To the Right Honourable
P E T E R
EARL of FINGALL.

My LORD,

THE Greatness of your Birth, and the Praises of your Progenitors are Subjects too far above the reach of my mean Stile, which would rather lessen than add any lustre to them; Your own particular Character would neither be Pleasing to you, as Offensive to your Modesty, nor come so properly from me, in whom, those who are unacquainted with you, might look upon it as Flattery. In fine Panegyrick is neither my Talent, nor the proper Object of these lines. Their design is not to let the World know who your Lordship is, but to shelter this small work under your Honourable Name. The Bulk to appearance is small, but it is the Substance of many great Volumes, it is a Pocket Companion to divert leasure Hours, with some Benefit, being as it were an Art of Memory to those who like your Lordship have read the History of Spain at Large; for it will bring to mind the notable accidents and revolutions of that Kingdom, which much reading is apt to Obliterate. I will not say more as to the use of it, because it would be repeating what is mention'd in the Preface, nor is it necessary to take up your Lordships time, who are a better Judge of its Value if any, than I can pretend to be, were it none of my own. Tho' your Lordships Noble descent and personal merits, were sufficient Motives to make me Ambitious of your Patronage, yet besides these I could not but reflect that your encouraging Marianas's History of Spain, gave you a more peculiar Right to this compendi-

The Dedication.

compendium of that Celebrated Author and many others. Nor was this all, for your Lordship having twice travers'd all Spain between the Pyrenean Mountains and the Western Ocean, has seen much of the customs and manners of that People, and is acquainted with the nature of the Country, and must consequently have a more special inclination to make its History Familiar, than those have who never knew any thing of it. I am not insensible that your Lordship at that time of Travelling was so Young, it may be objected, you could not be expected to make those observations, that Men do at riper Years, yet not to alledge the forwardness of some Judgments before others, it is most certain that what we see in our tender Years we generally retain longest, and tho' perhaps at that time we be not capable of making the due reflections on it, when we come to riper Years we ruminate on those Ideas, left us even from our infancy, and make no less advantage than if the Objects, themselves were then actually present. Thus doubtless your Lordship daily improves upon the observation of those tender Years, and cannot but be pleas'd to inquire into the Antiquities of that People you have so much knowlege of, besides that in reading of History there is a peculiar gust in meeting often with mention of those places that are known, for then the relation of Battles or other accidents, appears more lively, when our memory represents to us the places where they happen'd to which we are no Strangers. These are particular circumstances which may render the Spanish History more delightful to your Lordship, than to many others, and which have encourag'd me to present you with this small work, as a tender of the sincere respect of,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's

Most Faithful and most

Devoted Humble Servant,

John Stevens.

PREFACE.

THE King and Kingdom of Spain, being at this time, the Subject of most Peoples discourse, and there being very many utterly unacquainted with the History of that Nation; I thought it might be an acceptable undertaking, to give the publick a small relish of it. Mariana's History Translated by me, and publish'd within less than two Years, might in the Judgment of some, have sav'd this Trouble; but if they consider the bulk and Price of that Volume, this Compendium will not appear altogether useless. All Persons who desire to know something of the descent of the Crown of Spain, cannot perhaps so well afford the expence of that Book, others there are, whose abilities might well afford them the purchase, but their pressing affairs, will not allow time to peruse so great a Volume, some are for knowledge, which is purchas'd without much cost or trouble, and many who are studious and take Pains, yet love to carry that Epitomiz'd in a Pocket, which serves at large to fill a considerable place, in a Study. This Epitome therefore may be Beneficial to those whose Purses can go no higher, it may be delightful to themt hat have not overmuch leasure to allow for Reading; it may inform them that are too fond of their ease, and be a Companion to refresh the Memory, of those who have Read the affairs of this Nation, in more Voluminous Authors.

To deal ingenuously with the World I will own the Authors I have taken it from, that I may not be thought to impose upon the Publick, when I say it is collected out of the best Spanish Historians, nor be myself wrong'd by those who may perhaps alledge it is only an Abridgement of Mariana. The method and design I took from Roderick Mendez Silva, who compos'd a small Volume in Octavo, which he calls Catalogo Real Genealogico de Espana, or A Genealogical Royal Catalogue of Spain, Printed at Madrid in the Year 1639. Him I had thoughts at first, to have Translated, but finding upon perusal that he was very defective in several points of moment omitting matters of great Consequence, and intruding many of no Note, only to flatter great Men; I resolv'd only to borrow the form, and what else I found advantagious in him, and for the rest to be at the Trouble of consulting Mariana and Garibay as far as they go, which is but down to the Death of King Ferdinand, but Mariana himself writ a Supplement, which, tho' short, reaches down to the Year 1621, from which Year F. Ferdinand Camargo continu'd down the History, till 1650, and F. Basil Varen de Soto, till 1669. These are the Authors I have made use of so far, and having consulted them, may well say this History is collected from the best Spanish Historians, because they did not only Read all Histories in Print before their time, but search'd all records, and had the help of abundance of Manuscripts. Because the supplements to Mariana, are but short and imperfect, tho' to others they might seem sufficient to compleat so small a Work. Yet that nothing might be wanting, I have look'd over Sandoval's History of the Emperor Charles the 5th, and Cabrera's of Phillip the 2d, two large and compleat Works. Thus far I have gone with Spanish Authors, the rest of these later days having no farther assistance of Spaniards, but what I have already mention'd, of Mariana's supplements I made out of several French, Latin, and English Books, and the last part from the best Domestick and Foreign Accounts. So small a Volume seems, not to require so much Labour, yet I thought it not too much that the Work might be more compleat, nothing that is of great Note being omitted, nor Trivial matters inserted to swell the Volume. Florus his Brevity is never the less esteem'd, notwithstanding Livy's copiousness, and tho' I do not make an absolute parallel betwixt myself and that Famous Abridger of the Roman History, yet this small Work may have some sort of Resemblance with him, if it were but to serve as an Argument to Mariana.

Were I capable, or inclin'd to it, the narrow compass of this Book would not allow much room for Politicial, or Partial Reflections, which in my Opinion, only serve to destroy the Reputation of History, for the first dive into secrets of Courts and Princes unknown to any but God and themselves, the latter shows too much of Prejudice, or Affection, and therefore the Reader can expect little of Ingenuity. My business here has been to give hints of matter of Fact, and considering the bulk it will appear a point of Difficulty, enough to touch upon things relating to so great a Monarchy, since the Creation, till this very time. As to those very far fetch'd Antiquities for many Ages after the Flood, till the coming of the Romans into Spain; they are mention'd as fabulous and therefore the Judicious Reader will not think himself impos'd upon, for that Reason they fill up but a few Pages tho' Transactions of several Centuries, nor were they altogether to be omitted because most Spanish Historians please themselves with bringing down their Histories from the Creation, and we are not behind them in England, since we find People fond of the Chimerical Stories of Samoths, Brutus and many other Romantick Kings and Heroes of our own invention. The Romans gave light to History, and therefore we have some account of theirs and the Carthaginian Wars in Spain, and in that particular nothing material is omitted. When the whole Country was reduced under the Roman Emperors, it continu'd long in Peace under them, and for all that while we have only the Names and Reigns of those Emperors to avoid running into foreign affairs. At length the coming of the Barbarous Nations, afforded much matter for History, but their Barbariety having been the cause that all Learning was in a manner forgot, tho' there was Subject enough to write yet there wanted Writers, which renders those Times no less obscure than others before the Romans. Just as the Goths had reduced the whole Kingdom under their Dominion, Embrac'd Catholick Faith, and there seem'd to be some disposition to restore Learning, the Infidel Sarazens like a torrent over-run, and made themselves Masters of this flourishing Kingdom, sinking the wretched Natives again into an abyss of Ignorance. Yet from this time, that is from the declaring of Pelagius, or Pelayus King, the Spanish History begins to run with a better connexion, and has more of certainty, so that there it is I begin somewhat to enlarge upon Reigns and from that time downward, as matters are better known, and Authors more to be Credited.

As for the descent of the Crown, the great matter in debate at this time, I will not pretend to speak of it any farther, than to declare what this History, shows has been observ'd in all Ages. During the Roman Domination it is plain the Emperors were absolute Monarchs of Spain, but in what manner they Ascended the Imperial Throne belongs not to us to declare. The Gothish Kings were sometimes Elected, sometimes Succeeded their Parents, but the last of them seem to have been settled in the Right of Succession, Pelagius or Pelayus, whether he Descended from those Kings, or not, for it is much controverted, deliver'd the Crown hereditary to his Successors beyond all dispute. In him began the Kingdom of Oviedo afterwards call'd of Leon, which in process of time was united to that of Castile, and the Kings took both Titles as they still do to this Day. Most certain it is that these two Kingdoms in all Ages were the Inheritance of Females as well as Males, as shall appear in these following instances. Favila the only Son of Pelayus dying without Issue, his Sister Ermenefenda, succeeded him, and conferr'd the Royal dignity on her Husband Alonso the first King of that Name. Adosinda Daughter to this same Ermenefenda, succeeded her Brothers Fruela, and Aurelius. Sancha Daughter to King Alonso the 5th was Heiress to King Bermudo

mudo the 3^d, Urraca Daughter to King Alonso the 6th, ascended the Throne after him, Berengaria, or Berenguela Daughter to King Alonso the 9th, after her Brother King Henry, Isabel, or rather Elizabeth, Daughter to King John the 2^d, after her Brother Henry the 4th, Joanna Daughter to the same Elizabeth and King Ferdinand, convey'd the Crown to Philip the 1st, Father to Charles the 5th, and now the Crown is convey'd by Mary Teresa, Daughter to Philip the 4th, to the present King Philip the 5th her Grandson. The Kingdom of Aragon always pretended to exclude the Females, yet we find that about the Year 1134, Ramiro King of Aragon betaking himself to a retir'd Life, his Daughter Petronilla was Sworn heiress to the Crown, and Marrying Ramon, or Raimund Earl of Barcelona, united those 2 Dominions, which she left to her Heirs, and again King Ferdinand having no Issue Male; left that Kingdom to his Daughter Joanna, and in her Right to her Son the Great Emperor Charles the 5th, so that the present King Philip the 5th, is the 3^d that has Inherited Aragon in the Right of his Mother, and the 7th in Castile. So compendious a History as this is requires but a short Preface, least the Porch should be too big for the House, and thus much may satisfy the Reader as to the design, Ground, and Subject of his small Work.

CHAP. I.

From the Creation, till the Year 1070 before the Birth of Christ.

WHEN the Divine Artificer, ^{Year before} Author of Nature, had in six ^{Christ} Days Created the Heavens and Earth, Waters, Trees, Plants, Flowers, Sun, Moon, Stars, Birds, Fishes and Beasts, at the end of that time (which was upon a Friday, being the 25th of March) he at last Created our first Parent Adam, in the Territory of Damascus near Hebron, in the Land of Palestine; and soon after in the Terrestrial Paradise, whither he translated Adam, he made Eve of one of his Ribs, enduing them with original Justice, and many other Perfections, and giving them the Tree of Life to preserve them from Death, upon pain whereof they were forbid to Eat of another, which was that of the Knowledge of Good and Evil. But the B Devil,

Year before
Christ.

Devil, who, thro' his Pride, had forfeited everlasting Bliss, being envious that Man should enjoy it, perswaded Eve, and she Adam, to transgress the Commandment, for which they were banish'd Paradise, and dwelt in the place of Adam's Creation, where remembering the Happiness they had lost, they incessantly lamented the Evils they endur'd. They had Issue, Cain, Abel, Seth and Calmana, Delbora and Azura, Wives to their Brothers. Seth was Father to Enos, Enos to Cainan, Cainan to Maleleel, Maleleel to Jared, Jared to Enoch, Enoch to Mathusala, Mathusala to Lamech, Lamech to Noe, who, at the Age of 600 Years, with his Wife Vesta, or Titea, and his Sons Shem, (being the same as Melchisedech, which signifies Just King, he being such a one over the Holy City of Hierusalem, which he Founded) Ham, and Japheth, and their Wives Pandora, Noengla and Noela, were, by God's Special Providence, deliver'd from the general Punishment inflicted on all Mankind by the universal Deluge, in the Ark built by his particular Command, out of which they came on the 27th of April, in the Year of the World 1657, on that Mountain in Armenia, which the Scripture calls Ararat, the Latins Gordicus, the Armenians Mesefoular, the Persians Agri, and is a part of the Caspian Mountains. Noe divided the World among his Sons, that they might People it. Shem had allotted him all Asia beyond Euphrates Eastward, together with Syria, including the Holy Land. Ham, and his Off-spring, possess'd Babylon, Arabia, Egypt, and all Africk. Japheth had that part of Asia
that

that lies North of the Mountains Taurus and Amanus, and all Europe. Japheth begat seven Sons, (some Authors add one more to this number) the fifth of them was Tubal, who first Peopled Spain, but whether he came to it by Sea, or by Land, is hard to determine. Dr. Carrillo tells us his Wife's name was Noya. He came into Spain in the Year of the World 1697, 142 after the Deluge, and 2163 before the Birth of Christ, which was one Year before his Brother Samothes Founded the Kingdom of France, as Berosus writes. Tubal gave his Spaniards Laws in verse for their better Government, and in the Chaldean Language, which was it he brought into Spain. He divided the Year into 365 Days, and 6 Hours, according to the Course of the Sun, and as it was settled in Chaldea; but in process of time this Computation was lost, till Cæsar restor'd it. He is also said to have taught his People to build Houses, grind Corn, and bake Bread, Teaching them a polite manner of Living, besides many other things for use and conveniency. When he had Reign'd 155 Years, he dy'd in that of the World 1953, after the Deluge 297, and before the Birth of Christ 2008. There is a Tradition, that this great Patriarch Tubal lies Buried on the Promontorium Sacrum, now call'd Cape St. Vincent, in the Kingdom of Algarve. Michael de Luna in his Arabick History says, he left behind him 65000 Grand-children. From hence forward the last Computation of Years, which is by diminishing, till the Birth of our Saviour, shall be follow'd.

Year before
Chr. 2163.

2008.

Year before
Christ.

Iberus, Son to Tubal, from whom the Spaniards were call'd Iberi, and the River Ebro took name, Succeeded his Father, and having Reign'd 37 Years, died in 1971.

1971. Idubeda, his Son, Third King of Spain, Reign'd 64 Years, left his Name to the Mountain Idubeda, and Dy'd in the Year

1907. 1907. Brigus, his Son, and fourth King of Spain, whose Name in the Armenian Language signifies an Alcayde, or Governor, gave his Name to the Kingdom now call'd Castile; and some Authors will have Old Castile, in Spanish Castilla la Vieja, to be a Corruption of Brigia. Many Towns in Spain are suppos'd to have been Built by him, because their Termination was in Briga, as Flaviobriga, Segobriga, Juliobriga, and many others; but it is much more likely this word Briga, in the old Spanish signify'd a Town, and so was added after the Founder's Name, as we see has been practis'd in other Countries. The French terminate the Names of many Places in Ville, as Charleville; the Dutch in Burg, as Ausburg; the Greeks in Polis, as Hierapolis, and so of others. Brigus was the first that bore Coat Armour in Spain, which was Gules a Castle Or, tho' some will have it, that his Grandfather Tubal bore for his Arms a Ship following the Evening Star. He Reign'd 52 Years, and Dy'd in 1855.

1855. Tagus, the Son of Brigus, and fifth King of Spain, of whom the River Tagus took Name, as his People multiply'd is said to have spread farther into the Country, and having Reign'd Thirty Years, dy'd in 1825.

Betus,

Betus, the Son of Tagus, and sixth King of ^{Year before} Spain, was the last of the Race of Tubal. Some ^{Chr. 1825.} will have it that the River Betis, now Guadalquivir, was so call'd from him; but others upon better grounds believe this Name to be deriv'd from Beth, which in the Chaldean signifies a House, either because of the Buildings there were upon its Banks, or in regard to its own greatness, being as it were the great House of the Waters, and from the same Word, which in Hebrew signifies Deep, for this River is the deepest in those Parts; and this seems the more likely, because the Arabs when they conquer'd Spain gave it the Name of Guadalquivir, which in Arabick is a Great Water. This King Reign'd 31 Years, and dy'd in 1764.

Gerion, which signifies a Stranger, the Seventh King of Spain, and first after Tubal's Race fail'd, is said to have been Son to Hiarbas, King of Africk, he was otherwise call'd Deabus, and Chryseos, the first in the Lybian, the other in the Greek Languages signifying a Man of Gold. These Names were given him on account of the vast Riches he gather'd, being the first that heap'd Treasures of Gold and Silver in Spain. Osiris, the Egyptian, coming over, a Battle ensu'd betwixt them, which is the first we have any Account of in this Country, and in it Gerion was slain, when he had Reign'd 35 Years, in 1759. Osiris being Victorious, brought into Spain the Egyptian Computation by the Lunar Year of four Months, and what was worst of all, infected the Nation with Idolatry, which continued till it was banish'd by the Light of the Gospel. He also taught the use of Corn, and the manner of Tilling, though Tubal had done something towards it. The Invention of the Plow, and Pruning of Vines, is attributed to him. The Battle above-mention'd was fought near Tarifa. Afterwards Gerion was buried by his three Sons on a Rock in the Sea near Cadiz, his being the first Body that was ever Buried in Spain, whereas the Custom before was to hang the Dead upon Trees, or cast them into Rivers, which destroys the Reputation of the Story of Tubal's being Buried at Cape St. Vincent.

Christ.

1759. Gerion's three Sons call'd Lominii Reign'd together the space of 42 Years, and then Hercules coming into Spain, they agreed, to save the effusion of Blood, to fight him one after another, and were all by him slain in the Year

Hispalus, Son to Hercules, and Eleventh King of Spain, began a Third Race, that of the Gerions, which was the Second, having lasted but 79 Years, and he having this Kingdom bestow'd upon him by his Father, who made an entire Conquest of it. Of him the City Sevil is said to have been call'd Hispalis. He Reign'd 17 Years, and dy'd in 1700.

1700.

Hispan, Son to Hispalus, and twelfth King of Spain, Reign'd 32 Years, and dy'd in 1668. Of him Authors say this Kingdom took the Name of Hispania, which continues till our time, being the Roman, or Latin Name, for the Greeks call'd it Hesperia, the Hebrews Sepharad, the Chaldeans Sphamia, and the Syrians Sphanio. From the Hebrew Name Dr. Arias Montano concludes it was not peopled by Tubal, bal, but by some other of the Descendents of ^{Year before} Noe call'd Sepharad, because the Jews call'd ^{Chr. 1700} all Countries by the Names of those that peopled them. The Doctor gives good Reasons for what he says, but this small Volume will not allow of these Debates. In general it must be allow'd, that all these Antiquities are weakly grounded, and for the most part fabulous.

Hercules, otherwise call'd Orus Libicus, Grand-father to Hispan, was his Successor to the Crown, and thirteenth King of Spain. He was the Son of Osiris, is said to have perform'd many glorious Actions, but above 40 Persons, at several times, having assum'd the Name of Hercules, it is hard or rather impossible, to distinguish between them, or to separate Truth from Fables. This Hercules is said to have Reign'd 19 Years, dy'd in 1649, and to have been Buried at Cadix.

Hesperus, one of Hercules his Captains, succeeded him, and was the fourteenth King of Spain, and first of a fourth Race, that of Hercules having Reign'd 68 Years. From him some will have Spain to have been call'd Hesperia by the Greeks, tho' it may rather be a Corruption of the Hebrew name Sepharad, by transposition of the E before the S, and the H before the E. He was Expell'd Spain by his Brother Atlas Italus, when he had Reign'd 10 Years, in 1639.

Atlas Italus, Brother to Hesperus, and 15th King of Spain, Reign'd 11 Years, and then some say he dy'd, others that he went away into Italy, in the Year 1628.

- Year before
Chr. 1628. Sicorus, otherwise call'd Orus, succeeding his Father Atlas, was 16th King of Spain. In his time Moses was Born in Egypt. He Reign'd 46 Years, and Dy'd in 1583.
1583. Sicanus, Son to Sicorus, 17th. King of Spain Reign'd 31 Years, dy'd in 1552.
1552. Sicceleus, his Son, 18th King, Reign'd 44 Years dy'd in 1508.
1508. Lusus Succeeded his Father Sicceleus, was the 19th King; Reign'd 31 Years, and dy'd in 1477. He is said to have given the Name of Lusitania to Portugal.
1477. Siculus, his Son, is said to have Succeeded him as 20th King, to have Reign'd 61 Years, and dy'd in 1416. In him ended the fourth Race of Kings.
1416. Testa, an African, Succeeded Siculus, as 21th.
King, and began a Fifth Race, when that of Hesperus and Atlas had Reign'd 233 Years.
In his time the Zarintbians coming into Spain, are said to have Built the famous City Sa- guntum, and a Temple to Diana, which was afterwards in great Veneration. Testa Reign'd longer than any of his Predecessors, except Tubal, which was 74, and dy'd in
1342. Romus, Son to Testa, was the 22d. King Reign'd 33 Years, and dy'd in 1309. Some say he Founded the City Valencia, and that in his time Dionysius or Bacchus came into Spain.
1309. Palatus Succeeded his Father Romus, as the 23d King, and liv'd some Years in Peace, till a famous Spaniard call'd Lucinius, by Sur name Cacus, a Theif or Robber, rebell'd, and many of the People following him, they came to a Battle near Moncayo, in which Palatuus ^{Year before} was routed, and forced to quit Spain, when ^{Christ.} he had Reign'd 18 Years. He was Expell'd in 1291.

Licinius, or Cacus, the 24th King, and only one of his Race, Reign'd 36 Years, and is said to have first found out the Art of Casting among the Spaniards, and taught them to Forge offensive and defensive Arms, besides many other useful and advantagious Inventions. He had continual Jarrs with his People, some of them still favouring Palatuus, who at last returning into Spain with what Forces he could there gather, gave Cacus Battle, and drove him out of the Country with great slaughter in the Year 1255.

Palatuus having recover'd his Kingdom, reign'd Six Years, and dy'd in 1249. In his time Hercules, the Theban, is reported to have come into Spain, and carried thence great Treasures of Gold and Silver.

Erithreus, the 25th King, not Son, but a near Kinsman to Palatuus, Succeed him, and Reign'd, without doing any thing remarkable, 67 Years, dying in 1182. About the latter end of his Reign Troy is thought to have perish'd.

Gargoris is said to have began the 7th, and last Race of the ancient Kings of Spain, when that of Testa had lasted 234 Years, and was the 26th King; Reign'd 77 Years, and dy'd in 1105. It was he that first Taught the Spaniards the use of Honey, and was therefore call'd Melicola.

Abidis, Grandson to Melicola, by his Daughter, and unlawfully begotten, was on that account

Year before
Christ. W count expos'd by his Grand-father to wild Beasts, then to mastiff Dogs, then to the Waves, and having escap'd all these Dangers grew up wild in the Woods, where he was taken in a Gin as a Savage Creature, and Gargoris knowing him by some Tokens, caus'd him to be well Instructed. He is counted the best of the Kings, for he reduced the People till then barbarous and wild, to human Conversation; he also taught them to Plow, Sow, Reap, Grind, and make Bread, which renders all the Accounts till this time fabulous, for there is little or no Authority to prove these Antiquities; and it plainly appears they are, for the most part, Inventions of modern Authors, who Discredit their Histories by such Fables, and are themselves rather look'd upon as Poets than Historians. From this time forward there are some small Hints and Gueses at Truth, but no better till the coming of the Cartbaginians, or rather of the Ro- mans, from whom all the Histories of these Parts must take their best Beginning. Abidis 1070. Reign'd 35 Years, and dy'd in 1070.

CHAP. II.

From the Year 1070. before the Birth of Christ, to the Incarnation of our Redeemer.

After the death of Abidis some Authors ^{Year before} have placed that wonderful Drought, ^{Christ.} if ever there was any such, which they pretend lasted 26 Years, and made all Spain one entire Desert, without Man, Beast, or any living Creature, some retiring in time, and the rest perishing for want. Which Years being past, and due Seasons returning, such of the old Inhabitants as remain'd, are reported to have return'd to their Country, and the Celtæ Braccati came over out of France, whose Name added to that of the Iberi or Spaniards, about the River Ebro, produced that of the Celtiberi, a People afterwards renown'd. Yet most Historians of Note look upon this incredible Dearth to be a meer Fiction, like many others, and give several good reasons for it, among which one great one is, that neither the Greek nor Latin Authors make any mention of it; and another, that there remains no memory of the mighty Transmigration it must of necessity have caus'd.

That the Celts, and other People of France, came over into Spain, is not at all to be doubted, for thence most certainly it was at first Peopled

Christ.

Peopled, whatsoever Romances Authors may invent, and thence was it, without dispute, supply'd with fresh Recruits of Men, as France either grew too Populous, or being at variance among themselves, some were forced to seek new Habitations. This is what may be depended on, as matter of Truth, and the stories of Tubal coming by Sea, and other extraordinary Voyages, are no better than fictions, for Navigation was little us'd several Ages after the Flood, and many Centuries after it was more known, it was only practis'd Coasting close under the Shoar, or crossing Arms of the Sea, where they could see from one Land to the other. Thus the whole Mediterranean came to be known to the Phenicians and Greekes, some of whom afterwards came into Spain, as we shall in the next place make appear.

Some Years after the Reign of Abidis, but the fixt time is very uncertain, the Rhodians came into Spain, where they Built the City Roses, near the Pyrenean Mountains, Taught the People to make Horse-mills and were the first that Introduced the use of Money; which was then look'd upon by the Natives with scorn, as undervaluing those Metals it was made of. But the Phenicians having out-done the Rhodians, in Sea Affairs, were the next that pass'd over into Spain, and having at several times Coasted it along, and found great Riches, came at last as far as the Island formerly called Erithrea, now Cadiz, where they settled a Colony, and spreading from thence, Planted several others along the Coast of Andaluria. Their first coming is by some set down to have been about the Year 822, before the Birth of Christ; and by what we can find, they continu'd about 200 Years, Trading; settling and Incroaching upon the People, without any, or at least no considerable Opposition, for it was about the Year, 622, according to some Authors, and 632, according to F. Mariana, that the Tartessi chose Argantonius for their General to oppose the Insolences of these Intruders. He Prov'd very successful driving them out of all the continent, and confining them to the Island of Cadix, if so be that, he did not expel them thence, as there are those that affirm. There are several Accounts of the length of his Life; Silius Italicus says, it extended to 300 Years; Pliny out of Annacreon, says, 150; Valerius Maximus, Asinius Pollio, and Cicero, 120. In his time hapned the Destruction of Jerusalem, by Nebuchadnezzar, whom several Authors bring into Spain, and Ascribe to him the Building of several Cities, and leaving Multitudes of Jews behind him; but in all these particulars, there are so many Contradictions and Incongruities, that it is not worth our labour to give any account of them.

Near the Year 547 the Phocensians came over in great Numbers out of Greece, and Founded the City Emporia, signifying a Mart, or place of Trade, now Empurias in Catalonia.

After the death of Argantonius, the People of Andaluria ceas'd not to press the Phe-nicians, which was so effectually done that they were forced to call to their Aid certain

Year before Athenians, who being driven from their Chr. 517. Country were wandering about in the Year 517. But this being a weak Supply, they had recourse to the Carthaginians, who were descended from them, putting them in mind of their Original, and for further encouragement, representing the mighty Riches of Spain.

Upon this Invitation the Carthaginians sent a considerable Fleet, under the Command of Maherbal, or Marerbal, the first of that Nation that came into Spain, who Landed in Anda- luria about 516, before the Birth of Christ, and having pillag'd all the Coast, built several Forts. One Baucius Capetus Commanded the Spaniards, and made some opposition, but it prov'd of small effect. The Carthagi- nians grown strong, and desiring to be Masters of Spain without any partners, soon pick'd a Quarrel with the Phenicians they came to support and assist, and after many Contentions utterly expell'd them, and became Masters of the Island of Cadiz. The next Carthaginian Commander we find in Spain after Maherbal is Sappho, in the Year 464, but he did not much remarkable there, being mostly employ'd in curbing the People of Africk, who were in Arms against Car- thage. His Successors were Hanno and Hi- milco, who going away to discover, the one the Coasts of Spain, the other those of Africa, left Gisgo to Govern in Spain, who having Gather'd vast Riches by Extortion, was Cast away in his return home.

Hannibal, the Elder, was his Successor, and built a Town not far from Cape St. Vincent,

which was first call'd after his Name Portus Year before Christ. Hannibalis, now Alvor, in the Kingdom of Algarve. During his Government the Spaniards of the Province Betica, now Andaluria, falling at variance with the Lusitani, they came to a Battle, in which he sided with the latter; it lasted a whole Day, 80000 were slain on both sides, and among them Hannibal Mago, the Carthaginian, who was then busy in the Island Majorca hearing this News, hastened over to the Assistance of his Country-men in Spain. He Govern'd three Years, and return'd to Carthage 428, before the Birth of Christ.

Hanno was the next Carthaginian Governor in Spain, who having by his Cruelty and Rapine incens'd the Natives, they fell upon him, and made a great Slaughter of his Forces, which oblig'd him to send home for Succors, and having receiv'd them made greater havock than he had done before, till he was recall'd, and a Successor sent him, whose Name I find not, After him came Boodes, and next Maherbal, of whose Actions there is little or no account.

About these Times, which was 263 years before the Birth of Christ, hapned the first War betwixt the Carthaginians and the Romans, in which the former being great Sufferers, after Peace concluded resolv'd to make up their Losses by the entire Conquest of Spain, and to that purpose sent Hamilcar Barcinus thither with an absolute Command, and a powerful Army, who brought over with him his Son Hannibal, then but Nine years of Age, which was in the Year 236. He Built a Town

Year before Town on the Banks of Ebro, call'd Old Car-
Chr. 228. thage, entred into a League with the French about the Pyrenean Mountains, then Built the City Barcelona, and after many prosperous Successes was defeated, and slain in a Battle by the Edetani, a People of Catalonia, in the Year 228.

Asdrubal, Son-in-Law to Hamilcar, Succeeded him in the Government, and being a politick Man insinuated himself into the Affections of the People, which much increas'd his Power, and in the Year 225 laid the Foundations of a new City, which he call'd New Carthage, now Carthagenæ. The Romans growing jealous of the Success of the Carthaginians in Spain, sent Ambassadors to require Asdrubal not to molest the Sa- guntines, and others their Confederates, nor to pass the River Ebro, which he solemnly Swore to perform, tho' he intended nothing less, for he spent the three following Years in providing for War, but Death put an end to his Designs he being kill'd by a Slave, in revenge of his Master's being murder'd by his Order; this in the Year 220.

Hannibal succeeded his Brother-in-Law, and having an irreconcilable hatred to Rome, immediately began to dispose himself to commence that War, which prov'd his own and his Country's Ruin. To secure all behind him, he first subdu'd the Carpetani, or People of the Kingdom of Toledo, and carried on his Conquests as far as Toledo. This done, without regarding the Threats of the Romans, he Besieg'd, and at last utterly destroy'd Saguntum, which done he march'd

over the Alps towards Rome, with 90000 ^{Year before} Foot and 12000 Horse. His Actions in Italy ^{Christ} do not belong to this short relation. But this Year 216 was fatal to Spain, for Plague, Earthquakes, and other Calamities. 216.

Gneius Scipio, sent from Rome, came thro' France into Spain, in the Year 215, subdu'd all the Sea Coast as far as the River Ebro, defeated Hanno, destroy'd the Carthaginian Fleet, ravag'd all the Coast even to Cadiz, and reduc'd an incredible number of Places. His Brother Corn. Scipio came to him with considerable Recruits, and being join'd, they took the Spanish Hostages the Carthaginians kept in Saguntum, and restor'd them to their Friends, by which they gain'd the Affections of all the Country; then falling upon Asdrubal, as he was marching into France, routed him, overthrew him again at Ilirturgum, a third time at Incibile, and a fourth at Aurigis, but were at last both of them Vanquish'd and Slain near the River Segura, in the Kingdom of Murcia. 215.

Lucius Marcius, a Tribune, gathering the scatter'd remains of the Roman Army then totally dispirited, manag'd them so well, that first he repuls'd the Carthaginian Army, which came to attack him in his Camp, then pursuing his Victory, cut off all Asdrubal's Forces in their Works, and not so satisfi'd did the same by those under the Command of Mago, in which Actions, 37000 Carthaginians were Slain.

Claudius Nero was sent over by the Senate as Propretor, with 10000 Foot, and 1000 Horse, in the Year 208, and the following 208.

Christ.

Year Pub. Corn. Scipio, as Proconsul, with a like number. He having gather'd an Army and Fleet, laid Siege to, and took Carthagera, routed Asdrubal Barchinus; then Asdrubal, the Son of Gisgo, treated with the Africans, and brought them over to his Party, and reduc'd the greatest part of Spain, the Carthaginians being almost Expell'd.

L. Corn. Lentulus, and L. Man. Acidinus, Successors to Scipio, defeated Mandonius and Indibilis, who durst revolt from the Romans, killing 13000 of their Men. C. Corn. Cethegus, who Succeeded him, slew 15000 Mutineers. Nothing remarkable hapned till the Year 193, when

Cato, the Cenfor, came over, and was the first Consul in Spain. He took Roses and Empurias, and slew 40000 Spaniards in one Battle, which done, many Provinces submitted, and he return'd to Rome, leaving Spain under Pretors, as it continued for several Years, without any Action of great Note, till the first War of Numantia, when Fulvius Nobilior being Consul in Spain, was three several times worsted by the Natives. Mummius over-threw the Lusitanians with a mighty slaughter, Peace was Concluded with Numantia. The Consul Lucillus, having the City Coca Surrendred to him, Barbarously Murthered all the Inhabitants, and Galba the Pretor, in Lusitania with the like Inhumanity Butcher'd a Multitude of those People he had appointed to meet him without Arms, on pretence of Assigning them Lands to live on.

This

This Bloody Treachery gave Viriatius an opportunity of making head against the Romans, in the Year 144, and for Fourteen Years following he did them great harm, Defeating and Killing Vitellius, Routing Plancius, Vanquishing Unimanus, and overthrowing Nigidius. C. Lelius, was the first Roman that worsted him, then Fab. Maximus put him to the Rout. Quincius gave and receiv'd a Defeat. Peace was at length Concluded betwixt the Romans and him; but Servilius, by order of the Senate, broke it, put Viriatius to Flight, and prevail'd with some of his People to Murder him.

Numantia now again Revolted, Pompey Besieg'd it, his Successor Popilius was Routed, Maneinus Concluded a shameful Peace, for which he was deliver'd up, M. Lepidus was beaten with the loss of 6000 of his Men, and Piso far'd no better, till Scipio Africanus coming utterly destroy'd the place, in the Year 131.

Thus Spain was reduced, and for several Years after, seems to have enjoy'd Peace, till in the Year 103, the Lusitanians again Revolted, and Three Years after were again reduced. And in Hispania Citerior, the Cimbri, who came out of France above 100000 strong, were Routed by the Celtiberi. What other Actions hapned, were not of such Note, as to deserve a place here, till the coming of Sertorius into Lusitania, in the Year 79, for he being of Marius his party in Rome, when Sylla prevail'd, Fled into Spain, where he was receiv'd and Honour'd by the

Thus he became a Terror to Rome, for his Lieutenant Hirtuleyus, overthrew Lucius Domitius Toranius at the foot of the Pyrenean Mountains, and after him Manilius, who was Proconsul in Gaule and Sertorius himself several times worsted the Romans, till being over-thrown by Pompey, and Metellus; he was Murder'd by the contrivance of Perpenna, one of his own Commanders, in the Year 69. Perpenna who took upon him the Command after his Death, was Defeated and Killed by Pompey, who having settled the Affairs of Spain, return'd to Rome.

Presently after Julius Cæsar came into Spain, as Questor to the Pretor Antistius, but not liking his Post, went back to Rome, and four Years after return'd with the Title of Pretor, when he entirely subdued the Herminii, and having perform'd many notable Actions hastened again to Rome, to be chosen Consul. In his absence 50000 Spaniards passing the Pyrenees to the assistance of the Gauls, were Routed by Crassus, and 38000 of them Slain. But Q. Cecilius, who was Proconsul in Spain; being over-thrown by the Vacei, the Senate gave that Government for five Years to Pompey, who came not himself, but sent three Legates in his stead. Not long after Cæsar's Daughter, who was Wife to Pompey, Dying, the Knot which had United them, was Dissolv'd, and Ambition hurrying them on, they began the Civil War; and Cæsar having settled Affairs at Rome, to his Mind, came again into Spain, where he oblig'd Petreius, and Afranius, Pompey's Lieutenants, with their whole whole Army to submit without shedding a drop of Blood, having so surrounded them that they could neither Fight, nor get off, but must starve. Varro, another of Pompey's Generals, being Deserted by his Men, Surrendered himself, Ships and Stores to Cæsar, who having had all the Success he could wish, went away to Rome. Longinus, whom he left to Govern the farther Province, through his Avarice caus'd the Army to Mutiny, was in danger of being Murder'd, and flying to Italy, with the Treasure he had got together was cast away. Tho' Pompey the great was Defeated in the Plains of Pharsalia, and afterwards Kill'd in Egypt, yet his Party was not quite extinct for several great Men opposed Cæsar, and Pompey's Sons coming into Spain, and being grown formidable, oblig'd Cæsar to return thither once more. After many Actions of less Note, the Two Armies met near Munda, where was Fought a most Bloody Battle, and Cæsar was so near being Routed, that he afterwards Declar'd he here Fought for his Life, however he obtain'd a Compleat Victory, and then having reduced all that opposed, returned to Rome, the whole Sovereignty being Devolv'd upon him, so that he is accounted the first Roman Emperor, and as such Sovereign of Spain. At his Departure he left Asinius Pollio, and Marcus Lepidus, to Govern the Two Provinces Citerior, and Vlterior, and having enjoy'd his acquir'd greatness but a short time, was Murder'd in the Senate by Brutus and Cassius, and their Accomplices in the Year 42, before the Birth of Christ.

Upon his Death, Sextus Pompey renew'd the War in Spain, and Routing Pollio, possess'd himself of all the Province of Betica, or Andalucia. But Augustus succeeding Julius Cæsar, soon made himself Lord of the then known World, and coming into Spain in the Year 25, subdued the Cantabri, Galicians, and Asturians, so that the whole Country was reduced under obedience, which done, he Planted many Colonies, and then return'd to Rome, after which ensued a General Peace throughout Spain. And here we will end this Chapter and Computation of Years, which has been hitherto Decreasing, till the Birth of the Redeemer of the World, and in the next begin with his Glorious Birth, to go on till this present time.

CHAP.

CHAP. III.

From the Birth of Christ, till the coming of the Barbarous Nations into Spain, in the beginning of the 5th Century.

THE Hour being now come, in which ^{Year of} all the Predictions of the Holy Prophets, concerning the coming of the promis'd Messias, were to be fulfill'd, ^{Christ.} Jesus Christ, our merciful Redeemer, was Born of the Blessed Virgin Mary, in a Stable in Bethlehem, on Sunday the 25th of December, at Midnight, in the 42th Year of the Empire of Augustus, 752 after the Building of Rome, 2163, after the coming of Tubal into Spain, 2305 after the Deluge, and 3961 from the Creation of the World according to the Hebrew Computation.

Augustus the Emperor was Nephew to Julius Cæsar, and Son to Octavius, who had been Pretor in Macedon, he Reign'd, Reckning from the Death of Julius Cæsar, 56 Years, and Died in the 15th Year of Grace, upon Sunday the 16th of August. From henceforward we shall reckon by the Years of Christ.

Tiberius Nero, Son-in-Law to Augustus, by his appointment Succeeded him. He reign'd 22 Years, 6 Months, and some Days, and was a wicked Prince, being wholly devoted to

Christ.

Luxury, Cruelty and Avarice. In his time the Spaniards built a Temple in honour of his Predecessor Augustus. Some small Commotions hapned in Spain, but not of any consideration. Under him our Lord and Saviour suffer'd for the Redemption of Mankind. He dy'd the 16th of March, in the 78th Year of his Age, and 38 of our Salvation.

Caius Caligula, remarkable for nothing but his Folly, and being kill'd by Cherea, Captain of his Guards; rul'd 3 Years, 10 Months and 8 days; his Death was in the Year 42.

42.

Caius Claudius, Uncle to Caligula, was set up next. Drusilus Rotundus Govern'd Hispania, Citerior, and Umbonius Silus, Betica, S. James the Greater, after preaching in Judea and Samarina came into Spain, where he made known the Gospel at Zaragora, and built a Church in honour of our Lady, now call'd of the Pillar. After he was Martyr'd at Hierusalem, his Body is said to have been brought into Spain, and buried at Iria Flavia, now call'd El Padron, and thence translated to Compostela, where it receives the Veneration of all Catholics. The Body was lost for some Ages, and miraculously found in the Reign of K. Ramiro. The Saint is said to have gain'd but few followers in Spain, and there is a Controversy concerning nine, reckon'd to be his Disciples, whom others will have to be sent over by the Apostles St. Peter and St. Paul. Claudius govern'd almost 14 Years, and is reported to have been poison'd by an Eunuch, or by his Wife Agrippina; however it was, he dy'd in the Year of Grace 55.

Nero, Son to Agrippina, enjoy'd the Empire ^{Year of} 15 Years with Infamy, for his more than ^{Christ.} brutal Vices; kill'd his Mother, Aunt, two Wives, and Master Seneca, marry'd a young Man, set Rome on fire, rais'd the first Persecution against Christians, profus'd the Publick Revenue, and seiz'd the Wealth of private persons, his Villanies excited Vindex in France and Galba in Spain, to revolt, upon which Encouragement the Senate Declar'd Nero an Enemy to his Country, and he forsaken by all Men, Kill'd himself, when he had reign'd 14 Years, and in the 32th of his Age.

Galba hearing of the Death of Nero, march'd to Rome, where he was receiv'd as Emperor, which continu'd but 7 months, at the end of which, he was Murder'd by the Pretorian Bands.

Otho, who had caus'd him to be Murder'd, was Rewarded with the Empire, which his ill acquir'd greatness was not of any continuance, for he held it but 95 Days, when being Defeated by Vitellius, he Kill'd himself. He is said to have given the Spaniards Jurisdiction over Mauritania Tingitana, which continu'd till the Kingdom of the Goths was destroy'd.

Vitellius was set up by the German Legions, and being possess'd of the Empire, gave himself up to all manner of Vice, and is reckon'd to have reign'd but Nine Months, at the end of which, he was Murder'd at Rome, the Legions in the East having declared

Flavians

Christ.

Flavius Vespasianus, Emperor, who prov'd a good and Virtuous Prince. To oblige the Spaniards, he granted them the Privileges of Latium, sent over a great number of Jews after the Destruction of Hierusalem, who Built the City Merida, and having Reign'd 10 Years with great Applause, Dy'd at Rome in the Year 80.

Titus his Son, Succeeded him in the Empire, and all manner of Virtues, but liv'd only 2 Years, 2 Months, and 20 Days; under him Spain was Govern'd by Three Pretors of the Three Provinces, Farraconensis, Betica, and Lusitania.

Domitian, Brother to Titus, but nothing like him, as being a most Vicious and Dissolute Prince, held the Empire 15 Years, and 5 Months, persecuted the Christians, and was for his Cruelty Kill'd in his Palace by one Stephanus, who he design'd to put to Death. He forbid Planting any more Vines in Spain, lest they should want Land to Plow, and Pasture. Under him Eugenius sent by S. Dionysius Areopagita to Preach in Spain, and first Archbishop of Toledo, suffer'd Martyrdome in France.

Cajus Nerva was chosen Emperor by the Senate, and Liv'd to enjoy it but 16 Months.

M. Ulpus Trajanus, a Spaniard adopted by Nerva, reign'd 19 Years, and is counted one of the Good Emperors, yet he stain'd his Character by Persecuting the Christians, and Died in Cilicia in the Year 118.

Aelius Adrianus, appointed by Trajan, to Succeed him, held the Imperial Scepter 21 Years, he is said to have divided Spain into 6

Provinces, viz. Betica, Lusitania, Carthagi- Year of nensis, Tarraconensis, Galicia and Mauritania Tingitana. During his Reign, was Broach'd the Heresy of the Gnostiks, which Confounded the Divine Persons, and made free Will subservient to Destiny.

T. Aelius Antoninus, adopted by Adrian, Succeeded him in the Year 139. During his 139. whole Reign, which lasted 22 Years, and 7 Months, he preserved Peace throughout the Empire, and for his extraordinary goodness was call'd Pater Patriæ; he ordain'd the Spaniards should leave their own Tongue, and Speak Latin, Erecting Schools to this purpose through the Country. From this Roman Language, ours came to be call'd Romance. He Dy'd in the Year 162, and left 162.
the Empire to

M. Aurelius Antoninus, and Antonius Verus; this being the first time two Emperors Reign'd together, they rais'd a Persecution against Christians, the latter liv'd but 9 Years, the first 19, and one Month, and Dy'd in the Year 181. 181.

Aelius Aurelius Commodus Antoninus his Son, a Deprav'd Emperor, Govern'd 12 Years, 8 Months, and 15 Days, is reported to have 300 Concubines, and as many beautiful Youths, to satisfy his Lust, and was Poison'd by Mar- cia, one of his Concubines, in the Year 193. 193.

Helvius Pertinax, was next, and possess'd the Throne but 2 Months and 28 Days, being then Murder'd by the Pretorian-bands, of whom

Didius Julianus, bought the Empire, but not being able to pay the purchase, they forfook him, and he was at the end of six Months, Kill'd by the Contrivance of Septimius Severus, who was therefore declar'd Emperor by the Legions of Sclavonia. In the 9th Year of his Reign, he rais'd a Persecution against the Christians, and Dy'd at York in Great Britain, when he had rul'd 17 Years, 8 Months, and 3 Days.

Aurelius Antonius Caracalla, his Eldest Son became Sole Monarch, by Murdering his Brother and Companion in the Throne, Geta, which Cruel Action, with many others of as hainous a Nature, made him Odious, and he was Stabb'd by one Martialis a Soldier, as he fate easing his Body, when he had Reign'd 6 Years, 2 Months and 5 Days.

219. Opitius Macrinus, Commander of the Pre-torian-Bands, was next Declar'd Emperor, and held it but 3 Months and 28 Days, when he was Killed by the Soldiers in the Year 219.

Aurelius Antoninus Varius, from his being Priest of the Sun call'd Heliogabalus, with the help of his Mother Mesa, was Saluted Emperor by the Soldiers. He was the most absolute Monster for all sorts of Vice, but more particularly for Lust, that ever the World afforded, being Guilty of all manner of Brutality, even to the endeavouring to change his Sex. He was Kill'd by his Guards, when he had Reign'd but 3 Years, 9 Months, and 4 Days, in the 18th Year of his Age, and 223 of the Redemption of Man.

223. Alexander Severus his Cousin German was his Successor, prov'd a good Emperor, yet was Murder'd by Maximinus, after 13 Years, and 9 Days Rule.

Balbinus and Pupienus chosen by the Senate within the first Year of their Reign.

Gordianus but 15 Years of Age, Saluted Emperor, was Murder'd by Philip, Captain of his Guards, in the 6th Year of his Empire.

Philip having got the Empire by his Treason, Govern'd 5 Years, and was Murder'd by his Soldiers.

Decius his Successor rais'd a Cruel Persecution against the Christians in the Year 250, ^{250.} rul'd two Years. and was Kill'd in Battle by the Getæ.

Trebonianus Gallus, who contriv'd the Defeat and Death of Decius, usurp'd the Empire, and held it 18 Months; being then Defeated and Slain by

Æmilianus, who enjoy'd his ill gotten Power but 4 Months, being Kill'd by his Men, when they heard of the Election of

Licinius Valerianus, who gover'd 7 Years, and was then taken Prisoner by the Persians, among whom he Liv'd above a Year in Slavery, his Son and Successor

Galienus never taking any care to redeem him. Till this time we can find nothing done in Spain worth taking notice of, under all the aforementioned Emperors. Now 30 Generals in several places calling themselves Emperors, one Tetricus secur'd Spain, and call'd the Germans to his assistance, who passing thro' France like a barbarous People, destroy'd all wherever they came with Fire and Sword. Galienus reign'd 15 Years, and was kill'd by his Soldiers in the Year 269. ^{269.}

Flavius

Christ.

Flavius Claudius reign'd next one Year, 10 Months, and 15 Days, and then dy'd a natural death; a thing rare in those days.

Quintillrianus, his Brother, was Chosen by the Senate, but he was of such a mean Spirit, that he kill'd himself 17 Days after his Election, upon the news that Claudius his Legions had saluted.

Lucius Domitius Aurelianus Emperor, who was an implacable Enemy to the Christians, yet a notable Commander, Govern'd 4 Years, 11 Months, and 7 Days, and was then Murder'd by his Favourite Mnestheus.

Claudius Tacitus was Chosen Emperor by the Senate, to whom the Army had given the Power of Election, he being 68 Years of Age liv'd but 6 Months and 20 Days to enjoy his new Honour.

Florianus, his Brother, assum'd the Title of Emperor, but repenting three Months after, caus'd his Veins to be open'd, and bled to Death.

M. Aurelius Probus, a Man excellently qualified, was Chosen by the Legions in the East; yet at the end of 5 Years, and 4 Months, was kill'd by them, and they set up

282. M. Aurelius Carus in the Year 282, he nam'd his two Sons Carinus and Numerianus his Companions in the Empire. Carus was kill'd by a Thunderbolt, Numerianus murder'd in a Litter, in which he was carried because of his sore Eyes: Their Dominion lasted but two Years.

Dioclesian being hereupon rais'd by the Army, defeated and slew Carinus, was insatiable in his Thirst after Christian Blood, Declar'd Maximi-

Maximianus Hercules his Companion in the Empire; and having held it 20 Years, despairing of being able to extirpate Christianity, voluntarily Abdicated, and perswaded Maximian to do the same. Year of Christ.

Galerius and Constantius, who had Married the Daughters of the two last Tyrants, Succeeded them, and dividing the Empire, Constantius chose for his part France, Spain and Britain. He was Father to Constantine the Great, whom he had by Helena, the Daughter of a King of Britain; a Prince of extraordinary moderation, and a great favourer of Christians. His Reign lasted but one Year, Ten Months, and 8 Days, for he Dy'd at York, in the Year 306.

Maxentius, Son to Maximianus, now usurp'd the Empire, and possess'd himself of Rome, but held it not long, being drown'd in the River Tiber flying from Constantine the Great, who soon possess'd himself of the whole Empire, and was the first Christian Emperor. In his time Arius in revenge, because he was not chosen Bishop of Alexandria, broach'd that which of him was call'd the Arian Heresy, asserting, that Christ was not of the same Substance with his Father. To oppose this Heresy, the first General Council was held at Nice, by Command of the Emperor, where the Heresy was condemn'd, and the Catholick Faith express'd in that call'd the Nicene Creed. He remov'd the Seat of the Empire from Rome to Bizantium, which he rebuilt, and after his own Name call'd it Constantinople, and reign'd 30 Years, 3 Months, and 27 Days.

Constan-

Christ.

Constantine, Constantius and Constance, the three Sons of Constantine the Great, had the Empire divided among them by their Father; but Constantine and Constance being kill'd some time after, Constantius remain'd sole Monarch, and Dy'd in the Year 361.

Julian, Surnam'd the Apostate, was Appointed by Constantius his Successor. He forsaking Christianity at first, gave Liberty of Conscience to Christians, Jews and Idolaters; but bearing Christians an implacable Malice forbid them being admitted to any Places of Profit or Trust, or their Children to be taught in Schools. At last in the War against the Persians he was kill'd with a Dart, which no body knew whence it came, when he had liv'd 32 Years, and reign'd one, 7 Months, and 27 Days.

Fl. Jovianus, a Christian, chosen by the Army, sway'd the Septer but 7 Months and 22 Days, being stifled by a Pan of Coals left in his Room.

Fl. Valentinianus succeeded Jovianus, and presently chose his Brother Valens his Companion in the Empire, assigning him the East to Govern. He was successful in all his Wars, but there were none in Spain, which is the reason no more mention is here made of him, but that he dy'd in Germany in the Year 375, when he had been Emperor 11 Years, Eight Months, and 22 Days. Valens out liv'd him four Years, during which time the Goths, Commanded by Fridigernus and Athanasius, broke into the Provinces of the Empire, by whom Valens was overthrown, and burnt in a Cottage to which he fled.

Gratianus

Christ

Gratianus, Son to Valentinian, appointed by his Father to succeed him, was forced by the Army to admit his Brother Valentinian, as Partner in the Throne, and afterwards of his own accord gave the same Honour to Theodosius, who had vanquish'd the Goths, and oblig'd them to accept of such Lands as he would assign them. Theodosius Governing in the East, made his Son Arcadius his Companion. At this time was held a Council at Constantinople, which is the Second of the General Councils, where all Heresies then known were condemn'd, and particularly that of the Macedonians, who made the Holy Ghost a Creature, Gratian having reign'd 7 Years 9 Months, and 9 Days, was murder'd by Andragacius. Religion at this time, was tainted in Spain by the Heresy of Priscilian, which many embraced at his perswasion, and among them the two Bishops Instancius and Salvianns. These Hereticks confounded the Divine Persons, allow'd of Divorces, held it a Crime to eat Flesh, said the Souls proceeded from the Divine Essence, descended by the help of Angels into this Life, and here fell into the power of the Prince of Darkness, the Maker of this World. Theodosius sway'd the Empire 16 Years, and 2 days, and Dy'd in the Year of Grace 395.

Arcadius and Honorius, his Sons, divided the Empire among them, the Elder took the East, and the Younger the West. Stilico, who was Father-in-law to Honorius, designing to raise his own Son Eucherius to the Empire, call'd in the Alans and Vandals, and caus'd the Goths to mutiny for want of their Pay. They broke into Italy in two Bodies, one whereof Stilico destroy'd, and might have done the same by the other, but would not only worsted and assign'd them Lands in the farthest parts of France; yet they return'd, ravag'd all Italy, and sack'd and burnt Rome, in the Year 410. After this Placidia, the Emperor's Sister, who had been taken in Rome, being Married to Ataulfus, Brother to Alaricus, King of these Goths, and he soon succeeding in the Kingdom, Ataulfus and Honorius agreed, and the Goths went to inhabit those parts of France, and Spain next the Pyrenean Mountains. This gave them occasion to make themselves afterwards Masters of all Spain, as will be declar'd in the ensuing Chapter, and here put an end to the Succession of the Roman Emperor's, as Monarchs of Spain, because from this time forwards their Authority there declin'd, till it was quite extinct, and Spain after having been over-run by several barbarous Nations, was at last entirely reduced under the sole power of the Goths and so continued till they were almost extirpated by the Moors,

CHAP.

CHAP. IV.

From the coming of the barbarous Nations in the beginning of the fifth Century, till the Year 586, when almost all Spain was United under one Head.

THE weakness of some, and infancy of other Emperors, and the many Rebellions and Treacheries of their Generals, gave occasion to several Northern Barbarous Nations, to break into, and tear the Empire in pieces, erecting to themselves considerable Monarchies out of the Ruins; as, to go no farther for Examples, the Saxons did in Britain, the Franks in Gaul, the Longobards in Italy, and the Goths in Spain. Before the coming of the Goths, the Vandals, Alans, Suevians, and Silingians, who had before settled in France, fearing Honorius the Emperor, join'd with the Goths, or else the Usurper Constantine, who had subdued great part of France, would bring them into Subjection; and being invited by the Honorians left to secure the Passes of the Pyrenean Mountains against them, went over into Spain, and spreading themselves throughout the Country, left nothing but what they inhumanly destroy'd with Fire and Sword, sparing neither Spaniards, nor Romans, Butchering the Living without Distinction of Sex or Age, and overturning the very Monuments and Tombs of the Dead. Hermenericus was King of the Suevians, Ataces of the Alans, Gundericus, of the Vandals and Silingians. These Savages destroy'd not only the People and Houses, but even the Fruits of the Earth, which caus'd such a Famine to ensue, that the People fed upon Human Flesh, and Wild Beasts ran to the Towns to Devour Men. Then follow'd the Plague, which Rag'd to such a Degree, that between both, the Country was Depopulated, and the new comers had their choice to settle where they pleas'd. The Suevians possess'd themselves of Galicia, which then comprehended a great part of Old Castile. The Alans Planted in Lusitania, which then also was of a much larger extent than now. The Vandals and Silingians seiz'd the Province Betica, now Andaluzia. Thus Spain was divided into several Kingdoms, and no less Variety of Customs and Religions. The Romans and Spaniards were Catholicks, the Goths Ariens, and the other Barbarous Nations were still Idolaters. These People had several Kings whose Dominions extending but over some small part of the Country, and they being all at length subdu'd by the Goths, we will pass them by, and begin the Race of those that made themselves Masters of the whole; of whom the first that came into Spain was

ATAULFUS.

HE, as has been said, was Brother and Successor to Alaricus, King of the Goths in Italy, and married to Galla Placidia, the Emperor Honorius's Sister, upon which Marriage they they agreed, and he had the Country about the Pyrenean Mountains allotted him to settle in with his People; his Court, some say, he kept at Barcelona, others at Narbonne, perhaps he might reside some time in both places. About the time of his coming Authors vary, Garibay says it was in 414, Mariana, in 415, and Rodrigo Mendez de Silva in 416, Innocent the first being then Pope, Honorius Emperor of the West, Theodosius the Younger of the East, and Meroveus King of the Franks. Ataulfus being inclin'd to Peace, which no way suited with the Genius of his fierce People, they conspir'd against him, and by the means of one Vernulphus, his Favourite, and a Dwarf, murder'd him at Barcelona, in the Year 417. He, lies Buried at Barcelona, near the Cathedral and on his Tomb is an Epitaph, and the Arms his Successors us'd, which are Quarterly, 1st Barry of 6 pieces Sable, and Or; 2dly, Gules, a Crown Or, 3dly, Or, a Lion Gules; 4thly Argent, a Lion Gules. These are the true Arms of the Goths, according to the most approv'd Authors. He left no Issue, 6 Sons he had before he was Married to Placidia, being Murder'd with him, and Theodosius his Son, by her dying a Child.

SIGERICUS.

SECond King of the Goths in Spain, was rais'd to the Throne by Election; he was an excellent Commander, and belov'd by the Army, but being like his Predecessor, inclinable to Peace, and perswaded to it by the Queen Dowager Placidia, his Reign prov'd but short, those that had rais'd him becoming his Murderers. He was buried at Barcelona. His Sons Gensericus, Hunericus, Gundamundus, Trasamundus, and Hildericus were Butcher'd with him.

Walia, or Ubalia, 3d. King.

A Restless and turbulent Man was chosen in his place; he to please his People sent a powerful Army to War upon the Roman Dominions in Africk, but most of it perish'd by Shipwrack, which oblig'd him to make Peace with the Emperor Honorius, to restore to him his Sister Placidia, and join with his General Constantius against the Alans, and Vandals, whom they overthrew, and forc'd to submit to them. For this good Service the Emperor Honorius bestow'd the City of Toulouze, and Province of Guienne, on Ubalia, upon which he remov'd his Court out of Spain into France. He reign'd 3 Years, and Dy'd in 420.

Theodoredus, 4th. King.

Aribay calls him Theodoricus, the French Tbierrri, the next of Blood to Ataulfus, the first King, succeeded Walia. He was of the Race of the Balti, a Noble Family among the Goths, so call'd from Baltus, a famous King, their Progenitor. His Reign was long, for it lasted 31 Years, and prosperous, for he was successful in Wars, married two Daughters to Kings, and left Sons, who Reign'd after ter him. Attila, the Hun, having over-run ^{Year of} all Italy, and great part of France, Theodore- ^{Christ.} us join'd his Forces with the Romans and Franks, and gave him Battle in the Catalauni- an Plains near Touloure, where the Hun was defeated with the loss of 180000 men, but in the heat of the Action the Gothish King was bore down, and trampled to death by his own men, which was in the Year 451. Some Authors pretend to deduce the Genealogy of the Kings of Spain from this Prince; but I don't find it can be made out. He had Issue Torismund, Theodorick and Euricus, who all three Reign'd successively after him. Fridericus, Rec- cinerus and Himericus, of whom no other memory remains. Besides two Daughters, whose Names are not known; one married to Ric- ciarius, the first Christian King of the Suevians in Spain; the other to Humericus, Son and Successor to Genfericus, King of the Vandals in An- daluzia, so call'd from those People, its former Name being Betica.

Torismund, 5th. King.

Succeeded his Father Theodoredus, and he jointly with Aetius, the Roman General, pursuing Attila the Hun to the River Loire, gave him there a second Overthrow, which drove him quite out of France. Notwithstanding this Success he Govern'd not long, being murther'd by the contrivance of his own Brothers Theodoricus and Euricus, and the hand of Ascalernus his Favourite, when he had reign'd 3 Years ; others say, but one. His death was in the Year 454.

Theodorick, 6th. King.

BRother to Torismund, and one of the Con-trivers of his death, was rewarded for this Inhumanity with the Crown, and had leave given him, by the Emperor Valentinian, to extend his Dominions by Conquest in Spain, which he did very successfully. His Brother-in-law Ricciarius, King of the Suevians, endeavouring to oppose him was overthrown ; and being taken at Oporto in Portugal, whither he fled, had his Head cut off.
After this Remismundus being rais'd to be King of the Suevians, married Theodorick's Daughter, and was by some of her followers perverted to the Arian Heresy. Theodorick having reign'd 13 Years at Tholouze, was murder'd by his Brother Euricus, in the Year of Grace 467.

467.

He had one only Daughter, whose Name is not known ; married, as has been said, to Remismundus, King of the Suevians.

Euricus, 7th. King.

ANd third Son of King Theodoredus ascended the Throne, from which he had cast down his own Brother Theodorick, extended his Dominions both in France and Spain, for he reduced all the Province Tarraconensis, and Cities of Pamplona and Zaragora, subdued a great

a great part of Lusitania, made himself Master of the Countries of Limoges, Quercy, and Roverge, and took the Cities Clermont, Marseilles, and Arles, in which last he settled his Court, and being an Arian, fell to persecuting of the Catholicks. He was the first that gave written Laws to the Goths, expell'd the Romans out of Spain, after they had continu'd there above 700 Years; and having reign'd 16 Years, dy'd at Arles in the Year 483.

Alaricus, 8th. King.

WAS Son to Euricus, and Proclaim'd immediately upon the Death of his Father. He Married Teudetusa, or Amolasiunt, Daughter to Theodorick, King of the Ostrogoths in Italy, and his Wife Audesseda, Sister to Clodoveus, King of France. During his reign the Affairs of the Goths in Spain, continu'd in a peaceable posture. But in France this King had Bloody Wars with the Franks, and coming to a Battle with them in the Country of Poictiers, after having done all that could be expected from a brave General, being forsaken by his Men, he was dismounted by King Clouis, who fought at the head of his Men, and kill'd on the ground by a French Foot Soldier, This was in the Year 506, when he had reign'd 23 Years.

Gesaleycus, 9th. King.

BAstard Son to Alaricus, was prefer'd before his Brother Amalaricus, tho' Lawfully begotten because the latter was then an Infant, but Theodorick King of the Ostrogoths, whose Grandson he was, sent 80000 Men under the Command of Ilba, to place him on the Throne, and give a check to the Franks, who after the Death of the late King had again routed the Visigoths and driven them out of their best Dominions in France. Ilba overthrew the Franks with the slaughter of 20000 of them, whereupon Gesaleycus went over into Africk, to Thrasimundus, King of the Vandals, who gave him some Supplies, with which returning into France, he gather'd an Army, and gave Battle near Barcelona, but was routed by Ilba, and fled back into France, where he dy'd in the Year 510, having reign'd 4 Years.

Amalaricus, 10th. King.

LAwful Son to Alaricus thus Enthron'd by Ilba, was left during his Minority, under the Tutition of Theudius, or Theudis, who had been Squire at Arms and a favourite to Theodorick the Ostrogoth. When at Age he made Peace with the Franks, and to bind it the faster, Married Crotilda, Daughter to King Clouis, with whom he had in Dower the Dominion of Toulouxe and other Lands in France.

Crotilda

Crotilda was a Catholick, and piously educated, which mov'd her Husband, who was in Ari- an, to use her so barbarously, that after having patiently endur'd all manner of outrages; she was forced to complain to her Brothers, among whom their Father Clouis had divided his Dominions, Childebert being King of Pa- ris, Clotaire of Soissons, Clodomire of Orleans, and Thierry of Mets. They joining their Forces march'd to her relief with such speed, that Amalaricus had not time to provide a strength to oppose them, who surpriz'd and slew him in Barcelona, when he had Reign'd 21 Years, 16 whereof under Tutition, and in the Year 531.

Theudis, or Theudius, 11th King.

WAS of the Race of the Ostrogoths, but having behav'd himself with singular Prudence whilst he govern'd in the Minority of Amalaricus, he so far gain'd upon the Affections of the Nobility, of the Visigoths, that they chose him for their King, their own Royal Line being extinct in Amalaricus. Chil- debert and Clotaire, the Sons of Clouis, again invaded Spain, and having done much harm in the Province of Tarragona, were met in the Passes of the Pyrenean Mountains, as they re-turn'd home by Theudiselus General then, and afterwards Successor to Theudis, and forced to purchase their Passage with Money. After this War a Plague rag'd in Spain for two Years, and swept away great multitudes of People; which ceasing, Theudis sail'd over into Africk,

Africk, and laid Siege to Ceuta, whence the besieged sallying on a Sunday made a great slaughter in his Army, the rest, with the King, got aboard the Fleet, and return'd into Spain. Theudis having reign'd 17 Years was Murder'd by a Man that feign'd himself mad, upon what account is not known, but the King himself, said it was a Judgment of God, because he had many Years before murder'd a General, under whom he serv'd, and to whom he had taken an Oath of Fidelity.

Theudiselus, 12th. King.

HAd been General under Theudis, and was of the Blood Royal of the Ostrogoths in Italy, as being Son to a Sister of Totila, their King. For his great Birth and Valour he was chosen by the Nobility, but much disappointed their expectation; for as soon as promoted to the Throne he wholly gave himself up to Vice, and particulary to Sensuality, infomuch that he caus'd several Persons to be Murder'd only to take their Wives, which so incens'd his Subjects, that they conspir'd and Murder'd him in his Pallace, when he had Reign'd but a Year, or little more, in 549.

Agila, 13th. King.

OF what Family is not known was next Elected. He laid Siege to Cordova, which refus'd to submit to him, and the Besieged sieged falling, was routed, his only Son kill'd, ^{Year of} and he fled to Merida. Being grown con- ^{Christ} temptible on account of this disaster, one Athanasildus rebell'd, and rais'd a Power against him, made a League with the Romans, and receiv'd Succours from them, and routed the King's Army, who was Murder'd by his People at Merida in the Year 554, when he had 554: Reign'd 5 Years.

Athanasildus, 14th. King.

HAVING overthrown Agila, was without any farther opposition receiv'd as King of the Goths, and during his whole Reign, engag'd in continual Wars, for forgetting his Obligations to the Romans, who help'd to set him on the Throne, he endeavour'd to expel them all Spain, where they had got large Possessions, by Aiding of him. What his Actions were does not appear, nor have we any account of what Family he came, but only that he Dy'd in the Year 567, having Reign'd 567: 13 or 14 Years. From him some Authors will pretend to deduce the present King of Spain and the House of Austria, as lineally descending from one of his Daughters. I will set it down as I find it, for Satisfaction of the Curious, who desire to see into the Original of that Family, tho' I must own the Pedegree is but a weak one, as being brought from a Woman, and she of a very bad Reputation. Athanasildus had no Male Issue, we know of, but left two Daughters,

He by his Wife Elizabeth had Leopold, 3d. Duke; he by Virida of Milan had Ernestus 4th. Duke, who Marri'd Zinburga of Casovia, and had Frederick the 5th. Duke and Emperor, who Marrying the Infanta Ellenor, Daughter to King Edward of Portugal, was Father to Maximilian the Emperor, and 6th. Duke; he by the Empress Mary, Dutcheſs of Brabant and Burgundy, and Counteſs of Flanders, had Philip Arch Duke of Austria, Duke of Brabant and Burgundy, Earl of Flanders, and King of Caſtile and Leon: who was Father to the Invincible Emperor Charles the 5th, he to King Philip the 2d. of Spain, he to Philip the 3d, he to Philip the Fourth, whose Daughter Mary Teresa married to Lewis the 14th. King of France, was Mother to the present Dauphin, Father to Philip the 5th. now King of Spain.

Liuba, 15th. King.

WHO till then had been Vice Roy of Gallia Gothica, was Proclaim'd at Narbonne, tho' it does not appear that he was of the Family of Athanagildus; for we ſee the Crown was beſtow'd by Election. There is nothing remarkable in History concerning him, but that in the 2d Year of his Reign he declar'd his Brother Leuwigildus his Companion in the Throne, aſſigning him all the Dominions of the Goths in Spain, and contenting himſelf with Gallia Narbonenſis. He Reign'd 5 Years, and dy'd at Narbonne in the Year 572.

Leuwigildus,

Leuwigildus, 16th King.

HAVING Reign'd 4 Years in conjunction with his Brother, Succeeded him as sole Monarch, and was the first of the Goths that us'd the Ensigns of Royalty, as Crown, Scepter, and particular Robes. Being a Man of great Spirit he made War upon the Romans, gave them a great Overthrow near the City Bara, and almost expell'd them Spain, bringing under all Aragon, Valencia, and the Kingdom of Toledo. Which done he subdued several Rebels, and remov'd the Residence of the Court which the Kings, his Predecessors held at Sevil to Toledo. Then to secure the Succession in his own Family, he chose his Two Sons Ermenegildus, and Recaredus, his Companions in the Throne, Dividing the Kingdom into Three Parts. Ermenegildus being Married to Ingundis, Daughter to Sigebert, King of Lerrain, and a Catholic, was himself Converted; wheretupon his Father in hatred to the Catholick Religion, made War upon, besieg'd, and took him in the City of Sevil, where he Dy'd under rigorous confinement, or, according to others, was put to Death. His Uncles in France design'd to have reveng'd this hard Usage, but Recaredus prevented them, breaking into their Dominions, and doing much harm there; and the Franks at the same time being over-thrown in Italy, Peace ensu'd. Leuwigildus thus successful fell to persecuting of the Catholicks, slew many, and banish'd others.

thers. Eboricus, King of the Suevians, being at this time forced to fly from his rebellious Subjects, Leuwigildus on pretence of assisting him, possess'd himself of all his Dominions, and never thought of restoring him. Thus ended the Kingdom of the Suevians, when it had lasted in Spain 174 Years. Presently after Leuwigildus dy'd at Toledo, in the Year 586, when he had Reign'd 18. His Issue Hermenegildus, of whose Death we spoke before, and he is accounted in the number of Martyrs.

Flavius Recaredus, who Succeeded his Father.

The Kingdom of the Suevians now expiring, we will in this place insert a short Chronology of their Kings, which follows.

1. HErmericus*, or Hermenericus, was King of the Suevians when they entred Spain, in the Year 411; possess'd himself of Galicia, and part of Portugal, Reign'd 32 Years, and Dy'd in 443.

2. Rechila, his Son and Successor, Reign'd 7 Years, and Dy'd in 450.

450.

3. Reccarius succeeded his Father Rechila, was the first Christian King of that Nation; Reign'd 9 Years, and Dy'd in 459.

459.

4. Masdra was Elected King after Reccarius, Reign'd 3 Years. Two other Kings were Elected by the same People, viz. Franta, who dy'd soon, and Rechimundus.

5. Fumaricus was Chosen to Succeed Masdra, but had a Competitor call'd Remismundus, who liv'd not long, and so left him possess'd of the whole, which he enjoy'd in peace

some Years, but how long is uncertain, as is most of his Reign; for some say he was overthrown in Battle by Remismundus, whether the same before mention'd, or another, is not easy to make out.

6. Remismundus embrac'd the Arian Herefy, but how long he Reign'd, or who Succeeded him, Authors do not mention, till

558. 7. Theodomirus, whom others call Ariamirus, began to Reign in 558; he was Converted to the Catholick Faith by S. Martin, and 570. having Reign'd 12 Years, Dy'd in 570.

8. Mirus Succeeded him. It appears not whose Son he was, but that he Reign'd 13 Years, and was kill'd in 583, in a Battle fought betwixt King Lewvigildus, and his Son Hermengildus.

9. Eboricus was Son and Successor to Mirus. Andeca, a Kinsman of his, who had married Queen Sisegunda, his Mother, rebell'd, and forc'd him to take upon him the Monastical Habit. Upon this Lewvigildus, as was said before in his Life, Invaded the Dominions of the Suevians, and united them to his Crown in the Year 586. 586, when that Kingdom had continued 174 Years. The Arms of these Kings were Party per Pale, on the Dexter side a Dragon vert, and on the Sinister a Lion Gules. Let us return to the Goths.

CHAP. V.

From the Year 586, when all Spain was subdu'd by the Goths, till 718, when it was entirely Conquer'd by the Moors.

Flavius Recaredus, 17th King.

SON to Lewvigildus, was the first of the Gothish Kings that Embrac'd the Catho-lick Religion, which was presently follow'd by the Conversion of his People, tho' some obstinate Hereticks took this for an occasion to conspire against him, but were discover'd, and their wicked Designs disappointed. In the first Year of his Reign, his Forces in Gal-lia Gothica overthrew the Franks with a very great slaughter near the City Carcassone, and within a Year after gave them a Second, no less Defeat in the same place. His first Wife was Bada, Daughter, as some will have it, to the famous King Arthur of Great Britain, tho' others say she was of Gothish Extraction. She dying, he married Clodofinda, Daughter to Si-gibert, King of France. From his time we find mention of Dukes in Spain, but they were not Hereditary, as at this time. Having Reign'd in great Prosperity 15 Years, he dy'd at Toledo in 601. He had Issue Liuvva, who Succeeded him.

Flavius Suintila, who came to be King after several others, and Geila, of whom nothing remarkable.

Liuva, 18th King.

SECond of this Name, and Son to Recaredus, was immediately declar'd King upon the death of his Father, a bountiful, courteous and religious Prince; but the ambition of Rule being insatiable, he was murther'd in the Flower of his Youth by Witericus, a noble Goth, when he had Reign'd but Two Years, in 603.

Witericus, 19th King.

BY the murther of his Sovereign Liuva made himself way to the Throne, tho' he was not of that Family, then made War upon the Romans that still remain'd in Spain, and after having been in some Rencontres worsted himself, gave them a mighty overthrow near Siguenca. God who does not suffer Murther to pass unpunish'd, order'd that a Report being spread abroad, as if he intended to restore the Arian Heresy, his People broke into the Pallace, kill'd him, then dragg'd his Body about the Streets, and Bury'd it in an infamous Place. when he had Reign'd 7 Years, in 610.

Flavius

Succeeded Witericus, but whether by Election, or Intrusion, is not known; howsoever it was, he prov'd successful in War, subduing the People of Navarre, who revolted; and Religious, for he held a Synod at Toledo to regulate the Affairs of the Church, yet his Reign lasted not two Years compleat; and he dy'd a natural Death, and like a good Christian at Toledo, in the Year 612.

Sisebutus, 21th King.

Was Chosen by the Nobility, prov'd a very religious Prince, and, what was rare in those days, Learned. He subdu'd the Asturians, who relying on the strength of their Mountains, would not own him for their King; was successful against the Romans, Banish'd the Jews, and dy'd at Toledo in the Year 621, when he had Reign'd 8 Years and a half.

Recaredus, 22th King.

And Second of this Name, Succeeded his Father Sisebutus, of whom there remains no other memory; for he Reign'd but Three Months, and then dy'd in the same Year 621.

Feavius Suintila, 23th. King.

SON to Recaredus the First, was, for his Father's sake, and on account of his own Valour and Conduct, prefer'd to the Throne, and prov'd so bountiful to the Needy, that he was call'd, The Father of the Poor. The People of Navarre again Revolting were by him subdu'd, the Romans quite expell'd Spain, one of their two Governors being subdu'd by force, the other corrupted. Thus he became absolute, and sole Monarch of all Spain, and thinking to secure the Succession in his Line, chose his Son Rechimirus his Companion in the Throne, which the Goths resenting, as depriving them of the Privilege of Electing whom they pleas'd, they call'd in the Franks to their Assistance, and joining with them expell'd Suintila, and his Son Rechimirus; or which is most likely, murther'd them both, in the Year 631, when the Father had Reign'd Ten.

Sisenandus, 24th. King.

HAVING contriv'd the Ruin, if not the Murder, of his Predecessor, ascended the Throne, and the better to establish himself made much show of Religion, Calling a National Synod of 70 Bishops, who met at Toledo, where he notably play'd the Hypocrite, and was establish'd in the Possession he had got. His Reign was almost four Years, and he dy'd at Toledo in 635. Chintila,

WAs Elected by the Prelates and Nobility, as had been Order'd in the 4th. Council of Toledo; therefore to confirm his own Election he held two Synods successively, one of 22, the other of 50 Bishops, which were the 5th and 6th of Toledo, which is all that hapned of Note during his Reign; it lasted almost 4 Years, and ended by his death in 639.

Tulga, 26th. King.

AScended as his Predecessor had done, by Election, and tho' but a Youth prov'd a most excellent Prince, had not Death cut him off so soon, for he Reign'd but two Years. His death was in 641.

Flavius Chindasuinthus, 27th. King.

BEing in Rebellion before his Predecessor dy'd, now Succeeded him without any Opposition, the Nobility, who pretended to the Right of Electing, not daring to gain-say it, yet tho' he got the Crown tyrannically, he Govern'd with Moderation and Justice, Establishing good Laws, and holding a Council of Bishops, which was the 7th. of Toledo. In his time several Monasteries were built, and S. Gregory's Works brought into Spain. To secure the Succession in his Family, he appointed his Son Recesvintbus his Companion in the Throne, and in effect gave up the whole Power to him; so that tho' he liv'd three Years after, that time is assign'd to his Son, and his Reign look'd upon to expire now, having lasted almost 7 Years. The promotion of his Son was in 648. From this King the present Monarch of Spain is Lineally Descended, as will appear by the following Line, and may be seen more briefly in the Chronological Table. Chindasvintbus had Issue by his Wife Rensiberga, Daughter to Evencius, the Brother of S. Eugenius, the 3d. of the Name, Archbishop of Toledo.

Recesvintbus, who Succeeded him.

Theodofredus, Duke of Cordova, who in that City married a great Lady of the Gothish Blood Royal, her Name Recilona, by whom he had Roderick last King of the Goths, and the Lady Lur, Married to her Unckle Favila, and Grafes, a Gentleman who liv'd at Alcantara in Estremadura.

Favila, Duke of Cantabria, Marry'd the Lady Lur, Daughter to his Brother Theodofredus, and by her had the Renowned Prince Pelayus, or Pelagius, the first that attempted the Recovery of Spain from the Moors, and Progenitor of the Catholick Kings.

Succeeded his Father Chindasvintus, was a Religious Prince, Corrected the Antient Laws of the Goths, and added new ones, obtain'd a glorious Victory over the Gascons, who invaded Spain, held the 8th, 9th and 10th Synods of Toledo, and having Reign'd almost 24 Years from the time his Father rais'd him to the Throne, and 21 from his Death, Dy'd at Toledo, where he is also Buried in the Year, 672, leaving no Issue.

Wamba, Ubamba, or Bamba 29th King.

SO many several ways do Authors Write his Name, was Elected by the Nobility, and compell'd with Threats to accept of the Crown, which he was unwilling to Wear. The narrow compass of this Volume will not allow to mention the Fabulous Stories told of him. Presently upon his Accession to the Crown, the people of Navarre, and those of Gallia Gothica, Rebell'd, the former he undertook himself, and soon quell'd them, sending at the same time Paul his General to oppose the latter. Paul gathering what force he could, instead of suppressing, join'd the Rebels, and was saluted King, which oblig'd Wamba to march in person against them, whom he Defeated, took several strong Towns, and Paul the Arch-Rebell, bringing him back in Triumph to Spain, where his Head and Beard were Shaved.

ved, which was Degrading of him from Nobility, and he confin'd to perpetual Imprisonment. Not long after this, the Saracens of Africk designing to pass over into Spain, fitted out a Fleet of 170 Sail, which was utterly destroy'd by the Goths, These Actions he perform'd in War, and to be no less Serviceable in Peace, Built a new Wall about Toledo, held a Synod of 17 Bishops, and 7 Abbots, which was the 11th of that City, and establish'd several good Laws. Notwithstanding his good Government, he had a Poisonous Potion given him by Ervigius, which depriving him for a time of his Senses, he was Shorn and put into a Monastery, where he recover'd and Lived 7 Years. He was depos'd in the Year 680, having Reign'd 8 Years.

Flavius Ervigius 30th King,

687. WAS Son to Ardebastus, by his Wife the Daughter of Chindasuinus, as was mention'd before, and having first Poison'd and then confin'd his Predecessor Wamba, to a Monastery, Usurp'd the Crown, yet Govern'd well, and made much show of Religion to secure his ill gotten Power, holding the 12th, 13th and 14th, Synods of Toledo. Yet fearing the just Reward of his Treachery, for the more safety, he Married his Daughter Cixilona, to a Powerful Man of Wamba's Family, call'd Egica, and Dy'd at Toledo in the Year 687, having Reign'd 7 Years. In his Reign a great Famine rag'd in Spain.

Marry'd Cixilona, the Daughter of Er-vigius, and was his Successor in the Throne, into which, as soon as he got, he put away his Wife, in hatred to her Father, for his Cruelty to Wamba; thus Committing one Barbarity to Revenge another. The rest of his Actions were all Commendable, tho' not Fortunate altogether, for his Forces were thrice Routed by the Franks. Three Synods of Toledo met under him, which were the 15th 16th and 17th. After Reigning alone 10 Years, he declar'd Witira his Son, by *Cixilo-

Being become Odious for thefe Enormities, to Difable the People from Revolting, he caft down the Walls of moft Towns in Spain, and destroy'd all the Arms that could be found. Authors do not agree about the manner of his Death; fome faying it was natural, others Violent, however it was, his Reign lafted 10 Years, and ended in 711. He left Ifsue.

Roderick 33th, and laft King of the Goths.

SON to Theodofredus, Duke of Cordova, and Grandfon to King Chindafuinthus, fucceed Witira, and following his wicked Leud course of Life, was the utter Ruin of Spain. Before his Accession to the Crown, he was look'd upon as a perfon Virtuous and well inclin'd, but as foon as exalted, gave himfelf over to Vice. Count Julian was his great Favourite, and as fuch Governor of all the Country about Gibraltar, and the Dominions the Goths had in Africk, which vaft power put him in a Condition to betray his Country.

For

For his Daughter Florinda being at Court, ^{Year of} the King fell so desperately in Love with her, ^{Christ} that not being able to compass his design by fair means, he Ravish'd her. This so enrag'd her Father, that forgetting all Sense of Christianity, thro' desire of Revenge, he invited the Moors to Invade Spain, promising them the Utmost of his assistance. Murath then governing Africk for Ulit, the Miramolin sent over Tarif Abenrarcá, with 12000 Men, who possess'd himself of Mount Calpe, and the City Heraclea, supposed to be Tarifa, so call'd afterwards from him; then Routing an Army sent against him by King Roderick, Ravag'd all the Country about, and made himself Master of Sevil, this in the Year 713. The Infidels encourag'd by this Success flock'd over in vast Multitudes. King Roderick on the other side, having gather'd 100000 Fighting Men, but Raw and Ill-Arm'd, march'd to Xeres, in Andaluzia, resolving to give them Battle. Seven Days were spent in Skirmishing, and the 8th both Armies join'd Battle, which continued a long time dubious, and the Christians seem'd rather to have the better of it, till the Treacherous Arch-Bishop Oppas, before mention'd, as Son to King Egica, went over to the Infidels with a Body he Commanded, and fell upon the Flank of the Christians, who thus weakned and spent with Fight, could no longer sustain the brunt, but presently gave way. King Roderick, who before was in a Rich Chariot to be seen by his Men, Mounted his Horse, rush'd upon the Enemy with extraordinary Valour, but it was too late, and seeing himself like to be forsaken, forsaken, fled with the rest. What became of him was never known, and therefore it was supposed he was Drown'd in the River Guadalete, where his Horse, and Royal Robes were found. He Reign'd but 3 Years, and Fought this Unfortunate Battle in 714.

After this Victory, the Moors divided their Forces, and spreading themselves, in 8 Months over-ran almost all Spain, which was afterwards almost 800 Years Recovering from them, and which is no less wonderful, they gain'd it by one Battle, and it is Computed there were 3700 Fought to expel them. Thus ended the Kingdom of the Goths, which at that time extended from Tangier to the River Rhosne, in France, and from the Ocean to the Mediterranean. Spain being thus reduced, Mura thought fit to come over to finish what remain'd, and enjoy the Fruits of his conquest. Some few places remain'd, which in that small time, before mention'd, they could not take in, and those were now brought under the Dominion of the Infidels. Abdalasis Son to Mura, was appointed Governor of the new Conquest, and Married Egilona, the Widow of King Roderick, whom he found among the Prisoners. It is not certain what became of Count Julian, but there is a Tradition that he Dy'd in Prison: That his Wife was Ston'd to Death; and a Son of his, cast Headlong from a Tower in Centa. Spain was reduced to a most Deplorable State, the People groan'd under grievous Servitude, the Churches were Profan'd, and the Land lay wast for want of Hands to Till it.

From the Year 718, when Spain was over-run by the Moores, till the Year 1037, when the Dominions of Castile and Leon were united under one King.

Pelayus or Pelagius 34th King.

WAS SON to Favila, Duke of Cantabria, the Son of King Chindasuintus, as several Spanish Authors will have it, to deduce the Line of their Kings from the Gotbs; yet Garibay, and others, affirm he was not of that Blood, but descended from the antient Spaniards, and gives good reasons for it. Being well esteem'd in Biscay and Asturias, he gather'd a small body of Men to oppose the Moores, who coming to suppress him, and driving him with 1000 Men into a Cave, are said to have been there miraculously routed, and 20000 of them Slain. This success so encourag'd the dejected Christians, that great numbers resorted to him, and he thus strengthened obtain'd several Victories, recover'd many places from the Infidels, and among others the City of Leon, afterwards the seat of the Christian Kings for some time. Pelayus was the first that had the Title of Don conferr'd upon him, till then only given to Saints, as been conferr'd on him, and so brave and fortunate, that he over-threw the Moores in 34 Battles, recover'd a considerable part of Old Castile

Castile and several places in Galicia and Portugal. To Crown so happy and glorious a Reign, which lasted 18 years at his Death, which was in 757, and the 64th of his Age heavenly Musick is reported to have been hear'd about his Bed. His Issue by his Wife Ermesenda was

C All'd the Deacon, because he had receiv'd Deacon's Orders, Son to Vimaranus, as was mention'd before, if we believe Silva, but all other Authors vary, some say, Früela, others King Alonso, was his Father, so that it remains absolutely in the Dark: Tho' in Orders he marry'd, and had Children, but afterwards parted from his Wife, and liv'd chaste, and was in all respects a modest and Virtuous Prince, much given to his ease, and declar'd Alonso the Chaste, who had been deposed by Mauregatus, either his Companion in the Throne, or his Heir, it is not certain whether. SON to King Fruela, stept into the Throne for some few Days before Mauregatus, as was hinted above, but made so short a stay, that it was not to be reckon'd a Reign, especially since he is now restor'd by his Predecessor Bermudo. He was the first that call'd himself King of Oviedo, the others before him having been Stil'd Kings of Austurias, or Gijon.

825. In his Reign Ann. 825, the Body of the Apostle S. James, is said to have been found at Compostela, and that famous Battle of Roncesvalles, in which the French were worsted, and of which so many fabulous Stories are made, was Fought. His Triumphs over the Moors were numerous, and many places he Regain'd from them, among which the renowned City of Lisbon, but that fell again into their hands. Angels are reported to have wrought a curious Cross for him, the Earldome of Castile, to have had its first Rise, now under Earl Roderick, as shall be shown in another place. Succeeded his Brother Garcia, who left no Heirs, and to gain Reputation presently Invaded the Dominions of the Moors, who in revenge made a mighty Incurſion with all their Force, and Supplies ſent them out of Africk into the Chriſtian Territories; but the King meeting them near the Town of Santiſtevan de Gormaz gave them ſuch an Overthrow, and made ſuch havock in their Country, that they were forced to buy a Peace. This done, King Ordono ſetled his Court at Leon, which he fortify'd, and then was Crown'd there in the great Church, a thing not uſ'd before; and the City Oviedo, before the Seat of Kings, began to decline, and is now a very inconfiderable Place. The Infidels to revenge their Loſſes, through Portugal broke into Galicia, where the King gave them Battle, which was bloody, and ſcarce decided, becauſe Night put an end to it, yet the Moors retir'd to their own Lands. But not thus ſatiſfi'd they fell upon the King of Navarre, and he of Leon coming to his aſſiſtance, they were both routed in a Valley now call'd Funquera, in the Year 921. Zanelus, the Pope's Nuncio, came at this time into Spain, to examine whether the Catholick Religion was obſerv'd in its purity, and finding as he could have wiſh'd, reported accordingly to the Pope, for which there was rejoicing at Rome. This King reign'd 9 Years and a half, and dy'd at Zamora in 923. He had three Wives Munina Elvira, after whose death he married Aragonta, a Lady of Galicia, whom he wrongfully put away, and took in her place Santiva, Daughter to King Garcia Iniguez of Navarre ; his Issue by the first, for the others brought none, was CALL'd The Gouty, and Son to King Ordonez the 3d, being possess'd of Galicia, secur'd to himself the other Dominions. His first care was to confirm the Antient Laws of the Goths, and to cause the Canons of the Church, and Decrees of Popes, to be in Force in secular causes. The Earl of Castile, Garcia Sanchez, pretending, as the Practice was then, to be absolute, and the King opposing him, this Discord gave the Moors an opportunity almost to ruin them both, for joyning all their Forces to some Wicked Christians, who serv'd under the Fugitive false Count D. Uela, they pass'd the River Duero, which for some Years had parted the Dominions of both People. There the King met them with what Forces he could gather; but after a short Dispute was Routed, and many of his Men Kill'd. The Infidels were satisfied with this success for the present, yet the next Year they return'd, and there being no force to oppose them, took and destroy'd the Royal City Leon, Astorga, Valencia de Campos, Sabagan, Gordon, Alva, Luna, Osma, Berlanca, Atienca, and many more in Portugal and Galicia. Another Body at the same time took the famous City Barcelona. Not long after, in the Year 993, the King of Cordova Almanzor, which, in the Arabick, signifies Defender of the Faith, as Miramamolín, is Prince of the Believers, Ravag'd all the Country to Compostela, which City he destroy'd, tho' the Apostle S. James's Tomb

Tomb is said to have been preserv'd by a miraculous Light, that appear'd about it, yet ^{Year of} ^{Christ.} the Infidels as a Trophey of this Victory, caus'd the Bells of the Church to be taken down, and carried to Cordova, upon the Shoulders of Christians, and there hung them up in a Mosque, to serve as Lamps, but 250 Years after, King Ferdinand the 3d, made them be brought again to Compostela, on the backs of Moors, King Bermudo, having lost the City Leon, remov'd his Court to Oviedo, and having prevail'd with the King of Navarre, and Earl of Castile, to join their Forces to his, they gave the Mahometans a great over-throw near a place call'd Calacanacor. Just before this King's Death, a mighty Famine hapned, which was look'd upon as a Judgment by some, for the Imprisoning of a Bishop, and by others, for the King's Wicked Life, for he put away his first Wife Velasquita, contrary to the Law of God, and Married another, whose Name was Elvira, and besides this, he is said to have kept two Concubines, who were Sisters. He Died of the Gout, in the Year 999, having Reign'd 17, his Issue 999. by his first Wife.

SON to King Bermudo, by his 2d Wife, Elvira, being but 5 Years Old when his Father Dy'd, was left under the Tuition of Melendo Gonzalez, Earl of Galicia, and his Wife the Lady Mayor, who Discharg'd their Trust with extraordinary Fidelity and Prudence. The King, when of Age, to reward their good Service, Marry'd their Daughter Elvira. The Moors at this time, were at Variance among themselves, which Distracti- ons of theirs, gave the Christians leasure to breath after their late Losses, and the King to make his advantage of this happy Con- juncture, held the Cortes or Parliament, in which the Laws of the Goths were review'd and Corrected, which done, he Rebuilt the City Leon, destroy'd by the Moors, in his Fa- thers time, and setled his Court there again. Having thus repaired the Damgages sustain'd by his Father, he thought of enlarging his Dominions, and in order to it, broke into the Kingdom of Portugal, where he lay'd Siege to the City Viseo, but as he was viewing the Walls Unarm'd, a Dart cast from the Town Kill'd him, when he had Reign'd 29 Years. Bermudo the 3d. 56th King.

Left but young by his Father Alonso; was immediately Crown'd by the Nobility, and being warn'd by the ill Fate of his Father inclin'd to Peace, which he enjoy'd some time, establishing good Laws, and executing Impartial Justice, so that he gain'd the Affections of his People. This Calm was disturb'd by the Ambition of Sancho, King of Navarre, who had marry'd Nuna, the eldest of Garcia, Earl of Castile's two Sisters, and the Earl being treacherously murder'd, in her Right Inherited the Dominion of Castile. Sancho, not satisfy'd with this increase of his Power, resolv'd to add to it the Crown of Leon, which he compass'd thus: Bermudo, King of Leon, had no Issue, and therefore his Kingdom must devolve to his Sister Sancha, whom the King of Navarre demanded in Marriage for his Second Son Ferdinand, which being refus'd, because the People were unwilling to fall under the Dominion of a Stranger, he invaded Leon, and possess'd himself of all the Country beyond the River Cea. King Bermudo not able to oppose him, with the Consent of the Nobility, gave his Sister in Marriage to his Son Ferdinand, assigning all that was Conquer'd in Dower with her for the present, and the whole Kingdom in remainder, and thus Peace was establish'd among the Christians. The King of Navarre having thus obtain'd his Ends, gave Castile to his Second Son Ferdinand, Erecting it into a Kingdom. The

Peace before concluded was not lasting, for the Nobility of Leon offended at the new King of Castile Ferdinand, mov'd their King Bermudo to make War upon him, which he did to his own ruin. For their Forces meeting near the River Carrion a bloody Battle was fought, in the heat of which Bermudo rushing into the thickest of his Enemies to single out Ferdinand, was run through with a Spear, and fell down dead in the Year 1037, when he had Reign'd 9, and left no Issue.

The Crowns of Castile and Leon being thus United, we will here conclude this Chapter, to begin a new one under that Title, those hitherto having been stil'd Kings of Leon and Oviedo; and because we will not interrupt the Line of Kings which were the Chiefest in Spain, and whose Issue, at this day, possess the same, we will make no Digression here on account of the other Princes that had separate Dominions; but bring down the Race of these Monarchs of Castile and Leon, to him now Reigning, because the shortness of this Work, will not allow to give an Account of those Princes that make not directly for our purpose.

their Territories, wasted all the Country about Merida and Badajoz, and took several small Places. This done, he turn'd into Portugal, and having made himself Master of the City Viseo, and in it taken the Moore who kill'd his Father in-law King Alonso, caus'd his Eyes to be put out, and both his Hands, and one of his Feet to be cut off. The following Year he carried on the War with greater vigor, and had the City of Coimbra Surrendred to him, after a Siege of seven Months. The Conquest of this Place was very Important, for it extended the Territories of the Crown of Leon, as far as the River Mondego. After these fortunate Expeditions the King made a Pilgrimage to Santiago, then took a Progress to the principal Places of Castile and Leon, and after that again renewing the War took Santistevan de Gormaz, Vadoregio, Aguilar and Berlanga, towards the River Ebro, and wasted all the Country as far as Medina, Celi and Madrid, which oblig'd Almenon, King of Toledo, to buy a Peace of him, the Moorish Kings of Zaragoza, Portugal and Sevil, following his Example. But now Peace was concluded with the Infidels, the Christians fell to bloody Wars among themselves. Garcia, King of Navarre, Elder Brother to Ferdinand of Castile, thought himself wrong'd by his Father, who had given away that Crown to his younger Brother, and was resolv'd to Attempt the recovery of his Right. On the other side Ferdinand pretended the Territories of Briescia and Rioja appertain'd to his Lot, and were unjustly kept from him by his Brother. These Pretensions were too high to be amicably

compos'd, therefore the Decision of them was remitted to the Sword, and the two Kings with all their Power meeting there ensu'd a bloody Battle, in which King Garcia being kill'd, Ferdinand obtain'd a compleat Victory, which he us'd with much moderation, ordering no more Christian Blood to be shed in the pursuit, and contenting himself with those Territories, to which at first he had pretended a Right, without ineroaching any farther upon the Dominions of Navarre, then the Kingdom of his young Nephew Sancho, his Brother Garcia's Son. About this time, which was in the Year 1055, was held a General Council at Florence, under Pope Leo the 9th, Henry the 2d. being Emperor. It was now too that Roderick Diaz de Bivar, by the Spaniards commonly call'd Cid, a Title given him by the Moors, which in Arabick signifies Lord, began to grow famous. He was doubtless a brave Commander, and perform'd many extraordinary Actions, but withal so many Romantick Stories are told of him, that they almost ruin the credit of his real Exploits, some whereof we shall have occasion to speak of. His Extraction was Noble, being Descended from Lain Calvo, one of the Judges that Govern'd Castile, and his Paternal Estate was considerably augmented by his marrying Ximena, the Daughter and Heiress of Gomez, Earl of Gormaz, whom he had kill'd. This Power, and his good Fortune, made him a Terror to the Moors, and, at times, troublesom to his own Sovereigns. The Infidels weary of the heavy hand King Ferdinand bore over them, unanimously took up Arms against him, who being exhausted with continual Wars, was scarce able to raise a Force to oppose them, but his Queen Sancha freely gave all her Money, Plate and Jewels, to carry on the War, which was so considerable a Supply, that it enabled him to oppose the Infidels, and having twice Defeated them, they again submitted, taking an Oath to pay their Tribute as before. The King was Old and worn out with continual Fatigue, so he did not long Survive this Expedition, but dy'd very Piously according to some Authors, at Leon, tho' others say at Cabecon; and so they vary in the Years of his Reign, some assigning 28, and some 30, but the latter being most generally receiv'd, we will follow it, and then his Death will fall in the Year 1067. His Life was accounted so Holy, that his Feast is Celebrated at Leon, as a Saint, nor was his Queen Sancha, look'd upon to be inferior to him in Virtue, and Died Two Years after him. By his Will, King Ferdinand Divided his Dominions among his Children, as follows.

Sancho the Eldest Son, had the Kingdom of Castile.

Alonso the 2d. that of Leon.

WAS Eldest Son to King Ferdinand, and in the Division of his Dominions above mentioned, had the Kingdom of Castile assign'd him for his Inheritance. This Division was by him look'd upon as a wrong done him, and accordingly he openly complain'd of it, as soon as his Father was Dead, but his Mother restrain'd him as long as she Liv'd, from proceeding any farther than to Words, because the Crown of Leon was properly her own Inheritance, and therefore no claim would be laid to it during her Life. An Ambitious Spirit cannot rest, but if Disappointed in one place, will find Employment in another. The Moors of Zaragoca, had submitted to pay a Tribute to King Ferdinand, which upon his Death, they relying on the Assistance of Ramiro, King of Aragon, refus'd now to pay to his Son, who after wasting all the Country about it, took that City, upon Condition he should Defend the Moors there against all Enemies, as well Christians as Infidels. At that time the Aragonians laid Siege to the Castle of Grados, on the River Esera, and belonging to the Moors of Zaragoca. King Sancho according to his late Treaty with them, march'd to the Relief of that place, and falling upon the Besiegers, whilst the besieg'd Sally'd at the same time, put them to the Rout, Killing a great number, and among them King Ramiro himself. of Castile, entred into a League with the Young King of Aragon, and giving the Castilians Battle, overthrew them, and recover'd the Territories of Rioja, and Briviesca, taken from them by King Ferdinand. King Sancho's Mother being now Dead, he resolv'd no longer to delay recovering of those Dominions his Brothers and Sisters possess'd by his Father's Gift. Alonso King of Leon, who was first to be Attack'd, omitted nothing that might conduce to his Defence, and having gather'd the greatest Power he could, gave his Brother Battle, near a Town call'd Piantaca, in which he was routed, and forced to fly to Leon. Having there, with all imaginable Speed, Recruited his Army, he met his Enemy again, near a Town call'd Golpelara, and with better success than before, had he made good use of it, for the Castilians were put to Flight; but success breeding security Roderick Diaz, who serv'd under King Sancho, rally'd his Scatter'd Troops, and Attacking the Victors by break of Day, when they were in a dead Sleep, chang'd the Fortune of the Field, and gave them an Irrecoverable over-throw. King Alonso fled to the Church of Carrion, where he was taken, and sent Prisoner to the Castle of Burgos, whence upon Application made, he was suffer'd to remove himself to the Monastery of Sabagun, there to take upon him the Habit of a Monk. He did so, but soon repenting made his Escape, and put himself into the Hands of Almenon, the Moorish King of Toledo, who having been a great Friend to his Father, entertain'd him very Affectionatly, assigning him a House near near his Palace, where he Liv'd till the Death ^{Year of} of his Brother and Enemy, whom he Suc- ^{Christ.} ceeded, as we shall see in the next Reign.  After his Flight King Sancho easily possess'd himself of the Dominions of Leon, and then advanced against his other Brother Garcia in Galicia. This Country was full of Distracti- ons and Mutinies, the Nobility Envyng a Favourite of the King's, had Murder'd him in his presence, and the Commonalty com- plain'd of heavy Taxes. In this Disorder there was no possibility of opposing the Com- mon Enemy, and therefore King Garcia, with only 300 Men, fled to the Moors, hoping they would espouse his Quarrel. They being at that time inclinable to Peace, would not en- gage in a War to support a Stranger, so that D. Garcia, having only gather'd a number of such as resorted to him of their own accord, either out of hatred to the King of Castile, or hope of Plunder, returned into his King- dom, where the Towns of Portugal readily submitted to him. King Sancho march'd with all speed to suppress him, before he grew too strong; and near Santarem, formerly call'd Scalabis, the Armies Engag'd, the Ca- stilians got the Day, and King Garcia being taken, was sent Prisoner to the Castle of Luna in Galicia, where he was kept all the remain- ing part of his Life. Now were the Three Kingdoms again United under one Head, and nothing remain'd but the Cities of Zamora and Toro, which King Ferdinand had bestow'd on his Two Daughters, and their Brother thought they wrongfully possess'd, as being his due. Therefore to finish the Work, and make himself Master of all, he lays Siege to Zamora, the Portion of his Sister the Princess Urraca, which was strong, and the Inhabitants resolute in the Defence of it, yet such Industry was us'd against it, that the Citizens finding themselves streightned, began to think of a Surrender. The place being reduced to these streights, a Treacherous fellow call'd, Vellido Dolphos, came out as a Deferrer, and being admitted to the King's Prefence, on pretence of Discovering some weak part of the Wall, drew him out into the Field, where when they were somewhat advanced from the Company, he struck him through the Body, and made his Escape into the City. Thus Dy'd King Sancho, when he had Reign'd 6 Years and 9 Months, in the Year 1073. Upon his Death, the Troops of Leon and Galicia, which were not well Affected to him, return'd home, those of Castile Divided themselves, part attended the Body to the Monastery of Ona, where it was Buried, the greater number stay'd to carry on the Siege, and Revenge his Death. He left no Issue.

Alonso 59th. King.

Sixth of the Name of Leon, and first of Castile, Second Son to King Ferdinand, and Queen Sancha, Heiress of Castile. King Sancho being Murder'd, as has been said, the Princess Urraca, sent a Messenger to Toledo, to carry her Brother the News, who with the consent of the Moorish King, hasted away to Zamora. The Kingdom of Leon, which had had been under his Government before, ^{Year of} received him without any Hesitation. Galicia ^{Christ.} made some Difficulty, because their King Garcia had broke Prison, and endeavour'd to be Reinthron'd; however Alonso with fair Words and promises, drew him within his Power, and then secur'd him again in Prison, where he died. Castile made only one Objection, which was, That he should Swear he had no Hand in the Murder of his Brother King Sanebo, which done, he was receiv'd without any contradiction. The beginning of his Reign, had some Troubles, but they were easily appeas'd. In his second Year to Requite his Obligations to King Almenon of Toledo, he join'd his Forces with him, and wasted all the Territories of Cordova, against which, Almenon was then at War. In the Year 1076, Richard Cardinal and Abbot of S. Victor, came from Rome, as the Pope's Legate, upon the Queen's Request, and held a Synod of all the Spanish Bishops, for Reformation of the Clergy. Rodrick Diaz de Bivar, before Spoken of, was now in the height of his Glory, and much admir'd by the Soldiers who gave him the Title of Cyd Campeador, which is as much as Lord of the Field. The Nobility growing jealous of his Grandeur, represented him ill to the King, which made him live retir'd upon his Estate, but the Moors making an IncurSION into the Christian Territories in the absence of the King, he gather'd what Force he could, and having repell'd them, Ravag'd all the Country, till he came in sight of Toledo. This was doubtless a breach of the good Correspondence, there there was, and ought to be betwixt that Prince and King Alonso, who therefore banish'd Roderick Diaz his Dominions. He with some Forces that would follow him, withdrew towards Aragon, where he took from the Moors, the strong Castle of Alcocer, and from thence Pillag'd all the Country about him, and the fame of his Actions spreading, many who had no better way of Living than by Rapine, resorted to him. With this Force he march'd into Andaluzia, to the Assistance of some Moors, in Alliance with the King of Castile, and having done them Right, return'd to his Castle of Alcocer, but being met in the way by Alfagio, the Moorish King of Denia, and Sancho, King of Aragon, who came with their Forces to oppose him, he over-threw them both; which Action gain'd him so much Renown, that King Alonso was not only Reconcil'd, but gave him and his Heirs the Towns of Briviesca, Berlanga and Arcejona. Whilst these things were doing, King Alonso had resolv'd upon taking the City of Toledo, which being Naturally strong, as encompass'd three parts by the River, and the other secur'd by a double Wall, besides that it stands on a high rocky Hill of Difficult Access, for this reason, thinking the place impregnable by open force, he resolv'd to starve it. In order to it, he march'd with a powerful Army and destroy'd all the Country quite round it, putting Garrisons into several Towns about, in the Nature of a Blockade to prevent any Provisions being carried in, and thus continued wasting the Country for several Years, some say 7, and strightning the Blockade.

At

At last when he thought the Town was near reduced, he Encompass'd it with a powerful Army, not only of Spaniards, but of French and Germans, that came to serve in that Religious War. Thus the City being brought to extremity, the People mutiny'd, and oblig'd their King to Capitulate, which was accordingly done, and the place Surrendered. One of the Articles was, That the Moors should continue possess'd of the great Mosque. This done, the Christian Army divided to reduce all that remain'd in Possession of the Moors in that Kingdom, which was done without much difficulty; the Infidels Terrify'd at the loss of so important a place, not daring to Defend the lesser. By this means Maqueda, Escarona, Illescas, Talavera, Guadalajara, Mora, Consuegra, Madrid, Berlanga, Buitrago, Medinaceli, Coria, and several other places of less Note were taken. King Alonso puff'd up with this success, and increase of Dominions, stiled himself Emperor, and Toledo the Imperial City. When all things were settled to his Mind, the King conven'd a Synod of Spanish Bishops, who chose one Bernard a French Man, then Abbot of Sabagun, Arch-Bishop of the New Conquer'd City. This Man being Zealous for Religion, waited his opportunity when the King was gone to Leon, and bringing the Queen, as a Woman to his Party, took the great Mosque, the Moors were possess'd of, according to Articles of Surrender, forcibly from them. This News being brought to the King, highly incens'd him, insomuch that he hasted away to Toledo, with a Resolution to punish the Queen, and Arch-Bishop,

Bishop, which put the City into a great consternation, and therefore the Inhabitants and Clergy went out in Procession to meet and appease him, but to no purpose, till the Moors themselves fearing, if any thing were done to the Queen and Arch-Bishop for their sakes, they might be the worse us'd after the King's Death, went out, and became Suitors for them, and the King granted it, promising for the future, to be the more favourable to the Infidels for this generous Act. Thus the Cathedral came into the Hands of the Christians. Bernard the New Arch-Bishop going to Rome, for the Pall, was by Pope Urban the 2d. Constituted Primate of all Spain, and this is the greatest Antiquity that can be made out for the Primacy of that See. Richard Abbot of Marseilles, the Popes Legate at this time, Regulated the Ecclesiastical Affairs, which thro' the Calamities of the times, were in some Disorder. King Alonso now Committed a great Error, for having Married the Moorish King of Sevil's Daughter, he sent into Africk to Invite Joseph Tepber, King of the Almoravides, to assist his Father-in-Law to subdue all the Moors in Spain. Joseph neglected not the Invitation, but sent over his General Hali Abenaxa, who instead of assisting the King of Sevil, Usurp'd his Dominions, and all the Infidels Possess'd in Spain, Disowning his Sovereign that sent him over. This done, he Invaded the Kingdom of Toledo, wasted the Country, and twice in open Field, defeated King Alonso, who came to Oppose him. Joseph the Moor soon came out of Africk, Punish'd his Rebellious General, and brought all all he had gain'd under his own Dominion : ^{Year of} ty Army, not only of his own Subjects, but of Strangers, for there came to his assistance Raymund Earl of Burgundy, and his Kinsman Henry, who was afterwards Founder of the Kingdom of Portugal, and Raymund, Earl of Toulouse, who brought with them a good body of Experienced French Troops. The Infi- dels durst not stand so great a Power in open Field, and therefore the Christians Plunder'd all the Country, and so return'd home. The King to Reward these Strangers, and strengthen himself, gave three of his Daughters in Marriage, to the Three Noblemen before mention'd. Raymond Earl of Burgundy, had Urraca the King's Lawful Daughter, and with her the Government of Galicia, with the Title of Earl of it, as was usual in those Days, besides the hopes of Inheriting the Crown, if Sancho, the King's only Son dy'd, as it hapned. Raymund Earl of Toulouse, had Elvira a Bastard Daughter, and a Portion in Jewels and Money, because he would return home.

And lastly, Henry had Teresa another Bastard Daughter, and with her the Government of Portugal, with the Title of an Earl, whence his Son took occasion to Erect it into an In-dependant Monarchy, and this was the Original of that Kingdom, of whose Kings it is not our business to Speak. During this time Roderick Diaz de Bivar, ceas'd not to infest the Moors, but the greatest Action he did, was the taking of the City Valencia,

Christians quitted it, as being too far from Relief, and retir'd in a Body to Castile, the Infidels not offering to molest them. King Alonso was now grown Old, when Hali, Successor to Joseph the Moorish King, Invaded the Kingdom of Toledo, therefore he sent his Son Sancho, then very Young; with his Tutor D. Garcia, to oppose them. They came to a Battle near Uelez, where the Prince being Kill'd, the Christian Army was Routed, to Revenge which, the King took the Field, tho' very Aged, and having wasted all the Enemies Country, spent the rest of his Days in quiet. He had before this expedition Married his Daughter and Heiress Urraca, the Widdow of Raimund, Earl of Burgundy, to Alonso King of Aragon. Besides his Warlike exploits, he perform'd many Acts of Piety, as particularly the Building of several Monasteries, and having Liv'd to the Age of 79 Years, and Reign'd 35, he dy'd in 1108. This King had Six Wives, whom Authors place differently, and some seem to Disagree about the Number, and would have some of them to have been Concubines. The first I find in order was Agnes, by whom he had no Issue. The 2d. Constance, by her, he had the Princess Urraca first Married to Raymund, Earl of Burgundy, and he Dying to Alonso King of Aragon, and Heiress to all her Father's Dominions.

The Third Wife Zaida, Daughter to Benabet, King of Sevil, was Mother to Prince Sancho, Kill'd as was said above.

Crown of Castile.

Queen was extraordinary leud, and that so therefore she sought by all means to be Divorc'd from him, on account he was her 3^d Cousin; and in those Days the Pope did not use frequently to dispence in these cases. Her disorders were so great, that he was forc'd to Imprison her, and she making her escape, the Nobility of Castile asham'd of so much leudness sent her back to him: Not long after in Galicia, they took her Son Alonso, whom she had by her first Husband Roymund, Earl of Burgundy, and Proclaim'd him King; Solemnly anointing him in the Church of St. James the Apostle, which was the first time this Ceremony was us'd in Spain. The King of Aragon was Divorc'd from Queen Urraca, and set her at Liberty, yet would not quit his pretensions to her inheritance but march'd into Castile with an Army: D. Gomer Earl of Candespina, and Peter Earl of Lara, the Queen's Gallants commanded her Forces, and were defeated, the latter fled, but the former dy'd in the Battle. The Victor advanced to Leon, where he again defeated the Queen's Forces, and took many Places of note, but the King seizing the Treasure of Churches to pay his Army, it was observ'd he never Prosper'd after it. Prince Alonso was now Proclaim'd in Castile, as he had been before in Galicia, and presently Besieg'd his Mother in the Castle of Leon where he forced her to resign the Crown to him, when she had Reign'd 15 Years; this was in the Year 1123, and she dy'd at Leon in 1126, according to the most receiv'd Accounts for there is great disagreement among Authors, even in these so late Affairs. Queen Urraca is also said to have had a Bastard Son by the Earl of Candespina, and that his Name was Ferdinand Hurtado, that is, Stolen, because he was got by Stealth; of him some say the Noble Family of the Hurtado's, in Spain, is descended, which indeed is no great Honour.

was Born as Toledo, Anno 1106 and bred up at Avila, for which reason, that Town is call'd Del Rey or The King's; but other Authors say he was Educated in Galicia by D. Peter de Trava a great Man in that Kingdom, which I look upon to be most probable, because the Town of Avila, got that Name by its fidelity to another King long after, as shall be mention'd in its place. His Coronation was at Toledo, where he assum'd the Stile of Emperor, confirming the Title of Imperial City, given to that place by Alonso the 6th, assigning for its Arms, an Emperor sitting on his Throne, with a naked Sword in his Right Hand, and a Scepter and Globe. Under him it was that Alonso the First, King of Portugal, assum'd that Title refusing any Obedience to the Crown of Castile, and Imprisoning his Mother, which mov'd Alonso of Castile, to enter that Country with an Army, as well to assert his own right, as to rescue his Aunt, but coming to a Battle, he was routed and forced to fly to Leon. There he recruited, and returning stronger than before, drove the Portugueses into Guimaraens, and Besieg'd them in it. A Treaty was set on Foot, and the King being pacify'd he return'd home, yet afterwards the Portuguese made little Account of this capitulation. Alonso King of Aragon and Navarre dying, left his Dominions to the Knights, Templers; but the Aragonians after his Death chose Ramiro a Monk, but Brother to the late King, to Succeed him; and the Navarros Elected D. Garcia of the Blood of their antient Kings. The King of Castile pretended a Right to both those Crowns, as being Descended from Sancho the Greater, of Navarre; upon which Account he Invaded those Countries, but after some time Spent and Blood spilt, they came to an agreement, and Peace was concluded. Against the Moors, he was more Successful, for he not only wasted all the open Country quite round him, but took very many Towns from them, and among others, Calatrava, Alarcos, Caracuel, Mestanca, Alcudia, Almodovar del Campo, Pedroso, Cordova (which was lost again) Baëa, Almeria, and others of less Note. During this King's Reign, a General Council was held at Rheim, in the Year 1148, and in 1149 it Rain'd Blood in the Dominions of the Moors of Portugal. Alonso now in his latter days, made an Invasion into Andalziua, and as he was returning, having left his Eldest Son Sancho there, with the greatest part of the Army, dy'd by the Way, at a Town call'd Frezneda, on the Mountain of Sierra Morena; when he had Reign'd 34 Years, and liv'd 51, in 1157. By him the Arms of Castile and Leon, were first orderly dispos'd, being, Quarterly, 1st Gules, a Castle. Or, 2dly Argent, a Lion Rampant Purpure. The Character Authors give him, is inferior to none of his Predecessors, for they represent him as Pious, Modest, Brave, and in Fine adorn'd with all Virtues and Zeal for Religion. One fault he committed, which was dividing his Dominions, leaving to his Eldest Son Sancho the Crown of Castile, with its dependencies, and to Ferdinand, Leon, and Galicea. Of his three Wives, which were Berengaria,

THE 3d of this Name, and the Eldest Son to King Alonso, was call'd The Desir'd, because much Belov'd, and dy'd soon. His Father dividing his Dominions, left him the Kingdoms of Castile, Toledo, and Naxera, and to his Brother Ferdinand, those of Leon, Oviedo, and Galicia. The Arch Bishop D. Roderick Ximenes says, his Subjects us'd to call this King the Protector, and Defence of the Nobles, because he would have no Judges in his Kingdom, but hear'd all Causes himself. The Military Order of Calatrava, was instituted by him Anno 1158, and confirmed by Pope Alexander the 3d, in 1164, it has 51 Commendaries, worth 135000 Ducats. Little more can be said of his Reign, for it lasted but one Year, and he dy'd at Toledo, in the 23th of his Age, and of our Redemption 1158. Man could endure to see another above him, and so all fell into Disorder, but especially the Powerful Families of Castro and Lara, embroil'd all the Kingdom. Ferdinand King of Leon, thought this a good opportunity to Invade Castile, upon pretence of Educating his Nephew the Young King, and accordingly, there being no Army to oppose him, seiz'd most of the Principal places, even to the City Toledo, but the Infant King was Convey'd away from him to Avila, and there kept by the Citizens, till he was 11 Years of Age, for which Act of Loyalty, they were call'd the Faithful. The King of Navarre, made his Advantage of these Confusions, and possess'd himself of Logrono, Entrena, Briviesca and other Towns. When King Alonso was come to 11 Years of Age, his Subjects weary of the Dominion of the King of Leon, sent to Invite him to take upon him the Government, he set out with only 150 Horse, and others resorting to him from all parts, several places of Note receiv'd him with Joy, and among them the City Toledo, and tho' his Forces were worsted in open Field by the Castro's, who were in Rebellion yet his Power Daily increas'd. The Cortes or Parliament Meeting, when he was 15 Years of Age, Decreed, That all who would not deliver up the Towns, they were entrusted with, according to his Father's Will, should be Reputed Traitors, and that Embassador's should be sent to Demand the Lady Ellenor, Daughter to King Henry the Second, of England, in Marriage for the Young King, which was accordingly done, and the

 him by those Kings in his Minority; but by the Mediation of Religious Persons, a Truce was Concluded. The Young King, not to and took from them the City Cuenca, in the gave him Battle, and receiv'd a mighty overthrow, yet the Infidels only Ravag'd the Country till within 6 Leagues of Toledo, and then turn'd back, and a Truce ensu'd. How-after many Difficulties, made Peace with all the Christian Princes in Spain, and prevail'd

Henry, 64th. King.

First of this Name, Son to Alonso the 9th, Succeeded his Father at 11 Years of Age, and therefore his Mother Queen Ellenor had the Administration of affairs, but she dying within a few Months, left it to her Daughter Berengaria, who had been Queen of Leon, but divorc'd from her Husband. This Lady manag'd the Government with extraordinary Prudence, but the Family of Lara, grown too great, and too Proud for Subjects, us'd all possible Arts to Supplant her, which they soon compass'd, for the rather Loving Retirement, than the great Trouble of business, they Corrupted a Favorite of hers, to perswade her to Resign the King and Government into their Hands. When they had Compass'd their Design, they became most insolent and Arbitrary, to such a degree, that they not only oppress'd many of the Nobility, but even seiz'd upon the Queen's Lands, and Commanded her to depart the Kingdom, The Young King had some thoughts of making his escape from them, but they kept too strict an Eye upon him, and the more to oblige, Indulg'd him in Pleasure, and tho' at those tender Years, Concluded a match for him with Malfada, Sister to King Alonso of Portugal. The Nuptials were Celebrated at Palencia, which much troubled Queen Berengaria, because her Brother was so Young, and therefore she sent to acquaint the Pope, how near of Kin the the Married couple were. His Holiness having appointed Commissioners to enquire into the matter, they found they were within the forbidden Degrees, and consequently the Marriage Null, whereupon the New Queen was sent back to her Country a Maid, where she ended her Days in a Monastery. These Discontents between the Queen Berengaria, and the House of Lara, were carried so high, that they broke out into open War, in which the Country suffer'd very much. But before the Sword could decide the Controversy, the Young King being at Play with some of his Age, in the Court of the Bishop's Palace, where he then lay, a Tile falling from the Top of the House upon his Head, broke it in such a manner, that he Dy'd Eleven Days after, when he had Reign'd scarce 3 Years, being at the Age of 14, and in 1217.

Ferdinand, 65th King.

THird of the Name, call'd, The Holy, Succeeded his Unkle King Henry. Berengaria, before mention'd, Mother to Ferdinand, and Sister to the late King Henry, was made Heiress to the Crown of Castile, in regard the Young King Deceas'd had neither Brother nor Issue. True it is, the Right was in her Elder Sister Blanch, Married to Luis the 8th, King of France, but the Nobility being Averse to him, as a Stranger, Postpon'd his Wife, and declar'd for Queen Berengaria, who had Sons Born in Spain, tho' at present present, she was divorc'd from her Husband, ^{Year of} the King of Leon. Yet the Nobles fearing ^{Christ.} that King, would make use of her Title, to Invade Castile; they conceal'd King Henry's Death, and with Queen Berengaria's consent intreated the King of Leon, that he would send his and her Son Ferdinand to Protect his Mother. This was Granted, and Ferdinand being come to Otella where his Mother was, she there immediately resign'd all her Right to him; and he was Proclaim'd at Najaa, under an Elme Tree, so little State was then us'd. His Father Offended, that he had been so impos'd upon, Invaded Castile, and the Castilians made incursions into Leon, but a Truce was concluded between the Father and the Son. Some other troubles were rais'd by the Nobility, especially the Family of Lara, which the King soon quell'd, and two of the Brothers of that House, fled to the Moors, among whom they dy'd Infamously; their Elder Brother having had the good Fortune to dye among the Christians, tho' with not much better reputation. When all was pacify'd at Home; King Ferdinand bent his Force against the Infidels, and carrying on the War for some Years together gave them no rest, but Destroyed all the open Country, even to the great Cities of Granada and Valencia, which bought their Peace of him, and many considerable Places he Possess'd himself off expelling the Moors, whereof the most remarkable, not to mention, the smaller, were, Priego, Losa, Capilla, and Baea. All this was before the Year 1230, when King Alonso of Leon dying, his Son

Son Ferdinand King of Castile, who then lay at the Siege of Jaen, quitted that Enterprize to secure this new Kingdom that fell to him. Most places receiv'd him Peaceably, and tho' a few of the Nobility stood out at First, they were soon brought under, and thus the Crowns of Castile and Leon were again united, and have so continued to this Day. In 1236. the Year 1236, the Christians, having made Incurfions into the Infidels Country, grew so daring that a small party of them, upon some intelligence that the place was then Weak, had the Boldness to attack the City Cordova, and passing through a Suburb, scal'd the Walls, yet being so small a Number they could only Possess themselves of some Towers, and secure a Gate, from whence they sent Messengers to all parts, to crave more help. King Ferdinand neglected not this opportunity, but gathering, what Forces he could, with all imaginable Speed came before the place; of which he made himself Master in a few Days, to his great Honour, this having been for many Years, the Court of the Moorish Monarchs, and always a City of great Strength and very Populous. This open'd a way for greater Conquests, and the King falling Sick as he intended to enter Andaluzia in the Year 1240, sent his 1240. Eldest Son Alonso in his Place. At Toledo he was met by Embassadors from Hudiel King of Murcia, offering to Surrender that Kingdom to him upon easy Terms, which the Prince consenting to, March'd with all possible Speed, and took Possession of all Places before that Infidel could have time to repent his his Contract. In 1243, the King in Person ^{Year of} Christ Besieg'd and took the Important City Faen, in 1247 Carmona, and in 1248, the most important and renowned City of Sevil. Thus peales, Deposites 500 Pistoles, and if he is Erected at Palencia, he Translated to Sala- manca in the Year 1240. As to his Life and Conversation, it was such, as gain'd him the Title of the Holy, or Saint, for he was endew'd with all Virtues, and it is hard to judge, whether he most excell'd in Valour, Piety, or good Fortune. He was an Excellent Man, and a just Prince. At his Death he gave a rare example of Devotion and Humility, falling down upon his Knees with a Halter about his Neck, when the Archbishop came in to Administer the Sacraments to him. His end was as Holy as his Life had been Fortunate, and hapned in the Year

 Years. King Albamar of Granada, was so great an Admirer of him, and so much Regretted his Death, that tho' an Infidel, he sent every Year several Moors to Sevil, with 100 Flambeaux of White Wax, to Celebrate his Anniversary. He had two Wives, the first Beatrix, Daughter to the Emperor Philip, the other Joanna, Daughter to Simon Earl of Poi-

These are all the Children Mariana mentions by the first Wife, but Sylva in his Account of the King's of Spain adds three more,

Ferdinand who dy'd an Infant, and Henry, of whom he will have the family of Enriquez in Spain to Descend, but I doubt in this as well as other places; he does it to flatter those noble Families, and Mary of whom there is no other Account

Alonso 66th King.

Tenth of the Name, Son of Ferdinand the Holy, and his first Wife Beatrix, was Born at Toledo, Anno 1221, and had the additional Stile of the Wise given him, for his great great Learning in several Sciences, but particularly in Astrology. He compos'd Astronomical Tables, which continue to this Day, and are preserv'd in the Cathedral of Sevil, methodiz'd the Laws of Spain, and writ the History of it; caus'd many Books to be Translated out of other Languages into Spanish, for the publick good, and Ordain'd; that for the future, all Publick deeds and Royal Grants, which till then were in Latin, should be writ in Spanish. Notwithstanding all his Learning and Astrology, he could neither foresee, nor prevent the Calamities that befel him, and either his ill Conduct, or Misfortune made him seem unworthy of that Specious Title of the Wise. The Fame of his Wisdom mov'd some of the Electors of the Empire, after the Death of the Emperor William, to chuse him his Successor, but the others made choice of Richard Duke of Corn-wal, Brother to King Henry of England; who coming first into Germany, was there Crown'd by the Arch-Bishop of Cologne at Aquisgran. This did not at all put King Alonso by his pretensions, tho' several Urgent occasions at home, hindred him from going into Germany, yet he kept the Title of Emperor, and pleaded his right to it, as long as he liv'd. Notwithstanding he had gain'd this Reputation abroad, he was not well Belov'd at home; for tho' of a mild Temper, he was inconstant, and too much addicted to Study, which gave his Enemies the more opportunity of carrying on their contrivances against him. However he was not idle, nor neglected the enlarging of his Dominions, for he took from the Moors, Xeres, Medina, Sidonia, Rota, Sanlucar and other Places; and without doubt had carryed on his Conquests much farther, but that the vain thoughts of gaining the Empire by force, sometimes distracted him, and other whiles the Rebellions of his Subjects, and even of his own Son, rendred him incapable of performing those great Actions that might have been expected from him. In the Year

1272. 1272, several of the Nobility with Phillip the King's Brother, broke out into open Rebellion, and not being able to compass their designs, rather than submit to their Sovereign; fled to the Moors of Granada for Protection. It happened that Richard Duke of Cornwall who was Alonso's competitor, dying, the Electors proceeded to a new Election; which he us'd all his endeavours to prevent; and to that purpose was reconcil'd at any rate, to his Rebellious Nobles, resolving to go with a Power into Germany, to assert his Title. No persuasions were of force to make him desist, but he went as far as Belcayre in Provence, where he met the Pope, who with much difficulty, prevail'd with him not to disturb the Peace of Christendom, with his Pretentions, since the Electors had unanimously chosen Rodulphus Emperor. Thus he returned Home, as little satisfy'd as he went out, having put his Kingdom to a vast expence, to no purpose. Yet this was but the beginning of his Misfortunes, for in the

bove 4000 with their General D. Nunno de Lara in the first Fight, and in the second no great Number, because they did not stand any time, but taking the Arch-Bishop of Toledo who commanded, and whom they Murder'd in cold Blood. Nor did the Calamities of this Year end thus; for a greater disaster yet happen'd, which was the Death of Prince Ferdinand the King's Eldest Son, and Heir apparent to the Crown. Upon his death, Sancho his Youngest Brother, immediately made his Interest to be declar'd next Heir of Castile, notwithstanding Prince Ferdinand left two Sons, Alonso and Ferdinand. Their Uncles Ambition broke through all Laws of Divine and Natural Right, and in order to Succeed in usurping the Crown; he endeavour'd to oblige the Nobility, and prevail'd so far, that the Queen Violante, not thinking her Grand-Children safe, Fled with them to Aragon; but all the kindness she met with there, was to be sent back herself into Castile, and the Young Princes imprisoned. King Alonso Favoured his Grand-Children, whose the undoubted Right was, and his Wicked Son Sancho, resolving to stick at nothing, that might promote his Interest, broke out into open Rebellion against his Father, and Acts of Hostility were committed on both sides. The People, as generally they are fonder of Rebellion than their Duty, were most for the Son, so that the Cortes or Parliament being Summon'd by the King, most of the Members went away to meet the Rebellious Prince. This undutifulness, and so many affronts provoked King Alonso so far, and poured out many Causes upon him. Nor yet so satisfy'd, he made his Complaint to the Pope, who excommunicated all that adher'd to the Prince. In the height of these distractions, without any hope of accommodation, King Alonso dyed at Sevil, in the Year 1284, when he had Reign'd 32 and liv'd 63. In his Will he appointed his Grandson Alonso to Succeed him, and he dying without Issue, Ferdinand the Younger Brother, and after them Phillip King of France; as great Grandson to King Alonso the 9th. This King was Married to Violante Daughter to Jaime, or James King of Aragon, by whom he had Issue.

Ferdinand who had the Surname de la Cerda, or of the Hair, because he had a long one, or as some say a lock of Hair on his Breast, when Born, but I rather beleive it was a single Bristly Hair, because Cerda is the singular Number and properly signifyes a Hair. This Prince took to Wife Blach, Daughter to S. Luis King of France, by whom he had two Sons, Alonso and Ferdinand, and dy'd before his Father, at one and twenty Years of Age, His Sons the rightful Heirs of their Grandfathers Crown, were put aside by their Unkle Sancho, who taking the advantage of their tender Years usurp'd the Crown, and tho' as long as they liv'd, they made all possible efforts to recover their right yet he not only held, but transmitted it to his Prosperity, and those unhappy Princes nor their Heirs could recover their Right to this Day, tho' their Ofspring, and in it their

CHAP. IX.

From the Year 1284, when King Sancho Usurp'd the Crown from his Nephews, till the Year 1369, when Henry the Bastard Murder'd King Peter, and intruded into the Throne.

Sancho, 67th King,

Fourth of the Name, call'd, The Brave, for his great Spirit, was Second Son to King Alonso, the Wise, and Succeeded him against all Right, Usurping the Crown from his Two Nephews, the Sons of his Elder Brother, as has been shown above. The Nobility, Gentry, and Commonalty, all vy'd in Flattering, the Usurper, and he Dissembling for the present, kept a Secret Malice in his Heart, against those that had oppos'd him in his Rebellion, during his Father's Life. At the beginning of his Reign, the Infidels Besieg'd Xerez for 6 Months, King Sancho not daring to give them Battle, yet Plundering the Country about, and cutting off Provisions, he oblig'd them to raise the Siege, and soon after Concluded a Peace with them. The following Year, 1285, was born Prince Ferdinand, who Succeeded his Father in the Throne. D. Lope de Haro, was now the greatest test Favourite, and carried his Power so Insolently, that he grew Odious to all the Nobility, and at length Troublesome to his Master, who by the Advice of the King of Portugal, took D. Alvar Nunez de Lara, into Favour, only to be a Check to him, at which he was so highly offended, that he withdrew into Navarre. Alonso and Ferdinand, the two Rightful Heirs of Castile, were still Prisoners in Aragon, and the French pretending to support their Title, at last Articled with King Sancho, to give them the Kingdom of Murcia, to be held of him; which Agreement their Mother was so offended at, that she went away to Portugal, to endeavour to persuade that King to espouse her quarrel, but she sped there no better than she had done in France. However the King of Aragon at last, not only releas'd the Two Princes out of Prison, but at Jaca, Saluted Alonso the Eldest, King of Castile. Upon this a War ensu'd between the Two Crowns, and tho' no considerable Battle was Fought, yet the Country was Harrass'd, and several Towns taken on both sides, some whereof were destroy'd. The City of Badajoz, encourag'd by the King of Aragon's Espousing their Lawful Prince's Cause, were so bold as to Proclaim Alonso de la Cerda King, which so Inrag'd the Intruded King, that he march'd thither with all Speed, and tho' the place was presently Surrendered to him, after Articling for Life, yet he falsely and Inhumanly Butcher'd 4000 Men and Women, contrary to his Faith given. Such is the Practice of Usurpers, who wrongfully possessing the Dominions of others, Embrew their Hands in Blood, and have no regard to Promises, Honour or Conscience. Tho' Sancho kept his Possession, yet was it not without continual Troubles, sometimes the French, sometimes Aragonians, and sometimes his own People taking Arms against him, on pretence of favouring the two Brothers Cerdas, tho' in Reality to carry on their own designs. King Alonso the Third of Aragon, Dying, his Brother Jayne or James, who Succeeded him, forsook the Unfortunate Exil'd Princes, and enter'd into a League with King Sancho. Now at the latter end of his Reign, his Brother John, who before was fled into Portugal, went away to Morocco, and having Forces given him by that King, return'd again into Spain, and Besieg'd Tarifa, which was Bravelly Defended by Alonso Perez de Guzman, whose only Son being taken by the Infidels, they threatned to cut off his Head, unless the place were Surrendred, which no way moving the Governour, they Barbarously Executed, for which the Name of the Good was given to him, and continues in his Family and Posterity, the Dukes of Medina Sidonia, to this Day. King Sancho's Reign, as it was unjust so was it no less uneasy, and not lasting, for it held but Eleven

Violante, Marry'd to D. Ferdinand Ruiz de Castro, had by him Peter Fernandez de Castro, the Father of the Lady Joanna de Castro, Queen of Castile, and of the Lady Agnes de Castro, Queen of Portugal.

Teresa Married to D. Alonso de Meneses.

Ferdinand, 68th King.

Fourth of the Name, Son to King Sancho, tho' not in Lawful Wedlock, (no more than the rest of his Children) the Marriage being Void, on account of Consanguinity, Succeeded his Father, and was Proclaim'd the Day after his Death. Being but very Young, the Nobility took this advantage to advance their Designs, and thus the Kingdom was full of Confusions. King Denis of Portugal Declar'd for Prince John the Young King's Unkle, who pretended a Right to the Crown, on Account of his Brother's not being Lawfully Married, as was said above. The King of Aragon enter'd into a League with Prince Alonso.

Alonso de la Cerda, the only Rightful Heir, in order to restore him, and Prince John join'd with them. This last, as had been agreed among them, was Proclaim'd King of Leon and Galicia; the Aragonians, who were to have the Kingdom of Murcia, for their Reward, Invaded it, and took that City, and Denis King of Portugal advanced with his Forces, as far as Salamanca, but finding the Gentry of Castile forsake him, return'd without doing any thing. Mean while the Cortes or Parliament was held at Valladolid and furnish'd a considerable Sum of Mony. The following Year 1298, Peace was concluded between Castile and Portugal; King Ferdinand Marrying Constance the Daughter of King Denis, and Prince Alonso Son to the latter, being contracted to Blanch Sister to the former. The Year 1300 was remarkable, for the first instituting of the Jubile, by Pope Boniface, who ordain'd it for every Hundred Years, Clement the 6th reduc'd it to 50, and Sixtus the 6th to 25. This same Year the Famous City Bilbao in Biscay, was built. The poor Princes, Alonso and Ferdinand de la Cerda found their Interest again to decline, and therefore went away to France for Succours, where they Sped no better than before. Prince John King Ferdinand's Unkle, seeing little hopes of prevailing, submitted and had an Estate assign'd him suitable to his Birth. Yet the disorders of Castile ended not here, for the other Princes of the Blood, and several great Men in hatred to one another incessantly fomented insurrections and call'd upon D. Alonso de la Cerda

Cerda and the Aragonians again tho' with as ^{Year of} little effect as before, for when their own ^{Christ.} turns were serv'd, they valu'd no Body besides. Denis King of Portugal, as mediator reconcil'd Castile and Aragon to the great prejudice of D. Alonso de la Cerda, who in this accommodation, had about as many Towns allow'd him as Kingdoms he was wrong'd of. In 1309 Castile and Aragon join'd in League against the Moors, the one Besieg'd Almeria, the other Algezira, but took neither, only the Castilians made themselves Masters of Gibraltar, Quesada, and Bedmar. About this same time a General Council was assembled by Pope Clement at Vienna in Dauphine, and among other things done by this Pope; he prevail'd First with the King of France and afterwards with all other Christian Princes to suppress the Order of Knights Templers. The Crimes objected against them, were so heinous, and at the same time, so absurd that they seem to justify them, for it does not seem credible that so many Persons of worth as were in that Order, could be guilty of such enormities. It is to be fear'd their great Wealth, was the cause of their ruin. In the Dominions of Castile only, they were Masters of at least 30 Towns, all which the King immediately seiz'd. King Ferdinand having pacifi'd all at Home, March'd with his Army against the Moors, and was come as far as Martos, where a strange accident happened. Peter and John Carvajal Brothers, were apprehended upon Suspicion, for the Murther of Gomez de Benarvides kill'd at Palencia. Others had been question'd about about it, but it could not be fix'd upon any Body. At last these two Gentlemen upon slender Evidence were Condemn'd to be cast Head long from a Rock for it, and tho' much intercession was made, the King would not Pardon them. As they were led to Execution they call'd God to Witness their Innocency, and appealing to his Tribunal, Summon'd the King to appear before it within 30 Days, He made slight of it, but within a few days fell Sick, and the very 30th day when to appearance he was better and very merry for the taking of Alcaudete, retiring to Sleep, was found Dead, in the 24th Year of his Age, of Christ 1312, when he had Reign'd 17. On Account of this Accident he was call'd Ferdinand the Summon'd. By his Wife Constance the Daughter of Denis King of Portugal he had Issue Alonso his Successor, and Ellenor, afterwards Marry'd to King Alonso the 4th of Aragon.

Alonso, 69th King.

THE 11th and last of this Name, upon the Death of his Father King Ferdinand, was Proclaim'd King, when he was but 13 Months Old, and immediately the whole Kingdom was in a Flame, through the Ambition and Pride of the Great ones, every one seeking to get the King into his Power, hoping by that means to be enabl'd to Tyranize over the Kingdom. The pretenders were the Queens Mary, Grandmother, and and Constance Mother to the King, the Prin-^{Year of} ces Peter, Unkle, and John great Unkle to the ^{Christ.} King, D. John de Lara, D. John Manuel and several others. At length in the Year 1314 the Cortes or Parliament made some sort of Settlement, placing the cheif Power in a Council of State, and dividing the rest between the two Princes, John and Peter;

the Queen having the Education of her Son.
After this Prince Peter, who had charge of the affairs of Itala, Andaluzia marching with a great Convoy to releive the City Guadix then in want, routed a great Body of Moors, that came to oppose him; killing 1500 of them. Prince John envying the Honour his Nephew gain'd in these expeditions, resolv'd to do something himself, so both of them March'd into Andaluzia, and even in sight of the City Granada, whence as they drew off the Infidels Sally'd out, and taking them Weary and Thirsty put them to the rout. The Princes, Peter and John, are said both of them to have dy'd with heat and excessive Labour. The Infidels encourag'd by this Success, advanc'd and took several Towns. Nor was this all the ill consequence of the Death of those Princes, for immediately all the Great ones began again to aim at the Government, and every one Seiz'd what he could, so that the Dominions of Castile were divided among them, as if there had been so many small Kingdoms erected; and Queen Mary dying not long after, there was no possibility of composing the disorders.
At length the King came to 15 Years of Age, and tho' so Young was necessitated to take upon him the Government, which yet did not hinder D. John Manuel, and D. John Lord of Biscay, from associating and breaking into open Rebellion, but the King agreeing to Marry D. John Manuel's Daughter, drew him off, and the other forsaken, could do nothing at present, and the King getting him into his Power cut off his Head. Yet this pacify'd not the Tumults, for King Alonso putting away D. John Manuel's Daughter and Marrying Mary Daughter to the King of Portugal, D. John was so enrag'd that he joyn'd with the Moors, and brought the Aragonians to his assistance. Many places finding D. John so well back'd took his opportunity to Rebel, but King Alonso offering him of Aragon, his Sister Ellenor in Marriage, drew him from the party of D. John, and these two Kings entred into League with him of Portugal against the Moors. The War was commenced and some Towns taken from them, which occasion'd the King of Granada to go over into Africk to desire Succours. D. Alonso de la Cerda the rightful King of Castile seeing no hopes left of recovering his Crown, met the present Possessor, and made his Submission to him, kissing his Hand, upon which Lands were assign'd him for his Maintenance. The province of Alava in Biscay, which till this time had preserv'd its liberty, now sent Deputies to offer to come under the regal Authority, which the King readily Embrac'd, and going thither was receiv'd as Sovereign, granting them a particular charter of Privileges. In the same place where this was done, he instituted a new Order of Knighthood, called de la Banda

Banda, that is of the Scarfe, or Belt; from one those Knights wear on the right Shoulder falling under the left Arm, of Colour Red or Crimson. The King was Master of the Order, which continu'd some time in Esteem, but at last fell to nothing. Some Forces came over out of Africk, Commanded by Abomelique Son to the King of Morocco, to the assistance of the Moors, and took Gibraltar, which the Christians in vain endea-vour'd to recover, being call'd away from the Siege, by the incurtions, the Rebellious Lords supported by the Aragonians made into Castile. Therefore a Truce was concluded with the Infidels, And the King bending his Forces against the Rebels took most of their Towns, oblig'd Biscay to Swear allegiance to him, and Beheaded D. John de Haro Lord of it, as a Traitor, giving the Town of Cameros to his Brothers Alvaro and Alonso, to support their dignity. D. John Manuel terrify'd by this Example, submitted.
 All the Christian Kings of Spain, fell at variance among themselves in the Year 1335, and the Aragonians and Navarrois venturing to give the Castilians Battle, were put to Flight by them, and in 1337 the Portuguese were beaten by them at Sea, and their whole Fleet destroy'd. At length a Peace was concluded betwixt Castile and Aragon in 1338, and then the War return'd with the Moors, who had a great overthrow given them, in which 10000 were slain, with their General Abomelique Son to the King of Morocco.
 His Death stirred up his Father to seek re-he transported 70000 Horse and 400000 Foot into Spain, the greatest Force that ever came over at one time. Tenorio Admiral of Castile was censur'd for suffering them to pass the streight, who disdain'd to have his Honour question'd, engag'd the Moorish Fleet, and being overpower'd, perish'd with his Galleys, except five that made their escape. The terror of this Invasion united the Christian Princes, and they resolv'd unanimously to join their Forces to releive Tarifa besieg'd by the Infidels. The King of Portugal came in Person, but brought only 1000 Horse. All the Christian Power consisted of only 14000 Horse and 25000 Foot. With this small Force, they doubted not to engage that prodigious Multitude, which they put to Flight, with the Slaughtrer of 200000. The Moorish Kings escap'd, but Albobacen the King of Morocco's chief Wife, with 3 others inferior to her, and his Son Abobamar were taken, and two other Sons of his kill'd. Vast Riches were found in the Moorish Camp, and among the rest, so much silver and Gold that it caus'd the value of Mony in Spain to fall. This Glorious Victory was obtain'd in the 1342. 1342 their whole Fleet was Destroy'd. Next the King bent all his designs against Algeria, which he besieg'd in 1342, and tho' with mighty difficulties continu'd before it all the following Year, when he receiv'd considerable supplies, both from England and

ble for a Destructive Universal Plague, which coming out of the East, ran through Italy, Sicily, and Majorca into Spain, where it swept away incredible Multitudes. In 1349, the King having a Subsidy granted him, lay'd Siege to Gibraltar, where the Plague destroy'd great numbers, and the King being positive not to raise the Siege, was at last himself seiz'd by the Contagion, whereof he dy'd on the 26th of March, 1350, when he had Reign'd 38 Years, and liv'd by 39. For his Severity in Executing Justice, he was call'd, The Upright, and might have been esteem'd a Virtuous Prince, but for his Incontinency, which prov'd the Ruin of his Lawful Issue, destroy'd by his Bastards, as we shall see hereafter. He was Married to Mary, Daughter to Alonso the 4th, King of Portugal, who bore him.

His Bastard Children were many, and all of them I think by the Lady Ellenor de Gusman, who out-liv'd him. We will mention them all because several of them were afterwards Turbulent and great, and one Murder'd his Sovereign King Peter, and Usurp'd the Throne, which he left to his Posterity. They were born in the following Order.

SON to King Alonso, is most generally call'd, the Cruel, but some chuse rather to Term him, The Executor of Justice, because tho' he shed much Blood, it was generally in punishing Rebels. True it is the worst Name has prevail'd, because his Bastard Brother and Murderer, Usurping the Crown, most Writers of those times Flatter'd him and his Heirs by Blackning the Unfortunate King, and yet he has not wanted those who have Writ particular Books in Vindication of him. He was 15 Years of Age when Proclaim'd, of a forward Wit, a fair Complexion, an agreeable aspect, yet Majestick, a great Heart, and a Body fit to endure Labour. But what made him most hated was his Rigid Execution of Justice. Just upon his Accession to the Crown, he fell so desperatly Sick, that the Physitians gave him over, and all People were looking about them for an Heir, but he as suddenly Recovering disappointed all their Expectations. As soon as Recover'd he hastned into Biscay, which Province he United to the Crown of Castile, D. John de Lara, the Proprietor Dying not long before in Castile,
and

and his only Child D. Nuno, soon after in Biscay. The Cortes or Parliament now Sitting, it was propos'd the King should Marry, and accordingly Embassadors were sent to the Duke of Bourbon, who had six Daughters to Demand one of them for his Wife, which he readily granted, and they made choice of the Lady Blanch, a perfect Pattern of Virtue, but most Unfortunate in this Match. Whilst they were gone on this Message, Henry the Bastard Rebell'd in Asturias, and the King going thither to suppress him, by the way fell in Love with the Lady Mary de Padilla, whom he privately Marry'd, tho' for several Years it was not known, and she still went under the Scandal of being his Mistress. Nevertheless when the Lady Blanch came out of France, King Peter Marry'd her too, but presently left her, and return'd to the Lady Mary. After many Troubles with the Rebellious Nobility, and putting some of them to Death, he Committed a Crime no way excusable, which was, that falling in Love with the Lady Joanna de Castro, and knowing his designs were not otherwise to be compass'd, he Married her, making it out that his Marriage to the Lady Blanch was Void, and having lain with her but one Night, left her. D. Ferdinand de Castro, Brother to the forsaken Lady Joanna, join'd with the Discontented Nobility, and a dangerous Rebellion broke out again, and rose to such a Head, that the Rebels besieg'd the King and his Mother in Tordesillas, but they made their escape. An Interview was appointed in order to some Accommodation, but nothing was Concluded.

The Queen Mother hereupon joins the Rebels, which so startled her Son, that he put himself into her Power. All his retinue was Seiz'd and the Officers about him remov'd, Factious Persons being put in their places. He finding himself no better than a Prisoner, upon pretence of Hunting, made his escape; and gathering Force, Executed several of the Mutiniers. Henry and Frederick, the Bastard Brothers, Seiz'd Toledo, Robb'd the Jews, and Murder'd about 1000 of them. King Peter coming upon them before they were provided to oppose him, they were forc'd to Fly for their Lives. After this he recover'd the City Toro, and Executed some Principal Rebels, taken in it. Queen Mother went away to Portugal, where she liv'd leudly, as she had done before in Castile, and was therefore Poison'd by the King, her Brother. A War ensu'd betwixt Castile and Aragon, and several Towns were taken on both sides. The Bastards and several Nobles of Castile side with the Aragonians, for which, some of them, being taken, were Executed. King Peter, having prepar'd a mighty Fleet, went aboard of it in Person, scour'd all the Coasts as far as Barcelona, took Alicant and Guardamar, and having done much harm, return'd to Sevil, and soon after routed the Aragonians near Najara, taking from them the Towns of Haro and Najara. This at last produced a Peace between Castile and Aragon, in the Year 1361. About the same time Queen Blanch dy'd in her confinement, and not long after her, the Lady Mary de Padilla, who may justly be call'd Queen, having ving been Marry'd to the King before the other, as he afterwards declard, in the Cortes or Parliament, and brought Witnesses to prove it, such as were of undoubted reputation, and depos'd it upon Oath. After this he enter'd into a League with the Kings of England and Navarre, the War being again broke out with Aragon, where many Towns were taken, even in the heart of that Country. But Henry the Bastard who had been in France, to that effect, coming now with considerable supplies, the Face of affairs was alter'd. King Peter retir'd to Castile, he of Navarre fell off, and joyn'd the Aragonians. Both those Kings were join'd by Henry the Bastard, who had gather'd 12000 Foreigners, English, Germans and French. Grown bold with this Mighty Power, he advances towards Castile, and as soon as he came within the Borders, Proclaims himself King, and in the space of 25 days most of the Cities in Old Castile, receiv'd him as such. King Peter beset by Traitors on all sides, and not knowing whom to trust, Fled to Sevil, and there Shipping himself, his Treasure, and Children aboard one Galley, Sail'd into Portugal; where the King would neither entertain, nor betray him. So he went away to Galicia, and having gather'd 22 Sail, pass'd over to Bayonne in France, then in the Hands of the English. As soon as he was gone, all the Dominions of Castile, receiv'd his Bastard Brother, as their King. This was in the Year 1366, Edward Prince of Wales, at this time Govern'd the Province of Guienne in France, for his Father the King of England. A Treaty was immediately set afoot between him and King Peter, at which the King of Navarre was present, for restoring of Peter to his Crown, and the Articles agreed and sign'd on both sides. In pursuance to them; the Prince of Wales passes the Pyrenean Mountains at Roncesvalles, with about 20000 Men and Advances as far as Najara in Castile. There Henry with all his Power of French and Spaniards met him. They presently came to a Battle in which the Bastard was so intirely routed, that no one Body of his Men appear'd afterwards, but Henry escap'd into France. This Famous Battle of Najara, in which the English restor'd King Peter to his Throne; was Fought upon the 3d of April 1367, after which he recover'd all his Dominions in as short a time, as before he had lost them, and Executed many of the Rebels. Henry the Bastard was releiv'd, and entertain'd in France, by the Earl of Faux, and making his application to that King, he in hatred to the English, lent him Mony and Men, and forwarded him all that was possible to attempt regaining of the Crown. It was his good Fortune, that the Prince of Wales return'd into Guienne dissatisfy'd with King Peter, who had neither paid his Men, nor perform'd any other of the Articles agreed on. The Country being rid of the Dread of his Forces, began to revolt from Peter, and many Towns declar'd against him; besides great Numbers of Men Flock'd to his Brother, who having gather'd an Army, entred Aragon, at the pass of Valdeandorra, and march'd

so swiftly, that the Aragonians who design'd it, could not overtake him. As soon as he entred the Borders of Castile, he Swore never to depart out of it, but rather to dye there. Calaborra, Burgos, Leon; and many other places, receiv'd him with expressions of joy. Toledo held out, and was closely Besieg'd. Care to releive it, made the King March from Sevil, with what Forces he had tho' small, and he advis'd to wait till his Friends had gather'd a greater Power. He put his two Sons and all his Treasure into Carmona, a strong Town near Sevil, then advanced with 3000 Horse, half of which were Moors, as far as Montiel. Henry hearing of his approach, left the Arch-Bishop to carry on the Siege, and Marched with the Horse, to meet his Enemy. By the way he was join'd by several Noblemen, and by Bertran Claquin, who brought 600 chosen Horse. They March'd all Night, and by break of Day, discover'd the Enemy, who expected nothing less than their coming. The surprize caus'd some disorder, yet they all drew out, and gave a Furious charge, but the Moors betaking themselves to Flight, the Castilians were not able to stand the Shock, and therefore retir'd with the King into the Castle of Montiel. Henry closely beset him, and he treating with Bertran Claquin, the French Commander under his Brother, to convey him away, the Traitor undertook it, and betray'd him to Henry, who inhumanly butcher'd him with his own Hands, Stabbing him many times with a Dagger on the Ground. This was the unfortunate end of King Peter, when he had Reign'd 19 Years, and liv'd but 34, in 1369. Here it may not be amiss to observe how little King Sancho the 4th's usurping the Crown from his Nephew, D. Alonso de la Cerda, Prosper'd with him and his Successors; Sancho himself Reign'd but 11 Years, and those in continual Troubles and Perplexities, and dy'd in the Flower of his Age, being as some Authors say but 30 Years of Age. His Son Ferdinand, being left a Child Reign'd 17 Years, yet dy'd at 25, an unhappy Death, being Summon'd by those he wrongfully Executed, and ending his Life in a Sleep on the last Day of the Summons. Alonso his Son, left but 13 Months old, was hurry'd about under the Government of others, during his Minority; and never enjoy'd Peace, when he came to riper Years, and at last dy'd of the Plague, when he had liv'd but 39 Years. Lastly, his Son Peter, the last, as we may say of that Male Line, because his Sons dy'd in Prison, without Issue; liv'd and dy'd as unhappily as we have seen above, and the Crown wrongfully got, now as wrongfully devolv'd to a Bastard. But to return, King Peter had 3 Wives, for he was Marry'd to them all, of which Blanch the 2d, had no Children, the Lady Mary de Padilla his First Wife, was Mother to possess'd himself of the Dominions of Castile, most Places submitting to him. But still a mighty Storm threatned him from abroad; for all Princes agreed, that he being a Bastard could not Succeed, and every one set up his Pretensions. The Kings of Aragon and Navarre endeavour'd to recover such places as they thought themselves to have a Right to; he of Portugal challeng'd the Crown, as great Grandson to King Sancho by Beatrix, his Daughter. But the greatest Storm was threatned from England, because John of Gant had marry'd Constance, Daughter to King Peter, and in her Right claim'd the Succession. Henry, to secure the Affections of the Nobility gave all that was in his Power. Bertran Clauquin, the French-man, had 120000 Doubles for betraying King Peter. Only Carmona stood out against the Intruder; but being besieg'd, the Loyal Governor was at last forced, for want of Provisions, to surrender upon Articles, which were basely broken, and he cruelly put to death, or rather murder'd by the new King's Command. In this place all King Peter's Treasure was taken, with some of his Innocent Children, who were kept in Prison, as long as they liv'd, soon after a Peace was concluded with Portugal, which was not lasting, no more than the War that ensu'd, for after some small Expeditions, they easily agreed again. Next follow'd a Peace betwixt Castile and Aragon. Henry fearing to be first invaded by the English, join'd his Forces with the French, and laid Siege to Bayonne, then in the possession of the former, and having spent much time, and lost many

Now ^{Christ.} at last, after so many Disasters, Spain enjoy'd a short Peace, all the Kings being ally'd to one another by Marriages, yet this Tye could not Unite them long, for in the Year 1378 Henry invaded Navarre on one side, while the French did the same on the other, and between them they so harras'd that Country, that its King was forced upon any Terms to clap up a Peace with Castile. The following Year 1379 King Henry Dy'd, some say of the Gout, others, that he was Poisn'd by a pair of Buskins a Moore presented him, when he had Reign'd 10 Years, and liv'd 46. cause he sided with the English; all it did was only ravaging the Coasts of that Country. About the end of the Year 1379, and beginning of 1380, there happen'd such continual Rains, that all Rivers overflow'd, and particularly the Ebro broke down its Banks, and found a new Channel, and it was very difficult to bring it back to the old one. Leo King of Armenia, who had been taken by the Soldan of Egypt, came now into Spain, whence he went into France, and there dy'd. Ill gotten power seldom is long secure, the Crown of Castile, wrongfully got, could not sit easy. The English and Portugueses both had Pretensions to that Kingdom as we saw before, and therefore they now join'd in a League to recover their Right. King John resolv'd to be before-hand with them, and having gather'd an Army march'd into Portugal, and fate down before Almeyda, a Town not far from Badajoz, which being strong, he advanced but little. Mean while the Fleets of Castile and Portugal meeting at Sea fought, with such success to the former, that they took 20 Gallies. This loss was soon repair'd by the arrival of the English Fleet at Lisbon, with Land Forces, but they brought no Horses, and few were to be had there. Winter drawing on King John returned into Castile, having done nothing considerable. As soon as the Weather was proper in the Year 1382, both Armies took the Field, but before any Action a Treaty of Peace was set a foot, and soon concluded upon condition that Beatrix the Heiress of the Crown of Portugal should be contracted to Ferdinand younger Son to the King

King of Castile, who was to furnish a Fleet to carry home the English. Presently after, Elle-^{Year of}nor Queen of Castile Dies, and Prince Ferdi-^{Christ.}mand being but a Child, that Article concerning his Marrying the Princess of Portugal, was alter'd, and the King his Father took her to Wife. The Nuptials were scarce over before her Father Ferdinand King of Portugal Dy'd, which made her Rightful Heiress to that Crown; yet the generality of that People would not hear of admitting a stranger to rule over them, and consulted about choosing them a King; nevertheless some persons well inclin'd to Justice, procur'd King John of Castile, and his Queen, to be Proclaim'd at Lisbon, which cost some Lives, and the Rabble were so enrag'd that they Murder'd Martin, Bishop of Lisbon, only because he was a Castilian, and seem'd to favour King John. Ferdinand the late King, left a Bastard Son call'd John, who amidst these Disorders, aspir'd to the Crown, and was favour'd by the Multitude. The King of Castile was now in Portugal, with an Army and after being refus'd admittance into Coimbra, march'd and laid Siege to Lisbon. There he lay till Autumn coming on, his Army sickned, and great numbers Dy'd, before he could be prevail'd upon to raise the Siege; but at last, perceiving the Mortality increase, and no hopes of success, he march'd away Garrisoning the Towns that had submitted, and resolving to return the following Year, with a greater Power. In April 1383, John the Bastard of King Ferdinand, was Proclaim'd King of Portugal and most places submitted to him. Soon after after the Fleet of Castile without any opposition, Ravag'd all the Coasts of Portugal. The Army of Castile Randevouz'd at Cuidad Rodrigo the Portugues was at Tomar, whither the others march'd to meet them, but discover'd them about the midway. The Portuguese were about 12000 strong and therefore drew up in a narrow place secur'd on both Flanks the Castilians, who were much more Numerous, confiding in this Advantage, resolv'd to Attack them in that place, tho' the Wiser sort advis'd to march away towards Lisbon, and by that means, either force them to Fight in open ground, or else possess themselves of that City. The worst advice took place, and they charg'd their Enemy so vigorously, that for some time the event was dubious, till the new made King, advancing with a reserve, so animated his Men, that they broke the Castilians, Kill'd 10000, and among them many of great Note. King John who by reason of his sickness, had been carry'd on Mens Shoulders, was forced to mount a Horseback and ride 11 Leagues that Night to Santarem, whence he went down the River Tagus in a Boat, and getting aboard the Fleet, which then lay at Lisbon, sail'd away to Sevil. This Victory secur'd the Usurper in the possession of that Kingdom, which he left to his Posterity, and all places, that had held out against him, submitted. Not so content his General Nuno Alvarez Pereyra made an Inroad into Andaluzia, where he routed a considerable Body, that came to oppose him, and brought away a great Booty. Both Kings mistrusting their own Power, endeavour'd to get Foreign Succours, the Castilian sent Embassadors to France on this Account, the Portuguese to England, where John of Gant still kept up his Pretensions, and both of them Succeeded. The French order'd 2000 Horse, and pay for them to be sent into Castile. The Duke of Lancaster being refus'd Passage thro' Aragon, came over by Sea, and Landed at Coruna, where he took 6 Galleys of Castile. All his Force consisted of 1500 Horse, and the like Number of Archers.

 This Handful of Men, took several Towns of Galicia, and even Compostela the Capital City. Thence the Duke went by Sea to Porto, where the new made King met him, and they agreed the former should have the Crown of Castile, but nothing was done towards gaining of it, that Summer. The King of Castile being desirous to draw off the English, propos'd to the Duke of Lanca- ster, a match betwixt his Son and Heir, Hen- ry, and the Duke's Daughter, by the Lady Constanee, which after some delays, was at last agreed to, together with several other Articles, as that the Lady Constance should have the Towns of Soria, Almaran, Atienca and Molina, the Duke 600000 Florines paid at certain times fixt, and 40000 Yearly during his and his Dutchesse's Life. This done he Sail'd away to Bayonne. The Duke had before Marry'd his other Daughter to the new King of Portugal. This same Year 1388 the King of Castile created his Eldest Son of England, of making the Heir apparent, concluded with Portugal for 6 Years. The Cortes of Castile meeting, a general Pardon pass'd for all that had deserted the King, during the War, except the Earl of Gyon. The standing Forces had Pay assign'd them, and a Tax was laid for the purpose; before this they liv'd at discretion upon the Country People. King John built the Monastery of Paular of Carthusians, which is the Beautifullest in Spain. To the Monks of S. Benedict, he gave the old Palace at Valladolid, and the Church of Guadalupe, before possess'd by Secular Priests, he bestow'd on the Hieronimites. On Sunday, October 1390, the King riding out to see certain Christians, that had serv'd the King of Morocco, exercise, clapt Spurs to his Horse, who being Mettlesome, ran away with him into the Plow'd Lands, where Stumbling, the King came down with such Violence that it kill'd him, when he had liv'd but 33 Years, and Reign'd 11. He had two Wives, Ellenor Daughter to Peter the 4th, King of Aragon, and Beatrix Daughter to King Ferdinand of Portugal. By the first he had Issue.

THE 3^d of the Name, and commonly call'd the Sickly, because he enjoy'd little Health, being Proclaim'd, and having Bury'd his Father, the Cortes met to settle the Government, he being then but 11 years of Age, and tho' his Father by his Will, had appointed certain Noblemen, and Commons, yet they altered it, according to their own Humours, and put the Government into the Hands of two Spiritual, and two Temporal Lords, and 16 Commons; these latter to attend, eight at a time, for some Months, and then be releiv'd by the other eight. No sooner were they put into Power, but they fell at Variance, every one striving to get all the Authority into his Hands. The Pope and Kings of France and Aragon were engag'd in the Quarrel, and both sides rais'd Forces, and strengthened themselves, yet at last they were reconcil'd by the Mediation of Queen Ellenor of Navarre, and the Popes Nuncio. The Cortes were to fix this agreement, which consisted in adding 3 Noblemen, as Governors to those nam'd in the late King's Will. Here the Arch-Bishop of Santiago, Bandyng against him of Toledo, prevail'd to have the Earl of Gyon added to the rest, tho' he had been long Imprisoned for Rebellion. Yet all this was broke again, and the King's Will restored to full Effect. The Portugueses thought to make their advantage of these disorders in Castile, and therefore the Truce being expir'd, would not renew it; especially because the Duke of Benavente was in Rebellion, and sided with them. However nothing considerable was done on either side and after much delay, and debate, the Truce was concluded for 15 Years. In Castile the division among the Governors increas'd, in somuch that the Arch-Bishop of Toledo was Imprison'd, but they were glad to release him, and beg Pardon. The King now took upon him the Government, the Arch-Bishop of Toledo, was in great Favour with him; and thus some little Peace ensu'd after so many Troubles. At the request of the Biscainers K. Henry went thither in Person, to take Possession of that Lordship. Those People this same Year survey'd all the Canary Islands and Landing at Lancarote, took the King, Queen, and 15 of their Subjects, whom they brought away, with abundance of Goats Skins and Wax, whereof there is great Plenty in those Islands. At the Cortes held at Madrid, the King being in want of Money, all Pensions granted, during his Minority, were cut off. After this the King being of fit Years, Marry'd the Lady Catherine, Daughter to John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, and Grand-Child to King Peter of Castile. Thus the lawful Line was restor'd. This same Year 1394, the Court was forced to remove from Madrid, because the Plague rag'd there. Every little discontent, was a sufficient ground for the Nobility to Rebel, the cutting off their extravagant Pensions, serv'd at this time, and so the Kingdom was presently all in a Flame

Flame. Martin Yanez de la Barbuda a Portuguese, was made Master of the Knights of Alcantara, and being a hot Headed Man, and put upon by an Enthusiastick Hermit, broke the Truce with the Moors, entring their Territories in Hostile manner, with 300 Horse and 5000 Foot; but the King of Granada coming upon him with 5000 Horse and 120000 Foot, cut off him and all his Men, so that scarce one of them escap'd. In Castile the Mutinies still increas'd, and all other means failing; the King was forced to have recourse to Arms, which made some submit, and others were expell'd. The Earl of Gyon a hard'ned Rebel, being close drove, was forced to consent that the King of France should be his Judge, who declar'd him a Traitor. The Duke of Benavente, no better inclin'd than he, was kept Prisoner, and the Arch-Bishop of Santiago, another restless Spirit fled to Portugal. The Portuguese notwithstanding the Truce, thinking to make an advantage of the Troubles of Castile, surpriz'd the City Badajoz, and committed many Hostilities. But 5 Galleys, meeting 7 of theirs, loaded with Arms and Ammunition, took four, and Sunk one, the other two escap'd. Upon this many Portuguese of note, came over to the Service of Castile. This was in the Year 1397. In the following Year the Portuguese somewhat humbled by Losses, sent Embassadors to Castile, who confirm'd the former Truce. At the same time the Plague rag'd in Spain, especially along the Eastern Coast, and the Floods were so Great, that they carry'd away Multitudes

In the Year 1400 the Plague before mention'd spread throughout all Spain, with such Mortality, that the King gave leave for Widdows to Marry within the Year of their Widdowhood, which before was forbid. Ann. 1402 an Embassy came to Castile from Tamerlan, the mighty King of the Tartars and the following Year there were again extraordinary Floods. In 1406. 1406, the Moors having broke the Truce and driving a considerable Booty, were pursued by a Body of Christians, who attack'd them Vigorously and maintain'd the Fight the whole Day, but yet were worsted, being oblig'd to close together, and force their way thro' the Enemy, to an advantageous Post on a Hill, having lost many Men of note. The end of this Year the Cortes or Parliament met at Toledo and Granted a Million of Gold to carry on the War against the Moors. King Henry who had been Sickly all his Life time, dy'd now at Toledo, whilst the Cortes were sitting in the 27th Year of his Age, and having Reign'd 16. By his Wife Queen Catherine, Daughter to John of Gaunt, and Grand-child to King Peter, as was said above, he had Issue,

John his Successor,

Mary Marry'd to her Cousin Alonso the 5th King of Aragon, call'd the Magnanimous, who Conquer'd the Kingdom of Naples, and had no Children.

Catherine Marry'd to Prince Henry her Cousin, Son to Ferdinand the first King of Aragon, she dy'd in Child-bed, and the Child soon after, so that no Issue remains.

CHAP. XI.

From the Year 1406, till the Year
1454, containing the Reign of King John the 2d.

John, 74th King,

SECond of the Name, Son to King Henry the 3d, and his Wife Queen Catherine the Daughter of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, and Grand-Child to King Peter, was but 22 Months Old, when his Father dy'd. The Nobility hardned in Rebellious Practices, making their advantage of his Infancy, took upon them to bestow the Crown according to their own Fancies, without regard to Succession. The last King had left a Will, wherein he appointed his Queen, and Brother Ferdinand to Govern the Kingdom, D. John Lopez de Zuniga, and D. John de Velasco to be the Infant King's Guardians, and the Bishop of Carthagen a his Preceptor, this till he came to the Age of Fourteen. The Factious would have no Account to be made of this Will, they presum'd upon the Queens Sex, and her being a Stranger. This made them so bold, that having consulted together they offer'd the Crown to Prince Ferdinand Brother to the late King, and press'd him to accept of it, as if it were at their disposal, appointing another Meeting, caus'd his Nephew, King John the 2d, to be Proclaim'd King, offering at the same time to take upon him the Government for the Infant till he came to Age, according as his Brother had appointed in his Will. An example of wonderful virtue and Moderation scarce paral-lell'd in any Age. Having taken this Order, Prince Ferdinand went away to Segovia, where the Queen was, to give her that Share in the Government, which she ought to have. Thither the Cortes were Summon'd, that all things might be done with the greater Authority.

 The Queen pressing for it, had the education of the Young King given her, tho' contrary to her Husband's Will. The War with the Moors being commenced with some success, the Cortes readily granted Supplies for carrying of it on, and appointed Prince Ferdinand General. Ill-minded Persons bred some misunderstanding between the Queen and Prince, which occasion'd them to divide the Government, the Queen had Old Castile, the Prince the New. Mean while the Commanders on the Borders made several successful Inroads, and by the help of a Moor that came over and turn'd Christian, took Pruna, a Town of great Consequence. Nor were the Infidels idle, but gathering a mighty Army besieg'd Baeca, which they could not take, for hearing the Christians were marching to the relief of it with a great Army, they drew off with a rich Booty. At the same time A-

13 Gallies, ventur'd to engage 23 of the King's of Tunex and Tremezen, design'd to assist him of Granada, and attack'd them so bravely, that he took 8, sunk others, and the remainder escap'd by flight. Prince Ferdinand, who had been this while detain'd by Sickness, now came to the Army, took Zabara, a strong place, ravag'd all the Enemies Country, and then Winter coming on went away to Tolodo, to make provision to carry on the War. The Cortes Assembled at Guadalajara, granted a Supply of 150000 Ducats towards the War, but a Truce was presently after concluded with the Moors, and a fourth part of this Tax remitted. To these Cortes came D. Peter de Luna, Nephew to Pope Benedict the 13th, and brought with him his Nephew D. Alvaro de Luna, then 18 Years of Age, Bastard-son to Alvaro de Luna, Lord of Cannette, and Jubera, and of Mary de Cannette, a Woman so leud, that she had four Bastard Sons by as many several Fathers. So mean was the Birth of this Man, who came to be the greatest in Spain, and was at last miserably cast down. At his coming now into Castile, he was preferr'd to be one of the King's Bed-chamber, in which Employment he carry'd himself so dextrously, that he gain'd the King's Affection, and govern'd him for several Years after. No fault could be found with the Government of Prince Ferdinand, but that he engross'd all places of Honour and Profit for his own Family, and endeavour'd to encrease his Estate. This offended some People, who omitted no opportunity of setting the Queen against him, and the Jealousies and Animosities every day increas'd between them. The Truce with the Infidels being expir'd, they renew'd the War, by taking the Town of Zabara, and pillaging the Country. Prince Ferdinand having made all necessary Provisions in February 1410, march'd towards them with 13500 Men, recover'd Zabara, put it into a posture of Defence, and laid Siege to the City Antequera. 5000 Moorish Horse, and 80000 Foot, came to the relief of this place, but were entirely routed, 15000 slain, and their Camp plunder'd. After which Prince Ferdinand drew a deep Trench quite round the besieg'd, to prevent any Relief going in, and his Parties wasted all the Country as far as Malaga. Another Multitude of Infidels gather'd and appear'd on the Hills about the Christian Army, but durst never give them Battle, only pillag'd and spoil'd all about, hoping that Want might necessitate the Christians to raise the Siege. All prov'd of no effect, for it was carry'd on till the 6th of September, when the said City was taken by Storm, and 8 days after the Castle, into which all the Moors had retir'd, was surrendred upon Articles. This done, the Army return'd to Sevil, and was sent into Quarters. Martin, King of Aragon, dying at this time without Issue, a great Contest arose about the Succession, and nine Judges being appointed by the Kingdom to Appoint the lawful Heir they pitch'd upon Prince Ferdinand of Castile, who then Govern'd the Kingdom for his Nephew, According to their Resolution he was Proclaim'd at Zaragoza, and went thither to take possession of his new Kingdom, in the Year

1412. In 1414 the General Council of Constance met, for putting an end to the Schism in the Church, which was accordingly done. Ferdinand being gone to his own Kingdom, Catherine, Queen-Mother of Castile, took upon her the whole Administration of Affairs, and gave the Education of the King to the Archbishop of Toledo. The great Ones were still dissatisfy'd, and began to mutiny. With the Moors, a Truce was concluded for two Years. In the Year 1417 John de Betancour, a French-man, with a Spanish Commission and Ships, undertook a Voyage to the Canary Islands, and conquer'd Five of them, the rest were subdu'd under King Ferdinand, and annex'd to the Crown of Castile. Queen Catherine of Castile suddenly departed this Life on the 2d of June 1418, having brought up the King, her Son, in extraordinary Ignorance. Upon the Queens death the Archbishop of Toledo entred upon the Government, and being oblig'd to the Crown of Aragon for all his Preferment, contriv'd the King should be contracted to the Princess Mary of Aragon, in opposition to others, who thought Ellenor, Princess of Portugal the better Match. The Nobility still raising Comotions in opposition to the Archbishop, the King who was now 14 Years of Age, having Summon'd the Cortes, took upon him the Government, and because he was not yet ripe enough to manage all things himself, admitted to his Council all that had been of his Fathers. As to himself he was lightly mov'd, being soon angry, and as soon pleas'd, yet mild and tractable; his Constitution weak, his Stature somewhat large, his Complexion Complexion fair, but his Face not regular. He was addicted to Hunting, and other Exercises on Horseback, and a lover of Learning, But his worst Quality was too much love of Ease, and aversion to business, which made him neglect the Government, and wholly put it into the hands of others. This illDisposition may be attributed to his bad Education, for his Mother kept him six Years lock'd up so close, that he saw no body but his own Family, and consequently was an absolute stranger to all business. D. Alvaro de Luna, who, as has been said, was admitted to his Bed-Chamber, managed himself so dextrously, that he was already grown a mighty Favourite. The King going to Tordesillas at the beginning of the Year 1420, was there seiz'd, and kept as a Prisoner by Prince Henry of Aragon. Prince John, Brother to Henry, came out of Navarre, to the King's relief; but nothing was done, and Henry Summoning the Cortes so aw'd them, that instead of punishing, they were for rewarding his Treason. After some time, the King having the Liberty of Hunting, made his escape with D. Alvaro de Luna, to the Castle of Montalvan. Thither Prince Henry follow'd, and besieg'd him, but Prince John, and the Archbishop of Toledo coming to relieve the place, he march'd away to Ocanna, his own Town, as Master of the Knights of Santiago. The King went away to Talavera, and having kept his Christmas there remov'd into Old Castile, whither Prince Henry pursu'd him with 1500 Horse, and came to Arevalo, where he was. Queen Ellenor and the Archbishop of Toledo diverted this this Storm, and perswaded him to depart without giving the King Battle. At the Cortes at Madrid, Ann. 1422 Prince Henry of Aragon being apprehended, was with several other Lords Attained of Treason, and their Estates confiscated. There it was that the King created D. Alvaro de Luna, Earl of Santistevan de Gormaz, and made him Constable of Castile. On the 5th of October the Queen was deliver'd of a Daughter, call'd Catherine, which caus'd the more joy, because it was a Demonstration that she was not Barren, as had been apprehended before. As yet there was no settled Peace between Castile and Portugal, but only a Truce, which this Year 1423 was continu'd for 29 Years, and neither Party after the expiration to commit Hostilities, without declaring War a Year and a half before. Catherine, Daughter to King John, dy'd in August, but in January following 1425, Prince Henry, afterwards King of Castile, was born at Valladolid. A War was threatned from Aragon, on Account of the Imprisonment of Prince Henry, but at length all things were compos'd and he releas'd out of Prison. This put Castile into greater Disorder than ever, for he, and his Brother John join'd with all the Tumultuous Nobility, and, according to the usual Custom of Rebels, conspir'd against the King, on pretence of removing evil Counsellors, but their greatest malice was levell'd against D. Alvaro de Luna, the chief Court Favourite. In order to carry on their Designs, they enter'd into an Association, and such Nobles as did not openly join with them, stood Neuters, so that the King was quite quite forsaken. In which condition, he was forced to submit to such Terms as the Rebels propos'd, the chief whereof were to restore them to his Favour, and banish'd D. Alvaro de Luna the Court for a Year and a half which was presently perform'd. There was a sort of Sympathy which so united the King's affections to D. Alvaro that he could not live without him, which his Courtiers perceiving, they were all for having of him recall'd, and even Prince John of Aragon, who had been one of the Principal procurers of his Banishment, now, in hatred to his Brother Henry, whom he saw more Powerful than himself, became a great favourer of him. All things seeming to forward his return, the King sent for, and receiv'd him with the greatest Demonstrations of affection. He daily advanced in Favour, and his Interest was so great, that he wey'd more than all the Nobility together. This set them again into a ferment, and they conspir'd with the Kings of Aragon and Navarre, against their Sovereign. Their Forces broke into Castile, and were there met by a lesser Number of the King's, which yet stood their Ground, with a Resolution not to give way; however thro' the mediation of the Pope's Legate, and the Queen of Aragon, they came to some Agreement, for the present and parted without blows. King John who had now gather'd 10000 Horse and 50000 Foot, would not stand to what had been stipulated, but entred the Borders of Aragon, took some Towns, and then returning, dismiss'd part of his Army. His absence encourag'd the Aragonians to seek

Revenge, and so in their turn, they enter'd Castile, whence they carry'd away a considerable Booty. Nevertheless King John was so much the upermost, that he had got all the Towns of the Rebels into his Hands, and particularly those of the Princes of Aragon, whose whole Estates he confiscated, and that they might have no hopes of ever recovering them they were divided among several Noblemen, some of whose descendants enjoy them to this day. The Aragonian finding himself too weak to withstand the Power of Castile, sent Embassadors to procure a Peace, and at length a Peace was concluded for 5 Years. This War ended, another began with the Moors of Granada, at first manag'd by small Incursions, with various Success. But in the beginning of the Year, 1431, King John himself March'd with his Army against the Infidels, and at the General Rendezvous, found himself 80000 Strong. With this Power, he advanced in sight of the City Granada, destroying all that lay in his way. The first day they came in fight, Great Numbers of Moors sally'd out and Skirmish'd, but were so hotly receiv'd, that they retir'd to the City. On the Sunday following they all drew out to the Number of 200000, and Forc'd the Christians to a Battle, but to their own Damage, for they were routed, 10000 of them kill'd and their Camp entred. This was call'd the Battle de la Higuera, or of the Fig-Tree, because there was one near the place where it began. After this Success, the King return'd to Castile, leaving several Commanders on the Frontiers. After his return Home, in the Cortes held 1433. held at Medina del Campo, the Truce with Portugal, was chang'd into a Peace. In the Year 1433 several strange Apparitions are reported to have been seen in the Air throughout Spain, and what is no less strange in Aragon and Navarre, it Snow'd for the space of 40 Days continually, which destroy'd vast Numbers of Fowl and Cattle. There were such mighty Floods throughout all Spain.

1435. in the Year 1435, that the like has scarce ever been seen, for the Rains lasted from the 28th of October till the 25th of March. The War with Granada was carry'd on, and the Infidels, at times gain'd some small Advantages, yet they were the greatest loofers, for the Christians routed 40000 of them, and took the Towns of Huescar, Velez el Rubio, and Velez el Blanco. The Court of Castile was full of Sports and Pastimes, as if there were no War in Hand. There on the 2d of 1436. September 1436 a Peace was concluded between the Crowns of Castile, Aragon and Navarre. The following Winter prov'd so very hard, that no Man then living had ever seen the like, for at Guadalajara, where the King was, on the First Day of the Year 1437, seven Men going to cut Wood, were Frozen to Death, and many others dy'd through the extremity of the cold. Peter Manrique who had been kept some time a Prisoner on Account of being concern'd in former Rebellions; made his escape in the Year 1439, and entring into Association, with the factious Nobility, they publicly prepared for War, making False protestations of Loyalty, and exclaiming against D. Alvaro de Luna

Luna. The Princes of Aragon join'd with them, and even Prince Henry the King's own Son and Heir apparent to the Crown. Several Religious Persons interpos'd for an accommodation, and at last the King was forced to accept of such Terms, as the Rebels prescrib'd; one whereof was that D. Alvaro de Luna should be Banish'd from Court 6 Months, and not allow'd to Write to the King. This did not produce Peace, for the end of Rebels is not the publick good, as they pretend, but to engross all Power into their own Hands, and every one that sees another above him, makes it his Business to pull him down, not because the other does ill, but because he wants his Place. So these Great Men of Castile, were never satisfy'd; every one would have been King, and it was impossible for them to be all so. Their Insolency ran so high that they surpriz'd the King himself at Medina del Campo, and took him Prisoner, D. Alvaro de Luna making his escape through them in Disguize. Prince John of Aragon usurp'd all the whole Authority, which the other Rebels grudging him, they conspir'd to deliver the King out of his Hands, not out of Loyalty to their Sovereign but out of Malice to their Fellow in the Treachery. They fail'd of their design, but the King himself under Colour of Hunting, made his escape, and being once at Liberty, many Towns immediately submitted to him. He gather'd a small Body, and pursu'd the Princes of Aragon, who were at Olmedo with all the Rebel Lords. There at length they came to a Battle in which the King had the Victory, and the Aragonians went away for that Kingdom; but Prince Henry that restless Firebrand, having receiv'd a Wound in the Hand, it Gangrend and he dy'd of it. The Estates of the Rebels were confiscated, and because the King refus'd to Pardon the Admiral, who was one of the Ring-leaders; the Prince left him in a Rage, and went away, in order to raise new Tumults, to prevent which the King his Father consented to all he would Demand. After this the King bestow'd great Honours and Estates upon many Persons of Note, and by his Procurement D. Alvaro de Luna was chosen Master of the Knights of Santiago. The Moors made their Advantage of the confusions among the Christians, and took from them the Towns of Arenas, Huescar, Velez el Blanco, and Velez el Roxo. On the other side, the Aragonians and Navarrois watch'd to take all Advantages of Castile, but at last a Truce was concluded with Aragon for 6 Months. In the Year 1448, the King having Information of a conspiracy carry'd on against him by the Nobility, seiz'd many of them, whom he sent Prisoners to several places. Others escap'd, but the King confiscated all their Estates. The Earl of Benevente one of those apprehended, made his escape, and again embroil'd the Kingdom. The City Toledo follow'd the Example set them by the Great ones, and having committed many outrages, shut its Gates against the King and fir'd at him. The Prince tho' often forgiven, was again in Rebellion, and the King of Navarre, as was usual with him, Favour'd the Rebels. But the Prince

was again after some time reconcil'd to his Father, It is endless to repeat these continual Broils and Rebellions one upon the Neck of another, and so many false reconciliations and Engagements broken; which makes me pass over many of them, because they are tiresome, being much the same. It is time now to give a short Account of the downfall of the great Favourite D. Alvaro de Luna.
 What he was by Birth has been mention'd before, as to his Qualities, he had a quick Wit, and sharp Judgment; knew how to dissemble, was proud and ambitious, and spoke with much deliberation. Several things had been often laid to his charge, and the King at length grew weary of him, either that he was become insolent, or that this Prince could not always love one Man. In fine, he was seiz'd, committed to Prison, and Condemn'd to Death, but what particular Crimes he was Convicted of I do not find any otherwise, than by what the Cryer that went before him to Execution; as the custom of Spain is, proclaim'd, which was, That the King Commanded him to be Executed, because he had made himself Master of the King's Court and Palace, usurping the place that did not belong to him, and committed many Crimes, Extortions, Rapines, Violences and Tyrannical Actions, &c. In fine, all are general Accusations, without mention of any one particular Crime; for it was idle to say he had usurp'd that Place, to which the King himself had voluntarily rais'd him. The envy of the Nobility, and the King's Covetousness to recover what he had given him, seem to have been his Ruin. He dy'd with much bravery, and like a Christian, but what shows how barbarously he was us'd, is, that his Body was left 3 days upon the Scaffold, with a Bason by it, to gather Alms to bury it. King John finding that the Death of D' Alvaro had no way contributed to mend the posture of Affairs, was resolv'd to manage the Government himself, and keep up a standing Force of 8000 Horse to suppress all Insurrections. But sickness prevented him, for he wasted away, and tho' he remov'd from place to place, in hopes that change of Air might relieve him, yet he found no ease. However on the 13th of November 1453, he had another Son born, and call'd him Alonso, who afterwards was the cause of a Bloody War. Prince Henry procur'd a Divorce from his Wife, the Lady Blanch, Daughter to King John the 2d of Aragon, and what was most surprizing, Marry'd again, but the reason was the first Wife was still a Maid, and he thought it was Witchcraft that hindred him from having to do with her; but there were doubtless no other Spells but his leud course of Life, which then rendred him incapable of Consummating. King John now quite spent with a lingering Disease, dy'd at Valladolid, after receiving the Sacraments on the 20th of July 1454, having Reign'd near 48 Years, and liv'd upwards of 49. He was twice Marry'd, first to Mary, Daughter to Ferdinand the first, King of Aragon, his Unkle, and then to Elizabeth, Daughter to Prince John, Son to King John the first of Portugal. By the first Wife he had ly inclin'd, and hated business. His Presence was not agreeable, for his Head was big, his Eyes heavy, his Nose fallen, and his Complexion ruddy and Swarthy together; his Body tall, his Legs long, but strong limb'd. He delighted in Hunting and Musick, was careless in his dress, drank Water, eat much, and was subject to Diseases. A rare Quality he had, which was to forget the Favours he bestow'd, and remember Service done him; was extreme courteous, spoke lovingly to all Men, and was merciful to a fault, which made his Subjects Insolent, and caus'd him infinite trouble. The Cortes meeting at the beginning of his Reign forwarded all things for carrying on a War against the Infidels, so that a considerable Army was gather'd, in which were 5000 Horse, with it he burnt and destroy'd all the Country, even, as far as Granada and Malaga. The King, who, as was said, in his Father's Life, had been divorced from his first Wife, on the 21th of May, at Cordova marry'd Joanna, Sister to King Alonso of Portugal. The Wedding was kept with great Solemnity. Mean while the fame of the War against the Moors drew such numbers of Men, that the Army was found to consist of 14000 Horse and 40000 Foot. The King tho' so strong refus'd to give Battle, having resolv'd to starve the Enemy by wasting the Country, but this made the Soldiers mutinous, and the Nobility began to conspire against him, which he understanding dismiss'd the Army, and gave away the great Men's Posts to others. This same Year 1456 there happen'd such terrible Earthquakes quakes in Italy, that 60000 Souls are reported to have perished by them, they that write least say 30000. In 1457 King Henry suppress'd some Troubles in Biscay, throwing down several great Houses of the Nobility, in whose strength they confided, and which encourag'd them to Mutiny. Being then near Navarre, he had an Interview with that King at Alfaro, and concluded Peace with him. Thence he went to the Army in Andaluzia, with which he destroy'd all as far as the Walls of Granada, burning the Vines and Orchards, and being incens'd for the loss of some Men cut off near Granada, took the Town of Mena, where he put Men, Women and Children to the Sword. These Losses oblig'd the Infidels to sue for Peace, and a Truce was concluded for some Years, the Moors yearly to pay 12000 Ducats Tribute, and to release 600 Christian Captives. The Pope for carrying on of this War sent the King the Croisade, which rais'd 300000 Ducats. After the War he sent him a Hat and Sword bless'd on Christmas Night, a usual Present to great Princes. King Henry having had long experience of the Rebellious Spirit of the Nobility, rais'd several mean Persons to high Places, in order to oppose them. But still in the main he took little care of the Government, being altogether addicted to his Pleasures, and so very negligent was he, that he would often sign Grants without reading or knowing what they contain'd. Besides he was so liberal, or rather prodigal, that the Revenue could not answer his Expence, and being advis'd by his Treasurer to moderate his Expence, he return'd much the same answer that Alexander the Great did to Parmenio, when he advis'd him to accept of Darius his great Offers. This generous Inclination made him belov'd by the Commonalty, but his design of humbling the Nobility drew their Malice upon him. This made them easily spy all his Faults, and one great one, was his leu'd Inclination to Women, for he had several Mistresses, yet these same People, who exclaim'd against his keeping of Women, the better to carry on the Rebellion, afterwards gave out that he was Impotent, and that D. Beltran de la Cueva, his Favourite was too Familiar with the Queen, and he consented to it, to conceal his Frailty. These are the usual pretences of Traitors. This Year 1459, several Prodigies are reported to have been seen in Spain, as a great Flame breaking out of the Sky; Showers of Stones that destroy'd Cattle, a Child of 3 Years of Age, foretold great Troubles to ensue, and much more to this effect, but little credit is to be given to these Fables, which are generally invented when Rebellion is ready to break out, as now it was, the Great ones conspiring together, and inviting the King of Aragon to invade Castile, on pretence of reforming the Government. Their practices were discover'd by the Arch-Bishop of Sevil, who had the See of Toledo given him, as a reward of this good Service. Albobazen Son to the King of Granada, now broke the Peace, which had lasted 3 Years; for gathering 2500 Horse, and 15000 Foot, he Plunder'd the Territory of Estepa, and drove away a great Number of Cattle

Cattle. Roderick Ponce, Son to the Earl of Arcas with only 260 Horse, and 6000 Foot had the boldness to charge them, as they were returning in disorder and suspecting nothing with their Booty, and was so Successful, that he routed them, kill'd 1400, and recover'd all the Prey. At the beginning of the Year 1462, the Queen of Castile was deliver'd of a Daughter at Madrid. The Infant was call'd Foanna, and Sworn Heirefs of the Crown of Castile, she liv'd to see many Misfortunes, and be expell'd her rightful Dominions, and at last dy'd a Nun, as we shall see hereafter. In March this same Year, Peace was concluded with Aragon. Soon after the Catalonians being in Rebellion against their King, to obtain Succours from the Castilian Proclaim'd him Earl of Barcelona. At the same time the Duke of Medina Sidonia took Gibraltar from the Moors, and the Master of Alcantara Archidona. The War having been renew'd with Aragon on account of the Catalonian Rebels; Peace was now again establish'd by the Mediation of the King of France, who met him of Castile on the Borders of the two Kingdoms, where they concluded this Treaty without the help of Embassadors, to the satisfaction of both Parties. Nevertheless the Rebellious Spirit, that then reign'd among the Nobility of Castile still prevailing they again drew in the King of Aragon to take part with them, and to give colour to their Treason, Impudently affirm'd, that the Princess Foanna, to whom they had before taken an Oath, as rightful Heirefs to the Crown of Castile, was not lawfully begotten. The better to carry on their designs, they resolv'd to Sieze Prince Alonso, and the Princess Elizabeth, the King's Brother and Sister, who were then with their Mother at Maqueda. Nor did their Insolency stop here, for they twice attempted to secure the King, and he narrowly escap'd them. Being disappointed, they broke into open Rebellion, and sent the King a Letter full of many insolent Proposals, and among other things, they declar'd his Daughter a Bastard. Tho' advis'd to subdue the Rebels by Arms, the King consented to a Treaty, and so far condescended, as to have his Brother declar'd his Successor, provided he Marry'd his Daughter. Prince Alonso was accordingly declar'd Successor, and this instead of appeasing, encourag'd the Great ones to proceed in their Rebellion. And that no Villany might be omitted, at Avila they erected a Scaffold, on which they placed a Statue of King Henry on a Throne, with a Crown and Royal Robes, all the Rebellious Lords and Multitude standing about. Then a Cryer read many horrid Crimes lay'd to the King's charge, and pronounced Sentence against him. After which they stript the Statue of the Royal Robes, and with much reproachful Language, cast it down from the Scaffold. This Inhuman Barbarity, was acted on the 5th of June 1465. Next Prince Alonso, who had been all the while present, was Proclaim'd King, the Rabble crying, Long live King Alonso. The Cities of Burgos and Toledo, approv'd of this Villanous act, but on the other side some Nobles, who had any Sparks of Honour left, declar'd for the King. He notwithstanding all disappointments gather'd 80000 Foot, and 14000 Horse, yet it was fear'd many of them were not very True to him. This I suppose was it that prevail'd with him to Treat; The first condition was, that both parties should disband, which was accordingly Executed, but no Peace ensu'd for the main design of the Rebels, was only to strip the King of that formidable Army. These confusions caus'd the Country to be so full of Robberies, that the Government was not able to redress it, and therefore with the King's consent, all Towns associated to defend themselves, which association they call'd a Brother-hood, and was the Foundation of that they now call the Holy Brother-hood, and is at present, no other but a Number of Men appointed to apprehend Robbers. King Henry having try'd all means to compass a Peaceable accommodation, was at last oblig'd to raise new Forces, the Lords did the same. Near Olmedo they met, and came to a Battle, which was parted upon equal Terms, tho each pretended to the Victory. The Pope sent his Nuncio to endeavour to appease these Troubles, but the Rebels not only refus'd to give Ear to him, but gave him very reproachful Language. Segovia was now Betray'd to the Lords, and the Princess Elizabeth the King's Sister, who was Privy to the design, now openly went away to them, and appear'd against her Brother and Sovereign. The Castle was still held for the King, where he had another meeting with the Marques de Villena chief of the Rebels, and they agreed upon Articles, but they

they were never observ'd. The Pope sent another Nuncio, who not being able to prevail on the Lords, excommunicated them, at which they were so much concern'd, that they sent Deputies to Rome, who were not Admitted within the City, till they took an Oath not to call Prince Alonso King, and then being brought before the Pope; were severely reprimanded for their Disloyalty. This severity of his, did King Henry some kindness, for it Terrify'd many Rebels, and induced several to submit, as did the City Toledo. At the Audience, the Pope gave these Commissioners, he told them among other things, that it was to be fear'd that God would Punish Prince Alonso, for the Sins of others, which Words seem'd to be Prophectic, for as he was Marching with the Rebels to Besiege Toledo, he fell Sick near Cardenosa, and dy'd on the 5th of July 1468, so says Mariana, but Sylva Writes he was choak'd with a Bone of a Trout as was mention'd before. His Death broke the Measures of the Rebels, and caus'd many of them to submit themselves to the King, and the City Burgos return'd to its Duty. The obstinate party offer'd the Crown to the Princess Elizabeth, which she seeing no probability of holding against her Brother refus'd, and was mightily extoll'd for it. At length the King and his Rebels made Peace, tho' very disadvantageous to the former, who condescended to have his Sister declar'd Heiress of the Crown, excluding his Daughter, and Pardon'd all his Enemies. Three matches were propos'd for the Princess Elizabeth; the King

Of Portugal, the Duke of Berry, and Ferdinand ^{Year of} King of Sicily, Son to the King of Aragon, ^{Christ.} but she was resolv'd upon the latter; so that the others were put off. However the King oblig'd her to Swear she would neither Marry nor Treat about it, without his consent;
 she did so, but had little regard to her Oath afterwards. Sevil and Cordova were brought again to their Duty, and the King going thither, gave the necessary orders for securing those places. The King of Aragon knowing no less than the Crown of Castile would be her Dower; Brib'd all about the Princess Elizabeth, to secure her for his Son Ferdinand, and she being inclinable of herself, the match was easily concluded upon in private, and they as surreptitiously Marry'd at Valladolid, On the 18th of October 1469, contrary to her Oath given to her Brother, and upon a Dispensation, the Arch-Bishop of Toledo, pretended he had from the Pope; which afterwards appear'd to be False. King Henry, when he re-ceiv'd the News of his Sisters Marriage, was highly provok'd, and with good reason, and tho' she sent him some submissive Letters, he could not be reconcil'd. The People of Valladolid rising against those, that were def-cended from Jews, oblig'd them to implore the Protection of King Henry, and by that means he recover'd the City, which before was in the Hands of his Sister Elizabeth.

lawful Daughter, and thereupon the Nobility renouncing the Oath they had taken to the Princess Elizabeth, now took one to her as lawful and Rightful Heiress of the Crown of Castile. The repetition of all the Tumults, Mutinies and Rebellions, that follow'd one upon the neck of another in Castile, and its Dominions would tire any patient Reader, and they are too tedious and numerous to allow us even to speak but one word of them in so short a History, as this is design'd, therefore many must be pass'd over in silence, tho' we give some hints of the most considerable. Pope Paul the 2d a great Friend to Spain in General, and particularly to the King of Castile, dy'd on the 25th of July 1471, which was a great loss. Sixtus the 4th succeeded him. King Ferdinand of Sicily, and his Queen Elizabeth began now openly to draw the People to their Party, and secur'd some Towns. A Legate sent from the new Pope was no small Assistance to them, in endeavouring to alienate some of the Nobility from the King, and his Daughter, and bring them over to their Party. In several Towns the Rabble mutiny'd, and falling upon those that were of a Jewish Race committed horrid Barbarities, murdering many innocent People. All the Princes of Spain enjoy'd Peace, except only the King of Castile, whose treacherous Nobles were no way to be oblig'd, and therefore the Country was ever in Rebellion, and miserably harass'd. The Princess Elizabeth encourag'd these Disorders, as making for her, and by this Opportunity secur'd Segovia, and some other Towns to her self. By the contrivance arrivance of Andrew de Cabrera, whom the King had made Governor of the Castle of Segovia, the Princess Elizabeth came thither on the 28th of December 1473, and was kindly receiv'd by the King her Brother. Upon this encouragement King Ferdinand repair'd thither on the following Feast of the Epiphany 1474. where the two Kings and Queens din'd together, and seem'd to be reconcil'd, but it lasted not long. At night there was a Ball and Collation, at which King Henry was taken with a violent pain in his side. The People suspected he was poison'd, because he was never after well, and dy'd within a Year. The King being somewhat better, Articles were propos'd betwixt him, and his Sister, and she demanded no less than to be Sworn Heirefs of the Crown. The Earl of Benavente was for having the Princess Joanna marry'd to Henry of Aragon. The Nobility were divided between both Interests, and the King knew not what Resolution to take. D. John Pacheco, Master of the Knights of Santiago, advis'd him to apprehend his Sister and her Husband, promising to be assisting in it. This Project was discover'd, and King Ferdinand went away to Turuegano, but his Wife secur'd the Castle of Segovia, where all the Royal Treasure was kept. Thus the Factions daily increas'd without any hopes of a Reconciliation, the Controversy being no less than a Crown. King Henry finding his Indisposition increase remov'd to Madrid, yet being provok'd by some of the Nobility he ventur'd out again, and laid Siege to Fuentiduenas, where his sickness increas'd, and being heightned by continual nual Trouble of Mind, he return'd to Madrid. There he made his Will, declar'd his Daughter Joanna his Heiress, and having prepar'd himself with all the Rights of the Church dy'd on the 11th of December 1474, having Reign'd 20 Years. He was the last of the Male Line of King Henry the Bastard. His first Wife was Blanch, Daughter to King John the 2d of Aragon, from whom he was divorced, she being still a Maid, and therefore he marry'd Joanna, Daughter to Edward, King of Portugal, by whom he had only one Daughter.

Joanna, call'd, the Excellent Lady, for her Virtue, and might as well have been call'd the Unfortunate, being wrongfully depriv'd of her Dominions, and at last forsaken by all the World, dy'd a Nun in Portugal, after she had been Contracted to four several Princes, and never Marry'd to any. She was twice sworn Heiress to the Crown of Castile, which doubtless was her Right, as being the only Daughter to King Henry, got in Wedlock, tho' the malice of Rebels reproach'd her with the Title of a Bastard. We shall see more of her in the following Reign.

Ferdinand 76th. King,

Fifth of the Name, Son to King John the 2d of Aragon, and his Successor, obtain'd the Crown of Castile, in Right of his Wife Elizabeth, commonly call'd Isabel, Daughter to King John the 2d. Upon the Death of King Henry the whole Country was divided, some for the Lady Elizabeth, others for the Princess Joanna, the greater number for the first, but the chiefest Men that stood for the latter were the Marquis de Villena, and Duke of Arevalo. Loyalty govern'd neither side, for there could be none where there was no Right, and where that was, Interest sway'd most. At Segovia Elizabeth was proclaim'd Queen by such as were present, and soon after many great ones resorted thither to do Homage, and kiss her Hand. King Ferdinand was then in Aragon, but came away with all Expedition, and was receiv'd as King by all three Estates. After some contention about the Form of Government, it was agreed between the King and Queen, That he should be Nam'd in Charters, Patents, and Coin before her; That the Arms of Castile should be on the Right of those of Aragon: That Garrisons should be held in her Name, and Officers of the Revenue take their Oath to her:

That, when together, their Power should be equal, and when asunder, each should govern where they were. Ferdinand was not well pleas'd with these Restrictions, but thought fit to wink at them for the present.
The Marquess of Villenc, tho' outwardly for the Princess Joanna, was for the fairest bidder, and therefore at the same time treated with King Ferdinand to be made Master of the Knights of Santiago as a Reward for betraying his Trust, and with the King of Portugal to et-pouse that Princesses Quarrel. Several of the Nobility engag'd to be assisting, and that King promis'd to Marry and Enthroned her. Meanwhile King Ferdinand, and his Queen, lost no time, but secur'd many Important Places, such as Toledo Valladolid, &c. and Dealt with the Discontented Nobility to bring them over.
Alonso King of Portugal entred Castile with an Army, and coming to Plasencia, was there contracted to the Princess Joanna, but did not Consummate for want of a Dispensation; however they were there Crown'd, Proclaim'd King and Queen of Castile, and then moving thence, he took Possession of the Cities of Toxo and Zamora, John Prince of Portugal, who was left at home to Govern the Kingdom, understanding his Father made no great Progress in Castile, came to him with a supply of 10000 Men. To pass by lesser Occurences, the Portugues thus Reinforc'd, made a show as if he would Relieve the Castle of Zamora, then Besieg'd by King Ferdinand,

Ferdinand, and march'd towards it, but on a sudden turn'd back, and the Army of Castile, with no less speed after him. Within a League of Toro, in a large plain, the two Armies engag'd, and Fought with great Resolution, but at last the Portugueses fled, and among them their King, who never made any stay till he came into his own Dominions. Prince John, with a Body of Men, made good his Ground on a Hill, and Ferdinand durst not Attack him, because his Men were Dispers'd in the pursuit, so the Prince march'd off at his own Leisure, which Portugues Historians represent, as a Victory. He carry'd away the Queen or Princess Joanna, for whom the War had been undertaken, with him into Portugal. This clear'd Castile of the Portugueses, for Toro, and the Castle of Zamora Surrendred, but yet the Disorders ceas'd not, for every Man Seized all places of strength he could get into his Hands; and there was nothing but Rapine and Confusion, which caus'd the Associations of Towns, mention'd in the former Reign, to be now Renew'd. The great Corruption there was at this time in Spain, caus'd by the mixture of Christians, Jews, and Moors, and the often Relapses of Converted Jews, prevail'd with the Cardinal of Spain to introduce the Inquisition which was done now about the Year 1478. This Tribunal, tho' condemn'd by some, has been found most beneficial to Spain, for suppressing of Heresies that might be Introduced, punishing of Hainous Offenders, in Religious matters, and preventing by its Severity, many Horrid Crimes too common in other Countries.

tries, such as Blasphemy, Sodomy, Poligamy, Sorcery, and many more too long to be here Inserted. And tho' their Proceedings at first Sight seem too Rigid, and are misrepresented by those who understand them not; yet any that will take the pains to enquire into their methods, will find that they do not proceed against any Offender, without undeniable Proofs. But to return to the publick Affairs, the War was carried on upon the Frontiers of Portugal, but nothing considerable done. Peace was Concluded with France. On the 19th of January, 1479, John the 2d. King of Aragon dy'd. By his Death, Ferdinand of Castile Inherited the Crown of Aragon, and thus these two Kingdoms containing the most considerable part of Spain were United, and so continue till this Day. The Portugueses having receiv'd another Defeat near Albufera, in which a great number was Slain, were willing to harken to a Peace, which was at last Concluded. The Rightful Queen Foanna, finding herself to be forsaken by this Accommodation, took upon her the Habit of a Nun in the Monastery of St. Clare, at Coimbra, where she liv'd and Dy'd Virtuously. Ferdinand, having concluded Peace with France and Portugal, subdu'd his Subjects, and United the Crowns of Castile and Aragon, bent his thoughts against the Moorish Kingdom of Granada, which then contain'd 14 Cities, and 97 Towns. He resolv'd to clear Spain of Infidels, and accordingly commenced the War in the Year 1482, by the taking of Albama. Next he Besieg'd the City Loxa, but without Success, and other Affairs calling upon upon him, this War was laid aside for a ^{Year of} while. An Infurrection in Galicia forc'd ^{Christ.} him to go thither in person, in the Year 1483, but his presence soon put an end to it, On the Mountains near Malaga, 2700 Christian Horse were overthrown, 800 of them Kill'd, and double the number taken by the Infidels.

 Not long after, the Christians Reveng'd this loss upon them near Lucena, where with a handful of Men, they slew 5000 Infidels, and took their King, with several Persons of Note Prisoners. The following Year 1484, Alora and Ronda, two considerable places were taken, as also the Castles of Cambil and Alubar.
 In 1485, no great Progress was made, the King being taken up in appeasing some Troubles in Aragon, and Catalonia, but in 1486, the City Loxa, and Towns of Illora, Banos, Zagra, and Mclin, besides some other places of less Note, were taken from the Infidels.
 An. 1487, the King having resolv'd to make himself Master of Malaga, came before it with 12000 Horse and 40000 Foot. Albohardill King of Granada, came to releive it with 40000 Men, but was over-thrown, and lost not only his Baggage, but his Kingdom; for when he return'd to Granada, the People shut the Gates against him. Malaga had been sur-render'd, but that some Barbary Soldiers that were in the place stood out. Therefore the Siege was carry'd with great diligence, Lines drawn from Sea to Sea, and Batteries planted. At last one Dondux a Moor having Articled for himself and his Friends, betray'd the Town to the Christians, who by that means became Masters, not only of the Goods,

Goods, but of the Persons of the Inhabitants. The King was now call'd away to appease some Troubles in Aragon, which stopp'd his Proceedings in Andaluzia, and the following Year 1488, he took some Towns, they were all lost again, as soon as he turn'd his Back. The Mastership of the Knights of Calatrava, was this Year annex'd to the Crown, as were those of the other orders some time after. The City Bac after a long Siege, was deliver'd to the Christians in December 1489, which struck such Terror into the Infidels, that the Cities Guadi and Almeria, with several other places of less Note, surrendred without being attack'd. It remain'd to reduce the City Granada, Capital of that Kingdom, the King and Queen Encamp'd before it with 10000 Horse, and 50000 Foot, on the 23d of April 1491. The City was very large, Beautiful, Strong, and well Peopl'd, besides a numerous Garrison made up of all the best Mocrish Troops that remain'd after the loosing the rest of the Country. The King to shew his Resolution not to depart without being Master of the Place; built a Town to Quarter in, and call'd it St. Faith. Towards the latter end of the Year, the Infidels capitulated, and on the 20th Day of January 1492, the King entred the City in Triumph. Thus the Dominion of the Moors in Spain ended, above 700 Years after they made themselves Masters of it, and King Ferdinand was now Sovereign of all Spain, except the two small Kingdoms of Portugal and Navarre, the latter whereof he afterwards wrested from the rightful Possessor,

as we shall see in its place. In March following, all the Jews were banish'd by Proclamation, being 170000 Families, containing 800000 Souls, many went over to Africk, some to Italy, and other parts, and a great Number stay'd in Portugal. Presently after the taking of Granada, the Great Columbus was sent with 3 Ships, and discover'd first the Islands, and afterwards the continent of the West Indies. A League betwixt Spain and France, was concluded at Narbonne, in January 1493, and by vertue of it, the Provinces of Roussillon and Cerdagne were restor'd to King Ferdinand. Now was the Mastership of the 3 military Orders inseparably annex'd to the Crown; Alonso de Lugo, sent on that expedition by the King, Conquer'd Palma one of the Canary Islands. Charles the 8th King of France, upon old pretensions of Right, Invaded the Kingdom of Naples in the Year 1494, or rather the beginning of 1495, and soon possess'd himself of it. This drew the Princes of Italy, and King Ferdinand of Spain into a League against him. The King sent over to the assistance of his Confederates, Gonzalo Fernandez de Cordova, with some Forces, who did such extraordinary actions there, that he is ever since call'd The Great Captain. Tho' some mention has been made of the Title of Catholick, being given to the King of Spain; this Year 1496, we find it conferr'd on him by the Pope, which seems to imply, he had it not before. The War continu'd in Naples, and overtures were made by the French for dividing of that Kingdom, with King Ferdinand, which Succeeded not at this time, but afterwards did. About this same time it was, that Vasco de Gama the Portuguese Admiral, discover'd India, being the First that ever went thither out of Europe by Sea, Prince John only Son to King Ferdinand, and Queen Elizabeth, dy'd at Salamanca, on the 4th of October 1497, whereupon the King of Portugal who had Marry'd Elizabeth Eldest Daughter to King Ferdinand, came with her into Castile, where they were Sworn Heirs to the Crown. She went to Aragon, to receive the same Oath of the Nobility there, but while they contested on account that she was a Woman, she was deliver'd of a Son on the 23d of August 1498, and dy'd presently after. The Child was Christen'd Michael, the Aragonians took an Oath to him, and presently after the Castilians did the same. The Moors living along the Mountains call'd Alpujarras in the Kingdom of Granada Rebell'd in the Year 1499 but were soon suppress'd by the Earl of Tendilla, Governor of that Kingdom. After which many of the Infidels went away into Africk, many more stay'd and were Baptiz'd, but never became the better, being Christians only outwardly, and Mahometans in their Hearts. Foanna, the Eldest Daughter now surviving to Ferdinand and Elizabeth, and Marry'd to the Arch-Duke, Philip of Austria, on S. Matthias his day, was brought to Bed at Gant, of a Son, who was Christen'd Charles; afterwards the 5th Emperor, and First King of Spain of that Name, and most Renown'd Monarch of these latter Ages. The Year 1500 was Famous for the great Jubilee. Peace was concluded betwixt France and Spain, and they they agreed to divide Naples between them. In Purfuance to it, the Forces of both Crowns entred that Kingdom, and soon possess'd themselves of it, No sooner had they both possess'd themselves of as much as each thought fell to his share, but they presently fell at variance, about some parts that could not be precisely mention'd in the Division made. The Great Captain, who Commanded the Forces of Spain, was before hand with the French, in securing many places in dispute. The Generals on both sides had a meeting to adjust differences, but nothing was concluded, so that they writ to acquaint their Masters with it, and ask'd supplies of Men and Mony. Whilst the Answers were coming, each party took its advantage, as occasion offer'd, so that they broke out into open War. The Spaniards for the most part had the upper Hand, took several Towns, and drove abundance of Cattle. The Lord Aubigni with about 5000 Men, was defeated and taken by a like Number of Spaniards. Presently after the Great Captain being in distress for Provisions, advanc'd to Cirinola, where the Duke de Nemours lay with the French Army, there they came to a Battle, which was Fought with great Resolution, and accordingly prov'd very Bloody. The Victory fell to the Spaniards, who entred the Enemies Camp, took all their Cannon and Baggage, most of their Colours, and abundance of Prisoners. The Duke de Nemours was kill'd, with 3700 of his Men, and several other Persons of Note. This Victory made the Spaniards Masters of the Kingdom of Naples.

ples, for the Capital City of that Name immediately submitted, the Town of S. German, and many other places were reduced. Mean while the King of France, enters the Province of Roussillon with 20000 Men, and lays Siege to Saules, but King Ferdinand coming to the relief of it, he march'd away by Night in such hast, that he left part of his Baggage behind him. A fresh Army was sent to recover Naples by the King of France, under the Command of the Lord de la Trimouille, which when it came into that Kingdom, was reported to be about 12000 Strong. The Great Captain met them at the River Garellano, which about 5000 of them had pass'd, but were so furiously charg'd by the Spanish Foot, that 1400 were kill'd, or drown'd in the River, the rest Flying back over the Bridge to their main Body. Not satisfy'd with this the Great Captain passes the River, and falling upon the remaining part of the Army, routs it, killing very many, and taking 32 pieces of Cannon, and most of their Baggage. Then advancing to Galea he soon made himself Master of it, and so in a little time, the whole Kingdom submitted. The Nobility and Officers took the Oath of Fidelity to the King of Spain, and several Cities of Italy su'd for his Protection. As soon as this was perform'd the News came, that a Truce was agreed upon between France and Spain, for 3 Years, and Naples to be included; tho' at this Time there was little need of it there, the Spaniards being possess'd of all. Notwithstanding all these mighty Services, the Great Captain

Captain was ill represented to King Ferdinand, who us'd all Arts to draw him from Naples, and had a watchful Eye upon him, as long as he liv'd. In the midst of these Prosperities of King Ferdinand, the greatest of Misfortunes befel him, which was the Death of his Wife, Queen Elizabeth, in whose Right he possess'd the Crown of Castile. So that here we must end his Reign, which depended on her Breath, for tho' he rul'd several Years after, it was only as Governor for his Daughter Foanna, the Heiress of that Crown, and therefore as such we will look upon him hereafter, and conclude his Reign in this place. From the Year 1504, till 1516,

Philip 7th King,

OR rather Joanna, he being Son of Maximilian the Emperor, and King of Spain in her Right, as Eldest Daughter and Heiress to King Ferdinand, and Queen Elizabeth. This Lady Joanna was absolutely Distracted, and as such, shut up by her Husband in Flanders; which was the cause of much Trouble, for King Ferdinand being now us'd to Govern Spain, could not endure to part with his Power, and therefore made all imaginable Interest to continue as Governor for his Distracted Daughter, in Opposition to the Arch Duke her Husband, who Doubtless in all right, ought to have the Administration in his Wives Dominions. However Ferdinand grounded his Pretensions upon his Wives Will, and had a strong party for him, tho' at the same time there were no less to oppose him, and he was now become Odious to many of the Nobility and People. King Philip and the Emperor Maximilian his Father, concluded a Peace with France to be in a better Condition to oppose Ferdinand, but he to secure to himself the French Interest, Marries that

King's Neice, Germana de Foix, and enters into a League with him. Whilst these Projects were carrying on, in the Year 1505, by the Instigation of the Arch-bishop of Toledo, a Fleet was fitted out, carrying 5000 Land Men, which were Landed on the Coast of Africk, and made themselves Masters of the Town of Mazalquivir. After both sides had prepared, the one to keep, the other to possess himself of the Government of Spain, by Force; they at length came to an Accommodation, wherein they agree'd, that both Kings and the Queen shou'd have equal Power, and all Orders, Patents, and other publick Writings run in all their Names, and that the Revenues of the Crown, and all places of Honour and Trust should be divided between them. This agreement was Proclaim'd the 6th of January 1506. On the 8th, King Philip and his Queen set Sail from Zealand to Spain, but a Violent Storm Dispersing the whole Fleet, he was forc'd into Weymouth, in England. Thence he went to Visit King Henry the 8th at Windsor, Concluded a League with him, and having spent a whole Month in Feasting, return'd to his Fleet. On the 28th of April, he Landed at Coruna, and presently sent to require all the Nobility of Galicia, to declare for him, which they freely doing, he openly profess'd he would not stand to the late Treaty. Many resorted to him daily, but no sooner were they come to Coruna, but there arose Disputes and Controversies betwixt them and the Flemings. Mean while King Ferdinand rais'd Forces, upon pretence of rescuing his Daughter, who was kept up on account of her Indisposition; being unfit to be seen. All Ferdinand's Policy little avail'd him, for neither could he advance his Interest by Treaty, nor raise any Considerable Force, most of the great Men, except only the Duke of Alva, having forsaken him. Finding he should be forced to quit what he had so long struggled for, he thought fit to make a Virtue of necessity, and therefore went with a small Retinue to Confer with his Son in Law, King Philip, and having Discours'd with him privately in a little Chapel, near two Hours, they parted more Dissatisfy'd than when they met. Some Days after they came to an Agreement, and enter'd into a League Defensive and Offensive, but the first Article was, that Ferdinand should quit Castile, and retire to his Kingdom of Aragon. When the Treaty was sign'd on both sides, they had another meeting on the 5th of July at Chenedo, a Village near Tudela, where they appear'd in a more friendly manner than they had done before. From this place King Ferdinand took his Journey towards Aragon. Queen Joanna was carry'd to Valladolid, but always kept close, as being much distemper'd in her Brain, the main occasion whereof was Jealousy. The Cortes being Summon'd, there was great Contention in them about the Queen, whom her Husband would have shut up, and excluded any share in the Government, but they would not consent, but swore to her as rightful Queen, to Philip as King in her Right, and to their Son Prince Charles, as Heir to the Crown. They gave a Supply for carrying on the War against the Moors, which which was thought very heavy then, be-^{Year of} cause the Famine rag'd throughout Castile.^{Christ.} Many Discontents began to appear, and it was to be fear'd they would soon break out into open Rebellion, for King Philip would be absolute, and the Great Men dreaded it, but Death put an end to all these Practices; for King Philip at Burgos was seiz'd by a Pestilential Feaver, of which he dy'd on the 25th of Septem- ber 1506, in the 28th Year of his Age, having reign'd not full two Years. The Queen stay'd by him all the time of his sickness, and could not be remov'd from his Body after he was dead, tho' she was then with Child, besides her usual Indisposition. She being the Proprietor of the Crown of Castile, we do not end a Reign with him, because he held in her Right, and therefore she living, the same Reign continues. As soon as King Philip was dead the Nobility all fell into Factions, and seem'd to threaten a War, but the Archbishop of Toledo, the Constable, the Admiral, and some others so regulated Matters, that King Ferdinand was again declar'd Governor, and during his absence a number of Lords was appointed to manage the publick Affairs. The Queen, as has been said, was not capable of Governing; Prince Charles, her Son, was a Child, and at that time King Ferdinand was gone to Naples. Tho' the form above mention'd had been pitch'd upon, yet every one seeking his own, and not the publick Interest, all things were in confusion. The Queen being distracted, was rather a hindrance than any help towards a Settlement. The Empe-

- ded to have the Government put into his Hands, and offer'd to come into Spain, but he was far off, and had too much other business, besides that being a stranger, no body approv'd of him. Toledo, Cordova, Madrid and several other places mutiny'd; and there was no Body to quell these Disorders. At length 1507. on the 21th of August 1507, King Ferdinand came into Castile, and was met by many of the Nobility. On the 28th he met the Queen, his Daughter, and presently took upon him the full Power, as Governor for her, and began to suppress such of the great Ones, as would not submit to him. At Cordova some of the Commonalty were Executed; and the Marques del Priego banish'd that City for ever.
1508. In July 1508 Count Peter Navarre sail'd from Malaga with a Fleet to suppress the Pyrates of Velez de la Gomeria, in Africk, where landing he took the Fort of Penon standing in an Island opposite to the Town, and Commanding it, and all the Harbour. Soon after a conspiracy of several of the Nobility against King Ferdinand was discover'd and disappointed, and most of them reconcil'd to him.
1509. February 1509 Queen Joanna was remov'd to Tordesillas, where she continu'd as long as she liv'd. There were now great Preparations making for the Conquest of Africk, 14000 Men, Horse and Foot rendezvouz'd at Cartagena, under the Command of Count Peter Navarro, besides a great number of Volunteers. In the Fleet were 100 Gallies, and 80 other Vessels. They sail'd from Cartagena on the 16th of May, and the next day came to an Anchor in the Port of Maxalquivir, where they they landed. It was declar'd they were to attack Oran, a City containing 6000 Inhabitants. They march'd towards it, and in the way defeated a Body of 12000 Infidels, that had posted themselves on the Hills to prevent their coming to the Town. Whilst these fled, others coming out of the City renew'd the fight, but having left the place almost naked, a Party of Spaniards took that advantage, and Scaling the Walls entred it, then falling out, the Infidels were hemm'd in on both sides, so that 4000 were kill'd and 5000 taken. This success was the more valuable, because the next day, such a Multitude of Moers came from Tremezen, to secure the place as would have rendred the attacking of it impracticable. Encourag'd by this good Fortune, on the first of January 1510, another Fleet Sail'd from Yvica, with about 5000 Men, commanded by the same Count Peter Navarro.

 They came before Bugia on the Eve of the Epi- phany, 10000 Infidels came down to hinder their Landing, whom the Cannon soon made retire to the Hills, whence they were drove by the Christians into the City. Who following their good Fortune, scal'd the Walls and entred the place, where they found no opposition, the King and his Men running out at one end, as they came in at the other.
 Not content with this, the Earl March'd 8 Leagues into the Country after the King, and there put him to Flight, which struck such a Terror into all the Towns along the Coast, that very many submitted, and promis'd to pay a Tribute; amongst the rest the grown Powerful, and Terrible to Spain, and even the King's of Tunex, Tremexen and Monstagan engag'd to pay an acknowledgment. In June the Earl being reinforced, so that he made 14000 Men, Landed them at Tripoli; and having routed a like Number of Infidels, who came to oppose his Landing entred that City, which yet he was not Master of without difficulty, the Moors disputing every Street, so that above 5000 of them were kill'd, and no small number of Christians. Another Fleet was fitted at Malaga, to carry D. Garcia de Toledo to Command in Africk, King Ferdinand intending to make use of Count Peter Navarro in his Wars in Italy. However they both together Landed about 8000 Men at Gelves, an Island near 100 Leagues West of Tripoli; so close to the continent, that it join'd to it by a Bridge, is about 16 Miles in length, Sandy, has never a Town but only scatter'd Houses, and a Castle, in which the Lord lives, D. Garcia having divided his Men into 3 parts, advanc'd with one of them, and the Moore who had but 2000 Foot, and 150 Horse, and those ill Arm'd, was ready to submit; but finding that the Christians after Marching 2 Leagues were so spent with the violent Heat, that some of them dropt down, and others scatter'd about to seek for Water, he fell upon, and soon put them to Flight, killing 4000, and among them D. Garcia their General, with several other Persons of Note. The Earl Peter Navarro sav'd the rest causing two Batallions, which were in the Reer, to make head against the Infidels, and then Shipping them off. In January

1511, King Ferdinand went to Sevil, to forward the preparations for carrying on the War in Africk, being resolv'd to revenge the loss sustain'd at Gelves. Yet all this was lay'd aside, for the Pope being threaten'd by the King of France, and the Emperor, he engag'd in his assistance, and accordingly sent the Forces he had provided for Africk into Italy, where a League was concluded between the Pope, King Ferdinand, and the State of Venice, for the Defence of the Church. The Spanish Forces there, join'd those of the Pope, and entred upon Action, the beginning of the next Year 1512, and besieg'd Bologna in vain. Nothing else of Note, was done there at this time by them. The King of Navarre was in strict allyance with France, and could not be remov'd. Therefore the Pope on the 18th of February pronounced Sentence of excommunication against him, giving his Dominions to any that would Conquer them; which Judgment was suppos'd to be procur'd by King Ferdinand, who was wholly intent upon joyning that Kingdom to the rest of his Dominions, and us'd all Arts to get that King into his Power. The French having in Italy besieg'd Ravenna, the Confederate Army Commanded by the Vice-Roy of Naples, came to the releif of that important place. Both Armies were inclinable enough to Fight, and accordingly were easily brought together. The Battle was resolutely Fought, and lasted 5 Hours, but at last the Confederates were over-thrown, with the loss of many great Men kill'd, and taken, among the latter were the Marques of Pescara, and Count Peter Navarro. The French tho victorious, bought their Success so dear, that their King, when he receiv'd the Account of it is reported to have said, such another Victory would undo him. The Duke de Nemours General of the French, and several other great Men were kill'd. In Spain King Ferdinand being resolv'd to make himself Master of the Kingdom of Navarre, gave no ear to that King's Embassador; who came to endeavour to procure some Composition, but having obtain'd Supplies from the Cortes of Aragon sent Orders to the Duke of Alva, who was in Biscany with 1000 Men at Arms, 1500 Light Horse, and 6000 Foot, to march to Pamplona. He entred that Kingdom on the 21th of July, and had the Capital City Pamplona immediately surrendred to him, and all other places offer'd to do the same. Upon this the King sent Commissioners to the Duke, who resign'd up the whole Kingdom to King Ferdinand in trust, but at the same time he went away himself to Paris, having put Saveterre beyond the Mountains into the hands of the French, who were marching to his Assistance under the Command of the Duke of Longueville. Mean while, King Ferdinand pretending the late Treaty was broke by King John, oblig'd all the People of Navarre to swear Allegiance to him, as to their lawful Sovereign. The Duke of Alva pass'd the Mountains, and possess'd himself of S. John de Pied de Porte, which secur'd a considerable Pass of the Mountains call'd Valderroncas. King John of Navarre, with the French Forces march'd through the other Pass, call'd Valderroncal, Valderroncal, defeating some Troops that lay to oppose him. This News being brought to the Duke of Alva, he repass'd the Mountains at Valderroncas. The French loiter'd away some time before they came to Pamplona, so that the Spaniards had leasure to secure it, and the Season of the Year being advanced when they fate down before it, they were forced to raise their Siege, and return into France. Thus ended the War of Navarre, all People submitting to King Ferdinand, and that Kingdom has ever since continu'd under the Dominion of the King of Spain. Whilst these things were acting in Navarre, Monsieur de Lautrec entred Guipuscoa, with another Body of French, and laid Siege to S. Sebastians, which was so well defended, that he was oblig'd to return to Guienne. Nor were the Arms of Spain less successful in Italy, for they took Bressa, and Florence; Siena and Luca join'd in Confederacy with them. After these Successes a Truce was concluded between France and Spain for a Year, and that time expiring, it was renew'd for a Year longer in order to Settle an absolute Peace. Thus the two Years 1513, and 1514 pass'd without any considerable Action. In 1515 King Ferdinand appointed the Cortes of all his Dominions to meet, and sent his Queen to hold those of Aragon, Catalonia, and Valencia, whilst he held those of Castile himself. His principal design was to raise Money for the War he expected. Castile gave 150 Millions of Maravedies, which is about 78125 Pounds Sterling. This was granted on account that Navarre should be united to the Crown of Castile, as in effect it was, whereas before this time it was united to Aragon. King Ferdinand had been long indispos'd, and his Sickness, at this time, was so violent, that he was one night given over for dead, yet as soon as somewhat recover'd, he went into Aragon, thinking to prevail with the Cortes to give him Money, but was disappointed, and return'd to Madrid in Autumn. There being Jealous that the Great Captain and some other Noblemen, intended to go away for Flanders to Prince Charles, he order'd the Great Captain to be apprehended, who falling Sick about that time escap'd this disgrace, and not long after dy'd. The King's Distemper, which was a Dropsy, grew upon him so fast, that it plainly appear'd, he had not long to live, therefore he made his Will, and prepar'd himself for Death, and departed this Life on Wednesday the 23th of January 1516, between one and two in the Morning. In his Will he appointed his Daughter Queen Foanna Heiress of all his Dominions, and Prince Charles her Son, Governor, but till he came into Spain, the Arch-Bishop of Zaragoza was to Govern Aragon, and the Cardinal of Spain, Castile. This was all punctually observ'd, only Adrian Dean of Louvain, producing Prince Charles his Commission, was admitted to equal Share in the Administration with the Cardinal. Here we must put an end to this Reign, because tho' King Ferdinand was only Governor, and his Daughter Queen Foanna out liv'd him, yet after his Death Prince Charles, his Grandson, and her Son, was presently receiv'd as King, and Govern'd as such, his Mother being altogether incapable ble of Government, and shut up as a Person Distracted. The time her Husband liv'd, and King Ferdinand rul'd in her Name was 13 Years, which is the Term to be allotted this Reign, for it began in the Year 1504, when her Mother dy'd, and ended in 1516, when her Son came into Spain. She had Issue by her Husband King Philip.

From the Year 1516, till 1556, containing the Reign of Charles 78th King.

- First of the Name in Spain, Son to King Philip the First, and his Wife Queen Joanna, was Born at Gant in Flanders, on the Feast of St. Mathias 1500, and his Grand-Father King Ferdinand Dying, as was said above, he came into Spain in the Year 1517, and was Proclaim'd King, notwithstanding his Mother was still Living, her Indisposition rendring her unfit for any Government. This Year the Empire of the Egyptian Sultans was over-thrown, and Martin Luther, in Revenge, because the publishing of a Jubilee in Germany was Committed to the Dominicans, he being an Augustin Frier, broach'd new opinions. The following Year 1518, Ellenor, Sister to King Charles, was Married to Emanuel, King of Portugal. The Arch-Bishoprick of Toledo, because of its immoderate greatness was design'd to be divided, and the Popes Bull obtain'd to that effect, yet many Difficulties Occurring, it was laid aside. Maximilian the Emperor departed this Life on the 12th of January 1519. The Electors soon after meeting at Francfort, tho' there were several several Candidates, Unanimously made choice of Charles King of Spain, who was the 5th Emperor of that Name, and one of the greatest that ever enjoy'd the Imperial Dignity. The News of this Election was brought to him at Barcelona, from whence he cross'd all Spain to Coruna, in Galicia, and in May, 1520, Sail'd for Flanders. At Aquisgran, he receiv'd the first Crown of the Empire, at the Hands of the Bishop of Cologn. There he Resign'd to his Brother Ferdinand, all Austria, and the other Hereditary Dominions of his Grand-Father. The Government of Spain was Committed to Cardinal Adrian, the Constable D. Inigo de Velasco, and Henry Enriquez de Admiral. These were no way Defective in their Administration, yet could not prevent the Commons from breaking out into open Rebellion. Their cry was the same as all Rebels use, Evil Councillors carrying out of Mony, and Preferment of Strangers. This Rebellion was call'd Las Comunidades, or the Commons War; because carry'd on altogether by them without any of the Nobility to back it. For the principal Leaders of the Rebels were D. Antony de Acuna, Bishop of Zamora, and John de Padilla a Gentleman of Toledo. The Loyallists and they had several small Engagements with various success, but about the end of this Year, the Mutiniers lost Tordesillas, which they had Fortify'd, and there kept Queen Joanna. On the 23th of April following, the Battle of Villalar was Fought, the Rebels entirely Defeated, and their Ring-leaders Padilla, Bravo, and Maldonado, taken and Executed, as also the Bishop, who was

Hang'd by Alcalde Ronquillo. D. Maria Pacheco, Wife to Padilla, Headed the Remainder of the Rebels, but they could do nothing of Note. Another Rebellion broke out in Valencia; call'd of the Germanats, which was suppress'd by the Duke of Segorbe. Another War ensu'd in Navarre, where King Ferdinand had Demolish'd all places of strength, and the Forces and Artillery were drawn away against the Rebels of Castile. Francis King of France, laid hold of this opportunity to restore Henry d'Albret, the rightful King to that Kingdom, and in the Year 1521, sent an Army to effect it, under the Command of Andrew L'Esparre, who made himself Master of the whole Kingdom, and Capital City of Pamplona, without any opposition, only the Castle of that City was Defended by Ignatius, of Loyala, a Man of a Noble Family, afterwards Founder of the Order of the Jesuits, whose Leg being broke by a Stone struck up by a Cannon Ball, the place was Surrendred. The French General not content with Navarre, entred Castile, and laid Siege to Logrono, but the Forces of Castile coming to its Relief, they were forced to quit it, and soon after were overthrown near Pamplona, and thus the whole Kingdom of Navarre, return'd under the Dominion of the Spaniards, with the same ease it had been lost. To Revenge this Afront, another Body of French enter'd Biscay, and took Fuenterabia, but were soon oblig'd to return home and quit that place too. Cardinal Adrian, one of the Governors of Spain, was chosen Pope in 1522, and granted the King of Spain, and his his Successors full Authority of Electing and presenting Bishops within their Dominions, as also the perpetual administration of the Mastership of the 3 Military Orders, which they had before, but for a time. In February this Year, the Rebels were overthrown, and the City Toledo Recover'd. King Charles now Emperor, left his Brother Ferdinand his Vicar in Germany, and came into Spain in July. The French having made themselves Masters of a great part of the Dukedom of Millan, were in the Year 1524, so closely beset by the Imperial Army, under the Command of the Duke of Bourbon, that they were forced for want of Provisions, to Fight, and receiv'd such an overthrow, that very few of them return'd into France. The Duke of Bourbon and Marques of Pescara, encourag'd by this Success, laid Siege to Marseilles, but when they had spent 6 Weeks before it, retir'd with great Precipitation, hearing that King Francis was coming to the Relief of it, with a mighty Army. The King hastily pass'd the Alpes, took Milan and other places, and laid Siege to Pavia. On the 24th of February, 1525, the Duke of Bourbon, who Commanded the Imperial Army, gave him Battle there, put all the Army to the Rout, and took him Prisoner. He was sent into Spain, and there kept in the Castle of Madrid, till January following 1526, when by means of his Mother, the Queen Regent of France, an Alliance was Concluded between him and the Emperor, on these Conditions: That the Flemings should no longer appeal to the King of France: That he should quit all pretensions to Milan, Genoa and Aste: That he

he should restore Burgundy: That he should Marry Ellenor the Emperor's Sister, Dowager of Portugal, and have 200000 Ducats with her: That he should Pardon Charles Duke of Bourbon, &c. These Articles Sign'd, King Francis was releas'd, leaving his Sons Francis the Dauphin, and Henry the Younger, as Hostages, for Performance of them. On the 3d of March, this Year, the Emperor Married Elizabeth, Eldest Sister to the King of Portugal. Pope Clement the 7th, being Offended at the Emperor, entred into a League with the French and Venetians, against him. This cost him Dear, for the Enfuing Year 1527, the Duke of Bourbon, having Routed his Forces, assaulted Rome, and tho' he was himself Kill'd by a Shot from the Walls, yet his Men entred the City, and Plundered it, and then laid Siege to the Castle of Sant Angelo, whither the Pope and Cardinals had retir'd.

1528. An. 1528. the three Estates Assembled at Madrid, Swore the Emperor's Son Philip Heir to the Crown. The Emperor Complain'd the French King had broke his Word, who thereupon sent him a Challenge, which he accepted, and sent again to appoint the place, but the King would not open his Letter, or hear his Messenger. Monsieur de Lautrec, the French General, march'd through Italy, and lay'd Siege to Naples, but the Plague destroy'd him and great part of his Army, the rest were made Prisoners, or Dispers'd. The Emperor desiring to receive the Imperial Crown, made his Peace with the Pope, renew'd the League with the French King, and compos'd the Differences with Portugal, concerning cerning the Molucco Islands. This done he pass'd over to Italy by Sea. The Solemnity of the Coronation was perform'd at Bologna, the Pope himself Crowning him on S. Mathias's day in the Year 1530. The Imperial Forces besieg'd Florence, and not only restor'd the family of Medicis, but made Alexander de Medicis Duke, and his Posterity hold it to this Day. The Electors of the Empire being Summon'd to meet at Cologne, Ann. 1531 chose Ferdinand Arch-Duke of Austria, King of the Romans. The next Year 1532 the Diet met at Ratisbon, and Liberty of Conscience being granted to the Lutheran reformers, they join'd with the Catholicks, in raising Forces to oppose the Turks, who threatned Hungary. 20000 Horse, and 80000 Foot were rais'd, and encamp'd near Vienna; yet all this Great Power did nothing, for the Turks having ravag'd Hungary, return'd home without coming to a Battle. Andrew Doria who commanded the Imperial Fleet was more successful, for he took Coron and Modon in the Morea. After the Campaign the Emperor, return'd into Italy, and at Bologna concluded a League with the Pope against the Turks propos'd the calling a General Council, and consulted how to keep the French out of Italy. The Pope was not real, for as soon as the Emperor was gone into Spain, he met the King of France at Marseilles, but all his projects were destroy'd by Death, which soon after snatch'd him away in September 1534, and in October following, Paul the 3d, was chosen his Successor. On the 30th of May 1535, the Emperor Sail'd with a mighty Fleet from Barce-

Barcelona to restore Muleasse King of Tunex who had lost that Kingdom, and Fled to him for Protection. Prince Luis of Portugal brought some Galleons to join him. They had fair Weather, at their first Landing, took the strong Castle of Golletta, and in July following, the City Tunex. Muleasse was put into Possession of the City. D. Bernardin de Mendosa was left with a Garrison of 1000 Men to secure the Castle. Then the Emperor Sail'd to Sicily, and from thence to Naples. He made not any long stay there, but went away to Rome, where he bitterly complain'd of the King of France, before the Pope and Cardinals; and was so highly incens'd, that he challeng'd him to Fight Hand to Hand on Easter Monday following

1536. 1536. After his departure from Rome, he gather'd a Powerful Army, with which he entred France, and laid Siege to Marseilles, where he Gain'd no Honour, being forc'd to quit that enterprize without having done any thing remarkable. Ann. 1537 the Diet

1537. of the Empire, met at Worms, where an edict was publish'd against the Lutherans, but to no effect, for they were then up in Arms, resolving to try the Truth of their Religion by dint of Sword; for tho' a General Council was propos'd, they would not hear of it, excepting against the Pope and Bishops as Judges, and excluding all Persons that ought to sit in a Council, except themselves. The Pope, Emperor, and Venetians joyn'd in a League against the Turks; and appointed a Conference with the King of France at Nice in Provence, that he might not obstruct of France, tho' both at Nice, did not see one another, but as the Emperor return'd to Spain, he met the French King at Aiques Mortes, where they were together 2 days, and had much discourse in Private, yet concluded no great matter, but that the King should Pardon Andrew Doria, for having gone over from his to the Emperor's Service, and should again receive him into Favour. Doria being Admiral of the Confederate Fleet took from the Turks, Castel- novvo in the Gulph of Larta in Albania, but Barbarossa with the Turkish Fleet, put him to flight, and recover'd Castelnovo, destroying most of the Garrison. Thus all the great Preparations came to nothing; and the Ve- which produced a lasting Peace. Elizabeth

France; was met on the Borders, by that

Christian Prince. Being come to Gant, he soon quell'd the Rebellion, Punish'd some of the Ring-leaders, and built a Citadel to keep that place in Awe. On the 12th of September, D. Bernardin de Mendoca, General of the Spanish Galleys, over-threw the Turks, near the Island Alboran. After pacifying Gant, the 1541. Emperor went into Germany in 1541, to endeavour to reconcile the differences about Religion. Many disputes were held and continu'd a considerable time, till the Diet met at Ratisbon in April where they were again renew'd, but nothing was concluded. The Diet being broke up, the Emperor went again into Italy, and conferr'd with the Pope at Luca, about calling a General Council. Thence he went to Genoa, where Andrew Doria had a great Fleet in readines to go over to Algiers. All the Pope's persuasions could not prevail with the Emperor, to make him desist from that expedition, tho' the season was far advanc'd. They came upon the Coast of Africk in October; and having lost many Men, and a considerable part of the Fleet in a Storm, the Emperor retir'd with the rest to Bugia, and thence to Cartbagen, Two Embassadors the King of France was sending to the Great Turk, as they Travel'd thro' Italy in disguise, were taken by some Spanish Souldiers, and drown'd in the River Po. This so incens'd the King, that he immediately Invaded Flanders in the Year 1542.

1542. At the same time his Son Henry the Dauphin, laid Siege to Perpignan on the Borders of Spain. The Garrison made a brave Defence, in a Sally nail'd his Guns, and Succours coming ing to releive the place, he was forc'd to raise the Siege. The Emperor leaving his Son Philip to Govern Spain, Sail'd over into Italy, and had another conference with the Pope about a General Councel which was already appointed to meet at Trent. The King of France this Year 1543, again Invaded the low Countries. The Great Pyrat Barbarossa, after scouring the Coast of Italy, put into Toulon, where joyning with the Duke D' Enguien, they both together attack'd the City Nice, near the State of Genoa. They made themselves Masters of the City, but could not reduce the Castle, tho' they continu'd most part of the Summer before it. Therefore hearing that Andrew Doria was coming to releive it, they return'd to Toulon. Barbarossa having Winter'd at Toulon, the next Year 1544, in his return towards the Levant, took, Plunder'd and Burnt the City Pati in Sicily, and the City and Island of Lippari, did much harm along the Coast of Italy, and carry'd away many Thousand Souls into Slavery. The Duke D' Enguien, entred Millan with an Army, and the Marques del Gasto March'd to oppose him. On the 14th of April they met near Carigno and Fought, the Spaniards were over-thrown, but yet the French could not make themselves Masters of that Dukedome. A League had been concluded between the Emperor and King of England, against France, in pursuance whereof, the Emperor Invaded France by way of Flanders; took several Towns, and came so near Paris, that many People abandon'd that City. The King of England took Bologne, but presently

 13th of October 1545, the Council of Trent was open'd. The following Year, there were great disputes in Germany concerning Religion, but these proving ineffectual, both parties had recourse to Arms. The Emperor having gather'd Forces from all Parts, Encamp'd near Londshut, the Enemy advanced with a strong Army to Ingolstadt, and were Commanded by the Duke of Saxony, they Canonaded the Imperial Army, then much inferior to theirs, but did no great Execution. The Emperor being reinforc'd from Flanders March'd off, the Lutherans still keeping in the Rear, till hearing that Duke Maurice of Saxony was possessing himself of that Country, with Forces from King Fer- dinand, they return'd to secure their own.
 This made some Princes and Cities sensible of their Weakness, and therefore they submitted to the Emperor. At the beginning of 1547. 1547, Duke Frederick of Saxony, recover'd all the places taken from him by his Cousin Maurice, except Lipstat. The Emperor being joyn'd by his Brother, Ferdinand March'd towards Saxony. On the 24th of April, he pass'd the River Elbe, upon the Enemy who endeavour'd to retire, but being hotly pur-su'd, were forc'd to a Battle, which lasted till Night, and ended in the intire defeat of the Lutherans, the Duke of Saxony being taken, and many of his Men cut off. After this Victory the Landgrave submitted, and these two Princes who were the Heads of the Rebellion being secur'd, the rest were soon brought under. Phillip Prince of Spain being order'd

order'd to come into Flanders, in 1548, Maximilian Son to King Ferdinand, was sent over to Govern Spain, and to Marry the Princess Mary his Cousin German, and Daughter to the Emperor: On the First of October 1549, Maximilian who then Govern'd Spain had a Daughter Born, whom he call'd Anne. On the 10th of the same Month Pope Paul dy'd at Rome. The Vice Roy of Sicily, John de Vega on the 9th of September 1550, took the City call'd Africa on the Coast of Africk from the Pyrat Dragut, it was formerly call'd Leptis, but after all to save Charges, he demolish'd it. At Ausburg in Germany the Diet met, but nothing was there concluded. In May 1551, the Council of Trent before interrupted, met again. Prince Philip after the Diet at Ausburg, return'd into Spain. Henry King of France, made War in Flanders and Milan. The Turkish Fleet on the Coast of Sicily, took the Town and Castle of Augusta near Catania. Then they Sail'd to Malta, and thence to Tripoli on the Coast of Africk, which was deliver'd to them, by the Knights of Malta. In April 1552 Duke Maurice of Saxony, the Marquess of Brandenburg, and all the Lutherans appear'd in Arms against the Emperor, and Seiz'd the City Treves, and the French taking part with them over-ran Lorraine. The Emperor not being prepar'd to withstand such a Storm, releas'd Fredrick of Saxony, and the Landgrave of Hess, which pacify'd Duke Maurice, and Pardon'd the Elector of Brandenburg, who was willing to Submit. Then he bent his Forces against France, and lay'd siege to Metz, but was forc'd by bad Weather to

The Turkish Fleet meeting Andrew Doria near the Island Ponca, overthrew him, and took 7 of his Gallies. At Siena the People turn'd out the Spanish Garrison plac'd there by the Emperor, and prepar'd themselves for a Siege, which D. Peter de Toledo lay'd to it the next Year 1553, where he dy'd, and his Forces return'd to Naples, upon the approach of the Turkish Fleet to that place. The Infidels being disappointed here, Sail'd over to Corfica and possess'd themselves of part of it. Joanna the Emperor's Daughter was Marry'd to John Prince of Portugal, who dy'd within less than a Year at Lisbon, on the 2d of February 1554, and on the Twentieth of the same Month, the Princess was deliver'd of a Son call'd Sebastian, who was afterwards King of Portugal. On the 25th of July, Prince Philip; to whom his Father the Emperor had before resign'd the Kingdom of Naples and Dukedome of Sicily, was Solemnly Marry'd at Winchester, to Queen Mary of England. The Imperial Forces again laid Siege to Siena, and overthrew the French that came to relieve the Place, under the Command of Peter Strozzi, a banish'd Florentine. Siena was at last surrendred to the Emperor, in the Year 1555. He now grown weary of the Vanities of the World, and desiring to give the rest of his time to the Service of God, and care of his Soul, at the latter end of this Year, resign'd up his Kingdoms to his Son Philip, and the following Year the Empire to his Brother Ferdinand. This done, he he Sail'd over into Spain, and chose for his retreat, the Monastery of St. Justa of the order of S. Heirome, in the Territory of Plasencia, where he led a holy Life for two Years, and then dy'd, having gain'd greater Honour by freely abdicating, than by his acquiring the Empire. He Reign'd 40 Years, liv'd 58, and dy'd in 1558. His only Wife, was Elizabeth Daughter to Emanuel, King of Portugal, by her he had Issue,

THE 2d of the Name, Son to the Emperor Charles the 5th, and the first King of Spain of that Name, and his Wife the Empress Elizabeth, Daughter to King Emanuel of Portugal, was Born at Valladolid, An. 1527. Sworn Heir to the Crown in 1528, and by his Fathers Voluntary Resignation, came to the Crown in 1556, or rather the latter end of the precedent Year. In February he Concluded a Truce with France for 5 Years, which came to nothing, for he undertook to protect the House of Colonna, against the Pope, with whom the French were in League, and therefore sent an Army to Naples, where most of it Perish'd by the Plague. The City Siena was given by the Catholick King to the Duke of Florence, under whom it still continues. The War that broke out between France and Spain, was carried on with Various success in 1557. In Flanders the Forces of Spain laid Siege to S. Quintin, and the French coming to relieve it, were over-thrown by Philibert, Duke of Savoy, the Spanish General, with very great Slaughter, and many persons persons of Note taken Prisoners. King Philip came soon after to the Siege, and took the Town by Assault, and in it several considerable Persons, among whom was Coligni, the French Admiral, then Governor of that place, and afterwards a great Incendiary in France. In Italy the Duke of Alva possess'd himself of the greatest part of the Pope's Dominions, and might have taken Rome, which oblig'd the Pope to conclude a Peace upon reasonable Terms. In Spain there was extraordinary scarcity of Corn. The Plague broke out at Murcia, in the Year 1558, spread thence to Valencia, then to Burgos, and and so through most of Spain, and many Thousands Dy'd of it; and some Years pass'd before the Country was quite clear of it. The War continu'd in Flanders, where the French receiv'd so great an over-throw at Graveling, that they presently promoted a Treaty of Peace, The Renown'd Emperor Charles the 5th, Dy'd at the place of his retirement, on the 21th of September. His Body deposited there for some Years, was afterwards Buried at the Escorial. About the beginning of the 1559, Peace was Concluded betwixt France and Spain, and in pursuance to it, King Philip of Spain, on the 22th of August, by Proxy, Married Elizabeth, Eldest Daughter to the King of France. Not long after King Philip arriv'd in Spain, out of Flanders, and on the 31th of January, 1560, Consummated the Marriage with the said Lady Elizabeth, at Guadalajara, but the great Solemnity of the Wedding was kept at Toledo, whither the King and Queen went from

The Duke of Medina Celi, Vice-Roy of Sicily, took the Island of Gelves, but being there surpriz'd by the Turkish Fleet, lost most of his own, had one of his Sons taken, and escap'd himself with much Difficulty. The Council of Trent, after several Disappointments Assembled again in 1562. January, 1562. There hapned such a Violent Storm in the Port de la Herradura, in the Night, that 22 Gallies were cast away with their General D. John de Mendoca. The Council of Trent broke up in December, 1563.
1563. Oran and Mazalquivir, were both besieg'd by Salarraez, King of Argiers, and bravely Defended by their Governors, the Earl of Alcaudete, of the former, and his Brother D. Martin de Cordova, of the latter. D. John de Mendoca, General of the Gallies of Spain, coming in time, rais'd the Siege. D. Garcia de Toledo, on the 6th of September, 1564, took the strong Castle call'd El Penon, formerly Built by Count Peter Navarro, but at this time possess'd by the Moors. It is Seated near the City Velez, on the Coast of Africk. Queen Elizabeth of Spain having obtain'd the King her Husband's leave, went to Bayonne in 1565, to see her Mother and Brothers, and stay'd with them 17 Days. In Spain several Synods were held in pursuance to the Decrees of the Council of Trent. In November the Body of S. Eugenius, the first Bishop of Toledo was brought to that City from S. Denis, near Paris, and receiv'd with all imaginable Pomp. Margaret Dutcheß of Parma, the King's Bastard Sister, Govern'd the Low Countries for him in the Year 1566, the Mu-
- 1566 tinous

tinous Reformers, Despis'd her, because she was a Woman, Committed several Acts of Rebellion, and Horrid Sacrileges against the Churches. The Rebellion in the Low Countries Increasing, the Duke of Alva was sent thither by the King, to endeavour to quench that Flame, which he rather increas'd by apprehending the Counts Horn and Egmont. The Princess Margaret went away for Italy. The principal Ringleader of the Rebels in those Countries was the Prince of Orange, who fearing what he deserv'd, fled, and having Gather'd a good Force in 1566, made Head against the Duke, but was forced to retire. In June, the Counts Horn and Egmont were Executed, but it is generally believ'd very wrongfully. In the Kingdom of Granada in Spain, the Moriscoes, that is, those that are Descended from Moors, broke out into Rebellion. The Marques de Mondejar over-threw them seven times, and at last D. John of Austria, entirely subdu'd them. To take from them all the Power of Rebelling again, they were dispers'd throughout all Castile. Charles Prince of Spain, was this Year, by his Fathers Command, put to Death in Prison, where he had been some time confin'd, on account of some jealousy, King Philip had conceiv'd that he had a kindness for the Queen his Mother in Law, and aspir'd to the Crown. Ann. 1569, the War continu'd hot with the Rebels in the Low Countries, and much Blood was Spilt. The most Remarkable thing done in the Year 1570, was the Concluding the League between the Pope, the King of Spain, and the Venetians against the Turks, who had taken Cyprus from the Venetians. It was agreed to fit out 200 Gallies, and maintain 50000 Foot, and 4000 Horse; the King of Spain, to be at half the charge, the Venetians to defray one third, and the Pope one sixth. D. John of Austria, was appointed Admiral and Generalissimo of the Fleet and Land Forces. In August 1571, the Confederate Fleet Rendevouz'd in the Port of Messina, in Sicily, thence they Sail'd on the 10th of September, and steer'd their Course to the Islands Echinades, now call'd Cucolares, opposite to the Gulph of Lepanto, where they heard the Turkish Fleet lay. Prince Andrew Doria, who Commanded for the Pope, was in the Right, the Venetian Gallies in the Left, and D. John of Austria, with the Spanish in the Center. D. Alvaro Bacan, Marquess of Santa Cruz, Commanded 30 Gallies, which were left as a Reserve. The Enemy drew up at the Mouth of the Gulph in the Form of a Half-Moon. Six Galeasses, being the Forlorn of the Christians, Disorder'd the Infidels, then both Fleets engag'd. The Pirate Vchali did much mischief upon the Right, and took Ten Gallies, but seeing the rest of the Turkish Fleet overthrown, he stood out to Sea, and got off with several of his Gallies. 200 Turkish Gallies were taken and Sunk, 25000 Infidels Kill'd, and 15000 Christians set at Liberty. This Battle was Fought on the 7th of October. In Flanders an Imposition of the 10th Penny on all Commodities for carrying on the War, together with their good Disposition towards it before, caus'd many places to Rebel, and found found the Duke of Alva Employment enough all the following Year, 1572. The New Pope Gregory the 13th, did all he could to strengthen the League against the Turks, and a greater Fleet met at Messina, under D. John of Austria, than the Year before, yet he Loiter'd away the time, and did nothing with it. But in 1573, he Sail'd over from Spain to Tunex, where he restor'd Muleasse, Grandson to him mention'd in the time of the Emperor, Charles the Fifth, to his Kingdom. Muley Hamet, who had Usurp'd that Kingdom from him, was sent into Sicily. In 1574, the Duke of Alva was Recal'd from his Government of the Neatherlands, and D. Luis de Requesens, chief Commendary of Castile, Succeeded him in that Government. It was hop'd his Prudence and mild Disposition, would have appeas'd the People before Incens'd by the Duke of Alva's Severity, but no Policy or Wisdom could reduce them, for they were bent upon Rebellion; the pretence of Religion drove them on to it, and nothing but Desolation pleas'd them. So they join'd with their Brethren in France and Germany. D. John of Austria in 1575, was by King Philip Appointed his Lieutenant over all his Dominions in Italy, with the Title of Vicar of them. D. Luis de Requesens, Governor of Flanders, dying in 1576 the States of that Country instead of Settling it broke out into open Rebellion against their King, and the better to carry on their Treason, sent for Mathias, the Emperor's Brother, giving him the Title of their Prince; but they abus'd him under that Name, which he perceiving, return'd into Germany.

Germany. The Rebels besieg'd the Castle of Antwerp, where the Spaniards were mutiuous, but this danger uniting them, they gather'd from other places, and making up 4000 Men, tho' there were 40000 able to bear Arms in the City, they broke into it, kill'd 14000, and plunder'd and set fire to the Houses. On the same day being the 4th of November, D. John of Austria came into Flanders to appease those Troubles, but it prov'd to little purpose, or rather fatal to the King's Interest. For the following Year he did nothing of moment, and in 1578, to please the Rebels, he consented that the Spaniards should be sent away, and Garrisons of the Natives put into all strong places, which was no sooner done, but they conspir'd to seize him, which he having notice of fled to Namur, now the only place left him, and recall'd the Spaniards, who were marching towards Italy. With them, and some other Forces he gather'd, the War was continu'd, and some small places recover'd, Death put an end to his Government in October, and Alexander Farnesius, Prince of Parma, Succeeded him, who prov'd the bravest General of that Age, and perform'd many noble Actions in those Provinces. The Rebels call'd in Francis Duke of Alençon, to their assistance, and gave him the Title of Protector of the Neatherlands, which afterwards he was forced to quit, finding they made a meer property of him. Sebastian King of Portugal, being kill'd in Africk, Cardinal Henry, his great Uncle, then near 80 Years of Age, succeeded in that Throne, and he being so aged, all that had any Pretensions to that Crown, began to put in their Claims, and among them King Philip of Spain, as being the Son of Elizabeth, the Daughter of King Emanuel. The following Year 1580 to secure his Title by the Sword, he caus'd several Troops of Italians, Spaniards, and Germans, to march towards the Frontiers. At the same time he fail'd not to make the best Interest he could in Portugal, to have his Title admitted. Whilst this was doing, the old King and Cardinal Henry dy'd. The Duke of Alva was appointed General of the Spanish Forces, which were 12000 Foot, and 1500 Horse, the very Flower of the Spanish Army. He entred Portugal, and marching directly to Lisbon, routed Antony, the Bastard, who call'd himself King. The same Antony was again defeated near Porto by Sancho Davila, and so the whole Kingdom brought into Subjection with little cost, or effusion of Blood. King Philip was given over by his Physicians when this hapned, yet he recover'd, but the Queen, his Wife dy'd presently after. In the Year 1582, a Biscainer attempted to kill the Prince of Orange, at Antwerp, but missing, was torn to pieces. Not long after a Burgundian kill'd him in Holland. This Year Pope Gregory reform'd the Calender, cutting off 10 days to reduce Solstices and Equinoxes to their former place. King Philip went into Portugal to settle that Kingdom, and left the Cardinal Albertus to Govern there. In 1583 the Tercera Islands belonging to the Crown of Portugal, and held by Antony, the Bastard, were subdued. In 1584 Prince Philip was sworn Heir to the Crown of Castile, and so to all the other Dominions of Spain, now again united under

- under one Head, which had never been before since the time of the Goths. The Prince of Parma carry'd on the War in Flanders with extraordinary success, and having recover'd Gant, and several other places from the Rebels, after a tedious Siege, in which he show'd all the Art of a General, forced Antwerp to surrender in August 1585. King Philip held the Cortes of Aragon at Moncon, where his Son Philip was sworn Heir to that Crown. Queen Elizabeth, of England, not only assisted the Rebels in Holland, but sent Sir Francis Drake with a Squadron, who plunder'd the Islands of Cabo Verde, then the City Santo Domingo in the West-Indies in the Year 1586, after that Cartagena, and then sail'd over to Florida.
1587. The next Year 1587 he attempted the City Cadiz, and had like to have taken it, but was disappointed by the Country-People coming in, These Wrongs provok'd King Philip to seek Revenge, and in order to it he provided a mighty Fleet, which was fitted in the River of Lisbon. The Duke of Medina Sidonia was appointed Admiral. He set sail in June 1588, and having turn'd Cape Finisterre a violent Storm so scatter'd and disabled the Fleet, that he was forced to return, and could not put to Sea again till September. At last he came into the Channel, the English Fleet always hovering about him, which took some of his Ships, and burnt others. The rest of the Fleet endeavouring to sail North about, and so return into Spain, was most of it destroy'd by Storms, so that very few Ships got home. Antony, the Bastard, return'd to Portugal aboard the English Fleet in the Year 1589, and landing a good good number of Men, encamp'd before Lisbon, but finding no body came into him, as he expected he return'd aboard the Fleet which sail'd back for England. This Year was finish'd that famous Structure call'd the Escorial, which had been 30 Years building, and cost infinite Treasure. The Year 1590 was fatal for a Plague that rag'd in Spain, and swept away abundance of People. Antony Perez had been Secretary of State, and the King's greatest Favourite, yet through some jealousy, or because he was Privy to Secrets of too great Importance, for nothing wasever prov'd against him, King Philip took such an aversion to him, that he resolv'd upon his ruin, and in order to it kept him 12 Years a Prisoner. He seeing no end of his Sufferings fled to Aragon, whither he was pursu'd with the same Severity, and again apprehended, but being rescu'd by the People he fled into France, where he ended his days in Banishment. The People soon paid for this their kindness to him, for D. Alonso de Vargas, a Low Country Soldier, was sent thither, in 1591, who Executed some, and reduced that Kingdom into such form, as it never was before. The King went thither himself the ensuing Year 1592, and held the Cortes, where his Son Philip was sworn Heir to that Crown. King Philip having settled Affairs at home, aspir'd to the Crown of France, hoping Henry of Nawarre would be Excluded on account of his Religion, and therefore treated with the Nobility this Year 1593, to be Elected to that Crown, offering great Sums of Mony, but all came to nothing, and Henry notwithstanding all

- all Opposition had his Right. Albertus the Arch-Duke and Cardinal, upon the death of D. Gaspar de Quiroga was chosen Arch-Bishop of Toledo in 1594, but he afterwards resign'd that Dignity. The Arch-Duke Ernestus, who was Governor of Flanders, dying at the beginning of the Year 1595, his Brother the Arch-Duke Albertus succeeded him. In April following 1596 he took Calais from the French, which was afterwards restor'd upon Composition. King Philip fell so dangerously sick, that he was given over for dead. Sir Francis Drake landed some Men at Nombre de Dios, in America, designing to Travel over that narrow neck of Land, and plunder Panama, but the Spaniards taking the Alarm, he was forced back to his Fleet, About the latter end of June this Year, he took and plunder'd the Island and City of Cadiz, and burnt the Fleet that lay there for Mexico, which was an incredible loss to the Merchants. Ferdinand Tello, Governor of Dourlans for the Spaniards, with the help of some Intelligence he had within, surpriz'd the City Amiens in 1597. The King of France came in Person and laid Siege to it, and the Arch-Duke Albertus advanc'd to relieve it; but finding it not practicable he march'd away, and the City surrendred. On the 6th of May 1598 the King gave up all the Low-Countries to his Eldest Daughter Elizabeth, in order to Marry her to his Cousin, the Arch-Duke Albertus, he relinquishing the Archbishoprick of Toledo. Soon after this, Peace was concluded with France. On the 13th of September King Philip dy'd at the Escorial. He liv'd 71 Years, Reign'd 42, and had four Wives.

The first was Mary, Daughter to John the 4th King of Portugal; the Second, Mary Queen of England, Daughter to King Henry the 8th; the third Elizabeth, Daughter to Henry the Second of France, and the fourth, Anne, Daughter to the Emperor Maximilian the 2d. He was before his Accession to the Crown contracted to Margaret, the Daughter of Charles the Arch-Duke, who coming to him through Italy, had the Marriage-Ceremonies perform'd by the Pope at Ferrara, tho' the King was not there. On the 25th of March 1599, she landed at Alfaques de Tortosa in Catalonia, and was thence conducted to Valencia, where the Marriage was Consummated. The King having conducted the Arch-Duke to Barcelona, return'd to his Queen at Valencia, whence they
1600. The following Year 1601, in consideration that the Country about Valladolid was very poor, the King remov'd his Court from Madrid to that City, where he continu'd for some time. There is a small Town in the Kingdom of Aragon, call'd Vellilla, and in the Church of it a Bell often mention'd in History, as having been observ'd to ring of it self several times, before any great Relvolution. This Year it was reported to do so, but nothing hapen'd for several Years after, that might seem to be 1601. portended by it. In 1602 the Princess Ann, afterwards Marry'd to Luis the 13th King of France, was born at Valladolid. The Marquess de Fuentes, Governor of Milan, this Year corrupted the Lanskenets in Garrison at Final, and had that place deliver'd to him, the same

he did at Melfimo, and this without the least pretence, or shadow of Justice. Queen Elizabeth of England dying, James, King of Scots, Inherited that Crown, and was the first King of Great Brittain. King Philip this Year 1603 sent D. John de Tarsis, Earl of Villamediana, his Embassador into England, to Complement that King upon his Accession to the Crown, and settle a lasting Peace with him, which was accordingly Concluded, and Sign'd the following Year 1604, by John Fernandez de Uelasco, Constable of Castile, his Majesty's Embassador at that Court. On the 8th of April 1605 Prince Philip afterwards King of Spain, was born at Valladolid, D. Galceran de Alluanel was appointed his Preceptor, and D. Baltasar de Zuniga his Governor. In August 1606 the Princess Mary was born, and the Court which till now had continu'd at Valladolid, finding that place inconvenient upon several accounts, return'd to Madrid. There in September 1607 Prince Charles was born. The Cortes, or Parliament meeting, gave the King 23 Millions to be rais'd in 8 Years, being the Eighth part of the Wine and Oyl growing within that Kingdom: It had been Impos'd before in the Reign of King Philip the 2d, but not so high as now. On the 13th of January 1608, the Ceremony of Swearing Prince Philip Heir to the Crown was perform'd in the Church of S. Hierome in Madrid, the Cardinal of Toledo singing Mals. Prince Ferdinand was born at the Escorial, on the 17th of May 1609. In the Neatherlands a Truce was concluded with the Dutch in April, and ratify'd by the King in July, but yet not well observ'd. The Princess Margaret was born at Lerma on the 25th of May, 1610. In November Muley Xequé, a powerful Moore, who held Correspondence with the Spaniards, put their Forces in possession of the strong Fortres of Alarache, a Post of great consequence upon the Ocean, on the Coast of Africk. It is near the River, and Bay call'd Mamora, which was a Den of Pyrats, for this reason D. Luis Faxardo, four Years after this time, Built there another Fort, and left a good Garrison in it. A great Number of Moors came down to hinder his Work, but could not prevail. King Philip being sensible of the wicked practices of the Moriscoes: that is the People descended from the Moors, of the horrid Sacrileges they daily committed, being Mahometans in their Hearts, and only practicing Christian Religion outwardly, and no less of their treasonable contrivances for bringing the Turks and Moors into Spain, to which purpose they held Correspondence in Turky, and Africk. Being fully inform'd of these, their Actions and Designs, he resolv'd at once to rid Spain of that Plague; and therefore Issu'd a Proclamation by which they were all without exception, Commanded to depart his Dominions by a certain day appointed. They were allow'd to carry all their moveables with them; their Lands fell either to the Crown, or to the particular Lords under whose Jurisdiction they lay. The number reported to have departed is almost incredible taking the least, for it is variously represented, and the difference is great, tho' if we consider that the Moors continu'd in Spain, between 7 and 800 Years,

we shall not wonder at it. Some say they were 365000, others 800000, others above 900000, and Bleda says they were near 500000. Be it which number it will, it is great, and it was this and the banishing of the Jews before that has so much depopulated Spain, besides the great numbers that have gone to the West-Indies. These are the true reasons they want People, and not the chimerical notions, some Persons would intrude upon the ignorant. On the 3d of October 1611. Margaret Queen of Spain dy'd at the Escorial, where she had been deliver'd in September before of a Son call'd Alonso, who liv'd not a whole Year. A treaty was set on foot in 1612, for matching the Prince of Spain to Elizabeth, Sister to the French King, and that King with the Princess Ann of Spain, the parties were too Young for Consummation, and therefore it was deferr'd. The Dukes of Savoy, and Mantua, had been some time at variance, about the Duke-dom of Monferrat, and the former as most Powerful had possess'd himself of a considerable part of it. King Phillip, because he would not consent to stand to a legal Tryal about it, took up Arms against him, and after some little effusion of Blood, on the 21st of July it was agreed, that both parties should disarm and stand to the decision of the Emperor, those Dominions being Feofs of the Empire. The King being displeas'd at this accord, the War commenced again, but no great matters were done before they agreed. On the 18th of October Prince Phillip was Solemnly Marry'd at Burgos, to Elizabeth Sister to the French King, and he was contracted to Ann Princess of Castile, the two days before, renouncing any Right she might have upon the Death of her Brother, to the Crowns of Castile, and Aragon, or to the low Countries. The Brides were exchange'd upon the River Vedaso, which parts France and Spain. On 1617. Sunday the 15th of April 1617, D. John Ronquillo Governor of the Philippine Islands, obtain'd a considerable Victory over the Hollanders at Sea, sunk and burnt some of their Ships, and the rest fled, they were 10 in all. The Duke of Lerma, who had been the King's great Favourite, and Govern'd the Kingdom for several Years, to prevent being call'd to an account, as he suspected he should be, had underhand procur'd for himself a Cardinal's Cap, which was sent him from Rome, in the 1618. Year 1618, and then he withdrew from Court. Soon after D. Roderick Calderou, his principal Creature was apprehended, and having lain in Prison two Years and a half, condemn'd to Death, and his Goods confiscate. King Phillip had made repeated Promises to Visit his Kingdom of Portugal, but was still diverted from it by his Favourites, who for their private ends, dissuaded him from undertaking this Journey, alledging several reasons of their own framing, not regarding how necessary it is for Kings to be seen by their People. At last when it was least expected, he suddenly set out in April, 1619, taking along with him Prince Philip, and the Princesses Elizabeth and Mary, and made his publick entry into Lisbon, as his Father had done, on S. Peter's day. His reception was the greatest that ever was seen in that Country, for the Portugueses to express their Joy and Affection made such Works on the Land and Water, that they scarce left Room for the Multitude to behold Him all that expence was made for. It is not our part to describe the particulars of this entry. The River Tagus was cover'd with an innumerable quantity of Vessels built in the shapes of several Fishes and Sea Monsters. The Galley which carry'd the King was extraordinary Beautiful and costly. Whilst this Multitude of Vessels row'd on the River, the Thundring of the Cannon from the Ships and Castles, shook the Earth, and rent the Air. As soon as Landed; the King went first to the Cathedral, and thence to the Pallace, and that day being too short to view all the costly preparations made for his reception, he return'd the next day to see them again. So Majestick were the Arches, and other works made for the King's reception, that the King tho' us'd to Regal entertainments, said, He never till that day, thought himself a great King. In the Palace he perform'd the two Solemn Acts of having the Prince Sworn Heir to the Crown, and holding the Cortes, or Parliament, which met with extraordinary Joy and Satisfaction of all Men, who notwithstanding in the end were disappointed of their hopes. First because the King was scarce seen by his Subjects, and next because he gave not such an Answer to their Demands, as they expected. Seven Months he spent in his Journey thither, stay there and return Home. The following Year 1620, Prince Ferdinand the King's 2d Son, before made Cardinal, took possession of the Arch-bishoprick of Toledo given him by his Father, with the Pope's consent. On the 15th of March 1621, King Phillip chang'd this life for a better, as may be believ'd by his holy and innocent conversation. He Reign'd upwards of 22 Years, and liv'd 43. His Countenance was pleasing, and full of Majesty, his Forehead high, his Eyes blew, his Lips thick, his Complexion fair, with a fresh Colour, his Hair inclining to yellow, his Stature some what low, but his Limbs well proportioned. His Life was so Holy, that during the whole course of it, he was not known to be Guilty of any one greivous Sin, and therefore he is look'd upon as a Saint. In his Reign a raging Plague swept away many Thousands at Lisbon. A Year before his Journey thither, two Comets of a Wonderful Magnitude appear'd in the signs of Virgo and Libra, one of them so great, it renew'd the Memory of that which appear'd at the Birth of Mithridates, that extended over one quarter of the Heavens. At the City Bacaim in India, there happen'd such a violent Storm as overthrow Houses, Churches, Trees and Mountains. Several apparitions were said to be seen in the Air representing Men, Fires and Battles. King Phillip had but one Wife, who was Margaret, Daughter to the Arch-duke Charles, by her he had Issue.

A Galleon coming from India, to Lisbon, was Attack'd by the Turks and Burnt, which was a vast loss, besides 600 Men that perish'd in it. On the 21th of October, D. Roderick Calderon, who had been a great Favourite to King Philip the 3d, after being kept a Prisoner two Years and a half at Valladolid, was publickly Executed at Madrid. He Dy'd with great courage and modesty, and was generally Lamented by all People. In 1622, D. John Manrique, Governor of Oran, several times Defeated the Moors, and Humbled their Pride. Charles Prince of Wales, Son to King James of England, Travell'd privately in Disguise through France, and came to Madrid on the 17th of March, 1623, taking up his Lodging at the English Embassador's, who acquainted Count Gondamer with his coming, and he gave Notice of it to the great Favourite and Prime Minister, the Duke de Olivares, whom the Marques of Buckingham visited that Afternoon, telling him the Reason of the Prince's coming. The King sent to desire him to remove to S. Hierome, and thence Conducted him to the Pallace giving him the Right hand. There he was entertain'd in Royal manner. The occasion of his coming was to Marry the Princess Mary, which business was Debated, and a good Progress made in it, but he making the Restoring of the Prince Palatin, who had been expell'd his Dominions for Rebelling against the Emperor, and Usurping the Crown of Bohemia, an Article cle of the Contract; the Treaty broke off, and he return'd to England. Notwithstanding the Peace with Spain, James King of Great Brittain assisted the Persians, tho' Infidels to take from the Crown of Portugal the most Important City and Island of Ormuz, a place of vast Trade in the Gulph of Persia. D. James Pimentel General of the Gallies of Naples, near Sardinia, took Six Sail of Turks, but with the loss of his Life, for he Dy'd soon after of a Musket Shot receiv'd in that Action. The Dutch Rebels, who watch'd all opportunities of Annoying their Sovereign the King of Spain, understanding that Brazil was in no good Posture to oppose an Enemy, resolv'd to venture upon the conquest of it. Accordingly they fitted out 35 Sail, Comanded by Admiral John Vandort, aboard them were 3000 Land Men, and a good Train of Artillery. The design was kept very private. In December 1624, they Sail'd and open'd not their Instructions, till they were 6 Degrees, beyond the Line, where they found their Orders were to make Baya de Todos Santos, or the Bay of all Saints, in Brazil; and possess themselves of the City S. Salvador, which is the Metropolis of that vast Country. The Fleet entring the Bay, began to batter the City, and Landing 1000 Men, possess'd themselves of a Suburb, which put the Inhabitants into such a Consternation, that they all Stole away by Night, leaving the City Naked, which the Rebels enter'd the next morning, found an Inestimable Booty in it, Polluted the Churches, and Committed all manner of Sacrileges. Teyxeira offer'd to defend the place, but no body would stand by him, therefore he fled with the rest, and gathering 1500 Men, did the Enemy some harm, and kept them in Awe. An Account of what had happen'd being sent into Spain. The Portugueses immediately fitted out 26 Sail, and in them 4000 Landmen. The Spanish Fleet was more Numerous and carry'd 8000 Landmen, but was longer getting ready, so that the two Squadrons did not join till February, 1626; when they set Sail together, under the Command of D. Frederick de Toledo Oссорio, Marquess of Valduenza. They arriv'd at the Bay upon Good-Friday. and immediately landed 4000 Men, which advanced to the City, Commanded by Peter Roiz de San Estevan Marquiss of Cropani. The Fleet drew up in a Half-Moon to prevent the Enemy escaping. The Cannon being planted, soon made a great havock in the place, and several of the Rebels Ships were sunk, from a Battery rais'd on the shoar. In short the Dutch Soldiers mutiny'd against their Commanders, and surrendred, Capitulating only for their Lives, and to be sent home. The Booty found in the Town was very rich, and valu'd at above 3000000, the ready Mony 300000 Ducats, 2000 Quintals, or Hundred Weight of Powder, an Infinite quantity of Ball, 230 Pieces of Cannon, 3000 Muskets, 800 Corsets, the same number of Saddles, 600 Blacks, 6000 Bushels of Meal, 50000 Hides, and 2000 Pipes of Wine. The place thus recover'd, the two Squadrons return'd, but suffer'd much in the way by Storms. This same Year a great Fleet of English appear'd before Cadix.

Cadiz, and offer'd to Land there, but were repuls'd with considerable Loss. The Dutch in the Year 1628 attempted the City Fayaqui, in the West-Indies, but were forced to desist, and going over to the Island Puna, inhabited only by Indians, took a Spanish Friar, who was there instructing those People, and inhumanly ripp'd him up from the Belly to the Throat, saying, they would take his God out of his Belly. On the 17th of October 1629, Prince Balthasar was born, and liv'd to be 17 Years of Age. The Emperor and Catholick King, with their joint Forces, made War upon the Venetians, and in the Year 1630 over-ran most of their Territories, plunder'd Mantua, and kept Cazal so streight besieg'd, that it must have surrendred, had not a Peace been concluded, at the pressing Instance of the Most Christian King. At Tangier the Governor D. Ferdinand Mascarenhas obtain'd a notable Victory over the Moores. The French in 1631 having possess'd themselves of the Valley of Valtoline, between the Country of the Grisons and Milan, and taken Pignerol, and other places in Italy, seiz'd all the Dukedom of Lorraine. The Hollander still gaping after the rich Trade of Brazil, set out another Fleet under the Command of Henry Lonck, and made themselves Masters of Pernambuco. In Spain An. 1632 seven Jews were Convicted of having renew'd the Passion of our Saviour, practizing it on his Image, for which they were publickly burnt. The Count de Linares Vice-Roy of India, recover'd the Fort of Monbaca from that King, who had revolted and kill'd many Portugueses. 1633. burnt 33 Houses, and destroy'd some People. The Duke of Feria, the Catholick King's General, entred Alsace in 1633, rais'd the Siege of Constance, recover'd Vela dutz, took Laufenburg and Rbinsfelt, and reliev'd Brisac, and then pass'd the Alpes with his Army in December, which was very surprizing at that time of the Year. In 1635 the Most Christian King declar'd War against the Emperor and Catholick King, took Tirlemont in the Low Countries, and secur'd himself a passage into Italy. The following Year 1636 Cardinal Ferdinand, who Commanded the Spanish and Imperial Forces in Flanders took la Chapelle, Chates Vervins and Noyons, which oblig'd the French to break many Bridges to stop his advance farther. At the same time the Forces of Spain broke into Guienne by the way of Biscay, and took Andaye, Orugne, Siboure and S. Jean de Luz, places of no great Note. The French provok'd by the Losses sustain'd in Flanders the foregoing Year entred that Country in 1637, with a powerful Army, where they took the Town of Landrest. In Italy the Marques de Leganez, Governor of Milan, took Niza de la Palla in Montferrat, and the Fortrefs of Bren. This Year there began to be some Commotions in Portugal, which were appeas'd for the present, but were only forerunners of the great Revolution that afterwards ensu'd. In 1638 the Prince Cardinal, Governor of Flanders, fell upon the Dutch, who lay at the Siege of Calloo, near Antwerp, and put them to the rout with great slaughter, taking very many prisoners, and all their Cannon. Prince Thomas of Savoy soon after overthrew the French, who had laid

held out with much bravery 69 days, at the end of which it was reliev'd by the Admiral of Castile, who attack'd the French in their Works, and entirely defeated them. Count Maurice of Nassau with 6000 Men attempted the City Babia in Brasil, but was repuls'd and forced to desist. The next Year 1639 a Cellation of Arms was agreed upon in Piedmont.
The Prince of Conde entred Roussillon with 24000 Men, and took Saulses, which was presently after retaken. Now comes the fatal Year 1640, when the Catalonians broke out into open Rebellion against their King, and the better to carry it on, call'd in the French to their Assistance, receiving them into Barce- lona, and all other places. Yet this was but the least Mischiefe, for the Portugueses following their Example, and seeing the King of Spain had his hands full every where, took this opportunity, and having laid their design before with wonderful secrecy, revolted at once throughout the whole Kingdom. At Lisbon they began first, securing the Vice Queen Marg- aret Dutcheffs of Mantua, murdering Michael de Vasconcellos the Prime Minister, in the Palace, and Proclaiming John Duke of Braganza King of Portugal. The ensuing Year 1641, the Catalonians and French laid Siege to Tortosa, but without success. Nevertheless they took Colivore, and cut off 2500 Horse that endea-vour'd to put Succours into that place. Some but nothing of great note, nor the Year following more than the plundering of the open Country, and some inconsiderable Towns. But in Catalonia the French and Rebels took Perpignan, a place of great Importance. In 1643 the Duke and Count of Olivares, who had been long the Favourite, and Prime Minister; being in disgrace, retir'd from Court. The King's Army after a Long Siege recover'd the City Lerida in Catalonia which had been taken from the French. The Marques de Torrecusa Commanded the Spanish Forces against Portugal, in 1644 and Matthias de Albuquerque those of that Kingdom, the former sent about 9000 Men under the Baron of Molinguen to force the Portugueses, who to the number of about 7 or 8000 ravag'd the Country to a Battle. The Spaniards came so suddenly upon the Portugueses, that they could not well avoid fighting. In fine, they engag'd, and at first shock the Spaniards had the better, but their Horse pursuing that Party which fled, left the Foot expos'd, who were immediately routed by the Enemies Horse. The Spaniards returning, and seeing the Foot routed fled, and left the Portugueses a compleat Victory, who kill'd 2000, with the loss of 750 of their own. The Marquis de Leganez, a Commander of Note, was sent in 1645, with considerable Recruits of Horse and Foot to Command against Portugal. Yet the event was not answerable to the great expectation conceiv'd of him, for all he did was the Demolishing a small Fort, blowing up the Bridge of Olivenza, and defeating 1800 Foot that were marching to Elvas. In Catalonia, the Spanish General Marquis de Mortara tara was in a Bloody Battle overthrown by the Count de Harcourt, and himself taken Prisoner with 200 Officers, Men of Note, as was Andrew Cantelmo, who fled with the Horle to Balaguer, and was there besieg'd. This misfortune oblig'd the King to recall the Marques of Leganez from Portugal, to command the Army in Catalonia, this Year 1646. It consisted of 25000 Men, with which he attack'd the French Forces Commanded by Count de Harcourt, who had lain five Months at the Siege of Lerida, in their Trenches, and after a hot dispute put them to rout, taking all their Bagage, Cannon and Ammunition, tho' with great expence of Blood. Nothing considerable was done on the side of Portugal. In the Low Countries, the Duke Enguien took Courtray and Winoxberg, and recover'd Mardyke before surpriz'd by the Spaniards. After which he laid Siege to Dunkirk, and oblig'd the Garrison to surrender. The Prince of Conde after the defeat of Lerida, was sent to Command the French Forces in Catalonia. He in 1647 again laid Siege to the same place, which made so brave a defence, that he was forced to rise and leave it, and hearing the Spanish Army was superior to his, put all his Men into Garrisons. In Italy the Spaniards made themselves Masters of Niza de la Palla, Alva, and some other lesser places in Monferrat. The French did nothing in Flanders, and a Truce was concluded with the Holandars. In June this Year broke out that scarce parallell'd Rebellion at Naples under Thomas Aniello, commonly call'd Massaniello, a poor fellow that sold Fish in the Market. This inconsiderable Wretch stirr'd up the the Rabble to Mutiny, on Account of the Taxes; and so far prevail'd that the first day 50000 follow'd him; and the Vice-Roy was glad to make his escape. The next day the Mutiniers were 100000 strong, chose Massaniello their Commander, giving him unlimited Power. He presently order'd all to Arm themselves, set a Price upon Bread, and other Provisions, burnt all Offices of Collectors of Taxes which had not been ruin'd the day before, and all the Houses and Goods of the Farmers of the Revenue. Every day Massaniello put to death some Persons for the least faults, and the fourth day cut off the Head of the Duke de Matalone's Brother, because he was concern'd in hiring 500 Banditti to kill him. The Vice-Roy was shut up in the Castle, and in danger of starving, Massaniello forbidding any Provisions being carry'd to him, and cutting off his Water. This oblig'd the Arch-Bishop Cardinal Philomarini to treat with Massaniello, to whom, there being no other remedy all his Demands were granted, the principal whereof were a general Amnesty, abolishing of Taxes, and restoring of antient Charters. This Peace was concluded, but Massaniello would not lay down Arms till the Ratification came from Spain; but having thus done his business, as he thought, he grew distracted, whether it was caus'd by any Dose given him, or for want of Rest, or any other cause. But to conclude, his madness made him odious to the People, and he was kill'd by the contrivance of four of the Nobility. His head being put upon a Pole, the Body was dragg'd about the Streets by the Rabble, that but two or three days days before had Honour'd him above their King. His end was 10 days after he began his Rebellion. Yet tho' the Ring-leader was gone, the Mischief ceas'd not, for the Multitude continu'd in Arms, and wanting a Head, the Duke of Guize came to them out of France, but they were soon suppress'd, and he taken Prisoner. The most remarkable thing in the Year 1648 was the Peace concluded at Munster, between Spain and Holland. The Marques de Leganez, who again Commanded against Portugal, laid Siege to the City Olivenza, but without success. The Plague ran along the Southern Coast of Spain, and destroy'd abundance of People, but did most Mischief at Sevil. The Arch-Duke Leopold was Governor of the Low Countries, in 1649, and pretending to relieve Ipres, besieg'd by the French, made them draw the Garrison out of Courtray to strengthen their Army, which he understanding clapt down before that place, and made himself Master of it in two days. However the Prince of Conde took Ipres, but Count Harcourt besieging Cambrai, was forced to raise the Siege. Oliver Cromwel, who after the Murder of his Sovereign King Charles the First of England, had Usurp'd the Power of the Government under the Name of Protector, sent an Embassador into Spain, who being come to Madrid, was there kill'd by six Loyal English Gentlemen in the Year 1650. In Italy D. John of Austria took Portolongone. The Catalonians grown weary of their Rebellion, and the French Government, began to Treat of Submitting to their Lawful King, and several of them declar'd for him, with whose assistance the Spanish Forces recover'd

The Arch-Duke Leopold Governor of Flanders, making his advantage of the great confusions then in France, took several places in Champagne, and dispos'd of his Army into Winter Quarters in that Country. D. Alonso de Cardenas sent Embassador into England, in 1651, was Nobly receiv'd and concluded a Peace with that State. The King's Interest daily advanc'd in Catalonia, infomuch that his Forces sat down before Barcelona, and D. John of Austria came out of Sicily to Command at the Siege. That Noble City after a tedious Siege was at last 1652. surrendred on the 17th of October 1652, and thus his Catholick Majesty was again restor'd to the whole Principality of Catalonia. Nor was this all his Success, for his Forces in Italy took Trin, and Cazal, and those in Flanders, Gravelin and Dunkirk. The Year 1653. 1653, was not remarkable for any considerable Action, being most spent in Skirmishes and enterprizes of small moment. In 1654. 1654 the noble Structure of the Pantheon, being a round Chappel for the Buryal of King's, at the Escurial, was finish'd. The War was carry'd on so coldly on all sides, that the two following years afford not matter of consideration enough to deserve a place in this short relation. The only thing in 1656, was the defeat of the French Army, in Flanders, which having lay'd Siege to Valenciennes, was attack'd in its Works, and beaten by D. John of Austria, who immediately upon this Success

cess, made himself Master of Conde. On the 12th of March following, which was 1657, D. John laid Siege to S. Gillain, on the 23d, the place was deliver'd to him. These losses inclin'd the French to joyn with the English, who sent them considerable Succours, and being thus strengthened, they sat down before Montmidi, which was surrendred to them on the 3d of July, and after that took S. Venant, and Mardike. In April this Year, Blake the English Admiral, found the Spanish West-India Fleet, in the Bay of Sancta-Cruz in the Island Teneriff one of the Canaries, where notwithstanding the opposition made by the Forts, he burnt 14 Ships, the whole being 16, whereof two were sunk. The Duke of S. Germain Commanding the Spanish Forces against Portugal, took the City Olivencia in the Face of the Portugues Army, who us'd all Artifices to draw him from the Siege. The French and English, having as was mention'd before, joyn'd their Forces, this Year 1658 laid Siege to Dunkirk, and press'd it so hard, that D. John of Austria, came down with an Army, to releive it. Turenne who Commanded at the Siege, leaving a sufficient Force to carry it on, drew out, gave D. John Battle, and put him to the rout, kill'd above 1000 Men, and took 1500 besides 800 Officers. This done they return'd to the Siege and the Marques de Lede Governor, of the place, being kill'd in a Sally, it surrendred. In Catalonia the Marques de Mortara, defeated a Body of French, that besieg'd the Castle of Canderon, and releiv'd the place. John the new King of Portugal, dying two Years before this, his Queen who Govern'd, during the Minority of her Son; resolv'd to do something extraordinary to gain Reputation. To this purpose she gather'd 13000 Foot, and 4000 Horse, the Command of which she gave to John Mendez de Vasconcellos, with Orders to besiege Badajoz. He did so, but having first spent several days in vain, before Fort S. Christopher beyond the River, he gave the Town time to secure itself. D. Luis de Haro, the great Favourite Commanded the Army, that came to relieve the place, but the Portugueses having lost many Men, and the rest much harrass'd, would not hazard a Battle, and so drew off. D. Luis de Haro encourag'd with this Success, Marches into Portugal, and lays Siege to Elvas, there the Count de Castanbeda General of the Portugues Army, having made it the strongest he could, by draining of Garrisons, attack'd and routed him, killing 2000 of his Men. This disaster made the Spaniards lye still, and the Portugueses themselves were glad enough to be quiet, so that for two Years following nothing considerable was done on that side. In May 1659, a cessation of Arms was agreed upon, between France and Spain, in order to carry on a Treaty of Peace; which was afterwards concluded on the 7th of November. In pursuance to this Treaty, by which it was agreed the King of France should Marry the Princess Mary Teresa, Daughter to King Philip, he set out with her in April 1660, and conducted her to the Borders of Spain, where she was deliver'd to the French, and Marry'd to the most Christian King on the 9th of June, in the Church of

of S. John de Luz. The War with Portugal being all that remain'd in the Year 1661, supplies were sent thither from all parts and D. John of Austria, to Command. There being no Army to oppose him, he made himself Master of Aronches, Alconchel, and some other places of less note, and at Badajoz routed Schomberg, who durst with 16 Squadrons of Horse attack the Guard of the Bridge. The following Year 1662 D. John advanc'd farther into Portugal, and meeting no opposition in the Field Plunder'd all the open Country, and took Villabuin, Borba, Furumenba, Crato, and other small places. This success so encourag'd D. John, that in the Year 1663, he had no less thoughts than of attacking Lisbon, and in order to it advanc'd as far as Ebora a Famous City, which in a few Days was surrendered to him. But this so alarm'd the Country, that the People at Lisbon Mutiny'd. The Count de Villaflor was appointed General, and he having gather'd all the force he could gave D. John Battle not far from Evora, routed him, killing 4000 of his Men, and taking all his Cannon and Baggage. After this Victory he soon recover'd Ebora. The Count de Castanbeda was General of the Portugues Army in the Year 1664, and being Master of the Field, entred the Borders of Castile, where he lay'd Siege to Valencia de Alcantara, and took it. Peter Faques de Magallaens, who Comanded on the Portugues Frontiers more Northward, fell upon the Duke of Ossuna, who had attempted Castel Rodrigo, and put him to Flight, with the slaughter of 2000 of his Men. D. John of Austria had now quite lost his Reputation, therefore the Marques of Caracena, was sent to take the Command of the Army against Portugal in the Year 1665. He presently lay'd Siege to Vil-laviciosa, and carry'd on his works vigorously which the Count de Castanbeda the Portugues General understanding, he came with all the power he could make to releive the place. There both Armies engag'd in a plain, and the Fight continu'd seven Hours, but in the end, the Spaniards were totally routed, 5000 of them kill'd, and about 4000 who had retir'd to a place of Strength, surrendered upon discretion. This was call'd the Battle of Montesclaros, which fix'd the House of Braganza in the Throne of Portugal, for it was the last Action of Note betwixt that Crown and Spain, for on the 17th of October following Phillip the 4th, King of Spain dy'd, leaving his Crown to his Son, then but four Years of Age. His Death was in the Year 1665, when he had Reign'd 44 Years, and liv'd 60. Standard in his Name, which being a Ceremony, many are unacquainted with; I will give a short Account of it. The Duke of Medina de las Torres being pitch'd upon, by the Magistrates of Madrid, to perform this act, he came to the Town-house, Nobly attended by Persons of Quality, and having there receiv'd the Standard of the Corregidor, or Supreme Magistrate, Mounted a Horseback, and the Cavalcade began in this order. First went the King's Trumpets and Kettle Drums, then the Town Musick, then 16 Alguaziles belonging to the Town, next part of the Spanish and German Guards, with their Lieutenants, then a Troop of Nobility and Gentry belonging to the Court, and the Captains of the Guards, after them four Mace-bearers, then the Regidors, and next them the Kings at Arms, with their embroider'd Coats, and lastly the Corregidor, and Duke of Medina on his Right Hand carrying the Standard. Being come to the great Market place, then throng'd with People, they Mounted a Scaffold erected for that purpose, and facing the Windows where the Kings us'd to see publick Sports, the Eldest King at Arms cry'd out aloud, Silence, Silence, Silence, Hear, Hear, Hear. Then the Duke in like manner with a loud Voice cry'd, Castile, Castile, Castile, for the Catholick King Charles the 2d of the Name, whom God preserve. The Multitude unanimously shouted, Let him live, let him live, let him live. This done the Standard was carry'd back to the Town-house, and fix'd on a Balcony under a Rich Canopy, there to remain Eight days, and as many many Nights, the continual Light in the Streets, keeping it always in view. But before putting up the Standard, the Company repair'd to the Pallace, where his Majesty was seated in the Chair of the Emperor Charles the 5th, and carry'd thence, and seated in the like manner in the Town Hall. The following Year 1666, after the tedious War before mention'd in the Reign of King Phillip the 4th, some overtures of Peace began to be made betwixt Spain and Portugal, which took effect two Years later. Ann Mauricia of Austria, Queen Mother of France, dying about the same time, new Troubles began to break out on that side. In April the Princess Margaret of Austria, Sister to the Young King, was contracted to her Unkle Leopold Ignatius the Emperor, and was conducted to Germany, with a numerous Train. In Africk the Moors gave a desperate assault to the Town of Alarache, thinking to have carry'd it by surprize, but the Governor having got intelligence of their design, by means of a Christian Captive, who made his escape, he receiv'd them with such bravery that they were not only repuls'd, but reputed to have lost 4000 Men in the attempt. A strange Murder was now committed by a Woman in the Pallace at Madrid, upon Bernardin Gosbert, who was shot by her with a Pistol through the Head, of which he dy'd within two Hours. The King of France notwithstanding the renunciation made by his Queen to all pretensions of the Spanish Dominions, made them his Ground to declare War against Spain, in the Year 1667. 1667, and accordingly entred the low Countries, with 3 several Armies, Commanded by himself, and the Marshals d' Aumont and Crequi. Those provinces being altogether unprovided for such a Storm, could make but little opposition, and consequently the King possess'd himself of Charleroy, before Demolish'd by the Marques de Castelrodrigo, and fortify'd it, and following his Success in a short time took Ath, Tournay, Doway, Oudenard, Alost, and Lisle. Crequi routed a Body of 15000 Men, that were marching to releive Lisle. D' Aumont took Bergues, Furnes, Armentiers and Courtray, and the Marques de Bellefond defeated the Marques de Conflans, who Commanded some Spanish Troops about Brussels. The Marques of Castel Rodrigo, us'd all means to draw together Forces, to oppose the Enemy, and took up a great quantity of Ammunition from the Dutch, who made him an offer of it, being jealous of the Progress of the French. De Luis, Ponce de Leon, Governor of Milan, guessing the Storm would at last reach him, fortify'd all places under his charge. This Year dy'd Pope Alexander the 7th, and Cardinal Fulius Rospigliosi who had been long Nuncio in Spain, was chosen in his place, taking the Name of Clement the 9th.

The King of Great Brittain having been admitted as Mediator between the two Crowns of Spain and Portugal, Peace was at length with much difficulty, concluded this Year 1668. 1668, the Marques del Carpio who had been Prisoner at Lisbon ever since the defeat of the Spanish Forces at Evora, being very instrumental mental in procuring this accommodation. It went much against the Spaniards, to own the new King of Portugal as such, but they were forc'd to submit to necessity, and buy off the Weaker Enemy, to be able to oppose the stronger, that is the French, who as was said, carry'd all before them in Flanders. The Prince of Conde who commanded their Army in Franche Comte, took Besancon and Salines, and the King coming thither in Person, made himself Master of Dole, and all that entire province. There being great appearance that a formidable League would be made against France, several Princes and States being Jealous of his Success, that King thought good to avoid the Storm, by concluding a Peace with Spain, at Aix la Chapelle, where it was agreed that his Most Christian Majesty, restoring Franche Comte, should remain possess'd of all the Towns he had taken in Flanders. Thus ended that War and the affairs of that Year. In 1669, that Kingdom enjoying Peace on all sides, produced no matters of any Moment, but her Catholick Majesty the Queen Mother, as regent for her Son to quiet the aspiring Mind of D. John of Austria, Bastard Son to King Philip the 4th, constituted him Lord Lieutenant, and Captain General of Aragon, and Vicar General of Valencia, Sardinia, Majorca, and the adjacent Islands, of Catalonia, and the Earldoms of Roussillon and Cerdagne, with all other dependencies on the Crown of Aragon, a Commission so large, as had never yet been Granted to any Subject. This mighty Honour only serv'd to swell his Ambitious thoughts

Christ. of thoughts to a higher pitch, and make him aim at the Government, if not at the Sovereignty of all Spain. True it is, the management of Affairs was not such as it ought to have been, the young King was bred in profound ignorance, being kept from the knowledge not only of State matters, but even of those things that are requisite for every Man of Ordinary Capacity, a few Favourites dispos'd of all things at Court, and F. Nitard, a Jesuit and Foreginer, had the chusing even of them. This his Authority rais'd him many Enemies, of which D. John was the chief, who never ceas'd till he oblig'd the Queen to send him away, which she did in the most Honourable manner she could. Having remov'd this Prime Minister and opposite, D. John in a short time was too hard for the Queen, remov'd her from the Government, got possession of the King, and carry'd him to Aragon, to the great satisfaction of that People, and no less of his Majesty, who had never before been so far from Madrid. Many of the Nobility being jealous of D. John's Designs, combin'd and made Parties against him, so that his Power was not lasting, nor indeed his Life, so the Government after him fell into the hands of the Council, till his Majesty came to Age to take it upon him.

1670. In the Year 1670 the Crown of Spain, for the Security of the Low Countries had entred into the Tripple League form'd between England, Sweden and Holland. This had been projected to keep France in awe, and by that means secure the Peace of Christendom; but upon some Wrongs done by the Dutch to his Subjects, King Charles the 2d of England, not only

Only fell off from the League; but joining with the French, and Bishop of Munster, gave his Most Christian Majesty an opportunity of beginning the War in 1672, when entering Holland with four several Armies Commanded by himself, the Prince of Conde, Marechal Turenne, and the Marques de Chamilli, he with incredible Celerity, and unparallell'd Success, in the space of three Weeks possess'd himself of 45 Places of consequence, and might have been Master of Amsterdam, had he pursu'd the course of his Victories. This progress of theirs alarmed Spain, who thought it high time to think of securing their Interest in the Low Countries, and in order to it, not only brought the Emperor to their Party, but making use of the dislike the People of England had to the growth of the French Power, drew off King Charles from their Party. Thus the Scene was chang'd, and France who had design'd no other Enemy but Holland, found it self attack'd by the Empire and Spain, which latter instead of making an Advantage by this Alliance, in a few days lost the Province of Franche Comte, over-run first by the Duke de Noailles, and then by the King in Person in May and June 1674. Nor were they more Fortunate in Flanders, where the Confederate Troops Commanded by the Prince of Orange, the Count de Monterey, and Count Souches, were routed at Seneff on the 11th of August that same Year by the Prince of Conde, who took 3500 Prisoners, and soon after forced them to raise the Siege they had laid to Oudenard, without striking a Stroke. Every Campaign added new Conquests to France, for in 1675, they took Dinant, Huy and Limbourg, bourg, tho' the Prince of Orange, and Duke de Villahermosa, with 50000 Men, made show of relieving the last, they being forced to desist by the King of France, who cover'd the Siege with a greater power. Fortune favour'd the Spaniards no more at Sea than at Land, their Fleet consisting of 20 Men of War, and Seventeen Gallies, and Commanded by D. Melchior de la Cueva being beaten off Messina by the Duke de Vivonne, Admiral of the French in the Mediterranean and the Messineses being then in Rebellion were supported by them.

1677. In 1677 the Treaty at Nimeguen, was set a Foot, the King of England being Mediator in order to restore Peace to Europe; but whilst the Conferences went on there, Action ceas'd not in the Field, for the Marshal de Crequi had Conde surrendred to him in April, and Bouchain in May, the Spanish and Dutch Forces to the number of 50000, having made a show of attempting to relieve the latter, but retiring upon the approach of the King of France, and in July the Marshal d'Humieres took Aire. In the mean while the Prince of Orange, with the Confederate Forces, had laid Siege to Mastrickt, and after many days spent, and abundance of Men lost, upon the news of the approach of Schomberg with the French Army, he broke up the Siege. In the Mediterranean Monsieur du Quesne defeated the Dutch and Spanish Fleets under the Command of De Ruiter; within a few days he gave them a 2d Overthrow, in which de Ruiter had both his Legs broke, of which he dy'd, and soon after being join'd by the Duke de Vivonne he obtain'd a Third Victory, burning 12 of their Men of War and six

six Gallies. The consequences of which Success was the taking of several places in Sicily. The Duke de Noailles carry'd all before him in Catalonia, obliging the Marques de Seralvo, Vice-Roy of that Country, to put his Forces into strong holds. The Year 1677 began with the taking of Valenciennes by the French King in person, whose Forces being order'd to attack the Counterscarp and two Half Moons perform'd it with such fury, that having gain'd them, they pursu'd, their flying Enemy into the Town, which was taken in that heat. The Duke of Orleans at the same time had laid Siege to S. Omer, which the Prince of Orange resolving to relieve, he advanced with his Army, and the Duke leaving a sufficient Force to secure the Trenches, mov'd with the rest to meet him. The Encounter was sharp at first, but lasted not long, the Dutch Guards flying first, whose example was soon follow'd by the rest, leaving the French a complete Victory, and 4500 Men kill'd and 2500 Prisoners. Upon this Victory S. Omer was surrendred to the Duke of Orleans, and the Castle of Cambray to the King of France: The Confederates having recruited their Army laid Siege to Charleroy, but were forced to desist, and the Marshal de Humieres concluded the Campagne in those parts, with the taking of S. Guilhain. Catalonia afforded the Spaniards no better success, for there the Count de Monterey was routed by the Duke de Noailles, who kill'd 3500 of his Men.

The Year 1678 began with the taking of Gant and Ipres, both in the Month of March. In August following the Peace was concluded and sign'd at Nimeguen between France and Holland, the Prince of Orange being at the head of 70000 Men attack'd him there, and a hot dispute ensued, many Men kill'd on both sides, and many more had been, but that Night put an end to Action. It was not practicable for the Spaniards, who were too weak for the French when seconded by the Dutch, to stand it out now without them, and therefore in September following they concluded a Peace with France, by which that King was to restore Charleroy, Binche, Ath, Oudenard, Courtray, Gant, Limburg, Leuwe, S. Guilbain, and Pucer- dan, and to continue posselt of Franche, Comte, Valenciennes, Bouchain, Conde, Cambray, Aire, S. Omer, Ipres, Cassel, Bovay, and other places of less Note. Thus ended this War so unfortunate to Spain, whose King to bind the Knot of the late concluded Peace the faster in the following Year 1679, sent the Marques 1673. de los Balbaces his Embassador Extraordinary to the Court of France, to demand in Marriage Mary Luisa, eldest Daughter to the Duke of Orleans, which being granted that Princess was solemnly marry'd by Proxy at Paris, and then conducted with great State to Madrid, where the Marriage was Consummated, to the great Satisfaction of both Kingdoms. The War thus ended, his Catholick Majesty apply'd himself to the Cares of the Government, and in regard the value of brass Mony was extraordinarily enhanced, which was the reason much of it was imported from Abroad, he caus'd it to be put down to one half of what it pass'd for before, receiving all his Taxes in

it at the first value, that the People might not bear the loss. This was in the Year 1680, when he also Declar'd the Duke of Medina Celi first Minister of State, which place he held with great approbation of all People. In Flanders the French notwithstanding the late Peace, possess'd themselves of the Abbys of Fleury and S. Gerard, with above 40 Villages in the Province of Namur, and several others in other parts pretending they were Dependencies on the places yielded up to them by the Treaty. At this time they also pretended the King of Spain should quit the Title of D. of Burgundy, but nothing was concluded, his Catholick Majesty being resolv'd not to part with it, and the more for that he had concluded a defensive Alliance with the King of Great Brittain. The Year 1681 furnish'd no great matter of Note, but only contention between the French and Spanish Commissioners about the Limits in the Low Countries, and a small Engagement between two of their Parties, which produced greater Hostilities, the French blockading Luxemburg; and plundering part of Flanders. His Catholick Majesty receiv'd a solemn Embassy from the Czar of Muscovy with rich Presents of Furrs, a thing never seen there but once before. All things in Flanders seem'd to tend to an open Rupture, the French still incroaching and adding new Pretensions, and therefore the King of Spain justly dissatisfy'd with the Government of the Prince of Parma, sent the Marquis de Grana to succeed him in the Year 1682, having already given Orders for raising new Forces, and recruiting the old. At length in 1683 the War broke out between the two Crowns,

Crowns, the French on a sudden possessing themselves of Courtray and Dixmude, which action oblig'd his Catholick Majesty to recall his Embassador then at the French Court, and send away the French Minister, residing at Madrid.
 This being a Declaration of War the French laid Siege to Luxemburg in May 1684, and after they had been before it about 5 Weeks, had it surrendred them. Catalonia at the same time far'd on better, for there the Marshal de Belfond, who Commanded the French Army routed the Duke of Bournonville, General of the Spanish Forces in that Province. The French having now got what they aim'd at, propos'd a Truce for 20 Years, which Spain being in no condition to carry on the War was willing to Accept.
 It being bruited abroad in 1685 that the King of Spain intended, upon the Marriage of the Elector of Bavaria to the Arch Dutcheſs of Austria, to bestow on him the Sovereignty, or at least the perpetual Government of the Low Countries, the French Embassador at Madrid represented to his Catholick Majesty, that the King, his Master, would look upon any such Innovation, as a breach of the 20 Years Truce. His Majesty answer'd, he had not entertain'd any such thoughts, and whether he did or no, the thing was not put in Execution, which prevented the breach threatned on that account. The Duke of Medina Celi, who as Prime Minister, had for five Years bore the weight of all publick Affairs, now with difficulty obtain'd leave to quit that weighty Employment. In 1686 the Council of Spain, after many Consultations to retrieve the King's Revenue extreamly impair'd, at last came to a Resolution,

Resolution, which they publish'd, and was, That all Pensions above 300 Ducats should be retrench'd, and abundance of Servants and Officers, who did no Duty, should be wholly reduced, by which means it was computed the King would save 5 Millions a Year. In June the French Fleet consisting of 20 Men of War put into the Bay of Cadiz, suffering no Ship to come in or out of that Port, on account of 500000 Crowns of French Effects seiz'd by the Spaniards at Mexico, but this Controversy being soon after adjusted to the Satisfaction of the former, they drew off without any further Hostilities. Africk was the only place this Year 1687, where any Action hapned, and that very disadvantageous to Spain. There D. James de Bracamonte, Governor of Oran, march'd out with 800 Spaniards, which made up the greatest part of the Garrison, to repulse the Moors who were ravaging his Territories, but being drawn into an Ambush by the Infidels, he was cut off with all his Men to thirty only, that made their escape back to the Town, which had certainly been lost, but that the Moorish General being kill'd in the Action, they did not presently pursue their Victory, and Supplies came speedily from Cartagena. Mellilla on the same Coast was also belieg'd by the Infidels, who having spent two months before it, and lost many Men, drew off and return'd home.

We are at length come to the Year 1688, which gave beginning to that mighty War, that must be the principal subject of the remaining part of this short History. A powerful League against France, had been long projecting jecting and now at last came to a conclusion at Ausburg, the Emperor, King of Spain, States of Holland, and Princes of Germany, uniting their Forces to pull down that formidable Enemy. The better to effect it, the Prince of Orange, who had been invited by the People of England, was sent over with an Army, because King James had refus'd to enter into the Confederacy, and accordingly the Prince landing, was proclaim'd King the beginning of the following Year 1689. The same Year dy'd Mary Luisa, Queen Consort of Spain, and his Catholick Majesty took to his Second Wife Mary, Anne, Daughter to Philip William, Duke of Newburg, and Elector Palatine, she being then 22 Years of Age. All the endeavours of France to draw the Crown of Spain from its new Allies proving ineffectual, Marshal d'Humieres entred Flanders with an Army, where attempting to remove the Confederate Forces then strongly encamp'd at Walcourt, he was repuls'd with the loss of many Men. But the Duke de Noailles made some amends for this disgrace, by taking the Town and Castle of Campredon in Catalonia. This same summer Count Tourville, the French Admiral, worsted the English and Dutch Fleets Commanded by the Admirals Herbert and Evertzen. The Marshal de Luxemburg Commanded the French Army in Flanders in the Year 1690, where he gave the Confederates, Commanded by Prince Waldeck, a great overthrow at Flerus. To strengthen the Confederacy, the Duke of Savoy now declar'd against France, and gave that Crown much trouble during the War, but all the particular Actions not relating directly to Spain, cannot find a place in this Compendium. In March 1691, the King of France in Perion, with a powerful Army late down before Mons, a strong Town in the Province of Hainault, and notwithstanding the vigorous opposition made by the Garrison, and the unseasonableness of the Weather, there being no hopes of relief, had it surrendred in 3 Weeks. The City of Barcelona, Capital of Catalonia, was Bombarded by the French Fleet. An. 1692, the King of Spain at length put in Execution the design he had some Years before of giving the Government of the Low Countries to the Elector of Bavaria for Life, which he accepted, and always behav'd himself with much Gallantry in defence of his charge. The continual success of the French now for once fail'd them at Sea, where Admiral Rus- sel,

Jel, who Commanded the English and Dutch Fleets, which were double the number of the French, after a sharp Engagement defeated them, and pursuing his Victory burnt 15 of their best Ships. To make amends for this loss, the King of France who had laid Siege to Namur, and posted the Marshal de Luxemburg with a good Army to cover the Siege, made himself Master of that important place, for tho' the Confederate Army made a show of attempting to relieve it, the thing in it self was impracticable, and they were forced only to be spectators of their loss. Namur being thus taken, the French encamp'd at Steinkerke, a very advantagious Post, where the Confederate Army ventur'd to attack them by surprize, which at first prov'd successful enough, for the English, who gave the Onset took four Pieces of Cannon, and had they been supported by fresh Troops it is not doubted, but they might have gain'd a compleat Victory. Yet howsoever it hapned they being left to bear all the brunt, and Monsieur Boufflers coming upon them with his fresh Dragoons, they were beaten off with great Slaughter. The Campagne concluded in those parts with the Bombarding of Charleroy by Boufflers and Mental, and taking of Furnes and Dixmude. The first Low Country Action in 1693 was the taking of Huy by the French, after which the Marshal de Luxemburg having, by leaving the French Lines naked, deluded the Confederates so as to send several Thousands of Men to make an Irruption on that side, and then pretending to have a design upon Leige caus'd them to send away as many more to secure that City, and finding now that the Confederate Army, before too strong for him to encounter, was weakned as he desir'd, he turn'd upon them all of a sudden. They on the other side were advantagiously posted between the Villages of Landen and Nerwind where, besides the strength of the place, they had cast up several Intrenchments defended by almost an hundred Pieces of Cannon. Yet Luxemburg would not be disappointed, but after an Attack which lasted near four hours, in which he lost the Flower of his Troops, broke through all those Works, making an incredible slaughter of the Confederates, who where coop'd up with the Enemy in Front, and a River in the Rear, which swallow'd some thousands, besides the vast numbers that fell by the Sword. Besides the other advantages, the French took above 80 Pieces of Cannon, and no less number of Colours and Standards. In Germany, Heidelberg was taken plunder'd and burnt. In Piedmont after the Duke of Savoy had in vain besieg'd Pignerol, his Army was routed near a place call'd La Marsaille, with a great slaughter. Nor was Catalonia able to oppose the French, who there made themselves Masters of Roses. In Flanders the Campaign ended with the taking of Charleroy by the French.

Flanders in the Year 1694 furnish'd very little matter for History, the whole Campaign being spent in marches and Counter-marches without any considerable Action, save that part of the Confederate Army having march'd with great secrecy in order to pass the Schelde between Tournay and Oudenard, Luxemburg, who had intelligence of it, prevented them with such incredible celerity, that the Action was almost look'd upon as naturally impracticable. Catalonia far'd not so well, for there the Marshal de Noailles having forced his passage over the River Ter, routing the Spanish Forces that lay there intrench'd to guard it, soon made himself Master first of Palamos, then of Girona, and lastly of Ostalic. This Summer Admiral Russel came with the English and Dutch Fleets into the Mediterranean, which put a stop to the further progress of the French in Catalonia. The Campaign in 1695 prov'd the most successful to the Confederates of any during the War. Their Army which was very numerous attempted to force the French Lines, and lost many Men before a miserable place call'd Castle Kenock, without gaining an inch of Ground. That design failing, they turn'd off all on a sudden and sat down before Namur; into which place the Marshal de Boufflers had thrown himself with eight Regiments of Dragoons. Prince Vaudemont was left in Flanders with an Army to observe the French, and cover the Siege. Marshal Villeroy made a good march towards the Prince with a much greater Army, and had infallibly cut him off, with all his Men, but that delaying time he slipt his Opportunity, and Prince Vaudemont had leasure to make one of the most honourable Retreats that has been seen this Age. However the French took in Deinse and Dixmude making the Garrisons to the number of 6500 Men, Prisoners of War, for surrendring the latter of which places without firing a Shot, Major Ellenburg was afterwards Beheaded at Gant. Villeroy pursu'd Vaudemont as far as Brussels, threatning to reduce it to Ashes unless security were given given him that the English and Dutch Fleets would no more Bombard the Ports of France to which no Satisfactory Answer being return'd, he executed his Menaces, and in 2. days time with Bombs, and red hot Bullets the wind favouring his design, destroy'd all the best part of that noble City, utterly ruining 5000 Houses, and 14 Churches and Monasteries. Prince Vaudemont, who could not hinder this Desolation, drew off towards Namur, and posted himself so advantagiously, intrenching his Army, that tho' Villeroy thought with 100000 Men to have reliev'd Namur, yet seeing the posture of his Enemy, he durst not undertake it. Boufflers defended the City of Namur 24. days from opening of the Trenches, and having surrendred it, on the 4th of August, retir'd into the Castle, which tho' batter'd with 120 Pieces of Cannon, and 30 Mortars, held out till the beginning of September, when having lost the best of the Garrison in the furious Assaults given by the Besiegers, it Capitulated. Marshal Boufflers marching out with about 4000 Men, was Arrested by way of Reprisal, as was pretended, because the French refus'd to Ransome the Prisoners taken at Deynse and Dixmude. In Catalonia the Spaniards seem'd to be superior to the French, in as much as they besieg'd Castle Folet and Palamos, but the Duke of Vendosme reliev'd both places, notwithstanding the English Fleet had landed 5000 Men to reinforce the Siege of the latter. Nothing of Note was done in Germany, but in Italy, the Confederates had Cazal surrendred to them. Thus we see this Year seem'd to favour the Confederates on all sides, since they gain'd in Flanders and Italy, and were no losers in Catalonia and Germany, which never happen'd before nor after, during the whole course of the War, but this was their happy Year. That which follow'd being 1696, was without any considerable Action in Flanders, for the French had bent their designs against Savoy, where with a powerful Army they sat down before Turin, threatned to destroy all the Mulberry Trees, which are the chief support of the Silk Manufacture, and to expel that Duke the small Remains of his Country. He seeing himself in no condition to withstand so formidable an Enemy, accepted of the advantagious Articles offer'd him by France, and concluded a Peace, by which the Confederates were left at liberty to accept of a Neutrality for Italy, if they thought fit. They refusing the Duke, as had been agreed, join'd his Forces with the French, and laid Siege to Valencia, a Town in the State of Milan; the danger of exposing that Country which they could not defend, made the Confederates at last agree to the Neutrality for Italy, and so the War ended on that side. In Catalonia the Spaniards lay upon the defensive, and being attack'd by the Duke of Vendosme, were worsted; yet was not the advantage so great that he attempted any thing farther, nor was Germany any thing more fruitful in Action. On the 17th of May this Year dyed at Toledo Mary Anne of Austria, Queen Mother of Spain, of a Cancer in her Breast.

We enter upon the Year 1697 famous for the Conclusion of the General Peace. Whilst the Plenipotentiaries treated at Riswick, the War was no less vigourously carry'd on in the Field. The French had three Armies in Flanders, Commanded by the three Marshals, Villeroy, Boufflers and Catinat. The last of these laid Siege to Ath, a strong Town on the confines of Hainault, next to Flanders, secur'd by 8 good Bastions, and other Works, besides the River Dender, that runs through it. The Elector of Bavaria decamp'd from Deinse making a motion, as if he would attempt to relieve the place, but both the other French Armies putting themselves in such a posture as they might easily join, the Duke turn'd back without attempting any thing. The Besiegers with 30 pieces of Cannon levell'd most of the Outworks, made a Breach in the Brussels Gate, and with their Bombs broke the Sluys that kept the Water in the Town Ditch, and lastly having made themselves Masters of a Half Moon, and open'd a Breach of 40 foot in the Wall, the Besieged were forced to Capitulate to prevent a General Assault, and the place was deliver'd upon the 7th of June. The French thought next to have possess'd themselves of Brussels, and the Canal of Vilvorde, but the Confederate Army marching through that City, and entrenching it self both before it, and along the Canal disappointed all their designs, so that nothing more was done, both Parties lying still from that time till the Peace was concluded. Having ended all that is worthy to mention, concerning Flanders, it is time to look towards Catalonia, where the stress of this Year's Action lay. The Duke de Vendosme, who Commanded 35000 in that Country on the 7th of June encamp'd at Badalona, a small Sea Port Town, and having receiv'd all things necessary for his Army from on board the French Squadron, Commanded

Commanded by Count d'Estrees, on the 12th following he fate down before Barcelona. This City built by Barca, a Carthaginian, 200 Years before Christ, has a spacious safe Harbour on the Mediterranean, is large, well fortify'd, and secur'd by a Castle without it, call'd Mont Jovi. It was well built before the Siege, which ruin'd many stately Structures, and the Inhabitants were rich. Into this place the Spaniards put all their Foot, under the Command of the Prince of Hesse Darmstadt. The French open'd their Trenches, and carry'd them on with extraordinary vigour, tho' much retarded by bad Weather, and the continual fire of the Besieg'd. At the same time the French Fleet riding before the Harbour threw in abundance of Bombs. The Garrison made several great Sallies, in which many Men were kill'd on both sides, but yet they were always repuls'd, and had not their intended effect. Yet the Besiegers had no great reason to rejoyce in their Succels, for being too few to enclose the City, it was daily supply'd from the Spanish Army that lay hard by. Vendosme understanding that it was concerted to attack him by way of a general Sally, and from both the Vice Roy's small Camps, resolv'd to prevent them, and therefore leaving a sufficient force to secure his Works he march'd himself with one part of his Army, sending the Sieur d'Usson, with the other in the dead of the night, and surprizing both the Spanish Camps, put all to the rout killing many, and drowning many more, who endeavour'd to fly over the River Lobregat, taking all their Baggage, among which was the Vice Roys, in it a Box with 22000 Pistoles, and 700 Horses and Mules. This Success encourag'd the Besiegers, who sprung two Mines under two Bastions, and lodg'd themselves on them, tho' with the loss of many Men, and having blown up other Mines, and made a considerable Breach, at last the Garrison capitulated to march out the 15th of August in an honourable manner, and be Conducted to Tarragona. It is reported this City cost the French 12000 Men, which indeed seems incredible, but very many dy'd of sickness. The Bombs thrown in by the Fleet had destroy'd above half the Town.

Before we come to the Peace, let us look over into America, to see the last Scene of this War acted. The King of France had sent the Sieur Pointi, with a Squadron, and Orders to join the French Bucaniers, and other Ships he should meet meet in those parts, to attempt the taking of Cartagena, a famous Sea Port Town, on the Coast of America not far from the Isthmus, that joins North and South America. On the 10th of June he came before the place, threw in 30 Bombs, and intending to land 800 Men, was put away by ill Weather, which made him resolve to attack a small Fort call'd Boca Chica, that guarded the mouth of the Harbour, and had it surrendred to him, the Garrison taking Quarter. Having clear'd the Entrance he got into the Harbour, next day landed 600 Bucaniers to invest the place, and follow'd them himself with the rest of the Troops. The Governor upon Summons answering, he would defend the place to the last; Pointi, who had join'd the Bucaniers, took Fort S. James, and planted his Cannon on it to batter the Town. A Breach being made upon a small place call'd Higemana, DuCasse, Governor of Santo Domingo, took it, with two Forts, by Storm. Then the City was Bombarded for 3 days and Capitulated, that the Governor and Inhabitants should march out in an honourable manner with the Goods, Gold and Silver that belong'd to them; that the Silver design'd to be Shipp'd for Spain should belong to the French, who should not touch Churches nor Religious Houses. This Article was not observ'd, nor were the Bucaniers allow'd their equal dividend, as Pointi had promis'd, which caus'd great Complaints against him. The whole Booty was valu'd at 8 Millions of Crowns in Gold and Silver, and 4 Millions in Jewels. Pointi, notwithstanding a strong English Squadron lay in wait for him, baffled it, and got safe home.

These great Successes did not fail of being extoll'd by the French Plenipotentiaries, who had been some time Treating at Reswick with those of the Confederates, in order to an Universal Peace. Both Parties were sufficiently tir'd with the War, and consequently made them inclinable enough to put an end to it, towards which France made the first step, sending Monsieur Callieres into Holland to make the first Overtures, and settle the Preliminaries. This done all Princes and States concern'd sent their Ministers with Full Powers, as did the King of Sweden his, being by common Consent appointed Mediator. The Confederate Plenipotentiaries resided at the Hague, those of France at Delft, two Towns almost equally distant from Reswick, the place pitch'd upon for their their Conferences. To pass by the rest as not to our purpose, the Spanish Ministers were D. Bernardo de Quiros and Count Tirimont. The Congress commenced on the 9th of May, where they all deliver'd their Commissions to the Mediator, and then regulated the Ceremonial. This done they fell to the main Business, and several Accidents obstructing the speedy Conclusion of so weighty a matter, the day assign'd by the French being the 13th of August elaps'd, whereupon they set a further time, which was the 20th of September, for the ultimate term allow'd to Sign the Treaty, which day about midnight the Plenipotentiaries of Spain, England and Holland on the one side, and of France on the other, met at the usual place, and sign'd the Articles agreed upon, allowing the Emperor, and other Princes, till the first of November to come in, as they afterwards did. To pass by other Nations, as not belonging to our purpose, by this Peace the Most Christian King was to restore to his Catholick Majesty, the City of Luxemburg, and Dutchy of that Name with the Country of Chinay, excepting that part which had been yielded up to France by the Treaty of Nimiguen, the Fortress of Charleroy, and Town of Mons, in the Condition they were then. Courtray, and all places taken in the Provinces of Luxemburg, Namur, Brabant, Flanders, &c. according to the List of Reunions produced on his Catholick Majesty's side; as also the City of Barcelona, and Towns of Girona, Roses, &c. in Catalonia, in the condition they were in. Prisoners to be discharg'd gratis on both sides, and Spain to restore the Isle of Ponza in the Mediterranean to the Duke of Parma. This Peace was very acceptable to all People, and therefore extraordinary Demonstrations of Joy were made in all Parts.

The Treaty of Reswick having establish'd an Universal Peace, the few following Years furnish'd but little matter for History, unless we would thrust our selves into the Closets of Princes, to give an account of their Councils, seldom known to Writers, who nevertheless do not doubt very often to publish their own Conjectures, or Imaginations, according as they are dictated either by hatred or affection, imposing them upon the World as certain Truths. The narrow compass of this Work does not require such helps to fill it up, for nothing here can find a place but Actions of the greatest weight, and Accidents of Note. I will therefore conclude conclude with the Death of Charles the 2d King of Spaiⁿ, who having been all his Life time of a weak Constitution, and of late Years had several dangerous Fits, to such a degree that he was often reported to be dead, at last departed this Life at Madrid on the first of November 1700, in the 39th Year of his Age, and 35th of his Reign. Tho' twice marryd, as was mention'd in his Life, he left no Issue, and therefore by his Will appointed Philip, Duke of Anjou, second Son to the Dauphin of France, and Grandson to his eldest Sister, his Universal Heir. In case he dyes without Heirs, then his Younger Brother the Duke of Berry to succeed, and he having no Issue, then Charles Arch-Duke of Austria; and lastly the Duke of Savoy. In pursuance to this Will the said Duke of Anjou was soon after Proclaim'd King in Spain, and in all the other Dominions of Europe, belonging to that Monarchy. His Succession to that Crown being of so late a date, and he but on his way to take possession of his Dominions, it cannot be expected any thing should be said of him; but because very many often mention the multiplicity of Titles us'd by the King of Spain, and have not perfect knowledge of them, I will here set them down under his Name, being all that can as yet be said of him.

Philip the 5th by the Grace of God King of Castile and Leon, of Aragon of the two Sicilies, of Jerusalem, of Portugal, of Navarre, of Granada, of Toledo, of Valencia, of Galicia, of Majorca, of Sevil, of Sardinia, of Cordova, of Corsica, of Murcia, of Faen, of the Algarves, of Algezira, of Gibraltar, of the Canary Islands, of the East and West-Indies, Islands and Continent of the Ocean, Arch Duke of Austria, Duke of Burgundy, Brabant and Milan, Earl of Flanders, Tirol and Barcelona, Lord of Biscay and Molina, &c.

OF THE Dominions of the CROWN

THIS Monarchy is beyond dispute the largest in extent and if we consider the Infinite Wealth, of the West Indies, perhaps the Richest in the World, I will not to swell it to a greater bulk, make any mention of those Dominions, it preserves nothing but the bare Title to, as for instance, Portugal, Burgundy, the seven united Provinces, and many more, which serve to fill up the Number of Titles, but shall mention only those places the King of Spain is now actually possess'd of. Those who are acquainted with the Terrestrial Globe, will easily be convinced that what I say of the vast extent of the Territories of this Crown, is true, tho' others less seen in Geography, many look upon it as Fabulous. The Emperor of China generally esteem'd the greatest Monarch for compass of Dominions, possesses not above as much Land, as all Europe together makes; but the King of Spain, has more than that in America alone, besides sides all his great Dominions in Europe, and some tho' not very large Possessions in Africk and Asia, yet such as are of considerable Value. It is well known, this Monarch has Lands in all the four parts of the World, and therefore the Spaniards say the Sun never sets upon his Dominions. They are too large to be describ'd in so small a Volume, we will here only give the Reader a view of them in the names of the severall Countries with the Arch-bishopricks, Bishopricks, and Universities, in them together with the Number of Towns, as near as Authors have been able to compute, and some hints of Revenues, which are as follows.

In Spain twelve Kingdoms, or large Provinces, which are Castile, Leon, Aragon, Navarre, Catalonia, Galicia, Valencia, Murcia, Biscay, Granada, Andaluzia and Estremadura, wherein there are 16700 Towns, eleven Arch-bishopricks, and 47 Bishopricks, and 14 Universities, The revenues of the Crown out of only these provinces here mention'd, amount to above 28 Millions of Ducats yearly. The Income of the above mention'd Arch-bishopricks, and Bishopricks is above 1900000 Ducats. The Prebendaries, Parishes and other Ecclesiastical Benefices are worth as much more. There are 9000 Monasteries, and in them 70000 Religious Persons. The Estates of the Dukes that are Grandees of Spain are worth, 1990000 Ducats per Ann. those of the Marquesses Grandees 350000 Ducats, those of the Earls Grandees 350000, and those of the Dukes, Marquesses and Earls, who are not Grandees 3150000 Ducats. All these revenues are within Spain, without including the vast incomes, both King and Nobles have from Naples, Sicily, Milan, the West Indies and other parts. The Universities above mention'd, are Sevil, Granada, Santiago, Toledo, Valadolid, Salamanca, Alcala de Henares, Siguenca, Valencia, Lerida, Huesca, Zaragoza, Tudela, and Ossuna.

In the Mediterranean 44 Islands Inhabited, besides many that are not, the Principal of these Sicily, where are 3 Arch-bishops, 9 Bishops, 7 Princes, 4 Dukes, 13 Marquesses, 14 Earls, 1 Viscount, and 48 Barons. Two Universities Palermo and Catania, and the revenue worth near a Million of Ducats. In Sardinia one Arch-bishop, and 7 Bishops, the first of Caller, the others of Oristan, Fasa, S. Justa.

Fusta, Bosa, Ampurias, Algacer, and Ales. In Majorca three Cities, one Bishoprick, one University, and 120 Villages.

In Italy the Kingdom of Naples, divided into 12 Provinces, containing 2014 Towns, of which 148 are Cities, 20 Arch-bishopricks, 127 Bishopricks, 13 Principalities, 24 Dukedoms, 25 Marquifates, 90 Earldoms, and 800 Baronies. Some of these Noblemen so great that the Prince of Bisignano is said to have 100000 pounds per An. and those of Salerno and S. Severino not much less. There are two Universities Naples and Salerno. The Revenue 2 Millions and a half of Crowns.

Milan, where are 9 Cities, 281 Towns, 1 Arch-bishoprick, 6 Bishopricks and two Universities, which last are Milan and Pavia. The revenue is 800000 Ducats. Besides this the King has on that Coast Finall, Portohercules, Piombino, and the Island of Elbe.

In the low Countries part of Brabant, Flanders, Limburg, Guelderland, Artow, Hainault, and Luxemburg, where are several Cities of note besides many Towns scarce inferior to Cities, and an infinite number of Villages.

In Africk, on the Coast Mazalquivir, Oran, Penon, Melilla and Ceuta. The Canary Islands being seven in Number, call'd Lancarote, Fuerteventura, Gran Canaria, Tenerife, Gomera, Palma, and Hierro.

In Asia the Philippine Islands, which with others between them and new Spain, all possess'd by Spaniards are above 200, but the cheifest of them all is Lucon, which tho' not broad is 200 Leagues in length. On it is built a good City call'd Manila, upon a noble River, at the Mouth of which is a strong Fortress, and on the other side the River an indifferent Town. All these Islands produce Gold, Cinnamon and other rich Commodities.

In America so call'd of Americus Vespucius, there are so many Islands on the North Sea, that the Number was never yet known. Those call'd Lucayes, are many and large that of S. John de Puerto rico, about 80 Leagues in length, and 20 in bredth, Cuba 300 Leagues in length, and 30 in bredth, Hispaniola above 500 Leagues in compass.

The Continent of America, is divided into two vast Peninsulas, link'd together by a small Neck of Land, but 18 Leagues

Leagues over- The Northern Peninsula is call'd New Spain, the proper Name given to one part of it, and the Southern Peru of another Province contain'd in it. The Northern bounds of the first, are not yet discover'd, but the Ocean washes the East and West sides, as far as is known. The parts of it belonging to the Crown of Spain, are Mexico, or New Spain, where are the Provinces of Tlaxcala, Guaxaca, Mechoacan, Zacatula, Colima, Yucatan, Tabasco, Tutepeque, and Zapotecas, West of Mexico the Kingdom of new Galicia, in which are these provinces, Xalisco, Xacatecas, Chiametla, Culiacan, New Biscay and Cinaloa, North of these is New Mexico, West of which lies the vast Island of California. South of Yucatan, lye the Provinces of Chiapa, Soconusco, Verapaz, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costarica, and Veragua, which last reaches to the narrow neck that joins this to

The South Peninsula, which is all encompass'd with the Sea except only where this Isthmus joins it to the continent, the Provinces here, are Carthagena, and S. Martha, otherwise call'd the new Kingdom of Granada, Venezuela, New Andalusia, or Guayana, these towards the Northern Ocean. More up the Inland Popoyan, New Estremadura, and Quito. On the South Sea, Quixos, Canela, Passamoros, and Gualsongo, South of which is that properly call'd Peru, from which the whole Peninsula takes Name. Then follow Charcas, Tucuman, Sta. Cruz de la Sierra the Kingdom of Chile, and East of them the Provinces of Rio de la Plata and Paraguay. In these Western Countries there are 6 Arch-bishopricks, and 31 Bishopricks, with which we will conclude this Summary, the intended Brevity, not allowing to Launch further into particulars of his vast Monarchy.
