OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF STATE AND CITY. IRINTED BY JEROME BAYON. "THE UNION must be preserved,"

FRIDA'S MORNING, OCTOMER 9,1836.

We are pleased to find that the journalists throughout Louisians do not write so despondingly of the cotton and sugar crops as heretofore; sithough most of them admit that the produce of the present year will be less than that of isst. The favorable state or the weather during the past month augurs well for the euger crops.

The trade of New Orleans has been calculated with some degree of certainty at $70,000,000, as the value of its exports; by the ensuing legislature. What are the branch banks doing? and what improvements are capable and necessary? The population of New Orleans may be estimated at 60,000 persons during the sunter. The last census taken was indeed the state. We have anx onely sought their suggestions for the state. We have anx onely sought their suggestions for the state. THE NEXT PRESIDENCY, as a topic of public discussion and interest, will gradually assume more importance as the period of election approximates. The candidates of the democratic party as nominated by the general convention at Baltimore have no doubt the greatest prospect of success, despite the various manipuvies that have been resorted to for the purpose of exciting sectional feelings against them : but these attempts have been partially frustrated; and will be entirely defeated at the next sessions of Congress and of the legislatures of the northern states.

By the next winter, we have every reason to hope that the ties which bind in unison the states north and south shall have been more-closely drawn : so that legislative action on the part of the United States and of every state shall ratify by penal prohibitions the constitutional guarantees and received rights of every species of property: Nor is inecessary for this purpose to curb the freedom of the press nor the liberty of legitimate action in any respect—as in sought to be proved by some of the eastern journalists, who would fain advocate the tenets which public opinion so loudly condemns. None will be someth as to assert that the freedom of the press implies the licence to attack the persons or property of individuals and none will be so foolhardy as to deny that any attack so made should be the object of penal legislation.

the duties imposed on it by the constitution; and in none more so than this of protecting slave property, and another of establishing uniform laws of bankruptey. Under the suspiece of the democratic party, we trust and think that Coisgross at its next session will do justice to the south on the former subject. If then any sinuster designs of political machinveltanism had been instrumental in producing the incal corps; and the splendid new theatre of Mr Caldwell. machieveltanism had been instrumental in producing the abolition excitement, so as to operate against northern candidates for the chief magistracy, they were narrowly conceived; and could have operated exclusively but in fevor of Judge White, among all the candidates presented to public notices for Messars Van Buren and Webster are northern candidates for the opposite parties, and what would have availed against one would have availed against one would have availed against one would have been similerly injurious to the pretensions of Mr Harrison, who is a citizen of a nonstaveholding state. Many of the country papers of Louisiana display considerable talent for the patronage afforded to them. The Louisiana Journal published by Mr Bradford at St Francisculle would be a credit to any state or nation: the other journal printed there we well obliged to strike from our exchange list on account of its personal scurrility. The two journals published at Clinton are also well edited, particularly that under the superintendence of Mt Thomas Lawson of the state legislature. of any building in New Orleans may properly 'be seezed at:' for architecture in general is in a degraded state among us, as proprietors of lots are usually their own architects; and erect as caprice may dictate or custom control.

If we take into account all the houses now 'being' built in the incorporated and unincorporated districts of the city, we aright estimate them at six or seven hundred; so that speculators from the eastern states can find 'ample room and verge enough for more,' as regards stores or lots.

It is too frue that our citizens have not as yet places for public promenede; but when we can get an energitic mainicipal government, we may reconsulate an energitic mainicipal government, we may reconsulate the account in the Republican.
