POPPIES

Poppies in the wheat fields on the pleasant hills of France, Reddening in the summer breeze that bids them nod and dance; Over them the skylark sings his lifting, liquid tune— Poppies in the wheat fields, and all the world in June.

Poppies in the wheat fields on the road to Monthiers, Hark, the spiteful rattle where the masked machine guns play! Over them the shrapnel's song greets the summer morn Poppies in the wheat fields—but, ah, the fields are torn.

See the stalwart Yankee lads, never ones to blench, Poppies in their helmets as they clear the shallow trench, Leaping down the furrows with eager, boyish tread Through the popped wheat fields to the flaming woods ahead.

Poppies in the wheat fields as sinks the summer sun, Broken, bruised and trampled—but the bitter day is won, Yonder in the woodland where the flashing rifles shine, With their poppies in their helmets, the front files hold the line.

Poppies in the wheat field; how still beside them lie Scattered forms that stir not when the star sheets burst on high; Gently bending o'er them beneath the moon's soft glance, Poppies of the wheat fields on the ransomed hills of France.

Peace Envoys Ask Country to Take Loan

American Delegates in Paris Send Victory Message to Nation

Four members of the American peace mission in France, Secretary of State Robert Lansing, Col. E. M. House, General Tasker N. Bliss and Henry White, have sent this message to the American people urging support of the Victory Loan: "TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE: "We have had the opportunity here in France to see and realize the magnitude of the accomplishment of our country in this war and the magnificent spirit with which this great task has been carried through to a triumphant issue. "What has been done and what remains to be done before normal conditions are restored demand your continued and united support with the same spirit of self sacrifice and of determination as that which was manifested by the nation while the German armies faced our men at the Marne, and in the Champagne, at St. Mihiel and in the Argonne. We must not relax our efforts until every soldier of the republic is landed on the soil of America. "To finish this mighty task imposes upon the government of the United States a great financial burden. The Victory Liberty Loan must thrive. If it should fail it would indicate that the Nation is willing to leave its task uncompleted. "To secure the ideals for which Americans fought and died this great demand on national patriotism and united effort should meet a generous and universal response. Let us do our duty to the end, "ROBERT LANSING, "HENRY WHITE, "E. M. HOUSE, "T. N. BLISS."

And then those California Sardines in bouillon—mighty good!—at 10c.

Now about canned Shad. Don't try to use this fish just as it comes from the can. You'll probably be disappointed if you do. But work the fish into a made dish; fish balls, say, or a chowder; or have it scalloped and topped with a sauce.

A fifteen-ounce can of boneless fish-meat for 10c! It's a tempting price.

BOY SCOUTS

CALL FOR SOLDIER LEADERS

Recognizing in the program of the Boy Scouts of America one of the greatest movements toward the making of good citizens, and training soldiers in their fundamental requirements, the war department of the United States has issued an official circular designed to assist in the present nation-wide campaign to secure a large number of new scout leaders.

The circular is signed by Gen. Peyton C. March, chief of staff, by order of Secretary of War Baker, and carries the official stamp of Adj. Gen. P. C. Harris.

This is the highest official honor paid the Boy Scouts since congress granted the organization a federal charter on June 15, 1916, and in the same month, under section 125 of the army reorganization law, the Boy Scouts of America were given permission to wear uniforms similar to those worn by the men of the United States army.

The circular reads as follows:

"SCOUTMASTERS FOR THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA:"

"A request has been received by the war department from the chief of the Boy Scouts of America for assistance in the matter of obtaining the services of officers and enlisted men returning from overseas as scoutmasters.

"The attention of returning army officers and enlisted men who have the necessary qualifications is directed to the opportunity which the boy scouts affords for them to further serve their country after discharge.

"The war department is in full accord with the purposes of this movement and desires to assist. It is felt that the co-operation of a large number of officers and enlisted men who have seen service in France will inspire the boys with patriotism and a spirit of devotion to their country as nothing else can do.

"This circular will be brought to the attention of officers and men at demobilization camps."

BOY SCOUTS SAVE CRACOW.

The thrilling story of how the boy scouts of Cracow saved their city, Poland's most ancient and noblest center, was made public in Washington by Polish agents.

Although the famous boy scout movement brought invaluable aid to the allies, particularly in England, the records of the international organization bear no brighter or more courageous example of heroism than that of the Polish boys who shouldered rifles and guarded the ancient hearths of their fathers.

When the Austrian empire fell, the Austrian officials and soldiers in Cracow vanished at once. The city was left without leadership.

It was then that two scoutmasters, trained as officers, rallied the boy scouts. They were assigned to fixed posts and within a few hours were policing the city with a military precision and dash that soon checked all efforts at looting and lawlessness.

The boys guarded the public buildings, military depots and other points, including stores of high explosives which were sufficient to have wrecked the city should they have fallen into the hands of the reds.

THE SCOUT IS TRUSTWORTHY.

The quality of trustworthiness is the one that all business men are looking for in their help. If the boss tells a fellow to do something he wants to know that when the times comes the job will be done.

It is the fellow who is easy with his promises but short on his performances that causes more delay and disappointment and trouble generally than any other.

Money or property can be replaced or made good, but time—life—once gone is gone and there is no return possible. Scouts should be careful of their promises; make them carefully and keep them religiously.

DOINGS OF THE BOY SCOUTS.

Wilson McNair, a boy scout of Lewisburg, W. Va., rescued an eight-year-old boy from in front of a passenger train.

During a recent hike on Staten Island the scouts of Bayonne, N. J., discovered a forest fire about a quarter of a mile from the road. The whistle sounded for action and every scout was in a few minutes busy fighting the fire, which they soon extinguished.

The death knell has sounded for all prairie dogs living within five miles of Denver according to plans made by the boy scouts. They plan to poison the little animals and convert the fat into soap grease.

SEEING ROME FROM DIRIGIBLE

Correspondent Gives Interesting Description of Trip Over Eternal City.

WONDERFUL SCENE UNFOLDS

Plan to Make Aerial Tours of City an Attractive Feature for Visitors When Normal Conditions Return—Trip Is Marvelous Experience.

By LLOYD ALLEN, Western Newspaper Union Staff Correspondent.

Rome.—When you make that long promised European trip to see the great battlefields of France and Italy and get to Rome you will undoubtedly have the opportunity of inspecting the Eternal City from the deck of a dirigible.

By the time Europe has set its house in order and has recovered sufficiently from war to make tourists comfortable Rome will be featuring an aerial tour of the city which no one will care to miss, even though the cost of the trip may be something like $20.

Instead of lumbering through the streets in the old-time rubberneck wagons, or in a taxi, you will be able to lounge comfortably in well padded seats of an airship and see at fairly close range the layout of Rome with its glories of ancient and modern architecture and at the same time feel perfectly safe, because a dirigible moves along with even less vibration than a Pullman sleeper or American parlor car.

I have just landed from such an inspection of Rome. Except for a few moments' uneasiness while the dirigible was leaving the ground the trip was a marvelous experience and almost absolutely free from any anxious moments, even though the big ship sailed along 2,000 feet in the air at times. It was a war craft, built for scout duty, and capable of carrying 20 persons and was nothing like the comfortable passenger airships that are now being planned and which will soon be in actual operation not only in Rome but in other European capitals as well.

The big factories and the men who designed these ships are now turning their thoughts to the possibilities of passenger traffic and they know that their best customers during the days of enormous tourist traffic that are to come. In Italy, as well as France and England, it is taken for granted that the day of air travel is here.

No Chance for Civilians Now. Just now, of course, civilians find it impossible to fly over Rome, or even visit Rome for that matter, unless they have special business there. All transportation facilities are being used to demobilize sections of the armies and there is general congestion of railroads and hotels. But this reconstruction period is not expected to last many months.

As guests of the Italian government and armed with a special permit to fly, our party of American newspaper men, eight in number, were taken up at mid-afternoon for a one-hour flight in which our ship did a figure-eight course over Rome, flying directly above the magnificent structure of St. Peter's, the Quirinal palace, the Coliseum and the newer monumental edifice in white marble and gold that has been erected to commemorate the creation of new Italy, the vast edifice of simple and severe architecture of the monument to Victor Emmanuel II.

In automobiles we were rushed out of Rome through the ancient city walls, some of which were built during the days of the old Roman republic, across the gardenlike campagna of green fields and flocks of sheep to an immense airdrome in the prairie land. The whole of the interior was one vast room in which three dirigibles were moored safe from rain and storm.

MADE RECORD ALTITUDE FLIGHTS

Captain Lang, R. A. F., and Lieutenant Blowers, observer, who made a world's record altitude flight in a British biplane equipped with a single engine. They reached the unprecedented height of 30,500 feet, or six miles up, at Matsham, England.

By means of a portable staircase on wheels we climbed into the swinging basket of the dirigible and took places where we could find them around the three gasoline engines, 12-cylinder Fiats, each attached to a separate propeller.

Leather coats lined with sheepskin were distributed, although the weather on the ground was springlike. Seven Italian army men composed the crew of the ship. The officers used megaphones at times to shout orders to the crew and to communicate with the small army of soldiers that held the guide ropes on the ground.

The final sand bags were thrown from a pile on deck and the ship started ascending without a tremor. Unless one looked at the ground the sensation of moving was not noticeable.

I watched for a few moments the manner in which a gas engine man tuned up one of the three motors aboard, and was startled a few seconds later to find that we had moved skyward about 300 feet.

The hundred odd helpers on the ground had already been dwarfed into mere pygmies. The Roman campaign with the mountains in the distance, was unfolding into a vast panorama. We continued to ascend to more than 1,000 feet, moving all the time with increased speed toward the city of Rome, ten miles away.

Panorama of Rome. At a speed of 40 to 50 miles an hour we sped over farmhouses and ruins of the Apian way toward the city. Within five minutes the miles of arched stone aqueducts that stretch from Rome to the mountains had been passed and we were in the outskirts of the town with the River Tiber just ahead threading the solidly packed rows of houses like a dull blue ribbon.

They tell you in Rome that the most satisfactory view of the wrecked Coliseum, where the Caesars used to murder Christians by the hundred and where the gladiatorial combats of the old days were held, may be had by moonlight.

However, a much better idea of the Coliseum and its size can be obtained by viewing it from the air. From 1,000 to 1,500 feet above earth you can get a better estimate of its size, and as you float by you have to scrutinize closely to notice the damage time has brought to walls and arena.

Near the Coliseum the other ruins are less distinguishable. They are too small to stand out in the panorama. The palace of Augustus is a mere pile of bricks. The world-famous Palatine hill near by is to all appearances an irregular strip of brick-strewn meadowland and loses all of the grandeur that the fanciful tourist, on foot among the ruins, is able to reconstruct from his imagination.

WAR STAMP IS BRITISH IDEA

Washington.—An interesting comparison between the systems of War Savings stamps in Great Britain and America is made by the savings division of the United States treasury.

England had been selling War Savings certificates for more than a year before this attractive form of investment was offered to the people of the United States. This country has had the advantage of the Britons' experience in this field, and while the two savings stamps are alike in most respects, there are a few interesting differences.

The British War Savings stamp is dated when purchased and is due exactly five years from that date. This enables them to sell the certificates at a profit of the same—15s. 6d. ($3.83). The American War Savings stamps are issued in annual series, and each series has a uniform date of issuance and of maturity. The present rate is kept uniform by increasing the purchase price one cent each month. This means that all of the 1919 War Savings stamps will mature in January, 1924, while in three or four years British War Savings stamps will begin coming up for redemption in varying amounts each day.

The British System. The British have developed the system of purchasing the regular sixpence postage stamps, which are pasted on a card until 31 are obtained. Then the card is exchanged for a War Savings certificate. Americans, on the other hand, can purchase a 25-cent Thrift stamp, and thus gradually accumulate the required 16 stamps necessary to purchase a War Savings stamp, adding, of course, the necessary amount according to the month, namely, 12 cents for January or 23 cents for December.

War Savings societies, or associations as the British term them, are very numerous in the British Isles. Each person affiliated with the association contributes either a fixed sum or any amount he can at regular intervals, say, each week. Whenever the secretary finds 15s. 6d. or more in the treasury he immediately purchases one or more War Savings certificates for his society, so that the certificates begin to draw interest. As soon as a number of persons have completed their payments it is customary to draw lots for the advantage of the earliest dated certificates in the association treasury. Thus, the lucky person may obtain a certificate which has been accumulating interest for weeks possibly, while the last stamp drawn will, of course, be only a few days old.

Exempt From Taxation. Both British Savings certificates and American War Savings stamps are exempt from taxation, and for this and other reasons there is a limitation to the amount that may be held by one individual. In the early war days in England persons with income exceeding $1,500 were not permitted to buy Savings stamps. This condition was later changed so that anyone may hold Savings certificates up to about $2,500 maturity value. In the United States one individual may not hold more than $1,000 of any one series. In both countries there is no limitation preventing each member of a family from holding the prescribed limit.

On the other hand, the Quirinal palace, the Rome residence of the king of Italy in peace times, is notably uninspiring when viewed from the street. But seen from the air, the magnificence of the Quirinal is impressive.

Wonderful Scene Unrolls. To all appearances we were barely moving. Whole sections of landscape presented themselves smoothly and seemingly slowly. We had ample time to inspect with considerable care the larger points of interest from our vantage point in the steady basket, and it was only after landing, that we learned our speed had averaged 40 miles an hour. The distance above the ground was responsible for the delusion of slow speed.

The glories of St. Peter's, viewed from the air, are no small part of the joy of flying over Rome. It is only from a high elevation that one is able to appreciate the perfect symmetry of design that represents the best genius of architectural thought in Rome through four centuries under the patronage of over a score of popes.

Naturally enough the finer embellishments of St. Peter's are more or less invisible from the air. The famous Egyptian obelisk, brought to Rome by one of the old emperors, who utilized 800 men and 140 horses to perform part of the work and spent a small fortune in gold or the enterprise, is a dot in the landscape. The statues are mere blurs, the fountains are simply brighter spots in the landscape.

Trip Quickly Made. One of the disappointing features of a first flight over Rome is the quickness with which the trip is accomplished. You have no sooner gotten into the spirit of viewing things from aloft until your machine scots outside the city over the green fields again and you have groups of country people below gazing skyward for the ever interesting sight of an airship.

Once headed toward the airdrome, you will probably worry a bit about how efficiently the crew is going to manage the descent and landing. You commence to realize what an unwieldy thing an airship is, how sensitive it is to the air currents, how much it weighs, and, above all other things, how far away the ground appears. You consider, after a bit of thought, that after all it was an idiotic idea to fly while the airship business is in a state of comparative infancy.

About that time the airdrome, with its immense roof and sides of corrugated iron, is in sight. The pilots circle the airdrome and do a sort of figure six in the air. On the ground nearly a battalion of men are rushing along to the spot the pilot has picked for the landing. Sure enough, just as you feared they are dropping the huge machine just like an elevator. The ground suddenly looks very close. About that time you get your first slight jar; it is the crew dumping several barrels of water ballast to lighten the machine and stop the car. The jerk is less than the usual elevator makes when stopping for a floor. Had you not been watching closely you would not have noticed it.

MEAT SCRAP FOR HENS

Hens cannot produce eggs profitably on grain alone. The grain ration must be supplemented by protein concentrates. Recent investigations show that the source of protein also influences egg production. That is, protein concentrates of animal and vegetable origin differ in ability to stimulate laying. A series of tests have been conducted at the Missouri station to determine the relative efficiency of animal proteins, represented in experiments with meat scrap and sour milk, and vegetable proteins, represented by oilmeal, gluten meal and cottonseed meal, in rations for egg production. Feeding tests have shown that:

1. Meat scrap and sour milk are the most economical sources of protein for laying hens.
2. It is poor economy not to furnish the laying hen a protein concentrate of animal origin.
3. Vegetable proteins alone cannot be fed economically.
4. Twenty-five per cent meat scrap is a sufficient amount of animal food in a dry mash.
5. There is no evidence that vegetable proteins, alone or in combinations with animal food, increase egg production.
6. One pound of egg can be produced with every four pounds of feed if the proper ration is fed.
7. According to these tests, 100 pounds of sour milk is worth 5.4 pounds of meat scrap.

Average Height of People of the Various Countries

The Germans, as a people, do not constitute the tallest of the nations. According to the report of the Anthropometric committee of the British association (1883), of the nations of the British Isles on the average the Scotch stand first in height, 68.71 inches; the Irish stand second, being 67.90 inches; the English come next, 67.36 inches; and the Welsh last, being 66.66 inches. The committee figured the average height of other nations in inches as follows: American whites in the United States, 67.67; French, upper classes, 66.14; Germans, 66.10; Russians, 66.04. They award the greatest stature to the Polynesian tribes, 69.33 inches, and the lowest stature of any known people to the Bushmen of South Africa, with 52.78 inches.

First Written Almanacs Compiled by the Greeks

The first written almanacs were probably compiled by the Greeks of Alexandria between 100 and 150 A. D. Calendars are much older, the ancient Romans having proclaimed the first of the month, and posted a notice of its occurrence in a public place. The first of the month thus came to be called the Kalends from "I call" or "I proclaim." And thus the word calendar was derived. Probably the oldest calendar in existence was found in the ruins of Pompeii. It was cut upon a square block of marble, upon each side of which three months are registered. The first almanac printed in Europe covered the years 1475, 1494 and 1513, and was published at Buda, Hungary.

SHORT AND SNAPPY

All kinds of useful employment are equally honorable. A fussy man gets in his own way when he is in a hurry. Many proverbs are the wit of one and the wisdom of none. Even the chronic bore can help a busy man by not hindering him. If all mothers did their duty there would be fewer jails in this country.

New Words and How They Are Born and Find Their Way into Everyday Use

"Camouflage" is a manufactured word nearly as new to the French as to the English. You will not find it in your French dictionary. But, somehow, it seems to express its own meaning—all those devices which were used to hide gun positions, etc., from the spysnawks in the air. The word "commandeer" was the chief gift of the Boer war and is now most firmly established in everyday talk. The troubles of the "distressful country" gave us the word boycott. It happened that the surname Boycott belonged to an Irish land owner whom the authorities assisted to reap a harvest that the peasants refused to touch by sending soldiers on his land. He was the first man to be "boycotted," that is, "sent to Coventry" by his neighbors, ostracised, put off the map, Mackintosh, Shrapnel, Macadam, Maxim, Guillotine, Brougham, Victoria, Garibaldi, Gladstone and Lynch are all examples of surnames becoming dictionary words of the very commonest kind.

Mothers' Cook Book

The way is long, the road is steep. The path sometimes is hard to keep. There's sun and rain upon the way. We travel o'er from day to day.

Good Dishes. Onions are good wholesome vegetables which should be served at least twice a week in well-fed families.

Escalloped Onions. Peel and quarter six good-sized onions and boil until tender. Drain and put a layer of onions in the bottom of a dish, cover with a half cupful of cracker crumbs, a little butter, salt and pepper, and milk to cover; bake until thoroughly heated and the milk is absorbed. Cooked cabbage may be served in the same way.

Apple Cake Pudding. Cream a tablespoonful of butter, add a half cupful of sugar and three-quarters of a cupful of sour milk, one egg, two cupfuls of sifted flour and a teaspoonful of soda. Season to taste with any spice or flavor desired. Beat well and pour over layers of sliced apples, sprinkling on the sugar and cinnamon needed; have the batter on top and bake. Serve with bits of jelly dotted over the top, or fresh berries may be used as a garnish.

Filled Cookies. Cream half a cupful of shortening, add one cupful of sugar, one egg, one-half cupful of sweet milk, two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar and one of soda, mixed with the flour to roll. Filling—Cook together 20 minutes one-half cupful dates and raisins, finely cut, and one tablespoonful flour, one-half cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of hot water, with a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Cool and drop on the cookies after placing them in a pan; cover with another and bake. One teaspoonful of the mixture will be sufficient for each cookie.

Quick Coffee Cake. Take one large tablespoonful of butter and three tablespoonfuls of sugar, one egg, one cupful of sweet milk, three-quarters of a cupful of raisins, two cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; sprinkle the top with sugar and cinnamon and bake 30 minutes in a sheet. To be eaten warm.

Apple Foam. Peel and slice six apples and cook until tender in a little water; sweeten to taste and cool. Beat the white of an egg with lemon flavoring, one teaspoonful, and beat into the sauce. Beat until stiff.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused back ache and headaches. and my troubles caused by that weakness are a thing of the past. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. J. A. ROHRBERG, 620 Knapp St., N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Women who suffer from any form of weakness, as indicated by displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues," should accept Mrs. Rohrberg's suggestion and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a thorough trial.

For over forty years it has been correcting such ailments. If you have mysterious complications write for advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

CALOMEL SELDOM SOLD HERE NOW

Nasty drug salivates, makes you sick and you lose a day's work.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason—Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs but a few cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.—Adv.

Why French Girls Prefer To Wed Yanks Instead of Natives of Own Country

To win an American husband seems to be the ideal of more than 40 per cent of the Parisian young women. At all events that is the result of an inquiry conducted by L'Oeuvre, a Paris daily newspaper which publishes a series of letters setting forth the reasons that have guided the writers to give preference to Americans over their compatriots.

Those who would rather marry Frenchmen base their predilection largely on patriotic grounds, but a large percentage of young French women confess to a wholehearted admiration of the average American's breezy good humor and courtesy of manner toward the other sex.

Several French girls who have had opportunity to observe American home life appreciate the easy camaraderie between the sexes, and they come to the conclusion that a good comrade must make a good husband.

Some fair writers say that French lovers are given to talking overmuch and are too fussy about their personal appearance.

Aerial Tank. An aerial tank has been invented and put into practical use by Italian soldiers who have astounded the world by their extraordinary feats in mountain warfare. An Austrian machine gun emplacement was so situated on a mountain side that it poured a harassing fire into an Italian post. The Austrian position was unassailable by ordinary means, but it was necessary that it be wiped out. A "Teleferic" car, many of which are operated by the Italians across chasms and up mountain sides, was armored and equipped with machine guns. Volunteers were called for, and from the many who responded two were chosen to man the guns. This improvised aerial dreadnaught was then swung out across the valley. After one or two exploration trips at a dizzy height, the men in the car finally located the Austrian post and quickly put it out of action.

Your Granulated Eyelids, Eyes Inflamed by Wind or Dust and Expanding to Sun, Relieved by Murine Eye Remedy.

Many of the black gowns are of lace—and sometimes black chintilly is mounted over white satin. This is very distinguished when the lace is new, but chintilly which is an heirloom should never be put over white or any light tint. The old, if rare, lace tears easily, and any mending of the fabric, however delicately done, shows up unpleasantly against the light lining. It is always best to mount valuable old laces over a "drop" of tulle or to veil the lace frock with tulle if this can be done without spoiling the design and the lines.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezeone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain. A small bottle of freezeone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezeone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.—Adv.

Japan's Urban Population Rapidly Increasing as in Other Civilized Countries

When we speak of Japan mainly as an agricultural country this gives an inadequate conception of the great strength of the urban population which is increasing in Japan as in other civilized countries, writes H. M. Hyndman in Asia Magazine. Apart from Tokyo, with its 2,000,000 inhabitants, and Osaka, with 1,400,000, there are five other cities which have together a population of 2,000,000, and there are in all 66 towns with a population of over 30,000 each. Moreover, the greater part of the larger cities and towns are collected close together in comparison with the total area of the Japanese islands. Railways now connect the main industrial and agricultural centers, supplementing the admirable water communications by sea and canal. This concentration of industry and improvement in transportation combine to give Japan a focus of material influence which can scarcely fail to increase her pressure upon China in time to come. A glance at the map shows how this long procession of islands from Saghalien to Formosa, lying like a series of wharves along the coast of eastern Asia, with its outposts and inlets, at Corea, on the Liaoting peninsula, at Kiao-Chaou and now at Fukien, gives Japan an enormous commercial as well as a strategic advantage in the competitive war of the near future, as compared with her rivals in Europe or in America. Never in history was so remarkably favorable a geographical situation in the hands of one nation, controlled by men capable of taking full advantage of it and looking to the future of Asia as in some sort the heritage of the Japanese race.

W. C. T. U. Notes
The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met with Mrs. A. J. Farley, April 16th with an attendance of twenty-two ladies. After the customary Devotionals, Declaration of Principles and Reading of Minutes, the order of business was taken up. The treasurer reported the sale of a quilt for $5.00. A letter was read from Miss Marie Vandergon, telling of the safe arrival of the family at Maple Lake, Minn., relating a number of interesting incidents and sending kindest regards to all inquiring friends.
The committee in charge of the Aluminum Demonstration reported a neat little sum gained by admission fee as there were sixty-five ladies present. Mrs. Merriman and daughters were given a vote of thanks for their kindly services. Mrs. Whitman, local key woman, reported nearly half the amount raised in order to have Campbell "go over the top." The Double Drive calls for a Million Dollars and a Million Members. This Drive speeds merrily on, tho, somewhat slowly. The treasurer, Mrs. Newcomb reported only seventeen new members since the 1st of March, but there are two months yet in which to secure the allotted quota, and enable Campbell to retain her excellent reputation. An article, entitled "Sound the Jubilee" was read by the key woman, telling some of the things which had been done by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to bring about prohibition. Mrs. Treat told of the earnest protest the Chinese Government is making against having the liquor business transferred to their country from the U. S. A. Mrs. Baldwin presented plans for future activities. Mrs. Richter read a communication from Mt. View, asking for the names of delegates to the County Convention, May 7, 8, and 9. The following were elected, Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Gilman, Mrs. Ella Kennedy. Alternates Mrs. Farley, Mrs. Hubbard and Mrs. Whitney. Mrs. Merriman had charge of the program. Topic "Americanization" and gave an excellent paper with up-to-date facts and suggestions. Others who took part were Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Farley, Miss Marshman, Mrs. Whitman and Mrs. Treat who in closing gave a clever, humorous recitation, evoking a hearty laugh. A general discussion followed regarding the opportunities and responsibilities in these reconstruction days and the rewards that will come to our country if American womanhood shall be faithful to her privileges. Miss Amy Farley presided at the piano when all joined in singing "Blest be the tie that binds," and "America." Adjourned to meet April 30 with Mrs. Baldwin.

Address by John R. Mott

At Carnegie Hall, N. Y. City

Growing out of the complaint that the Y. M. C. A. had charged higher prices in its canteen than had to be paid at the Quartermaster's Stores, for reasons which have just been stated, which, apparently, were at times not understood by the men, is the charge that the Association has been profiteering. This charge has been investigated on two occasions by the War Department, and each time it pronounced the charge to be groundless. Were all the expenses charged against the canteen which properly should be charged against it, such as the salaries of the thousands of men and women canteen workers, it would be seen that the canteen has been operated at a loss. Even had there been a profit or should there later be a profit, there has been an agreement with General Pershing from the beginning, which is stated in one of his General Orders and which is clearly understood by all concerned, that such profit is to be expended by the Association in connection with the various services which it is rendering the soldiers through its countless recreational, social, educational and other activities. The Association has not only operated the canteen at a loss, but has also given away millions of dollars' worth of free supplies in its front line trench work, or while the men were going into action or under other circumstances of special strain. Apart from the most generous provision made by the Red Cross for soldiers and sailors in transit, I know of no agency which has expended so much money on free supplies. It will be interesting to point out that, contrary to the popular impression, a uniform policy is being worked out by the various welfare agencies overseas with reference to the giving away of supplies.

The criticism that the Y. M. C. A. sold gift tobacco and certain other gift articles has been explained so many times to the satisfaction of all who have looked into the matter that it is not necessary to reiterate the explanation. The "New York Sun," which no one would call a special pleader, made its own independent investigation of this complaint and completely exonerated the Y. M. C. A. Its statement can be examined by anyone in the leaflet entitled "Criticism and Answers," to be obtained of the Y. M. C. A. at 347 Madison Avenue, New York.

Complaints have been made with reference to certain members of the personnel of the Y. M. C. A., as to lapses in character, as to inefficiency, and as to wrong manners, attitude and spirit. Whenever such charges have been made with sufficient definiteness to make it possible to deal with them they have been investigated promptly and any necessary action has been taken with equal promptness. The Y. M. C. A. could surely have no object in overlooking such complaints, for its one desire is to make its service of the Army and Navy as efficient as possible. It is an impressive fact that among all the criticisms of this kind which have been made in this period of criticism, charges have been made against only between thirty and forty different persons, and all of these have by no means been substantiated. This is a very remarkable showing when it is recalled that the Y. M. C. A. now has a staff of nearly twelve thousand men and women, the large majority of whom are overseas—staff numbering possibly over seven times as many as the combined staffs of all of the other welfare agencies working at the same points and in the same areas.

Some have made criticisms with reference to the administration. It would be strange were this not the case. The Association was called upon suddenly to deal with a vast situation involving many new and difficult conditions and, owing to the new draft law, necessitating the use of a vast number of untrained workers. The wonder of people most familiar with the facts is that the administration has proved to be efficient as it is, nevertheless, we have not been unmindful of its weakness and shortcomings, and you will be glad to know that valuable constructive measures were taken to strengthen the administration both at home and overseas. For example, in France we have recently sent some of the ablest members of the War Work Council to have immediate supervision of the work and workers. When I state that such men as George W. Perkins and Mortimer L. Skiff are members of this committee it will give instant confidence. Again and again the complaint is made that the Y. M. C. A. does not help the wounded. Those who voice this complaint are evidently ignorant of the understanding entered into between the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A., by which the Red Cross are regarded as responsible for serving the sick and the wounded in the hospital areas. The Y. M. C. A. is not at liberty to work in these areas' save on the invitation of the Red Cross. Now and then one still hears the complaint that the Y. M. C. A. did not work at the front and in real danger zones. The facts however, as reported by military authorities and others in touch with the situation have shown how absolutely untrue is such a charge. Only the other day it was pointed out that ten Y. M. C. A. workers in France were killed by shell-fire or gas; at least forty were seriously gassed or wounded; thirty nine more died as a result of wounds or accident or as a result of disease occasioned by exposure or overwork in front-line service,

Song of the Censor Man

Oh, I am the man with a mightier pen Than the chisel the lawgiver knew; The snip of my shears is more dreaded of men Than the sword that Napoleon drew, I foil the young man with a nose for the news, And I stifle the first feeble note Of the soldier who ventures to air any views That he never was paid to promote. Oh, its snip, snip, snip is the rhythmic swing Of my shears in the morning light, And clip, clip, clip is the rancorous way Of his voice in the starry night. I may strike from the calendar all of its dates, And I rob every town of its name, And scarcely a letter but sadly relates The tale of my terrible fame. Oh, I know all the secrets that ever were told, Till every unfortunate prays That the book of omnipotent knowledge I hold, May be sealed to the end of my days. On each written syllable, proudly I state, I pronounce benediction or ban; For I'm on the personification of Fate— The redoubtable Censor man! John Fletcher Hall, Sgt., Inf., Acting Chaplain.

Blocking Traffic

THE CLAIM IS MADE by persons who are in a position to know something of the facts that the opposition to the League of Nations in Europe springs from certain ambitious Imperialists who are deliberately planning another war of greater proportions and more horrible in its inhumanity than the one from which the world is now emerging. Among the masses of Europe, enthusiasm for a league to insure the permanence of peace is practically unanimous, except among those of Bolshevik belief. But there are some in America who, not being war weary, are co-operating, whether consciously or unconsciously, with the Imperialists and Bolsheviks of Europe. Certain interests in America have profited greatly by the war and it would seem probable that they hope to profit further by future wars. Of course they are against the League of Nations. Party politics, manipulated by certain congressmen and assisted by the influence of the press, lends itself readily to the influence of these selfish interests. We need to be on our guard lest the world should again have reason to suspect that we are a nation of "money grabbers."

Local and Personal

A request has come for the Red Cross to do sewing for the relief work, and the women are asked to meet at the Kindergarten rooms on Wednesday, April 23 at 1 o'clock to sew. As many as can be there should do so, and thus expedite the completion of this relief sewing. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Willett from Ceres and daughter-in-law and little granddaughter visited Mrs. Sutter on Wednesday, also her nephew Stanley Sprung Lieutenant of Field Artillery from San Jose, who enlisted during the first call. He has been at Louisville, Kentucky for some time but is very glad to be at home again. The Womens Guild of the Congregational church will hold a Social and Tea at the home of Mrs. William Coupland on Hamilton Avenue Thursday, April 24th. The names of the hostesses bespeak a good time. Come all who can, for they are fine cake makers.

and many had been cited or decorated for special bravery in their work in most dangerous positions. During the fighting in the Argoone seven hundred Y. M. C. A. workers, fifty of whom were women canteen workers, were attached to different fighting units, with which they remained in danger zone and frequently under shell-fire. There were also over two hundred helping the men under similar conditions in the Chateau-Thierry and St. Mihiel drives. (to be continued)

High School Notes

Do you remember that last year there was a Liberty Loan meeting at the Campbell Grammar School Auditorium? Do you remember that a great many patriots bought bonds—and no small ones either? Do you remember what an entertaining program was presented that evening? Do you remember that Campbell went "over the top?" Thursday evening, April 17, 1919, at half past seven o'clock at the Grammar School Auditorium, there will be a Victory Loan drive. The hall will be well filled with people who want to know why they should invest their money in Victory bonds. The chorus from Saratoga combined with the Campbell High School Glee Club—under the able director, Captain Festyn Davies will sing familiar songs, and the audience will be asked to join in the songs. Don't forget this meeting. The invitation is opened to everyone who will come. Everybody come. Show your patriotic spirit. Join in the songs and incidentally buy a Victory bond. Put Campbell "over the top." Come!

Volunteers for the American Expeditionary Forces

In order to release men in the American Expeditionary Forces who desire to return home, the War Department has called for fifty thousand volunteers for service overseas. According to Colonel John H. Gardner, U. S. Army, who is in charge of the San Francisco Recruiting District, which comprises the States of California and Nevada, this is a good plan, in that it will give men who did not get to go overseas, and those who desire to see service overseas an opportunity to serve "OVER THERE." Until order is restored in Europe and stable governments are organized it will be necessary for the "Allies" to maintain troops as an international Police Force for the purpose of preserving order. The minority in many of the Countries of Europe is attempting to force their archaic methods on the Majority thru Bolshevism. To prevent this the "Allies" may find it necessary to maintain forces of soldiers for emergencies, and this system is the method to be employed by the United States in doing their share. Enlistments of men for this "Overseas Force" are for the term of three year and immediate service overseas. Both men who have previous service and those who have never seen service may be accepted. Five thousand men for this force have been accepted thruout the United States since March 29th. A Recruiting campaign launched by the San Francisco Recruiting Party during the War, obtained this number of men in 2 months, California and Nevada have always been in the front with voluntary enlistments. AND THEY WILL FURNISH THEIR QUOTA OF THIS FIFTY THOUSAND.

Mr. J. E. Lawrence, returned Sunday night from Eureka, having spent a week in that city and the upper Humboldt country. The object of the trip was primarily to investigate the possibility of "bringing back" to serviceable condition a run down orchard of 130 acres. The condition of the orchard and other circumstances such as lack of help to handle the crops, and distance from shipping point, made the project inadvisable from Mr. Lawrence's viewpoint. The building of wooden ships during the past four years at Eureka has been the cause of quite a boom in Eureka, but that being a thing of the past since the ending of the war, there is a decided quietness in business except in the dairy line, in fact the milk producers have made fortunes and are retiring from business and leasing their lands to foreign dairymen. Once upon a time a manager asked George Ade if he had ever been taken for a minister. "No," replied Ade, "but I have been treated like one." How was that? "I have been kept waiting for my salary six or seven months."
