COOLIDGE TO VETO TAX REDUCTION BILL!

SUPPORT FOR MEDIATION MEASURE GROWING

Misunderstandings About Its Provisions Are Being Gradually Cleared

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 6.—Death of the Howell-Barkley bill, which would abolish the United States Railway Labor Board and set up a different system of settling railroad disputes so far as this session is concerned, was virtually decreed in the House this afternoon when it was put over until May 19. The defeat came on a ruling by Speaker Gillett after several hours of heated debate. The House is due to adjourn June 1.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, copyright 1924
WASHINGTON, May 6.—Organized labor has lined up solidly behind the Howell-Barkley bill which proposes to abolish the United States Railroad Labor Board and substitute for it, a board of mediation and conciliation. Friends of President Coolidge have been saying in the last few days that he would veto the bill, but there is a general misunderstanding about its provisions and it should pass both houses of Congress, a veto may be said to be doubtful.

Membership of Board
The writer erroneously stated a few days ago that the Howell-Barkley plan would eliminate the representatives of the public and leave railway disputes to be decided by interested parties. The truth is the representatives of the employers and employees will alone constitute the membership of the four national adjustment boards which are to settle grievances and conflicts and interpretations on rules. But the principal body, to be known as the board of mediation and conciliation, will consist of five members, all of whom will represent the public. This is directly in line with the recommendation of the late President Harding. For, at present, the Railroad labor board consists of three representatives of the railroads, three of labor and three of the public. This means that three men, representing the public, usually have the deciding vote as almost invariably the parties at interest influence the votes of their representatives. To cure this weakness, the representatives of the employers and employees will appear before the board of mediation as advocates and pleaders for their respective causes and the judgment will be rendered by five impartial judges.

The four national adjustment boards are not to assume jurisdiction over disputes unless the employer or employee make application. This means that to be able to bring a dispute before the board, the company unions and the railway employers can adjust working conditions and wages between themselves the adjustment boards will not come into the picture at all. There are certain company unions which are objecting to the Howell-Barkley bill on the ground that it is unnecessary but the advocates of the measure say that a long list of labor organizations do want such tribunals and the bill proposes to give them the machinery for adjustment which they seek.

The Howell-Barkley bill combines many of the features of the Newlands act, the Erdman act and the present transportation act. It has, however, introduced one important change which has been the basis of opposition by railway

Wilbur of California, declared on his arrival here this afternoon to address a meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce tonight.

Cattle Scourge About Checked, Reports Show

Solano county has been free from infection for fifty-two days, the summary showed; Alameda forty-two days; San Francisco forty-two days; Stanislaus twenty-two days; Mariposa twenty-two days; Kern eighteen days; San Bernardino fourteen days; San Joaquin eleven days and Madera seven days.

FEAR DEFEAT OF REPARATION PLAN

Counter Coalition May Halt Germany's Adoption of Dawes' Project

BERLIN, May 6.—Although the new coalition government resulting from the general election will have a majority in the Reichstag, fears were expressed today that a counter coalition may make it extremely difficult to pass the laws necessary to put the Dawes reparation plan into effect. The government will require a two-thirds majority in the Reichstag to change the constitution.

Foreign office officials said the policy of the present government, which has already accepted the Dawes plan, will be continued. The crucial question now is whether the struggling results give the nationalists one or two more seats than the socialists, in which case President Ebert would be morally constrained to charge the nationalists with the task of forming a new cabinet.

The union would have two jurisdictions, each comprising the areas now covered by the two churches. The name of the joint organization will be selected at the first joint conference and the report will be acted upon tomorrow.

Republican Chiefs Attempt to Save Remains Of Bill

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Smartering under the defeat of the Mellon tax rates, Republican leaders rallied their forces in the Senate today to save the remainder of the administration's new revenue bill.

Although a coalition of Democrats and insurgent progressives wrote the Democratic (Simmons) rates into the tax reduction bill, administration spokesmen gave notice they would force another test vote of the Mellon plan before the measure is finally enacted by the Senate. Indications were that the Mellon plan would only be defeated again.

FACE NEW MENACE TO PROGRAM
The administration ranks faced a new menace to their program today in the proposal of Republican insurgents to restore the excess profits tax, wiped out several years ago by a Republican congress and condemned by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Led by Senator Brookhart, Republican, of Iowa, the insurgents announced they would force a vote on his plan to assess a 10 to 40 per cent tax upon all excess and undivided profits of all corporations. With night sessions beginning today, there were indications the new revenue bill would be finally enacted by the Senate within 48 hours. It must then go to conference to adjust differences between the House and Senate bill.

COMPARISON OF BILLS IS GIVEN
The House adopted the Longworth compromise, which differs chiefly from the Simmons plan in that its surtaxes range upward only to 37 1/2 per cent.

A comparison of the Mellon, Longworth and Simmons bills follows:

Income	Mellon	Longworth	Simmons
$4,000	3 per cent	2 per cent	2 per cent
Next $4,000	6 per cent	5 per cent	4 per cent
Above $8,000	6 per cent	6 per cent	6 per cent
Surtaxes
$10,000	1 per cent	1 1/2 per cent	1 per cent
$25,000	8 per cent	7 1/2 per cent	7 per cent
$50,000	16 per cent	17 1/2 per cent	17 per cent
$100,000	25 per cent	25 per cent	32 per cent
Above $200,000	25 per cent	37 1/2 per cent	38 per cent
Above $500,000	25 per cent	37 1/2 per cent	40 per cent

VETO WOULD FORCE EXTRA SESSION
The ultimate bill as sent to the White House undoubtedly will be a compromise between the Longworth and Simmons rates. It was generally believed the conferees would take ten days or two weeks to adjust the technical differences, with indications the measure would not go to the White House until the last week in May. A veto by President Coolidge then would force an extra session of Congress after the presidential conventions or a campaign without a tax reduction legislation.

It is predicted that about thirty-five per cent of the registered voters of the state will go to the polls today. The polls close at 7 p. m. Telephone The Glendale Evening News, Glendale 1332, and the latest information will be cheerfully given you.

Voters of the city of Glendale are today casting their ballots at the presidential primary and also at the Los Angeles county flood control district bond election.

Up to noon a light vote had been cast. It is estimated, on the basis of the morning vote, that about 30 to 35 per cent of the registered voters will be recorded. Workers for Coolidge and Johnson delegates on the Republican ticket are at the polling places, as are workers for W. G. McAdoo and the set of delegates opposing him on the Democratic ticket. However, harmony prevails here and the election is passing very quietly.

All Urged to Vote
There are thirty-three polling places in Glendale. The polls will remain open until 7 o'clock tonight and any who have not yet voted are urged to do so at once. Supporters of Coolidge ask that any Coolidge voter who wishes to be taken to the polls will be accommodated by telephoning Glendale 3583. Democratic voters are asked to telephone Glendale 2812 for free automobile service.

It is being predicted this afternoon that most of the vote will come into the polls late in the afternoon and between 6 and 7 o'clock. Considerable interest is being displayed in the bond issue of $35,300,000 for the control of the flood and storm waters in various sections of the county, including Sycamore canon district. The bond issue is the plan of J. W. Regan, engineer of the district.

Romance On Hot Sands

Here are MR. AND MRS. BEN THROOP, who were married after a romance of the desert. The bride has been picked as "America's most beautiful girl." The marriage ceremony was performed in the apartment of Fanny Ward, noted actress, in Algeria.

PARIS, May 6.—Rube de Remer, whom the famous etcher, Helleau, picked as the most beautiful woman in America, is living a real romance that outdoes the score of reel romances in which she exhibited her beauty. Traveling in Algeria, she became the subject of the attentions of a "sheik." He happened to be an American, however, answering to the name of Ben Throop. After a lengthy love affair they were married here. Incidentally, the religious ceremony was performed in the apartment of Fanny Ward, who a few years ago was a noted figure on the American stage and screen. Rube's face has certainly been her fortune. A poor girl, she first attained luxury as a member of Ziegfeld's more or less well known chorus. Since then her beauty has made her life a bed of roses.

COMPROMISE IN SENATE CAUSE OF PROTEST

Mellon Plan Is Finally Abandoned; Fight on Maximum Surtax

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Strong indications that President Coolidge will veto the tax reduction bill now pending in the Senate because of the rejection of the Mellon rates, came from the White House this afternoon. It was stated officially that the president does not propose to enter into any compromise on tax reduction with opposing elements in Congress, and that he believes the bill, as it now stands, is undesirable.

Abandon Mellon Plan
Among the undesirable features, the president includes not only the Democratic income tax schedules, substituted by the Senate for the Mellon rates, but also the provisions for general publicity for income tax returns. The Mellon plan was finally abandoned by the administration ranks in the Senate this afternoon when Republican leaders agreed to make their next stand upon a maximum surtax of 32 per cent in the new revenue bill. This decision was reached at a party conference.

Judge Martin, who yesterday was notified that the girl and man were sane, announced before sentence that he would give them "all that was coming to them." He gave them the limit today. The bandit girl will go to Auburn prison. Her husband will do his time in Sing Sing. They were arrested in Jacksonville, Fla., after the girl's baby had died.

"Where Cleaning Is a Science"

What happens to your clothes when you have them "re-newed" by the Fanset cleaning process?

Part 3 of a Series
A "Cream Separator" That Separates Dirt

The Fanset process washes your clothes in Naphtha that is always clean.

The Naphtha is kept everlastingly clean by a centrifugal machine working on the principle of a cream separator which separates the dirt from the Naphtha.

This clean Naphtha rinses through the fabric until it is immaculate.

Clothes cleaned by absolutely clean Naphtha stay clean longer. They do not collect dust so readily.

Fabric cleaning and renovating is a science with Fanset. Fanset's is not a mere "cleaning and pressing shop."

It is an establishment thoroughly equipped with the most modern machinery, where skilled and experienced tradesmen take pride in their occupation.

You can readily note the superiority in Fanset process work.

PROTEST USE OF CANYON ROAD AS DRAINAGE OUTLET

Residents Contend City Can Use Highway Only for Traffic Purposes

A protest against using Sycamore Canyon road as the main drainage outlet for flood waters, signed by Francis Leitch, 639 Kimlin Drive, and thirty seven other property owners on this projected street between Walnut street and Sinclair avenue, was filed with A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, yesterday.

The protest states that Sycamore Canyon road is not the natural drainage course, and the residents are aware of the amount of silt, waste and debris which is brought down by the flood waters, under ordinary conditions.

They further contend that the city has no right to the road except for traffic purposes, and claim that when the right of way was deeded to the city, they did not understand it was to be used as a "canal."

RADIO FANS AND 'RAINMAKER' MIX

Farmers Demand Moisture, But Young Folks Want Ether Concerts

By L. C. OWEN Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924. SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—The quarter of a million radio fans and the thirty thousand farmers in this vicinity are engaged in acrimonious debate today over the question of which is most important—radio concerts or rain.

William J. Collonon, who claims prowess as a "rain maker," is the bone of contention. Collonon recently pointed with pride to a couple of unforeseen showers which followed hard on the heels of agitation of the ether with his electrical "rain making" apparatus.

Radio Fans Kick One of his machines is located here and the other at San Jose, 50 miles away. Every day he points the machines toward each other and turns on the juice. This, he says, will effect atmospheric changes and cause rain to fall.

The radio fans, however, contend that the only thing Collonon is producing is static, which is knocking all the fun out of owning a radio receiving set in this part of the world.

Collonon insists that his apparatus does not produce static. His rain seeking waves, he contends, travel at a much higher altitude in their quest of clouds than do the radio waves.

The radio fans retort that static develops only when the "rainmaker" is conducting his campaign for showers, and that as his theory of rain making is largely a pipe dream anyhow, he should be kept from sending them contentless to bed.

Hoover No Charge Just now, largely because Secretary of Commerce Hoover, while exercising some control over radio uses, has no authority over would-be rain makers, the controversy between the pro and anti rain making forces is at an impasse.

The farmers are standing behind Collonon and urging him to keep up his activities. The radio fans—or some of them—have pooled their pocket books and hired a lawyer, who is devoting through his Blackstone in quest of a legal precedent on which to base an action against the rainmaker.

Meanwhile, the crops continue to parch and the farmers aver that if the radio bugs don't let Collonon alone, they'll have to whistle for their fruit and vegetable supply this summer.

TELLS NEED FOR CHRISTIAN LIFE

Baptist Revival Service Is Attracting Crowds to Hear Evangelists

A splendid attendance last night at the revival meeting at the Baptist church attested to the popularity of the two evangelists, Misses Amy Lee Stockton and Rita Gould, who are receiving a hearty reception from their Glendale friends.

Miss Stockton's sermon emphasized the obligation of Christian service in leading other people into the Christian life. With telling force she told of the value that God Himself sets upon a human life and of the personal consecration to God that is necessary on the part of all Christian people to enable them to influence others to a godly life.

Special Music She showed how this personal effort to persuade others is the hardest work that anyone may undertake and yet is a task that will be accompanied by special strength and wisdom from God himself.

The singing of Miss Gould and the choir that she is training, is one of the appealing features of the meetings. The singers are now preparing for a special service on Thursday night, when they will sing the songs of "Dixie," and all who are from the south are heartily urged to attend.

DONATIONS HELP HOSPITAL'S WORK AMONG CHILDREN

Reports Submitted at Meet Of Glendale Auxiliary Reveals Progress

The reports heard at the meeting of the Glendale auxiliary of the Children's Hospital society yesterday at the home of the president, Mrs. E. J. Morgan, 1125 South Central avenue, were declared very gratifying.

In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, who is visiting in San Francisco, Mrs. F. W. Kille, the secretary, gave the treasurer's report. The report showed a balance of $73.60 on hand, the fund having been enriched by a donation from the Glendale Welfare Chest of $50 and one from Mrs. Leigh Bancroft of San Francisco, formerly of Glendale, for the sum of $10.

Make Many Garments The work committee, of which Mrs. F. L. Doggett, second vice president, is chairman, reported a large number of garments cut out and distributed among various societies to make. Chapter A. H. P. E. O., chapter C. J., the Thursday Afternoon club, Mesdames B. F. Lhannon, McNaughton Barnes and W. E. Anderson were reported as having garments out at the present time.

Mrs. Morgan, the president, reported that on Sunday, May 4, she took thirty-nine new garments to the hospital.

As previously announced, a donation of $500 had been made to the hospital through the Glendale auxiliary. Of this sum $300 was used to purchase another Glendale crib and $50 for a life membership for the donor. On Monday it was voted to use the balance $150, for the maintenance of the two Glendale cribs.

Mrs. Morgan also reported attending the Glendale Welfare Chest meeting.

Help Sick Child A letter from the hospital authorities reported that the $15 donated in April to the brace fund was used to pay the balance on a brace for little 4-year-old Florence Gill and that she is making satisfactory progress. From time to time reports are promised as to the condition of this little protégé at the Glendale auxiliary.

On motion of Mrs. E. V. Bacon, first vice president of the auxiliary, it was voted to purchase an electric lamp to be used for treatment of patients in the orthopedic ward of the hospital.

Mrs. Kille reported one associate membership and two annual memberships since the last meeting, also that three "Milk" bottles had been placed to receive contributions for the hospital.

Mothers To Be Honored With Flowers, Messages

The carnation will be queen of flowers next Sunday, May 11, for America will celebrate annual "Mothers' Day," when tribute is paid in every state in the union to motherhood.

If you would honor "Mother" be she living or dead, wear a carnation. If she is living, remember her with flowers, a gift or message, be she near or far. If she has passed on, wear a carnation and pay tribute to her memory by remembering some other mother for whom the day might pass unnoticed.

In assisting American people to celebrate "Mothers' Day" the Western Union Telegraph company has special printed, artistic "Mothers' Day" message paper. Messages to mothers will be written on these and delivered by neatly dressed boys wearing carnations in their coat lapels.

To save money, self denial is not the first essential. System in savings counts first. Self Denial then takes care of itself automatically. PUBLIC DEBT REDUCED

The record of public economy and fiscal reforms made by the Republican administration since 1921 is the most remarkable that has been made anywhere in the world.

The interest-bearing public debt on March 1, 1921, was $24,051,684,728. On March 31, 1924, it was $21,355,792,208, a reduction of $2,695,892,520. For every reduction of a billion dollars in our debt there is an annual interest saving of $45,000,000; thus the interest charges have been reduced in excess of $112,000,000 a year since the Republican administration came into control.

Added to this is the savings obtained by the refunding of an average portion of the unpaid debt at a lower rate of interest than it originally carried. This is conservatively estimated to run into the tens of millions.

During the last three years our foreign loans made during the war, aggregating $11,000,000,000, have been given attention by a commission of which Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is the chairman. As a result of the work of this commission our loans to Great Britain and Finland, which constitute approximately 35 per cent of our total foreign loans, have been refunded and payments upon the principal and interest have begun.

As a result of these financial policies, taken in conjunction with the general program of economy of this administration, our bonds have advanced from 85 to par or better, our expenditures have been reduced by over $2,000,000,000 a year and a surplus has been created in the federal treasury. This has made it possible to propose another reduction in federal taxes, the first having been made by the Republican administration in the fall of 1921.

It has been largely due to Secretary Mellon's work and counsel that all this has taken place, with the result that the United States has made greater progress in the way of financial readjustments following the war than any other nation.

Secretary Mellon is the financial manager of the United States, and as such is responsible for the fiscal affairs of the greatest business institution ever known. His administration of the treasury recalls the splendid traditions of that department under Alexander Hamilton.

MARY PICKFORD KNOWS HOW

With all of her talent and beauty, Mary Pickford still would be working for a few dollars a week if the power of advertising had been withheld; Heifitz, master violinist, would be drawing only a fiddler's wage had printers' ink failed to make him known; Henry Ford might still be as poor as a bicycle tinker, had his message through the printed pages of countless newspapers and magazines been thrown in the waste-paper basket; if Abraham Lincoln were alive today, he would require the support of this marvelous power—advertising—to reach again the president's chair. No one would know he had announced his candidacy unless the message were flashed through advertising channels.

Nothing has prospered, no man or woman has become famous, no city has grown—very much—unless printers' ink has carried the message to millions of receptive minds. The United States owes a large part of her growth to the printed page; California would have, today, a few missions and a lot of climate—and little else—if her wonderful story had not been told and re-told, over and over, and over again. This holds good for Los Angeles, and this holds good for Glendale. We will prosper and grow, or stand still and stagnate, according to how much and how well we use printers' ink and other kinds of advertising. Nature did her part countless centuries ago. Man has partly done his part. But much remains to be done, and unless we want to remain in the "fiddler" class, and the "bicycle tinker" class, we must adopt the same methods that brought fame and fortune to Heifitz, the violinist, and Ford, the automobile manufacturer.

We've got the goods. No city has more natural advantages. We can be a head-liner city if we want to. But there is only one way. Let's profit by what Mary Pickford, Mr. Heifitz, Henry Ford and others are demonstrating before our eyes every day. Just ask them what they would think about discontinuing advertising! You know the answer.

TRUE HAPPINESS

Write these lines in your Life's Book of Facts; in capital letters, if you wish, with each word underscored to give it emphasis: No man has tasted true happiness if he has knowingly withheld, at all times, the things he might have done to make others happy; no man has known the joy of living if he has been miserly in purse or smiles; no man has witnessed the sunshine of life unless he has known the up-hill climb, in one way or another; and lastly, no man has ever mounted to lasting fame in the eyes of a justice-loving people, unless he has endeavored to put self in the background and labor for the common good.

Reputations are sometimes made almost overnight; but they are lost in the twinkling of an eye. Truth endures. Justice alone marks the permanent highway to a better civilization. Hope thrives on justice; graft and wrong doing apply the brakes to her progress, but eventually she must overcome—will overcome—all obstacles. Someone has said: "Men do not die—they kill themselves." Many times it might well be said: "Happiness does not fly away unless we bid her go."

California is the honeymooners' paradise. Smooth highways suggest a married life devoid of ruts; the tranquil Pacific is symbolic of a trip devoid of storms; giant redwoods suggest a long life; song birds trill a sweet wedding march; flower-lined byways and bridle paths perfume the air and speak of the beautiful; and lastly, a perfect climate bids the newly-weds proceed without fear of a frosty journey. But in spite of this our divorce courts are jammed and the judges are crying for help. Dan Cupid is as clever as ever, but he is not as constant.

Babies born since the war are surprising the doctors with their vigor. These are the days when you have to yell for what you want.

It's difficult to convince the fellow who has three blow-outs in five miles there is no such thing as bad luck.

Some political fences are made of barbed wire—as straddling statesmen are finding out to their discomfort.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we had a Congress that did its work expeditiously and then adjourned?

QUEEN OF THE MAY IN ACTION—AFIELD AND AT HOME

The Nations Of The Future

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The nations which at present occupy public attention and which take up most of the pages of history are the nations of Europe.

The day of Europe is past. That which shall bring it to a subordinate place is the tremendous advance in the means of transportation; transportation of goods, of men and of ideas.

That is, the steamship, the railway, the airplane, the telegraphic wire and the radio. Frank Bohm, in a recent article, said that the six areas of the earth which have been selected by geologists as the homes of truly great nations of the future are (1) Russia (2) China (3) India (4) North America (5) South America (6) Australia. Each of these areas, he contends, is a natural geographic entity. Each will eventually support a stupendous population. Each will be driven on by its geographical and economic factors toward internal social and political unity.

During the coming century or possibly several centuries, the greater historical forces must work themselves out upon these primary areas.

If you will look at a map of the world on Mercator's projection you will see the force of this statement.

You will notice that up to the present time most of the history of the human race, at least what we call its civilized history, has occupied but a small section north of the Mediterranean sea and latterly in the territory of the United States.

There is no reason why, in the future, culture, art, comfort and all the things men desire, should not be developed in regions where there is more room.

The history of the past has been filled with the doings of a little portion of the human race struggling to emerge out of barbarism into civilization.

The history of the future will concern the spread of civilization into those outlying regions where the more adventurous and sturdy sons of men shall have the opportunity to try their hand with Destiny.

The races of the future will probably be a Nordic type, occupying the northern portion of the United States and of Europe; a Latin type, occupying South America and South Europe; an Oriental type, occupying the eastern portion of Asia; a negroid type in Africa and an Indian type in India. Australia will probably be divided between the Nordics, in the south and more temperate portion, and the Oriental, in the north or tropical portion.

OUR MOST POWERFUL MEN

(Nebraska State Journal)

Millions of American farmers believe that their deflation troubles were caused by acts of the federal reserve board. A great many who are not farmers—and this includes some bankers—believe that acts of this board, the rules of our financial system, did have a bearing on the troubles of deflation. The farmers believe that the board caused the deflation. Many others believe that the board was responsible for an unnecessary amount of inflation. In either case, the ultimate effect was much the same.

Whether either is right may be left here to such as care to continue the discussion. That the board had the power to make the mistakes charged against it is not to be denied. Now comes the board, in annual report, admitting the power. It speaks of the vast surplus of gold, nearly half of the world's supply, now in its keeping, and finds in this a "high responsibility." If the power concentrated in the board's control of this mountain of gold is improperly employed, the board reports, "it may result in disturbances in this country's own economic affairs as well as of the economic and financial affairs of the world."

The federal reserve board has, in short, the power to say, within wide limits, what a dollar shall be worth. That means power to say how much any man owes or is owed. A "high responsibility" indeed.

Where the oil investigation will stop, when its last chapter will be written, becomes more and more uncertain every day. Put at least one fact stands out clearly, at all events, and that is that oil men in one respect resemble the Lord. They are no respecters of persons or parties. Their financial blessings fall on Democrats and Republicans alike. When party organizations are strapped for money the good Samaritan oil men rush with warm hearts and full hands to their relief.

To do good by stealth and blush to call it fame is one of the generous characteristics of all oil men apparently. Whether oil exercises a softening effect upon the human heart or whether it creates what is called an "open mind" we do not know, but oil magnates somehow seem to soar above the petty partisanship exhibited in Congress. They are all fellows well met with persons of all political complexions. Like St. Paul they are all things to all men, or the same thing to every man.

And they do not cast their oil upon the political waters in vain. Like the meek they inherit the earth, especially those parts which contain oil. Government by democracy? No! Government by oil.

GOOD CLOTHES

(From Indianapolis News)

That "apparel oft proclaims the man" has been taken as the foundation for a campaign by an eastern association of clothiers, who will urge men to buy good clothes and then live up to them. This idea has been used to considerable extent in fiction, as in the case of Skinner, who was plugging along and not getting anywhere. He bought a dress suit, although he could not afford it. The sight of himself in evening clothes pulled him out of the rut, and soon he was a successful executive—which may be interesting but not wholly convincing. Efficiency experts talk about the psychological effect of one thing and another, urging that as a man thinks, so will he be. A man in tattered garments probably might lack the aggressiveness that would come as a natural complement to the individual who realized he was suitably attired. Nearly all the stories dealing with the rise of successful young men used to be written with the shabby, but carefully mended and pressed garments of the hero. When he succeeded, despite his favorable appearance, he naturally bought some new clothes and began to dress the part of which promotion and recognition of his qualities had taken him.

WHAT FOLKS ARE THINKING

(From The New York Times)

Sober folks are not thinking which party will be helped or hurt by what has been going on in Washington for the past month. They look deeper and see dangers. One of them is the possibility of great injury to Congress itself. It has too frequently in the weeks just past shown itself a victim of mob-psychology. Senators who are to be the sworn judges in impeachments have announced themselves in advance ready to convict. The inquisitorial power of Congress, which should be reserved for great events, has been placed at the disposal of men who display no sense of responsibility and who make use of it for the pettiest and most malicious purposes. What should be the strong medicine of the Constitution, reserved for rare occasions, has been made the daily bread of scandal-mongers and assassins of character.

All these things bring Congress under suspicion and into disrepute. For its own sake it should make haste to recover its judgment and to demonstrate to the country that it is in Washington to see that the government is allowed to do its work without intimidation by demagogues or baseless attacks by scheming partisans.

A Thought That Came Today

By HARVEY E. WESTGATE of Glendale

HOMING PIGEONS
Some of the smiles uncaged today
Will spread their wings and fly away;
Circle and soar to left or right,
Flying at dawn or late at night—
But always, ever, circling true
These flying smiles return to you.

Some of the cheer uncaged this morn
Will ease some heart that's crushed and torn;
Crushed and torn by a thoughtless word
That someone spoke and someone heard—
But cheer uncaged will circle true
And flying thus return to you.

Some of your kindly acts, I know,
Will sprout and bloom from seed you sow;
Some of the things you scatter wide
Will reach a soul and there abide—
But like the dove that circles true
Each kindly act returns to you.

Little Studies

—of— Human Nature

JUDGING OTHERS BY OURSELVES

While human beings have many characteristics in common yet no two of us are exactly alike in appearance, in our action or attribute. And sometimes it is difficult for us to understand the thoughts, the motives, the deeds of our fellow humans. We are so apt to judge others by ourselves. If evil thoughts and desires are in us it is hard to believe that others are good. If we are good it is difficult for us to understand how others can deliberately do the evil things that some do. We know ourselves best and it is a perfectly natural, a thoroughly understandable trait of Human Nature that we judge others by ourselves. But in doing so we are very apt to jump at conclusions and accept circumstantial evidence for real proof.

A family of father, mother and three children moved into a certain neighborhood in Glendale from Los Angeles. The youngest girl, they said, was not their own but the child of the mother's dead sister and they had adopted her. She was dearly loved by the whole family and, as was natural favored her aunt or foster mother to some extent. Most of the neighbors soon accepted this family for the splendid people they were, a very worth-while addition to the neighborhood. But there was one woman who never could be so unselfish as to take another's child into her home and she could not understand generosity and kindness in others. She went to and fro in the neighborhood whispering that something was wrong. The child resembled the mother. She would never believe it was adopted. She never got so far as to consider that these people would have no motive for saying the child was not their own if it were. It was simply that she could not understand unselfish love, being so very selfish herself.

It is only proof of our weaknesses and failings when we are so quick to attribute unworthy motives to others on circumstantial evidence. It is not only unjust to jump at conclusions when the acts of others are being judged but we reveal our characters in doing so.

It is more charitable to give our fellow humans the benefit of the doubt when there is a doubt but it also proves that we are not such bad fellows ourselves. We would not be doing evil under the same circumstances so why should we believe the worst of another?

Human beings differ but it is a trait of all Human Nature for each to judge the other by himself.

THE STORY

Dr. Ralph Leslie, just graduated from medical college, and just over an attack of typhoid fever, ships on the yacht Ella as a sort of deck steward. He is penniless and thinks this will be a good opportunity to recuperate. Marshall Turner is the owner. His wife, her sister Elsa, a divorcee named Mrs. Johns, and a man named Vail are the passengers. Turner is dissipated and evidently jealous of his wife and Vail. There is a crew of fourteen, including the stewardess, a maid named Karen Hansen, the cook and Williams, the butler. Charlie Jones, a German sailor with a bent for religion, is friendly to Leslie. Captain Richardson and Turner have an argument over running the ship. Turner, drunk, appoints Singleton captain. Richardson knocks Singleton down and threatens to put Turner in irons if he interferes with the running of the boat. Mrs. Johns asks Leslie to sleep near the passengers' staterooms, in a pantry, as she is afraid of trouble. One night Schwartz, the second mate, disappears overboard, though nobody sees him jump. On the night of August 12 Leslie wakes in the pantry to find himself locked in. Vail, Captain Richardson and the maid, Karen, are murdered with an ax. The men put Leslie in charge, and they decide to head back to port. The ax is found where it was hung into the stewardess's berth. She says that Karen had been robbed by a bell in the night, she thought Mrs. Turner's, but Mrs. Turner says she did not ring. Karen told the stewardess she thought Turner, who had annoyed her, was outside the door. She opened the door, screamed, and fell dead. Mrs. Sloane said she saw a figure in white in the door throw the ax toward her. The crew imprisons Singleton. Leslie and Burns share responsibility for keeping up discipline. They lock the ax in the captain's cabin and Leslie takes the key. The other key, the one to the pantry, has not been found. "They put the bodies in a life-boat. Leslie and Elsa find that the bell that called Karen registered Vail's room. Leslie sees Elsa pick up a key in Turner's room. Turner gets delirium tremens and raves about Vail.

XIV—THE FIRST MATE TALKS

The weather was in our favor. The wind on our quarter, a blue sky heaped with white cloud masses, with the sunset fringed with the deepest rose. The Ella made no error, but sailed easily. Burns and I alternated at the forward companionway, and although the men were divided into watches, the entire crew was on duty virtually all the time.

I find, on consulting the book in which I recorded, beginning with that day, the incidents of the return voyage, that two things happened that evening. One was my interview with Singleton; the other was my curious and depressing clash with Elsa Lee, on the deck that night.

Turner being quiet and Burns on watch at the beginning of the second dog watch, six o'clock, I went forward to the room where Singleton was imprisoned. Burns gave me the key, and advised me to take a weapon if I did not, however, nor was it needed.

The first mate was sitting on the edge of his bunk, in his attitude of the morning, his head in his hands. As I entered, he looked up and nodded. His color was still bad; he looked ill and nervous, as might have been expected after his condition the night before.

"For God's sake, Leslie," he said, "tell them to open the window. I'm choking!"

He was right; the room was stifling. I opened the door behind me, and stood in the doorway, against a rush for freedom. But he did not move. He sank back into his dejected attitude.

"Will you eat some soup, if I send it?"

He shook his head.

"Is there anything you care for?"

"Better let me starve; I'm gone, anyhow."

"Singleton," I said, "I wish you would tell me about last night. If you did it, we'd go on, if you didn't, you'd better let me take your own account of what happened, while it's fresh in your mind. Or, better still, write it yourself."

He held out his right hand. I saw that it was shaking violently.

"Couldn't hold a pen," he said tersely. "Wouldn't be believed, anyhow."

The air being somewhat better, I closed and locked the door again, and, coming in, took out my notebook and pencil. He watched me craftily. "You can write it," he said, "if you give it to me to keep. I'm not going to put the rope around my own neck. If it's all right, my lawyers will use it. If it isn't—"

He shrugged his shoulders. I had never liked the man, and his tacit acknowledgment that he might incriminate himself made me eye him with shuddering distaste. But I took down his story, and reproduce it here, minus the technicalities and profanity with which it was interlarded.

Briefly, Singleton's watch began at midnight. The captain, who had been complaining of humors, had had the cook prepare him a mustard poultice, and had retired early. Burns was on watch from 8 to 12, and, on coming into the forward house at a quarter after eleven o'clock to eat his night lunch, reported to Singleton that the captain was in bed, and that Mr. Turner had been asking for him. Singleton, therefore, took his cap and went on deck. This was about twenty minutes after eleven. He had had a drink or two earlier in the evening, and he took another in his cabin when he got his cap.

He found Turner in the chart-house, playing solitaire and drinking. He was alone, and he asked Singleton to join him. The first mate looked at his watch and accepted the invitation, but decided to look around the forward house to be sure the captain was asleep. He went on deck. He could hear Burns and the lookout talking. The forward house was dark. He listened outside the captain's door, and heard him breathing heavily, as if asleep. He stood there for a moment. He had an uneasy feeling that some one was watching him. He thought of Schwartz, and was uncomfortable. He did not feel the whiskey at all.

He struck a light and looked around. There was no one in sight. He could hear Charlie Jones in the forecastle drumming on his banjo, and Burns whistling the theme of "If it ails you, strike the bell." (It was the duty of the officer on watch to strike the hour.) It was then half after eleven. As he passed the captain's door again, his foot struck something, and it fell to the floor. He was afraid the captain had been roused, and stood still until he heard him breathing regularly.

"You'll be sick enough before you get back!" he snarled.

Does Elsa get rid of the incriminating key to the pantry door? Tomorrow—The White Light.

CLUB, ORCHESTRA JOIN IN CONCERT FOR MUSIC WEEK

Work of Officials Praised By Mayor Robinson In High School Talk

Talent that is destined to advertise this city far was heard last night at the Broadway High school auditorium, where hundreds enjoyed the joint concert of the Glendale Choral club and the Glendale Symphony orchestra, sponsored by the local Community Service organization in observance of National Music Week, J. Arthur Myers directing.

Following the conclusion of the orchestra numbers, Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" (first movement) and the German "Henry VIII Dances," R. Ernest Tucker, of Community Service, appeared on the platform and introduced A. L. Baird, president of the organization, who traced briefly the development of the Choral club and Symphony orchestra.

Mayor Spencer Robinson, the next speaker, declared: "Community Service is Glendale's glory. Without music, what would our city be? We want to get so happy over music that we holler 'Hallelujah!'"

Praises Musicians

Mayor Robinson then praised the work of Director J. Arthur Myers, Alexander Mitchell, president of the Choral club, Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb, accompanist, and Miss Marie Oliver, whose vocal achievements are winning renown outside this city. Mrs. Mitchell then spoke, paying a fine tribute to Mr. Myers, and, at the conclusion of her remarks, presenting him with a gold insignia from the Choral club and Community Service. She presented Mrs. Erb with a beautiful bouquet of roses and in turn presented with roses by Mrs. Erb, Tucker, who likened the tribute to a Mothers' Day token, referring to her as "The mother of the Choral club."

"The Singing City"

J. Arthur Myers, the last speaker on the brief interlude of talks, told of his ambition to have Glendale known as "the singing city," just as Mayor Spencer Robinson is known as "the singing mayor." He then thanked Mrs. Mitchell, the Choral club and Community Service for the beautiful gift, concluding, from the bottom of his heart, "I love you all."

The program was resumed with a vocal solo, "Learner's," by the Green of Minnetonka, sung by Miss Marie Oliver, with violin obligato by A. Bert Gottlieb.

The third number was a costume prologue, "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," with Indian dances by Julia Pelley and Gould Moore of the Pearl Keller School of Dancing and Dramatic Art, and the fourth number, concluding the program, was a cantata by the Glendale Choral club, Coleridge Taylor's "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," with an incidental vocal solo, "Onaway, Awake, Beloved," by Dr. Joseph Marple.

University Student Reports Car Theft

Miss Thelma Wise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wise of 710 South Central avenue, who is a student at the University of California, Southern Branch, had her Chevrolet touring car stolen yesterday while she was attending classes.

Miss Wise had an expensive battery stolen from a new Studebaker sedan about three weeks ago. The car doors had been locked and the thief pried up the floor boards and removed the battery. Since that time Miss Wise has been driving the Chevrolet, and yesterday parked it in front of the school, as usual. When school was out and Miss Wise went to get her car she found it had been stolen, it is reported.

Travel Permitted All Over State, Is Official's Ruling

SACRAMENTO, May 6.—Answering hundreds of inquiries from all sections of the United States and Canada, Dr. U. G. Houck, in charge of federal and state experts engaged in fighting the foot and mouth disease, said today that travel to and from California and in every part of California is perfectly safe for the general public. "Quarantine regulations have been materially modified," said the federal chief, "and are not such as to prove inconvenient for travelers between the east and California or within the state. Persons planning to visit California need not allow any consideration of this cattle disease to interfere with their plans. Furthermore, no reason exists for suspicion of meats, poultry, vegetables or fruits produced in California offered for sale."

Dr. Houck said that no record exists of any human being suffering infection as contained in reports of the several outbreaks of the foot and mouth epidemic in the United States since 1870.

employers. It prohibits the employer from interfering in the selection of representatives from controlling the organizations of employees so as to dictate the selection of employ representatives. This has been inserted to overcome the embarrassments encountered by the present United States railroad labor board in determining exactly who actually represents the employees on certain railroad systems. It is the outcropping of the old fight as between national labor organizations like the American Federation of Labor and such unions as have been fostered by the Pennsylvania railroads for its own employees. On the Pennsylvania, nobody can represent the workmen in a dispute except persons actually on the Pennsylvania payroll.

BURBANK, May 6.—Building permits for April, just past, totaling $213,745, exceed by $61,780 the total of $151,963 for April, 1923. This brings the total for the year so far to approximately $1,000,000.

There were 452 permits issued, of which 125 were for residences and business buildings; 152 for electrical work, 103 for plumbing and 72 for cesspools.

Esperson and an $8,000 dwelling house to be built by Mr. and Mrs. D. Morro at the corner of Fourth street and Grinnell avenue.

Could Not Sleep, Tells World with Sign, Now in Jail

CHICAGO, May 6.—Publicity brought Henry Sorlye the sleep he sought when other methods failed.

He was unable to rest, he complained, because noisy crowds from a nearby cafe continued their merriment as they passed under his window. Police found no grounds for legal action, so Sorlye set forth his grievance in a large sign, eight feet by eight, displayed from a tree in front of his home.

He awoke today after a night of undisturbed slumber in a cell at the Warren avenue station. The charge was disorderly conduct at the Warren avenue station.

OFFICER SLAYS CATS BY SCORE

R. H. Brown Snuffs at Least One of the Nine Lives from 22 Meows

EAGLE ROCK, May 6.—Deadly indeed is the aim of Officer R. H. Brown of the local constabulary, and swift the trigger finger of this keen-eyed young Texan. In forty-eight hours he killed twenty-two, with twenty-two shots—cats, of course, than which nothing is more prevalent in this community at the present writing.

Unaware of this record for local feline extinction and irate over the fate of his own pussy, who paused to stop a bullet that was traveling rather fast, Fred D. Fenn of 1958 Chickasaw avenue got the police department on the phone and demanded to know why he had been discriminated against.

"You haven't," came the cheerful voice of the desk sergeant. "Twenty-one pussies have suffered the same fate as yours. Our boys have orders to shoot cats on sight and we have a lad on the force as can shoot the eyebrow off a fly at forty rods."

And then came the tale of "Tex" Brown.

As Mr. Fenn said when he heard the record piled up by the youthful Dead-eye Dick, "that guy sure is the cat's meow!"

REALTORS FAVOR VOTE FOR BONDS

C. of C. Official Tells Benefits to Eagle Rock from Their Passage

EAGLE ROCK, May 6.—The bond issues being voted on today have been endorsed by the Eagle Rock division of the Los Angeles Realty board. In speaking for the bonds, Secretary Donnell G. Montgomery of the local Chamber of Commerce points out:

That: Approximately $651,000 of the bond issue would be spent in Eagle Rock, for the purpose of extending service, increasing facilities, etc.

That: If the bonds carry, it will mean a reduction of power rates to users here, effective as soon as the bonds are sold, the then price of electricity being 5-6-10 cents per kilowatt hour, as against about seven cents now, under the Edison company regime.

PLAN FOR CONVENTION—PASADENA, May 6.—Approximately 3,000 delegates are expected to attend the 1924 annual convention of the Los Angeles County Christian Endeavor society, to be held here late this summer. The meeting will continue for three days.

MANY FEATURES ON PROGRAM AT SCHOOL TONIGHT

Drama, Dancing, Vocal and Instrumental Numbers Besides Radio

Drama, dancing, music and radio entertainment are to be happily combined tonight in the National Music Week program to be given in the auditorium of the Harvard High school. William G. Bode, member of the special Music Week committee, announces that the program will begin at 8 o'clock and that the public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

In addition to the Pacific coast radio entertainment, to be received by a Kennedy Model 5, three tube radio, installed by the Glendale Phonograph company of 123 South Brand boulevard, there will be program numbers presented by the Pearl Keller Studio of Dancing and Dramatic Art; the Emerson School of Self-Expression and the Cavanah Studio.

Miss Keller always contributes talented numbers to any program, and tonight her studio will be represented by five talented little solo dancers. Adrienne McPade will dance "Love Tales"; Marie Louise Brown, "The Powder Puff"; Eleanor Marek, "Patriotic Dance"; Blossom Moore, "The Red Balloon"; and Elizabeth Hoffman, "Cupid Dance."

Dramatic Sketch. Representing the Emerson school, Miss Bess Long and Mrs. Ethel Cleghorn will give the dramatic sketch, "Fast Friends," and Miss Marie Walsh will give two pianologues, "Morning Call" and "Annual Protest."

The Cavanah studio is to send Robert Burson, tenor, who will sing "The Road That Led You to Me"; Lloyd Freyer, who will give a saxophone solo, and John McCormick, who will give a cornet solo. They are all pupils of Julius Kranz, violinist.

These various attractions will be given alternately with radio numbers brought to the auditorium clearly by a powerful amplifier, which will greatly magnify the reception.

ASKS NEW BUREAU

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Creation of a federal bureau of medical research to "investigate physical, chemical and biological processes" for the benefit of the general public, was proposed in the Senate today by Senator Copeland, Democrat, of New York. Copeland sponsored a bill which would appropriate $1,250,000 for the construction of a laboratory. It would be conducted by a medical director at a salary of $15,000 a year.

INVESTIGATE DISEASE

REDDING, Cal., May 6.—Federal livestock inspectors rushed to Pitville on the Lassen county line following reports that scores of cattle were discovered on two ranches in that vicinity with what is believed to be the hoof and mouth disease. Descriptions of the diseased animals received over the telephone were described by Inspectors C. E. Carter and Dr. A. D. Bullock as differing from symptoms of the dread disease.

FAVORS BIG NAVY

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, addressing a meeting of the Republican women of the District of Columbia here, placed himself on record as favoring an American navy which "will be second to none. I stand absolutely for a 100 per cent navy—the equal, at least, in every respect to any power on land or sea," Wilbur said.

1000 FIGHT PLAGUE

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—The county is employing 500 special deputy sheriffs and 500 agricultural department workers in combating the foot and mouth disease. It was learned. In addition to this number the federal government has thirty veterinarians here and the state has a force of more than 100 handling their part of the work.

AUTO CRASH FATAL

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—D. D. Brown, 74, 201 Mission road, San Gabriel, died at the Santa Fe hospital yesterday from injuries he sustained when run down by an automobile said to have been driven by Ira C. Collier, 318 East California street, Glendale. Collier was held for a short time but was later released by the district attorney.

Why I Am In Glendale

During the summer of 1916 I was visiting in California. Having relatives near Tujunga, I frequently passed through Glendale on my way there from Los Angeles. I thought then that if I had my choice of a place to live, Glendale would be the one, not thinking it would ever come to pass. Two years later my husband contracted a severe illness, which left him a confirmed invalid. We were then living in Northern Alberta, Canada, and though a beautiful, fertile country, the cold in winter is intense, making it very hard for sick persons to enjoy the open air. My thoughts began to turn with longing to the lovely city of Glendale, which I had admired so much. Finally I persuaded my husband to make the change, so here we came with our family, and are likely to remain.

Percentage Tables Show Native Sons In State Reduced

SACRAMENTO, May 6.—Owing to the tremendous immigration to California, the native-born population is steadily decreasing in percentage tables, it was disclosed today by L. C. Ross, chief of the state bureau of medical statistics.

In 1900 more than 45 per cent of the state population was born in California, said Ross, as compared with the figures for 1923, which show that but 37 per cent was native.

The general belief that Iowa contributes more residents to California than any other state is proven incorrect, according to Ross. The figures for 1923 show that Illinois leads in this respect with a total of 140,000 Illinoisans now claiming California as their home.

Analysis of 1923 returns show 41 per cent of California's population came from other states and 22 per cent are foreign-born.

Californians rarely leave their native state permanently. Even when native sons leave the state, their first choice is Washington, second Oregon and third Arizona, all Pacific coast states.

Urge Conference to Fight Cattle Plague

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace yesterday was requested by western senators to call a conference of western governors immediately for the purpose of adopting measures to prevent further spread of the hoof and mouth disease. The senators sponsored a resolution urging a governor's conference be called so that new quarantines would not be instituted in the west because of the spreading disease. The meeting was attended by senators from the mountain and Pacific coast states, and was presided over by Senator Cameron, Republican of Arizona.

FAVORS NEW PORT

SANTA ANA, May 6.—Importance of the project to make Orange county harbor a major port of the Pacific was stressed in a report by Major E. D. Ardery, United States government engineer. It is claimed by harbor advocates that immediate action should be taken because of the necessity for the development of new ports in Southern California to open up new arteries to the sea from interior points and to relieve the congestion now existing at present ports.

IDENTIFY BODY, BELIEF

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Sheriff's officers believe they have identified the body of a man about 50 years of age, found in a cave at the base of a cliff six miles from Redondo, as that of James Reid, 908 West Seventy-fifth street. Reid has been missing since April 13. The description of the body and of the missing man tally exactly, officers say.

GIVES STRIKE REMEDY

BUENOS AIRES, May 6.—With all Argentina caught in the grip of a paralyzing general strike, President Alvear, after consulting with his cabinet, sent a message to Congress suggesting that the new pension measure—the cause of all the trouble—be modified. He maintained that the basic principle should be utilized for a future pension law.

ENVOY TO LEAVE

BERLIN, May 6.—M. Krestinsky, the Russian ambassador, announced he would leave for Moscow because of the German government's refusal to apologize for the police raid at the Soviet trade mission building Saturday, or to recognize the Russian claim for extra-territorial rights at the building.

ASK TRUCK LICENSE

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Chauncey Bluff has applied for a truck line franchise between the central manufacturing district in Los Angeles and Wilmington, according to records at the Railroad Commission offices. Felicien Landier's application for a bus line permit between Point Fermin and White Point was approved.

GIRL BANDIT SANE

NEW YORK, May 6.—On the eve of sentence for robbery, the last hope of Brooklyn's bobbed-hair bandit to escape jail vanished when a special board of alienists declared her sane. The girl, Cecelia Cooney, and her husband, Edward, arrested in Florida, after a series of bold hold-ups in Brooklyn, pleaded guilty.

Scofield and fifty members of Huntington Park lodge, No. 1415, and enjoyed a merry get-together meeting, which will go a long way toward cementing the friendly relations that have existed between these two lodges in the past, according to Earle S. Patterson, exalted ruler of the local lodge.

Other distinguished visitors were Wadsworth Harris of Los Angeles lodge, No. 89, who gave several Shakespearean readings of a very high character, and Colonel C. F. Lennox, past exalted ruler of Patterson, N. J. lodge, No. 90. It was the occasion of the colonel's ninety-second birthday, and he gave a very inspiring talk on Elkdom. The colonel, now a resident of Glendale, is one of the most beloved members of the order in this city.

The exalted ruler and other members of the Huntington Park delegation gave short talks, and invited the local Elks to visit their lodge in the near future. The invitation was accepted by Exalted Ruler Patterson.

A fine southern dinner, with baked ham and all other essentials, served in the club dining room, finished the evening. Next Monday night has been set aside as "Inaugural Jinks Night." Five high-class boxing bouts have been arranged by Harry McCartney and Dan Kelly. It will also be the occasion of the annual observation of "Mothers' Day," founded by the Elks. Lodge will be called promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

DRIVES UNDER PORCH

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—The hand of fate reached out yesterday and saved Willie Shaffer, 26, an employe of the city water bureau, from death when the car which he was driving plowed under a porch on Bonnie Brae street. For forty minutes firemen hacked away with axes to pry Shaffer loose from the wreck, and although his neck was resting on the edge of the broken windshield, the fact that he remained unconscious and did not move saved severed arteries from wasting away his life's blood.

Aeroplane flew 100 miles guided only by spoken signals. Variation of course resulted in difference of intensity of signals.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S BOTTLE OF POP
The rabbit gentleman was about to hop down the front steps of his hollow stump bungalow one day to go adventuring, when Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy called to him.

"Uncle Wiggily, please bring back a bottle of pop," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Baby Bunty wants a bottle of pop."
"She wants a bottle of pop!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "What in the world is a bottle of pop?"
"Well, soda water, if you like that name better," laughed Nurse Jane. "When I was a girl we called it pop, and that's what Baby Bunty wants."

"Oh, I see," chuckled Mr. Longears. "You call soda water pop because it makes a popping noise when the cork comes out."
"That's the reason," spoke Nurse Jane. "So bring Baby Bunty a bottle of strawberry pop."
"I shall do that," promised the rabbit gentleman.

Baby Bunty, the little bunny girl, was spending a few days on a visit to Nurse Jane and Mr. Longears.

Off down the sunshine path hopped Uncle Wiggily, whistling through his teeth and twinkling his pink nose.

"Strawberry pop is as red as my nose," thought the rabbit.

Now about this same time the Fox and Wolf were talking in the woods together as to how they might catch Uncle Wiggily.

"I say get some fly paper and make him sit down on it," growled the Fox. "That's the only way we shall ever catch that rabbit."

"Nonsense," howled the Wolf. "Uncle Wiggily is too smart to be caught on sticky fly paper. We must play a trick on him."

The Wolf thought for a moment and then he answered: "How?" asked the Fox.

"I'll make a sign and hang it out in front of my den. When Uncle Wiggily reads the sign he will come in. You and I will be hiding in the back part of my den, where it is very dark, and as soon as Uncle Wiggily enters we'll jump out and catch him."

"It sounds like a good trick," whispered the Fox. "But what sort of a sign can you put in front of your den to make Uncle Wiggily enter?"

"I'll show you," growled the Wolf. So on a piece of white birch bark, with a fire blackened stick he printed the words:

TOYS FOR CHILDREN IN HERE

"That will catch him, if anything will," said the Wolf, as he hung the sign in front of his den. "Uncle Wiggily is very fond of the animal children. He will think he can get them some toys here and he will hop right into my den. Then we'll have him."

"Yes," chuckled the Fox. "Then we'll have him."
Having fastened the trick sign in front of the den, the Fox and Wolf hid themselves in the back part where it was dark and dismal. Of course the sign was a trick, for the Wolf had no toys for children in his den.

Uncle Wiggily hopped along, happily whistling and twinkling his pink nose, and at last he bought the bottle of strawberry pop for Baby Bunty.

"How do you open this bottle?" asked the bunny of the soda water dog gentleman.

"Just push on this wire," barked the dog, "and the cork will fly out with a pop."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped along with the bottle of strawberry soda water, and at last he reached the den of the Wolf, where the Fox was also hiding.

"Oh, ho! Toys for children in there, eh?" cried the bunny as he read the sign. "I'll go in and get something for Baby Bunty. The bottle of pop is hardly enough for her."

But no sooner had Uncle Wiggily entered the den of the Wolf than that bad chap sprang out of the darkness, and so did the Fox. They caught the rabbit by his ears and growled:

"Now we have you! Now we have you!"

Poor Uncle Wiggily didn't know what to do, and he shook and trembled so in fear that his paw touched the wire on the cork of the bottle of strawberry soda water.

"Pop!" out flew the cork with a noise like that of a gun. The Wolf jumped back and knocked over the Fox, who fell on his nose with a bump.

"Oh, I'm shot!" howled the Wolf.

"No, I'm shot!" howled the Fox. "I didn't know Uncle Wiggily carried a gun!" And the Fox and the Wolf made such haste to get out of the den that they stumbled and fell over each other, bumping their noses again.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the rabbit as he hopped out after the bad chaps had run far away. "It's a good thing I bought Bunny a bottle of pop. And it's a good thing it popped like a gun."

Then he put the cork back in the bottle and hopped home with it to the little rabbit girl, who was very glad the Fox and Wolf didn't nibble her uncle's ears.

And if the gold fish doesn't throw the rubber ball at the hands of the clock when they're trying to wash its face, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the talcum powder.

Kindness Wins Fortune

ANITA ERCELL, who gave her blood to try and save the life of an aged woman, inherits $200,000 as a result of her kind action.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 6.—Kindness pays. If you don't believe it, ask pretty Miss Anita Ercell. Last October Anita, a high school girl, answered an appeal to give blood to save the life of Mrs. William Morton. Mrs. Morton was old—she was 76—and unable to pay for a blood transfusion, but Anita unselfishly gave all that was needed. After the operation Mrs. Morton was notified that she was sole heir to an estate of $200,000 left by a cousin, George L. Dexter, who went to Australia 40 years ago. She had not heard from him in twenty years. When Mrs. Morton died a few days later she left the entire fortune to Miss Ercell. Anita says she is going to buy a farm when she is graduated from school. She is greatly interested in agriculture.

KANSAS CITY, May 6.—Over the paths of the trail which once led by the doors of the notorious "Bender Place," known back in the days of '71 as the "port of missing men," now ride tourists on the new Kansas road which has been opened between Independence and Parsons. Every pioneer of Kansas is familiar with the spot where 12 men are known to have lost their lives under the hammer of Kate Bender, daughter of the notorious roadhouse owners. Tales of the less conservative tell of scores having "passed beyond" in the little inn and grocery store where the Benders held supreme power. Travelers in the olden days used the Bender Inn as a haven. In the little community the Bender family was supreme, politically, socially and judicially. Men were known to have gone to the inn and never reappeared. For a few days stories of Kate Bender's hammer would make the headlines and then apparently be forgotten.

Those were in the days when every man was expected to "mind his own business," and those that did not usually told no tales afterward. It was common throughout that section of the country for men to disappear. They were either slain and all traces buried, or changed their names and their habits, which was an easy matter.

The notorious Benders never were captured. They ruled the community for several years undisturbed, but, almost cornered once in the search for a missing doctor, they fled in the night and were never brought to justice. The skeletons of twelve persons, one identified as the missing doctor, were uncovered in the backyard on the premises. The unraveling of the murders came about through the visit of Dr. William York, of Independence, who announced he had come in search of a friend who had been on his way to Independence and had been seen in Parsons and Fort Scott. Dr. York asked the aid of plainmen in the community in his search for the friend.

All farmers in the vicinity agreed to make a thorough search for the missing friend, but "Paw" Bender objected, saying: "He musta took the wrong trail and ended up in the Indian country." Bender referred to Oklahoma when he spoke of the Indian country, and Dr. York passed down the road in that direction in search for his friend. Then the doctor disappeared. A searching party from his home town in Independence followed the trail of the doctor. Everyone along the trail remembered Dr. York, even the Benders. The searching party continued for a while and then retraced its steps to the Bender home. It was deserted.

Evidence of crime was found in the cellar underneath. One of the searchers, noticing a fresh excavation in the back yard, uncovered the body of Dr. York. It was decided then to excavate the entire back yard of the Bender place, and there was found the "port of missing men." Eleven other skeletons were unearthed. The Benders covered their trail behind them. In their hurried departure they left their stock and household goods and, according to the best evidence found, fled to the Indian Territory, where they found safety. Federal officers and posses of citizens searched for weeks, but the trail of the notorious Benders and "Hammer Kate" disappeared in the Osage Hills.

MAJOR GEORGE L. BERRY

Major George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union of North America, who is the labor and ex-service men's candidate for the vice presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket, was left an orphan at six. He has never had the opportunity of attending any institution of instruction and was 16 years of age before he could read and write his name. Yet today at 40 he operates a newspaper founded by his father at Rogersville, Tenn.

At eight he began to earn his living as a printer's devil, and from that age he shouldered exclusively the responsibilities of life.

Made Pressmen's Chief In 1907 he was elected president of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union of North America, the position he still holds and has held continuously for 17 years. He has developed this organization until today it is one of the greatest labor bodies in the world.

When he assumed the presidency fewer than 16,000 pressmen and assistants were organized; today there are nearly 50,000. When he assumed the presidency the organization had approximately $24,000 and today possesses about $3,000,000.

In 1911 he undertook an unprecedented development. In behalf of the International Printing Pressmen's Union he established and built a city which is now known throughout the world as Pressmen's Home, Tennessee.

Farms on Wide Scale For twenty years Major Berry has been engaged actively in agriculture, having great tracts of land in East Tennessee and Western Kentucky.

In 1914 he was the successful candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Tennessee, being defeated for the nomination by 828 votes.

In 1912 he represented the United States in three great conventions in Europe—the British Trades Union Congress at Newport, Wales; at the International Economic Convention at Zurich, Switzerland, and the International Printers' Congress of Stuttgart.

In January, 1918, he went to Europe as a member of the American Industrial Commission to coordinate industrial activities in the allied countries with those of the United States.

Went Back in Army On his return he received a commission as major in the engineers and returned to France as a member of the American Expeditionary Forces.

After the war he was assigned to the American Commission to Negotiate Peace upon the request of the commission and served as labor adviser and liaison officer of the commission until May, 1919.

In his assignment in Paris with the Peace Commission he took part in the first conference that organized the American Legion.

He has been an active member of that organization from the date of its formation, and was elected its vice-commander at Kansas City. He is largely responsible for the friendly relations between the legion and the American Federation of Labor.

The duty of the good citizen to support restrictive immigration legislation and the maintenance of the purity of the white race in America was insisted upon by Dr. Ivey F. Lewis, Miller Professor of the University of Virginia, in a recent address on "What Biology Says to the Man of Today."

In introducing his subject Dr. Lewis traced the growth of the interest of the average American in the biological aspects of human problems. He showed also that the scientist and the layman alike had come to see that racial survival was no longer that of the fittest, but was becoming confined to the less successful. He gave figures to demonstrate that the birth rate among the intelligent members of the Commonwealth was on the decrease at an alarming rate, while that of the lower groups of the population was on the increase.

"The one clear message that biological investigation has brought as its gift to the thought of the twentieth century is that the idea of environment molding something out of nothing is sheer nonsense," said Dr. Lewis. "What goes into the hereditary mill is what comes out of it. Education and oppor-

At Local Theatres

THE GLENDALE

Jackie Coogan in "A Boy of Flanders," his new Metro picture, directed by Victor Schertzinger, continues at the Glendale theatre. The story is an adaptation from Ouida's immortal story, "A Dog of Flanders." Gone are the formal, braided and militant garments of "Long Live the King"; gone, too, the aristocratic environment and the patrician scenes of life in the palaces of princes and kings. Instead there is little Nello in the poverty-stricken hut of Jehan Daas, who ekes out a wretched living as a carrier of milk from the small farmers of St. Agneten to dealers in Antwerp, a league or two distant.

The picture is replete with scenes of inspiring beauty. No one that witnesses the rescue by the dog, Petrasche, of his little master, will ever forget the tear-evoking power of this episode.

SHE'S SEDATE MATRON

Few people know that Mabel Forrest, convincing, tough little flapper in "White Collars," now playing an unprecedented run at Egan's Little Theatre, is the wife really is a sedate matron, the mother of two charming kiddies. She declares that, in order to get the point of view and the atmosphere for her part, she played office girl in a big department store for a month and listened to the clerks and shop girls discuss their beaux, their future prospects and their vamping rights and proclivities. She states they do this quite frankly, and that she came to understand and sympathize with them as she never could have otherwise.

IRENE RICH HONORED

Irene Rich, the screen actress, has been chosen by the Hollywood Studio Receptionists as the queen of the reception which this organization will give at the Biltmore on the night of May 10. The fact that she was selected out of so many actresses, and then unanimously, without even a ballot, has given her a thrill equaled only by that enjoyed when she received her first role in pictures.

THE GATEWAY

"Lilies of the Field" shows at the Gateway theatre for the last times today, with an all-star cast, including Conway Tearle and Corinne Griffith, supported by Sylvia Breamer, Alma Bennett, Myrtle Stedman, Craufurd Kent, Charles Murray, Phyllis Haver, Cissy Fitzgerald, Edith Ransom, Charles Gerrard and Dorothy Brock.

We find the theme focused on the modern woman and the "deal" handed her by the world. Patient, long-suffering and meek, she is the particular victim of fate, and is buffeted about mercilessly.

With such a theme to work with, Director John Francis Dillon has etched a drama that is destined to prove one of the greatest successes in the history of filmdom. The lives of seven women are depicted in this story, which was adapted from William Hurlbut's stage play.

QUIET AND DECISIVE

Monte Bell, who directed "Broadway After Dark," received most of his technical training under the guidance of Charlie Chaplin.

His directions are given in quiet tones that are decisive and yet are more in the order of a suggestion than a command, and are designed to stimulate the imagination of the actor.

BIG ROLE FOR BLUE

Monte Bell will play the title role in the picture production of "Deburau," which the Warner Brothers will make this season as the most important screen offering of the year.

NOTED DIRECTOR HERE

Hugo Ballin, noted film director, with his wife, Mabel Ballin, the actress, have arrived at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios from New York City and will begin production on a new picture soon.

NOTED AUTHOR COMING

Edith Ellis, author of many of the foremost dramatic successes of the past decade, will arrive in Los Angeles this afternoon, and will witness for the first time her own play, "White Collars," now in its fifteenth week at the Egan theatre.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS
"Dear Doctor—I have lost 16 pounds since the first of the year by following your directions. I still have 40 more I want to lose and I have confidence that I will lose them before spring rolls around again."

"What do you think of the enclosed idea for reducing? One would think our stomachs were distilleries to read this literature. I cannot begin to tell you how glad I am in having found something that will rid me of this unsightly fat. My overweight, however, hasn't affected my activity. I had more vim and vitality than when I was 10 pounds overweight, but when a woman gets to need 44 underwear, it's time she sat up and took notice of her personal appearance, particularly when she has a handsome hubby several years her junior. What say?—One of Your Boosters."

Yes, I agree with you, whether having handsome hubby, unhand-some hubbies, or no hubbies, it's time for her own health and happiness and efficiency. That reducing fake you mention I will write on soon.

Mrs. J.—Don't be influenced by articles you read which tell you that tonsils are vital organs and should never be removed, no matter how badly they are affected. Healthy tonsils are undoubtedly important, but they are not vital; and when they are chronically infected, they are worse than no good because they furnish a focus for chronic poisoning to the system. Joint disorders, heart disease and other diseases can be caused by them. In one of the recent journals of the American Medical Association there was a report of three cases in which marked mental symptoms were completely relieved by the removal of the diseased tonsils.

THE VALUE OF INSULIN IN DIABETES
It is not thought that insulin will cure diabetes. But with its aid the patient can take a more liberal and more pleasant diet, and this results in a general all-around improvement. There is hope that the strain on the pancreas (the disorder of which is usually the cause of diabetes) can be so far relieved that the pancreas can develop its own natural powers ultimately.

Mrs. V. Bake in three loaves for one hour and 40 minutes in a moderate oven. This is excellent and keeps very well if wrapped in waxed paper."

Answer: It was kind of you to send in this splendid recipe. So many other readers also responded to the request for this cake, as well as for the requests for potato pancakes and Danish recipes. I have not published them all as yet, but shall as I can. It is lovely to feel that we are a circle of housekeeping sisters who really care whether one of our number has some recipe for which she longs. It is tremendously interesting to have so many variations on a certain dish, so that we can try the different methods of making it and select the one we personally like best.

Milady Dons Trousers Now

Fashion's decrees call for hand-tinted gowns as a part of the really up-to-date wardrobe, as well as pajamas for street wear. But the styles in coats still remain a note of marked conservatism.

By MME. LISBETH
Handpainted gowns and pajamas for street wear! What next, I wonder. I am glad to introduce a handsome but conservative coat to offset the extravagance of the other two costumes. The gown is a dream, no one will dispute that. Creamy white with luscious American Beauty roses painted on it, trimmed with deep fringe and with a matching scarf. It is alluring, isn't it? The lines are necessarily very straight and plain to show off the roses. The skirt is lifted a trifle in front, making the uneven hem which is still very popular.

BEAU IS JEALOUS
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I don't know what to do. I have been going with a boy for some time. He is very jealous and does not want me to talk to other boys. Just about two weeks after I had started going "steady" with him I had a date with another boy. He soon found it out and this made him very angry at me. He has asked me to marry him. I can't decide on account of the way he acts. He gets angry at any little thing and every time he thinks of this other fellow he acts rather funny. I have told him I won't marry him because he is so very jealous. He says he knows he will change when we are married, but I am afraid he won't.

G. E.—Sulphur should not cause hair to grow on the face, as the suggestion for putting a small amount of it in cream to use for treating a pimple is all right. Confine the treatment to pimples and do not use the cream all over the skin. After using a cuticle remover, the nails and skin thereabout should have plenty of oil or cream worked into them, and if you do this you will not have this tendency to hang nails.

Ethelyn—Agar agar or any of the breakfast cereals in which there is bran will help your condition. The plocarpine tonic has some oil in it, but there are other ingredients that cut the oil. It will not affect the dye in your hair so the shade will be changed.

W. T.—Evidently you are not yet fully built up after the operation. Get out of doors as much as possible for your exercising, and drink plenty of milk, especially hot milk, before retiring. If you can take a quart of it at night it will do much toward filling out your muscles, and the lines will disappear at the same time.

M. R.—If the brown spots on your face are dark or of the nature of moles, have a skin specialist take care of them; but if they are light in shade, they are stains under the skin from some previous attack of liver trouble, and you may bleach them off by using peroxide of hydrogen or lemon juice.

R. M. K., Peggy D., Blue Eyes, A. A. A.—To reduce your double chin, throw your head back and go through a chewing motion for a few moments, or until you feel that the muscles have been thoroughly exercised. Massage with fingertips, beginning from tip of chin downward to the neck, always with a tendency to lift the facial muscles. Finish by rubbing the chin with a small piece of ice or by dashing very cold water over it.

R. S. L.—After removing blackheads, wipe the face with a solution of peroxide, but never squeeze the blackheads, as you are apt to bruise or even infect the skin. A few drops of benzoin in a basin of water makes a simple astringent, but it will not take the place of peroxide, as that is antiseptic.

F. F. L.—Lemon or cucumber juice will bleach off light cases of freckles.

S. M. J.—Henna is not harmful to the hair. Reduce the thighs by taking squatting exercises as follows: Hands on hips, one foot slightly in front of other, crouch so that knees will be at right angle with body, then rise to standing position. Repeat the crouching and standing positions until all the muscles are fully exercised.

Poems That Live

RECIPE FOR A HAPPY LIFE
Three ounces are necessary, first of patience, Then of repose and peace; of conscience, Of pastimes of all sorts, too, Should be gathered as much as the hand can hold; Of pleasant memory and of hope three good drachms. There must be at least. But they should moistened be With a liquor made from true pleasures that rejoice the heart; Then of love's magic drops a few, But use them sparingly, for they may bring a flame Which naught but tears can drown. Grind the whole and mix therewith of merriment an ounce To even. Yet all this may not bring happiness Except in your orisons you lift your voice To Him who holds the gift of health. —Margaret of Navarre (1500).

WASHINGTON AND YALE CREWS ARE EQUAL IN POWER

Contest Between Two Teams Would Be Worth Going Miles to See

By LAWRENCE PERRY
By Special Leased Wire to The Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 6.—It is a pity that the Yale and Washington crews will not measure oars this season. Swinging their sweeps in similar style, well matched in brawn and stature, these two crews should put up a race worth a journey from Seattle to witness. Perhaps in the end, if Yale justifies her brilliant prospects and comes through in preliminary regattas as arranged, something may be done that will enable her to enter the Olympic trials on the Schuykill and thus measure blades with the Huskies and also the Navy. Just at present the late June four-mile regatta on the Thames seems to stand as an insuperable difficulty, but where there is a will there is a way, and there is certain to be a demand from Yale alumni that this eight take a hack at world honors—always assuming, of course, the crew does not, metaphorically speaking, strike a snag in the course of her May regattas.

Big Driving Force
It is, as said, a big crew and it rows a fine, long, deliberate stroke in which is indicated a vast amount of driving force. The men are surprisingly well together for this season of the year; there is a knowing aspect to them, a poise that one is more likely to see in a crew that has found itself after a long period of practice.

Rowing enthusiasts of the University of Pennsylvania may take pride in the showing of Penn's junior varsity which defeated the Yale and Columbia second shells. The Quaker juniors went over the two miles in eight minutes and twenty-three seconds, just four seconds slower than the time made by Yale's winning varsity eight.

This was a splendid showing. It was 17 seconds faster than the Penn varsity made, a fact that recalls an old saying of Jim Rice's to the effect that it is a wise coach who knows his fastest crew. At the same time it should be taken into consideration that the Yale varsity eight, which won the main event in 8:19, might have gone faster had it been harder pressed. Perhaps the junior varsity from Philadelphia might have supplied the necessary pressure. At any rate, as the times stand, that Quaker second boat rates mighty close to the Eli varsity outfit. The men who sat in this Pennsylvania shell were all big fellows and their performance above the promise which their appearance gave.

Races Important
Preliminary races, while growing constantly in importance, are none the less chiefly of value in giving coaches a lineup on their crews in the interest of more critical regattas to follow. One expects that Joe Wright and Jim Rice, twin coaches at Pennsylvania, learned a great deal. As for Columbia, irrespective of coach, they were physically an inferior crew to her two rivals. In point of size they might have been a preparatory school combination, compared, at least, to the young giants against whom they were rowing.

Rough water, almost an invariable condition on the Severn river course, so far as the writer's experience goes, prevented the regatta among crews of Princeton and the Navy. Thus we shall have to wait to get valuable information as to the calibre of the Tiger and Midshipman varsity eights. Coaches will regret this more than anyone, save possibly the oarsmen themselves.

Three Golf Clubs In Finals at Midwick

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Three golf organizations will tee off this afternoon at the Midwick Country club in the final battle for the championship of Southern California. Flintridge, the Los Angeles and Annandale clubs are the trio competing. The 4 to 1 victory won by Flintridge over the Los Angeles club has served to establish the former as favorites, although there will probably be a battle before the title is settled. The big event, which was originally scheduled for Wednesday, was shifted to today, at the request of the golfers.

Hack Is Anxious to Take on Jim Londos

John Hackenschmidt, the battle-scarred wrestler of Glendale, is sending out chesty challenges in the general direction of Jim Londos, who rates as one of the best heavyweights in Southern California. Hack complains that in the past Londos has dodged him repeatedly, but that matters have come to a showdown, and Londos will either have to wrestle him or admit his inferiority. Hackenschmidt says he will take Londos on any time and any place.

THINKS DEMPSEY WILLING TO BOX

Kearns Too Good a Business Man to Let Jack Risk Title for Little

By FAIR PLAY
By Special Leased Wire to The Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 6.—There isn't any doubt that Jack Kearns will hold out for a cracking big piece of money for supplying Jack Dempsey as an opponent for Harry Wills in the arena at Jersey City next September.

Neither should anyone be surprised if the fact stands out before long as an obstacle that may prevent the battle.

Kearns has an idea that his man can beat Wills. But he cannot be even reasonably certain. Of all the possible candidates for Jack's crown, Wills is the most formidable. This being so, there is, of course, more than a slight chance that the champion might be toppled from his throne.

If this happens, Dempsey's days as a big money-maker will be ended. A wise business man such as Kearns surely is would take this possibility into consideration. And he would not be a wise manager if he did not squeeze every cent out of the promoter that said promoter would stand willing to pay.

Kearns' reported asking price, $750,000, probably would be regarded as too big. A fight of the sort, while sure to be successful, hardly seems to justify paying that sum to one of the principals. Of course, if there were a two million dollar gate the demand would seem more reasonable, but no man in his senses believes that the gate, if such a battle is held, will realize anything of the sort.

In other words, fans would do well not to bank too heavily just yet on the fight being staged—no matter what telegrams and reports pass to and fro between this city and California.

Duray to Appear With Bigger Mount Sunday

Ralph DePalma will experience even a tougher job of disposing of Leon Duray, daring Frenchman, next Sunday at Ascot Speedway than the one he tackled and failed of accomplishing last Sunday. For, while the Italian will use his same 122-inch Miller, Duray will make his debut with a 237-inch over-sized eight-in-a-row Miller which he purchased yesterday from Ira Vail, a car which Vail used in winning the three A dirt track championship in the east last fall.

Duray and DePalma will not meet in a match race, for match races are taboo at Ascot, but in three open races—the Plantation Stakes, at a distance of 15 laps, and the accepted stake route, the Straw Hat Derby from a standing start for one lap, and in the Italian Victory Crown dash. Six other star drivers will meet in the Plantation event and four others in the shorter races.

ONE TENNIS LEAGUE PROTESTS Act of Keeping Tilden Out of Olympics

By WALTER CAMP
By Special Leased Wire to The Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Vincent Richards' letter to the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association gives hope that there is not going to be the blight in the tennis world that seemed likely last week.

The letter was received with enthusiasm by the tennis authorities and President Wightman wrote in acknowledging it: "It is good to know that you will be available for the selection. Permit me to say that I consider your action most commendable. It is a credit both to yourself and to the game of tennis."

There still is a possibility, however remote, that William T. Tilden may be brought back into the ranks of Davis cup stars. A little yielding on both sides, and the trick might be turned.

The board of governors of the West Side Tennis club, Forrest Hills, has voted to endorse the tennis association's player-writer interpretation of the amateur rule and urged its members to support the rule by word and act.

The executive committee of the Bethlehem Tennis league, on the other hand, has adopted a resolution declaring the league "does hereby unanimously protest this interpretation and ruling, and requests the committee to take steps to reconsider its action."

These two resolutions mark the extreme positions in the unfortunate situation which has come so near breaking up all harmony in tennis circles. Every attempt should be made to forestall the breaking up of tennis devotees into two armed camps.

KERWIN SECURES CRUZE TO PITCH

Former Vernon Moundsman Is Signed to Take Place of Thornton

Cecil Cruze, released by the Vernon Tigers last week owing to a superfluity of pitching talent, has been signed by Frank Kerwin to hurl for the White Sox the rest of the summer league season.

Thornton left yesterday for Yakima, and the announcement that the White Sox boss has filled his place so soon will be good news for the local fans.

Cruze has been with the Tigers all spring, but has not been able to get his whip in the best of shape and as Bill Essick has a flock of pitchers he gave Cruze permission to make a deal for himself.

Prefers Glendale
Cecil had several offers to play professional ball in the middle west, but preferred to stay in California and pitch for Glendale, in the hope that his arm might come back and he would be offered a berth in a Pacific coast league.

Cruze, like all southpaws, has been very erratic. When right he is unbeatable, and although unable to make the grade with Vernon, should have plenty of stuff for the summer league. He is a great favorite and has a large following in the San Fernando, and should materially increase the crowd at the White Sox park next Sunday when the Sox play the Pacific Electric.

Acadia was the former name of Nova Scotia.

WEAK LINEUP OF PITCHERS BLAMED TO UPSET WILLS

Cleveland and Philadelphia Teams Disappointing For This Reason

By JOHN B. FOSTER
By Special Leased Wire to The Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Cleveland and Philadelphia are dividing honors as the big disappointments of the American league. Much criticism has been directed at them for their failure to rise higher in the flight for the pennant.

It is unpleasant to the partisans of any team to see their pets faltering, or failing to do exactly what was expected of them, but so far as Cleveland and Philadelphia are concerned, it would be a good idea to wait a little longer before throwing up the sponge.

The American league fight is far from over. There are points of strength in that organization which have not even been touched upon. Both Philadelphia and Cleveland presumably have had time to rest and recuperate, and are in operation when some of the other American league teams have lost out.

Over Estimate Power
The pitchers of both teams have failed so far to come up to expectations. That is the big trouble. Possibly Tris Speaker of the Indians may have over-estimated the pitching power of shade, he had with him at Lakeland. Yet, at that time, the old fellows who had been faltering a little in the past seemed to have recovered their grip and usually it is the old men who can be depended upon after July 4. Their experience and their cunning are in their favor and when the weather gets hot enough to boil them out they go well.

There is no doubt that the Philadelphia pitchers have failed to come through and Connie Mack thinks the weather treated him rather shabbily at Montgomery. Florida trained teams, he thinks, now have a little edge on him, and that is why he is planning to go farther south in 1925 than any of his rivals.

If the Philadelphia and Cleveland clubs were weak batting teams there might be more cause for apprehension as to their ultimate future. But they are not, and when they get shifted away in their pitching department—presuming that they do—they will be in the way of more than one team in the American league race.

Last, the outfielder who has been sent from the Minneapolis club to strengthen Washington, is not a bad player by any means but he has got a lot to learn about playing in the shadow of the big stands of the majors. They impose upon these young outfielders the hardest kind of test, because no kid from the bushes knows what it is to play in an outfield and look into a black background sixty feet high.

Among the men out for varsity practice in the L. A. coliseum Monday when Coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson called out his University of California athletes for spring football workouts were Holly Adams, Harold Adams, Norman Anderson, Otto Anderson, Morris Badger, Allen Behrendt, Jeff Cravath, Ted Coffman, Bill Cole, Andrew Cook, Gene Dorsey, Clarke DeGroot, Reginald Dupuy, Raymond Earle, William Friend, Ben Gerphide, Ted Gorrell, Ed Green, Lewis Green, Bert Heiser, Morton Kaer, Harold Knight, Alton McDaniel, Kenneth Newert, Craig Nason, Wallace Newman, Hayden Phythian, Henry Undermeulen, John Riddle, Vern Schiflett, Huber Smutz, Newton Stark, Bill Stever, Fay Thomas, Brice Taylor, Field Thompson, Paul Weber, Elwayne Wilcox, L. V. Weddie, Henry Lefebvre, Manuel Lararetta, John Loustalot, Robert Lee, Willie Lewis, and Lee Whitcomb.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—With an average of .557 for 24 games, Manager Duffy Lewis of the Salt Lake club leads Pacific Coast league sluggers. Cox of Portland is second with .500 and Manager Bert Ellison of San Francisco and Frederick of Salt Lake tied for third with .419.

Look to O'Donnell To Stop Wells In Battle at Vernon

Billy Wells and Johnny O'Donnell are sure to pack Doyle's Vernon arena to the limit tonight when they meet in the main go of a very attractive card. Billy has not lost a fight in Los Angeles, although Jimmy Duffy got the decision over him at Oakland last week. If anybody here can stop him, fans figure that O'Donnell is the one.

Other bouts on tonight's card are: Bode Berout, a newcomer from the lumber camps, and Joe Layman, 138 pounds in the semi-wind-up; Young Farrell, a great favorite with local fans, and Tommy Barone, in the special event at 155 pounds; Mickey McMinu vs. Sailor Crosby at 155 pounds; Ted French vs. Billy Ryan, 122 pounds; Eddie King vs. Frankie Tierney, 135 pounds; Roy Moore vs. Sammy Cirimelli, 145 pounds.

WALSH HEARS RICKARD'S IDEA OF MATCH WITH CHAMP MAY BE CHANGED

By DAVIS J. WALSH,
For International News Service, NEW YORK, May 6.—Intrigued by vague whispering to the effect that Harry Wills is about to have the kinks knocked out of his brunette poll, a bevy of news scavengers descended upon Pompton Lakes, N. J., for the purpose of solving the great mystery as to what Bartley Madden and why. Wills and Madden were down on the books to meet in combat at the Queensboro stadium next Monday night and idle tongues are wagging.

They say that Madden, always a difficult citizen, will not only remain as is for the duration of the bout but is set to make Wills look none too natty by comparison, thus upsetting our Mr. Rickard's favorite apple cart. They say that by the time Mr. Madden finishes the evening in a strictly polite position, Mr. Rickard's ideas about a Dempsey-Wills enterprise for September 6 will have undergone considerable alteration.

The glad news, right from the water bucket, is to the effect that Madden, believing he has the chance of his young life to cut in on some easy money at Wills' expense, will fight hard every minute of the bout.

Everything to Lose
Viewed on these premises, it is the opinion of Broadway that Wills and his man of business, Paddy Mullins, made an unfortunate match in tying up with Madden. Victory will mean little, if anything. Defeat or even a questionable verdict would be tragedy.

In order to put the Dempsey business on a sound footing Wills must knock Madden for a packet of invisible hairpins. The burden of proof rests strictly with Wills since Madden will be deemed to have scored a moral victory if he stays the limit of 12 rounds.

And it is quite possible that he will. He proved too tough a proposition for such as Tom Gibbons, Fred Fulton and other heavyweights when he did his training on Sixth avenue. It therefore, would seem to stand to reason that he will be no pushover for Wills after training steadily for two months in the great open spaces of the Jersey hinterland.

Plan Boxing Contest To Pick Coast's Best

OAKLAND, May 6.—The Pacific Coast's heavyweight elimination contest, designed to develop a boxer for an English invasion, will open in Oakland May 14, Fred (Windy) Windsor, former manager of Jack Dempsey, announced today. Six heavies will box in the opening tourney which will be continued for several weeks with contests in Oakland, San Francisco and other cities.

LOTS OF WALKING

Jacobs walked Caveney with the bases filled in the ninth, after which he walked to the clubhouse, leaving the Reds with a 3 to 2 decision over the Cubs. Mays pitched laudably after the third inning.

THREE ROUND TRIPS

The Dodgers won in a canter from the Braves, 10 to 4. Fournier hitting two home runs and Wheat one. Bancroft, Stengel and Howell were eased out of the pastime for vocal indignities offered Empire Powell.

Tigers and Seals to Fight for Top Place

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Manager Bill Essick and his Vernon baseball team departed for the north yesterday, where the Tigers will engage the San Francisco club for the leadership of the Coast league. At present the two clubs are separated by one-half game in favor of the Seals, and this week's series will probably tell the tale as to who will be leading a week from now.

BABE GETS SIXTH

George H. Ruth socked his sixth homer of the season during the Yankees' 10 to 5 victory over the Athletics. Shawkey pitched shut-out ball for six innings and then lost interest.

PHILLIES STEP OUT

The Phillies stepped out of character long enough to rug Wayland Dean off the premises four innings and beat the Giants 8 to 7.

The Red Sox smote three senatorial pitchers with vehemence and won, going away, 8 to 3, Flagstead.

COMMENT That's All

Have You Voted Yet? It's Your Patriotic Duty Faces Tell Own Story Serious Duty To Perform

By Gil A. Cowan

This has been an unusually quiet election day for Glendale. With only the county flood control bonds at issue, other than the presidential primary, many voters did not show their colors by voting.

If it is not too late when you read this, go to the polls, just as a matter of patriotic duty.

Speaking of the presidential primary, it is to laugh. Coolidge already has enough delegates lined up to gain the nomination. A vote for Hiram Johnson was nothing more or less than courtesy with the hope that he may arise on the floor of the convention and say a few words as regards the party platform.

Senator Johnson had no chance with President Coolidge running for the office. It was American fair play to give the latter a real chance, despite the fact that Johnson was literally promised an opportunity to be president in 1924 if he would "play ball" back in 1920 and support Harding.

That's the way with life, however, and everyone has his little ups and downs.

As you travel the streets of the city the faces of the people tell a story—each and everyone.

It doesn't take a mind-reader to see the poor woman who slaves for a living trudging to work on sore feet; or the fat little man who has made a failure and still tries to dress up with a derby hat and run down patent leather heels.

Not do you need to be introduced to the "important" people of the town. They play their role just as though they were on the stage. Some of the big men, of course, you find hiding behind a mustache, but they do ride in fancy cars and smoke high priced cigars and otherwise indicate the wealth in which they roll.

Yes, life has its ups and downs—mostly the latter, but many a success comes from the ranks of those who have enjoyed the least. So here's a toast to Old Man Optimism that all's well that ends well.

The big business men of the southland have a serious duty to perform. Business has been so affected by the foot and mouth disease, slaughters and quarantine regulations under both federal and state supervision that it is time for industrial and commercial leaders to rouse themselves from the lethargy of confidence in public officials and find out a few things for themselves.

First of all, the cattle plague came so suddenly that few people had the opportunity to inform themselves on the subject. It was very necessary that state and federal officers immediately get on the job. They have met the situation in an admirable manner in many respects, but it must be remembered that these men are salaried veterinarians—not business men.

Further, these dictators of our destiny at the present moment are lacking in advice and do things which they would not do if they had that advice. Their mistakes are errors of omission or ignorance, rather than commission of malicious acts. Nevertheless, they have made a pretty good job of ruining many businesses not connected with the cattle industry in any shape or form and they have so harmed business intercourse that it is high time someone else got to the bottom of things and found out "who is who and why."

There is no graft to be investigated, thank heaven; there is nothing but the best of intentions and splendid personalities. All that is necessary it would seem to the writer, is for bankers, merchants, manufacturers and others to assert themselves and lend a helping hand in the situation. Otherwise this state will pay too great a price for its lack of good sense.

MOTHER OF MINE

There's no one like you in the world, Mother dear, No joy that is glad as my thinking of you; No voice that is gentle and sweet and as clear, No love that abides all the passing years through As the love in your heart, so unselfish and pure, No gold of earth's treasure was ever so fine, And somehow today all my memories lure Me near to you now, blessed Mother of Mine.
