British Tennis Players Favor Hard Courts

LONDON, May 15.—Tennis like everything else in this progressive age, has to conform to altered world conditions and following the change from old to new Wimbledon and the abolition of "world's title" therefrom, comes the news that the British Davis Cup trial matches will probably be held on hard courts. This is in order that the selected players may be used to the courts on which most of the 18 competing countries play, and also to the probability that the British team will have to go to Wimbledon where hard courts are used.

QUEBEC, Que.—It has been decided that the policy adopted last year by Hon. J. E. Perrault, minister of colonization, of building small houses on sections of lots in certain colonization areas will be resumed this season.

GLEN EYRIE CHAPTER TO GIVE CARD PARTY

Glen Eyrie Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will give a card party at the Masonic temple Saturday night for the members and their husbands or escorts. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. H. A. McPherson, chairman; Mrs. Fred DeL. Mrs. Maxine Pollock; Mrs. Adelaide Imbler and Mrs. W. S. Rattray.

SOME MEN GROW A BEARD TO DEORATE THEIR FACES, OTHERS TRY TO MODIFY WHENEVER THEY CANNOT DECIDE

Some men grow a beard to decorate their faces, others try to modify whenever they cannot decide. In any case, the man is shaved who removes his facial adornment after it has become familiar to his friends. One such man called upon his aunt after parting with his beard. The maid did not recognize him and plainly doubted his word. So he gave her his card. His aunt received him with amazement. "You're sure you know me?" he asked. "No," said the aunt truthfully. "She said there was a strange man, who looked like a gentleman, but he had one of your cards."

HOWARD—PAPA, DIDN'T METHUSELAH HAVE MORE THAN ONE NAME?

Howard—Papa, didn't Methuselah have more than one name? Now don't bother me any more. Howard—Please, papa, can't I ask just one more question? Papa—Yes, I suppose so. Howard—Well, was Methuselah his first or his last name?

TRAINING SCHOOLS FOR JACKIE COOGANS AND COMMERCIAL DANCING CLASSES THAT GUARANTEE TO TURN OUT INNUMERABLE LEA SISTERS ARE AMONG THE SERIOUS MENACES TO CHILD HEALTH ON THE PACIFIC COAST, ACCORDING TO MISS JULIA GEORGE, PRESIDENT OF THE JUNIOR PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION, WITH HEADQUARTERS IN SAN FRANCISCO, AND SECRETARY OF THE CALIFORNIA SOCIETY OF MENTAL HYGIENE.

In New York to discuss the advancement of child health with Courtney Dinwiddie, general executive of the American Child Health association, Miss George described the work of her society. "Our work is based on the same principle as that of the American Child Health association," she said. "Our purpose is to do protective and preventive work in keeping children out of the juvenile court, just as the association plans to do protective and preventive work in keeping children physically strong. Our emphasis is laid upon keeping the morally well child well, just as yours is laid upon keeping the physically well child well.

"At least 50 per cent of the children who are brought before various juvenile courts, could be prevented from doing the various things that bring them there, if there were enough people interested in doing protective work. Among the things that we are fighting in California now are commercial dancing classes and training schools for child motion picture actors. These intrigue hundreds of youngsters whose ambitious parents see in their offspring prospective Jackie Coogans or Jane and Katherine Lee. The greatest harm they do is not that they hold out false hopes but that they keep the children in doors at nervous work after school and Saturdays and Sundays when they should be at play in the open air.

Many such children, Miss George declared, in 10 years old are already on the scrap heap. Child labor is responsible for many juvenile delinquencies, she declared. Lack of proper nutrition and of normal health and strength, however, are the major causes of youthful misdoings.

Miss George is well known on the Pacific coast as the woman who adopted a public school. She mothers an entire school of 850 pupils in the crowded factory section of San Francisco, supplying milk to under-nourished children not able to procure it for themselves, and in general keeps the welfare of all these youngsters at heart.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 15.—Speculators for the decline again succeeded in driving the stock market higher by heavy offerings of the copper shares and miscellaneous specialties more than a score of which established new low records for the year. Good buying support was forthcoming, however, for the usual leaders, particularly among the steels and equipments which showed a strong upward tendency. Trading was on a reduced scale, sales approximating 600,000 shares.

SEA THRILLS ARE MANY IN 'ISLE OF LOST SHIPS' HERE

"The Isle of Lost Ships," a Maurice Tourneur production which is coming to the T. D. and L. theatre on Friday for two days' engagement, discloses new possibilities of screen grandeur and beauty.

ideals and fraught with a spirit of adventure.

The theme is daring in its nature and the task of the producer overwhelming in its exactions on the imagination, but Tourneur has again proved himself the master that he is by giving this tremendous story an adequate, sensational and remarkable visualization.

And the cast is worthy of the story. Anna Q. Nilsson plays the role of the shipwrecked society girl, Milton Sills is the hero, a condemned but innocent man, and Frank Campeau is Jackson, the detective.

P. E. TRACKS ARE GRADUALLY GOING TO THE GRADE

South Brand Boulevard Expects Big Results from Work

The project of lowering the tracks of the Pacific Electric Railway on South Brand boulevard between Colorado and Windsor, which is being done at an estimated cost of $85,000, is now nearing completion.

It is expected that the completion of this work will act as a spur to business on South Brand boulevard, according to Alfred R. Johnson of the Suburban Realty Company.

The finest road construction is being utilized in this road bed. The tracks have been lowered to a level with the street, and a heavy layer of rock lines the bottom, covered over with oil and a finer grade of rock.

In order to be a suitable area for business, the shopper must be able to cross over freely from one side of the street to the other. This was not so on South Brand boulevard before the Pacific Electric Railway undertook to pave its right of way, and there were street crossings over the tracks at intersections of four streets.

JAPAN BUYING LUMBER VANCOUVER, B. C. (United Press)—Japan has become a heavy buyer of British Columbia lumber. The province exported 72,000,000 feet of timber to the Japanese empire in 1922, an increase of 20,000,000 feet over the previous year, according to the department of mines and forests.

DEMPSEY-GIBBONS FIGHT FINANCE NOW ASSURED

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 17. (United Press)—Shirley Ford, Great Falls banker, who is the custodian of the $500,000 purse for which Dempsey and Gibbons will battle at Shelby on July 4, has no doubt that the full amount will be raised as easily as was the first $100,000, recently deposited with Jack Eckart in Chicago.

"The first $100,000 was raised in a few days," says Ford, "by advance sales of ringside seats at $50 each. The second installment will be ready by June 1, and advance sales to the public will take care of the final payment."

"Now mind you, the tickets we sold to raise the original $100,000 were actual sales, not pledges. We got the cold cash and the purchasers got a slip showing they had so many tickets for the bout coming to them."

"The money poured in from everywhere. Small merchants of the city and Shelby bought five to ten tickets each. The largest individual purchaser was L. C. Stevenson, Shelby oil operator. He paid $10,000 for 200 ringside seats."

COMMUNISM IS MENACE TO LABOR UNIONS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 17.—Communism and radicalism in general are arraigned as menaces of organized labor in a membership bulletin, issued by officers in the International Typographical Union, commending action of Washington officers of the union in closing the Typographical Temple of the capital against radical meetings.

While the International assumes no measure of control over political actions of typographical union members, discretion is advised in preventing any connection however remote between the name of the union and any radical movements, the bulletin says.

"The so-called boring-from-within process, which Communistic leaders are reported to be attacking the labor movement, as a matter of fact is of no consequence or importance at all. Among the rank and file of labor there is a clear understanding that radical proposals for leveling inequalities in society involve despotism of the most abhorrent sort, and that maintenance of such a state would require terrible slave-driving pressure until the last spark of spirit had been crushed out of workers and they were made automatons, sans pride, sans hope, and sans ambition."

An idea of the cost of Communism may be obtained from the following totals of executions consummated in Russia's reign of terror: a total of 1,000,000. A leading Parisian daily.

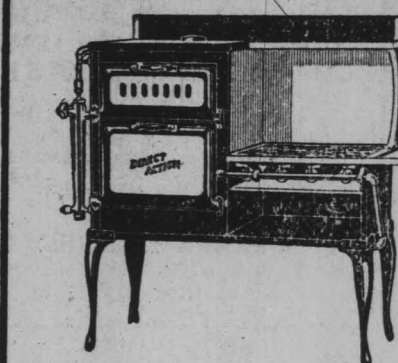

"Twenty-eight bishops and 1,125 priests, 6,775 professors, 8,800 physicians, 54,650 army officers and 48,500 privates of constabulary and police forces, 12,950 land owners, 355,250 members of the intelligentsia, 193,350 workmen, and 815,100 peasants."

In the evening this company gave the prelude, which was followed by "Jamie" Heron's great message on "Building Better Business by Building Better Men."

GET OUT OF DOORS ON YOUR NERACAR

Get out of doors and into the sunshine with the rush of wind in your face, inhaling the freshness of the countryside, the beauties of the open unfolding road before you—motoring.

Glide to your favorite stream or lake, where the fish strike greedily, to the beach for a swim, to the greens for golf, to the club for tennis and dancing.
Wherever, whenever you want to go, Neracar will carry you, pleasantly, cleanly and comfortably in clothes suited to the occasion.

Neracar gives you a means of individual transportation, pleasure, recreation and health-promotion within your reach.

Neracar is not a cheap automobile. Neither is it a motorcycle. It is rather a dignified, quiet little brother of the aristocratic big cars, essentially and characteristically an automobile in lines, design and construction, although mounted on two wheels.

With low rakish lines and its center of gravity below the hubs of the wheels and its operating levers handy, the Neracar gives you a sense of security and balance—of easy control. It is ideal in traffic, as you can place both feet on the ground stopping and starting.

An exhilarating ride for one-third of a cent a mile

Neracar gratifies your desire to motor at a cost within reason—three hundred miles for one dollar.
Fully sixty per cent of the automobiles of the country carry one person only—an enormous waste of energy and motor equipment. Neracar has been designed to meet this solo transportation need.

TWO WHEEL AUTO CO.

715 SOUTH BRAND BOULEVARD, GLENDALE

Write for descriptive circular

Motorists of Glendale, have you taken your "open road week" trip yet? Have you packed your lunch or your camping equipment in the "old machine" and ferreted out some secluded corner in the hills—away from the maddening crowd? If you haven't, you shouldn't let this week go by without getting away from the ordinary paths and searching out some of the mountain retreats.

And don't let your outing activities end with this week. The "open road" week is being carried out for the express purpose of persuading you to begin your summer touring early, the idea being that the more trips to the hills you enjoy, the happier and healthier you will be, and with these naturally comes satisfaction with life in general. The section in which you live will, therefore, appear brighter and more cheerful. An occasional trip to the mountains will make better men and women of you and will make it easier for other folks to live with you.

Southern California is the motorists' paradise in the truest sense of the word. It has as good, if not better, roads than any other section in the country. The boulevards stretch to all corners of this wonderful locality, bringing "close to home" the many remarkable features that are to be found only in this sunny part of the world.

Besides, the mountains are only a step away. The Sierra Madres and the Coast range are extending their arms to you. They hold thousands of little crannies and nooks that God has created especially for your enjoyment. It costs not a cent to feed on their charms—all you need is a "fliv" and the desire to go.

These little far-away corners hold the cure for many of the ills that you know. They are silent drugless healers. All you have to do is to go there and rest. Get interested in nature and things that are bigger and better than you have ever known. Go as far into the wilds as you will—the farther you go the more things you will learn, for the big things are those not made by human hands.

Go well prepared. The merchants represented on this page can equip you fully along their respective lines.

But whatever you do—go. Hit the open highway—point the nose of the "bus" to the mountains or the beach. But get away. Leave the scenes of the grind.
Get into a new world. See how the other half lives.
Learn the joy that comes from seeing things. Study every foot of the road.

But go—go—go!

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. WAITE, Secretary of Shawnee, Oklahoma, oBard of Commerce

THAT your city has prestige and influence.

THAT it is largely due to the far-sightedness and accomplishments of your Chamber of Commerce.

THAT your Chamber of Commerce is working to secure a union of the energies, influence and actions of your city in all matters pertaining to the development of your city, to encourage all legitimate business enterprises, to disseminate through the press and other ways, information relative to the advantages of your city for industrial activities and as a place of residence, to assist public movements, which have for their purpose the betterment of your community, to promote the prosperity, comfort and general well-being of all your citizens and to stimulate civic pride and progress.

ASKS PERMISSION TO STAY JAILED

[By Associated Press]

BOISE, Idaho.—Tied by bonds welded during his three months incarceration in the Ada county jail here, Joseph Hamon, who served his term for issuing worthless checks, was loath to depart when his sentence expired the other day. Touched by his appeals the jail warden permitted Hamon to remain in his cell, a voluntary tenant.

A second attempt to free the man met with a repetition of the request to be permitted to stay. His wish again was granted and the jailer, sympathetic and interested in the case, asked Hamon to tell his story.

The prisoner asserted that he had communicated with the mayor of Chicago by wireless and had been told that $1,000 had been deposited in a Boise bank in Hamon's name. Knowing well, however, that there is no wireless in the county jail, the jailer asked him to continue.

"Why, I've got $7,000,000 in the banks and they won't let me draw a cent of it—they won't give me a check book."

The next morning Hamon was committed to the state insane asylum.

MINISTERS PLAN MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES

Association Arranges for Community Meeting May 27

Memorial Day services, according to annual custom in Burbank, will be held the last Sunday in May at the Edison school for the entire town. Plans were completed today by the Ministerial Association.

Rev. E. A. Main, pastor of the Baptist church, has been chosen as speaker for the evening. His subject will be "The Monuments of History." Special music and a community song fest will form an important part of the program.

This will be the first Community Memorial service this year; the second one will be on Memorial Day, when the American Legion sponsors a plot of ground in Grand View cemetery, southeast of the city limits.

BURBANK NIGHT AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Tonight will be Burbank night at the dedication services at the Baptist church. Mayor Crawford, school officials and the ministers of the town will speak.

Special singing will also mark this service. William J. Reed, tenor soloist of the Wilshire Presbyterian church, accompanied by Mrs. Blankenhorn, will sing. Friday evening, Arthur J. Wickland, director of the choir at the Hollywood Baptist church, will sing two solos. Mrs. Wickland will be the accompanist. The services Friday evening will conclude the week's dedicatory worship for the Baptists.

WILL HAVE POT LUCK SUPPER

The Methodist choir and their families and the music committee and families will have pot luck supper together in the social hall of the church tonight. Music, love and laughter will follow the indoor picnic supper.

An apology is a poor excuse at best.

RESERVE TICKETS EARLY FOR BIG BANQUET

Cooks Want to Know How Many Will Be at the Feast

Fathers, make your reservations early for the banquet next Tuesday evening at the Methodist church. This is a common courtesy that is asked of you so that the ladies can be prepared to give everybody a generous helping.

No father can be present without a boy and no boy can be present without a real father or an adopted father for the occasion. A very fine program has been planned for this, the fourth annual feast of fathers and sons.

The Kiwanis club of sixty-five members will be present along with sixty-five boys from a Los Angeles orphanage. Carl Burnette of the Hi Y club will be the toastmaster. Dr. T. E. McGuire will give a talk from the father's point of view. Ray Proctor, George Bray and Clifford Kettering will be other speakers. The high school orchestra will play. Sam Sutherland will be the song leader. Entertainer Waterman of Long Beach, who met such a hearty reception at the high school last week, will put on several novel stunts.

Dr. Merle Smith, pastor of the Methodist church at Pasadena, will be the main speaker of the evening.

As only two hundred and fifty are expected you are asked to get your tickets early. You can get them from the Hi Y boys, from any minister or from Earl Dort at the public service department in the city hall.

RADCLIFF HEARS NIGHT PROWLER

J. D. Radcliff reported at the police office in person Wednesday morning to thank the officers for answering a call at one o'clock in the morning so promptly. There was a mysterious prowler about the Radcliff home in the night and the watch dog howled, waking Mr. Radcliff.

Mr. Radcliff took his trusty rifle and stealthily stole out the back door. He stumbled against a stone and warned the prowler of his presence in this manner. The visitor ran and jumped onto a motorcycle parked in the road. As he rode away he took four shots at the Radcliff dog.

The Burbank police were immediately notified, and within five minutes were up at the Radcliff home on Tenth street.

KIWANIANS ARE SURPRISED BY END OF K. K. K.

Blues Win in Kalling Kontest and Will Be Feasted

The Burbank Kiwanis Kalling Kontest ended today with the Odds surprising everybody by winning out. This means that the Blue side is no longer blue, but will be treated to a ladies' night banquet at the Sunset Canyon country club before the month ends.

Captain Isabel's Blues have been far behind in making their calls and getting about to see the other members, so the White side was completely overwhelmed at the regular weekly luncheon this noon at the Goodfellows' Club, when a total reckoning showed that they were losers and would have to pay. The hour was spent in instructing Ralph Church, Burbank Kiwanis delegate to the seventh annual convention at Atlanta, Ga. May 28 to 31, in what to do and say at the convention.

The men talked of the significance of the coming convention. They wanted to have a voice "in the legislation and plan of action that will form the basis for next year's work" which will be mapped out at the May meeting. The entire club will escort their delegate to the train next Wednesday, as he leaves for the south.

Mothers Ask Officers to Protect the School Children

Mothers with young children have been entering complaints at the police office concerning stray dogs. The youngsters have been frightened by Airedale dogs and have come home crying.

Officer Cates has asked everyone who owns a dog to tie it up, as he said there is a city ordinance which requires this.

Sound advice doesn't always have a pleasing sound.

GOLF STAR'S DRIVE LANDS IN ROUGH IN LOVE MATCH WITH SOCIAL LIGHT

Craig Biddle, society youngster and movie extra, and Ann Perdue, film star.

Gene Sarazen may be the canaries k-nuckles when it comes to capturing golf titles, but he's yet to pass the caddy stage in the game of love. At least Ann Perdue, movie beauty, found the social register much more interesting than the golf yearbook, for she is reported to have chosen Craig Biddle, scion of Philadelphia bluebloods, over the golfer.

KILLED BY DEAD FOX

PARIS, (United Press).—Blood-poisoning resulting from a slight scratch inflicted by a fox fur caused the death at Bourges, of Ernestine Latille, 21. At a dance one of her friends pulled the fur from her shoulders and playfully putting the fox's head on her arm, said "Be careful or he will bite you." Dragging it away, the fox's teeth grazed Ernestine's skin, bloodpoisoning set in, the girl dying two days later after terrible suffering.

THOUGHT AND ENERGY

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc. (Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

The identification of thought with energy may be accounted debatable. But there is no debating the fact that thought profoundly affects the flow of energy, accelerating it or diminishing it according to the manner of the thinking.

To psychologists this is a truism that has become a commonplace. Unhappily the majority of people either are still unaware of it or disregard it to their frequent loss and misfortune.

Certainly few make it a point to control their thinking with a view to turning it to their advantage as an energy developer.

A person, let us suppose, wakes in the morning feeling "blue" and discouraged. This may be the result of some untoward happening the previous day, of a sleepless night, of bad dreams, of an attack of indigestion, of any one of numerous possible causes. Whatever the cause, if that person permits his thoughts to remain in the mournful groove in which his awakening finds them, his energy is certain to remain likewise at a low level.

Whatever work he has to do, he will do less rapidly and less accurately than is his wont. If business problems arise requiring prompt solution, he cannot focus on them as he should, and the odds are that, for lack of energy, he will either refuse to attack them at all or will reach a wrong solution.

Let him, however, begin the day by declining to dwell mentally on the gloomy ideas his awakening has brought. Let him instantly and insistently turn his thoughts to something pleasant—the most miserable among us can always find something pleasant to think about—and at once his energy will begin to rise.

So true is this that even though the early morning depression is associated with physical conditions depleting the fund of available energy, insistent thinking of cheerful thoughts may not merely check the depletion but make for a restoration of vigor. Which is something all competent physicians appreciate and which they endeavor to utilize for their patients' benefit.

The higher they can raise the energy level of any patient, as the competent physicians are well aware, the greater the likelihood of recovery from any disease. Consequently they not only adopt energy-developing measures of a medicinal and hygienic sort, but by every means in their power they try to induce the patients to think pleasant thoughts.

"You can't afford to be gloomy and worried and afraid," they tell their patients, in effect. "You must think cheerful thoughts, confident thoughts, courageous thoughts, if you really want to recover quickly from your illness."

And this exhortation—similarly applies to everybody who wants to see his or her dreams of happiness and success realized. Always it is true that cheerful thinking makes for energization. Always morbid, unpleasant thinking de-energizes.

A truth it is well to remember and honestly endeavor to apply to one's self, whatever the trials, discouragements and reverses experienced in one's day-by-day existence.

Annie Laurie's Home to Pass Under the Gavel

EDINBURGH, May 17.—Annie Laurie's home is to be sold at auction. The modest dwelling which is located near Edinburgh has been in the hands of the family of the woman around whom the famous ballad was written for many generations, but financial need compels them to dispose of it. A relic of Annie Laurie's taste is still preserved in the beautiful Georgian garden in the rear of the house. Annie Laurie died in 1761 at the age of 79 and she lies buried in the old graveyard at Craigdarroch.

THE TIRED REALTOR

LOS ANGELES.—(United Press)—Night Patrolman Claude L. Dryden has been continuously annoyed for two months by the strange habits of Fred L. Leslie, realty salesman, who lives in the Wilshire district. Dryden says that Leslie starts to drive his car home after nightfall, but seldom arrives. Many times the officer has found Leslie asleep in his car parked at the street curbing. Each time Dryden wakes Leslie up and drives him home. Leslie cannot explain his strange actions. He says that he becomes so sleepy while driving after night that he has to stop his car when the feeling strikes him. Leslie says his wife never worries about him any more—she knows he is doing his best to get home.

BOY AND MAN

By CHARLES H. SHINN

Our Californian, Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, has been writing about the religion of motherhood—the giving of life, not the taking of it. She calls this "the birth-based religion" of the future. Its foundation is service, is work for humanity.

An old Mariposa forest ranger, now "gone west," used to gather the children about him and tell them of birds, animals, trees and forest protection. He was not well educated, but he read much, and asked questions of those over him. As the small boys grew up they loved to take little rides with this ranger, they helped him at fires, they meant to become rangers.

Then this is the thing which happened, as one who was there tells it now. The old ranger sat down with six chosen boys, about 15 years old. This is what he told them: "Ye must first of all become real true-blue mountaineers and foresters, able to handle horses an' men, an' face every emergency that can come up. Ye must love yer work tremendously an' put yer souls inter it. Why? Becos it's fer California, an' America an' the whole world."

Then the old ranger laughed, and added: "Once a young man wanted to join up. I asked him why. He said, 'So's I can have a nice easy time fishin' an' campin!' His hands was soft as a baby's, an' he didn't know a sugar pine from a hole in the ground!"

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

BOTTLE TIME

It was John Edward's bottle time. His mother looked helplessly from the baby in the bassinet to the diamond-studded watch on her dimpled wrist.

"What shall I do?" she murmured to herself. "Aline said she would be back at 4 and it is 4 now. The baby should have his bottle and I haven't the least idea what one does."

This absurd situation was not entirely the fault of John Edward's mother. He had been born with a particularly golden spoon in his mouth. A small army of trained, soft-footed attendants had taken care of him. He was bathed in an expensively fitted up nursery bathroom and his bassinet foamed with expensive lace and ribbon and soft wool shawls.

The only thoroughly commonplace thing about Baby John was his hunger at meal times, his very plebeian habit of putting a pink thumb in his mouth, and his preference for playing with sunbeams or his mother's hair to the expensive playthings that were forever being thrust at him.

And now, as the little gold clock on his mother's boudoir mantel struck 4, Baby John clutched for his bottle and uttered insistent cries, indicative of a hunger that would not be denied.

The luxurious little mother pulled a bell rope. Nothing happened. She pressed a button beside her chaise longue.

No one came. Desperately she descended to the kitchen, which was entirely unfamiliar to her.

A scandalized butler, a lady's maid, two cooks, and a footman turned to greet her.

"The baby's bottle," she cried. "He is crying. Aline promised to come back in time to give it to him. Where is it?"

Immediately there was great activity in the kitchen. The French maid, the scandalized butler, and the gold-laced footman searched various iceboxes until the rack of bottles was discovered.

"But it's ice cold," said the mother, who would have been a very efficient little mother if wealth had not cramped her.

And then the second chef, who had a family, took charge of the situation.

One of the cooks was for pouring the milk into a saucepan and warming it, but the chef stopped her.

"Don't do it that way," he said. "Fill a pan with warm water—so. Place the bottle of sterilized milk, carefully corked, in the warm water. The water must not boil. That will make the milk too hot."

As if he were performing a sacred rite, the second chef proceeded to heat the baby's bottle. He took a sterile nipple from a glass of solution, and, removing the cotton cork, fitted the nipple carefully over the rim of the bottle, never touching it with his hands. "So!" he exclaimed in triumph.

THE NARCOTIC PROBLEM TOLD BY EXPERT

By H. R. BONNER. In searching for drugs to relieve human suffering the chemist has discovered three poisons which have such a wide use today outside of medical circles...

On the other hand, the continued use of these drugs sets up an intense craving which is only relieved by a further administration of the drug of addiction.

While we do not know definitely the total number of addicts we do know that the United States for a while was consuming more narcotic drugs than any other nation on the globe in proportion to its population.

These facts enable us to understand the nature of the problem with which we have to deal. We can not afford to abolish entirely the importation of these drugs...

When the nation became aware that we were consuming such enormous quantities of opiate congress passed the Harrison narcotic act (1914) Under this law the narcotic addict finds it impossible to secure his drug in a legitimate market...

experience of nine years shows that the use of narcotics in this country has increased, especially in the larger cities. The law, however, has succeeded in reducing our legal per capita consumption of opium from 36 to 12 1/2 grains per year...

Its failure is recognized by congress, because in the preamble of the Porter resolution, which has just passed both houses, it is stated that the unlawful use of habit-forming narcotics in the United States "is increasing and spreading."

Approval and adoption by Los Angeles city schools. From Susan M. Dorsey, Supt. (To Teachers of the City): "The week beginning May 28 has been chosen as Narcotic Education Week in the schools of Los Angeles during which time you are requested to give special emphasis to instruction upon the nature of narcotics and their evil effects."

Approval and adoption by Los Angeles county schools. From Mark Keppel, Supt. "The booklet of your association entitled 'The Menace of Morphine, Heroin and Cocaine,' by Montaville Flowers and H. R. Bonner, was adopted for use as a supplementary text in physiology and hygiene in the hands of the teachers of Los Angeles county, California, by the Los Angeles County Board of Education at its session May 4, 1923."

Approval by the Church Federation of Los Angeles. From J. A. Stevenson, Executive Secretary. "This is to certify that the executive committee of the Church Federation of Los Angeles at its regular meeting held Tuesday, May 8, 1923, endorsed 'Narcotic Education Week,' the last week in May, 1923."

Approval by the Ministerial Union of Pasadena. From Robert Freeman, chairman of special committee. "We shall be glad to co-operate with you in any way possible to carry out your protective program."

Approval by the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company. From C. I. D. PENDROY'S SALE IS HUGE SUCCESS

Sales Far Exceed Highest Expectations, According to Mgr. Smith

Sales in every department that far surpassed all expectations on the part of the management, have been recorded at Pendroy's during the first two days of the anniversary sale which opened Tuesday. "On the opening day, the house was filled to capacity," stated Richard H. Smith, the general manager. "All classes of merchandise in every line showed a wonderful sales record after the first day, and though we employed several extra salespeople during the sale, all were kept busy until the very last minute. The store was crowded every hour of the day, Tuesday and Wednesday, though the weather was somewhat unfavorable, and everything proved to be most satisfactory."

The anniversary sale closes Saturday, and the management expects the largest net margin during the sale, on the last day.
