SMALL GIFTS ARE ASKED FOR REPUBLICAN DEFICIT

Will Hays Wins His Fight Against Large Contributions.

States He Is Not Looking for Any Public Office.

May Become Senator When the Next Indiana Vacancy Occurs.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Will Hays has carried the point. The deficit of $1,000,000 incurred in the Republican national campaign in the last collection will be collected from small subscribers and there will be a $1,000 limit to the amount that can be accepted.

Mr. Hays has been successful in favoring all contributions on the ground that it is the duty of the party to place its successful candidate under no embarrassing obligations. The campaign for 1920 will soon be begun. It is a fact that Mr. Hays could have done it in two weeks' time had he had the united support of the party in the national committee when he favored collecting the deficit in exactly the same way as an election fund (thousands were raised).

Mr. Hays has a national chairman and his opponents and Will Hays is no exception. But the record of the Republican national chairman in the campaign has been such that no matter what critics may say, his friends are confident he will carry the day. The national chairman has been in the line of President-elect Harding. The national chairman has been in the line of President-elect Harding.

OPPOSED BY DRY AGENTS

Object to Reissuing of Permits to Wholesale Liquor Dealers.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Prohibition leaders today protested to the government enforcement officers against the reissuing of permits to wholesale liquor dealers to handle intoxicating liquors. The claim was made by Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, that issuance of the permits to liquor dealers would be tantamount to a wholesale of liquor to the public.

Mr. Wheeler appealed to the prohibition office not to grant renewal of permits, asserting that the permits would be used to divert liquor to beverage use.

Mr. Wheeler insisted issuance of the permits was in violation of the Volstead act, "prevent the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage." He declared abuse of the privileges conveyed by the permits was common and consumption of liquor as a beverage was increased thereby.

ENCOURAGED ME TO GO

"THIS I FORTUNATELY DID"

CHARLES GRAMBERG.

I enclose herewith my picture and letter to be published for the purpose of informing those who are in need of proper assistance as to where they may obtain it.

It is well known that influenza made people sick and that it left many of them with other ailments in some form or another. I had an attack of the flu which developed into pneumonia leaving my lungs in bad shape. I was in the hospital under the care of a physician for four months, during which time I suffered much pain and was wholly confined to bed. As is the habit of physicians, I was operated on, though very weak, without an anesthetic, with the hope of curing me. When the doctors heard that I was about to die on their hands last April, they had me discharged from the hospital. I was so weak that I could hardly walk, so I went to live with one of my friends who would take care of me. Then for many weeks I was under the care of a doctor, taking his medicines without any results. About six weeks ago, I was about to consult another doctor, because my condition became very critical. It just happened that I saw a man who spoke very highly of Dr. Wentworth and he encouraged me to go and see him. This I fortunately did. When I consulted him, he took me to his home and he showed me some letters from Dr. Wentworth. I weighed 115 pounds, although I am six feet tall and of a matured age. From the very first treatment I observed relief. I was further consoled and encouraged when I had a whole night's rest. I was to my taking Dr. Wentworth's treatments would not rest, restlessly in bed all night long, not getting any sleep at all. After taking treatments for two weeks I began to feel very well. I was able to eat anything I wished, I slept well, nights and it was a pleasure to live again. I have now been under the care of Dr. Wentworth for six weeks and during this time I have become a normal, healthy man. I do not feel that I have from now have any of my former suffering, but to make sure that I am entirely well I am going to take a few more treatments. I believe that not many have suffered as much as I have, yet Dr. Wentworth was able to cure me. He uses no medicines, nor does he perform any operation. Therefore, to all of you who are suffering, I recommend that the shortest road to recovery is to submit yourself to his care. He cured me and I'm sure that he can cure you.

CHARLES GRAMBERG, Box 476, Gilbert, Minn.

The above letter speaks for itself. Charles Gramberg, knowing that Dr. Wentworth publishes testimonial letters, sent it unolicited out of a true spirit of gratitude—a kindly desire on his part to help others find relief. Nothing more need be said, except that the health specialist, does not charge anything for a consultation, no to him, no matter what sickness you may have, he will tell you frankly if you can be cured.

of the American Federation of Labor concluded its work here last night without making any formal announcement as to what had been accomplished during its two weeks of discussion.

Although members of the council, including the president of the Federation, were disinclined to talk of proceedings in the executive sessions, it is known that certain programs were discussed which by common consent will practically become policies of the organization. These include what was described as a healthy stand against radicalism within organized labor, and for a change restriction of immigration.

There was also an almost unanimous agreement among the labor heads, it is understood, for closer co-operation between labor and industrial engineers. In this labor leaders believed they were accomplishing the dual purpose of eliminating waste and inefficiency and creating an atmosphere which would foster greater production. The council was said to have made plain in its discussions its realization of world needs in this respect, and members of the council held that labor's conduct should be such that no blame for low output could attach to the workers.

Plan Conference. It was said that council members had planned a series of conferences with industrial experts looking to the establishment of a co-operation which many deem invaluable. Some such conferences have been held during the last year, including that with Herbert Hoover, former Federal food administrator, who met here with the council early this week. Mr. Compers was represented as being highly pleased with the results of the Hoover and other conferences and having expressed a desire to continue them.

The plea was made in council sessions here on more than one occasion. It was said that labor leaders employ every effort to clear their attitude of suspicion, which some leaders held had attached to labor's position when seeking relief from the belief that it might handicap labor in seeking the advice of industrial experts as the labor program developed was said to have been expressed.

Legislation to be urged on congress was discussed by the council, but the nature of these plans were not disclosed. It was reported, however, that Mr. Compers or his aides would appear before congressional committees during the coming session.

FEDERAL LAND BANKS IN GOOD CONDITION

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 20.—Although the Federal land banks have been represented by court action from making loans for almost a year, they are in better position and making larger dividends than ever before, declared E. C. Quamme, St. Paul, president of the St. Paul Federal land bank, at the annual meeting of the North Dakota local land bank association here yesterday.

The land bank paid 8 per cent dividend on stock in 1919 and 1920, and will pay 12 per cent in 1921. Mr. Quamme said that the banks are reducing their interest. These earnings will reduce the interest to close to 5 per cent next year.

Mr. Quamme predicted a decision in December or January by the United States supreme court on the case attacking the constitutionality of the land bank law.

BADGER CHIPPEWAS ARE HEAVY BONDHOLDERS

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald).—One hundred and nine dollars worth of Liberty bonds were sent from the Ashland Indian office this week to Washington to be transferred for new bonds bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest. Indian Agent P. S. Everest is custodian of bonds bought by the Indians amounting to $28,000. Some of these, including $20,000 worth of Liberty bonds bearing 4 per cent interest, no single class of citizens bought bonds during the war to the extent of the Chippewa Indians. Many of them spent every cent they could spare buying bonds. It was the eleventh hour purchase of these Northern Wisconsin Chippewas that put the Ninth Federal reserve district over the top, putting it in first place as compared with every district in the United States.

CHARGES AGAINST GRANGER SUSTAINED

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—Four of the eight charges against William Bouck, master of the Washington State grange were sustained by a vote of the national grange late yesterday. The penalty voted by the grange was an apology to be made by Bouck and a reprimand for his alleged disloyalty to the national grange and for permitting politics to be introduced at grange sessions. Bouck, who has been known as a leader of the radical element in the grange, was the unsuccessful candidate of the Farmer-Labor party for congress in the Second Washington district at this year's election. The charges were brought against him by the members of Pomona Grange 19, Yakima county, Washington. They were considered by the committee in claims and grievances of the national grange, which heard representatives of Bouck and of the complainants. The committee's report was submitted and its ratification brought to a close the fifty-fourth national grange assembly.

Plan Close Co-operation With Industrial Engineers to Eliminate Waste.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The executive council

ENCOURAGED ME TO GO

"THIS I FORTUNATELY DID"

CHARLES GRAMBERG.

I enclose herewith my picture and letter to be published for the purpose of informing those who are in need of proper assistance as to where they may obtain it.

It is well known that influenza made me quite sick and that it left many of them with other ailments in some form or another. I had an attack of the flu which developed into pneumonia, leaving my lungs in bad shape.

It was in the hospital under the care of a physician for four months, during which time I suffered much pain and was wholly confined to bed. As is the habit of physicians, I was operated on, though very weak, without an anesthetic with the hope of curing me. When the doctors figured that I was about to die on their hands last April, they had me discharged from the hospital. I was so weak that I could hardly walk, so I went to live with one of my friends who would take care of me.

Then for many weeks I was under the care of a doctor, taking his medicines without any result. About six weeks ago I was about to consult another doctor, because my condition became very critical. It just happened that I saw a man who spoke very highly of Dr. Westworth and he encouraged me to go and see him. This I fortunately did.

When I commenced to take treatment from Dr. Westworth I weighed 115 pounds, although I am six feet tall and of a matured age. From the very first treatment I observed relief. I was further consoled and encouraged when I had a whole night's rest. Previous to my taking Dr. Westworth's treatment I would roll about restlessly in bed all night long, not getting any sleep at all. After taking treatments for two weeks I began to feel very well; I was able to eat anything I wished, I slept well nights and it was a pleasure to live again. I have now been under the care of Dr. Westworth for six weeks and during this time I have become a normal, healthy man. I do not feel the effects from nor have any of my former suffering, but to make sure that I am entirely well I am going to take a few more treatments. I believe that not many have suffered as much as I have, yet Dr. Westworth was able to cure me. He uses no medicines, nor does he perform any operations. Therefore, to all of you who are suffering, I recommend that the short road to recovery is to submit your case to Dr. Westworth. He cured me and I'm sure that he can cure you, too.

CHARLES GRAMBERG, Box 475, Gilbert, Minn.
The above letter speaks for itself. Charles Gramberg, knowing that Dr. Westworth publishes testimonial letters, sent it unsolicited out of a true spirit of gratitude—a kindly desire on his part to help others find relief. Nothing more need be said, except that of the American Federation of Labor concluded its work here last night without making any formal announcement as to what had been accomplished during the two weeks of discussion. Although members of the council, including President Gompers of the federation, were permitted to take part in the executive sessions, it is known that certain programs were discussed which by common consent will practically become policies of the organization. These include what was described as a healthy stand against radicalism within organized labor and for sharp restriction of immigration. There was also an almost unanimous agreement among the labor heads, it is understood, for closer co-operation between labor and industrial engineers. In this labor leaders believed they were accomplishing the dual purpose of eliminating waste and inefficiency and creating an atmosphere which would foster greater production. The council was said to have made plain in its discussions its realization of world peace in this respect, and members of the council held that labor's conduct should be such that no blame for low output could attach to the workers.

DR. WESTWORTH the health specialist, does not charge anything for a consultation. Go to him, to all of you who are suffering, and he will tell you frankly if you can be cured.

Plan Conferences. It was members had planned a series of conferences with industrial experts looking to gradual establishment of a co-operation which many deem invaluable. Some such conferences have been held during the last year, including that with Herbert Hoover, former Federal food administrator, who met here with the council early this week. Mr. Gompers was represented as being highly pleased with the results of the Hoover and other conferences and having expressed a desire to continue them.

The plea was made in council sessions here on more than one occasion. It was said that labor leaders employ every effort to clear their attitude of suspicion which some leaders held attached to labor's position when seeking reforms. The belief that this might handicap labor, seeking the advice of industrial experts as the labor program is developed was said to have been pressed.

Unqualified support is said to have been given by the council to the plan, within and without organized labor, as voiced by President Gompers and President Wolf.

Legislation to be urged on congress was discussed by the council, but the nature of these plans were not disclosed. It was regarded as certain, however, that Mr. Gompers or his aides would appear before congressional committees during the coming session.

FEDERAL LAND BANKS IN GOOD CONDITION

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 20.—Although the Federal land banks have been presented by court action from making loans for almost a year, they are in better position and making larger dividends than ever before, declared E. C. Quamme, St. Paul, president of the St. Paul Federal land bank, at the annual meeting of the North Dakota local land bank association officials in Fargo yesterday.

The land bank paid 6 per cent dividend on stock in 1919 and 1920, and will pay 12 per cent in 1921, Quamme promised. Each borrower subscribers to the bank pay to the amount of 6 per cent of his loan. The dividend is paid to him and applies to reducing his interest. Those earnings will reduce the interest to close to 5 per cent next year.

Mr. Quamme predicted a decision in December or January by the United States supreme court on the case attacking the constitutionality of the land bank law.

THANKSGIVING CANATTA TO BE SUNG AT TRINITY CATHEDRAL

Yellow chrysanthemums were used effectively last evening when the congregation of the First Methodist church participated in a recitation in the church parlors for the school teachers of the city. A delightful musical program arranged by Mrs. W. H. Lockyer was given. Miss Dorothy Culkin, soprano, accompanied by Miss Lorena Ottomano, sang a group of pleasing numbers and an encore gave Godman's "At Dinnings" which was very well received. Alice Anderson, tenor, who sang several selections, was a welcome addition to the program. Miss Long Penland was Mr. Anderson's accompanist. Among those who were received were Judge and Mrs. Lander, Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith and Mrs. Thomas Martin and Miss Moore. Pink roses decorated the table where Mrs. Josselyn Wood presided over the punch bowl. ## PLANS OUTLINED FOR FEDERATION

General Federation of Women's Clubs to Have Library.

The first work of the new administration will be to complete the 1920-1921 directory for the second year. To build up a helpful reference library suggested by a clipping bureau; the third will be to establish with other national organizations and governmental departments, in some way, a personal communication with state and individual clubs throughout the country.

Mr. L. H. Hafford, new director of headquarters, says:

"My first work will be to finish the directory. The real task comes in forwarding and getting the clubs receiving the material and whipping it into shape for publication and then, proceeding states are holding state conventions this fall and all that has to be set to be collected. The directories will be printed in Chicago but will be distributed from the Washington office. We will not go to press until all of the November conventions have been held.

"I wish to urge each club to send in data needed if this has not been forwarded and send in all obvious changes which may have occurred since a report sent in the early fall. I also urge that clubs forward to headquarters at once a copy of their year book or program, as these help in the small, inexperienced club in planning programs and in revising constitutions.

"Club Papers Acceptable. Papers which would be of assistance to those removed from it will as clubs from suggestions on up-to-date club subjects. I hope to build up a helpful reference library, and later on I shall appeal to state federations and individual clubs to recognize the importance of their member headquarters in some way, by donations of books or money.

"Mrs. Thomas C. Winter has prepared national headquarters with a copy of 'Who's Who' and has prepared other reference books for the general federation reference library.

"There are doubtless many women who are anxious to follow Mrs. Winter's example if they know how. Little we have to work with and how urgent our needs are."

To Form Clipping Bureau.

The department of literature and library extension membership of the District of Columbia federation has promised to form a clipping bureau to club women, the clippings to be filed and catalogued according to subjects, where they will be accessible to all clubs or club women. The magazine from which the clippings will be taken will be contributed by the club women of Washington.

WAGE SCALE DISCUSSED

Employers and Others Give Views Regarding Change in State Law.

Should Minnesota's present minimum wage of $11 for women, established in August, 1919, be raised to meet increased living costs, and if so, to what figure?

These and other questions, affecting wage scales and living costs, were discussed at a public hearing conducted last night at the Commercial club by members of the Minnesota Minimum Wage Commission, which is investigating the question preliminary to establishing a new minimum wage for the state, if conditions, in the judgment of the commission, warrant it.

Well Of all Things you Say

that Forbidden Fruit

ing the question preliminary to establishing a new minimum wage for the state, if conditions, in the judgment of the commission, warrant it.

Mostly Employers Present.

About seventy-five people, most of them employers, attended the conference. The working girls were well represented, however, their views being presented by Miss Amy J. Pagudas, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and John E. Jensen, secretary of the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly.

E. A. Silberstein of the Silberstein & Bondy company was the first to open the discussion. He took the position that the commission should go slow in making any large increase in the present minimum wage and that they should be governed only by facts in making up their mind.

"We believe that an increase in the minimum wage is required, due to the increase in the cost of living since 1919," said Mr. Silberstein. "The present minimum wage of $11 is probably a little low. According to the report of the national industrial commission, living costs have increased exactly 17.2 percent from August, 1919, to October, 1920. If the commission wants to be fair to all concerned, the present minimum wage should not be increased more than 17.2 percent, which would make the minimum $12.82. That is, in a matter of fact, however, prices and living costs are coming down. The minimum wage should be based on the standard of living at the present time and we believe that this should not exceed 17.2 percent."

Mr. Silberstein stated that a survey of the employment and wage situation in five of the largest department stores of the city showed that less than 6 percent of the employees were receiving wages less than $12 a week. The law provides that the commission may change the minimum wage when it shall appear that more than one-sixth of the employees in any line of work are shown to be receiving less than a living wage.

In one 10-cent store, which has 123 employees, $13 is the average wage paid and $12 is the lowest and $12 the highest. Mr. Silberstein said. The records of the girls employed in the five largest stores are living at home and do not have the expenses of a girl who is boarding.

Miss Pagudas of the Y. W. C. A. submitted some figures from three types of working girls. Her figures tended to show that few working girls do not live up to their income. The first case cited was that of a girl in a clerical position. She receives $30 a month and spends it all but $6.50. She says $12 a month for her board and room. The second case was that of a girl employed as a saleslady in one of the local stores. She receives $40 a month and saves nothing. Her board and room cost her $25 a month. She sleeps on aavenport in a sitting room to get it at that price. The third case, a factory girl, would make an average of $5.16 a week for clothing, which is higher than has been set by Miss Eliza P. Evans, secretary of the commission, who figures that $3.25 a week is the best that can be expected for clothing in the present prices.

ing the question preliminary to establishing a new minimum wage for the state, if conditions, in the judgment of the commission, warrant it.

Mostly Employers Present.

About seventy-five people, most of them employers, attended the conference. The working girls were well represented, however, their views being presented by Miss Amy J. Fagin, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and John E. Jensen, secretary of the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly.

E. A. Silberstein of the Silberstein & Bondy company was the first to open the discussion. He took the position that the commission should go slow in making any large increase in the present minimum wage, and that they should be governed only by facts in making up their mind.

Advocate Increase Necessary.

"I believe that an increase in the minimum wage is required, due to the increase in the cost of living since 1919," said Mr. Silberstein. "The present minimum wage of $11 is probably a little low. According to the report of the national industrial commission, living costs have increased nearly 17.5 percent from August, 1919, to October, 1920. If the commission wants to be fair to all workers, the present minimum wage should not be increased more than 17.5 per cent, which would make the minimum $12.87. That is taking for granted of course that the present cost of living prevails. As a matter of fact, however, prices and living costs are coming down. The minimum wage should be based on the standard of living at the present time and we believe that this should not exceed 17.5 per cent."

Propose Great Minimum Wage.

Mr. Silberstein stated that a survey of the employment and wage situation in five of the largest department stores of the city showed that less than 6 per cent of the employees were receiving wages less than $12 a week. The law provides that the commission may change the minimum wage, and that he shall appear that more than one-sixth of the employees in any line of work are shown to be receiving less than a living wage.

In one percent store, which has 125 employees, $15 is the average wage paid and $16 is the lowest and $22 the highest. Mr. Silberstein said. The records further showed, he said, that 90 per cent of the girls employed in the five largest stores are living at home and do not have the expenses of a girl who is boarding.

Miss Fagin's Figures.

Miss Fagin of the Y. W. C. A. submitted some figures from three types of working girls. Her figures tended to show that few working girls do not live up to their income. The first case cited was that of a girl in a clerical position. She receives $30 a month and spends it all but $6.50. She pays $2 a month for her board and room. The second case was that of a girl employed on a salivatory in the local stores. She receives $64.50 a month and saves nothing. Her board and room cost her $35 a month and she sleeps on aavenport in a sitting room to get it all but $29.50. The third case, a factory girl, receives $14.75 a week and spends it all but $1.75. She claims. Her board and room cost $10 a week.

Board and Room $10.

According to Miss Fagin the average cost of board and room is $10 a week. As to clothing requirements she submitted a budget of one working girl which placed the figure at $26 for a year and the list did not include toilet articles or linings or anything except bare necessities. This would make an average of a week for clothing, $2.17. The list also included a hat, which is higher than a week for clothing, $2.17. # PLANS FOR RED CROSS SUNDAY

Alpits to Send Out Appeal; Glowing Reports From Campaign Workers.

Tomorrow is Red Cross Sunday. Not only in Duluth but in many other cities throughout the country, the work of the Red Cross in peace as well as in war will be the burden of the public message. The Armistice day-to-day campaign has been a success. The membership of the organization has reached its height. In every section of the country there are coming in glowing reports of the success of the campaign and the number of new memberships that are being received.

Not Fund Campaign.

One of the features of the Red Cross work that is to be particularly pointed out to the congregations of the various churches tomorrow is the fact that the present campaign is not a campaign for funds. It is a campaign for membership. It is a campaign to get more people into the Red Cross. The purpose of the peace campaign is to give a real object to the work. As the armistice day-to-day campaign has shown, it is absolutely essential in the work of carrying out the plans that have been made for assisting in the public health work of the country, that a large membership should be obtained. It is also essential to make such a membership as will insure the success of the work.

Red Cross Needed Here.

There is no section of the country that has a more definite reason for being ready to do Red Cross work than the section served by the Duluth chapter, said chairman W. A. McQuinn.

today. "Since the Baudette fire, we have realized just what the Red Cross means to this community. We don't know when the disaster will strike us. It could be today. We are ready for it when it comes. This last fall, when forest fires threatened us, the Red Cross was ready with both men and women and supplies. We want to keep always ready. That is why we need a large membership here. We have had as high as 50,000 members in the Duluth chapter. That is a wonderful record that we are all proud of. Let us continue the good work."

SMALL GIFTS ARE ASKED FOR REPUBLICAN DEFICIT

been built up during the last two years. When Senator Harding was nominated, these were those who thought he would select his pre-convention manager, Harry Daugherty, to be the national chairman, but Mr. Harding didn't. And in the work at headquarters Mr. Daugherty and Mr. Hays have grown to be intimate friends. Unusually close the three will be working together in the future. Mr. Daugherty has been commended by Mr. Hays for his position in the cabinet.

Would Reward Faithful.

It must not be forgotten that Warren Harding is a party man and that he believes in rewarding the faithful. It is hardly to be doubted that Mr. Hays is the last man in public life who could be accused of political ingratitude. Whether Mr. Hays would accept a cabinet position is for the moment irrelevant but that the man who has been in charge of the largest Republican campaign in history will be offered a portfolio is hardly to be doubted. Republican presidents have usually taken their political advisers of campaign days into the cabinet to help them in the many tangled of politics that come up during the administration. Frank H. Hitchcock and George B. Cortelyou are conspicuous examples of this tendency in recent years. Mr. Hays could have been governor of Indiana this year, but he preferred to continue the work of national Republicanism. He may be next secretary of the party, which is the highest in the cabinet or coming for the time being at the head of the Republican national committee.

President-elect Harding is satisfied with Mr. Hays' work and has no objection to Mr. Hays' continuing to be in the cabinet at the look and call of the president-elect during the inauguration period.

Season Near Close.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald)—Regardless of future weather, the ice season will soon close. Freight delayed shipments during the last ten days vessels in some cases having been obliged to wait a week before being able to get cargoes. The fact that the capacity of the North-western ports will be enlarged this winter, shows that next season will be heavier than this.

OLGA ABRAM ASKS DIVORCE AND MANY OTHER THINGS

Olga Abram began suit today in district court for a divorce from Michael Abram, to whom she was married on Jan. 28, 1906. Cruelty is charged. Mrs. Abram asks for the custody of the two children, an order restraining Abram from withdrawing funds which he has now on deposit in the State bank of Perham or the Riverside State bank, and for alimony.

Mrs. Abram charges that her husband is so stingy and penurious that he refused to furnish proper medical care and attention for her and her children when needed. She also charges that he has habitually found fault and scolded her. She alleges that he has about $4,000 on deposit in the bank at Perham and $1,500 in the Riverside State bank here. Both banks are joined as defendants in the divorce action.

Patrick J. Welch was ordered by Judge Cant this morning to pay his wife, Esther Welch, $12 a week temporary alimony, $50 attorney fees and to refrain from visiting her pending the final outcome of their divorce case.

STORM WARNINGS ORDERED UP FOR LAKE SUPERIOR

Northeast storm warnings were ordered up at 10 o'clock this morning on Lake Superior and on Upper Lakes Michigan and Huron. There will be northeast winds today, tonight and Sunday, accompanied by rain or snow.

In view of the fact that storm warnings are never ordered up except when the wind is expected to reach a velocity of at least forty miles an hour, gale weather is forecast.

The temperature will remain about the same as it has been.

RECEIVE THEIR DISCHARGES MONDAY

More than 400 members of the Minnesota naval militia, who served during the war, will receive their discharges Monday night at the New Army. At the same time Capt. Guy A. Eaton, commander of the Minnesota district, will outline the unusual advantages now offered for re-enrollments in the naval reserve force. All other men now in the naval reserve are also asked to attend.

By a special order received today these advantages will include an opportunity for possibly twenty Duluth men to accompany the Atlantic fleet in its cruise around South America from Jan. 5 to April 30, 1921. Naval reservists who desire to make application will have the details of the proposition explained to them at the meeting.

It is Capt. Eaton's plan to organize a naval reserve force here that will be as effective as the naval militia developed before the war. Meetings will be held regularly. Men who enlist in the reserve force immediately upon receiving their discharges from the militia will get the benefit of an increase of 25 per cent in their gratuity pay, which is received by all naval reservists. The annual pay for members of the reserve is equal to two months' pay for a similar rank in the regular navy.

The re-enrollment period will be four years. Each time that a man re-enlists, 25 per cent is added to his regular pay until the total is 100 per cent more than the original amount.

Men who make the trip with the Atlantic fleet will receive full pay while on duty. Fifty men are to be selected from the Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh districts which includes most of the Northwest states. Duluth is in the Eleventh district which comprises Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Names of applicants will be forwarded to the Great Lakes station for selection by the commandant.

GO TO VENEREAL DISEASE CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON

Two Duluth physicians will leave this evening for Washington, D. C., to attend an all-American conference on venerereal diseases, which will begin there Monday and last for three weeks. They are Dr. E. W. Pabey, Duluth director of public health, and Dr. E. Z. Shaurin, head of the local public venereal clinic.

The conference will be held under auspices of the American Red Cross, the United States departmental medical hygiene board, the United States public health service and the American Social Hygiene association. All phases of venereal disease, medical, social and educational will be discussed. The conference will probably be preliminary to a nation-wide fight on these forms of plague.

MOTOR TO FIT PRESENT FUEL

New Principle Being Used to Eliminate Use of Wet Fuel.

The low grade of fuel now in use has brought about a number of rather serious troubles in the operation of a gasoline motor, especially in the operation of high-speed marine engines. In this type of engine, in order to develop the greatest power at operating speed, a much larger inlet manifold is required than in other types of motors. This increased area of manifold reduces materially the speed of the gas when flowing the motor or running at the operating speed. This decrease in gas speed causes condensation of the water in the manifold and makes it practically impossible to get even gasoline distributed to the cylinders.

Spark plug fouling is another attribute of poor gasoline. Repeated experiments have shown that such fouling in a majority of cases is not due to over-oiling as commonly supposed, but to the presence of wet fuel on the plug.

The third principal result of using present day fuel with present day carburetion methods is the contamination of the lubricating oil by fuel which is not contained in the combustion chamber. This eventually leads to burned out bearings and other serious troubles.

The Van Hiseck engineers have tried out various forms of heated manifolds, but spot manifolds, etc. in the endeavor to take the wet mixture as it comes from the carburetor and turn it into a dry mixture by application of heat before its entrance into the combustion chamber. The experiments conducted were the means of investigating the design and completion of one of the clearest developments in automotive history and is so simple and automatic in its operation as to be perfectly reliable under the most severe tests.

Uses New Principle.

The principle of the Van Hiseck fuelizer is to take advantage of the vacuum existing on the engine side of the throttle at low engine speeds, taking gas from a small carburetor at the side of the main carburetor by means of several small holes located in the manifold above the throttle and inside of a self-closing jacket, passing it through a burner and igniting it by means of a spark plug which is separated from a separate coil in series with the ignition. The flame from this burner ignites the necessary heat at the distribution point of the manifold.

It is very difficult to explain or illustrate how really wonderful this little device works, what a tremendous improvement it makes in the operation of a motor.

It typifies one of the biggest advances you will see in engine equipment and the increasing of engine efficiency, it solves the problem of poor fuel.

WIRE HAIRPINS ARE INVALUABLE

"A box of heavy wire hairpins and still a quarter of a mile away will cover the remaining distance in eighteen seconds. If half a mile away it will reach you in thirty-six seconds."

These figures are offered by R. C. Clancy, safety specialist of the Southern Pacific Railroad, to impress upon the motorist the significance of attending to cross-railroad tracks with a train in sight.

"Motorists should think in terms of time as well as distance. It requires a fraction of a minute to permit a train to pass; on the other hand, eighteen seconds allows too small a margin to escape an accident if in shifting gears the engine stops or stalls during the crossing."

"Forty-six persons were killed, 172 were injured and 132 automobiles were damaged or destroyed at grade crossings struck by trains during the calendar year of 1919," he says. "Two hundred and sixty-six collisions after reaching the danger zone resulted in the death of twenty-one persons and the injury of 144 persons."

"The high price of gasoline in European countries is an important consideration. We found upon arrival in England that gasoline there was selling for 67 cents a gallon while in this country the price was 27 cents. For this reason buyers of pleasure cars and motor trucks are well interested in obtaining the greatest gasoline mileage possible with their vehicles."

"In some of the countries of Europe labor practices the doctrine of 'cash carry' which, in brief, means that the men do as little work as possible. Consequently there isn't the tendency to overwork and speed motor trucks that there is here, which undoubtedly adds to their longevity."

"As a general thing prices of foodstuffs and other commodities were from 10 to 25 per cent higher than in this country although the general business depression which has been experienced here is just coming out of Europe and prices in certain lines were already beginning to tumble. The reduction, however, was not so general as in the United States."

MOTOR TRUCKS MAKING GOOD

Serve in Making Favorable Impression of American Goods.

The thousands of American motor trucks which were dumped in Europe at the close of the war are serving at least one good cause for the American truck manufacturer, in the opinion of W. A. Olen, president of the general manager of the Four Wheel Drive Auto Company, Clintonville, Wis., who has just returned from a two-month tour of Europe studying truck conditions. These trucks are popular in American motor transportation in European countries and are paving the way for the exportation of an increasing number of trucks in the European field in the future, according to Mr. Olen.

"Virtually everywhere I visited I found these old war trucks," says Mr. Olen. "They have been put into shape again and are now in good working order and giving a satisfactory service that promises to reflect favorably in the future sale of motor transportation to these countries."

"They are proving a great advertising medium and are acquainting European buyers with the strength and durability of American trucks. The service they are giving in the hands of consumers is everywhere, as far as I could learn, most satisfactory, and the trucks are building up a bulwark of good will for future business."

"Among our distributors I found everyone enthusiastic over prospects for a healthy business. That there is a large potential market in European countries not only for motor trucks, but a great range of other mechanical equipment, was very obvious. In many instances we saw men powerfully working that in this country is done by machinery. Even the freight that is loaded aboard the steamer at New York by up-to-date conveyors is unloaded by man power on the other side."

CROSSING HAZARD IS TOLD MOTORISTS BY SAFETY EXPERT

"A passenger train approaching and still a quarter of a mile away will cover the remaining distance in eighteen seconds. If half a mile away it will reach you in thirty-six seconds."

These figures are offered by R. C. Clancy, safety specialist of the Southern Pacific Railroad, to impress upon the motorist the significance of attending to cross-railroad tracks with a train in sight.

"Motorists should think in terms of time as well as distance. It requires a fraction of a minute to permit a train to pass; on the other hand, eighteen seconds allows too small a margin to escape an accident if in shifting gears the engine stops or stalls during the crossing."

"Forty-six persons were killed, 172 were injured and 132 automobiles were damaged or destroyed at grade crossings struck by trains during the calendar year of 1919," he says. "Two hundred and sixty-six collisions after reaching the danger zone resulted in the death of twenty-one persons and the injury of 144 persons."

"The high price of gasoline in European countries is an important consideration. We found upon arrival in England that gasoline there was selling for 67 cents a gallon while in this country the price was 27 cents. For this reason buyers of pleasure cars and motor trucks are well interested in obtaining the greatest gasoline mileage possible with their vehicles."

"In some of the countries of Europe labor practices the doctrine of 'cash carry' which, in brief, means that the men do as little work as possible. Consequently there isn't the tendency to overwork and speed motor trucks that there is here, which undoubtedly adds to their longevity."

"As a general thing prices of foodstuffs and other commodities were from 10 to 25 per cent higher than in this country although the general business depression which has been experienced here is just coming out of Europe and prices in certain lines were already beginning to tumble. The reduction, however, was not so general as in the United States."

"That there is real need for the

TELLS OF UNIQUE OVERSEAS GARAGE

"Conceive of an attractive apartment house that has a handsome automobile showroom on the street floor and you will appreciate the setting in which a most unusual service station is operated," says Th. van der Stempel of the firm of Naam Venner Hamin of The Hague.

Mr. van der Stempel is in America for several months studying automotive construction.

"Our group of garages is so well arranged and practical in operation that I believe you good people in the United States will be interested in a brief description," continues Mr. van der Stempel.

"Between the very attractive show windows is a driveway that leads to a spacious paved courtyard. This is directly in the rear of the show windows, and is a concrete structure of brick, each separated from its neighbor by concrete walls. Every garage has his individual key that unlocks a small compartment in front, from which is raised a handle that causes the door to swing up and down. Each garage contains two lockers, a specially made tire rack and a table. Besides a skylight, they have electricity and are steam-heated."

"There is a water faucet at every second garage door. The monthly rental of these garages is forty guilders, equivalent to about $12 in United States gold, for which is guaranteed at least one washing of the car a week and twice when time permits."

"In the main building there are lounging rooms for customers as well as several rooms for the comfort of chauffeurs. Above the show rooms are apartments."

"The cool and dark basement of the main building is used for tire storage, unique trucks being employed, over each of which is a small shelf for boxes of inner tubes that properly belong to the tires on that particular rack."

"For those who do not have home garages, particularly residents of the medium and larger size cities in the United States, this community idea should appeal as it gives car owners a sense of security in having their own individual fireproof garage, rather than storing their cars on a floor with many others which practice so frequently leads to damaged fenders and tires, and other accidents caused by carelessness and where it is hard to fix the blame."

"FLIVVER" AND SWITCH ENGINE COLLIDE; ENGINE GOES TO SHOP

A small automobile of popular make, driven by an alleged intoxicated man, collided with a Santa Fe switch engine with the result that the engine was sent to the repair shop, according to a complaint issued here today at the office of the district attorney. Neither was the driver, W. C. Keever, who was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. Two companions, J. C. and A. C. Moore were taken to the receiving hospital with minor injuries.

CAREFUL DRIVER WATCHES FAN BELT

The proper working of the fan at any engine speed, and hence the suction of the right amount of air to cool the water in the radiator, says Buick, depends solely on the fan belt. It is, therefore, important that the fan belt be kept in good working order.

When installing a fan belt, the first thing to do is to see that the pulleys are in line. This may be determined by placing a straight edge across the face of both pulleys at the same time. If the pulleys are out of their proper place, the upper pulley may easily be adjusted.

By loosening the fan spring tension and allowing the fan to drop to its lowest position, the belt may be worked around the crankshaft pulley. It is always advisable to place the belt in position by hand, never using sharp tools for this purpose.

The next step is to raise the fan until the belt is tight; then turn down the spring tension adjustment. With this done, in order to determine the proper tension on the belt, press on the blades of the fan with the fingers. The fan should turn easily, yet not spin. The spring tension should be adjusted to give this result.

More fan belt trouble results from belts being too tight rather than too loose. A belt that is too tight has a tendency to draw one of the pulleys out of line, causing the belt to run against the flange of the pulley, fraying the edges and at high speeds climbing the flange and destroying itself. With the proper tension on the belt there should be no appreciable wear in either belt or pulley.

Though it may be almost needless to say it here, grease or oil on the fan belt pulleys should be avoided, since either of them is bound to cause slippage and a corresponding decrease in the cooling efficiency of the belt itself. Even the best fan belt will stretch, hence the necessity for occasional examination.

Drama, Vaudeville and Photoplays

By JAMES WATTS.

Theater Attendance Begins to Grow

The pre-election slump in theater attendance seems to have been merely temporary in character, and during the last week patronage has increased steadily. Duluth managers are optimistic over the outlook for business during the winter.

That old motto, "Keep Smiling," is a good one to post up during periods of depression, but there is something more effective than print on a card board. If you want to keep smiling and feel like smiling, go to the theater. A good show is better than poor whiskey, and the theaters are willing to do their bit in making one forget business depression. The Federal reserve banks may avert panics, but the theaters keep right on every day in the year making life more cheerful and rosy. No better proof of this is needed than to refer to the records of the theaters during the late war. The theaters are beginning to be looked upon as a national tonic.

First Class Circus Needed for the Road

With the sale of the Sells-Floto circus this week, the last of the smaller high-class circuses has passed from the management of big men in this end of the amusement game. For years and put into the class of the best, have closed out their holdings to Jerry Mugivan of Denver. Mugivan is owner of the Hagenbeck-Wallace show. The John Robinson shows, the Howes London and the Yankee Robinson circuses.

It is to be regretted that Tammen and Bonifils have quit the circus game. They have been among the leading promoters of clean circus amusement and have given the public the value of their money. In fact, the Sells-Floto shows were the only circuses that offered the Ringling Bros. any real opposition.

The smaller road circuses, clean circuses attractions, and for the few seasons the Ringling Barnum & Bailey shows have played long engagements in New York, Chicago and the larger cities, but have not paid enough attention to the other parts of the country to satisfy residents of the Northwest. It now looks as if it was up to the Ringlings to send out the best Sells-Floto shows or organize a new amusement concern for road showing.

Such men as H. H. Tammen cannot be given too much credit for what they have done for clean amusement. Excessive railway fares have driven many amusement companies to abandon their enterprises and, if relief is not granted soon, only the very largest cities will be given their just dues in amusement.

Etiquette Attracts Notice at Theaters

There is no place where etiquette counts more than at the theaters. Pursuing the up-to-date method of studying people rather than books, the following simple rules have been compiled and are being tried out by a few who would set the styles in manners.

If you find a large, impatient crowd lined up at the box office when you get to the ticket rack, edge around the end of the rail and horn in ahead of the line. Place your hands firmly on either side of the box office window, making your position secure. After you have obtained a pastebord, ask the ticket seller a few trivial questions, holding back the line as long as possible.

When the crowd gets thoroughly incensed, break away, hand your ticket to the doorman and begin talking—that is, if he is open to conversation. Hold your ground at least until the crowd behind you gets nervous again. Then enter the foyer and begin kidding the head usher. If she is sociable, try to shake her up, but if she is too busy, then stop long enough to tell her you will return after the show, otherwise somebody else might ring in ahead of you.

When the usher in the aisle takes you to your seat, engage her in conversation and chat amiably until she shows you your seat. But don't wait for the persons seated to rise and make room for you. Brush right by and step on their corns. If the show is in progress, remain standing a few moments and scan the audience to see if there is anybody present that you know. Then remove your overcoat leisurely, shutting off the view of as many as possible back of your ears, and call on you to sit down, pay no attention to them. They can't start anything in a public place anyway.

When you get seated, stretch a bit, extending your arms to the sides, yawn and stick your gun on the back of the seat ahead of you. Stretch your legs also and stick your feet under the seat ahead. If it's a man in front of you, he probably has his hat under his seat. You no doubt will be able to reach the chapman with one of your feet and push it in the floor where he can use it for a foot rest. If it's a derby you may be able to put a couple of good dents into the crown.

At this time you will be able to pay some attention to the show. If it's a picture, read the subtitles aloud, giving a few audible haws occasionally and then start raving at the orchestra. Let it be known that you have seen the picture in New York or Chicago and that it is an old release sent to the "stick" because it was a flier in the big cities. Speak deprecatively of the show, say it drags and that the cast is rotten. This will help those about you to enjoy it more. If there is any feature especially good, don't applaud. Screen actors can't hear you from the curtain and besides it might divert attention from yourself.

When the show is nearly over, get up and start for the back end of the theater and don't give any warning to the people sitting between you and the aisle.

Stand for a few moments again. Drop something if you can to attract attention, then pick up your overcoat and throw it over your arm, hitting the couple in front of you. If the fellow looks cross, give him the laugh; he can't get over the back of his seat and start anything. Now you can make a bolt for the aisle and stumble over the feet of the folks next to you. Start toward the door, looking back in the mezzanine, and if the usher hasn't made a date she may be waiting for you.

When you get into the lobby outside, speak up loudly and with assurance so that everybody can hear you: "That was the rottenest show I've seen this year."

That remark will make a hit with the manager.

About this time the remainder of the audience will start coming out of the theater, and if you hurry, you can get a booth at the chop suey house before the others have a chance to get in.

COMING WEEK HOLDS FORTH MANY ATTRACTIVE OFFERINGS

Duluth theaters for the coming week will offer some of the biggest and brightest attractions of the season. This is not only true of the vaudeville theaters, but the picture houses as well.

Both the Orpheum and the New Grand are announcing extraordinary features. At the Orpheum, Martin Beck is sending "The Dance Shop," a new feature, and the New Grand will present "The Overseas Revue," the biggest act offered there this season.

"The Dance Shop" has scored a big hit in Orpheum houses, being one of the real successes of the current season. Among the featured artists are Jeanette Hackett and Harry Delmar, who have been popular in vaudeville and musical comedy for several years, and the charming Woods Sisters. Manager Edward Furni believes this turn will prove a winner.

"The Overseas Revue," announced by Manager Chester Sutton of the Grand, is a big-time musical act with twenty people. In fact, it is the biggest act of the season. This revue comes from the Twin Cities, where it has received flattering comments. Except for a few principals the personnel of the cast is made up of pretty girls. The Apache dance, characteristic of the underworld of Paris, will be a prominent feature.

Miss Nazimova will come to the New Garrick the first half of the week in her latest production, a drama of stage life, "Madame Peacock." The last half, Will Rogers in "Honest Hutch" and Johnny Hines in "Torchy Turn-Cupid," will divide honors.

Ever popular Eugene O'Brien at the New Lyric in "A Wonderful Chance" will again cause feminine hearts to flutter. At the New Astor is a program that should give special attention. Sunday and Monday Olive Thomas will be seen in "Darling Mine," dividing honors with Tom Mix in a Western play along with a Torchy comedy.

"The Son of Tarzan" undoubtedly is one of the greatest serials to be presented to the public to date. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the New Astor will show the fourth of this series, "The Sheikh's Revenge." Mary Pickford also will be seen in what is and ever will be her greatest success, "Pollyanna."

Norma Talmadge, ever-popular star, will be featured at the Strand in "The Branded Woman."

George Walsh, who has become so well known for his athletic stunts in pictures, will come to the Zelda in a thrilling Fox film.

"Little Miss Vamp," one of the most pretentious offerings going the rounds of the two-day circuits, this season, will head in at the Duluth Orpheum next week. This is a musical comedy in one act, featuring the Lightner Sisters, Alexander, the Dancing MacDonalds and a beauty chorus. As smart as Old Broadway is what the P. A. claims for this spicy little show.

There is something brewing at the New Garrick, and it looks as if the public was going to get a new treat soon. Manager B. F. Schwie announces that he is putting in equipment for a new stage, and something over $50,000 will be spent on top of what has already been put in. The work will be completed by Jan. 1, in time to start off the winter season with a rush. A huge gridiron of steel construction is being put in, and the stage, when completed, will be one of the largest and most up-to-date at the Head of the Lakes.

The new decorations at the New Grand are complete and the interior is very attractive. The New Astor, also, has been given further improvements.

The New Lyric will have new seats. The seats were ordered some time ago, but shipment was delayed. The new seats are large, comfortable opera chairs, among the finest in the Northwest. These will be installed during hours when the house is dark. The house staff now shows considerable class with new Tuxedo suits.

Sister Stars in Dance Shop

WOOD SISTERS.

These two captivating artists will be featured at the Orpheum next week in "The Dance Shop," one of the most pretentious acts on the two-day circuits. Jeanette Hackett, Harry Delmar and a bevy of dancing beauties will make up the remainder of the cast.

The Show Calendar

ORPHEUM.

The coming bill at the Orpheum, which will open tomorrow afternoon for a week's run, should be an enjoyable one for the season that it appears to be full of action, dancing, singing and other forms of melody. A bill of this kind is always popular, for the two-day patrons seem to like the swing. One particular part of the program, occupied by the headline act, should prove to be unusually popular, for it is regarded as one of the very best dancing acts on the circuit this season. This will consist of Jeanette Hackett and Harry Delmar in "The Dance Shop," assisted by a bunch of comely girls, besides being good to look upon are experts in the foot flickering art. Miss Hackett and Mr. Delmar have been pleasing audiences for quite a number of years now, and they seem to improve as time goes on.

Another team which will feature song, dance, talk and comedy is that of Fenton and Fildes. They are black-chosen specialties. Both men have fine voices and know how to use them. As to the quality of the feet nothing so definite is said, but they know how to use what they have in a way that sets the audience mentally jiggling.

You remember Gus Edwards' school boys and girls, of course. Well, like most of the stars in that catchy show, William Gonne has become a big hit in vaudeville and will be on next week's bill. She is still known as "Sassy Little" and this year, along with Bert Albert, is presenting a musical skill entitled "On Their Way to School."

MUSIC AT THE THEATERS

Pranks of kidhood specialize in the act with a liberal assortment of song, dance and chatter.

Still another classy song and dance act is on the bill. It is by Burke and Betty, of whom the critics have been saying much in the worst praise. They furnish lively tunes and as lively steps. Edward Matzahn, known widely as an illustrator, will present on the coming bill his art in cartoon work, portraits and sketches on the coming act. He does it with his left hand, and is the only southern artist in captivity. It is "Mime." Mr. Matzahn is just completing a tour of the world.

The Four American Aces are a quartet of athletes, who offer sensational, exciting exhibitions. They are claimed to be unusually perfect and each is an expert center.

The three Rogals, attired as village blacksmiths, give a remarkable gymnastic act. Their specialty is balancing on a bar.

Topics of the Day continue to be one of the most entertaining features of the Orpheum bill, and no amount of still holding their popularity. The original programs devised and directed by Mona Michaels are seemingly better than ever.

NEW GARRICK.

Whatever the basic reason may be, the fact remains that the theatergoers of Duluth prefer in Nazimova productions to see this remarkable actress in the worst of roles. The cultivated woman-of-the-world roles. For this reason they are especially fortunate that she has been able to obtain the star, spot-light and the limelight. She is bold enough to leave "The Branded Woman" to the stage, "Madame Peacock" for it brings her to the screen in both of these characters. "Madame Peacock" is the feature of the program opening at the New Garrick tomorrow in connection with the evening symphony concert. This afternoon's added attraction between 2 and 3 o'clock, and a Booth Tarkington comedy, "Edgar Cant Stop."

In the early part of "Madame Peacock" Nazimova is Jane Goring, a woman who married for love only to find her romance less alluring than the life back of the footlights. She is bold enough to leave "The Branded Woman" to the stage, "Madame Peacock" for it brings her to the screen in both of these characters. "Madame Peacock" is the feature of the program opening at the New Garrick tomorrow in connection with the evening symphony concert. This afternoon's added attraction between 2 and 3 o'clock, and a Booth Tarkington comedy, "Edgar Cant Stop."

As striking as the contrast of these two principal characters portrayed by the supreme star is the skill in unfolding the story.

Mary Miles Minter in "Eyes of the Heart" and the Chester comedy, "One Best Foot" will be seen for the last times today.

PAVLOVA AND BALLET RUSSE AT NEW ARMORY JAN. 6

Nearly twice around the world, or a distance equivalent to that, has been traveled by Anna Pavlova. "The Imperial Ballet" was her last visit to the United States three years ago. She went to South America, then to the West Indies, back to Europe, then to Mexico, to Spain, Portugal, France, Belgium, and then to the British Isles. She is making a limited tour of the principal cities of the United States, back to her native land, and her tour to this city under the management of Mrs. Stephen H. Jones Jan. 6 at the Armory.

Among the other performers with the ballet are the following: Marie Olenka, premiere danseuse; Alexander Volinine, premier danseur; Ivan Chusne, maître de ballet; Hilda Butsova, Hubert Stowitsch, Michail Zaleski and other London corps de ballet, with magnificent new and old favorite dances. The orchestra is a specially chosen symphony orchestra conducted by Theodore Siler.

King of Pianists Quits.

Ignace Paderewski, king of pianists, will never play in public again. He is suffering from neuritis in his hands. The piano that he has carried with him on his concert tours is being offered for sale.

Russian Actress in New Role

ALLA NAZIMOVA.

Nazimova, who has scored many successes on the New Garrick screen, will return Sunday in "Madame Peacock," offering new opportunities for this great actress and dancer.

A Rollin comedy, with Snub Pollard, the exceptionally entertaining Screen Magazine, and the Grand News Weekly complete the show which will run for four days, starting tomorrow.

The show which closes tonight is featured by Jonia and her Hawaiians in "A Tropical Serenade." There are four other entraining acts and good pictures.

STRAND.

Oliver D. Bailey's play, "Branded," is coming to the Strand theater, starting Sunday, as a motion picture under the title of "The Branded Woman," and offers Norma Talmadge with a role which demands the utmost in histrionic capabilities. The star extracts a great deal of feeling from the character of Ruth Sawyer, who is forced to go through life with the stigma of her mother's bad name. Circumstances compel Ruth to ward when she accepts the young diplomat. Courtesy for her husband, and this happiness is of short duration since some of her shadows from the past come to haunt her. In the end, however, she is safe from the clouds of this drama. "The Branded Woman" promises Miss Talmadge to express nearly every emotion known to a feminine heart. The picture offers a goodly number of tense situations which develop into a climax of gripping dimensions. There is a good moral established, too, which points out that no truth should be hidden when one takes a partner for life.

Miss Talmadge wears many stunning gowns that will appeal to the feminine patronage. The supporting cast is splendid. There is something fresh and distinctly individual in the work of Percy Marriot as Douglas Courtney. He is a more rugged and manly type than many male leads. George Fawcett supplies an unusually good characterization of the old judge. Gaston Glass smiles his way through the part of William Bolton as attorney, as he completes the show which will run for four days, starting tomorrow.

Perfect Lover on Lyric Screen

EUGENE O'BRIEN.

Mr. O'Brien, who has temporarily quit love-making, returns to the New Lyric curtain today in the role of a red-blooded adventurer in his latest photoplay, "The Wonderful Chance."

Mary as Pollyanna

MARY PICKFORD.

"America's Pollyanna" will return to Duluth in "Pollyanna" next Tuesday, when she will open an engagement at the New Astor.

NEW ASTOR.

Thanksgiving week will be truly a big week at the New Astor with some of the best attractions that that popular house of popular prices has yet offered.

Great audiences have been enjoying Norma Talmadge in "Fifty-Fifty," the feature of the program, which closes this evening. Coming tomorrow for two days is an especially notable line-up of offerings with "Darling Mine," starring Olive Thomas, heading the bill, and including also one of the Sewell Ford Torchy comedies, "Torchy in High," and Tom Mix in a Western thriller, "Saved by His Horse." The story of "Darling Mine" is one of those pleasant things which carries an indelible charm, which carries the trail direct to the star as the orphaned Irish immigrant girl in the bosom of the picture and then as the young actress rising rapidly to fame, with love looking over her shoulder.

Starting Tuesday and continuing through Thanksgiving day the principal attraction will be Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna," now generally admitted the best picture she has made in recent years. In addition the fourth story of the "Sun of Tarzan" series will be shown. It is "The Sheik's Revenge" and is filled with thrills.

For Friday and Saturday Douglas Fairbanks comes in "His Majesty, the American," a picture with all the fun that one could look for in a Fairbanks picture, and all the melodramatic thrills that one might anticipate in a Harold MacGrath story. There will be other attractions.

"Take It From Me"—Plaza.

With a story that is entertaining from the rise of the curtain to the finish and abundant comedy, "Take It From Me," a noted musical success, will be presented at the Plaza theater, Superior, Sunday, Nov. 21.

The authors, Will E. Johnstone, who provided the book, and lyrics, and Will E. Anderson, who furnished the music, have turned out a highly diverting, up-to-date and snappy show, bound to favor, while the cast is excellent throughout. It is said:

Marjorie Sweet, as the vampire prima donna, heads the list of individual hits, and she never sings or recited better than she does in this role. Her vampire dance is an exceedingly clever number.

John Jennings, Richard Mack and Alice Hills provide the laughs of the piece. Among the specialties are the dancing of the Gardner trio with no end of applause. There are the real winks, the big hits, no more graceful and charming dance specialty could be imagined.

The hero of "Take It From Me" is left a large department store, which he

It is all very amusing. Impossible, perhaps! But good for the tired business man. And many and many a tired business man will find his way to "Take It From Me" before it goes down the line of memory.

Mario Nicolson has entirely recovered from an injury to her eyes, caused by being hit by a piece of flying glass in the bomb explosion in New York some weeks ago. She has almost completed dictation for her first book, "Ma and Weens."

Bacon Buys Film Stock.

Frank Bacon, star of "Lightnin'," is one of the principal stockholders of the Better Pictures corporation, which has been granted a charter. The new film concern has a capitalization of $207,000, and has been formed to maintain a clearing house for film productions.

"THE BRANDED WOMAN"

From Oliver T. Bailey's Play "Branded" The Story of a Heaven for Three That Hung on a Thread

The Soul of Purity dragged in the mire of a mother's cynicism—out of the jeweled slough of degradation fought this beautiful girl; into the arms of the man she loved—to find the scarlet shame, the hideous blot of the past, was to be washed away with tears and Faith.

We proudly endorse "The Branded Woman" as the most pretentious Norma Talmadge production ever presented, and one which does honor to Joseph M. Schenck and The Strand.

"THE GROCERY CLERK"

NEW LYRIC.

There are many points of excellence in "The Wonderful Chance," Eugene O'Brien's newest feature, which opens at the New Lyric today, but chief among them is the notable work of the star who has deserted perfect-lover roles to portray that of a crook who would reform and be a gentleman. He makes the characterization so real and appealing that when "Swagger" Barlow tackles "one more job" to help a pal who is ill and in dire need, he wins the sympathy instantly.

H. H. Van Loan has given the story a plot that is intricate and clever, and there is not a moment but what some exciting incident is being enacted. Marked originality is displayed, especially in the incident when the leader of a band of crooks kidnaps an English lord in order that one of them may impersonate him in society, only to discover that another has "beat him to it" and is already masquerading as the nobleman, and "getting away with it."

"Swagger" Barlow, Eugene O'Brien is ideally cast, demonstrating that in spite of roles that have a background of mystery and romance he is at his best. "The Wonderful Chance" has action enough for three photoplays, measured by the ordinary standards, but it all truly belongs to the story, instead of being "dragged in" that the star may perform a few thrilling stunts.

Martha Mansfield is a pretty and delightful leading lady. Others in the cast are Warren Cook, Ida Darling, Joseph Flanagan, Tom Blake, Rudolph De Valentino and others. There will be the usual added attractions including the Lyric News Events and an unusually attractive Outing-Chester scene, "Lovely Moorland." The New Lyric concert orchestra will have a special program. The attraction will be "The Best of Luck," starting Wednesday with special features for Thanksgiving day.

The affair was the fourth annual banquet and was attended by 128 guests, including a few members of the faculty. Orange and white, the girls' club colors, featured the decorations. Streamers were stretched through the third floor hall from which faintly trimmed lights were hung. Candies and baskets of flowers with yellow chrysanthemums were among the table decorations.

FORMER DULUTHIAN TO WED IN TEXAS

HORACE C. ROSS.

Horace C. Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ross, 5230 West Eighth street, and who is a well known football player in the western end of the city, now with the Waldman-Loss Lumber & Grain company of Hull, Texas, will be married Dec. 12 to Mrs. Jessie Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cornwell of Sour Lake, Texas, according to information just received by his parents.

The ceremony will take place at the Baptist church of Sour Lake and the couple will come to Duluth on their wedding trip.

The young man played on the Denfeld high school football team and later on the West Duluth football team. At the outbreak of the war he left with the Third Minnesota and went overseas with the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth field artillery. He was a sergeant in his company at the time of his discharge. Mr. Ross left Duluth a year ago for Hull, Texas, where he became identified with the Waldman-Loss company.

"TEMPEST IN A TEA POT"

Theater Church Has Film Distributors Cited for Contempt.

Contempt proceedings against Max J. Weisfeld, state representative of the Fox Film corporation, and A. Roberts, an employee under Weisfeld, which were conducted before Judge Dancer in district court this morning, furnished a new angle to the legal fight that Samuel J. Bennett, manager of the Theater at West Duluth, is making against the corporation with the Fox Film corporation for furnishing certain pictures for his house.

The trial was made last spring. It contained the stipulation that it might be conducted by either party, either on Jan. 1, 1921, and the fight that is now being made in the courts is to compel the film corporation to furnish the service contracted for during the remainder of the year. In October the Fox corporation notified Bennett that it could furnish no more pictures under the contract.

Injunction Granted. Bennett then applied to the court for an injunction restraining the Fox Film corporation and its local representatives in Minnesota from violating the terms of the contract. Judge Dancer granted the injunction but no pictures were forthcoming, although some features of the "Victory" series mentioned in the contract were furnished to other Duluth theaters under a new series name.

Weisfeld and Roberts appeared in court this morning in response to an order to show cause why they should not be punished for failure to obey the court's order. The proceedings were dismissed as to Roberts, when it appeared that he was merely an employee of the company and unauthorized to exercise any discretion. Judge Dancer took the case against Weisfeld, and adjournment will announce his decision within a few days.

AUTO GLASSES GAIN IN FAVOR

The automobile repair and gymnasium classes are the most popular of the night classes at Denfeld high school, according to M. D. Sutton, principal of the night school at the high school in the western part of the city. Until recently there has always been a waiting list for the automobile classes. The gymnasium classes, which are not limited as to their size like the other classes, have been very well attended. Four women have applied for a woman's class in automobile mechanics and were informed that it would be necessary to interest eleven others to make up the fifteen required in starting any course. The women have not presented themselves in the required number to date. What authorities think is a decidedly healthy note in the night school work is the consistent attendance in the citizenship classes. One hundred and seventy people are enrolled in the Denfeld night school. The courses are offered in citizenship, automobile mechanics, cooking, sewing, millinery, mechanical drawing, commerce and general machine work.

PRETENTIOUS THANKSGIVING PROGRAM AT MORGAN PARK

The boys and girls of the Morgan Park school will give a Thanksgiving program at the school next Tuesday evening. The first number on the program is the only one which was not a part of the Thanksgiving holiday. It is a little playlet, "Snowdrop and the Seven Dwarfs," a delightful tale of childhood, to be given by the 1B grade. The junior high school pupils will offer the dramatic "The First Thanksgiving Dinner." The pupils of the upper grades will put on a pageant written in honor of the tercentenary landing of the Pilgrims. The pageant is an allegorical story written about one John Robinson, a Pilgrim who desired to see America in the future. His wish is granted and he sees the great events of American history enacted before him. The last number on the program is a dramatization of "Hiawatha."

At Kansas City, Mo., we met in the midst of a raging blizzard at a corner where the wild winds whizzed the snow around us until we were almost buried from our feet. He grinned broadly, though his face blazed from the icy kisses of the blast.

HARDING GRANDCHILDREN WHO WILL BE ROMPING IN WHITE HOUSE AFTER MARCH 4

quency associated with beautiful girls and red hair, lived in a dilapidated old homestead with a younger brother and a maiden aunt. At the time of the reader's introduction to this delightful young person she is wracking her brains to devise some plan that will bring in money enough to pay expenses and put the brother in college. As the place was near a city, summer boarders appeared to be the answer to the vexatious question, so an advertisement was sent to the newspapers. Responses were prompt but the results disappointing. While the place was attractively located, the old house was so badly run down and in need of repairs and furnishings that all the prospects took one look and went elsewhere.

It was from one Burton Forbes who stated that he had learned of the advertisement and recognized the name of Miss Kent as an old friend of his father's, and he recalled a happy time he had enjoyed when, as a boy twenty years before, he had passed his vacation at her home. Now he was alone and had just returned from a South American trip suffering with a temporary blindness and very anxious to spend the summer at a quiet place such as she had advertised, until he could recover his health. Would she take him? The remembrance of your benevolent face is my only reason for thinking your answer will be favorable to the applicant.

"He's mistaken me for my great-aunt, who would be nearly 70 if she was alive," said Agatha.

It was too good to miss, not only because it would solve financial difficulties but offered an opportunity for masquerade and diversion that to a girl of Agatha's type was more necessary than money. So in the role of the most-ambitious Agatha took the blind young man as a summer boarder. What happened to the lovable young people involved makes up most wholesome and delicious comedy. It's an unusually entertaining story.

The Lilliputian Reappears.

DELIVERED BY Jonathan Swift, published by J. R. Lindner company, 203 1/2

This delightful old tale of Gulliver's shipwreck on the island of Lilliput, where the Lilliputians were less than six inches high and 1/16th of the emperor's largest horses were required to draw the traveler, is another contribution to the children's classics republished by Lippincott's. Generations of young people and adults as well have enjoyed Swift's lively humor, and that boy or girl who has not read this remarkable adventure has a treat in store. The book contains several handsome illustrations in colors.

Cowboy Tackles the Metropolis.

THE BIG BOW BOBILITY. By William Marlowe. Edited by The Houghton Mifflin Company, $2.

Mr. Rain has written some mighty readable Western stories, but in this new book he reverses the situation and brings a Western cowboy from the sun-drenched desert of Arizona to New York to pit his recklessness and resourcefulness against the toughs and gang men of the metropolis. Clay Lindsay, the Westerner, is, as his publisher put it, "a sure enough go-getter, every jump of the road. The bronco that can't can't hit him, nor the man that can't lick him." With these qualifications, combined with a hair-trigger mind and considerable judgment, Clay waded in to beat at their own game the city dwellers

Edward Everett Hall used to counsel young people to converse every day with some one older, wiser and wiser than themselves. We cannot all do that, but we can do the next best thing: we can get in touch with them through the printed page and enjoy the fruits of their wisdom and experience. Probably no publication contains so much from the writings of men and women distinguished in many ways as the Lippincott's, poetry, facts and fun, Salsaline, novel and review. The Lippincott's, published in 1921, all the remaining issues of 1921, the Companion home-entertainment for 1921, all the above for $2.50.
