Twelve-year-old Captive Tells Story of Abduc-

the 12-year-old girl whose mysterious usual police activity in this and other cities, returned to her home on Saturday night from Cincinnati, whither she had been taken by her abductor, F. J. Blair. She told her parents that Blair had placed her aboard a train immediately after leading her away from home and that they had been in a rooming house in the Ohio city until Saturday morning, when the man gave her a ticket to Chicago and told her to go home. The unexpected return of the child The unexpected return of the child turned a house of mourning into a place of joy. Her mother and sister, sleepless since Thursday, when they discovered that Blair had given a fictious address in taking Veronica from her home to "be a companion of his wife," became prostrated to-day. Mrs. Catherine Cassidy, the mother, became hysterical late on Saturday and only the sudden inprestance of the missing he sudden appearance of the missing the sudden appearance of the missing girl saved her from serious illness, according to the physicians. Anna May Cassidy, Veronica's sister, had spent all of last night with detectives who were seeking traces of the younger girl, and worn out by her grief and labors she too became so ill that medical attendance was necessary. ical attendance was necessary.

Their grief was heightened by the belief that Blair was identical with Charles B. Hadley, who kidnapped Eleanora Fuller in San Francisco six years ago and later strangled her. Comparisons of photographs, descriptions and hand-writings spennigly established, this as a fact. Both men tablished this as a fact. Both men came from British Columbia, and the riptions of the fugitives tallied almost exactly.

Later, however, this supposition was abandoned. A search of the room which Blate had occupied revealed several letters tending to prove that he had been a contractor at Moyle, B. C. One of the documents was a receipted bill for $215 worth of lumber. The bill for $21s worth of fumber. The epistles proved, also, that Blair had been in the town as late as June 22nd. Another letter discovered was from the Union Tailors, 513 Third avenue, Seattle, Wash. It was addressed to George F. Blair, Moyle, B. C.

Another curious development in the Another curious development in the search of the rooming house where Blair stopped was the discovery of eight sheets of writing paper, on each of which was written in blue lead the words. The withdrawal of $500,000 gold for Canada during last week marked the actual start of the movement.

Interior exchange is moving against this city for the first time in many months, and the fact that the wheat is months, and the lact that the wheat is now coming to market at the rate of a million bushels a day, representing in great part the new harvest, suggests the probability of active reduction in interior bank balances at this point in the near future.

RALPH SMITH DELIVERS ADDRESS AT NANAIMO

Notable Achievements Under Liberal Regime—Elements of Prosperity.

(Special to the Times). no, Aug. 3.—When Ralph mith, M. P., finished speaking at his neeting here on Saturday afterno mebody remarked "Mr. Smith to-day laid the foundation for his re-electio for this constituency when the time comes."

This was a deserved tribute to the manly, straightforward exposition of his political position by the member, but after all it only conveyed a half truth, because the majority of the electors undoubtedly believe that Mr. Smith's record as a public man is the permanent formatten of all statute pro-littical career. Certainly it cannot be said that Nanaimo is unappreclative of the achievements of its first citizen. because on the occasion of his two public appearances here he has had large audiences and the cordial greet-ings which only the sturdy miners of this place can accord.

Some men wear well. Some shine brilliantly for the time being, and then a little gust snuffs them out. Mr. Smith belongs to the first order. He possesses enviable platform ability, and is A Born Fighter, such as all the world loves; but these alone, while essential qualifications, are not the woof and warp of a public man. Behind them there must be actual achievement and devotion to principle, and these are the corner stones of Mr. mith's career, and explain how it is a has weathered so many political with all sorts of combinations His speech on Saturday was a con

For eight months they had been telling their friends what they would do to Smith when they got their talons upon him, but they did nothing. And it was an open air meet ng, too, and there were tree branches and other weapons of condign punish-ment at hand.

There was one incident in which they were able to participate. Mr. Smith challenged the Socialist leader to dechallenged the Socialist leader to de-bate their respective records, the ar-rangements to be made by a committee of five representing each side. Mr. Hawthornthwaite arose and accepted the challenge, but he coupled with his acceptance a rider that they also have

Nature and a woman's work con bined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their poculiar ills, more potent and effica-

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills. Mrs. J. M. Tweedale, 12 Naporice treet, Toronto, Canada, writes to

Mrs. Pinkham: Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles, had those dreadful bearing down pains, and during my monthly periods I suffered so I had to go to bed. I doctored for a long time but the doctor's treatment failed to help me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and got a bottle for me. I convenenced its use and soon felt better. I kept on taking it until I was well and an entirely different woman. I also found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made childbirth much easier for me. I would recommend your Vegetable Compound to every woman who is afflicted with female troubles."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegeta-ble Compound did for Mrs. Tweedale, it will do for other suffering women.

the Jaboring class, and representatives of labor in the House of Commons on every occasion supported the legislation of the Liberal party, while legislation initiated by labor accomplishment of the reforms he had in view. If he could not support either party his usefulness as a member party his usefulne would be at an end.

Mr. Smith was clear in his explanation of the party which it is Mr. Borden's pleasure, possibly his regret, to lead. He pointed out that there were millions of acres of land in Canada awaiting development, and that the measure of the velopment, and that the measure of the country's prosperity depended upon the number of people on the land. In Eng-land the control of land by a favored few was the great, distressirg weak-ness. In Ireland landfordism was the encumbrance upon the coutnry's pros-perity.

But in Canada this weakness did not exist, at least not with respect to Do-minion lands, especially in the Northespecially interesting, and they drank in every word. He divided his remarks into three sections:

1. An explanation of our system of government, showing the difference between the conditions existing in Engand and Canada, at the same time outlining the jurisdictions of the Dominion and the provinces.

2. An elucidation of theliand development policy of the Liberal government. Contrasting the attitudes of the two parties and emphasizing the effect of the development of the Northwest upon the prosperity of British Columbia.

in 1900 the total area under crop in the three provinces of the northwest was 2,657,000 acres; now there are 5,854.000 acres.
In 1896 the total crep production of sil kinds was 58,355,000 bushels. In 1908
It was 211,562,000 bushels.
The wheet production in 1886 was 22.

The wheat production in 1896 was 32,... 600,000 bushels. In 1806 it was 102,250,-600 bushels, and for this year the pro-duction was expected to be 120,000,000 bushels

The difference between the Liberal and Conservative policies with regard to land development was very strongly established by the member of Nanaimo. Take the record of the Conservative party. In its eighteen years of power from 1875 to 1896 it was free-handed with the

Here was the Tory record:

There, clearly, were two straight hewn policies—one showing a government tied to the wheels of a railway track, the other devoted to the opening up and development of a great fertile

What was the effect of the Liberal policy of development upon British Coumbia? Under the head of reforms instituted by the Liberal government, Mr. Smith made out a strong case. Nanalmo's member had a few interesting observations to make on the Oriental question and it was noteworthy that in dealing with this matter he was most eagerly listened to and frequently applauded. What were the policies of the two great parties on this question? They were as distinct as day from night. Who brought the Orientals into the country? The Conservatives in connection with the C. P. The sum total of Conservative effort to restrict the immigration of Asiatics was the imposition of a $50 head tax on Chinese.
