Panama Clear Waterway in October Pacific Coast Europe of America

NEW YORK CHINA OF THE UNITED STATES

Western Development Has Occurred Since Beginning of Civilization

CANAL WILL CHANGE GRAVITY OF AMERICA

DeLesseps, Engineer, Says Oceans' Link Must Be at Sea Level

IN TEN YEARS SHIP TRAFFIC WILL DOUBLE

Seattle, Sept. 19.—Predicting that the completion of the Panama canal would result in an incalculable contribution to overcome the problem of labor and distribution, bring a new era of prosperity to the western North and South America, and help in the solution of the Asiatic problem, Philippe Buana-Varilla, former chief engineer of the canal when the French, under DeLesseps, undertook its construction, reached this city yesterday for a brief visit. With him is Francis Butler Loomis, American diplomat and minister to Portugal and at one time assistant secretary of state.

"The completion of the Panama canal will change the centre of gravity of America," said M. Philippe Buana-Varilla. "New York will become the China of the United States. Since the world began civilization has progressed westward. Europe, not Asia, established the great civilizations and gave birth to culture and enlightenment. The country west of the Rocky mountains after the canal is opened, is slowly but inexorably going to become the Europe of America."

"The American engineers must come to the realization that the Panama canal must be lowered to sea level," he said. "When the canal is opened traffic will amount to 10,500,000 net tonnage annually and in ten years this will have increased to 22,000,000 tons, and in twenty years it will have jumped to 45,000,000 tons or more. The maximum capacity of the canal with its locks is 50,000,000 tons, and the system of locks will have to be abandoned at least within twenty years because of congestion and water famine in the canal."

JEWELRY THIEVES KILL TWO AND MAKE ESCAPE

Watch Repairer Who Resisted Robbers Was Wounded and May Die From Injuries.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 19.—Two robbers, with drawn revolvers, entered the jewelry store of Q. J. Thompson here early last night, commanded the clerks to throw up their hands, and when they refused, opened fire. John A. Thompson and E. Smith were killed and Paul Townsend was probably fatally wounded. The bandits escaped. The three victims were alone in the store when the robbers entered. Mr. Townsend, who was taken to a local hospital, was able to tell the authorities only a few words concerning the tragedy.

The clerks were placing watches and jewels in their cases for the night when the men, masked, entered and demanded that Mr. Townsend, the watch repairer, throw up his hands. He refused, tried to grapple with the men and was shot down. He believes that the other employees then rushed to his aid and were killed.

The jewelry store is almost in the heart of the business district.

TO ENLARGE HOSPITAL BUILDING AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—With a view of increasing the revenue of the General hospital and providing more accommodation for both nurses and patients, the board of directors last night appointed a committee composed of Drs. Proctor, Munro, Brydon-Jack and Messrs. Hepburn and Kernaghan to draft a scheme for the enlargement of the nurses' home, medical building and a maternity home and isolation hospital.

At the present time there are 436 patients in the institution, and to take care of this number it is necessary to have 194 attendants who are housed in rooms designed to accommodate eighty nurses. A home providing for 150 patients was shown to be essential.

ONE MORE BLAST WILL CONNECT OCEANS; GATUN LAKE WILL FLOW INTO CULEBRA WHEN DYNAMITE DESTROYS LAST DYKE

Engineers Working on Removal of Last Obstruction; One Hundred and Eighty-Seven Thousand Yards of Earth Removed by Suction Dredges

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—With the opening of the Panama canal from the Miraflores locks to the Pacific ocean communication is also being established on the Atlantic side between the Gatun locks and the sea. This has followed the removal of the railroad trestle between the locks and the ocean.

To make the opening navigable about 187,000 yards of earth in the railroad dyke must be removed, and two pipe line suction dredges are engaged in the work which should be completed by October 1. When the work is completed there will remain only one obstruction to free communication with the whole length of the canal—the dyke of Gamboa, which restrains the waters of Gatun lake from flowing into Culebra Cut.

The suction dredge is now removing the earth and silt that has accumulated in the bed of the canal between this dyke and Gamboa lake since the cut was made three years ago, and early in October another and last tremendous blast will destroy the dyke itself, leaving a clear waterway across the Isthmus.

MAN DYNAMITES HIS HOME AND RELATIVES

Two Are Dead, Two Fatally Injured While Wife is Unhurt

Hloomington, Ind., Sept. 19.—In a fit of insanity, Mack Hurst, 56 years old, blew up his home with dynamite about 3 o'clock this morning, killing himself and one daughter, and fatally wounding two other daughters. Mrs. Hurst escaped injury. Those killed are Mack Hurst, 56 years old; Maud Hurst, 18 years old. Those fatally hurt are Fanny Hurst, 12 years old, one leg blown off, body mangled and almost unrecognizable; Elizabeth Hurst, 6 years old, body mangled.

Mrs. Hurst says that the man awoke the family at 2 o'clock and told them all to gather in the room. After they had all entered he closed and locked the door and said, "We will all die together."

He then picked up a stick of dynamite which was lying on the floor near him and threw it under the bed. There was a deafening roar, and Mrs. Hurst remembers nothing more until she came to consciousness at the home of a neighbor an hour later.

Police and firemen hastened to the scene and began a search of the ruins. The bodies of Hurst and his dead daughter were found in a mass of debris at the rear of the home. The other two daughters were in another part of the ruins. Both were unconscious, and it was some time before they were revived. Neither was able to tell anything of the occurrence.

The shock of the explosion was felt in the immediate neighborhood. Hurst, who had not been working, had been acting strangely. He was a stone mason.

MILITARY MANOEUVRES ARE HELD ABOVE CLOUDS

Swiss Army Mountaineers Make Attack on Sham Enemy on Alpine Peaks.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 19.—A remarkable programme of military manoeuvres above the clouds was brought to an end to-day by 500 mountaineers, forming part of the Alpine section of the Swiss army, who have been engaged for some days in a series of movements among the highest peaks of the Alps. The final manoeuvre was an attack on an imaginary enemy in occupation of Eggshorn, a mountain 10,900 feet high.

The battalion of 500 hardy Alpinists descended from the Jungfrau Rock, 11,140 feet high, where they had bivouacked in the snow throughout the night. They executed a forced march across the perilous Aletsch glacier during a snowstorm without the loss of a man from fatigue, and ended the feat by storming the Eggshorn heights.

At the present time there are 436 patients in the institution, and to take care of this number it is necessary to have 194 attendants who are housed in rooms designed to accommodate eighty nurses. A home providing for 150 patients was shown to be essential.

DRAW COLOR LINE.

London, Sept. 19.—The "color line" is not often drawn in England, but the Camberwell poor law guardians declined yesterday to appoint a negro as district medical officer on the ground that the poor were very fastidious in such matters. It was acknowledged at the session of the guardians that the negro doctor's qualifications were better than those of the other candidates.

CELEBRATE PEACE AT BLAINE IN AUGUST

Seven to Represent British Columbia; Fund for Memorial Arch at Boundary

Blaine, Wash., Sept. 19.—G. A. Ellerman, deputy collector of the Blaine sub-port, received official notice yesterday of his appointment on the executive committee for the promotion of the centennial peace celebration at Blaine next August. The appointments were made by Judge J. T. Ronald, the honorary president of the Pacific Highway Association.

The other members of the committee are Samuel Hill, of Mary Hill, chairman; Prof. Edmond S. Mooney, of Seattle, engineer; R. H. Thomson, of Victoria; Samuel C. Lancaster, J. J. Donovan, of Bellingham, and D. M. Clough, of Everett.

Seven members will be appointed from British Columbia and Judge Ronald will be the fifteenth member of the committee which will proceed with the raising of the $10,000 fund. This amount will be used as formerly suggested by the Pacific Highway Association in its last convention at Vancouver, for the erection of a memorial arch over the Pacific Highway, where it intersects the international boundary line at Blaine. It is expected that the fund will be raised and the work on the arch commenced on the first of January.

DELVING INTO PLANS OF MURDERER SCHMIDT

Photograph of Death Certificate Leads Police on New Track of Prisoner.

New York, Sept. 19.—Detectives delving into the past of Hans Schmidt, who murdered Anna Amuller, sought to-day to fathom his intentions last April when he photographed the death certificate of Robert Smith, one of his parishioners. Photographs of this certificate and of blank forms issued by the board of health were found in Schmidt's trunk. The police say that a skilled forger like the prisoner would have been able to have the bodies of his victims buried in any cemetery by filling out counterfeit burial blanks and forging the signatures.

Inspector Faurot announced to-day that he was looking for another woman in the case. He gave no details of what her connection with the matter might be. The only other woman whose name has thus far been associated with Schmidt is known as Helen Green. From a letter found in Schmidt's trunk, in which she said she could not live without him.

MAYOR GAYNOR'S BODY AT BROOKLYN HOME

New York, Sept. 19.—The body of William J. Gaynor, mayor of New York, who died at sea September 10, lay to-day in the privacy of his Brooklyn home. In a drizzling rain it was lowered at 8 o'clock this morning from the high deck of the liner Lusitania to the high dock of the harbor.

The Correction steamed an hour and a half later to Pier A, at the Battery, where a picked squad of 100 police, who had stood all night in the rain, formed its escort to Brooklyn.

RUSSIANS PROVIDING MYSTERY AT VANCOUVER

Charge Made That $1,000 Was Paid to Get Rid of Navak Damokariff.

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—What may be the discovery of a murder hidden for a year, or a conspiracy against a county court witness, is being investigated by the city police.

George Bicoloff, a Russian, was arrested by the police on information sworn to by a man named Tapyaknoeff, another Russian, charging that on November, 1912, Bicoloff was paid by a third Russian named Navak Damokariff, to put out of the way one Alex. Sekinsoff, who disappeared mysteriously on November 5, and who had not been heard of since. It is also alleged that Bicoloff had an accomplice, Miki Sabanoff. The case was brought up in the police court this morning, but was adjourned until Monday.

The defence is that a relative of the Russian swearing out the information was a case on in the county court in which Bicoloff is an unfavorable witness, and the present police court charge is a conspiracy to keep him out of the way until the county court action is over.

HUGHES AT ALDERHOT.

London, Sept. 19.—Col. Sam. Hughes, who with his party of Canadian militia officers attended the army manoeuvres at Frankfurt and Metz and in Belgium and Switzerland, returned to London last night. To-day the party left for Alderhot in order to participate in the British manoeuvres.

CONTEMPT CHARGED TO SULZER'S FRIEND

James C. Garrison, Graft Investigator, Refuses to Answer Questions

ARREST WAS CLIMAX OF WEARY EVENING

Tammany Lieutenants Ordered to Keep All Members at Albany for Session To-day

CHARGED LEGISLATORS WITH SELLING VOTES

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Governor Sulzer's personal friend and special graft investigator, James C. Garrison, slept last night in a cell of the Albany county penitentiary. He was remanded to that institution by the sergeant-at-arms of the state assembly for refusing to answer questions put to him by the speaker after an arrest on a charge of contempt. The charge grew out of his alleged statement several weeks ago that four legislators sold their votes on the resolution impeaching Governor Sulzer. The Sulzer faction to-day planned to obtain a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme court for the release of Garrison.

The arrest of Garrison came as a surprise to a weary evening spent by a Tammany assemblyman who are out of the city, urging them to return here immediately. Tammany lieutenants were ordered not to permit a single member already in Albany to leave.

Garrison's arrest was almost as great a surprise to many members of the legislature as it was to him. Threats were made several weeks ago to arrest him, but nothing was done, and he made no attempt to evade service. He has been around Albany continuously since the impeachment proceedings began, and a few minutes before his detention last night was strolling about the halls of the capitol.

From curiosity he strolled into the chamber. The doors swung inward easily for him, but when he attempted to depart he found himself blocked by the sergeant-at-arms. While Majority Leader Levy was presenting a resolution calling for the arrest of Garrison he was held a prisoner. When called before the speaker, Garrison was without counsel and he refused to answer questions put to him.

Meantime numerous and widely varying predictions were made as to what would be done with Garrison. Again Levy took the initiative and presented the resolution remanding the prisoner to the penitentiary until the close of the session unless otherwise ordered by the assembly. The vote for the resolution was 89 to 3. Garrison was then taken to the penitentiary.

Garrison incurred the enmity of many of Sulzer's political opponents by his activities during the pending impeachment proceedings. He was called the governor's press agent by many.

American Methods in Dublin Strike Transport Workers Disturb England

BOARD OF TRADE CALLS CONFERENCE; MOTOR AND 'BUS TRAFFIC SUSPENDED LONDON PRESS NOW SUPPORTING MEN

Anger Met Denial of Endorsement for General Strike at Birmingham; Strikers Condemn Executive Reiterating Demand for General Strike

London, Sept. 19.—A general omnibus strike in London was temporarily averted to-day by the action of the board of trade, which invited representatives of the men and employers to attend a conference at the board of trade offices on Monday. The men employed by all the larger companies agreed to remain at work until the result of the conference was known.

Not a single motorman or conductor employed by the Tilling Omnibus Company, whose action in refusing to recognize the union is likely to bring about a general strike of transport workers in London, went to work this morning. Many motor and bus lines from the south to the north of London were entirely suspended, causing great inconveniences. A few of the old horse omnibuses were put on the streets for the first time in several years.

There was no disturbance in the vicinity of the motor bus sheds, although the strikers gathered there in groups, waiting for their comrades employed by the other companies to join them at midnight to-night.

Practically the entire press of London supports the men in their demands. Many of the newspapers declare that the point in regard to the wearing of union badges should never have been raised.

The recent amalgamation of the London underground railways, tubes and buses and privately-owned street car lines forms one of the most powerful traction combines in existence. The unionizing of the employees of these interests has proceeded with equal success. Therefore the execution of a general strike order means a practical stoppage of all passenger-carrying traffic, except the municipal street cars. Every other form of transport is paralyzed. The latter might join or be affected in a sympathetic strike.

The failure of the executive board of the national railways union either to recognize or repudiate the sympathetic strike of the freight handlers, has relieved the danger of a national strike for the moment, but this action has brought about a worse situation at both Liverpool and Birmingham.

The news circulated at Birmingham that the governing body had endorsed the demand for a general strike was hailed by the strikers there with delight. But this was turned to intense anger when a denial was received. The strikers adopted a resolution condemning the executive and reiterating their demand for a national strike.

The freight paralysis at Birmingham is affecting other towns in the Midland section. The London Northwestern railway is not accepting freight at Birmingham.

Negotiations between the strikers and railway officials at Liverpool are suspended because the latter declined to discuss the refusal of the men to handle goods from Dublin. The companies will reinstate the men only on condition that they handle all freight without discrimination.

The situation is becoming graver in Manchester. If the carters fulfill their threat to strike, the traffic of the port will come to a complete standstill.

The master mind of the street carmen's side of the controversy, James Larkin, is a picturesque character, who imbued his union principles while working in the steel mills of the United States. When he began his work organizing transport labor in Ireland he found practically a virgin field for his efforts.

Larkin is not even an Irishman, having begun his career at the Liverpool docks. He believes in continental and American methods of conducting strikes and has no sympathy with the Nationalist aspirations which are so dear to the hearts of many of his followers.

He has little patience with the slow and conservative methods introduced into Ireland by men who had secured their labor union training in England, and proceeded to organize the transport workers of Dublin on the basis of similar organizations in the United States. His efforts met with bitter opposition from the employers.

The leader of the capitalists in the Dublin fight, William Murphy, was formerly a Nationalist member of parliament for Dublin and is a man of extensive financial interests, which is regarded here as an ironical comment on the theory that all the industrial wealth of Ireland is in Ulster.

He fights the strike with uncompromising fervor. He believes in fighting fire with fire, and his favorite weapon is a sweeping and merciless lockout of every labor man believed to have the slightest connection with the transport workers' union.

The old rallying cries incidental to the question of Home Rule were forgotten when the strike trouble actually began, and Nationalists, Catholics and Anti-Home Rule Orangemen found themselves allied on one side against a similar alignment on the other.

Larkin is boycotted by all the Irish organizations, which put Home Rule above everything else, but in spite of this opposition he has rallied about him a force which promises to develop into a political party.

The opposition of the Catholic clergy to the transport workers' union is growing.

Larkin denies the report of threatened starvation and asserts that food and coal are being sent to the strikers in increasing quantities from England and Ireland.

MADERO'S DEATH NOT PUNISHABLE CRIME

Military Court Presents Report of Investigation Lasting Six Months.

Mexico City, Sept. 19.—The death of the late Francisco I. Madero and Vice-President Jose Maria Pino Suarez were not brought about by a punishable crime, according to a decision pronounced by the military court here to-day.

The investigation lasted six months. It was started by the military commandant of the federal district immediately on the conclusion of the day's battle in the streets of Mexico City last February which resulted in Provisional President Huerta coming into power. The result of the commandant's inquiry was forwarded to the permanent military tribunal which continued the examination of witnesses.

Among those called by the court to give evidence was Major Francisco Cardenas, who commanded the escort which conveyed President Madero and Vice-President Pino Suarez from the national palace to the penitentiary.

Two subordinate officers of rural guards and a number of residents in the vicinity of the jail also were examined.

DOUBT THAT AMERICA WOULD RECOGNIZE DIAZ

Washington Believes Wilson Would Wait and See If Peace Would Be Restored.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—News that General Felix Diaz, nephew of Porfirio Diaz, had been recalled to Mexico to become the candidate of the Huerta faction in the coming presidential election, aroused much interest here in official circles.

The general feeling was that the return of Diaz meant a compliance with the demand of Wilson's principal demand, that General Huerta should not be a candidate. So far as arguing an era of peace here the outlook was described as discouraging.

While the American government is on record with a promise to extend recognition to the government set up by a legal and free election, it is said to be practically certain that the United States would not hasten to recognize Diaz if he were elected, but would wait in accord with the precedents of President Hayes' administration to determine whether the government was strong enough to maintain peace and guarantee international obligations.

SUN YAT SEN IS NOW HIDING IN VANCOUVER

Reported in Mainland City Chinatown to Have Reached Vancouver on Tacoma Maru.

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—Travelling incognito as Wong Kwok Yin, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, former president of China and leader of the revolutionary forces in the rebellion that has disturbed China recently, is reported to be in hiding in Vancouver. He was recognized by compatriots in spite of the fact that his appearance has been altered by shaving off his moustache.

The rumor of his being in the city is believed to be true in Chinatown, where it is asserted Dr. Sun Yat Sen landed at Victoria from Japan on the last trip of the Japanese liner Chicago Maru. He remained in Victoria for some days with friends, and later attempted to enter the United States disguised as a Japanese student. Admittance was refused him by the immigration authorities at Seattle, so he returned to the capital, coming here on the Victoria-Vancouver ferry.

The impression here is that he is endeavoring to make his way to England, where, plentifully supplied with funds, he will remain, but does not feel secure in disclosing his identity amongst his fellow-countrymen in British Columbia, who are nearly all supporters of the present government.

AUSTRALIAN DEADLOCK MEANS ELECTION SOON

Melbourne, Aug. 19.—It is stated to-day that a deadlock has been reached in the Commonwealth parliament and that preparations for another general election are being made. Prime Minister Cook, who is faced with practically the same difficulty in regard to the Senate as Premier Borden in Canada, has explained to the government that even with a majority of two or three he could not hope to be in administrative control.

He will not be satisfied with securing a dissolution of the lower House without a review of the Senate.

LIVED 102 YEARS.

Peterboro, Ont., Sept. 19.—Miss Rachel Bella, native of Ireland, aged 102 years, died in her sleep early this morning. She had not been ill.

ORE UNLOADER DISASTER.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 19.—Disaster befell one of the mammoth ore unloaders of the Lake Superior corporation this morning, incurring a loss of about $100,000. It is surmised that the unloader ran from its track in similar fashion to one at the new Ontario dock.

IRISH LABOR PARTY POSSIBLE OUTCOME

Home Rule Forgotten in Energy of Present Labor Disturbance

DUBLIN MASTER MIND AN AMERICAN PRODUCT

Capitalist Leader Fighting With Uncompromising Fervor Orders Complete Lockout

JAMES LARKIN NOW LEADS STRONG FORCE

Dublin, Sept. 19.—The strike of the transport worker here is believed by some observers to indicate the birth throes of an Irish Labor party, destined to wipe out many of the traditional lines of cleavage in the political, religious and industrial life of Ireland. The historic and bitter feud between Nationalist residents and the members of the Royal Irish Constabulary added fierceness to the fighting during the riots, but the strike itself is a clear-cut issue between employer and employee over the question of labor unionism.

The master mind of the street carmen's side of the controversy, James Larkin, is a picturesque character, who imbued his union principles while working in the steel mills of the United States. When he began his work organizing transport labor in Ireland he found practically a virgin field for his efforts.

Charge Made That $1,000 Was Paid to Get Rid of Navak Damokariff.

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—What may be the discovery of a murder hidden for a year, or a conspiracy against a county court witness, is being investigated by the city police.

George Bicoloff, a Russian, was arrested by the police on information sworn to by a man named Tapyaknoeff, another Russian, charging that on November, 1912, Bicoloff was paid by a third Russian named Navak Damokariff, to put out of the way one Alex. The defence is that a relative of the Russian swearing out the information was a case on in the county court in which Bicoloff is an unfavorable witness, and the present police court charge is a conspiracy to keep him out of the way until the county court action is over.

TOWNSITE LOT SALE BRINGS HIGH PRICES

Pittsburg Buyer Highest for Corner Lot at G. T. P. Fort George Sale

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—The sale of lots of a Grand Trunk townsite near Fort George, in Dominion hall, yesterday totaled $42,568, making the total value of the property put over in two days at over $200,000. The bidding for the property offered was keen, and in no instance did the upset price put on the property come near what was secured.

George Hardie, a railroad contractor, who was supposed to represent a syndicate largely composed of Foley, Welch & Stewart, contractors, who have pooled interests, and F. L. Murdock, of Williams & Murdoch, who has recently returned from an inspection of the townsite, representing a local syndicate, were the heaviest buyers.

Mr. Murdock's purchases represented something over $100,000, and Mr. Hardie's buys went considerably more than a half of that amount. Both specialized on the double corners in what are confidently expected to be the business parts of the city to be.

The top price yesterday was paid by Arthur Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., who bid in the double corner at George street and Fifth avenue, at $14,300. This is also the top price realized at the sale so far, the lots being opposite the site reserved by the railway company for its telegraph and city picket offices. Another high figure was that of $13,000 paid by Mr. Hardie for the double corner at Fourth avenue and George street, adjoining the site reserved by the company for its hotel, facing Princess square, which the auctioneer said was to be the site of the future city hall.

"We mean to set up that government," he went on. "The danger and difficulty will be great. It will, of course, be illegal. The volunteers, too, are illegal. The British government dare not interfere because I know you would not brook interference. Therefore don't be afraid of illegality. They are illegality which are not crimes. They are not sordid. They are illegality entered into for the purpose of asserting the elementary rights of every citizen for his freedom."

London, Sept. 19.—Mr. Balfour is at Balmoral Castle as the guest of King George. Lord Carson and Lord Curzon went there Saturday, have left Mr. Hon. Winston Churchill is the minister in attendance.

The sudden return of Rt. Hon. Lloyd George from the continent, where it was announced a few days ago he intended spending a fortnight, has not unnotably given rise to a great deal of speculation and several morning papers stated positively that the Home Rule situation was the sole cause of his unexpected return.

The chancellor, however, has lost no time in explaining that these interferences are all wrong. He has returned a few days earlier than he originally intended in order to deal with various treasury matters because Mr. Masterman, secretary of the treasury, is away on his holidays.

The chancellor has not made a public engagement of any importance before his speech at Bedford next month, when he opens his land campaign. He has no intention of visiting either the United States or Canada this year.

This proposal was made to the Crown prosecutor, T. B. Shoenbohm in Magistrate Simpson's court by Mr. Leighton, counsel on behalf of the accused, provided the Crown would withdraw the charges of intimidation laid against Steve Melzer, Wm. Martin, John Vance-Cheek, Loretto Di Cesare, Bernardino Castilo and Thomas J. Shenton, the men who had been arrested for picketing contrary to a recent decision of the Privy Council, which declared picketing of any kind illegal.

The proposal of Mr. Leighton, who stated he spoke with the authority of the United Mine Workers of America, was accepted by the Crown, and the six accused men were allowed their liberty.

Washington Apples GOING TO AUSTRALIA

Seattle, Sept. 19.—More than 20,000 crates of apples from the Wenatchee and Yakima valleys of Washington were shipped to-day on a steamship bound for San Francisco, there to be transferred to the steamship Sonoma for Australia. This shipment will be followed in the next few months by numerous others.

Australia is a great apple growing country, but the fruit is scarce there in the hot season now at hand.

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—As the climax of an all-night joyride, Mrs. Kate Coulson, thirty-five years old, was shot in the neck and probably will die; George Kovack, night watchman in a garage, was shot dead in the garage office, whether he had fled; and William Achen, chauffeur of the car, was shot dead, leaning against the car.

The police are securing the city for A. R. Coulson, proprietor of a wheat and feed store, who is husband of the wounded woman.

HOPES EVERY MAN WILL CARRY RIFLE

Arthur Balfour Now Guest of King George at Balmoral Castle

Belfast, Sept. 19.—Captain James Craig, Unionist M.P. for East Division of Down, announced at a public meeting here last night the acceptance by General Sir George Richardson of the post of general officer commanding the volunteers.

Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Irish Unionists, who is continuing his inspection trip through West Down, expressed the hope, in addressing the volunteers, that the next time he saw them "Every man will have a rifle to his shoulder. He advised them to leave no stone unturned to resist the invaders."

Frederick Smith, another of the Ulster leaders, urged them to make their ideals such that when the time came for Sir Edward Carson to negotiate with the government he might do so with the knowledge that behind him there were 100,000 disciplined volunteers.

The commanding-general emphasized the importance of efficiency in drill and the knowledge of the rifles being useful when the rally sounded. Sir Edward Carson, reviewing 640 Ulster volunteers at Newry, County Down, said that the plan for the establishment of a provisional government in Ulster when the Home Rule Bill goes into effect will be discussed next week.

"We mean to set up that government," he went on. "The danger and difficulty will be great. It will, of course, be illegal. The volunteers, too, are illegal. The British government dare not interfere because I know you would not brook interference. Therefore don't be afraid of illegality. They are illegality which are not crimes. They are not sordid. They are illegality entered into for the purpose of asserting the elementary rights of every citizen for his freedom."

WOMAN GETS TROPHIES FROM THIS PROVINCE

Mary L. Jobe Ends Sixth Trip Into Northwest Among Indians

New York, Sept. 19.—Miss Mary L. Jobe, an instructor in history in the Normal College, New York, was busy last night at her home, 60 Morning-side Drive, unpacking trophies of an exploration expedition that took her for nearly seven weeks into the wilds of northwestern British Columbia. Pack covers and satchel bags that remained the smoke of sprucewood campfires were strewn over the floor of the apartment, and a suit of corduroy-jacket and riding breeches—that hung from the wall testified to hard usage.

Alone, except for an occasional Indian guide, she penetrated to the unexplored regions of northwestern British Columbia, studied the Carrier Indians in their villages, made exhaustive notes on their life and customs, and brought back with her material that she intends to use for a book, magazine articles and lectures.

Trip Was Her Sixth. "I was not a tenderfoot by any means," said Miss Jobe last night. "This trip was the sixth that I have made into the far Northwest within eight years. On July 10 I left New York, went to Prince Rupert by way of Vancouver, and after outfitting started north to make studies of the Indians."

"For the greater part of the time I was alone. Whenever I needed a guide I employed an Indian to take me on to the next Carrier village I desired to see. I didn't trust the Indians very much, and I was always on the alert for trouble. I carried a .38 Colt's revolver, and I was ready to use it if occasion had arisen."

"These little known Indians were for the most part friendly, although shy, and sometimes sullen. It was difficult to get photographs of them. They fled to the brush the instant a camera was produced. By giving presents of bacon, sugar and tea, I was able, though, to get some excellent pictures. Everywhere I went I found the Indians eager to hear about the ways of civilized men. They were keen to know our customs and habits."

Generally speaking, the Indians of northwestern British Columbia are much the same as they were hundreds of years ago. They subsist almost entirely on the proceeds of their hunting and fishing. Every tribe has two chiefs, a civil and religious chief, whose functions are sharply differentiated. Women have no standing among them. The women do all the work and are thrust into the background. They are not a good looking people, and are rather underdressed.

"I was the first white woman who had ever entered much of that country. The Indians were amazed when they saw me. They gave me promptly a name of their own coinage, 'Peggy-Szczaki,' which means 'Man-woman.' That was because I wore men's clothes and dealt with them as firmly as the men they are accustomed to treat with."

Witnessed Quaint Ceremonies. "I witnessed numerous ceremonies and dances among the Indians, the most interesting being the potlatch. Medicine men came to the central villages, bringing with them the sick and maimed. For days in a period of feasting and merry-making the medicine men performed incantations and prayed noisily. The successful hunters made presents to the sick and to the poor. The dances were very interesting."

"Whenever I went I saw much game. Bear crossed my trail many times, and deer were, of course very numerous. I did not shoot, because I was in the country purely for scientific purposes."

Miss Jobe is a suffragette, and a great believer in woman's capacity for work that takes muscle and nerve, as well as brains.

"The day will come," she said, "when woman explorers will be so common that reporters won't even bother to interview them. Women are natural-born explorers."

During her trip she covered more than 500 miles on horseback and afoot. "It was a wonderful experience," she said. "It beats bridge and theatre going. Some of these days I am going back and take the trail to the very far north."

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

New Westminster, Sept. 19.—Martin Powell was yesterday committed for trial on a charge of breaking into the bank of Montreal and sharing in the theft of $271,000, and Magistrate Edmonds informed the accused that as the assizes were now sitting, his trial would not be long delayed.

"I must plead not guilty to the bank robbery," said Powell, when formally asked if he had anything to say in answer to the charge.

Corns of 1913

Call for Modern Treatment

It is time to stop the old-time treatments, "such as mother used to know."

Modern chemistry has found out how to terminate a corn.

Apply a little Blue-jay plaster, and the pain stops instantly. Then a wonderful wax—the B&B wax—gently undermines the corn. In 24 hours the whole corn loosens and comes out, without any pain or soreness.

This wax is so gentle, so final, so efficient that nothing else is ever used by folks who know this way.

Every month a million corns are now removed by Blue-jay.

Don't paper corns—pare them, and B them or protect them.

The 1913 way is Blue-jay. And that ends the corn.

A is the picture is the soft B & B wax. It loosens the corn.
B stops the pain and keeps the wax from spreading.
C wraps around the toe. It is narrowed to be comfortable.
D is rubber adhesive to fasten the plaster on.

Blue-jay Corn Plasters

Sold by Druggists—15c and 25c per package

GANGES ANNUAL SHOW UNPRECEDENTED SUCCESS IN EXHIBITS AND ATTENDANCE

Farmers From All Parts and Large Delegation From Victoria
Saw Agricultural Display; Island to Send Collectible
Exhibit to Victoria Fair Next Week

Ganges Harbor, Sept. 18.—The 18th annual exhibition took place on Wednesday last. From start to finish the show was an unprecedented success.

Patronized by farmers from all parts of the island, from the neighboring islands and from Victoria, the gate showed a record entry, while the various divisions comprising both live stock and agricultural products have never been surpassed either numerically or in the point of view of general excellence. A well advertised excursion from Victoria yielded splendid results. To the accompaniment of the Fifth Regiment band the Hon. A. E. McPhillips was escorted to the ground and immediately proceeded to open the show.

The president, Mr. J. T. Collins, in introducing Mr. McPhillips, wished him to convey to Mr. Price Ellison, the thanks of all those present for all he had done and was doing for this little island of ours.

Mr. McPhillips in a few brief words, thanked all for the honor done him in inviting him to open the show, saying that from what he had already seen, the exhibition would rank with any yet held in these parts.

The government, he said, were doing all in their power to further the interests of agriculture. Taxes, he hoped, would grow less and in many other ways the lot of the farmer made easier. The directors of the association wish to extend their thanks to Mrs. T. L. Scott for the way in which she came forward and undertook the entire decoration of the hall. Considerable improvements to the extent of some $700 had been made, thus making the hall a most up-to-date building.

A collection of agricultural products is being got together and will be exhibited at the coming Victoria fair. In former years the Island District has done extremely well and great hopes are entertained for our success this time.

The prize list follows:

Horses.
The entries in the division far exceeded anything which has yet been seen in this district. There were 27 entries in the pony classes, which were well filled.

PRIZE LIST.
Pony, ridden—1, T. Lang.
Saddle horse, ridden—1, A. J. Smith.
Buggy horse, driven—1, A. J. Smith.
Colt, 1 year and under 2—1, Wm. Mount.

Mare with foal at foot—1, Chas. Nobba.
Colt over 2 and under 3—1, W. H. Lee.
Best colt by Hunter Blair—1, H. W. Bullock.

Cattle.
Although considerable space had been allowed, the cattle stalls were filled to overflowing and as the island has already made a name for itself in this line, the entries were most encouraging.

Jersey bull—1, H. W. Bullock.
Jersey cow—1, A. J. Smith.
Jersey heifer, dry—1, Bruce Bros.
Jersey heifer, milk—1, H. W. Bullock.

Best grade heifer, 2 years, in milk—1, Rev. A. Baatton.
Heifer, 1 year (grade)—1, J. C. Lang.
Calf (grade)—1, N. W. Wilson.
Best herd, 3 cows—1, A. J. Smith.
Sheep and Swine.

The entries in sheep and hogs were small and not up to former years, but one or two good exhibits were shown, notably that of Mr. J. C. Lang's Dorset sheep.

A $20 special prize has been awarded to Mr. H. W. Bullock for the exhibitor of most stock bearing evidence of continuous kind treatment.

Poultry.
Poultry was this year for the second time exhibited in the fine new shed adjoining the hall, the following are amongst some of the successful competitors:

Leghorn, white cock—1, V. C. B. Morris; 2, N. W. Wilson.
Leghorn, white cockerel—1, W. Sharpe; 2, T. McMurdo.
Leghorn, white pullet—1, W. Sharpe; 2, H. Caldwell.

Packed fruit display by packing school pupils—1, A. H. Menzies; 2, W. Caldwell; 3, A. M. Shannon.

Garden Produce.
Entries in this division showed excellent quality. And special mention must here be made of the splendid exhibits of Mr. Thomas Mansell. Again we just give the more important of the exhibits:

Beets, globe—1, Mrs. G. Horel.
Cauliflower—1, A. G. Smith.
Carrots, stump root—1, D. Harris.
Corn, table—1, B. Cartwright.
Cucumbers, brace—1, T. Mansell.

Potatoes, any other variety named—1, A. H. Menzies.
Parsnips—1, D. Harris.
Tomatoes—1, A. G. Smith.
Vegetable Marrows—1, W. McFadden.
Water-melons—1, T. Mansell.
Muskmelons—1, T. Mansell.

Field Produce.
Here again Mr. T. Mansell carried all before him with some splendid exhibits.

Division 9 was miscellaneous, comprising exhibits in butter and cheese, etc., bottled fruits and preserves.

The bottled fruit and preserve display was an extremely fine one and would have done credit to any show in the province.

Among the successful competitors in this division the names of Mrs. H. Fletcher, Mrs. J. Horel, Miss A. E. Collins and Mrs. John Rogers might be recalled with special mention.

The prize for the best half-gallon of cream, for which there were numerous entries, was won by Mr. A. H. Menzies, of Pender Island.

Bread.
A finer collection of home-made bread could not well be imagined than that exhibited in this division. With Mrs. Gilbert Mout and Mrs. Eric Nelson the chief honors lie.

The best loaf by bachelor—1, R. B. Young.
Fruit cake—1, Mrs. F. L. Scott.

Flowers.
The flowers arranged in the centre of the hall, while helping in the scheme of decoration, showed what can be done in this line.

The best arranged centre for a dinner table was won by Miss Hamilton, Miss Everett being second. Some eleven entered in this section and the competition was very close.

Bowl of sweet peas—1, Mrs. F. L. Scott.
Collection of cut flowers—1, Miss Beryl Scott.
Best hanging basket—1, Miss Collins.

Fancy Work.
A strong display and much above the average was the verdict on this section

LIBERAL VICTORIOUS IN CUMBERLAND ELECTION

Prince Albert, Sask., Sept. 19.—The latest reports from the different polls in the Cumberland constituency indicate that Deacon Alexander Hall, the Liberal candidate, has been elected. All the returning officers have not reported except one, and the figures so far available show a majority of 100 for Mr. Hall over W. C. McKay, the Conservative candidate.

The only remaining station to be heard from is the Pelican Narrows constituency, where there are only seven or eight electors. The returns have not been sent in from this poll, but in view of the small number who voted there, the ultimate result is not likely to be greatly affected.

ALDERMAN WHITE IS ELECTED AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—Former Alderman White is again the team mate of Alderman McMaster as one of the representatives of Ward 4, succeeding Alderman Cameron, who recently resigned. The election was one of the dullest and most uninteresting ever held in any of the wards, and resulted in the former councilman being returned by a majority of 35 over his opponent, N. J. MacArthur. The voting was: White, 62; MacArthur, 47. There were seven spoiled ballots, making a total poll of 99 out of an electorate of 112.

STEEL ASSOCIATION TO ENTER MANITOBA

Winnipeg, Sept. 18.—The United Steel Products Company, a New Jersey corporation, has applied for permission to do business in Manitoba. While the application does not so state, it is believed that this organization is the selling corporation of the United States Steel Corporation or street trust.

According to the incorporation of the company they are empowered to enter into all branches of industry connected with steel, selling and tributary industries, such as mining, smelting and dealing in lands and similar work. Whether this forecasts that the steel trust proposes to go into manufacturing in the province or whether they merely intend to open a selling agency is not known.

PROTESTS TOO MUCH.

When he discusses the Oriental immigration question Sir Richard always reminds us of the player in Hamlet. He doth protest too much. In an interview published in the London Standard he is reported as gravely declaring that "British Columbia is taking a firm stand and will never alter its position in this regard."

Then, again, how is it the Premier has not endeavored to impress his rigid exclusion ideas upon his political friends at Ottawa who have to do with immigration? Some time ago a remonstrance from him backed up by that devoted little band of total exclusivists—on parade days—the "solid seven," might have caused Mr. Borden to pause before he signed away the right of this country to enforce its immigration laws in his negotiations with the Japanese authorities.

LOCHIEL.

The days of romance are gone, never more to return. This somewhat shopworn reflection must be attributed to the visit to this far western isle of that "proud bird of the mountain," Cameron of Lochiel. The Cameron men are still marching, but not many of them to the blood-stirring sound of the pibroch as it reverberates among the hills.

authorized in any way to do so, we extend a Highland greeting to Lochiel, hope he may enjoy his visit to this land of sunshine (so very different from the grey and drab of his own loved land), and pray that his tribe may increase upon the hills of "Scotia stern and wild" and wherever it findeth rest for the soles of its feet—and that is almost everywhere.

POLITICAL JOY-RIDERS.

"On with the dance; let joy be unconfined!" Such would appear to be the motto of the members of the Borden government and its hilarious supporters. After languishing in "the cold shades" for fifteen years and coming into power with an overflowing treasury, the boys are making the money fly after the manner of Roosevelt in tackling the construction of the Panama canal, and are having what may fairly be described as a riotous time. The ministers have developed a habit of travelling that has cost the government (at the public expense) of the McBride joy-riders completely in the shade. The record number of ministerial trips to and fro across Canada this summer at the country's expense have been made doubly expensive by the presence of many "invited guests."

THE SUNDAY PROSECUTIONS.

A gentleman of the illustrious name of Cecil Rhodes is endeavoring to establish the principle of consistency in regard to prosecutions for violations of the Sabbath observance canons. His contention is that as the statute of Charles II. is in force in this province it should be enforced in all its provisions. So he has applied to the police magistrate for a large number of summonses for those whom his eagle eye detected last Sunday in breaches of this ancient ordinance. These include street car conductors, printers, hack and motor car drivers, club secretaries, a handmaster and bootblacks, whose labors cannot be considered works of necessity. These people he seeks to have proceeded against under the section which prohibits persons from playing their callings on the Sabbath.

in accepting subsidies from the King of France for the corruption of the English electorate in the interests of that Most Christian Monarch. We would point out to those instituting the proceedings, however, that if they insist upon consistency in others they must be circumspect in avoiding inconsistency themselves. If summonses can be obtained from any other source qualified to authorize them and convictions recorded, the pains and penalties therein provided should be imposed. These are confiscation of goods, fines of three and six shillings and in default imprisonment in the stocks according to the enormity of the offence. Such is the law of the province in this year of grace, and we are surprised that the magistrate, himself a lawyer, should have lapsed, for the moment, from that attitude of reverence for ancient tablets, parchments and papyrus which is one of the habits so deeply ingrained in the venerable profession of which he is a representative. How can he be so disrespectful to the memory of Charles II. as to ignore altogether a law bearing his royal signature?

DOWNING STREET.

What is Downing Street? In the earlier history of this country our statesmen, struggling in the cause of self-government, always became indignant at the very mention of this little thoroughfare. When finally success crowned their labors they rejoiced that they had emancipated their country from the oppressive rule of Downing Street. In the other dominions Downing Street enjoyed an equal measure of unpopularity, and even today the name is used in discussions on imperial affairs to conjure up memories of those unsatisfactory and dangerous conditions when the street was the bete noir of autonomists. And yet from Downing Street came those constitutional blessings which are the pride and glory of the dominions today. And if it continues to be associated with the extension of the widest measure of self-government to the various units of the empire and keeps itself clear of those restless spirits who are trying to restore the days of ill-repute, Downing Street will be held in reverence and affection wherever the British flag waves.

Downing Street, as a writer in the Round Table points out, is the inmost shrine of the power of the British empire. It has taken on the character of the statesmen who in the offices situated there mould the destinies of the vast fabric upon which the sun never sets. Wise statesmen and unwise statesmen have devised their policies there, and too often the beneficent activities of the former have been overlooked in the wholesale reprobation of the iniquities of the latter.

Downing Street got off to a bad start. It was named after George Downing, who is described as probably the most thoroughly disliked of all the minor characters of his century. An Englishman by birth, a New Englander by training, first but one of Harvard graduates, and mysteriously furnished a few years later upon a remarkably versatile European career, he inspired distrust and dislike in his contemporaries. He was a clergyman, soldier, politician and diplomatist, and was always indispensible. Samuel Pepys describes him as "active and a man of business, and values himself upon having of things do well under his hand, but withal a perditional rogue." In New England it was proverbial to say to a man who betrayed his trust that he was an arrant George Downing. And this man, able but hated, by acquiring from Charles II. a building site adjoining St. James Park, gave his name to the nerve center of the British Empire. But the unhappy street has suffered for the frailties of its namesake and some of the statesmen who frequented it to such an extent that it has had a hard time trying to live down its unfortunate reputation. Thus even a street pays the penalty of a gay and giddy youth. Happily indeed was the thought which placed the splendid legislative offices of this province between four streets. Between them they can bear up under the association of ten years of Sir Richard's rule without turning a stone.

PUNISHMENT FOR WHITE SLAVERS.

Society has no place for the human vulture, male or female, who preys upon the minds and bodies of the youth or even young manhood and womanhood of today, and drastic action should be taken at once.

AS YOU LIKE IT.

There is to be an election in South Bruce, and the farmers there are not very keen for naval expenditure. Consequently the Kincardine Review tells them that Borden's naval proposals will cost only $2,000,000, while Laurier's will cost $18,000,000. In Toronto the story is that Laurier wants Canada to "sponge on the Empire." You can get almost anything you want at the government policy-shop.

SUFFRAGIST COSTUME.

"Clotho woman with the ballot" exclaims Senator Sheppard of Texas. Wouldn't you? "See a girl wearing a ballot!"

The Victoria School of Education and Languages, 731 1/2 Fort Street. Men's dramatic class, Wednesday, 8 p. m. Object: To train members in the art of speaking before an audience and to discover latent dramatic power. Time: Evening for the convenience of the busy man. Cost, $1.00 per lesson or $5.00 for six lessons, paid in advance. A scheme whereby all fees paid for tuition shall eventually be refunded has been devised. The director, Dr. Tiddy invites all members to punctual attendance and each one to bring with him Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" for Wednesday, the 24th inst.

"The Enchantress" which will be brought here by Jos. M. Gaites as a means of introducing Kitty Gordon to the theatregoers of this city, as the work of those two veteran artificers of opera comique, Victor Herbert and Harry B. Smith, the latter having collaborated on the book with Mme. Fred de Gresac. Mr. Herbert's score, as always, is musically and interesting. The story of the opera breathes romance at every step. There are all sorts of nobles and princesses and grandees and soldiers in uniforms and jewels and glitter of royalty in it. Mr. Gaites has surrounded Miss Gordon with a cast that complies with all the brilliancy that the star herself sets off, and one of the choice engagements of the season may be anticipated with the coming of Kitty Gordon at the Victoria theatre, two nights and matinee, starting September 26th.

Peace Advocates at Kamloops—Dr. Derby, the secretary of the Peace Society of England, who was to have arrived in Victoria to-day, stopped yesterday at Kamloops, where Rev. Wm. Stevenson, of the local peace society, is at present visiting. It is probable that Mr. Stevenson and Dr. Derby will come on to Victoria together.

Grand Jury Selected—The gentlemen who will serve on the grand jury at the sittings to open on Monday, September 23, are: Thomas Bick, Thomas R. Cusack, James Forman, J. O. Littlefield, Robert J. Hurst, Percy R. Little, A. H. Mitchell, George D. Walsh, Henry Moss, G. H. Maynard, Thomas Plimley, A. R. Wolfenden, E. G. Morley.

Judgment is Entered—In county court yesterday judgment was entered for the plaintiff in the case of Smund Singh v. Godfrey Brothers. The action was for $395 which was claimed as damages caused to the plaintiff by reason of the defendants leaving a contract which they had taken from him uncompleted. The defendants did not enter an appearance. H. C. Hall acted for the plaintiff.

Church Music—At the meeting of the Diocesan Association of Lay Readers in St. Barnabas' school-room on Tuesday, September 16, Percy James, lay reader of St. Columba's church, Strawberry Vale, read an interesting paper on church music, a subject which is exciting much comment both here and in the Old Country. The Rev. Baugh-Allen, rural dean, presided at the meeting.

Good Templars—The annual convention of the Independent Order of Good Templars will convene at 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon in the Knights of Pythias hall, North Park street, the Grand Chief Templar, Rev. J. P. Hicks, of Victoria, to preside. Big delegations from Nanaimo, Kootenay, Okanagan, Nicola, Vancouver, and other points are expected. The following delegates have been appointed from Nanaimo: Mrs. E. G. Cavalsky, Charles Wilson, Jr., S. Gough, grand treasurer; Andrew Pender, grand secretary; Mrs. John Cottle, grand vice-president; William Waucho, grand superintendent of juvenile work; R. H. Dunsmore, Joseph W. Brown, and Andrew N. Dunsmore.

You Know Jones's Wife—Well she makes the finest waffles I have ever tasted; she makes them on a "Brilliant Waffle Iron," which is the best of its kind made. It is so handy, not being too heavy. Get them for $1.40 at R. A. Brown & Co.'s, 1302 Douglas Street.

Body is Found—Word received by the provincial police yesterday afternoon announces the finding of the body of the young Victorian, Priestley, who was drowned in the Neas river six weeks ago.

Held in Custody—Marie Clendinning, whose pseudo-husband, John Milford Miles, is awaiting trial on a charge of abetting and compelling her in the commission of immoral acts, was this morning released from the vagrancy charge under which she has been held. She is bound over to appear as a witness at the trial but the court had a suspicion that she might leave town and told her she would have to remain in custody if she could not find sureties. She elected to stay in custody.

Cable is Repaired—The Pacific Cable Company recently spent eight days in picking up and replacing the Western Union telegraph cable between Albert Head and Port Angeles. Captain Richardson supervised operations. The Western Union cable is laid across the Straits of Juan de Fuca off Race Rocks and the friction had resulted in damage. It was grasped for and picked up seven miles off-shore and after being repaired was dropped again. This cable has been in use for a number of years.

Adjourned to Next Week—The charge of possession of cloth laid by Tonic Doumain against John Farmer will not be taken up until Thursday when the preliminary hearing will take place. Farmer has elected for a trial in a higher court, and C. F. Davis, for the prosecution, announced that some witnesses he had intended to examine would not be produced at this time. J. H. Austin, of Alkman & Austin, appeared this morning for the defence.

Tell the Old Story—Two interdicts, having been dealt with for their intoxication, were questioned by the police magistrate to-day as to where they got the liquor. One got a stranger whom he met on lower Johnson street to buy a bottle of Scotch whiskey for him, and the other got several drinks from a man he did not know on the waterfront. His worship expressed his doubt of the genuineness of both stories, and warned the men that if they appeared again and could not tell the source from whence they obtained liquor jail terms would be their lot.

President Resigns—At the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Central Union of the W. C. T. U. at the Y. W. C. A., the vice-president, Mrs. Norman in the chair, the resignation of Mrs. Williscroft, for the past four years president of the local W. C. T. U., was received with regret. Mrs. Williscroft has been spending the last five months at Hazelton, and is returning in a fortnight's time to remain there until January. The meeting discussed the refreshment tent to be held at the coming fair, and it was decided that the unions should take charge as follows: Tuesday, Rockland Park Union; Wednesday, Frances Willard and West End Unions; Thursday, Central Union; Friday, Olympic Union; Saturday, Mount Baker Union. A rest room, where ladies can leave their wraps or take an hour's rest without having to leave the grounds, will be opened. The proceeds will go to the Men's Mission Building Fund.

AS TO FOLLY.
Are you feeling melancholy
O'er some little act of folly?
Don't you mind a bit
All the wisdom of the Sages
In the long chain of the ages
Has been based on it.
Folly's but the finger post
When upon our way we're lost,
Grooping all around,
Pointing with a jocular air
To the paths that lead us where
Wisdom's to be found.

CROSSED CANADA ALONE

Londoner Arrives After Unusual Automobile Trip—Found Variety of Roads.

In order to demonstrate to the world that British-built cars are eminently suitable for Canadian roads, Donald A. Gooch, a Londoner, has just ended an arduous trip from coast to coast in an automobile, completing the feat of Thomas W. Wilby last year. Furthermore, Mr. Gooch did the whole journey alone, whereas Mr. Wilby had a chauffeur with him. The trip is a unique test for a motor car, inasmuch as across Canada are to be found all sorts and conditions of roads, good, bad and indifferent. When asked on his arrival in Vancouver as to the general condition of the highways on his trip, Mr. Gooch smiled wearily and intimated that he had met with roads of sundry kinds, of cussedness in his experience, but some of those negotiated successfully on this trip, and anything in his previous experience right in the shade.

"In another way the trip was even more notable than that of Mr. Wilby in that the intrepid tourist only travelled eighty-two miles of his whole journey by train, and that was between Spence's Bridge and Hope, as there is no wagon road there at all. "I might add," said Mr. Gooch, "that in British Columbia I encountered roads which are unexcelled even in Britain. Of course I did not expect to find all the roads good. Neither did I. There were places where the grade seemed to be built backwards—others where I had to get out and build myself a corduroy road of my own—still others where I had to take a flying start and dash up and through all kinds of mudholes." Mr. Gooch thinks with some justification that his trip demonstrates the fallacy of the oft-heard statement that English cars are not made for this country. "This car," said Mr. Gooch, "satisfied me in every way. While I have not been attempting to make any record for travel, I think I have done well in crossing the Dominion without the company of a mechanic or any assistance."

"OFFICER 666"

To-night at the Victoria "Officer 666," the play that has been written and talked about more than any other theatrical production launched in the amusement field in many years, will be presented.

The piece, by Augustin MacHugh, is full of extraordinary surprises and clean fun that keeps its audience in a constantly expectant attitude and almost continuous laughter. It is, in fact, a melodramatic farce quite out of the ordinary, and furnishes more thrills and tense moments than one can realize as emanating from a single evening's entertainment. It is a clean play, presented by an admirable company of comedians and comedienne, and played with a rapidity that threatens to break the speed limit, and it is filled to the brim with logical tricks and swiftly moving surprises that keep the interest of the auditor at concert pitch throughout its enactment. In short, it is a charming farce, charmingly presented and as full of laughs as the small boy is of ice cream after coming home from a church festival.

A PRETTY EVENT.

Miss Annie McConnell Becomes Bride of Mr. J. H. Grant—Will Reside in City.

A pretty wedding took place last Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McConnell, 1522 Amphion street, when Annie, their youngest daughter, was married to Mr. J. H. Grant, of Weller Brothers' staff. Rev. R. A. Macconnell performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a robe of white satin with tulle veil arranged in mob-cap fashion, under a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of bride roses, and carnations. Miss L. G. Jamieson, who acted as bridesmaid, was dressed in pale blue satin with brocaded overdress of ninon, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. W. Salloway acted as best man, and Miss Della Fair played the Wedding March. After the ceremony a delicious wedding-breakfast was served in the dining-room, which was decorated with white carnations and smilax, and later Mr. and Mrs. Grant left for Seattle, Portland and Vancouver, where they will spend their honeymoon, the bride travelling in a brown, tailored suit with brown velvet hat to match. They were the recipients of numerous handsome gifts, and the bridegroom's gifts were: To the bride, a pearl pendant; to the bridesmaid, a pearl pin, and to the groomsmen, a cameo stick-pin. On their return to the Island Mr. and Mrs. Grant will take up their residence in the city.

Winnipeg Manufacturer Has Novel Theory About Japanese Current—Volcanic Islands to Help.

That the throwing up of volcanic islands in the Northern Pacific will make more land in the Canadian Northwest capable of cultivation owing to the Japanese current changing its course is the opinion of James Munro, president and managing director of the Munro Steel Wire Company, with factories at Winnipeg and New Glasgow, Nova Scotia. Mr. Munro is on the coast on a pleasure trip. He claims that the changing of the Japanese current to flow more to the north will provide milder climate in the areas where little wheat is now being grown, and consequently more ground will be thrown open to the farmer. Mr. Munro believes that Hudson's Bay will be as great an asset to the prairies as the Panama Canal is to the Pacific Coast. There would be the possibility, he remarked, when the Hudson's Bay railway line is completed about two years hence, of the fall wheat being shipped from the northern terminus, which would not freeze over so early in the season as Lake Superior, the latter of which cannot retain heat so long as the salt water of the former. Treasurer's Office Open Nights.—City Treasurer Smith has decided to keep his office open from 7.30 to 9.30 p. m. until September 30 to convenience citizens desiring information about the taxes which must be paid in full by that date. Money, of course, can be received only between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Twenty-two years ago China and Japan supplied all the Tea consumed in Canada. The "Salada" Tea Co. at that time, commenced the introduction of British grown Tea, with the result that last year, of the thirty-nine million pounds of tea imports, thirty-two millions came from Ceylon and India, and nearly one-quarter of all the tea sold in the Dominion was sold in "Salada" sealed lead packets. The moral is: If you have a good thing with which to serve the public, advertise it.

You Can't Wish for a Better Range Than "Weiler's"

For Soft Coal and Wood or Gas Ranges

To say—without any qualification—that the "Weiler" ranges are the best you can buy, seems to be a very broad statement.

However, we are prepared to prove what we say, and knowing that our reputation depends on selling only the best, has led us to make the manufacturer stand behind the goods with a hard and fast guarantee.

The Coal and Wood Ranges have been built specially for burning the soft coal and pitchy wood used in this district. The flues, fire-box and draught provisions are constructed so that the fuel is burned to the best advantage. They are easy to clean, are attractive in appearance, while the materials and workmanship are equal to that used in high-grade engines.

The Gas Ranges are fitted up in your home free of charge. We look after the connections being made. While this is not the lowest priced range you can buy, it is—by far—the cheapest and the best.

Sanitary because of the cast iron, white enamel linings that are removable and as easy to clean as dishes, also because of the fact that every part of the range is removable and easily kept thoroughly clean.

Absolutely Safe because the patented oven lighting device removes the cause of danger.

All Connections Free. We fit up our ranges in your home free of charge and connect our gas ranges to the gas mains.

Various Sizes in Stock. Both the gas range and our cast and steel ranges for wood and coal are to be had in all the regular sizes, so you are sure of finding what you want at this store.

DOUBLE-HEADER

Heavy Hitting Features Yesterday's Games at the Ball Park; Lamb Gets Five Hits

Victoria and Tacoma divided a brace of slugging battles at the ball park yesterday afternoon, the Tigers taking the first game 4 to 3, while the Bees walked off with the second fixture by the score of 5 to 3. There was a good outpouring of the fans to witness the double bill, which was featured by the presentation to Charlie Swain of a diamond watch for his home run clouts this year. Swain responded by putting another over the fence, bringing his total up to 34 for the season. Both games were in doubt right up to the last, the Bees missing a good chance to pull the first contest out of the fire in the ninth when Crum lined to Kurfess, while only Barham's remarkable twirling saved the second half of the bill for the locals.

McGinnity Wins First. Seven twirlers were used in the two games, McGinnity having the better of his argument with Bert Fitchner, while Barham went in and saved Brown's game for him when the latter blew in the eighth inning, with a huge lead to back him up. Both clubs were out for gore and the fence busting was a treat to the fans. Tacoma chalked up 21 hits for the afternoon, including the double and triple while the Bees had 15 safeties in the two games. It was a continual clattering of hits, and the twirlers had to work hard at all times. Victoria chucked the first game away by punk fielding, the Bengals booting everything that came their way. Good and bad baseball were served up, the Bees' steadier work in the field being all that saved the second battle.

Errors Were Costly. McGinnity's superior judgment in the tight places gave the Tigers the upper hand, although the Bees and their scattered hits, while his club mates touched up Fitchner for nine, Victoria started the scoring in the second when Swain drove a home run a mile over the fence. In the third the Tigers evened the count on singles by Keller, Harris and Millon, two of the blows being in field and the other not being handled in time. They put the game on ice in the seventh on Rawling's fumble of an easy double play that would have retired the side without a score. Victoria scored a pair in the seventh on Delmas' single, Lamb's double and Shea's single. They had chances in the eighth and ninth, but the Iron Man was there in the pinch and shut off the hits. Only two bases on balls were issued in this game, Fitchner getting seven strike outs, while McGinnity had five.

Brown Blew Up. Victoria started out after Grot with a vengeance, and on numerous singles and doubles, had tallied eight runs before the Tigers started to work. Kurfess effectually checked the Bees' hitting, while Brown weakened. The Tigers secured four hits in the seventh that counted as many runs, errors and wild throws helping things along. In the eighth they led off with two safeties, but Barham was sent in and struck out the side, his scurve ball breaking fully four feet. In the ninth he retired the first two batters, and Johnny Rawlings again threw a shoe on an easy chance. Keller followed with a single and stole second, but Kelly struck out.

Vancouver—Jimmy Clark and Douglass clashed in the most sensational pitching duel of the season, and the Beaver pitcher was returned a winner, Vancouver blanking the Indians by a score of 2 to 0. Poor fielding by the Beavers enable Spokane to get runners on in every inning, but Clark's remarkable pitching saved the situation.

Seattle—With a score tied in the eighth inning and three on bases, Gipe went into bat for Martino and sent out a single to centre field, scoring two runs and giving Seattle 3 to 1.

MANY MATCHES FOR SOCCER CLUBS

A number of practice soccer matches are booked for to-morrow on different fields and while the league opening will not take place until October 4, the managers are not losing any time in getting their men into condition. The following will meet on the Beacon Hill grounds and the following are expected out: Taitt, Sheriff, Maxwell, G. Sherratt, Green, McIlroy, McGee, Abercrombie, Howden, Bruce and Irskine.

The following team will represent the Men's Own Football Club against the Empires to-morrow at the Beacon Hill grounds. The team consists of: B. Len, North, O'Connell, Chirois, Wagner, Dunstun, Armstrong, Ferris; reserve, Middleton.

The Sons of England football players are requested to turn out to play the J. B. A. A. to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Oak Bay grounds.

The Fifth Regiment Rugby Club will hold practices at Oak Bay on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock and Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. All players are requested to turn out, as it is necessary to get into condition for the first game on September 27.

QUIMET TIES RAY AND HARRY VARDON

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 19.—Frances Quimet, the Boston amateur, overtook Vardon and Ray, the English professionals at the 54th hole in the American golf championship at the Country Club to-day. Quimet covered the eighteen holes in seventy-four strokes, which, with 151 of yesterday, gave him a total of 225. The three players started on equal terms in the final round.

RICH STAKES ON GRAND CIRCUIT

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—Lord Dewey, winner of the Empire State trot last week at Syracuse, captured his second $10,000 race of the season yesterday when he took the Michigan stakes for 2.15 trotters in the Grand Circuit races, from a field of seven in straight heats.

JUNIORS PLAY FOR PROVINCIAL TITLES

Exciting play has featured the matches for the junior tennis titles of British Columbia, which are now being contested for on the courts of the Victoria Tennis Club. The youngsters are showing exceptionally fine form, and quite a crowd witnessed yesterday's play. The results were: Girls. Miss Grahame Hope defeated Miss Myrtle Kilpatrick, 6-1, 6-1. Miss Kathleen Bradshaw defeated Miss Grahame Hope, 6-3, 6-3. Miss Eva Ross defeated Miss Bradshaw, 6-2, 6-4. Miss Marjorie Tennant defeated Miss Dorothy Edwards, 6-4, 6-2. Boys. Master H. Hudson defeated Master F. Poulkes, 6-1, 6-0. Master S. Poulkes defeated Master Pelly, 6-0, 6-1.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Oak Bay Team Have a Chance for the Cup. Secretary Milton Oppenheimer is of the opinion that the Vancouver Athletic Club will have little difficulty in defending the mug from the attack of the Oak Bay team. The Terminal City lacrosse magnate may have another think coming to him, as the Bays have shown a whole lot more team work than the V. A. C. can boast of and it is combination that wins lacrosse games in these days. The Oaks are young and full of fighting spirit, and those who have witnessed their workouts during the past week or two, give them a royal chance to bring home the celebrated Mann cup.

ENTRIES FOR OPENING CARD RACES START AT THE WILLOWS

Oak Bay Grants Permits for Local Meet; Victoria Horses in Feature Events

George Fraser, general manager of the Victoria Country Club, this morning received two permits for the racing at the Willows upon the conclusion of the B. C. Agriculture meet which starts to-morrow at the fair grounds. Both of the permits are signed by F. M. Rattenbury, reeve of Oak Bay, and they date from September 23 to October 4, and also October 6 to 11. The association is now going ahead with the completion of arrangements. Everything is ready for to-morrow's opening card. The decorating has been completed, while there are now over 200 horses stabled at the track. The British Columbia electric railway has promised an extra service to convey the racegoers to the track.

Rivalry Amongst Owners.
Several hundred rail birds were at the track this morning, checking their favorites, and the opening races will furnish keen competition. The arrival of the stables from the Butte, Montana, track has caused no end of talk, as the Montana people figure that they can just about clean up on this meet. The American owners will find plenty of opposition in the Vancouver and Victoria owned-horses, there being 40 locally-owned animals alone at the track.

BLEACHER FIRE AT LOCAL PARK

Fans Extinguish Incipient Blaze; Bees Selected for All-Star Team

An incipient blaze in the right field bleachers during the first game of yesterday's double header almost caused trouble, the bleacherites piling onto the field while the fire was stamped out by some of the more daring fans. A dropped cigarette butt caused the trouble, but luckily the blaze was extinguished before any damage was caused. The alarm came when Victoria started after McGinty, and there was considerable smoke before it was discovered. No damage resulted to the stands.

Charlie Swain will leave the Bees about Sunday night to join the Sacramento club at San Francisco. Swain now has 34 home runs, and has but three more games in which to boost that total. He expects to score a couple in the Coast League, and will not engrave the locket with the total of home runs until the coast season is completed on October 23.

Harry Meek has completed arrangements for his All-Star series with the Vancouver champions, and will have a number of Victoria players in the line-up. He will have Brooks at first, Rawlings second, Crom in the outfield, Kautlener and Narveson, pitchers, McMullen, of Tacoma, will play third, Hannah and Meek will do the back stopping, while Kelly and Kaufman will comprise the pitching staff. Of the All-Stars, four are due for major league try outs next season.

Kaufman has been notified of a three-day suspension by Fielder Jones for his part in Wednesday's fracas at the ball park. This will not affect his work very much as he will be able to twirl on Sunday against the Bees at Tacoma.

POLO SERIES FOR EXHIBITION WEEK

Three games have been arranged between the Victoria Polo Club and the Cowichan quartette to be played at the Willows during Fair week. The poloists will furnish the feature for the exhibition folk on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. On Tuesday and Thursday, both Victoria and Cowichan are playing a mixture of their A and B teams, and on Saturday Cowichan will play the same team that figured in the cup series last month. Law will replace Gunn for the Victoria quartette.

Victoria's team for Tuesday is as follows: Wilgrews, No. 1; Jones, 2; Law, 3; McKenzie, back. For Thursday: Wilgrews, 1; Irving, 2; Jones, 3, and McKenzie, back. For Saturday: Irving, 1; Law, 2; McKenzie, 3, and Dr. Richards, back.

SOCCER CHAMPIONS ELECT OFFICERS

Jack Youson was again elected manager at the organization meeting of the Victoria Wests, which was held at the manager's residence on Russell avenue last night. The annual report showed that the club was in a splendid condition, financially, and a good year is looked for. A practice will be held at Macaulay Point on Saturday afternoon, at which all of last year's teams are requested to be on hand. The officers were elected as follows for the different teams: Senior, Bob Whyte, captain; W. Prevost, vice. Second, Charles Brown, capt.; Joe McArthur, vice. Third, Jack Shakespeare, capt.; Tutesy Pump, vice. Howard Dickson was chosen assistant manager.

A FALL IN FALL PRICES

A Straight Twenty-Five Per Cent DISCOUNT SALE

Now's your time to prepare for Show Week. More than that, it's a good time to prepare for Winter's needs. Large quantities of Fall goods have arrived and fresh shipments are arriving daily. Then there's the balance of a few odd lines in Summer Shirts and Hats that we don't want to carry over.

Even in our fine new store, we're feeling the pinch of room. Of course, this is in large part due to the fact that we now carry a full line of Style-Craft Ready-to-Wear Clothes, both Suits and Overcoats. Then, again, we're carrying Velours this year, an exceptionally fine grade hat made in Austria.

For Just Nine Days, Starting Saturday, September 20

Style-Craft Tailored Clothes
Are the result of careful study of New York and Chicago styles, and fulfill the decrees of fashion to the minutest detail.
In Suits the cloths are a rich mixture of color without any very definite patterns, and come in browns, greys and dark mixtures. Blues are a feature by themselves.
Models are two and three-button sack in different styles.

We're going to celebrate the close of the first month of Fall by getting a full house for nine business days in succession. It's a little late to call this a Housewarming Sale, although we're running it largely to get folks to visit us in the new store. So we call it a Discount Sale, because

25 Per Cent Will Be Allowed

From all purchases (except collars) including our fine line of Ready-to-Wear Suits and Overcoats, made by Style-Craft, all new Fall Shirts, Hats, Pyjamas, Raincoats, Fancy Vests, Neckwear, Sweater Coats, Hose, Gloves, Underwear.

Fall Weights and Fall Styles
Velour Hats, Soft Felts, Hard Felts, Underwear of all kinds of the best known makes, all-wool and wool mixtures in two-piece Suits and Combinations with closed creche. Wool Taffeta Pyjamas and Shirts, Negligee Shirts in zephyrs, Oxfords, Cambridge, with smart hair-line stripes, Fancy Vests, Sweater Coats of Shaker knit wool, with heavy roll collar—everything absolutely new, absolutely guaranteed and subject to 25 per cent discount (except collars).

SCRAP BOOK. Veterans Observe Semi-Centenary of the Battle of Chickamauga. Just 50 years ago to-day the armies of the Union and the Confederacy faced each other in battle order on Chickamauga Creek, in Tennessee, and began a series of engagements that were among the most spectacular and deadly in the history of warfare. The stand of Thomas against the onslaughts of the Confederates that earned for him the title of "Rock of Chickamauga," "Fighting Joe" Hooker's famous "Battle Above the Clouds," and the charge up Missionary Ridge, a terrible but successful sacrifice that ranks with Balaklava, were among the tragic dramas enacted by warring hosts on this grim, mountainous theatre of war. The semi-centenary of Chickamauga will be fittingly celebrated to-day and to-morrow by the Union veterans gathered in Chattanooga, Tenn., in the forty-seventh national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, and by the Confederates who have met with them. Not long ago the battlefield of Gettysburg, in Pennsylvania, was the scene of a great reunion of the Blue and Gray, and now the "Yanks" have invaded the Southland for a peaceful session with the "Johnny Rebs" on their own soil. Those two reunions have historic significance as marking the final burying of the hatchet. A sham battle between regiments of the regular army of a reunited nation re-enacting the deadly struggle on Chickamauga, battlefield half a century ago, and a reproduction of the "Battle Above the Clouds" in fireworks, are spectacular features of the Chattanooga programme. The morning of Sept. 19, 1863, found the Union army under Rosecrans and the Confederate forces under Bragg, confronting each other on each side of Chickamauga Creek. The battle began at 10 o'clock, and raged with great fierceness until dark, when the Unions seemed to have the advantage. After a night of terror, resounding with the shrieks of the wounded and dying, the battle was resumed. With varying fortunes, and with frightful carnage, the day wore on. The blunder of a Union officer gave the Confederates an opportunity, and they charged with such effect that the Federal right wing was shattered. Crumbling before the shock, the Union troops were soon seen flying in wild disorder towards Chattanooga, leaving thousands behind, killed, wounded, or prisoners. With the tide of defeat went Rosecrans, who hastened to Chattanooga, to rally his shattered forces, Gen. George H. Thomas, in command of the Union left, with nearly half of the army of the Cumberland, stood firm on Missionary Ridge against repeated assaults of the Confederates. He was, in very truth, the "Rock of Chickamauga," and his valor turned what seemed certain defeat into a drawn battle. He stood his ground until nightfall, when his ammunition almost exhausted, he withdrew his shattered forces to Rossville. The Union loss was reported at 16,236, of whom 1,637 were killed. The Confederate loss was about the same, but 2,617 were shot. The Confederates were victors on the field, but their triumph was not decisive, and a few days later the immortal charge up Missionary Ridge gave the Union army a decisive victory. "I did not think it possible for men to accomplish so much," wrote General Thomas. "It was marvelous—the charge of these immortal brigades. For one moment they were lost in the smoke of battle—the next their standards were waving along the ridge."

THE HUMAN PROCESSION. Sir William Lever, the famous English manufacturer of soap, who lately bought Stafford House from the Duke of Sutherland and presented the historic edifice to the nation as a museum, will celebrate his sixty-second birthday to-day. Soap greases and printers' ink were the ingredients used by Sir William in working out his formula for success. He was born in Lancashire, and at sixteen began his business career in his father's shop. The foundation of the great business which has made its proprietor a multi-millionaire and a baronet. The great soap works at Port Sunlight, Sir William's "model manufactory," are numbered among the "sights" of England. Sir William attributes his success to making good soap and advertising effectively. His firm was among the first to realize the possibilities of newspapers in securing general publicity. He is also a firm believer in the co-operative and profit-sharing principles, and has put his theories into effect at Port Sunlight, where the employees of his firm live in the happiest of conditions. This "model town" is the most successful co-operative industrial community in the world. Despite this division of profits with his workmen, Sir William has managed to accumulate a fortune estimated at not less than $200,000,000, which gives him a place among the world's richest men. "The first requisite of successful co-operation," said Sir William recently, "is a high-class management, and this must not be fettered in any way. The policy of the business must be free from any interference of the rank and file. In schemes of this kind there must be no maudlin sentiment. No faddist ideas must be allowed to govern the business." Sir William has spent several years in the House of Commons as a Liberal. He is interested in many scientific and charitable organizations and is chairman of the Liverpool Tropical School of Medicine. He has factories in Africa as well as in England. Lady Lever, whom he married in 1874, died about two months ago. Louis Joseph Vance, author of "The Black Bag," "The Bronze Bell," "The Brass Bell," and other double-B'd romances, is still a young man with a long career of serial rights and royalties ahead of him. He was born in Washington thirty-four years ago to-day, and was educated in Brooklyn. His first ambition was to become an illustrator, and it was while studying art in New York that he met, loved and married the lady who is now Mrs. Vance. Soon after their marriage, in 1898, Mr. Vance abandoned art to work as a clerk in the office of a public service corporation at a salary of $20 per week. In 1900 a son was born to the happy but poor couple. "It was," says Mr. Vance, "a very important event, not only in my life but in the history of American letters. No one appreciates that as much as I do. If it hadn't been for the responsibilities (a polite way of spelling debts) of fatherhood it might never have occurred to me that people made money by writing stories." Mr. Vance's first short story remained unsold for several years, but his second effort, was quickly disposed of for $25. For some time he continued to draw his wage as a clerk, and devoted his nights to literature. His first big success was scored in 1905 with "Terence O'Rourke, Gentleman Adventurer." Since then his spectacular romances have gained a wide vogue and the author is no longer the slave of a soulless corporation. He now spends much of his time wandering about Europe, and when he returned from his most recent trip the Vance family luggage consisted of no less than ninety pieces. As a measure of financial success nothing could be more convincing than to return from Europe with ninety (90) pieces of luggage! When the Doctor Shakes His Head and says "time required," don't hesitate; he means a genuine imported Pilsener, 10c. per glass, at the Kaiserhof.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Makes Upset Stomachs Feel Fine in Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and cructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY LIBERAL CLUB

Organization Completed at Enthusiastic Meeting Last Evening

The Liberal Reform Club was organized last evening at a largely attended meeting held in the Cormorant street rooms, and the enthusiasm manifested is an augury of the success of the club. The early portion of the meeting was presided over by George N. Mowat, who has taken a keen interest in the work of organization.

Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: Honorary president—R. T. Elliott, K. C. Honorary vice-president—Hon. Wm. Templeman. President—P. W. Dempster. First vice-president—E. S. Woodward. Second vice-president—H. W. Goggin.

Secretary-treasurer—H. L. Roberts. Trustees—Joshua Kingham, L. U. Conyers, F. J. Staepole, K. C. Executive committee—J. S. Brandon, F. E. Winslow, G. McNiven, Nell McGillivray, A. E. Oates, F. J. Staepole, K. C.; Ted R. Patrick, John H. Hardwick, Fred McGregor, George Beck, Hugh T. Petticrew, John Boyd, S. E. McCallum, F. T. Sandford, William S. Smith.

There are over 200 members already on the roll, and now that the club is organized the number will increase rapidly. Several prominent gentlemen connected with the party have signified their intention of becoming life members of the club. The only requirement for membership is a belief in Liberal principles and a desire to see the establishment of efficient administration in federal and provincial affairs.

The first public meeting under the auspices of the new club will be held next month, and thereafter there will be frequent gatherings at least once a month, at which well-known speakers will address the members. The executive will at once get to work on the question of quarters, and will endeavor to secure club premises in the heart of the city.

PRONOUNS.

People in the Midlands use pronouns in a very perverse fashion, writes a correspondent in the Manchester Guardian. I once overheard a woman describing a quarrel between two other women, and her final comment was literally as follows: "If 'er'd said to 'er, what 'er said to 'er, 'er'd have killed 'er on 'er 'er." Which, being translated, means, "If she had said to me what she said to the other woman I'd have killed her or she'd have killed me." Another example of this dislocation of the pronoun was heard by a friend of mine. A woman was talking to her children, and a group of youngsters standing by stood to listen. One of them said, "'Er bain't a-calls' we; us don't belong to she!"

TWO FAIRS TO-DAY

Annual Event Opened at Duncan With Best List of Entries—Sooke Fair is Held.

One of the foremost fall fairs on the Island outside of that held in the city is the annual exhibition of the Cowichan Agricultural Society, which opened at Duncan to-day. Several improvements have been made to the grounds since last fall, and additions have been made to the attractions of the fair in the way of new classes. The horse ring has been railed off.

There is a much larger list of entries this year than even the record of last year, and there is an advance on former quality, which is saying a great deal for the famous district.

In the stock classes there are entries from some of the most successful herds in Canada, as well as large exhibits from the Island herds. In the farm and garden products and home work there are very large entries in all classes.

Parades of live stock and motor-driven vehicles will be held to-morrow, leading color to the event. There are a large number of outsiders in the city attending the fair, and both days promise to be highly successful.

The judges are H. Thornber, fruit and vegetables; Robert Miller, horses; G. S. Harris, dairy cattle; H. Reid, Victoria, poultry; J. Graham, polo ponies. First Sooke Fair. Sooke held its first annual fair to-day with a most encouraging entry list. The poultry show proved so successful last winter that it was decided by the committee to hold a general fair. A number of the exhibits of stock and poultry came from far afield, while the local entries were of quite as fine quality as any of the imported stuff. Many people from Victoria motored out and enjoyed the fair immensely. Its success was so great as to encourage the committee to make it an annual event.

HAPPY OLD AGE

Meet Likely to Follow Proper Eating.

As old age advances we require less food to replace waste, and food that will not overtax the digestive organs, while supplying true nourishment.

Such an ideal food is found in Grape-Nuts, made of whole wheat and barley by long baking and action of diastase in the barley which changes the starch into a most digestible sugar. The phosphates also, placed up under the outer-coat of the wheat, are included in Grape-Nuts, but are lacking in White Flour because the sack-coat of the wheat darkens the flour and is left out by the miller. These natural phosphates are necessary to the well-balanced building of muscle, brain and nerve cells.

"I have used Grape-Nuts," writes a Western man, "for 8 years and feel as good and as strong as I was ten years ago. Among my customers I meet a man every day who is well along in years and attributes his good health to Grape-Nuts and Postum which he has used for the last 5 years. He mixes Grape-Nuts with Postum and says they go fine together.

"For many years before I began to eat Grape-Nuts, I could not say that I enjoyed life or knew what it was to be able to say 'I am well.' I suffered greatly with constipation, but now my habits are as regular as ever in my life. Whenever I make extra effort I depend on Grape-Nuts food and it just fills the bill. I can think and write a great deal easier."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pica. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

A HUNTER AND HIS DOGS.

To the Editor: I would like to call the attention of the mayor and council to the following incident: On Sunday last, between the hours of 2 and 3 of the afternoon I was on my way to Sunday school, I met a man who was making his way rapidly toward the railway station. He was clothed in the garb of a hunter, in his right hand he carried a gun, on his back was a large pack, and in his left hand he held a chain attached to two large dogs. As he passed me in the street the dogs became somewhat unruly and he swore a great oath at them.

Now, I submit that this man was not deporting himself "in a pious and godly manner," as all citizens are required to do on the Sabbath day, according to the statute of King Charles the Second, now in force in this province, as decided by Judge Hunter.

As Mr. Gleason is to run for mayor in a few months as the candidate of the Voters' League, and by kind permission of Mayor Morley, this would afford him an opportunity of giving an object lesson to his supporters of the league, showing how rigorously he will enforce the provisions of that statute of King Charles, when he sits in the mayor's chair. He might, therefore, cause the vigilance committee of the Voters' League to apprehend this impious and ungodly person forthwith, and bring him before the council, to be reprimanded by the chairman of the health and morals committee, to wit: Alderman McAndrews, after which the mayor might explain to him the fine points of law in this statute of King

THRILLING FEAT OF A FRENCH AVIATOR

Further Particulars of M. Pegoud's Looping the Loop in His Monoplane Recently

A short time ago the Times gave a brief account received by telegraph of a marvellous monoplane feat by M. Pegoud, a French aviator, who actually looped the loop at a height of 3,000 feet. An Old Country exchange thus describes the performance:

M. Pegoud, the aviator who recently made the first successful parachute descent from an aeroplane, has accomplished another marvellous feat by "looping the loop" in a monoplane at a height of 3,000 feet. His object was to demonstrate that a solid and properly constructed aeroplane should be capable of being driven in any direction in the air, even upside down, without coming to grief. It is only a man like Pegoud, who is absolutely fearless, and on whom the mantle of the daring Hubert Latham seems to have fallen, that would venture such an experiment.

Starting from the aerodrome at Juvisy, in a Bleriot monoplane, he rose gradually to a height of about 3,000 feet. He then indulged in a vertical descent, and suddenly, with a stroke of the lever, he turned the machine upside down, and continued on the wildest kind of a flight ever seen, with the wheels of the aeroplane turned up, for a distance of about 400 yards. Then the monoplane, by his clever steering, gradually turned over like a shark in the sea, and righted itself in the air, after which it circled down to the ground and landed without incident.

Spectators Dumbfounded.
The spectators who witnessed this remarkable performance were dumbfounded with astonishment. Pegoud seemed to look upon it as quite an ordinary thing, and calmly walked to his shed. He is to repeat the same experiment at Buc to-day in the presence of a military commission.

The great part of the credit for this performance is due to M. Bleriot, whose monoplane, specially constructed with a view to absolute stability in the air, enabled the aviator to perform his first feat of "looping the loop" in an aeroplane. M. Bleriot had, in fact, announced that he would build a monoplane which would be so safe that the aviator could turn turtles with it, and fly in that position any distance, returning afterwards to the normal position at will. This experiment has proved that M. Bleriot's assertion was not an idle boast.

Interview with M. Bleriot.
I had an interview with M. Bleriot this evening (the Daily Telegraph Paris correspondent wires), and he was as modest as usual, seeming to think this latest feat was only a "natural forward step in the safety of aeroplanes."

"Is it a special aeroplane built for this purpose?" I asked him.
"No," he said, "it is just one of my ordinary machines with a 50-horsepower motor, and the wings and other parts of the apparatus disposed in the usual way. The particular device, which ensures, as it were, a sort of automatic stability, consists in a certain disposition of rudders and the addition of two levers. With the levers the pilot commands the whole device, and he may steer his aeroplane in whatever position it may find itself, whether it turns over accidentally or is driven to one side or to the other, or completely turned over by a whirl in the atmosphere."

A Daring Pilot.
"To tell the truth, I hardly expected such an immense success at the first attempt myself. I knew that what I had planned was good, but the daring pilot who has executed the wonderful performance did so at the first attempt. He had practiced ordinary flights only a few times with the machine, and he deserves the chief credit. I am pleased, naturally, that on the very day when I predicted, in an article that appears this morning in the Auto, that one could soon fly upside down, the exploit should be actually accomplished. I do not say that this will render flying absolutely safe, but I think it is an immense stride forward."

"Is the French army going to adopt these new machines?" I asked.
"I do not know yet," said M. Bleriot, "but the experiments which will take place to-morrow morning at Buc, where M. Pegoud will repeat his performance, will be in the presence of officers with a view to having three machines accepted."

CLERICAL GHOST-LAYING.
The rector of Asfordby claims to have "laid" a troublesome ghost by the pomp and ceremony of solemn exorcism. Archbishop Thomson, says the Daily Chronicle, once accomplished the same feat in a very much simpler manner. Staying at a country house with traditions of a family ghost, he was put up for the night in the "haunted chamber."

In the morning his hosts were anxious to know if he had seen anything "Oh, yes," he replied, "about 12 o'clock I heard a knock at the door. I said, 'Come in, come in.' 'And did he come?' 'Yes, an old saw-toothed man.' 'Yes, that is our ghost! What did you do?' 'I got out of bed and asked if he belonged to the house. He nodded assent. I asked if he were a parishioner. He nodded again. Then I said, 'I am anxious to build some new schools; will you give me a subscription?' He disappeared and I saw no more of him!"

ANOTHER EXPEDITION TO ARCTIC REGIONS

Yet another American expedition is on its way to explore the Arctic regions. The expedition left St. John's, Newfoundland, at the beginning of last month on board the S. S. Erik, its mission being to explore a section of the Arctic wastes, where Commander Peary on his first polar trip claimed to have located a new terrain, which he called Crockerland. The expedition is financed by Mr. Borup, a wealthy American, whose son, George Borup, now dead, was one of Peary's party on his famous expedition, which terminated in the discovery of the pole. Mr. Borup has equipped the expedition, and is sending it out under Dr. Donald Macmillan's charge. The destination of the ship is Flagler Bay, in Kane Basin, a section of the waterway that divides Greenland from the lands which are an extension of the Canadian part of the American continent, and the only navigable channel by which access can be had to the polar sea in that portion of the Arctic circle.

The Crook-land Problem.
After the Erik reaches Kane Basin and lands her equipment the party will proceed to erect a house which they will have on board in sections, and then, having completed this operation, they will begin the work of establishing supply stations between Flagler Bay and Cape Hubbard. This work they expect to complete in February, when, with a large base of supplies at Cape Hubbard, they will set out as soon as the sun appears above the horizon to cross the frozen ice to Crockerland, 100 or more miles away—if Crockerland really exists, for as to this there is only the testimony of Peary that he saw what seemed to be land lying west of his track as he went towards the pole.

Where Danger Exists.
With the summer of 1914 will come the breaking up of the ice in the sea between Crockerland and Cape Hubbard. This means that in all probability the party will be compelled to remain in that barren region and wait for the winter to freeze the ice and afford a passageway to their base of supplies. It will be during these summer months that an element of danger will be introduced into the expedition. Will these men be able to subsist in this region for several months on the meagre supplies they can carry with them and the game they may find there? Dr. Macmillan is himself optimistic. There is also to be said for the present expedition, that both in its scientific aspects and in its commissariat it is probably better equipped than any previous Arctic adventure. Included in the equipment is a complete wireless outfit, which will be erected at the winter quarters at Flagler Bay. The wireless has a range of from 1,000 to 2,000 miles, and it is expected that the party will be able to keep in constant communication with civilization.

The Food Supply.
A new plan for food supply has also been adopted. Hitherto the staple food for exploring parties has been pemmican, which is very finely chopped beef, with hard biscuits, and without tea or chocolate. Peary used tea, but Shackleton and Scott depended solely on chocolate. Macmillan will use pemmican, of which seven tons were taken on board at Boston, but whole wheat biscuits instead of hard biscuits, and chocolate thickened with ground peanuts will also be used. For fresh meat the party will depend on seal and whale, as other Arctic expeditions have done. The dogs also will be fed on seal, whale and walrus meat, in addition to dog biscuits, of which there are several tons on board. The expedition was fitted out under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History and the American Geographical Society. Both these institutions will receive specimens and data from the expedition upon its return. A fund of $10,000 still remains to be raised for the return trip. A relief expedition is to be sent for the party in 1915 to bring them back to civilization.

LUCKY LABORER.
Lancashire Man Fell Heir to an Australian Fortune of Over a Million.

A widower, who less than three months ago was eagerly seeking work in the town as a laborer, has left Bolton, Lancashire, for Australia, there to claim a fortune which is estimated at between $200,000 and $500,000. The lucky legatee is William Tunstall, a middle-aged man, and was left a widower between two and three years ago, with the care of a young family of three boys and a girl. The romance of Tunstall's fortune begins with his marriage in the quiet little Bethel at Laydock to a Miss Westwell many years ago, as it is through her that he now inherits his vast fortune. The wife's father, a Mr. Westwell, left Bolton for Western Australia nearly forty years back, and appears to have made a big fortune in a pearl fisheries and the silk industry. Little was heard of his progress at home, and nothing is known here of any living relatives of Westwell.

The Fortune.
I learn (says the Bolton correspondent of the Daily Mirror) from a friend of Tunstall's that he was told of the legacy some seven or eight weeks ago. To Mr. Tunstall himself things lie bequeathed a sum of £20,000 and a sum of $15,000 to each of the four children. The rest of his fortune is a vast property in Australia, a silk mill, and the testator's interests in pearl fishing, and the bequests to the dead wife. A con-

MANUFACTURERS are coming to realize, more and more, the importance of a well-kept, orderly plant, where buyers may be fittingly received and taken care of properly. Take, for example, the clothing manufacturer. He will arrange the various floors of his building so as to economize space, and at the same time provide ample room for the display of his product to the best advantage. When retailers and jobbers call upon him, they are shown into a commodious sample room, on the main floor, and the various styles are passed before their eyes, facilitating an intelligent selection and resulting in satisfactory business for all concerned. An Otis-Fensom Freight Elevator is a necessary adjunct to any successful manufacturing plant. It conserves energy, stops business leaks, reduces the cost of labor, makes available every inch of floor space on every floor, and pays for itself many times over in the economies it effects. Handling raw materials, facilitating prompt shipments and raising the efficiency of the plant are only a few of the functions of an Otis-Fensom Freight Elevator. We want to hear from every progressive manufacturer in Canada who appreciates the value of efficiency and convenience in the factory. Our free booklet, "Freight Elevators and Their Uses," will tell you some mighty interesting things about an elevator suited to your individual needs. Write for it TODAY. dition of the will is stated to be that Tunstall must assume the name of Westwell. Tunstall came here to a farewell party on Monday last. "I was told by an official at King's Hall. "It was a send-off to the Rev. Harold Crook, our minister, who was leaving. "I wanted to see Mr. Crook," Tunstall told me. That night he showed me a will and some letters to a few of the leaders. They were all so excited that they can't remember the details, but stated that it is a fortune right enough. It is only a few months ago that Tunstall was eager to secure a job at the reservoir. Then he got a laborer's job. When he came in last Monday the only change I saw in him was that he was wearing a new cap—a shilling cap, instead of a sixpenny one. He had not bought a new suit."

The Right Hon. Horatio, third Earl Nelson, of Trafalgar House, Salisbury, Wilts, and of Merton, Surrey, the "father" of the House of Lords, who died on February 25, aged 69 years, left estate valued for probate at the gross value of £87,852 4s. 1d., of which the net personality amounts to £81,914 16s. 6d. His will opens: "I die in the faith of the Church of England, which I consider to be a true branch of the one holy Catholic Church, and I wish my funeral to be as simple and as exactly like my mother's funeral as possible." He made bequests to follow the Trafalgar estate of the following articles:

All the articles, including pictures in the Nelson room at Trafalgar House and usually known as the Nelson relics; the marble bust of the admiral by Ranson and Thaler; the picture of Admiral Lord Nelson by Gussard and Rigaud; Morton's copy of Horner's silver cup given by the company of English merchants trading in the Levant; the Patriotic Fund cup; the collection of old arms returned in 1806 as having been used in the war and presented to him by the Admiralty; the portrait by Sir William Beechey of the admiral's father; the portrait of Dr. Butler (the author of "Hudibras") by Sir Peter Lely.

THE DEATH MACHINE

By Harold Begbie, in London Daily Chronicle

Germany has been shocked, startled, and irritated by the publication of a little book called "Zienschlachthaus" or, as the English translation has it, "The Human Slaughter-House"—Scenes from the war that is sure to come. This little book, chock-full of shuddering horror, grisly with "raw head and bloody bones," nauseating with the reek and steam of a shameless, is described by Teuton Falstaffs as the morbid phantasy of an hysterical neuropath; but it has sold 100,000 copies, it is well calculated to wilt the buckram of German "Caesarism," and saner, calmer, finer work of its kind has never come my way. Let every grown man so dead in his imagination as to speak of "the glory of war," read this book, and for ever after revise his vocabulary.

War has always been a most beast-like, filthy, and disgusting business; the noblest of Homeric encounters, when hero faced hero, was not merely a fantastic method for settling international disputes, it was a dirty, ugly, and loathsome spectacle. Every blow in a man's face and every thrust at a man's body, however the poet may describe them, are beastlike and shameful. And when blow and thrust are aimed to destroy life, aimed to break through that covering of the body and tear out the spirit, that is to say, when they are inspired by that terrible spirit of murder, then are they not only beastlike and shameful, but devilish and infernal. It is beyond the power of Shakespeare to apparel war in any garment of beauty, or to dress violence in a seemly robe. The business of killing a man is hideous and evil.

Modern War.

But modern war is a thing viler than any dream. Consider one invention alone—the machine gun. What a marvel of mechanism one of those machine-guns is! You set it buzzing, and it spurts out bullets thicker than rain can fall. And the automaton licks its lips hungrily and sweeps from right to left. It is pointed on the middle of the body, and sprays the whole firing-line with one sweep. It is as though Death had scraped his scythe for old times' sake as if nowadays he had graduated as expert mechanic. They have ceased to mow corn by hand nowadays. By this

SEE IF THE CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, dozes sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

A GLIMPSE INSIDE

THE KAISER'S HOME

An English Visitor's Impressions of the German Emperor's Palace at Potsdam

I had the great privilege lately of visiting the magnificent new palace at Potsdam, which is the chief home of the German emperor, writes a correspondent in the Pall Mall Gazette. It is full of interest, not only because of its present association with the Kaiser, but also because it was the creation of Frederick the Great, who left his strong and somewhat strange personality impressed upon it.

For instance, Frederick hated all smells of cooking, so he insisted on the kitchen to be separate from the splendid edifice in which he lived, and to this day, I was told, the meals are prepared in this building and conveyed by an underground passage to the imperial dining-room.

The unique apartment in the palace is undoubtedly the "Hall of Shells," a most beautiful room, adorned with thousands of shells of all kinds. They have been arranged deftly in charming patterns, and kings and queens and princes have contributed additions to the great collection. There are grotesques in the room, and the whole effect when lighted by electricity is brilliantly fantastic. It was in this room that Mr. Roosevelt was received by the Kaiser, and he was amazed at the variety of the shells displayed on the walls. Not long ago a peculiar fish was added, the gift of Prince Henry of Prussia. The Christmas tree, which the imperial family still has every year, stands in this hall, and on it hang the gifts for young and old of the large circle of the Kaiser's household.

The dining-room at the palace is a fine apartment with very valuable paintings, but for historic banquets the marble hall upstairs is used. As many as 300 guests have dined at one time in this hall, so its extensive area may be imagined. It is 46 feet high, and the view from the windows is over the gardens of the palace, with a lovely vista of the long avenue, which is one of the features of the park. An enormous carpet, a triumph of manufacture, covers the floor.

In this banquet hall nearly all the sovereigns of Europe have dined, and the gold plate which is used on such occasions makes the tables unforgettable in their splendour. I believe candles are still used for lighting the hall on state occasions instead of the more modern electric light.

I was interested in seeing the emperor's smoking room, which has received lately some new ornaments—the fine vases which a Chinese prince gave to the Kaiser as a souvenir of his visit. The private theatre in the palace is arranged to hold about 350 persons. It is a model theatre, with provision for all the latest stage effects. Usually when the Kaiser gives his guests this form of entertainment, he chooses some light comedy or amusing farce. In this theatre, for instance, "Charlie's Aunt" provoked as much hearty laughter as when it was given in London.

The tapestry in the palace is superb, and the art treasures include pictures by most of the great masters. There are continual reminders of Frederick the Great in certain apartments, where little change has been made since his day. The gardens are planted with great taste, and the Kaiserine delights in the varied designs which a large staff of gardeners carries out so skillfully.

The Kaiser has his own private railway station at Wildpark, from whence it is a short ride to the new palace. The park around the palace has been increased during the reign.

Frederick the Great's Flute. Not very far away is Sans Souci Schloss, through which also I went. Its rococo style is rather a shock, but there is much to charm in the terraces and gardens. In the Schloss one sees the music and flute of Frederick the Great, and his remarkable little library, with its door, which serves also as a book shelf.

In the mausoleum rests the gallant Emperor Frederick, whom some of us recall as riding in Queen Victoria's jubilee procession, and by his side the Empress Frederick, the gifted and gracious mother of the Kaiser.

From the peaceful stillness of their last resting place one emerges into the busy streets of Potsdam, after a most fascinating sight of the homes of past and present royalty.

MANX TALE.

The man who carried my bag from the boat to my lodgings at Douglas, Isle of Man, was very loquacious (says a Glasgow News correspondent). At the foot of the steps to the boarding-house he confided to me that he preferred the Scotsman a thousand times to the Englishman, because the former was generous and the latter invariably asked where "the penny basin of soup" were to be had.

I think my appreciation of his opinion was reflected in the coin which I gave him for carrying my bag.

During dinner in the boarding-house I encountered an Englishman, and somehow the conversation turned on the characteristics of our respective countrymen. The Scots were mean, it would seem, according to my English fellow-boarder.

I bluntly denied the charge, and was about to recall my adventure with the bag carrier in the afternoon when the English critic interrupted me to say:

"Why, only this morning the Manx fellow who carried my bag told me the Scotlites are always asking him where the penny basin of soup are to be had."

UNPUBLISHED LETTER OF THOMAS CARLYLE

In Which Great Writer Describes the Woes of House-hunting

Writing to the Daily Mail, Dr. C. Hagberg Wright, the eminent head of the London library, encloses a letter written by Thomas Carlyle on the subject of house-hunting...

One is accustomed, says Dr. Wright, to regard the restive clothes-philosopher as but lightly trammelled by the ties of domesticity...

Chamorous Printer's Devils. Carlyle's letter, addressed from Craigenputtock, March 20, 1834, to Mrs. Austin, who assisted the Carlyles in securing a house...

"You are very kind and helpful (he proceeds), and yet it is almost cruel so to task your kindness with clamorous Printer's Devils who have enough to do; no need of other Devils to join in the hunt!

"I must have air to breathe; I must have sleep also, for which latter object, 'procul, o procul este' (Away!), ye accursed Tribes of Bugs, ye loud bawling...

The Chelsea Sage asks Mrs. Austin and "Lueykin" to secure the house, which they have described so hopefully, for Whitsunday if it is still attainable, and goes on to say:

"If you do so prosper there will then be various other inquiries to trouble you with, various minor arrangements to tax your kind discretion with. For example, what are the fixtures, beyond grates? We have window curtains, venetian blinds, etc., etc. which will be useless here, which might chance to fit them. The measured dimensions of all the rooms and windows (if you can procure them) will bring the whole matter before us. The general outline of the Housekin I already have, by assurance of imagination, a sunk story, three raised ones, the little bed-quilt of canvas before the house, or behind it, as it shall please the Fates. You must, on the whole, consent to consider us as a Brother and Sister in this matter, and freely lend us your head as well as your affection.

"My Dame" and the Carpets. "My Dame bids me say that as to Carpets (since those here, not, indeed, of great value, will go to waste if left), nothing can be decided till we know the sizes, and, according to your judgment, the quality and cheapness. The only thing that will be certain, of that sort, is perhaps a fixture already, some sort of wax-cloth for a lobby.

"And now if the Ladyday Pretender only find himself thrown out, as we pray the Heavens he may! In the other case, we will still console ourselves with the Scotch adage: 'As good fish as the sea as ever came out of it.' which, if it have served for broken-hearted Scotch Westers, and healed them more than once, may well do for us. 'Und damit Gott befohlen' (God be with you.)"

"Bodine" of London. In his conclusion, Carlyle says: "I look to London with bodine of a huge, dim, most varied character. In me is little hope, or only hope of a kind that I call 'desperate': a hope that recognizes all earthly things to be 'Lug und Trug' (lie and fraud), and yet under them, and symbolically hid 'in them, are 'Ewiges und Wahres' (the eternal and the true); of this same desperate hope I have for many years (God be thanked for it!) never been bereft, nay, on the whole grown full and fuller of it. For the present I lie quite becalmed; not calm, alas, that is a very different matter."

THE GREAT M'KISH.

I remember one London critic telling me, writer E. N. in the Birmingham Post, how he had wired to a Glasgow paper the news that the great Nicksch had arrived and would conduct the London Symphony Orchestra on such and such a date. The telegraph operator, as usual, spelt the unfamiliar name along the line of least resistance. The Glasgow subscriber, not being a musical man, had never heard of Nicksch; but as the adjective "great" was prefixed to the name, he naturally assumed that he must be a Scotchman; so the Glasgow public was informed the next day that the great McKish had arrived in London.

I remember also a London colleague being reduced to a state of collapse by discovering that he had been made to say that Mr. Andrew Black had sung "Nincini, Andrew" instead of "Non plus andrui."

MAY RENDER WAR AN IMPOSSIBILITY

A Terrible Invention by an Italian Engineer; Exploding Torpedoes by Rays

Paris, Sept. 1.—Sensational accounts have appeared within the last few days of a terrible invention, which, it is said, should render war impossible by the use of infra-red rays—termed "r" rays.

The Intransigent has obtained the following expression of opinion from "an engineer occupying one of the highest posts in the French navy": "These experiments have been undertaken in the greatest secrecy. I cannot divulge their result, but I can give you a general idea. They have been conclusive. Powder cartridges were placed in iron boxes in such a manner as to be in contact with the metal of the enveloping box, and the recipients were then immersed at a distance varying from 600 to 4,000 yards at most, and not 14 miles, as has been said. M. Ulivi, on board the yacht, locates these recipients by means of 'return' waves. Then, by means of an apparatus which is his own invention, he projects rays sufficiently powerful to produce a spark along the walls of the metallic recipient. These sparks have not the length sufficient to attack the explosives if it is slightly removed from the enveloping metal. It must be touching. It is, however, probable that in a short time, by increasing the power of the rays emitted, M. Ulivi will be able to increase the length of the sparks."

must not exaggerate. M. Ulivi's discovery is of especial importance as affording the means of getting rid of 'sleeping torpedoes' placed at the entrance to a harbor. It will now be possible, from a ship anchored at a certain distance, to explode them one after the other, but as between warship and warship, what more can be done to-day?

"On the day when the invention becomes known to all the navies, and it is known that all the navies in the world are employing this system, precautions will be taken. All explosives will be isolated from the metallic walls, Torpedoes, which alone form a mass liable to attack by the Ulivi rays, can be placed in the interior of the warship between a layer of material which these rays cannot penetrate. It is pure imagination to think of exploding the cartridges in the cannon's mouth. In the first place there is no time, as gun and ship move rapidly and the rays have to be concentrated with mathematical exactness. Moreover, at present, at all events, these rays cannot be emitted in sufficient sheets as would enable one to drown, so to speak, a whole vessel with death-dealing waves."

KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES DISAPPEAR

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of Croxone

If you are bothered with backache or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon. It is a positive fact that Croxone promptly overcomes such diseases. It soaks right in and clears out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder. More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate, long standing cases. You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results. An original package costs but a trifle, and your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time. Don't Drink Beer With Breakfast, but by all means take an ice cold, creamy Humber with your lunch, 10c per glass at the Kaiserhof.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

In the Quebec Gazette of September 19, 1793, appeared a statement that "Pere de Berrey," described as the "only surviving Pere of the order of the Recollets in Quebec, is to give up the church and convent of the order to be converted into an English church and residence for the Protestant bishop, Government." It was added, "will of course allow him a handsome annuity during life." This report was promptly contradicted. Father de Berrey was not the only surviving Recollet, and he and his monks continued to reside in the convent till 1798, when it with the church and some foreign houses was consumed in a fierce conflagration. The Recollet buildings were over a century old, but had been considerably damaged during Wolfe's siege of Quebec. In the later siege of 1758-6 American prisoners were confined in the convent. About the same time it was used as a jail for political offenders. But a pleasant matter to record in connection with these ancient ecclesiastical buildings is that more than once the good father lent the church for Protestant services "according to the use of the Church of England," as their brethren in Montreal lent their church to the Presbyterians.

Charles Fowlett Thompson, Lord Sydenham, governor-general of Canada, died seventy-two years ago today, September 19, 1841, from injuries caused by an accidental fall from a horse. He had begun his duties as governor of Canada about two years before, and had shown great tact, ability and statecraft in dealing with the many and varied problems then confronting Canada. Under his regime in 1840, the upper and lower provinces were reunited and he had already taken the first steps toward the working out of a system of real responsible government when death intervened. In the opinion of most historians, Lord Sydenham would have found a conciliatory way out of the difficulties, which were soon to bring about one of the most stormy periods in Canadian political history. His successor, Sir Charles Bagot, who assumed the governorship in the following October, attempted to carry on the Sydenham policies, but he, too, died before his work was more than commenced. The struggles for responsible government in Canada reached a crisis during the administration of Sir Charles Metcalfe, who assumed the governorship in 1843, and that of the Earl of Elgin. Among the many able statesmen who have governed Canada, Lord Sydenham is set up as a place in the front rank, and his sudden death was a great blow to the country.

FIRST THINGS

The first of the Rothschilds, founder of the great financial firm, was Mayer Anselm, who died in the ghetto of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany, 101 years ago to-day. He was the son of Anselm; Moses Bauer, small Jewish merchant of Frankfurt. His father wished Mayer Anselm to become a rabbi, but he preferred business, and set up as a money lender in the Frankfurt Judengasse. His business sign was a "rothschild" or red shield, and this in the course of time became his legal name. He negotiated several great government loans, and left a considerable fortune at his death to be divided between his ten children, five sons and five daughters. One of the sons remained in Frankfurt, and the others established branches of the house of Rothschild in London, Vienna, Paris and Naples. On his death-bed Mayer Anselm admonished his five stalwart sons to continue faithful to the religion of Israel; to remain united to the end; to intermarry with members of their own family, and to obey their mother in all things. "Observe these rules," he whispered, with his dying breath, "and you will become the wealthiest and most powerful of men, and the world will belong to you." His sons and their descendants have, with rare exceptions, followed this advice, and the prediction of Mayer Anselm's mundane valedictory has been more than fulfilled.

CHINESE EPIGRAMS.

Some striking examples of Chinese hyperbole are contained in a white paper issued the other day by the foreign office, giving correspondence on the affairs of China during 1912. Li Yuang Lun, the vice-president, writing to Yuan Shih-kai, the president of the Chinese republic, on the delay in forming the government, says: "It is as if a pyramid of eggs were on the verge of toppling!" "A policy of raising loans remains the only course, even as if one cured an ulcer by cutting the flesh away." "It was the fisherman who secured the profit when the oyster catcher's beak stuck fast in the oyster's shell."

Makes Ugly Hairs Vanish From Skin

(The Modern Beauty.) Unslightly hair or fuzs is quickly banished by the use of a thick paste, made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs not wanted and after 2 or 3 minutes removed and the skin washed, when it will be found to be smooth, firm and hairless. Rarely is more than one application necessary even for a heavy growth. Rubbing pyroxin on eyebrows causes them to grow thick and glossy, and if a little is applied at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger, the eyelashes will come in long and have a slight curl. Be careful and don't get any where so hair is wanted.

WED AT VANCOUVER.

Miss Zenie Dutton and Mr. J. Finerty
Left for Two-Months' Tour of California.

A marriage of considerable local interest was celebrated at Vancouver on Monday when Zenie, daughter of Mr. J. J. Dutton, 2431 Vine street, and Mr. J. Finerty, of this city, and son of Mr. J. Finerty, were united by Rev. Father Tavernier in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony took place at St. Augustine's church, in the presence of a large number of people. Miss Fuller, who presided at the organ, rendering the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party took their places before the altar.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a handsome gown of charmeuse satin, en train, and carried with shadow lace, her veil, which was her first communion veil, being caught up in mob-cap style and wreathed with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of bridal roses.

Miss Mabel Dutton, the bridesmaid, was pretty in lavender charmeuse with a black velour hat trimmed with millinery, and carrying a bouquet of Killarney roses. Mr. W. Finerty, the bridegroom's brother, acted as best man. During the signing of the register Miss Grace Heffron sang Gounod's "Ave Maria," and other music during the ceremony was provided by the church choir and the Misses Grace and Clarice Heffron, who sang a duet.

Later the guests repaired to the residence of the bride's father, where a delicious wedding-breakfast was served, and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Finerty sailed for Seattle, en route for California, where they will spend a two-months' honeymoon. The bridegroom's father, brother and sister, Miss Grace Heffron, sang Gounod's "Ave Maria," and other music during the ceremony was provided by the church choir and the Misses Grace and Clarice Heffron, who sang a duet.

REGIMENTAL ORDERS.

Headquarters, Victoria, B. C., September 18, 1913.
By Captain H. J. Rous Cullin, commanding 88th Regiment, Victoria Fusiliers.

The adjutant will attend at the orderly room from 8 to 10 p. m. every Thursday.

In view of the annual inspection of the regiment which will take place towards the end of November, the battalion will parade at the drill hall as strong as possible under the C. O. on the following nights in October at 8 p. m., October 7, 14, 21 and 28.

It is proposed to hold a school of instruction in Victoria, commencing in December, for captains, lieutenants and N. C. O.'s. All names of candidates must be sent by officers commanding companies to the orderly room not later than October 4.

It is proposed to hold a signalling class for beginners in Victoria, commencing about October 1, meeting once a week until about Christmas. Not more than three men per company will be allowed to attend. Officers commanding companies will send names to the orderly room as soon as possible.

There will be range practice at Clover Point rifle range on Saturday afternoon next at 1.30.
F. F. VILLIERS,
Capt. and Adj. Genl.

LUMBER RATES.

Nanaimo Board of Trade Endorses Resolution of Victoria Board.

At the meeting of the Nanaimo Board of Trade, it was resolved that the Nanaimo Board of Trade, in receipt of the following resolution, which was passed at the last meeting of the Nanaimo Board of Trade: "Be it resolved that this, the Nanaimo Board of Trade, endorse the resolution passed by the Victoria Board of Trade on September 12, 1913, asking the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to discontinue the arbitrary freight rate on lumber, shingles and millwork, which is manufactured on Vancouver Island, now imposed on these commodities over and above the Vancouver-New Westminster rates, and that this board will support the Victoria Board of Trade and the lumber and shingle manufacturers on Vancouver Island in every effort they make to secure those concessions from the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, in order that this Island may receive a fair opportunity to benefit from its valuable timber assets."

EXHIBITED AT GANGES.

Jameston Coffee Company Had Attractive Booth Which Drew Many Interested Spectators.

The booth of the Jameston Coffee Company of Victoria was one of the centres of interest at the fair at Ganges. Decorated with purple and white it brought a pleasing touch of color to the surroundings. Inside attendants demonstrated the well known brands of coffee manufacture by the company, Victoria Java and Koocha. While all of Victoria, and the Victoria manufacturers for the coffee, Salt Spring Island was called upon to supply the rich cream with which the product was served to the many who paused at the booth for a few moments to sample the attractive drink. In charge of T. P. Fisher, the exhibit was the first of its kind ever offered at the annual fair at Ganges, and it caught the attention of practically all who attended the show.

RETURNS FROM NORTH.

Sir John Craggs is Impressed With Summer Climate of Yukon; Was Secretary of Famous Hospital Fund.

Impressed with the magnificent scenery and the wonders of the north, Sir John Craggs, Lady Craggs, their daughter and nephew, who have been touring the Yukon for the last few weeks, have returned. Sir John and his party accompanied W. B. Close, president of the board of directors of the White Pass & Yukon route on his trip of inspection of the company's lines and services in the North.

Sir John is very enthusiastic about the climate of northern British Columbia and states that during his stay the sun was always mildly shining and the weather warm. Sir John Craggs was for several years secretary of the King Edward Hospital Fund in the old country.

FAMOUS ENGINEER AND DIPLOMAT HERE

Phillipe Bunau-Varilla Was One of Chiefs in Lesseps Panama Canal Enterprise

One who was associated with the first beginnings of the Panama canal, and who indeed had much to do with the settling of its ultimate destiny, was in the city for a few short hours yesterday in the person of Phillipe Bunau-Varilla, the great French engineer and diplomat. Distinguished just as much on the political platform and lecture hall as in the wider sphere of practical engineering and construction, Mons Varilla is one of the most famous sons of France. He unites the dreamer's vision with the practical ability of the most modern mechanician. It was he who was among the first to see what the Panama canal would mean to the continent of America, a vision which he imparted to the world on a thousand platforms and between the covers of that wonderful work, published in 1892, "Panama: le Passe, le Present, et l'Avenir."

Famous as he was as an engineer, he found even greater laurels as envoy extraordinary of the Panama republic to Washington, and his name will always be definitely associated with the treaty signed by John Hay, United States secretary of state, and Mons Varilla in 1903 by the terms of which Panama ceded to the United States a strip of territory from ocean to ocean, extending five miles on either side of the canal measured from its centre; also such lands as might be necessary for the construction of subsidiary canals and other necessary works. The United States was given full power to make all needful rules and regulations for the government of the territory thus ceded, as if actual sovereignty had been ceded.

The United States paid ten million dollars for the canal concession, together with a rental of $250,000 annually. Phillipe Bunau-Varilla is a native of Paris, which is now his permanent home. He graduated from the Ecole Polytechnique when very young and entered the civil division of French engineers. Later on he planned and directed the construction of harbor works and railways in Algeria and Tunis, and in 1884 became connected with the De Lesseps Panama Canal enterprise, work on which they had then been proceeding with for two years.

At his suggestion, many radical changes were made in the original plans. He spoke several times in the United States in advocacy of the Panama route. In the spring of 1894 he returned to France. Among his other remembered works as a great engineer, are the Congo railway, the West African Railway scheme, and the improvements of navigable waters in Roumania.
