

Excerpts from -
TORTURED CHINA by Hallett Abend
Published - Ives Washburn, New York, 1930

Page 64

Chapter 7 - Dissolution

* * * * *

If this visitor goes northward from Tientsin and Peking and into Manchuria he will be struck and puzzled by a sharp contrast. He will be in an area which, by comparison with China proper, is aboundinglly prosperous and hopeful. The reason for this sharp difference is that Japan has announced to all Chinese factions that civil war will not be tolerated in Manchuria -- but the tale of Manchuria must be told in another place.

* * * * *