(b) Restrictions on acceptance of orders for, and production and distribution of general industrial equipment—(1)

General restrictions. (i) No person shall accept any order for general industrial equipment or commence production of any general industrial equipment in fulfillment of any order, whether accepted or not; unless such order is an approved order.

(ii) No person shall deliver, and no person shall accept delivery of, any general industrial equipment, except pursuant to an approved order; provided, however, that the provisions of this paragraph (b) (1) shall not prohibit the production and delivery, prior to October 1, 1942, of General Industrial Equipment in fulfillment of an order accepted prior to August 27, 1942 and bearing a preference rating of A-9 or higher; and provided, further, that nothing in this order shall prevent shipment of general industrial equipment from any manufacturer to any distributor to fill approved orders actually received by such distributor or to replace general industrial equipment delivered by such distributor to fill an approved order nor shall this order limit the right of a manufacturer legally to extend any preference rating certificate to secure material for the production of approved orders for general industrial equipment.

PART 1283—PATTERNS FOR GARMENTS MADE OF WOOL, SILK, RAYON, COTTON, LINEN AND OTHER MATERIALS

[General Limitation Order L-153]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of wool, silk, rayon, cotton, linen and other materials for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 1283.1 General Limitation Order L-153—(a) Definitions. (1) "Pattern" means the design for making a garment from any fabric, cut or outlined in the actual measurements to which such garment is to conform.

(2) "Master pattern" means the original pattern from which patterns for sale are made.

(b) Restrictions on making master patterns. No person shall, after September 1, 1942, make any master pattern the measurements of which, exclusive of seams, exceed the maximum measurements prescribed by General Limitation Order L-85,<sup>1</sup> L-116<sup>2</sup> or L-118,<sup>3</sup> as such applicable order may be amended as of the date of making such master pattern, for the manufacture from cloth other than wool cloth of finished garments of the same type as the garment to be made from such pattern.

(c) Restrictions on sales and deliveries of patterns. No manufacturer of patterns shall, after February 1, 1943, sell, deliver, or distribute any pattern the measurements of which, exclusive of seams, exceed by more than 5 per cent the maximum measurements prescribed by General Limitation Order L-85, L-116 or L-118, as such applicable order may be amended as of the date of such sale or delivery, for the manufacture from cloth other than wool cloth of finished garments of the same type as the garment to be made from such pattern.

(d) Communications to the War Production Board. All communications concerning this order, or any reports which may be required to be filed hereunder, shall, unless otherwise directed, be in writing and be addressed to: War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Branch, Washington, D. C. Reference L-153.

(e) Appeal. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him may appeal to the War Production Board by letter or telegraph, Reference Order L-153, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reason he considers he is entitled to relief. The Director General for Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

(f) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order or who in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

PART 1334—SUGAR, CONFECTIONERY AND SOFT DRINKS

DIRECT-CONSUMPTION SUGARS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Paragraphs (a) and (d) of § 1334.52 are amended, a new paragraph (e) is added to § 1334.52, and a new § 1334.58a is added, as set forth below:

by persons other than primary distributors. On and after March 31, 1942, regardless of any contract, agreement, lease, or other obligation no person shall sell or deliver direct-consumption sugars at wholesale, and no person shall buy or receive direct-consumption sugars at wholesale in the course of trade or business at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this section. These maximum prices are gross prices and include prevailing commissions, discounts, and all other charges.

(a) The basic maximum price shall be the highest price at which the seller sold such sugars of similar grade, package, and amount to a similar purchaser during either the period October 6, 1941, to October 11, 1941, inclusive, or the period December 1, 1941, to December 6, 1941, inclusive. The seller may select either period at his option. However, once having selected a period, the seller must use the period selected for all purposes of this section. The maximum price for sugars acquired subsequently at a higher net purchase cost shall be determined by adding to the basic maximum price the amount, if any, by which the said higher net purchase cost exceeds the net purchase cost of the sugars upon which the basic maximum price was based: Provided, That the seller has first sold his entire inventory of lower cost sugars, and: Provided further, That in calculating said maximum prices, the amount by which any net purchase cost exceeds the maximum prices established by § 1334.51 shall not be included. In determining the maximum price for a particular grade or package the seller shall employ the differential for such grade or package which he used during the period selected by him. If he made no sale of such grade or package during the period selected by him he shall employ the differential for such grade or package in accordance with the applicable differential for grades and packages published or in effect during such period of the primary distributor from whom the seller purchased such sugar.

(d) The seller's maximum price for direct-consumption sugars sold at wholesale which cannot be priced under paragraph (a) of this section shall be a maximum price in line with the level of maximum prices established thereunder. Such maximum price shall be a price determined by the seller after specific authorization from the Office of Price Administration. A seller who seeks an authorization to determine a maximum price under the provisions of this paragraph shall file with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., an application setting forth (1) the location of the seller; (2) the territory in which he sells or will sell and the prevailing prices at wholesale therein; (3) a detailed description of the sugars to be sold; and (4) the terms of sale. If such authorization is given, it will be accompanied by instructions as to the method for determining the maximum price. Within ten days after such price has been determined, the seller shall report the price to the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., upon a form, duly filled out and signed under oath or affirmation, which will be furnished him. The price so reported shall be subject to adjustment at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

(e) The Office of Price Administration, or any duly authorized officer thereof, may by order adjust the maximum price established by this section for any seller at wholesale in any case in which the seller shows:

(1) That such maximum price causes him substantial hardship and is abnormally low in relation to the maximum prices established for competitive sellers of direct-consumption sugars; and

(2) That establishing for him a maximum price, bearing normal relation to the maximum prices established for competitive sellers of direct-consumption sugars, will not cause or threaten to cause an increase in the level of retail prices for direct-consumption sugars.

Applications for adjustment under this paragraph (e) shall be filed in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 1.<sup>2</sup>

§ 1334.58a Applications for adjustment. Any person seeking relief, for which no provision is made in this Revised Price Schedule No. 60, from a maximum price established under this schedule may present the special circumstances of his case in an application for an order of adjustment. Such an application shall be filed in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 1<sup>2</sup> and shall set forth the facts relating to the hardship to which such maximum price subjects the applicant together with a statement of the reasons why he believes that the granting of relief in his case and in all like cases will not defeat or impair the policy of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 and of this Revised Price Schedule No. 60 to eliminate the danger of inflation.

§ 1334.60a Effective dates of amendments. * * *

(c) Amendment No. 3 (§ 1334.52 (a), (d) and (e), and § 1334.58a) to Revised Price Schedule No. 60 shall become effective August 31, 1942.

(Pub. Law 421, 77th Cong.)

Issued this 26th day of August 1942.

Administrator.

PART 1364—FRESH, CURED, AND CANNED
MEAT AND FISH

[Maximum Price Regulation 209]

SALES BY CANNERS OF CALIFORNIA SARDINES

In the judgment of the Price Administrator the prices of California sardines have risen to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. The Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the prices of California sardines prevailing between October 1 and October 15, 1941, and has made adjustments for such relevant factors as he has determined and deemed to be of general applicability. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representative members of the industry which will be affected by this regulation.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of said Act. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

The maximum prices established herein are not below the average price of such commodities in the year 1941.

Therefore, under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, and in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 1,<sup>1</sup> issued by the Office of Price Administration, Maximum Price Regulation No. 209 is hereby issued.

§ 1364.201 Prohibition against dealing in California sardines at prices above the maximum. On and after August 31, 1942, regardless of any contract, agreement or other obligation, no canner, or agent or other person acting on behalf, or under the control of such canner shall sell or deliver any California sardines, and no person in the course of trade or business shall buy or receive from a canner any California sardines at prices higher than those set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1364.212; and no person shall agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do any of the foregoing. The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to sales or deliveries of California sardines to a purchaser if, prior to August 31, 1942, such California sardines have been received by a carrier, other than a carrier owned or controlled by the seller, for shipment to such purchaser.

§ 1364.202 Conditional agreement. No canner of California sardines shall enter into an agreement permitting the adjustment of the prices to prices which may be higher than the maximum prices

PART 1372—SEASONAL COMMODITIES

[Maximum Price Regulation 210]

FALL AND WINTER SEASONAL COMMODITIES

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, it is necessary and proper to establish maximum prices for the sale at retail and wholesale of certain commodities which, because of their seasonal nature, were not generally sold at retail or wholesale in March 1942.

The maximum prices established by this regulation are, in the judgment of the Price Administrator, generally fair and equitable, and in conformity with the general level of prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation.<sup>1</sup> A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation AUTHORITY: §§ 1372.101 to 1372.112, inclusive, issued under Public Law 421, 77th Cong.

§ 1372.101 Applicability of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 210—(a) What commodities must be priced under this regulation. This regulation applies only to the particular commodities listed in Appendix A (§ 1372.112) of this regulation. These commodities are called "fall and winter seasonal commodities."

(b) To what types of sellers this regulation applies. This regulation applies only to sellers at retail and at wholesale.

(c) Purpose of this regulation. This regulation establishes maximum prices for the particular fall and winter seasonal commodities which are listed in Appendix A (§ 1372.112). On and after August 31, 1942, the date this regulation takes effect, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person is permitted to sell or deliver at retail or wholesale any of the listed commodities at a price which is higher than the maximum price fixed by this regulation, and no person is permitted to buy or receive any of these commodities in the course of trade or business at a price higher than that maximum price.

§ 1372.102 Maximum prices for fall and winter seasonal commodities—(a) How a seller calculates his maximum prices under this regulation. The seller is required to calculate each maximum price as follows:

(1) The seller should first find both his "average cost" and his "current cost" for the commodity he is pricing. The meaning of these terms is explained in paragraph (b) of this section.

(2) The seller will then find the maximum price by adding to the lower of these two cost figures the mark-up which he took during the last six months of 1941. This mark-up, called the "initial percentage mark-up," is explained in paragraph (b) of this section.

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

(b) Meaning of terms—(1) How a seller calculates his "average cost" for the commodity which he is pricing. (i) The seller should first find from his invoices or other records and information the quantities of the commodity delivered to him between January 1, 1942 and August 26, 1942, and the total of the costs of all the lots delivered (that is, the total price of all the lots less all discounts except for cash). The seller should then find his "average cost" for the commodity by dividing the total of these costs by the total number of articles in all the lots.

(ii) In his calculation, the seller should include only deliveries of the commodity for sale by him during the 1942-1943 fall and winter season. If he received no such deliveries, he may disregard "average cost" in calculating his maximum price.

(2) How a seller calculates his "current cost" for the commodity which he is pricing. A seller should use for "current cost" a figure which is the same as the price asked for the commodity by a supplier from whom the seller has customarily bought fall and winter seasonal commodities in substantial quantities. For this calculation, the seller should use his supplier's price on May 11, 1942 (less all usual discounts to him except for cash). If the supplier did not offer the commodity for sale until a later date, the price on that date should be used. If, however, none of the seller's customary suppliers has offered the commodity for sale since May 11th, then the seller should use as his "current cost" the price asked by a supplier from whom the seller's competitors have been buying in substantial quantities.

(3) How a seller calculates his "initial percentage mark-up." Three different rules are given for this calculation. Every seller is required to use Rule 1 if he has or can obtain invoices or other records and information showing the purchases and sales of the same commodity as the one being priced which he made during the last six months of 1941. If the seller dealt in the same commodity during that period but does not have the information needed for Rule 1, he should use Rule 2. If the seller did not deal in the same commodity during that period, he should use Rule 3.

Rule 1. Calculation of "initial percentage mark-up" by commodity. The seller should first find the total of the costs (that is, the total price less all discounts except for cash) for all the lots of the same commodity as the one being priced which he bought to sell during the last six months of 1941. The seller should then find for all these lots the total of the prices (all discounts disregarded) at which he first offered articles from each lot during the same period. The seller should next subtract the total costs from the total of these first offering prices. The difference, which is his total dollar mark-up, should be divided by the total costs to get the "initial percentage mark-up."

The following example shows how the "initial percentage mark-up" should be calculated for a commodity under Rule 1:

Lots purchased for sale during last 6 months of 1941	Cost per article on each lot	Total costs	Prices at which articles from each lot were first offered for sale during last 6 months of 1941	Total first offering prices
1. 120 articles.....	$1.00	$120	$1.50	$180
2. 60 articles.....	1.05	63	1.50	90
3. 240 articles.....	1.20	288	1.75	420
4. 360 articles.....	1.25	450	1.75	630
Total.....		921		1,320

$1,320 (total of first offering prices) minus $921 (total of costs) leaves $399 (total dollar mark-up).
$399 divided by $921 results in an "initial percentage mark-up" over cost of 43.3%.

Rule 2. Calculation of "initial percentage mark-up" by department or business establishment. Some sellers, who in the last six months of 1942 have offered for sale the same commodity as the one being priced, will not have and cannot obtain the invoices or other records and information required by Rule 1 and must therefore use this Rule 2. For each commodity being priced under this Rule 2, the seller should use as his "initial percentage mark-up" the average of the "initial percentage mark-up" which he took during the same period on all commodities sold in the department in which he sells the commodity being priced. If the seller does not sell his merchandise in departments, he should use his store or establishment average instead of a department average. The seller should base the average which he is calculating on his available records and information as to the purchasing, pricing, and selling practices which he followed, especially in the sale of fall and winter seasonal commodities, during the last six months of 1941. The seller should thus consider the total of the costs of the commodities bought by him, the total of the prices received for the commodities sold, and the extent to which the prices received may have been lower than the prices at which he first offered the commodities for sale.

Rule 3. Calculation of "initial percentage mark-up" where the same commodity was not sold in the last six months of 1941. In this case the seller should use the "initial percentage mark-up" of the similar commodity most nearly like the one he is pricing. He should calculate this mark-up for the similar commodity by using Rule 1 above, if he has or can obtain the invoices or other records and information needed. If not, or if the seller did not sell any similar commodity in the last six months of 1941, he should follow Rule 2 above.

§ 1372.103 Maximum prices where the rules of § 1372.102 cannot be applied. A seller will be unable to use any of the rules provided in the preceding section for the calculation of his maximum prices if he was not engaged in selling fall and winter seasonal commodities during the last six months of 1941. In this case the seller's maximum price is required to be the same as the maximum price set under this regulation by the most closely competitive seller of the same class (a) for the same commodity, or, (b) if no such maximum price has been set for that commodity, then for the similar commodity most nearly like it.

§ 1372.104 Adjustment of maximum price for different classes of purchasers. In case the seller had a practice during the last six months of 1941 of giving to different classes of purchasers allowances, discounts or other price differentials, he is required to continue that practice and his maximum price calculated for any commodity must be reduced by the seller to reflect such allowances, discounts and price differentials. No seller shall change his customary allowances, discounts and price differentials if the change results in a higher net price.

§ 1372.105 Records. To aid in the enforcement of this regulation every seller is required to keep certain records for inspection by the Office of Price Administration. These records are described in the three paragraphs which follow:

(a) Records of purchases and sales on which the seller's calculation of maximum prices was based. The seller must preserve all existing records showing (1) the cost of the fall and winter seasonal commodities which the seller bought for sale during the last six months of 1941 and (2) the prices at which the seller offered those commodities for sale.

(b) Records of calculations made by the seller in setting each maximum price. The seller must prepare and preserve (in a form which will permit filing on demand with the Office of Price Administration) records showing, as accurately as possible, the basis on which the seller set each maximum price. These records should include the "average cost", the "current cost", the "initial percentage mark-up", and the purchasing, offering, and selling prices wherever required in any step in the seller's calculation of a maximum price. Articles or lots of a commodity for which records are kept should be fully identified by the supplier's name, address, and style or lot number.

(c) Customary records of prices charged. The seller must continue to keep records of the same kind as he has customarily kept showing the prices actually charged by him for the fall and winter seasonal commodities which he sells after the effective date of this regulation.

§ 1372.106 Relation between Maximum Price Regulation No. 210 and the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(a) Maximum prices previously set under the General Maximum Price Regulation will not apply to fall or winter seasonal commodities listed in Appendix A which are sold or delivered on or after August 31, 1942. All such fall and winter commodities must be priced under this regulation and not under the General Maximum Price Regulation. However, the following sections of the General Maximum Price Regulation are made a part of this regulation and the seller must comply with them:

(1) Determination of maximum prices by sellers at retail operating more than one retail establishment (§ 1499.4a).

(2) Transfers of business or stock in trade (§ 1499.5).

(3) Sales for export (§ 1499.6).

(4) Maximum prices of cost-of-living commodities; statement, marking or posting (§ 1499.13).

(5) Sales slips and receipts (§ 1499.14).

(b) The tax provisions of § 1499.7 of the General Maximum Price regulation shall apply to every person selling at wholesale or retail any commodity covered by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 210. However, the March, 1942, period used in the General Maximum Price Regulation does not apply to this regulation. Therefore, the words "during the last six months of 1941" shall be substituted for the words "during March, 1942" in § 1499.7, and the words "after December 31, 1941," shall be substituted for the words "after March 31, 1941" in § 1499.7.

(c) The registration and licensing provisions of §§ 1499.15 and 1499.16 of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall apply to every person selling at wholesale or retail any commodity covered by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 210.

§ 1372.107 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 210, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

§ 1372.108 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 210 shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with any offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of or relating to any fall and winter seasonal commodity, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or by way of commission, service, transportation, or any other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

§ 1372.109 Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 210 are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

§ 1372.110 Definitions. (a) When used in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 210, the term "fall and winter seasonal commodity" means only the commodities designated as such in Appendix A (§ 1372.112).
