SLOW DEATH IN SUBMARINE

SOME OF MEN LIVED FOR 2 DAYS IN SUNKEN BOAT

The Pluviose Towed to Calais Where Bodies Are Removed From Wreck

(Times Leased Wire.) Calais, June 11.—The men of the sunken French submarine Pluviose, who were in the inner compartment of the little craft when it was sunk by the Ville De Calais, May 26th, lived a day after the collision and slowly struggled to death. The men in the outer compartments, which were ripped open, were either mangled so that they died instantly or drowned.

This report was made by the surgeons who examined the bodies of the officers and crew of the submarine.

While the divers from the French warships were working on the sunken craft to raise it, the men in the inner compartments amidships were slowly dying. The investigation proves the truth of the report that tappings by the imprisoned men on the sides of the submarine were heard.

The belief was expressed here that if the submarine had been raised at once half the crew of 27 men would have been saved.

The removal of the bodies of the victims was begun to-day. The hull was towed into the harbor here to-day. Relatives of the victims of the accident attempted to get to the Pluviose, but were restrained by officers. A big crowd gathered on the shore and watched the rescuers at work.

Photographers who endeavored to get pictures of the scene were mobbed.

The first body was removed at 9:15 a. m. The work of removal was slow on account of condition in which the bodies were found. The receding tides left the hull of the submarine exposed. The port side was crushed in. The submarine, evidently filled almost instantly after the collision.

The feeling in this section is intense, as the Newells were prominent and had resided here for years. Bolivar took to the hills on horseback.

(Special to the Times.) London, June 11.—The Duke of Connaught will probably tour South Africa with the Duchess and Princess Patricia after opening the South African parliament.

Premier Botha's salary will be £4,000 and the ministers £3,000 each.

Question of Residence. Cape Town, June 11.—It is stated that Gen. Louis Botha, premier and minister of agriculture in the cabinet of South Africa, declines to avail himself of the terms of the will of Cecil Rhodes, which set apart the Rhodes mansion at Groot Schuur as a residence for the premier of South Africa.

The refusal of Botha to comply with the conditions of the will has created a strong feeling against him.

Ottawa, June 11.—The department of finance has closed the accounts of the Dominion for the fiscal year ended March 31st, 1910. The figures are available of the fiscal operations of that period.

According to the official statement issued by the department, the revenue for the year totalled $101,501,034, ordinary expenditure, $79,609,849, and capital expenditure, $24,114,994, and the sum of $12,736,088 was added to the public debt.

The customs revenue for the year was $60,156,123, an increase of $12,740,808 over the preceding fiscal period. Excise, $15,253,352, shows an increase of $315,549 and post office receipts $7,938,547, an increase of $556,934.

The total revenue, which, as stated, is a good million and a half over the hundred million mark, is greater by $18,407,620 than the revenue for 1908-09, and exceeds by five millions the previous high water mark of 1907-08, when the revenue jumped to $96,054,505.

While the revenue of 1909-10 was nearly sixteen and one-half millions in excess of that of 1908-09, the ordinary

It is understood that the question of the Massachusetts branch will be settled while the president is in Victoria, where D. D. Mann will join him.

KILLED IN NICARAGUA

Milwaukee, Wis., June 11.—Charles E. Rosenthal, of this city, has received confirmation from the United States consulate at Bluefields that his son Louis E. ## FARMERS NEED HELP

Winnipeg, June 11.—That the supply of farm hands is totally inadequate to meet the demand is the firm conviction of J. Bruce Walker, the chief immigration agent. ## KILLING OF PORKERS DELAYS A STEAMER

Chinese Turn Heads of Victims in Direction Steamer is Travelling to Prevent Head Winds

The five hundred odd Chinese who arrive here to-day on the steamer China from Hongkong have added one more superstition to their already large stock.

There is a saying among sailors that the killing of a pig aboard ship brings contrary winds. Many pigs were brought by the Chinese on the recent voyage of the China and were killed on the way, and almost throughout the voyage the winds were contrary.

The killing began a few days after the steamer left port, a fine porker being slaughtered and dressed. The next day the wind blew hard in their teeth, and someone told the Chinese they were responsible for it. Every time a pig was killed the wind was contrary, and the Chinese were regularly informed that it was their fault.

Finally there was a big killing, several fat swine being killed in one day, and the next day there was a howling gale. This was certainly disconcerting, and the Chinamen were now sure that it was their pig that were doing the damage.

It was at this time that Captain Lyett gravely explained to the Chinamen who was in charge of his countrymen that they did not kill the pigs in the proper way. If they would always turn the head of the pig in the same direction as the ship was travelling, said he, the wind would not be affected.

This was done the following day. The porker's nose was pointed ahead, and all the following day and to the end of the voyage the gentle zephyrs wafted the big craft on its way instead of delaying the passage.

SEATTLE SCENE OF BIG FIRE

LOSS MAY REACH ONE MILLION DOLLARS

Rain Aids Firemen When North End of Business Section Appeared Doomed

(Times Leased Wire.) Seattle, Wash., June 11.—No one was killed in the fire that swept over the north end of the business district last night. Only two men were injured, neither seriously. Both are firemen. J. L. Eager ran a nail in his foot and was taken to the city hospital. George Pent was overcome by gas and was also sent to the city hospital. An inspection of the ruins this morning shows that the loss will total between $800,000 and $1,000,000.

Nearly six blocks are in ruins as a result of the fire which started at 11 o'clock last night at the Galbraith glass show-case. Only a number of buildings were saved. The fire spread in the forty-five mile an hour gale that was blowing saved all of North Seattle from destruction. As long as the wind blew the combined firemen of the city were powerless. As the men prepared to use dynamite, the gale suddenly dropped and a drizzling rain began which killed the mass of sparks that was dashing down on buildings hundreds of feet away, and the firemen had won.

The fire burned with astonishing rapidity. Thirty minutes after the start it cut its way through to Second avenue, five blocks away. Clouds of smoke are still rolling from the ruins to-day, and few of the firemen left the scene until long after daylight.

The conflagration was the worst in the history of Seattle with the single exception of the great blaze of 1889. Blocks away, people hauled their household goods into the street on the advice of the police. Furniture, vans, hacks, taxicabs and wagons hurried to and fro with fleeing people and their effects. Only the startling drop in the gale that had been lashing the Sound to a fury, and tearing down wires and all boards all evening, prevented their fears from being realized.

Linemen clambered up telegraph poles cutting wires, and were driven down by flames sometimes even before they had begun their work. Live wires spluttered and blazed in a terrifying manner.

Firemen operating engine No. 1 were driven away and the engine was partially destroyed.

Some idea of the terrific force of the gale can be realized when it is said that at times a solid sheet of flames would be carried a half block. The flames leaped across a 100-foot street as if there was no gap at all.

One by one the following buildings went: Galbraith Bacon stables and warehouse; Puget Sound sheet metal works; Chiopeck cold storage and ice plant; story and a half frame building occupied by saloon; Vincent Bros. hotel and two frame residences; Ward's cafe; Union lodging house; J. Dofner, cigar store; Crystal barber shop; Wall street hotel; John Roger's cigar store; carpenter shop; saloon and pool room, 2411 First avenue; Oregon hotel; Boynton Hardware company; Puget Sound Marble Company; Artificial Limb Co.; pool hall, 2406 First avenue; ten frame houses.

The roofs of many other buildings were burned.

RAILWAYS ORDER BIG LOCOMOTIVES

Harriman Lines Will Spend Over Million Dollars on Engines This Year

(Times Leased Wire.) New York, June 11.—That the Harriman lines plan to make extensive improvement in rolling stock as well as the lines themselves was indicated to-day when Alva B. Johnson, vice-president of the Baldwin locomotive works, confirmed the report that the company had received an order from the Harriman lines for 85 passenger locomotives of the largest and heaviest type. The order means an expenditure of about $1,125,000 by the Harriman system. It is the largest locomotive order placed within the past two years. Deliveries are to be made in October, November and December.

In reply to a question as to the reported cancellation of equipment orders by certain railroads, Johnson said that no orders had been cancelled and that there was no expectation that any would be.

Johnson's statement contradicts the announcement of certain railroads that the action of the government in preventing the proposed rate increase would cause them to cancel their orders for equipment.

here and at Molitao. The proprietor of the Suiz hotel at Como admitted that he had ordered the Charltons from the hotel because of frequent beatings. Charlton is alleged to have given his wife.

While the death of Stella Reid, whose mutilated body was found in the bay of Naples still remains a mystery the local police profess to see a connection between the two crimes. They refuse to reveal the reasons for their suspicion and it is believed that the theory is based on the similarity of the deaths of both women.

Died of Suffocation.

Como, Italy, June 11.—(Later.)—An autopsy to-day on the body of Mrs. Mary Crittenden Castle-Charlton revealed the fact that the woman died of suffocation after her body had been thrust in the trunk taken from Lake of Como yesterday.

The post mortem examination revealed that the wounds on the head were not of themselves sufficient to have caused death.

There is no doubt that Mrs. Castle-Charlton was unconscious when she was wrapped in a cloth and placed in the trunk.

Among the incriminating circumstances against Constantine Ignatoff, a Russian arrested at Togliano, according to the police, was an inquiry he made of a fisherman concerning the location of the deepest part of the lake.

Implicated in Shooting.

San Francisco, Cal., June 11.—Mrs. Porter Charlton's maiden name was Mary Crittenden Scott. She was a daughter of the late H. H. Scott, former deputy collector of the port of San Francisco. She was born at Elk, Nev. 34 years ago. She was a cousin of the late President Harrison and a relative by marriage of the late Admiral Sampson.

In 1897 she married Neville H. Castle, an attorney in San Jose, Cal. Two years later an estrangement came, when Mrs. Castle told her husband that she wished to go on the stage. Castle was appointed Assistant United States district attorney at Nome, Alaska, last October, and after gaining a residence there obtained a divorce. His complaint cited the notoriety gained by his wife in New York when she shot and slightly wounded Attorney W. B. Graig, a friend since childhood.

Judge Forin has been agreed on as third member of the board of arbitration to fix the price to be paid by the Kettle River Valley Railway Company for the old right-of-way of the Midway & Vernon. R. F. Green is the government's nominee and L. M. Rice, Seattle, the Kettle River Company's.

A meeting of the ministering circle of the King's Daughters will be held in the Fort Street rooms on Wednesday, June 16th, at 2:30, to meet Mrs. Shaw. As important business will be discussed, a full attendance is requested.

A meeting of American residents of this city was held last evening in the offices of the American consul, for the purpose of arranging for the holding a celebration on July 4th, in honor of the anniversary of the independence of the United States. The following committee was appointed to draw up a programme and to report at a meeting to be held at a date in the near future: U. S. Consul Abraham Smith, C. C. Michener, James O. Cameron, W. W. Steinmiz and J. H. Moore.

The new system of warning signals of the approach of the fire brigade in the business section of the city, which consists of the ringing of a bell in the day and the burning of a red light at night at all the street corners, and which has only recently been installed, was used for the first time last night, when the fire brigade was called to the Balmoral hotel, where hot ashes had ignited a bundle of paper. The blaze started at 10:15 o'clock and was extinguished before the department arrived. The usefulness of the new system was demonstrated. The streets at that hour contained many persons but when the signal was given they were quickly cleared.

AUTO FINES RAISED TO TWENTY DOLLARS

Walker Goes to Jail for an Additional Six Months for Theft—Other Cases

The police magistrate this morning held that a person driving an automobile beyond the speed limit, even on a street where there is no traffic and no persons other than those in the machine, is therefore liable to be fined; consequently Algernon Henry Pease paid the city $20, the new rate, fixed for payment on convictions under the automobile by-laws.

Mr. Pease called his wife and Miss Helen Fuller, a nurse, who has been in their employ for several months, as witnesses. Miss Fuller said she enjoyed riding at the pace Mr. Pease drove the machine. She considered him a most careful driver, who always drove with an eye to the public safety. On Alpha street, the date the charge was laid, she was positive there were no children on the road, even if Constable Smith did say otherwise.

The wife of accused said she thought her husband had driven the machine at about twenty miles an hour. She had motored for years and was certain the speed was safe and not dangerous to the public.

Mr. Pease, the defendant, said: "I take pride in driving with care and consideration to the public. I slow up for vehicles and children, and stop altogether for restive horses. I drive around corners as slowly as a walking horse, and always stop for passing vehicles on dusty days. I know what a safe speed is and I always adhere to it."

Cross-examining Constable Smith, the accused was informed suddenly that he was presently come round the corner into Alpha street without tooting his horn.

"Bat" Walker, the man sentenced yesterday to six months with hard labor for stealing a camera from the store of F. J. Williams, was this morning given a similar sentence on pleading guilty to a charge of stealing five razors from Bow's drug store.

John McKay, who was sentenced on the same charge as Walker yesterday, pleaded not guilty this morning to a charge of receiving stolen property, the razors on which Walker was sentenced. A remand was obtained until Thursday next, and meantime an appeal against the conviction recorded against him yesterday will be taken by his lawyer, J. A. Aikman.

New York, June 11.—Charles R. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refinery Company, and Ernest Gerbrach, Williamsburg dock superintendent of the same company, who were found guilty of defrauding the government, will be sentenced August 30th. Attorneys for the convicted men are reported to be preparing an appeal from the verdict and it is probable the appeal will be ready before sentence is pronounced.

Cashier Bendernagie, who was co-defendant with Heike and Gerbrach upon the question of whose guilt the jury could not agree, probably will not be on trial again. This is the second time a jury has disagreed in trying Bendernagie.

LIFEBOAT WORK BENEFITS.

Secretary-Treasurer Peirson, of the Lifeboat and Life-Saving Association, British Columbia, desires to express a deep sense of gratitude to the Grand Trunk Pacific Coast Steamship Company for the aid afforded to the friends of the association by the kind permission given it, through Captain Nicholson, to solicit voluntary contributions from visitors to the palatial ship Prince Rupert yesterday.

Not only did the leading officials of the company lead off by most generous contributions to the collecting box, but every member of the company's staff displayed the greatest possible courtesy and desire to help. Of the general public it was interesting to note that the most generous disposition was evinced by the lady visitors or by gentlemen accompanied by ladies; and other gentlemen it was amusing to observe how many steered right ahead without even casting a glance at the collecting box or a smile to the collector. Many Chinese visitors were conspicuous by generous gifts.

The funds of the association will be benefited to the extent of $134.30. "Hurrah for the Grand Trunk," Mr. Peirson says.

There will be a Fifth Regiment band concert at Beacon Hill park tomorrow afternoon.

The concert to be given this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, in the A. O. U. W. hall by the pupils of the North Ward school, promises to be a most successful affair. This entertainment has been arranged for the purpose of gathering funds for the purchasing of a piano for the school. An excellent programme has been prepared and several leading local artists will be heard in vocal and instrumental selections.

NEW DIVISIONS ON CANADIAN PACIFIC

Work of Reorganizing Western Lines is Now in Progress—Changes in Staffs.

Winnipeg, June 11.—An entire reorganization of the western lines of the C. P. R. is now under way. The great increase in mileage during the past ten years has made frequent changes necessary, and this one is the most radical of all. At the present time the western lines are operated as three grand divisions. The total mileage of the C. P. R. is 3,800 miles, and of this 2,200 are included in the western lines, operated from Winnipeg. In the operating department the central division, extended from Fort William to Broadway, the western from Broadway to Laggan, and the Mountain from Laggan to the coast.

The new distribution will be practically according to the provinces and the names of these grand divisions will probably be the Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia divisions. Moose Jaw will be the new divisional headquarters, as it has excellent facilities in the way of shops and yards and is centrally located.

William Whyte, second vice-president, stated yesterday morning that final arrangements had not yet been made as to the personnel of the staffs of the re-organized divisions. That matter was in the hands of G. J. Bury, general manager, who was at present in the west. Mr. Bury's recommendations would probably not be made until his return in the course of the next few weeks. The change will go into effect on July 1st.

The C. P. R. is preparing to continue the double tracking of its line between Portage la Prairie and Brandon. J. G. Hargrave & Co., who recently completed the sub-grade work on the section of the line from Winnipeg to Portage la Prairie, have been instructed to continue west, and will proceed at once. This announcement was made by Mr. Whyte.

The completion of this piece of work will give the company 522 miles of double track from Fort William west, and it may be taken as one of the important steps in the railway problem of western Canada.

U.S. CUSTOMS RECEIPTS.

Washington, D. C. June 11.—Customs receipts for the first nine months under the new tariff law have been greater than ever before in a like period, according to a statement issued by the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor. The receipts amounted to $250,112,000. Merchandise valued at $601,530,000 was admitted. This was also the greatest amount admitted to the United States in a period of nine months.

FORCING YOURSELF TO TAKE FOOD

The Tortures of Indigestion Banished by the Tonic Powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Victims of indigestion have small choice between two evils—on the one hand a starvation diet, which means great weakness and depression of spirits, and on the other hand forcing themselves to take nourishment in spite of the acute suffering inflicted by each meal.

In the search for a cure they find common medicines upset the stomach and render the food more difficult to digest. Laxatives are violent and weakening, and so-called "pre-digested foods" merely evade the cause of the trouble and the stomach steadily grows weaker.

The common sense way of curing indigestion is the Dr. Williams' way—the making of new, rich blood by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that gives tone to the weakened system and invigorates the distressed digestive organs. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured thousands of the worst cases of indigestion through their simple tonic treatment and one excellent example of these cures is the case of Miss M. Y. C. Roberge, Sorel, Que., who says: "For upwards of nine years I suffered almost continuously the tortures of indigestion. At times I had no appetite, at others there was a craving for food, but whatever I took caused me the greatest pain. As the result of the trouble I suffered from violent headaches, and I grew pale and weak. I tried many different medicines; some gave me a little relief, but none gave me any permanent benefit until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had only taken these a few weeks when I found such help as I had not found before. The pains after eating gradually disappeared, my appetite grew better, and after using the Pills for a couple of months I found myself completely cured, and have not since had a twinge of the trouble. I gratefully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all who suffer from any form of indigestion."

Through their action on the blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure such troubles as anaemia, indigestion, sick headaches, rheumatism and all forms of nervous troubles such as neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, and partial paralysis. These Pills are especially valuable to growing girls and women and cure the headaches, dizziness and other pains known only to them. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

IMPROVED MAIL SERVICE TO BRITAIN

Arrangements May Be Made in the Near Future for Three Mails Each Week

Montreal, June 11.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, postmaster-general, who was in the city yesterday, stated in an interview that he was doing all he could to hasten the day when night letters would not leave Montreal marked via "New York."

The minister stated that he had as yet made no arrangements with the Canadian Northern, and the White Star-Dominion Company, but he expected there would be an arrangement in the near future by which three mails will leave each week for Great Britain. The contract with the Allan line shared with the Canadian Pacific will not expire until 1912. While no definite arrangements had yet been made it would certainly be possible, Mr. Lemieux said, to have a regular bi-weekly mail service from this port very soon. They had already sent mail by the White Star-Dominion line. There was no doubt the lines who put on fast boats would get mails to carry, as he would much rather pay money to Canadians for doing Canadian work than strangers.

DECLARED INVALID AFTER TWENTY YEARS

Judge Gives Decision on Anti-Coercion Law in Colorado—8-Hour Day Upheld

Denver, Colo., June 11.—The anti-coercion law, which provides that no employer in Colorado shall discharge an employee because he is a member of a labor union, has been declared invalid. The statute was passed 20 years ago.

Leaders of labor unions said to-day that the law was one of the strongest protections against unfairness to union men that they ever enjoyed within the state. The law was declared invalid by Judge Sullivan of Mesa county when rendering a decision in the suit of Labor Commissioner Brack against Neill Brothers, who operate a coal mine near Capitan. The mine operators had discharged 23 union men.

Judge Sullivan held that the coercion act was unconstitutional. He upheld the eight-hour day, however.

DEATH OF F. X. MARTIN.

Vancouver, June 11.—F. X. Martin, who has been a patient in St. Paul's hospital suffering from dropsy, died yesterday afternoon. He had been unconscious since Thursday night. For the last three days he had been gradually sinking. It was only two months ago that Mr. Martin, who is one of the best known officials in the lower mainland, was superannuated after a service in the land registry office of more than twenty years, first at New Westminster, and then in Vancouver when the office was transferred here.

The deceased is survived by Madame Martin, two sons, Albert of Ottawa and Milton of Edmonton, and by two daughters. The elder is Louise, better known by her stage name of Madame Evelyn, a noted prima donna. She is the wife of Hon. Cecil Edwards, brother of Lord Kensington. Lita is the second daughter and with her mother is a resident in Vancouver.

North Yakima, Wash., June 11.—The body of George Wilson, engineer for the government geodetic survey, has been brought to North Yakima. The dead man was found by George Brown, a negro, about a mile from the latter's cabin, near the Yakima county line. Wilson started out on Decoration Day with an engineering party. The hard work weakened him and he turned back to camp that afternoon and disappeared completely.

TAMPERING WITH TRADE.

The extraordinary transformation which takes place in the character of the average man when he ceases to be a private citizen and becomes a member of a governing body forms an interesting study in psychology, if that is the correct word. The natural inclination of the private individual is to criticize and to fight against all suggestions looking to increased taxation. Put that same individual in a municipal council, in a legislature or in a parliament, and straightway he begins to pry around in search of an excuse for the imposition of taxes. The rule is not invariable, but it applies in most cases. The people of Victoria know it to be a fact from dear-bought experience. They have observed the workings of the phenomenon in both the city council and in the provincial legislature. And more curious still, there seems to be hallucination in the mind of the average legislator, whatever his status, that taxes can be levied upon individuals and companies without affecting the pockets of the people doing business with or through the said individuals or companies. There is something, however, which most people know, and which in these days of general education and wide information everybody ought to know, that in the last analysis all taxation comes from the pockets of the people; either directly or indirectly. While, for example, the bulk of the revenue of the province of British Columbia is derived from imposts upon our natural resources, such as coal and timber and land, every dollar collected represents the dissipation of many dollars' worth of the common heritage, in which we are all directly interested. In addition, upon all the coal and timber consumed within the province the consumer pays the taxes and the royalties. The exploiter leaves no loopholes through which we can crawl and escape the common lot. The Companies Act of the Attorney-General which has created an agitation in commercial circles, we are told was designed for the purpose of "equalizing conditions" for one thing and in order to collect taxes from people who have hitherto escaped taxation for another. Those who oppose it, on the other hand, claim that it will at once operate in restraint of trade and prove unfair and unjust in its incidence. But Mr. Bowser says he cannot help these things. The act is on the statute book and must be enforced.

It might be derogatory to his dignity if he were to admit he had made a mistake—did not understand the possible effect of his measure. With such a large surplus as he, the Finance Minister, claims to have in the treasury, and considering the healthy condition in which the finances are said to be, Mr. Bowser might at least have put a curb upon his taxing activities until he was thoroughly understood what he was doing. There is an axiom which he might keep in mind in the future. It is that the wisest thing to do in the interests of all the people is to keep trade as free and untrammelled as possible. Let it alone and it will flourish.

A NEW PROBLEM IN IMMIGRATION.

It seems but a few years since the burden of the complaint in Canada was that immigrants could not be persuaded to come to the country in sufficient numbers. Agents were maintained in various parts of Europe for the purpose of directing hesitating footsteps in this direction. Large sums of money were spent by the federal government in the maintenance of agencies, in the publication of alluring literature and for the payment of the passage of the few immigrants who yielded to the spell of the officials. And after the prospective settlers crossed the water we could not keep them. Succeeding censuses showed that the growth of population amounted to little more than the natural increase. How different are the conditions to-day. From various sources strangers are pouring in at the rate of one thousand six hundred a day. The rush is so great that precautions are necessary to prevent the arrival of too many of the undesirable and the unfit. Indifference has given place to eagerness. The people are literally fighting for the right to come in. They are complaining of the precautionary measures taken by the government against evil consequences which might follow indiscriminate immigration. Charitable agencies in Great Britain charge us with inhospitality, ingratitude, and even with lack of patriotism, because we question the assimilability of some portion of the material they desire to get off their hands. Yet the records of the jails and the asylums of the different provinces furnish convincing proof of the necessity for a judicious selection of immigrants. There is no truth in the charge that the people of Great Britain are unpatriotically discriminated against in our immigration regulations. The rules are enforced against all immigrants, hall from whence they may. It is quite possible that more people may be turned back at ports on the Atlantic coast than at the portals along the United States international boundary line, but there is an obvious reason for that state of affairs. It does not imply discrimination against our own countrymen. It indicates that the American immigrants are perhaps of a superior type, fulfilling the conditions required. They are nearly all of the agricultural class and well-to-do. No practical farmer coming to a country like Canada is ever likely to become a charge upon the community. He will adjust himself to circumstances immediately. Under the conditions which have developed we can not only afford to be particular, but in the interests of all concerned it is our manifest duty to be so.

Apropos, the Ottawa Free Press in a recent issue says:
"The fiscal year of the Dominion has opened with a record of immigration, which should be the best possible answer to the critics in England who are asserting that the Dominion is putting up the barriers against desirable settlers. The new arrivals for the month of April reached a total of 48,267 as against 24,237 for April last year, an augmentation of 99 per cent."
"And it is also interesting to note that while in the earlier months of the year the preponderance of immigration was from the United States, the tables have been now turned and while 20,443 immigrants came in from the United States this April as against only 12,609 in April last year, the all-British immigration nearly equalled that figure."
"Thus we find that Canada is growing both from over-seas and overland at the same time; and thanks to the wise regulations of the department we have the satisfaction of knowing that the undesirable are being kept out, that those who are coming in are well possessed of this world's goods, and that there is little prospect of a repetition of the scenes of two or three winters ago when the charitable people of Canada were compelled to put their hands into their pockets to keep the new arrivals from starving."

A SUBSTITUTE FOR BEEF.

With respect to this very pressing problem of the exorbitant prices charged for beef, it is comforting to observe that the matter is not merely a local manifestation which may be charged directly against a natural human desire on the part of cattle barons to take advantage of man's omnivorous appetite to pile up the lucre that moth and rust doth corrupt. The famine—if there be a famine—is general. The people of Germany are eating dogs and cast-off horses. Those of France are in little better case. In Great Britain the juicy stake which goes so well with a glass of porter is a luxury the poor man may sniff at but cannot insert a fork into. Our American brethren, notwithstanding the great wealth of the country, find that there is at least one form of indulgence in which they must stint themselves. The price of beef is very high, and we are told it may go higher. The vast cattle ranges of the West are being utilized for more intensive forms of agriculture. Hence the beef famine. But we are told there is a way in which the fat years of old may be brought back again. The idea is so very simple that we wonder it had not been thought of before. It is particularly applicable to the case of British Columbia, where the conditions may yet become desperate. It is to go in for venison. The deer, being next of kin to the goat, can thrive and grow fat on a very scanty diet. Succulent grasses he doubtless appreciates, but they are not necessary to his existence. He can browse in the bush and grow fat, and he is common property. Therefore we are told the deer is the animal with which to meet the butcher and the cattle baron. We cannot say that venison, taken on the average, is a particularly attractive article of diet; but we recommend the idea to our provincial game warden, whose views seem to indicate a belief that game is a thing to be destroyed as rapidly as possible by the present generation rather than to be judiciously preserved in order that a future generation may also share in whatever benefits there may be in it.

The following from the Christian Guardian of Toronto has, of course, no local application: Dr. W. J. Dawson, in a Vancouver address, describing a certain class of church-going people, referred to them as "the sermon-saturated pagans of the pew." No doubt the description is an accurate one as applied to a certain very limited class, and it gives a hint of a danger that besets a very much larger class. It is possible to be a "Christian pagan," with a knowledge of Christianity and a life largely unaffected by that knowledge.

Having completed arrangements for freer trade with all the great nations of Europe, Hon. W. S. Fielding is prepared to treat in due time with the United States to the same end. At the same time the Finance Minister issues timely notice that if negotiations are to be entered upon with the republic concession must be the price of concession, and Mr. Fielding is just the man to distinguish between a concession which concedes and one which withholds.

The fiscal year just ended was the brightest in every respect in the history of Canada. And the tide of prosperity is still running strong. Thousands of people are coming into the country every day, bringing hundreds of thousands of dollars with them. That in itself is a prolific source of wealth. But the crops are also growing.

Hamilton Times: Province of British Columbia registered stock is quoted at $5 to $7 in London, England. That is lower than should be offered for any Canadian Provincial security. Can it be that some of the Provinces are borrowing too freely?

Let the Turks and the Albanians keep at each other for a little while, and Europe will have the Eastern Question, which has been asleep for some time, again on its hands. It might prove a dangerous question at this time, too.

We knew it would come. The Colonel's Guildhall speech is said (needless to say where) to have resulted in the reported changes of administration in India and in Egypt. The iron hand for the fellahs.

The Grand Trunk Company has made a good beginning in the West. If all its works are up to the standard of the steamer Prince Rupert business will flourish.

A leading newspaper of New York suggests that the British should keep Roosevelt. Too late! And such base ingratitude. Just like the democracy.

TESTATOR'S SON WON.

Victoria Man Scores Victory over Combined Charitable Organizations in Old Country.

Dublin, June 11.—In the Appellate court, yesterday, Lord Chief Justice O'Brien delivered the judgment of the court in the appeal of several charitable institutions against the decision of the Probate court, declaring Dr. James Joseph Murtagh, of Western Australia, to be sole heir and executor of the estate of his father, the late Hon. Eugene Murtagh.

The court was unanimous in dismissing the appeal, and in the course of a lengthy judgment His Lordship scathingly condemned the all too frequent practice of certain religious enthusiasts who did not seem to have any scruple in working upon the susceptible tendencies of dying persons likely to subsidize their so-called charitable organizations.

Notice of a further appeal to the Privy Council was given and accepted by the respondent's counsel on the usual conditions. The whole estate, worth over one million dollars, is practically claimed by the organizations under a codicil to the will of the testator.

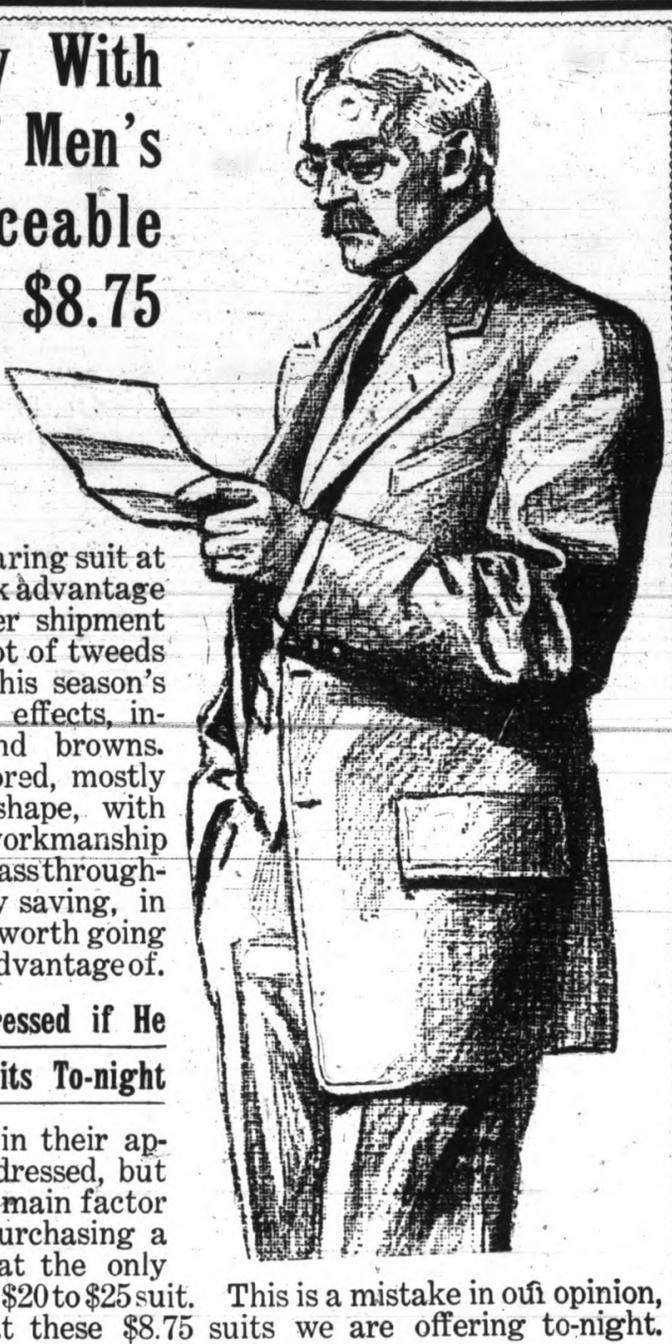

Dr. Murtagh is now a resident of Victoria, being connected with St. Louis College.

We Are Ready With Another Lot of Men's Good, Serviceable Suits Priced at $8.75

A week ago, we announced the special selling of a similar line, with exceptionally good results, inasmuch that a very large number of men, who saw a chance to get a good wearing suit at a considerable saving, took advantage then. Now here is another shipment just in. They are a fine lot of tweeds and English worsteds, in this season's newest patterns and color effects, including greys, fawns and browns. They are handsomely tailored, mostly in single breasted sack shape, with long, graceful lapels, the workmanship and trimmings being first class throughout. These mean a heavy saving, in fact a saving that is well worth going out of your way to take advantage of.

Every Man Can Be Well Dressed if He Buys One of our $8.75 Suits To-night

All men who take a pride in their appearance want to be well dressed, but in many cases money is the main factor which keeps them from purchasing a suit. Many men think that the only suit worth wearing is the $20 to $25 suit. This is a mistake in our opinion, especially when we look at these $8.75 suits we are offering to-night.

OBITUARY RECORD

The funeral of the late Charles Hunter Westcott will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Eagles hall, Government street.

The remains of the late Charles Wm. Mackenzie were laid to rest in Ross Bay cemetery this afternoon. The funeral took place from the family residence, 2627 Quadra street, where services were conducted by G. D. Ramsay. There was a large attendance of friends, and the funeral offerings presented were numerous and beautiful.

The following acted as pallbearers: J. Ellsworth, J. Freel, A. Davidson, G. McMoran, J. Allan and W. Petticrew.

Interment of the remains of the late John Moore was made in Ross Bay cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral, which took place from the family residence, 1205 Fernwood road, was attended by a large number of sympathizing friends. Many floral tributes covered the hearse and casket. Services were conducted at the house by Rev. A. J. Stanley, A. D. At the graveside the last rites of the I. O. O. F., of which order deceased was a valued member, were read by Bro. P. McLean, president of the relief committee, assisted by Bro. Craig, acting chaplain. The following acted as pallbearers: Bros. J. T. McIlroy, G. Myers and F. L. Cochenour, representing the A. O. U. W., of which body Mr. Moore was a member, and Bros. A. Anderson, A. A. Milne and H. Bleasdale, of the I. O. O. F.

The case has several interesting features, the defence alleging that the medical man agreed to give his services for a certain sum, which plaintiff denies. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant, after refusing to pay his bill, maliciously inserted an advertisement in a Victoria paper stating that a good practitioner would find an excellent opportunity at Sidney. This advertisement, he claims, was intended to hurt his practice. He also objects to the defendant endeavoring to fix his scale of charges. A considerable amount of correspondence, all more or less of a warm description, will be produced at the trial, which will take place next week.

Frank Higgins will appear for the plaintiff and Crease & Crease for the defendant.

-Thousand Islands-Next Sunday the Iroquois will make one of those delightful trips among the Gulf Islands, stopping one hour at Mayne, and returning via the picturesque Pender canal. Take V. & S. train leaving Victoria at 9:45 a. m. Refreshments and music on board. For further information telephone 511.

FIFTH REGIMENT GOING INTO CAMP

All Arrangements Complete for the Life Under Canvas of This Fine Corps. Arrangements have now been completed for the men of the Fifth Regiment going into camp to-morrow for their annual training. Every effort has been made to make the sojourn of the men as pleasant and interesting as possible.

The site of the camp has been slightly changed so as to get the shelter of the trees in rear of Mrs. Harrop's residence and avoid the cold wind which so often makes the nights unpleasant.

Arrangements were made by which a portion of the annual inspection has been already held in the drill hall, so that more time can be given in camp to purely military work and thereby produce even better results than hitherto. Every man will be expected to sleep in camp, as leave will only be granted for absence in very exceptional cases.

The regiment will parade at 10 a. m. to-morrow and will march to camp on the Gas Works; to avoid the dust on the Esquimalt road; after arrival will pitch camp as heretofore, and will then get a good hot meal before leaving for the day. On Monday evening, at 7:15, the regular drill commences, when No. 1 company, who will be in naval barracks at Esquimalt, will drill on twelve-pounder, quick-firing guns, No. 2 company on the six-inch guns, and No. 3 on the twelve-pounder, breech-loading field guns.

The church has been beautifully decorated by the various guilds for the occasion.

J. Bruter, a laborer, is in the St. Joseph's hospital suffering from severe injuries received in a blasting accident while working on the new plant of the Vancouver Island Power Company, at Jordan River. A boiler which was being hoisted into the air by the firing of a blast fell upon a pile of logs behind Bruter and took him under its weight. When extricated it was found that his feet were badly crushed and his legs cut and bruised.

Dr. Hart is attending Bruter and an operation may be necessary. It will be a considerable time before he is able to walk.

REAL ESTATE CASE EVOKES INTEREST

Winnipeg Man Sues Local Real Estate Dealer for Specific Performance of Agreement. Local real estate men are awaiting the outcome of the action brought by J. McCreedy of Winnipeg, against W. R. Clark of this city, to enforce an agreement of sale made relative to land in Esquimalt or secure the return of a deposit of $400 paid under it. Argument was concluded by counsel before Mr. Justice Gregory yesterday and judgment reserved.

Plaintiff sues for specific performance of this contract, in default, the return of his first deposit. His Lordship, in his finding of facts, decided that defendant gave plaintiff no notice of the cancellation of the contract and that the plaintiff did not abandon the agreement. Defendant contended that plaintiff had defaulted under the terms and that he was therefore entitled to retain the deposit and resell the land.

A. E. McPhillips, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Elliott & Shandley for the defendant.

DOCTOR AND CLIENT TO AIR DIFFERENCES

Sidney Practitioner Claims Fees and Says Defendant Tried to Injure His Practice. Dr. Gordon W. Cumming, of Sidney, has brought action, which will be heard in the County court, shortly, against Alfred Hudson, of the same town, to recover $50 which he alleges is due to him for medical services rendered.

The case has several interesting features, the defence alleging that the medical man agreed to give his services for a certain sum, which plaintiff denies. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant, after refusing to pay his bill, maliciously inserted an advertisement in a Victoria paper stating that a good practitioner would find an excellent opportunity at Sidney. This advertisement, he claims, was intended to hurt his practice. He also objects to the defendant endeavoring to fix his scale of charges. BIGGEST INDIAN IN PROVINCE BURIED

Nine Men Required to Carry "Dr." Tom's Coffin-Big Potlatch at Cowichan. Over three hundred Indians were present at the funeral of "Dr." Tom, of the Cowichan tribe, which took place a few days ago. The Indians used 140 wagons to reach the Roman Catholic church where the service was held and burial took place. Tom, besides having some renown as an Indian "doctor" was generally reputed to weigh nearly five hundred pounds and to be the biggest Indian in British Columbia. Nine stalwart men were required to carry his coffin.

One of the biggest potlatches held on Vancouver Island in many years is now in progress at Cowichan. The widow of former Chief Bayne, of the Quamichan tribe, and three male members of the tribe are giving the entertainment, which is being attended by nearly five hundred Indians from various island tribes and by some from points across the line in Washington.

The potlatch is in memory of Chief Bayne and will last until Tuesday next. It has been in progress now for several days and has been marked by Indian dances and other festivities which are to be abandoned for the future.

Pittsburg, June 11.—Some marvellous statistics are revealed by a diagnosis of the record of Hans Wagner, who has been playing major league baseball since 1897.

The records show that in 13 years the "Flying Dutchman" has taken part in 1,748 games. He has scored 1,283 runs and 568 stolen bases. He has played an average of 134 games each season. Had he played in all the games the first year he joined the Louisville club his average would have been more than 100 runs each season, but in 1897

EIGHT RUNS IN FIFTH INNINGS

THIRTEEN OF HOME
NINE WENT TO BAT

Pioneers Played Up to Name and Got an Awful Licking Last Night

If Moulton had not been hit by a batted ball with the bases full, we might have been getting runs yet. Every man batted in the fifth and there were four who batted twice. Eight men crossed the plate. The opposing pitcher was certainly a Pioneer, but he controlled a perfectly constructed Seattle balloon and it went up, up, up. Victoria eventually won by 11 to 2.

White, of Eller's Pioneers, pitched good fast ball for four innings, but in the fifth he went to pieces. He lost his grip, and was slammed all over the lot. He forced two men home, and nearly every man who went to bat for Victoria in this inning got a hit, and all but Bob Whyte, who sacrificed, got across the home plate. See the box score—fourteen hits, eleven runs and just a couple of little errors, which were made, unintentionally, of course, to let the Pioneers get some of the score.

Where the big happenings were, Robertson, Steenson and Wattleit each got a safe hit and filled the bases in the fifth. The pitcher hit Moulton, sending him to first and forcing Robertson across the plate. Murrach took four balls and for the messengers round, bringing in Steenson. Moore's hit brought in Moulton, while Murrach went to third. Moore stole second on the pitcher, and little Peter McQuade brought in Murrach and made first, slipping along the line afterwards to Moore's place on second. White went to third Moore stole home, beating a squeeze play, and McQuade slipped past and was next seen on third. Then McDiarmid brought in McQuade, and still there were none down. Whyte bunted McDiarmid to second, but did not reach first. Robertson batting for the second time got a one-base hit. Steenson, the second time up, hit, and Robertson to second, Wattleit, second time up, bunted and the bases were full. Moulton bunted with the bases full, was given out, and the innings ended with Robertson being interrupted in his home journey off Moulton's bunt. Eight runs in one inning. It was an awful massacre.

The Pioneers only had the one pitcher, and could make no change. White stayed with it and pitched better ball after the fifth, allowing one run in the sixth and shutting out the nine for the remaining three innings. There were some pretty double plays, a nice three bag hit by Hovey and Peter McQuade in the garden accepted six high ones. Steenson pitched with speed and judgment, allowing six hits, and the work of Murrach at second was faultless, but for one error. The detailed score is:

GEORGE V CONTINUES
KING EDWARD'S STABLE

Nominations in Late King's Name Became Void by His Death

The intimation that it is the intention of his Majesty the King to carry on the racing and breeding studs bequeathed to him by King Edward will be received with great satisfaction by all racing people. Indeed, it is not too much to say that the decision conveys upon the turf a new lease of life. For many years King Edward was the staunchest supporter of the national sport.

King George, who became a member of the Jockey Club in 1894, has been a frequent visitor to Ascot, Goodwood, and Newmarket, and he was present on one occasion at Epsom when King Edward won the Derby. His Majesty has also been a breeder of bloodstock of late years on a modest scale.

All nominations in the late King's name became void by his death, but several of the young stock are purchased lots, who were entered for some of their races by their breeders, and such engagements hold good.

Minor, winner of last year's Derby and various other races, was only leased from Hall Walker until the end of the season. It has been stated that he now automatically reverts to his breeder, but this would occur only if there was a special clause in the agreement providing for it. Otherwise, he remains the King's leasehold property until the end of November.

Of late years scarcely a good horse has been reared at Sandringham. Persimmon and Florizel II. are both dead, and the third of the famous brothers—Diamond Jubilee, so named by Queen Alexandra because he was born in 1897, the year of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee—was sold for £30,000 to an Argentine breeder.

With reference to the statement that King George will continue the maintenance of his late Majesty's racing establishment, the Manchester Evening Chronicle states that it is authorized to announce that, except such animals as are owned by the Earl of Derby will have all his Majesty's horses until the end of the present year. All the horses will remain under the charge of Richard Marsh at Egerton Lodge.

SPORT NOTES

The Victoria Gun Club will hold its first shoot this season to-morrow at Langford Plains. Members take the morning train from the E. & N. depot, and return by the late afternoon train. The secretary expects a full turn-out.

The University school sports have been fixed for Tuesday, June 21st. Special cars will be run from the junction at Fort Street and Mt. Tolmie road. It is an annual event at the school.

Victoria is playing the Garrison eleven at the barracks this afternoon. The Albion team is playing the University school.

The medals won in the boys' field meet will be distributed to-night. Winners must attend the Y. M. C. A. at 7.30. R. McCallum gets the Beasley cup for his aggregate of 27 points in the meet.

The Fifth Regiment will hold sports on Saturday week, June 25th. The sports will be held in camp, and will be on a much larger scale than ever before.

Bob Dewar is refereeing the Vancouver-Westminster game to-day at Vancouver. There is also another game to-day on the Mainland in which Victoria is interested.

Westminster and Vancouver amateur teams are playing in the Kilmarnock cup series at the Royal City. Victoria leads this league at present.

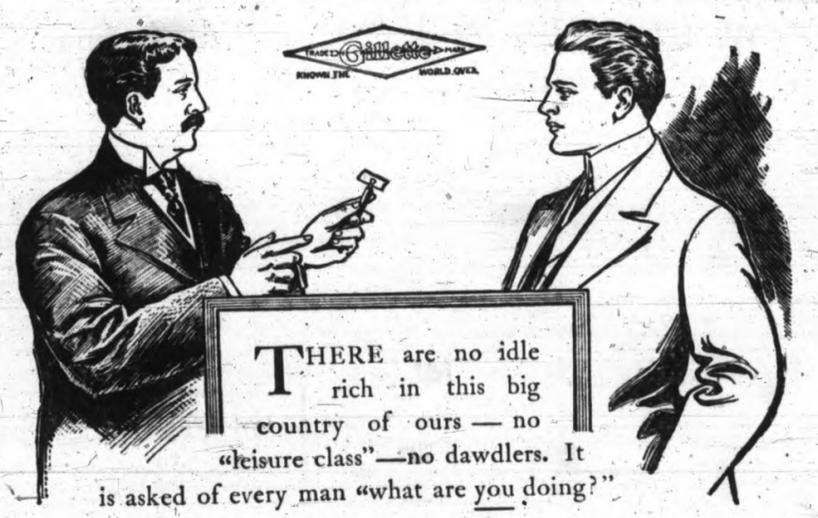

Stanley Ketchel beat Jim Smith (who ever he is) in the fifth round of a ten-round bout last night at New York. Smith retired by the knock-out route.

The Winnipeg oarsmen to row in the Henley regatta have reached London. The biggest regatta in the world takes place July 5, 6, 7. The Winnipeg men will start training at once, and have ordered a new boat from Sims of Putney.

Seattle saw its first fight in five years last night, when McVeigh beat Marino in eight rounds. A short right to the chin ended Marino's chances.

The Ferguson-Barry fight will take place at Los Angeles on June 17th. There have been many changes regarding the date of this heavyweight battle, which is now fixed.

In the cricket season just concluded in Australia the following players, all of whom have visited England, made centuries: C. Hill, 205 (South Australia v. New South Wales), 185 (South Australia v. Victoria), 176 (South Australia v. Victoria); W. Armstrong, 149 not out (Australia v. Canterbury, N. Z.), 124 (Victoria v. South Australia); S. Gregory, 169 not out (New South Wales v. Victoria); W. Bardeley, 149 (New South Wales v. Rest of Australia).

A Shapely Shapelessness About French Raglan Coats - The Seamless Shoulder Prevails - A "Muscovite" Coat in Military Style - Bonnets in Picturesque Style

Motor raiment is an evolution and as physical evolution expresses progress, so does sartorial evolution. Motor clothes have been growing better and better—that is, more and more slightly, and no more weird and hideous effects are considered indispensable to an appropriate get-up for the road.

In fact, motor raiment has influenced all other garb. In the past few years coats have been combining shapeliness with roomy comfort, and the general utility coat—a direct result of the automobile garment—has come to stay. The chignon veil, too, has become an established feature of general dress for traveling and rough weather needs, all because the comfort and attractiveness of such veils has been demonstrated by the motorist.

EVERYBODY SHOULD BE READY FOR AN AUTO INVITATION

Almost every woman now—even if unblest with a relative or a friend who is the charmed possessor of a "car"—is supplied with the wherewithal to go a-motoring, should the invitation be forthcoming. That is, she possesses a long, all-enveloping general utility coat and a chignon veil which she wears—as do those of us who may not don these togs for automobiling—when the wind is east and it looks like rain, or when she takes the boat on her summer vacation.

There is to be initiated—the automobile initiated, however—a vast amount of difference between the general utility and occasional motoring garment and the Simon pure, bona fide article. The genuine auto coat is roomier in proportions than the trig coat designed for use on the street, and there is a sporty air—a dash and a jauntiness—a bit of swagger, if you will, to the smartly built motor coat which proclaims its status in the way of its cut and button, whether the material be one of the expensive tweeds, a sturdy homespun or the lighter tussahs and linens of which summer motor coats are fashioned.

WARM WRAPS EVEN FOR SUMMER MOTORING

The woman who is accustomed to automobiling knows that one may be sufficient ly cold on a mid-August night to think lovingly of even furs. The warmest wraps are comfortable on a long drive home in the wee sma' hours of early dawn through one of those August mists, which seem to penetrate to the marrow of the bones. Therefore, at least one substantial top-coat of heavy wool fabric should be provided no matter how many of the charming creations in pongee and light serge or mohair are displayed when the spring sun warms the shop windows.

Mohair is Always Practical and Smart

THE SEAMLESS SHOULDER ON NEW MOTOR GARMENTS

Many of the French coats this season are of bold plaided or checked materials, and the plaid coats are built on very loose raglan lines with as few seams as possible in order not to break up the plaid pattern. A very smart coat by Poiret is of Tartan plaid silk serge in a dull green and blue mixture crossed by yellow lines. The coat seems as unshaped as a kimono at first glance, but presently one perceives that it is cut with a cunning craft which produces long and slender lines from throat to hem. The fastening is arranged with three gilt buttons placed at the waistline and below.

Like most of this season's motor garments this Poiret coat has the seamless shoulder; the sleeves being cut in one with the body of the coat, which produces a very loose and easy fit around the armhole. The sleeve, necessarily very wide, does not taper toward the wrist, but is gathered into a wristband or "bracelet" cuff, which fits snugly and prevents that most disagreeable sensation of the cold wind creeping up the sleeve.

A Novelty in All-Enveloping Garments

An English waxcloth coat in a beautiful golden tan shade is also built on these loose raglan lines with wide sleeves gathered into bracelet cuffs. This coat is entirely waterproof and is also very light in weight. It buttons closely to the throat in the sensible manner for motoring and fastens all the way down the front with horn buttons.

Another imported coat showing the seamless shoulder is a model by Poiret. This is called the "Muscovite" coat and is quite dashing and military in style. Dark blue serge is the material, and the lining is of bright scarlet silk. The coat is built on very loose lines with little or no curve inward at the waist, and down the front are huge red cord frogs fastened to gilt buttons. A young and very pretty woman might venture to wear this somewhat daring coat, which, for all its somewhat spectacular character, bears the imprint of an authoritative couturier, but the average woman will content herself with a quieter garment of gray or brownish tone and of correct, yet inconspicuous, cut.

EVEN MOTOR APPAREL FEELS THE "CHANTECLER" INFLUENCE.

If it does seem as though the ubiquitous Chantecler might have left motor clothes alone; for whenever the famous poultry drama invades the realm of dress frivolous effects are suggested, and motor wear, though it should be correct, stunning—even a bit sporty—should certainly not be frivolous. Yet one of the most popular motor coat fabrics is dubbed "rooster track" pattern; this pattern being a black and white check in irregular, four-sided figures with corners connected by wavy lines. "Rooster track" is much smarter than ordinary shepherd check patterns, and some very good-looking coats are shown made of this material, which, despite its name, is rather attractive and quite refined in effect.

One of these coats, displayed in a Fifth avenue window last week, was a well-built model on semifitting lines, with plenty of breadth across the shoulders and a graceful slender effect at the hips. This effect was partly produced by the arrangement of the belt, which appeared only at the front of the garment, the sides and back falling in graceful, unbroken lines.

BELTS ONLY PART WAY ROUND.

These sectional belts are a feature of many new motor coats, and very often they increase the smartness of the garment by holding in the coat just below the waist and thus produce a slender figure effect which is lacking when the coat falls loosely from bust to feet.

To go back to the "rooster track" coat, referred to above, the belt across the front was made of three tabs of scarlet leather, linked together with brass rings through-brass eyelets. Similar red leather tabs decorated lapels and cuffs, and altogether this "Chantecler" coat was a most attractive and stunning affair. Naturally close beside it was displayed a straw bonnet draped with a long veil in the brilliant Chantecler or cockscomb red that is part of the craze.

Tussah an

PONGEE AND MOHAIR COATS FOR WARM WEATHER.

For motoring about town, afternoon visiting and the like, there are detachable coats of pongee lined with dotted foulard and cut in all sorts of fascinating new ways. From Bechoff David comes a wrap of natural colored tussah with a lining of blue and white foulard, the dotted silk showing also on the coat revers and turned-ed-back ends. The fronts cross in the Russian blouse fashion and fasten low at the side with big fancy buttons, and the rather full back is gathered at the bottom and held under a crosswise strap of the pongee. A picture of this model is included among the illustrations.

Another natural pongee coat, also from a French maker, has a lining of coin-spotted orange foulard, and is accompanied by a double chignon veil, a deep golden orange length of the chignon being laid over a layer of pale corn color.

FOR WET WEATHER USE.

Country motoring in summertime calls for something more practical than a fancy pongee wrap, however, and for day-in-and-day-out country riding or touring, nothing is so comfortable and satisfactory as a mohair coat. These coats shed the dust readily and do not crumple or crease with constant sitting; and they are moreover delightfully cool and light to wear. The new mohair models are most attractive and are built on the same smart lines as the wool coats, with seamless shoulders and belts attached in sections—strap fashion. Such coats usually button closely at the throat, to keep out the dust. Waterproofed mohair models may be obtained in the same good styles.

RAINY DAY MOTOR COATS.

The best protection for a real wet weather ride is a mackintosh, and this should be selected plentifully large so that it may be slipped on when desired over a pongee or other wrap. It should also fasten snugly about the throat and have a close-fitting collar and sleeves which will not permit chilly rivulets to trickle up the arm each time the hand is raised to the hat. Some of the new mackintoshes have fascinating hoods à la Red Ridinghood, which may be drawn over hair and hat at the first hint of a shower; or the pretty straw bonnet may be stowed away in a rubber case in the tonneau and the comely hood worn directly over the hair.

MOTOR BONNETS GROW PRETTIER AND PRETTIER.

The very mention of a straw motor bonnet makes one wish for columns and columns more in which to pursue a fascinating subject. For now one actually wishes to own a car half for the pleasure of wearing a motor bonnet so distractingly becoming are these coy little affairs. Satin straws, raffia and horsehair braids are used for the bonnets, which have pokes and visor brims and soft, crushed tam crowns; and almost always there is a knot of velvet, a rosette, an ornament or even a rose on one side of the brim to add a touch of coquetry—as if the strings tied beneath the chin were not coquettish enough!

One of the dearest of the new ideas in motor headgear is the straw turban which looks exactly like a smart turban in Oriental style until its wearer steps into the car and pulls down the back of the turban over her hair. Then presto! the stately turban becomes a straw hood entirely covering the hair and ears in most practical fashion.

From Poiret, also comes a turban that is really Oriental in type. This is made of bright blue crepe, wound round and round and tied in a knot over the left ear, with a dangling silk tassel to fall on the shoulder. Like all Poiret's motor garb, this queer hat is eccentric, but dashing and smart in a way of its own.

TOUGH TIMES

To worry us, that's true. 'Tis tough when we don't get breakfast. And it's tough, friends, when we do.

The latest veils are of a coarse silk mesh and the threads are of a gossamer texture. The main feature of the new veil is that it is divided in front, falling from the turban in straight lines at each ear and the back. This veil gained its origin in Paris, but will be worn by women in this country the summer.

COAL MINES OF THE ISLAND

WILLIAM MACKENZIE INTERVIEWED AT MONTREAL

Talks of Arranging for Financing Coal Company Operating on Vancouver Island

Interviewed at Montreal the other day by the Gazette of that city, William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern railway, who had recently arrived from London, had an interesting announcement to make respecting the enterprises on Vancouver Island with which his company's principals are connected. To quote from the published interview:

Mr. Mackenzie made no attempt to hide the fact of his splendid financial success both in London and in Brussels, adding that the King's death was solely the cause of the failure of the public to subscribe for the "Dunsmuir coal mine flotation." The president explained, however, that underwriting was not as it used to be, as it was now really an investment, so the underwriters of the coal proposition are not by any means apprehensive as to the ultimate absorption of the entire capital by good investors. Mr. Mackenzie wanted it to be understood, however, that the Duluth railway proposition had since then been offered to the public and more than subscribed, explaining that this road which was now built from Fort Francis on the main line of the C. N. R. about 100 miles to a place named Virginia, and the remaining section of 70 miles to the port of Duluth will be completed by next spring, thus giving the Canadian Northern system an independent line over their own rails from the plains of the great west to Duluth, as well as the other route to Fort William.

As for the Brazeau coal mining proposition, in which Belgian capitalists are interested with Mackenzie and Mann, Mr. Mackenzie said that these coal deposits were located 140 miles west of Red Deer and that they would be started, would be begun within a very few days, and that the section west of Edmonton, and on to the Rockies, would likewise be pretty well covered during the present year. He said the capitalists of the Old Country were so convinced of the great extent of the Dominion that all talk of over-competition has been abandoned.

The question of that very important section of the company's road around the north shore of Lake Superior being alluded to, Mr. Mackenzie said: "I suppose it is not generally known that we built a short section up there last year, and another section will be built during the present season, consequently I do not see why our intervening sections, and especially the Lake Superior section, will not be finished in four years, thus giving us a completed line of railway from Montreal, Toronto and Quebec to the waters of the Pacific ocean by that time."

As to the report that the Montreal-Hawkesbury section would be put under contract this summer, Mr. Mackenzie said that certain things had to be accomplished first but they had not lost sight of Montreal by any means. Nothing would be done on their system east of Quebec during the present season.

As for the amount of money which Mr. Mackenzie is alleged to have secured this trip from the other side of the ocean, the president practically confirmed what had appeared in the papers, saying that out of the forty millions by far the largest issue of them all was the Vancouver Island coal mines, and he also stated that as a railway the Canadian Northern had nothing to do with the deal although several people interested in the railway were likewise interested in the coal proposition.

Last year 74,500 families migrated from Russia to Siberia.

"This man is supposed to change with the moon," a complainant declared at the Tottenham, London, police court. "The last time there was trouble I looked at the almanac and found there was a full moon."

SEATTLE SCENE OF BIG FIRE

Women with little children in their arms swarmed into the fashionable Washington hotel where they were taken care of. School buildings were also thrown open to the refugees.

The main business district was never in danger, the wind blowing from the southwest and turning the flames directly away from the downtown.

The fire is supposed to have started from the sparks of a passing engine, the Galbraith Bacon stable and warehouse fronting the Great Northern tracks.

David Henderson, night watchman for the Puget Sound metal works, discovered the flames and turned in the alarm. "I noticed a peculiar light in the stables," said Henderson this morning "and investigating found all of the coal falls loosely from bust to feet."

The burned district is bounded on the west by the waterfront, on the south by Battery street, on the north by Vine, and on the east by Second avenue, or eight square blocks. A portion of two of the blocks, occupied by brick buildings, was saved.

Prussia's zinc mines produce half the zinc of the world.

GANFA BRINGS MANY CHINESE

ORIENTALS RETURNING FROM BIG CELEBRATION

Large Cargo From United Kingdom and Orient for North Pacific Ports

With the usual large cargo the steamer Ganfa, of the Blue Funnel line, arrived at unexpectedly yesterday afternoon. The wireless station at Tatoosh not having seen her pass she was not reported, although the officers of the steamer say they could plainly see the station.

"This is the usual thing," said Captain Lyett, on being informed of the fact. "The wireless people there never report us."

Fog and winds delayed the steamer somewhat and thick fogs made fast steaming dangerous, but did not delay her. For the latter half of the voyage thick weather was the rule.

The steamer brought 542 Chinese, most of whom were returning from celebrating New Year in their own land, and are now getting back to work once more for a term of years.

Of these 494 were landed at Victoria, and most of them were for British Columbia points. While the C. P. R. caterers more to through traffic in the carrying of Chinese the Blue Funnel steamers carry most of the local coolies.

The customs and immigration officials worked practically all night examining passports and generally exhaling the large crowd of passengers.

The Ganfa brought a very heavy freight. She had in her hold a 45-mile cable and tanks, a large quantity of welded steel pipe for the Esquimalt Waterworks Company, an immense lot of hemp, gunnies, tea, and other stuff from the Orient; steel and general merchandise from United Kingdom points.

The cable which was expected to be on the Keenun will be laid between Departure Bay and English Bay by the cable steamer Restorer, Captain Combe being out to meet the steamer last night to make arrangements for the discharging. The Restorer will be moored alongside the Ganfa in Esquimalt harbor and the big cable unwound, the vessel then proceeding at once to lay it.

The Ganfa discharged part of her Victoria cargo last night and left for Seattle early this morning and is expected to return on Wednesday or Thursday.

IN SEATTLE TO-DAY UNDER INSPECTION

Inauguration of Line One Step in Development of Great Western Country

It was at an early hour this morning that the Grand Trunk new steamer Prince Rupert got away for Seattle. There was a howling gale throughout the night but in the early morning, when the rain began to pour down and the wind let up a little, the steamer left the dock, and found no difficulty in getting out.

A great crowd visited the boat last night. All the time from the opening of the gang plank at 7 until the closing at 10 there was a continuous procession, and at one time the line of those waiting extended right up to the street. The warehouse was also full of people, and everyone seemed good humored and enjoying the fun. One little incident only marred the event, and that was the slipping down of the floating stage which had been put up temporarily. It went down far enough for those on it to get their boots damp, but no one was hurt. The wonder was that with such a large crowd there were not more difficulties. According to some of the officials the crowd was even greater than it was in Vancouver.

Speaking of the advent of the new line of steamers Manager James Thompson, of the Hudson's Bay Company, said this morning that the departure of this steamer should be looked upon as having far wider significance than the mere leaving of a new steamer, or even the installation of a new line. It was in fact one more step in the development of this great country which has so fast been springing into life. Development is taking place at an ever-accelerated speed and he was glad that a company like the Grand Trunk was taking a part in it.

Half of the passengers going north on Monday on the Prince Rupert are going right through to Stewart, great interest being taken in the new town on Portland Canal.

Naturally some interest is taken in the officers of a new ship. They are to-day pictured on the front page. Captain Barney Johnson was formerly the master of the Boscowitz steamer St. Denis, and later he brought the steamer Roman from the Old Country. He is well known here. Chief Officer George Robertson was in the employ of the C. P. R. for a number of years, his last position with that company being as master of the Princess Beatrice. He will be given command of the Prince George on her arrival. First Mate William English has been connected with the port for a number of years. He was the first officer on the steamer Lillooet before joining the Prince Rupert. Second Mate McLellan was mate on the Camosun with headquarters in Vancouver, and Charles E. Carlen, the third mate, came out from England on the steamer as first officer. Not being accustomed to the work on this coast he has to begin at the bottom.

The Prince Rupert is expected to arrive here early Monday morning, leaving for the North at 10. To-day she is open for inspection at Seattle.

NOTABLE PASSENGERS ON BLUE FUNNEL LINER

Sir Henry Berkeley Says There is a Distinct Revival in Trade in China

The only white passenger arriving yesterday on the Blue Funnel liner Ganfa was Sir Henry Spencer Berkeley, K. B., a notable resident of Hongkong, who is on his way to England for six months' holiday. He has not been "home" for several years, and is hurrying through as fast as possible. Sir Henry, who is practising law in Hongkong, was formerly attorney-general of the Inner Temple, and in 1875 was appointed solicitor-general of the Leeward Islands. In 1885 he went to Fiji as attorney-general and became chief justice in 1888.

NEW STEAMER VENTURE

IS ON MARINE SLIP Will Be Ready to Leave in Week

Fine Model in Hibben's Window. The fine new steamer Venture is on the ways at the shipyards of the Victoria Machinery Depot. It was found that she sustained absolutely no damage from being ashore at the Straits of Magellan, the place where she grounded being only soft sand. Manager Barclay says he expects to have her ready to leave for the north in about a week from now.

A very fine model of the steamer is to-day on exhibition in the window of T. N. Hibben & Co., Government street. The model is of only a half section of the steamer but is so arranged in a case with mirrors at the back and ends that it has every appearance of being complete. The model is a little over four feet in length set in a fine case. As an optical illusion it is very interesting, but as an indication of what the steamer really is, it is simply perfect.

Frederick Irving Taylor

His Ode On King Edward

It is more than a passing pleasure which is provided by the intelligence, just received, that the subject of this brief reference has attained, by his own unaided effort, an enviable position among the literate of our time. Many Victorians will remember that when he was a resident of this city some six or eight years ago he was a frequent contributor to the "poet's corner" of the press. His contributions were always welcomed by the reading public, because they revealed an unmistakable originality of conception, felicity of expression, and a fine poetic vein. To the discriminating reader they gave promise of a powerful maturity, and that maturity has now been reached.

His residence in London, where the opportunities for self-improvement are so varied, and his connection with one of the great dailies there have broadened his vision and stimulated his genius, so that his work has at last challenged the attention and won the recognition of some of the leading writers and foremost critics of the day.

His latest production—a commemorative ode to the late King, and another poem—have been described as a "bardic triumph" by the London Daily News.

The second poem was composed in honor of the occasion of the assembling, at a memorable gathering, of some 200 descendants of the great British poets from the days of Spenser, which took place on the 15th of April last at the Holborn restaurant, London. The occasion was a banquet given by the Poets' Recital Society, and the poem composed by Mr. Taylor was declaimed by a notable elocutionist, Miss Elsie Fogarty.

The company was a very brilliant and distinguished one, including honored members of the House of Lords and the House of Commons; and persons whose names are conspicuous in the social and professional life of the metropolis of the Empire. The following great poets were represented by their descendants: Shakespeare, Rev. J. H. Shakespeare; Shelley, Sir John Shelley, great nephew of the poet; Scott, Hon. Mrs. Maxwell Scott, great-granddaughter; Chaucer, Mr. W. Rowell; Spenser, D. Maginn; Howard (Earl of Surrey), the Duke of Norfolk and Lord Edmund Talbot; Tennyson, Mr. Charles Spenser; Keats, Mr. Tennyson; Rev. C. W. Wordsworth; Suckling, Lady Warwick; Lytton, the Earl of Lytton; Dryden, Mr. Hugh Dryden; Pope, Mrs. C. Wilkie; Macaulay, Mrs. Kathleen Behenna; Procter, Countess Eleanor Murphy; Lord Coleridge presided and other speakers were the Duke of Norfolk, Rev. J. H. Shakespeare and Rev. C. W. Wordsworth. The poem consisted of ten stanzas, of which the following is one: "O noble Lyriast! Visioned Sires of Song! Ye flung your heart-gates open to the world, and the lightning-bolts of thought ye hurled, Baffled the wild omnipotence of Wrong; Ye taught the wronger Universal Right; That Truth would guide, and Justice rule; Mankind; And bright-eyed Love prevail o'er harsh Despair; And storm-tost Faith and Hope a haven find; Ye sang of smiles and tears—then bade adieu In accents ever old and ever new"

The accompanying commemorative ode is perhaps as fine an example of Irving Taylor's style as any that could be cited. It will be noted that it is characterized by inherent strength, exuberance of fancy, and boldness of technique, combined with rare delicacy of literary finish.

This perfection is never reached in the effusions of immature poets, however richly they may be by nature endowed. It is the result, in the first place, of natural genius; secondly, of enthusiastic and unremitting study of the art of poetic expression, and thirdly, of the development and application to the work in hand of a refined literary taste. In brief, it is the mental perfection of a flower in full bloom. A true poet is always a man of character; that is to say, his personality will exhibit at least some elemental virtues which all honorable men appreciate and admire.

If I may be permitted to make a personal reference to Irving Taylor and recall some impressions which an intimate acquaintance with him made upon me, I would say that truer steel was never sheathed within the breast of man. It was proved when a comparative stranger in a railway coach cast an imputation upon his friend, in an instant his arm was raised and if it had not been restrained would have felled the accuser to the floor. It was proved again at a semi-public gathering when during the enforced absence of a friend, he defended him against those who sought to impugn his motives and traduce his conduct until their accusations were scattered to the winds. And on another occasion, when the proceedings at an investigation, his method rose at what appeared to him an injustice in the conduct of the case by the prosecuting attorney, and he defied him and the whole tribunal in regard to a point respecting which he claimed the right to exercise his private judgment. In other words he proved himself to be the stuff of which not dreamers but heroes are made. I could speak, too, of his other chivalrous qualities which entitle him to a place among the intellectual and moral aristocracy of mankind. But I refrain. The recital might be mistaken for an obituary, so common is the custom to under esteem the living, and to laud the dead. "Better late than never" be no doubt, a good motto, but it would seem more appropriate to speak well of the living when they are worthy of a passing note of tribute or acclaim, than defer an expression of appreciation of them until their ears are deaf to our applause.

As for me, I shall not wait until the voice of music of my friend is hushed in the silence of the grave, before I praise its tones.

Hence I bring my blossom now and place it in the garland with which the great have crowned him and tender my congratulations in the morning of his fame. I shall not attempt to analyze his art, or "inveigle the rainbow" in his verse. From a casual study of his work, however, one conclusion seems clear, and that is, that unsatisfied with any but the highest ideal, he has "hitched his chariot to a star."

The era of brute force has not yet passed. One commands the attention of the literary world, metaphorically speaking, by the swing of a battle-axe, another with a bridge and a third by a shower of grape. Irving has evidently moulded his ideal on the lines of those of the great masters of song of modern times, and of the finest models of antiquity—and in these strength and beauty are united in eternal wedlock.

Force is multiformed. There is one energy of steam and another of the voltaic pile, and another which is manifested in the tingling of muscles. It does not speak with a voice of thunder nor hurl its darts across the sky. But it is diffusive as the sunshine because it is kindled at the altar of everlasting power, and its hallowed fire will never be extinguished. Such is the energy that is generated in the poet's brain, and this is the kind of energy Irving Taylor has breathed into his glowing lines. They will live, for their essence is immortal, so long as thought is impressed in language and our English speech survives.

W. J. DOWLER.
EDWARD THE SEVENTH.

The curtain falls! Turn from the tragic stage!
Alas! our Royal Edward is no more;
Edward the King who still his sceptre bore
Above the temporal strife that parties wage:
The Seventh, the just, the masterful, the strong,
The potentate of peace, the friend of all;
Liege-lord who loved his own Imperial throne,
And wore unstained the nation's coronal;
Who added lustre to his country's fame.

O, kindly Life! Too soon thy course is run;
After great deeds thou passest o'er the verge
Of nothingness; and, in thy funeral dirge,
Wails every wind that blows beneath the sun;
And very billow of the ocean wide
Flings from its crest the sad barbaric tears
For one whose navies coursed the haughty tide
Of gracious embassies throughout the years,
The brief, swift years while our beloved lord
Fostered sweet peace with its uncrimsoned sword.

Death took a shaft and pierced the world's great heart;
Then ocean seemed one vast torrent woe
Burst from the brow of Nature; and the three
Of human sorrow hastened to take part
In universal grief; and from the stars
They fell to earth the drops that augured pain
Even in the heavens themselves beyond
The bars
Of faint mortality; and silver rain
Bewept the loss that all the nations mourn.
While age-long Time at last now seemed Outworn.

Arise, O Earth! Ye nations! cease to weep;
Give not to Sorrow what ye owe to Fate!
Our Edward's kingly deeds are consecrate
To golden harvestings which all may reap;
And he, it was, who, loving England well,
Gave regal greeting to his fellow-men
Where'er their natal privilege befel;
And dove-like Peace still fluttered in his ken.
Foreseeing in the vision of the world
The flag of Universal Peace unfurled;
FREDERICK IRVING TAYLOR.

CITY'S BLUNDER MAY BE EXPENSIVE ONE

Simcoe Street Residents Have Fine Sidewalk Free if They Take Advantage of It

Probably unappreciated in the civic history of Victoria is the departmental blunder which gave the residents of Simcoe street, on the north side between St. Lawrence and Montreal streets, a fine sidewalk free of cost. It was, perhaps, with mingled feelings of amusement and gratification that the property-owners watched the construction of this sidewalk and wondered why it was laid without a request from them. The explanation follows the current advertisement of the city's "intention" to lay the sidewalk which has been in use for some months.

Last year a by-law was passed calling for the improvement of Simcoe street on the north side between St. Lawrence and Dallas road. The work was done under the local improvement by-law and the property-owners contributed their just share of the cost. With an anticipatory altogether unusual the city did not stop within the limits laid down in the by-law, but continued to lay a sidewalk where none was called for, only stopping when the block to the east of the one which the by-law dealt with had been nicely paved.

The city has now discovered its error and it is attempting to save the $24 which was expended on the un-called-for sidewalk by passing a local improvement by-law to cover the work done.

Legally, it is said, the property-owners benefited by the work done, as they did not petition for the work to be done. In that case they will receive a very acceptable gift for which the city at large will pay. It is, however, quite probable that the property-owners will not take advantage of the blunder and will pay the four-fifths of the cost as required by the by-law now passed.

The streets committee has evidently known of the mistake for some time, but discussion of it has been conspicuous by its absence at recent meetings.

DUNCAN WILL HAVE SPLENDID JUNE SHOW

Dogs, Cats, Poultry and Flowers to Be Exhibited, and Sports as Side Line

One evidence of the prosperity of the town of Duncan and the Cowichan valley is the increased interest taken in the local exhibitions. This year the people of the district have been very ambitious. They have arranged not only for a big fall fair in September, but also for a dog, cat, poultry and flower show to be held this month on the 17th and 18th.

A very pretentious prize list has been issued which provides for prizes or ribbons for all classes of cats, dogs, poultry and flowers. The district is particularly rich in sporting dogs and high-bred cats, and it is expected that an unusually fine exhibit will be made.

A number of special prizes have been offered by Victorians, and it is understood that Victoria fanciers will in many cases take their stock up to 175 conclusions with the people of the suburb. The poultry industry has been looking up for some time past in the Cowichan valley, especially in the neighborhood of Cobble Hill. A great deal of prize stock has been imported and the competition in this line will be much keener than it has ever been before.

Flowers are at their best this month. The roses of Vancouver Island will be well to the fore in the flower exhibit, as well as pansies and dozens of early summer flowers. The field sports will include chopping competition, 100 yards handicap for girls under 14, egg and spoon race, the spoon to be carried in the mouth; half mile team race, open to schools in the district; obstacle race; five mile Marathon; one mile open; half mile local; 220 yards open; 220 yards local, and tug of war.

FRUIT CROP PROSPECTS.

In a late bulletin issued by A. McNeill, chief of the fruit division of the federal department of agriculture, the crop prospects in British Columbia are thus spoken of: "The weather in British Columbia has been mild, and very favorable for complete pollination, with sufficient rain for good growth. Apples have set well and at present a full crop is looked for. Peas have set for an abundant crop. The prospects are good for plums and Italian prunes especially. The outlook for peaches and apricots is excellent. All varieties of cherries promise exceptionally well, though some damage from late frosts is reported in the interior valleys. There has been a splendid show of blossom in British Columbia, and small fruits will be plentiful. The first consignments of local strawberries from the lower mainland were received on the Vancouver market May 21st."

CHILLIWACK BRIDGE OPEN.

Chilliwack, June 10.—The new government bridge, on the Vadder river, where the Westminster road crosses, has been completed, and is now open for traffic. The new bridge is about a quarter of a mile below the site of the old one which was destroyed by the freshets of last December. Its eastern end stands upon a massive solid mountain side. The location of the new bridge is much safer and is reached by a short and inexpensive diversion from the old roadway.

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of cod liver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of.

What Other People Think

CATECHISM OF BRITISH PEERAGE

To the Editor: At the present time when the House of Lords and its ways are before the public, this catechism may be interesting reading to many of your readers.

Q. Is he often so disposed? A. No; the average attendance of peers in the House of Lords is about twenty.

Q. Have the peers no other duties? A. Yes; they have to provide the chief officers of the royal household, as only peers and peeresses can perform such exalted functions.

Q. Do they fill those offices gratuitously? A. No; they are handsomely paid, some of them receiving as much as £2,000 a year.

Q. Have they any other duty? A. No; that is the whole duty of a peer.

Q. What is the nature of his title? A. Hereditary.

Q. Are there no other kind of peers? A. Yes; there are a few life-peers.

Q. What are they? A. Commoners who are made peers for the rest of their lives, without their titles being transmitted to their heirs.

Q. What creates peers? A. The crown.

Q. What are men made peers for? A. For various reasons.

Q. Name some of them. A. For winning battles, for serving their party in the House of Commons, for being old and no longer of any use to it, for being troublesome to their colleagues, for being behind the times, and for being political nuisances that cannot be got rid of in any other way.

Q. Are great men of science ever made peers? A. Never.

Q. Are great poets ever made peers? A. Sometimes.

Q. Name one. A. Lord Tennyson.

Q. Why was he made a peer? A. For writing verses, as Poet Laureate, on royal births, marriages and deaths.

Q. Are great philosophers ever made peers? A. Besides hereditary peers and life-peers, are there any other special kinds? A. Yes, temporal peers and spiritual peers.

Q. What are spiritual peers? A. Bishops of the Church of England.

Q. Do all the bishops sit in the House of Lords? A. No; twenty-six sit there, but the remaining five are not yet accommodated.

Q. What are the privileges of a peer? A. To be called "my lord," to sit in parliament without asking his fellow-citizens, to legislate without consulting them, to appoint clergymen to livings in the church, and his poor relations to well-paid offices in the public service.

Q. Do the peers sit in parliament with the Commoners? A. No; they sit in a House by themselves.

Q. What is its name? A. The House of Lords.

Q. How many does the people's House represent? A. Thirty-four millions.

Q. How many Scotch and Irish peers are there without seats in the House of Lords? A. Twenty-two Scotch and sixty-nine Irish.

Q. How many peers are Conservatives and how many Liberals? A. There are 283 Conservatives and 213 Liberals, the remaining few being uncertain.

Q. Do they vote on all questions in proportion to these numbers? A. No; they generally show an overwhelming majority against Liberal measures, especially in relation to the landed interest.

Q. Can they prevent the people's House from passing any laws it may deem necessary? A. Yes.

Q. Have they often done so? A. Yes; always, until they were beaten.

Q. Are not the bishops more friendly to measures passed by the people's House for the good of the nation? A. No; they have always opposed such measures even more obstinately than the temporal peers.

Q. How many livings are there altogether? A. Thirteen thousand.

Q. Are the peers rich or poor? A. Rich.

Q. What does their wealth spring from? A. The land.

FASHION NOTES

The new gloves show a good many innovations over products of a year ago. Except for black costumes, where an all-black scheme is desired black gloves are little used. Plain white gloves are also less in evidence than for some time, tints having taken their place. All the soft pastel shades such as pigeon gray fawn, biscuit and champagne are especially popular. Just now suede are liked for better than lace kids. This is a whim of the Parisiennes, who always go in for the smartest fit for everything and suede certainly comes under that class in the matter of gloves. With the continued shortening of sleeves, more twelve-button lengths than any other style are being sold. White gloves with black stitching are popular with black and white combination costumes. For the street with the plain tailor-made broad four-row stitching in self tones are considered the correct thing.

White fashions of the present time are exceedingly liberal and one finds a large number from which to choose, there are enough characteristic details to give them distinction and to put them down in history as being purely as of this period. Among the conspicuous details that one notices on all sides are the collarless throats not even protected with a guaze ruff. And if present indications may be considered, we are likely to have a severe stage of low necks as we experienced when the craze for short sleeves appeared. In some of the summer frocks that have come from the other side there are separate chemisettes and undersleeves of lace which may be adjusted when desired. This it would seem is an excellent idea, for there are many occasions that one would feel rather conspicuously dressed in a low neck and short sleeves—many of which are extreme in cut.

A stunning new wrist bag ready for warm weather is made of supple patent leather in a small octagon shape with a double strap handle fastened to the upper edge of the bag, which is long enough to slip over the wrist comfortably, and which by the way, is the latest method of carrying the bag. Other shapes with long cord handles which allow them to swing from the arm nearly to the bottom of the gown, are of English origin and are liked by many women who depend upon a hand-bag for "something to carry." These little bags in all the new shades are pretty accessories to toilets trimmed with contrasting color. Often the bag and girdle are of the same leather.

With the ruling fad for things Russian every day brings out something new that suggests Russian styles in one way or another. We already have Russian coats, Russian blouses and Russian millinery and now the latest cry is for Russian neckwear. There are some stunning effects made of white linen embroidered with white or Russian green, the latter color being employed when the collar is to accompany a gown lined with green. If we manage to get through the summer without a vogue for Russian boots we should consider ourselves lucky. But if the demand for Russian effects continues through the summer we may expect nothing short of Russian footwear for next winter. Fashions are bound to undergo sudden changes and in a few weeks we may be enjoying other fancies inspired from the native costumes of Persians or some other race where rich apparel is the ruling custom; for we are living in a period of fashions and unusual models.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A kindness may be doubted by the manner of its doing. A bit of valuable information was sent me the other day, and the sender doubled my gratitude to him when he added: "Now, don't bother to acknowledge this. I know how very busy you are, and I know you are grateful, and that's enough."

Isn't there a good suggestion in that? Oftentimes, to a very busy person, the necessity of acknowledging a favor, however grateful he may be, is somewhat of a burden. Why not, along with the kindness to do a favor, also have the fitness to insist that your beneficiary shall not trouble himself to acknowledge it?

Although it is not absolutely necessary to acknowledge flowers sent for a funeral, many people try to do it, and a more soul and brain-racking exercise than the effort to write fifty or a hundred such notes, saying something individual and gracious in each, I do not know.

What could be kinder than to write on your card, along with a message of sympathy: "Please, Mr. or Mrs. So-and-so, do not think of troubling to acknowledge these."

Is a grace before meals asked at your table? How I would like to know just how many—or, rather, I suppose how few—among my readers will say a mental "Yes" to that.

And also just how many out of the same number of readers would have answered "Yes," if the same question had been asked twenty-five years ago. Probably five or six times as many. It seems to me as if the good old custom of saying grace before meals had been relegated almost entirely to ministers' families, and I am heartily sorry.

I think it was good for men and women to pause three times a day and realize that there is a higher power in this universe than the power of man, and be thankful for life and the means of sustaining it.

I think it gave dignity to the meal and made it less a mere matter of stoking, and more like a ceremony, as a family gathering about the table should be. I think it made the family more a unit when all bowed while one of them spoke to God for them all.

Why don't you bring back the old grace, fathers and mothers? It was a fine old custom—too fine to let be lost in the rush and dust of this automobile age.

If you do not remember any set

Beecham's Pills

All over the world people continue to swallow Beecham's Pills because experience has convinced them that Beecham's Pills are perfectly reliable; immediately relieving and ultimately curing a number of ailments having their origin in digestive disturbance, liver complaints, impurity of blood, and the nervous depression consequent upon these and similar troubles. No one can swallow all they see in print, but advertisements of Beecham's Pills have always been favourably received for the reason that the public know for a fact, by practical test, that this excellent medicine never fails to fulfil the promise made respecting it. The people are well aware that the sustained success of Beecham's Pills has given rise to jealousy and detraction, but they are not influenced by the attempts of envious critics to shake their faith in their favourite specific, which has long kept them in health and strength at little cost, and has saved them from purchasing and swallowing many an expensive and mysterious concoction which, too often, fails to benefit them. You are not asked to swallow testimonials or to believe doubtful eulogy as BEECHAM'S PILLS RECOMMEND THEMSELVES.

IRELAND'S SHARE IN ARCTIC EXPLORATION

Men of Erin Who Have Sought to Solve the Mystery of the Pole

It is sometimes forgotten that the Irish people may claim some of the credit that attaches to the various gallant efforts to reach the North Pole which have been made during the last century, says D. J. O'Donoghue in the Irish Independent. The Irish record of achievement in this direction is, in fact, most notable. The names of McClure, McClintock, and Crozier will be ever associated with the ambition which is now declared to be attained by a fortunate American. And in a lesser degree, such names as those of Kellett, Armstrong, and McCormick are also memorable in the annals of Arctic navigation. From earliest times, when Ireland and Iceland were in close relation, Irishmen have been interested in the far north, and it is a tradition that early Irish navigators, like the old Norse Vikings, penetrated far in that direction as early as the ninth century. In an old Derry legend, the Irish sea-god, Mannannan MacLir (Son of the Sea) is called M'Clure, and according to a prophecy referred to by Dr. John O'Donoghue as early as 1834 before the modern M'Clure had become known as a navigator) it is stated that "he would one day achieve a great feat, which will redound to the glory of Ireland." Curiously enough, the father of this Robert M'Clure was a Derry man.

M'Clure was born in 1807 in Westford, of which his mother, a Miss Elgee, was a native. He was the youngest son of the lady who afterwards became Lady Wilde. In early life he joined Nelson's old ship, the Victory, as a midshipman, and in 1836, having passed his examination as lieutenant, he went to the Admiralty to seek employment. While waiting in an ante-room, one of the high officials saw him, and said—"M'Clure, you are the very man we want. There is an expedition fitting out for the North Pole—will you join it?" After a little hesitation, he accepted the offer, and on June 14th, 1836, he sailed in the Terror, commanded by Captain Back, for the Polar regions—the twelfth expedition since 1819 to be undertaken for the discovery of the Northwest Passage. The task, constantly baffled since the days of Elizabeth, was destined to be accomplished by the young Westford man. Drake had tried it. Sir Humphrey Gilbert had tried it (in company with Sir Walter Raleigh), and many others, all without success. An act was passed in the reign of George III, offering the reward of £20,000 to the discoverer of the Northwest Passage, and this remained on the statute book for 82 years, when, seeing that there was no prospect of anyone claiming it, the act was repealed. The voyage of the Terror was, like so many others, fruitless so far as its primary object was concerned, but naturally it added to the existing knowledge of Polar geography. The sufferings of the crew were very severe, and the damage done to the ship by the ice was considerable.

After Sir John Franklin had made his final and calamitous attempt to discover the Passage, the admiralty offered £20,000 to the discoverer of it and his men. M'Clure was one of the men who went out in the unsuccessful expedition of 1845 to effect this purpose. With him was Captain (afterwards Admiral Sir Henry) Kellett, a Tipperary man, who was to make his name known as an Arctic explorer later on. In 1850 M'Clure was appointed commander of the Investigator, commissioned to seek a northward passage, and this expedition fortunately won the crowning success which had been so long sought. On the Investigator with M'Clure were Captain M'Clintock, a Dundalk man (afterwards famous as a navigator and the discoverer of Franklin's remains) and Dr. Armstrong, a Fermanagh man, subsequently the Sir Alexander Armstrong, who did good work in connection with this most fascinating of enterprises. Several vessels were in the expedition, but they parted company after a short voyage, and one midnight, when Captain Kellett met the "Investigator" in the lonely Arctic sea (August, 1850) nothing had been heard of it for some little time. Kellett signalled to M'Clure to return, but the latter replied, "Can't stay—important duty—and responsibility." For three years no news came from the Investigator, until Kellett and M'Clure met again at Melville Island, the latter having literally obeyed the admiral's instructions by reaching that point from the Pacific. Sir Edward Parry, one of the greatest of Arctic navigators, described the exploit as "the most magnificent piece of navigation ever performed in a single season, and which the whole course of Arctic discovery can show nothing to equal." It turned out that from September, 1850, M'Clure's ship had been immovably fixed in the ice for nearly three years.

When M'Clure's narrative was published, the intense danger that he and his crew had gone through was manifest. Everyone knows that dwellers in the Arctic regions require great quantities of animal food. The Eskimo sometimes eats as much as fourteen pounds at a sitting. M'Clure, owing to his enforced imprisonment in the ice, had to reduce his ration of meat to half a pound a day. Over and over again the pressure from the ice became so great that they were in danger of being crushed, in their own words, like "a nut in a nut-cracker," but by the aid of gunpowder they were able to blow away the ice which threatened them and their ship. Kellett found the whereabouts of his intrepid countryman, and sent a sledge party, headed by Lieut. Fim (another Irishman) to the rescue. M'Clure gives a graphic account of the arrival of the search party. When he got back to England (September 28th, 1854) he was tried by court-martial for the loss of his ship, the usual formula—and was acquitted with honor. He was knighted and obtained immediate promotion, and Parliament voted him £10,000.

Space is insufficient to tell in detail of the great achievement of Captain, afterwards Sir Leopold, M'Clintock. He was born in 1819, and died only a year or so ago. Several attempts to Rescue Sir John Franklin had been financed by the government, which finally abandoned the business, leaving Lady Franklin to bear the cost of an expedition to search for her lost husband. As she had never lost faith, she commissioned M'Clintock to undertake the command of a small vessel, and fitted out the Fox, a small vessel, for the purpose. M'Clintock refused to accept any pay for his services. The last heard of Franklin's party was in April, 1848, and it was 1857 when the Fox left Aberdeen on its hazardous voyage. The result of the expedition is a matter of history, and is known to every schoolboy. Before 1859, when the Fox returned home, complete traces of Franklin and his comrades were found, including a tin box containing documents showing what had happened to the heroic leader and his men, and the manner of his death and that of some other members of the ill-fated expedition. M'Clintock was knighted, presented with the freedom of London (as well as of Dundalk, his native town), and received many other honors and distinctions.

In the town of Banbridge, Co. Down, there is a monument to commemorate the services to Arctic discovery of brave Captain F. R. Crozier, one of its noted men. As he unfortunately perished with Sir John Franklin, little is known of his actual work, but his name is rightly held in high honor. He succeeded Franklin in the command of the expedition after Franklin's death on June 11th, 1847—the rest is silence. It is now known that Franklin and Crozier made many notable discoveries, but the details perished with them. Sir Henry Kellett's achievements have been incidentally referred to. He died at his native place, Clonacody, Co. Tipperary, in 1875. Sir Alexander Armstrong's scientific knowledge was of great service in the various expeditions of which he was an important member, and the same can be said of Dr. Robert McCormick, to whose "Voyages of Discovery in the Arctic and Antarctic Seas," has ed on present experience, published in 1884, the world owes much of its knowledge of northern exploration. He was of Tyrone origin.

PROF. COOPER'S LECTURE.

His Discourse on Voltaire a Masterpiece—Speaks Again on Tuesday.

Much interest has been taken in the visit of Prof. F. V. Cooper, the blind phrenologist, to this city. Prof. Cooper is a native son of Victoria and many of his friends of earlier days have been glad to shake his hand once more, and at one of his lectures last week in the Congregational church the local lodge of Native Sons with their own meeting to attend in a body.

His lecture on "Voltaire and His Relation to Christianity," is described as a masterpiece, and the lecture on "Confidence," which he is announced to give next Tuesday evening is also very highly spoken of.

The managers of the Congregational church were glad of the opportunity to allow Prof. Cooper the use of their building, as they realized his capabilities along his chosen line of work. The lecture announced for next Tuesday in the Congregational church will be the last one to be delivered in this city and all who can should attend.

MOTOR CYCLES.

Vancouver Commissioners Bar Them From Stanley Park After One O'clock in Afternoon.

Vancouver, June 10. — That motor cycles should be prohibited from entering Stanley park was considered at the meeting of the park commissioners. Action to that effect was not taken only for the reason that it was thought to be illegal. A motion was passed that they be not allowed in the park after 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and then they must not go at a greater speed than eight miles an hour. The first suggestion was a speed of four miles an hour, but it was pointed out that this was an impossibility.

Commissioner Owen, who made the motion, declared that the presence of these vehicles in the park was a public nuisance, much more so than automobiles. He favored absolute prohibition, and would have moved to that effect if such a motion were legal.

The chairman, Mr. Lees, suggested that such a motion be passed, and if objection be made then the point could be settled in the court.

Commissioner Owen proposed that the board should acquire more power in the direction of financing their own work, but Commissioner Nelson pointed out that this would require a further application to the legislature.

The Plants Show You Why

Why do your plants soon wither and die in the house in Winter? BECAUSE the house lacks moisture—BECAUSE the kind of Furnace you have is giving off a dry, unnatural, parching heat. The average Furnace does this because in warming the air it dries out the natural humidity of the atmosphere and fails to replace it. Instead of the 70% average humidity of the outside air—your present furnace heated air probably contains less than 30% of moisture.

The Remedy is in the Circle Waterpan "Good Cheer" Furnace

This encircles the Furnace—it is big—commodious—sensible—it holds several times as much water as the makeshift pan in the average Furnace—it is placed just at the proper position to catch the incoming air—to give it extra moisture before it gets to the heating surface, and thus the air supplied to the rooms is almost as humid as the outside atmosphere.

The "Good Cheer" Circle Waterpan Furnace saves Doctors' bills as well as coal bills.

An invitation is heartily extended to all residents of the district and to the public generally to participate in this historic event.

KNOX CHURCH HAS ITS FIRST ANNIVERSARY

History of the Congregation Since Its First Formation Nineteen Years Ago

Many interesting reminiscences of by-gone days were recounted at the recent anniversary services in connection with Knox church, when the congregation could be numbered on the fingers of one's hands, for it was nearly nineteen years ago that the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of First Presbyterian church (then in its zenith) found scope for its energy and zeal by creating the present church edifice, the purpose being to conduct a Sabbath school, and later to hold prayer and preaching services therein, which programme was carried out, and during the years which have intervened there has not been a Sabbath when school was not held and preaching services conducted. Not a few of those who took part in the initial services are still there as workers, while many have been called to their rest since.

Shortly after the school was organized, the late Rev. Dr. James Robertson, superintendent of missions, came to Victoria and brought about the transfer of the property to the Presbyterian church in Canada, and arranged for regular preaching services by student missionaries among whom were J. Chisholm, H. G. Morrison (the late Dr. R. G. Morrison), and J. Knowles, followed by J. C. Forster, who was ordained and supplied for two years, making many warm friends.

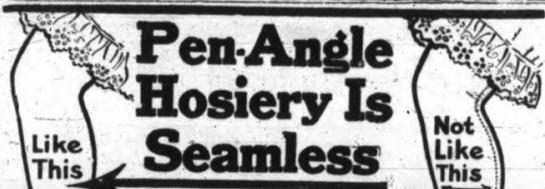

His removal was followed by the appointment of Rev. Alex. Fraser, a rugged Scotman, of gentle but unassuming character, whose most eloquent proclamation of the Christ life and message was not from the pulpit alone, but in the works of kindness and self-sacrificing love among the poor of the district, by whom, as well as by all the children, he was sincerely loved. His removal by death was followed in 1903 by the appointment of the present incumbent, Rev. Joseph McCoy, M. A., to the field as missionary—Cedar Hill, Oak Bay and Knox churches.

The first named congregation in 1907 became a self-sustaining charge, their example being followed just one year ago by Knox church, which, by a unanimous vote, called their missionary to become their settled pastor, thus in one step rising from a mission station, having, but one service per Sabbath, to that of a fully organized and self-sustaining church. While the step taken called for much faith and wisdom, the results during its first year have amply demonstrated that the Master was back of the movement.

"The history of this congregation," said one of the speakers at the anniversary service, "is unique and highly commendable, showing as it does how great things can be accomplished by a people who are of one heart, one mind and one purpose, and being convinced of the Divine origin and destiny of their existence as a congregation, are prepared to make great sacrifices to attain it."

The church is entering upon the second year of its existence, with bright prospects ahead; the pastor is fully alive to the needs of the district which is in the most progressive part of the city, and with all the auxiliaries in good working order there is no reason why Knox church should not take a very prominent place among the strongest of the agencies for good in the beautiful city of Victoria.

The funeral of Josef Bepper, aged 82, who died at Mitternwald, in Austria, was attended by his hundred grandchildren, who walked two by two behind the coffin.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

On Thursday afternoon the local W. C. T. U. at the invitation of Mrs. Veitch, met at her home on Cloverdale avenue, prior to her departure to the east. The afternoon was spent most pleasantly, the ladies assembling on the lawn under the oak trees, from whence a beautiful view of city and mountains could be seen. Mrs. Veitch, gowned in blue, received her guests, then passed them on to a little maiden who gave each lady a buttonhole of white carnations tied with a bow of white ribbon, the insignia of the W. C. T. U.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Williscroft, at Hazelton, B. C., Mrs. McAdams took the chair, conducted devotional services and transacted the business, and on behalf of the union, expressed regret at losing such a valuable member as Mrs. Veitch had proposed to be, and asked the confidence of the members toward her, and extending their good wishes for her best welfare in her new home in the east.

Mrs. Veitch replied, expressing her regret at having to sever her connection with the Victoria union.

A short programme followed, Mrs. Gordon Grant, Mrs. Reid, Misses May and A. H. Jones contributing, after which a social hour was spent in welcoming and introducing eight new members, discussing the merits of the nice, rich, red, ripe strawberry shortcake and other delicacies provided. At the close opportunity was taken to thank the hostess for her kind hospitality and to wish her Godspeed.

The attention of the members is called to the fact that the annual convention of W. C. T. U. convenes in New Westminster on June 18th to 24th, and on account of this the parlor meeting at Mrs. David Spencer's, Moss street, is postponed until further notice. The delegates appointed so far are as follows: Messdames McAdams, Spain, Johnston, Reed, Grant, Gillespie, Sherwood and Miss Copeland.

Anyone desirous of attending as visiting delegates will please send in their names to the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Sherwood, Pembroke street, and tickets will be provided for them. The rates are: One fare, if 100 delegates attend the convention, with counter-signed convention tickets; if only fifty attend fare and one-third. A large delegation is expected to attend from Victoria.

At the annual meeting recently held at the home of Mrs. Teague, Yates street, the following officers were elected for 1910-11: President, Mrs. Williscroft, School street (re-elected); vice-president, Mrs. McAdams, Beaumont, Esquimalt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Sherwood, Pembroke street, (re-elected); recording secretary, Miss May Jones, 1247 Johnson street; treasurer, Mrs. Andrews, Stanley avenue (re-elected); acting treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Poor Chris Columbus, from his place, somewhere in silent, windswept space, looks down upon this whirling sphere, and wipes away a phantom tear. Perhaps he says, to old Cabot: "Those near-explorers down below, are drawing many golden beans by writing for the magazines and some are knighted by the king; and all are cutting grass, by jing. They're lionized to beat the band; have worshippers on every hand, and what they did is no account; they found a pole or climbed a mount. Oh, Jumping Ginger, when I think, of how I sailed across the drink; and wrestled with a grouchy crew, and found a land that no one knew, those cheap explorers down below seem pretty punk to me, Cabot! And when I sailed back home again did I receive the praise of men? Did old Ben Hampton break his neck to load me with a big fat cheque? Did England's monarch take his sword and make of me a blooming lord? Did medals come from foreign lands, and ribbons blue from princely hands? Not on your whiskers, friend Cabot! My name was Mud, I'd have you know; they chucked me in a prison-trap, as though I was that Johnsing chap. This fact 's as plain as yonder moon—I lived four hundred years too soon!"

TO REALLY CURE SICK KIDNEYS You Must Also Get the Liver and Bowels Right With DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY and LIVER PILLS.

Strange, isn't it, that the intimate relation of the liver and kidneys should have been so long overlooked? And yet Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills owe their wonderful success to the recognition of this most essential point.

Headaches disappear, biliousness and constipation is overcome, digestion improves, and you feel fine in every way.

Headaches disappear, biliousness and constipation is overcome, digestion improves, and you feel fine in every way. Marysville, June 10.—The Dominion Consolidated Mining Company, with head offices in Spokane, has let a contract for 300 feet of tunnel to F. B. Decker. Mr. Decker is already on the ground. This mine is a copper proposition, situated about 16 miles from Marysville, on the St. Mary's river, and is tapped by the government wagon road. NELSON'S CELEBRATION. Nelson, June 10.—The annual Dominion Day celebration at Nelson will last only one day this year, but into that day will be packed all the spectacular and interesting events that that space of time can reasonably be expected to hold. Both these points were decided at a well-attended meeting at the board of trade rooms.

The prizes for the rock drilling contest of doubles were fixed at $300 for first and $150 for second, and $50 for third, the third prize being contingent on their being five entries. In the single-handed contest, the first prize will be $60, and a $40 suit of clothes offered, while the second prize will be $30. Sub-committees to handle the various parts of the programme were appointed.

Victorians will have the pleasure of seeing that dainty and accomplished actress, Maude Adams, at the Victoria theatre next week. Miss Adams appears here in a Barrie comedy, "What Every Woman Knows," on Friday evening. In this vehicle she has been delighting the public throughout the season, and her interpretation of the leading role is highly praised by the critics. The box office sale will open on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock.

New Grand Theatre.

The new bill next week is headed by none other than the well-known comedians, Joe F. Willard and Harry Bond, who appear in a farcical military travesty entitled "The Battle of Bunco Hill." Not satisfied with surrounding themselves with a small company, these two popular funny fellows carry a complete stage setting, representing a battle, fortifications, tents, guns, swords, telegraph apparatus, cannon, in fact everything in the matter of detail that pertains to war. As the title suggests, the skit is a laughable travesty.

MABEL V. MOORE.

The Female Sandow, at the Grand Next Week.

At the "Battle of Bunker Hill" and not a bit disrespectful. The reputations of Joe F. Willard, as well as Harry Bond, are well known to amusement lovers. Joe F. Willard was the star of "Gay New York," a musical comedy, for two seasons. Harry Bond is that funny comedian who won renown in Hoyt's "A Tin Soldier," and last season appeared as the Fairy Queen in the "Gingerbread Man." The distinction won by these two comedians in vaudeville this season has been piecemeal, and everywhere their funny offering has been accredited the position of "feature," because of its meritorious entertaining qualities.

Otto and Lily Metz will play "A Midnight Rehearsal," a high-class singing novelty that gives both Mr. and Miss Metz opportunities for vocal success, and the lady the opening for splendid dramatic in appearance. Miss Metz has been making big hits, while her brother's work is too well known in the show business to require comparison. A miniature female Sandow is coming to the Grand. She is Mabel Valentine Moore, and will show in trapeze work and posing gets special mention and she is reported very clever on the trapeze.

Helen Stuart, as "Polly Wiggles in Society," brings a kind of Six Hopkins act with some song and monologues. It is all in the way she does it, that gets her success.
Rives, a new act in the west, is to appear. She is a sourette, great in the singing and dancing line. With a fund of new things to tell and songs to sing she will do her share in entertaining Victorians next week.

Thomas J. Price will again be heard in one of those illustrated songs that always accompany the bill, and the show will close with the moving pictures.

and poet, Charles Kingsley, better known than his tragic poem, "The Three Fishers." This great work has been reproduced by the Biograph company and will be shown at the above under the title "The Unchangeable Sea," on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The scenic beauty of this subject is exceptional, being taken at a fishing village of Southern California. One day the three wives bid their husbands, who were leaving on a fishing trip, good-bye. As the days roll by the wives are constantly on the look-out for their husbands' return. They look at the sea and they look at the shore, but no sign of their husbands' return can be seen. Little did they know that on a distant shore "Three Fishers" lay out on the shining sands, in the morning gleam as the tide went down. A rescue party was formed on a distant island to look out for shipwrecked sailors and they were successful in finding the men on the shore of the island. Two of them were dead but there was life in one, the young husband. With tender care he regains health but his memory is a blank. All efforts to recall the past prove futile. Meantime the poor wife, with her baby, sits gazing out to sea, still hopeful for her husband's return, but in vain. The years roll by and the young girl grows into womanhood to be courted by one of the young fishermen of the village, and it is on the day that they are to be married that the long lost husband returns to his native village. The familiar scenes restore his memory. It seems to him that it was only yesterday that he left his home, and he rushes eagerly along the coast to meet his wife. At first they fail to recognize one another.

"Mr. Mix at the Mardi Gras" is a fine comedy. Mr. and Mrs. Mix leave on a visit to one of the resorts in California. On arrival Mr. Mix is so fascinated by the pretty girls there that he forgets he has a wife. Mrs. Mix, noticing this, takes her husband's clothes away and locks him in a room. He makes his escape through the window and when he drops to on terra firma he finds himself in the rain barrel. He repairs to a semi-ready store, buys a suit and emerges into the crowd in search of his lost amoria. He encounters a strenuous evening full of ludicrous situations. Other pictures to be shown are: "The Miner and Camille," and "Ready in a Minute."

Miss Irma Todd will sing the illustrated song "Longing a Long Time for You."

Miniature musical comedy, a decided novelty in local amusements, will be presented at Pantages next week, and the Four Andersons—once comedian and now children—while the Andersons' singing and dancing creations are highly entertaining to adults they are simply delightful to the little folks, and in fact "Mischievous Bob," as the little musical comedy is called, is rated as one of the best in vaudeville, for a children's audience.

Bob Hendricks, of minstrel fame, as "The Prince of Cork" is taking his summer vacation in a western vaudeville, which is the principal reason of his appearing in a little, remote western theatre. Hendricks is a big thing in the minstrel world and in season appears exclusively in the large eastern houses.

Mary Gray, a winsome Dutch comedienne, and the regular house features complete a classy programme.

Romano Theatre.

Don't miss the programme of motion pictures to be shown to-night at the Romano theatre. It is one of those bills which includes thrilling dramas and snappy comedies.

As a feature, "The First Born," a side-splitting comedy, has been secured. "Love Me, Love My Dog," is the motto of a young wife and of her mother. Newlywed is disgusted when he sees the affection dissipated on the dog.

They smother the dog with kisses and give it the best seat at the table. The last scene is added when Newlywed's wife refuses to serve breakfast before the animal is seated. They pay no attention to him as he sits at the head of the house and, patience ceasing to be a virtue, he seizes the dog and throws it out of the house, much to the horror of the dog's admirers, who hear Newlywed's soundly and restore the pet to the house. Poor Newlywed can stand the strain no longer so he packs his belongings and departs for a more congenial place on a ranch in Texas, where he becomes the idol of the inhabitants.

After a few weeks in the woods he receives a letter from his wife. He immediately nouncing a birth. He immediately rushes into the house, secures his valise, jumps upon his horse and makes a record-breaking trip to the railway station, where he is seen off by a bunch of cowboys. When he reaches his home town he sets out to buy all kinds of toys and trinkets. After encountering all kinds of obstacles and hindrances all arrives at his home laden with presents and tips over to have a look at the first born. The nurse raises the curtain and behold, the pet has blessed the house with a litter of puppies.

Among the other pictures that will be shown "The Hero," "The Hero," and "The 23-cent Robbery." The Romano orchestra will furnish the music for all the pictures. Music adds greatly to the enjoyment of the pictures and the orchestra engaged at this house is rapidly gaining prominence.

Victoria Theatre.

The pictures of the funeral of his late Majesty King Edward VII. are being shown in this theatre all this week and part of next week.

These pictures, which were brought out direct from London, England, and are the first to reach the coast which show the whole of the funeral cortege as it was seen in the streets of London.

"I WILLINGLY GIVE THIS TESTIMONIAL

In Favor of "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

For The Benefit of Other Sufferers"

Spoken like a man! Mr. Paul Jones of Sarnia, is proud to acknowledge the great debt he owes to this wonderful fruit medicine. He wants every sufferer in Canada to know what "Fruit-a-tives" did for him. His reward comes in the gratitude of those who take his advice, use "Fruit-a-tives," and cure themselves.

Sarnia, Ont., Feb. 5th, 1910.

"I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no action, whatever. Finally, I read an advertisement of "Fruit-a-tives" in which Hon. John Costigan stated that he had been cured by "Fruit-a-tives" I decided to give "Fruit-a-tives" a trial and found they did exactly what was claimed for them. I have now taken them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to a great many of my friends and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly, as they have done me good."

I claim "Fruit-a-tives" are invaluable in every respect, and I willingly give this testimonial for the benefit of other sufferers."

PAUL J. JONES.

Mr. Jones is favorably known all over the district of Sarnia. He was in business there for years, and is now enjoying the fruits of a long and successful mercantile career. Every reader of this paper is at liberty to write Mr. Jones and find out for themselves that the above letter is genuine and was written to "Fruit-a-tives" voluntarily and solely with the idea of helping the sick.

The financial and social standing of those who have written letters in favor of "Fruit-a-tives" is the best guarantee that this famous fruit medicine is all that is claimed for it.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only true liver stimulant in the world because it is the only medicine made of fruit juices. By its use, the amount of bile is increased while the muscles are made stronger and more capable of emptying the bowels naturally. Salts of every kind, senna and cheap purgative pills have no action on the liver. They do not increase the secretion of bile by the liver, but their action is entirely due to irritating the delicate lining of the bowels. "Fruit-a-tives" alone—and will positively cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpid Liver. In the case of Mr. Jones, the long standing Constipation had affected his digestion, causing catarrh of the stomach. As his bowels became more regular, the digestion improved. When the Constipation was cured the Indigestion, which was caused by the Constipation, was cured also.

"Fruit-a-tives" has proved its value and has made its way solely on merit. "Fruit-a-tives" is probably the best known, and most highly appreciated medicine in Canada. The sales of "Fruit-a-tives" are enormous and are increasing every day. The people realize that at last they have one remedy that will positively do all that is claimed for it—and they show their appreciation of this honest, reliable fruit medicine by using it themselves and recommending it to their friends.

"Fruit-a-tives" is one of the few medicines that may be taken day after day with only benefit to the health. If necessary, "Fruit-a-tives" could be taken for twenty years, because it contains only fruit juices and tones—nature's natural remedies for All Stomach, Liver, Bowel, Kidney and Skin Troubles. "Fruit-a-tives" is especially suited to women and children because of the pleasant taste and mild, gentle action of the fruit tablets.

If you are suffering as Mr. Jones did, take his advice and try "Fruit-a-tives." 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At all dealers or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Have excited most favorable comment. They give a remarkably clear portrayal of the procession through London and at Windsor, no details missing. The royalties and other celebrities can be clearly distinguished. Altogether the pictures present a magnificent spectacle that should be seen by every one.

Next week, commencing Monday, June 13th, another amateur contest will be held, three handsome prizes offered, which are on exhibition at J. M. Whitney & Co's jewelry store on Government street. This contest will be decided by vote taken in the theatre each evening, and those recording the first, second and third largest number of votes at the end of the week will be awarded the prizes accordingly. Those wishing to enter the contest should leave their names at the box office at once.

CAUSE OF ECZEMA EXPLAINED

Germ Fester in the Skin and Blood Cures Are Impossible

After years of debate medical authorities are now agreed that Eczema and other skin diseases are not seated in the blood, but are caused by germs in the skin. Myriads of microscopic animals gnaw the flesh just below the epidermis. The patient is perfectly healthy, it is only the skin that is diseased. Hence, scientists are now agreed that you must cure the skin through the skin.

The remedy that will search-out and destroy the disease germs, stop the itch and soothe the healthy tissue is that mild, clean compound of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., known as D. D. Prescription.

The instant you wash with this soothing liquid you will find the itch relieved. We positively assure you of this. C. H. Bowes & Co., Druggists.
