Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a medical or scientific treatise. The text is written in a dark ink on aged paper. It begins with a large initial letter, possibly 'S' or 'S', followed by several lines of text. The script is dense and somewhat difficult to decipher due to its cursive nature. There are some larger characters interspersed, possibly indicating specific terms or sections. The text appears to be a list or a series of instructions related to a subject, possibly medicine or botany, given the context of the book's title.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, similar to the text on the opposite page. It is written in a dark ink on aged paper. The text is dense and follows a similar pattern to the text on the other page, with a large initial letter and several lines of text. The script is consistent with the text on the other page, suggesting it is part of the same work. There are some larger characters interspersed, possibly indicating specific terms or sections. The text appears to be a list or a series of instructions related to a subject, possibly medicine or botany, given the context of the book's title.
