Street Talk between Two Republicans.

Two Republicans meet and exchange the usual salutations. They are soon immersed in politics:

Mr. K. What is the meaning of this call for a new party in our Republican papers? Is our Republican party, now only six years old, already played out?

Mr. G. Well, I don't know about that; I reckon it is prudent to change its name. There are some reasons, and they are private ones, why the name don't suit any longer, and you know names are nothing, if you can only keep the principles of the party in active exercise.

Mr. K. I am not convinced that your reasoning is sound—certainly not honest. If you mean to hang on to the principles of the Republican party, as you say names are nothing, what is the use of changing the name? I am more in doubt than ever about the matter, and would like a better reason than you give me. Let us understand each other fairly.

Mr. G. You must not be too exacting in this affair, for both you and I should be disposed to trust somewhat to the better judgment of the leaders of the Republican party, who are men of great knowledge of human nature, and know what will win and what won't win. Remember that those leaders have already belonged to every party that has existed in this State for ten years past, and have changed their party names to suit the times and secure political success. We must leave conscience about this matter, and act as though we were entirely honest. I fear you are getting too tender-footed, Mr. K. You must have more backbone as I do.

Mr. K. But that sort of talk don't give me the information I want. Why change the name of our party, if you mean the principles shall stand? The term "Republican" if it is not made to cover up disunionism, or abolitionism, or niggerism, or Fremontism, or Cameronism, or stealing generally, is good enough for any party. If it is intended to cover up these abominations, then I admit you should change the name, and do it speedily. There is no time to lose if that be so.

Mr. G. Now you have it. You know as well as I do that the conduct of this Administration cannot be defended, and that the frauds and stealings tolerated by Lincoln and his friends would consign any party to perdition. The first year of Republican rule in the United States has been fatal to its prolonged existence, and it must die at the hands of the people. But why should you and I die with it? Its open negro policy, too, has been fatal, and the miserable abolitionists of New England and the "Reserve," by their infernal blabbing have given us a name not to be envied. These have almost ruined us. Why should you and I be smothered by the perfume of that faction, when we have it in our power to set fire to the old temple, or scuttle the old hulk of Republicanism—thus destroying all traces of our guilt—and again loom up under the new banner of "Union party," to live another four years in Abraham's bosom? I have no notion of giving up to the infernal Democrats, whose only virtue is that they have lived by the Constitution but too faithfully, and who now dare to tell you and I that our party is a failure. If we can't whip them under one name, let us try another, sir!

Mr. K. I see that you are resolved to die "fighting the Democrats," but you have not yet told me how our principles are to be carried out under the new name. That is the point on which I beg you to enlighten me. Does the Chicago platform stand as the doctrines of the new party?

Mr. G. To be sure it does. We don't propose to abandon one jot or tittle of those principles. Why should we? Republicans will constitute ninety five per cent. of the new party—or rather the old one under a new name—and it will be hard if ninety-five Republicans can't manage five Democrats, if so many per cent. come into the new concern. We must have aid from some quarter, to make up the losses which we suffer by the desertion of Republicans, and a Democrat is "good enough Morgan" for us till the Fall elections. There is no use in disguising the fact: We are gone up if the Democracy remain united. It will remain so against the Republican party, and our only hope is in catching them by a new name. Don't you, Mr. K., see that it is a matter of life and death with us, and that we must act as the desperation of the case requires? We were Liberty men once—then Know Nothings—then R-republicans, and another somersault will break our bones. Courage, sir, courage!

Mr. K. I am not convinced that you are right, or that the new party is to be an honest one. Indeed, the reverse is the fact. If our principles of Republicanism be right, and the people favor them, I am unable to see why a change of name is at all essential. It looks to me that we will and should lose ground and become odious for want of integrity of purpose, to say nothing of motives which you assign for the change of name. There can be no good reason for being dishonest, and the great mass of voters who look at things with a careful eye, will not be able to appreciate or approve those unsound political reasons which to the politician look so captivating. That, sir, you will find out. Besides, I am not convinced that you will be able to draw off from the Democracy even the five per cent., you calculate on. You may catch a few Democratic office hunters who had not been appreciated in their own party—or who think they have not been—but you will find that ninety-nine out of every hundred will stand firm by their organization. And there is no reason why they should not. You say they have been faithful to the Constitution, and we know there is a large majority of our Indiana troops in the field who are Democrats. You say that our Republican party, as such, has been a failure—that it has been extravagant—that it has been dishonest—that its negro policy has been unwise, unsound, mischievous—that it is now seeking to compel the citizens of the free States to purchase and pay for the negroes of the South—that the New England and "Reserve" Abolitionists have tainted the name of Republican—all these things you admit, and yet you expect the Democrats will join a party which self-confessed, is both disgraced and dishonored! This, sir, is your own story, and not mine. If what you say about the Republican party is true, neither you nor I have any right to invite an honest man, under the delusion of a new name, to join it. If it is incapable of conducting our public affairs, it should abdicate to those who are. For Heaven's sake, Mr. G., let us be honest with ourselves, and no longer do violence to the sentiments of true love of country.—Names are nothing, as you say; but they do mean a good deal when you attempt to delude sober minded men into a political trap by their use. I am yet an unbeliever in your doctrines of "expediency."

Mr. G. I see that you have not yet learned how to accommodate your conscience to the political necessity of the times. But you will have to come to it, or separate from the Republicans. There is, in fact, no idea of giving up the Republican party at all. You misunderstand me, and all the leaders of that party. This "Union party" is only intended for Indiana, Ohio, and the Northwest. New England and New York will maintain a pure and undefiled Republican organization, because we have the votes there, without going after the Democratic boys at all. Lincoln will remain 'sound' on the Chicago Platform—for he says it is a law unto him—and we return good Republicans to Congress next Fall, "all our measures of freedom to every human being" (and that means the negro of course) will be faithfully carried out. You need have no misgivings that we are going to give up and abandon our policy of emancipation. Why should we? Our measures to be sure, will have to be taken cautiously; but our leaders know what they are about. Be assured, sir, that "slavery must die." Lincoln said so, a month ago, to the Kentucky members of Congress, when they attempted to badger him against the Columbia emancipation bill. Again I beg you not to be too conscientious. The Chicago platform is my bible for the present.

Mr. K. Well, Mr. G., I can't get rid of my conscience as easily as you do yours, and, for that reason, am in great doubt about this policy of cheating the Democrats out of their votes. It is my deliberate judgment that we should be honest, and if our principles are right, they should be presented in an honest way. I have been at heart an abolitionist these twenty years, and have suffered inconveniences for the sake of my opinions. It is different with you. When I knew you first, sir, you were a Democrat, but as your party would not give you office—or could not—you joined the Know Nothing, cursed the Duth and Irish, denounced the foreigners of all nationalities, and finally when the party went under, you took to the new Republican organization, and became one of its leaders. Our party now becoming odious, for its "corruptions, frauds and stealings," as you say, it is now proposed by you, and those like you, to change its name again, and to do indirectly what the people will not permit you to do directly. You adopt the tactics of the pirate and buccaneer, and change the name of your vessel to escape detection and the punishment which the laws of civilization would enforce against you. Really, sir, I am quite unable to comprehend the extent of that political depravity. It is too deep for me. Your politicians can understand it, no doubt, for you have twisted and turned so often that you look to me as if you were never to stop your changes. The people will surely lose confidence in men who are governed by expedients, and not by any honest principle, and who aspire to cheat men out of their votes by false pretences. I want no fellowship with such, and will pursue my own course, leaving to you and other leaders of the Republican party, the unmanly resort of the trickster and the subtleties of the demagogue. Thank Heaven, I have some "conscience" left and though you make light of it, as you have often done some other virtues, that is no reason why I should abandon common honesty, and become a sharer in your guilt. Good morning, Mr. G.

Mr. G. Good morning, sir, (Sotto voce.) That man will bear watching. He talks like a sympathizer with the rebels. Will be a traitor in less than six months—the rascal! or a Democrat, which is worse—the villain!—Indiana State Sentinel.

The Throne of Solomon.

The following account of a remarkable piece of mechanism is taken from a Persian manuscript, called "The History of Jerusalem." It reports to be a description of the throne of King Solomon, and if the details are correctly given, it undoubtedly surpassed any specimen of mechanism produced in modern times, notwithstanding the wonderful inventions and improvements which have lately taken place in every branch of science:

The sides of it were of pure gold, the feet of emerald and rubies, intermixed with pearls, each of which was as big as an ostrich egg. The throne had seven steps; on each side were delineated orchards full of trees, the branches of which were composed of precious stones, representing fruit, ripe and unripe; on the tops of the trees were to be seen figures of beautiful plumed birds, particularly the peacock, etuab, and the kurges. All these birds were hollowed within artificially, so as occasionally to utter a thousand melodious notes, such as the ear of mortal has never heard. On the first step were delineated vine branches, having bunches of grapes, composed of various sorts of precious stones, fashioned in such a manner as to represent the different colors of purple, violet, green and red, to render the appearance of real fruit. On the second step, on each side of the throne, were two lions, of terrible aspect, as large of life, and formed of cast gold. The nature of this remarkable throne was such, that when the prophet Solomon placed his foot on the first step, the birds sprang forth their wings and made a fluttering noise in the air. On his touching the second step, the two lions expanded their claws. On his reaching the third step, the whole assembly of demons and fairies repeated the praises of the Deity. When he arrived at the fourth step, voices were heard addressing him in the following manner: "Son of David, be thankful for the blessings the Almighty has bestowed upon you." The same was repeated on his reaching the fifth step. On reaching the sixth, all the children of Israel joined them; and on his arrival at the seventh, all the throne, birds and animals, became in motion, and ceased not until he placed himself in the royal seat, when the birds, lions and other animals, by secret springs, discharged a shower of the most precious perfumes on the prophet, after which two of the kurgesses descended and placed a golden crown upon his head. Before the throne was a column of burnished gold, on the top of which was a golden dove, which held in its beak a volume bound in silver. In this book were written the Psalms of David; and the dove having presented the book to the king, he read aloud a portion of it to the children of Israel. It is further related, that on the approach of wicked persons to the throne, the lions were wont to set up a terrible roaring, and lash their tails with violence; the birds also began to bristle up their feathers; and the assembly also of demons and genii to utter horrible cries, so that for fear of them no person dared be guilty of falsehood, but confessed their crime. Such was the throne of Solomon, the son of David.

ONE of the fellows who voted with the minority at the last Presidential election is ill-natured enough to say: "About one hundred million of dollars, according to Republican testimony, has been stolen from the Federal Government during the first year of Republican rule. How fortunate it was that the Republicans elected their honest men to office; if they had not done so, who can form an idea of the extent to which the Government would have been plundered."

ONE of our soldiers who was in the Pittsburg Landing battle, happened to be inordinately fond of card-playing. During the fight he had three of his fingers shot off. Holding up his mangled member, he gazed at it with a look of ineffable sorrow, and exclaimed, as a big tear stole into the corner of his eye, "I shall never be able to hold a full hand again!" Poor fellow.

Innocent Flirtations.

One of the most objectionable features of American society is the custom prevalent among females of 'flirting,' nor is this custom or habit (for it is perhaps more the result of practice,) which is, from its very foundation, base and unwomanly, confined to the weaker sex. It is too commonly found in both sexes, and in all society—from the silk adorned, jeweled and painted Miss Flimsy, of upper-tendom, to the poor sewing girl, who has but a moment to draw a breath that is her own, it would seem as if nature had forgotten that women were to be 'but little lower than the angels,' and had formed them, designed them, and forced them to be angels outwardly, but heartless and full of corruption within.

It is quite common to hear in an evening sociable young ladies telling of their conquests, and boasting of a 'delightful flirtation' with Mr. So-and-so; acknowledging the many little tricks, and confessing to the plans laid to entrap him, and then laughing at his being such a simpleton, while admitting that she could not have endured him, but that she 'did so want a good flirtation!'

An innocent flirtation! It may be thought over-petacular, and we may be called over-anxious for the proper conduct of women, when we thus criticize a pet amusement, or condemn such an innocent pastime; but 'innocent' indeed! Let that young beauty whose charms have been given her for other purposes than merely to enlist the attentions of men; to whom has been given a heart to love—let her continue in such an amusement, and while she charms and captivates, while she draws from her subject his sympathy and love, let her think that the toy she carelessly handles is a heart, and can become as cold and unnatural as her own. Let her indulge in this amusement, and as she progresses in her newly learned art, making subjects of men and slaves of their hearts, she will find ere long that that woman whom she now despises (a heartless coquette) is no worse than herself, and that the rock she would have avoided she has drifted upon, and her bark of hopes and affections is shattered forever. The heart was not made for a toy. To make it or tear it as such is to take from it all tenderness and love. Deprived of these it is a cold lifeless anatomy, giving neither warmth nor joy to its possessor, nor is it susceptible of that lie that God designed for it—a life made happy by the earnestness of genuine and devoted affection.

Would that girls were educated in a stricter school, and taught that to trifle with what they who so little about is dangerous! Would that they were educated in the fear of heartless coquetry, and disciplined in all that is worthy of their sex. A custom so prevalent will drift on in the stream of society, accumulating as it floats all evil particles, and bear on all alike to a common bourne of destruction and despair. To their rescue should come mothers who have seen the fruits of their own mistake, and the broken hearts whose hearts, once bright, no longer glow with love. They should warn them off the shoals they have found to strew the path of life. Let each think for herself, and when tempted to trifle, turn from it as she would spurn a poisoned draft, and keep her heart in innocence and love. Better to do this than to live on loving no one, yet seeming to love all, until one shall come whose heart, warm and pure, will open its leaves, and gently folding them round her, will make for it a home warmed with purity and devotion. Is it an innocent amusement? Do not deceive yourselves. Nothing is innocent that perverts the laws of God, or changes the true and tender emotions of the heart to a cold and false mechanism.

I have heard a young wife (and that wife a mother) assert in earnestness that she would give anything to have a 'good flirtation.' Can a mother, actuated by womanly virtues and pious principles, so far forget her duty to that child that lies helpless on her breast, and teach it too, that the fundamental principles of a woman's life, the acme of happiness, is to flirt! Look on that babe asleep in innocence; feel its little heart beating tenderly, and think of your responsibility for its return to God as pure and undefiled as He has given it. Do your share in the world to turn the giddy mind of youth to usefulness, and teach as a living principle for the common good that an innocent and loving heart can be made as stone—but if unscathed, is worthy of the sex angelic.

A DUTCHMAN had two pigs—a large one and a small one. The smallest being the eldest, he was trying to explain it to a customer, and did it in this wise: "The little pig is the pig gest." Upon which his vrow, assuming to correct him said:

"You will excuse him, he no speak as good English as me—he no mean to little pig is to piggest, but to youngest little pig he is to oldest."

DROWNED.—On Sunday last, Alfred Hepler, Jas. Dyer and A. McCormick, were bathing in the Sacramento river about a mile below Charleston Landing, Alfred Hepler slipped beyond his depth, and drowned. Every effort was made to save him by his two companions, but without avail. Mr. McCormick, we understand, came near being drowned in endeavoring to save the unfortunate man.

TOWNSHIP GOVERNMENT.—On the people of each Township in Yolo, will devolve the duty of voting at the coming election, whether they desire a Township Government, with a full set of officers, with nearly all the powers of a county government, except the amount of money they are authorized to borrow, is not to exceed $3,000.

We believe the people are cursed with an excess of government now; and instead of multiplying our officers, and also our taxes, it would be the part of wisdom to simplify and curtail our local governments, instead of extending them. We hope the people of Grafton township will take a sensible view of this subject, and give to the Township Law a unanimous condemnation.

The Election.

On Monday next we of Yolo county will be called upon to express, through the ballot box, our political preference in the coming contest. There are but two parties in the field; one Democratic, the other Union Republican. The County Offices to be filled are important ones—one of them politically, the others more for capability, integrity and moral worth. In the election of Representative we are called upon by both parties, to sustain the Government under which we live in its constitutional efforts to crush the rebellion, and restore the Union of the American States. The difference between them, is the manner this much to be desired end is to be accomplished. The Democratic party are opposed to abolition, to confiscation, to exasperating and repelling the Union Sentiment of the South, by passing revengeful and unconstitutional bills, which operate only on slave property, and do not in any benefit the General Government. On the other hand, the Union Republicans go it blind—on the principle that a King can do no wrong—and give our rulers all the latitude they want—which seems from present appearances to be used solely for abolition purposes. If, therefore, we as a people are in favor of the Abolition doctrine, let us come up and on Wednesday next say so, by voting in favor of these measures, and every body will then know where to find us. If, on the other hand, a majority are opposed to abolitionism, let us come up and vote to sustain our Government against all enemies, whether Secessionists or Abolitionists; at all events, it is the duty of every citizen to come up and vote—don't shirk the responsibility—don't dodge the question. With a great many there appears a stolid indifference as to the result. Last year all were positive men, either on one side or the other. At present there appears to be a great deal of apathy; but yet all agree the times are propitious; now is the time to indicate our future course. There is a United States Senator to be elected next winter by the Legislature—he holds his office for six years and his acts and influence may be potent for either weal or woe to our nation. We can't yet believe California will be justly represented by a politician of the Greeley, Beecher, and Gerret Smith school, and the only alternative now left us, is that, or conservative Democracy—there is no middle ground. We repeat, if we are committed to the former course, the sooner it is known the better.

THAT ASSESSOR.—It would seem that some fatality wars against our devoted county, and interposes to render the collection of our revenue a tardy and bungled affair. We noticed the fact, in last week's issue, that the Board of Equalization were having a tedious time in correcting the numerous and outrageous blunders of the Assessor. It seems now that the half was not told; for we find the labors of the Board extended through another week, and the "comedy of errors" not half played through yet. Apparently the "services" of our Assessor have been a detriment and an injury to the county, in spite of the magnificent bills presented by that officer, for his Eight dollars per diem.

If the Board has to do this Assessor's duties over again, at the expense of the county, before his work is fit to be seen, why not dispense with his valuable services altogether? At this juncture, just on the eve of an election, we inevitably get to wondering if the candidates in the field are men fit to fill the positions they are nominated for; or are they mere "sticks," stuck into the mud and mire of politics, to mark the fact that some convention has again been "saving the country?"

WELL DONE.—From all kinds of people we hear praises of the manner and time of our excellent District Judge—the Hon. John H. McKune. With a quiet firmness—much needed heretofore—he has succeeded in forcing off many a dying and lame law suit. We may promise ourselves in the future—during Judge McKune's official term at least—that a man of average longevity may afford to treat himself to a law suit without the fear of having to transmit it down to some future generation. Thus far Judge McKune's "time" is the best on our record, and has been made in a manner which has won him the respect and esteem of those who have been attendants upon his court.

PUB. DOCS.—We are under obligations to the Hon. A. A. Sargent, M. C., for public documents.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union of Aug. 27th:

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—12 M.—The report that Fort Donelson was abandoned seems to have been premature. A dispatch from the operator at Paducah, Ky. says: Fort Donelson was attacked by 700 rebels yesterday. After an engagement of an hour, the enemy were repulsed, with the loss of thirty killed and wounded. The Federal loss was two wounded.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 26.—The rebels, in the attack on Fort Donelson yesterday, had 450 infantry, 350 cavalry, and two field pieces. The Federal force was only four companies.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 23.—Gen. Brown has issued an order requiring all persons in this district, who have not taken the oath, to report to the nearest Provost Marshal in person for that purpose. All persons who fail to comply with the order by the 25th will be removed by Provost Marshal outside of the Federal lines, and notified that if hereafter found within the lines without proper authority they will be arrested and placed in close confinement.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The Times' correspondent states:

The portion of McClellan's army which embarked at Yorktown has already arrived at Alexandria. The corps under Gen. Franklin, which embarked at Fort Monroe on Friday, arrived at Alexandria today. It is also reported that another corps will arrive at the same place tomorrow. In fact appearances indicate that the entire Army of the Potomac, excepting Gen. Porter's division, which went to Fredericksburg last week, will make Camp California, the old camping ground, situated 2 1/2 miles from Alexandria, a temporary rendezvous. The opinion prevails that the troops now at Alexandria will proceed to join Pope's army. I am informed that Kearney's division, which arrived at Alexandria about the middle of last week, took part in the engagement which occurred at Warrenton yesterday. The new regiments are daily pouring into Alexandria, and are immediately sent forward to join Pope.

The Herald's Warrenton correspondent, says:

Military critics profess to believe our forces advanced to the Rapidan prematurely, and that the attack made Jackson at Cedar Mountain possibly deranged our calculations. As a consequence, his coadjutor can assault us now within thirty miles of Manassas, and with the largest army the rebels ever rallied. We all look hopefully for the coming of McClellan. The troops of Burnside are here. If the new levies were ever needed it is at this time. Pope is still held to be equal to any emergency. Banks is still with his command. McDowell is active, and everywhere present.

The Tribune's Rappahannock correspondent says:

The greatest crisis of this war occurred between Thursday morning and Saturday night. It has passed, and we are safe and the nation is safe. Pope's artillery is now guarding the line of the Rappahannock. Fitz John Porter, with a very heavy corps, joined Pope on Friday evening, and hosts of regiments have joined and are joining him by way of Alexandria. Burnside has massed a large army at Fredericksburg. Pope is nearly or quite as strong as Lee and Jackson. Some stir was caused in camp by the sudden raid of 250 guerrillas upon Cattle's Station. Under cover of night they burned seven wagons, run off a number of horses and mules, took about 100 prisoners, and also took Gen. Pope's personal baggage, with all his official correspondence, which happened to be in one of wagons.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26.—A passenger train on the Winchester Railroad was stopped between there and Harper's Ferry, on Sunday, and destroyed. Four soldiers were taken prisoners.

A dispatch from Lexington, Ky., says: There is no occasion for alarm about Gen. Morgan's position at Cumberland Gap. A courier, just arrived, reports that there is no fear of starvation. The rebels are 15,000 strong in front, and 30,000 are in the rear, under Bragg, Lloyd and Kirby Smith.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26.—Two companies sent to the Missouri river to destroy the boats and other means used by the guerrillas to cross the river, have returned, having successfully accomplished their mission.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Passengers from Virginia, to-day, report that an engagement occurred at Warrenton yesterday, in which our forces were successful in driving the enemy out of the town. We were still holding it at the last advice. The rebel force engaged were mainly cavalry.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—A careful consideration of the evidence accumulated thus far goes to show that the influence of white men was at the bottom of the Indian massacre in Minnesota. The fact that distant tribes, like the Yancton and Cut Heads, were moving in concert with the Sioux; that the force attacked a post defended by artillery, like Fort Ridgely, such an attack being without precedent in Indian history; that they murdered missionaries who have spent their lives among them, and who in ordinary disturbances would exercise considerable influence over them, seem to indicate some directing intelligence superior to themselves.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—The Bulletin has information from Gen. Laars, who left the Rappahannock yesterday morning, to the effect that the troops had frequent skirmishes with the rebels while falling back from the Rapidan. The losses were not serious. Pope holds the railroad bridges with two commanding positions opposite Rappahannock, which the rebels assailed several times. Our troops are distributed along the river, and resisted all assault. They will be able to maintain their position and their junction with the other army corps enables them to assume the offensive. The rebels are endeavoring to turn our right, to get into our rear by way of Warrenton.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—A Rappahannock letter says:

On the morning of the 21st the enemy opened a battery on our center, and continued to throw shot and shell vigorously for several hours. A little higher up it was discovered that the enemy had, during the night, constructed a bridge over the river at this point. The brilliant affair reported to have taken place in the vicinity of this bridge was the one in which Sigel's batteries were engaged. On this battery the opened fire, after which our battery ceased, having been apparently withdrawn. Three rebel regiments rushed across the bridge, and no sooner had they crossed than Sigel's battery opened on the bridge. The fourth shot completely demolished it. At the same time a deadly fire of musketry assailed the rebels in front. Their retreat was cut off, and nearly 2,000 are said to have been captured. About 400 were killed and wounded. The enemy, foiled in this effort, then strove to outflank Sigel by crossing at French ford, but reinforcements were ordered up and the enemy were repulsed.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25.—The President of the Kentucky Central railroad has advised that Buckner, with 20,000 rebels encamped near Somerset, and has called the young men of Kentucky to join him. Bragg is at Chattanooga with 30,000, and Humphrey Marshall at the head of Big Sandy with 15,000.

The Cumberland river is in full possession of the rebels. There is no travel by railroad to Nashville.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The recent expulsion of the newspaper correspondents from the Army of Virginia, and the order of Government forbidding the transmission of intelligence from that quarter by telegraph, has rendered the collection of reliable news extremely difficult and almost useless. Skirmishing has been going on to a greater or less extent during the past three days, during which several attempts have been made by the rebels to cross the river, but every time they were repulsed.

GREENVILLE, Mo., Aug. 25.—Major Lippart, with 200 cavalry, met a body of rebels numbering 300, yesterday, between Broomfield and Cape Girardeau, and after a fierce engagement routed them, killing and wounding 30 and capturing 16. A number of horses, several wagons, a quantity of ammunition and camp equipage were taken. The survivors scattered through the woods. Parties of Federal troops, thoroughly armed and equipped for guerrillas, were chasing after other bands.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—From information received from various quarters, we learn that thousands of men have passed over into Virginia, principally from the eastern counties of Maryland. An entire company of cavalry left Montgomery county, on the Potomac, last week. Squads are constantly moving over.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 26.—The latest advices from New Ulm Village say that the place was mostly burned. An arrival from Crow Wing brings intelligence that Hole-in-the-Day, the great Chippewa Chief, had issued a proclamation that he would not be responsible for the conduct of the Indians after Tuesday, warning the whites to leave the country before that time. He has also sent a message to Dole, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, come up and make a treaty. The Chippewa difficulties, following so close upon the Sioux raid, causes great alarm in the northern part of the State.

MANUFACTURER'S AGENTS, AND dealers in Pitt's, Ball's, Russell's, and other popular

Thrashing Machines. Also, the following Reapers and Mowers,

Improved for the harvest of 1862: Burt's Eagle Combined Machine; New York do.; McCormick's do.; Heath's Eagle do;

Kentucky Harvesting Machine; Haines' (Illinois) do.; Ball's Ohio Reaper and Mower; Manny's Improved Machine.

Esterly's Improved Machine; Rugg's Combined machine; Vermont mowing machine; Buckeye do.; Bay State do.; Molly Stark (Ohio) Mower.

And sole agents for the celebrated Nourse, Mason & Co's

Ketchum's Improved Mowers, With or without Reaper attachments—the best mowing machine in use. They will be furnished this season at greatly reduced prices, bringing them within the reach of every farmer. These machines are very much improved, and never fail in the matted or lodged clover—cutting with equal ease the tall or tangled grass without clogging or breaking; and so close that it will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine. They are furnished with Reaper Attachment, at small cost—making them a good and serviceable combined machine; and when all other machines have failed in the tangled grain, the work has been done by the Ketchum machine to the perfect satisfaction of all. The one horse machine cuts four feet; the light two-horse machine cuts four and a half and five feet—two sizes; the heavy two-horse machine cuts five and five and a half feet, two sizes. Any boy capable of driving the team can manage the machine; it is not liable to get out of order.

The New Bay State two-wheeled Mower.—We have purchased the patent right to the New Bay State Mower for the State of California. It is one of the many machines lately invented, and stands far ahead of all others in point of excellence as a two-wheeled mowing machine, having all the new improvements that have been fairly tested. It is very light, strong, durable machine, and cuts full four and a half feet.

The Vermont Mower.—Also, a two-wheeled machine. It is made mostly of iron, simple in construction, and can be managed with ease.

The Buckeye Machine has two driving wheels like the Vermont machine, and is simple in its construction.

The Molly Stark Mower, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a very light mower, of the Buckeye pattern.

Ball's Ohio Harvester, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a two-wheeled Reaper and Mower. Has two cutter bars—one for reaping and one for mowing. We have imported a few for trial this season.

The Kentucky Harvester cuts about five and a half feet. Said to be a very good machine.

McCormick's Reaper and Mower—a very good reaper—intended for four large horses.

Burt's Eagle Reaper and Mower, (Improved for 1862.) Baker & Hamilton, sole agents for this machine in California and Oregon.

We have imported these machines for the past two years, which were furnished to some of our neighboring farmers and thoroughly tested. They gave general satisfaction both in cutting grain and grass. The style is very much the same as the celebrated Esterly's machine, except that they are better made; have a strong iron finger bar; are hand-raking reapers and have no side draft. They have a large four foot driving wheel. The outside grain wheel is thirty inches in diameter. The driver's seat is over two iron truck wheels, each thirty inches in diameter, and the machine may be turned round without crowding the horses, as there is no weight upon their necks. They have two sets of gearing for fast and slow motion; a smooth knife for mowing, and a sickle for reaping; the back of each is made of hammered cast steel. They cut about six and a half feet, and can be worked with two light horses. We have but a few for this season's trade, owing to the fact that the great demand at the factory made it impossible for the manufacturer to fill our orders for a large number in season for shipment to this market.

Rugg's Reaper and Mower, cutting six and nine feet. This machine cuts in advance of the horses, and the cutter can be raised by the driver from one to twenty-four inches. Sold very cheap.

Haine's Illinois Harvester, or Header, cuts ten feet. Improved for the harvest of 1862. We have also imported complete sets of trucks, or running gear for header-wagons, with neck yokes and whiffletrees complete.

P. Manny's Improved Combined Reaper and Mower.—This is a new style of machine, very light, yet strongly built, lately patented by P. Manny, in which there are many valuable improvements. We are willing to guarantee this Combined Reaper and Mower in every instance.

We have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash.

—ALSO—

Haying and Harvesting Tools Of every description necessary to meet the wants of the farmers. These they have in large quantities, and can supply to traders wholesale and retail, at San Francisco prices.

All kinds of Farming Implements, Hardware and Seeds.

We are determined not to be undersold by any other house in the State; and invite customers to call and examine for themselves at our AGRICULTURAL WAREHOUSE SEED STORE. Nos. 9, 11 and 13, J street, between Front and Second, SACRAMENTO.
