

THE BOOSTER CORNER

I am the "Booster Corner"
Of the worthy C. I. C.
And when The Boosters congregate
You'll surely hear from me.

I'll tell you what is brewing
And see if you agree
When you scan this corner over
To find what you can see.

They talk of a new station
Near Interurban track,
And Traffic Regulation
To hold the speeders back;

And Sanitary Drainage
Seems floating thru the mind
Of enterprising citizens
Toward cleanliness inclined.

But what is most apparent
As the paper goes to press
Is the Campbell Booster Spirit
I surely must confess.

WOMAN'S CLUB GIVES PROGRAM OF MERIT

Only a bare quorum was present Monday at the Country Woman's Club to enjoy a program of great merit which Mrs. Mae Whitman, Mrs. Mary Lanphear and Mrs. Belle Righter had prepared. The members sincerely regretted the inability of the chairman to be present and present her paper and program, but the president, Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, very ably filled the breach and contributed an interesting part.

The subject was one of broad scope and covered a field of much interest—"Women as Social and Temperance Reformers."

In an introductory paragraph Mrs. Whitman outlined the special features that would be emphasized and introduced Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B. Anthony and Dr. Anna Shaw as leaders in the fight for equal rights for women.

Mrs. Righter then gave sketches of the lives and accomplishments of these great women. Mrs. Stanton was the daughter of a lawyer and herself was admitted to the bar and practiced in Boston. She called the first Woman's Rights meeting. Mrs. Susan B. Anthony was her cooperater and helper, was actively in charge of anti-slavery work in New York. At the age of 80 she resigned as president of the National Woman's Suffrage Association.

Miss Lucy Stone was another active worker for women's rights. As showing the injustice accorded women, when she took her brother's classes she was paid but half his salary, "which was quite enough for a woman."

Other social reformers whose work was considered were Jane Addams and Julia Lathrop, founders and workers in Hull House, Chicago. These two great women have exemplified their teachings by living them among the people they wished to uplift. Mrs. Addams has been consulted by and advised with by framers of state and national laws and is a power in the social and political life not only of America but of the world.

Another branch of social reform has been the suppression of narcotics and in this field Miss Eliza B. Ingalls, of St. Louis, has been a staunch worker and promoter of laws.

Prevention is much better than cure and so that need has been met by the introduction of scientific temperance study in schools, and the success of that movement is largely due to Mary H. Hunt and Edith Smith Davis. Miss Elise Hopkins pushed the work of educating the public along social purity lines.

California's work of social purity is greatly aided by the Red Light Abatement Law which gives an effective weapon for handling the white slavery traffic.

California has also an Industrial Farm for Delinquent Women and two bills are now before the legislature—one introduced by Miss Miller to transfer the women prisoners at San Quentin to this institution where there are proper facilities and an environment that is desirable. The other is a bill to turn this farm into a soldiers' home. A word to our state legislators in behalf of Miss Miller's bill may turn the tide in favor of the good work now being done and which can be increased.

Mrs. Lanphear treated of temperance workers, giving an interesting account of Lady Henry Somerset, of England, who has done such a wonderful work in eradicating drunkenness among the women of England. Her efforts were aided by the Countess of Carlisle. She and the Earl, the ninth of his line, were total abstainers, and closed the wine cellars of the estate.

Mrs. Kennedy's contribution was an interesting glimpse of Mrs. Frances E. Willard. She brought this well known character, whom most of us know only from the temperance side, into a more human relationship, showing her as girl and teacher. Altogether it showed what great debts the present generation of women owe these great pioneers and seers who spent their lives in unpopular causes to benefit their sisters.

CHRONICLE SHOOT SUNDAY, MARCH 18

The second annual blue rock championship and merchandise shoot of The San Francisco Chronicle will be held Sunday, March 18, on the Alameda grounds of the Golden Gate Gun Club at the foot of J street, Alameda. The shoot will be a handicap affair in order to encourage the novice shooters and a handsome silver trophy will be presented to the winner. In addition, there will be a team trophy and merchandise orders for other contestants.

Last year there were more than 150 shooters, representing all parts of Northern California and an even larger gathering is expected this year. Shooters are invited from any of the clubs of the State or they may enter as individuals. Entries may be made the morning of the shoot with the secretary of the Golden Gate Gun Club. Luncheon will be served on the club grounds.

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely thank our friends for the beautiful flowers; and the kindness and sympathy during the long illness and recent death of our loving mother.

INMATES PERISH IN ASYLUM FIRE

1800 Lives Imperiled as Manhattan Hospital Burns

New York—Twenty-two violently insane persons and three attendants were burned to death when fire swept a section of the Manhattan State hospital building, where 1800 insane patients are housed on Ward's Island. The fire was caused, according to Dr. Marcus B. Heyman, superintendent of the institution, by broken insulation of electrical wiring which resulted when the island was shaken by a tremendous explosion in the Hell Gate off Ward's Island, where the War Department is blasting out bedrock to deepen the channel.

The building burned was a three-story brick structure, more than fifty years old. The patients who lost their lives were all confined to ward 43, on the top floor. There were concentrated here the ninety most violent male patients, who are classified as the homicidal, suicidal and assaultive types. Seventy of these were saved, while twenty-two died.

In trying to save some of the remaining eighteen a task resembling that of attempting to lead frightened horses out of a burning barn—three of the attendants were burned to death. These were George Ade Emo, Patrick Gillman and George Reiss.

The loss of life might have been smaller and the damage less, according to Dr. Heyman, if it were not for the fact that the island with its 7068 patients and 800 employes, has a primitive fire-fighting organization of the village type.

WRECKED CREWS ARE SAVED

Snohomish Reaches Seattle With Tuscan Prince and Santa Rita Men Port Angeles, Wash.—The coast guard cutter Snohomish has arrived here with the crews of the steamships Tuscan Prince and Santa Rita, wrecked on the rocks of the west coast of Vancouver island, during the recent violent storm.

The men had lived short of the necessities of life for from thirty-six to fifty-four hours on inhospitable clinging places, to which they had made their way through violent surf.

REDWOOD CITY FACTORY SITES

Redwood City—Free factory sites will be offered to manufacturing concerns desiring to locate in Redwood City, if plans of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce at a big meeting here recently are carried out. R. H. K. Smith, secretary of the chamber, advocates a bond issue to purchase forty acres of industrial lands on Redwood City's water front.

POWER PROJECT INDORSED

Sacramento—Indorsement of the Silver Creek municipal hydro-electric project for Sacramento and its suburbs was given by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce here. It is proposed to spend $8,000,000 in the development of a power project to furnish electricity for this city and surrounding communities.

MASONIC GRAND COUNCIL

Stockton.—All Masonic eyes of California will be on Stockton the week of April 16th to 20th. At this time the Grand Council, Grand Chapter and Grand Commandery of California will meet here in annual sessions, and it is expected that 500 delegates and Masonic visitors will be here for the ceremonies.

CITRUS SHOW HONORS

San Bernardino—Riverside county citrus fruit communities took first place in all of the five sweepstake awards for the best citrus fruits in the thirteenth national orange show, repeating the feat of a year ago.

Lindsay won second place in both the grand orange and lemon sweepstakes.

OIL REFINERY PROJECT

So. California Interests Announce Los Angeles Plans New York—Authorization for the construction of an oil refinery at Los Angeles harbor to cost $10,000,000 was confirmed by E. L. Doheny. It will be for Southern California companies in which Mr. Doheny is interested. The first unit will have a capacity of 10,000 barrels a day, and this will be increased to 20,000 barrels and then to 30,000 barrels.

ENGINEER MURDERED

Los Angeles—Earle Remington, aviator and electrical engineer, was shot to death in the yard of his home in one of the most exclusive residential sections of Los Angeles. Circumstances surrounding the slaying and motive for it proved mystifying in early stages of police investigation.

CAMPBELL CELEBRATES ITS ANNUAL REUNION

Large Gatherings Greatly Enjoy Day's Events

PIONEER DAY

Trim up the lawns, and paint the fence,
Fling wide the old hall door;
Let welcome float upon the breeze
Just as in days of yore.

This is the day they homeward turn,
The dear old friends of ours,
To spend with loved ones, once again
The peaceful happy hours.

We love this day so tenderly laid
On the altar of memory fair
Yet a feeling of sadness tempers the joy
For each year there is a vacant chair.

Someone out of the old brigade
Has gone on to the other shore,
Someone is waiting to welcome us there,
To be united forevermore.

Then give them a welcome, royal and true,
From wherever they may roam;
Perchance they will come not here again,
Perchance they will journey home.

—Clara B. Baldwin.

In spite of a rather cold, sunless day, a large audience was gathered to enjoy the morning program on Old Settler's Day, which opened with the invocation by Rev. R. C. Farr.

Notwithstanding the illness of the chairman of the decorating committee, Mrs. C. A. Sutter, Mrs. E. R. Kennedy and some hurriedly recruited assistants had made a very attractive setting of the stage which was hung with green burlap and a large flag. Bright quince blossoms were mingled with sprays of almond blooms in large bouquets and others were trailed gracefully over the curtains. In the foreground were pictures of Washington and Benjamin Campbell, the two "fathers" which this occasion specially honors. Chairman S. G. Rodeck explained in a few words the object of the day and welcomed old and new comers alike.

The ladies who were to sing, Mrs. Floyd A. Parton and Mrs. Stanley Hiller, were delayed in their arrival so that their numbers were given consecutively after the address. Their selections were a group of three duets by Rubenstein, "Sweetly, Sweetly, Sang the Bird," "The Hunter," and "Wanderer's Night Song," and Passage, "Bird's Farewell," by Hilldach. They were accompanied by Mrs. Charles McKinsey instead of Mrs. E. P. Cook as announced, and their numbers were greatly appreciated.

The address of the day was delivered by J. U. Simmons, of Palo Alto, and was one which called forth many comments. The most of these were favorable, although many of the listeners were not entirely in accord with his views.

Taking as his theme "George Washington, The Progressive," he showed how, in spite of the fact that Washington is often classed as a conservative, based largely upon his farewell advice to the infant nation to keep clear of entangling alliances, he was, in reality a radical—not with the present day opprobrium attaching to that title, but as a forward looking, bold political adventurer, ready to stake all on a cause.

The gist of Mr. Simmons' address was that, as he saw conditions and needs, the United States should be in the League of Nations, not to intimidate with the mailed fist, but to be the big brother to the nations of the world—that the American people need the tonic of world adventure or we will die of dry rot.

"The hope of my heart is that Columbia shall sound the note of peace for the war weary nations of the world."

Following the singing of America and the pronouncement of the benediction by Rev. W. E. Eckles, a social time was enjoyed while the Boys' Band played a number of selections. Their work was highly commended although several members were absent owing to illness.

During the noon hour a number of groups took their lunches to the Odd Fellows Hall and had a "family" picnic, while great numbers took advantage of the cafeteria lunch served at the Congregational church to enjoy the day free of work.

An entertaining indoor program was given in the afternoon, the first number of which was a cornet solo by Edward Towner, leader of the Boys' Band. His number was heartily enjoyed and the audience would gladly have heard more. Two interesting talks were given by S. G. Rodeck and Dr. C. N. Cooper in which they reviewed the history of the valley and of Campbell, giving to the newer comers many a bright light on past events and very different conditions. Dr. Cooper referred to the beginning of our present high school, library and improvement club as "buds" and proceeded to open up these "buds" and show from what a small nucleus these thriving institutions have grown.

Several delightful numbers were rendered by the Ferguson Quartet of San Jose and a solo by Mr. Ferguson. Several encores were demanded and more would have been welcome.

The athletic program will appear in next week's issue, together with Mr. Rodeck's review of our early history.

NOTES

County Superintendent of Schools, Joseph E. Hancock, was among the visitors attending the morning exercises and taking dinner at the Congregational church. In the afternoon he paid an official visit to the Cambrian school.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Scholz, of Palo Alto, Miss Fern Brundage and Mrs. Geo. Garner Fowler (nee Winona Sawyer) of the Bay Cities, were guests of Mrs. J. D. Sawyer Thursday.

Among the many who returned for the day's festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allan and Mr. Francis Allan and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Snyder, of San Jose, former residents of Johnson Avenue. Mrs. J. C. Lloyd, of San Jose, was the guest of Mrs. Bibb for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Cook and the Misses Adelia and Gertrude Cook, of Hurlingame, were renewing acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Worden were guests of Mrs. Worden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Ross.

Harold Lancaster was among the "home comers" and lent his aid to the alumni baskets.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Palmer were out from San Jose shaking hands with many former Campbell friends.

One of the oldest native citizens of Campbell to attend the reunion was Mr. Aleck Hess, born here 55 years ago and a boyhood friend of J. Henry Campbell.

W. W. Reed, of Meridian Road, one of the old settlers of this community, was among the visitors here yesterday. Mr. Reed has presented to Campbell, to be placed in the new library building, a picture of a threshing outfit in operation on the site of the new grammar school building. This picture was taken more than thirty years ago when this was a grain growing section.

Mrs. James Hiatt and Mrs. Ida Thomas, of San Jose, were also greeting their friends of Campbell Thursday.

LOCAL CONCERN IN FINANCIAL DIFFICULTY

A committee of reorganization was appointed by the creditors of the Geo. E. Hyde & Co. at a meeting Friday. This committee is composed of W. G. Alexander, of the Mercantile Trust Company as chairman, Paul Davis of the Mercantile Trust Co., L. R. Sussman, of San Francisco; H. G. Coykendall of Prune and Apricot Growers; Chas. F. Wright, of San Jose; Chas. Beaver, of Yuba City.

Mr. Geo. E. Hyde stated that this action was taken not because of insolvency but that the relation between assets and liabilities was not definitely established owing to the market fluctuations. The expressions of confidence of those present were most reassuring because the liabilities were not deemed large enough to cause uneasiness.

Mr. Hyde said that the market slump of 1920 which caused complete failure of many concerns, had considerably weakened his firm's working power. Last month a big price cut in certain grades of canned goods on the west coast practically demoralized the market, thereby reducing the value, which brought about the action taken.

It was unanimously agreed at the meeting to release all claims to the assignees and hope of a continuance of the business by the present officers was expressed.

Mr. Hyde has for some years been one of the biggest community backers and boosters for Campbell. He was one of the promoters of the Building and Investment Co. which built our finest store and bank block. He bought and extended the Campbell Water Co.'s pipe lines and service. He opened up the Hyde Residence tract, laid the sidewalks and curbs.

Mr. Hyde has done these things for no profit to himself up to the present time, that Campbell might be a more desirable place in which to live. He has done more than this. He has given employment to an army of men, women and children who love him and his family as their own. He fills a place in this community which is beyond the purchase price of money, and the honesty and integrity of George E. is an established truth. Known as he is thruout this county such a vote of confidence as was given him is the logical recognition due a man of his standing.

W. W. TURNEY DEAD

Mr. W. W. Turney, whose funeral occurred last Tuesday afternoon at the Oakland Crematorium, was one of the early settlers of Campbell. He purchased the West ranch, at the end of Campbell Avenue and built the house now owned and occupied by Mr. Hagelin. He was connected with the Bank of Campbell from its earliest history till it was merged into the Garden City Bank of San Jose. Loyal, who was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Turney, died in South America where he was engaged in an engineering business. Soon after this, Mr. Turney sold his ranch and moved to Oakland, and later to San Jose. After a protracted illness he became helpless and was taken to the hospital of the Soldiers' Home where he died Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Turney were among the most active promoters of good government in Campbell in an early day and held the esteem of the whole community. Mr. Turney was a member of the G. A. R. at Los Gatos and retained his membership with this post until his death. Mrs. Turney has the heartfelt sympathy of all who knew them in their long residence among us.

Dr. C. N. Cooper, John F. Duncan, and Miss Adra Eaton attended the funeral services in Oakland, taking very handsome floral pieces from the Los Gatos Post and from old Campbell friends. The funeral rites were conducted by the G. A. R. and Relief Corps, with the assistance of an Episcopal rector.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CONGREGATIONALISTS

On Wednesday evening, February 7, the Congregational church held its annual meeting in the new church parlors. This was the first meeting in the church since it was remodelled so it was a very happy gathering. The fellowship supper was served at 6:30 by the Senior C. E. Society and was an old-fashioned New England bill of fare, baked beans, brown bread and pumpkin pie. There were close to 100 sat down at the tables and at the close of the supper the regular business was taken up. Rev. W. E. Eckles was elected moderator of the meeting. The minutes of all the church meetings for the past year were read by the clerk, Mrs. Shaw.

Following this, very encouraging reports were given by the different societies of the church. (Woman's Guild, Woman's Missionary Society, Senior C. E., Intermediate C. E., Junior C. E., Sunday School, Board of Trustees, Clerk and Pastor.) Then came the report of the Building Committee who have for four months had charge of the remodeling work which is now nearing completion. The large memorial window which will be placed in the front of the church is expected from Chicago in time to be ready for Easter and the dedication service.

The officers requiring to be filled this year resulted in the election of the following named persons:

Deacon, H. V. Archibald.
Deaconess, Mrs. Theo. Cutting.
S. S. Supt., Mr. Guy Merriman.
Clerk, Mrs. Lillie Shaw.
Trustee, J. F. Duncan
Music Committee, Marshall Ross, Dr. W. I. Merrill and Walter Stray.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

The first few weeks in our new home have been rather uneventful as we have been rather busy getting "settled."

There were a number of preparations made for Washington birthday programs to be given in the rooms.

The Glee Club has been working on some special songs for the dedication of the school, the exercises to be held in the near future, and is progressing very well under their instructor, Miss Mace.

LIFE'S LESSON

Philosophers will smile, and say
That "life is what you make it."
This may be true, but I believe,
There's more in how we take it.
We often gather thorns, although
The roses are around us;
So life is filled with grief and pain,
And sorrows that confound us.
Our spiteful words, like javelins cast,
Wound hearts that we should cherish
And in our carelessness, we leave
The helpless ones to perish.
Remorse then fills its bitter cup,
And we are forced to drink it;
And thus we spoil life's sweetest hours,
Although we do not think it.
Our selfish hands refuse the task
That other's load might lighten.
And we forget to smile the smile
That other eyes would brighten.
Philosophy may be all right,
But love is surely better;
Then take life sweetly, and you'll find
Time writes a kindly letter.

LOCAL BASKETERS ARE VICTORIOUS

Saturday the boys Hi quintet went to South San Francisco where the unlimited team played its last P. A. L. game of the year with a victorious score of 21-15. The boys who took part in the game were Walter Hulsmann, Wm. Murphy, Sam Reed, forwards; Tom Lumb, center; Breck Reed, Harold Shelley, guards.

The 130's also brought home the victor's laurels, 21-13, the players, S. Reed, Arthur Husted, Gano Eddleman, forwards; Will Robinson, Willard Farr, centers, Antone Bonnacorso, Jimmie Yamamoto, guards.

A small boy who was sitting next to a very haughty lady in a crowded car kept sniffing in a most annoying manner. At last the lady could bear it no longer, and turned to the lad.

"Boy, have you got a handkerchief?" she demanded.

The small boy looked at her a few seconds, and then, in a dignified tone, came the answer:

"Yes, I have, but I don't lend it."

RAIL MERGER ORDER PLEASES SHIPPERS

I. C. C. Ruling Held Victory for Men Who Pay Bills

The Shippers' Committee Against the Dismemberment of the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific system is entirely satisfied with the recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission continuing the present unified control and operations of the rails of the two companies, according to a statement by E. O. Edgerton, director of the committee.

"The shippers and general public of California are to be congratulated on the outcome of the hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission that has resulted favorably to the petition of the Southern Pacific Company for its continued control of the Central Pacific," said Edgerton. "The terms of the petition not only protect the shipper from a dismemberment of the system, with its costly aftermath of increased overhead and delays from two and three line hauls, where only one now exists within this State, but it gives him increased protection in his transcontinental shipments. It also means that the financial strength of the Southern Pacific system will be so well safeguarded that the public may look forward confidently to the carrying out of certain necessary improvements."

Shippers Active

"The Shippers' Committee Against dismemberment, composed of men who pay more than $250,000,000 a year in freight charges in California, was active in presenting the views of the shippers, from every possible angle, to the Commission. Its membership included the leading traffic experts of the State—men who spend all their time fighting for better rates and service for their shipping clients. Its activities were state-wide, and at no time did any sectional considerations enter into its deliberations. Its case, as presented to the Commission, was prepared entirely from the standpoint of the harm which dismemberment would do to the whole of California."

"In the opinion of the Committee, the Interstate Commerce Commission carefully observed the law and the public interest in granting a lease of the Central Pacific to the Southern Pacific. This public interest centered in California, for 76 per cent of the freight traffic and 88 per cent of the passenger traffic never passes Ogden or El Paso. That the California shipper had a great stake in this matter is also indicated by the further fact that 74 per cent of all the Central Pacific local business is handled in connection with the Southern Pacific, thus requiring the joint service of these two lines to meet the public requirements for transportation."

"It is rarely that the innocent third parties in a controversy of this sort have been able to present such a well-organized and studied case for the consideration of a public regulatory body as that presented by the California shippers to the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the outcome has justified amply their efforts."

The Final Sprint

Contest Closes Feb. 28.

The last day of the contest is Wednesday, February 28. That day closes the race; ends the final, breathless sprint. The next day, March 1, the lists held out until the finish of the contest must be handed in, or these lists will fail to be considered. Remember, then, to have all papers in by next Thursday, before 6:00 p. m.

Many lists have already been given to Miss Hagelin, the contest manager, and she is checking them over. Some of these strings of names are pretty long, too. The question is: will some of those who are still working get more names than are on lists that Miss Hagelin received earlier? In case of a tie, the earlier list wins. But even so small a lead as one more word will win for a later list. It is nip and tuck!

What fun the contest has been! What stretching of young brains! What diggings into the big dictionaries. The children have found "just loads" of words that they never heard of before. The work has been a good experience, one that the young folks will talk about for a long time, and will remember with pleasure as long as they live.

So the contest is a success. We are glad we started it. Because it is being so well received, we are encouraged to plan for other interesting things, which we will tell about later. Meanwhile, before we talk to you in this space again, the contest will be closed and the papers in the hands of the judges, E. J. Cuthbertson, Mrs. E. R. Kennedy and John D. Blaine. Their task is to find the prize winners. Who will they be? It's exciting!

—STILL THAT AMAZING BARGAIN IN CANNED SWEET POTATOES at 10c

—STILL LIBBY'S DELICIOUS VEAL LOAF at 19c

—STILL FRANCO AMERICAN POTTED BEEF, ONE OF THE FINEST SANDWICH MEATS at 10c

—STILL THAT GOOD CORN, SILVER LEAF, 2 for 25c; doz. $1.40.

—Last week customers tried one can of Sweet Potatoes and then ordered a dozen—were not satisfied with a dozen and so ordered a case. At that rate the supply will soon be depleted, and we'll have no more.

—The Sweet Potatoes and Canned Meats were bought by us at figures that cannot be duplicated—When these lots are sold, that ends the low prices.

Silver Leaf Corn is our old staple brand, due long ago. Shipped by water, down the Mississippi, it lay for months at New Orleans waiting for a boat through the canal. Delayed again en route by accident and fire, the goods eventually reached San Francisco and finally, Campbell. See Silver Leaf Corn displayed in our window. Take advantage of the introductory special.

Customer, ordering a second lot of a certain bargain offering, said, "I'm still looking for the nigger in the woodpile." Well, there was never "ary" nigger here, and mighty soon there won't be even any wood pile.

And we'd just as well pause here a minute and speak of store policies in general: John D. Blaine has been selling food stuffs 15 years—nearly four times as long as it is supposed to take to get a college education. Naturally, in that period a man should learn something of one business—in this case, retailing groceries.

To recommend only brands known of old, or to personally test new brands—to put over no "bunk" whatsoever—to replace or refund wherever human error or other mischance creeps in, and do it cheerfully—in a word, to "make good" absolutely—those are policies that 15 years' experience give strong backing.

Owing to the many absences on account of sickness the high school board deemed it advisable to announce a two day holiday for this week to allow for recovery of some of the sick ones.

GROWTH OF CALIFORNIA SHOWN BY COMPANY'S REPORT

That the growth of that section of California, served by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, during the past year, has been remarkable and indicates a large increase for 1923, is clearly shown by the figures issued by R. E. Fisher, Vice President in charge of sales for that company.

During the twelve months ending December 31, 26,407 new electric consumers and 18,998 new gas consumers were added. 2,655 electric ranges were sold and an increase of 42% over the previous year, thus showing the trend along that line. Thirty five new street lighting projects were worked upon; street lighting methods now being standardized and uniformity applied in all cities and towns served.

According to Fisher, the prospective industrial power business from new industries contemplated to locate on the coast has been instrumental in the sending out of industrial Heating experts of the General Electric Company, and the Westinghouse Company, to establish headquarters on the coast for handling the new business.

Fisher states that "The gas sales have increased 934,089,000 cubic feet or 8.1% over the previous year, with the annual increase per gas consumer on the system of 900 cubic feet."

World Has Come to Have Right Idea of the Real Washington

In the room of the Masonic lodge at Alexandria, Va., is a pastel portrait of George Washington, painted from life in 1794 for the members of this lodge of which Washington was a member by William Williams of Philadelphia. Washington was then sixty-two years old and was in his second term as President. This portrait is perhaps the most faithful likeness of him in existence. The artist, according to instructions, painted him exactly as he was, omitting no blemish. The marks left by smallpox in his youth are plainly visible. No wrinkle is overlooked nor subdued. The eyes are faded. The corners of the mouth droop. It is not a handsome face, and bears little resemblance to the idealized portraits of Stuart. Moreover, it shows that at sixty-two Washington was an old man physically. He looks in the picture to be at least ten years older than that.

Yet there is a strength and a dignity in this severely honest portrait that makes it more impressive than the handsomer ones with which we are familiar, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. One finds it hard to leave it. There are numerous interesting relics of Washington in this lodge room, but one comes back to this portrait again and again. This, one feels, is Washington himself, the real Washington, the man his intimate contemporaries knew. And seeing him there as he was, one feels that he loses nothing by this frank revelation. On the contrary, that scarred old face inspires more reverence than all the pictures that glossed his blemishes and made him something other than he was.

And it is no less true of his reputation, that reality is more impressive than fiction. Historical research and criticism have removed much of the glamor of legend and tradition that surrounded Washington. They have ruthlessly exposed his weaknesses, such as they could find. The net result of all this is a truer conception of the man, a better understanding of the vast difficulties with which he contended, a judgment of posterity that is based upon truth, and yet adds to rather than subtracts from our admiration for his personality and his services. We know Washington today—or we can know if we will but read—better than did most of his contemporaries, who were too close to the circumstances of the time to get a fair perspective. And we know him much better than in the succeeding years which tended to deify him, rather than to appraise him justly. We owe much to historical iconoclasm, when it has been truthful and sincere, for it has helped to make Washington more real, more substantial, and because, having done this without diminishing his greatness, it has established his place in history and in national reverence more securely and permanently.

A BUSINESS GOVERNOR

The people of California last fall waked up to the fact that running a state government is just the same as running any other business, or ought to be just the same; and they elected Friend W. Richardson Governor by an overwhelming majority against the desperate efforts of the political organization which had been spending the public money with reckless abandon. Governor Richardson yesterday submitted a state budget for the next two years, and with it presented a message whose principal points are set forth elsewhere in this issue of The Union. Anyone who reads it with an open mind cannot but be impressed with the fact that it is just the same as the man who wrote it—plain, honest, substantial, to the point and courageous.

The keynote of this message—one that Benjamin Franklin himself might have penned while considering the subject of thrift—is that state expenses must be kept below state income.

come. "As soon as the boy becomes a man," says the Governor, "he finds that he must spend less than he earns, or bankruptcy faces him. The state must practice the same philosophy." There is Richardson's flag, hoisted to the topmast and nailed there; and unless the people of the state listen to the false advice of some buccaneer crew which opposes Richardson, that flag is going to stay there.—San Diego Union.

It was lunch hour at the lime works, and Pat's two buddies, deciding to play a little joke on him during his absence, drew the features of a donkey upon the back of his coat, which he had left behind. In due time Pat returned, and presently hove in sight bearing the lime-decorated coat.

"What's the trouble, Pat?" asked one, trying to appear indifferent. "Nothing much," replied Pat, equally indifferent; "only I'd like to know which one of yez wiped your face on me coat."

Linking the Memorials

Two memorial tributes to the Father of the Country and Abraham Lincoln, now face each other in the most beautiful section of the national capital. This view of the Washington monument was made from the base of the French statue of Lincoln, looking through the central columns of the Lincoln memorial.

Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all. Religion and morality enjoin this conduct. And can it be that good policy does not equally enjoin it? It will be worthy of a free, enlightened, and at no distant period a great nation to give to mankind the magnanimous and too novel example of a people always guided by an exalted justice and benevolence. Who can doubt that in the course of time and things the fruits of such a plan would amply repay any temporary advantages which might be lost by a steady adherence to it?—George Washington.

NEW EMERGENCY AMBULANCE SERVICE

GEORGE ELIOT wrote "As our thoughts follow close in the slow wake of the dawn, we are impressed with the unusual sameness of the human lot which never alters in the main headings of its history—labor and hunger, seed time and harvest, love and death."

It is entirely fitting that a profession should have developed to care for every detail that perplexes and disturbs the family when the end comes to one of its members.

There is a funeral director in your community who merits your confidence and who has dedicated his life to a sympathetic and efficient service to his fellow beings. He realizes fully the desire of people in time of sorrow to be relieved of all necessary details, and their further desire for a character and quality of service that will leave the family with the assurance that everything humanly possible was done for the departed.
