MASTERS OF AMERICAN JOURNALISM

By JULIA CARSON STOCKETT

NOTE

The bibliographies of this series in the field of journalism were prepared as graduation requirements from the Library School of the University of Wisconsin. They were compiled at the suggestion of, and in cooperation with Willard G. Bleyer, professor of journalism in the University. They have been tested by constant use in manuscript form in the School of Journalism for two years, and were found so useful that they are issued in this series to meet the demands for bibliographies in a field where none existed. Each bibliography was revised and brought up to date by its compiler before publication, the revision being made for the needs that developed during the two years of use. Almost all of the entries were verified in the libraries of the Wisconsin Historical Society and the University of Wisconsin, though some entries of importance, listed in reliable sources, are included without verification.

MASTERS OF AMERICAN JOURNALISM

THE H. W. WILSON COMPANY
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., AND NEW YORK CITY
1916

INTRODUCTION

In an article, "Journalism, Politics, and the University,"¹ Colonel George M. Harvey, editor of the North American Review, takes up the qualities of a master journalist and discusses five of the six men selected for this bibliography, from the point of view of these qualities. These six editors have been chosen as representative of the different phases of American journalism.

Newspaper articles have not been indexed, but attention is called to the excellent material in anniversary and retirement numbers of the papers with which these men were connected. Such are the New York Herald's eighty-first anniversary number, May 7, 1916, and the one hundredth anniversary issue of the New York Evening Post, November 16, 1901. The Evening Post also contains recollections of Mr. Godkin at the time of his retirement, December 30, 1899.

Little has been done with political activities, particularly with those of Mr. Greeley, but much of the best of such material may be found in United States histories and in the biographies of contemporary statesmen. In many cases, individual journalistic work and biographical matter is in the biographies of other journalists and in general books on journalism.

Technical articles on the Columbia School of Journalism have not been used, being considered outside of the scope of purely biographical matter relating to Joseph Pulitzer.

It has not always been possible to obtain complete bibliographical detail for many of the out of print books, but inclusion has been made of what was found. No attempt has been made to give a full history of the various editions, prices, etc., of each book; usually, other things being equal, the most available copy has been listed.

The abbreviations Por. and o. p. have been used to denote portrait and out of print.

EDWIN LAWRENCE GODKIN, 1831-1902

NATION, 1865-1899

NEW YORK EVENING POST, 1881-1899

For a bibliography of periodical articles, newspaper articles, and books by Mr. Godkin, see "Life and letters of Edwin Lawrence Godkin," edited by Rollo Ogden, v. 2, p. 260-268. This includes Mr. Godkin's books; his magazine articles, arranged chronologically; specimen articles in the Nation, arranged alphabetically by a prominent word in the title; and signed letters in the Evening Post, written after his retirement.

Attention is also called to the fiftieth anniversary number of the Nation, July 8, 1915, v. 101, p. 29-78. The articles devoted entirely to Mr. Godkin are mentioned below, but the whole issue contains much valuable material about him and his work.
