Letter to a school
about work - undated

all the work is intelligent & there is a painstaking endeavour to cover the whole of each programme but there is not a high standard of dutifulness shown in such matters as writing, spelling, careful composition neat & clean keepers.

The drawing deserves distinct praise.

I should imagine that the pupils in this school were rather accepted as interesting & delightful than required to be diligent Multiple cause that too much confidence is placed in oral teaching.

Girls who used their books carefully could hardly spell so badly.

At the same time ~~intelligence~~ the intelligence & interest the girls show is very encouraging the faults I notice will probably disappear when the school is a little older, say in another term or so.
