PREFACE

THERE seems to be very little need for a preface to this work on the ROYAL ACADEMY. The book should speak for itself, and if, in practice, it fails to reach the standard of usefulness I have had in view, and used my utmost efforts to maintain, I shall be disappointed. As large undertakings generally spring from small beginnings, and this is no exception to the rule, it may interest the purchasers and users of this book to know that it originated from a small present of wine and a slippery day. On 24th February, 1873 (my birthday) my father requested me to take three bottles of wine to my uncle, Mr. Robert Graves, A.R.A., who was very seriously ill, at Grove Terrace, Highgate Road. I started forth full of vigour and energy with my heavy load; but, owing to a severe snowstorm and the frozen roads I was unable to get a conveyance, so had to walk. On reaching Seven Dials, unfortunately my foot slipped and I fell, and in order to save my precious burden from being injured I held firm to it, and its weight, added to my own, severely injured my left knee; the result was that for eight weeks I was unable to bend my leg, and want of occupation became very irksome to me. As I had the first volume of the Royal Academy catalogues at home for the purposes of my Reynolds book, the idea suddenly occurred to me that to arrange the painters alphabetically would be a valuable work. In half an hour the blue foolscap paper was procured, and without an hour's delay I started on what afterwards proved to be a thirty years' labour. By the end of the eight weeks I had completed the first thirty years of the Royal Academy catalogues, and was gratified to find what a useful work I had accidentally commenced.

I had by this time thoroughly warmed to the undertaking, so I continued the Royal Academy Exhibitions up to 1880 at home, and utilized all my spare time at 6, Pall Mall, in treating the British Institution in the same way. When both these more important series of Exhibitions were complete I devoted myself to the early Society of Artists and the Free Society as well as the Society of British Artists, Suffolk Street.

The result of my labours was the possession of a series of manuscript volumes which at once became of great importance in my father's business, as well as being constantly referred to by my friends outside. The usefulness of the work induced me to compile a summary, which ultimately saw the light in the shape of a Dictionary of Artists who had exhibited in London from 1760 to 1880. The limited edition of 500 was soon sold out, and, encouraged by its success, I decided to bring out a second and much enlarged edition. This involved the copying of all the catalogues of the Royal Society of Painters in Water Colours, the Grosvenor Gallery, New Gallery, and various minor public exhibitions, from their respective commencements up to 1893, and the carrying on of the first edition from 1880 to the same date. In 1895 this enlarged edition appeared, and it was not long before 500 of that were sold.

It was never my intention to have printed any portion of my fifty manuscript volumes, but to keep them for reference in our business and arrange that they should ultimately go to the Print Room of the British Museum, thinking that perhaps the authorities might some day print them.

Original ideas seldom remain unaltered, and I have found myself compelled to yield to the repeated requests of friends and to undertake the preparation for the press of the Royal Academy section of these manuscript books, and I now therefore find myself launched once more into the work I have come to love.

I may as well here explain a few points in connection with the work now offered to the art-loving public.

In this work all the titles up to 1800 have been copied word for word. This I decided to do as this period is the most valuable to students of Early English art. After that date I have been compelled to curtail many of the titles and all the quotations—in the latter case I give the first line only. This curtailing is more conspicuous amongst architects, so that only enough is given to identify the building. In most cases I have given the full Christian names. These I have of course added from other sources, and in the majority of cases I have adopted the actual spelling of the catalogue. When the early catalogues before 1797 give only such descriptions as "Portrait of a lady" or "Portrait of a gentleman," and a name is added in italics, this name has been discovered by me as the result of research through innumerable sources during the last thirty years; but mostly from the newspapers of the day. I am also indebted to the Earl of Rosebery, who kindly placed at my disposal his set of Royal Academy catalogues, containing all Horace Walpole's notes.

In this new work I have added the note to the title of the picture, as I consider a criticism by Horace Walpole is worth printing even if adverse to the work criticized.

There is one point I should like to mention in case any reader may find some of the numbers different from those given in their own catalogues. This is very likely to happen, as in many instances there were several different editions issued, and they are not quite alike, so it must be understood that the following lists were copied from my own set. To ensure accuracy every entry has been checked with the catalogues after being set up.

After I had commenced this work, I was informed that the authorities at the Royal Academy had copyrighted their catalogues for many years past. I therefore applied for their sanction to the publication of my book, and I have to thank the President and Council of the Royal Academy for their kind permission to use the catalogues of the Royal Academy Exhibitions, subject to the condition that any rights I may acquire with respect to this work shall be no bar to the use by the Royal Academy at any future time of its catalogues for the purposes of any similar publications.

Each volume will include a portrait of one of the successive presidents of the Royal Academy, and a number of blank sheets of paper are inserted so as to enable the lists to be continued should the purchaser wish to do so.

1799. 172 Portrait of Elizabeth Woods of Creting Hills, Suffolk, born of respectable parents in the year 1710, and now living.
This singular character, having been by degrees deprived of the greatest part of her house, rather than quit possession, persevered in residing with her two daughters in the remaining ruins, an open chimney, and an oven, that served as their storeroom and wardrobe, having nothing to defend themselves from the weather, in a high and bleak situation, but a screen of bushes, which they shifted according to the direction of the wind. Here they lived sixteen years. At the time this sketch was made, the humanity of the neighbours had added a slight shed, and they are, at present, protected from the inclemency of the weather.

1882. 499 "Floreat Etona!" "An eye-witness of the attack on Laing's Neck thus describes the incident depicted: 'Poor Elwes fell among the 58th. He shouted to another Eton boy (adjutant of the 58th, whose horse had been shot) "Come along, Monck! Floreat Etona! we must be in the front rank!" and he was shot immediately.'
1885. 1081 "After the Battle": arrival of Lord Wolseley and staff at the Bridge of Tel-el-Kebir at the close of the action. "The enemy's retreat, begun at the entrenchments, pressed with an ever-increasing rapidity westward, and it was only when the canal bridge at Tel-el-Kebir was reached that our victorious infantry halted in their rapid pursuit. The Commander-in-chief reached the bridge, almost as the foremost files of the Gordon and Cameron Highlanders gained that point. On the short causeway leading to the drawbridge he dismounted, and there dictated the orders for pursuit by the cavalry and Indian division."
