓ (cf. M. ⲁ-ⲩⲛⲓ, maculatus, ⲁⲧ-ⲉⲛⲓ, immaculatus) vitrum, crystallus, S. ⲁⲕ-ⲓ-ⲉⲉ, color lacteus \vee S. ⲛⲛⲉ-ⲉ, sordes.

Es ist demnach unthunlich die oft vorhandene Unvollständigkeit der hieroglyphischen Vokalbezeichnung in jedem einzelnen Falle als einen ausreichenden Beweis dafür anzusehen, dass reicher vokalisirte Nebenformen die wirkliche und einzig vollständige Aussprache des betreffenden Wortes enthalten. Selbst wenn die reicher vokalisirten Formen in verhältnissmässig älteren Zeugnissen auftreten, beweist dies nichts für ihre grössere Ursprünglichkeit, da einerseits, wie wir eben sahen, ihnen gleichzeitige, schwächer vokalisirte Formen schon damals zur Seite standen, andererseits beiderlei Formen zusammen sich in der jüngsten Periode der Sprache noch wiederfinden.

Man wird sich diese Umstände ebenfalls vor Augen halten müssen, will man in der Emendation vermeintlicher Irrthümer und Schreibfehler nicht zu weit gehen; so gewiss solche stattgefunden haben, so leicht kann man durch abweichende Formen alter Texte dazu verleitet werden, in neueren als Irrthum anzusehen, was im Lichte der koptischen Varianten betrachtet eben nur als eine Variante mehr erscheint. Die Registrirung der Varianten ist vonnöthen, und wird die fruchtbarsten Erweiterungen ergeben; ihre gegenseitige Abschätzung kann nur nach den inneren etymologischen Erwägungen, die die Geschichte des Idioms an die Hand giebt, nicht nach vermeintlichen Correcturen, oder äusseren chronologischen Verhältnissen, und noch weniger nach Gesetzen anderer Idiome geschehen.

Was die Bedeutungen der citirten Hieroglyphenworte betrifft, so sind im wesentlichen nur diejenigen gewählt worden, die als sicher gelten durften, oder deren allgemeiner Sinn wenigstens aus sicheren Determinativen erhellt. Zweifelhafte, wo sie aufgenommen wurden, sind meist entweder im Text oder eingemale auch im Index als solche bezeichnet. Obschon sie die durch die sicheren Worte geführten Nachweise nicht zu erschüttern vermögen, würden die

Lücken, welche die hieroglyphische Wissenschaft in dieser Beziehung noch lässt, für die vorliegende Untersuchung an einigen Stellen ins Gewicht gefallen sein, träte nicht das Koptische fast jedesmal reichlich ergänzend ein. Auch in dieser Beziehung wird die fortschreitende Hieroglyphik vielfache Bereicherungen im Einzelnen, und dennoch bei der Fülle und den wohl erhaltenen Zügen des Koptischen wenig gewähren, was wesentlich neue Entscheidungen hervorruft. Zu den sachlichen Gründen, welche diese Verhältnisse accentuiren lassen, kommen andere: der Fortschritt der ägyptischen Etymologie hängt im gegenwärtigen Stadium vielfach von der Theilnahme der semitischen und sanskritischen Philologen ab, welche, von einem historisch mehr gegliederten Gebiete ausgehend, sowohl den relativen Werth des Hieroglyphischen für das Aegyptische als die Schwierigkeiten seiner Aneignung zu überschätzen geneigt sind, und dadurch auch von der in ihren Elementen so ausserordentlich einfachen und durchsichtigen koptischen Sprachperiode, die für die Erkenntniss der meisten Erscheinungen genügt, abgehalten zu werden pflegen.

Die Transcription der hieroglyphischen Lautwechselbeispiele ist sehr überwiegend die Rougé-Lepsius-Brugsch'sche. So vieles Einzelne die kritische Forschung in dieser Beziehung hinzuzufügen beginnt, so schien sich für die Zwecke der vorliegenden Schrift im Princip ein Festhalten am Alten zunächst zu empfehlen. Einmal wurde dadurch eine grössere Gleichförmigkeit erzielt, da die neuen Transcriptionsvorschläge zu einem Abschluss noch nicht gelangt sind, von manchen Seiten (wie von Ebers in seiner Lepsiussskizze) sogar perhorrescirt werden; sodann waren Zweifel durch die Urschrift ausgeschlossen; und drittens bewegen sich alte und neue Transcriptionen fast immer innerhalb derselben Lautwechselreihe, konnten also auf den Gang einer Schrift, welche den Zusammenhang der Reihe erweist, einen wesentlichen Einfluss nicht ausüben. Dazu kommt, dass die neuen Lesungen nicht immer die durch das Koptische unzweifelhaft bezeugte Thatsache der durch Lautwechsel hervorgerufenen Wurzelvariation berücksichtigen, und leicht als richtigere Transcription ansehen, was in Wirklichkeit nur eine weitere Variante ist. Wenn ϱ und σ , α mit einander wechseln, so sollte die Transcription eines bisher als f accre-dirten Zeichens nicht schon deshalb in au gewandelt werden, weil man an seiner Stelle gelegentlich au gefunden hat.

Bei anderen Fragen wie z. B. ob  mā oder m, em; ob  nu oder n-nu, nnu; ob  hun oder hen;  ka oder k;  la oder l;  hu oder h, zu transcribiren sei, wird der Leser beiden Transcriptionen, mitunter sogar beiden zusammen, begegnen, ohne dass ein Versuch gemacht ist diese schwer erkennbaren, an und für sich wenig bedeutenden und für die behandelten etymologischen Punkte völlig gleichgültigen Dinge aufzuhellen.

In einer Sprache, welche so viele Homonymen und so mannigfache Stammbildungen und Lautwechsel zählt, kann es nicht fehlen, dass manche Worte nach mehreren Seiten hin verwandt erscheinen. Ja, sie können es nicht bloss erscheinen, sondern wirklich sein. Das heisst, ihr lautlicher und begrifflicher Zusammenhang nach verschiedenen Seiten hin kann schon bei ihrem Entstehen, oder bei ihrem Gebrauch, von dem einen Menschen anders als vom andern, oder auch von demselben Menschen bei verschiedenen Gelegenheiten verschieden aufgefasst worden sein. Wenn man einigemal nach verschiedenen Seiten hin verglichen findet, so ist diese mehrfache Einordnung demnach absichtlich. Wenn     māš-ā   šem, ambulare, bedeuten; wenn gleichzeitig     mes-ī, nox,   meš-ī, vesper   sem-ī,   sām, obscuritas: so ist     sem-ī, ambulare, considerare, circumspicere, explorare leicht nach beiden Seiten hin verwandt. Ebenso kann durch die grosse phonetische Veränderlichkeit der Wurzeln ein Wort mitunter ein und derselben Wurzel auf verschiedene Weise entsprungen sein.

stehen. Oder    herī, ḡḡḡ -ī, quiescere, kann gegensinnig aus   her, ḡḡḡ , procedere, proficisci, oder gegensinnig und gegenlautig aus ḡḡḡ -e-ḡ, ḡḡḡ , curare, entstanden sein, oder mit ḡḡḡ -ī, vesper, zusammenhängen, oder allen genannten intellectuell und phonetisch nahestehehen. Ebenso kann    net'-u, texere, gegensinnig aus   net', contundere, oder suffigirt, invertirt und apocopirt aus   neb-t, ḡḡḡ -t, ḡḡḡ , S. ḡḡḡ , plectere, flectere, hervorgegangen sein, obschon hier das Vorhandensein eines   nāt, texere, und die Abwesenheit eines neb, texere, den ersteren Ursprung annehmen lässt. Ein schlagendes Beispiel verschiedener in ein und dasselbe Wort hineinspielender Bedeutungen bietet ḡḡḡ -ḡ, amputare, frons, amputare frondes, welches einerseits auf ḡḡḡ , ḡḡḡ -e, ḡḡḡ ,   t'ār, ramus, frons, und damit, wie es scheint, auf ḡḡḡ -ḡ, inervus, ramus und ḡḡḡ , flectere, andererseits auf ḡḡḡ -u, amputare.   ṭer, percutere, zurückführt (Siehe ḡḡḡ und   ṭer, im Mannigf. Lautwuchs). Ebenso mit einem besonders merkwürdigen Auftreten des Gegensinns als gleichzeitigen Doppelsinns (wie so häufig im Arabischen, S. meinen „Gegensinn der Urworte“) ḡḡḡ -ḡ, tendo, nervus, incidere nervos, neben    ḡḡḡ, secare, dividere \vee ḡḡḡ , duplicare, triplicare, multiplicare.

Uebrigens ist bei der Fülle der Bildungen in Betracht zu ziehen, dass Wurzeln, die laut- stamm- und sinngesetzliche Weiterbildungen anderer Wurzeln sein können, in lautlich fernerliegenden Fällen ebensowohl einen selbstständigen Ursprung gehabt haben können. Die grössere Wahrscheinlichkeit des einen oder des anderen Ursprungs ist an der Häufigkeit der betreffenden laut- stamm- und sinngesetzlichen Uebergänge, beziehungsweise an der Menge und Sicherheit der vorhandenen Mittelglieder zu messen. Wenn   her, ḡḡḡ -ī, quies, zu ḡḡḡ -o-k, ḡḡḡ -o-y-p, ḡḡḡ -p-c, ḡḡḡ -u-ḡ, ḡḡḡ -ḡḡ, c- ḡḡḡ -e-ḡ-t, c- ḡḡḡ -a-ḡ-t werden, so liegt bei der Regelmässigkeit und Nähe dieser Wandlungen die Verwandtschaft klar vor Augen; wenn  her, dies, neben  hu,  zu, dies  nχ-a, tenebrae,  us-a, nox, stehen, so sind die drei ersten Glieder dieser Kette ebenfalls sowohl durch Gesetzmässigkeit wie durch das Fehlen keines Mittelgliedes gesichert; für  zu dagegen fehlt entsprechendes χer und hat aus  rex per metathesis ergänzt zu werden, was die Möglichkeit eines selbstständigen χu offen zu lassen zwingt.

KAPITEL V.

Das historische Moment in der Aegyptischen Etymologie.

1. Die Grundzüge.

Die in den vorstehenden Reihen dargelegten Lautwechsel finden sowohl in selbstständigen Worten, als in Lautwuchs, Gegenlaut, Gegensinn, Doppelung und theilweis auch in dialektischer Differenzirung gleichmässig statt, und erhärten sich dadurch gegenseitig. Die durchgängige Uebereinstimmung des Lautwechsels in selbstständigen Wörterpaaren mit demjenigen, der Lautwuchs, Gegenlaut, Gegensinn und Doppelung in ein- und demselben Worte zu differenziren pflegt, ist entscheidend; ihr tritt die dialektische Differenzirung, soweit sie vorhanden ist, ergänzend zur Seite: woran sich für einige Laute der Nachweis des häufigen, wenn auch nicht nothwendigen Wechsels beim Uebergang aus der hieroglyphischen in die demotisch-koptische Periode schliesst.

Innerhalb dieser, durch die genannten sieben Erscheinungsformen wechselseitig und somit bündig belegten Lautverwandtschaft giebt es Grade, welche durch die Häufigkeit der betreffenden Lautwechsel bezeichnet werden: je häufiger, desto enger und sicherer ist die Verbindung: je seltener, desto loser war sie, und desto vorsichtiger wird sie gegen andere Verwandtschaftsmöglichkeiten zu wägen sein. Die

Liquiden bilden eine fast getrennte Gruppe für sich. Ebenso die Labialen. Die k, h, kh, sch, tsch, dsch Laute fanden wir gleichfalls zu einer Gemeinschaft vereint, deren Gliederung weiterhin betrachtet werden wird: die γ Laute stehen ziemlich, obschon auch nicht völlig, gesondert. An die k, sch, tsch Gruppe reihten sich in fernerm, häufig schwer erkennbarem und exoterische Kriterien erfordernden Anschluss die t und s Laute, welche theils aus diesem Grunde, theils als gebräuchliche Affixe, die schwierigsten sind. Die Spaltung in Tenuis und Media tritt überall verhältnissmässig zurück; der Wechsel von Tenuis und Aspirata kommt nur in den Beziehungen des Sahidischen zum Memphisitischen zu einer merklichen, aber auch hier zu keiner durchschlagenden Geltung. Es giebt Wurzeln, welche sämmtliche mögliche Ausweichungen durchmachen; andere, und zwar die meisten, sind auf wenige, und zwar die näheren, beschränkt.

Wir handeln zunächst von den Varianten, danach von der geschichtlichen Lautfolge, und schliesslich von den Mundarten.

2. Das Nebeneinander.

An ägyptische Etymologien ist von Herrn Professor Stern, in einer für die hieroglyphische Lexikographie werthvollen Anzeige meiner Koptischen Untersuchungen in der Lepsius-Brugsch'schen Zeitschrift, die Forderung gestellt worden, die behandelten Worte zunächst in den drei Perioden des Hieroglyphischen, Demotischen und Koptischen nachzuweisen, und somit den allmählichen Lautwandel jedes einzelnen Wortes zu erkunden, ehe zur Vergleichung mit anderen Worten geschritten wird. Dieser Forderung liegt die auf indoeuropäischem Gebiet gemachte Erfahrung zu Grunde, dass die Gesetze des Lautwandels am sichersten an den verschiedenen Gestalten, die dieselben Worte in verschiedenen Entwicklungsperioden der Sprache annehmen, erkannt werden. Ist die Etymologie derjenigen Sprachen, die sich der lebhaftesten Bearbeitung erfreuen, auf das Grimm'sche Gesetz der Lautverschiebung gegründet worden, so liegt es nahe, die Methode, die auf diesem Felde so Bedeutendes geleistet, und deren rationelle Grundlage keines Beweises zu bedürfen scheint, auch auf anderen Gebieten als unumgänglich anzusehen.

Und dennoch lassen sich gegen diese Folgerung, wenn sie als eine ausschliessliche genommen wird. Einwendungen erheben. Die Forderung, ein Wort geschichtlich zu verfolgen und den fortschreitenden Wechsel seiner Lautgestalt zu beobachten, setzt eine in feste Worte krystallisirte Sprache voraus, deren Gebilde sich im Fortgang der Zeiten nach bestimmten Gesetzen verändern, in ein und derselben Zeit aber nur in einer Form, oder in einigen wenigen deutlich geschiedenen Formen auftreten, und in historischer Zeit keine oder wenige neue Nebensämme erzeugen. Auf bisher erforschten Gebieten ist dies Verhalten der Worte so allgemein, und überdies in so völliger Uebereinstimmung mit dem, was unserem heutigen Sprachgefühl natürlich dünkt, dass die Annahme, es sei in anderen Kreisen und Zeiten ebenso gewesen, eine selbstverständliche zu sein scheint. Das Folgende wird zeigen, ob dem so sei.

Beobachten wir einige ägyptische Wurzeln in Bezug auf diesen Punkt.

I. S. $\epsilon\omega\kappa$,  peh,  ä-beχ (? Über χ siehe 3. Abschnitt dieses Kapitels),  bes, M. $\sigma\alpha\epsilon$, S. $\iota\omega\tau$, ire, abire,  beh-a, currere;  a-ft, currere, crus, M. $\epsilon\omega\alpha$, $\epsilon\iota\alpha$, insilire;  s-beq, crus, currere, S. $\iota\alpha\tau$, M. $\phi\alpha\tau$, pes,  peτ, pes, ire.

Hier haben wir in der hieroglyphischen, der ältesten nachweisbaren Form, als labialen Anlaut sowohl p, als b, als f; alle drei Labialstufen erscheinen ebenfalls im Koptischen der theologischen Bücher, der jüngsten nachweisbaren Periode, vermehrt durch eine weitere, die Erweichung in σ .

Ebenso haben wir im hieroglyphischen Auslaut die drei Gutturalstufen k, h, χ, nebst der Wandlung in t, s; im koptischen Auslaut κ, ς, nebst der Erweichung in α, τ. Es ergibt sich somit, dass die wesentlichen Modificationsstufen, auf denen die betreffenden An- und Auslaute nach ägyptischem Lautgesetz erscheinen können, schon im

Hieroglyphischen nebeneinander vorhanden sind, und sich im Koptischen nur wiederholen.

Stimmte nun da, wo die Modificationsstufe des anlautenden Labials im Hieroglyphischen und Koptischen dieselbe ist, der auslautende Guttural in gleicher Weise überein, so ergäbe sich, dass die betreffenden ägyptischen Worte durch die langen Zeiträume hindurch, welche sie trennen, unverändert geblieben sind. Aber wie ein Blick auf die folgenden Listen lehrt, ist dies keineswegs überall der Fall.

1. An- und Auslautübereinstimmung im Hieroglyphischen und Koptischen:

ḥwḥ, s-beq; φαρ, a-ft; πωτ, pet;

2. Anlautübereinstimmung im Hieroglyphischen und Koptischen:

ä-bez, beh-a, ḥwḥ, bes; a-ft, φωξ.

3. Auslautübereinstimmung im Hieroglyphischen und Koptischen:

peh, beh-a, φωξ; a-ft, πωτ, πατ.

4. Im Hieroglyphischen allein vorkommender Auslaut:

ä-bez, bes.

5. Im Koptischen allein vorkommender Anlaut:

φωξ.

6. Im Koptischen allein vorkommender Auslaut:

πωτ.

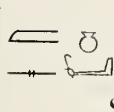

Von diesen 7 hieroglyphischen und (vom Vokalwechsel abgesehen) 5 koptischen Worten stimmen also nur 6 im An- und Auslaut beider Sprachperioden überein. Das heisst, es lassen sich nur drei koptische mit drei hieroglyphischen Worten absolut identificiren; damit Entsprechendes für die beiden anderen koptischen Worte geschehen könnte, müssten ihnen Vorgänger gegenüberstehen, deren Phonetik sich in gesetzmässiger Folge zu φωξ und πωτ entwickeln musste. Nun kann φωξ allerdings eine spätere Erweichung des peh, oder beh-a, sein. Es braucht es aber nicht zu sein, da Labial und u schon im Hieroglyphischen wechseln (Reihe 152—176; Kopt. Unters. S. 611, 617), und die Häufigkeit derartiger Beispiele in der alten Sprache zu gross ist, um die Nichterhaltung oder Nichtauffindung der u-Form ihre Abwesenheit in der ältesten geschichtlichen Periode in dem vorliegenden Fall beweisen zu lassen. Der Auslaut des $\varphi\omega\alpha$ sodann entspricht häufigem ,  t', seltenerem  t, während letzteres wiederum mit ersterem wechselt. Auch die Möglichkeit eines ursprünglichen  k hat, wie im 4. Abschnitt dieses Kapitels gezeigt wird, in Betracht gezogen zu werden. Ebenso lassen sich nach Maassgabe der vorstehenden Reihen 118—125 und ff. keine durchgreifenden Kriterien für Unterscheidung und gesetzmässige Folge von f, φ , φ aufstellen. Da also einerseits alle wesentlichen Modificationsstufen der ägyptischen Consonanten sowohl im Hieroglyphischen als im Koptischen vorkommen können, und hieroglyphische Worte beim Uebergang ins Koptische demnach völlig unverändert aufzutreten vermögen, da andererseits aber die von den hieroglyphischen abweichenden koptischen Worte oftmals eine Modificationsstufe nicht zeigen, die sich aus der erhaltenen hieroglyphischen gesetzmässig entwickelt zu haben braucht, so ergibt sich, dass wir in beiden Sprachperioden grossentheils eine Fülle nebeneinanderstehender Varianten vor uns haben.

II. S. $\mu\epsilon\tau$ - τ , $\mu\omega\tau$ - τ , irrigare, effundere,   peh, lacus, puteus, S. $\mu\epsilon\tau$ - ϵ , humidus,    peḥ-a-s, S. $\mu\alpha\sigma$ - ϵ - ϵ , saliva,     pat-u, fons, irrigare, effundere;    bāh, irrigare,   beš, effundere,   betbet(?), fluere;   fes, colare, lavare,   fuḥ (áuh), irrigare, effundere; $\mu\alpha\tau$ (?) haurire, bibere,     maq-a-q-a, humidus, terra irrigata,   māt'-t(?)¹, madidus,   mes, M. σ - $\mu\epsilon$, lavare, demergere, baptizare;   net, humidus, aqua,   nt-i, aqua.

1. An- und Auslautübereinstimmung im Hieroglyphischen und Koptischen:

 peh, lacus, puteus
 νεε-τ, ποε-τ, irrigare, effundere

 mes } lavare
 ο-με }

2. Anlautübereinstimmung in Hieroglyphischen und Koptischen:

 pek-a-s, σαε-ε-ε, saliva

 maq-a-q-a, humidus: μαε, haurire (?)

 pat-u, fons
 νεε-τ, ποε-τ, irrigare, effundere
 νοε-ε, humidus

 māt'-t, madidus

3. Auslautübereinstimmung im Hieroglyphischen und Koptischen:

 bāh, rigare, irrigare;

 fes, colare, lavare

 fuh, irrigare, νεε-τ, ποε-τ.

νοε-ε, humidus

irrigare, effundere

μαε, haurire (?)

4. Im Hieroglyphischen allein vorkommender Anlaut:

 net, humidus, aqua

 nt-i, aqua

5. Im Hieroglyphischen allein vorkommender Auslaut:

 pek-a-s, saliva
 liva

 pat-n, fons

 beš, effundere

 maq-a-q-a, humidus

 betbet, fluere

 māt'-t, madidus

 net, aqua

 nt-i, aqua

Die Prüfung dieser Uebersichten ergibt für das Hieroglyphische drei Modificationsstufen des labialen Anlauts p, b, f. dazu m, n, während das Koptische nur p und m hat; der hieroglyphische Auslaut zeigt k, h, š, t, s, während das Koptische nur h, s, σ hat. Die wesentlichen, ägyptisch möglichen Modificationsstufen erscheinen also schon im Hieroglyphischen nebeneinander, und wiederholen sich nur spärlicher im Koptischen.

Völlige Uebereinstimmung in An- und Auslaut bieten unter allen 20 Worten nur je 1 hieroglyphisches mit zusammen 3 koptischen; Uebereinstimmung im Anlaut 4 hieroglyphische mit 2 koptischen; Uebereinstimmung im Auslaut 3 hieroglyphische mit 2 koptischen. Die anderen Worte sind hieroglyphische, und zeigen im Koptischen unvertretenen An- oder Auslaut.

Bei den nur theilweis übereinstimmenden Worten haben wir nun wiederum die Beobachtung zu machen, dass der Lautwechsel sich ungleich seltener als Nacheinander, denn als Nebeneinander nachweisen lässt.

Das n in uoc-c, humidus, welches dem f in  fes, colare, entspricht, erscheint nicht etwa als regelmässiger koptischer Vertreter eines in p gesetzmässig übergehenden hieroglyphischen f Lantes; vielmehr entspricht, wie die Lautwechselreihen gezeigt haben, ebensowohl koptisches f hieroglyphischem p, wie hieroglyphisches f koptischem p. Ebenso entspricht das s des uocc, wenn man Mangels völliger Uebereinstimmung das Wort von einem mit p anlautendem hieroglyphischen ableiten wollte, nicht etwa in irgend einer gesetzmässigen Folge dem k von  pek-a-s, saliva, oder dem h von  peh, lacus, oder dem t von  paṭ-u, fons; sondern diese k, h, t können vielmehr im Koptischen ebensowohl hieroglyphischem s entsprechen, wie im Hieroglyphischen koptischem s. In gleicher Weise verhalten sich p und b, k und h, m und n u. s. w. Also dieselbe Nöthigung, nebeneinander stehende Varianten anzunehmen, wie bei .

5. Allein im Koptischen vorkommender Auslaut:

Danach zeigt das Hieroglyphische 6 Stufen des Anlauts k, χ, sχ (wenn nicht s-χ d. i. χ mit causativem Präfix zu lesen ist), š, s, t; das Koptische acht: κ, Ϛ, ϛ, Ϟ, ϟ, Ϡ, ϡ, Ϣ. Also wiederum ist κ neben mancherlei Varianten schon im Hieroglyphischen vorhanden; wiederum wiederholen sich dieselben Ausweichungen im Koptischen, nur dass hier die neuen Doppellaute ϟ, Ϡ hinzutreten, welche im Hieroglyphischen theils gar nicht, theils undeutlich bezeichnet werden, also als verhältnissmässig neu anzusehen sein werden. Vergleiche auch den häufigen Uebergang von Ϟ in Ϡ, von ϡ, Ϣ in ϟ (Lepsius, Standard Alphabet 197).

Völlige Uebereinstimmung in An- und Auslaut zeigen unter den angeführten 30 Worten 12 hieroglyphische mit 6 koptischen — eine Anzahl, deren Grösse sich dadurch erklärt, dass auslautendes r verhältnissmässig wenigen Wandlungen unterworfen ist, also nur der Anlaut unseres Wortes für die Variabilität verbleibt. Uebereinstimmung im Anlaut haben 8 hieroglyphische und 3 koptische; Uebereinstimmung im Auslaut aus dem eben angeführten Grunde nicht weniger als 14 hieroglyphische und 9 koptische. Ausserdem finden sich 5 koptische Worte, die einen im Hieroglyphischen nicht vertretenen Anlaut haben (ϛ, ϟ, Ϡ), und 4 koptische Worte, die einen im Hieroglyphischen nicht erscheinenden Auslaut zeigen (λ). Von diesen Lauten sind ϟ, Ϡ, wie bereits bemerkt, als neue anzunehmen; ϛ ist eine koptische Variante des κ, die im Hieroglyphischen ebenfalls häufig neben der gutturalen Tenuis erscheint, und an dieser Stelle durch andere vertretene Spiranten χ, sχ und š nahegelegt wird, wenn sie auch bisher nicht nachgewiesen ist; λ ist eine koptische Variante des hieroglyphischen r, welches beide Laute mangelhaft unterschied. Ueber χ siehe Abschnitt 3 und 5 weiter unten.

Was hier innerhalb einzelner Wurzeln erkannt worden ist, bestätigt sich bei der Betrachtung verschiedener homonymer Wurzeln. Es lassen sich, schematisch gesprochen, abgesehen von völliger Uebereinstimmung oder Abweichung, ebensoviele koptische κκ Formen verschiedener Labial + Gutturalwurzeln anführen, denen hieroglyphisch bek, fek, mek, beh, feh, meh, peš, pet etc. gegenübersteht, als eskoptische bek, fek, mek, beh, feh, meh, peš, pet etc. Formen giebt, denen hieroglyphisch pek vorangeht. Und es können in verwandten Worten beider Perioden stets der eine hieroglyphische Consonant mit dem einen koptischen übereinstimmen, der andere oder die anderen aber, abweichen, ohne dass die Abweichung auf eine gesetzmässige Veränderung zurückzuführen ist. Während die Wurzeln bleiben, verschwinden also eine grosse Anzahl hieroglyphischer Stämme im Koptischen, um in dieser späteren Periode durch neue Stämme, deren gesetzmässiges Werden aus der Wurzel, aber nicht aus vorhergehenden hieroglyphischen Stämmen nachweisbar ist, ersetzt zu werden. Man sehe:

Werden Gegenlaut und Gegensinn in Betracht gezogen, so gestalten sich die phonetischen Ausweichungen und Entsprechungen noch mannigfaltiger. Dialektische Unterscheidungen fallen, wie das Gegebene zeigt und Kapitel VI des Näheren auseinandersetzen wird, verhältnissmässig wenig in die Wage.

Stellen wir das Gefundene zusammen, so haben wir einerseits das Vorkommen aller wesentlichen ägyptischen Lautwechselstufen sowohl im Hieroglyphischen als im Koptischen und demnach die Möglichkeit des unveränderten Uebergangs der Worte aus der hieroglyphischen in die koptische Zeit; als auch andererseits die nicht minder bemerkenswerthe Thatsache, dass, wo in beiden Sprachperioden der eine Wurzelconsonant übereinstimmt und der andere abweicht, oder wo beide abweichen, die abweichenden in der neueren Sprache meistens nicht nachweisbar die jüngeren d. i. die nothwendigerweise aus den älteren gewordenen, dagegen ganz gewöhnlich eine Wandlung nach einer anderen Seite hin sind (k, h oder k, š, t, s; l, r oder l, n; b, p, f oder b, m, n); oder aber, dass wo dies nicht der Fall ist, die hieroglyphische Tenuis ebenso oft der koptischen Media, Aspirata oder Spirans gegenübersteht, als das umgekehrte Verhältniss statt hat, eine durchgreifende Lautfolge also geschichtlich überhaupt nicht, oder verhältnissmässig selten nachgewiesen werden kann. Daraus folgt, dass die koptischen Worte häufig keine directen Weiterbildungen des Hieroglyphischen sein können, und dass sie ebenso oft nichts anderes zu sein brauchen, als weitere Varianten zu den vielen, in der alten Schriftperiode bereits gefundenen. Also lassen sich wohl in der Regel dieselben Wurzeln und ihre verschiedenen Stammesgestaltungen, aber nicht dieselben Stämme in jeder Periode nachweisen; und da die Stämme stark variiren, und die Lautzeitfolge in ihnen obenein meistens gesetzlich unbestimmbar ist, so stellen sich die Bedingungen für die Anwendung der historisch-genetischen Methode wesentlich anders, als im Indogermanischen.

Dazu kömmt, dass, ausser dem Lautwandel, auch die in den obigen Beispielen nicht in Betracht gezogene Reduplication, Metathese und polarische Bedeutungsänderung (Kopt. Unters. 616—620) sowohl im Hieroglyphischen, als im Koptischen auftreten, also ebenfalls kein chronologisches Kriterium abgeben können. Die wenigen sicher erkennbaren historischen Lautfolgen und dialektischen Unterschiede werden in den nachstehenden Abschnitten betrachtet werden.

Demnach stehen wir vor der Unmöglichkeit, alle hieroglyphischen Worte in directer koptischer Nachfolge darzustellen. Die ungemaine Variabilität der Worte in beiden Schriftperioden ergiebt vielmehr in beiden ein wogendes Nebeneinander, und nur in der Minderzahl der Fälle ein nachweisbares, wechselseitig direct reducirtbares Nacheinander. Selbst wo in der Stammentwicklung der Wurzeln der eine oder der andere Wandel fehlt, müssen wir ihn, angesichts der ungemainen Lautwandlungsfähigkeit in der ungeheueren Ueberzahl der Wurzeln, als grundsätzlich möglich, und sogar als wahrscheinlich einmal vorhanden, und nur nicht erhalten oder noch nicht nachgewiesen ansehen.

Ob diese Fälle der Varianten schon im Hieroglyphischen auch diejenigen Formen eingeschlossen habe, welche wir nur im Koptischen finden; ob diese allein koptischen Formen im Hieroglyphischen nur nicht schriftlich gebraucht, erhalten oder nachgewiesen worden sind; ob sie zumal erst nach Fixirung des wesentlichen Canons der hieroglyphischen Schriftsprache entstanden und nur nicht in dieselbe aufgenommen wurden, während sie in der Umgangssprache cursirten — dies sind Fragen, deren Lösung in manchem einzelnen Falle wir vielleicht von dem fortschreitenden Studium zu erwarten haben. Die vielen ἄπαξ λεγόμενα der Hieroglyphentexte sprechen dafür. Mittlerweile lässt sich sagen, das die in der späteren Periode allein gefundenen Worte und Wortformen nicht plötzlich mit Annahme der koptisch-griechischen Schrift entstanden sein können; dass ebenso die im Hieroglyphischen gebräuchlichen, im Koptischen nicht gefundenen Worte nicht über Nacht bei Annahme der neuen Schrift untergegangen sein können; und dass demnach der in der Hieroglyphenschrift gebräuchliche Wortvorrath, obschon er im Laufe der Zeit genug Neuerungen zeigt, dennoch um vieles archaischer geblieben ist, als die rastlos Neues bildende, Altes aufgebende Sprache. So bewährt sich auch etymologisch die Angabe des Manetho bei Josephus über einen heiligen, und einen neben ihm existirenden Volksdialekt, dessen Spuren, abgesehen vom Koptischen, wir erwarten dürfen, in der späteren Hieroglyphik, zumal im Demotischen, immer ausgiebiger nachgewiesen zu sehen.

Während alle anderen erforschten Sprachen den Verfall der ursprünglichen Wurzeln und Stämme zeigen und nur selten zur Schaffung neuer befähigt sind, sehen wir somit im Aegyptischen das Aufwachsen, oder Auftreten, neuer Stämme vor unseren Augen vor sich gehen.

Der überwiesenen consonantischen Variation entspricht die ähnlichen Zwecken dienende vokalische, die in des Verf. Kopt. Unters. 255—400, und der „Koptischen Intensivirung“ (Sprachwiss: Abh. IX) erörtert ist.

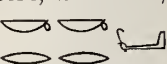

3. Mehrfache Ausweichungen im Nebeneinander.

Der von Lepsius (Zeitschr. V, 71) aufgestellte Unterschied, wonach \square h nur in koptischem ξ , ⌘ h dagegen sowohl in ξ als in ⌘ wieder gefunden werden kann, wird durch den in den Lautwechselreihen nachgewiesenen Wechsel der beiden altägyptischen Laute einigermassen modificirt. Wenn sowohl \square ⌘ her, wie ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ her-u, in M. ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ , S. ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ , tranquillus, weiterleben, so spricht für die Ableitung der koptischen Form von \square , nicht von ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ ⌘ , nur der Umstand, dass wo Hieroglyphisch \square ohne ⌘ Variante zeigt, koptisch ξ einzutreten pflegt.

Eine entsprechende Einschränkung erfährt die an derselben Stelle gegebene Regel, dass ⊙ und ⌘ χ (d. h. ch) nie in koptisches ⌘ (d. h. kh) übergehen. Zunächst wird allerdings altes ⊙ χ gewöhnlich zu neuem ξ , ζ , ψ , während neues χ sehr überwiegend die memphitisch aspirirte Variante für sahidisch κ ist. Indess giebt es von dieser Regel Ausnahmen:

Es ist wahr, dass in einem Theil dieser Beispiele bereits altes k und h neben χ erscheinen, also keine Nöthigung vorliegt das ihnen gegenüber tretende neue χ von altem χ abzuleiten. Erwägen wir indess, dass dies einerseits keineswegs in allen Beispielen der Fall ist, und dass andererseits so complicirte, weitergebildete Stämme wie  χaḥb, M. χωḥḥ ( χeb,  χeb-t, ), percudere, dividere (S. S. 322 und Kopt. Unters. S. 326), das gelegentliche Entsprechen von altem χ und neuem χ unzweifelhaft bezeugen, so bleibt der Zusammenhang beider Laute erwiesen, und die k und h Formen erscheinen als Varianten der χ Formen, die dem neuen χ vorausgegangen sein können, aber nicht nothwendigerweise vorausgegangen zu sein brauchen.

Die gleiche Bemerkung lässt sich auf hieroglyphisch k, koptisch ḥ, und das Princip derselben auf das ganze Gebiet des ägyptischen Lautwechsels ausdehnen. Nach Lepsius darf ḥ nie auf k zurückgeführt werden. Es widerspricht diesem Gesetze nicht, dass beide dennoch häufig neben einander erscheinen, weil in hieroglyphischer Periode χ oft neben k auftritt, so dass späteres ḥ nicht auf k zurück-zugehen braucht, um ihm zu entsprechen. Es ist dazu nur nothwendig, dass eine χ -Variante untergegangen, oder noch nicht aufgefunden ist, und die k Form allein vorliegt. Man vergleiche  sek, a-sez, cor, caš, ω-cš, secare. Das Nebeneinander ist eben überall zu zahlreich, um das Nacheinander leicht zu entwirren. Es können sich daher Laute entsprechen, die nicht auseinander entstanden zu sein brauchen, sondern vielmehr beide einen gemeinsamen Mittelpunkt haben, der noch vorhanden, oder, in diesem und jenem Falle, auch verschwunden sein kann, ohne andere, als verschieden differenzirte Nachkommenschaft zu hinterlassen.

So wechselt k selten, q dagegen häufig mit š, ŋ; da nun k seinerseits ebenfalls häufig mit h wechselt, kann es auch ohne unmittelbare Verbindung neben š, ŋ treten. Desgleichen bilden sich Verbindungen k, ŋ, w und š, ŋ, w, obschon k, w und š, w selten sind, weil sowohl k, ŋ und ŋ, w als š, w und ŋ, w öfter vorkommen; oder g, σ, x, weil k sowohl mit g als mit σ, x wechselt, obschon g zu σ, x weniger directe Beziehungen hat u. s. w.

Neben der gemeinsamen Verwandtschaft zweier Laute mit einem dritten ist die absolute Wandelung eines Lautes in einen anderen vermöge einer Mittelstufe in Betracht zu ziehen. In den Fällen, in denen mehr als zwei Laute mit einander wechseln, kann der Wechsel direct, oder durch Vermittelung eines dritten geschehen sein. So wechselt p häufig mit b, b häufig mit m; die selteneren Fälle, in welchen p mit m wechselt, können demnach den Durchgang durch b vollzogen haben, welches b nach dem Uebergang in m verschwand; oder sie können geradewegs zu m geworden sein. Für ersteres sprechen die allerdings noch selteneren Fälle, in welchen wir die volle Reihe p, b, m erhalten haben: für letzteres die Lautwuchsfälle p, m, obschon auch sie die Möglichkeit eines Durchganges durch b freilich nicht ausschliessen. Daraus ergibt sich die dritte, bei der ausserordentlichen Wandelbarkeit des Aegyptischen wahrscheinlichste Alternative, dass beide Möglichkeiten ursprünglich neben einander bestanden haben.

Beide Punkte der obstehenden Erwägung finden auf die zahlreichen Wechsel innerhalb der Guttural- Dental- und Sibilantenreihen umfassende Anwendung. Es zeigen sich lange Ketten von Uebergängen, an der einen Stelle etwas stärker gewunden, als an der anderen, aber überall nachweisbar verknüpft und häufig grade da am festesten durch Lautwuchs geeint, wo der Wechsel in selbstständigen Wörterpaaren sparsamer auftritt. So sind p, n; b, n; k, q; g, r u. s. w. häufiger im Lautwuchs als in verschiedenen Worten verbunden; k wechselt mit x häufig in verschiedenen Worten, aber selten im Lautwuchs; während n und g sowohl in verschiedenen Worten als im Lautwuchs häufig tauschen. Das sicherste Kriterium directer Verwandtschaft gewährt unter diesen Umständen nächst dialektischem Wandel der Lautwuchs. Die relative Stärke der einzelnen Kettenglieder wird in dem Wörterbuch ersichtlicher werden, als in den Beispielen der Einleitung, welche, zu Zwecken der nächsten grundlegenden Vergleichung gesammelt, sich im allgemeinen auf kürzere Reihen beschränken, Fernerliegendes ausschliessen, und demnach weitere Erörterungen hinausschieben lassen.

Historisch lassen sich, wie wir schon in dem vorhergehenden Abschnitt sahen, diese Vorgänge nur selten verfolgen. Die angeführten Lautwechselreihen zeigen sie in genügender Fülle; auch den ersten Nummern derselben, welche knapper gehalten sind, stellen Index und Lautwuchs- und Mannigfaltige Lautwuchsbeispiele den Reichthum der Varianten zur Seite.

4. σ, x, r, c.

Trotzdem σ und x häufig verwechselt werden, hat Prof. Lepsius für ersteren Laut gutturalen, für letzteren dentalen Ursprung beansprucht. Sowohl auf Grund ihrer graphischen Darstellung, wie ihres häufigsten Entsprechens, zumal im Sahidischen, wird σ von Lepsius mit , von M. de Rougé mit  identificirt, x aber dem  zugewiesen; was widerspricht, ist Ausnahme. Die Erhärtung der Regel wird in denjenigen Fällen unmöglich sein, in denen k und t' , t selber wechseln.

Freilich unterliegt der Nachweis dieser Fälle eigenthümlichen Schwierigkeiten. Sicher sind zunächst die mit t suffigirten, und danach in t verwandelten auslautenden k (S. 321), denen sich durch Metathese allerdings die anlautenden gesellen können; um den Wechsel durch dieses Mittel in den Anlaut zu bringen wäre aber eine zweite Metathese nach vollzogenem Lautwandel erforderlich, welche nicht ohne deutlichen Nachweis in Rechnung gesetzt werden kann. Praktisch gestaltet sich die Sache demnach so, dass nur auslautendes k mit Sicherheit durch Suffigirung zu t wird. Was sodann das Kriterium des Lautwuchses betrifft, so versagt es in diesem Falle grossentheils. Denn da t das gebräuchlichste Prae- und Suffix ist, so braucht sein Erscheinen in Aus- oder Anlaut einen Lautwuchs nicht einzuschliessen; nur diejenigen Fälle sind zuverlässig, in denen das ursprüngliche k der Wurzel ein anderes k , oder einen anderen verwandten Laut, sich angewuchert hat, selbst aber in t übergegangen ist. Nebenwurzel mit urprünglichem t liefe auf dasselbe heraus. Es verbleiben die Fälle gegenseitigen Entsprechens in selbstständigen Worten, welche bei einem so starken Organwechsel der Regel nach nicht in Wurzeln, die sich eher ähneln können, sondern nur in Ableitungen und Weiterbildungen, die seltener an zwei Punkten gleichartig zu erfolgen pflegen, in Betracht gezogen werden können. Solche Ableitungen sind im Aegyptischen weniger häufig als in entwickelteren Sprachen. Das Ergebniss von alledem ist, dass an dieser Stelle die Entscheidung über ägyptischen Lautwechsel häufig in dem Wörterschatz der verwandten Sprachen liegen wird, die einerseits durch t Affix weniger beirrt, andererseits durch individualisirende Weiterbildung den Stämmen eine bestimmtere Gestalt gegeben haben.

Aehnlich verhält es sich mit dem Wandel des k und seiner Vertreter zu s . Häufiges Praefix und Suffix, wie t , kann s in lautwüchsiger Action nur da erkannt und anerkannt werden, wo es als ursprünglicher Wurzelconsonant auftritt, der angewucherte Consonant aber ein Guttural oder eines Gutturals Vertreter ist. Die hieraus gewonnene Thatsache des betreffenden Lautwechsels, verbunden mit dem Herabsinken des t zu s in der Wortbildungslehre, berechtigt sodann den gleichen Wandel in selbstständigen Worten anzuerkennen, zumal wo einigermassen individualisirte Weiterbildungen der Wurzelform vorliegen. Indessen wird auch hier aus obgenannten Gründen die Vergleichung mit verwandten Sprachen von der höchsten Wichtigkeit sein, und häufig den Ausschlag geben, oder wenigstens die grössere oder geringere Wahrscheinlichkeit der Verwandtschaft bestimmen. Ersetzung des Auslautes durch s Suffix findet nicht statt.

Sehr bezeichnend für die beirrende Wirkung, welche die häufige Präfigirung dieser Laute auf das ägyptische Sprachgefühl selbst hervorgebracht zu haben scheint, ist das verhältnissmässig ungemein seltene Auftreten des Lautwuchses vor und nach anlautendem c, r.

5. Das Nacheinander.

Einige Consonantenwandlungen giebt es allerdings, welche sich häufig genug — wenn auch nicht ausschliesslich — in geschichtlicher Folge wiederholen, um die den Varianten entspringenden Bedenken verhältnissmässig zurücktreten zu lassen.

Altes \curvearrowright k, welches sich oft im Sahidischen erhält, wird Memphitisch häufig zu χ , ohne auch in diesem Dialekt κ gänzlich auszuschliessen. Altes \odot χ , schon vorher oft zu \square ξ geworden, tritt entweder in beiden koptischen Dialekten als \underline{y} auf, oder ist Memphitisch ξ und Sahidisch ϱ , ohne im Memphitischen ϱ , und selbst χ , ganz abzulehnen; $\ast\curvearrowright$, ein χ , das gelegentlich mit \square h wechselt, wird demnach Memphitisch sowohl von ξ als ϱ , und Sahidisch von ϱ fortgesetzt. Da \curvearrowright \triangle k, q, einerseits mit \odot χ , andererseits mit \square ξ h, h, zusammenhängen, muss die selbstständige Tendenz des χ sich sehr merklich geltend gemacht haben, um hieroglyphisch und koptisch ihre eigenen Wege zu gehen. Altes \square , h, zeigt in beiden Dialekten eine starke Neigung sich zu erhalten, während ξ , h, sowohl von ϱ als von ξ vertreten zu werden pflegt. Altes \triangle , $\overline{\Delta}$ q, k, später häufig mit \curvearrowright , k wechselnd, palatisiren sich leicht zu σ , zumal im Sahidischen. ,  t', seltener , = ʒ, werden noch häufiger zu z, wonach s und z, zumal im Memphitischen, miteinander zu wechseln lieben, während das Sahidische die ursprüngliche Sonderung treuer bewahrt. — s erscheint nicht selten als u, welcher Laut, wie wir sahen, auch altes  z zu übernehmen gewöhnt ist.

Dem  b entspricht Memphitisch gebräuchlicherwise ϕ oder \hat{k} , Sahidisch \hat{k} ; dem , f, Memphitisch φ , Sadidisch φ , \hat{k} .

κ, τ, η werden, wo sie in der Wortbildung vor Liquiden oder Halbvocalen zu stehen kommen, im Memphitischen gewöhnlich durch χ , ϕ , ψ ersetzt, im Sahidischen dagegen erhalten. η weicht überhaupt im memphitischen Anlaut meist dem ψ , hält sich dagegen besser in In- und Auslaut.

ν, ζ kommen koptisch kaum vor, und werden hieroglyphisch in den wenigen Fällen, in denen sie sich sicher erkennen lassen, durch Buchstaben ausgedrückt, welche der entsprechenden Tennis ebenfalls dienen oder mit ihr wechseln. \hat{k} ist ein Halbvocal, welcher im Altägyptischen selten mit \square p wechselt. Erst in der spätägyptischen Aussprache sinken τ zu ζ, η zu \hat{k} , und \hat{k} zu w herab (Schwartz, Altes Aegypten 1278—1202); ein g führt sich im Koptischen nie ein.

Lässt sich aus allgemeineren Gesichtspunkten ein Einblick in das Nacheinander der Lante gewinnen? Wir fanden, dass κ einerseits mit φ , χ , u (seltener mit χ), andererseits mit σ , z, τ, c wechselt. In der That ist κ der physiologische Mittelpunkt beider Reihen, und in seinen Ausweichungen nach beiden Seiten hin somit organisch erklärt. Die Thatsache eines solchen Mittelpunktes scheint nun den Rückschluss nahe zu legen, dass derselbe der älteste Theil der verschiedenen, von ihm ausgehenden Reihen sei. Neben diese Folgerung stellt sich die andere Alternative, dass in der Laut- und Sinnesfülle einer Urzeit, wie sie im Aegyptischen noch erkennbar vorliegt, Verwandtes schon im ersten Anfang weniger als ein Nacheinander, denn als ein Nebeneinander aufzufassen ist. Wo sich jede Wurzel durch Laut- und Sinnesmetathese, An- und Auslautwiederholung, Doppelung, Suffixe, Präfixe etc. so mannigfache intellectuelle und phonetische Wendungen zu geben vermochte, die alle, oder die grossentheils gleichzeitig und häufig gleichwerthig nebeneinander bestanden, können auch die einfachen Lautvertretungen mehr Lautgemeinschaften, als Lautwandelungen gewesen sein. Dass die lautsinnige Feinheit der Auffassung, welche Laut und Sinn ursprünglich in der Wurzel verband, noch lange erhalten blieb, wird durch den Lautwuchs genügend bezeugt. Für welche Auffassung man sich entscheiden möge, in jedem Fall bleibt anzuerkennen, dass von je zwei sich entsprechenden Lauten häufig einmal der eine, einmal der andere im Hieroglyphischen und ebenso variirend im Koptischen auftritt, eine regelmässige Folge der Entwicklung sich also nur selten feststellen lässt. Aehnlich wie κ zu den Guttural- Dental- und Spirantenreihen, verhalten sich μ und $\acute{\mu}$ zu ϱ und μ .

Angesichts dieser dürftigen Ausbeute werden wir es dahin gestellt sein lassen, ob die verwandten Laute, wo sich der Vorgang geschichtlich nicht nachweisen lässt, auseinander entstanden sind, oder gleichzeitig nebeneinander erwachsen. Da sich die Verwandtschaft durch andere Mittel genügend feststellen liess, so ist die Frage von untergeordneter Bedeutung. Im ersten Fall hat eben die allmähliche Veränderung der örtlichen und menschlichen Verhältnisse den ägyptischen Lautstand wie jeden anderen ergriffen, ermässigt und gewandelt; im zweiten haben wir dem Sprachgehör der Urzeit eine Feinfühligkeit zuzuschreiben, welche, verwandte Töne mitanklingen lassend, wie einmusikalisches Instrument den akustisch-physiologischen Mittelpunkt ihre mannigfaltigen Ausläufer gleichzeitig und gleichberechtigt zur Seite stellte. Für die letztere Alternative sprechen im Aegyptischen der Lautwuchs, der Vocalsinn, die Inversion und besonders deutlich die Wiederholung der beiden letzten Consonanten Dreiconsonantiger, wo der musikalische Effect den begrifflichen Lautstand gradezu ignorirt; in anderen primitiven Idiomen ganze Reihen ähnlicher Erscheinungen. Das Hawaii unterscheidet heute noch nicht zwischen k , t ; k , g ; t , d ; p , b . Andere polynesische Sprachen zeigen die gleiche Unfähigkeit. Das Finnische hat erst in modernen Zeiten unter schwedischem Einfluss k , t , p und g , d , b sondern gelernt, während das verwandte Ungarische die Scheidung selbstständig zu vollziehen vermochte. Analog vertreten sich in indoeuropäischen Sprachen mitunter gleichstufige Laute verschiedener Organe: Luft, Lucht; Graft, Gracht; τέσσαρες, πέντε; ἵππος, equus; τις, qui etc. Δάκρυ und lacruma auf Grund derselben Ansicht zu vergleichen, wie man indogermanisch mangels besserer Erklärung zu thun versucht ist, liegt nach ägyptischen Bildungsgesetzen, wenn man die ganze Tragweite derselben zugiebt, keine Veranlassung vor.

Da somit die beiden extremen Zeitalter, das hieroglyphische und koptische, den Nachweis einer sicheren geschichtlichen Entwicklung verwandter Laute in vergleichsweise wenigen und wenig bedeutenden Fällen zulassen, so kann die gemeinsame Betrachtung der verschiedenen Perioden die wesentlichen Punkte, auf die es in dieser Beziehung ankommt, in ein irriges Licht nicht setzen.

KAPITEL VI.

Die Dialekte in der Etymologie.

Auch die Dialekte stehen einer Gesamtbehandlung nicht entgegen. Je strenger die koptischen Dialekte geschieden wären und je mehr ihre Scheidung als die Fortsetzung einer eben so strengen hieroglyphischen Sonderung angesehen werden müsste, desto sicherer würde sich einerseits die Verwandtschaft der sich in ihnen regelmässig entsprechenden Laute ergeben, andererseits die Verwechslung derselben in demselben Dialekt ausgeschlossen sein, oder wenigstens prima facie ausgeschlossen erscheinen. Nun sind zwar die bekannten dialektischen Entsprechungen von η und Φ , κ und χ , τ und θ , ζ und ζ , σ und ς , λ und ρ u. a. häufig genug, um die gegenseitige interdialektische Vertretung der betreffenden Laute unzweifelhaft zu machen; gleichzeitig gehen sie jedoch immer nur auf die Bevorzugung des einen oder des anderen Lautes, ohne seine in den Nebendialekten erscheinenden Vertreter dieser Bevorzugung zu Liebe gänzlich auszuschliessen.

Ja, in koptischen Schriftstücken aus dem zweiten Jahrhundert gehen die Dialekte sogar noch völlig durcheinander (Stern, Gramm. S. 12.). Der Beweis des Entsprechens ist in diesen Fällen demnach doppelt geführt, sowohl für die interdialektische als die innerdialektische Vertretung. Anders da, wo ein mehr oder minder durchgehendes Lautentsprechen nicht zwischen verschiedenen Dialekten, sondern innerhalb eines Dialektes stattfindet. Hier wird der Beweis des Entsprechens für den betreffenden Dialekt durch die vielfach vorkommenden Varianten derselben Worte geführt, und überdies durch den Lautwuchs innerhalb derselben Worte erhärtet — eine Bestätigung, die auch den durch dialektisches Entsprechen verbundenen Lauten meist überreich zu Theil geworden ist. Indess ergibt sich auch hier eine Ausdehnung aller wesentlichen Erscheinungen auf die gesammte Sprache, insofern die innerdialektischen Consonantenwechsel allen Dialekten gemeinsam, wenn auch nicht in allen gleich häufig sind. Die Vokalschwankungen sind den einzelnen Dialekten eigenthümlicher. Während also bei den dialektischen Sonderungen der Lautwechsel auf überwiegend örtlicher Differenzirung beruht, hat er in den anderen Fällen an einem und demselben Orte, oder vielmehr an verschiedenen Orten gleichzeitig, stattgefunden; in beiden Fällen bleibt der Lautwechsel selbst, und damit das reiche Nebeneinander der ursprünglichen Vertretungsfähigkeit bestehen. Für alle diese Daten haben sich auf jeder Seite unserer Lautwechselreihen die Bestätigungen gefunden. Im Hieroglyphischen lassen sich Dialekte noch weniger unterscheiden; um so sicherer ist das schwankende Gewirr der Varianten, welches entweder eine ausserordentlich grosse Anzahl von Dialekten oder eine weitgehende Vertretungsfähigkeit innerhalb desselben Dialektes voraussetzt. An der Hand des Koptischen und angesichts der geringen geschichtlichen Lautfolgeentwicklung werden wir uns vorzugsweise für die zweite Alternative zu entscheiden haben.

Wenn es aber im Aegyptischen an einer Stelle gesammelt so stark hervortritt, um wie viel mehr müssen wir erwarten dies Nebeneinander der gegenseitigen Lautentsprechungen einzeln in seinen verschiedenen Schwestersprachen erhalten zu sehen. Wo synonyme phonetische Varianten im Aegyptischen gemeinsam bewahrt sind, werden entwickeltere Idiome, bei der späteren differenzirenden Fixirung von Laut und Sinn, einseitig verhärtete Gestalten und Bedeutungen zeigen müssen, deren Verwandtschaft nur durch das Aegyptische und sein primitives, so mannigfaltiges und dennoch gleichwerthiges Nebeneinander erkannt werden kann. Dass dies der Fall ist; dass nicht nur die verhältnissmässig wenigen Wurzeln der drei noachidischen Sprachstämme sich demgemäss entsprechen, sondern auch die durch Lautwuchs und Lautwechsel schon in der gemeinsamen Urzeit von ihnen abgeleiteten ausserordentlich zahlreichen Stämme, hat die Vergleichung ermöglicht und die Identificirung gesichert. Die noachidische Spracheinheit ist demnach eine durchaus andere, ungleich engere, entwickeltere und länger fortgesetzte, als diejenige, welche die Verwandtschaft der menschlichen Sprachorgane und des menschlichen Sprachsinns zwischen den Wurzeln entlegener Idiome in zerstreuten Spuren etwa erkennen lässt. (Siehe Gerber, Sprache als Kunst, I 300, Renan, Gesch. der Sem. Spp. 464, Buschmann, Ueber den Naturlaut 396, Hyde Clarke, Khita and Khita Peruvian Epoch, Comparative Grammar of Egyptian, Coptic and Ude). Sie ist in der That in Wurzeln und Stämmen eine grossentheils ebenso enge, als die der indoeuropäischen Sprachen unter sich.

Aegyptisch-Semitisch-Indoeuropäische Sprachverwandtschaft.

Betrachten wir die Lateinischen Worte baculus und batuere, von denen das eine „Schlägel“, das andere „mit einem Schlägel schlagen“ besagt, so haben wir trotz der zusammenhängenden Bedeutung und der ähnlichen Laute nach indoeuropäischen Lautgesetzen keine Berechtigung, eine wurzelhafte Verwandtschaft beider anzunehmen. Denn lateinisch c führt auf indoeuropäisch k, lateinisch t auf indoeuropäisch t zurück, und k (c) kann, nach bisher erkannten Gesetzen, weder im Lateinischen noch im Indoeuropäischen in t übergehen. Die seltenen Fälle, in denen dies im Lateinischen geschieht, werden als die Ausnahme, nicht die Regel beweisend angesehen: anclare antlare, ἀνιλᾶρ; Suffix culum, tlum*, trum; u. s. w. (Bugge, Zeitschrift XX, 140; Osthoff, Forschungen 2 ff.; Bezzenberger, Gött. Gel. Anz. 1875, 920.)

Wenden wir uns dagegen zu dem Aegyptischen, so finden wir in dieser Sprache k und t nicht selten, auslautendes k aber häufig und regelmässig mit t wechseln (Kopt. Unters. S. 20. 326. 423. 463. 598 ¹⁾), und zumal auch in einer Wurzel wechseln, welche den obigen Worten in Laut und Bedeutung entspricht:  beq, arbor, lignum ²⁾,  malleus,  pet, baculus.  bet-k,

1) Für sämtliche angeführte Lautwandlungen ist auf Belege in des Verf. Koptischen Untersuchungen verwiesen; für die häufigsten Consonantenwechsel findet sich in der vorstehenden Dritten Abtheilung ein weiterer ausführlicherer Nachweis, auf den hier ein für allemal hingewiesen sein möge.

2) Nach Brugsch Lex. 424 Oelbaum, Birch, Lex. 377 Palmbaum, auch für „Holz“ ununterschieden. Vgl.  Zweig,  bes-t, Balken,  eht, Zweig, Stamm, Palme, Feige, Sycomore; für den allgemeinen Begriff des Baumes auch die Metathesen ἕστ-ε, ἕστ, ferire (entweder t-k, Auslautverdoppelung im Auslaut, und Wandel des ursprünglichen Auslauts, also *bek-k = bet-k, Kopt. Unters. S. 619 ff¹⁾), oder angehängtes und mit Auslautabfall in die Wurzel gedrungenes Demonstrativsuffix t, also bek, bek-t, betk, bet, Kopt. Unters. S. 326²⁾), gesichert durch  bek-s, Schwert,  beh-n, kämpfen,  beh-u, niederschlagen u. s. w.) S. 349.

Angenommen wir liessen uns hiervon bestimmen, die Möglichkeit einer analogen Verwandtschaft von baculus und batuere in Betracht zu ziehen, so ist es schon in diesem Stadium der Untersuchung klar, dass die Geltung der indoeuropäischen Lautgesetze innerhalb ihrer eigenen Sphäre durch jene Verwandtschaft, wenn sie sich etwa ergäbe, nicht beeinträchtigt werden würde. Die im Aegyptischen erhaltenen Laut- und Stammbildungsgesetze, auch wenn sie sich als ursprünglich der ganzen Noachidischen Familie gemeinsam nachweisen lassen sollten, können diese umfassende Geltung immer nur in der Zeit vor Dreitheilung der Familie besessen haben. 1) Curtius, Griech. Etym. '63⁴ theilt — allerdings auf Grund einer anderen Wurzelannahme — ebenfalls bac-ulu-s,' dem Corssen, Krit. Beitr. 345 widerspricht, weil Suffix ulo im Lateinischen nie das Werkzeug bezeichne, ein Suffix dieses Sinnes aber, wie das Griechische τϩο in βαϩτϩοϩ, auch für das Lateinische baculus erforderlich sei. Es müsse also ba-culu-m heissen. Das Verzeichniss der mit ulo suffigirten in Roby, Latin Grammar I. 322 bestätigt die von Corssen gegebene Erklärung dieses Suffixes nicht: cap-ulu-s, pess-ulu-s, vid-ulu-s etc.

2) In die Wurzel dringendes t Suffix wird auch im Aethiopischen durch die Vergleichung mit dem Arabischen Dillmann wahrscheinlich: Aethiop. Gramm. § 73. Vgl. Stade, Mehrlautige Thatwörter des Geez VI. 2. Dieselbe Beobachtung im Hebräischen macht Bötticher, On the Classification of Semitic Roots (Bunsen, Outlines II, 351). Delitzsch, Indogermanisch-Semitische Wurzelverwandtschaft S. 73 kennt „t Determinativ“, führt indessen nur Beispiele mit Gutturalanlaut an, bei denen sich t nach ägyptischer Phonetik auch als Lautwuchs erklären liesse.

wandtschaften, welche das Aegyptische darlegt, und die engeren, deren Entwicklung den später auf eigenem Gebiet erstehenden indoeuropäischen Gesetzen verblieb, gehen mithin unbeschadet neben einander. Ueber die Sonderung beider Gesetze vergl. S. 9. Ueber ihre Stellung zu den „Ausnahmen“, siehe die Schlussworte dieser Abtheilung.

Gehen wir nunmehr einen Schritt weiter, und vergleichen zwei, den obigen Bedingungen entsprechende Worte verschiedener indoeuropäischer Sprachen, etwa das Sanskritische bhrāg, lucere, bhrāgg, rösten, und das Deutsche Morgen. Wiederum sind wir nach indoeuropäischen Lautgesetzen nicht befugt, beide zusammenzustellen: denn sanskritisches bh führt auf indoeuropäisch bh, b, deutsches m aber auf m, und diese wechseln nicht. Kehren wir nunmehr zum Aegyptischen zurück, so finden wir b und m häufig wechseln, und zwar auch in einer Wurzel wechseln, welche in Laut und Sinn den obgenannten Worten entspricht:

fulgur, splendor,  mārš, mērc-ε, flavus, rufus (Kopt.

Unters. S. 20. 155)  keru-ι, xrcm-ε, fuligo, croumra, obtenebrari √ ερωπ, caminus, υωρη, diluculo, ερωμ, χρωμ, κρωμ, ignis. Vergl.
ḥrczi, εmrczi, mērczi, bitumen √ φρηυ, flavus, n. a. m. S. 137. 274.

Setzen wir unseren Weg fort, und stellen noch mehrere, den obigen Bedingungen entsprechende Worte verschiedener indoeuropäischer Sprachen zusammen, z. B. Sanskrit bhuḡ, bhaks, frui, vesci, â-miś-a, māṣa, piṭa, caro, cibus, Engl. meat, caro, cibus, Lith. mais-ta, cibus, Lat. bucc-a, maxilla, Goth. vagg-ô, niutan, Griech. φαγῆν, μασσῶσθαι. Hier entsprechen sich nach indoeuropäischen Gesetzen im Anlaut der Wurzel nur Sansk. bh, Lat. b, Griechisch q; im Auslaut stimmt die Erweichung der gutturalen Tenuis in Palatal und theilweis auch in Media, aber weder die Ersetzung durch Dental noch durch Sibilant. Aber nur wo An- und Auslaut stimmen, wäre die Annahme eines wurzelhaften Zusammenhanges nach indoeuropäischer Phonologie zulässig. Nochmals das Aegyptische befragend, sehen wir die Lautwechsel, die zur Statuirung eines wurzelhaften Zusammenhanges zwischen den genannten Worten erforderlich wären, in dieser Sprache gesetzlich vorhanden, und auch in der betreffenden Wurzel, die dadurch zahlreiche Analogien zu den genannten Worten gebiert, reichlich vorkommend. Den regelmässigen Wechsel von κ , einerseits mit χ , υ , ϵ , Spiritus lenis; andererseits mit σ , α , υ , κ , υ σ , υ μ , ϵ χ , σ χ ; desgleichen von auslautendem k mit τ und gelegentlich, obschon unsicher, mit c , zeigen des Verf. Koptische Untersuchungen S. 20. 326. 423. 463. 598; den Wechsel von μ , β , μ , μ , ϵ , ϕ S. 20. 155. 208. 465. 611 u. s. w. Von ägyptischen, den obigen entsprechenden Worten lassen sich demgemäss anführen  beh (?), Richten wir nun unsere Bahn nach einer anderen Seite, und sehen wir zu, wie sich die Sprachen der zwischen den Hamitischen und Japhetischen Völkern mitteninne wohnenden Semiten zu obigen Erscheinungen verhalten.

Die semitischen Sprachen unterscheiden sich von den japhetischen schon in den ersten Zügen der Wortbildung durch anscheinend geringen Wandel ihres Consonantismus und überwiegende Triliteration der Wurzeln — Umstände, deren Zusammenwirken die etymologische Forschung ungemein erschweren muss. Prüfen wir z. B. einige Worte für Krümmen, beugen, etwa صَبَا propensum esse (amore), حَنَا flectere, حَنْبٌ curvum esse¹⁾, קָנַבְּ inclinare, so liegt nach den im Semitischen erkennbaren Laut- und Stammbildungsgesetzen keine Möglichkeit vor, einen laut- und wurzelhaften Zusammenhang anzunehmen. Die beiden ersten Worte entsprechen sich in keinem ihrer beiden Consonanten; das zweite und dritte Wort stimmen in den beiden ersten Consonanten, aber das dritte enthält einen dritten, den das zweite nicht erklärt; das vierte Wort, ebenfalls dreiconsonantig, stimmt in keinem Punkte mit den beiden zweiconsonantigen und dem dreiconsonantigen. Stellen wir indess diesen, im Semitischen unvereinbaren, Worten ähnliche ägyptische gegenüber, so ändert sich die Ansicht. Wir haben neben صَبَا propensus,  seb,  sebsebā, curvare, vertere, cinctura; neben حَنَا flectere,  hen, inclinare (? Cf. Brugsch, Hierogl. Wörterbuch II. Aufl. 755. 1. 4.); neben حَنْبٌ curvum esse,  qenb, angulus; neben קָנַבְּ inclinare,  ket-t, volvere,  κωτ, rota. Alle diese Worte sind nach ägyptischen Laut- und Stammwandlungsgesetzen regelmässige, und, mit Ausnahme der s für k zeigenden, sichere Wandlungen einer Wurzel keb, curvare, die in  keb,  keb-t, curvare, curvatura, am unversehrtesten erhalten ist. Gehen wir diese ägyptischen Worte einzeln durch, so erklärt sich das s in  seb nach dem in diesem Punkte allerdings einigermaßen zweifelhaften Gutturalwandlungsgesetz (Kopt. Unt. S. 617 No. 4 und Dritte Abth.), das auslautende ā in dem reduplicirten  sebsebā als Suffix (Kopt. Untersuch. S. 617 No. 11). Das h in  hen(?), fällt wiederum unter das Gutturalwandlungsgesetz, das n unter das Labialwandlungsgesetz (Kopt. Untersuch. S. 617. 424).

1) Die arabischen Worte in Klammern sind die sogen. Buchworte der einheimischen Lexikographen gen-b zeigt Auslautreduplication im Auslaut, mit Wandlung des ursprünglichen auslautenden Labials (keb, keb-b, ken-b S. 619. 617).

𐤀𐤋 ket-t, volvere, vertere, ist entstanden aus der mit t suffigirten, mit Auslautmetathese, Auslautabfall und Auslautwiederholung weitergebildeten Wurzel: 𐤀 𐤋 𐤏 𐤋 ket-t, curvatura, *ket-b, 𐤀𐤋, volvere, 𐤀𐤋 ket-t, volvere (Kopt. Unters. S. 617 No. 9. 619). Der vielfache in diesen Worten vorliegende Consonantenwandel rechtfertigt sich also mit der erwähnten Einschränkung durch das regelmässige ägyptische Lautgesetz; die neben den Biliteren auftretenden Triliteren ergeben sich als regelmässige Anwendungen der ägyptischen Gesetze der Auslautwiederholung, der Suffigirung, Auslautmethathese und Auslautabstossung nach invertirtem Suffix.

Das einende Band, welches das ägyptische Laut- und Stammbildungsgesetz in diesen Beispielen um indoeuropäische, und ebenso um semitische Worte schlingt, die nach den in ihren eigenen Sprachen erkennbaren Laut- und Wortbildungsgesetzen keinen wurzelhaften Zusammenhang zeigen, lässt sich, wie man danach zu erwarten berechtigt ist, auch beobachten, wenn Indoeuropäisch und Semitisch miteinander verglichen werden. Man nehme etwa eine Anzahl indoeuropäischer und semitischer Worte von den nächst zusammenhängenden Bedeutungen des Schlagens, Zerschlagens, Vernichtens: Latein: pug-io, pugn-us, pugn-a, find-ere, nec-are, per-nic-ies, met-ere, mess-is, im-ping-ere; Griech.: π-αίω percutere, π'ξ, πνγμ-ή, pugnus, ἀ-μίτ-εσθαι pungere, σφάτ-ω nactare; Germ: to poke, to beat, fecht-en, mait-an, meiss-eln, Mess-er; Slav: Poln. puk-ać, Czech. bouch-ati, bunk-ati, ferire, Slov. pest, pugnus. Russ. meč-i, gladius; Sanskrit: bhag, frangere, bhid, findere, pish, contundere, pat, ferire, sphut, frangere, uas, caedere, vj-â-pad, necare; Semit: 𐤁𐤋 contundere, rumpere, frangere, lacerare, (𐤁𐤋𐤏) percutere, dissecare, (𐤁𐤋𐤏𐤏 concidere in partes), 𐤁𐤋𐤏 secare, 𐤁𐤋, secare, 𐤁𐤋𐤏 scindere vestem, 𐤁𐤋𐤏 evulsit oculum (findere), 𐤁𐤋𐤏 frangere, percutere in dorso, ماس, radere, مسح abstersit, palpavit, 𐤍𐤏𐤔 ferire, vulnerare, 𐤏𐤏𐤔 ferire, caedere, 𐤏𐤏𐤔 pulsare, 𐤏𐤏𐤔 frangere, 𐤏𐤏𐤔 contundere, dis-cerpere. Nach dem Gesagten wäre es unnöthig, die Laute anzuführen, welche nach indoeuropäischen und semitischen Gesetzen in diesen Worten unvereinbar sind, sei es nun, dass wir die einzelnen Sprachen, oder die einzelnen Sprachstämme unter sich oder die beiden Sprachstämme mit einander vergleichen. Um die Unvereinbarkeit voll zu machen, haben wir gleichzeitig mit Bi- und Triliteren zu thun, welche sich im Indoeuropäischen durch die Annahme von Wurzeldeterminativen allerdings hier und da würden zusammenstellen lassen, im Semitischen aber, in welchem der Mangel synony-mer Biliteren und Triliteren der Lehre von den Wurzeldeterminativen weniger Raum geschafft hat, auch diesen Ausweg abschneiden. Dieser durch die Mittel der indoeuropäischen und semitischen Sprachen unlösbaren Schwierigkeit werden wir Herr, wenn wir, uns zum Aegyptischen wendend, den genannten asiatischen Worten ihre afrikanischen Aequivalente gegenüber stellen, und diese durch die regel-mässigen Laut- und Wortbildungsgesetze ihres Idiomies verbunden erkennen. Also: pug-io,    pek, 𐤏𐤏𐤔 percutere, findere,

Nach aegyptischen Laut- und Stammbildungsgesetzen haben wir demnach, wiederum mit den erforderlichen Vorbehalten in Bezug auf s für k, lauter regelmässige Varianten der Wurzel  pek, percutere, vor uns.

Solch Entsprechen der Wurzeln, und noch mehr ihrer Sprossformen ¹⁾ ist im Hamitischen, Semitischen und Japhetitischen ungemein häufig, und wird durch die aegyptische Laut- und Stammbildungslehre als das Ergebniss regelmässiger Gesetze erklärt. Dies leitet uns einen Schritt weiter. Aus den zahlreichen Fällen absoluten Entsprechens und dem Verständniss der Sprossformenbildung erlangen wir die Berechtigung, semitische und japhetische Worte, die sich durch die erwähnten Gesetze auf erhaltene oder erschliessbare aegyptische Wurzeln zurückführen lassen, denselben als verwandt anzuerkennen, auch wenn eine identische Variante im Aegyptischen nicht vorhanden oder nicht erhalten, oder noch nicht nachgewiesen ist. Unsomehr als sie sich oft in einer homonymen Wurzel findet. Um dies an der eben behandelten Wurzel zu erläutern, werden wir ihr Lateinisch mactare zugesellen dürfen, obschon wir gleichbedeutendes aegyptisches mk-t nicht beibringen können. Denn mk-t führt nach aegyptischem Lautgesetz, wenn keine Suffigirung vorliegt, auf mk-k, welches eine regelmässige Variante von pek wäre, und dessen richtige Bildung überdies durch andere erhaltene Varianten, wie  mek-s, baculus,  māt-s, occidere,  māt'-ā,  māt'-e-t, ferire, torquere,  mes-h-u, $\mu\epsilon\tau$, percutere, $\mu\epsilon\tau$ -i, phlebotomus, die (von Suffigirung abgesehen) theilweis mk-k einschliessen ¹⁾, erwiesen ist. Desgleichen werden wir Sloven. mih-ec, culter, Serb. s-mak-nu-ti, caedere, derselben Wurzel zusprechen dürfen, da wir einst vorhandenes mek aus den oben genannten Varianten erschlossen haben, dieses aber die Variante meh gesetzlich zugelassen haben kann, und die Varianten  mes-h-u, $\mu\epsilon\tau$ -i, überdies die Erweichung des auslautenden Gutturals in der vorliegenden Wurzel thatsächlich bestätigen. Ebenso werden wir  contundere, zu pek ziehen, wenn uns auch im Aegyptischen nicht entsprechendes $\epsilon\tau$ -c, sondern nur $\epsilon\sigma\tau$ -c und  fet-q, zu Gebote steht. Das Gleiche an einer anderen Wurzel belegend, wird es uns gestattet sein,  mul-tus zu  qeb, multus (Poln. kup, Lat. copia, wenn nicht co-opia nach dem Muster von in-opia) zu stellen, obgleich wir aegyptisch kein qm, sondern nur  qen, multus,  hen, multus, plenus, als nächstverwandte Formen zur Verfügung haben. Demselben  qeb wird sich  multus als Anlautwiederholung im Auslaut, mit Wandel des angewucherten Auslauts, gesellen, wenn wir aegyptisch auch nur das nach derselben Formel gebildete, aber in An- und Auslaut verschieden differenzirte  heb-s, multus,  heb-s <  hseb, numerare aufweisen können. Nicht minder entsprechen dem  qeb sowohl als sich gegenseitig  multus und  hseb, numerare,  hsep, mensura, da beide aus ersterem mit Anlautwiederholung im Anlaut, wenn auch mit vierfach verschiedener Nüancirung des ursprünglichen Gutturals gebildet sind. Ja  multus würde nach allem, was wir gesehen, ebenso sicher auf  qeb zurückzuführen sein, auch wenn von dieser aegyptischen Wurzel zufällig keine Variante mit Anlautwiederholung im Anlaut bisher aufgefunden wäre.

1) In Bezug auf die Chronologie der Laute sehe man die Abschnitte über das Nacheinander, das Nebeneinander, die mehrfachen Ausweichungen im Nebeneinander und die dialektische Differenzirung in vorstehender Dritter Abtheilung, wo das relative Alter als unsicher, die Verwandtschaft als sicher nachgewiesen wird. In obigen drei Beispielen erklären sich die beiden letzten ausschliesslich als mk-k; das erste kann auch mk mit Suff. s sein.

Das völlige Entsprechen vieler Wurzeln und noch mehrerer Sprossformen, und die darauf gegründete und durch das überreiche Ergebniss bestätigte Anwendung der aegyptischen Lautgesetze auch auf solche hamitische und japhetische Worte, denen wir die erhaltene oder erschliessbare aegyptische Wurzel, wenn auch nicht die gleiche Wurzelvariante oder die gleiche Sprossform, gegenüberstellen können, erweist eine durchgreifende Identität des ursprünglichen Sprachstoffes und seiner ersten Weiterbildungsgesetze in den drei Familien. In all diesen Sprachen bewahrt, sind die genannten Gesetze im Aegyptischen am deutlichsten erkennbar, weil dasselbe die gemeinsamen Wurzeln und Stämme in zahlreichen lautlichen Varianten von weiten, synonymen Bedeutungen enthält, und somit die ursprünglichen Wortbildungsmittel durch die Flüssigkeit seiner Laute und Gedanken am klarsten hervortreten lässt. zeitig als scindere, findere, rumpere, contundere, lacerare und $\text{naq}c$ morticinium, cadaver belegt wären; im Latein dagegen ist mit den Mitteln des Latein weder Laut- noch Bedeutungszusammenhang zwischen pugio und necare mehr nachzuweisen, sintemal in beiden Worten die allgemeine Bedeutung des Schlagens untergegangen und nach verschiedenen Richtungen hin einseitig specialisirt worden ist, und, indem eine ähnliche Bedeutungsverengung und Trennung in den meisten anderen Worten mit wurzelhaften p und n stattfand, p und n nicht mehr als ehemals wechselnd sich erkennen lassen. Da nun aegyptisch  nek,  nek-a, nicht nur caedere, sondern überhaupt injuriam inferre bedeutet, so gesellt sich auch noceo zu neco, obschon das Lateinische sie im Sinne zu scharf gesondert hat, um, trotzdem der Consonantismus sich entspricht, aus eigenen Mitteln ihre Einheit lehren zu können. Ebenso treten Anlautreduplication in An- und Auslaut, und Auslautreduplication im Auslaut, nebst Präfigirung und Suffigirung im Aegyptischen klarer hervor, als in den verwandten Sprachen, weil im Aegyptischen die ursprünglichen Wurzeln neben den weitergebildeten in zahlreichen Varianten nebeneinander erhalten zu sein pflegen, und, unterstützt durch den erkennbaren Laut- und Bedeutungswandel, die Sprossformen sich als legitime Nachkommenschaft ergeben. Da wir aegyptisch  nek,  neq-n,  neh-u-h nebeneinander haben, so ist es bei der Häufig-keit des Vorgangs ein sicherer Schluss, neqn als Anlautreduplication im Auslaut, nehuh als Auslautreduplication im Auslaut zu erklären; im Hebräischen, wo wir nur נֶקֶן und נֶכֶה , aber nichts dem nackten nek Entsprechendes haben, lässt sich diese Folgerung nicht ziehen.¹⁾ Ebenso dürfen wir angesichts der Laut-und Bedeutungsverbindung von  nek und  beh auch

 neh-p als Anlautreduplication im Auslaut mit Wandel des ursprünglich anlautenden Labials analysiren, wenn gleich Arabisch und Hebräisch ihr نَقَفَ und نَقِبَ aus eigenen Mitteln nicht also auflösen können, weil sie weder nek haben, noch, wenn sie es hätten, bei der Seltenheit solcher nachweisbaren Laut- und Bedeutungsübergänge in ihrem Gebiet, den Zusammenhang des nek mit dem vorhandenen (نَكَّ), und den Wechsel des ن und ب mit ف, ه sicher zu belegen vermöchten.

Reich wie dieser Laut- und Bedeutungswechsel und Sprossformenwuchs im Aegyptischen erhalten ist, und mannigfaltig, wie er eine jede Wurzel gestaltet, ist die Summe der aegyptischen Stammbildungsmittel damit nicht erschöpft. Es treten vier fernere ausserordentlich fruchtbare Variationen zu den genannten hinzu: die volle Metathese (Gegenlaut); die theilweise Metathese der Triliteren und Pluriliteren (Nebenlaut); die scheinbare Sinnverkehrung, welche in Wirklichkeit ein einem Gesamtgedanken entspriessendes Verhältnissmaass der ersten und nöthigsten menschlichen Begriffe ist (Gegensinn¹⁾); und die

Die Grundlage aller Bestimmtheit ist die Negation . . . Als seiende Bestimmtheit gegenüber der in ihr enthaltenen, aber von ihr unterschiedenen Negation ist die Qualität Realität.

Hegel.

Wo etwas ist, da ist auch sein Gegensatz. Setzen wir ein Ding, so müssen wir sofort noch andere Dinge neben ihm setzen. Nehmen wir was wir irgend wollen: Sein — Nichts, Dieses — Jenes, Eins — Vieles, Endlichkeit — Unendlichkeit, Licht — Finsterniss, Leben — Sterben u. s. w., überall ruft das Eine das Andere hervor. Jedes hat an oder neben sich sein Gegenheil. Das festeste Band, das es zwischen zwei Dingen giebt, ist dieses, dass sie einen logischen Gegensatz zu einander bilden.

Köstlin, Hegel.

Jeder menschliche Begriff ist nur durch seinen Gegensatz verständlich und konnte darum nur aus diesem und zugleich mit diesem entstehen. Nur für den Wissenden kann der Begriff der Unwissenheit einen Sinn haben, wie nur für den Sehenden der Begriff der Finsterniss. Nur für den Lebenden giebt es einen Tod und der Begriff des Lebens konnte nur mit der Wahrnehmung und dem Begriff des Todes zugleich erwachen. Daher auch die Wissenschaft, wenn sie, Definitionen suchend, auf den letzten Ursprung des Begriffs im Denkvermögen hinabzudringen sich bemüht, schliesslich an dem Felsengrunde dieses Gegensatzes anlangt, und nun nichts weiteres vermag, als einen Begriff durch den conträren zu erläutern.

Noiré, Logos.

The essential relativity of all knowledge, thought or consciousness cannot but show itself in language. If everything, that we can know, is viewed as a transition from something else, every experience must have two sides; and either every name must have a double meaning, or else for every meaning there must be two names. We cannot have the conception of light, except as passing out of the dark; we are made conscious in a particular way by passing from light to dark, and from dark to light. The name light has no meaning without what is implied in the name dark. We distinguish the two opposite transitions, light to dark and dark to light, and this distinction is the only difference of meaning in the two terms: light is emergence from dark; dark is emergence from light. Now the doubleness of the transition is likely to occasion double names being given all through the universe of things. Languages should be made up not of individual names, but of couples of names.

Bain, Logic.

Die Sprache hat Professor Bain's Forderung in unerwarteter Weise erfüllt, indem sie in den einen Namen ursprünglich beide Bedeutungen legte. Das Aegyptische enthält somit das grundlegende Denkgesetz der Urzeit, und sein Studium wird ein Mittel zur Erkenntniss der Geschichte der menschlichen Vernunft.

Abel, Hundert

Beispiele Aegyptischen Gegensinns, in Etudes Archéologiques, Linguistiques et Historiques dédiées à Mr. le Dr. C. Leemans à l'occasion du cinquantième anniversaire de sa nomination aux fonctions de Directeur du Musée Archéologique des Pays-Bas.

Wir können keinen Begriff, auch keinen der scheinbar einfachsten Wortbegriffe denken, als indem wir ihn von seinem Gegentheil unterscheiden: wir wüssten nichts von der Helligkeit, ausser indem wir sie vom Dunkel abheben, und wir könnten das Zerschlagen niemals aufgefasst haben, als indem wir es vom Ganzsein oder vom Verbinden geistig sonderten. Dass wir im Sprechen die Sonderung nicht mehr vollziehen und uns auch nicht erinnern, es je gethan zu haben, ist nur die Folge der gebrauchswisen Aneignung einer bereits fertigen Sprache, welche uns den Hausbedarf unserer Begriffe in bestimmt geprägten Wortbedeutungen überliefert, ohne dass wir sie selbst zu schaffen haben. Der Philosoph, der einen Begriff definiren will, muss noch heute auf seinen Gegensatz zurückgehen und wird schliesslich immer bei Kant'schen Kategorien und dem Hegel'schen dialektischen Prozess anlangen. Dass auch der Urmensch mehr oder weniger bewusst dasselbe gethan, hätte sich der Sprachphilosophie, wenn sie sich die Bedingungen der Vernünftigung klarer gemacht, immer ergeben können; dass er es vollbewusst gethan, dass er es sogar in dem absoluten Grade gethan, die beiden Seiten des Gegensatzes, dem allein eine jede von ihnen entspringen konnte, zuerst in demselben Laute unterzubringen, hatten wir aus dem Aegyptischen zu lernen. Die in der Mittheilung erforderliche Unterseheidung ist, wie die Hieroglyphen zeigen, zuerst durch begleitende Geberden, und nachmals, nach dem Zeugniß sowohl des Hieroglyphisehen wie des Koptischen, durch lautliche Differenzirung des ursprünglichen gemeinsamen Wortes bewerkstelligt worden. Abel, Keime.

Soweit man den Gegensinn bisher überhaupt bemerkte, war man darüber mit dem ungenügenden, weil zu spätem, und demnach zu hoch, zu einseitig und bestimmt entwickeltem Material der Indoeuropäischen und Semitischen Sprachen zu den verschiedensten Anschauungen gelangt. Während Curtius, Griech. Etymologie 193 den Gegensinn ablehnt, sagt Bopp in seiner Vergl. Zergliederung des Sanskrit, erste Abth. gradezu: „Es ist sogar nicht selten der Fall, dass ein Wort seine ursprüngliche Bedeutung mit einer entgegengesetzten vertauscht.“ Ob durch Zufall oder mit Bewusstsein, wird hier freilich unentschieden gelassen. Tobler, der früher den bewussten Gegensinn für „gewisse, ihrer objectiven Natur nach doppelte Anschauungen“ in Anspruch nahm und ausdrücklich als einer „polaren Grundbedeutung entsprossen“ erklärte (Lazarus und Steinthal, Zeitschrift I, 360), zog sich in seiner Besprechung meiner „Urworte“ auf den entgegengesetzten Standpunkt zurück und behauptete, „ein Begriff könne nicht aus einem Gegensatz gebildet sein, dessen Glieder ja selbst schon Begriffe sein mussten.“ (Zeitschr. für wissensch. Philosophie IX, 1.) Meine Antwort in IX, 2, über Relativität der Begriffe und die Mitwirkung quantitativer Bestimmungen rief nur eine Wiederholung seiner späteren Ansicht hervor. Brugseh, der in seinem Hieroglyphen-Wörterbueh Homonyme mit entgegengesetztem Sinn aufzuführen hat, und den Schatz der Sprache so überaus reich und scharfsinnig darlegt, schweigt über den Gegensinn. Nureinmal, bei zel, „jung \surd alt“, äussert er sich dahin, die Bedeutung „alt“ sei hier im Sinne unseres „Alter Junge“ aufzufassen (Wörterbueh 1036). Lässt sich das Principle des sarkastischen Tropus auf kalt \surd warm, hell \surd dunkel, theilen \surd verbinden, eins \surd viel und die grosse Anzahl ähnlicher Gegensinnsfälle anwenden? Oder auf die antithetischen Composita mitohne, weghin u. s. w.?

Die Anzeigen meiner Koptischen Untersuchungen haben den darin enthaltenen Gegensinn und Gegenlaut nicht berührt, und damit ihre Unzulänglichkeit dargethan. Naeh seiner wiederholten Veröffentlichung in den „Urworten“, den Oxford Ilchester Lectures und der Leemanns'sehen Jubelschrift ist der Gegensinn von den Psychologen und Sprachphilosophen Preyer, Noiré, Baynes, Bruchmann, Seemann, Lindner, Duboe, dem Aegyptologen Pleyte, dem Sanskritaner Ziemer u. a. anerkannt worden. Der schottische Philosoph Bain hatte ihn schon vorher als das Denkgesetz der Urzeit rein logisch eonstruirt.

Aehnlich ist es aus entsprechenden Gründen dem Gegenlaut ergangen. Brugseh spricht von Irrthümern und graphischen Metathesen: indess haben wir genug Alle diese Mittel sehen wir in den verwandten Sprachen, wenn wir dieselben im Lichte der aegyptischen Gesetze betrachten, erhalten. Dies zu erläutern, kehren wir zu den gegebenen Beispielen zurück, die wir der Reihe nach mit einigen Fällen des Gegenlauts, Gegensinns und Nebenlauts versehen. Probeweis mehr anzuführen, würde zwecklos sein, da diese Wandlungen nur durch die Fülle der Beispiele, wie sie in den Kopt. Unt. S. 620—691, 617. dem „Gegensinn der Urworte“, den Leidener „Hundert Beispielen“ und dem Wörterbuch selbst erscheinen, für diejenigen endgültig erwiesen werden können, denen die logische Begründung einer kleineren Anzahl von Beispielen kein genügender Beweis dünkt. Der Gegenlaut tritt in den nackten Wurzeln exacter auf, als in den Sprossformen, welche bei den ausserordentlich zahlreichen Wandlungsmöglichkeiten der ursprünglichen und angewucherten Laute sich in der Metathese seltener genau entsprechen; der Gegensinn stellt sich nur da ein, wo der Begriff einen auffallenden, zumeist sinnlich erkannten Gegensatz in den ersten und nöthigsten Gedanken zulässt, oder vielmehr ursprünglich erzwingt; der Nebenlaut beschränkt sich auf Tri- und Pluriliteren, und ist auch in ihnen nicht häufig. Die Aegyptischen Lautgesetze, die wir nach allem, was wir gesehen haben, nunmehr allgemeiner gebrauchen dürfen, sind in den folgenden Beispielen des weiteren exemplificirt, in den Fällen des regelmässigen Wandels aber nicht mehr besonders angezogen. Wo s für k, oder t für anlautendes k auftritt, kommen die obigen Reservationen und die entsprechenden Bemerkungen in der vorstehenden Dritten Abtheilung in Betracht.

Metathesen in Koptischer Zeit, wo es eine zur Symmetrie einladende Bilderschrift nicht mehr gab. Pott, in den Etymol. Forsch. II. 119, erklärt sich im Indogermanischen völlig dagegen: „Von wahren anagrammatischen Umkehrungen wüsste ich kein erwiesenes oder erweisbares Beispiel.“ Dietrich, in seiner Commentatio de literarum in lingua latina transpositione (Naumburg 1846), äussert sich ganz zornig: „Inter ea artificia quibus olim grammatici plerique in vocabulorum stirpibus et cognationibus exquirendis et explicandis sunt usi, et nunc quoque aliqui saepissime atque audacissime utuntur, id haud infimum obtinet locum, ut elementa vocum transposita et confusa statuunt“ etc. Was weder Zeyss in Kuhn's Zeitschrift XIX. 165, noch Bötticher, Hebräische Sprache § 265 ff., Olshausen Hebr. Spr. § 9 oder Ewald, Ausf. Lehrbuch § 78. mit der gleichen Sicherheit verwerfen. Siehe auch den Eingang zur Dritten Abtheilung.

Beispiele finden wird, in denen dieses, dem l verwandte n, die dem ägyptischen n sonst so naheliegende Affinität mit $\acute{\epsilon}$, μ ($\sigma\eta$), μ zeigt, oder zu zeigen scheint, so haben wir es in den n-l-Fällen mit einer Art slavischen n zu thun, in welchem die Liquida den Labial überwiegt. Was die Fälle betrifft, in denen n gleichzeitig auf Wurzeln mit l und b hinzuweisen scheint, so ist ein Kriterium für die Entscheidung zwischen beiden Ursprüngen noch nicht gegeben. Dafür, dass das n des Aegyptischen n-l nicht als labialer Laut aufzufassen ist, zeugt auch die wesentliche Verschiedenheit eines ausgesprochenen labialen l—des neuslavischen. Alle diese Vergleichenungen betreffen die Urzeit der Noachidischen Familie. Sie berühren demnach nicht die Arischen und Semitischen Sonderlautgesetze, und was von denselben nach der Trennung in die drei Gruppen von Sem, Ham und Japhet gewirkt worden ist. Sie fügen vielmehr den durch die Arischen und Semitischen Sonderlautgesetze gebildeten Verwandtschaften ältere, zur Zeit der weiteren Sprachgemeinschaft auf Grund früherer gemeinsamer Lautgesetze entstandene hinzu. Sie zeigen die ursprüngliche Veränderlichkeit der Wurzeln, die Mehrheit ihrer Formen und Stämme und den leichten Übergang der einen in die anderen. Und sie stellen viele Worte durch die gemeinsamen Lautgesetze der alten Gesamtsprache als urverwandt dar, deren Beziehungen durch die späteren Sonderlautgesetze ihrer Sprachen oder Sprachgruppen sich entweder nicht, oder nicht mehr sicher nachweisen lassen, und die demnach nur allzu häufig in ihrer Bedeutung künstlich gewendet und gebrochen zu werden pflegen, um Anschluss an eine andere Wurzel, der sie sonderlautgesetzlich sich paaren lassen, zu ermöglichen. Über das Verhältniss der Sonderlautgesetze der drei Familien zu denen der gemeinsamen Ursprache sprechen die vorstehende Erste, Zweite und Dritte Abtheilung. Vergl. Seite 9. 368.

Die nachstehende Bemerkung ist einer Abhandlung über die Kennzeichen der Sprachverwandtschaft entnommen, welche der Verf. kürzlich in Techmer's Internationaler Zeitschrift für Allgemeine Sprachwissenschaft II. 1. veröffentlicht hat:

„Die Wirkung der ägyptischen etymologischen Analysen erstreckt sich insofern über das ägyptische Gebiet hinaus, als zahlreiche ägyptische Worte, diesem Prozess unterworfen, sich nicht nur mit anderen ägyptischen, sondern auch mit semitischen und arischen zusammenfinden. Mit beiden gemeinsam, weil einerseits die meisten ägyptischen Wurzeln Biliteren sind, andererseits das Gesetz und die Thatsache ihrer Umbildung in Triliteren mit gleichzeitiger phonetischer Differenzirung im Aegyptischen erhalten sind. Wird dieses Entsprechen nach zwei entgegengesetzten Richtungen hin zugegeben, so dürfte dem von Pott in seiner Abhandlung ‚Max Müller und die Kennzeichen der Sprachverwandtschaft‘ aufgestelltem Axiom genug gethan sein, ‚dass Nachweis von genealogischen Beziehungen noch unbeschreiblich mehr und tieferes auf sich habe, als wohlfeiles Auffinden blosser Aehnlichkeiten‘. Den Terminus ‚genealogisch‘ erklärt Pott als ‚stammeneinheitlich aus einer Quelle geflossen‘. Damit würde also ein Weg zu dem bisher vermissten Kriterium gefunden sein.

In der indogermanischen Etymologie ist vielfachen Ausnahmen gegenüber neuerdings der Gedanke aufgetreten, dass man es in solchen Unerklärlichkeiten mit Resten einer vergangenen, hinter die der erkennbaren Lautgesetze zurückgehenden Periode zu thun habe (Paul, Sprachgeschichte 129. Delbrück, Einleitung 113. Tobler, Begriff des Gesetzes in der Sprache, und Rec. von Paul, Sprachgeschichte im Literaturblatt für Germ. und Rom. Philologie, 1881, 121, Curtius, Grundzüge 5. Aufl. 425). Kann man sich mit den ägyptischen Nachweisen befreunden, so wird man diese Ansicht von ihnen nicht allein erhärtet, sondern die Dunkelheiten, um die es sich handelt, in lexikalischen Fällen grossentheils aufgeklärt finden. Leistet das Aegyptische, was es verspricht, so lässt es eine Periode erkennen, in welcher eine gleichmässige Wurzel- und Stammbildung in den drei grossen Zweigen der kaukasischen Rasse nach gemeinsamem Urgesetz geschah, und für die Einzelsprachen, wie wir sie heute vor uns haben, noch nicht die nachmaligen, in Laut und Sinn engeren und verhärteteren Gesetze ausgebildet waren.“

Gleich anderen Worten derselben verdächtigen Abstammung ist dieser möglicherweise rein semitische Terminus im Text manchmal als solcher bezeichnet, manchmal nicht. Vom Doppelstandpunkt der semitisch-ägyptischen Wurzelverwandtschaft einerseits und der Geschichtsberührung andererseits ist es nicht immer leicht, eine Wurzel dem einen oder anderen Zweige vorzugsweise zuzuschreiben, auch wo die grammatische Weiterbildung dem einen oder anderen Zweige völlig oder vorzugsweise gehört. Bei mārka-buṯā z. B. steht die

ebräische Wurzel רכב innerhalb ihrer eigenen Sprache so vereinzelt, dass, trotz der semitischen Weiterbildung und Schreibung, ἄρετος, ἄρετος und deren Verwandte wenigstens für einen ersten gemeinsamen Ursprung der Wurzel concurrierend in Betracht kommen.
