AUG 12-1880

A SPECIAL to the Rome Tribune says a terrible rain and thunder storm visited Ozark, Ala., on the evening of the 9th inst., and did a great deal of damage. The Barck Company's large stone warehouse had the roof torn off and side blown down by a terrific gale of wind. A young man bearing the name of Satterfield, of Georgia, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The rain fell in torrents, washing great gullies in the streets.
