PREFACE.

The chief design contemplated in printing this Catalogue is of a conservative nature, and has been realized under a conviction of the uncertainty attending the preservation and transmission of all private collections, as well as from a desire that (whatever may be the destination of the present one) a record, at least, may still remain of numerous objects of great value to the archæological student; many of which are of unusual occurrence, and have been secured with much difficulty.

In order to render the Catalogue more useful to such, I have, at the risk of being tiresome, and at the expense of some repetition, been minute in recording the locality of each specimen where it could be ascertained, as well as in describing the articles themselves.

Many articles are enumerated in some of the Lists which cannot strictly be classed either with antiquities or curiosities; this has been done from motives of a private character, in order to give such objects a greater chance of preservation, should the Collection, through the blessing of Providence, be continued for any length of time in the family of its present owner. As these articles possess but slight interest for others, I have uniformly avoided taking up unnecessary space in enumerating them.

There may be reason to complain, in some instances, of errors in classification, which have, in a great measure, arisen from the Collection having been gradually accumulated, and from fewer Lists being open at first than have latterly been required. These mistakes have been perpetuated on account of the articles being all labelled and numbered to correspond with the Lists; so that any extensive alteration would now entail much confusion. It will, however, be found, on perusing the book, that the more obvious errors are pointed out by notes.

It will be seen, from a glance at the Contents, or Division of the Lists, that the arrangement is such as to give, first, a chronological view of what may be styled Home Antiquities, including others of a cognate description; secondly, to present a similar series of Foreign Curiosities; and, finally, to group the more modern and unmanageable objects according to their several affinities.

It is believed that in all cases where other writers have been consulted in drawing up the Catalogue, their works are referred to; if, in any instance, this is omitted, the error has arisen unintentionally.

I feel pleasure in acknowledging the kindness of many contributors, whose names are appended to their several donations throughout the book; and I take this opportunity of returning my sincere thanks to the following Societies and Gentlemen for their unhesitating kindness in placing at my disposal the various illustrations needful to complete the work:—

- To the Society of Antiquaries and J. Y. Akerman, Esq., for the beautiful plate of the Roman Bronze Vessel;
- To the British Archæological Association and T. J. Pettigrew, Esq., for sixteen wood cuts of antiquities;
- To C. Roach Smith, Esq., for the engraving of the Swabian Gold Necklace;
- To Messrs. Puttick and Simpson, for the engraving (after Maclise) of the Irish Harp.

MISCELLANEOUS ANTIQUITIES

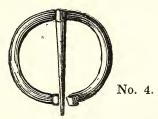

OF THE

PRE-HISTORIC OR CELTIC PERIOD.

STONE AND ARCHAIC BRONZE OF THE NORTHERN ANTIQUARIES.

LIST G.

- 1 T. BONE PIN, with perforated eye, 2½ inches long, found in a Barrow on Brassington Moor, 30th June, 1843.
- 2 T. BONE STUD perforated with six holes, from the same Barrow.
- 3 W. CRESCENT shaped ornament of bone with two perforations, found in a Barrow on Kenslow, Middleton by Youlgrave, 1821.

4 W. RING PIN or Brooch of bronze, found in the same mound as the last.

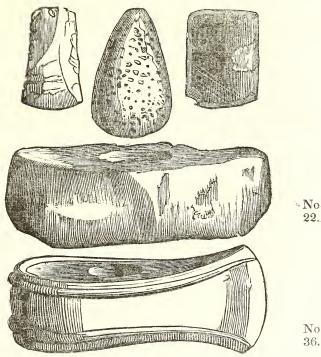

Evidently deposited with a late interment, as Fibulæ of the same type are not unfrequently found with Roman British remains.

- 5 W. BRONZE PIN, 2½ inches long, found with a deposit of calcined human bones in an urn at Larkslow, Middleton by Youlgrave, in 1825.
- 6 T. BRONZE PIN, \(\frac{3}{4}\) of an inch long, found with a skeleton and an earthen vase in a Barrow at Minninglow, 1843.
- T. BONE PIN (broken) found in a Barrow at Crosslow, 1843.
- 8 W. Part of a leaf-shaped BRONZE SWORD, (Cleddyv) found in Stanton Park. From White Watson's collection, Bakewell.
- 9 T. Six WHETSTONES, from different Barrows opened in 1843.
- 10 T. TUSKS of the Wild Boar and pieces of red paint stone, found at the shoulders of a skeleton with a number of weapons of flint, &c., in a Barrow called Liff's Low, near Biggen, 1843.
- 11 W. Hemispherical BEAD of baked earth, 1½ inch diameter, found in digging the foundation for a Chapel at Middleton by Youlgrave, 1826.
- 12 W. PERFORATED DISC of sandstone, 1½ inch diameter, found at Upper Haddon, 1826.
- 13 W. ANOTHER found at Middleton in 1831, very similar.

Articles similar to the three last entries are of uncertain use, though by some denominated bead stones; they are of frequent occurrence amongst the remains of Roman British Towns, where many examples are found which have been cut from pieces of pottery, the bright red ware known as Samian, being generally preferred. It is probable that they were used in some sedentary game.

- 14 W. Piece of vitrified GLASS, found on Upper Oldhams, Middleton, on the site of an ancient settlement, 1833.
 - "Eald Ham," Saxon-old dwelling or village.
- 15 W. POTTERY of different kinds, but chiefly thick and red, from the same place.
- 16 W. A WEAPON of ironstone, 22 inches long, found at Brimington, near Chesterfield, in 1778. From the collections of Rev. Samuel Pegge, L. L. D., and White Watson, the former of whom communicated an account of it to the Gentleman's Magazine for May, 1783, where it is engraved, page 393. See also Camden's Britannia 1806, Vol. 2, page, 422.

- 17 W. An INSTRUMENT of Porphyry slate, highly polished, found as No. 3.
- 18 W. PEBBLE of flattish circular form, found as No. 5.
- 19 W. Broken HAMMER HEAD, made from an extremely hard quartzose pebble, found along with part of an amber bead, in making the foundation for the Corn Mill Bridge, Middleton, 1827.
- 20 W. Three SANDSTONE BALLS, found on Middleton Moor at various times.
- 21 W. Three QUERNS OR HAND MILL stones, found on Upper Oldhams, 1832.
- 22 W. Large HAMMER HEAD of Basaltic stone, found on Stanton Moor, in 17— From the collections of Rev. John Mason, Minister of Winster, and White Watson, 6 inches long.

23 W. Small AXE HEAD of Basalt, (broken) found as No 3.

24 T. HAMMER HEAD made from the thickest part of the horn of the Red Deer, curiously ornamented by a diamond pattern cut in the face of it. Found under the knees of the skeleton in the Barrow at Liff's Low, Biggen, 1843.

25 T. SPEAR HEAD of thin bronze, found inurned with calcined human bones in a Barrow called Moot Low, near Grange Mill, 6th May, 1844, 3 inches long.

26 to 28 T. PEBBLES, found inside an earthen vase in a Barrow on Elton Moor, 10th June, 1844, (With numerous burnt flints, &c.)

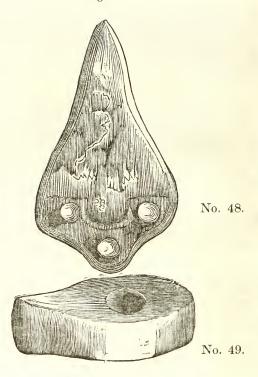

- 29 T. Piece of IRON ORE rubbed smooth, found with the last.
- 30 T. Piece of spherical IRON PYRITES, found as above.
- 31 P. PERFORATED DISC of sandstone, found in digging in Bakewell Meadows, June, 1844.
- 32 P. Bronze SPEAR HEAD, 10 inches long, from the collection of Mr. Neville, of Holt, Leicestershire.
- 33 P. ANOTHER, rather smaller, from the collection of Rev. Richard Salusbury Cotton, Ordinary of Newgate.
- 34 P. LEAF-SHAPED SWORD of bronze, 19½ inches long, found in the County of Roscommon.
- 35 P. LARGE ARMLET of bronze, stated to have been found in Wales.
- 36 P. AXE HEAD of hard red basaltic stone, ornamented with projecting ribs. Found with many human skeletons near Borrowash, in cutting the Midland Railway.

See Briggs' History of Melbourne, page 15, for an account of the circumstances attending the discovery of this fine specimen, which is represented in the last figure of the above woodcut of stone weapons.

- 37 T. TUSK of the wild Boar, found with a human skeleton in a cist in a tumulus called Rolley Low, near Wardlow, 5th August, 1844.
- 38 T. ANTLER of the Stag, found with a later interment in the same mound.
 - "The presence of sacrificial heads and antiers would call to mind a similar practice still in vogue among the kindred Pagan tribes in the Arctic regions where Elk and Reindeer horns invariably decorate the tumuli of the dead." Col. C.H. Smith's History of the Human Species, 1852, page 110.
- 39 T. BRONZE PIN, found near the surface of the same Barrow.
- 40 P. SPEAR HEAD of bronze, with a loop on each side of the socket, found in Darley Dale, 7 inches long.
- 41 D. Seven pieces of the "KIMMERIDGE COAL MONEY," from Dorsetshire. Presented by Charles Hall, Esq., Ansty, near Blandford.

The circular objects thus denominated were long a source of much speculation to archæologists; but they were finally proved by Mr. Sydenham to be rejected centres, produced in the fabrication of armillac, the manufacture of which was anciently established in Dorsetshire, where the bituminous shale, called Kimmeridge Coal, occurs.

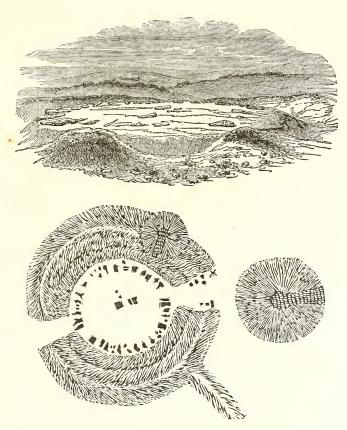

- 42 P. Small specimen of GOLD RING MONEY, twisted as the African examples, found in Kent. Weight 2dwt. 22grs.
- D. Five pieces of HAND MILLS, found on Hartle Moor, 1844-5. Presented by Mr. Wain.
- 44 P. Piece of ANOTHER, found at Dymchurch, Kent, 1844.
- 45 T. PIN made from the leg bone of some animal, found with flint weapons deposited with a skeleton in a Barrow on Alsop Moor, called Green Low, 25th April, 1845.
- 46 T. Three INSTRUMENTS OF BONE, with rounded ends, which may have served either as modelling tools for making pottery, or mesh rules for netting. Found with the last.
- 47 T. BRONZE DAGGER, the handle of which has been affixed by three large rivets, found with a skeleton in Brier Low Barrow, near Buxton, 12th May, 1845, 5½ inches long.
- 48 T. ANOTHER very similar, found with a skeleton in Carder Low, 21st May, 1845, 5½ inches long.

49 T. Small AXE HEAD of Basalt, found with the last, 51 inches long.

In these primitive weapons of thin bronze without sockets, usually found in connection with implements of stone, we undoubtedly see the first efforts of the ancient inhabitants of Britain in metallurgy at a time when bronze was so rare and precious as not to be commonly employed for the larger and heavier articles, such as axe heads, though occasionally we find the stone axe replaced by the earliest type of bronze Celt.

- 50 T. Three SHARPENING STONES, from the same Barrow.
- 51 T. BONE PIN, found with calcined human bones in a cist in the Barrow at the southern entrance of the great ceremonial circle of Arborlow, near Middleton, 23rd May, 1845.
- 52 T. Piece of GLOBULAR IRONSTONE, found as above.

VIEW AND PLAN OF ARBORLOW.

- 53 T. BRONZE DAGGER, found with a skeleton in New Inns Barrow, 20th May, 1845, 5\frac{1}{4} inches long.
- 54 T. Two BRONZE RIVETS, found as the last.
- 55 D. Two small BEADS of dark coloured stone, found in an urn in a Barrow at Skerry-in-the-Braid, Ireland, ½ inch diameter. Presented by Charles Roach Smith, Esq., F. S. A., &c., &c.
- 56 T. BRONZE DAGGER, (broken before interment) with two pins and thirty rivets, the ornaments of its handle, found in a Barrow near New Inns, 4th June, 1845.

57 T. Two CIRCULAR ORNAMENTS of Kimmeridge coal, about $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter, perforated at the back for attachment, probably to the dagger belt, found with the last.

Studs or buttons precisely similar in shape, though not in material, are sometimes fastened to the leather straps of the quivers of Bambara (Africa) Chieftains.

- 58 D. Three QUERNS, found on Hartle Moor, June 11, 1845.
- 59 D. GRITSTONE CYLINDER (for bruising grain); and rubbed stone, found as the last.
- 60 T. Two BONE PINS, found with burnt human bones in a Barrow at Castern, Staffordshire, 14th June, 1845.
- 61 T. Hemispherical STUD OF AMBER, perforated at the back, found on the summit of the large tumulus, called Steep Low, near Alstonfield, 21st June, 1845.
- 62 D. Perforated DISC OF SANDSTONE, found on Hartle Moor, June, 1845.
- 63 D. PORTION OF A GARMENT made of skin covered with reddish hair, and sewed with sinews; fragment of one of the parietal bones; lock of black hair; and small quantity of brain in the state of adipocere from the body of an Ancient Briton, discovered nine feet deep in the bog, near Scaleby, Cumberland, May 28th, 1845. Presented by the Rev. J. Hill, Incumbent of Scaleby.
- 64 C. Two PIECES OF LEAD which have apparently formed a collar, found in April, 1844, in a field near Wetton, Staffordshire, called the "Boroughs" (Burh plural Byrig, Saxon, a Town) since ascertained to be the site of an ancient settlement.
- 65 T. Two pieces of STAG'S HORN and bone, which have been cut with flint saws, found in a Barrow at Bitchinhill, 8th July, 1845.

66 T. Small BRONZE PIN, found with the partially calcined bones of an ox, and human remains, in a Barrow on Ilam Moor, 12th July, 1845, ³/₄ of an inch long.

67 P. Thick HAMMER HEAD of dark coloured stone, found near Taddington, in 1845, 5½ inches long.

68 T. RIB of a large animal and another short thick bone, found with a human skeleton in a tumulus on Wetton Hill, 28th July, 1845. Possibly substitutes for the dagger and axe.

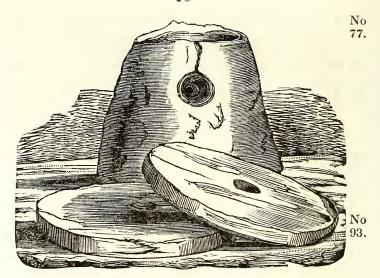

69 P. Piece of plain GOLD RING MONEY, found in the South of Ireland, in 1845. Weight loz. 5dwt. 18gr.

It is much to be regretted that the existing law of Treasure-trove, and the arbitrary claims of the Crown, &c., with respect to the discovery of antiquities in the precious metals, generally preclude our obtaining any particulars relating to the precise localities, or other more valuable details associated with such discoveries, by which means they become in a great measure unavailable for the purposes of science.

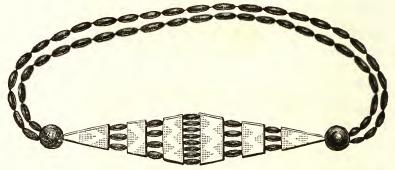

- 70 P. ANOTHER very beautiful specimen terminating in thin flattened circular plates, the connecting part engraved with longitudinal lines. Found in the South of Ireland, in 1842. Weight loz. 7dwt. 6gr.
- 71 P. Part of a BRONZE SWORD, from the Earl of Munster's collection.
- 72 P. Piece of a GOLD GORGET, found in a tumulus or "Danes Fort" in the South of Ireland, 1845. Weight 12dwt. 6gr.
- 73 P. Eight pieces of KIMMERIDGE COAL MONEY, from Caerleon.
- 74 P. AXE HEAD of granite, found on the moors near Scarborough, 1846, of a flattened but elegant form very prevalent in, if not altogether peculiar to specimens manufactured in the Brigantian territory, 5 inches long.
- 75 P. Bronze SPEAR HEAD, from Mr. Dodd's collection, London, 1846.
- 76 P. GOLD BRACELET, composed of three strong wires twisted together, found in the South of Ireland, 1846. Weight 15dwt.

A rare specimen.

77 P. A conical QUERN and portion of another, found with human bones near Taddington, in 1845.

78 C. Piece of LEAD WIRE and other fragments, found in a Barrow at Deepdale, Staffordshire, May, 1846.

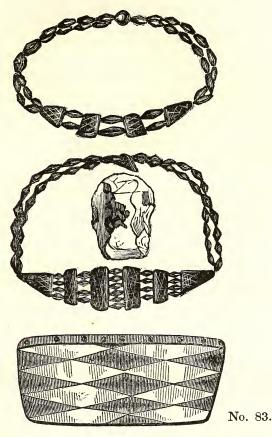

No. 79.

79 T. NECKLACE composed of seventy-six cylindrical beads, two conical studs of Kimmeridge coal, and four ornaments of bone, found with a skeleton in a Barrow at Windle Nook, near Wormhill, 12th August, 1846.

80 T. BRONZE DAGGER found with a skeleton in a Barrow near the last, 15th August, 1846, 64 inches long.

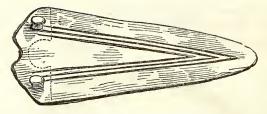

81 T. Piece of a neat BONE PIN found with No. 79.

82 T. Calcined BONE PIN found in a Barrow at Cowlow, near Buxton, 29th August, 1846, amongst a deposit of burnt human bones laid with the primary interment.

83 T. Two NECKLACES of Kimmeridge coal comprising one hundred and seven cylindrical, one spherical, and one angular beads, and ten flat ornaments, the latter engraved with a lozenge pattern, found with a secondary interment in Cowlow Barrow.

84 T. BONE PIN and Lance Head of the same material, found as the last.

No. 85.

85 T. FLUTED BRONZE DAGGER, found in a Barrow near Sterndale, called Dow Low, 5th September, 1846, 5 inches long.

86 T. Rubbed piece of IRON ORE, found with the last.

No. 87.

87 T. Perforated BONE STUD like No. 2, found amongst calcined human bones in a Barrow at Narrowdale Hill, near Alstonfield, 19th September, 1846.

88 T. BALL of rubbed sandstone, and piece of a Whetstone, found in a Barrow upon Callenge Low, near Youlgrave, 30th November, 1846.

89 T. BRONZE DAGGER of elegant form, 8 inches long, ploughed up in a field near Cayton, Scarborough, 1846.

- 90 D. TWO PINS, one of bone, the other of bronze, both calcined, found with burnt human remains in Barrows on Stanton Moor, by the late Rev. Bache Thornhill. Presented by William Pole Thornhill, Esq., M. P.
 - 91 D. CALCINED PEBBLE, found as above.
 - 92 P. Small MILLSTONE, found in trenching in Stanton Park, 1847.
 - 93 P. PAIR OF QUERNS, 14 inches diameter, found near the Winster and Bakewell road opposite to Hartle Moor, March, 1847.
 - 94 P. POINT of a Bronze Spear, found under the limestone gravel in Lathkiln Dale, in 1847.
 - 95 P. Double-edged AXE HEAD of Basalt, found near Tideswell, in 1844, 4\frac{1}{4} inches long.

- 96 P. BRONZE DAGGER SHEATH, 10½ inches long, still retaining part of its original lining of wood, dredged from the Thames at Conway Stakes, near Kingston, July, 1847, supposed to be the place where Julius Cæsar crossed the Thames in opposition to the British army under Cassivelaunus, (54 B. C.)
- 97 P. Two small specimens of twisted GOLD RING MONEY like the African currency, found in Ireland, weighing, respectively, 5dwt. 4gr. and 1dwt. 18gr.
- 98 D. Perforated DISC OF SANDSTONE, found near Ringham Low, Monyash, 1847. Presented by Mr. James Bateman, 13 inch diameter.
- 99 T. BRONZE AWL which had been fixed in a wooden handle, found with a skeleton in a Barrow near Gotam, 23rd April, 1847.
- 100 T. POINT for a SPEAR neatly cut from the leg bone of some animal, found on re-opening Dr. Pegge's Barrow on Middleton Moor, 5th October, 1847.
- 101 T. BALL of stone, found near Arborlow, 20th October, 1847.
- 102 P. SPIKED FERULE of bronze, probably from a war-like flail.
- 103 T. Six more BONE CRESCENTS like No. 3, found on re-opening Kenslow Knoll Barrow, 1st February, 1848.
- 104 T. CIRCULAR piece of slaty sandstone which has been submitted to heat, from the same Mound.
- 105 T. Perforated BONE PIN, (broken) found as the last.
- 106 T. Small BRONZE DAGGER, found as the last, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches long.
- 107 T. BONE SPEAR or javelin point, from the same Barrow, 4th February, 1848.
- 108 P. Perforated DISC OF SANDSTONE, a fine pair of Querns, Sandstone ball, and cylindrical cornerusher, found in trenching upon Stanton Moor, February, 1848.
- 109 P. Perfect pair of gritstone QUERNS, found as above, 12 inches diameter.
- 110 P. Singular specimen of GOLD RING MONEY, curiously twisted like some examples current among the natives in Africa, from which country it may probably have been brought. It weighs 8dwt. 12gr.

- 111 T. Small AXE HEAD of Basalt, of elegant shape, found with the next article along with a secondary interment in a tumulus at Parcelly Hay, near Hartington, 6th March, 1848.
- 112 T. BRONZE DAGGER, found with the last.
- 113 T. Curious NECKLACE consisting of four hundred and sixteen pieces of Kimmeridge coal, and one only of bone, found about the neck of a female skeleton in a small Barrow near Arborlow, Middleton, 15th March, 1848.
- 114 P. Upper stone of a HANDMILL, found on the Moors near Scarborough, 1848.
- 115 D. PERFORATED STONE, about 6 inches in diameter, found at a great depth in digging the foundation for an engine chimney at Kersley, near Bolton, Lancashire, in 1823. Presented by Roger Crompton, Esq.
- 116 P. Large COLLAR OR GORGET OF THIN GOLD, crescent-shaped, the extremities terminating in circular discs, and neatly engraved with a chevron pattern similar to that so frequent upon Celtic pottery, weighing loz. 11dwt. 19gr. Found in Ireland in 1848 with the seven next numbers.
- 117 P. Two pieces of longitudinally FLUTED GOLD, now straightened out but probably once curled up for rings, weighing together 7dwt. 20gr., each about 3½ inches long.
- 118 P. Large piece of GOLD RING MONEY with trumpet-shaped ends, much expanded, weighing 4oz. 8dwt. 5gr.
- 119 P. Large piece of hollow GOLD RING MONEY with concave ends, engraved with chevrons. Weight 3oz. 21gr.
- 120 P. Small plain specimen of penannular GOLD RING MONEY, weighing 2dwt. 2gr.
- 121 P. Small specimen of RING MONEY, (very thick) formed of alternate layers of two kinds of gold, or of gold and electrum, weighing 9dwt. 12gr.
- 122 P. Plain piece of GOLD RING MONEY of the usual type, of considerable diameter but very slender. Weight 6dwt.
- 123 P. TORQUES OR GIRDLE, made from a square rod of gold twisted, weighing loz. 3dwt. 6gr.; about 9 inches diameter.

- 124 T. Calcined BONE PIN with circular eye, found among burnt human bones in a Barrow near Ecton, Staffordshire, 6th May, 1848.
- 125 C. Portions of three BONE PINS, taken from a deposit of calcined human bones in a Barrow at Hang Bank, Ecton, 18th May, 1848.
- 126 P. Unfinished AXE HEAD of red stone with yellow veins, found on Sheldon Moor, Derbyshire, April, 1848, 3¹/₄ inches long.
- 127 T. Small FLAT BEAD of Kimmeridge coal, found at the head of a skeleton in a Barrow at Shuttlestone, near Parwich, 3rd June, 1848.
- 128 T. BRONZE DAGGER and Celt, (List M. No. 29) found with the same skeleton and bearing the impression of the fern leaves upon which the body was laid, and also of the hairy garment in which it was enveloped at the time of interment.

This is one of the very few instances in which we find the stone axe replaced by the bronze celt.

Engraved in the Journal of the British Archæological Association, Vol. VII, page 211.

- 129 P. Large bronze SPEAR 15¼ inches long, with openings in the blade. Found with the Celt (List M. No. 28.) at Agelthorpe, near Middleham, Yorkshire, 1848.
- 130 C. Small bronze DAGGER, found with burnt human bones in a cist in the Barrow at Mare Hill, Throwley, 25th May, 1848.
- 131 C. Perforated BONE PIN, found with another deposit of calcined bones in an urn from the same Barrow.
- 132 C. Three pieces of fused LEAD from the same Mound.
- 133 P. Small leaf-shaped SPEAR HEAD of bronze, without socket, found on the Moors near Scarborough, 1848, 3½ inches long.
- 134 C. Piece of LEAD WIRE, found in a Barrow called Round Low, near Deep Dale, 16th June, 1848. 135 C. BRONZE DAGGER, found in a tumulus near the
- 135 C. BRONZE DAGGER, found in a tumulus near the last, 19th June, 1848, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches long.
- 136 C. Two BONE INSTRUMENTS like No. 46, found with flint weapons by a skeleton in a Barrow called Mouse Low, 21st June, 1848.

- 154 C. Two INSTRUMENTS of bone, perforated in the centre, and portions of three others similar; also two very small pieces of thin bronze, one of which is neatly ornamented, taken from a deposit of calcined human bones in a Barrow at Ribden, Staffordshire, 29th December, 1848.
- 155 C. Piece of BRONZE WIRE, which has probably been a pin, and part of the shoulder bone of some animal, which has been tooled, found with burnt bones in a Barrow near Throwley, 10th February, 1843.
- 156 C. POINTS of a bone Javelin and Pin, found in a Barrow at Bincliff, Staffordshire, 7th April, 1849.
- 157 C. ORNAMENT made from a Boar's tusk, and another cut from a rib bone, from a Barrow at Stonesteads, near Waterhouses, 7th April, 1849.
- 158 T. NECKLACE of seventy-three Beads, with one exception of Kimmeridge coal, found about the neck of a skeleton at Grindlow, near Upper Haddon, 30th April, 1849.

Of the above, eight are ornamented plates, thirty-nine are conical studs, and twenty-six are cylindrical beads.

Nos. 159, 160, and 161.

159 D. Upper portions of two BRONZE SWORDS, (Cleddyv) found with the two next lots in cutting a drain near Bilton, Yorkshire, in February, 1848. Presented by Charles Moore Jessop, Esq., by whom an account of their discovery was communicated to the Journal of the British Archæological Association, Vol. V., page 349, where a selection from them is engraved.

160 D. Small BRONZE SPEAR, much ornamented by engraving, 5½ inches long,

161 D. Six other BRONZE SPEARS of the Myrtle leaf pattern, 5½ to 12 inches long. Six Bronze Celts (List M. No. 60—65) also formed part of this trouvaille, 162 C. Parts of two bone MODELLING TOOLS, and a very small bronze clasp, from a Barrow at Top Low, Swinscoe, 5th and 12th May, 1849.

163 C. Two BONE PINS, from a Barrow at Stanshope, 4th

June, 1849.

176 C. Calcined BONE PIN, found in the small Barrow at Three Lows, Wetton, 8th December, 1849.

177 P. BONE BRACELET, ornamented with the chevron pattern cut on the outside, found at Colchester, 1849.

by one hole only for attachment to the handle, found in the middle of a deposit of calcined human bones in a Barrow near Blore, called Lady Low, 13th April, 1850.

179 T. CIST VAEN or Stone Chamber, composed of five ponderous masses of limestone, found on re-opening the Gib Hill tumulus, Middleton Moor, January, 1848, where it formed the receptacle for a secondary interment consisting of burnt human bones.

180 P. Fragments of MILLSTONES, mostly cut in grooves, found on Smerrill Moor at various times.

181 P. Pieces of two thin MILLSTONES, found in cutting a watercourse at the Twitchells, near Middleton, November, 1845, and part of another, found in the Corn Mill pond, Middleton, May, 1849.

182 C. IRON AWL or Pin, found on re-opening the second Barrow at Bitchinhill, 29th May, 1850.

Probably Romano-British, and therefore incorrectly catalogued in this place.

183 C. Part of an ARMILLA of thick bronze wire, found on re-examining the larger Barrow at Three Lows, Wetton, 4th June, 1850.

184 T. NECKLACE of Kimmeridge coal, comprising fifty-three cylindrical, ten minute beads, twelve conical studs, and five flat separating plates, found in a Barrow near Hasling House, in the vicinity of Buxton, 5th June, 1850.

185 T. Small BRONZE AWL or Pin, found in another Barrow near the last, on the same day.

186 C. Hoop-shaped BRONZE BRACELET, neatly engraved with a diamond-shaped pattern, found on re-opening the Castern Barrow, 11th June, 1850.

187 C. Triangular BONE TWEEZERS, perforated for suspension, and a large Boar's tusk, found with the skeleton of a young female in a Barrow on Bailey Hill, Hanson Grange, 3rd August, 1850.

188 C. BOAR'S TUSK of large size, found in the second

Barrow at Elkstone, 31st August, 1850.

189 C. Thick BRONZE AWL, 2 inches long, and a few flints, found in the first Barrow at Elkstone, 31st August, 1850.

- 190 C. Four large and fine HORNS of the RED DEER, and many fragments of others similar, found in the larger Barrow at Three Lows, 7th June, 1845, and June, 1850.
- 191 T. HORN of smaller Deer, found with a human skeleton beneath some very large stones in a Barrow near Gotam, 1st April, 1847.
- 192 C. RED DEER'S HORN, found on re-opening Gratton Hill Barrow, Wetton, 4th September, 1850.
- 193 C. Curiously hollowed piece of SANDSTONE, from the second Elkstone Barrow, 31st August, 1850.
- 194 C. SANDSTONE VASE, 4 inches high, ornamented round the outside with four grooves, found with the next article in a Mound near to Thor's Cave, Wetton, 24th September, 1850.

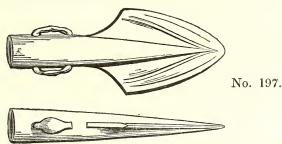

195 C. BRONZE PAN OR KETTLE, about 4 inches high and 6 diameter, which has been slightly ornamented, and has been furnished with a bowed handle of iron, like a bucket, found about a foot distant from No. 194.

Probably Romano-British.

196 P. Broken SPEAR HEAD of bronze, found in the County of Cork.

197 P. Bronze SPEAR HEAD of unusual shape, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, found as the last.

- 198 P. Bronze JAVELIN HEAD, 23 inches long, found as the last.
- 199 R. Bronze SPEAR HEAD without socket, 43 inches long, found at Cawthorn Camps, near Pickering, Yorkshire.
- 200 R. BRONZE DAGGER, found with a skeleton eighteen feet beneath the summit of a tumulus near Cawthorn Camps, 26th November, 1849.
- 201 R. BONE PIN, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, found in a Barrow near Cawthorn Camps, with the Urn (List M. No. 127,) in 1840.
- 202 R. Part of a BONE PIN, found inside one of the small vessels called Incense Cups with calcined bones in a Barrow at Saintoft, near Cawthorn Camps, 25th October, 1849.
- 203 R. BONE PIN, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, found with a so called Incense Cup and burnt bones in a Barrow near Pickering, 13th February, 1850.
- 204 R. Two rudely CHIPPED STONES, one with a natural hole in it, found in a Barrow near Pickering, 4th April, 1850.
- 205 R. Two flat CIRCULAR STONES, 1½ inch diameter, found with Romano-British pottery near the surface of a

- Barrow in the neighbourhood of Pickering, 22nd May, 1850.
- 206 R. Sharp POINTED BONE, found in an urn with burnt bones in a Barrow eight miles from Pickering, 16th July, 1850.
- 207 R. Large Globular BEAD of jet, found with a flint spear in a tumulus that had been formerly opened near Pickering, 1849.
- 208 R. Five JET BEADS, from a tumulus at Goathland, Yorkshire, which had been previously disturbed, 1849.
- 209 R. Two rough SANDSTONES, perforated, one of them broken, found on the Moors north of Pickering, 1849.

- 211 P. Another thick twisted BRONZE RING of one coil only, found as above.
- 212 to 215 P. FOUR ARMILLÆ of bronze, of various thickness, but all quite plain, found as the last.
- 216 R. Upper stone of a QUERN, parts of two others, and a stone with a circular cavity worked in it, from the Moors north of Pickering.
- 217 W. Broken AMBER BEAD, found with the Hammer No. 19 on the 21st October, 1827, under the bed of the river Bradford, in making the foundation for a bridge near Middleton.
- 218 P. Specimen of SILVER RING MONEY, made from a flat bar bent into an oval form, found in the parish of Castle Maqua, County of Cork. Weight 20z, 8dwt. 20gr. Dr. Neligan.
- 219 P. SILVER RING MONEY, made of a round wire with thick ends. Weight 7dwt. 20gr. From Dr. Neligan's collection.
- 220 P. SILVER RING MONEY, in the form of a twisted finger ring, having the ends, which do not quite meet, pointed. Weight ldwt lgr. From Dr. Neligan's collection.

Examples of Ring Money are of much rarer occurrence in silver than in the more precious metal.

- 221 C. Half of a quoit-shaped PERFORATED SAND-STONE, 4 inches diameter, found in the Boroughs field, Wetton, March, 1851.
- 222 P. Two pieces of QUERNS, found near Arborlow, March, 1851.

- 226 T. Four small BRONZE PINS, found with a late interment in the same Barrow.
- 227 D. Rubbed SANDSTONE BALL, about 3 inches diameter, found near Hurdlow, 9th May, 1851. Presented by Mr. George Needham.
- 228 P. Broken HAMMER HEAD of coarse stone, found on Middleton Moor, 14th May, 1851.
- 229 T. Ten BEADS of Kimmeridge coal and a curious bone ornament in the form of a seal, found with a secondary interment in a Barrow near Monsal Dale, 16th May, 1851.
- 230 T. Large and fine BONE PIN, 6 inches long, found with a skeleton in the same Barrow, 23rd May, 1851.
- 231 T. Cylindrical BEAD of Kimmeridge coal, found with the bones of a child in the same Mound, 23rd May, 1851.
- 232 T. Calcined BONE PIN, found among human bones placed beneath an inverted urn in a Barrow near the last, 29th May, 1851.
- 233 T. CELT-SHAPED INSTRUMENT, made from the jaw bone of some animal, found in the same Barrow.
- 234 T. Piece of HARD SANDSTONE, which has probably been used for triturating grain, from the same Barrow, 3rd June, 1851.
- 235 T. Rude LANCE HEAD of bone, found in the second Barrow near Wardlow, opened 27th June, 1851.
- 236 T: Two neat BONE LANCE HEADS, found with a skeleton (a secondary interment,) in a Barrow near Staker Hill, in the neighbourhood of Buxton, 2nd July, 1851.

- 237 T. Bit of thin BRONZE, found upon the right temporal bone of a skeleton, in a rock grave in the same Barrow.

 Also, the beak of a Hawk.
- 238 P. Part of a BRONZE SWORD, 8 inches long, found in Ireland.
- 239 P. Part of a bronze DAGGER, 3½ inches long.
- 240 P. Point of a bronze DAGGER, 3 inches long.
- 241 P. Rude bronze SPEAR HEAD, 4 inches long, which has been attached to the shaft by tying, found at York.
- 242 P. Part of a bronze DAGGER with two rivets remaining, found as the last.
- 243 P. Broken SPEAR HEAD of bronze, with semicircular eyes through the blade, $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, found in the County of Clare, Ireland.
- 244 P. Imperfect bronze SPEAR, 5 inches long, found in the County of Longford, Ireland.

A nice specimen.

- 245 P. Looped bronze SPEAR, 6½ inches long.
- 246 P. Another SPEAR like the last, 5 inches long.
- 247 P. Smaller SPEAR, 4 inches long.
- 248 P. Another JAVELIN HEAD with the socket broken, 3 inches long.
- 249 P. BRONZE PIN, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, with a circular piece of thin bronze suspended from the head, found in a bog in Ireland.
- 250 R. LEADEN BEAD, 1 inch diameter, found in demolishing a Barrow at Ayton, near Scarborough.
- 251 R. Roughly chipped SANDSTONE BALL, about 4 inches diameter, possibly used in some game, found in a Barrow six miles north of Pickering, 15th February, 1851.
- 252 R. Rectangular SANDSTONE, 8 inches long by 6 inches wide, with a shallow hole worked in each side, found in a Barrow four miles east of Pickering, 28th February, 1851.
- 253 R. BRONZE DAGGER, 6 inches long, and an OVAL OBJECT of bone pierced with four holes, which has apparently formed the butt end of the handle, found with a skeleton in a Barrow at Scambridge, 11 miles east from Pickering, 3rd April, 1851.

The bone object found with this dagger is similar to that found with the celebrated skeleton of the Ancient British Chieftain discovered at Gristhorpe, and preserved in the Scarborough Museum; it is of precisely the same shape as the stud engraved at No. 87, but much larger, being $2\frac{\pi}{3}$ inches long.

- 254 R. Two SMALL IMPLEMENTS made from the teeth of animals, and two charred substances like acorns, found with the same skeleton as the last.
- 255 R. Two SANDSTONE BALLS, respectively, 1 and 2 inches diameter, and a stone like a coprolite, from the same Barrow.
- 256 R. Elegantly formed AXE HAMMER of red stone, slightly moulded, 5 inches long, found in a Barrow eleven miles east of Pickering, 11th March, 1851.
- 257 R. NECKLACE of Kimmeridge coal, consisting of nine conical studs, thirteen cylindrical beads, and a square centre piece, ornamented with a dotted pattern, found in a Barrow six miles north west of Pickering, 28th May, 1851.
- 258 R. PENDANT ORNAMENT of Kimmeridge coal, 13 inch wide, ornamented with two lines intersecting in the centre so as to form a saltire, found in a companion Barrow to the last.
- 259 R. COAL RING, 13 inch diameter, another like it but broken, and a boar's tusk, found with the last.
- 260 R. Two SANDSTONES, with cavities worked in them, found, with a skeleton accompanied by an extensive set of flint instruments, six miles north east of Pickering, 30th July, 1851.
- 261 R. BONE, apparently from the back of a whale or other large fish, found as the last.
- 262 Upper stone of a HANDMILL, found on the Wolds, near Lutton, Yorkshire, in 1851.
- 263 R. NETHER MILLSTONE, found at Dalby, near Pickering, 1851.
- 264 R. STONE, about a foot square, with three cavities worked in it, found on the Moors near Pickering, 1851.
- 265 R. ANOTHER, from the same locality, with five cavities worked in it.

- 266 R. Two smaller STONES, each having one cavity, found as the last.
- 267 C. Two SANDSTONES, with cavities worked in them, as in the specimens from Yorkshire enumerated above, found in a Barrow, at the Brund, near Sheen, Staffordshire, 21st June and 16th July, 1851.

268 T. Calcined BONE PIN and Flint, found among burnt bones on re-opening Larkslow Barrow, near Middleton, 24th October, 1851.

269 P. BALL OF FLINT, worked round by artificial means, found near Kenslow, 8th November, 1851.

270 P. BRONZE FERULE, from a mace or military flail, 11 inch diameter, with three rows of spikes round the outside. Similar to No. 102, but larger.

271 T. Grit WHETSTONE, found on re-opening a Barrow near the railway at Minninglow, 10th November, 1851.

- 272 D. HAMMER OR AXE HEAD of basalt, 11 inches long, 43 wide, 33 thick, weighing 103 tbs, found about the year 1831, in a field at Hungry Bentley, called the Little Warren. Presented by Mr. Daniel Oakden.
- 273 D. A COLLECTION of articles, found in a very ancient copper mine at Llandudno, near Conway, North Wales, in October, 1849, consisting of four large BOULDERS, which have been used for pounding the ore; BONES of deer &c., some of which are imbedded in stalagmite, and coloured green by the percolation of water impregnated by copper; and also some STALACTITE which depended from the roof of the mine when the ancient working was broken into. Presented by William Fennell, Esq., of Wakefield, 13th December, 1851.

See Gentleman's Magazine for December, 1849, Vol. XXXII, new series, page 130, for a notice of this curious discovery.

274 P. Two small pieces of dark coloured sandy POTTERY, of identical fabric with some of the Romano-British funereal urns, from a vessel found at Weston, in Norfolk, in April, 1852, containing a hoard of small silver coins of the Iceni.

Very important, as affording a clue to the age in which the coins were minted.

See Numismatic Chronicle, Vol. XV, page 98, for a description and engraving of some of the coins.

- 275 T. Small BRONZE AWL, pointed at both ends, found with a fine skeleton in the Barrow at Waggon Low, Cronkstone, 25th June, 1842.
- 276 P. Small HAMMER HEAD, of rare form, beautifully wrought from a jasper pebble, found near Castleton, Derbyshire, 3 inches long.

See a similar one engraved in the Journal of the Archæological

Institute, Vol. III, page 94, 1846.

277 P. Plain BRONZE TORQUES or neck ornament, 6 inches diameter, weighing 5oz., finely patinated.

The Torques was worn extensively among the various branches of the Celtic family of nations; and it was on account of taking an ornament of this description from the neck of the gigantic Gaulish Chieftain, whom he had vanquished, that the Military Tribune Manlius was ever after distinguished by the surname Torquatus, which event is commemorated upon a coin of the Manlia Gens.

- 278 C. Double pointed BRONZE AWL, 2 inches long, found in the Borough field, Wetton, August, 1852.
- 279 D. Rounded sandstone MULLER, found on Middleton Moor, 22nd November, 1852.
- 280 W. LIMESTONE SLAB, 15 inches wide, which covered the mouth of a sepulchral urn, found in the Barrow at Larkslow, 20th May, 1825, also a peculiarly shaped limestone and a large pebble, from the same Mound.
- 281 P. Socketed JAVELIN HEAD of bronze, which has had a loop on each side, found by breaking up uncultivated land on Stanedge Farm, Newhaven, January, 1853, 6½ inches long.
- 282 R. Two irregularly shaped BALLS OF STONE, which have been chipped all round like No. 204, found on the Moors near Pickering, in 1852.
- 283 R. Part of a beautiful HAMMER HEAD of reddish coloured stone, very similar to No. 256, found on the site of a mutilated Barrow near Robin Hood's Bay, Yorkshire, 1852.
- 284 R. Part of a PERFORATED STONE, 3½ inches diameter, like No. 221, found upon Dalby Warren, near Pickering, in 1852.
- 285 R. Flat piece of SANDSTONE, about 8 inches long, by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide, with a considerable number of squares carved upon it, like a chess-board, and probably intended for some game, found along with the next article in a Barrow at Scambridge, Yorkshire. The same in which Nos. 253-4-5 and 6 were found.

286 R. Larger piece of oolitic STONE, with an irregular square carved upon it, from the same Barrow.

287 R. Circular JET STUD, \(\frac{3}{4}\) of an inch diameter, slightly moulded and perforated at the edge, found in a mutilated tumulus at Cropton, near Pickering, in 1852.

288 P. Bronze SOCKET GOUGE, made like a small celt, 3 inches long, with part of some other instrument fused to it, found in Norfolk.

289 P. BRONZE KNIFE, of very rude form, 4 inches long, with a hole at the end for attaching it to the handle, found with the last.

290 P. AXE HAMMER of stone, 7 inches long, found near Manheim, in Germany.

291 P. BRASS BRACELET or Ring money, with thick and solid ends, found near Manheim.

Probably not older than the Frankish Period, which synchronizes with our Anglo Saxon Era.

292 C. Calcined BONE PIN, wanting the point, found by re-opening the Barrow at Little Lea, Castern, 16th April, 1853.

293 C. BOULDER, about 6 inches long and 5 wide, which has been used as a pounding instrument, by the ancients, found at Longlow, near Wetton, in 1853. Like those described at No. 273.

294 P. BRONZE SPEAR head, 4½ inches long, with two loops, found near the river Derwent, at Matlock Bath, Derbyshire, 19th December, 1806. From the collection of Charles Hurt, Esq., of Wirksworth.

295 D. BEAD OR DISC of baked clay, of a flattened hemispherical shape, 13/4 inch diameter, perforated with two holes, found on Garratt Piece, Middleton Moor, and presented by Henry Pursglove, 12th September, 1853.

296 R. RING OF JET, nearly an inch diameter, found in a Barrow two miles north of Pickering, 24th February,

297 R. Half of another JET RING, 1½ inch diameter, found in a Barrow at Kingthorpe, 20th September, 1853.

- 298 R. Two rude STONES, about 3½ inches across, one partly, the other entirely pierced, like No. 284, found upon Dalby Warren, 1853,
- 299 R. Half of a beautiful HAMMER HEAD of basaltic stone, of a reddish tint, found in a field in which a Barrow is situated, two miles north of Pickering, in 1853.
- 300 R. LEAF-SHAPED BRONZE SWORD, with the original ornamented bronze handle, covered with beautiful light green patina, a small piece of the point wanting, but measuring altogether two feet in length, a magnificent specimen, found in Transylvania. From Count Pulzsky's collection, but catalogued in the present list as being precisely similar to the Celtic Cleddyv.
- 301 P. BRONZE SPEAR head, 7½ inches long, ornamented with ribs, bought in Dublin, July, 1854.
- 302 P. PIN, 5½ inches long, made from the bone of a horse, purchased with the last.
- D. Portion of a large round MASS OF BUTTER or Lard, found with a piece of cut wood over it, eleven feet deep in a bog at Killinure, County of Tipperary. Presented by Samuel Cooper, Esq., 22nd July, 1854.
- 304 P. BRONZE PAN or Kettle of very rude casting, with a handle and three legs, measuring 8 inches in height, and near 6 in diameter across the mouth, found in Ireland, 1854.
- 305 T. Point of a BRONZE DAGGER and a small stud of green glass, found in the second Barrow at Bole Hill, 29th September, 1854.
- 306 P. SPEAR HEAD of bronze, 63/4 inches long, with a loop on each side, from Ireland.
- 307 P. FLAT HAMMER head of basalt, 5 inches long, much used, found at Aughmacloy, County of Galway, 1854.
- 308 D. Broken HAMMER HEAD, made from a quartzose pebble, 3\frac{3}{4} inches diameter, found on Garratt Piece, Middleton, October, 1854.

STONE CELTS OR ADZES.

LIST L.

- 1 W. Thick Celt of basalt, 5³/₄ inches long, found near Haddon Hall in 1785. From White Watson's collection.
- 2 W. Portion of a Celt of green coloured stone, which appears to have been purposely defaced, found in Gib Hill Barrow in 1824.
- 3 W. Beautiful Celt, 5 inches long, of variegated green stone approaching to signite, found near Monyash in 1826.
- 4 W. Celt of toadstone, 7½ inches long, decomposed on the surface, found with several others in planting near the Fair ground, Newhaven, in 1827, of thick and narrow shape, a fine specimen.
- 5 W. Celt of the hone slate of Westmoreland, 3¹/₈ inches long, found as the last.
- 6 W. Another of basalt, $4\frac{7}{8}$ inches long, found as the last.
- 7 W., Portion of a Celt, made of the hone slate of West-moreland, found in planting at Cross Flats, Middleton, 1828.
- 8 W. Celt of fine argillaceous slate, 4½ inches long, found near Youlgrave in 1831.
- W. Another of the same material, 3½ inches long, found near Monyash in 1832.
- 10 W. Celt of toadstone with decomposed surface, 53 inches long, found near Newhaven in 1833.

11 W. Celt of basalt, 63 inches long, found on Bakewell Moor, highly polished and slightly injured.

12 W. Small Celt of dark coloured stone, 3 inches long, found near Youlgrave in 1830.

13 W. Celt of flint, well polished, found on Youlgrave Moor.

14 W. Celt of basalt, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, from the same locality as the last, 1832.

15 P. Thick Celt of fine argillaceous slate, found near Arborlow, 1839.

16 T. Beautiful Celt of long and narrow shape, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, made from grey flint, neatly chipped, and in part highly polished, found with the next, behind the shoulders of a skeleton in a Barrow called Liffs Low, near Biggen, in July, 1843.

17 T. Another, very similar to the last, but broader and shorter, measuring only 5\frac{3}{4} inches, found as the last.

These two Instruments exceed any specimen that we have yet seen, in beauty of material, excellence of workmanship, and the perfection of their condition.

18 D. Instrument of dark coloured flint, of square form, 3½ inches long, 2½ inches wide, one side flat, the other convex, the ends, which are sharp, are slightly semicircular as in most celts; the whole surface is smoothly ground down, and the instrument is possibly unique, and may have been applied for the purpose of dressing the flesh side of skins. Found at Lean Low, near Newhaven, in July, 1843, and presented by Mr. John Alsop.

19 D. Flat Celt of black limestone, with indented sides, 4½ inches long, found on Middleton Moor in 1839. Given by John Lucas, Esq.

20 P. Curious Instrument of very fine and hard slate, 7 inches long, smoothly rubbed by the sharpening of Celts upon it; it is of celt-like form, but has concave sides; found at a considerable depth in Mill Street, Bakewell, in excavating for a sewer in January, 1844.

21 P. Celt of fine green hone slate, found on Smerrill Moor,

1826, (broken.)

22 T. Small celt-shaped Instrument of white flint, with a highly polished round edge, 23 inches long, found, with

- many other Instruments, in a Tumulus on Elton Moor, 18th June, 1844.
- 23 P. Small Celt of dark stone, 3½ inches long, found in Wales.
- 24 D. Portion of a large Celt of light coloured basalt, found upon Hartle Moor with the next.
- 25 D. Fine Celt of Westmoreland hone slate, 81 inches long, found as the last, and with it presented by William Wain, 1845.
- 26 P. Celt of light coloured basalt, 4½ inches long, found at Newhaven Lodge, 1845.
- 27 P. Celt of green slate, $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches long, found as the last.
- 28 P. Another of compact black limestone, 4 inches long, found as above.
- 29 P. Large Celt or Axe head of basalt, 7 inches long, 4 inches wide, with a groove cut round the thickest end, by which it has been vertically attached to a withy handle, as many blacksmith's tools are still mounted. Found in 1838, in digging foundations for the National Schools, West Hackney, Middlesex.

From Rev. Stephen Isaacson's collection.

- 30 P. Imperfect Celt of green slate, found near Arborlow in 1844.
- 31 P. Carefully rubbed flat Celt of yellow flint, 5 inches long, found near Taddington in 1845.

A beautiful specimen, but injured by the finder having perverted its original application to the more recently discovered purpose of igniting tinder by the assistance of a steel. See some late speculations on the uses of Celts in a paper on the early ethnology of Britain, read at the Meeting of the British Association at Liverpool, September, 1854.

- 32 P. Celt of green slate, found near Monyash in 1845.
- 33 P. Imperfect Celt of the same stone, found on Smerrill Moor in the autumn of 1845.
- 34 P. Broken Celt of toadstone, found near Arborlow in 1845.
- 35 P. Upper part of a Celt of green slate, found on Middleton Moor, 1846.
- 36 P. Small portion of a flint Celt, found upon Sheldon Moor about the year 1840. When discovered it was quite perfect, but being afterwards used with the tinderbox in the cottage of the person who found it, it now exhibits the inevitable result in the entire loss of its original shape.

37 P. Thick Celt of basalt, 6½ inches long, found on Smerrill Moor about the 10th of March, 1847.

- 38 P. Small Celt of hone slate, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, found at Gotam in 1845.
- 39 P. Half of a Celt of light coloured basalt, found near Newhaven Lodge, 1847.
- 40 P. Half of a very good Celt of the thick form, of basalt, found near Taddington.
- 41 T. Fragment of a Celt of hone slate, found on Middleton Moor, 30th September, 1847.
- 42 T. Basaltic Celt, 43 inches long, found on re-opening a Barrow at Cross Flatts, near Middleton, 10th February, 1848.
- 43 P. Basaltic Celt, 51 inches long, found near Newhaven, March, 1848.
- 44 P. Small Celt of hone slate, 3½ inches long, found as the last.
- 45 P. Part of a Celt of fine argillaceous slate, found near Elklow, April, 1848.
- 46 P. Small Celt of Westmoreland slate, 3 inches long, found at Greenseats, Middleton Moor, 26th May, 1848.
- 47 P. Celt of hone slate, 4 inches long, of very narrow proportions, found near Gib Hill, Middleton Moor, 9th June, 1848.
- 48 P. Celt of compact sandstone, 5³/₄ inches long, found at Greenseats, June, 1848.
- 49 P. Portions of two others of hone slate, found as the last.
- 50 C. Small Celt of hone slate, 3¹/₄ inches long, found in a Barrow at Green Field, Staffordshire, 2nd June, 1848. Rather remarkably worked.
- 51 T. Part of a Celt of hone slate, found upon the Kenslow Knoll Barrow, 23rd August, 1848.
- 52 P. Extremely fine and large Celt of hone slate, 10½ inches long, found in Ireland. From the collection of the Rev. James Mockler.
- 53 P. Part of a Celt, of basaltic stone found upon Smerrill Farm, November, 1848.

- 54 P. Celt of yellow flint, 5½ inches long, found at King's-Cross, London.
- 55 D. Square-formed Instrument, 25 inches long, 21 inches wide, neatly chipped in flint, and ground to an edge at each end like No. 18, found at Callenge Low, about 1830, and presented by Mr. John Blore.
- 56 P. Half a Celt of slate, and a Whetstone, found near Greenseats, March, 1849.
- 57 P. Half of a Celt of hone slate, found as the last, June, 1849.
- 58 T. Mutilated Celt of hone slate, found not far from the last, 2nd October, 1849.
- 59 P. Celt-shaped Instrument of sand agate, 5 inches long.
- 60 D. A handsome Celt of dark coloured flint, $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches long, found upon Stanton Moor, November, 1848,
- 61 P. Celt of yellow silicious stone, $6\frac{1}{4}$ inches long, found at Otley, Suffolk, in 1849.
- 62 P. Miniature Celt of serpentine, (green) 13 inch long, found in Ireland.
- 63 P. A long narrow Celt of yellow flint, highly finished, measuring 83 inches in length, found at Marham, near Swaffham, Norfolk. From Goddard Johnson's collection.
- 61 D. Small Celt, 2 inches long, made from a quartz pebble, found eighteen feet from the surface at Shales Moor, Sheffield, in 1849. Presented by Samuel Mitchell, Esq.
- 65 R. Celt of dark coloured stone, 64 inches long, found near Pickering, 1849.
- 66 P. Broken Celt of hard light coloured stone, found in Suffolk.
- 67 P. Broken Celt, found near Newhaven Lodge, April, 1851.
- 68 P. Imperfect Celt of flint, finely polished, found near Arborlow, 14th May, 1851.
- 69 P. Roughly chipped Celt of flint, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, apparently unfinished, found upon Kenslow, Middleton, June, 1851.
- 70 P. Imperfect Celt, found at Westow, near Kirkham, Yorkshire.
- 71 P. Celt of dark coloured stone, $5\frac{3}{4}$ inches long, found in the County of Westmeath, Ireland.
- 72 P. Celt of slate, $5\frac{3}{4}$ inches in length, found in Ireland.

- 73 R. Short Celt of basalt, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, found with a beautiful flint Spear, accompanying a skeleton in a Barrow near Pickering, 24th January, 1851.
- 74 R. Broken Celt of grey flint, 2 inches long, found with a skeleton in a Barrow five miles north of Pickering, 5th February, 1851.
- 75 D. Small Celt of hone slate, 3½ inches long, found on Elton Moor, near Pike Hall, in 1851. Presented by Benjamin Yates.
- 76 P. Celt of extremely hard light coloured stone, 7 inches long, found at Woodbridge, Suffolk.
- 77 P. Unfinished flint Celt, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, said to have been found with the bronze Celt (List M. No. 92) near Cambridge.
- 78 P. Broken Celt of light coloured stone, found upon Smerrill Moor, April, 1852.
- 79 D. Celt of hone slate, 4 inches long, found near Arborlow, 30th April, 1852.
- 80 P. Half a Celt of light coloured stone, found at Pike Hall, August, 1852.
- 81 D. Neat Celt of hone slate, 4 inches long, found upon Gratton Moor, and presented by Mr. George Sheldon, December, 1852.

Found in the same field as the small bronze Celt No. 11 in the next list, which was discovered in a Tumulus.

- 82 P. Beautiful flint Celt of the square-sided or Scandinavian type, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, nicely polished and very sharp, found near Manheim, Germany.
- 83 P. Broad square-shaped flint Celt, 4 inches in length, of the Scandinavian type, found as the last, and like it very sharp on the edge and nicely polished.
- 84 P. Celt-shaped Gouge of dark coloured stone, 4½ inches long, found near Manheim.
- 85 P. Celt-shaped Gouge, like the last, but rather more slender, found as the above.
- 86 P. Broken Celt of hone slate, found at Arborlow, May, 1853.
- 87 P. Small Celt of hone slate, 23 inches long, found on Youlgrave Moor, May, 1853.
- 88 P. Celt-shaped Instrument of basalt, 5 inches long, with a cavity worked in each side, probably to attach the handle, found near Biggen, June, 1853.

A very unusual specimen.

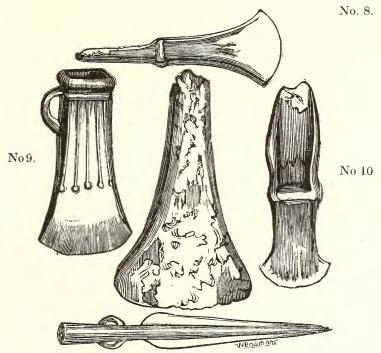

- 89 P. Stone Celt, 5½ inches long, with the edge injured, found at Smerrill, July, 1853.
- 90 D. Cast of a very remarkable Celt, ornamented by angles left in relief by rubbing down the stone of which it is made. The original was found in Guernsey, and is in the collection of F. C. Lukis, Esq., by whom this cast was presented.

- 82 P. A small and narrow specimen of the full socketed CELT.
- 83 P. Early flat AXE-shaped Celt, found in the south of Ireland, curious as being perforated like some specimens of stone. From the collection of Mr. Redmond Anthony, of Piltown.
- 84 to 85 P. Two specimens of the PALSTAVE, with overlapping socket.
- 86 P. Broken PALSTAVE, found at Keighly, Yorkshire.
- 87 P. ANOTHER imperfect example finely patinated.
- 88 to 91 P. Four small Irish CELTS of the full socket type.

92 P. PALSTAVE, 5 inches long, said to have been found with the unfinished flint Celt (List L. No. 77) near Cambridge.

93 P. Fine PALSTAVE with recurved corners, found in draining near Chatsworth in 1851. Weight, 173 ounces.

94 D. CAST taken from a bronze Celt mould with two unequal sides, found near Bangor in 1800. Presented by Joseph Clark, Esq., of Saffron Walden.

95 P. Full socketed CELT, slightly ornamented, and well patinated, measuring 4 inches in length, found near Manheim.

96 P. ANOTHER of the same kind rather curiously ornamented, found with two others (one a Palstave) in cutting the London and Birminghan Railway, Buckinghamshire.

- 97 to 98 P. Two Flat CELTS, found in Ireland, both curiously ornamented by hammering; one of the axe-shaped, type has a herring bone pattern on each side; the other, of a slightly advanced kind, has longitudinal furrows terminating in others carried across the instrument. Purchased in Dublin.
- 99 P. Remarkably narrow CELT of early type, with the sides neatly hammered up, $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches long.
- 100 P. PALSTAVE, 7 inches long, with the half socket for receiving the handle much more contracted than usual.

101 P. PALSTAVE like the last, but slightly broken.

102 P. Looped and socketed CELT, 4½ inches long, with some very curious ornamentation at the sides, in which may perhaps be traced a representation of the primitive stone celt, the prototype of the entire series.

99 to 102 are types peculiar to the Continent.

103 P. BRONZE AXE, 6 inches long, with an eye or perforation to receive the shaft as the modern axe; weight 27½ oz.; well patinated, perfectly genuine, and of extreme rarity.

104 P. CELT MOULD of schistose stone, measuring 7 inches by 6, with three hollows for casting the earliest type of celt; found in an old burial ground about two miles from Carrickfergus. From Mr Croker's collection.

CELTIC POTTERY,

COMPRISING THE FOUR UNDERMENTIONED VARIETIES:

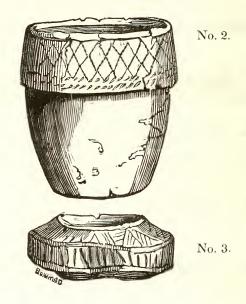

- J. SEPULCHRAL URNS, or such as have either contained or been inverted over calcined human bones.
- II. SMALLER VASES, usually found with unburnt bodies, but occasionally with, though not containing, burnt bones; apparently intended to contain an offering or supply of food for the spirit of the deceased.
- III. DRINKING CUPS. Tall and highly ornamented vessels of thin pottery correctly designated by their present name by Sir Richard Colt Hoare.
- IV. INCENSE CUPS. Diminutive vessels thus termed by the same Antiquary from the fact of their always accompanying calcined bones, being generally found inside urns of the first class; and not unfrequently perforated by two or more holes. The name of Incense Cup is retained in this List as being generally understood: their actual use is still unknown.

LIST N.

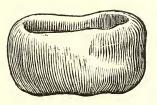

1 W. Beautifully ornamented VASE, 4\(\frac{1}{4}\) inches high, with a groove or moulding round the widest part in which are four stops or knops, each perforated so as to allow a cord to pass through. It was found with another of the same kind, but of larger size, in demolishing a Tumulus near Ashford, Derbyshire, in 1832, and now contains calcined bones from the same Mound. Presented by Mrs. Selina Bayley.

2 W. Small sepulchral URN, 54 inches high, containing burnt bones, found upon Stanton Moor in 1799. From White Watson's collection.

No. 63.

64 T. Small piece of an URN, from a Barrow at Priesteliff Low, 1st September.

65 T. Upper part of a neatly ornamented VASE, found, with the skeletons of young persons decorated with coal beads, in Cowlow Barrow, 29th August.

66 T. Fragments of POTTERY, found in the same Mound.

67 T. Ornamented VASE, found beneath a large stone in a Barrow on Narrowdale Hill, 19th September, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches high.

68 T. Large funercal URN, quite plain, with its contents, found in the same Mound.

69 T. Fragments of two highly ornamented DRINKING CUPS, found in the smaller Barrow upon Callenge Low 30th November.

1847.

70 P. Greater part of a large sepulchral URN, from a Barrow near Scarborough, January.

71 P. Small VASE found in a Cist on Stanton Moor, 2nd February.

No. 72.

72 T. Very fine sepulchral URN, found inverted over a deposit of calcined bones, now placed within it, in a Barrow at Flax Dale, Middleton, 6th February, 14 inches high.

VESSELS FROM YORKSHIRE TUMULI IN THE NEIGHBOURHOOD OF PICKERING.

127 R. Part of a large sepulchral URN, finely ornamented with a dotted pattern, found at Cawthorn Camps, near Pickering, 1840.

128 R. Broken URN with slightly ornamented border, measuring 11 inches in height, from Crosscliff, 22nd February.

129 R. Another large and fine sepulchral URN with ornamented border, found with the last. Height 13½ inches.

130 R. Beautiful INCENSE CUP, 23 inches high, ornamented with a border of lozenges terminating in dots, and perforated with two holes through one side; also fragments of the sepulchral Urn in which it was enclosed; from a Barrow seven miles north of Pickering, 7th August.

- 131 R. Fine SEPULCHRAL URN, 10 inches high, found close to the next, in a Barrow six miles north of Pickering, 14th August.
- 132 R. Another fine SEPULCHRAL URN, 11 inches high, found with the last.
- 133 R. Fine VASE, 5½ inches high, with the border ornamented by the chevron pattern; and fragments of another; found eight miles north of Pickering, 17th October.
 - 134 R. Small and rare variety of the INCENSE CUP, 3 inches diameter and 1½ inch high, ornamented with dots, found with calcined bones at Saintoft, near Cawthorn, 25th October.
 - 135 R. Very fine VASE, 4½ inches high, ornamented with dots and zigzags, from a Barrow near Cawthorn; the second of those opened 26th November.

From a stone chamber in the midst of a circle of upright stones, the whole of which were hidden by the upheaped mound.

- 136 R. VASE, 4½ inches high, found at the head of a skeleton, with the next article in a Barrow near Cawthorn, 4th December.
- 137 R. Beautiful VASE, 51 inches high, ornamented with very small punctures, and four perforated knobs, found with the last.
- 138 R. Portion of a small GLOBULAR VESSEL, 31 inches diameter, most elaborately decorated with a herring bone pattern, found with burnt bones on Allerstone Common, 10th December.

140 R. Remarkable DRINKING CUP, 5½ inches high, decorated by cartouches of network, and having a loop or handle at one side, found in a Barrow one mile north of Pickering, 23rd January.

Vessels of this description, with the addition of the handle are of the greatest rarity; the writer is acquainted with but one other example, which was discovered near Whitby.

R. Thick VASE of very rough clay mixed with small stones, and dotted all over as by the application of the end of a small stick, 5½ inches high, found behind the head of a skeleton in a stone chamber near Pickering, 6th February.

Now deposited with the skeleton in a glass case in the collection.

142 R. Large and elegantly shaped SEPULCHRAL URN, 14\frac{3}{4} inches high, with a thick moulded border richly ornamented inside as well as outside, found with the two next in a Barrow in the same field as the last, 7th February.

This is one of the most beautiful urns in the collection; and the shape, which is remarkably elegant, seems chiefly to have prevailed in Yorkshire, as several other specimens of the same type appear further on in this list, all of them having been found in the same locality: none have, as yet, occurred in Derbyshire or Staffordshire.

143 R. Curious VASE of red pottery, decorated in rather an uncommon way with punctures and angular lines, found as the last.

A very nice and perfect specimen.

144 R. VASE, 5³/₄ inches high, found with another interment (a skeleton) in the same Mound as the last.

145 R. Curious plain INCENSE CUP of conical form, 3 inches diameter at the widest part, and 13 inch high, found with burnt bones six miles north of Pickering, 13th February.

145 R. Beautiful VASE, 4½ inches high, covered with minute ornamentation, and having on the bottom a broad cross formed by several lines of punctured dots intersecting at right angles in the centre, found at the head of a skeleton at Newton-upon-Raweliff, 3rd April.

Unique as to ornament.

147 R. Very fine VASE, 5½ inches high, from a Barrow six miles east of Pickering, 19th June.

148 R. Plain tall looking VASE, 8½ inches high, from a Barrow fifteen miles north of Pickering, 9th July.

149 R. Part of the rim of a large URN, 9 inches diameter, from a Barrow eight miles north of Pickering, 16th July.

150 R. VASE, almost plain, 5½ inches high, found at the head of a skeleton six miles east of Pickering, 28th August.

- 151 R. Plain VASE, 7 inches high, found with the next in a Barrow four miles north of Pickering, 29th August.
- 152 R. Plain INCENSE CUP, 3 inches diameter, found with the last.
- 153 R. Fragments of seven different VESSELS, some of them very neatly decorated, found upon the sites of Barrows that have been destroyed in the neighbourhood of Pickering.
- 154 P. Part of a small plain CUP, found in December, 1850, at the head of a skeleton in the remains of Crake Low Barrow, Tissington, Derbyshire, by men opening a stone quarry.

- 155 C. Neatly ornamented VASE, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches high, found with a skeleton at Broad Low Ash, 1st March.
- 156 T. Beautifully ornamented DRINKING CUP, 65 inches high, found with a skeleton in Bee Low, 3rd May.
- 157 T. VASE and fragments of others, from a Barrow by the Ashford and Wardlow road side, 16th May.
- 158 T. Slightly ornamented VESSEL, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches high, found with a skeleton in a Barrow near Monsal Dale, 23rd May.
- 159 T. DRINKING CUP, 7¹/₄ inches high, found with two detached skulls in the same Barrow.
- 160 T. Small VASE, richly moulded and decorated all over like No. 1, found with the skeleton of a child in a small square Cist in the same Mound, 24th May, $4\frac{3}{8}$ inches high.
- 161 T. Fine SEPULCHRAL URN, 12 inches high, with an ornamented border, found inverted over a deposit of burnt bones in a Barrow near the last, 29th May.
- 162 T. DRINKING CUP, $7\frac{3}{4}$ inches high, rudely ornamented by the finger nail being impressed on the clay whilst soft, found with a skeleton in a rock grave near Staker Hill, 2nd July.
- 163 T. Portion of an ornamented VESSEL, found with skeletons in a stone Cist in the same Mound as No. 161.
- 164 C. Small pieces of an URN, from a Barrow at Newton Grange, 30th August.

165 R. Beautifully ornamented SEPULCHRAL URN, 11 inches high, with border decorated inside like No. 142, with its deposit of burnt bones; from a Barrow nine miles north of Pickering, 26th November.

166 R. Plain spherical INCENSE CUP, 2 inches high, from a Barrow ten miles north east of Pickering, 7th December.

- 167 R. Plain VASE, 64 inches high, from a Barrow in the same neighbourhood.
- 168 R. VASE, 43 inches high, beautifully decorated with the herring bone pattern, from a Barrow near the last, 12th December.
- 169 R. VASE, 5½ inches high, with the border minutely ornamented with the impress of a tightly twisted cord, from a Tumulus near the last, 18th December.

170 R. Smaller VASE, 5 inches high, ornamented with a dotted pattern, subsequently found in the same Barrow.

171 R. Curious mis-shapen VESSEL, with a border decorated with diamonds produced by the application of a twisted cord; found with calcined bones in a Barrow near the last, 21st December.

- 172 R. VASE, 6½ inches high, with small knobs placed at intervals in the moulding of a border decorated with twists and a row of punctures, from a Barrow seven miles east of Pickering, 24th January.
- 173 R. Small dark coloured CUP, rudely ornamented by punctures disposed in a zigzag form, found inside the last.
- 174 R. INCENSE CUP, 13 inch high, found with burnt bones seven miles north of Pickering, 8th February.
- 175 R. Plain URN, 9 inches high, containing burnt bones; also piece of another with herring bone border, from a Barrow about a mile nearer Pickering, 11th February.
- 176 R. Plain INCENSE CUP, 13 inch high, found with calcined bones, four miles east from Pickering, 18th February.

- 177 R. Part of an extremely coarse URN of upright shape, found with burnt bones in a Barrow near the last, 28th February.
- 178 R. Rudely ornamented VASE, 43 inches high, found with a skeleton four miles north east of Pickering, 20th March.
- 179 R. Upper part of a roughly ornamented URN, 8 inches diameter, containing calcined bones, from a Barrow eleven miles east of Pickering, 25th March.

MISCELLANEOUS ANTIQUITIES

ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE

ROMANS, & ROMANIZED INHABITANTS

OF BRITAIN.

LIST E. I.

1 W. BRONZE FIGURE of a Gladiator unsheathing his sword, 8 inches high, of very fine work, said to have been dug up near the ruins of Herculaneum: given to the late John Gisborne, Esq., by General Armstrong, and presented to the late William Bateman, Esq., in 1821.

This fine bronze is probably not so ancient as the period to which it is here assigned; it appears to have formed part of the collection of works of art in the possession of Charles I., being impressed with the letter C surmounted by a crown.

No. 2.

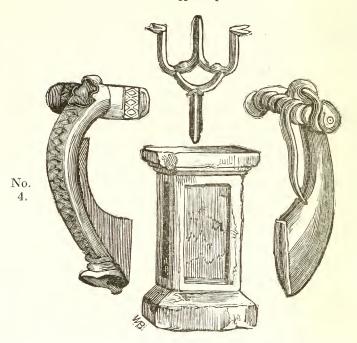

2 W. MUSICAL INSTRUMENT or Flute, the "Ossea Tibia," made from the leg bone of a Crane, 91 inches long, found with a small urn in digging a foundation by the Fosse way at Lincoln, in 1824. Presented by Mr. Job Cartledge.

See Fosbroke's Dictionary of Antiquities, Vol. II., page 630.

3 W. BRONZE FIBULA or fastening for the dress, of the usual harp shape, found in excavating for a mill pond at Middleton by Youlgrave, November 1821.

See opposite plate.

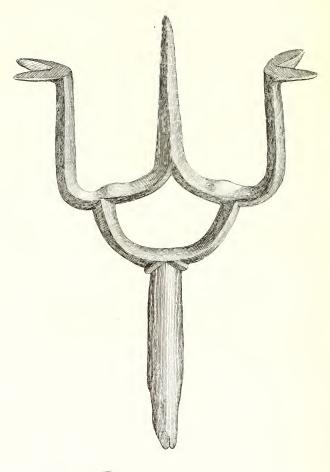

4 D. Another BRONZE FIBULA which has been slightly enamelled, and set with stones now lost, covered with a beautiful bright green patina, found in the garden at Rock Cottage, Middleton, in March, 1843. Presented by John Lucas, Esq.

The left hand figure in the woodcut.

5 W. A TRIDENT-shaped Instrument of bronze, represented of the full size in the plate, found in making a new road near Middleton, 16th May, 1822.

Brass Frident found ut Middleton in 1822

. Roman Tikula found at Middleton in1891

- 6 W. IRON KNIFE with a leaden handle, found near the Hall, Middleton, May, 1822, at the depth of two feet.
- 7 W. Part of a BRONZE BELL, found in an earthen vessel in digging foundations at Church Row, Bakewell, in 1808. From White Watson's collection.
- 8 W. Two fancifully decorated BRONZE KEYS, from Mr. Thomas Barritt's collection, Manchester, 1820.
- 9 W. BRONZE KEY with lozenge-shaped bow, found in making a road near Winster. From Rev. B. Thornhill's collection, 1827.
- 10 W. ANOTHER similar, found in the Orchard, Middleton, 1827.

Keys of this description may possibly be considered more modern than Roman times; and might with more certainty be attributed to the middle ages.

- 137 P. Five bronze STRIGILS, one stamped with a figure of a warrior on the handle. (Used in the Baths.)
- 138 P. Small bronze COLANDER beautifully wrought with an open-work pattern, and patinated, 5³/₄ inches diameter.
- 139 Vacant.
- 140 P. Small bronze STEELYARD.
- 141 P. Bronze HANDLE in the form of a dancing figure.

- 142 P. ANOTHER terminating in a Fawn's head, very fine. 134 to 142 from Mr. Blayds' Sale.
- 143 W. Small uninscribed ALTAR of sandstone, with panelled sides, 15½ inches high, found built up in the wall of an ancient cottage, Middleton, in 1831.

- 144 D. Part of a Clay BEAD, and some teeth of animals, from a Roman Station described by Dr. Buckland at the first Congress of the British Archæological Association at Canterbury, September, 1844.
- 145 P. Curious bronze KEY.
- 146 P. Small bronze SPOON with a handle in the form of a Horse's head.
- 147 P. Elegant CINERARY URN of green glass with a handle on each side, 10½ inches high, in perfect preservation.
- 148 P. Beautiful GLOBULAR URN of very thin green glass, 7³ inches high, iridescent and quite perfect. Both from Mr. Blayds' collection.
- 149 P. Bronze LIGULA, from Gerards Hall; Needle and leaden Pin, from the Thames, 1844.
- 150 P. Two bone NEEDLES and Pin, from Foster Lane, 14th September, 1844.
- 151 P. Two small and accurately coloured plaster models of the TESSELLATED PAVEMENT found in Threadneedle Street, 1841.
- 152 T. Cast of a sepulchral SLAB of white marble, inscribed D. M. ONESIMO. VIX. AN. XIII. DOMITIVS. ELAINVS. PATER. FILIO. B. M.
- 153 P. Votive BULL'S HEAD of bronze, of early work, with a ring for suspension.
- 154 P. ANOTHER, of very clever execution.
- 155 P Small GLOBULAR VASE with narrow neck and elegant handle, of green glass, 4 inches high. A beautiful specimen.
- 156 P. Bronze STEELYARD weight, the hook terminating in a Swan's head.
- 157 P. Bronze IMPLEMENT in the form of a very thick ring upon the top of a ferule, apparently the head of a staff or standard.
- 158 P. Sandal-shaped POTTER'S STAMP of bronze, reading G. SIGINI. VRSILLI.

- 159 P. Bronze FIGURE OF MARS, 33 inches high, with spear and helmet, of good work, and patinated.

ROMAN FICTILE WARE, PRINCIPALLY OF DOMESTIC USE.

LIST G. I.

- 1 to 2 W. FRAGMENTS of pottery, from White Watson's collection.
- 3 W. HANDLES and Rims of vessels, found in making the garden for Rock Cottage, Middleton, in 1833.
- 4 P. Small CUP of Samian ware (broken) found with the Roman pavement, Jewry Wall Street, Leicester, 1830, 134 inch high.

The highly glazed coralline pottery, so generally known by the name of Samian ware, was at one time considered to be the peculiar manufacture of the Island of Samos, but modern discoveries have decided the matter differently, most of the examples found in England bearing names of Gaulish potters; it does not, however, appear to have formed a branch of native industry, as no kilns for its manufacture have as yet been discovered in Britain, though many have been described in which the coarser kinds of pottery were baked.

- 5 P. Piece of coarse POTTERY, found in the garden, Middleton Hall, 1844.
- 6 D. Seventeen pieces of figured SAMIAN Bowls, with representations of hunting scenes, &c., from the City excavations, 1844.
- 7 P. Part of a CUP of fine dark coloured ware.
- 8 P. Part of the rim of a MORTARIUM impressed with the name of the maker, ALBINVS.
- 9 P. NECK of an earthen bottle or ampulla.

- 10 P. BOTTOMS of two coarse vessels.
- 11 P. Nine PIECES from various utensils.

7 to 11 found as No. 6.

- 12 P. Eight pieces of POTTERY, from the foundation of the Congregational Chapel, Bakewell, June, 1844.
- 13 T. FRAGMENTS of various kinds of pottery, from the remains of ancient habitations near Smerrill, 12th July, 1844.

The next fifty entries were found in various parts of London in the year 1844, excepting only the two last which were found in 1845. Many of them bear the impress of the Potter's name across the bottom of the vessel.

- 14 P. Considerable part of a large PATERA, 11 inches diameter.
- 15 P. Four pieces of SAMIAN, 16th July.
- 16 P. Two pieces of SAMIAN, Bennett's Hill, 18th July.
- 17 P. Six pieces of SAMIAN, Friday Street, 8th and 11th July.
- 18 P. TWO others, Royal Exchange.
- 19 P. TWO others, Moor Lane.
- 20 to 21 P. Four pieces of SAMIAN, and a piece of glazed black ware, from St. Thomas' Hospital.
- 22 P. Six pieces of SAMIAN, Fish Street Hill, 10th July.
- 23 to 24 P. Part of a PATERA, and six pieces of Samian, Bishopgate Street.
- 25 P. SAMIAN, from the City, 30th June.
- 26 P. SAMIAN, from the Borough, 30th April.
- 27 P. Part of a small Samian CUP, from Friday Street, 9th July.
- 28 to 29 P. Part of an ornamented PATERA, and nineteen other pieces of Samian ware, found in various parts of the City.
- 30 to 31 P. Two very elegant NECKS of ampullæ, admirably formed for pouring liquids, of light coloured earthenware.
- 32 P. Piece of a MORTARIUM marked P. P. P., Fish Street Hill, 10th July.
- 33 to 35 P. Another PIECE slightly ornamented, Bottle Neck, and one other, from Moorgate Street.

- 37 to 38 P. Curious piece of pot, and part of a LAMP, Bread Street Hill, July.
- 39 to 43 P. Fragments of CUPS, Pateræ, and six other pieces of Samian, found as the last.
- 44 P. Piece of SAMIAN, from the Thames.
- 45 to 47 P. Two amphora HANDLES, and piece of ornamented pottery.
- 48 to 49 P. Part of a PATERA surrounded with a border of ivy leaves, and three other pieces of Samian ware.
- 50 P. Two pieces of a figured Samian BOWL, Trinity Lane.
- 51 P. PIECE of another, from London Bridge.
- 52 P. Two pieces of a curiously figured BOWL.
- 53 P. Perfect CUP of Samian ware, 13 inch high, 41 inches diameter, from the Thames, August.
- 54 P. Perfect PATERA of Samian ware, 7½ inches diameter, Thames.
- 55 P. Earthen LAMP, Friday Street, 18th September.
- 56 T. Five pieces of SAMIAN, found in Friday Street, September.
- 57 to 58 P. Seventy pieces, and portion of a BOWL of figured Samian ware, Foster Lane, September.

- 61 P. TWO others, from Maiden Lane, 28th November.
- 62 P. THIRTY others, from Friday Street, January, 1845.
- 63 P. OTHERS, from Maiden Lane, 24th March.

The thirteen following entries were found in making a new sea wall at Dymchurch, Kent, in 1844.

- 64 P. Perfect AMPULLA of Samian ware, of elegant shape, 43/4 inches high, found with the next article inside a coarse urn.
- 65 P. Perfect PATERA or shallow Bowl, 7½ inches diameter.
- 66 P. Half of a large Samian DISH or Patera, 11 inches diameter, which has been anciently fractured and neatly repaired by tin or leaden rivets, thus shewing the high estimation in which the bright red ware was held.
- 67 P. Two small pieces of figured SAMIAN similarly riveted.
- 68 P. Fifty pieces of SAMIAN.

- 69 to 71 P. HANDLES and Necks of large and small amphoræ.
- 72 P. Part of a curious PATERA of red ware.
- 73 P. ANOTHER, rather darker in colour.
- 74 P. PATERA of coarse grey earthenware.
- 75 P. PART of another, very similar.
- 76 P. Three pieces of a curious painted VASE.
- 77 P. FRAGMENTS of about twenty varieties of Pateræ, Amphoræ, &c.

- 140 T. Many fragments of Romano-British POTTERY, found near the surface at Robin Hood's Stride, Hartle Moor, June, 1845.

- 141 P. Circular perforated WEIGHT of baked clay, 5 inches diameter, from the Thames, 1844.
- 142 P. Terra cotta FACE of an animal like an Ape, from a vase, found in Foster Lane, 14th September, 1844.
- 143 P. Small terra cotta LAMP with two burners, stamped across the bottom with CAESAR.
- 144 C. Fragments of MORTARIÆ and other vessels for household use, found near Wetton in the Boroughs in 1848 and 1849.
- 145 D. Exceedingly curious terra cotta LAMP of circular form, $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter, ornamented with palm branches; similar to those discovered in the Catacombs at Rome with the bodies of Christian Martyrs, and having eleven burners. Presented by His Grace the Duke of Devonshire.
- 146 D. Part of an earthenware IMPLEMENT like a candle-stick, found at York, 1850.
- 147 R. Fragments of coarse dark coloured WARE, from Coston, near Pickering.
- 148 R. A few bits of Roman POTTERY, from Knapton, near Malton, 1851.
- 149 C. Pieces of Romano-British POTTERY, found near the Saxon Cemetry at Cotgrave, Nottinghamshire, 9th September, 1851.
- 150 D. Neck of a large AMPHORA, found at Brough, near Castleton.
- 151 to 156 P. Six small Gallo-Roman clay LAMPS, impressed with figures of birds and animals, found in the south of France.
- 157 P. Piece of SAMIAN with the figure of a Hare, from Bread Street, London, April, 1852.
- 158 P. Two pieces of SAMIAN bowls, one representing the battles of the Pigmies and Cranes, the other a hunting subject, from Cannon Street, 1852.
- 159 D. CASTS from three pieces of a curious Romano-British vase with figures representing the Planetary Deities, found at Chesterford, Essex. Presented by Joseph Clarke, Esq.
- 160 D. CAST of a very beautiful vessel with three handles, the neck modelled in the shape of the head of Jupiter

Ammon, and the principal handle springing from a boss representing Medusa's head; from the original in the Saffron Walden Museum, said to have been found in levelling a Tumulus in Wiltshire. Presented by J. Clarke, Esq.

161 D. CAST of a fragment of Samian ware bearing an inscription in undeciphered characters, found in the Cathedral Yard in 1842. From the Rev. Canon Rogers.

162 P. MORTARIUM of red earthenware, 14 inches diameter, impressed with the name of SOLLVS the maker, found in Cock Lane, London, 7th May, 1844.

163 P. MORTARIUM of dark coloured earthenware, 14½ inches diameter, with oyster shells attached, dredged up from the Pan Rock, Whitstable, Kent.

162-3 from the collection of E. B. Price, Esq. See Archæologia, Vol. V, page 282.

164 D. CAST of a curious piece of an indented vase with figures in relief of Pagan Deities, from Chesterford, Essex. Presented by C. R. Smith, Esq.

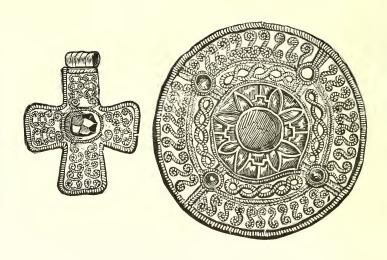

165 P. Piece of a handsome VASE with a raised pattern of foliage laid on in white slip, found at Colchester, 1854.

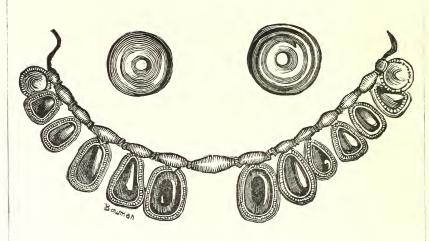

166 P. Portion of a Samian BOWL, 9 inches diameter, embossed with the story of Arion playing on the lyre to the Dolphins, found at Aldborough, near Boroughbridge (Isurium) 1854.

It has been anciently broken and repaired by riveting in the usual way.

167 P. Part of the border of a shallow VESSEL of Samian ware used for triturating food, ornamented with a spirited lion's head in high relief, found at Aldborough, 1854.

ANGLO-SAXON JEWELS.
(ACTUAL SIZE.)

ANGLO-SAXON, FRANKISH,

AND

MEROVINGIAN ANTIQUITIES.

LIST H.

1 W. Small looped CROSS OF PURE GOLD ornamented with filagree work, and having a garnet cut in facets set in the centre, found in a Barrow on Winster Moor in 1776. From the collections of the Rev. John Mason, Adam Woolley, and White Watson.

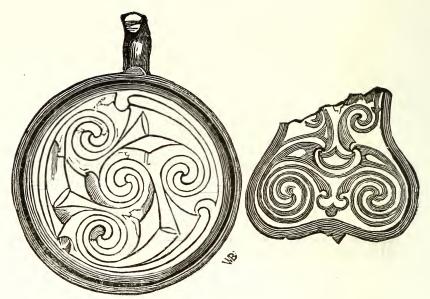

Represented by the upper left hand figure of the plate.

2 T. MONILE OR NECKLACE of fourteen pendant ornaments of pure gold, eleven of them set with garnets upon a chequered foil, the other three of gold alone. Found in a Barrow within a mile or two of the last in 1843.

Figured the lowest in the plate.

3 T. TWO BEADS, found with the last, one of opaque green glass, the other of white porcelain with a spiral thread of blue.

Represented in the middle of the plate.

No. 4.

4 W. ENAMELLED BULLA or pensile ornament of copper, the size of the cut; and part of another of similar manufacture, found in a Barrow on Middleton Moor in 1788. From White Watson's collection.

Described in the Archæologia, Vol. IX, page 189, by Dr. Pegge. The design upon the Bulla is almost identical with the ornamentation of an initial letter in a Saxon Manuscript of the seventh century, known as the Textus Sancti Cuthberti, preserved in the Cottonian Library.

- 5 W. Iron PIN which has formerly been set with a stone, from Gib Hill Tumulus, Middleton, 1824.
- 6 W. Iron AWL, from a Barrow on Middleton Moor, 1824.
- 7 W. Iron two-edged SWORD, 32 inches long, found in 1820 in a Barrow at Brushfield, Derbyshire. From Mr. Birds' collection.

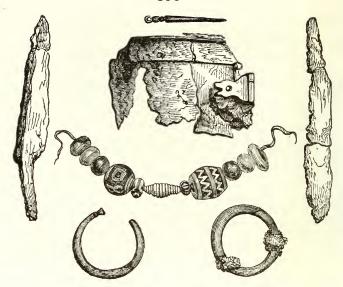

The iron umbo of a shield was discovered at the same time.

- 8 W. Two iron KNIVES, from a Mound at Cross Flatts, Middleton, 1827.
- 9 T. Iron KNIFE in its sheath, from a Mound near Minninglow, 1843.

- 10 W. KNIFE, and another Instrument, from a grave hill on Kenslow, 1825.
- 11 T. Two ARROWS (?) and numerous fragments of corroded iron, found with No. 2.
- 12 P. Remarkably fine circular Saxon BROOCH OF GOLD, 2 inches diameter, finely ornamented with very superior filagree work, and set with red stones or pastes in compartments over a chequered foil, also with other red stones: at the back is riveted a silver plate.

This valuable object was found with many other highly curious articles, now lost, in 1765 or 1766, by a farmer engaged in levelling a Tumulus on Winster Moor called White Low, at which period it came into the possession of Mr. John Mander, of Bakewell, who communicated an account of the discovery to the Society of Antiquaries (See Archæologia Vol. III, page 274). It was ceded to the present owner by Thomas Mander, Esq., of Bakewell. Engraved at the right hand side of the plate.

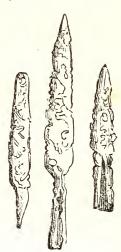

- 13 T. Fragment of IRON, from a grave near Arborlow, 8th October, 1844.
- 14 T. Iron KNIFE, from a grave beneath a Mound on Alsop Moor, called Stony Low, 25th April, 1845.
- 15 T. Iron KNIFE, found with a late interment in Carder Low, 21st May, 1845
- 16 P. Central SETTING for a fibula of white porcelain with red wavy lines radiating from the middle, found in the Lydden cutting of the Dover and Folkstone Railway, 1845.
- 17 C. Iron SPEAR HEAD, 114 inches long, found with a skeleton in a Mound in the Boroughs, Wetton, in April, 1844.
- 18 C. Iron KNIFE, found at the same time.
- 19 T. Part of the UMBO, and sundry iron straps and rivets from a shield, found in a Barrow near Cross Low, 30th May, 1845.
- 20 T. PEBBLE, found in the hand of the skeleton of the warrior with whom the shield was interred.
- 21 T. Iron KNIFE, 5 inches long.
- 22 T. ANOTHER, rather smaller.
- 23 T. Two bronze RINGS.
- 24 T. BOX of thin bronze with a jointed handle in the shape of a Serpent's head.
- 25 T. Silver NEEDLE.

Nos. 21 to 26.

26 T. NECKLACE, consisting of a spiral silver ornament, and eleven variously coloured and ornamented beads of glass and porcelain.

20 to 26 found in the Grave Mound of a Saxon lady at Stand Low, near Dove Dale, June, 1845.

- 27 P. Iron SPEAR head, 10½ inches long.
- 28 P. Iron JAVELIN head, 4½ inches long.
- 29 P. Iron KNIFE.

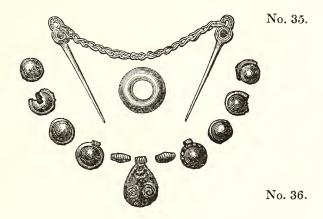

27 to 29 found near the surface of the large Mound at Steep Low, near Alstonfield, 21st June, 1845.

- 30 T. Iron AWL, from a Barrow on Ilam Moor, 2nd July, 1845
- 31 W. Two Iron KNIVES and a Buckle, from Mr. Bird's collection.

Most probably found with the sword No. 7.

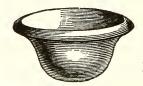

- 32 W. Fragment of a bronze DISH, found with the bulla No. 4, on Middleton Moor, 1788. From White Watson's collection.
- 33 P. ORNAMENTAL termination for a strap, made of bronze overlaid with silver, upon which is engraved a design in four compartments, consisting of reptiles with interlaced tails; found in making a sea wall at Dymchurch, Kent. in 1844.

Precisely similar to one found with Anglo-Saxon coins and treasure at Cuerdale, near Preston, Lancashire.

- 34 T. Piece of a double COMB of bone or ivory, with a rib fastened up the middle on each side with iron rivets.
- 35 T. Two GOLD PINS set with red glass upon chequered foil and connected by a neat chain of the same precious metal; also a large bead of blue glass.

36 T. NECKLACE, consisting of two spiral ornaments of electrum, eight pendants of silver, and having a curious piece of blue porcelain with three spiral threads of white upon it, set in a pendant of silver by way of centre piece.

No. 37.

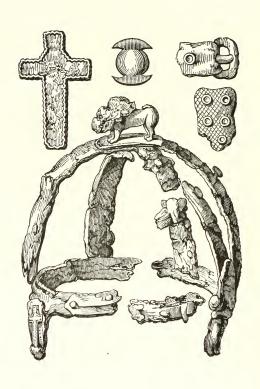

- 37 T. TUMBLER of thick green glass, 41 inches diameter.
- 38 T. IMPLEMENT of iron shewing the impression of cloth upon the rust.
- 39 T. Brass HINGE, Hasp, and Pins by which they were fastened, iron PADLOCK and other fragments, pieces of leather, &c., from a small wooden casket in which the more precious articles from No. 34 to 38 were deposited, along with a late interment of the Saxon period, in the Barrow at Cowlow, near Taddington, 29th August, 1846.

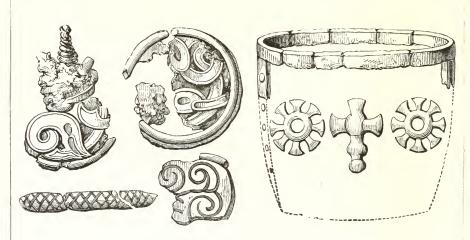

40 D. Eight BEADS of variously coloured glass and porcelain, found in a Saxon Cemetry near Cotgrave, Nottinghamshire, in 1839. Presented by Mr. George Parker.
 41 T. Curved KNIFE of iron, 6½ inches long (the seax), 41 T. Curved KNIFE of iron, 6½ inches long (the seax), found with a skeleton in a Barrow at Brun Cliff, 20th February, 1847.

- 42 T. Curved piece of IRON, near one end of which is a silver setting for the purpose of holding a stone or jewel, found with the last.
- 43 P. Iron SPEAR, from the Thames, May, 1847.
- 44 P. Two Cruciform FIBULÆ of bronze, from the Cotgrave Cemetry, 1839.
- 45 T. Small Iron KNIFE, from a Barrow at Pilsbury, 30th August, 1847.
- 46 D. Cylindrical BEAD of dark coloured glass, waved with yellow, found scratched up by rabbits in the Corn Mill Wood, Middleton, 8th October, 1847, by William Parker.
- 47 P. NECKLACE of twenty-six very fine beads, some beautifully variegated.

SAXON ANTIQUITIES.

DISCOVERED AT MONYASH, DERBYSHIRE, BY THOMAS BATEMAN, ESQ., AND NOW PRESERVED IN HIS MUSEUM AT YOULGRAVE HOUSE.

- 48 T. Iron KNIFE, found on re-opening Kenslow Knoll Barrow, 3rd February, 1848.
- 49 T. Iron KNIFE, from Sharplow, near New Inns, 27th March, 1848.

Found by the side of a skeleton.

- 50 P. Bowed FIBULA of brass, inlaid with coloured pastes, the bottom terminating in the head of an animal with silver eyes.
- 51 P. TIARA or head ornament, of very thin gold, 5¾ inches long, 2¼ wide, with a loop at each end for fastening; ornamented all over by simple patterns, produced by punching from the back (repousse), said to have been found in the Thames, near Old London Bridge. Weight 5dwt.
- 52 P. Ribbed BEAD of blue porcelain, found in Wood Street, Cheapside, April, 1848.

Probably Roman.

53 T. Iron framework of a HELMET, surmounted by the figure of a Hog in iron, standing upon a bronze plate, and having a silver cross on the front bar, also numerous ornamental rivets of the same metal through the other bars, by which the covering was fastened to the headpiece; together with numerous small buckles and other fragments pertaining to it. Found along with the four following lots, in a low Mound, surrounded by a slight rampart of earth, at Benty Grange, near Monyash, Derbyshire, 3rd May, 1848. Represented by the highest group in the plate.

The following extract from Professor Worsaac's Antiquities of Denmark will be read with interest, as thoroughly explaining this most precious relic.

"The helmets, which were furnished with crests, usually in the shape of animals, were probably in most cases only the skins of the heads of animals, drawn over a framework of wood or leather, as the coat of mail was usually of strong quilted linen or thick woven cloth."

To this the translator of the English edition appends the following important note:—

"The animal generally represented was the boar; and it is to this custom that reference is made in Beowulf, when the poet speaks of the hog of gold, the boar hard as iron-

" 'Swyn eal—gylden Eofer Iren—heard.'"

Nor are allusions to this remarkable custom of wearing the figure of a boar—not in honour of the animal, but of Freya, to whom it was sacred—confined to Beowulf. They are to be found in the Edda and in the Sagas; while Tacitus, in his "De Mor: Germ:" distinctly refers to the same usage and its religious intention.

- 54 T. Mass of long and short RODS OF IRON, connected at both ends by lozenge-shaped plates and rings; also small buckles; the whole bearing the impression of woven cloth, and probably the remains of a lorica or coat of mail that had been quilted over with cloth.
- 55 T. INSTRUMENT of iron with six prongs, about 9 inches long.
- 56 T. Edging and DECORATIONS in silver of a leather drinking cup, 3½ inches diameter, consisting of a cross and three wheel-shaped ornaments.

See the plate.

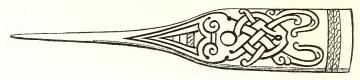

57 T. Portions of circular ENAMELLED ORNAMENTS, of the same kind as No. 4, in which yellow is predominant; also pieces of carved bone, and a knot of very fine wire.

See the plate.

It is much to be regretted that the precautions taken by our Saxon ancestors to prevent their deposits becoming serviceable to survivors (an object apparently effected by some peculiar treatment of the earth with which the interments were covered) have, in the case of this most valuable assemblage, been but too successful; the whole of the articles being in the most fragile and imperfect state.

- 58 C. INSTRUMENT of iron, probably a rude pike head, found in Arbor Hill Barrow, 20th May, 1848.
- 59 C. Bronze FIBULA of the harp-shaped type, found in a Barrow at Green Field, Castern, 2nd June, 1848.

Probably Romano-British.

- 60 P. Bone HAIR PIN, 6½ inches long, ornamented with knot work, found in the Thames, 27th April, 1837. From Mr. Newman's collection.
- 61 C. Small iron FIBULA, miniature KNIFE, &c., from the Boroughs, Wetton, August, 1848.
- 62 C. SPEAR HEAD, 13 inches long, and a knife, 8 inches long, both of iron, from a Barrow on Readon Hill, 4th September, 1848.

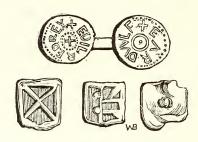

The former bears the impression of grass, the latter of the larvæ of insects, sharply cast in the rust with which they are incrusted.

- 63 T. Iron SPEAR head, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, found on the surface of the large Barrow near Alstonfield, 18th September, 1848.
- 64 T. Imperfect double COMB of bone, 6½ inches long, with a rib up each side fastened by iron rivets, found along with the blade of a clasp knife, and a small brass coin of Constantius Chlorus, in a Barrow on Rusden Low, Middleton, 10th November, 1848.
- 65 T. Fragments of IRON, found in a Barrow near Sharp Low, Dove Dale, 30th March, 1848.
- 66 P. Fragment of a FIBULA of copper strongly gilt, from Foster Lane, London, 1844.
- 67 C. Iron KNIFE, found in a Barrow at Blore's Field, Calton, 20th January, 1849.
- 68 P. Border and fragment from the side of a green GLASS VESSEL, 4 inches diameter, found at Dymchurch in 1844.
- 69 W. Two KNIVES of the usual Saxon shape, found at Middleton.
- 70 D NECKLACE, consisting of six small beads of amber, and four of glass; plated buckle, ring, and other fragments of bronze, found at Willsborough, near Ashford, Kent, in 1844.

Presented by the late Rev. Stephen Isaacson.

- 71 T. Electrotypes from two curious leaden FIBULÆ in the York Museum, and the Collection of Mr. Nightingale.
- 72 W. Three small OBJECTS IN LEAD, represented of the actual size in the cut, found with Stycas of Ethelred in 1814, amongst earth that had slipped down from the hill at Castleton upon which the Castle stands. From Mr. Bird's Collection.

No. 72.

- 73 W. Two small iron RINGS, about an inch diameter, found at the depth of fifteen feet from the surface, near Brassington, in 1827.
- 74 P. Large BEAD of green glass, with a wavy yellow line surrounding it, found near Arborlow, 26th April, 1849.
- 75 P. Another dark coloured BEAD, rather smaller, with a waved line of white, found near Kenslow, 28th April, 1849.
- 76 T. Ornamental BOSS of thin bronze, 3 inches diameter; a curious circular BOX of bronze, with ribs at the outside, 1\frac{3}{4} inch diameter; iron ferule, and other fragments; from a Mound at Newhaven, 27th April, 1849.
- 77 T. Part of a well-made bronze BOWL, 6½ inches diameter, and part of a plated frame for a bulla like No. 4, found at the surface of a Barrow called Grind Low, 30th April, 1849.
- 78 P. Double-edged iron SWORD, 36 inches long, with part of the guard remaining; from the Stowe Collection.
- 79 T. Small iron SPEAR head, and upper tusk of the boar, found in a Barrow at Vincent Knoll, 24th May, 1849.
- 80 C. Heart-shaped ARROW of iron, found in the large Barrow near Alstonefield, 21st June, 1845.
- 81 C. Iron RING, an inch diameter, and piece of earthenware, from a Barrow near Blore, 2nd June, 1849.
- 82 C. Two small ring FIBULÆ of bronze, which have had iron pins; from the fourth Barrow at Musdin, 16th June, 1849.

- 83 T. Iron KNIFE, found by the side of a skeleton in a rock grave at Great Low, near Chelmorton, 23rd June, 1849.
- 84 T. Iron Knife, found in a Barrow at the "Top of the Hurst," near Hurdlow, 7th July, 1849.
- 85 T. Circular BOX and lid of thin bronze, 2 inches high; pretty ORNAMENT of bronze, perforated with five holes; PINS of bronze, and fragments of iron Implements, found with the body of a female in the same Mound.
- 86 T. Iron KNIFE, from a Barrow near the last, 10th July, 1849.
- 87 C. Harp-shaped bronze FIBULA, with a diamond pattern down the front, enamelled with yellow, red, and green; found in the Boroughs, Wetton, 23rd July, 1849.

A very pretty specimen of Romano-British Art.

88 P. Circular coronet-shaped FIBULA of copper, gilt; each of the elevated points has been set with blue glass; a very rare variety.

A similar example is engraved in the Journal of the Archæological Association, Vol. VIII, page 369.

- 89 T. Iron KNIFE, found in a Barrow near Ryestone, 13th August, 1849.
- 90 D. Two AMBER BEADS, from a Barrow near Driffield, Yorkshire, August, 1849.
- 91 P. Large blue glass BEAD, found on Stanton Moor, March, 1849.
- 92 D. Fine and large CRUCIFORM FIBULA of bronze, 5½ inches long, found at a former period in the Barrow near Driffield.
- 93 D. BEAD of green porcelain, with a spiral line of white running through it, found on Middleton Moor, June, 1850.
- 94 T. Two-edged iron SWORD, 3 feet long, remaining in the original wooden scabbard, which has been covered with ornamented leather; found in a Grave Mound on Lapwing Hill, near Brushfield, Derbyshire, 3rd August, 1850.
- 95 T, Two JAVELIN HEADS corroded together; small

KNIFE; eight staples; nine bands, and other pieces of iron; found as the last.

The bands and staples bear evident marks of having been fastened and clenched through timber of considerable thickness; and from their situation when discovered it is by no means improbable that they were attached to a coffin for the purpose of carriage; whence we may suppose that the body was conveyed from some distant place for interment in the particular locality. An etching of the sword may be seen in the Journal of the Archæological Association, Vol. VII, page 211; and two javelins precisely similar are figured in the fourteenth plate of the Abbe Cochet's Normandie Souterraine, 8vo, 1854.

- 96 P. Imperfect bone COMB, 4 inches long, found with a considerable quantity of charred wheat, fifteen feet from the surface, in digging a well in Peter Lane, York, August, 1850.
- 97 P. Bronze beam for a small pair of SCALES, which has been jointed, so as to fold up in a small compass.

A similar article is figured at page 62 of the Earl of Ellesmere's Guide to Northern Archæology.

- 98 P. Plated ORNAMENT from the end of a broad girdle, engraved with a cruciform guilloche.
- 99 P. BEAD of dark coloured glass, variegated with white, found on Stanton Moor, August, 1850.
- 100 R. Iron KNIFE, 35 inches long, found in a Barrow near Pickering, 16th April, 1850.
- 101 R. Egg-shaped piece of baked CLAY, found with the last.
- 102 P. Hemispherical BEAD of blue glass, with a spiral thread of white on the convex side.
- 103 C. Broad iron KNIFE, with its original stag's horn handle, 9 inches long, found in the Boroughs, Wetton, along with a small slip of bronze, with a hole at each end, in November, 1850.

Probably Romano-British.

- 104 T. BEAD of blue glass, with a spiral thread of white through it, found near the surface of a Barrow, near Monsal Dale, 23rd May, 1851.
- 105 T. Iron SPEAR head, 91 inches long, found as the last.
- 106 T. Harp-shaped bronze FIBULA, found near the surface in a Barrow near the last, 29th May, 1851.

Romano-British.

- 107 P. Large BEAD of straw-coloured glass, found on Middleton Moor, July, 1851.
- 108 P. Beautiful BEAD of green glass, with yellow foliage surrounding it, found on Hartington Common, 1851.
- 109 P. BEAD of ribbed blue glass, found as the last.
- 110 C. Set of twenty-eight small hemispherical pieces of bone, with dots upon the convex side, probably intended for DRAUGHTS, found amongst a deposit of calcined human bones, in a Barrow near New Inns, Derbyshire, 9th August, 1851.
- 111 C. Fragments of two ornamented COMBS of bone, found with the last.
- 112 C. Three pieces of some IMPLEMENT of iron, found with the same.
- 113 P. Imperfect cruciform FIBULA of bronze, from the Saxon Cemetry at Cotgrave.
- 114 W. Bronze BUCKLE, similar to those found in the Saxon Graves near Mainz, found at Middleton about 1824.
- 115 T. Two iron KNIVES, 8½ inches and 5 inches long, found with a late interment in the Barrow at Waggon Low, Cronkstone, 25th June, 1852.
- 116 C. Small broad iron KNIFE, from the Boroughs, Wetton, August, 1852.
- 117 C. Bronze ring FIBULA, 1½ inch diameter.
- 118 C. Three glass BEADS, two lilac coloured, the other blue.
- 119 C. Two barbarous imitations of the small brass coinage of TETRICUS, and a small piece of burnt glass.
- 120 C. Piece of red WAR PAINT, and several iron nails.
- 121 C. Four pieces of STAG'S HORNS which exhibit marks of tooling; one remarkably large and palmated.

Nos. 117 to 121 inclusive were found interred along with a skeleton in the Boroughs, Wetton, 7th August, 1852, and probably date from the Romano-British age.

- 122 C. Neat SHARPENING STONE, measuring 23 by 21 inches, found as the last.
- 123 C. Iron AWL, 3 inches long, and a few other trifling objects, from a Barrow at Stanshope, 31st August, 1852.
- 124 C. Beautiful NECKLACE, consisting of five large globular beads of amber, twenty variegated porcelain beads of different sizes and patterns, and two others of the same kind which have been broken; found with the two next entries in a grave hill near Wyaston, Derbyshire, 10th September, 1852.

125 C. Finger RING of silver wire, with a twisted knot, and portions of ear-rings of the same metal.

126 C. Part of an ornamental jet (?) RING, 1½ inch diameter, apparently intended for a brooch.

127 C. KNIFE, 6 inches long; imperfect pair of SHEARS; and another instrument of iron; found with a skeleton, in the Boroughs, Wetton, 29th September, 1852.

128 C. Part of a very neat WHETSTONE perforated for suspension, and a piece of worked stag's horn, found as the last.

129 P. Two silver-plated ARMILLÆ, with raised centre and elegant cable pattern borders. They are about an inch in width, and $2\frac{1}{2}$ in diameter; have been much worn, and have had each four ornamental studs riveted on the raised part, only one of which now remains.

130 P. Imperfect bronze FIBULA of the Frankish type, found near Manheim.

See a similar example engraved at page 5 of Lindenschmit's "Germanische Todtenlager," Mainz, 1848.

131 P. NECKLACE consisting of eight beads of amber, two of porcelain, and twenty bone rings; found near Manheim.

132 C. Iron RING, rather more than an inch in diameter, probably for a fibula; from the Boroughs, Wetton, 4th May, 1853.

133 C. Two flat sandstone PEBBLES, respectively 2 inches and 23 inches diameter, which have been rubbed at the edges to reduce them to a circular form; the smaller partly pierced; found in the Boroughs, July, 1853.

134 R. Cruciform FIBULA of bronze, slightly imperfect, 3½ inches long; boar's tusk; and fragment of pottery; found with a late interment in an old British Tumulus at Kingthorpe, Yorkshire, 20th September, 1853.

135 P. SILVER FIBULA of the Frankish variety, like No. 130, the circles round the arch set with red glass.

136 P. LARGE BUCKLE of gilt bronze, with a square ornament, 3 inches long by $2\frac{1}{4}$ wide, attached to it. The latter is divided into compartments by thin slips of bronze, so as to form a very beautiful mosaic pattern, which is filled in with pieces of red glass or garnets of various shapes. Found in a Merovingian grave in the North of France, 1854.

An inferior example is engraved in Mr. C. R. Smith's Collectanea Antiqua, Vol. II, plate 35, page 147. This may be considered as one of the most uncommon and valuable articles in the Collection.

- 137 to 138 P. Two iron UMBONES or bosses of Anglo-Saxon SHIELDS, 61 inches diameter. From the Collection of Mr. William Meyrick, and found at Northfleet.
- 139 P. A very fine circular SAXON BROOCH OF GOLD, ornamented with delicate filagree work, set with a mosaic of garnets, forming a cross, in the angles of which are eight settings of green and blue pastes and stones; 2 inches diameter.

An extremely rare and valuable specimen.

- 140 P. Circular ORNAMENT OR BULLA of copper, nearly 2 inches diameter, enamelled with a double triangle in white and black, having a rose in the centre, and leaves in the angles, produced by cutting away the surface of the metal in the "champ leve" style of enamelling; the whole within a raised border, which, together with the metallic portion of the centre, has been strongly gilt. Found with a skeleton in Oxfordshire, 1854.
- 141 P. PIECES of corroded IRON, found with human skeletons and bones of animals, about four feet beneath the surface, in levelling in front of the cavern called Pool's Hole, near Buxton, 24th November, 1854, consisting of buckles, staples, clench bolts, 1\frac{3}{4} inches long; nails (one with a globular head, 3 inches long); and a kind of slender sheath, 4 inches long, which exhibits traces of gilding.
- 142 W. Circular FIBULA or slide from a strap of bronze, 1 inch diameter, with an indeterminate design on the front; found two feet under ground, near the great elm tree in Normanshaw's farm yard, Middleton, 2nd March, 1831.

One similar in the British Museum is labelled "Saxon Fibula, found near Swaffham."

No. 143.

143 P. GOLD NECKLACE, consisting of sixty bulb-shaped beads, each fastened on a cylindrical bugle; the clasp or fastening is circular, and decorated on one side with filagree work and settings of coloured stones, as in Anglo-Saxon fibulæ; the reverse presents a copy of a Byzantine coin of the seventh century. Weight 19dwt.

Engraved in C. R. Smith's Col. Ant., Vol. III, page 146, where it is styled a Swabian Necklace, and is stated to have been in the cabinet of Pope Pius III, whence it passed to that of Cardinal Fesch, and to have been purchased from Mr. Pratt, of Bond Street, by Mr. T. Crofton Croker, 6th January, 1853, for the sum of £12. It was bought at that gentleman's sale by its present owner, 21st December, 1854.

P. Part of a SILVER BRACELET, exhibiting an ornamental design produced by punching with a crenated tool, similar to some found with the Cuerdale hoard of Saxon coins, &c.; found in Ireland; weight, 16 dwt. 6 gr.; length, 15 inch.

145 P. Scoto-Scandinavian or DANISH SWORD of iron, with a very heavy cross guard and pommel to counterbalance the weight of the blade, which is now doubled up—a precaution doubtless taken at the time of interment to prevent desecration; its total length is about 33 inches. It was found, along with the five succeeding entries, buried with human remains, in a Tumular Cemetry near the sea-side at Pier-o-Waal, Orkney, in April, 1839.

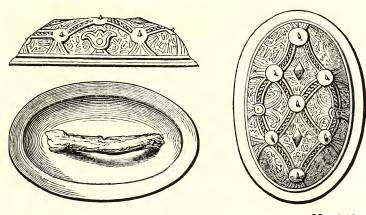

The name Pier-o-Waal is said by Mr. Croker to signify in the old

Norse language the Pier of Slaughter. Accounts of the discovery are printed in the Journal of the Archæological Association, Vol. II, page 328; Wilson's Pre-historic Annals of Scotland, page 551; Worsaae's Primeval Antiquities, page 54.

146 P. Small SPEAR or javelin of iron, 4 inches long.

147 P. Part of the IRON UMBO or central boss of a shield.

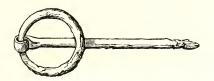

The three last articles were placed in a handsome carved oak case, lined with green silk, by their late accomplished owner, Thomas Crofton Croker, Esq.

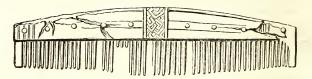

No. 148.

148 P. Two extremely handsome BRONZE FIBULÆ, much in the form of the shell of a tortoise; each 4 inches long by $2\frac{1}{2}$ wide, chased on the convex surface, and lined with cloth in the interior, which is furnished with an iron pin. Found one on each shoulder of a skeleton. Of the greatest rarity.

Similar objects in the Collection of Livonian Antiquities in the British Museum appear to have been worn upon the shoulders with one length or more of ornamental chainwork depending from them.

149 P. Bronze RING PIN of simple form; total length, 3½ inches.

No. 150.

150 P. COMB, 8\frac{3}{4} inches long, formed of several pieces of bone, placed transversely between two convex ribs of the same substance which are carved with an interlaced pattern.

143 to 150 were purchased at Mr. Croker's sale, 21st and 22nd December, 1854.

151 P. IRISH RING FIBULA of silver, 3 inches diameter; the pin 6½ inches long; the flattened part most exquisitely chased with interlaced work and figures of animals, and jewelled with amber; the broad head of the pin is also decorated in the same style. Supposed to be from Tara, in the County of Meath, which was for several centuries the seat of the Ancient Irish Kings.

One of the most magnificent specimens of the skill of the Ancient Irish goldsmiths that has yet been discovered. The minute interlaced pattern with which it is decorated is executed with wonderful exactitude, and appears to have been gilt. The brooches and jewelled ornaments of the present day cannot be compared for a single moment with this beautiful object without their poverty of design and slovenly workmanship becoming glaringly obvious.

152 P. Irish RING FIBULA of bronze, 2¹/₈ inches diameter; the pin 3¹/₄ inches long; slightly ornamented, and of the same type as the last, though very inferior.

Found near Limerick, 1854.

MEDIÆVAL

AND

ECCLESIASTICAL ANTIQUITIES.

LIST N. I.

- 1 to 5. P. Various specimens, more or less imperfect, of the PIKED SHOES worn during the reign of Edward III, found in Moorfields.
- 6 P. Six SKATES made from the leg-bone of the horse, found as the last.
 - "Cthers there are who are still more expert in their amusements on the ice; they place certain bones—the leg-bones of some animal—under the soles of their feet, by tying them round their ankles, and then taking a pole shod with iron into their hands, they push themselves forward by striking it against the ice, and are carried along with a velocity equal to that of a bird, or a ball discharged from a cross bow."—William Fitz-stephen (who died in 1191) quoted in Knight's London.
- 7 W. Pewter CLOAK BUTTON bearing a full-faced bust of Elizabeth of York, Queen of Henry VII, found at Middleton, June, 1826.

See Brayley's Graphic Illustrator, Vol. I, page 125.

8 W. IVORY BEAD from a rosary, found amongst the remains in the vault of the ancient family of Herthill, in Youlgrave Church, September, 1822.

9 W. Three ENCAUSTIC TILES, found in repairing Wirksworth Church in 1820; one representing the arms of England and France, quartered on a heater-shaped shield; another, a single bar across a shield, surrounded by a bordure; the last, a portion of a rich sixteen-tile pattern.

The two first are engraved in the seventh volume of the Journal of the British Archæological Association, plate 41, figures 13-14.

10 P. Five encaustic TILES, found during the restoration of Bakewell Church in 1843; one of them a narrow border tile, bearing a curious pattern of birds and foliage; and another with the arms of the Foljambe family, a bend between escallop shells.

Engraved and described by Mr. L. L. Jewitt, at page 387 of the work above referred to, and assigned to the thirteenth century.

- 11 P. Encaustic TILE, found in London, 1844, bearing six fleurs-de-lis on a heater-shaped shield.
- 12 T. Two red TILES, each embossed with the figure of a rose in low relief, from the ruins of Leicester Abbey, 1844.
- 13 P. IRON BAND from a strong box, and padlock, found as the last: the band has a slit through which money might be dropped into the box.
- 14 P. PIKED-TOED SHOE temp: Edward III, found in London.
- 15 D. Two casts of a carved ivory COMB, of the time of Edward II, found in Moorfields: the original in the Museum of C. R. Smith, Esq.
- 16 P. Three examples of two varieties of TILES, from Bakewell Church, in which the design is figured by indented lines.

See Mr. Jewitt's paper, page 388, of the volume before named.

- 17 W. Oval brass BOX, beautifully chased; inside is a pin, on which a ring was suspended when discovered in a tomb in Normandy; from the Collection of the Rev. Bache Thornbill.
- 18 P. RELIGIOUS SIGN or badge, 13 inch long by 1 wide, carved in green stone, with a half-length figure of Saint

George, of Byzantine workmanship; found in the churchyard at Hinxton, Cambridgeshire.

19 P. Ten encaustic TILES, from Lydd Church, Kent; one, representing a man on horseback; one, a man on foot, drawing a bow, a tree in front; two, a dog chasing a stag with a long arrow through his neck; two, with a circular many-leaved flower; two, with a fleur-de-lis; two, with a portion of a floreated pattern; also two half tiles of the same pattern.

No. 20.

- 20 P. Lid of a THURIBLE or censer of brass, in the form of the spire of a church, found in the wall of the church at Dymchurch, Kent, in 1844.
- 21 P. PILGRIM'S SIGN or badge in lead, of a circular form with the figure of an angel, and the legend GLORIA. IN. EXCELSIS., found at Lidgate, Suffolk.

The three last entries are from the Collection of the Rev. Stephen Isaacson.

- 22 P. Large encaustic TILE inscribed [A]VE MARIA, found in digging foundations for the Blind Asylum, York, about 1835, upon the site of the ancient Manor House.
- 23 P. Rudely ornamented convex leaden BEAD, found in Walmgate, York, 1845.
- 24 D. Small brass CRUCIFIX from a rosary, found near St. Saviour's Church, Southwark.
- 25 P. Pewter CLOAK BUTTON like No. 7, found in the Thames, April, 1846.

- 26 P. Three very small encaustic TILES, quite plain, found at Repton, 1846.
- 27 P. Neck of a glass BOTTLE, found as the last.
- 28 P. Two DAGGER SHEATHS and case for an INK-HORN of "Cuir Boulli," or stamped leather, from Moorfields, 1844. The former are ornamented with floreated designs, the latter with the figures of two lions facing each other.
- 29 D. TRIPTICH of Limoges enamel, 13\frac{1}{4} inches high, 10\frac{1}{2} inches wide, in the original oaken case; the central subject being the Nativity, the folding-doors enclosing the figures of St. Michael and St. Catherine, respectively standing behind a kneeling figure.

A magnificent specimen of art of the fifteenth century; presented by Mr. Thomas Booth.

- 30 D. Large jet BEAD from a rosary, found in a vault in Stamford Churchyard, Lincolnshire, in March, 1847.
- 31 P. Circular ENAMEL in "grisaille," 23 inches diameter, representing a man offering the head of a wild boar, which he has just cut off, to a female; of Limoges manufacture, and set in an inscribed silver frame of more modern work.
- 32 P. Circular piece of brass with a very neatly executed figure of the VIRGIN MARY standing with the infant Saviour in her arms, found at Colchester, 1847.
- 33 P. Heater-shaped SHIELD, with a loop for suspension to harness, 1\(\frac{3}{4}\) inch long, with the figure of a peacock displayed in white enamel; found at Postling, Kent, 1844.
- 34 P. ANOTHER, rather less, with a lion rampant upon a ground of blue enamel, found in making a sea wall at Dymchurch, 1844.
- 35 Vacant.
- 36 P. Circular ORNAMENT, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter, carved from a thin piece of bone, with a grotesque head, and having holes by which it might be fastened to the dress, probably, of a jester; from the Thames, October, 1847.
- 37 P. BRONZE SPOUT from a vessel, terminating in the head of a dog; found near the Temple, London, 16th October, 1847.

No. 38.

- 38 D. Leaden CHALICE, found with the body of an ecclesiastic in a stone coffin in Bakewell Churchyard in 1817; from White Watson's Collection. Presented by Mrs. Leedham.
- 39 P. SHIELD of arms engraved in brass, from a monument.
- 40 W. Impressions from the BRASSES of Robert de Lytton and Isabella his wife, from their monument in Tideswell Church, Derbyshire.

He died 6th May, 1482; she, 12th October, 1458.

- 41 to 45 Referred to List S, Nos. 28 to 32.
- 46 P. Head with long hair, from a monumental BRASS.
- 47 W. Impression from the BRASS of Bishop Stanley.
- 48 Referred to List S., No. 33.
- 49 P. Circular leaden FIBULA, from the Thames, 1848.
- 50 P. Two circular brass BROOCHES, one with an inscription; from the Thames, 1837. From Mr. Newman's Collection.
- 51 P. Brass PIN, handle of a casket, and two pair of TWEEZERS; from the Thames, 1838. From Mr. Newman's Collection.
- 52 P. Circular ORNAMENT of gilt copper, of Norman work, representing a bird with a dog's head surrounded by foliage; found at Battersea, November, 1848.
- 53 D. RUBBINGS of monumental brass figures of a knight in armour and his lady, from a church in Somersetshire; presented by Thomas Bateman, Esq., of Camberwell House, near Wells.
- 54 W. OAKEN BOX, 24 inches long, 11½ wide, strongly bound with iron straps, for the security of the contributions called Peter's Pence; originally from Hartington Church.

- 55 W. Small HAND BELL used in the celebration of Mass, with a representation of the Holy Handkerchief, &c., cast in relief round the outside; brought from Brussels by Mr. William Yates.
- 56 W. MORTAR of bell-metal, with a band cast round the outside with the name of the maker, PETRUS. VARDEN. GUEIN. ME FECIT. M.D.L. III.
- 57 W. Blacksmith's TONGS, found in the yard of Peveril's Castle at Castleton. From Thomas Bird's Collection.
- 58 W. Three very early HORSESHOES, found as the last.
- 59 P. Ancient HORSESHOE and two shoes for oxen, found in draining the fields called Rowlows, near Middleton, 1847
- 60 D. Very ancient RING and lengthy staple formed of four rods of iron, found in the Stonecliff Quarry, Darley Dale, 1844, measuring altogether 15 inches in length. Presented by Mr. Virtue.
- 61 W. Two very curious copper BUCKLES, found at Middleton, in 1825; one has a square piece connected with it for the purpose of attaching a strap, on which is chased the figure of a lion, the whole being gilt; the other is ornamented with a wreathed pattern.
- 62 P. Minute figure of a LION stamped out of thin brass, from the Thames, 1844.
- 63 P. Three brass PINS with curious heads; Thames, 27th September, 1844.
- 64 W. and P. Two window frames filled with a miscellaneous collection of STAINED and PAINTED GLASS, mostly of English mediæval art, containing amongst others eighteen figures of saints, chiefly full length, including SS. Agatha, Appollonia, Bridget, Erasmus, Francis of Assissium, Ursula, &c.; three monograms, one of which is a fine circular piece from Tattershall Church, Lincolnshire, where the glass was presented by Ralph Cromwell, Lord Treasurer, who died in 1455; seventeen smaller pieces of English glass, consisting of canopies, borders, diapers, birds, animals, &c.; thirteen armorials, &c., stained by Mr. William Yates, of Manchester; four German compositions of the seventeenth century, representing the Last Supper, the Ascension, Choir of Angels, and a bird with elegant borders; seven figures of saints, of the same period and style of art, including SS. Catherine, Martin, Sebastian, Ignatius Loyola, &c.

65 P. Small brass TRIPTICH used in the Greek Church, enamelled with green and blue.

66 D. Iron border from a narrow wooden SPADE, precisely similar to those represented in the Bayeux Tapestry; found in 1849, at Haywood, near Ashbourne. Presented by Mr. Berrisford.

67 P. BOWL of Venetian glass, enamelled with gold and colours, 11 inches diameter, 6 inches high.

68 D. Iron AXE of early shape, $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, found in September, 1846, in removing the ramparts to enlarge the Railway Station at York. Presented by Robert Cook, Esq.

69 P. Circular PIG OF LEAD, 8 inches diameter, weighing 25lbs.; found about a foot from the surface on Eyam Moor, December, 1849.

This curious object bears incontrovertible evidence of having been smelted by a wood fire previous to the use of coal.

- 70 D. Pair of iron SHEARS, 64 inches long, such as are frequently represented on the incised slabs of the middle ages; found in July, 1849, in digging foundations for the new County Hospital, York. Presented by Robert Cook, Esq.
- 71 P. Two smaller pair of SHEARS, found in the City excavations, 1844.
- 72 P. Small leaden AMPULLA or pilgrim's sign, in the shape of a bottle with two handles; from Scarborough, 1845.
 - See C. R. Smith's Collectanea Antiqua, Vol. II, page 47, for an excellent notice of these curious objects, which appear to have been bought and worn by pilgrims as tokens of their having visited certain shrines. Call to mind also Sir Walter Scott's inimitable portraiture of Louis XI, in "Quentin Durward."
- 73 P. RELIQUARY of gilt copper, 10½ inches high, in the shape of a draped arm and hand, with settings of crystals at the wrist, and a square aperture for the reception of the relic; of the thirteenth century. From Mr. Isaac's Collection.

- 74 W. MEDALET of pewter in the form of a decorated cross within a circle.
- 75 P. An ancient SILVER CROSS, 23 inches long, beautifully embossed and ornamented with filagree work, and formerly set with stones; the back engraved with devices and ornaments very similar to the designs on the reverses of coins of William the Conqueror; a most beautiful specimen of ancient Irish jewellers' work of the tenth or eleventh century; found in the ruins of the Abbey of Kilmallock, in the County of Limerick, "The Balbec of Ireland."
- 76 P. An ancient brass RELIQUARY, 61 inches long, in the form of a patriarchal cross, having upper and lower arms, with the figure of the Saviour affixed by pyramidalheaded nails; over the head the letters INRI, the second and third being coupled together; on the limbs of the cross is the prayer of the penitent thief, DOMINE. MEMENTO. MEI. The back, which is prettily engraved, has ornamental openings, through which the relics, consisting of bones, may still be seen; they were introduced by turning the back plate (which hangs on a pivot) sideways. It was found on a slab between two stone coffins in the churchyard at Youghal, and has been attributed to the time of Edward I, by Mr. Lindsay, of Cork. An engraving of the back appeared in the Illustrated London News, Vol. xvII, page 133, 17th August, 1850.

Both the above interesting crosses were from the Collection of the Rev. Dr. Neligan.

77 P. Superior example of IVORY CARVING, 3\frac{3}{8} inches high, by 2\frac{5}{8} wide, which has originally formed one leaf of a diptych representing the wise men's offering to the infant Saviour, beneath a crocketed canopy of fourteenth century architecture.

78 P. Brass PURSE SUSPENDER, with an engraved inscription filled up with niello, on one side reading DO-

MINVS. TECVM. S[IT.] A., on the other, AVE. MA[RIA] GRA[CIE] PLENA. EDS.

79 W. Circular COUNTER of lead, 14 inch diameter, found at Middleton, in 1834, with the letters C.S. in the centre, surrounded by an illegible inscription.

From comparison with two similar examples discovered with a leaden chalice and paten in a stone coffin in Bakewell Churchyard, and now in the keeping of the Agent to the Duke of Rutland, it would appear that this article is a representation or symbol of the Eucharistic bread or wafer used in the middle ages, and occasionally buried with the bodies of ecclesiastics as indicative of their holy calling. Engravings of various forms of the wafer may be seen in the Hierurgia, by Dr. Rock, Vol. I, page 294.

80 P. PILGRIM'S SIGN in pewter, representing the mitred head of Thomas a Becket; from the Thames, June, 1852. It has a pin at the back as a fastening to the dress of the "Canterbury Pilgrim."

See Collectanea Antiqua, Vol. 1, page 81.

- 81 P. Two pilgrim's SIGNS in lead, representing the SA-VIOUR on the Cross, and two others imperfect.
- 82 P. Four others, of different shapes, with figures of the VIRGIN and infant Christ.
- 83 P. Two, representing half-length figures of mitred ECCLESIASTICS.
- 84 P. Two, representing hunting HORNS with baldrics—St. Hubert.
- 85 P. Pewter sign, representing the mitred head of BECKET within a circle.
- 86 P. Leaden sign, representing the face of our SAVIOUR.
- 87 P. Another, in the shape of a GRIDIRON, probably emblematic of St. Lawrence.
- 88 P. Another, in the form of a little square FRAME to receive a relic, surmounted by a figure now broken.
- 89 P. Three more leaden FIGURES: a cock crowing (perhaps attached to a figure of St. Peter), Stag's head, and a Lion.
- 90 P. Two CIRCULAR OBJECTS of lead, one bearing a fleur-de-lis, the other a kind of cross.

80 to 90 were found on the banks of the Thames, in various operations from April to June, 1852.

91 P. Three pieces of narrow LEATHER STRAPS, two of them deeply stamped with the letters the, many times

- repeated; the other ornamented by the recurrence of small brass letters ccc; dug up thirteen feet from the surface, in Brickhill Lane, London, in April, 1852.
- 92 P. Leaden BEAD, 1½ inch diameter, very rudely ornamented; found at Middleton, June, 1852.
- 93 P. Narrow STRAP of leather, ornamented by twelve leaden quatrefoils.
- 94 P. Pewter end to a STRAP formerly gilt, bearing the letter \mathfrak{S} .
- 95 P. Small portion of a dagger SHEATH of leather, stamped with the figures of monstrous birds within foliage; thirteenth century.
- 96 P. Portion of a sword SHEATH, with armorial bearings of a lozenge form stamped in the leather.
- 97 P. Pewter FORK, 2½ inches long, the prongs proceeding from a trefoil issuing from the mouth of a fish.
- 98 P. Leaden AMPULLA like No. 72.
- 99 P. Pilgrim's sign in lead, representing the VIRGIN and Child standing on a crescent, or perhaps a ship.
- 100 P. Another, representing a full-length MITRED FIGURE in pontificals.
- 101 P. Small oval lead with the monogram of the Order of JESUITS, I.H.S.
- 102 P. Imperfect satirical figure in lead, representing an APE wearing the cowl.
- 103 P. Leaden BROOCH, representing an eagle standing within a circle, 1½ inch diameter.
- 104 Leaden BROOCH with the figure of a wavy star within a circle.
- 105 P. Circular leaden BROOCH, representing a rose, the centre of which is formed by a tressure of six points.
- 106 P. Leaden BADGE, representing the bust of a warrior with helmet (probably St. George).
- 107 P. Small leaden FIGURE blowing a trumpet.
- 108 P. Three BOSSES for books (?) stamped upon thin brass; one circular with thr.; another in the shape of a rose with the letter 9, in the centre (the Yorkist cognizance), the last square, with the letters br.
- 109 P. Stone MOULD for casting leaden ornaments and alphabets in Old English type.

- 110 P. Three encaustic TILES ornamented with fleurs-de-lis and other devices.
- 111 P. Leaden Pilgrims's sign representing the VIRGIN standing on a cresent.
- 112 P. Another, in the form of a HAND or glove.
 93 to 112 were found in Brickhill Lane, London, April to July, 1852.
- P. Circular BROOCH of bronze of the fourteenth century, bearing the following inscription in retrograde order AVC. MARKA. GRACKAC. PL[ENA]; found at Rowditch, near Derby, 1823.
- 114 P. Leaden end for a STRAP having the letter T. beneath a gothic canopy, found in Brickhill Lane, 1852.
- P. Three imperfect encaustic TILES of different patterns, from Cannon Street, August, 1852.
- 116 D. Cast of a steelyard WEIGHT of bronze, ornamented with three heater-shaped shields, two of which exhibit the double-headed eagle, the badge of Richard, King of the Romans, brother of Henry III of England; found about 1850, at Castle Camps, Cambridgeshire.
- 117 D. Cast of a smaller WEIGHT of the same description with four shields of arms, found at Bishops' Stortford, Herts.

Both presented by Joseph Clarke, Esq.

- 118 P. Leaden Pilgrim's SIGN representing a female bust under a canopy.
- 119 P. Leaden figure of a COCK with a label in his beak inscribed AMOVRS.
- 120 P. Leaden BADGE in the form of the letter At ornamented with architectural tracery.
- 121 P. Imperfect piece of TRACERY in lead.
- 122 P. Small leaden VESSEL, 13 inch high, having a level back and convex front; on the former a shield of four quarters, the first and fourth bearing a fleur-de-lis, the second and third have three bendlets sinister; at the front is a shield charged with a lion rampant.
- 123 P. Leather Knife SHEATH neatly diapered with fleurs-de-lis.
- 124 P. Leaden termination for a Knife SHEATH, decorated with a trefoil opening.

- 125 P. Leaden SIGN representing a full-faced crowned bust within a lozenge, like the coins of Edward I.
- 126 P. Small lozenge-shaped SIGN in lead.

118 to 126 from the City excavations, September to November, 1852.

- 127 P. Two fragments of a SHRINE in silver: one, semicircular, bears a full-faced bust of the Saviour executed in niello; the other, a narrow strip, is inscribed RESVR-REXI. ET. ADHVC. TECVM. SVM, of the fifteenth or sixteenth century.
- 128 D. Heraldic heater-shaped SHIELD of copper with a loop for suspension like No. 33, bearing the figure of a crane or heron, formerly enamelled; found at Nottingham, and presented by Mr. J. G. Woodward, 1852.
- 129 P. Pewter CHALICE, 3 inches high, with an angular border, found with a considerable number of other vessels of pewter and bronze at Icklingham, Suffolk, in 1852.
- 130 P. Saucer-shaped VESSEL of pewter, 43 inches diameter, found as the last.
- 131 P. Small fluted VESSEL of pewter, 1½ inch high, found as above.

The bulk of these curious vessels was purchased for the National Collection. They are considered by the authorities at the British Museum to be of the Roman period.

- P. Beautiful SILVER EAR-RINGS of Byzantine manufacture, covered with elegant designs in filagree work, each formed of a trefoil-shaped half hoop from which hang three pendants (one wanting); extreme length 4½ inches.
- 133 P. Small IRON BELL or Clag, 33 inches high, of square form, made by riveting a piece of sheet iron together; a small handle at the top.

An article of exceeding rarity and interest, being one of the utensils of service in the early Celtic Church; several like it are engraved in Wilson's Pre-historic Annals of Scotland, pages 652 to 662.

- 134 P. Curiously shaped IRON AXE, 6 inches wide on the cutting edge, but very light, and apparently of Frankish origin.
- 135 P. Small brass CRUCIFIX, 4½ inches high, wanting the feet, of very early style, and by no means later than the twelfth century; the body is attenuated according to the symbolism of the Greek or Byzantine school.

The three last articles were bought with a collection from Manheim.

- 136 P. Two knife SHEATHS of stamped leather, from the City excavations, April, 1853.
- 137 P. Leaden BROOCH in the form of a heater-shaped shield bearing a cross, from the Thames, July, 1853; 2 inches long.
- 138 P. Coped lid and side of an ancient CASKET or RE-LIQUARY, 6½ inches long, of copper, enamelled in the champ leve manner, with figures of angels in circles surrounded with foliage; the metallic parts are gilt, and the colours used are blue, red, and white.

Of the thirteenth century, and a favourable example of art.

- 139 P. Coped SHRINE or RELIQUARY, 6 inches long by 6½ high, of the twelfth century; the front is gilt copper, with settings of coloured glass, and two enamelled figures in relief upon it; the ends and back are enamelled, with full-length figures of saints on the former, and circular ornaments on the latter; the original oaken case still remains within.
- 140 P. Small circular BOX or PYX of copper, chased and gilt, with a conical lid, altogether 3 inches high; fourteenth century.
- 141 P. MONSTRANCE, to exhibit the Eucharistic wafer or transparent Reliquary; the frame of copper, gilt, with pinnacles on the sides, the cover surmounted by a bird; 9 inches high; fourteenth century.
- 142 P. Cup or CHALICE, 10½ inches high, of copper strongly gilt, with cover surmounted by an ornamental cross (now broken); fourteenth century.
- 143 P. Bronze BELL, 3½ inches high, of very rude workmanship, purchased in Dublin, 1854.
- 144 P. Side of an early bronze BRIDLE BIT ornamented by figures of two crested quadrupeds; purchased as the last.
- 145 P. Part of BRIDLE very like the last, but of simple and effective design; obtained with the last.
- 146 D. SCOOP made from the leg bone of a large animal, 10½ inches long, found in a bog near Dundrum, County of Tipperary. Presented by Mr. F. Wayland.

147 P. CRUCIFIX, 5\frac{3}{4} inches long, with the instruments of the Passion, and the date, 1736, very rudely carved in yew, probably by an Irish peasant; from Dunshaughlin.

Curious as exhibiting a debased and provincial continuation of a mediæval type.

- 148 P. Bronze LAMP with four burners, and a separate shallow ribbed vessel of the same metal suspended below it to receive the droppings of the oil; apparently of the thirteenth century; found near Skipton, Yorkshire.
- 149 P. SILVER CROSS, 15 inch square, which has been decorated with precious stones, now wanting; it has also been gilt, and the back is engraved with a somewhat interlacing pattern. It much resembles No. 75. Found in Ireland.
- 150 P. BRASS PIN (?) with a flat ornamented head, apparently part of some larger object; found at Drogheda.

149 and 150 from Mr. Croker's Collection.

CARVINGS IN STONE,

CHIEFLY

ARCHITECTURAL AND SEPULCHRAL.

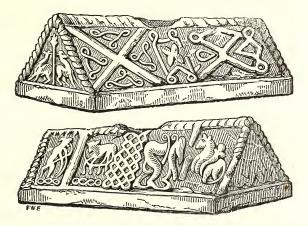

LIST S.

- 1 P. Imperfect SAXON CROSS, dug up on Elton Moor, 1842.
- 2 P. Various Saxon CAPITALS, and other fragments of sculpture, found inside the walls of Bakewell Church, in 1842. The upper figure on the left hand of the cut is hollowed to serve as a stoup for holy water; the style is exceedingly Romanesque.

- 3 P. Small piece of TRACERY, terminating in the head of an animal, from St. Mary's Abbey, York.
- 4 P. Cast of hollow MOULDING with ballflowers, from the door of Winchester Cathedral.
- 5 P. Various early English BOSSES, from Bakewell Church.
- 6 P. Cast of Norman BEAK HEAD, from Steetly Church, Derbyshire.
- 7 P. CORBEL of good work, representing a female head, found at York, 1845.
- 8 P. Base of CHANCEL SCREEN, from Bakewell Church, well cut with decorated tracery, measuring 12 feet exclusive of the doorway, by 4 feet 9 inches high.
- 9 P. Rudely sculptured STONE, apparently of Saxon work, found upon Stanton Moor, November, 1845; 13 inches long.
- 10 P. Grotesque FACE of a lion carved in sandstone, found in London, 1844.
- 11 P. Decorated CAPITAL of a rod moulding, from York Minster, well carved with foliage.
- 12 P. CAP, BASE, and short length of one of the piers from the Newark end of Bakewell Church, ornamented with corbels in the form of female busts and roses.
- 13 P. Part of an early GRAVESTONE, with a cross carved upon it in very low relief; found by repairing a fish-pond near Youlgrave, 1st October, 1849.
- 14 W. CROSS in the form of a quatrefoil, with a rose in the centre, cut in a thick piece of sandstone; found in an old wall near Middleton, circ. 1828.
- 15 W. CORBEL, a crowned female head of good work, from Middleton.
- 16 WA A few architectural FRAGMENTS, such as heads of narrow lancet windows, &c., from Middleton; probably (with the last article) from Youlgrave Church.
- 17 W. Shaft and base of a WAYSIDE CROSS, 8 feet high, which formerly stood near the south entrance to the village of Middleton by the Winster Road.
- 18 Referred to List Q, No. 10.
- 19 P. PIECE of sandstone carved with flowers on one side, and on the other inscribed . . . H. MADE. THIS. Of the seventeenth century; ploughed up on Alsop Moor, July, 1853.

- 20 P. Piece of Purbeck MARBLE, well carved with quatrefoils and mouldings, from Hathersage Church.
- 21 D. Broken SLAB of coarse sandstone, covered with a diaper pattern; very early; I foot 8 inches wide.
- 22 D. Lower part of a COPED TOMB, the ridge ornamented with the chevron pattern, and the sides carved so as to imitate the tiling of a roof; eleventh century; 2 feet long.
- 23 D. Three imperfect SLABS with incised crosses of different patterns.
- 24 to 26 D. Three sandstone SLABS with incised crosses, nearly perfect, measuring respectively 6 feet 5 inches, 4 feet 10 inches, and 4 feet 6 inches.
- 27 D. CORBEL carved on one side only with a curious representation of a lion's face, of early work.

21 to 27 were discovered in taking down part of the church at Darley Dale, Derbyshire, in June and July, 1854, and were presented by Mr. Joseph Hallows.

No. 28.

- 28 P. SAXON COPED TOMB, 3 feet 4 inches long, accurately figured in the woodcut; found inside the walls of Bakewell Church, 1842.
- 29 P. Two other COPED TOMBS of the eleventh century, found at the same time, but both imperfect. One imitates the overlapping slates of a roof with a roll upon its ridge; the other is transversely barred with the chevron pattern; each 4 feet 4 inches long.

P. Portions of two monumental EFFIGIES in fine sandstone. The oldest is part of a figure from the waist downwards covered with drapery, and having a swordbelt buckled on; the other is the upper part of a FEMALE FIGURE in tight-fitting dress, with many small buttons at the wrists, holding the heart in the hands.

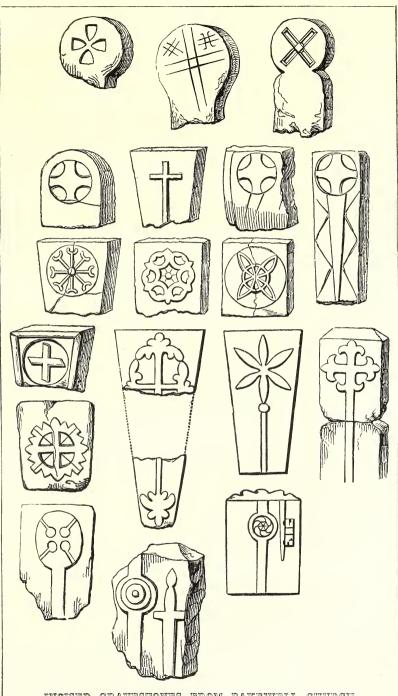

The latter appears to have been one of those peculiar demi-figures in which the lower part was not sculptured out of the slab, and such as may be deemed the connecting link between the incised slab and the full effigy.

- 31 P. Stone from the front of a MONUMENT, 25 inches long, carved with a shield suspended on a nail within a quatrefoil.
- 32 P. A great variety of HEADSTONES and INCISED SLABS of sandstone, about fifty in number, mostly imperfect, a selection from which is engraved on the opposite plate. The headstones with round tops range from the eleventh century, and the slabs from the twelfth to the fourteenth; length, from 8 inches to 3 feet 8.
- 33 P. CASTS in plaster from effigies and armorials on the monuments of the Vernon and Manners families in Bakewell Church.
- 34 P. Head of a BEAR in sandstone, of Saxon work.
- 35 P. CORBEL, lion's head swallowing a female; of early work.
- 36 P. Five GARGOYLES, from the tower of Bakewell Church.
- 37 P. Two trefoil-headed PISCINAS.
- 38 P. Traceried WINDOW, of the transition period, from the Newark end of Bakewell Church; a very beautiful example.

28 to 38 were all collected during the restoration of Bakewell Church in 1842—3. The more ancient fragments had been used in the old structure as rubble for filling up inside the walls.

INCISED GRAVESTONES FROM BAKEWELL CHURCH. No. 32.

- 13 P. Oval PLATE of silver, engraved with masonic symbols and the name RICHARD. FOX. in old-fashioned characters.
- 14 P. Circular SPOON of silver, the back prettily ornamented with foliage, 7³ inches long.
- 15 W. Rattan CANE, 3 feet 8 inches long, with a curious brass head, on which is engraved WILLIAM. CADDY. 1661, perhaps of Thetford, and father to the famous highwayman.

See Johnson's Lives of Highwaymen, &c., fol. 1734, page 129.

16 W. A CLOG ALMANACK or calendar, dated 1626, made from a square staff of oak, 21 inches long, with notches up the angles to mark the days, and many curious symbols on the sides to distinguish saints' days.

An exceedingly rare example of the curious Old English rustic calendar, from the Collection of Mr. Thomas Barritt, of Manchester, 1821. Another is preserved at St. John's College, Cambridge; two more are in the library of Cheetham's Hospital, Manchester, one of which is dated 1586; and a fourth, dated 1660, and only 7 inches long, is in private hands in Derbyshire. There are notices of these clogs in Brady's Analysis of the Calendar, Vol. I, page 43; Plott's History of Staffordshire, pages 418—420; and Fosbrooke's Encyclopædia of Antiquities, Vol. I, page 221.

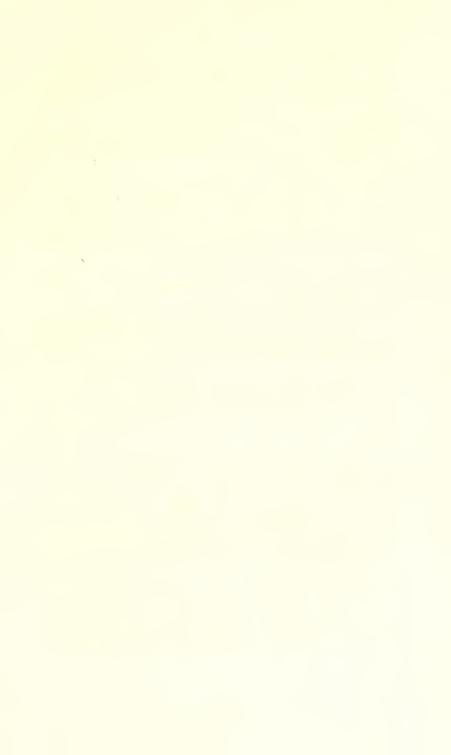

17 W. TANKARD or drinking cup of oaken staves, hooped with white wood, 4 inches high, having a carved lid, and

- false or double bottom; an old English curiosity, from Mr. Barritt's remarkable Collection.
- 18 D. Hooped TANKARD of oak, 6 inches high, with a lid, but quite plain. Presented by Mr. Anthony Gregory, 1844.
- 19 W. Ivory-hafted clasp KNIFE, and a LEATHERN BELT with brass buckles and loops, which was formerly a servant's girdle in the family of Robert Bateman, of Middleton Hall, about 1680. It descended from John Brunt, who was Mr. B.'s servant, to his grandson John Brunt, who presented it to Mr. W. Bateman, 18th May, 1823.
- 20 P. CANE with a curious brass knob, formerly the property of Mr. Osborne, of Beresford Hall.
- 21 W. Clasp KNIFE with a brass handle in the shape of a leg with high-heeled boot, of the time of Charles II, inscribed "Hear is a leg and foot—With a good blade toot."
- 22 W. Circular brass SPOON.
- 23 D. JACK BOOT of the time of Charles I.; probably originally from Haddon. Presented by Mr. Richard Bradbury.
- 24 W. Rude leaden INKSTAND, from Eyam Church.
- 25 W. Riding WHIP with tortoise-shell handle, mounted with silver.
- 26 W. Brass STIRRUP with jointed sides, found near Elk Low, 1801.
- 27 P. Brass STIRRUP, found in London, March, 1844.
- 28 P. Wooden VESSEL, 81 inches high, with a handle over the lid.

Locally termed Penbowk, and now obsolete.

HORN BOOK.

FOUND AT MIDDLETON BY YOULGRAVE, 1828.

represented of the full size by the two accompanying plates.

This excessively rare specimen consists of a thin board of oak with a short handle, covered at the back with leather stamped with an equestrian portrait of Charles I; above him a celestial crown and cherub, indicating a period shortly after the king's execution in 1649. At the front is a paper with the Alphabet, Lord's Prayer, &c., printed in black letter, which is protected by a piece of transparent horn secured by tacks—whence the name. When first discovered a narrow strip of thin brass surrounded the edge of the horn. The following definition and extracts are from Todd's Johnson's Dict.:—

"Horn Book, a first book for children, covered with horn to keep it unsoiled."

"He teaches boys the Hornbook."—Shakspere.

"Nothing has been considered of this kind out of the ordinary road of Hornbook and Primer."—Locke.

"To Master John, the English maid
A Hornbook gives of gingerbread;
And that the child may learn the better;
As he can name he eats the letter."—Prior.

The next is from "The Schoolmistress," by Shenstone :-

"Lo, now with state she utters her command,
Eftsoons the urchins to their tasks repair;
Their books of stature small they take in hand,
Which with pellucid horn secured are,
To save from finger wet the letters fair;
The work so gay that on their backs is seen
St. George's high achievements does declare;
On which thilk wight that has y'gazin been;
Kens the forthcoming rod—unpleasing sight I ween."

- 55 P. Iron STIRRUP, found in Kent Street, Borough, 1848.
- 56 P. Bronze IMPLEMENT of indeterminate use, from the Thames, 1838,
- 57 D. Rude HORSESHOE, found five feet from the surface near Youlgrave; given by Mr. George Garratt.
- 58 T. Miner's SKEWER or pricker, found at Lomberdale, 30th January, 1849.
- 59 C. COLLAR of iron with numerous blunt spikes inside; it opens by a hinge, and has a graduated rack by way of fastening, and has been applied as an instrument of penance or torture, the pain being made more or less intense by the variation of the fastening, and not by the weight of the instrument itself, as is the case with the specimen in the Tower. Obtained from a heap of old iron scraps at Wetton, 1849.

- 60 P. Three small glass BOTTLES, from excavations in London and York, 1844—5.
- 61 W. Four bottle STAMPS (some dated), found at Middleton.
- 62 W. Elegant SPOUT, and some pieces of coloured glass, found as the last.
- 63 W. Very small square glass BOTTLE, found in cultivating upon Mawston Farm, near Middleton, in 1831.
- 64 W. Minute glass BOTTLE like the last, found at Bailey Hill, near Bradfield, Yorkshire. Presented by Mrs. Selina Bayley.
- 65 P. Two similar BOTTLES, from the City excavations, 1844.
- 66 W. Ornamental STEM of a glass goblet, found near Haddon. From White Watson's Collection.
- 67 P. Several OTHERS, varying in pattern, from the City excavations; some exceedingly elegant.
- 68 W. A small collection of clay tobacco PIPES with very little bowls, locally called "Fairy pipes," chiefly found at Middleton.
- 69 D. Curious wooden SPOON, found several feet from the surface at Bakewell, 1842. Presented by Mr. William Goodwin.
- 70 W. IMPLEMENTS of iron, found with a skeleton near Lomberdale, 1822.

On the 8th of January, 1822, in lowering the hill into Lomberdale Hollow which divides the townships of Middleton and Youlgrave, and about fifty yards within the latter, a human skeleton was discovered lying across the road, about two feet below the surface, in an ancient mineral vein or working. The body had been thrust in with the feet foremost; the skull was sound, and the bones generally remained in good preservation; the thigh bone measured $19\frac{1}{2}$ inches. About a yard from the skeleton, on the west or lower side of the road, the following articles were found carefully placed in a chink of the rock, viz.—a knife blade, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches long; a carpenter's socket chisel, much used; half a shoe for a draught ox; a Jew's harp; and a bent cart nail; all of iron, and much corroded. It is remarkable that, although no tradition exists of any deed of violence having been perpetrated near the place, the locality has from time immemorial been considered as especially haunted; and legends of the fearful sights, and sounds heard in the "Hollow" by belated travellers, still continue to terrify many whom business sends forth on dark and wintry nights to traverse the gloomy valley.

- 71 W. Sundry fragments and ARTICLES of iron, found at Middleton at various times between 1822 and 1830.
- 72 W. Small table KNIFE with ivory handle, found near the remains of Fulwood's Castle, Middleton, May, 1831.
- 73 W. Ancient KNIFE with horn handle and pewter ferule, found at Middleton, 1830.
- 74 W. ANOTHER with wooden haft, found at Middleton.
- 75 P. Two SPOONS of the seventeenth century, found in London.
- 76 D. Curious forked INSTRUMENT of iron, 7 inches long, with recurved prongs, found by the new road, Kenslow, 1839. Given by Mr. William Thompson.

Most likely a rest of a hand gun or matchlock.

- 77 W. Curious piece of fine CHAINWORK and swivels of bronze, found near the Castle, Middleton, in 1829.
- 78 W. Copper HANDLE for a tankard, ploughed up on Oneash Farm, 1833. Given by Mr. John Bowman.
- 79 W. A very handsomely decorated BOOK COVER, with the date, 1582, upon it. Given by Mr. Yates.
- 80 W. Piece of COPPER inlaid with pearl, apparently a box lid, found at Youlgrave, February, 1829.
- 81 P. Lady's high-heeled satin SHOE, with the original paste buckle; temp. George II.
- 82 P. Four pieces of Elizabethan glass GOBLETS.
- 83 D. Bone INSTRUMENT of unknown use, from the Thames, 1847.
- 84 P. Pair of old CLOGS, worn with high-heeled shoes.
- 85 P. Curious bone HAFT for a knife, and some fragments of FIGURES of thin lead, found at Youlgrave, 1849.
- 86 P. Handsome Elizabethan CHEST LOCK, bought at York.
- 87 P. Three old silver PINS set with crystals.
- 88 P. A few ancient brass CLASPS for books, from various localities.
- 89 W. Leaden CLOTH MARKS (some early), found in the Township of Middleton at various times.
- 90 D. Bell-metal MORTAR, 61 inches high, dated 1662, formerly the property of the Bullock family, of Ashford. Presented by Mrs. Needham, of Hurdlow.

91 D. Pewter CHALICE, date 1710, 51 inches high.

- 92 P. Small brass model of a MATCHLOCK, a toy of the time of Charles I.
- 93 D. Packhorse BELL, found in 1848, at The Fold, Sheen. Given by Mr. James Birch.
- 94 P. Brass pendant ORNAMENT with fleurs-de-lis and other heraldic devices, probably an ornament for harness of the time of Henry VIII.
- 95 P. Leaden DUMP, ploughed up on Kenslow, October, 1850.
- 96 P. Iron edge from a wooden SHOVEL, found in an ancient mine near Youlgrave, November, 1850.
- 97 P. TABLE KNIFE with VIGO stamped on the blade, and ANNE DOYLY engraved on the silver ferule of the handle, which is of ivory most beautifully carved into the figure of a lady in full dress, of the time of Charles II; the lace and other details of the dress are executed with surprising minuteness and accuracy. From Mr. Brumell's Collection, 1850.

See a notice of knives as articles of dress in Archæologia, Vol. XII, page 215.

- 98 R. Silver CRUCIFIX, 2½ inches long, with the Virgin and Infant Jesus on one side; the Saviour on the other.
- 99 R. Cavalier's SADDLE of the time of Charles I, beautifully ornamented by the leather being stamped and sewn in elegant designs; from Hutton Bushel, near Scarborough.
- 100 P. Small oaken HORN BOOK, 4 inches long, with the Lord's Prayer and Alphabet in the usual type, apparently of the close of the seventeenth century; excessively rare.
- 101 W. Silver TEA SPOON, with the initials of Dorothy Bateman, of Hartington, 1725—52.
- 102 W. Silver TABLE SPOON, with the initials of Edward and M. Pearson, of Bolton, Lancashire; the former died about 1760.
- 103 W. SILVER STAND for a dish, with a lamp in the - centre, and curious pair of sugar tongs; formerly the property of the Clegg family.

- 104 P. Brass SPOON with an acorn at the end of the handle, found at Kirkham Abbey, Yorkshire.
- 105 D. Two pair of old-fashioned NUTCRACKERS, one marked I.B.
- 106 D. Fine old door LOCK and key, of the sixteenth century.
 The two last articles presented by Thomas Masters, Esq.
- 107 T. HANDLES of knives, &c., found in excavating the foundations of the Castle, Middleton, 1848—9.
- 108 P. Two long-necked glass BOTTLES, 9 inches high, covered with iridescence; found in London, 1844.
- 109 P. Four old-fashioned ale GLASSES with long stalks enclosing spiral threads of white.
- 110 W. Fluted glass BOTTLE, and small EWER of blue glass. Given by Mrs. Mary Botham.
- 111 P. Glass BOTTLE of oblong form, with contracted neck.
- 112 P. Sundry leaden or pewter BUCKLES, swivels, and other small objects, from excavations on the banks of the Thames at various times.
- 113 P. Imperfect leaden SIGN representing the rigging of a ship; Thames, 1852.
- 114 P. Two circular pewter ORNAMENTS, 1½ inch diameter; Brickhill Lane, April, 1852.
- 115 P. Table KNIFE with the ferule inlaid with threads of brass, found in Jubber Gate, York, 1845.
- 116 P. Triangular iron PADLOCK, found in Brickhill Lane, April, 1852.
- 117 D. Curious pair of STAYS to fasten in front, found in taking down an old house in Ousegate, York, July, 1852.

 Presented by Robert Cook, Esq.
- 118 P. Silver RELIQUARY, 1½ inch long, in the form of a coffin, which being opened displays a small crucifix. The instruments of the Passion have been engraved on the lid, but are nearly obliterated by wear.
- 119 P. Fine specimen of the Old English TOBACCO PIPE, from Brickhill Lane, 1852.
- 120 P. Knife HANDLE in bone, neatly carved with foliage; City excavations, 1852.

- 121 P. Silver figure of the VIRGIN, 23 inches high, in a conventual habit, and having a radiated halo round the head.
- 122 P. Plated convex BOSS, 13 inch diameter, spiritedly chased with the representation of a battle; apparently a production of the sixteenth century.

121 and 122 are probably of continental art.

- 123 P. Slender silver SPOON pierced with an ornamental pattern; Thames, 1852.
- 124 P. Oaken HANDLE for a knife or dagger, curiously inlaid with pewter.
- 125 P. Iron STRETCHER from the top of a purse.

124 and 125 from the Thames, 1853.

126 P. Small CAKE OF BREAD, 4 inches long, impressed with figures of two females side by side, and the names of "Elis. and Mary Chulkhurst, Biddenden." From the Collection of Edward B. Price, Esq., London, 1853.

In Hone's Every Day Book, Vol. II, page 443, is an interesting account, accompanied by an engraving, of the origin of the custom that exists at Biddenden, near Tenterden, Kent, of distributing a certain number of these cakes at the Church on Easter Sunday.

- 127 P. Pewter PORRINGER, 4½ inches diameter, with an ornamented handle, from Stanton, 1853.
- 128 P. Pewter DISH, near 18 inches diameter, engraved with a shield of arms.
- 129 P. Four pewter PLATES, 91 inches diameter.
- 130 D. Four OTHERS, given by Mr. William Parker.
- 131 W. Large pewter DISH, 20½ inches diameter.

These metal utensils, formerly the pride of our Old English farm houses, are now seldom seen, and still more seldom used; the large dishes, however, are occasionally put to a purpose contrasting in a startling manner with their original destination, namely, being placed full of salt upon corpses, when laid out, to prevent distention by their weight. The salt is added, probably, from some superstitious idea, or emblematic appropriateness. See further on this subject Brand's Observations on Popular Antiquities, Vol. II, page 146.

- 132 P. Glass bottle MARK R.H. 1730, found in a mine at Winster, 1853.
- 133 P. Pistol TINDERBOX with receptacle for matches, and stand for taper.

- 134 P. Brass BUCKLE ornamented with roses, found in Youlgrave Churchyard, 1854.
- 135 D. Large old THIMBLE, found at Bakewell, 1854. Given by Mr. B. Thompson.
- 136 R. Large belt BUCKLE, 2½ inches across, found at Pickering, 1853.
- 137 P. Double SHEATH of black leather stamped with thistles, used for holding a knife and fork, I think; found in a recess at the old hall at Rowtor, Derbyshire, 1854.
- 138 D. Ancient HORSESHOE, found near Middleton; given by Mr. Buntin.
- 139 P. VIATORIUM or pocket Sundial, Compass, &c., containing the zodiacal signs, the latitude and longitude of the chief towns of Europe, &c., &c., all carved upon the four sides of two pieces of ivory, 3½ inches long, by 2½ wide, hinged together so as to shut up; apparently of English manufacture, of the sixteenth century.
- 140 P. Red morocco bill case or POCKET BOOK, 9 inches long, by 4 wide, containing four compartments; handsomely tooled and gilt, and bearing the name of the person for whom it was made: SAMUEL. SHEAFE. JUNR. BREAD STREET, 1667.

139 and 140 from the Collection of Mr. Cullam, of Battersea.

- 141 P. Old English brass SPOON, of the usual circular form.
- 142 P. Brass MORTAR, 3\frac{3}{4} inches high, encircled with a band of ornament, and the inscription SOLI. DEO. GLORIA. 1634. Purchased in Dublin, 1854.
- 143 D. Set of State HARNESS for one horse only, ornamented by dark coloured morocco leather, sewed in a guilloche pattern with white thread on a ground of white leather; about the time of George I or II. Presented by Mr. John Roe, 1842.
- D. WREN BOX—a small wooden box with a door and glazed windows, measuring about 7 inches square, and surmounted by a wheel-shaped hoop; made to contain a Wren which is carried in procession on St. Stephen's day in some parts of Wales. See Brand's Observations on Popular Antiquities, Vol. 11, page 516. Presented by C. R. Smith, Esq.

- 145 W. Ivory TOOTHCOMB, found at Middleton, circ. 1824.
- 146 W. Leather SADDLEBAGS stitched with a handsome pattern.
- 147 W. Silver pint TANKARD with coat of arms in front, formerly belonging to Richard Bateman, of Hartington.
- 148 T. Oaken STOCKS, formerly used for the correction of offenders, which stood in the centre of the village, Middleton.

- 14 D. Another like the last; and two smaller of the same style of workmanship; one having a coronet over the bow. Given by Mr. Thomas Booth.
- 15 W. Key, discovered in the foundation of an ancient house at Middleton, September, 1826.
- 16 W. Ancient Key, found near the Yew-tree House, Middleton, November, 1830.
- 17 W. Another very similar, found in the Orchard, Middleton, November, 1828.

The two last Keys are very like one from the Saxon Cemetry at Wilbraham, engraved in Plate 39, of Mr. Neville's Illustrations.

- 18 P. Pipe Key, found in the City excavations, January, 1845.
- 19 P. Small Key, found at Barnes, Surrey, September, 1844.
- 20 P. Small brass Key, from the Thames, 3rd September, 1844.
- 21 P. Small Key, found in the City excavations, January, 1845.
- 22 P. Small copper Key like No. 10, found in Clifford's Tower, York, 1845.
- 23 P. Key with openwork bow, nicely engraved.
- 24 P. Very rude iron Key, found at York, 1845.
- 25 W. Two cupboard Keys of the seventeenth century.
- 26 P. Very small brass Key, found at Rowtor Hall, 1846.
- 27 P. Mediæval Key, same as represented upon incised slabs, from the Thames, 1847.
- 28 P. Key, found in Bakewell Churchyard, 1847.
- 29 W. Ancient Key, found in the Townsides, Middleton, 1831.
- 30 P. Ancient Key, like Mr. Neville's specimen, found in cutting the Railway near Rowsley, Derbyshire, May, 1849.
- 31 to 32 D. Two Keys, found opposite the Assembly Rooms, York, on the site of an ancient religious house, in February, 1849.
- 33 D. Mediæval Key with triangular bow, found in Hudson Street, York, August, 1851.

31 to 33 presented by Robert Cook, Esq.

- 34 to 36 P. Three very nice examples of small mediæval Keys, found in Brickhill Lane, London, April, 1852.
- 37 to 38 P. Two large and fine mediæval Keys, found as the last
- 39 P. Key, found in a cupboard in Rowtor Hall, 1854.
- 40 W. Flat iron Key, with the end turned up and cut into two wards only; the bow formed of a narrow point of metal turned down and recurved in the shape of the letter S; 7½ inches long; found at Middleton, in May, 1827.

Apparently Saxon, one like it being engraved in Douglas' Nenia, Britannica, page 79.

41 W. Two ancient bronze Keys with lozenge-shaped loops; from Barritt's Collection.

Now fitted to locks.

- 42 P. Two beautiful Keys, with open-work bows, fitted to rim locks.
- 43 P. Ancient bronze Key, 4 inches long, the handle in the form of a lozenge enclosing a cross; the wards also exhibit the same design.

EGYPTIAN ANTIQUITIES.

LIST V.

- 1 W. Piece of LINEN in which a mummy was enveloped.
- 2 W. Six cylindrical BEADS of blue porcelain.

1 and 2 given by Mrs. Bayley.

3 P. PAPYRUS ROLL, 3 feet 8 inches long by 18 inches wide, written in hieroglyphics, in thirty-nine vertical columns; above which is a pictorial border, representing incidents in the passage of the deceased to the hall of judgment, including the body lying on a lion-shaped table—the boat in which it is conveyed across the lake—the door of the tomb, &c.

At the end of the hieroglyphics, and at the left extremity of the roll, is a continuation of the same subject, in which the final judgment is represented by the heart of the deceased being weighed in a pair of balances, in the presence of Osiris; Thoth standing by to record the sentence. A fine and valuable specimen, brought over by Athanasi, the agent of Mr. Salt.

- 4 P. Small PAPYRUS ROLL (unopened), 3 inches long, sealed with a cartouche, signifying Amoun Ra. From Mr. Burton's Collection.
- 5 P. LEGS from the mummy of a female, the toe nails gilt.

- 6 P. Mummy of a SNAKE (unrolled).
- 7 D. Fragments from the mummy of an IBIS.

8 D. Two pieces of CLOTH from a mummy unrolled at the University College, London. Given by Mr. Ferris.

- 9 D. Portions of BANDAGES from the mummy of the Priest Har, unrolled by Mr. Pettigrew at the first congress of the British Archæological Association, at Canterbury, 13th September, 1844.
- 10 P. Mummy-shaped IMAGE, 91 inches high, carved in soft stone, and slightly painted.
- 11 P. SCARABEUS carved in basalt.
- 12 to 13 P. Two mummy-shaped FIGURES in green porcelain.
- 14 P. Cast in bronze of a CANOPIC VASE with human head.
- 15 P. CANOPIC VASE of arragonite, 19 inches high, with human-headed cover, and hieroglyphics in front.

These vessels were made to contain the viscera of the dead, which were separately embalmed.

- 16 D. Mummy of a young CROCODILE (unrolled), brought from Egypt by Edward Keats, Esq. Presented by C. R. Smith, Esq.
- 17 P. FIGURE of bright blue porcelain, with hieroglyphics in black; highly glazed.
- 18 D. ANOTHER, very similar. Presented by Mr. Massey.
- 19 to 20 P. Two light green FIGURES in porcelain, with inscription.
- 21 P. Large FIGURE in baked clay, with horizontal lines of hieroglyphics, 10½ inches high.
- 22 P. FIGURE in wood, partly coated with bitumen.
- 23 P. Figure of a JACKAL, 15 inches long, in wood painted black, with a red collar.
- 24 P. Figure of a HAWK, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches high, of wood painted with yellow, red, and blue.
- 25 P. A collection of many varieties of small BEADS, of different colours, from mummies; displayed on a large cardboard.
- 26 P. Small bronze figure of OSIRIS.
- 27 D. Græco-Egyptian LAMP of coarse light-coloured earthenware. Presented by S. Fossick, Esq.

- 28 P. Græco-Egyptian LAMP of coarse red earthenware.
- 29 P. Lid of a wooden PAPYRUS CASE in the shape of a mummy coffin, the face gilt. From Mr. Dodd's Collection.
- 30 P. Figure of OSIRIS standing upon a rectangular pedestal, in which is a square excavation; the whole of wood, painted with different colours—the face green, the claft blue, the body yellow—with lines of hieroglyphics in black. A fine specimen; about 2 feet high.
- 31 P. Engraved cornelian SCARABEUS.
- 32 P. Two small CROCODILES, and a symbolic EYE in porcelain.
- 33 P. Small figure of ISIS.
- 34 P. Another of THOTH (ibis-headed deity).
- 35 P. Another of ANUBIS (jackal-headed deity).

32 to 35 are small figures of deities pierced, in order to be strung with beads, to decorate the dead. 30 to 35 are from Mr. Rhodes' Collection.

- 36 P. Lotus-headed STAFF of wood, 3 feet 9 inches long, with inscription in hieroglyphics.
- 37 P. Smaller STAFF of wood, with inscription, 29 inches long.

The two last articles were brought from Egypt by Mr. E. J. Andrews.

- 38 P. Sepulchral TABLET of wood, painted with figures and hieroglyphics, 12 inches high.
- 39 P. Porcelain FIGURE with hieroglyphics, of fine work.
- 40 P. Fragment of sculptured BAS-RELIEF from Belzoni's tomb, painted with red on a white ground.
- 41 P. Pair of EAR-RINGS, made of two ancient stones, engraved in the Egyptian style, mounted in a modern Arab setting of silver wire. Purchased from an Arab woman at Sychar (Jacob's Well).
- 42 P. Head of a CAT in bronze.
- 43 P. Signet RING of blue porcelain.
- 44 P. Small FIGURE of wood, gilt.
- 45 P. NILOMETER in porcelain.
- 46 P. THOTH in lapis-lazuli.
- 47 P. HAWK in hematite.

- 48 P. Animal with the legs tied together as a VICTIM, in granite.
- 49 P. Piece of beautiful BEAD WORK from a mummy, representing the Nilometer, wrought by a multitude of small beads placed edgeways.
- 50 P. Figure of THOTH of blue glazed porcelain, 2½ inches high, although the lower extremity is wanting.
- 51 P. Small earthen BOTTLE of globular shape, with a long neck and handle; 53/4 inches high.
- 52 P. Large SCARABEUS, 3 inches long, of calcareous stone, with seven lines of hierogylphics underneath.
- 53 P. Twelve GLASS BEADS, of considerable size, presenting the following varieties:—blue, green, yellow, and black—the last of three kinds, respectively striped with a band of red, green, and lilac.
- 54 P. Small VASE of arragonite, with pointed base, 3 inches high; probably used in the toilet. From Mr. Salt's Collection.
- 55 P. Two SANDALS of painted cloth, from mummies.
- 56 D. Piece of CLOTH, from a mummy in the Bristol Museum.
- 57 P. Green porcelain FIGURE, with horizontal inscription, of fine work.
- 58 P. Two porcelain SCARABEI, with figures underneath, one white, the other blue; and two OTHERS of light coloured stone and very small.
- 59 P. Small bronze SISTRUM, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, with the figure of a cat on the top. Very rare and patinated.

The Sistrum or Timbrel is a musical instrument in which the sound is produced by shaking a certain number of wires to and fro through a metallic loop. It was so generally used by the Egyptians as to become, in some measure, emblematic of their country, as it thus appears in the hand of the personification of Egypt upon coins of Hadrian.

- 60 P. Small porcelain CROCODILE.
- 61 P. FROG in green porcelain.
- 62 P. Lotus-headed PENDANT of lilac porcelain.
- 63 P. BUBASTES (cat-headed female) in lilac porcelain.
- 64 P. OPT (hippopotamus-headed figure) in green porcelain.
- 65 P. NOUF (ram-headed figure) of green porcelain.
- 66 P. OPT in green porcelain, 2 inches high.

- 67 P. Porcelain figure, 1½ inch high, of ISIS with HORUS in her lap.
- 68 P. Bronze figure of PASHT or Bubastes, the Egyptian Diana; 4 inches high.
- 69 P. Figure of TYPHON (deformed genius) of lilac porcelain, 2 inches high.
- 70 P. ÆGIS (tippet-shaped) of PASHT, 23 inches across, of green porcelain; very fine and rare.
- 71 P. Flat triangular ornamented PLATE of blue porcelain, upwards of 2 inches long, made for the purpose of receiving several links of smaller beads; precisely as the plates in the Celtic necklaces.
- 72 D. SHRINE (Naos) in the form of a small temple, 7 inches long, $3\frac{1}{2}$ wide, and $4\frac{3}{4}$ high in front, sculptured in calcareous stone, with the figure of a large scarabeus inside; covered with hieroglyphics and some proper names in cartouches; over the front is a figure of Horus standing upon two crocodiles, sculptured in dark coloured stone, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches high—apparently an addition to the original design. Purchased in Smyrna by His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, and presented, along with the five next entries, 13th March, 1850.
- 73 D. Flat profile figure of AMSET in blue porcelain approaching to glass, 2\frac{3}{4} inches high.
- 74 D. Figure of OPT in blue porcelain, 2½ inches high.
- 75 D. Figure of KEBHSNUF (hawk-headed), blue porcelain, 24 inches high.
- 76 D. Mummy-shaped FIGURE of green porcelain, 5\(^3\) inches high, with five horizontal bands of hieroglyphics.
- 77 D. ANOTHER like the last, $3\frac{3}{4}$ inches high, with only one line of inscription down the back.

72 to 77 presented by His Grace the Duke of Devonshire.

- 78 P. Circular piece of blue porcelain, 1½ inch diameter, impressed with a figure of TYPHON; the eyes, &c., heightened by dark blue enamel.
- 79 P. Flat profile figure of the HAWK-headed deity, 21 inches high.
- 80 P. CAT (seated) of red earthenware, 13 inch high.
- 81 P. Bronze figure of OSIRIS Pethempamentes, 5\(\frac{3}{4}\) inches high, which has been covered with very fine linen, and then gilt.
 27

The Egyptians were not acquainted with the art of gilding directly upon any object of metal, though they carried that of gilding by size, or "water gilding," to considerable perfection.

- 82 P. Bronze figure of MAUT (seated), 4 inches high.
- 83 P. Saucer-shaped BOWL of alabaster, 11½ inches diameter, which has been broken and joined by bronze wire. From Cuerton's sale.
- 84 P. Three ornaments of dark coloured stone, each representing TWO FINGERS joined together; usually found upon the breasts of mummies.

See Mr. Pettigrew's History of Mummies, page 96.

- 85 P. PAINTING, 13 inches high, from the inner case of a mummy of a superior kind; made of numerous folds of cloth glued together, representing the goddess NETPHE as a female figure in a red dress, holding an object in each hand.
- 86 P. Two similar PAINTINGS, 8½ inches high, from another linen case. One represents two of the Genii of the Amenti and a human figure; the other represents a winged figure of Isis standing near the materials for a feast, which are surrounded by several figures with the heads of animals, and one human figure clothed in a leopard's skin.
- 87 P. Upper part of a wooden mummy COFFIN, 2 feet 1 inch high, finely carved with a human face.
- 88 P. Double COMB of wood, 33 inches long, with a lion carved in the centre at each side.
- 89 P. Circular MIRROR of bronze, 5 inches diameter, quite plain, and nicely patinated.

See Exodus, chapter 38, verse 8; also Job, chapter 37, verse 18, for passages illustrative of the primeval employment of molten or metallic looking-glasses.

- 90 P. Small object in cornelian, intended to represent a HEART; pierced for suspension.
- 91 P. MUMMY OF A FEMALE (a Priestess), which has not been unrolled, 5 feet in length; enclosed in a carved wood coffin, which, together with the lid, is covered with hieroglyphics and figures of genii, &c., and measures 5 feet 6 inches in extreme length. On the breast of the lid is a representation of an embalmer making an incision into the body, which is extended upon a lion-shaped table; underneath which are the canopic vases for the reception of some of the internal parts. At the foot of the case is the figure of the bull bearing the deceased on his back.

- 92 P. BRONZE, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches high by $3\frac{1}{2}$ wide, representing a plume; on the right of which are three URÆI or disked serpents—the uppermost with wings; originally enamelled.
- 93 P. BRONZE, 4 inches high by 3 wide, representing a SERPENT, with the solar disc on its head, and a seated hawk-headed figure, also disked, chased.
- 94 P. Reticulated NECKLACE of blue porcelain beads, ornamented with tassels; also sundry other strings of beads.
- 95 P. MUMMY of a CAT from Thebes, enveloped in linen bandages; the features preserved by compresses; 19½ inches long.
- 96 P. MUMMY of a CAT from Thebes, rather ornamentally bandaged with different coloured linen; 12 inches long.

94 to 96 from Mr. Crofton Croker's Collection.

ETRUSCAN

AND

PHENICIAN ANTIQUITIES.

LIST P. I.

1 P. A LECYTHUS or tall vase, with one handle, 121 inches high, of red ware with black figures; of early style. One is bearded, and holds a horn; a female stands before him; and behind are portions of two other figures, now broken away.

2 to 3 P. Two bronze instruments with claws, probably FLESH HOOKS, used in sacrificial or augurial rites; 14 inches long.

See Exodus, chapter 27, verse 3; also Numbers, Chronicles, and Samuel, for illustrative passages. David gave gold for flesh hooks.

- 4 P. Bronze SIMPULUM or sacrificial ladle, 13½ inches long; the handle terminating in a double swan's head.
- 5 to 6 P. Two SIMPULA, the handles terminating in a swan's head; 13 inches long.
- 7 P. ANOTHER, smaller.
- 8 P. Bronze PAIL with two moveable handles; imperfect at the bottom.

- 9 P. Bronze EWER wanting the handle.
- 10 P. Bronze VESSEL with handle and lip for pouring liquids, 9 inches high.
- 11 P. Bronze tankard-shaped VESSEL, 64 inches high, with high handle.
- 12 to 15 P. Four other CUPS like the last.
- 16 P. Various fragments of similar CUPS; some ornamented at the edge.
- 17 P. Part of a large bronze VESSEL.
- 18 to 25 P. Bronze PATERÆ, of various sizes; some broken.
- 26 P. Heavy piece of turned bronze, 13 inches long; apparently one of the supports for a BIER, upon which the bodies of the ancient Etruscans were sometimes deposited in the tombs.

See Mrs, Hamilton Grey's Tour to the Sepulchres of Etruria, page 346.

- 27 P. Two fragments of bronze, apparently from the centre of SHIELDS; one is beautifully chased with the face of a satyr.
- 28 P. Pair of massive fluted HANDLES from a bronze vase.
- 29 P. A similar pair of HANDLES.
- 30 P. Pendant HANDLE with part of the vase.
- 31 P. Curious bronze HANDLE, of large size.
- 32 P. ANOTHER, rather different.
- 33 P. Six HANDLES from cups and vases of bronze.
- 34 P. Twenty-four pendant HANDLES from bronze vessels; some terminating with the heads of serpents.
- 35 P. FOOT of a bronze vase, in the form of a lion's paw.
- 36 P. ANOTHER, of the same shape.
- 37 to 39 P. Bronze STANDS for pateræ.
- 40 Vacant.
- 41 P. PATERA, 61 inches diameter, of fine red ware, partly covered with black glaze, with two handles.
- 42 P. PATERA of similar form, of coarser ware.
- 43 P. PATERA of fine black ware, 63 inches diameter, without handles, but having a simple ornament stamped in the centre.
- 44 P. PATERA like the last in shape, but coarser in texture.

- 45 to 46 P. Two CUPS of light coloured ware, ornamented with black and dark red; each with two handles projecting horizontally from the sides; of the kind usually called Phænician.
- 47 P. Earthen VESSEL with a small spout, probably a lamp feeder.
- 48 P. Shallow VESSEL of black ware, 6 inches diameter, with one handle, and the edge turned inwards.
- 49 P. Small BOTTLE of glazed black ware.
- 50 P. Circular DISH or patera of fine black ware, $10\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter, with an ornamented border and a fluted handle, beneath which is a well-executed head in relief.
- 51 P. Centre of a TAZZA with a female holding a basket, in red upon a black ground.
- 52 P. PYXIS with cover, $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter, of light coloured clay, decorated with geometrical patterns in reddish brown paint.

Probably of early Greek art. From Mr. Dodd's Collection.

53 P. Cup-shaped VASE with horizontal handles, 5 inches high, of Nolan-Egyptian or Phænician ware, ornamented with a frieze of lions and oxen in brown and purple, with the outlines incised, upon a light coloured ground.

Vases of this kind are found in the earliest sepulchres of Etruria, and are, consequently, of exceedingly high antiquity. The description in this and some other instances is borrowed from the Synopsis of the Contents of the British Museum.

54 P. Fine VASE, 11½ inches high, of elegant shape, with two handles, painted with figures in red upon a black ground. On one side is a female offering a patera to a seated nude figure; on the other are two figures, one of whom holds a staff.

The decoration of vases of this later period was executed by hand with great freedom and rapidity, by a process the reverse of what is usually employed in modern art; the ground being drawn in by the application of the black glaze, and the design left of the original red colour of the clay, and afterwards touched with black lines where requisite.

55 P. Bronze HELMET with apertures for the eyes and a short nasal; broken into two pieces. From Mr. Rhodes' Collection.

Probably Greek, as it resembles the helmet of Minerva on coins of Corinth.

- 56 P. Bronze ARMILLA from Nola. From Dr. Nott's Collection.
- 57 P. Small VASE with indistinct figures in black, 5½ inches high.
- 58 P. Bronze MIRROR of circular form, engraved with a nude figure, and having an elegant slender handle; extreme length 10 inches.
- 59 P. Bronze MIRROR with engraving, representing two male figures seated, one with a helmet; between them two naked figures; all wearing the cothurnus. From Volterra.
- 60 D. Imperfect VASE of blue glass, variegated with wavy lines of yellow, green, and white; a fine specimen of Greek manufacture. Presented by William Fennell, Esq., 1848.
- 61 P. Small and elegant VASE of black ware, with a band of foliage painted white; 4 inches high.
- 62 P. Two-handled AMPHORA-shaped vase, 93 inches high, with a female head on each side, of red heightened with white on a black ground.
- 63 P. Large patera or CYLIX, 81 inches diameter, on a stem; with a cover painted with the same design as the last.

It has been placed in the tomb with a small vessel in the inside, which has left a mark where it stood.

- 64 P. Two-handled amphora-shaped VASE, 11 inches high, painted with figures of a winged genius standing in front of a seated female, in red upon a black ground.
- 65 P. Small two-handled CUP of black ware.
- 66 P. Small LECYTHUS, 7½ inches high, of fluted black ware, slightly ornamented with foliage; painted in colours.
- 67 P. Earthen LAMP FEEDER, and small coarse cylix; encrusted.
- 68 P. Bronze SWORD or dagger, with the metallic part of

- the handle remaining; the blade, which is engraved with lines, measures 15½ inches.
- 69 P. Two fine leaf-shaped SPEAR heads of bronze, 12 inches long.
- 70 P. Two MIRRORS of bronze, much injured by corrosion; the largest, 6½ inches diameter, is engraved with a winged figure holding a long spear; the other, which has an elegant handle, is engraved with several figures, beneath which is a short inscription in the ancient Etrusean character.
- 71 P. Three plain MIRRORS, one still retaining much of its original appearance and polish, from having lain between the others.
- 72 P. Globular bottle-shaped VASE of bronze, with an elegant handle; 7 inches high.
- 73 P. Bronze PATERA, 9 inches diameter, with a long handle; finely patinated.
- 74 P. Elastic TORQUIS or collar of thick bronze wire, twisted in a spiral form; finely patinated.
- 75 P. Bronze sacrificial FLESH HOOK; a fine specimen.
- 76 P. Covering of a votive SHIELD of thin bronze, about 12 inches diameter; the inner part fluted, and ornamented with a leopard's head in the centre. Of very fine work, but broken and repaired.
- 77 P. Archaic bronze HANDLE, apparently made to be attached to a wooden vessel; ornamented with heads of a horse and a ram.
- 78 P. HANDLE for a patera, beautifully engraved, and terminating in a swan's head.
- 79 P. Six fragments of bronze implements, including a circular STAND for a vase or cistus, mounted on claws—one only remaining.
- 80 P. A bronze INSTRUMENT with a flat end at a right angle with its cylindrical shank, set in an ivory handle with a bronze ferule, engraved with an Etruscan inscription; and terminating at the other end with a lion's head of excellent workmanship; total length, 14\frac{3}{4} inches. Probably used at the altar to rake the ashes together.
- 81 P. ARMILLA, formed of eight coils of thick bronze wire; beautifully patinated.

82 P. ARMILLA of three coils of flattened bronze; a fine specimen, beautifully patinated.

83 P. Elegant bronze STRAINER, with the handle richly engraved, and ending with a swan's head; 12 inches long.

84 P. Bronze VASE, somewhat in the form of a wine skin, with broad elongated lip, and a decorated handle above; 5½ inches high.

A curious and rare example. Nos. 64 to 84 were purchased at the sale of Mr. Thomas Blayd's antiquities.

85 P. VASE of peculiar but elegant form, of light coloured clay, with irregular ornamentation in brown paint; $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches high, exclusive of the handles, which are high.

Termed Carthaginian by some.

86 P. Large oviform VASE with two high handles, painted with red figures of satyrs, nymphs, &c., upon a black ground, and enriched with other decorations; 17½ inches high; containing calcined human bones.

87 P. Melon-shaped VESSEL, 7 inches high, of light coloured Nolan-Egyptian ware, bearing incised and maroon coloured figures of a sphinx and seated lion, with an architectural (?) object between them.

A curious and interesting example of very early pottery, which exhibits the most remarkably affinity with Assyrian art. Bought, with the two next articles, at the sale of Mons. Rollin's Collection, 1849.

88 P. CUP with horizontal handles of light coloured clay, ornamented with a frieze of goats painted brown, and with bands of dark red; $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter; very early.

89 P. CUP of similar form to the last, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter, of fine glazed pottery, which, owing to some irregularity in the firing, is of two colours—red and brown; ornamented with a frieze of griffins and birds with spotted plumage.

90 P. VASE of very elegant shape, 10\(^3\) inches high, with two handles, with figures painted in black upon a red ground; the outlines being first incised, and the figures afterwards heightened with white. The subject represented is Hercules strangling the Nemæan lion; a female, armed with a spear and circular shield, on which is a lion's head, standing in front. At the other side a warrior, with spear and circular shield bearing a dolphin-shaped human leg, standing between a bearded figure and a female.

- 91 P. VASE of remarkably elegant shape with three handles, 13 inches high, painted with red figures on a black ground, representing a female offering fruit to a young man seated on a rock.
- 92 D. Small painted VASE, 6 inches high, with one handle.
- 93 D. Painted VASE, 3 inches high, of beautiful shape.
- 94 D. Beautiful little VESSEL of black ware, 21 inches high, with trefoil-shaped mouth.
- 95 D. Small and elegant SIMPULUM of bronze, the handle terminating in a swan's head.

92 to 95 presented by His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, 1850.

96 P. Small four-winged FIGURE of bronze, kneeling upon the right knee, and holding a circle in one hand.

Precisely the cherubic figure on the ancient copper coins of Melita.

- 97 P. Beautiful bronze EWER, 5 inches high, with trefoilshaped mouth, which has, apparently, been gilt.
- 98 P. Two votive SHIELDS of thin bronze, with fluted centres; one 10, the other $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter.
- 99 P. Two small ornamental CENTRES from other bronze shields.
- 100 P. Bottle-shaped VASE, 9 inches high, in the form of a female head, of terra cotta, painted white and slightly coloured; with a handle.

A beautiful specimen of early art.

- 101 P. A CYLIX, 10 inches diameter, on a high stem, of red ware painted black, and ornamented with a frieze of flowers coloured black and white on a red band; $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches; with two elegant handles.
- 102 P. CARCHESION or small ribbed vase, 4½ inches high, of black ware; ornamented with coloured birds, &c., and having two very pretty handles.
- 103 P. Circular flat STAND of early red ware, 2 inches high, 5 diameter.
- 104 P. A LECYTHUS of black ware, 6 inches high, with an upright handle; of most beautiful form, slightly ornamented.

- 105 P. Small VASE with the figure of a mule, 44 inches high.
- 106 P. Set of four small CUPS, joined together in a square; of black ware.
- 107 P. Small PYXIS, 3½ inches diameter, of light coloured ware, painted with figures of swans, above which are Phænician characters.

Very curious and early.

- 108 P. Plain round CUP of thin red ware, quite free from glaze.
- 109 P. CUP of glazed red ware, with foot.
- 110 P. Small CUP of light coloured ware, 3 inches diameter.
- 111 P. Small LID for a cup, painted with a slight ornament.
- 112 P. A thick cup or PATERA of glazed black ware, nicely moulded.
- 113 P. A lid of a CUP of light coloured ware.

98 to 113 purchased at the sale of Dr. Braun's Collection.

P. Bronze MIRROR, 53 inches diameter, finely engraved with a figure of Mercury carrying a ram on his shoulders; he is represented with a long beard, and with his head turned back; on his cap is inscribed EVKPVN; and round the mirror is a long legend.

or Small bronze figure of a COW, in the attenuated archaic style, 1½ inch high, 3½ long; dug up in the neighbourhood of Florence, in the ruins of an ancient city situated on the top of a mountain. Presented by W. P. Thornhill, Esq., M.P., 1853; and mounted on a marble pedestal.

116 P. PATERA with two handles, 7\frac{3}{4} inches diameter, painted inside with a winged cupbearer in red heightened with white on a black ground; on the outside with female heads and foliage.

P. A two-handled TAZZA, 12 inches diameter, on a stem, altogether 7 inches high, ornamented round the outside with a frieze of numerous figures and griffins; of early style, finely executed in black heightened with white on a light red band.

An extremely fine specimen of a rare variety of early art,

- 118 P. Terra cotta RHYTON in the form of the head of a horse, 7 inches high, painted white.
- 119 P. TERRA COTTA representing a veiled female bust with pointed ear-rings, 8½ inches high by 9 wide; of fine work.
- 120 P. Terra cotta SARCOPHAGUS (?) or cinerary urn, of rectangular shape; the front representing a contest. The cover is surmounted by a recumbent male figure holding a patera, and has, apparently, been coloured; 16 inches wide and 21 inches high to the top of the figure on the cover.
- 121 P. ORNAMENT, 14 inch diameter, of thin GOLD, enriched with filagree work, and having a raised rosette in the centre; at the back is a loop for attachment.
- 122 P. Two rose-shaped ORNAMENTS of very thin GOLD, $\frac{7}{8}$ of an inch diameter, decorated with filagree work, and looped at the back.
- P. Elegantly-formed LECYTHUS with handle, 13‡ inches high, with figures representing Orestes and Electra at the tomb of Agamemnon, in outline on a white ground; of Greek art, about 430 B.C. Of great artistic merit; broken and restored.
- 124 P. LECYTHUS of similar form, with a polychrome subject, apparently derived from the same tragedy as the last, but of very inferior workmanship, and rather confused. Broken and restored.

Styled Carthaginian by some.

GREEK ANTIQUITIES.

LIST Q. I.

- 1 P. FIBULA of thick bronze wire.
- 2 P. Three small circular BELLS of thin bronze.
- 3 P. Two small KEYS with moveable rings.

- 25 P. Large ornamented FIBULA of bronze, 54 inches long.
- 26 P. Curious bronze KNIFE, 11½ inches long.

It is very probable that this article is not of foreign origin; two exactly like it (one having the handle), found in Scotland, are engraved on page 270 of Wilson's Pre-historic Annals of Scotland.

- 27 P. Terra cotta female HEAD, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches high; of early style.
- 28 P. Terra cotta HEAD of a diademed female, probably Juno, with traces of colour; of fine work; 4 inches high.
- 29 P. Large ornamented bronze FIBULA, with two knobs at the sides.
- 30 P. Double SPIRAL ORNAMENT of thick bronze wire, finely patinated.

- 31 P. Massive bronze ARMILLA, the ends of which are confined by a small ring.
- 32 P. Small bronze figure of a HARE running, as on the coins of Messana; finely patinated.
- 33 D. Bronze POTTER'S STAMP, in the form of a sandalled foot, 3½ inches long, of very fine workmanship, the ankle terminating with a lotus flower; under the sole is the name ΦΥΔΣΡΙΟΥ.
- 34 D. Fluted bronze ARMILLA, the ends terminating in bulbs and set with garnets; having four small rings attached to it.

Formerly the property of the Bishop of Lichfield (Butler).

33 to 35 presented by His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, 1850.

- 36 P. Part of a bronze CHAIN BELT, made of rings and strong wire-work alternately.
- 37 P. Three small bronze BASES for columns.

36 and 37 from Dr. Braun's sale.

- 38 P. Large bronze FIBULA, with six flat rings round the bow.
- 39 P. Large hollow bronze FIBULA, neatly engraved and finely patinated.
- 40 P. SPIRAL ornament of thick bronze wire, 3½ inches diameter, mounted with a pin as a fibula.
- 41 P. Spirally-coiled finger RING of bronze wire, patinated.
- 42 P. FIBULA ingeniously and elegantly made from a piece of thick bronze wire, terminating in a flat circular coil; finely patinated and slightly engraved; 5½ inches long.
- 43 P. SHELL of the genus Unio, beautifully carved in crystal and polished; found in the Island of Corcyra.
- 44 P. Bronze FERULE from a mace, 1½ inch long, 1 inch diameter, with three rows of spikes; well patinated.

- 31 P. Curious LAMP in terra cotta, ornamented with human faces; probably from Central America.
- 32 Vacant.
- 33 D. Coarsely made clasp KNIFE, from Southern Africa. Given by Mr. L. F. Bingham.
- 34 P. Curious brass figure of a seated LION, 34 inches high, with an inscription in remarkable characters engraved upon it; well patinated, and perfectly genuine, though of rude work. From the Collection of Mr. Rhodes, in 1846, to whom it was given by Captain George Angelo, as found by his son at Clausentum, a Roman station near Southampton, in 1828.

Most probably a Wendish idol, similar to those found at Prilwitz. See Prichard's Researches into the Physical Hist. of Mankind, Vol. III, page 427—8.

- 35 P. Jointed silver ORNAMENT set with marcasites, to hang down the front of a bridle.
- 36 D. String of purple and white cylindrical BEADS, made by the North American Indians from a shell of the genus Venus.
- 37 D. Part of a STRING of flat beads, made from a similar material, by natives of the South Sea Islands.

- 38 P. AXE head (same as the British celt) of nephrite or jade, from Tanna.
- 39 D. Three specimens of striped CLOTH, from Ashantee. Given by Mr. Fennell.
- 40 D. Pair of short Chinese SHOES of rushes, embroidered with butterflies in front. Presented by Mr. Joseph Hallows.
- 41 W. Brass HANDLE for a small knife, with Arabic (?) inscription.
- 42 P. Three brass BANGLES or bracelets, from Africa.
- 43 P. Five ARROW HEADS of iron, of different shapes, from Persepolis. From Mr. Stuart's Collection.
- 44 T. CAST of a piece of terra cotta, with fruit well executed in relief.
- 45 P. Rectangular Chinese PADLOCK of brass.
- 46 P. HOOF of the Indian buffalo, mounted with silver as a box, by a native.
- 47 P. Stone HATCHET, attached to a short elastic handle by cement, used by the natives of New South Wales in war. Brought from Port Philip, in 1837, by Mr. Robert Kerr, of Glasgow.
- 48 D. Oval STONE, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, carved in low relief with the bust of a female in a curious head-dress. Presented by His Grace the Duke of Devonshire.
- 49 D. CRUCIFIX for a rosary, made of an odoriferous composition, from Malta. Presented by Mrs. Williams.
- 50 D. Pair of MOCASSINS of deerskin, embroidered with porcupine quills, obtained from the Cree Indians by Major Jebb. Presented by the Rev. J. B. Jebb, of Walton.
- 51 D. SPEAR head of yellow flint, 2½ inches long, from North America.
- 52 P. Small oval FIGURE of a Chinese Mandarin, enamelled between threads of gold, as the Anglo-Saxon specimens.
- 53 P. Two specimens of "hashash" or IRON MONEY of El Obeyd, the capital of Kordofan, about three hundred miles west of the White Nile. From Mr. Brumell's Collection.
- 54 D. Pair of MOCASSINS of deerskin, embroidered with glass beads, brought from North America by Mr. Staley. Presented by Mrs. Romney.

55 P. Curiously-shaped STONE AXE, forked at the back; an interesting relic of the extinct Mound Builders of North America.

See Squier and Davis' Ancient Monuments of the Mississippi Valley, page 218.

- 56 P. ADZE head of dark coloured stone, from the South Pacific.
- 57 D. Red CAP or fez with blue tassel, worn by the Turks. Presented by Mr. Samuel Rowland.
- 58 P. Small Chinese FIGURE carved in ivory, 3 inches high.
- 59 P. Seven small terra cotta FIGURES, from the ancient Toltesk graves on the Island of Sacrificios, in the Gulf of Mexico. Three of them represent males, the remainder females, one of whom holds a child.

See Archæologia, Vol. XXX, pages 138 and 339.

- 60 D. Three large MATS, beautifully woven, from the leaf of a native tree, by the inhabitants of the Samoan or Navigators' Islands.
- 61 D. Large piece of glazed CLOTH of a chocolate colour, prepared from the bark of a native tree, and used as a wrapper round the waist by the Samoan Islanders.
- 62 D. Upper GARMENT called "tiputa," of the same kind of cloth, with a hole for the head to go through; the edges cut into a coarse kind of fringe.
- 63 D. Another large CLOTH for personal wear, of the same fabric, but ornamented with a pattern painted black and yellow.
 - 64 D. Samoan FISH HOOK and line; the barb of the former of tortoise-shell, and the shank of pearl; the line of cocoa-nut-fibre.
 - 65 D, STONE HATCHET or adze, prepared for use by being firmly tied to a short wooden shaft by cocoa-nut-fibre; Samoa; illustrative of the manner in which the British celt was used.
 - 66 D. SPEAR with a double head of hard black wood, notched and tied on to the shaft; altogether upwards of 9 feet long; Samoa.

- 67 D. Samoan CLUB of hard wood, with five carved bands across it, 3 feet 8½ inches long,
- 68 D. CUP made from the shell of a cocoa-nut, used by the Samoan Islanders in drinking an intoxicating liquor called "cava."
- 69 D. Crooked CLUB of hard wood, with carved handle, stained with blood; from the Feejee Islands; 3 feet 4 inches long.
- 70 D. Small celt-shaped AXE HEAD of jade, from the Hervey Islands.
- 71 D. BELT called "maro," beautifully woven in various patterns, 5 feet 6 inches long, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide; worn by the men of the Kingsmill Group of Islands in the South Pacific.

Nos. 60 to 71 were brought to England by the Rev. William Harbutt, agent of the London Missionary Society in the South Seas, and were presented by him to this Collection in January, 1852.

- 72 P. Old Dutch TILE with the figure of a tulip upon it, found in Brickhill Lane, London, April, 1852.
- 73 P. Hindoo IDOL in bronze, of considerable antiquity, representing figures of Brahma, Vishnu, and Siva seated cross-legged upon a platform; $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches long by $4\frac{1}{2}$ wide.
- 74 P. Silver figure of BUDDHA, 5 inches high, exclusive of the base, representing him seated in a cross-legged position.
- 75 P. Seated figure of BUDDHA upon a square pedestal, beautifully cast in bronze and chased; 3\frac{1}{4} inches high.
- 76 P. Large CLUB made from a hard wood tree, with the knotty root still remaining, and some of the projections inlaid with pegs of bone; 3 feet 9 inches long; from the South Seas.
- 77 P. Paddle-shaped CLUB of heavy red wood, 2 feet 3 inches long.
- 78 P. STONE ADZE highly polished, and beautifully tied on a square shaft, 2 feet 8 inches long, deeply carved throughout the entire length; from the South Seas.
- 79 P. An Esquimaux HARPOON, consisting of a barbed head made of two pieces of bone, pointed with a small piece of iron, and mounted on a shaft of drift wood hooped with whalebone, to which is attached a line of whale's hide; and having the bladder of a seal by way of float; 5 feet 1 inch long.

- 80 P. QUIVER for the reception of arrows, worn by the Chiefs of Bambarra, in Africa. It is made of thin wood covered with leather, some of which is tanned with the hair on; it is also ornamented with leathern tassels and studs—the latter identical in form with the jet studs found in Celtic Tumuli. Total length, 3 feet.
- 81 P. Similar QUIVER, partly covered with perforated leather, wanting the cover; 25 inches long.

76 to 81 from the Collection of Mr. Wenham Martin.

- 82 P. Iron SWORD in a wooden sheath, to which is attached a small basket of cane, having twelve small idols, carved in wood, fastened to it with shreds of cotton print. Said to be used for the purpose of decapitating human victims offered in sacrifice in Ashantee; and it is supposed that each of the little figures was added on the occasion of a sacrifice.
- 83 P. Peruvian VESSEL of black glazed earth in the form of a fish or seal, which gives a mellow, flute-like sound when blown into; 5½ inches high. From the Collection of Mr. B. Hertz.
- 84 P. Mexican VASE or bottle of red earth, slightly painted, modelled in the form of a grotesque human head; 113 inches high.
- 85 P. Two Mexican EAR-RINGS of a crescent shape, made from thin plates of gold; one $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter, the other 1 inch.
- 86 P. GOLD FIGURE of a female with long hair, 2½ inches high, weighing 7dwt. 22gr.

One like it is engraved in Plate VII of the folio atlas accompanying the Spanish edition of Rivero and Tschudi's Peruvian Antiquities; and another in the British Museum is labelled "From the Tombs of Islet, Pellollo; Guiana.

- 87 P. ANOTHER of silver like the last, but 3 inches high.
- 88 P. Grotesque male FIGURE OF SILVER holding a bunch of Indian corn, 2½ inches high.

One similar engraved in Plate IX of "Peruvian Antiquities."

89 to 92 P. Four small grotesque SILVER IMAGES, perforated for suspension, from \(^3\)4 of an inch to 1\(^1\)4 inch high.

93 P. Small silver figure of a BIRD, with a hole for suspension.

84 to 93 from the Collection of Mons. Boocke.

94 P. North American Indian SCALPING KNIFE, in deer-skin case, ornamented with beads, &c.

95 P. North American MEDICINE BAG, made from the skin of some animal, ornamented with pieces of coloured cloth. It contains bones and feathers of a species of woodpecker, and is stained with blood.

96 P. North American PIPE of steatite, the bowl carved with a human face; 8 inches long.

97 P. Oval wooden LIP ORNAMENT, 21 inches long.

98 P. Esquimaux HEAD-DRESS of scalskin, fringed round the front with bone pendants, in the midst of which is a bear's tooth.

99 P. Esquimaux SPEAR head of bone, near 9 inches long, with a loop of cord attached to it, made from sinew.

100 P. INSTRUMENT (perhaps a whistle) made from the bone of a bird, about 3 inches long, to which are attached, by cordage of sinew, a string of small shells, a circular piece of brass, and a lock of human hair.

From the South Seas.

101 P. Thick BRAID or head ornament of grass (?), to which are attached numerous locks of human hair, of different colours and texture.

One in the British Museum marked "From Tanna."

102 P. COMB, 7 inches long, made from the rind of some plant. From New Caledonia.

103 D. Chinese BRACELET enamelled with green and white flowers on a blue ground. Presented by Henry Norman, Esq.

104 D. FLY FLAPPER of horsehair, set in a carved wood handle, 10½ inches long. Brought from Ashantee, and presented by the Rev. Thompson Hesk, Wesleyan Missionary to Africa.

- 105 P. Small cup-shaped ARTICLE, made from four pieces of pearly shell.
- 106 P. Semi-circular NECK ORNAMENT, 5 inches across, cut from a pearly Ostrea by the natives of Solomon's Islands.
- 107 P. Four SPOONS from New Georgia, three of which are cut from a pearly bivalve shell; the other from a large green shell of the genus Turbo.
- 108 P. Two pair of ARMLETS, cut from a trochus-shell of considerable size, by the natives of New Georgia.
- 109 P. GIRDLE consisting of twenty-five white shells of the genus Nerita, tied upon a platted cord of vegetable fibre. From New Georgia.
- 110 P. Small NECKLACE composed of shells, alternating with bones of birds. From New Georgia.
- 111 P. Two COMBS very ingeniously made from slips of reed by the natives of Otaheite; also a wooden comb.

Appended to the most primitive one is the following writing, in the autograph of Sir Joseph Banks: "Otaheitian comb before their intercourse with Europeans; the other specimen was since." There is reason to believe that Nos. 105 to 111 were brought to England by Captain Cook; they were purchased at the sale of Mr. Croker's curiosities in December, 1854.

112 P. PERUVIAN VESSEL in the form of a double bottle, one of the necks terminating in the head of an animal; of fine black clay, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches high.

"These utensils are found buried with the Ancient Peruvians; and with them some Indian corn is generally found."—Extract from the letter of Mr. Boardman, by whom this specimen was brought from Lima in 1846, for Mr. Croker.

113 P. Ancient MEXICAN VESSEL of terra cotta, 8 inches high, ornamented with a human face, and a snake twining round the neck of the vessel.

A very fine specimen.

- 114 P. A Mexican PITCHER-shaped vase of red clay, 10 inches high, in the form of a grotesque human figure covered with snakes.
- 115 P. Ancient Mexican PATERA or two-handled dish of red terra cotta, 12 inches long, 4 inches high; decorated with six human figures, each enveloped in the coils of a serpent.

- 116 P. Ancient Mexican two-handled CUP, 4 inches high, of red clay, impressed with an ornamental stamp.
- 117 P. A large grotesque FIGURE of a man in baked clay, 14 inches high, with a smaller figure in front.
- 118 P. A grotesque human HEAD of hard baked clay, 3 inches wide.
- 119 P. Three small pieces of the ornamented POTTERY of the Ancient North American Mound Builders; found at Ellisburgh, Jefferson County.

The style of decoration bears a remarkably close affinity to that on the Celtic drinking cups. Nos. 105 to 119 were purchased at the sale of Mr. Crofton Croker's Collection, December, 1854.

120 P. ANCIENT MEXICAN HORNED HEAD-DRESS or helmet of wood, inlaid in mosaic with turquoise, malachite, coral (?), and mother-o'-pearl; 8½ inches high, 8 inches wide. Purchased in Paris by Mr. Chaffers, 1854.

Probably unique, there being no specimen in any of the museums that I have hitherto visited. The design in front is somewhat similar to the winged ornament represented at page 384 of J. L. Stephens' Incidents of Travel in Central America, 8vo, 1854.

MISCELLANEOUS SKULLS,

&c.

LIST R. I.

Marked with Roman numerals, to distinguish them from those found in the Celtic Tumuli.

- 1 T. Lower JAW of an Anglo-Saxon female, from a Barrow on Breach Downs, near Canterbury, September, 1844.
- 2 P. SKULL of a ROMAN female, from the City excavations, London, May, 1845.
- 3 P. SKULL (without the lower jaw), found in Jubber Gate, York, July, 1845.

With frontal suture.

- 4 P. Imperfect SKELETON of a Roman female, found in a leaden coffin, near Holgate Lane, York, June, 1845.
- 5 T. Imperfect SKULL, and humerus which had been fractured and joined during life; found, surrounded by large iron nails, near the last, in August, 1845; Roman.
- 6 T. Imperfect CRANIUM of a Roman, found near the last.
- 7 P. CRANIUM from the interior of a tomb of red tiles, each of which was stamped with the inscription of the Sixth Legion; found near the last, in September, 1845.

8 P. Strong lower JAW with fine teeth, said to have been dug up out of the grave of Richard Turpin, the famous highwayman, in St. George's Churchyard, York.

9 P. HEAD of a NEW ZEALAND Chief, ornamented with tattooing, and having a profusion of hair; in fine preservation.

10 P. Fragments of the SKULLS of three young persons, and one infant, found with skeletons of horses, &c., beneath the limestone gravel in the valley near Conksbury Bridge, Youlgrave, in April, 1847.

The bronze fibula E. I., No. 189, was found near the same place.

11 D. Portions of a SKELETON, found on Stanton Moor.
Presented by W. P. Thornhill, Esq.

The head of one thigh bone injured during life.

12 P. SKULL of ancient GREEK, wanting the maxillary bones, found in a tomb at Syracuse.

Lot 182 of the Duke of Buckingham's antiquities, from Stowe.

- 13 P. Portions of a tall and slender SKELETON, found under the limestone gravel at Dower, near Sterndale, Derbyshire, November, 1850.
- 14 P. Part of the SKULL of an aged person, found six feet beneath the surface in Bootham, York, 18th March, 1851.

Probably Roman.

- 15 P. SKULL of a young person, found near the last.
- 16 P. Dark coloured SKULL of an elderly person, found 9 feet below the surface, in digging a cellar at the corner of Longclose Lane, York, 20th March, 1851.
- 17 P. Very thick and heavy SKULL of an old person, found as the last.
- 18 P. SKULL of a person in the prime of life, found as the last; a female.
- 19 P. Thin SKULL laterally expanded, and having very long styloid processes, found as above.
- 20 P. Small female SKULL, rather aged, found as above.

21 P. Dark coloured SKULL, rather elongated, found as the last, a day or two later.

16 to 21 are, probably, mediæval. From their appearance before being cleaned, it was evident they had been deposited upon a sandy surface, beneath an accumulation of artificial earth, containing sherds of Roman and mediæval pottery.

- 22 P. SKULL of an EGYPTIAN mummy—a characteristic specimen.
- 23 P. Lower JAW and some other bones of a young individual, found with the bronze Hercules (List E. I., No. 194), at Peaseholm Green, York, in June, 1852.
- 24 to 29 P. Six perfect SKULLS, found in excavations in the Roman cemetry on the Mount, York, 28th July, 1852.

Some are very fine and characteristic.

- 30 P. Lower JAWS of three other individuals, found at the same time.
- 31 P. ROMAN SKULL, found in the same cemetry, 14th August, 1852.
- 32 P. SKULL of a female (?), from the same cemetry, 16th August.
- 33 P. SKULL of a person in the prime of life, found as the last, on the 16th September. The lower jaw and one of the vertebræ of the neck have been cut through with some instrument before the body was interred.
- 34 R. SKULL, apparently of a female, in fine preservation, found with some others in cutting the Malton and Driffield Railway, near Boardhill tunnel.

Probably Anglo-Saxon.

35 P. SKULL of a young person, found six feet deep in a fissure covered with a calcareous deposit, by the side of the River Wye, in Monsal Dale, Derbyshire, in May, 1854.

Bones of fish and animals were found in the same cavity; also the flint instrument, List I., No. 349.

36 D. SKULL of HINDOO (wanting the lower jaw), brought from Bombay. Presented by Mr. Alfred Roberts, Scarborough.

- 37 D. Some imperfect BONES of three individuals, from mediæval stone coffins, 1854.
- 38 P. Imperfect CRANIUM, fragments of two others, jaw and teeth of horses, stag's horn, &c., found with the fragments of iron, List H., No. 141, about four feet from the surface, in levelling in front of the cavern near Buxton, called Pool's Hole, 24th November, 1854.
- 39 P. Imperfect CRANIUM, found in the Thames, in 1854, with weapons of bronze.

The frontal bone has been fractured during life, as there is a circular orifice upwards of three quarters of an inch diameter through it, which is nicely healed round.

- 40 P. Imperfect CRANIUM of a female, found with the last.
- 41 P. SKULL (wanting the lower jaw), found with Roman remains in Wood Street, Cheapside, London, January, 1855.

- 17 W. Figure of a GRIFFIN seated and holding a shield-From Mr. Yates' Collection.
- 18 W. Handsome VASE of lignum vitæ with cover, 9 inches diameter, nicely turned from a large and solid piece.
- 19 W. Small oak CUPBOARD with a thistle carved upon the door, having the original lock and key, which came originally from Hartington Hall, where it was appended to a sort of seat, bearing the date 1612. Presented by Miss Bowman, of Youlgrave, February, 1821.
- 20 W. A fine carved oak CLOCK CASE, bought at Ratcliffe, Lancashire, in 1824. The works of the time-piece within are modern, but the dial and framework are original.

From some part of the turners' work with which the head is decorated, it seems probable that it may be the workmanship of Mr. John Enzor, of Tamworth, about 1680, whose abilities in this way are highly commended by Dr. Plot in his Natural History of Staffordshire, folio 1686, pages 383—4, who also engraves a specimen in plate 32, figure 5.

21 W. Oak DESK with the royal arms of James I, with supporters, garter, &c., most beautifully carved on the lid, beneath R.P. in cypher between a dove and a swan. At one end are inlaid, in black and white wood, a winged dragon standing on a cap, and a rose; at the other end a boar playing on a harp, and a double pentalpha. Purchased at Ashford in 1827.

The dragon is the crest of the Warren family.

22 P. Carved walnut CHAIR with high back, and seat of 34

canework, of remarkably elegant design; period, close of the seventeenth century. From Stanton Woodhouse. Derbyshire.

23 W. Handsome carved oak SIDEBOARD, of Dutch workmanship of the seventeenth century, with a cupboard above, having the original lock and key, and seated lions at the angles. From Mr. Yates' Collection.

24 W. Small DESK beautifully inlaid with various coloured woods, and having two figures beneath a canopy at the back. Presented by Mrs. Cartledge, of Lincoln, in 1829.

25 P. Carved oak BED with thick turned posts; date 1620.

26 W. TURK'S HEAD carved in yew, apparently the top of a stick. Given by Mr. Yates.

27 P BOOKCASE, the doors and front of which are made from various pieces of old oak carving, including two remarkable panels, each representing two lions seated beneath two pelicans; and a chest front, marked R(obert) B(ateman), 1626.

28 P. Oak SOFA, constructed from various pieces of old carved oak, including a frieze beautifully carved with symbols of the elements, upon ornamental shields of Elizabethan style.

29 W. Small TABLE well carved with foliage, arms, &c., the legs in the form of griffins; deal, bronzed.

30 W. Small carved oak SIDE TABLE, with cupboard underneath, having the initials of Robert and Elizabeth Bateman, 1634.

31 W. Small HOUR GLASS with twisted oak pillars. Given by Mr. Yates.

- 32 W. Carved and twisted ARM CHAIR, of the seventeenth century.
- 33 W. Carved RAZOR CASE of Dutch manufacture, with the initials and date I.I.S., 1716. Given by Samuel Hope, Esq., 1820.

34 P. Carved garden CHAIR.

- 35 P. Four pieces of STALLS from Bakewell Church, carved with tracery.
- 36 P. Carved and inlaid BEDSTEAD, with remarkably fine carved posts. Purchased in Cheshire.

- 37 P. SCONCE to hold a light, carved and gilt, from Stanton Woodhouse.
- 38 P. Vase or CUP of lignum vitæ, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches high; a beautiful specimen of turnery.
- 39 D. Swiss NUTCRACKER cleverly carved in yew with a grotesque bust. Given by Thomas Brushfield, Esq.
- 40 R. STAG'S HEAD with natural antlers projecting from a shield, characteristically garnished in the Elizabethan style; the whole carved in soft wood and painted. From Aislaby, near Pickering.
- 41 D. FRAME for an oval pier-glass, tastefully carved in deal, with baskets of flowers, foliage, cattle, &c.; of French workmanship of the time of Louis XIV; now bronzed. Given by Mr. James Frost.
- 42 P. Figure of THE SAVIOUR after the Resurrection, the right hand raised in benediction; finely carved in oak, 23¹4 inches high; of French art of the fourteenth century.
- 43 P. Figure of the VIRGIN MARY, with the hands clasped in sorrow, $28\frac{1}{2}$ inches high, beautifully carved in oak; of German art of the fifteenth century.
- 44 P. Figure of SAINT PETER holding a book, the drapery fine and bold, 33½ inches high, carved in elm by a Belgian artist of the fifteenth century.
- 45 P. Figure of SAINT ANTHONY and the Pig, 23 inches high, cleverly carved in oak, by a German artificer of the fifteenth century.
- 46 P. Figure of SAINT WILGEFORTIS, V. M., fastened to a cross with ropes, 34 inches high, in oak; a very rare specimen, executed with much spirit; of Spanish work of the fifteenth century.
- 47 P. Figure of a DOCTOR OF MEDICINE, 3 feet high, cleverly cut in oak by a German carver of the beginning of the seventeenth century.
 - 42 to 47 were purchased at the sale of the mediæval carvings, &c., collected by the eminent architect, Augustus Welby Pugin, 12th February, 1853.
- 48 W. The ROYAL ARMS of Edward VI, circ. 1550, carved in oak and blazoned with the proper colours; 3 feet 7 inches broad, by 2 feet 8 inches high.

It was purchased in 1816 by Mr. William Bateman, in an old house, then used as a warehouse, in Fothergill's Court, Manchester, where it was inserted over the fire-place of a panelled room on the second story. It is probable that it originally came from the Collegiate Church, having been discarded when the arms of Charles I were put up.

- 49 W. A large oak TABLE, 10 feet long, of very substantial workmanship, with a carved frieze and six turned legs; also two seats or benches, which fit underneath; and a range of panelling to fit to the wall above it. Purchased at the sale of the effects of Mr. Seddon, of Ringley, Lancashire, in 1820.
- 50 W. A small oak CHEST, very nicely carved, bearing the date 1675; with a drawer underneath, and secret drawers inside.
- 51 W. Carved oak CHEST, 4 feet 10 inches long, by 2 feet 3 inches high, with four inlaid panels under arcades in front, and the date inlaid upon the lid, thus: W. 1620. K. From Mr. Yates' Collection.
- 52 W. Small oak CHEST with carved front, the owner's name and date upon the front rail: "Sabra Sutton, 1678."
- 53 W. Carved oak CHEST with a drawer beneath, bearing the initials of Ann, daughter of Thomas Bateman, of Hartington, who was born in 1689.
- 54 W. Plain oak CHEST, from Prestolee, Lancashire; formerly the property of the Crompton family of that place.
- 55 W. Large CHEST of thick oak, strongly bound with iron; formerly the property of Robert Bateman, of Middleton Hall, 1626.
- 56 W. Large circular two-leaved TABLE of oak, with an assemblage of very handsomely turned legs.
- 57 W. Carved oak ARM CHAIR; a good specimen.
- 58 P. Carved oak ARM CHAIR, bought at Foolow, 1843.
- 59 P. ANOTHER, bought at Youlgrave, 1845; a good example.
- 60 P. Small BED, made up from some pieces of early oak carving.
- 61 P. Child's CRADLE, made in 1852 for Thomas Bateman, jun., from ancient oak carvings.
- 62 W. Small oak TABLE with a drawer. From Mr. Yates' Collection.

- 63 P. Small oak STOOL or stand. Bought at Ashford, 1844.
- 64 W. Carved oak CHAIR, temp. Charles II.
- 65 P. Carved oak BEDSTEAD with a cupboard in the head. Bought at Alport, 1839.
- 66 P. Carved oak BEDSTEAD. Bought at Stanton, 1843.
- 67 T. Small CHEST with inlaid front, made up by Thomas Bateman.
- 68 P. Small piece of carved oak TRACERY, of the perpendicular style, from Hathersage Church.
- 69 W. Carved oak COFFER or small chest.
- 70 W. BOOKCASE with doors, made from some remarkably curious carving, which originally composed the head of a bed, dated 1505. The frieze above was from the Collegiate Church, Manchester.

MATRICES OF SEALS, ANCIENT AND MODERN.

LIST H. I.

1 W. Ancient copper HEATER-SHAPED SEAL, found in May, 1826, in the remains of Fulwood's Castle, Middleton. It bears the device of a spread eagle, and appears to have appertained to the family of Longsdon, of Longsdon, Derbyshire.

Possibly a badge, and not a seal.

2 W. IVORY SEAL of a Rural Dean of Hartington, inscribed round the edge:

★ Sigil. Thom. Harvey. Deconide. Hartington. cum. membris." The gift of Mr. Yates in 1820.

The handle of the seal forms a salt-cellar, and the face, which is of pointed oval shape, is engraved with the following singular devices:—At the top is the sun; a little lower on the dexter side is a crescent, to indicate the moon; on the sinister is a hand issuing from the clouds holding a pair of balances; beneath the clouds are seven stars. Under the balances is a label extending across the seal, inscribed VINCIT. QVI. PATITVR.; and lowest of all is a shield, bearing in chief six crescents—in base an arm in armour, holding a dagger. It appears from the Hartington register that Thomas Harvey was vicar of the parish from 1635 to 1648.

3 W. Oval SEAL OF BRASS, gilt, bearing the arms of Edmund Bateman, inscribed round the margin, "The Seal of Edm. Bateman, D.D., Chanc. of the Church of Lichfield, 1740." Presented by the Rev. John Newling, Canon of Lichfield, July, 1826.

Edmund Bateman was Master of St. John's Hospital, Lichfield; Prebend of Stotfold in 1734; and Rector of Sevenoaks. He died in 1751.

- 4 P. Small old-fashioned SILVER SEAL, with armorials.
- 5 D. SILVER SWIVEL SEAL with three sides, presenting the arms, crest, and cipher of James Stewart, fifth Earl of Galloway, who died in 1746. Presented by Thomas P. Wood, Esq.
- 6 W. SILVER GILT SEAL with armorials, which belonged to Richard Bateman, of Hartington.
- 7 P. BRASS SEAL with the figure of a stag couchant, inscribed round the edge "Alas Louvele" (Alice Lovel). Fifteenth century.
- 8 P. STEEL SWIVEL SEAL, engraved with a bust of Queen Ann, &c.
- 9 P. Ornamented SILVER SEAL, of the last century.
- 10 P. SWIVEL SEAL of black composition, with arms and crest. Bought at Sterndale, 1850.
- 11 P. Pewter or LEADEN SEAL, of pointed oval shape, representing a star issuing from a crescent, inscribed round the edge × S' ROGERF. DE. REPUN.; found in Fease Gate, York, in July, 1851.

Roger, Archbishop of York, 1154—81, built Ripon Minster.—See Walbran's Ripon Guide, page 22.

- 12 P. Oval cornelian INTAGLIO, 17 inch long, beautifully engraved with a representation of the Centaur Chiron receiving the infant Achilles.
- 13 Vacant.
- P. Small BRASS SEAL, bearing the device of an eagle picking out the eyes of a hare, surrounded by the legend SODOUL.; found in cutting foundations for the hotel at the Railway Station, York, June, 1852; of the fifteenth century.
- 15 P. BRASS SEAL of pointed oval shape, with a curious device, representing a cross through the body of a fish, apparently a pike, having an eagle on one side and a lion at the other; round the margin is S. CUALTH. DE. CORF. CASCEL. Found in Butcher Hall Lane, London, in June, 1839.

- 16 P. Fine and early MEDIÆVAL SEAL of brass, representing two persons standing under a double canopy. From the Thames, London, May, 1849.
- 17 P. BRASS SEAL with curious armorials.
- 18 to 20 P. Three old SEALS with different devices, found in the City excavations.

15 to 20 were purchased at the sale of the Collection of Edward B. Price, Esq., of London, 7th April, 1853.

- 21 W. Old-fashioned GOLD SEAL with cornelian, engraved with the arms of Bateman, of Hartington.
- 22 W. Chased GOLD SEAL with the same arms, on a topaz.
- 23 W. Chased GOLD SEAL with the crest only, on a cornelian.

In genuine condition.

38 P. RING of very thin gold, with a large circular setting of blue glass; of coarse workmanship, and in pure state.

The two last are, probably, votive rings, or such as have been made purposely to deposit in tombs, in the place of others of greater value.

39 P. RING of bronze, finely patinated, with a palm branch engraved upon it.

Probably Roman.

- 40 P. Chased gold MOURNING RING, set with a crystal, under which is a crown and cypher in filagree; of the beginning of the last century.
- 41 P. GOLD RING of the fourteenth century, with engraved figures of Saint Michael and the Virgin, and having the legend CN. BON. AN. Probably a new year's gift; found in the Thames.

EARTHENWARE AND POTTERY

OF VARIOUS DESCRIPTIONS.

LIST U.

1 W. Large DISH of Staffordshire ware, 22 inches diameter, beautified with a half-length figure of Charles II, and having the owner's name, "Thomas Toft," on the edge. From Dunham Hall, Cheshire.

2 D. Old DISH with dark coloured stripes crossing it; formerly the property of the Rev. John Moorhouse, of Sheffield. Given by Mrs. Young.

3 W. PLATE and BOTTLE of blue and white earthenware. From Hartington.

4 D. PLATE of marbled earthenware, of Staffordshire ware, 1710—30. Given by Mr. Redfern, of Longnor, 1843.

5 W. Two embossed and perforated PLATES of white Staffordshire ware, 1740—60. From James Brassington, of Youlgrave.

6 D. Curious PITCHER, with a roughened and glazed exterior, of Staffordshire ware, 1500—50. From Biggen Hall, Derbyshire, where it was called the "Bear Pot," from a figure of that animal, which forms a sort of handle. Given by Miss Goodwin, of Biggen Hall.

- 7 W. Brown earthenware mug or JACK, holding three pints, which originally belonged to Charles Cotton, the celebrated angler and poet, of Beresford Hall, Staffordshire. It was purchased at the sale there by one of the Marsh family, of Hartington, and given by John Marsh to Mrs. Nadin, of Hartington, who presented it to Mr. William Bateman in 1830.
- 8 P. Curious POSSET POT, with cover, of early Staffordshire ware, quaintly decorated with figures of birds, &c.; said to have remained in the possession of a family at Biggen, named Chatterton, for near four hundred years.

A rare and interesting example of Old English manufacture.

- 9 P. Brown ware POSSET POT, from Biggen Hall, inscribed "Ann Goodwin, March 3rd, 1747."
- 10 P, Small brown POSSET POT, with the name of "Hancock (of Youlgrave), 1755."

Posset pots, as the name indicates, were specially made for the purpose of holding the ale posset, eaten to supper on Christmas Eve, in the Counties of Derby and Stafford, and were seldom used on any other occasion. They are not so usually seen at the present day as they were a few years since, although a carefully preserved specimen may occasionally be found amongst the crockery, arranged on the "pot shelf" of old-fashioned farm-houses, in remote localities.

11 P. BOTTLE of grey earthenware, with a handle at one side of the neck, which bears the impress of a bearded face, and having a shield of arms stamped on the globular part. From the City excavations, 1844.

Of the sixteenth century, and of the kind alluded to by the writers of that period, under the name of Greybeards or Bellarmines. See an article on Mediæval Pottery by Mr. Chaffers, in Vol. V of the Archæological Journal, page 35.

- 12 P. ANOTHER, with the neck injured.
- 13 D. Two fruit DISHES, with embossed and perforated decorations, of glazed white Staffordshire ware, 1750—70. Given by Mrs. Anthony.
- 14 D. Curious TEA POT, of the same period, painted in colours with astronomical and mythological subjects, as Aurora in her chariot, &c. Given with the last.
- 15 P. Rose of an earthenware WATERING POT, found in Farringdon Street, London, in 1844.

See Hone's Year Book, 1832, page 754.

- 16 W. CUP with three handles of dark coloured Staffordshire ware, 1550—1600, found in Long Rake Mine, Youlgrave, 1830.
- 17 D. Curious old JUG in the form of a man's head. Given by Hannah Gregory in 1830.
- 18 P. MUG with an elegantly-designed handle of white Staffordshire ware, 1750—70.
- 19 D. Curious DISH, 12½ inches diameter, with various decorations, and a bust of Prince Henry, or his brother, Charles I, in relief. A very desirable specimen. Presented by Mr. Gervase Key, 1st May, 1845, in whose family it had been for almost two hundred years. Perforated for suspension.
- 20 P. Oval VESSEL of white ware, found in Jubber Gate, York, in June, 1845.
- 21 P. Two small earthen BOTTLES, of the sixteenth century, found at York, 1844.

Similar to the Bellarmines in form and texture, but unornamented.

22 D. Upright VESSEL of cream-coloured ware, partly covered with green glaze, 12 inches high, found at York. Presented by Robert Cook, Esq.

Probably of the thirteenth century. See Journal of the Archæological Institute, Vol. III, page 62.

- 23 P. PIECE of earthenware with a man, in the clothing of the Elizabethan period, represented upon it; found in London, June, 1847.
- 24 P. Mediæval JAR of coarse earthenware, found in Wood Street, Cheapside, London, August, 1847; 10 inches high.
- 25 P. Circular DISH of white earthenware, with figures of Adam and Eve in blue heightened with yellow.
- 26 P. Similar DISH, representing a full-length figure in armour; above him P. G.—perhaps for Prince George of Denmark, husband of Queen Anne, or, possibly, the initials of Sir Philip Gell, who died 18th June, 1719; this dish, with the last, having been given by Mrs. Gell, of Hopton Hall, Derbyshire, to an ancestor of —— Sheldon, of Middleton by Wirksworth, from whom they were purchased in 1847.

- 27 P. Mediæval bottle-shaped JAR of light red earth, found at York, April, 1848.
- 28 D. Chinese porcelain BOTTLE, with a green dragon in relief creeping round the neck; slightly imperfect. Given by Mr. Frost, 1846.
- 29 D. POT with spout, handles, and cover, of earthenware covered with thick white glaze; of the sixteenth or beginning of the seventeenth century. Presented by Thomas Masters, Esq.
- 30 P. Small BOTTLE of light coloured earth with green glaze, found in cutting a drain in Walmgate, York, 1845; also another small object, of similar ware, found in St. Martin's Churchyard, York, 1845.

Probably of the thirteenth century.

- 31 D. PIPKIN of coarse mediæval pottery, found during the demolition of Old London Bridge. Given by Mr. Dantziger in 1846.
- 32 P. Small pitcher model of a CHILD'S CRADLE, dated 1693. Bought at Youlgrave; 8 inches long.
- 33 D. Part of a large VESSEL, with spout and handle, of light coloured mediæval pottery covered with green glaze; found about 1847, in cutting the Wakefield and Goole Railway, near the Old Hall, Monks' Hill, Pontefract. Presented by W. Fennell, Esq.

When found it was said to contain bones.

- 34 D. Part of a curious HANDLE, of similar ware, found on Ballidon Moor in 1848. Given by Mrs. Alsop.
- 35 P. PLATE of Raffaelle ware, representing Neptune and Amphitrite.

In a gilt frame.

- 36 D. Large oval DISH, covered with a marbled pattern, popular in the seventeenth century, found at York. Presented by Robert Cook, Esq., 1850.
- 37 P. Mediæval JAR like No. 27, and some burnt wheat, found in digging a well in Peter Lane, York, August, 1850.
- 38 P. DISH of old Staffordshire ware, with two full-length figures of William III and Mary, 1688—1702, and the owner's name, "WILLIAM TALOR;" 161 inches diameter; perforated for suspension.

39 D. Large amphora-shaped VESSEL of mediæval pottery, 22 inches high; the upper part ornamented and covered with green glaze; found, with the neck downwards, full of bones, in digging the foundation for the New Hospital, Monk Gate, York, 1848. Presented by Robert Cook, Esq.

40 D. Mediæval JAR for ale, 14 inches high, with hole for a tap near the bottom—the handle fluted; found in Hudson Street, York, July, 1851.

41 D. Single-handled PITCHER, found at the same time, and, with the last, presented by Robert Cook, Esq.

42 D. Old TEA POT, bearing the inscription— "Long may we live; happy may we be; Blest with content; and from misfortunes free."

43 D. Pint JUG, with a military trophy at one side—a mounted volunteer on the other; circ. 1790. Presented, with the last, by Mrs. Needham.

44 P. Two old blue PLATES, bought at Bakewell.

- 45 W. China BOWL, 91 inches diameter, painted with coloured flowers.
- 46 W. China BOWL, 73 inches diameter, painted with six large human figures; from Prestolee.
- 47 W ANOTHER, 53 inches diameter, painted with flowers: from Prestolee.
- 48 W. Smaller BASIN, like the last; from Prestolee.
- 49 D. BASIN like the last (injured). Given by the Rev. Joseph Wall, 1832.
- 50 W. Two CUPS and three saucers of very thin china painted with flowers; from Prestolee.
- 51 D. CUP and saucer of old painted china. Given by Mrs. Bridget Gill.

MECHANICAL MODELS, WATCHES, &c.

LIST M. I.

1 W. An early BRASS WATCH, of oval shape, with a chased silver face, and band round the outside; maker, "R. Barnes, at Worcester."

From Mr. Yates' Collection.

2 W. SILVER WATCH with arms engraved on the case. Purchased in 1748 by Richard Bateman, of Hartington; maker, "George Hallifax, Doncaster, No. 559." Appended to it is a steel chain, worn by Arthur Clegg.

3 W. GOLD WATCH, the outer case well chased with a scene in high relief, representing the adoption of Moses by Pharoah's daughter; maker, "Robert Green, Liverpool, 308." Appended to it is a gold chain, worn by Thomas Bateman, Esq., of Middleton.

4 P. Old-fashioned GOLD REPEATING WATCH, the inner case perforated with an elegant design, and nicely engraved; maker, "Cabrier, London."

5 P. Old SILVER ALARUM WATCH, the case of engraved open-work; maker, "T. Chais, Geneva."

- 6 P. Curious SILVER WATCH of the seventeenth century, the dial showing the day of the month, age of the moon, &c.; "Richard Crayle, fecit."
- 7 P. Well-finished working model of a high-pressure STEAM ENGINE, with oscillating cylinder and fly-wheel in brass, with a pump attached.
- 8 P. Working model of a condensing STEAM ENGINE,
 - with beam and parallel motion.
- 9 P. Working model of a PUMPING ENGINE, driven by water-power, formerly employed in the Black Sough Mine, near Haddon; made by Francis Walker, of Stanton.
- 10 P. Very neatly rigged model of a trading BRIG.
- 11 P. Model of a Newcastle trading SLOOP.
- 12 P. Early and remarkable CLOCK movement of iron, ingeniously keyed together; from the Manor House at Kirby Muxloe, Leicestershire.
- 13 P. Model of a ship's BOAT, very neatly made.
- 14 D. Small hand SPINNING MACHINE, used by ladies in the last century. Given by Mr. Frost.
- 15 R. Two teeth and a flat piece of bone from a whale, engraved with representations of vessels engaged in the WHALE FISHERY; executed by Hull sailors, with scrupulous regard to accuracy of detail.
- 16 W. GOLD CHRONOMETER, fitted as a watch to wear in the pocket; of first-rate workmanship, and jewelled in every hole excepting those in which the main spring works; makers, "Perigal and Brown, Coventry Street, London, No. 3,020." The goldsmiths' mark on the case indicates it to have been made in 1778.
- 17 D. SILVER LEVER WATCH, with skeleton movement, capped and jewelled; made by "Mann and Stephens, Coventry (No. 232)," for the Rev. Joseph Wall, by whom it was given to me, on Sunday, 14th July, 1838—three days before his death.—T. B.

- 26 D. SPINNING WHEEL, formerly used in almost every family in the Peak of Derbyshire; now almost obsolete. Presented by Miss Ruth Parker.

ADDITIONS TO LIST G.

CELTIC ANTIQUITIES.

319 P. Remarkably large BRONZE SKEAN or dagger, 11½ inches long, 4½ inches wide at the base, weighing 26½ oz.; which has been handsomely fluted, and attached to its handle by four large rivets.

It is figured in Vallancey's Collectanea, Vol. IV, plate 2, fig. 11. "Mr. Warsaae considered this to be the rarest specimen in my Collection."—MS. Note by Mr. Croker.

320 P. Two flat CIRCULAR PLATES of bronze, respectively 6 and 7 inches diameter; also fragment of a third; found in the South of Ireland.

Probably ingots of metal prepared for casting weapons, &c.

- 321 P. Specimen of SILVER RING MONEY, formed of a square bar, doubled into an oval form; weight, almost 16dwts.
- 322 P. Small twisted specimen of penannular SILVER RING MONEY, from the neighbourhood of Cork; weight, 4dwts. 15grs.

323 P. SILVER RING MONEY, very like the last, but more coarsely twisted, and weighing only 1dwt. 9grs.

324 to 325 P. Two pieces of plain GOLD RING MONEY, linked together; the largest weighing 15dwts. 19grs., the other, which is spirally coiled, and of less diameter, weighs precisely the same.

Rare and important, as affording strong evidence in favour of Sir William Betham's theory of a graduated scale of currency existing in these rings.

326 P. Piece of GOLD RING MONEY, made from half of a larger plain ring, hammered flat at the end, and doubled up; weight, 4dwts. 17grs.

327 P. Handsome RING OF GOLD, formed by three thick wires twisted together, which diminish in size towards the ends, where they are united; weight, 8dwts. 17grs.

A very rare and beautiful variety.

328 P. GOLD TORQUIS, 53 inches diameter, made of a twisted rod of gold; the ends being thicker, and doubled back to form hooks; weight, loz. ldwt. 7grs.

319 to 328 were purchased at the sale of the antiquities of Mr. Thomas Crofton Croker, 21st and 22nd December, 1854.

329 P. Celtic BRONZE SWORD or cleddyr, with fluted and ornamented blade, and seven rivets still remaining in the handle; length, 24½ inches; weight, 32oz. Dredged from the Thames, near Wandsworth, 1854.

 Λ specimen of the greatest beauty, and in the highest possible state of preservation, excepting that it is in two pieces.

- 330 P. Bronze DAGGER or skean, 10½ inches long, which has been affixed to its handle by two rivets.
- 331 P. Side of a bronze BRIDLE BIT, 43 inches long, slightly ornamented.
- 332 P. MASSIVE RING of hollow bronze, 3½ inches diameter, transversely perforated.
- 333 P. Curious ORNAMENT OF BRONZE, 3 inches diameter, consisting of three concentric rings; round the outside of the largest are set eighteen small loops, to which chain-work has been attached, so as to form an ornamental trapping either for a man or horse; weight, $18\frac{1}{2}$ oz.

An example, with the chain work remaining, is preserved in the Museum of the Royal Irish Academy, Dublin; and another is engraved in Vallancey's Collectanea.

334 P. Specimen of plain and thick RING MONEY of bronze strongly plated with gold, weighing 11dwts. 8grs.

An ancient forgery; see Betham's Etruria Celtica, Vol. II, page 109. 330 to 334 found near Limerick in 1854.
