Romance Of Music At Club's Banquet

ARTISTS GIVE EXCELLENT PROGRAM

More Than 400 Attend Annual Gathering; Event Proves Inspiring

Sans and deus that kiss it. Balm winds that blow. The stars and planets and planets upon its peaks of snow. The mighty mountains o'er it. Below, the white seas swirl. Just California stretching down the middle of the world.

FROM the heart and pen of John Steven McGroarty, "Scribe of the Green Verdugo Hills," soul inspired writer of California history and romance in poetry and prose, and author of the "Mission Play," California's own dramatic pageant, came this California verse, and it was the voice of this revered and beloved scribe that voiced to more than 400 Glendale Music Club members and guests gathered last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse for the annual banquet and program, the inspiring plea for a music that shall be really Californian.

Mr. McGroarty headed the group of honored guests, all of them talented men and women of musical and literary accomplishment, who had been invited to participate in the happy event celebrating the completion of the most progressive year in the Music club's history. Prominent guests: Writers, composers, singers and pianists of national reputation were among the company, as well as representatives of every civic and club organization in the city of Glendale.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, organizer of the club and newly elected president, to serve a third term, was first in the reception line greeting the guests in the foyer of the beautiful club house. She later presided graciously at the honor table at the banquet and was mistress of ceremonies during the later part of the evening.

Fully 400 persons were seated about the banquet tables, artistically arranged and decorated by Mrs. F. H. Wallace and her committee. A medley of wonderful California flowers made brilliant the tables and it is interesting to learn that the beautiful dahlias.

Of course, if the race should take place, John D. might slip up Candler by carrying a can of oil and sprinkling it on the track in front of his competitor, but then there'd be nothing to prevent Candler from taking a couple of jolts of "coke" along the route to spur him on. Of course, the contestants might take a lesson from the Indianapolis racers and have "pits" where their attendants could dish out "coke" or oil, as the occasion demanded. It looks to us like anybody's race, so write your own ticket.

Soft Drink King Wants To Meet Oil Burning John D. In Sprint! Write Your Own Ticket, People!

Ladies and gentlemen! Gas and Coca-Cola buyers! Shortly you may have an opportunity of witnessing the sprint of the century.

For Asa Candler, Sr., aged millionaire and track enthusiast, recently married to a stenographer, wants to test his sprinting against that of the unchallenged 84-year-old golfer champion, John D. Rockefeller, Sr. As a sprinter, John D. Rockefeller is more or less of a dark horse, but that doesn't worry the "coke" manufacturer who it is reliably reported, sometimes drinks his own concoction.

Candler has endowed a couple of schools which prohibit football but cater to track athletics. The aged Atlanta millionaire is strong for the running game.

Nobody challenges John D.'s claim to the gold title for 84-year-olds, but Candler is certain that he can run him out of gas on the cinder path.

Of course, if the race should take place, John D. might slip up Candler by carrying a can of oil and sprinkling it on the track in front of his competitor, but then there'd be nothing to prevent Candler from taking a couple of jolts of "coke" along the route to spur him on.

SOCIETY WOMAN, MOTHER OF SEVEN, EXPLAINS ELOPEMENT. LOS ANGELES, June 30.—"I'm going to fight for the man I love." Thus Mrs. Julia B. Hewitt, direct descendant of Thomas Jefferson, and socially prominent in Kansas City, today disposed of the question, "Does a woman's duty lie with the man she loves or the man she married?" Her determination was announced after O. J. McCard, with whom she had eloped, had been removed to the Los Angeles county jail on suspicion of violating the Mann act.

Mrs. Hewitt is the wife of Paul Hewitt, well-known traffic engineer of Kansas City. She is the mother of seven children. "He is not only good, but brags of it. He is so good he has forgotten what love is. His righteous attitude makes him feel superior and he is autocratic, severe, dominating."

SOLUTION OF S. P. DEPOT PROBLEM OFFERED

City Planning Committee Submits Suggestions to End Controversy

A solution of the Southern Pacific depot problem that has been vexing Glendale for so long was presented to the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at their meeting last night by H. M. Butts, chairman of the city planning committee, which will, it is believed by the committee, permit the various interests to agree on a definite plan that will not only settle the problem but that will also result in making the Southern Pacific station and its surroundings one of the beauty spots of Glendale. Mr. Butts' report follows: We, your committee on city planning, pursuant to our duties and acting in the interests of the city of Glendale as a whole, have deemed it advisable to investigate the matter of location of the new Southern Pacific depot and check up on the relative merits of the several street approaches to it as variously suggested.

It is much to be regretted that there should be serious and detrimental controversy regarding a matter of such supreme importance to Glendale and vicinity as the location of a fine railway station in our midst, where all trains will stop for the accommodation of passengers from far and near.

Solution Sought. Your committee has earnestly endeavored to find a true and equitable solution to the problem—a solution whereby everyone, if possible, may be benefited even to a greater degree than now anticipated.

It is the belief of this committee that a fine new railway station placed in an attractive setting will do more than any other one agent to perpetually advertise Glendale to the world. It is, therefore, of direct and vital importance to all our citizens to see that the right thing be done. Your committee therefore recommends that all the west side of Gardena avenue from Brand to the railroad grounds and the proposed depot site. This is a condition that apparently has but one reasonable solution—one which would be of credit to Glendale and show a fair co-operation with the Southern Pacific company.

Before 8:30 a. m. it was estimated $250,000 damage was done.

HARDING TO PAY GLENDALE VISIT

Chief Executive Will Make a Brief Stop Here While Touring Southland

Representatives of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, in conference this morning with Walter Brown, the advance man for the presidential party now touring the west, were given assurances that the president would be brought to Glendale for a brief visit on his tour over Southern California, between the time he returns from Catalina and the hour of his departure for San Diego. It is not possible to have President Harding here for sufficient time to lay the foundation stone of the new Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, as had at first been hoped, but there will be time for a brief address by the nation's chief executive during his stop in Glendale.

Senior Samuel Shorridge was largely instrumental in helping the Chamber of Commerce committee to secure favorable action on their request to have President Harding visit Glendale. The directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting last night decided to cancel the regular Tuesday noon luncheon during the summer months and to hold their business meetings on Friday nights. The advantage of this will be that the members of the board will be able to devote more time to the business of the organization than is possible when most of them have to keep other appointments or look after their business during the day. A quantity of routine business was transacted at the meeting.

MAY FORFEIT TITLE, SAY LAWYERS

Further Payment of Money Not Required, Is Report; Kearns Unconcerned

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 30.—Chaos again reigned today within the little world wherein froths the stew over the proposed Dempsey-Gibbons world's heavyweight championship bout now scheduled for next Wednesday. Following the announcement that $50,000 of the last $100,000 payment to Dempsey was ready in cash and that the remaining half had been pledged, lawyers early today scanned the contract signed by Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, and Montana promoters, and declared it to be their belief that it is illegal, that Dempsey must box Tom Gibbons even if no further payment is made, and that if he fails to do so he must forfeit $50,000 to the promoters. Not only did the lawyers declare their beliefs in these matters, but they also expressed the opinion that if Dempsey packs his things and takes it on the run from Montana he will forfeit his heavyweight championship to Gibbons because of the terms of the contract.

Attorney's Views. George Hord, attorney, gave the following as his beliefs: "Dempsey's leaving the state would involve the promoters in heavy financial loss and suit would be in order. An attachment could be had on Dempsey's funds wherever they were found and full redress obtained." In answer to these things, Jack Kearns, stormy petrel of this fistic effort, said: "Well, maybe the contract isn't legal. It was drawn in the state of Illinois where boxing contests are not permitted under the law. But what do I care about the technical stuff? I am living up to it. I signed that contract and the promoters are going to do the same thing. If they don't they will wreck the whole thing and then it's up to them to carry out their pop-eyed threats they are making today."

"The third payment is due July 2. If it is not paid—well, about one minute after midnight I'll tell these fellows just exactly what I'll do."

MELLON DEFINES U. S. DRY STAND

Ship Regulations Will Be Enforced Until Congress Modifies Statute

LONDON, June 30.—"There is no chance for relaxation of the dry ship regulations until the American congress modifies the law, unless Washington is able to make treaties with the foreign powers on the subject," Secretary of the American Treasury Andrew Mellon declared here today. Secretary Mellon said he believed that the United States technically had the right to seize liquor-bearing ships, but that no such action was contemplated. He denied that the England-ward voyage of the Majestic, which he traveled, was "wet."

France And Vatican Near To Break Over Ruhr Note

ROME, June 30.—Relations between France and the Vatican were strained almost to the breaking point today as a result of French displeasure over Pope Pius XI's Ruhr note. M. Jonnard suddenly cancelled his proposed reception to the Catholic cardinals. This was attributed to the antagonistic attitude of the French government towards the papal note. It is possible that M. Jonnard may retire as French ambassador to the Vatican. Many Italian papers praise the note as a favorable move towards settlement of the Ruhr problem. There is a feeling in Vatican circles that the note was "interbred in the wrong spirit."

NEW YORK, June 30.—Pearl Baremore, an actress, young, pretty and talented, is starring in a new role, not on the stage, but in real life, according to Mrs. Jean B. Daugherty. Mrs. Daugherty is the wife of Draper M. Daugherty, son of the U. S. attorney general. The actress is playing the "master mind" in the plot which resulted in the escape of young Daugherty from the Stamford Hall sanitarium, according to Mrs. Daugherty. Two months ago Daugherty, following the disclosure of his friendship with Dorothy King, slain Broadway butterfly, was committed to the sanitarium. This was after he had told he had challenged to fistic combat alleged blackmailers who tried to victimize him. At the sanitarium every precaution was taken to prevent the escape of the attorney general's son. But despite the precautions Daugherty is now at liberty. An auto drove up to the grounds—a flashy red car—as Daugherty was taking a walk accompanied by an attendant. Three men jumped from the machine. The guard was overpowered. Since then Daugherty has not been seen. "I know where my husband is, but I cannot tell," Mrs. Daugherty said. "I have been sworn to secrecy. I have not seen him nor heard from him since his escape, but from what I know a woman is responsible for the entire scheme." Mrs. Daugherty then named Pearl Baremore as the woman. The whereabouts of Miss Baremore are a mystery. She has not been seen at her apartment and one report has it that she has not lived at the East Forty-ninth street address since the Daugherty escape. No trace of Daugherty has been found.

DR. OTEY SAYS:
Facts are the raw material out of which science is woven. It is our ability to analyze rather than to collect facts that the establishment of a real science depends. For example, Astronomy, with its ability to predict eclipses, etc., commands respect. In geology they had the facts for thousands of years, but only the last 100 have we had a history of pre-human periods of time on the earth. So, in medicine they had the facts of anatomy and physiology for generations, but till Dr. Still formulated the system of Osteopathy this knowledge was not practically applied to the prevention and cure of disease.

That's All

Making It Warm for You

Harding Should See City

Governor to Be in South

'Good Time Had by All'

By Gil A. Cowan

HOW do you like the hot weather, folks? It really isn't warm yet, but Old Sol is making business good for the fellow who is selling the summer clothing this week-end. And just as a few million seasons had come before everyone was pretty sure that summer would come.

Now that it has come, what are you going to do with it? Tomorrow is just as good a day as another to take a rest in the hills, or if you crave more sunshine try the beach. What a wonderful coat of tan is in store for the bathers!

We fairly delight in warm weather, for it's too hot to sit still and so everybody goes somewhere somehow. A Chicago amusement park made famous the line "Go with the Go-Goes." But it seems that all of "Go-Goes" came to California in the last few years.

Which makes things interesting, to say the least.

It is to be hoped that the local Chamber of Commerce succeeds in bringing President Warren G. Harding to the "fastest growing city in America" if only for an hour.

On March 9, 1921, the president sent his congratulations to Glendale on its prosperity—this shortly after he was inaugurated, and ever since that date there has never been any let up in the enormous building program and the population has doubled.

Nothing should be left undone to apprise the nation's chief executive of the brightest spot of the bright spot in America today and have him officially recognize this city as the greatest growing American home city.

In Butte, Mont., (and Butte is no larger than Glendale) the president yesterday spoke words of optimism for American business.

"No nation in the world looks upon so clear a horizon today," he said. "If we are accused of getting nowhere in particular we may reply at any rate we have been able to stay right here, that we regard it as a good place to stay and that day by day we are getting better and better."

Indeed, Cose must have made his mark in Mr. Harding's memory. And, as far as getting better, it is agreed that the less spoken of foreign entanglements and the more about American industry, thrift and commercial possibilities, so much the better. That's what the west wants to hear.

Incidentally, have you heard that Governor Richardson is going to establish executive offices in Los Angeles during the months of July and August while he "summers" at Long Beach.

Northern California and all of its climate seem utterly incomparable to the Southern California shores where one may bask and bathe and enjoy life. Maybe the governor also recognizes the fact that Los Angeles is entitled to consideration for giving him such an overwhelming majority in the last election.

As for Sacramento, it is almost impossible in summer time and little better in the winter months when the rain and cold make life miserable.

What a wonderful time is being had by all over the site for the new Southern Pacific station in Glendale. And with all the argument the railroad company is unloading material for the structure, it is reported, it would be interesting to know what William Sproul, et al, think of this squabble. Likewise, with the postoffice location. Why not let nature take its course?

It would be possible for us to worry ourselves sick over someone's else business, but what's the use? The railroad has the final say in the matter of location, the same as the postoffice department officials in Washington relative to larger quarters for the Glendale postal activities.

And we ought to be glad to get 'em both, that's what.

AUTO COLLISION

Two hub caps were damaged early last night, about 6:20 o'clock, on Verdugo road, in a collision between automobiles driven by L. V. McCordie and Carl D. Shield. Both drivers were returning to their homes in Tujunga.

TO OBTAIN OIL

Instead of mining the rock, two New York men plan to obtain oil from shale by drilling and dynamiting the deposits, injecting super-heated steam and pumping out the vaporized oil.

Mecca is said by Mohammedans to be "two camel marches," (about sixty miles) from Jiddah, on the Red Sea.

DANGER IN STUBBORN COUGH
Stubborn coughs that hang on are liable to lead to serious complications and should be checked promptly with Foley's Honey and Tar. "I have not coughed since taking Foley's Honey and Tar. ### HORN AND M'DILL NEW REALTY FIRM

Two Glendale Boosters Form Partnership to Sell Local Property

Announcement is made of the formation of a partnership between W. A. Horn, local realtor and member of the Glendale City Council, and Geo. D. McDill, 1951 East Wilson street, to carry on and expand the realty business that has been founded by Mr. Horn. The new firm will be located in Rooms 201 to 203 Lawson Building, 143 North Brand boulevard, and the partnership goes into effect on Monday, July 2.

Mr. McDill has been a resident of Glendale for the past five years and is heavily interested in local real estate. His decision to settle here when he did was taken after a year's close inspection of the towns of Southern California, as Glendale made an appeal to him that none of the other cities was able to do. He has spent many years traveling in the western states, ranging all the way from Mexico to Canada, and he states that he is growing more satisfied with Glendale and its prospects every day.

Mr. McDill was until recently executive secretary of the Pacific Region of the Y. M. C. A., and it was while engaged in this work that he and Mr. Horn became acquainted several years ago, renewing their friendship at intervals as their paths crossed. Mr. Horn was also an active worker in the Y. M. C. A.

TONSILS REMOVED

Miss Mary Prine, of 630 North Maryland avenue, had her tonsils removed this morning at the Glendale Research Hospital.

AGENCY HERE TO AID COLLECTIONS

Experienced Men in Charge Of Organization for Valley District

The San Fernando Valley Collection Agency, opened recently at 103-A North Brand boulevard, with Alan A. Shively as manager, is a carefully planned, comprehensive organization, backed by a man with fifteen years of collection agency experience.

That man is P. J. Murlenig, an attorney, formerly from Fargo, N. D., who, for the past winter and spring, has made his home in Glendale, with his family, at 521 North Louise street.

Mr. Murlenig moved this week to his new residence at 546 North Maryland avenue. He plans to make Glendale his permanent home, and is establishing the San Fernando Valley Collection Agency along the lines of a similar one in Fargo, which enjoys the reputation of being the most successful collection agency in the Northwest.

Glendale Manager.
Alan A. Shively, manager of the Glendale agency, is a University of California graduate, and was formerly connected with the Independent Lumber company of this city. His brother, Harold A. Shively, is finishing a course at a Los Angeles commercial college, and will join the organization in the fall.

SONG AND DANCE AT LEGION POST

Members and Guests Have Fun Riot as Big Program Features Stars

"The Battle of Glendale" was fought last night at 610 East Broadway by comrades of the American Legion. The outfit went over the top about 9 o'clock, which was the zero hour.

Old Man Gloom never got a chance once during the evening to stick his snout into the dugout. The occasion was one of mirth and hilarity and the "fete" is regarded as one of the most successful "lawn parties" ever staged by the local post.

Commander Chalmers Day made the official speech of welcome, which consumed just exactly a minute and a half.

The mess call was not unheeded. The chow was largely hot dogs. A large kennel full of them was available and they were devoured with much rapidity.

The Metropolitan Jazz Trio furnished some of the syncope. This is composed of Gene Delaney, traps; Al Smith, piano, and Ed Outimet, violin—all of Hollywood. They played "Lady of the Evening," "Dearest" and "Rose of Pyramid Land" and other popular hits.

LOCAL MUSIC CLUB IN ANNUAL MEET

Gathering Last Night Most Inspiring; Program Is Given by Artists

From Out of Town Special places were marked for the guests. Those invited from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. John Steven McGroarty, Gertrude Ross, Mrs. Abner L. Upon presentation by Mrs. Jones, Mayor Spencer Robinson gave a welcome greeting to the city of Glendale, complimenting the Music Club as an organization of which the city is justly proud. Responses to the mayor were given by Mrs. J. Spencer-Kelly, president of the Matinee Musical Club of Los Angeles; and Emil Oberholfer, director of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and the Hollywood Bowl orchestra.

Romance of Music It was John Steven McGroarty, who introduced the later program, radiating about the theme, "California Music and Musicians in Song and Story." As the most loyal adopted son claimed by California, Mr. McGroarty spoke simply and wonderfully on "The Romance and Music of Early California Days" and surrounded by some of the richest talent California or America can boast of, he voiced his plea for music that shall be really Californian.

This plea was echoed in the appearance of Gertrude Ross, nationally known composer and pianist, who introduced a group of her own compositions with an informal tribute to California. Assisting Mrs. Ross was Jessie McDonald Patterson, soprano, who sang Mrs. Ross' songs "Carmelita," "Nadie Me Quier," "Delight of the Out of Doors" and "Work." Another popular California composer and artist, beloved by Glendaleans, is Miss Frieda Peycke, and last night she delighted with her pianologue, "The Lost Arrow," the legend of "Yosemite." The second speaker was Merle Armistage, impresario, who spoke briefly on "Composers of California."

Among the honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Marsh of Redlands. Mr. Marsh, who is a composer and pianist, is head of the music department of the University of Redlands. Mrs. Marsh is also a composer and last night Catherine Shank, accompanied by Mr. M. Hennion Robinson, sang Mrs. Marsh's song, "You Are the Evening Cloud." Upon request Mr. Marsh gave an original piano composition, "In A Sunken Garden."

Mrs. W. Hennion Robinson is well known to Glendale music lovers as pianist, but last night she appeared in the role of composer, playing the accompaniment for a group of her songs, sung by Mrs. Shank. The songs were: "You're 'Illusiveness" and "Butterfly."

The final program group were two violin numbers, beautifully played by Calmon Luboviski, accompanied by May McDonald Hope. Malcolm MacLennan, one of the club members, was then introduced by Mrs. Jones, and gave an informal prophecy of success and prosperity for the Glendale Music club.

There were five other features of the affair, the presentation of club officers, the announcement of appointments, the reading of a letter from Miss Hazel Linkogel, the awarding of the silver trophy offered in the membership club contest, and the honoring of Mrs. Jones by the club board.

List of Officers Officers serving the club during the coming year are: Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president; Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, first vice president; Mrs. Dora Gibson, second vice president; Mrs. Frank Arnold, recording secretary; Mrs. Helen Campbell, corresponding secretary; Miss Myrtle Pulliam, assistant corresponding secretary; Mrs. Warren Roberts, treasurer; Mrs. Percy Prialux, financial secretary; Mrs. F. H. Wallace, auditor; Mrs. Alex Mitchell, historian; Mrs. Calvin Whiting, Mrs. Eva Cunningham, Francis Henry, Mrs. Charles Marlenee and Mrs. E. W.

At the honor table the individual places were marked with tiny kewpie dolls artistically gowned in red, white and blue.

The committee in charge of the banquet, of which Anna Fife was chairman, included Edith Pearl Calkins, Carrie Eyerick, Cole Murray, Mr. and Mrs. William Kulp.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Admission was made late yesterday by secret service agents that an investigation is being made of death threats alleged to have been made on the lives of United States District Attorney John T. Williams and Prohibition Director Samuel Rutter as a result of their activity in running down and prosecuting violators of the dry law.

Kinney, directors: Mrs. Lucile Allen, president of Junior Auxiliary; Miss Susie Smith, president of Juvenile Auxiliary.

All Glendale has anxiously awaited news from Miss Hazel Linkogel, talented young violinist, beneficiary of the Music club, who went to Chicago recently to compete for a scholarship under Leopold Auer. In the preliminary tryouts Miss Linkogel was one of five chosen for the final contest, taking place last Sunday. In the latter part of the evening, Mrs. Jones, Miss Linkogel stated that a pupil of Professor Auer, from New York, had been winner, but that she, Miss Linkogel, had won a partial scholarship with Professor Auer. She will study under the direction of an advanced pupil of the great master.

The letter told of playing before Professor Auer, and of a conference with him, and of his praise of her talent.

Select Curators In briefly outlining the work of the club for the coming year, Mrs. Jones told of the organization of an Artists' section, under the directorship of Miss Gertrude Clophas. This section will present one program before the club each year.

An elaborate reception was given last night at the Masonic Temple by the officers of the Glen Eyrice Chapter No. 237, Order of the Eastern Star, honoring past matrons and past patrons and thirty new members.

Early in the evening the past matrons, Mrs. Sallie Braden, Mrs. Dan Campbell, Mrs. E. R. Naudain, Mrs. Adelaide Imler and Mrs. James W. Bell, and past patrons, James W. Bell and Dan Campbell and the new members were escorted and seated in a large circle in the center of the hall by the marshal, Martha C. Mrs. Jennie Phillips, Mae Warrick and Sadie McPherson presented each honored guest with a small silk American flag to distinguish them from the others present.

Matron's Address An address of welcome was then given by the worthy matron, Mildred Irene Lyons, and each past matron and patron gave short talks and Frank Beckett gave a short address representing the thirty new members present.

A pleasing program was presented consisting of dances by little Miss Eleanor Marek and readings by Mrs. Pearl Chambers. Corsage bouquets of red, white and blue flowers were presented to each past matron and Mrs. Pearl Chambers and little Eleanor Marek by Miss Mildred Irene Lyon.

An interesting feature of the evening was a stage coach game in charge of Nellie Davis and in which only the guests of honor participated. An old fashioned spelling match was conducted by Mrs. Jennie Phillips with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Campbell as captains and in which Mrs. William Reynolds was awarded first prize.

Share in Banquet Late in the evening the guests adjourned to the banquet hall, which had been artistically decorated in the patriotic colors. # BOYS LEAVE FOR BIG SCOUT CAMP

Sixty Cheering Youngsters Start in Automobiles For Arrowhead

Sixty jubilant and happy Glendale Boy Scouts, together with the adult leaders left the city by automobile at 6:15 this morning for Camp Royl-Kent near Lake Arrowhead. With ten big joyous days of outdoor camp life before them they were in high spirits giving cheers for their parents and friends as they speeded away.

It is expected that the ten cars carrying the scouts will arrive at Lake Arrowhead about 11 o'clock. After a short stop at the village they will motor the balance of the five miles to the camp which is situated at the forks of Bear and Hook creeks. Upon arriving at Camp Royl-Kent a big feed will be awaiting them. It is said by those who have already sampled his bill of fare that Chief Cook Presser is the best little chef this side of Holland.

Following lunch each troop under the direction of its Scoutmaster will select a site for their own troop camp. A large 16x16 foot army tent will be allotted each troop which will be erected that afternoon. However, the scouts will not be forced to sleep in these tents unless a storm comes up. Each boy will be encouraged to sleep in the out-of-doors, under the giant pine trees with which the camp is plentifully supplied.

The daily camp program has been arranged so that it allows the scouts the utmost freedom consistent with the safety of the camp. Activities for the ten days' outing will include swimming, boating and fishing on Lake Arrowhead. In addition there will be hiking, nature study, games, contests, and many other scout subjects. Instruction will be given in fire protection, cooking, woodcraft, life-saving, signaling and first-aid work. The camp will be one of definite objectives.

Every day will begin with outdoor action and end with the Amanda Rowe, Mae Warrick and Jessie Elizabeth Taylor.

Last evening Harry Redd, worthy patron, who celebrated his birthday anniversary, was presented with a beautiful gold receipt holder by Mildred Lyon, worthy matron, in behalf of the officers of 1923, as a birthday gift.

WOMEN TO STUDY PARLIAMENTARY LAW

Course of Intensive Training Planned for Workers in Public Activity

A group of women who are interested in the study of parliamentary law met at the Glendale Public Library on East Harvard street yesterday to organize a club to take up this subject, the new organization being named the Parliamentary Study Club, using Roberts Rules of Order, revised, for the guidance of the club.

One of the principal objects of the club is to afford women who are engaged in club work or Parent-Teacher Association work an opportunity to perfect themselves in the study of parliamentary law, in order that they may be able to carry out the duties that may devolve on them in an efficient manner.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. C. H. Whitney, president; Mrs. Julian W. Bennett, secretary; Mrs. Amy L. Hjorth, press chairman; Mrs. Reese, membership chairman, who will be assisted by Mrs. A. H. Brown and Mrs. Opal Greenwalt; Mrs. Dean Phillips, social chairman. Mrs. Greenwalt acted as temporary chairman.

It was decided to divide the class into two sections, each under the direction of a captain, and that an effort be made to stimulate interest in the work of the club. It was also decided to extend an invitation to everyone interested in the study of parliamentary law to join the class, which will meet every Friday morning at 10 o'clock, and which will continue its sessions during the summer.

Congratulations were extended to Mrs. Greenwalt on reaching her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

VETERAN PLAYER REVIEWS CAREER

Benjamin C. Heald Reveals Amusing Sidelights of Old Stage Days

Several humorous anecdotes, which occurred during a theatrical career of forty-five years, were narrated by Benjamin C. Heald of 1114 North Adams place yesterday noon in the banquet room of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Kiwanis club.

For five years Mr. Heald was business manager for Frederick Warde, star of The Mission Play. He paid high tribute to Mr. Warde's "kindly, sunny character."

One of the first noted actors Mr. Heald came into contact with was Otis Skinner, who was then stepping on the first rung of the ladder of fame. In a blackface make-up Mr. Skinner had the job of standing in an unconcerned attitude while a short-stemmed clay pipe was shot from his mouth. Frank Fraze, stage sharpshooter, had "the misfortune," as the coroner's jury put it, one season to fail to hit an apple upon the top of his wife's head in a William Tell stunt.

Caesar's Comeback While playing Julius Caesar in Cleveland one Thanksgiving night, Mr. Heald went to sleep during the funeral oration of Mark Antony. When his cloak was pulled aside to show the lifeless corpse of Caesar, Mr. Heald was suddenly chilled by the cold and sat up—much to the mirth of the audience.

Mr. Heald entered the theatrical profession in 1877. At that time only the larger cities had theatres and these had stock companies. Only the stars traveled and their supporting companies remained at home. He called attention to the fact that now nearly every community had its "opry house."

W. R. Brown of Pasadena, district governor of Kiwanis, made a brief report at the luncheon upon the recent convention at Atlanta, Ga. He expressed his opinion that Kiwanis International can be no stronger than the clubs which compose it. He emphasized the necessity of the Kiwanis International adopting a definite constructive program in order to progress.

Praises Club's Pep "This club has a tremendous amount of pep," he admitted. "Of all the clubs in this district, I know of none that has such an amount of latent energy." Mr. Brown complimented the

CORONER TESTIFIES IN DANCER'S DEATH TRIAL

SAN DIEGO, June 30.—Good progress continued yesterday to be made at the second trial of Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, the army captain charged with the murder of Fritz Mann. Soon after court opened in the morning Coroner Kelly took the stand and was taken over the ground he covered in the first trial, with but little deviation.

 Dinner and Dance Last Night Proves Pleasing; Address by J. Edwards
 The Builders' Exchange of Glendale held their first annual dinner dance last night at the Sunset Canyon Country club, the members, wives and friends enjoying a delightful time.
 The affair was held in the main ballroom of the club, which is located within the city limits of Burbank. Music was furnished by A. M. Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra.
 Following a well prepared and served chicken dinner, a forceful address was given by J. C. Edwards, president of the William Simpson Construction company, and one of the charter members of the Associated General Contractors of America.
 At the conclusion of Mr. Edwards' address, there followed a short general discussion of some educational factors of the building business.
 Dancing was then enjoyed for the balance of the evening.

Hotel Officials to Meet Monday
 Directors and Stockholders Will Complete Plans at C. of C. Rooms

Jones. The directors will meet at 7:30 p. m., and the stockholders will meet with the board at 8 o'clock, when organization of the corporation will be taken up, officers elected, and whatever other business comes up will be transacted.
 Mr. Jones has already sent the articles of incorporation to the state and expects to have the certificate back again today, and every effort will be made to rush the preliminary plans for the building of the hotel to completion as rapidly as possible.

 Dancing and Cards Will Be Features of Party at Masonic Temple
 Glendaleans will again have the pleasure of attending tonight, at the Masonic temple, another of the delightful social affairs for which the Onar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, is noted. This affair will be in the nature of a summer dance and card party, for which elaborate plans have been arranged. The proceeds will be applied toward the Masonic building fund.
 Special features of the evening will be a series of favor dances, and, during the grand march, the women will all receive tissue paper parasols and the men canes as favors. The music for the evening will be furnished by the popular Kelly Shrine Club orchestra.
 The committee in charge of the affair includes Mrs. William McMillan, chairman; Mrs. Maude Evans, Mrs. Edith Richardson, Alvah Leland, Warren Roberts and Porter Custer. Mrs. Warren Roberts will be in charge of the card tables.

 boulevard to Eulalia be vacated for park purposes. This, together with the railroad grounds properly laid out would present a splendid setting for the station building and would, at the same time make an attractive park for the south part of town.
 It is also recommended that the lumber yard now occupying railroad property the full length of Railroad street, be removed as soon as possible and that the Southern Pacific company be requested to dedicate sufficient front to properly widen Railroad street from Eulalia to Los Feliz. It is further recommended that the small piece of property lying between the railroad grounds and Brand boulevard be also vacated, thereby making possible an attractive entrance direct from Brand boulevard.
 It is apparent that should this plan be approved and carried out, the exact location of the depot is but a matter of railroad convenience and artistic effect as there will then be some six direct entrances to the grounds with street cars and bus lines of easy access.
Ambitious Project
 The members of your committee in submitting this report, do so with a full realization of the bigness of the project recommended. They believe, however, that it is not too big for Glendale and that Glendale cannot afford to turn it down. They believe, furthermore, that when everything is taken into consideration the cost of the project here proposed will scarcely be greater than the ultimate cost of other propositions and with infinitely greater benefits to the immediate neighborhood and the city in general.
 The question will arise in every mind as to how such a project can be carried out. It is outside the province of this committee to go into ways and means but it begs to suggest that popular subscriptions may be used as means for raising at least part of the amount needed. This method would make it possible for interested outside municipalities and corporations to contribute to a general public convenience.

 Fourth Annual Event Is Being Held Today at Verdugo Park
 Verdugo park is the scene today of the fourth annual picnic of the Southern California Gas company.
 S. C. Singer of 530 North Central avenue, manager for the San Fernando district, and the 250 or more employes who make 124 North Maryland avenue their headquarters, are hosts today to over 1000 picnickers.
 A ball game was a feature of the morning. This was a "hot" contest between the Los Angeles Division team and a picked team from all other divisions.
 Secretary of state at Sacramento, noon—and remained open for the most part during the rest of the afternoon. Ice cream, cold drinks and coffee were served at the expense of the company.
 Special trains over the Pacific Electric and chartered automobile busses brought out-of-town members of the Southern California Gas company's family. Glendale's hat is off today to "the Gas House Gang."
 Every member of many Detroit families is employed in laundry work and this gives laundries there an increase in family washing that is taxing their capacities.

 A distinct honor has come to Mrs. Lillian Ballagh, of 308 North Louise street, who received appointment yesterday from Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, national regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, as California's national chairman of colonial relics.
 Mrs. Ballagh, in addition to being a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, is a member of the American Colonial Dames. She has served as California state chairman of colonial relics during the past year.

CHURCH PROGRAM STIRS INTEREST
 Communion and Special Music Will Feature Services at Tabernacle
 A day full of interest is anticipated by attendants tomorrow at the Gospel Tabernacle church at the corner of Louise and Chestnut streets, according to Rev. C. H. Chrisman, pastor.
 At the morning service at 11 o'clock Rev. Chrisman will preach on "Paul, The Pattern Man of Power" and the Lord's Supper will be celebrated. Miss Turh Twinkel of Spokane, Wash., is to sing a contralto solo.
 A happy feature of the day will be the presence of "Uncle Charlie" (Charles Donle), who returns to give one of his object talks at 7:30 o'clock. At this service J. H. Robinson of Spokane, Wash., will give a bass solo.

PLUMBERS MEET FOR BIG PICNIC Glendale Forces Shut Up Shop and Leave for Day at Brookside

Merchant and Journeymen plumbers of the San Fernando valley and elsewhere in the Southland are holding a big picnic today at Brookside park, Pasadena, where with their wives, families and friends they have rallied for a mammoth program of sports, games, contests and dancing.

Plumbing shops of Glendale, Burbank, Eagle Rock, Van Nuys, Lankershim, San Fernando and other points have forgotten business for the day, closing their doors to be present in the full spirit of the big annual rally.

A long caravan of gaily decorated autos passed up Brand boulevard at about 9 o'clock this morning, tooting their horns to give vent to their exuberance and let the world know they are fitting no pipes today.

Among other events scheduled are a baseball game and a tug-of-war, and there will be the customary bazaars and other picnic features. Several addresses by prominent speakers, and a special program of entertainment, are scheduled.

LOCAL POSTOFFICE Hours: 8:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. Money Order: 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Public windows closed on holidays and Sundays.

New Superintendent Chosen To Succeed C. E. Ainger In Church Work

J. L. Brown has been appointed superintendent of the La Crescenta Sunday school, to succeed C. E. Ainger, who has resigned by reason of his numerous duties as scoutmaster. He will, however, remain as assistant to Mr. Brown, who has for some years served as superintendent of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church, Glendale.
Officers of the local church are delighted to have so competent a person in charge of the Sunday school. In keeping with this change and by reason of the remarkable growth of the church, arrangements have been made to hold services in the school auditorium, until such time as the Community church is completed, the little old adobe on Michigan avenue being completely inadequate to the need.
Work on this church is not progressing very rapidly, owing to the fact that funds pledged are slow in coming in, reports Simon Bickel, treasurer, who reports that any who can fulfill these pledges conveniently at this time should mail the money to him.

School Bids to Open
Bids for additions to the Los Angeles avenue school house will be opened by the board on Wednesday night, July 11, the original bids having been rejected.
These new bids are called on the general contract, with the exception of the heating, which will be received as a separate bid and the painting, which will be done by day labor.
It is proposed to make improvements on the grounds as well as on the addition itself, which will be two new rooms of brick and concrete. A certified check for five per cent of the sum bid must accompany all bids turned in.

Match Starts Fire
A match carelessly thrown by a passing motorist started a brush fire at Sparr Heights yesterday that might have resulted disastrously, but for the quick action of Mr. Card, a salesman at the tract, who drove to Young's garage and summoned the fire department, which subdued the blaze in short order.
The autoist, needless to say, kept on going.
The La Crescenta fire truck is being painted a brilliant red, the work being done by Chief Young in person.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Dusen and family have gone on a motor trip to Lake Tahoe. They expect to be gone about three weeks.
James Glenn, U. S. N., is visiting his parents on Mayfield avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bissell are enjoying a visit from Mrs. Bissell, Sr., who has just returned from the Orient.
Doctors Wemple and Telfer are attending the big San Francisco convention of medics.
A party of Campfire Girls who enjoyed a picnic in Brookfield park this afternoon are Irene Murdock, Sarah Goldenberg, Beatrice Murdock and Margaret Brown. They were chaperoned by Mrs. Murdock, Campfire leader.

Escapes Accident
Mrs. Alice Bennett, new owner of the La Crescenta pharmacy, had a narrow escape from serious accident yesterday, when helping place one of the show cases she is installing.
Mrs. Bennett, being under the impression the case she was putting into place was well balanced, pushed against it—when the glass gave way. She jumped back just in time to avoid being badly cut.

The new fountain being installed at the pharmacy, with new stationary stools and a much larger and longer counter than the old one. The north side of this shop is now filled with mahogany wall cases, presenting a most attractive appearance, against the freshly tinted buff walls.
A new ice cream chest has also been installed.
Miss Helen Fisher of Altura avenue has as her guest Miss Rosalie Granda Jean of Santa Monica.
Little Miss Grieg Fulsome, of Los Angeles, visited Miss Margaret Hauber of Ramsdale avenue recently, coming up to play on the program at the Seymour Thomas garden party, where she delighted the audience with her clever playing. She has studied with Miss Hauber for three years and is a brilliant pupil and performer.

AUTO INDUSTRY CLOSSES PROSPEROUS SIX MONTHS

Period Ending Today Sets New Mark; Good Outlook for Rest of Year; Plenty of Money to Aid in Sale of Cars

DETROIT, June 30.—Today the automobile industry will close the most prosperous and progressive six months in its brilliant history. In early January every indication pointed to a season of unbounded business, and a glimpse of the balance sheets of the various manufacturers for the period now closing discloses promises fulfilled and predictions over-fulfilled.

In early January, all those given to forecasts were most enthusiastic over trade during the first six months. Opinion seemed to be unanimous that the period would set a new mark. There were no pessimists and even the wildest optimist undershot his mark. But there were not so many dealers in predictions when the second half of the year was discussed.

"What is the outlook for the second half of the year?" This is the question that automobile men are asking.

Will Beat Last Year

Few agree that it will surpass or equal the unprecedented business of the last six months. A cross section of opinions voiced by several recognized executives is that while trade during the next six months will not equal the business of the last six months, it will set new marks as opposed to the corresponding period of last year.

A slight seasonal slowing up will probably take place in July and August with September showing a decided pick up. Smart fall trade is expected.

Two reasons in particular are given by manufacturers to substantiate predictions that business will continue good.

First, the farm market is just opening up. Good crops generally are assured throughout the country and the farmer who might have hesitated in buying a car up to this time has no further reason to delay. When it is remembered that more than half the total consumption of automobiles is registered in agricultural districts the significance of this condition may be appreciated.

Starting Up in South

Second sales in the southern states have just started to assume their proper proportion in relation to the remainder of the country. The bulk of the sales in the last six months has gone into the metropolitan centers, industrial districts and California, which shows a better all-season market than any other state.

According to present indications, the industry will consume about fifteen per cent less steel during the second half than during the first half of the year.

Automobile Industry In California Growing

SACRAMENTO, June 30.—Comparative figures compiled by Will H. Marsh, chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles, for the month of May show a very healthy increase in the automobile industry in the state of California.

Receipts of the department for May, 1922, amounted to $253,591.55, whereas May, 1923, shows a total collection of $375,986.65, or an increase over the same month of one year ago of $122,395.10. The total registrations for May, 1922, were 27,685, whereas May, 1923, shows 40,853, or a net increase of 13,168 machines. Although the increase this year over the same month last year amounts to approximately thirty per cent, the payroll costs for the department show a decided decrease. The payroll of May, 1922, was $28,751.39, whereas the 1923 payroll amounted to $26,736.72, a net saving in this item alone of $2,014.67.

New Policy For Headlight Tests Will Be Tried

SACRAMENTO, June 30.—Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the State Motor Vehicle Department, has announced a new policy to be adopted in connection with the establishment of headlight testing stations throughout the state.

Heretofore a quasi official sanction has been given certain testing agencies established by the California Auto Trades Association. These agencies are to be supplanted by official stations under the immediate control and supervision of the Motor Vehicle Department, according to Marsh. It will be the policy of the department to see that each station is properly equipped with uniform headlight charts and other paraphernalia necessary for the work.

Marsh declared that it is proposed to establish the testing agencies in every section of the state, and in connection with local traffic officers the department hopes to carry on a campaign of education and enforcement which will thoroughly eradicate the present headlight evil.

No provision is contained in the new automobile act, Marsh said, for the fixing of a testing fee and no attempt will be made by the department to regulate the fees charged for headlight adjustments. However, any attempt on the part of the official adjusting station to overcharge the customer will result in the suspension of the agency so offending, as an official station.

LICENSES REVOKED

Since January licenses of 107 motor drivers have been revoked in Pennsylvania for violations of the state motor laws. Eighty-seven drivers who lost licenses were convicted of driving while intoxicated.

ABSENCE OF TRAPS NOT TO RESULT IN SPEEDING

Auto Club Sure Uniformed Officers Will Put Fear Into Those Who May Decide to Step Rather Hard on 'Gas'

Ridiculing the rumor of test cases to ascertain the validity of the provision in the Motor Vehicle Act which goes into effect September 1—practically eliminating "speed traps" from California highways—by making testimony thus secured invalid, officials of the Auto Club of Southern California declare that the absence of the "speed trap" will not mean an avalanche of reckless speeding.

This provision of the new Motor Vehicle Act, as pointed out by the auto club, merely means that uniformed officers will patrol the highways "in the open" rather than spending their time hiding behind billboards, or smoking their pipes under culverts. While it is also pointed out that the motor organizations of California did not directly introduce or advocate the introduction of the "no speed traps" provision of the new act, they have concurred in the general belief that such a provision would work out for the betterment of all conditions concerned.

Result in Protests

It is realized that it is impossible to cover every mile of California highways with uniformed officers, and also that a properly planned speed trap serves a proper purpose. According to the authorities, sentiment against speed traps developed from the localized habit of establishing a trap in such a way as to make the evidence thus secured unfair and valueless.

"Municipalities would not have their police officers hide behind sign-boards or under houses rather than walk their beats, in order to prevent crime," point out the auto club officials. "There would be just as much sense in providing uniformed motorcycle officers on the highways and then pay them, as has been the case, to spend their entire day sitting comfortably in some secluded speed trap and nabbing motorists in that one small section of the road. By placing the speed officers out on the highways here, their mere presence in passing by will remind motorists that they must keep within the law as regards speed.

In Fear of Law

"Pickpockets and other minor offenders would not be stopped in their criminal progress if it were not for the uniformed patrolman who is within call of their victims. If the patrolman were hiding behind a billboard somewhere, he would not be of much service to throw the fear of the law into criminals at large."

No parallel is drawn between law-evading motorists and pickpockets, but the inference is that in the case of the law-breakers, the strong arm of the law should be in evidence so as to be available, not only in case of accident, but also in case of reckless driving, which may take place outside of any limited area included in a speed trap.

Clubs to Use Radio To Send Road Data

Automobile clubs in many cities are arranging to make radio a real aid to auto tourists this summer, and receiving sets will constitute an important part of the equipment of many tourists. Bulletins on the condition of roads, weather forecasts, and general information of value to tourists are to be broadcasted from a number of cities through arrangement with clubs, while press dispatches, sporting results, and the broadcast programs in general will serve to make enjoyable the nights spent in camps along the roads.

More accidents were recorded in day time than any other period of the day in Massachusetts.

New York Says Large Good-Bye To Fred Wagner

NEW YORK'S good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Wagner on the eve of their departure for California, which took the form of a big banquet at the Hotel Astor on June 4, did metropolitan motorists proud. It was an affectionate and worthy farewell to the veteran race starter, who has been loved by New Yorkers during his long prominence in motor car racing, journalism and business since Elwood Haynes began to market America's first car way back in the last century.

New York also paid a well deserved tribute to the hospitality of Mrs. Wag, who for many years was hostess at the annual "Booster picnics" down at his Smithtown, Long Island, farm by having her present as "guest of honor."

Close to 200 friends participated in this memorable Wagnerian send-off. They included not only old timers in the sport and industry but high officials of the state and city; for included among the speakers were: U. S. Senator Royal J. Copeland, State Senator James Walker and Police Commissioner John A. Harris, inventor of New York's traffic handling system.

Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, who has been an associate of Wag in the sport, trade and newspaper ends of his career dating back to bicycle days, acted as toastmaster.

One Car to Each 16 Persons in Canada

Automobiles in Canada now number 616,307, or one car to every sixteen persons. Ontario owns the greatest number of cars, having 238,600. Quebec is second with 69,324, and Saskatchewan, third, 41,885.

DRIVERS TESTING CARS FOR KANSAS CITY RACE

Famous Pilots Will Be Seen In Great Meet On Holiday; Small Piston Displacement Feature of New Racing Machine

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 30.—Whirring motors, the roar of speeding motor cars and racing engines are familiar sounds in the vicinity of the Kansas City Speedway these days, where internationally famous cars are already beginning to appear for their preliminary trials that will insure their entry or cancellation of entry in the great sporting classic of the southwest here July 4.

Manager L. J. Smyth, of the Speedway Association, expects to have most of the cars here soon. One of the first is Leon Duray, veteran driver, who has brought the cars of the Durant team and a force of mechanics. High interest is being shown in these cars because of their performance in the Indianapolis speed classic Memorial Day.

Best of Drivers

Tommy Milton, winner of the Indiana classic; Jimmy Murphy, Eddie Hearne and other members of the team are here, as well as Fred Comer, manager of the Durant team. Cliff Durant, millionaire driver and manufacturer, will arrive soon.

Although there will be nearly thirty entries in the Kansas City race, it is understood that not more than fifteen or eighteen of the cars will be permitted to qualify, and then only under the guidance of drivers who "know their stuff."

Stringent regulations are to be laid down henceforth by the A. A. A. to insure not only the keenest competition in the speedway game, but also to mark it by the latest safety devices and the greatest driving talent.

Will Be Acid Test

The Kansas City test will be the acid test for the cars of 122 cubic inch piston displacement as compared with the 183-inch cars used in the 1922 race. In Indianapolis the small cars held up in grand shape for the long 500-mile race, but with the Kansas City event just half the distance and over a board track it is expected that new world's records for speed will be hung up.

In competition with outside talent Kansas City will have its own entry, to be known as the "K. C. Special." Backed by George L. Wade, local sportsman, and driven by Harlan Fergler, the youngest as well as one of the most capable drivers on the speedway circuits, the Kansas City entry probably will be ready for its first practice trip around the bowl shortly.

Eight In Row

The new car will be of the "eight in a row" type, with a piston displacement of 122 cubic inches, and will carry the driver only. It will have a maximum speed of at least 120 miles an hour and will weigh slightly in excess of 1,400 pounds.

Harlan Fergler, who has been chosen to drive this creation, has been selected partly because of the conservative showing he made recently at Indianapolis and partly because of his youth. He is only twenty-three.

Rigid Permit Tests Proposed by French

To obtain a driver's license in France it is now proposed that applicants not only be made to undergo a traffic examination in congested districts, guiding their cars through narrow streets clogged with vehicles, but also that they submit to a rigid medical inspection, which will include a study of any ancestral indications of insanity.

Check up tire pressure at least once a week, and always inflate tires to the pressure indicated by the manufacturer.

Hupmobile Figures Reveal
Low Operating Costs
On 117,353 Autos

The cost for repair parts to the owners of the 117,353 Hupmobiles in use throughout the world in 1922 reached the remarkably low level of $15.53 per car, it is announced by Bartlett & French, Hupmobile dealers in Glendale. These figures were compiled by the Hupp Motor Car Corporation after careful research.

Costs of repair parts to Hupmobile owners last year dropped to the lowest level they have ever attained since the corporation began recording these figures in 1916, it is also stated.

"The real significance of these figures is not that they represent but a trifle more than $1 per month per car," declares Charles D. Hastings, president and general manager of the Hupp corporation. "Rather, it is that they cover not only the current series R cars, but every single Hupmobile in use. Included in the figures are thousands of Hupmobiles which are more than eight years old and still more thousands which have served continuously more than six years. If we had included in the list only the series R cars, our present models, the basic design of which we began manufacturing nearly six years ago, it is certain that the repair parts cost would have been found to be even lower. Hundreds of Hupmobiles still in use were produced in 1916 or before."

Veteran Ford Makes Economical Showing

W. H. Aupperch of Grand Junction, Colo., arrived in Glendale this week from his home in Colorado, driving a 1909 model Ford roadster, No. 10,483, having covered the distance with $60 pounds of baggage and equipment in addition to the two persons riding in the car. Outside of a repair bill of $150 for broken shock absorbers, the car came through without any extra cost.

It is easier to speak on generalities than to think on details.

MUD AND GRADES EASY FOR BUICK

Four Sedan Battles Way
Over Obstacles With Perfect Score

Spattered to the roof with mud and Kansas and Oklahoma mud, but with his engine running like a charm, W. J. Reser, 1505 South Glendale avenue, rolled his Buick Four cylinder Sedan, 1923 model, into the Tanner & Hall service station at 237 South Brand boulevard yesterday at the end of a 5089 mile trip and defied the boys to find a weak spot in the entire machine.

Mr. and Mrs. Reser, carrying a camping outfit and other miscellaneous baggage, left Glendale on April 24, for a trip that carried them through Colorado Springs, Colorado, Great Bend and Wichita, Kansas; Tulsa, Oklahoma, and other cities along the route, and never spent a dollar on repair bills on the entire trip, and only changed one casing that had been damaged by a nail, returning with the car in first-class shape. The route through Kansas and Oklahoma, clear over to Tucumcari, N. M., was just one cloudburst after another, with perpendicular washes cut through the dirt roads as the water poured down from the draws and canyons, but the little Buick took all the obstacles like a bird and never gave a bit of trouble. Even La Bajada Hill and Raton Pass, in New Mexico, two of the nightmares for the motorists, failed to bother the sedan, and Mr. and Mrs. Reser come back to Glendale more than ever sold on the Buick.

At the start of the trip, when the Buick had only 350 miles to its credit, they went down around San Diego and through the Imperial Valley to Phoenix, Ariz., a distance of 685 miles, using thirty-one gallons of gasoline and one quart of oil, and the average mileage ran twenty-three miles to the gallon all through the trip. In many places the mud was axle deep, but the car pulled through without an effort, piling up another perfect score for Buick and justifying all the claims that have been made for the car.

AGENTS RECEIVE FIRST RED BIRD

Latest Overland Creation
Causes Enthusiasm
Among Motorists

The delivery here of one of the new Overland Red Birds, the car that has been causing such a furore throughout the motoring world, has aroused an even keener interest in the car than was shown when it was first announced, according to George T. Smith, of Smith, Sloan, Inc., 228 South Brand, local distributors. The firm has been assured a quicker and larger shipment of cars to take care of their rapidly growing trade in this territory, and purchasers can be assured of quick delivery of their orders.

In addition to embodying in an unusual degree the essentials of skillful design and solidity of construction, the Red Bird is specially notable for the complete equipment it carries on leaving the factory.

The Red Bird is characterized by the installation of a number of refinements and conveniences, all necessities for complete motoring satisfaction, that point indisputably to greater values for the purchaser. This latest model is a brilliant accomplishment by the Willys-Overland Company and as usual represents a successful effort to provide up-to-date and economical transportation for the American public.

QUOTES FIGURES ON FORD OUTPUT

Week of June 12 Highest in History of Firm, Say
Reports to Smith

Two new production records were established by the Ford Motor Company during the week ending Tuesday, June 12, according to reports reaching Jesse E. Smith, 125 West Colorado, local agent. The total domestic output for the week was 40,346 Ford cars and trucks, 783 more than the last high week, that ending May 29 with its total of 39,563.

Daily production went to a high figure June 12, when the Ford assembly plants turned out 6,788 cars and trucks, beating the record of 6,781 established on May 28. Fordson tractor production for the week was 2,698.

The Lincoln division of the Ford Motor Company produced 174 cars for the week ending Tuesday. Ford motor No. 7,777,777 was turned out at the Ford Motor Company on June 8 and shipped on that date to the Los Angeles branch of the company.

GRAPHITE FOR TUBES

Graphite is much better than soapstone for coating inner tubes for tires. A coating of graphite prevents "blooming," eliminates friction between tube and casing, and practically doubles the life of the tube. Graphite cannot be destroyed or worn out and, unlike soapstone, it does not change under the heat and wear of a tire in service.

BANNER YEAR IN SALES EXPECTED

Packer Auto Co. Preparing To Supply Big Demand For Studebakers

Officials of the Packer Auto Company, 245 South Brand boulevard, are laying their plans to cope with what promises to be the biggest sales year in the history of the organization, according to Robert L. Conover, sales manager, who has just completed arrangements for larger deliveries of Studebakers of all models from the enlarged factories in the east. "The reason for this growing demand for Studebakers is not far to seek," declared Conover. "It lies in the merit that is built into every car that leaves the factory, both in its mechanical excellence, its economy of operation, and the refinements that are incorporated in the car."

While Studebaker was building wagons, buggies and other horse-drawn vehicles they endeavored to manufacture a complete line.

Varied Body Line
"Today in their production of fine motor cars they are accomplishing the same object by producing a varied line of bodies on three distinct classes as regards size."

"There are many men who have found that it is possible to obtain in the line of Studebaker Satisfying Sixes whatever type of transportation they may need with a satisfaction of performance and an economy of operation that is gratifying."

"For this reason it is not uncommon to find an individual or an organization with a number of Studebakers with a wide variety among the models used."

"After years of experience in building both small and large cars ranging in price from near the top to near the bottom, Studebaker has concentrated on three six-cylinder chassis to cover the entire field of passenger transportation exclusive of the commercial passenger bus."

"Studebaker owners who have kept strict accounting of operating costs have reported that the Light Six is more economical than the four-cylinder, light-weight cars they have been using and possible of greater satisfaction of performance."

"Those who have adopted the Big Six models discovered that they obtained as fine performance as money would buy without having to make as large initial investments as they had made before for heavier cars."

Many Refinements
"Paralleling the development of the Studebaker chassis has come a refinement of design and finish in bodies. In 1923 the Light Six is announced as having a new all-steel body on the touring model. Such construction eliminates the use of wood and makes possible the use of baked enamel finishes. The greater durability of this finish and the ease with which it is kept in good appearance makes a strong appeal to the owner. With the added room in the new body of the Light Six greater comfort is obtained. Yet these improvements and others have been accomplished without an increase of price."

"Both the Special Six and the Big Six models have been equipped in a lavish manner with many desirable accessories. The Special Six remains the same in price and the additions to the Big Six, such as disc wheels, bumpers, motor, spare tire complete, and other accessories, add more value by many dollars than the slight increase in price which became effective late last year."

"It is a very common statement that the Studebaker has a complete line of complete cars."

INSTITUTE NEW SERVICE SYSTEM

Maxwell Agent Inaugurates 'Flat Rate Guaranteed' Care of Autos

Lyman P. Clark, Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado street, local Maxwell dealer, has instituted a new and complete motor car service plan that seems destined to revolutionize present-day ideas of automobile service merchandising and reduce owners' expenses to an absolute minimum. The system adopted by Lyman P. Clark is known as "Maxwell Flat Rate Guaranteed Service," and is the result of an extended period of careful study and planning by the service department of the Maxwell Motor Corporation.

Mr. Lyman describes the plan as follows: "The motor car buyer today is inclined to lay less stress upon advertising claims and more stress upon his own and his friends' experiences. In the final analysis of motor car values he has learned that the cost of service during the entire ownership period must be added to the initial cost in order to determine the real cost of the automobile. Thus an automobile of quality and value that has these elements parallel in its dealers' service stations becomes a safe car to buy."

"Maxwell Flat Rate Guaranteed Service assures him that this organization is not only equipped to give the service which the owner has the right to expect, but guarantees to do so, and at a fixed rate for each job. The high cost of loading on the part of shop mechanics is eliminated. When a man brings his car to our service station we tell him in advance exactly what his required job will cost."

"The service department of the Maxwell Motor Corporation determined by close and careful supervision that a first-class mechanic, working steadily and efficiently with the highest grade and most modern equipment and tools, could perform a given service operation in a certain minimum time. These time-studies of the Maxwell Motor Corporation became the basis of the prescribed flat-rate charges which we have adopted."

"Naturally, the best type of skilled men is constantly attracted to the shop working under this plan, for the mechanics' earnings are limited only by his ability and willingness to perform satisfactory work. As each job is guaranteed in writing and must be right, work that is not well done is thrown back on the mechanic and he is the loser. The poor craftsman cannot remain in a shop working under such system."

STIFF STEERING

In locating tightness that causes stiff steering, one unit at a time must be treated. Disconnect the drag link and try steering the front wheels by hand.

LIABLE FOR PASSENGERS

Drivers of motor cars traveling through certain parts of England are not only responsible for the handling of their vehicles, but are now liable to be fined if they allow their passengers to misbehave during the trip.

SHIFTING GEARS

Economy, as well as comfort, is involved in shifting gears properly. A good driver, just at the instant of shifting the gear, should throttle down his engine one-half and bring the number of revolutions of the gear shaft to approximately that of the transmission shaft, which is kept in motion by the momentum of the car.

CONCERNING BATTERY

Always use a standard battery for the car. There are no fewer than 100 different makes on the market, and a large percentage of these are virtually worthless when compared to batteries made by responsible concerns.

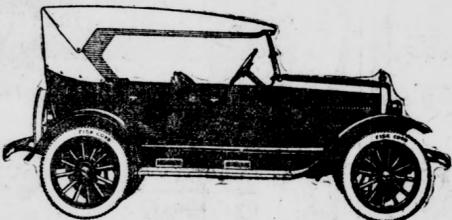

In a fertile mind the devil has a poor chance to plant the seed of lust.

PARKING ON ROOF

To relieve the traffic congestion in Seattle, Wash., the roof of a downtown business building has been converted into an automobile parking station. A special runway has been built to the roof, which will accommodate 100 cars.

'CAPITAL' FOR TOURISTS

Tampa is the "tin-can tourist capital" of Florida with a tent city of more than 400 motor cars and their 2,300 owners and tourists. The camp is subdivided into a city of twelve streets.

C. L. Smith's Boys to Gather At Pellegrini Garage For Celebration

The entire staff of the C. L. Smith Chevrolet agency, at the corner of Orange and Colorado, will don their best bib and tucker and show up tonight at the Pellegrini garage at 1321 South San Fernando road, when the Pellegrini Brothers celebrate the first anniversary of their business at that location.

The Pellegrini Brothers have been acting as sub-agents for C. L. Smith in the success of the Smith agency, a fact which is generously acknowledged by Mr. Smith in discussing the growth of his business here during the past year, and the participation of the Smith staff in the Pellegrini celebration is intended as a means of showing the appreciation felt by the entire Chevrolet organization for the work done by the hosts of the evening.

With close to seventy cars sold already in June and with the prospect of running this number considerably higher, the Smith organization is up to its toes to make this month one of the best, if not entirely the best, of the firm's history, and the demand for Chevrolets is materially aiding the sales force in disposing of the cars to the many prospects.

C. L. Smith, who spent last week-end fishing at Arrowhead Lake, as is his custom, brought back a fine mess of trout which he distributed among some of his favored friends, and included in

ARROWHEAD ROAD TESTS CHANDLER

Famous Pike's Peak Motor Is Given Hard Try-out On Mountain Grades

Details of an official test of the Pike's Peak motor that is the outstanding element of the new Chandler car, that was conducted last week by the Southern California distributors, W. P. Herbert Company of Los Angeles, have been received by the local agents, Smith & Howe, 116 North Maryland street, and confirm all that has already been claimed for this new motor that has been making motoring history since it was first introduced a short time ago.

The car was driven up the trail to Arrowhead Lake, making the entire trip in high, making a perfect score and taking the steep grades of the trail with an ease that surprised the hardened automobile men who formed the party. The car was a stock five-passenger touring car. Other tests on some of the steepest mountain climbs are being planned for the Pike's Peak motor, and the results of these are expected to place the Chandler even more firmly among the most efficient pieces of motoring machinery in the country today.

PRICES SLASHED ON TIRE STOCKS

Cut Rate Store Will Dispose Of Big Assortment to Close Business

Other business which requires most of his time, makes it necessary for H. A. Conger, one of the proprietors of the Cut Rate Tire Store at 212 West Broadway, to dispose of the entire stock of tires and tubes and will be sold regardless of price.

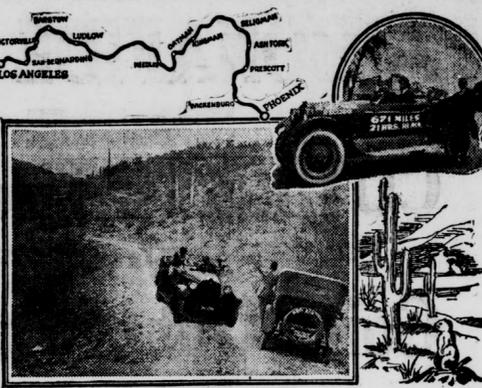

The Cut Rate Tire Store has been doing business at 212 West Broadway where they built up a big business, and their patrons no doubt will be very glad to take advantage of this sale.

Mr. Fangman has been associated with Mr. Conger in the business, and inasmuch as they have built up a big business among their Glendale friends, it is possible that Mr. Fangman will continue business at another location. However, in order to make partnership adjustments, their entire present stock will be sold regardless of cost.

Most Fatal Accidents Happen in Daylight

Of the 522 fatal accidents involving automobiles that occurred in Massachusetts in 1922, 315 occurred in the daytime, thirty-one at dusk, and 155 at night. In 44 cases, the sky was clear, in thirty-two it rained; in twenty there was a mist; in six fog and in four snow. The combined causes including snow and ice, mud and wet pavements, only counted for 119 fatal accidents, 397 having taken place on dry pavements.

Los Angeles-To-Phoenix Record Is Broken By Reo

Starting from Los Angeles at midnight, a stock Reo seven-passenger touring car nosed eastward recently. Just twenty-one hours and eighteen minutes later the same car was in Phoenix, Arizona, and the existing record had been lowered by one hour and twenty-six minutes. The distance is 671 miles, and covers some of the worst territory in the southwest, says Harry E. White, Reo agent.

The route was over the highway to Victorville, then across the desert to Needles, and through the mountains of northwestern Arizona by way of Kingman, Seligman, Prescott, Wickenburg, and Hot Springs Junction, into Phoenix.

Brea Canyon Road Is Made Safe for Autos

POMONA, June 30.—Unusual protective measures are being taken in the Brea Canyon road to assure safe driving for motorists in wet weather.

Stout fences are being built at the more dangerous turns, especially where the road follows the side of the steep hills and gravel is being placed on the shoulders of each of the turns and inclines to prevent the rain from washing the fine silt over the new cement highway.

In damp weather this silt assumes a quality approaching that of grease and several cars have slid from the road and overturned on one occasion resulting in a fatality.

The work is being done by the county road gang under the supervision of Road Commissioner Jones and comes as a result of agitation started by the Pomona office of the Automobile Club of Southern California. The Auto Club will soon have signs posted all along the Brea Canyon road warning motorists of its treachery in wet weather.

6,000,000 Fords Are In Use in America

That satisfying "at home" feeling which the Ford tourist always has felt wherever he has gone will be stronger than ever this summer. There are now nearly 6,000,000 Ford cars in use in the United States, and he will come upon more members of the great Ford family in the towns and cities and along the highways of the nation than in any year heretofore.

was crossed and good roads were left behind. On the desert roads speeds as high as seventy miles per hour were made. Since the purpose of the run was to bring to light any possible structural weaknesses in Reo, such terrific punishment as this was deliberately sought, rather than speed records over smooth roads. Average speed from Los Angeles to Needles was only thirty-two miles per hour.

Driver Bigelow, who brought the Reo into Phoenix, and newspaper representatives accompanying him, declared that no mechanical trouble of any kind was encountered. Two stops were made because of tire punctures but no time was lost even for adjustments on the car itself. No weaknesses were found in an examination of the Reo at the end of the run.

EXAMINATION METHOD SUCCESS

Probing Fitness of Drivers Works Out Well in Massachusetts

Official examination of prospective motor-car drivers to determine their fitness to sit behind wheels of new automobiles—a plan often talked of for California—is working out in excellent fashion in Massachusetts. The result has been a decrease of accidents and through proper arrangement of the testings, they have been found neither too expensive nor time wasting.

This is the word brought back by Robert S. Breyer, general manager of a motor sales company, who, on a three weeks' eastern trip to various motor-car factories, also spent several days in his home city, Boston.

"In Boston, alone, on the day before Memorial Day," Mr. Breyer said, "a total of 300 applicants for drivers' licenses were rejected by the examiners. Inasmuch as many accidents occur on holidays, it will thus be seen that probably dozens of accidents were prevented through elimination of that big squad of incompetents."

That the examinations are most thorough and practical and get at the very root of the accident malady, may be judged, Mr. Breyer points out, by their use of the road test. Prospective drivers are not merely questioned; with an examiner to accompany them they are taken out on the roads and into crowded traffic and made to go through the following paces:

Straight-away driving, three left and three right turns in city traffic, complete turn around at difficult intersection, series of difficult backings, parking tests, made to drive up a steep hill, stop, kill their motors and then start them again and climb the hill.

Police in Dry Raid Held Up by Dog

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—Mrs. Annette Rees, attractive, and the wife of a former captain in the United States navy, was arrested yesterday on a charge of violating the Volstead act, after prohibition officers had been held at bay for some time by eight German police dogs. Later she was released on $2000 bail. Prohibition agents backing up tests, made to drive up a steep hill, stop, kill their motors and then start them again and climb the hill.

Abandoned in Europe, Is Wife's Complaint

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—Charging he left her stranded without funds while they were traveling in Europe and that she had to borrow from her father to obtain passage back to this country, Mrs. Antonia Maas has filed suit for divorce against Herman Maas of San Francisco, to whom she has been married sixteen years. She charges he wanted to join the German army during the war and that in consequence they were under surveillance during that period.

Governor Will Make San Francisco Trip

SACRAMENTO, June 30.—Governor Richardson has announced that he will leave soon for San Francisco where he will spend three days before proceeding to Long Beach to establish his "summer capitol."

New Law Eliminates Many Light Devices

SACRAMENTO, June 30.—More than 100 lighting devices for automotive vehicles will be eliminated in California under provisions of the new Breed Motor Vehicle Act, recently approved by the governor. It is announced by William H. Marsh, superintendent of the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Of the 145 illuminating devices now on the California market, not more than forty, Marsh estimates, will conform with the new "8-point test," already generally used with success in many eastern states and incorporated in the Breed regulations.

The Standard lighting paraphernalia however, in common use among motorists of the state will for the most part be unaffected by the new provisions, according to the superintendent.

"The lenses which I expect to see outlawed," says Marsh, "are not popular in this state, and never have been. We have gone extensively into the findings of eastern states, where the '8-point test' governs, and we feel assured that popular devices now used in California will pass the new requirements."

Doctor Admits Error In Death Certificate

LINCOLN, Neb., June 30.—During an inquest into the death of Miss Anna E. Stevens, 70, called by "interested parties," Dr. A. R. Jarden stated that his death certificate describing the cause of the woman's death as cancer had been a "mistake." Testimony of an expert chemist is understood to be contradictory to statements given by Dr. Jarden as to the real cause of her death. Investigation of the woman's will is being made.

REO beats Limited to Salt Lake City

smashes all records for 853 mile trip

Dashing through desert sand and over mountain passes through driving rain, and slippery mud, this Reo Six Sport Phaeton, driven by Charles H. Bigelow, with Dave F. Fassett as relief driver and H. H. MacGillis as official observer, bettered the time of the fastest limited express train between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City by 13 minutes. The elapsed time of 25 hours, 41 minutes is just 34 minutes faster than the former record, established by another stock Reo passenger car last year.

The Reo Six Sport Phaeton which made this new record is a standard stock model in every particular except for the addition of Hartford Shock Absorbers, snubbers and Alemite spring covers. The fuel used was Hercules gasoline of standard quality, while Pennzoil was used as lubricant.

Reo now holds the round trip record between Los Angeles and Phoenix, Arizona; the L. A. to Phoenix record by way of Kingman and Prescott, and the record both ways between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City.

The Case Against the Villian

Today's Short Story, by Ad Schuster

Maybelle James wrote short stories and sticky verse. It was surprising and really wonderful, she told herself, how many beautiful thoughts came to her when ever she concentrated, and how true and noble were the lives of those men and women who moved in the fiction she produced. All Maybelle needed was an appreciative audience, someone to whom she could read the stories.

"I wish," she said to the faithful Orville Pratt, "your soul were attuned to literature." "Don't I listen to all your stories?" "Don't I tell you they are all fine?" Orville was injured.

"I am not seeking praise. What I need is critical attention, constructive advice, thorough understanding. You are quite impossible." The young man was spurred to an effort.

"There is one thing I notice about your stories," he said, "and that is there isn't a villain in the whole lot. I'm not so sure but you have the right idea. All of your heroes are nice, quiet, respectable fellows like—like me. In your stories you think they are all right, but in real life you call them impossible." Orville, with a show of dignity, rose to leave.

"If you think," Maybelle was withering in her scorn, "that you are the hero of my stories, you are mistaken." Orville slammed the door.

When Lattimer Snidd came to town Maybelle saw her opportunity. Lattimer was known to have had several stories accepted, and he looked and acted the part of the writer. Despite her scorn for Orville, his departing words had given her an idea.

"Unwittingly," she thought, "he has revealed to me my strength and my forte. I will write without a villain; I will introduce the human interest element and depend upon that alone." The more she thought of it the better the plan appeared. She worked on an article setting forth her views on the subject. Then, when a tempting plot came to mind changed her plans and started upon a story.

"This will be better than anything I have ever written. It will be an exposition and a proof of my theory. There are no villains in real life, and those which have been used in fiction are but bugaboos created by writers as a doubtful expedient to hold interest. My story will prove my point."

FOR TAFETTA OR TWILL
This model carries its own message of smart simplicity so eloquently that the only information to be added is that it prefers tafetta or the twill-cords for its development. The sturdy linens and ginghams are also permissible, according to the season. The fronts of the dress are slashed from the underarm seams and the lower edges gathered. Novel, indeed, is the combination of square neck and surplice closing. Medium size requires four and seven-eighths yards thirty-six-inch material. Pictorial Review Dress No. 1632. Sizes thirty-four to forty-eight inches bust. Price 35 cents.

AFTER THE CHIC PARISIENNE
To follow the chic Parisienne means that the season's wardrobe will contain a frock of this model carried out in either crepe, tulle or silk voile. The deep front of the blouse is finished with a collar that is edged with fancy braid. Gathered side panels fall below the hem of the skirt, and with the right panel is merged the draped ends of the sash of soft satin. Medium size requires five and three-eighths yards thirty-six-inch material. Pictorial Review Dress No. 1565. Sizes sixteen to twenty years, and thirty-four to forty-four inches bust. Price 35 cents.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE IRRITABLE MAN'S WIFE
Yesterday I made some remarks on the irritable man and the unhappiness he causes his family. For today I promised to say something about the wife of an irritable husband.

If the feminine readers are expecting another dose of sympathy such as I gave them yesterday, I am afraid they will be disappointed. This time I am going to sympathize to a degree—with the husband.

For I think some women make too much fuss over the occasional nervous outburst of an overworked, nervously overdriven husband.

The Terrible Strain
Modern business life puts a tremendous strain on the individual. The fear of not being able to keep in comfort those who look to him so confidently for comfort, the constant haunting terror that the man behind him is gunning for his job, the fear of not being able to lay aside for old age, the dread of illness and incapacity—all are daytime nightmares that stalk forever in the back of many a man's brain and often crowd their way into the forefront.

REDUCTION WARNINGS
In one way or another we have talked the need of reducing—for who wants to be fat these active days? But we haven't talked much about the dangers of reducing. For there are dangers, though easily avoided ones.

Suppose you weigh 180 pounds at about forty years, and your ideal weight, according to insurance tables, should be 135 or so. And suppose you have been fat for a great many years. Well, all those delicately adjusted organs inside the stomach and abdomen, organs of digestion, liver, kidneys, and so on, are held in position by this great amount of fat. Of course they're held, too, by the natural structure of the body. Now, if you lose this flesh too suddenly, there's danger that some of these organs may grow slightly out of place—this is very untechnical, a physician will give it to you with proper detail; I merely want to make my point as briefly as possible.

But slow reduction will do away with this danger—say, two pounds off each week, and exercise will strengthen the body so that the muscles and cords, and so on, will hold properly. Drastic reduction, too, upsets the digestion. I know of one case where a woman took almost nothing but acids to reduce, and so ruined her stomach that it would not take proper food when she tried to eat normally again. She went down five or more pounds a week, and looked in the mirror when she was only forty. But she was foolish about reduction. Two pounds a week is a safe route.

Mr. S.—If you are a diabetic you should be under the care of a specialist in that disorder. He may give you the new insulin treatment, which will permit you to eat enough to gain in weight and strength. Whether it will finally cure the disease is not known yet. The starches and sugars have to be cut down so markedly in severe cases that anemia results unless this treatment can be given.

It is far better to cut down the excess starches and sugars before they bring on diabetes than it is to have to cut them down afterwards. Joslin says that seventy-five per cent of his diabetic cases were overweight before the condition came on. Therefore, the avoidance of overweight—which in nine hundred and ninety-nine cases in ten is caused by the over-eating of starches, sugars, fats and meats ("everything")—means the avoidance of diabetes in this large percentage of cases. That is one of the reasons our campaign to reduce excess weight is so very important.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

What the bank examiner is to the bank, Miss Jessie Logie is to the Red Cross. Local chapters must maintain their activities or suffer loss of their charter. When a chapter is afflicted with a case of atrophied energy, Miss Logie gives it an expert survey, turns in a report and the chapter lives or dies as a result.

The only difference between her and the bank examiner is that she is popular and that no charter has yet been revoked as a result of her study. The mere threat has been enough to stir the chapter into action.

"The Red Cross is the most beloved of all social agencies," she says. "It has its faults, but people don't want to give it up. Perhaps it is the symbol—I don't Miss Virginia Murray, lecturing for the American Social Hygiene association, says that "policewomen are needed more for preventive and protective work among women and children than for law enforcement, which will always be done by men." She is also emphatic on the point of having them carefully selected, trained and organized and detailed to a bureau of their own with a woman at the head rather than under the chief of police.

Miss Murray, who is at the head of the Traveler's Aid Society of New York, is an authority on policewomen, having organized the work in naval and military training camps during the world war and later in 1921 organizing the women's division of the police force in Detroit. At that time she was on the police force in New York and she organized the Detroit police women's division as a "part-time" job, "commuting" as she says, between New York and Detroit.

Miss Murray says women have very hazy notions of what is needed for the duties of a policewoman, some thinking that a large physical frame and avoirdupois is necessary and others that a talent for "treating them rough" is essential. As a matter of fact she says that the very best woman she ever had on a force weighed only ninety pounds, but her understanding of the needs of the unfortunate people with whom she came in contact made her invaluable. She favors trained social workers and the American Social Hygiene association is establishing three schools for training policewomen.

Miss Jessie Logie

know—but it has a tremendous hold."

Miss Logie is field secretary for the Washington division, American Red Cross. She first attained national recognition in social service circles through a study of child placing in Delaware.

This is the way she outlines the peace-time, or permanent program of the Red Cross whose adoption she is stimulating in town and city chapters: (1) Disaster relief, the formation of organizations in readiness for war, famine or pestilence; (2) service to the men of the army and navy in war and peace; (3) preventive health work, such as classes in first aid, hygiene and home care of the sick, sending out public health nurses and the recruiting of nurses for the hospitals; (4) organization of the Junior Red Cross, which is divided into work for the school, the home and the community and is the senior Red Cross of the future.

Through the Junior Red Cross schools in twenty-one countries are already corresponding with American school children and are promoting feelings of international friendship between children. This is preparing the way for world-wide peace.

Miss Logie regards the work of serving the disabled ex-service men as still one of the most important jobs of the Red Cross, although the number of cases handled is decreasing.

STUDIES NURSING METHODS
Miss Julia C. Stimson, superintendent of the Army Nurse corps, has recently returned from Paris, where she has been on a special mission for the War Department, which included a study of present nursing methods in the hospitals where victims of the world war are still being treated.

A COURSE IN RADIO Electromagnetic Induction

Coming back to the subject of electro-magnetic induction, we will first consider transformers. The induction coil described in a previous lesson is a sort of transformer.

There are two principal types of transformers, step-up and step-down. The step-down types are those that take a voltage in the primary and reduce it at the secondary terminals.

The auto-transformer is shown in Figure 2. It is a single winding over an iron core and is used mostly to reduce voltage.

Transformers for commercial work usually get their current from a motor generator (combination of a motor and a generator).

POEMS THAT LIVE

Evening Solace The human heart has hidden treasures.

In secret kept, in silence sealed; The thoughts, the hopes, the dreams, the pleasures,

Whose charms were broken if revealed. And days may pass in gay confusion,

And nights in rosy riot fly. While lost in Fame's or Wealth's illusion,

The memory of the Past may die. But there are hours of lonely musing,

Such as in evening silence come. When, soft as birds their pinions closing,

The heart's best feelings gather home. Then in our souls there seems to languish

A tender grief that is not woe; And thoughts that once wrung groans of anguish,

Now cause but some mild tears to flow. And feelings once as strong as passions,

Float softly back—a faded dream; Our own sharp griefs and wild sensations,

The tale of other's sufferings seem. Oh! when the heart is freshly bleeding,

How longs it for that time to be, When through the mist of years receding,

Its woes but live in reverie! And it can dwell on moonlight

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

"Are you all ready, Uncle Wiggily?" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the bunny gentleman's hollow stump bungalow one day.

"Yes, I'm all ready," answered Mr. Longears. "I have on my best suit of clothes and my new red necktie. Are you all ready, Janie?"

"Almost ready," replied the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I just need to fix my hair and put on my bonnet."

Uncle Wiggily sort of twinkled his pink nose to himself and made a funny face at the looking glass.

"I'm going to walk around a little until you're ready, Janie." "Well, be careful and not get your good clothes all 'dirt,' advised the muskrat lady.

"Hello, Sammie and Susie!" called Mr. Longears. "Where are you two jolly little tykes going?"

"We are going to dig a well for Mommy Bunch so she won't have to carry her water from the far-off spring," added Susie.

"You are very good little rabbit children to do that," said Uncle Wiggily. "and I will hop along with you to watch you dig the well for Mommy Bunch."

Mommy Bunch was a poor little old rabbit lady who lived all alone in a rickety log cabin, and she had the rheumatism.

"If she hadn't the rheumatism she could dig the well herself," Sammie said as he and Susie and Uncle Wiggily hopped along together.

"Oh, I know how rheumatism hurts!" murmured Uncle Wiggily with a shiver of pain.

Mommy Bunch, the poor, little old rabbit lady, was sitting in the sun outside her door when the three friends hopped along.

"We have come to dig your well," said Susie, politely. "Bless your dear heart!" murmured Mommy Bunch.

So Sammie and Susie began to dig. But the ground was hard and their little picks did not go down very deep—not half deep enough to come to water—for in most places water lies deep in the earth.

"You'd better let me dig this!" cried Nurse Jane. "My! But you are a mess!" murmured old Mommy Bunch.

"Wiggy! Didn't I tell you to keep nice and clean so you could go call on Mrs. Wibblewobble? And here you are all mud!" cried Nurse Jane, who happened to come along just then.

The rabbit gentleman blushed behind his ears. But when Nurse Jane saw what he had done, how he had dug the well for poor Mommy Bunch, why the muskrat lady laughed and said:

"Wiggy, you did just right, and I love you, mud and all." And the old Fuzzy Fox jumped out of the bushes and was going to nibble Nurse Jane's ears, but when she saw the Fox saw Uncle Wiggily, all mud and dirt, the Fox thought the bunny was a tramp gentleman, and, being very much afraid of tramps, the Fox ran away.

WATER PIPES BEING LAID OVER CITY

Close to Thirty Miles to Be Placed This Year, Official Estimates

ABOUT thirty miles of water pipe will be laid in Glendale this year according to the estimate of Peter Diederich, superintendent of the maintenance division of the public service department.

Already twenty-five miles of pipe of assorted sizes has been ordered and at least ten more miles will be ordered before the year is over. Ten carloads of twelve-inch pipe is now en route here from the rolling mills of Birmingham, Alabama. They will contain about 300 tons of pipe or 8000 feet.

"We have been unloading pipe continually," remarked Mr. Diederich. "While we have received the larger part of the pipe ordered we still have about one-third of it to come."

The Public Service Department is now getting ready to lay 660 feet of four-inch pipe on Winchester street just north of Tenth street.

Fully two miles of twelve-inch pipe are now being laid in Sierra Canyon. About 1800 feet of mains will be laid and it is expected that the job will be completed by July 20.

In Various Sections

About 8000 feet of pipe of different sizes are now being laid in Glendale Heights. This job is scheduled for completion by the middle of July.

Kenilworth Park tract is now being improved by the installation of 7100 feet of four and six-inch pipe. This will be divided between Gilbert, Dryden and Concord streets, south of Kenilworth road.

Eighteen hundred feet of four-inch pipe has just been laid on Idlewild road between Kenneth and Cumberland roads.

Walnut street 565 feet south of Sycamore Canyon road has been improved by the installation of four-inch pipe.

Another job that will be commenced soon consists of 500 feet of four-inch pipe on Lincoln street, between Colorado and Dixon streets and 1300 feet of four-inch pipe on Dixon street between Verdugo road and Lincoln street. The total makes 1800 feet.

Big Demand For Labor, Materials In Construction

CONSTRUCTION operations in Southern California are just now at the peak and will ride along on the crest for another two months with the work already started. Demands for all kinds of materials as well as for labor are very great. Most amazing of all, however, is the demand for cement with its multiplied uses.

Mixed concrete is being used to full capacity to keep pace with rapidly increasing demands, handicapped by relatively meager stocks upon which to draw for emergencies. With production for April and May only equaling, it is not falling short, of shipments, and demands for cement piling up, the situation has become one of grave concern. For weeks deliveries on large orders have been prorated, contractors say, and it has become increasingly difficult to place new orders with assurance of satisfactory delivery at current market prices.

Some cement is available outside Southern California—in the northern section of the state and in Utah. This may be obtained at a price, providing that is a matter of no concern. But the problem of the contractor is to get cement at the current market price in Southern California and keep his job going. If he estimated his cost on the basis of that price for any contract not yet completed or started he stands to lose any excess of price that he must pay if compelled to secure cement from outside.

As one contractor put it, the price of Southern California cement delivered to him in Los Angeles under current market quotations is $3.11 per barrel, net. If forced to bring cement from Utah to keep his work going, the best price he can obtain under existing conditions is $3.85 per barrel, net. That would mean a loss to the contractor which he would not assume except in extreme circumstances. Surplus stocks in Utah cannot, therefore, be considered available except with a reduction in freight rates. Northern mills are the only source of outside supplies now in sight.

GATEWAY THEATRE, IN SOUTHERN SECTION, TO OPEN NEXT MONTH

New Cinema House On San Fernando Road Contains Many Features For Benefit Of Patrons

This picture shows the Gateway Theatre at 1711 South San Fernando road. The building is about completed and it is planned to open its doors to the public about July 13. Kathleen Key, pretty Goldwyn movie star, is seen standing close to the big electric sign. With her is Roy Miller, who is associated with Fred Miller and others in the new Glendale enterprise. B. E. Loper, a showman of long experience, also associated, will personally direct the new local theatre, which contains many features and is a big asset for the southern section of Glendale.

INCREASE SHOWN IN BANK CREDIT

Volume Greater Than at Any Previous Period in History of System

The volume of bank credit now employed in this country, as indicated by the consolidated report of the member banks of the Federal Reserve System for April 3, 1923, is larger than in any previous period, states the current issue of "The Guaranty Survey," which has just been issued by the Guaranty Trust company of New York. The total loans and investments of these banks, which have about three-fourths of the commercial banking resources of the country, have increased $2,900,000,000 since March, 1922, and now exceed $26,300,000,000, or $600,000,000 more than in the spring of 1920. Banking resources, however, are not strained. Interest rates are relatively low, and there has been no pyramiding of credit through excessive borrowing at the Federal Reserve banks, as was the case three years ago. "The Survey" continues: "Perhaps a larger volume of industrial production has been financed recently than in any previous period. The Federal Reserve Board's index of production of basic commodities in April was 8 per cent above that for the peak month in 1920. "The most significant difference between the condition of bank credit now and in 1920 is the smaller volume of loans, as distinct from investments in securities. Member bank loans on April 3 were $1,388,000,000 less than the maximum in 1920. "The financing of a larger volume of business in 1923 with a reduced volume of loans is a reflection not only of the present lower price level, but of the increased stock of gold. "Banking conditions in the country today are sound and may be kept so by the continued exercise of an intelligent conservatism which has made possible without general inflation a volume of business nearly or quite the maximum ever reached. "Better Prosperity Basis "The belief that excessive caution is now curtailing prosperity has supplanted in some quarters the earlier fear that general inflation of prices and bank credit was developing, to be followed in due time by the familiar liquidation and depression which boom activity has usually induced. The relaxation in forward buying of important classes of commodities in recent weeks, the halt in recession in prices have been cited as reasons for the present anxiety. "These developments, however, have apparently established a better basis for continued prosperity than would have resulted from an uninterrupted increase in prices such as characterized the first quarter of the year. They have demonstrated the strength of influences making (Continued on page 5)

Organ Will Be One Attraction; Interior of Building Offers Luxury; Air Will Be Fresh and Always Cool; 1000 Seats

WHEN the Glendale Gateway Theatre, at 1711 South San Fernando road, throws open its doors to the public, on or about Friday, July 13, residents of this section will have as an entertainment center one of the finest cinema houses in Southern California, with a seating capacity of close to 1000 persons.

B. E. Loper, a Los Angeles showman, with years of experience in the highly specialized business of exhibiting films, is the director of the new house, which represents a large investment of capital and artistic effort.

The theatre is semi-Egyptian in architectural style, of brick and reinforced concrete construction, with a frontage of seventy feet on South San Fernando road and a depth of 150 feet.

In addition to the large auditorium, there are two stores, one to left and one to right of the lobby; three offices upstairs; a nursery; projection room; Mr. Loper's private office, a foyer, with men's and women's rest rooms to left and right; a spacious stage and other adjuncts.

Nursery One Feature

The main auditorium is in polychrome jazz plaster, with plaster topped by light boxes furnishing indirect illumination, the latter supplemented by many light baskets suspended from the arched ceiling.

A special feature of the nursery is a series of glass panels giving onto the auditorium, through which the film may be viewed by parents who wish to keep their children apart from the main audience. This is a distinct advantage to the mothers of crying babies, as they may take them to the nursery and hush them without missing the performance.

Mr. Loper's private office, also, has a glass panel giving onto the auditorium, through which he may view the performance from time to time, while sitting at his desk, or may determine the extent of the audience.

Projection Room

The projection room is equipped with two of the latest model Powers' giant projectors, with a 100-foot throw to the crystal ball screen beyond the proscenium arch. This room is entirely fire-proof and is equipped with lavatory and wash basin. In the rear is a small room containing a large ninety ampere motor-generator, which transforms to direct current the alternating current received from the street wires. R. E. Butler will be chief projectionist.

A feature of the theatre will be a Robert Morton organ made especially by the celebrated organ company of that name, in Van Nuys. This organ will have the popular double-touch keyboard, enabling an entire secondary range of instruments to be brought into play by a slight additional pressure on the keys.

Lighting throughout will be indirect, 2000 separate bulbs being installed with dimmers of diverse shades so that any desired color effect may be obtained.

A feature that will be a decided luxury to patrons is the magnificent carpeting that has been provided, with an under padding an inch thick. This carpeting was manufactured in the east, by special order, and will add the last touch of velvety softness and richness to this fine playhouse.

EXCHANGE BACKS REALTORS' STAND

Builders Look With Favor On Proposed Changes in Lien Law

Henry Molz, secretary and manager of the Builders' Exchange of Glendale, sends the following self-explanatory communication to The Glendale Evening News:

Editor The Evening News: The stand taken by the Glendale Realty Board on the present lien law as published in a recent issue of your paper is laudable, and the amendment of the law rather than its repeal is urged for consideration upon all well thinking citizens by the Builders' Exchange of Glendale.

The state of California as well as every other state in the union needs a lien law, and such a law when rightly drawn will have the backing of every honest citizen. It is true that the present law is a travesty on justice, in that it permits the collection of a bill that has already been paid, and this is in the face of the fact that the payor is not a party to the contract. The present law is designed with a view of holding the party responsible to whom the benefits accrue, rather than the actual purchaser or hirer, and in this respect, is just and proper, but some provision should be incorporated therein that will protect the party to whom the benefits accrue (the owner), and this can readily be amended to be accomplished.

In addition to this, the general public can very materially eliminate the lien hazard by just a little forethought and watchfulness.

Makes Suggestions

The advice of the Builders' Exchange to all about to build is, first obtain a complete set of plans and specifications drawn by a reliable architect, not the contractor, so that the contractor will not have to divine your intentions by some occult process of reasoning (or will have to add a certain sum to his bid to protect himself from uncertainties due to indefiniteness of the plans and specifications), then exercise discrimination in selecting the contractor whom you want to bid, just as you would in choosing a physician or a lawyer, and then, if you treat the chosen man right and don't should, the chances are you will find it a real pleasure to work with him. If you try to beat the game you will find that your contractor can meet you coming or going. The defects of construction which are the result of ignorance or unskilled labor, while they are bad enough, are not malicious, but defects which are intentionally planned are simply systems of stealing. This dishonest construction makes the speculative house seem, on the face, cheaper than the honest house. The whole intention of a dishonest builder is to make the house appear substantial by hiding beneath its exterior glamour weaknesses.

EAST HEARS GLENDALE'S WONDERS

People 'Back There' Listen To Lures of South and Determine to Come

By GIL A. COWAN

CALIFORNIA, the land of golden opportunity! An inspiring subject to write upon and something worth retelling time and again. We heard Auctioneer C. H. O'Connor harangue a crowd here Thursday for several hours while selling one of Glendale's finest homes. He recited the story of the possibilities of the southland and it was so very convincing that one cannot help being enthused by his selling talk. His words were music to the ears of every Glendale booster in the crowd, for, in brief, he told of this "promised land" in which we love to live, "where there is no winter, where spring mingles with summer and autumn days continue to the close of the year."

Such are the facts regarding the climate, particularly in the favored southland of Glendale where green hills protect the residents from the ocean winds and high mountains divert the desert's blast and conserve our water supply. No wonder that the whole east is turning its eyes upon Southern California. And Glendale's growth in the last few years certainly convinces the most skeptical that there is something more than the dirt of the ground, the ideal reality to other centers of activity and the perfection of climatic conditions.

Must See Glendale

It is vitality of the all-American community, perhaps, that stirs the blood of the prospective home owner and makes him realize the castle of his dreams here in the hill-surrounded city. Verily, the word has gone forth from the Pacific to the Atlantic that "you must see Glendale when you get to California."

On the trains the tourists are talking Glendale, according to personal reports received in the Glendale Evening News office. Every one of our citizens who has gone east this year is boasting, boasting, boasting. And in the northern part of the state they are learning of this wonder city in the very bosom of the luxurious southland.

As for Southern California, much might be said that is appropriate. It is commanding pages in the national magazines just now. Even the Saturday Evening Post is speaking words of praise for this man-made country. You do not wonder one whit, then, when you read in the Literary Digest of recent date of the trend of population westward. It is a matter of evolution that all of the eager, enterprising, enthusiastic residents of other sections are going to get here on the ground floor and build for themselves a civilization unrivaled by any.

Largest Increases

California and Arizona, as well as Idaho, Montana and Wyoming, show the largest increases in population according to the last census, the monograph in the Digest forcibly displays. Perhaps California is leading the nation by absorbing thousands—4,000 a day is the estimate—of eastern residents who are coming west by automobile, train and steamship.

Here, too, conditions are most favorable to the propagation of the race. The birth rate is high and the infant death rate the lowest in the American Union. And, being there is no doubt but what Southern California will soon take the leadership of the nation. Glendale must be ready to play its part.

PLAN FOR CARAVAN

Cars for the caravan to the state convention at Sacramento, the middle of October, will assemble at Los Angeles, October 9, and Tuesday morning, October 9, announces President W. W. Kelly of the Kern County Realty Board, who is chairman of the caravan committee. The caravan will arrive at Sacramento October 10 at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, if all goes according to schedule.

TWO IN THIS STATE

In the drawing for the twenty cities to have representatives speak in the five-minute contest before the convention at Cleveland, June 28, Oakland and San Diego, were the only California cities selected.

BIG MOVIE PAYROLL

In Los Angeles county are located eighty per cent of the motion picture studios of the world, with an annual payroll of over $50,000,000.

WALNUTS VALUED AT $15,000,000

California Produced Over Half World's Entire Crop Last Year

LOS ANGELES, June 30—With a walnut crop valued at approximately $15,000,000, California last year produced more than half of the entire yield of the world, according to a report made public by C. Thorpe, general manager of the California Walnut Growers' association. The total value of the walnut crop in the United States was placed at $25,000,000.

In pounds, the nation's consumption reached the total last year of 100,000,000 and California produced fifty-two per cent of it, the report stated.

Packing and marketing eighty per cent of the California crop, the 4000 members of the association received approximately $11,000,000, the report stated.

California is now said to have more than 100,000 acres in the golden nuts and the acreage is constantly increasing.

CUT IT SHORT!

A clause in the rules governing the "Time Town" contest to be held at the Sacramento convention October 10-13 might well be taken to heart by orators everywhere. The clause reads: "Any speaker who does not finish in the five-minute time limit will be penalized."

LAND TITLE MEET

President Donzel Stoney of the California Land Title Association has issued a call for the sixteenth annual convention of the association, at Yosemite valley, Friday and Saturday, August 3 and 4. The caravan will convene at Merced on August 1.

PROCESSION ENDLESS

After a 100-year sleep, Los Angeles, "the Rip Van Winkle of American cities," awoke one morning in 1883 to find that a railroad from New Orleans had invaded its domain. The first tourists came two years later, and have been coming ever since.

MANY NEWCOMERS TO REMAIN HERE

Sixty Per Cent of Travelers To Southland Have No Return Tickets

Sixty per cent of the travelers to Southern California this year have not had return trip tickets, or, if they had, are not using them, a prominent railroad official remarked today. In other words, according to this estimate, sixty out of every 100 persons coming to the Southland from other sections of the country in 1923 have come to stay.

They have bought, or are buying, or perhaps, planning to buy, homes in Glendale or in other Southern California cities that hold forth attractions of residence or opportunity. Many sales of homes in this territory the past year have been to newcomers to the city, former residents of eastern, midwestern or Canadian cities.

"Here is another point about the many newcomers constantly arriving here," continued the observant railroad official. "The new residents are not merely buying homes for their own occupancy, but they are buying Southern California realty, both improved and unimproved, for investment. They are embarking in Southern California enterprises, both corporate and individual. Those not taking active personal part in such ventures are buying shares in or bonds of Southern California companies.

Additional Capital

"The coming of the new residents, then, means not merely increased population and such benefits to communities which may be derived therefrom, but, also, the coming, simultaneously, of additional capital.

"The investments of one kind and another in Southern California since January 1 by residents who have arrived since that date would aggregate a huge total of capital. It would be hard, in the absence of authoritative basis for calculations, to estimate how large it is, but there has been sufficient evidence to prove it huge.

"It was once said of Southern California that the only thing it had to sell was climate. The fallacy of that notion long ago was proven. The new arrivals in this section are aware of the absurdity of that allegation. For they sense many opportunities for Southern California development, in many different ways, else they would not invest. They would merely make their homes here, (Continued on page 5)

Make Better Homes

In the truest sense, Better Homes must come from within. Until the man and woman for whom a house is built are themselves inspired to make theirs a Better Home, all the efforts of all the tradespeople in the world can not make it so. You can fill their homes with beautiful furniture, hang their walls with rare tapestries, equip and adorn with all of the modern builders' and decorators' art; and there will still remain—just a beautiful house.

But, given the spirit that has come of late years more and more to permeate the home, the love of beautiful things, the delight in pleasant surroundings, the honest belief that an attractive environment makes better health, better children, better citizens—then the co-operation that the tradesmen can give is a matter of vital importance in the development of Better Homes.

The first question is Home Ownership. And the time has come now when almost any family can own their own home. You don't expect to make a rented house a Better Home. You figure on saving all effort and expense to put on your own property when that happy day comes that you can call a home your own. Comes the real estate man with the builder to convince you that rent paying is waste; that home-ownership is thrift; that it's possible for you, within limited means, to buy. Comes the furniture man to make it possible for you to furnish your home attractively, on terms that you can handle. Comes the gardener and the landscape man to add to its beauty; the insurance man to safeguard you from misfortune; a veritable army of smaller tradespeople to lend a helping hand.

Yet, given all these things, yours is the hand that must make the home the beautiful, better home. Your own efforts must supplement all others. Time was when the belief prevailed that beautiful homes and attractive furniture could only be had by the well-to-do; that it was more or less presumptuous on the part of the average folks to aspire to such. But standards of living have miraculously changed in the last quarter century. The family which, twenty years ago, would have lived in a jumble of characterless rooms, cheerless, unattractive, forsaken by every member at the earliest and every opportunity, lives today in a pretty residence district, their smart bungalow planned and decorated and furnished with as much loving care and good taste—even if it be at a fraction of the cost—as the exclusive "houses on the hill." And this smart bungalow, the average home of today, with its scientific planning, good ventilation, electric lights, running water, bath heater, gas connections, well-kept lawn and pretty furniture, is an inestimably better home than was the mansion of twenty-five years ago.

To be sure, this family is paying more for this standard of living than the family of twenty years ago paid. But they're earning more, and the increased cost of living is pretty well balanced by the increased earnings. Certainly the resultant happiness and well-being of these Better Homes is far out of all proportion to the increased cost.

No person is strong enough to entirely resist influence of his surroundings. Tawdry homes, unkempt, ugly surroundings, lacking in cheer and beauty, can not fail to leave their impress upon the minds and character of the persons who inhabit them. Particularly are children susceptible to the tone of their surroundings. When you improve the standard of your home, you can not fail to improve the disposition, actually the character of your children.

EXCHANGE BACKS REALTORS' STAND

The Builders' Exchange stands pledged to the elimination of the unreliable and irresponsible contractor. With a full realization of the dangers to building progress created by this parasitical class, the Builders' Exchange of Glendale was formed. Its members had a very definite purpose in mind when they organized, and that same purpose reflects itself materially on the pocketbook of every citizen. Our organization maintains business quarters open daily for the use of its members and the public. It advocates enactment and enforcement of laws for the protection of all citizens in matters affecting public work and building operations in general. The Exchange is not organized for selfish purposes, it proposes to champion the rights of the public as well as those of its members, and makes no charge for its services.

Permanent Plans

This is the only organization in this city forming a direct auxiliary to its members' business, and the only one having established permanent headquarters as a means of furthering the same. The Exchange rooms are fitted up for the convenience of the public as well as members, and a full staff of information will freely advise in all building problems, ordinances, bonds, liens and other legal problems affecting building operations. The roster of the organization is open to the public, and the membership is limited to those who stand for integrity, efficiency and loyalty, three cardinal factors insuring good work at a fair price.

The Builders' Exchange may well be called a clearing house. While membership in the exchange is a reasonable assurance to the public of skill, honesty and responsibility, its members comprising the better class of men engaged in some phase of the building industry it does not follow that this can only be said of its members. We realize that there are a number of others just as good who are as yet not members of the exchange, and we hope to see the day when these too will have affiliated, but for every worthy contractor out of the exchange, there are innumerable others who are absolutely unreliable, and of these the public should fight shy.

Invite Builders

We invite all prospective builders to bring their plans and specifications for the securing of bids to the exchange, and upon receipt of same, bids on any part or all of the work as may be desired will be forthcoming, and this without cost or obligation. If the public will deal with exchange members for self protection, they will ultimately drive out the fly-by-night contractor, irresponsible bidder and sub-contractor, and through the efficiency and integrity of its members guarantee themselves honest materials, perfect workmanship and a reasonable cost based upon actual cost plus a legitimate profit; and if they will by all means get a set of plans and specifications that are complete, they will insure themselves that the price stated insures a complete home, and not as is generally the case, one built in accordance with the plans and specifications as drawn and furnished by so and so, calling for an extra expenditure of money to complete the job long after Mr. So and So has left the work upon the completion of the plans and specifications that he drew. This is where the shoe pinches, and this and the usual soap box method of drawing plans is one of the biggest factors we have to contend with; the removal of which will go a long way in removing the lien evil.

The respect and confidence accorded the Builders' Exchange today, and the cordial response that has greeted its efforts to establish high standards in the building industry have far exceeded our expectations.

The Builders' Exchange of Glendale pledges its active co-operation to the Glendale Realty Board, and is ever most ready to bring into being the motive which brought it into being.

Respectfully submitted,
BUILDERS' EXCHANGE,
Henry Molz, Secy.-Mgr.

ACREAGE BRINGS NEW HIGH PRICE

Harold N. Landon Buys Fine Property in Northwest; Plans Subdivision

What is believed to be a record price for high class foothill subdivision property was paid this week by Harold N. Landon, of Glendale, for thirteen acres adjoining L. C. Brand's Miradero castle on the west. The total consideration was $49,500, according to A. C. Anderson of J. M. Boland's office at 213 West Broadway, who represented all parties to the deal. Ten acres of this tract consist of the Duff property, and the remaining three acres were owned by Myrtle M. Baldwin, giving Mr. Landon a suitable tract for subdivision.

Extra! Egyptian Temple Is Found On Verdugo Road! It's Colorful And Unique

ON North Verdugo road, at Rossmoyne, "The Happyland," excavations have uncovered a magnificent Egyptian temple of the Rameses III period—or so it might seem to an archaeologist casting a casual eye over the landscape at that section of the universe.

Actually, what is happening at that point is the erection by the Haddock-Nibley company, realtors, of an Egyptian-style administration building, which will be the headquarters for the Rossmoyne section.

OAKMONT COURSE READY FOR FALL

Sparr Heights Club Site Has Improvements Started, Building Contracted

The work on the Oakmont Country Club at Sparr Heights is progressing rapidly, the grading of the golf course having reached an advanced stage and the preliminaries for the erection of the club house being completed.

This beautiful course, comprising 115 acres, promises to be one of the finest eighteen-hole links in the United States, and great interest in its development is evinced by lovers of the sport.

Oliver Hereford recently expressed the opinion that golf was an obstacle which man willfully presented between himself and nature that he might not be conscious of any of the material aspects of beauty, but his dictum is certainly belied by the selection made by the Oakmont Country Club of the field for their game. Nowhere in Southern California is it possible to obtain a more beautiful view of green foothills, rising into lofty mountains, sun-kissed valleys and an enchanting prospect, seen from every part of the terrain, than that visible from the club grounds and the homesites surrounding it.

Offers Home Facilities

The club house is to be spacious and elegant, and to have every accommodation for the members of the club, including a grill presided over by a competent chef, ladies' quarters with every comfort, and facilities for indoor amusements and veranda amusements for those who do not feel in the humor for exercise in the field.

A fine swimming pool of mammoth proportions is to be an adjunct of the club house, which is to be built at the southern entrance of Sparr Heights on the west side of the boulevard.

The contract for the building has been set, and the directors accepted a bid for it which was $3,500 above the lowest bid received, because of the agreement of the contractor to have the building finished within four months, hence the fall tourist season will witness the opening of the club, if pleasure such as it affords may be so called, and it might not be a bad idea to send Oliver Hereford an invitation, for it is a notable fact that the only adverse critic of golf is the individual who either does not play it, or has never been able to achieve more than nine holes.

CASTLE HEIGHTS ONE COOL SPOT

Breezes Blow, View Fine And Building Sites Are Much in Demand

Out where the breezes blow—that's Castle Heights. There is no cooler spot in San Fernando valley than the northwest hill slopes of Glendale, according to E. D. Hamlin, member of the firm of Hamlin & Heppburn, who are selling out this high-class subdivision in the immediate vicinity of L. C. Brand's Miradero castle. Hamlin & Heppburn have offices at 203 West Broadway, Glendale.

It was warm down in the business section this noon, but a breeze had come floating over the foothills at 11 o'clock, according to Mr. Hamlin. The mountains nearby are the retreat for all sorts of wild game while a lake in the hills and the Sunset Canyon country club home are to be found in the canyons of the hinterland of northwest Glendale.

Wonderful View

View sites with all modern improvements and streets being rushed to completion feature Castle Heights. The builder can begin a home tomorrow, or the investor can easily resell this property which is now available for homes. Hamlin & Heppburn believe in a policy of having a tract ready for the builders at the earliest possible date, thus selling home sites more rapidly.

Their success in Fairview units, on the plain of San Fernando valley have shown them the need for a moderate priced high-class subdivision which they are offering in Castle Heights. The best location, the right price and fair terms are the features on which they expect to close out the limited number of lots at an early date.

Rail and Ship Clerks Ask Wage Increases

Employees of the first railroad are asking nine cents an hour more, those of the latter for eight to fourteen cents.

ALLEN SQUARE IS SELLING RAPIDLY

Two Units of New Pasadena Subdivision Grabbed by Eager Buyers

It has only been a few weeks since the Davis-Baker Realty company of Pasadena opened their new tract Allen Square. In that time the first unit plotted for the sale of lots has practically been sold out and the majority of the second unit, on the market for only two weeks, is gone.

This in itself shows the immense growth of the southern part of California, and the insistent demand that has been created for real estate that offers something of the California atmosphere. The Davis-Baker company have placed several subdivisions on the real estate market in Pasadena during the past few years. During that time the company has gained a reputation for offering to the public property that has a little more to it than the average type of subdivision, that is hurried through in any way to sell it and get the houses started so that the company could start on the next piece of property they had acquired.

Explains Policy

Mr. Davis of the company best explains the policy of the firm in saying: "We have never attempted to put a new tract on the market until it is in every way ready for the public to build their homes upon. Once or twice we have found that the opening which had been arranged and advertised for a certain date had to be postponed in order that the tract could be in readiness. And we have found that the confidence we have established in ourselves by adhering to this policy has overly made up the delays that we have encountered.

"Allen Square has been no exception to this rule. We have carefully planned everything so that the purchaser can start to build his home immediately and will not have to wait for the water, the streets, the gas and all the other conveniences after his house is finished and ready for occupancy. Perhaps that accounts for the fact that there are many out-of-town purchasers in Allen Square."

INVEST IN REALTY!

In 1883 the southwest corner of Seventh street and Broadway, Los Angeles, was sold for $3,500. It was subsequently purchased for $10,000, and today would bring $2,000,000, according to expert opinion.

Make your description about 150 words or less. And here is a tip. Don't write poetry unless you feel you have special inspiration. So many are doing that. Write a good, vivid description of Glenoaks—picture it as it appeals to you and try to make it so that other people will visualize it as you do when they read your description.

Perhaps a 10 word description will win the first award. That depends on what the judges decide.

If you feel that you are not gifted in word-picturing, write "reasons" why you like Glenoaks. If they are well-conceived, they stand an equal chance to win the $100 or one of the other awards.

Get your pen busy. Address your word pictures to the Contest Director, in care of our main office, or leave it at the tract office. Be sure and state when you visited the tract, and of course give your name and address. You will not be written or called on. Awards will be made July 22, by check.

Gotham Golfer Wins Public Links Title

WASHINGTON, June 30. — Richard Walsh, New York City, today won the 1923 public links golf championship from his teammate, Stewart Whitman in a one-sided match, six and five.

TAGGING ALL BASES

Frank Merriwell himself had nothing on Ernie Johnson of the Yanks. Ernie's clout in the ninth won a 10-to-9 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Brooklyn nuzzled the Phils for twenty-five safeties. Fournier led the list with six hits, including a home run. Score 14 to 5.

With the Giants laying off due to wet grounds, Pittsburgh divided a double-header with Cincinnati. The Pirates lost the first, 2 to 0, because of Luque's wonderful pitching, but won the second, 5 to 3.

Yanks Beat Phillies in Ninth Inning Rally

NEW YORK, June 30.—Despite a ninth inning rally in which the Athletics scored three runs and tied the score and in spite of the fact that they outhit the Yankees by several safe blows, the Philadelphia entry was defeated here yesterday by the Yankees, 10 to 9. A tally pushed across by the Yanks in their half of the last inning after Ed Rommel had gone to the rescue decided the issue.

Base-running brought Detroit a 5-to-3 victory over the St. Louis Browns. A double steal by Haney and Fothergill, just as Heilman sacrificed, put the game on ice.

BURBANK

NEW HIGHWAY TO LINK TWO CITIES

Proposed Burbank-Pasadena Route to Traverse Glendale Streets

A plan is on foot to link Burbank with Pasadena by means of an asphaltic concrete highway through Glendale and Eagle Rock...

The idea of those who are promoting the scheme is to make a boulevard that will carry heavy traffic, a street that would open an enormous trade area and in a few years be equal in importance to San Fernando road and Brand boulevard.

On Monday, July 2, summer classes will open at the Burbank high school, under the instruction of Mrs. Drury and Mrs. Romer.

Classes will be given in English 9B, 9A and 10B, Greek history, bookkeeping, commercial arithmetic, typewriting, algebra 9B and 9A and geometry 10B.

These classes offer a real opportunity to those needing additional education or students behind in their work or who desire to advance faster than possible during the regular terms and those in charge believe the enrollment will be large.

J. H. Bridges has been retained for another term as general manager of the Sunset Canyon Country club and the number of directors increased from three to seven, as the result of a recent large meeting presided over by President J. H. Alvord.

A. R. Tupper plans to leave July 1 for Denver, Colo., on a trip. While he is away, his daughter, Miss Frances Tupper, will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Long.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Willis, of Sacramento, have located at 433 Santa Anita avenue.

Mrs. Ralph Van Hove and daughter June of 818 Tunjunga avenue have left for Wyoming, where they will visit relatives. They were accompanied by Mrs. Van Hove's mother of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Beebe have bought a home at 132 South Providencia avenue and plan to make Burbank their home.

W. P. Coffman, Burbank postmaster, leaves Monday, July 2, on an extensive eastern trip. He will visit a brother in Canada and relatives and friends in New York, Chicago and other eastern cities.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roskam and children have returned from their vacation at the Sequoia National park and at the home of Mr. Roskam's brother at Wascene near Bakersfield. They report seeing snow so close that it would have been possible to drive to it.

Will Probe Cause of Death of Salesman

VISALIA, Cal., June 30.—An autopsy is to be held at Lindsay to determine the cause of the death of W. R. Turpin, 55, Fresno salesman, found dead in his automobile on a lonely road northeast of Lindsay. The machine was still in high gear, but standing by the side of the road.

To one whom life has lost its charm To other minds may bring great harm.

TUJUNGA

POSTOFFICE MAY BE MOVED

Petition Asking Removal to New Location Signed By Many

Considerable interest is being taken in the present situation at Tunjunga. A petition was circulated quietly at Washington, asking removal of the office from the present location at El Centro and Sunset boulevard to a location nearer the highway.

The plan is to follow the Pacific Electric line along Fourth street, Burbank, to the point where it curves, from which the highway would continue into Burchett street, Glendale, and thence across Central avenue, Brand boulevard and Verdugo road, into Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock and on to Pasadena.

The idea of those who are promoting the scheme is to make a boulevard that will carry heavy traffic, a street that would open an enormous trade area and in a few years be equal in importance to San Fernando road and Brand boulevard.

In so far as Fourth street is concerned, the plan is to widen it to seventy feet along its entire length. The street now runs from Amherst avenue on the west to the city limits on the east. From Providencia avenue to the limits, on the north side of the track, there is the requisite width, but on the lower side the city would be obliged to condemn property, if the owners would not deed it, in order to carry out this project.

EAGLE ROCK

REALTORS PRAISE OFFICIALS' WORK

Resolutions Commend Legal Work Accomplished for California Dealers

The Eagle Rock Realty board has forwarded a set of resolutions to Edwin T. Keiser and William H. Akin, commending their work at the recent session of the legislature, in behalf of California realty dealers.

The resolutions were the outgrowth of the speech delivered by J. B. Brown before the local realtors at their banquet Friday, June 22, in which he explained how California has by this action led every state in legislation restricting real estate business to its proper field, making it a matter of fact, "a profession rather than a business," to use Mr. Brown's words.

The legislation referred to compels a $2000 surety bond to be put up by those applying for realty brokers' licenses, and offers a quality test which, it is believed, will largely weed out the undesirable, together with other protective hedges about the business.

Attends Luncheon Mrs. Charles Wentworth, of 234 West Palm avenue, attended the recent Morning Glory luncheon at the Crittenden home, on Avenue 33. She is a member of the society and has for years been an active worker in the home.

Other guests included Dr. and Mrs. Silvermale and family, of Santa Monica; Mrs. E. Thompson, mother of Mrs. Dirks; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Getchel, of San Francisco, and Dr. Dirks' mother, Mrs. Henrietta Dirks.

Many On Vacations Miss Mildred Lerchen will leave July 1 on an extended trip through the east, attending the N. E. A. convention in San Francisco the first week in July and arriving in New York some time in August. She plans to take in Eagle Rock in time to take up her school work in September.

GLENDOAKS PRIZE

ESSAYS FLOW IN

Poetry and Prose Descriptive Of Subdivision's Beauty Already Received

The awarding of $300 in prizes by the Frank Meline company for the best description of their beautiful Glendale subdivision, Glendoaks, has brought forth widespread interest and participation, according to the publicity department, which is in charge of the contest.

Both new visitors to the tract and those who have already purchased lots have responded with "word pictures" or reasons why they like Glendoaks.

A large percentage of participants have sent in their word pictures in the form of poetry. Under the terms of the contest, participants who feel they are not gifted in penning descriptive matter are privileged to state "reasons why" the tract appeals to them. The material sent in will be judged on the basis of actually conveying an accurate picture of the tract and its advantages to those who have not yet been there. It will be used in further publicity material by the Frank Meline Company.

Glendale Responds Among those who were first to send in their word pictures were a large sprinkling of Glendale residents. Many of these persons have frequently visited Glendoaks in the past to enjoy the exceptional natural beauty of the place. The huge live oak trees, which cover the attractive hill slopes hemming in the level orchard lands to the east, and the Glendoaks attraction to be found in no other section within many miles of Los Angeles. Yet Glendoaks is in the east portion of Glendale, a scant twenty-five minutes from downtown Los Angeles.

Glendoaks is described as the most heavily wooded spot in Southern California by many visitors who claim the right to say so by virtue of wide travel through the length and breadth of the state. It will be traversed its full length by the new Pasadena-Glendale, through route, which engineers are now laying out. When this drive is completed it is said that it will be perhaps the most picturesque and beautiful scenic boulevard drive in all Southern California, unexcelled by even such famous drives as Montecito and Mission Canyon in Santa Barbara.

It is for the purpose of bringing the unusual beauties of Glendoaks home to the public, that the Frank Meline Company has instituted this contest. It is felt that new word pictures—new phrases in a new manner of description of the tract will be brought forth, and which will portray its splendors for those who have not had time to visit Glendoaks in person.

The $300 in prizes will be divided up as follows: First award, $100; second award, $75; third award, $50; fourth award, $25; and five additional awards of $25 each.

Participants should address their word pictures or reasons to the Contest Director in care of the main office of the Meline company. Those who have not visited the tract are urged to do so at once, so that their descriptions may gain that advantage which always favors early arrivals.

Announcement of awards will be made July 22, but word pictures must be in by Friday, July 20.

SALES BRISK IN LA RAMADA PARK Hanson Reports Progress On Picturesque Foothill Subdivision

Sales are very active in the La Ramada and Casa Verdugo Park tract, reports Peter Hanson, of the offices of Schuyler, McMillan & Hanson, 122 West Broadway, selling agents for the Misses Baldwin, owners and subdividers, over one-half of the lots already being snapped up.

"Many of the best lots still remain," Mr. Hanson says, "among them some choice Grand boulevard frontage. Prices range from $2850 to $5000, with adequate building restrictions to make of this tract the exclusive section of fine foothill homes it deserves to be."

"Henry Michel has taken out a $50,000 permit to build a sumptuous apartment house at the corner of Randolph and Brand; Dr. G. Kaemmerling has bought the old house at Louise and Mountain and is remodeling it. Earl C. Pendroy is planning to build across the street and many other prominent citizens have secured homesteads in this beautiful, romantic tract that was, at the time of our American revolution, the estate of a proud Spanish family."

Mr. Hanson states all improvements are to be put in, including gas, water, electricity, and street work. Maryland avenue is being opened through the tract and other work is going on at the present time.

Marvelous trees and shrubs of countless varieties abound in La Ramada park, and the view from practically every lot is superb, while the Pacific Electric cars go right by the premises, making it exceedingly accessible to the heart of the city.

"A residence section de luxe" is the way the tract has been described by more than one of those who have bought lots there—"a section that in a year or two will contain many of Glendale's finest homes and estates, when prices will have advanced double present quotations."

INCREASE SHOWN IN BANK CREDIT

Volume Greater Than at Any Previous Period in History of System

(Continued from page 1) for even progress, as contrasted with those which lead to extremes of activity and depression. Undoubtedly repeated warnings, and reminders of the losses sustained in 1920 and 1921, when drastic deflation was under way, have been an important factor in preserving an intelligently cautious attitude on the part of bankers and business men gradually.

Continued Activity "How fully the possibility of maintaining active business in coming months will be realized, in the face of expected seasonal slackening in some lines, will depend largely upon the developing prospects of the harvests. The extent to which competitive bidding up of wages continues will also be a factor. The disparities in prices which affect adversely the buying power of important sections of the agricultural population and the uncertainties of the European situation are not new phenomena. These may constitute no greater obstacles to continued prosperity than they have been for many months; and in the absence of marked crop failures, seasonal purchases in the fall, even without higher prices for farm products, should help materially in sustaining generally active business in the latter half of the year. The progress of the railroads in reconditioning and increasing their equipment since the beginning of the year, while maintaining a record movement of freight, is a gratifying factor in the business outlook.

Inventories Replenished "Heretofore production as a whole has exceeded current consumption, while inventories were being replenished. The fact that stocks of commodities in most cases are now apparently adequate for the current requirements of trade eliminates an extraordinary stimulus to expanding production. A further general expansion of production may be expected only in the event of increased domestic consumption or a growth in the export trade, in the absence of a disposition to speculate for a rise in commodity prices. This is a condition making for more stable, even if less intense, business activity. "It is not safe to assume, however, that every unfavorable element in the industrial and financial situation has been eliminated. Ample bank reserves and easy money rates would still in the absence of a disposition to speculate for a rise in commodity are many who believe that prosperity is chiefly dependent upon cheap money and rising prices. The recent demonstration of the fact that the fortunes of business are the reflection of human behavior, rather than the results of blind forces which drive men involuntarily into alternating conditions of prosperity and depression, is not unprecedented. Men have learned and forgotten before. Failure to maintain the discriminating conservatism which is now a wholesome influence upon business and banking policies would remove the strongest existing support of sound economic progress."

More men are endowed with wish bones than with back bones.

OPTIMISM RULES ACACIA HEIGHTS

Ferd Goodfellow Finds No Dull Times Here In Selling Realty

"When is the dull season in Southern California?" a man asked Ferd Goodfellow the other day. Mr. Goodfellow is the developer of the Acacia Heights tract, and manager of its sales force. He looked up from a mass of blue prints which showed the fine roads that are to be constructed upon the tract and the location of the beautiful yellow flowering acacia trees, forty feet apart, and smilingly replied: "Friend, I will answer you somewhat in the way the famous Kentuckian answered a man who asked him about the good and bad whiskey of the region. "Some whiskey is better than others," said he as he stirred the ice in his julep glass reflectively, "but there is no bad whiskey," which conclusion we all hold to be a horrible example of depravity now. Well, some seasons are better than other seasons for business, here in Southern California, but, so far as I know, what the easterner means by dull seasons we know nothing about.

Industries Coming
"Why, man, there were forty-six new industries established in Los Angeles last week, and more in prospect," he added. "The campaign to enlighten the east about the summer climate of California is bearing abundant fruit. They are leaving sweltering Chicago and New York by the thousands and seeking this coast, for, to tell the truth, the east coast offers them little relief from the climatic conditions of the middle and eastern states, and when they get here they realize that the advertisement about this climate is truthful.

"Forty per cent of the automobile tourists are looking about them for locations of a permanent nature, and when they come to Acacia Hills, see the view from the home-sites we are offering and see the prices at which they may acquire them, they are all express astonishment.

"One of them told me the other day that lots in his town of 40,000 people, a hundred miles from Chicago, where the winters are unbearable and the summer heat stifling, were twice as high as these, and they had only three basic industries in the town, not one of which was as important as those of Glendale, while the snow in winter and the heat in summer make the lot of the suburban business man that of the weary perpetual commuter, who is at all times at the mercy of the climate.

Season Is Fruitful
"Our own folks here in Southern California have the vacation habit, but when they are traveling to the mountains or the beaches they have their attention upon real estate opportunities at the same time. Many of them make their choice of a home-site, as we have found, on such occasions, for they realize that when they have a home on these hills they can get cool breezes, rest and quiet without leaving their home comforts to sojourn in a camp in the mountains or seeking the crowded quarters afforded by most of the beaches.

"To the real estate developers this season of the year is most fruitful, for it is now that he turns his attention to the improvement of new tracts in preparation for the winter rush of trade, and if his tract is already upon the market he is able, as we are here now in Acacia Hills, to show it to customers when there is certainty of clear weather, free from rain.

Home a Necessity
"If climate and view were all we had to offer here, we should not expect the interest that is being developed in our property. The average man wants a good climate and an inspiring view, but, transcendental though he may be, he cannot live upon them, but must have some substantial diet. There is no place in the whole civilized world which offers to ambitious and aspiring men the opportunity that they may find here in Southern California. There is no line of human activity that may not be successfully engaged in here, and with profit, by the men who are intelligent and know what they want to do and how to do it.

More Prosperity
In the ten years elapsing between 1910 and 1920, the value of farm property in Los Angeles county nearly doubled and the value of crops increased fourfold, according to official government report.

Beautiful Highway
Planting of 293 locust trees along the state highway near Lodi has just been accomplished by the realty board and the business men's association of that city.

Own Their Farms
Of the 12,000 farmers in Los Angeles county, 7,500 own their own farms.

Buy in Glendale!
A city block in Los Angeles that today is worth $10,000,000 was bought for $100,000 in 1887.
