grovere of mankind ； Ag ginst the srrore of mankind，
g gainot the powers of rejudioe，
g ginast the oiden thaunts of Vice Aginst the olden haunts of Vice， Agginat tho blind，benighted train
Of Superetition＇s dank dow Of Spperetition＇s dark domain，
Agninst the myriad hosts of rong，
Time－honor＇d as they are and etrong It is that $S_{\text {pirit of }}$ Reform

 Unike the olden tones ye heard，
There＇s ingpirition in canh word；
Something of Progress，SLicine It speaks to man what man mheond heart，
Nor fans his hope，nor wakes But holds before his mental via Whate＇sr is tangible and true And points the path to haman pliss，
So plainly that he scarceo may miss ； For，lit by Reason＇s heavenly ray，
 Its mission is the good of all：
If，in its oourse，a church should fall，
A school of of scionce may arise Where fell the seeming sicrififee， And Learning spread her grateful store
Where higots robb＇d the poor before． A chureh－spire may refleot the day， To lead his children up to heave This Spirit wanders everywhere；
Wheree＇er the Press，unfetterd－
 Aids Truth，in Faction＇s stormy hour ；
Its omnipesent voice－tones full
Like Joves． Tis lis ench action，thought，and word，
By which heo world＇s deep pulse is tirrr＇d
To renorated life anew By which the keys of mind nre taught
To vibrate to the touch of thought－ Thought，which impels the right and trut It paced the cell with Socrates，
It trod the shore of Galilee， Impell＇d the Maytlower ${ }^{\circ}$＇er the seas，
And nerved Columbia to he free ！ It breaks the prisons＇massive bars． It quelis the nations cruel wars， dnd to the friend converts the foc． No earthly pooer cas bar its way：
It treans hhe world froom onene to zone－ Its agent is the human mind Detormin＇d，dauntilessind firm and froe
Its aim，to give to all mankind
