FOURTH ASHTAKA.

FIRST ADHYÁYA.

SÚRTA IX. (IX.)

The deity is AGNI; GAYA, of the race of ATRI, is the Rishi; the metre of the fifth and seventh stanzas is Pankti, of the rest Anushtubh.

- 1. Mortals bearing oblations glorify thee, AGNI, the divine: I praise thee, JATAVEDAS, for that thou conveyest successively oblations (to the gods).²
- 2. Agni is the invoker of the gods (on behalf of) him, the donor (of the oblation), the abode (of the fruit of good works), by whom the sacred grass has been strewn; (he) in whom congregate all sacrifices securing food and fame.
 - 3. He (it is) whom the two sticks have engendered

Varga I.

¹ In addition to previous explanations, the name is here said to imply, he whom all know to be identical with all that exists; or, vedas may mean wealth, when it will signify, he from whom all wealth is generated.

like a new-born babe; the supporter of men the descendants of Manu, the fit object of sacrifice.

- 4. Thou art laid hold of with difficulty like the young of tortuously-twining (snakes); thou who art the consumer of many forests, as an animal is of fodder.
- 5. Of whom smoke-emitting, the flames intensely collect; then, when diffused in the three regions² AGNI inflates himself in the firmament, like the blower of a bellows, and sharpens (his flames), as (the fire blazes from the blast) of the blower.³
- 6. By the protections of thee, AGNI, the friend (of all), and by our praises (of thee), may we pass safe from the evil acts of men, as if from malignant (enemies).
- 7. Powerful Agni, bestow upon us the institutors (of pious rites), that wealth (which we desire): may he discomfit (our foes): may he cherish us: may he be ever ready to bestow upon us food: and do thou,⁴ Agni, be present in battles for our success.

⁴ The confusion of the second and third person is that of the original.

SÚKTA X. (X.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Agni, of irresistible prowess, bring to us most powerful treasure; (invest us) with surrounding wealth; mark out the paths to abundance.¹
- 2. Marvellous AGNI, (gratified) by our acts, (produce) in us greatness of vigour: in thee abides the strength destroying evil spirits: thou who art to be worshipped, like MITRA, art the doer (of great deeds).
- 3. Augment, AGNI, our dwelling and prosperity, for the devout men (who have propitiated thee) by their praises have acquired riches.
- 4. Delightful AGNI, those men who glorify thee with hymns become rich in horses, and are invigorated with (foe-destroying) energies; and their great renown, spread through the firmament, arouses (thee) of thine own accord.³
- 5. These thy bright and fierce flames, AGNI, spread around like the circumambient lightnings, and are like a rattling chariot rushing (into battle) for booty.
 - 6. Be prompt, AGNI, for our protection, and for the Varga II.

¹ Sáma-Veda, 1. 81: there is a slight difference in the text of the second half of the stanza.

² The text has only hráná for hurvána: the acts alluded to are such as driving away the Ráhshasas or other disturbers of religious rites.

gift of poverty-repelling (riches); and may our pious (descendants be able to) compass all their desires.

7. Agni, who art Angiras, glorified in the past, glorified (at present), invoker (of the gods), bring unto us riches (enabling us) to overcome the mighty: give to thy praisers (ability) to praise thee, and be (at hand) for our success in battles.

SÚKTA XI. (XI.)

The deity is AGNI; the Rishi is SUTAMBHARA, of the race of ATRI; the metre is Jagati.

- 1. The vigilant, the powerful AGNI, the protector of man, has been engendered for the present prosperity (of the world): fed with butter, (blazing) with intense (radiance) reaching to the sky, the pure AGNI shines brilliantly for the Bharatas.¹
- 2. The priests have first kindled,² in three places, Agni, the banner of sacrifice, the family priest, (riding) in the same car with INDRA and the gods: he, the performer of pious acts, the invoker (of the gods), has sat down on the sacred grass for the (celebration of the) rite.
- 3. Thou art born unobstructed of two mothers:³ pure, adorable, wise, thou hast sprung up from (the devotion of) the householder: they have augmented thee with butter: AGNI, to whom burnt-offerings are made, the smoke is thy banner spread abroad in the sky.

³ The two sticks of attrition.

- 4. May Agni, the fulfiller (of all desires), come to our sacrifice: men cherish Agni in every dwelling: Agni, the bearer of oblations, has become the messenger (of the gods): those adoring Agni adore him as the accomplisher of the sacrifice.
- 5. To thee, AGNI, this most sweet speech (is addressed); may this praise be gratification to thy heart: pious hymns fill thee, and augment thee with vigour, as large rivers (replenish) the sea.
- 6. The Angirasas discovered thee, Agni, hidden in secret, and taking refuge from wood to wood: thou art generated, being churned with great force; therefore they have called thee, Angiras, the son of strength.²

SCRTA XII. (XII.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. I offer to the great, the adorable AGNI, the rainer of water, the vigorous, the showerer (of benefits), the present acceptable praise, like well-purified butter (poured) at sacrifices into his mouth.
- 2. Agni, who knowest (the purpose of) the sacrifice, assent to this rite: be favourable to the copious showers of water: (endowed) with strength, (I undertake) not (to obstruct) sacred acts, nor adjure the rite with both (truth and untruth), but (repeat the praise) of the resplendent showerer (of benefits).

Varga IV.

¹ Sáma-Veda, 11. 258. Yajur-Veda, 15. 28: Mahídhara agrees with Sáyana: he adds as the explanation of guhá, apsu, in the waters, referring to the familiar legend, see vol. 1. p. 4, note.

- 3. Agai, bestower of water, by what (act of) truth mayest thou, who art adorable, be cognizant of our adoration: may the divine Agai, the guardian of the seasons, recognise me: I (know) him not (yet) as the lord of the riches of which I am the possessor.³
- 4. Who, Agni, among thy (followers) are the imprisoners of foes? who among them are the protectors (of men), the splendid distributors of gifts? who among them defend the asserter of untruth? who are the encouragers of evil deeds?

- 5. These thy friends, Agni, everywhere dispersed, were formerly unhappy (in abandoning thy worship), but are again fortunate (by its renewal): may they who, with (censorious) words, impute fraudulent (practices) to me who pursue a straight path, bring evil upon themselves.
- 6. May the dwelling of him, AGNI, who celebrates thy worship with reverence, of him who protects the sacrifice (offered) to the resplendent showerer (of benefits), be well stored; and may a virtuous successor of the man who diligently worships thee come in his place.

SÚKTA XIII. (XIII.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Gayatri

- 1. Adoring thee, AGNI, we invoke thee: adoring thee we kindle thee, adoring thee for protection.
- 2. Desirous of wealth, we recite to day the effectual praise of the divine AGNI, (whose radiance) reaches the sky.²
- 3. May AGNI, who amongst men is the invoker of the gods, accept our praises; may he offer sacrifice to the divine beings.
- 4. Thou, AGNI, art mighty and gracious, the (ministrant) priest, the desired (of all): through thee the worshippers complete the sacrifice.

Varga V.

¹ The two last are persons not worshipping Agni; but the verse may be also thus rendered, who are they that confine their foes? who are they that preserve men from uttering untruth? who are they that vindicate people from calumny? they are, Agni, thy worshippers.

- 5. Wise worshippers exalt thee, AGNI, the bountiful giver of food, the deservedly lauded: do thou bestow upon us excellent strength.
- 6. Agni, thou encompassest the gods as the commence (surrounds) the spokes (of a wheel): bestow manifold wealth upon us.

SÚKTA XIV. (XIV.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Waken the immortal AGNI with praise, that, being kindled, he may bear our oblations to the gods.
- 2. Mortals worship him an immortal divinity at their sacrifices, most adorable among the human race.
- 3. Numerous (worshippers), pouring out butter from the (sacrificial) ladle, glorify him, the divine AGNI, that he may convey their oblation (to the gods).
- 4. Agni, as soon as born, blazes brightly, destroying the Dasyus, and (dispersing) the darkness by his lustre: he has discovered the cows, the waters, the sun.
- 5. Worship the adorable Agni, the sage, whose summit blazes with butter: may he hear and comprehend my invocation.
- 6. They have augmented AGNI, the beholder of all, with oblations and with praises, along with the gods, the objects of pious meditation, desirous of praise.

ANUVÁKA II. Sťrta I. (XV.)

The deity is Agni; the Rishi Dharuna, of the family of Anguras; the metre is Trishtubh.

1. I offer praise to AGNI, the creator, the far-seeing, the adorable, the renowned, the first (of the gods); he who is propitiated by oblations, the strong, the giver of happiness, the possessor of riches, the receiver of oblations, the bestower of dwellings.

- 2. They are detaining by sacrifice the true recipient (of offerings)¹ in the most eminent place of the ceremony, who brings together the leaders (of the rite), the unborn with the born, (or gods and men), as seated at the solemnity which is the stay of heaven.
- 3. They who (present) to the chief (of the gods) the great food (of sacrifice), unattainable (by the Rákshasas), enjoy forms exempt from defect: may that new-born AGNI scatter assembled (hosts): let them stand from around me, as (deer avoid) an angry lion.
- 4. When, everywhere predominating, thou cherishest all men like a mother, and (art implored by all) to behold and to support them; and when, being detained, thou maturest every kind of food,³ then, multiform (Agni), thou comprisest (all beings) in thyself.
- 5. Divine Agnt, may the (sacrificial) food, the vast yielder (of benefits to men), the sustainer of riches, support the utmost of thy vigour; and do thou, considering (the means of acquiring) great riches, like a thief keeping concealed the article (he has stolen), be propitious to ATRI.¹

² Anhoyuvastanvas-tanvate, are explained by Sáyana, svás-tanúr-anhasá viyojihá vistáraryanti, they effect the extension of their own persons, disjoined by or separated from sin: the sense is not very obvious.

SUKTA II. (XVI.)

The deity as before; the Rishi is Púru, of the race of ATRI; the metre is Anushtubh, except in the last verse, in which it is Panhti.

- 1. Offer abundant (sacrificial) food to the brilliant divine Agni, whom mortals have placed before them by praises as a friend.²
- 2. For that AGNI, (endowed) with the lustre of the strength of his arms, is the ministrant priest of mortals, who (presents) the oblation to the gods in succession, and like BHAGA³ distributes desirable wealth.
- 3. (May we be assiduous) in the praise, (and cherished) in the friendship, of that very radiant possessor of wealth, on whom, loud-sounding and all-ruling, (his) universal (worshippers) have conferred vigour.
- 4. Now verily, AGNI, (be disposed) for bestowing excellent strength on these (thy worshippers): heaven and earth have invested him with glory like the vast (sun).⁴

³ Bhaga, according to Sáyana, here means Súrya.

The text has only yahvam na, like the great; the scholiast has mahantam suryam iva, like the great sun.

5. Glorified by us, AGNI, come quickly, and bring us desirable wealth: we who (are thy worshippers), we (who are thine) adorers, offer thee welcome together with oblations: be thou favourable to us; be (our) success in battles.

SÚKTA III. (XVII.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Divine AGNI, a mortal thus with sacrifices (calls upon thee) who art endowed with lustre for protection: Puru adores AGNI for protection when the sacred rite is solemnized.
- 2. Performer of various functions, who art deservedly renowned, thou praisest by thy words that Agni, who is possessed of wonderful splendour; who is exempt from pain; who is adorable and supreme in understanding.
- 3. He who is endowed with vigour, is (glorified) by praise, and by whose radiance, like that of the sky, the rays of light shine brightly: by his lustre, verily, (the sun is luminous).²
- 4. By the worship of him who is pleasing of aspect the provident (heap) wealth in their cars: AGNI, to whom oblations are due, is then glorified by all people.
- 5. Quickly, (AGNI, give us) desirable (wealth), such as the devout, combining with (pious) praise, (obtain): son of strength, (be favourable) to (my) desires; protect us (from calamity); be alert for our prosperity; come for our success in battles.

² The text has only asya vásá u archishá, vá asá being put for vá asau; literally, by the light of him, he verily: asau, he, according to the commentator, designates the sun; and the entire phrase is, by the light of him, that is, of Agni, the sun becomes radiant; ádilyo archishmán bharati.

SÚKTA IV. (XVIII.)

The deity and metre as before; the Rishi is DWITA, of the race of ATRI.

- 1. Let AGNI, the beloved of many, the guest of man, be present at dawn; he who, immortal, desires the oblations of mortals.²
- 2. Be (willing to make) a grant of thine own strength to DWITA, the bearer of the pure oblation; for he, immortal AGNI, thy diligent praiser, brings to thee continually the Soma juice.
- 3. I invoke thee bright-shining, through a long life, with praise, (for the benefit) of the affluent, that their chariot, giver of horses, may proceed unimpeded.
- 4. Amongst whom the ceremonial of many kinds is observed; who perpetuate the sacred hymns by their recital; by them the sacrificial viands are placed upon the strewn grass (at the sacrifice which) leads (the worshipper) to heaven.³
- 5. Immortal AGNI, bestow upon those opulent men, who, upon (my) praise (of thee), gave to me fifty

¹ Sagdhi swastaye: the commentator says the verb may here be put for the first person, and mean yáche, I ask for, or it may mean, as translated, sahto bhava, be able.

SUKTA V. (XIX.)

The deity as before; the Rishi is named VAVRI; the metre of the two first stanzas is Gáyatrí, of the two next Anushtubh, and of the fifth Virátrúpá.

- 1. Unprosperous circumstances affect VAVRI: may the accepter (of oblations) become cognizant (of them), as, reclining on the lap of his mother, he beholds all things.
- 2. They who know (thy power) invoke thee incessantly, and nourish (thy) strength (by oblations): they dwell in an impregnable city.
- 3. Living men, with collars of gold, earnest in praise, desirous of food, augment by this laudation the vigour of thee abiding in the white firmament.
- 4. May (AGNI) with his two relatives, (heaven and earth), hear this faultless (praise), acceptable as milk: he who, like the mixed oblation, is filled with food, and, unsubdued, is ever the subduer of his foes.
- 5. Radiant (AGNI), who art made manifest by the wind, and art sporting amidst the ashes (of the forest), be present with us: and may the fierce fiery flames, destructive of foes, be gentle to this thy worshipper.

SURTA VI. (XX.)

The deity as before: certain persons of the race of ATRI, called Prayasvats, are the Rishis; the metre of the last stanza is Panhti, of the rest Anushtubh.

- 1. That (sacrificial) wealth, AGNI, bounteous giver of food, of which thou approvest, and which deserves to be commended by our praises, do thou convey to the gods.¹
- 2. May those prosperous men who do not offer oblations to thee become destitute of great strength, and may (the followers) of other (than vaidik) observances incur (thy) enmity and punishment.
- 3. We, Prayasvats, have recourse to thee, the invoker (of the gods), the means of strength: we glorify thee first at sacrifices with praise.
- 4. Possessor of strength, day by day so (provide), that we may enjoy thy protection; doer of good deeds, may we (be deserving) of wealth through sacrifice, and may we be happy with cattle, happy with male descendants.

SÚKTA VII. (XXI.)

The deity as before; the Rishi is SASA; the metre-as before.

- 1. Like Manu, we meditate, Agni, upon thee; like Manu, we kindle thee: worship the gods on behalf of the (worshipper), devout as Manu.
- 2. When thou art pleased, Agni, thou shinest upon the human race: well-born, feeder upon clarified butter, the ladles are constantly uplifted to thee.
 - 3. All the consentient divinities have made thee their messenger; therefore the pious worship thee who art divine, wise Agni, at sacrifices.

4. Man praises thee, divine AGNI, to convey his offerings to the gods: bright AGNI, blaze when kindled: take thy seat in the chamber (of sacrifice), in the chamber of the sincere SASA.

SORTA VIII. (XXII.)

The deity and metre as before; the Rishi is VISWASAMAN.

- 1. Sing, VISWASÁMAN, like ATRI, (a hymn) to the dispenser of purifying light: (to him) who is to be praised at sacrifices, the invoker of the gods, the most adorable by man.
- 2. Cherish the divine AGNI, by whom all that exists is known, the priest (of the rite): may the sacrifice most suitable for the gods duly this day proceed to them.
- 3. Men have recourse to thee, divine AGNI, who art of intelligent mind, for security: we praise thee who art most excellent, seeking thy protection.
- 4. AGNI, son of strength, recognise the words of this our (laudation): handsome-chinned, lord of the dwelling, the sons of ATRI exalt thee, such (as thou art), by their praises: they embellish thee by their hymns.

SÚKTA IX. (XXIII.)

The deity and metre as before; the Rishi is DYUMNA.

- 1. Bestow, AGNI, upon DYUMNA a son, overcoming foes by his prowess; one who may with glory subdue all men in battle.
 - 2. Mighty AGNI, grant us a son able to encounter hosts; for thou art true and wonderful, and the giver of food with cattle.

- 3. All men concurring in satisfaction, bearing the clipt sacred grass, solicit thee, as the kind invoker of the gods, to the chambers (of sacrifice) for infinite wealth.
- 4. May the (sage) on whom all men rely possess foe-subduing strength: radiant AGNI, so shine in our habitations that they may abound in riches: shine, purifying AGNI, dispensing light.

SÚKTA X. (XXIV.)

The deity is Agni; the Rishis are termed Gaupavanas and Laupavanas, and are four in number, named severally, Bandhu, Subandhu, Srutabandhu, and Viprabandhu, to each of whom a half stanza of the two stanzas of which the Súkta consists is attributed; the metre is Viráj.

1, 2.1 AGNI, who art to be adored, be ever nigh to us, our protector and benefactor: do thou, who art the giver of dwellings and dispenser of food, be present with us: bestow upon us most brilliant wealth.

3, 4. Understand us, AGNI; hear our invocation; defend us from all malevolent (people): most bright and resplendent AGNI, we earnestly solicit thee for the happiness (of ourselves) and our friends.

SÚKTA XI. (XV.)

The deity as before; the Rishis are those of the race of ATRI, named VASÚYUS; the metre is Anushtubh.

- 1. Celebrate the divine AGNI for his protection: may he who presides over dwellings grant (our desires): may the son of the Rishis, the observers of truth, save us from those who hate us.
- 2. That AGNI is true² whom the ancients, whom the gods have kindled, as the bright-tongued invoker of the gods. radiant with holy splendours.
- 3. Agni, to be propitiated by praises, (gratified) by our choicest and most excellent adoration and hymns, bestow upon us riches.
- 4. Agni shines amongst the gods: Agni is present amongst mortals: Agni is the bearer of our oblations: glorify Agni with praises.
- 5. May AGNI bestow upon the donor (of the oblation) a son, abounding in food, abounding in devotion, excellent, unharmed, conferring honour upon his progenitors.

¹ Agni is termed the son of the Rishis, as generated by their rubbing the sticks together which produce fire.

² Satya: by true, in this and other passages, is meant, it is said, one who does not fail to bestow upon his worshippers the recompense of their devotions.

- 6. May AGNI bestow a son, the protector of the good, who, with his followers, may be victorious in battle: may he bestow a swift-footed steed, conquering, unconquered.¹
- 7. That (praise) which best conveys (our veneration is due) to Agni: affluent in splendour, grant us, (Agni), great (wealth), for from thee vast riches and ample food proceed.²
- 8. Brilliant, AGNI, are thy rays: mighty art thou termed, like the stone (that bruises the Soma), and thy voice spontaneously spreads through the sky like thunder.
 - 9. Thus we, Vasúyus,3 glorify the vigorous Agni:

¹ This and the preceding verse are directed to be recited at a sacrifice performed to obtain male offspring, putrakámeshti.

² Sáma-Veda, 1. 86. Yajur-Veda, 26. 12: Mahídhara differs from Sáyana in his interpretation of this verse in several respects: considering the first line, yad váhishtham tad agnaye vrihad archa vibhávaso, to be addressed to the Udgátrí, he renders it, sing to Agni, that Vrihad-sáma (a hymn of the Sáma-Veda), which is the most effectual means of obtaining our desires; and he refers the vocative, Vibhávaso, to the second line in which a more important variation occurs: it runs, mahishi iva twad rayistwad vája udírate: Sáyana makes mahishí the adjective of rayi, great riches, and observes of iva that it is a pleonasm, iveti púranah: Mahídhara understands it as denoting a comparison, and explains the passage, as the firstmarried bride proceeds from her home to her husband, prathamaparinitá strí grihát patim prati udgachchhati, so riches and food proceed to the worshipper, Agni, from thee: the necessity of supplying a whole sentence is rather against this rendering, and mahishi as an adjective is of not unfrequent occurence.

may he, the performer of great deeds, enable us to pass over all our enemies as (we cross a river) with a boat.

SUKTA XII. (XXVI.)

The deity and Rishis as before: the metre is Gáyatrí.

- 1. Divine purifier, AGNI, with thy radiance and pleasing tongue, bring hither and worship the gods.¹
- 2. Feeder upon butter, bright and variegated radiance, we solicit thee, the beholder of heaven, to (partake of) the (sacrificial) food.
- 3. We kindle thee at the sacrifice, wise AGNI, whose food is the oblation, who art brilliant and vast.
- 4. Come, AGNI, with all the gods, to the donor (of the oblation): we have recourse to thee as their invoker.
- 5. To the institutor of the rite, pouring out the libation, bring excellent vigour; sit down with the gods upon the sacred grass.
- 6. Victor over thousands, thou favourest, when kindled, our holy rites, the honoured messenger of the gods.
- 7. Reverence AGNI, by whom all that is, is known, the bearer of oblations, the youngest of the gods, the divine, the ministrant priest.
- 8. May the sacrifice most solemnly offered by the devout duly proceed to day (to the gods): spread the sacred grass for their seat.
- 9. May the Maruts, the Aswins, Mitra, Varuna, the gods, with all their attendants, sit down upon this grass.

² Sáma-Veda, 11. 872, 873.

SUKTA XIII. (XXVII.)

The deity as before, but in the sixth stanza Indra is associated with Agni; the Rishis are three Rájás; Tryaruṇa the son of Trivrishṇa, Trasadasyu the son of Purukutsa, and Aşwamedha the son of Bharata; 1 or Atri alone may be the Rishi: 2 the metre of the three first stanzas is Trishṭubh, of the last three Anushṭubh.

- 1. AGNI, who art the protector of the good, most wise, powerful, and opulent; TRYARUNA the son of TRIVRISHNA has become renowned, VAISWANARA, in that he has bestowed upon me a pair of cattle with a waggon, and with ten thousands of treasure.
- 2. AGNI, VAISWANARA, who art deservedly praised and exalted (by us), bestow happiness upon TRYARUNA, who gives me hundreds (of Suvarnas), twenty cattle, and a pair of burden-bearing horses.
- 3. As TRYARUNA, pleased by the eulogies of me who have many children, presses with earnest (mind,

Of these princes we have yet met only with the second, vol. 1. p. 292: in the Vishnu Purána a Trayyáruna occurs, (p. 371), but he is the son of Tridhanwan, and the seventh in descent from Trasadasyu, with whom, therefore, he could not be contemporary; so that either the Veda or the Purána is wrong: the latter enumerates a Trayyaruna among the Vyásas, p. 273: no other authority gives Bharata a son named Aswamedha.

² For in fact the $R\acute{a}j\acute{a}s$ are rather the $Devat\acute{a}s$, they do not commemorate their own donations: it is Atri, or some member of his family, who speaks.

gifts upon me), so does TRASADASYU, desirous, AGNI, of thy valued favour through thine exceeding praise.

- 4. When ASWAMEDHA gives to him who solicits of him as a benefactor, saying (bestow wealth) upon me, and comes (to him) with a verse (in thy praise), do thou AGNI, grant intelligence to (the Rájá) who wishes to offer sacrifice (to thee).
- 5. Whose hundred robust oxen yield me delight, as the triple-mixed Soma, the offering of ASWAMEDHA (gratifies thee).
- 6. Indra and Agni, bestow upon the munificent Aswamedha infinite wealth with excellent posterity, undecaying as the sun in heaven.

SURTA XIV. (XXVIII.)

The deity as before; the Rishi is VISWAVÁRÁ, a lady of the family of ATRI: the metre of the first and third stanzas is Trishtubh, of the second Jagatí, of the fourth Anushtubh, and of the two last Gáyatrí.

1. AGNI, when kindled, spreads lustre through the firmament, and shines widely in the presence of the dawn: VISWAVÁRÁ, facing the east, glorifying the gods with praises, and bearing the ladle with the oblation,² proceeds (to the sacred fire).

¹ Mixed with curds, milk, and parched grain.

² Havishá ghritáchí is explained by the scholist purodásádilakshanena yuktayá ghrituchyá sruchá sahilá, with the ladle of yhi connected with the cakes and other articles of the oblation: the whole passage is remarkable, whether this explanation be admitted or not, as it leaves no doubt that a female is described as discharging the offices of a priest worshipping the gods at dawn with hymns and oblations: besides Viswavárá being feminine, the epithets práchí iláná ghritáchí are of the same gender: the term is explained the repeller of all enemies of the nature of

- 2. When about to be kindled, AGNI, thou rulest over ambrosial (water): thou art present with the offerer of the oblation for his welfare: he to whom thou repairest acquires universal wealth; he places before thee, AGNI, the dues of hospitality.
- 3. Repress, AGNI, (our foes to ensure our) exceeding prosperity: may thy riches ever be excellent: preserve in concord the relation of man and wife, and overpower the energies of the hostile.
- 4. I praise the glory, AGNI, of thee when kindled and blazing fiercely: thou art the affluent showerer (of benefits), thou art fitly lighted at sacrifices.
- 5. AGNI, who art kindled and invoked, worship the gods at the holy rite, for thou art the bearer of the oblation.
- 6. Offer worship and adoration to AGNI when the sacrifice is solemnized: select the bearer of the oblation to the gods.²

SÚKTA XV. (XXIX.)

The deity is Indra, but one hemistich may be assigned to Uṣanas; the Rishi is Gaurivíti, of the race of Ṣakti; the metre is Trishtubh.

1. In the adoration of the gods by MANU there are sin, sarram api páparúpam satrum várayitrí: we have no further clue to her history than that she is an Atreyí, of the race of Atri.

² According to the Taittiviya, there are three kinds of sacrificial fire: the bacywishana, which receives the oblation intended for the gods; the kavyaváhana, that intended for the Pitris; and the Saharahshas, that intended for the Asuras: the worshipper is therefore directed on this occasion to select the first.

three effulgences, and they, (the MARUTS), uphold three luminaries in heaven: the MARUTS of pure energy worship thee, for thou, INDRA, art their intelligent Rishi.

- 2. When the MARUTS worship INDRA, exulting and drinking of the effused libation, he grasps the thunderbolt wherewith he destroys AHI, and sets the abundant waters free to flow.
- 3. Or, mighty MARUTS, and thou also, INDRA, drink of this my copiously-effused libation: then the offered libation obtains cattle for the offerer,² and INDRA, drinking of it, kills AHI.
- 4. Thereupon he fixed firmly heaven and earth, and, resolutely advancing, filled (VRITRA), like a deer, with terror: stripping off his covering, INDRA slew the DANAVA, endeavouring to hide, and panting with affright.
- 5. Then, for this exploit, all the gods gave thee, MAGHAVAN, in succession, the Soma beverage; whence thou hast retarded, for the sake of ETASA, the advancing horses of the sun.
- 6. Whereupon Maghavan has destroyed with his thunderbolt at once his (Sambara's) ninety and nine cities: the Maruts glorifying Indra in a common dwelling with the Trishtubh hymn, he destroyed the bright (city of the Asura).

² Manushe gá avindat, yujamánáya vedayati gá, may also mean rain, dhenúr-vrishtilakshánáni udakáni vá.

³ The text has bhogán, meaning, according to Sáyana, cities, when the acute accent is on the last vowel, bhoyán ityanto-dáttah puravachanah.

- 7. To aid (the undertaking of) his friend, AGNI, the friend (of INDRA), has quickly consumed 1 three hundred buffaloes; and INDRA, for the destruction of VRITRA, has at once quaffed three vessels of Soma, offered by MANU.
- 8. When thou hadst eaten the flesh of the three hundred buffaloes, when thou who art MAGHAVAN hadst drunk the three vessels of Soma, when he had slain AHI,² then all the gods summoned INDRA, full of food, as if he had been a servant, to the battle.
- 9. When, INDRA, thou and Uṣanas, with vigorous and rapid coursers went to the dwelling of Kutsa, then, destroying his foes, you went in one chariot with Kutsa and the gods, and verily thou hast slain Şushna.
- 10. Thou hast formerly detached one wheel (of the car) of Súrya: another thou hast given to Kutsa wherewith to acquire wealth: with the thunderbolt thou hast confounded the voiceless Dasyus, thou hast destroyed in battle the speech-bereft (foes).

² Or perhaps yad ahim jayhána might be rendered, that he should kill Ahi.

³ Anúso dasyún amrinah: anása, Sáyana says, means ásyarahitán, devoid or deprived of words, ásya, face or mouth, being put by metonymy for sabda, the sound that comes from the mouth, articulate speech, alluding possibly to the uncultivated dialects of the barbarous tribes, barbarism and uncultivated speech being identical, in the opinion of the Hindus, as in the familiar term for a barbarian, mlechchha, which is derived from the root mlechchh, to speak rudely: Professor Müller, Universal

- 11. May the praises of GAURIVÍTI exalt thee: thou hast humbled PIPRU for the son of VIDATHIN: RIJIS-WAN, preparing dressed viands, has, through thy friendship, brought thee (to his presence), and thou hast drunk of his libation.
- 12. The observers of the nine months celebration, those of the ten months, pouring out libations, worship Indra with hymns: the leaders (of rites), glorifying him, have set open the cave (concealing the cattle).
- 13. Although, knowing the heroic acts which, Mag-HAVAN, thou hast performed how may I adequately offer thee adoration: most mighty INDRA, we ever celebrate at sacred rites the recent exploits which thou hast achieved.
- 14. Unmatched (by any), thou hast done, INDRA, all these many (deeds) by thine innate energy: wielder of the thunderbolt, whatever thou, the humbler of (foes) hast undertaken, there is no one the arrester of this thy prowess.
- 15. Most mighty INDRA, be pleased to accept the prayers which we are about to offer, and the present praises which we repeat: firm, doing pious acts, and desirous of wealth, I have fabricated acceptable and pious works like (rich) garments, and like a chariot.¹

History of Man, 1. 346, referring to this text, proposes to separate anása into a, non, nása, the nose, noseless, alluding to that feature in the aborigines, as contrasted with the more prominent nose of the árya race: the proposal is ingenious, but it seems more likely that Sáyana is right, as we have the Dasyus presently called also mridhraváchas, hinsitarágindriyán, having defective organs of speech.

SUKTA XVI. (XXX.)

The deity as before, or it may be the Raja RINANCHAYA, who is occasionally praised; the Rishi is BABHRU; the metre Trishtubh.

- 1. Where is that hero? who has seen INDRA seated in his easy chariot, travelling with his horses, the thunderer, the invoked of many, who, desirous of the libation, is proceeding with riches to the habitation (of his worshipper) for his preservation?
- 2. I have looked down upon the secret and fearful place of his abiding; I have repaired, desiring him, (to the place of) the self-sustainer; I have inquired (of him) from others: they, the leaders (of rites), the searchers after wisdom, have said to me, let us have recourse to INDRA.
- 3. When the libation is offered, INDRA, we celebrate thy exploits; those (exploits) which thou hast been pleased (to achieve) for us: let him who is ignorant acquire knowledge (of them); let him who is acquainted (with them) make them known: this MAGHAVAN (is) the lord of hosts.
- 4. As soon as generated, INDRA, thou hast made thy mind resolved: thou hast gone alone to contend against numerous (foes): thou hast rent asunder the rock by thy strength: thou hast rescued the herd of milk-yielding kine.
- 5. When thou hast been born most excellent and supreme, bearing a name widely renowned, then the gods have been in dread of INDRA, and he has subsanháravadgrahyáni: if correct, this shews the custom of presenting honorary dresses to be of Indian origin and considerable antiquity: the same are compared to a chariot, as the means of conveying Indra and the gods to sacrifices.

jugated all the waters, the brides of the slave (VRITRA).

- 6. These devoted Maruts¹ eulogise thee with pious praise, and pour out to thee the sacrificial food: Indra has overcome by his devices the guileful Ahi, harassing the gods and arresting the waters.
- 7. MAGHAVAN, who art glorified by us, assailing with the thunderbolt the antagonist (of the gods), thou hast slain those who were ever hostile (to thee) from thy birth: desiring to do good to MANU,² thou hast bruised the head of the slave NAMUCHI.
- 8. Verily thou hast made me, INDRA, thy associate when grinding the head of the slave NAMUCHI like a sounding and rolling cloud: and the heaven and earth (have been caused) by the MARUTS (to revolve like a wheel).
- 9. The slave (NAMUCHI) made women his weapons: what will his female hosts do unto me?⁴ the two his best beloved, (INDRA) confined in the inner apartments, and then went forth to combat against the Dasyu.⁵

² Manave gátum ichchhan: gátum is explained suhham, but the scholiast identifies Manu with the Rishi of the Súkta, namuchiná apahritagodhanáya mahyam, to me whose wealth of cattle has been carried off by Namuchi, an Asura who has been before named.

³ Asmánam chit swaryam varttamánam: Sáyana renders the two first megham iva, like a cloud.

⁴ Indra is supposed to say this.

⁵ These legends are apparently Vaidik, except the decapitation of Namuchi by Indra, which is related in the Gadá section of the Salya Parva of the Mahábhárata, where it is related that Namuchi, through fear of Indra, took refuge in the solar rays: Indra promised that he would not harm him if he came

- 10. When the cows were separated from their calves, they wandered about hither and thither; but when the well-offered libations had exhilarated him, then INDRA, with his vigorous (Maruts), reunited them (with their calves).
- 11. When the libations effused by BABHRU had exhilarated him, the showerer (of benefits) shouted aloud in the combats: INDRA, the destroyer of cities, quaffing (the Soma), restored to him his milk-yielding cat+le.
- 12. The Rusamas¹ giving me four thousand cows, Agni,¹ have done well: we have accepted the wealth, the donation of the leader of leaders RINANCHAYA.
- 13. The Rusamas, AGNI, have presented to me a beautiful abode, with thousands of cattle: the sharp libations have exhilarated INDRA upon the breaking up of the (gloom-)investing night.
- 14. The (gloom-)investing night has dispersed with the dawn (upon the appearance of) RINANCHAYA, the Rájá of the Rusamas: BABHRU being summoned, going like a fleet courser, has received the four thousand (cattle).
- 15. We have accepted, AGNI, the four thousand cattle from the Rusamas: and the glowing, the golden forth, but broke his promise, and, on Namuchi's issuing forth, cut off his head: by this he incurred the guilt of Brahmanicide, for Namuchi, it is said, was a Brahman, but Indra was taught expiation of his sin by Brahmá.

¹ The Rusamas, according to Sáyana, are the people of a country of the same name, the principality of Rinanchaya.

² In this, the next, and the last stanza, Agni appears as the devatá, although not so specified by the index.

ewer prepared for the solemnity, we who are wise have accepted it.

SÚKTA XVII. (XXXI.)

The deity is Indra; the Rishi is AVASYU, of the race of ATRI; the metre is Trishtubh.

- 1. INDRA, the possessor of opulence, directs downwards the car over which, intended (to receive sacrificial) viands, he presides: he proceeds unimpeded, the first of the gods, driving (his enemies before him), as a herdsman drives the herds of cattle.
- 2. Hasten to us, lord of horses: be not indifferent to us: distributor of manifold wealth, befriend us; for there is nothing else that is better, INDRA, than thou: thou hast given wives to those who were without women.²
- 3. When the light (of the sun) overpowers the light (of the dawn) INDRA grants all (sorts of) wealth (to the worshipper): he has liberated the milch-kine from the interior of the obstructing (mountain); he dissipates the enveloping darkness with light.

² Amenán-schij-janivatas-chakartha: mená is here used in the sense of strí, woman in general, and jani, as usual, in that of wife: the commentator explains it apagatastrikánschii jáyávata karoshi, thou makest sundry persons, from whom women are separated, possessed of wives.

- 3. The RIBHUS¹ have fabricated thy car, INDRA, the invoked of many, adapted to its horses: TWASHTRI (has made) thy radiant thunderbolt: the venerable (Angirasas),² praising INDRA with hymns, have given him vigour for the destruction of AHI.
- 5. When the Maruts, the showerers (of benefits), glorify thee, Indra, the showerer (of desires), with praises, and the exulting stones delight (to bruise the Soma), then, without horses, without chariots, they, the purifying (Maruts), dispatched by Indra have overcome the Dasyus.
- 6. I celebrate, Maghavan, thine ancient exploits, and those which thou hast newly achieved: wielder of the thunderbolt, subjugating both heaven and earth, thou hast distributed the wonderfully bountiful waters to man.
- 7. Handsome and sagacious INDRA, this is thy deed, that, slaying AHI, thou hast here displayed thy vigour: thou hast arrested the devices of SUSHNA³ urging the combat: thou hast overcome the Dasyus.
- 8. Thou, INDRA, (abiding on the further bank), hast rendered the fertilizing waters agreeable to YADU and TURVASU: you two, (INDRA and KUTSA), have assailed the fierce (SUSHNA), and, (having slain him), thou hast conveyed KUTSA (to his dwelling), and ^{1&#}x27;The text has anavah, which the scholiast explains manushyáh, and applies to Ribhavah.

³ Ṣushṇasya chit pari máyáh agribhṇáh: Sáyaṇa explains máyáh by yuvatíh, young damsels, thou hast seized upon, or carried off, the young women of Ṣushṇa.

Uṣanas and the gods have therefore honoured you both.

- 9. May your steeds bring you both, INDRA and KUTSA, riding in one chariot, to the worshipper: you have expelled him (SUSHŅA) from the waters, from his proper abode: you have driven the glooms (of ignorance) from the heart of the affluent (adorer).
- 10. The sage AVASYU has obtained docile horses, endowed (with the speed) of the wind: all thine adorers, INDRA, in this world, thy friends, augment thy vigour by their praises.
- 11. He, (INDRA), has formerly arrested in battle the rapid chariot of the sun: ETASA has borne away the wheel,² and (with it INDRA) demolishes (his foes): may he, giving us precedence, be propitiated by our rite.
- 12. Indra, oh people, has come to see you, wishing to behold his friend the offerer of the libation: let the creaking stones, for whose rotation the priests hasten, supply the altar.
- 13. Immortal (INDRA), let not the mortals who are wishing, anxiously wishing for thee, fall into sin: be indeed pleased with the sacrificers, and grant vigour to those men amongst whom may we be (especially) thine.

SÚKTA XVIII. (XXXII.)

The deity is the same; the Rishi is GATU; the metre Trishtubh.

1. Thou, Indra, hast rent the cloud asunder, thou

¹ Karne vahantu: karna is explained stotri, praiser, stotráni karoti, or yajamána, the institutor or maker of the rite.

² Bharachchahram Etasah: according to the comment, Etasah is put for Etasaya, he, Indra, has taken the wheel for Etasa: see vol. 1. p. 329.

hast set open the flood-gates, thou hast liberated the obstructed streams, thou hast opened the vast cloud, and hast given vent to the showers, having slain the Dánava.²

- 2. Thou, thunderer, (hast set free) the obstructed clouds in their seasons; thou hast invigorated the strength of the cloud: fierce Indra, destroying the mighty Ahi when slumbering (in the waters), thou hast established the reputation of thy prowess.
- 3. INDRA, by his prowess, has annihilated the weapon of that mighty beast, from whom another more powerful, conceiving himself one and unmatched, was generated.³
- 4. The wielder of the thunderbolt, the render of the rain-cloud, has destroyed with his bolt the mighty Sushna, the wrath-born (son) of the Dánava, the walker in darkness, the protector of the showering cloud, exhilarating himself with the food of these (living creatures).
- 5. Thou hast discovered, INDRA, by his acts, the secret vital part of him who thought himself invulnerable, when, powerful INDRA, in the exhilaration of the Soma, thou hast detected him preparing for combat in his dark abode.

² Sáma-Veda, 1. 315.

³ From the body of Vritra, it is said, sprang the more powerful asura, Ṣushṇa, that is, allegorically, the exhaustion of the clouds was followed by a drought, which Indra, or the atmosphere, had then to remedy.

⁴ Miho-napátam, meghasya rakshitáram: napát, here meaning pátri, a protector, a preserver, as in the Bráhmana cited by the scholiast, práno vai tanúnapát sa hi tanvah páti: vital air is called the body-preserver, for it preserves the limbs.

- 6. Indra, the showerer (of benefits) exhilarated by the effused juices, uplifting (his thunderbolt), has slain him enjoying the dews of the firmament, sleeping (amidst the waters), and thriving in sunless darkness.
- 7. When INDRA raised his powerful irresisible weapon against the mighty Danava, when he struck him with the blow of the thunderbolt, he made him the lowest of all creatures.
- 8. The fierce INDRA seized upon him, that vast moving (VRITRA), when slumbering, (after) having drunk the Soma, subduing (his foes), and enveloping (the world), and then slew him with his great weapon in battle, footless, measureless, speechless.¹
- 9. Who may resist the withering might of that INDRA: he, single and irresistible, carries off the riches (of the enemy): these two divine (beings, heaven and earth), proceed swiftly through fear of the strength of the quick-moving INDRA.
- 10. The divine, self-sustaining (heaven) comes to him; the moving (earth), like a loving (wife), resigns herself to Indra: when he shares all his vigour with these (his people), then, in due succession, men offer reverence to the potent Indra.
- 11. Verily I hear of thee as chief amongst men, the protector of the good, friendly to the five classes of beings, the begotten, the renowned; may my (progeny), representing (their wishes), and uttering his praises night and day, propitiate the glorified INDRA.
 - 12. I hear of thee influencing (creatures) according to the season, and giving riches to the pious; but what do thy devoted friends (obtain), who have entrusted their desires, INDRA, to thee.

SECOND ADHYÁYA.

ANUVÁKA III.

SÚKTA I. (XXXIII.)

The deity is INDRA; the Rishi is SAMVARANA, the son of PRA-JAPATI; the metre is Trishtubh.

- 1. Feeble as I am, I effer praise to the great and vigorous INDRA, for this purpose, (that he may grant) strength to (our) people: he who, associated with the MARUTS, shews favour to this person when praised for the sake of sustenance.
- 2. Thou, INDRA, meditating upon us, fastenest the traces of thy horses, (incited), showever (of benefits), by those praises in which thou takest suitable delight, and do thou therefore overcom (for us) hostile men.
- 3. Since, mighty INDRA, those who, differing from us, and not united with thee through their lack of devotion, are not thine; therefore, divine holder of the thunderbolt, who art possessed of excellent horses, ^{&#}x27;1. Samarya, as an epithet of Indra, is of somewhat doubtful meaning: Sáyana gives three explanations, martyaih, stotribhih, sahitah, together with mortals, that is, with worshippers, yuddhamánair-marudádibhih, with the Marvis and other combatants, or samara-arhah, fit for or suited to war.

ascend the car, whose reins thou guidest, (to come to our sacrifice).1

- 4. Inasmuch, INDRA, as many praises are thine, therefore, combating for the sake of (shedding) water on fertile (lands), thou hast effected (the discomfiture of its obstructors); thou, who art the showerer (of benefits), hast, on behalf of the sun, destroyed in his own dwelling the very name of (the asura), Dása, in battle.
- 5. We, INDRA, are thine, and thine are they who are the leaders (of rites), promoters of (thy) strength, and willing applicants (to thee): all-powerful INDRA,² may adherents worthy of commendation, and faithful, come to us, like BHAGA, in battles.³
- 6. Glorious, INDRA, is thy strength, exulting, immortal, and clothing (the world with light): do thou

² Ahişushma, a rather unusual epithet of Indra: the scholiast explains it, sarvato vyáptabala, of all pervading strength.

³ Satuá Bhago na havyah prabhritheshu cháruh may be explained differently, as prabhritha signifies war or sacrifice: may a faithful follower or ally, satuá-bhrityádih, come, like Bhaga, as an associate, cháru sangantá, to be commended, havya, in sacrifices, or defied, pratibhatairáhvátavya, in battles: as the divine Bhaga comes as our ally, so may followers and others come.

⁴ Nṛitamána is, literally dancing, nṛityan.

give us riches, and brilliant wealth, and I will greatly praise the munificence of the opulent lord.

- 7. Hero, INDRA, with thy protection defend us, praising and worshipping (thee), and be propitiated (by drinking) of the well-effused and agreeable Somajuice that yields (a defensive) covering in combat.
- 8. May those ten bright horses, the gift to me of the pious gold-possessing Trasadasyu, the son of Puru-kutsa, of the race of Girikshita, convey me (to the sacrifice), and may I proceed quickly with the rites.
- 9. Or may those bay, well-actioned horses, the donation of VIDATHA, the son of MARUTASWA,² (convey me); or (may) the thousands (of treasure) which he was bestowing upon and giving to me,³ entitled to respect, and the ornaments which he presented (to decorate) the person, (contribute to the ceremony).
- 10. Or may the bright and active steeds bestowed upon me by Dhwanya, the son of Lakshmana (bear me): the riches, endowed with greatness, that have been presented, have passed (to the dwelling) of the Rishi Samyarana, like cows to their stalls.

SÚKTA II. (XXXIV.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Jagati, except in the last verse, in which it is Trishtubh.

1. The undecaying, heaven-conferring, unlimited

² We have had Viduthin before, Súhta xxix. verse 11, the father of Rijiswan: these names are not found in the principal Puránas.

³ Chyaratána dadána, causing to alight upon, giving.

⁴ We ave here, also, an unusual name in Dhwanya, and Lakshmana must be a different person from the brother of Ráma.

(sacrificial) food, goes to the tamer (of enemies), whose adversaries are unborn: therefore (priests) pour out (the libation), dress (the cakes and butter), diligently discharge (your offices) to him who is the accepter of prayer, who is glorified by many.

- 2. Maghavan, who fills his belly with the Soma, is exhilarated (by drinking) of the sweet-savoured beverage, whereupon he has lifted up his destructive thousand-edged weapon, desiring to slay (the Asura) MRIGA.
- 3. He who pours out the libation to that INDRA, by day or by night, undoubtedly becomes illustrious: SAKRA disregards the man who is proud of his descendants and vain of his person,² and who, though wealthy, is the friend of the base.
- 4. SAKRA does not turn away³ from him whose father, whose mother, whose brother he has slain,⁴ but

² Tatanushtim, tanúsubhram, are explained, he who desires, (vashti) an extended (tata) race (santatim) and he whose person (tanu) is decorated (subhra) with ornaments, and in both implying swaposhaham ayajvánam, a self-cherisher not offering sacrifice.

⁴ Avadhít has no other nominative than Sahra, but in the second line we have na kilvishád íshate, he, İndra, does not go trom sin, sin being put for sinner, that is, from one who is a parricide or the like, pitrádi badha yuktát; that is, he does not turn away from him who has committed these crimes: the reason also is given, veti idvasya prayatá, for verily he desires his offerings, prayatáni dánáni: the doctrine, therefore, is here inculcated, that devotional merit compensates for want of moral merit:

is willing to accept his offerings: the regulator (of acts), the bestower of riches, does not turn away from iniquity.

- 5. He desires not (association in) enterprises with five or with ten; he associates not with the man who does not present libations; and cherishes not (his dependants): nay, the terrifier (of foes) punishes him or slays him, but he places the devout man in a pasturage stocked with cattle.
- 6. Thinning (his enemies) in battle, and accelerating the wheels (of his car), he turns away from him who offers no libation, and augments (the prosperity of) the offerer: INDRA, the subduer of all, the formidable, the lord, conducts the Dása at his pleasure.
- 7. He proceeds to plunder the wealth of the (avaricious), and bestows the riches that are prized by man upon the donor (of the libation): every man is involved in great difficulty who provokes the might of INDRA to wrath.
- 8. When INDRA, the possessor of opulence, discriminates between two men, both wealthy, and exerting themselves (against each other) for the sake of valuable cattle, he takes one of them as his associate, causing (his adversaries) to tremble, and the agitator (of the clouds), together with the MARUTS, bestows upon him herds of cattle.
 - 9. I, Arya, AGNI, praise SATRI, the son of AGNIthe converse is also implied by the passage anoted by Shyana from the Vedas, that sanctity does not compensate for want of devotion; Indra being represented as saying, I gave to the wolves the Paulomas in the firmament, and the Yatis, the hálahánjyas, and arunmukhas upon earth; because, Sáyana observes, these Yatis did not worship or praise him.

¹ Indra is intended, according to the scholiast, as identical vesa, the bestower of thousands, a type for comparison: may the collected waters yield him abundance; may wealth, and strength, and glory be upon him.

SÚKTA III. (XXXV.)

The deity as before; the Rishi is PRABHÚVASU, of the race of Angras; the metre is Anushtubh, except in the last verse, in which it is Pankti.

- 1. Perfect for our protection, INDRA, that thine act which is most effective; which is the subduer of men; holy, and difficult to be encountered in battles.
- 2. Whatever protections, INDRA, may be thine, whether four, or, hero, three, or those accorded to the five (elasses) of men, bestow them freely upon us.
- 3 We invoke the desirable protection of thee, the most liberal showerer (of benefits); that (protection) which thou, the distributer of rain, the quick destroyer (of foes), grantest, (associated) with the present (MARUTS).
- 4. Thou art the showerer (of benefits); thou art born to (bestow) riches; thy strength rains (blessings); thy self-invigorated mind is the restrainer (of adversaries); thy manhood, INDRA, is the destroyer of multitudes.
- 5. Indra, wielder of the thunderbolt, rider in an all perveding car, object of many rites, and lord of with Agni: of the following names, Agnivesa appears in the Puránas as a Rishi, a son of Brahmá, at here his son at least must be a Rájá.

^{1.} Whatever favours may be granted to the four eastes, the three lokas, or the five orders of men, pancha h hitinám.

strength, proceed against the mortal who entertains hostility towards thee.

- 6. Slayer of VRITRA, men with clipped sacred grass invoke thee, who art fierce and foremost among many, for aid in battle.
- 7. Defend, INDRA, our chariot, difficult (to be stopped), mingling foremost in combats, followed by attendants, and eagerly striving for repeated spoil.
- 8. Come, INDRA, to us; defend by thy providence our car: we contemplate in thee who, most mighty one, art divine, all desirable vigour: (to thee), who art divine, we offer praise.

SÚKTA IV. (XXXVI.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Trishtubh.

- 1. May that INDRA who is the donor of wealth, who knows (how) to distribute riches, come (to our sacrifice) marching boldly like a warrior; and may he, being thirsty, and desirous (of the draught), drink of the effused Soma-juice.
- 2. Hero, lord of horses, may the Soma ascend to thy destructive jaw,² as if to the summit of a mountain: may we all, royal INDRA, who art invoked of many, give pleasure to thee with our hymns, as to horses with fodder.
 - 3. Wielder of the thunderbolt, the invoked of many,

² Hanú sipre áruhat: as the two nouns have usually the same sense, as Sáyana observes, one should be regarded as the epithet of the other, and he therefore explains hanu as the means of destroying, or destructive, hananasádhanam.

my mind trembles through dread of poverty¹ like a whirling wheel: MAGHAVAN, ever prosperous, may thy worshipper, PURÚVASU, praise thee promptly and abundantly, seated in thy chariot.

- 4. This thine adorer, INDRA, like the stone (that expresses the Soma-juice), urges praise to thee, participating in the great (reward): thou bestowest, Maghavan, riches with thy left hand, (thou bestowest them, lord of horses, with the right: be not reluctant.
- 5. May the effective eulogium melt thee, the showerer (of benefits): thou, the showerer, art borne (to the sacrifice) by vigorous steeds: sender of rain, thou of the handsome chin, wielder of the thunderbolt, showerer, whose car showers down (blessings), do thou defend us in battle.²
- 6. MARUTS, may all men bow in obedience to that youthful SRUTARATHA, the possessor of abundance, who has bestowed (upon us) two bay steeds accompanied by three hundred (cattle).

SÚKTA V. (XXXVII.)

The deity and metre as before; the Rishi is ATRI.

- 1. The piously worshipped (AGNI), when invoked, glistening with the oblation, vies with the splendour of the sun: may the dawns rise innoxious to him who says, let us offer oblations to INDRA.
- 2. He whose fire is kindled, whose sacred grass is strewn, offers worship: he whose stone is uplifted, whose Soma-juice is effused, offers praise: the priest, of whom the stones utter the sounds of bruising, descends with the oblation (for previous ablution) to the stream.

¹ Amater-id: amati is explained either dáridryam, poverty or astotri, one who does not praise or worship.

² Another instance of the abuse of the derivations of vrish, to rain or shower.

- 3. The bride (of INDRA), devoted to her lord, attends him (to the rite), who thus brings (with him) his accompanying queen: may his car convey to us ample food; may it sound loudly; may it scatter around many thousands (of riches).
- 4. That prince suffers no evil in whose realm INDRA drinks the sharp Soma-juice mixed with milk: attended by faithful (followers), he moves (in all directions): he destroys his enemy, he protects his subjects: enjoying prosperity, he cherishes the name of (INDRA).
- 5. He cherishes (his kin); he (reigns) in welfare and prosperity; he is victorious in present and continuous (time): dear is he to the sun, dear to AGNI, who, with prepared libation, offers it to INDRA.

SURTA VI. (XXXVIII.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Anushtubh.

- 1. Indra of many exploits, liberal is the distribution of thine abundant riches: therefore, all-beholder, possessor of excellent wealth, bestow upon us opulence.¹
- 2. Although, most mighty INDRA, thou possessest well-known abundance (of food), yet golden-hued (deity) it is most notoriously reported as difficult (to be procured).
- 3. Wielder of the thunderbolt, thine are the strong (MARUTS), who are adorable, and whose exploits are renowned: both divinities, '(thou and they), rule at pleasure over heaven and earth.

^{1.} Sáma-Veda, 1. 366.

- 4. Slayer of VRITRA, bring to us, thy (worshippers), the wealth of any powerful (man) whatsoever, for thou art disposed to enrich us.
- 5. May we, SATAKRATU, speedily (partake of) thy felicity through these our prayers: may we be well secured, Indra, (by thee): may we be carefully protected, hero, by thee.

SÚKTA VII. (XXXIX.)

Deity and Rishi as before; the metre also is the same, except in the last verse, in which it is Panhti.

- 1. Wonderful Indra, wielder of the thunderbolt, since precious treasure is to be distributed by thee, bestow it, possessor of riches, with both hands, upon us.
- 2. Whatever food thou considerest desirable, INDRA, bestow it: let us be to thee (in the relation of thy) gift of unlimited sustenance.²
- 3. Since thy bountiful³ and praiseworthy will is notorious and vast, therefore, thunderer, thou hast ready for bestowing upon us substantial food.

¹ Mehanástí twá dátam rádhas, is explained by Sáyana manhaníyam dhanam twayá dátavyam, praiseable wealth is to be given to thee: Yásha gives a like interpretation, but notices another interpretation of mehanásti, me iha násti, what is not in this world, or on this occasion, mine, Niruhta, IV. 4: the verse occurs, Sáma-Veda, I. 345. II. 522.

³ Ditsu, desiderative of dá, desiring to give, an epithet of manas, mind or will: Benfey's text of the Sáma reads dihshu, 11. 524.

- 4. With ancient (hymns) the pious approach INDRA, to laud him who is most worthy of the beverage (the offering) of you who are opulent; (him) who is the king of men.
- 5. To that INDRA is the poetical and articulate prayer to be recited: to him the conveyers of pious praise, the sons of ATRI, raise their hymns: the sons of ATRI illume their hymns.

SÚKTA VIII. (XL.)

INDRA is the divinity of the first four verses, Súrva of the fifth, ATRI of the last four, but he is also the Rishi of the whole; the metre of the three first stanzas is Ushnih, of the fifth and ninth Anushtubh, of the rest Trishtubh.

- 1. Come, INDRA, (to our sacrifice); drink, lord of the Soma, of the juice expressed by the stones: showerer (of benefits), utter destroyer of VRITRA, (come) with the showering (MARUTS).
- 2. The stone is the showerer, the inebriation is the showerer, this effused Soma is the showerer; showerer (of benefits), INDRA, utter destroyer of VRITRA, come with the showering (MARUTS).
- 3. Effusing the libation, I invoke thee, the showerer (of benefits), for thy marvellous protections: showerer (of benefits), INDRA, utter destroyer of VRITRA, come with the showering (MARUTS).
 - 4. May the accepter of the spiritless libation,² the ¹ Either of the Soma-juice, or the benefits derivable from offering it: but here is the usual misuse of vrisha.

² Rijishin: the possessor or ruler of the rijisha, which is here explained gatasára somarasa, or that which has been offered at the morning and mid-day ceremonies, and of which the residue is now presented at the evening sacrifice.

wielder of the thunderbolt, the showerer (of benefits), the overcomer of quick-(flying foes), the mighty, the monarch, the slayer of VRITRA, the drinker of the Soma, having harnessed his horses, come down (to us): may INDRA be exhibitated at the mid-day sacrifice.

- 5. When, Surva, the son of the Asura Swarbhánu, overspread thee with darkness, the worlds were beheld like one bewildered, knowing not his place.
- 6. When, INDRA, thou wast dissipating those illusions of SWARBHÁNU which were spread below the sun, then ATRI, by his fourth sacred prayer, 2 discovered the sun concealed by the darkness impeding his functions.
- 7. Súrya speaks]: Let not the violator, ATRI, through hunger, swallow with fearful (darkness) me who am thine: thou art MITRA, whose wealth is truth: do thou and the royal VARUNA both protect me.
- 8. Then the Brahman, (ATRI), applying the stones together, propitiating the gods with praise, and adoring them with reverence, placed the eye of Súrya in the sky: he dispersed the delusions of SWARBHÁNU.
- 9. The sun, whom the Asura, SWARBHANU, had enveloped with darkness, the sons of ATRI subsequently recovered: no others were able (to effect his release).

¹ Swarbhánu is a name of Ráhu, the personified ascending node, and the causer of an eclipse: he was a son of Kasyapa, by Danu, the mother of the Dánavas, or Asuras: Vishnu Pur. p. 147: another gencalogy makes him the son of Viprachitti, by Sinhiká, the sister of Hiranyakasipu, ibid. p. 148.

² That is, by the four stanzas of this hymn, from the fifth to the eighth.

SUKTA IX. (XLI.)

The deities are the VISWADEVAS; the Rishi is BHAUMA; the metre is Trishtubh, except in the sixteenth and seventeenth verses, in which it is Atijagati, and in the twentieth, in which it is Viráj, and of one hemistich.

- 1. Who, MITRA and VARUNA, desiring to sacrifice to you, (is able to do so)? do you, whether (abiding) in the region of heaven, or of the vast earth, or of the firmament, protect us, and give to the donor (of the oblation), and to the sacrificer, cattle and food.
- 2. May those divinities, MITRA, VARUNA, ARYAMAN, AYU, INDRA, RIBHUKSHIN, the MARUTS who accept pious praise, 1 be pleased by our adorations, partaking of the gratification afforded to RUDRA, the showerer (of benefits).2
- 3. I invoke you, Aswins, the restrainers (of desire), for the acceleration of your chariot with the swiftness of the wind: (priests) offer praise and oblations to the celestial destroyer of life,³ to the accomplisher of the sacrifice.
- 4. May the divine accepter of sacrifice, of whom the Kánwas are the priests, TRITA, VÁYU, and AGNI, ¹ According to the commentator, divinities are of two orders, those who share praises, stotrabhájah, and those who share oblations, havirbhájah: the first is here alluded to.

² This last clause may be considered as applying especially to the Maruts as the sons of Rudra.

³ Divo asuráya is explained dyotamánáya pránápahartre, that is, to Rudra: and yajyave, yága sádhaháya: or Asura may be rendered pránadátri, the giver of life, when it will imply Súrya or Váyu.

⁴ Or Trita may be an epithet of Váyu, the threefold, pervading the three regions of heaven, mid-air, and earth.

concurring in satisfaction with (the ruler of) heaven, or (Súrya and) Púshan, and Bhaga, and they who are the protectors of the universe, (come quickly) to the sacrifice, as the fleetest coursers rush to battle.

- 5. Maruts, do you bring wealth comprising horses: to acquire and preserve riches the wise man offers you praise: may the ministrant priest, (ATRI), of the son of USIJ (KAKSHÍVAT), be made happy by those swiftgoing (horses) which are the swift-going (horses), Maruts, of you who are rapid in motion.
- 6. Prevail, (priests), by your prayers, on VAYU, the divine, the fulfiller of desires, the adorable, to harness his chariot: may the light-moving accepters of sacrifice, the lovely and excellent wives (of the gods), come hither to our rite.
- 7. Mighty Day and Night to you, along with the adorable (deities) of heaven, I present (the oblation) with prayers delighting and explicit: knowing, like two sages, all (that is required), do you bring (it) to the worshipper for his sacrifice.
- 8. I glorify you, leaders (of rites), cherishers (of many), gratifying (with oblations, you) TWASHTRI the lord of foundations, and the goddess of speech, bestower of opulence, and sharer in the satisfaction (of the other divinities); also the lords of the forest, and the herbs, that I may obtain riches.
- 9. May the *Parvatas*¹ be (bountiful) to us in liberal donations;² may they be favourable (to us) who are the establishers (of the world) like heroes; may the adored and adorable (deity), who is accessible (to all), who is friendly to man ever grant us increase, being propitiated by our praise.

¹ The clouds, according to the comment.

² Tuje nas-tane: tane is rendered by vistrite, expanded, and tuje by dáne, gift, or tuje may mean son, and tane grandson.

- 10. I glorify with unqualified praise the embryo of the earth-fertilizing rain,⁴ the grandson of the waters, AGNI, who is threefold, who rages (upon me) not, when travelling, with (his) withering rays,⁵ but, bright-haired, consumes the forests.
- 11. How can we offer (fit praise) to the mighty posterity of RUDRA, or to the all-knowing BHAGA, for (the sake of obtaining) riches: may the waters, may the plants, protect us, and the heaven, the woods, and the mountains, whose tresses are trees.
- 12. May the lord of vigour, (VAYU), hear our prayers; he who traverses the firmament, the circumambient: may the waters hear, bright as cities, flowing round the towering mountains.

² Áptyo yajatah: according to Sáyana, the first means áptavyah sarvaih, to be obtained by all; the second, yajaniya, to be worshipped, that is, Áditya.

^{&#}x27;3 Nah sansam abhishtau, our praise in seeking or approaching; the want of a verb renders this somewhat doubtful.

⁶ Puro na subhrá, puráni iva díptá, shining like cities.

- 13. Mighty Maruts, of goodly aspect, quickly hear (the praises) that we who repair to you repeat, offering acceptable (oblations): (the Maruts) coming hither well disposed, come down to us, (destroying) with their weapons the mortals opposed to them, (overcome) by agitation.
- 14. I offer adoration to the company of the Maruts deserving of sacred sacrifice, to obtain the waters, whether born of heaven or earth: may my praises prosper: may the joy-bestowing heavens (flourish): may the rivers cherished (by the Maruts) be filled with water.
- 15. My praise has been continually proffered as a protectress, powerful with (the means of) preservation: may the maternal and venerable earth accept our (praises), and, (pleased) with her pious (worshippers) be (to us) straight-handed, and the giver of good.
- 16. How may we (duly) worship the liberal (MARUTS) with praise, how adore the MARUTS with present praise in a fitting manner, the glorious MARUTS with present praise? may AHIRBUDHNYA contrive not for our harm; may he be the destroyer (of our enemies).
- 17. The mortal (sacrificer) worships you, gods, at all times for progeny and cattle: verily, gods, the mortal worships you: may NIRRITI,² on this occasion, sustain my body with salutary food, and keep off decay.

- 18. Divine Vasus, may we obtain from the adorable cow invigorating and mind-sustaining food: may that liberal and benignant goddess, hastening (hither), come for our felicity.
- 19. May ILA, the mother of the herd, and URVASÍ, with the rivers, be favourable to us: may the bright-shining URVASÍ (come), commending our devotion, and investing the worshipper with light.²
- 20. May she cherish us (as the servants) of our patron URJAVYA.³

SÚRTA X. (XLII.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre is Trishtubh.

1. May our most animating praise, together with our offerings, successfully attain VARUNA, MITRA, BHAGA, and ADITI: may the ministrant of the five (vital airs, VAYU), the dweller in the dappled (firma-

¹ Ilá may here be the earth, or the daughter of Manu, in the form of a cow, the mother of the herd, yúthasya mátá; or the latter may be explained nirmátrí, she who measures; or yútha may be applied to the company of the Maruts, when Ilá, it is said, may be mádhyamihá rách, middle, articulate or human speech; or the latter sense may be applied to Urvasí.

² Abhyúrnváná prabhritasya áyoh: the latter, the commentator says, is to be read áyum, in the accusative, man, or the Yajamána: prabhrita, upon the authority of Yásha, Niruhta, 11. 49, may mean either light, tejas, or water, udaham, and, being in the genitive, requires some such term as dánena, by the gift of, to be supplied; or the ellipse may be filled up by yajnam, when the sentence will be, covering or protecting the sacrifice of the man making the offering.

ment), he whose path is unimpeded, who is the giver of life, the bestower of happiness, hear.

- 2. May Aditi accept my affectionate and devoted praise, as a mother (the endearments of) a son: the pleasing, delightful prayer that is approved of by the gods I address to VARUNA and MITRA.
- 3. Celebrate, (priests), the most prophetic of the prophets; imbue him with the sweet libation, and may the divine SAVITRI bestow upon us ample, beneficial, and delightful riches.
- 4. With a (willing) mind, INDRA, thou associatest us with cattle, with pious (priests), and, lord of steeds, with prosperity, with (sacrificial) food that is agreeable to the gods, and with the favour of the adorable deities.²
- 5. May the divine Bhaga, Savitri the lord of wealth, Ansa, Indra (the slayer) of Vritra, (all) the conquerors of riches, Ribhukshin, Vája, and also Purandhi, immortals, hastening (to our sacrifice) preserve us.
- 6. We celebrate the exploits of MARUTWAT, the unrecoiling, the victorious, the undecaying: neither the ancients, Maghavan, nor their successors, have attained thy prowess, nor has any one recent attained it.

Varga XVIII.

To something of prophetic strain."

[&]quot;Till old experience doth attain,

² Yajur-Veda, 2. 15: there are one or two varieties of reading, but they are not of any importance.

³ Ribhukshin is usually considered to be a name of Indra, but here it implies Ribhu, whilst Purandhi is equivalent to Vibhu, making, with Vája, the triad.

- 7. Glorify the first donor of precious treasure, BRIHASPATI, the distributer of riches, the bestower of great happiness upon him who recites or chants (his praise), who comes laden with ample wealth to his invoker.
- 8. Associated, BRIHASPATI, with thy protections, (men) are unharmed (by foes), and become opulent and blessed with descendants: may wealth devolve on those who are generous, and givers of horses, of cows, of clothes.
- 9. Render transitory the riches of those who partake of enjoyment without giving satisfaction (to those who are eminent) by holy hymns: put apart from the sun¹ those who perform not sacred rites, and who, though prospering in their posterity, are the adversaries of prayer.²
- 10. Send, MARUTS, into darkness, with (cars) devoid of wheels, the man who invites the Rákshasas to the food of the gods; (him also) who reviles me when offering praise to you: whilst sweating, he toils (to realise) vain desires.
- 11. Praise him who has the sure arrow, the strong bow, who presides over all sanitary drugs; worship RUDRA for a comprehensive and sound understanding; adore the powerful divinity with prostrations.
- 12. May the dextrous handed, humble-minded artisans (of the gods, the RIBHUS); may the wives of the showerer (INDRA); may the rivers carved out by ¹ Súryád yávayaswa, make them separate, condemn them to darkness.

² Brahmadweshtrín, Sáyana says, may mean haters of Brahmans, or of mantras, that is, in the latter case, of the Vedas.

VIBHU; may SARASWATÍ and the brilliant RAKA, the illustrious granters of desires, be willing to grant us riches.

- 13. To the great protector, (INDRA), I offer devoutly pious praise, new and originated (at this time): to him, the showerer, who, for his daughter (earth), giving form to the rivers, has provided this water for our (use).
- 14. May thy pious praise, oh worshipper, assuredly reach the thundering, roaring lord of ILA, who, impelling the clouds and distributing the rain, proceeds, illuminating the heaven and earth with lightning.
- 15. May this hymn reach up to the presence of the might of the MARUTS, the youthful sons of RUDRA: the desire of riches incites me to holiness: glorify those who go to sacrifice on spotted steeds.
- 16. May this hymn attain (the divinities) of earth and heaven, the trees, the herbs, for (the sake of) wealth: may each individual deity be successfully invoked by me: let not mother earth take us into unfavourable thought.
- 17. May we ever, gods, enjoy great and uninterrupted felicity.
- 18. May we ever be participant of the unprecedented, joy-conferring, and well-guided protection of the Aswins: bring to us, immortal (Aswins), riches, male progeny, and all good things.

SÚKTA XI. (XLIII.)

The deities as before; The Rishi is ATRI; the metre is Trishtubh.

1. May the milch kine, quick-moving, doing no harm, come to us, (laden) with their sweet fluid: the wise worshipper invokes the seven vast and joy-diffusing (rivers) for the sake of ample riches.

- 2. (I purpose) to approach with pious praise, and with oblations, for (the sake of) the uninjured heaven and earth: may the paternal (heaven), and the sweet-spoken, free-handed, maternal (earth), both enjoying renown, defend us in every battle.
- 3. Priests, who are preparing (the libation), first offer to VAYU the delightful and brilliant (Soma); and do thou, divine VAYU, like the HOTRI, first drink of this sweet juice, (which) we offer for thine exhibitantion.¹
- 4. The ten expressers of the juice, (the fingers), and the two arms of the priest, which are the dextrous immolators of the Soma, take hold of the stone: the exulting, skilful-fingered (priest) milks the mountainborn juice of the sweet Soma, and that Soma (yields its) pure juice.²
- 5. The Soma has been effused, (INDRA), for thy gratification, for (giving thee) strength in action, and for thy great exhilaration: therefore, INDRA, when invoked by us, put to thy two beloved, docile, well-trained horses in thy car, and come down.
- 6. Acri, being well pleased with us, bring to us, by paths frequented by the gods, the divine (female) GnA, mighty and omnipresent, to whom oblations are

² The text has only suhram ansuh, which is thus explained, sa cha ansuh suhram nirmalam rasam dugdhe, and that Soma has milked the pure juice; or Ansu may be an epithet of Adhwaryu, the extensively present priest, ansur vyapto adhwaryuh.

³ Gná is a synonyme of strí, a woman, a wife: it commonly offered with reverence, who is vast and cognizant of rites, to partake of the exhibitantion of the sweet Soma.

- 7. The vessel¹ which the priests, celebrating (it), supply with butter, as if roasting a marrow-yielding animal with fire, has been placed, desirous of the sacrifice, upon the fire, like a son upon the lap of his father.
- 8. May this adoring, earnest, and gratifying praise go like a messenger to summon the Aswins hither: come, Aswins, givers of happiness, riding in one chariot, come down to the deposited (Soma), as the bolt (is essential) to the axle of the waggon.²
- 9. I offer adoration to the powerful and rapid Púshan, and to (the powerful and rapid) Váyu, who are both instigators of the desire of wealth and of food, (who are both) distributors of riches.
- 10. Bring hither JATAVEDAS, who art invoked by us all, the MARUTS, under their several names and forms: come, all ye MARUTS, with all your protecting faculties, to the sacrifice, the praises, and the adoration of the worshipper.
- 11. May the radiant Saraswarf come to the sacrifice from the heavens or the spacious firmament: may the goddess, the showever of water, propitiated by our invocation, and desirous of our gratifying praises, hear.

² As the cart cannot move if the axle of the wheel is not fastened by the pin or bolt, so the offering of the Soma is without efficacy unless the Aswins be present.

- 12. (Priests) place the mighty BRIHASPATI, the creator, whose back is dark blue, in the chamber (of sacrifice): let us worship him who is seated in the interior of the mansion, everywhere shining, goldenhued, resplendent.
- 13. May the sustainer of all, (AGNI), the greatly radiant, the delighter, come, with all his protecting (faculties), when invoked; he who is clothed with flames and with plants; who is irresistible; who has horns of three colours; the showever (of benefits), the accepter of oblations.
- 14. The holders of the (sacrificial) ladles, the ministrant priests of the man (who institutes the rite), have repaired to the bright and most excellent place of the maternal (earth): offerers of the oblation, they foster the tender infant, (AGNI), with worship, as people rub (the limbs of a child to promote his) existence.
- 15. Married pairs, worn by devout rites, jointly offer abundant sacrificial food, Agni, to thee⁵ who art mighty: may each individual divinity be successfully

² Tridhatu sringah, his flames of three colours, red, white, and black (or smoke).

³ That is, to the fire altar.

invoked by me: let them not take us into unfavourable thought.1

- 16. May we ever, gods, enjoy great and uninterrupted felicity.²
- 17. May we ever be participant of the unprecedented, joy-conferring, and well-guiding protection of the Aswins: bring to us, immortal (Aswins), riches, male progeny, and all good things.

SÚKTA XII. (XLIV.)

The deities are the same; the Rishi is AVATSÁRA of the race of KASYAPA; the metre of the fourteenth and fifteenth verses is Trishtubh, of the rest Jagatí.

- 1. In like manner as the ancient (sages), those our predecessors, as all sages, and those of the present period, (have obtained their wishes by his praise), so do thou by praise extract (my desires) from him who is the oldest and best (of the gods), who is seated on the sacred grass, who is cognizant of heaven, coming to our presence, vigorous, swift, victorious, for by such praises thou exaltest him.³
- 2. Do thou, (INDRA), who art radiant in heaven, spread through the regions, for the good (of mankind), those the beautiful (waters) of the unyielding cloud: doer of good deeds, thou art the preserver (of men), not (destined) for their detriment: thou art superior to all delusions; thy name abides in the world of truth.
 - 3. He, (AGNI), is associated with the perpetual

² See verse 17 of the preceding Súkta.

³ Or anu yásu varddhase may be applied to Indra, thou prosperest, Indra, by such praises: this is Mahidhara's explanation, which differs in some other respects from that of Sáyaṇa, Yajur-Veda, 7. 12.

oblation that is the true (source of good); the sustainer of all, he is of unrestricted movement, the offerer (of burnt-offerings), the cherisher of strength: gliding especially over the sacred grass, the showerer (of benefits); an infant, a youth, exempt from decay, whose place is among plants.

- 4. These well-combined rays (of the sun) are descending with intent to proceed on the path (of the sacrifice), amplifiers of the ceremony for this (its institutor): operating with these swift-moving, all-regulating rays, he, (ADITYA), steals the waters (that flow) in low places.
- 5. Object of honest eulogium, (AGNI), thou shinest amongst the reciters of thy praises when the Soma is received at its effusion by the wooden (cups), and thou, accepting (the beverage), art animated by the heart-affecting (praises): giver of life, increase in the sacrifice thy protecting flames.¹
- 6. Such as (the deity) is beheld, such is he said (to be): they abide with concentrated splendour in the waters: (may they bestow) upon us honourable and ample (riches), great energy, numerous male offspring, and undecaying vigour.
- 7. The sage Súrya, advancing, accompanied by his bride, (the dawn), proceeds boldly, intent on combat with his enemies: may he on whom riches are dependent, secure our entire felicity, (and grant) a brilliant and everywhere protecting mansion.

- 8. The (pious man) proceeds to thee, most excellent (of the gods, who art indicated) by the sign of this moving (revolution); who art hymned by the Rishis in whose praises thy name (is glorified): he obtains that blessing by his devotion, on whatsoever (his desire) has been fixed; and he also, who of his own accord offers (worship), acquires abundant (reward).
- 9. The chiefest of these (cur praises) proceed to the ocean-like sun: that chamber of sacrifice fails not in which (his praises) are prolonged: there the heart's desire of the worshipper is not disappointed where the mind is known to be attached to the pure (sun).
- 10. He verily (is to be glorified): let us, with the pleasant thoughts of KSHATRA, MANASA, AVADA, YAJATA, SADHRI, and AVATSÁRA,³ fill up the invigorating food, (the portion) to be shared by the wise.
- 11. Swift is the excessive and girth-distending inebriation of VISWAVÁRA, YAJATA, and MÁYIN: (by drinking) of these (juices) they urge one another to Varga XXV.

¹ Asya yatunasya ketuná is the text; the explanation is harmanodayádilakshanena, characterized by functions such as rising and the like.

² Ya u swayam vahate so aram karat, he who, not urged by another, entertains of his own mind the hope of reward, he does much, or enough: atyartham karoti is one explanation; another is, atyartham kuryát, let him do much, or enough: neither is very explicit.

³ These, according to the scholiast, are the names of the Rishis.

drink: they find the copious draught the prompt giver of intoxication.

- 12. May SADÁPRINA, YAJATA, BÁHUVRIKTA, SURTAVIT, TARYA, associated with you, destroy your foes: the Rishi obtains his desires in both (worlds), and shines brightly, whenever he adores with well-mingled (offerings and praises) the host (of heaven).
- 14. SUTAMBHARA is the ministrant priest of the institutor of the sacrifice,² the causer of the upward ascent of all holy rites: the milch-cow offers juicy (milk); the milk is distributed: announcing this in order, (AVATSÁRA) studies (the holy texts) without repose.
- 14. Him who is ever vigilant, holy verses desire: to him who is ever vigilant sacred songs proceed: him who is ever vigilant the Soma thus addresses, I am always abiding in thy fellowship.
- 15. AGNI is ever vigilant, and him holy verses desire: AGNI is ever vigilant, and to him sacred songs proceed: AGNI is ever vigilant, and him the Soma thus addresses, I am ever abiding in thy fellowship.

² Sutambharo yajamánasya satpatih: the last, according to Sáyana, is put for hotri; the first is the name of a Rishi: its etymological purport, the bearer or offerer of the libation, is possibly only a metaphorical personation, and, with the context, though mystically expressed, merely describes the effusion of the Soma.

ANUVAKA IV.

SÚKTA I. (XLV.)

The deities are the Viewadevas; the Rishi is Sadaprina; the metre is Trishtubh.

- I. (INDRA) recovered (the hidden cattle), hurling his thunderbolt from heaven at the prayers of the ANGIRASAS: the rays of the approaching dawn are spread around: the divine sun, scattering the clustered gloom, has risen and set open the doors of (the habitations of) men.
- 2. The sun distributes his radiance as if it was a substance: the parent of the rays of light, (the dawn), knowing his approach, comes from the spacious (firmament): the rivers with running waters flow, breaking down their banks: the heaven is stable like a well-constructed pillar.
- 3. To me, when offering praise, as to an ancient author of sacred songs, the burthen of the cloud (descends); the cloud parts (with its burthen); the sky performs (its office): the assiduously worshipping Angirasas are exhausted by much (adoration).
- 4. Indra and Agni, I invoke you for my salvation with well-uttered words, agreeable to the gods; for verily, sages excelling in sacrifice, and diligently adoring, worship you with sacred songs, prompt as the Maruts (in devotion).
- 5. Come to-day quickly: let us be engaged in pious acts: let us entirely annihilate the hostile: let us keep off all secret enemies: let us hasten to the presence of the institutor of the rite.

- 6. Come, friends, let us celebrate that solemn rite which was effectual in setting open the (secret) stalls of the (stolen) cattle; by which MANU overcame Visisipra; by which the merchant, going to the wood (for it), obtained the water.²
- 7. At this sacrifice the stone (set in motion) by the hands (of the priests) makes a noise, whereby the nine-month ministrants celebrated the ten-months worship: when Sarama, going to the ceremony, discovered the cattle, and Angiras rendered all the rites effective.
- 8. When all the ANGIRASAS, on the opening of this adorable dawn, came in contact with the (discovered) cattle, then milk and the rest were offered in the august assembly, for SARAMÁ had found the cows by the path of truth.
- 9. May Súrra, lord of seven steeds, arrive, for he has a distant goal (to reach) by a tedious route: fleet as a hawk he pounces upon the offered (sacrificial) food: ever young and far-seeing, he shines, moving amidst rays of light.

² Vanij-vankur ápa purísham: the scholiast says this alludes to the story of kakshívan: see vol 1, p. 291, verse 11.

³ Or, when the priests of both the nine and ten months rites offered worship: see vol. 1. p. 167, note

⁴ Saramá, according to Sáyana, may here signify either flowing, eulogistic, or sacred speech, saranasílá stutirúpá vák, or, as usual, the bitch of Indra.

- 10. Súrra has ascended above the glistening water, as soon as he has put to his bright-backed steeds: sage (worshippers) have drawn him, like a ship, across the sea: the waters, hearing his commands, have come down.
- 11. I offer to you, (gods), for the sake of water, an all-bestowing sacrifice, whereby the nine-months ministrants have completed the ten months rite: may we, by this sacrifice, be the protected of the gods; may we, by this sacrifice, cross over the boundaries of sin.

SÚKTA II. (XLVI.)

The deities of the first six stanzas are the Viswadevas, of the last two the wives of the gods; the Rishi is Pratikshatra; the metre of the second and eighth stanzas is Trishtubh, of the rest Jagatí.

- 1. The sage, (PRATIKSHATRA), has, of his own accord, attached himself to the burthen (of sacrifice), like a horse (to a chariot): I support that transcendant and preservative load: I do not desire release from it, nor yet its reiterated imposition: the sage, going first, conducts (men) by the right path.
- 2. Agni, Indra, Varuna, Mitra, gods, confer (upon us) strength: or, company of the Maruts, or Vishnu, (bestow it): and may both the Násatyas, Rudra, the wives of the gods, Púshan, Bhaga, Saraswatí, be pleased (by our adoration).
 - 3. I invoke for protection INDRA and AGNI, MITRA

¹ Súryo áruhat suhram arnas: Súrya has mounted the bright water, that is, the commentator says, he has become everywhere visible; but it looks very like an allusion to the sun's rising apparently out of the sea.

Varga XXVIII. and Varuna, Aditi, Swar, Earth, Heaven, the Maruts, the clouds, the waters, Vishnu, Púshan, Brahmanaspati, and Savitri.

- 4. Or may VISHNU grant us felicity, or the innoxious wind, or Soma the bestower of riches; or may the RIBHUS, the, ASWINS, TWASHTRI, or VIBHWAN be favourably disposed to our enrichment.
- 5. Or may the adorable, heaven abiding company of the Maruts, come to us to take their seats on the sacred grass; or may Brinaspati, Púshan, Varuna, Mitra, Aryaman, bestow upon us domestic happiness.
- 6. Or may the glorious mountains, the beneficent rivers, be to us for our preservation: may BHAGA, the apportioner of wealth, come with abundance and protection: may this wide-pervading ADITI hear my invocation.
- 7. May the wives of the gods, desiring (our homage), defend us: may they so protect us that (we may obtain) vigorous (offspring) and abundant food: whether terrestrial, or those in charge of the waters (in the firmament), do you, goddesses, earnestly invoked, bestow upon us felicity.
- 8. Or may the goddesses, the wives of the gods, accept (the offering): Indrani, Agnayí, the radiant Aswiní, Rodasí, Varunání, may each hear (our prayer): may the goddesses partake (of the oblation):

¹ Swar is a name of Aditya according to both commentators, this and the preceding stanza occurring also in the Yajush, 33, 48, 49.

² According to Yáska, she is the wife of Rudra: we have had her before as the bride of the Maruts, vol. 11. p. 135, v. 5.

³ Vyantu devih, may the goddesses eat, Niruhta, xII. 46.

SUKTA III. (XLVII.)

The deities are the VISWADEVAS: the Rishi is PRATIRATHA: the metre is Trishtubh.

- 1. Arousing (men to their labours), the adorable (Dawn) comes from the heaven, a mighty mother, the awakener of her daughter (earth): plous, ever young, and glorified, (she comes), when invoked, to the chamber of sacrifice with the protecting (gods).
- 2. The rays (of light) extending round, fulfilling their duty (of bringing on the day), abiding in contact with the orb of the immortal (sun), unlimited and diffusive, spread everywhere through heaven and earth.

Varga I.

¹ Yá ritur janinám, that which is the time of the wives of the gods, that is, the goddesses presiding over it: yo devajá-yánám hálas-tadabhimáná devyah.

² Duhitur bodhayantí, bhúmyá bodham hurváná, making the awaking of the daughter, the comment says, of the earth: in a subsequent passage quoted by Sáyana we have Ushas called divor duhitá bhuvanasya patní, the daughter of heaven, the bride of earth: she is most usually designated the daughter of heaven: see vol II. p. 10, verse 3.

- 3. The showerer (of rain), the shedder of dew, the radiant and quick-going (car) has entered the region of the paternal east: the many-tinted and pervading (luminary) proceeds to both extremities of the firmament, (and so) preserves (the world).
- 4. The four (chief priests)² sustain him (with oblations and praises), seeking their own welfare: the ten (regions of space) invigorate him, their embryo, to travel (his daily course): his three elementary rays³ swiftly traverse the boundaries of the sky.
- 5. (Behold),⁴ men, this indescribable form from which the rivers (spring), and where the waters dwell; which (form, the firmament), the two, (day and night), associated and equally allied, as well as other (seasons), born (of it, as of a parent), here and there sustain.⁵
- 6. To him (worshippers) multiply praises and acts of adoration: for (him as for) a son, the (divine) mothers weave garments (of light): rejoicing in the

³ Tridhátavo gávah, supposed to be the causes of cold, heat, and rain.

⁴ It may be rendered, also, men, look at the form which is to be seen: the text has no verb.

It is not very clear what is intended, but apparently the contact of their impregnation, the wives of the sun, (the solar rays), come to our presence by the path of the sky.

7. May this (hymn), MITRA and VARUNA, be valued (by you): may it, AGNI, be valued (by thee) as the means to us of happiness unmixed: may we (thence) obtain stability and permanence: reverence be to thee, radiant and mighty asylum (of the universe).

SÚKTA IV. (XLVIII.)

The deities as before; the Rishi is PRATIBHANU; the metre Jugati.

- 1. When may we offer adoration to the benevolent splendour, strong in its own (strength), self-sustaining with food deserving of worship: when the delusive (energy of AGNI), investing (the heavens), spreads the waters above the clouds over the unbounded firmament.¹
- 2. These dawns diffuse the consciousness that is apprehended by pious men, and (overspread) the whole world with uniform, investing (light): the devout, man disregards the dawns which have turned back, and (those which) are to come,² and improves (his understanding) by those which have preceded.³

scholiast understands it to mean that the firmament is supported or maintained in its place by the various changes of times and seasons which it may be considered to generate.

¹ This is addressed to Agni as the lightning.

- ² Apo, apáchír-apará apejatí: the scholiast renders apáchih by pratinivrittamukhíh, apará by ágáminír-ushasah, and the verb by apachólayatí, he causes to go away, he sends away future dawns with averted faces: the first apa is considered a pleonasm.
- ³ Pra púrvábhis-tirate: pratirate is explained vardhayati swa maníshám, or swayam vardhate.

Varga II.

- 3. (Animated) by the libations offered by day and by night, (INDRA) sharpens his vast thunderbolt against the beguiler (VRITRA); he whose hundred (rays) attend him in his own abode, sending away, and bringing back (revolving) days.
- 4. (I behold) the practice of that (AGNI) as of a deputy: I celebrate the host (of rays) of that (resplendent form, (designed) for the enjoyment (of mankind): if he be with (the worshipper), he bestows upon the man who invokes him at a sacrifice such opulence as a mansion abounding with food.
- 5. Blazing with his (fiery) tongue in the four quarters (of the horizon), he proceeds (to the sacrifice), wearing beautiful (lustre), the disperser of darkness, extirpating foes: we know him not (as endowed) with manhood,² whereby this adorable SAVITRI bestows desirable (wealth).

SUKTA V. (XLIX.)

The deities are the same; the Rishi is PRATIPRABHA; the metre is Trishtubh.

1. For you, (worshippers), I approach to day the divine SAVITRI and BHAGA, the distributors of precious

² Na tasya vidma purushatvatá vayam: the scholiast says tasya is for tam, we do not know him, joined with or possessed of yuktam, manliness, purushatvena, or the property of fulfilling desires, kámánám púrahatvena (wealth) amongst men: Aswins, (leaders of rites), enjoyers of many (good things), desiring your friendship, I solicit your daily presence.

- 2. Knowing the approach of the expeller (of the foes of the gods from heaven), worship the divine SAVITRI with holy hymns: praise him with reverence, distinguishing him as distributing precious (treasures) amongst men.
- 3. Púshan, Bhaga, Aditi, bestow (severally) excellent viands: the fierce (sun) robes (himself with radiance): the good-looking (deities), Indra, Vishnu, Varuna, Mitra, Agni, give birth to happy days.
- 4. May the irreproachable SAVITRI (grant) us that desirable (wealth): may the flowing rivers hasten to (convey) it to us; for which purpose I, the ministering priest of the sacrifice, repeat (pious praises): affluent in food, may we be the lords of (manifold) riches.
- 5. May ample wealth devolve upon those who have presented victims to the Vasus,³ and upon those who have repeated praises to MITRA and VARUNA: confer upon them, (gods), felicity, and may we rejoice in the protection of heaven and earth.

² Adatrayá dayate váryáni: the first is explained adaníyáni, eatables: the verb also, it is said, may be governed by Agni understood, when the phrase will mean, Agni consumes excellent consumable timbers, varaniyáni háshtháni dahate: in that case the other terms, usually proper names, will become epithets, meaning the nourishing, the desirable, the uninjurable Agni.

³ Pra ye vasubhya ivadá namah: ivad namah are interpreted gamanavad annam, food having motion, that is, paşwátmaham, the same with animals.

SUKTA VI. (L.)

The deities as before; the Rishi is Swasti; the metre is Anushtubh, except in the fifth stanza, in which it is Panhti.

- 1. Let every man solicit the friendship of the divine leader (of heaven, the sun): let every man desire (of him) riches: let him request affluence (wherewith) to nourish (his descendants).
- 2. Divine (leader of heaven), these (worshippers) are thine, and (so are they) who praise these (other gods): these (both) we associate with opulence, we (seek) to unite with (our) desires.²
- 3. Worship, therefore, the leaders (of our rites), our guests, (the gods), and the wives (of the deities): may the (divine) discriminator drive to a distance every adversary, (and all our) enemies.
- 4. Whence the victim fit to be bound, the subject (of the sacrifice), has been stationed (at the sacrificial post): he, (SAVITRI), with mind well disposed towards

² Te ráyá te hi á priche sachemahi sachathyai, is not very perspicuous, and the explanation of Sáyana, followed in the translation, does not materially improve it, te ubhaye dhanena sachemahi, te hi te áparchaniyáh sarvaih hámaih sanyach-chhemahi.

³ Ato na á nrin atithin, atah patnir daṣasyata: the verb may be differently interpreted, and the text imply, bestow upon us male descendants, guests, and wives.

the worshipper, the donor of dwellings and descendants is like a clever wife, the bestower (of wealth).

5. Leader (of heaven), may this thy protecting chariot, laden with riches, (come for our) happiness: praisers of the honoured (SAVITRI), we glorify him for felicity through well-being: praisers of the gods, we glorify (them).

SÚRTA VII. (LI.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre of the first four stanzas is Gáyatri, of the next six Ushnih, of the next three Trishtubh, and of the last Anushtubh.

- 1. Come, AGNI, with all the protecting deities,² to drink the libation: come with the gods.
- 2. (Gods who are) devoutly praised and worshipped in truth, come to the sacrifice, and drink the libation with the tongue of AGNI.
- 3. Sage and adorable AGNI, come with the wise and early-stirring divinities to drink the Soma libation.
- 4. This Soma-juice, effused into the ladles, is poured out into the vase, acceptable to INDRA and VAYU.
- 5. Come, VAYU, propitious to the offerer of the libation, to partake of the sacrificial food, and drink of the effused juice.
 - 6. INDRA and VAYU, you ought to drink of these libations: be gratified by them, benevolent (divinities), and partake of the sacrificial food.

- 7. The Soma-juices mixed with curds are poured out to INDRA and to VAYU: the sacrificial viands proceed to you as rivers flow downwards.
- 8. Accompanied by all the gods, accompanied by the Aswins, and by Ushas, come, Agni, and, like Atri, delight in the libation.¹
- 9. Accompanied by MITRA and VARUNA, accompanied by SOMA and VISHNU, come, AGNI, and, like ATRI. delight in the libation.
- 10. Accompanied by ADITYA and the VASUS, accompanied by INDRA and by VAYU, come, AGNI, and, like ATRI, delight in the libation.
- 11. May the Aswins contribute to our prosperity: may Bhaga, and the divine Aditi (contribute) to (our) prosperity: may the irresistible Vishnu, the scatterer (of foes), bestow upon us prosperity: may the conscious Heaven and Earth (bestow upon us) prosperity.
- 12. We glorify VAYU for prosperity, SOMA for prosperity, he who is the protector of the world: (we praise) BRIHASPATÍ (attended by) all the companies (of the deities), for prosperity, and for our prosperity may the ADITYAS be ours.
 - 13. May all the gods be with us to day for our

² The term in this and the following similar passages is always swasti-swasti no mimitam aswiná, interpreted avinásam kshemam, imperishable prosperity, or, literally, well-being, welfare.

prosperity: may AGNI, the benefactor of all men, and giver of dwellings, (be with us) for (our) prosperity: may the divine Ribhus protect us for (our) prosperity: may RUDRA preserve us from iniquity for (our) prosperity.

- 14. MITRA and VARUNA, grant us prosperity: Path (of the firmament), and Goddess of riches, (grant us) prosperity: may Indra and Agni (grant us) prosperity: Aditi, bestow prosperity upon us.
- 15. May we ever follow prosperously our path, like the sun and the moon: may we be associated with a requiting, grateful, and recognisant (kinsman).²

SÚKTA VIII. (LII.)

The deities are the MARUTS; the Rishi is SYÁVÁSWA; the metre of the sixth and seventh stanzas is Pankti, of the rest Anushtubh.

1. Offer worship with perseverance, Syavaswa, to the praise-deserving Maruts; they who are adorable and delight in the daily offered and inoffensive sacrificial food.

Varga VII

¹ Pathye, Revati, are considered as two proper names, Pathyá that of a goddess presiding over the Antariksha, and Revatí, of a goddess presiding over riches: it may be doubted if there is any better authority for these divinities than etymology.

² Punardadatá, aghnatá, jánatá, with one who gives again, one who does not kill or harm, usually, one who does not make an evil return to kindness, one who is grateful, although Sáyana here explains it, one who does not inflict injury by long-suspended anger: jánata, by one knowing, he says, is meant one who does not cut an old acquaintance, madiyas-chirahálam gatah ho ayam iti sandeham akurvatú, by one who does not feel any doubt, saying, who is this of mine that has been long since gone away: to these designations; bandhujana, a kinsman, is to be applied, bandhujanena sangamemahi.

- 2. They are the firm friends of steady vigour, who, proceeding resolute on their way, willingly protect (our) numerous (descendants).
- 3. Gliding along, and shedding moisture, they pass through the nights: therefore we now celebrate the might of the MARUTS, manifested in both heaven and earth.
- 4. We enjoin you, (priests), to offer earnestly praise and sacrifice to the MARUTS, who, through all human ages, protect the mortal worshipper from harm.
- 5. Offer sacrifice to the adorable MARUTS, who (have come) from heaven, who are worthy of worship, munificent leaders (of rites), and possessors of unequalled strength.
- 6. Leaders (of the rains), the mighty MARUTS shine with brilliant ornaments and weapons, and hurl javelins (at their foes, the clouds): the lightnings, like roaring (torrents), daily follow the MARUTS: the radiance of the resplendent (cohort) spontaneously breaks forth.
- 7. The MARUTS, who are of the earth¹ are augmented, so are those in the vast firmament: they increase in the force of the rivers, and in the aggregate of the spacious heaven.
- 8. Glorify the truth-invigorated and infinite strength of the MARUTS, for they, the leaders (of the rains), gliding along, are labouring voluntarily for (our) good.
 - 9. Whether they (abide) on the Parushní (river), or, purifying (all), they clothe themselves with light, or whether they break through the clouds with strength by the wheels of their chariots;

- 10. (Whether), following the paths that lead (to us), or that spread diversely, or those that sink into the hollows (of the mountain), or those that extend smoothly,² they, (however) scattered, accept the sacrifice for my benefit, (when invoked by these appellations).
- 11. Now, leaders (of the rains), they support (the world): now, blending together, they (bear the oblation: now, situated remote, (they uphold distant objects): so may their manifold forms be manifest.
- 12. The reciters of sacred metres, desirous of water, and celebrating (the MARUTS), have drawn them to (provide) a well (for GOTAMA)⁴: some of them, (invisible) as thieves, have been my defenders: some have been (obvious) to view through the light (of life).
- 13. Glorify, Rishi, with grateful praise, the company of the MARUTS, who are manifest, bright with

- 14. Approach, Rishi, with offerings and with praise, the company of the MARUTS like a friend of come, sustaining (MARUTS), with your strength, from heaven or (any other region), glorified by our hymns.
- 15. Glorifying them promptly, desiring not to bring (other) deities to (his) presence, let (the worshipper) associate his gifts with those wise (divinities) renowned for their velocity, and distributors (of rewards).
- 16. To me, inquiring of their kindred, the sage (MARUTS) have uttered a reply: they have declared PRISNI (to be their) mother; the mighty ones have declared the food-bestowing RUDRA (to be their) father.
- 17. May the seven times seven all-potent (MARUTS, aggregated as) a single troop,² bestow upon me hundreds (of cattle): may I possess wealth of cows, renowned upon the (banks of) the Yamuná:³ may I possess wealth of horses.

1. Who knows the birth of these (MARUTS)? who has formerly been (participant) of the enjoyments of the MARUTS (by whom) the spotted deer are harnessed (to their chariots)?

- 2. Who has heard them, when standing in their cars, (declare) whither they go? upon what liberal worshipper do their kindred rains descend together with manifold food?
- 3. To me have they spoken; they who came to me with radiant steeds to (drink) the exhilarating beverage: to me (they have said), when beholding them, who are the formless leaders (of rites), and friends of man, repeat our praise.
- 4. (The praise of them) who are all self-irradiating, splendid in ornaments, in arms, in garlands, in breast-plates, in bracelets,² in chariots, in bows.
- 5. I contemplate your chariots, munificent MARUTS, with delight, like wandering lights in the rains.
- 6. Leaders (of the rain), munificent givers, they cause that which is the treasury (of water) to fall from the sky for (the benefit of) the donor (of the offering): they let loose the rain cloud, and the shedders of rain spread (everywhere) with (abundant) water.

- 7. The gliding (torrents), issuing (from the clouds), overspread the firmament with water, as milch-cows (yield milk), and like rapid horses let loose upon the road, the rivers rush in various directions.
- 8. Come, MARUTS, from heaven, from the firmaments, or from this (earth); tarry not far off.
- 9. Let not the Rasá, the Anitabhá, the Kubhá,¹ or the wide-roving ocean² delay you: let not the watery Sarayu oppose you: may the happiness of your (approach) be ours.
- 10. I praise that brilliant company of the MARUTS, who have your strength of recent chariots, you whom the rains attend.
- 11. Let us wait with sacred praises and holy rites upon your several strength, and separate troop, and individual company.
- 12. To what well-born and oblation-giving (worshipper) will the MARUTS proceed to-day in this their car?
- 13. With the same (goodwill) that you bestow imperishable grain-seed a upon a son, or grandson bestow it upon us, for we ask of you life-sustaining and auspicious wealth.
- 14. May we overcome our secret and reviling adversaries, having departed from iniquity by good deeds: may we possess, MARUTS, through the rain

- 15. Renowned (host of) MARUTS, leaders (of rites), that mortal is favoured by the gods, and blessed with progeny, whom you protect: may we be such as he is.
- 16. Praise the givers of enjoyment, (the MARUTS), at the sacrifice of this worshipper, (for they) delight in (pious praise), like cattle in fodder: wherefore call upon them as if upon old friends; praise them, desirous of praise, with a sacred hymn.

SURTA X. (LIV.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre is Jagati, in the fourteenth stanza Trishtubh.

- 1. Offer praise to the company of the MARUTS, the self-irradiating, the precipitators of mountains: present liberal oblations to the assuagers of heat, to those who come from the sky, to whom solemn rites are familiar, to the givers of abundant food.
- 2. Your (cohort), MARUTS, is conspicuous, mighty, shedding water and augmenting food: yoking your horses (to your cars), spreading everywhere, and combined with the lightning, the triple-(stationed company) roars aloud, and the circumambient waters fall upon the earth.
- 3. The MARUTS (appear) radiant with lightning, leaders (of the rain), armed with weapons of adamant, blazing with the wind, the precipitators of mountains, the repeated distributors of water, wielders of the

- 4. Powerful RUDRAS, you urge on the nights and days, the firmament and the worlds: agitators (of all things), you toss the clouds like ships (in the sea), so (you throw down) the strong places (of the enemy); but, MARUTS, you do no harm.
- 5. Your prowess, Maruts, has spread wide your glory as the sun (sends afar his) radiance, or the white (horses of the gods travel far) in their course: of unbounded lustre, you clove the cloud withholding the waters.
- 6. MARUTS, dispensers of rain, your strength is manifested when, shaking the water-laden cloud, you let loose the shower: conjointly propitiated, conduct us by an easy path leading to prosperity, as the eye (shows the way).
- 7. The sage, or the sovereign, whom you, MARUTS, direct, is never overcome nor slain: he perishes not, nor suffers pain, nor undergoes injury, nor are his riches or his safety imperilled.
- 8. Lords of the Nigut steeds, overcomers of multitudes, leaders (of rites), radiant as the Adityas, are the dispensers of water: when sovereign lords, they fill the clouds, and, loud sounding, moisten the earth with sweet (watery) sustenance.

gent Maruts, become (proprietors) of wealth, comprising food bestowed by you: of wealth that vanishes not, as TISHYA¹ (declines not) from the sky: therefore, Maruts, gratify us with infinite (riches).

- 14. You bestow, MARUTS, wealth and enviable posterity; you protect the sage learned in the Sáma: you grant horses and food to (me) the ministrant priest; you render a prince prosperous.
- 15. Therefore do I solicit wealth of you, who are prompt to grant protection, whereby we may multiply our descendants, as the sun (spreads wide his rays): be propitiated, MARUTS, by this my praise, by the efficacy whereof may we pass over a hundred winters.

SÚKTA XI. (LV.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre of the last verse is Trishtubh, of the rest Jagati.

- 1. The adorable MARUTS, armed with bright lances and cuirassed with golden breastplates, enjoy vigorous existence: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- 2. MARUTS, you have of yourselves maintained your vigour according as you judge (fit): you shine most mighty and vast, and you pervade the firmament with your power: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.

¹ Tishyn is said by Sáyann to be a synonyme of Áditya: in its ordinary acceptation it is the eighth lunar mansion: the appropriation is of some interest, as affording evidence of the existence of the astronomical divisions of the moon's path in the days of the Veda.

- 4. Your might, MARUTS, is to be glorified: it is to be contemplated like the orb of the sun: sustain us ever in immortality: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- 5. You send (the rain), MARUTS, from the firmament: charged with the waters you shower down the rain: destroyers of foes, your milch kine are never dry: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- 6. When you yoke your spotted mares to the poles (of your chariots), you lay aside your golden breast-plates, for you dissipate all hostility: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- 7. Let not the mountains, let not the rivers, arrest you: whither you purpose, (MARUTS), thither repair, and compass heaven and earth: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- 8. Whatever (rite has been addressed to you), MARUTS, of old; whatever is recent; whatever (hymn) is receited, VASUS, whatever prayer is repeated, do you be cognizant of all: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- 9. Send us felicity, MARUTS; harm us not: bestow upon us exceeding happiness: reward our adoration by your friendship: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- 10. Do you, MARUTS, conduct us to opulence: propitiated by our praises, extricate us from sin: accept, adorable (MARUTS), our onered oblation, and may we be the possessors of riches.

SÚKTA XII. (LVI.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the third and eleventh verses are in the Satobrihati, the rest in the Brihati metre.

- 1. I invoke, AGNI, the victorious company (of the MARUTS) decorated with brilliant ornaments: (I invoke them), the people of the MARUTS, to descend to-day from above the shining heaven.
- 2. In whatever manner thou honourest the (MAURTS, AGNI), in thy heart, may they come to me as benefactors: gratify, (by oblations), those fierce-looking MARUTS, who most promptly come to thy invocations.
- 3. As the (people of the) earth having a powerful lord have recourse to him when oppressed (by others), so comes (the host of the Maruts) exulting to us: your company, Maruts, active as fire, is as difficult to be resisted as a formidable ox.
- 4. They who with ease destroy (their foes) by their prowess, like horses ² difficult to be restrained, they send down by their movements the vast and sounding water-laden cloud.
 - 5. Rise up (MARUTS): verily by my praises I in-

Varga XX.

- 7. And let not that horse, bright-shining, loudneighing, of graceful form, who has been placed (in harness), delay you, MARUTS, on your journey: urge him on in the car.
- 8. We invoke the food-laden chariot of the Maruts, in which Rodasf² stood with the Maruts, bearing the delicious (waters).
- 9. I invoke that, your cohort, gracing the chariot, brilliant and adorable, amidst which the rain-bestowing (goddess),³ of goodly origin, and auspicious, is worshipped together with the MARUTS.

ANUVÁKA V.

SÚKTA I. (LVII.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre of the first six verses is Jagati, of the two last Trishtubh.

1. Rudras, servants of Indra, mutually kind, riding in golden cars, come to the accessible (sacrifice): this our praise is addressed to you: (come to us as you came) from heaven, (bringing) oozing water to the thirsty (Gotama), longing for moisture.

Varga XXI.

¹ Gavám sargam iva may be also rendered, like a herd of cattle.

² The wife of Rudra, and mother of the Maruts.

³ Milhushi is considered to be another name of Rodasi, the wife of Midhvat, an appellation of Rudra.

⁴ The comparison is very elliptically intimated, and requires to be largely assisted by the comment: it is, literally, this our VOL. III. 2 A

- 2. Intelligent Maruts, you are armed with swords, with lances, with bows, with arrows, with quivers; you are well mounted and have handsome chariots: sons of Prisni, you are well armed: come for our good.
- 3. You agitate the clouds in the sky: (you give) wealth to the donor (of oblations): through fear of your approach the forests bow down: sons of PRISNI, you incense the earth when, for the purpose of (sending) water, you, fierce (MARUTS), yoke your spotted steeds.
- 4. The MARUTS, radiant with light, purifiers of the rain, like twins of goodly aspect and graceful form, masters of tawny and of ruddy steeds, devoid of guile, thinners (of foes), and vast in magnitude as the sky.
- 5. Shedders of abundant showers, wearers of ornaments, munificent, of brilliant aspect, of inexhaustible wealth, well descended by birth, wearing golden breast-plates, entitled to adoration, (coming) from heaven, accept the ambrosial oblation.
- 6. Lances rest, Maruts, upon your shoulders; strength (of) foe-destroying power is seated in your arms: golden (tiaras) are on your heads, weapons are placed in your chariots, all glory is assembled in your limbs.
- 7. Maruts, bestow upon us affluence, comprehending cattle, horses, cars, treasure, and male descendants: sons of Rudra, grant us distinction: may I ever enjoy your divine protection.

praise is addressed to you as to the thirsty, from heaven, rushing waters to the water-wishing: Sáyana explains it as alluding to the legend of the well brought by the Maruts to Gotama when suffering from thirst: see vol. 1. p. 221.

8. Ho, Maruts, leaders (of rites), be propitious to us, you who are infinitely opulent, immortal, shedders of rain, renowned for truth, wise, young, greatly glorified, and worshipped with copious oblations.¹

SÚKTA II. (LVIII.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre is Trishtubh.

1. I praise to-day that brilliant company of the adorable Maruts, lords of swift horses, who pass along in strength, who, self radiant, preside over the ambrosial rain.

Varga XXII

- 2. Adore, priest, the resplendent and powerful company, whose arms (are decorated) with bracelets, whose function is the agitation (of the trees), who are wise, and by whom wealth is conferred! they who are bestowers of felicity, whose greatness is unbounded: glorify the opulent leaders (of rites).
- 3. May the universal Maruts, who urge on the rain, come to you to-day laden with water: Maruts, who are wise and young, be pleased by this fire which is kindled for you.
- 4. Adorable Maruts, you cause (a son) to be born to the man (who worships you), a ruler, an overcomer of foes, and modelled by Vībiiwan: from you, Maruts, comes a valiant descendant, strong-fisted, mighty-armed: from you (he acquires) an excellent steed.

¹ Brihat uhshamánáh may also mean sprinkling much water, udaham sinchantah.

² Vibhwatashṭam: vibwan is the second of the Ribhus, a skilful artist: fabricated by him, implies, according to the comment, very perfect or handsome, tena nirmittam atyartharúpavantam.

- 5. Like the spokes of a wheel, none (of you) are inferior (to the rest), but equal as days (of like duration): the sons of Prisni are born all alike, none inferior in splendour: rapid in speed, the Maruts, of their own free favour, send down (the rains).
- 6. When, Maruts, you come with stout-axled cars drawn by spotted steeds, then the waters descend, the forests are damaged, and the bright showerer (of the rain), influenced by the solar rays, may emit a downward sound.
- 7. On their approach the earth becomes capable of fertility, and they deposit in her water as their germ, as the husband generates the embryo of the child: they have harnessed their horses fleet as the wind: the sons of RUDRA have emitted their perspiration,² (the rain).
- 8. Ho, Maruts, leaders (of rites), be propitious to us, you who are infinitely opulent, immortal, shedders of rain, renowned for truth, wise, young, greatly glorified, and worshipped with copious oblations.³

SÚKTA III. (LIX.)

Deities and Rishi as before; the metre is Jagati, except in the last verse, in which it is Trishtubh.

1. The priest 4 glorifies you, MARUTS, for the good

¹ Avosriyo vrishabhah hrandatu dyauh: dyaur—vrishabhah, mean, it is said, the shining showerer, that is, Parjanya, or Indra, in that capacity, usriyah, in connection with the usrá or rays of the sun, avakrandatu, avánmukham sabdayatu, may sound with his face turned downwards, vrishtyartham, for the sake of rain.

³ Repeated from the last verse of the preceding Súhta.

⁴ Spas, nom. spat, for sprashtá, one who touches the oblation, or the fire, an unusual term for the Hotri.

of the donor of the oblation: offer worship to the shining (heaven): I bring offerings to the earth: they, the Maruts, scatter the rapid (rain); they traverse the firmament; they combine their own radiance with (that of) the clouds.

- 2. From their approach the earth trembles with fear, as a crowded boat goes quivering (through the water): visible from afar, they are recognised by their movements: the Maruts, leaders (of rites), pass between (heaven and earth) to the solemn sacrifice.
- 3. You bear, for your decoration, an excellent (diadem) like the horn of cattle: as the sun, the eye (of day, dispenses light), so (are you diligent) in the distribution of the rains: graceful are you, and rapid as horses, and, like (pious) mortals, you, leaders (of rites), consider (holy ceremonies) for their glory.
- 4. Who may exalt the great excellencies of you who are adorable? who may (offer you fitting) praises? who (glorify your) manly (deeds)? for you make the earth tremble like a ray (of light) when you confer the gift (of rain) for (the diffusion of) fertility.
- 5. Resplendent as steeds, of one kindred, they engage in combat like valiant heroes: like (prosperous) men, they, the leaders (of rites), have increased (in power), and cover the eye of the sun with showers.
- 6. None of them are older, none younger (than the others): the destroyers of (foes), none hold a middle (rank), but all excel in glory: honourable by birth, having Prisni for your mother, do you, Maruts, favourable to man, come from heaven to our presence.
- 7. Like birds (that fly) in rows they pass along in their strength above the vast summit (of the sky) to the ends of the firmament: their horses have caused the waters of the cloud to descend, as both 1 (gods and mortals) know.

8. May the heaven and the earth yield (rain) for our sustenance: may the wonderfully bounteous dawns exert themselves (for our good): may these sons of RUDRA, lauded, Rishi, (by thee), send down the celestial rain.

SÚKTA IV. (LX.)

The deities are the Maruts, especially as associated with AGNI; the Rishi is as before; the metre of the seventh and eighth verses is lagati; of the rest Trishtubh.

- 1. I adore the protecting AGNI with hymns: may he, propitiated on this occasion, approve of our acts: I offer (worship with praises), intended to obtain food, as if (proceeding) with cars (to the goal), circumambulating (the fire): may I exalt the praise of the MARUTS.
- 2. Fierce Maruts, sons of Rudra, who ride in easy chariots (drawn by) celebrated steeds, (at your coming) the woods bow down with fear, the earth trembles, and the mountains (shake).
- 3. The mountain, vast and lofty (though it be), is alarmed at your noise, and the summit of the firmament trembles when, lance-armed MARUTS, you are sporting: you rush along together like waters.
- 4. Like wealthy bridegrooms who have decorated their persons with golden (ornaments) and purifying waters, so the noble and powerful Maruts, associated together in their chariots, have made great (pre-

- 5. They are brothers, of whom no one is the elder, no one the younger, but who grew up together for their mutual prosperity: may their father, RUDRA, ever youthful, the doer of good deeds, and PRISNI, (their mother), easy to be milked, grant favourable days for (the sake of) the MARUTS.
- 6. Auspicious Maruts, whether you abide in the upper, the middle, or the lower heaven, (come), RUDRAS, to us from thence; and do thou, AGNI, accept the oblation which this day we offer.
- 7. Maruts, who are omniscient, since you and Agni abide above the summits of the upper (region) of the sky, do you who cause (your enemies) to tremble, and are the consumers of (our) foes, do you, being pleased, bestow upon the sacrificer who offers you oblations desirable wealth.
- 8. Agni, drink the Soma-juice, rejoicing, along with the Maruts, resplendent, adorable, associated in troops, purifying all, animating and long-lived: drink, Vaiswánara, who art identified with the ancient emblem (of flame).

SÚKTA V. (LXI.)

The deities are various: those of the first four, and the eleventh to the sixteenth verses are the Maruts; the several persons whose names occur in the other stanzas are considered to be their divinities; the Rishi is Syáváswa; the metre of the fifth stanza is Anushtubh, of the ninth Satobrihati, of the rest Gáyatri: the occasion of the hymn, according to the scholiast, is a wonderful old story, related by those learned in sacred lore: a priest of the family of ATRI, named ARCHANÁNAS, having been employed as Hotri by the Raja, RATHAVÍTI, the son of DARBHYA, saw at the ceremonial the daughter of the Raju, and, being pleased by her appearance, asked her as a wife for his son Syáváswa: Rathavíti was disposed to assent, but thought it proper first to consult his queen, who objected to the match that Syáváswa was not a Rishi, no maiden of their house having ever been given in marriage to a less saintly personage: to qualify himself, therefore, as a Rishr, Syáváswa engaged in a course of rigorous austerity, and wandered about soliciting alms: among others, he begged alms of Sasivasí, the queen of Taranta Raja, who, conducting him to her husband, said, a Rishi has arrived: the Raja replied, treat him with reverence; and Sasíyasí, with her husband's permission, gave him a herd of cattle and costly ornaments: the Raja also bestowed upon him whatever he asked for, and then sent him onwards to his younger brother, Purumílha: on his way Syáváswa met the MARUTS, whom he hymned, and was by them acknowledged to be a Rishi; he was also made the Seer (drashtá) or author of Súktas of the Veda: RATHAVÍTI then, with the concurrence of his wife, gave him his daughter to wife: this hymn was composed in honour of the benefactors of the Rishi.

- 1. Who are you, most excellent leaders (of rites), who come one by one from a region exceedingly remote?
- 2. Where are your horses? where your reins? what is your capability? where are you going? the saddle is on the back (of the steeds), the bridle in their nostrils.
- 3. The goad is (applied) to their flanks: the drivers force them to spread their thighs apart, like women in bringing forth children.
- 4. Heroes, friendly to man, of honourable birth, you are as if blazing with fire.

- 5. She, ṢạṣíYasí), who has thrown her arms round the hero Taranta, who was eulogized by ṢYÁVÁṣWA, has given me cattle comprising horses, and cows, and hundreds of sheep.
- 6. Ṣaṣíyasí, though a female, is more excellent than a man who reverences not the gods, nor bestows wealth.
- 7. For she discerns one who suffers pain, one who is in want, or one desirous (of any thing), and directs her mind towards the gods.
- 8. And, eulogizing (him), I proclaim that the man, her (other) half² is, (as it were), uncommended, for he is ever the same in munificent donations.
- 9. Young and affable, she has explained to me, Syáváswa, the road, and two ruddy horses have borne me to the valiant and renowned Purumílha.
- 10. Who, the son of VIDADASWA, has given me a hundred (head) of cattle, and, like TARANTA, many precious gifts.
- 11. Those (MARUTS) who are brought hither by swift horses, drinking the inebriating juice, receive here glorification.
- 12. They by whose glory heaven and earth are surpassed; who shine splendid in their chariots like the radiant (sun) in the heaven above.
 - 13. That company of MARUTS, ever young, riding

Varga XXVIII.

Varga XXVII

¹ Uta tvá strí Ṣaṣiyasi: tvá is said here to mean ehá, one, which is equivalent to the indefinite article.

² Nemah is the term in the text, meaning, literally, half, as it is said in the Smriti, arddham sarirasya bháryá, a wife is the half of the body (of the husband).

in bright chariots, irreproachable, auspicious, motive, unobstructed.

- 14. Who knows of a certainty their (abode), where the intimidators (of their foes) rejoice? born for (the distribution of) water, exempt from defects.
- 15. Desirous of praise, you are the guides (to happiness) of the man who propitiates (you) by this pious rite: you are bearers of invocations to the sacrifice.
- 16. Do you, who are destroyers of the malevolent, abounding in wealth, and entitled to adoration, bestow upon us desirable riches.
- 17. Bear to DARBHYA, oh night, turning away (from me to him), this my eulogy (of the MARUTS): convey my praises, goddess, as a charioteer (conveys the contents of his vehicle to their destination);
- 18. And say on my behalf to RATHAVÍTI, when the libation is poured out, my love (for your daughter) does not depart.
- 19. This opulent RATHAVÍTI dwells upon the (banks of the) Gomati (river), and has his home on (the skirts of) the (Himálaya) mountains.

¹ The patronymic is also read in some places Dálbhya.

² Upon concluding the praises of the Maruts, and thus having attained the rank of a Rishi, Syáváswa, summons the night, here called Úrmyá, to convey the intelligence to Rathavíti, who gives him his daughter, with many valuable presents, but at the end of the ceremony the Rishi departed for the woods to resume his austerities: it is not said if he took his wife with him, but it is to be so inferred.

³ Gomatih, according to the comment, means, having water, rivers, being in the plural: as the name of a river it would be

SÚKTA VI. (LXII.)

The deities are MITRA and VARUNA; the Rishi is SRUTAVID; the metre Trishtubh.

- 1. I have beheld the permanent orb of the sun,¹ your (dwelling place), concealed by water, where (the hymns of the pious) liberate (his) steeds;² where a thousand rays abide together; the one most excellent of the (embodied) forms of the gods.³
- 2. Exceeding is that your greatness, MITRA and VARUNA, whereby the ever-moving sun has, through (succeeding) days, milked forth the stationary waters: you augment all the (world-illumining) rays of theself-revolving (sun): the one chariot of you two (perpetually) goes round.
- 3. Royal MITRA and VARUNA, you uphold, by your energies, earth and heaven: prompt benefactors, cause the plants to grow, give nourishment to the cattle, send down the rain.
 - 4. May your easily-harnessed horses bear you both the Gomati river in Oude, which rises in the skirts of the first range of the Himalaya; or it may be a river of the same appellation more to the north-west, rising in Kulu, a feeder of the Beyah or Vyása.

- ¹ See vol. 1. p. 304. verse 1.
- ² Which are said to be attempted to be detained by a class of Asuras termed Mandehas.
- ³ Devánám sreshtham vapushám is also explained the best of the embodied or light-possessing deities, that is, of Agni and others, devánám vapushmatám tejovatám agnyádínám prasasyam; or it may apply to the sun only, the mandala, the orb, the visible form, as it were, of the sun, mandalam hi súryasya vapustháníyam.
- 4 Vám chah pavir á vavartta: pavi is the circumference of a wheel, put by metonymy for the chariot; as Sáyana explains the phrase, yuvayor cho ratho anukramanena paribhramate.

Varga XXX.

(hither), and with well-guided reins come down: the embodied form of water follows you, the rivers flow as of old.

- 5. Augmenting the well-known and ample form (of man), in like manner as the sacred grass is preserved by prayer, do you, MITRA and VARUNA, who are invigorated by (sacrificial) viands, and abound in food, ascend your car in the midst of the place of sacrifice.²
- 6. Be open-handed and benignant to the performer of pious acts, whom you protect in the midst of the place of sacrifice; for you two, who are sovereigns, and free from wrath, uphold together a mansion of a thousand columns.³
- 7. The substance (of their chariot) is of gold; its pillars are of iron, and it shines in the firmament like lightning: may we load the vehicle with the libation in an auspicious place, or in the sacrificial hall, (where the columns) are erected.

³ Kshatram sahasrasthúnam, anehávashtambhakastambhopetam saudhádirúpam griham, a house, such as a palace and the like, possessing many supporting pillars: the expression is noticeable as indicating the existence of stately edifices: Sáyana purposes also to render hshatram by dhanam, wealth, or balam, strength, applying the last to the ratha, the strong chariot of the deities supported by innumerable columns.

- 8. At the break of dawn, at the rising of the sun, ascend, MITRA and VARUNA, your golden-bodied, iron-pillared car, and thence behold the earth and its inhabitants.¹
- 9. Munificent MITRA and VARUNA, protectors of the universe, (it is yours to grant) exceeding and perfect felicity, such as it is impossible to disturb: bless us with that (felicity), and may we ever be (possessed) of the riches we desire, and be confident of victory (over our enemies).

FOURTH ADHYÁYA.

SÚRTA VII. (LXIII.)

The deities are MITRA and VARUNA; the Rishi is ARCHANÁNAS; the metre is Jagati.

1. Guardians of water, observers of truth, you ascend your car in the highest heaven: to him whom you,

Varga I.

¹ Atas-chaksháthe aditim ditim cha, is explained, aditim, akhandaníyám bhúmim, the indivisible earth, and ditim, khandaníyám prajádikám, the divisible people and the rest: the stanza occurs in the Yajush, 10. 15, with a various reading of the first half; but Mahídhara explains aditim by adinam, not base, that is, vihitáanushthátáram, one who follows what is prescribed, that is, performs his religious duties, and ditim by dinam, base, or nástikávrittam, an infidel; the phrase meaning that Mitra and Varuna observe that this man is a sinner, that man righteous, ayam pápí, ayam punyaván.

MITRA and VARUNA, protect, the rain sends down the sweet (shower) from the sky.

- 2. Imperial rulers of this world, you shine, MITRA and VARUNA, at this sacrifice, the beholders of heaven: we ask of you the wealth (that is) rain, and immortality, for your forms traverse earth and heaven.¹
- 3. Imperial and mighty showerers, lords of heaven and earth, beholders of the universe, you approach, MITRA and VARUNA, with variegated clouds to hear the sound (of your praises), and cause the sky to (send down) rain by the power of the emitter of showers.²
- 4. Your device, MITRA and VARUNA, is manifested in heaven, when the light (that is) the sun, your wonderful weapon, moves (in the firmament): him you invest in the sky with the cloud (and) with rain; and (thy) sweet drops, PARJANYA, fall (at their desire).
- 5. The MARUTS harness their easy-going chariot, MITRA and VARUNA, for (the emission of) water, as a hero (harnesses his war-car): their forms traverse the different spheres to distribute the rain: do you, therefore, supreme rulers, shed upon us water from heaven.
- 6. The cloud, (through your will), MITRA and VARUNA, utters a wonderful sound, indicative of radiance, and announcing (abundant) food: the MARUTS thoroughly invest the clouds with (their) devices, and, (along with them), you two cause the purple and faultless sky to send down rain.

² Asurasya máyayá is explained udaka nirasituh parjanyasya sámarthyena, by the power of Parjanya, the caster-forth of water, influenced by Mitra and Varuna as the deities presiding over day and night.

7. Sapient MITRA and VARUNA, by your office you protect pious rites, through the power of the emitter of showers: you illumine the whole world with water: you sustain the sun, the adorable chariot in the sky.

SUKTA VIII. (LXIV.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre is Anushtubh, except in the last verse, in which it is Panhti.

- 1. We invoke you, MITRA and VARUNA, with this hymn; each the discomfiter of foes, the conductor to heaven, like (two herdsmen) driving, by (the strength of their) arms, the herds of cattle before them.
- 2. Do you two, with discriminating hand, bestow upon me, your worshipper, (what I desire); for the desirable felicity (that is given by you) spreads through all lands.
- 3. That I may now pursue the (right) direction, may I proceed by the path of MITRA, for all (good things) are aggregated in the happiness, (the gift) of that beloved and benignant (deity).
- 4. May I obtain from you, MITRA and VARUNA, by my praise, such wealth as to excite envy in the dwellings of the rich and the devout.
- 5. Come, MITRA, (come), VARUNA, with your splendour to our assembly, and augment (the prosperity) of the affluent (worshipper), and of (those who are) your friends in their respective abodes.
- 6. You, MITRA and VARUNA, bring us strength and abundant (food) for (those praises) which (we offer):

Varga III.

be largely bountiful to us in food, in riches, in prosperity.

7. Deities who are to be worshipped at the sacrifice to the gods, at the (first) shining ray (of light) at dawn, behold my Soma libation poured out: hasten, with rapid steeds, leaders (of rites), propitious to Archanánas.

SURTA IX. (LXV.)

The deities are the same; the Rishi is RATAHAVYA; the metre is Anushtubh.

- 1. He who knows (how to honour you two), amongst the gods, is the performer of good works: let him communicate (that knowledge) to us, he of whom the graceful VARUNA or MITRA accepts the laudation.
- 2. They two, verily excelling in radiance, royal (deities), who hear (invocations) from the greatest distance, lords of the virtuous, favourers of the sacrifice, are in movement (for the good of) each individual man.
- 3. Approaching you, ancient (divinities), I invoke you together for protection: possessed of good steeds, (we praise you) who are provident to give us food.
- 4. MITRA grants even to the sinful (worshipper) the (means of) repairing to his spacious dwelling: the favour of MITRA, the destroyer of foes, is (granted) to (his) adorer.
- 5. May we ever be in the comprehensive guardianship of MITRA, and, free from sin, enjoy, (MITRA), thy protection, being at the same time the children of VARUNA.²

¹ Hastibhih padbhih, literally, with hands, with feet, that is, according to the scholiast, with those having four feet, that, is with horses.

² Varunașeshasah: sesha is said to mean apatya, offspring.

6. You come, MITRA and VARUNA, to this man, and guide him (to his desires): deny us not when we are rich (in offerings): (deny us not), who are (the sons) of Rishis: protect us in the presenting of the libation.

STRTA X. (LXVI.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre is Anushtubh.

- 1. Man, endowed with intelligence, (adore) the two deities, the performers of good deeds, the destroyers of foes; offer (oblations) to the adorable accepter of (sacrificial) food, to Varuna, whose form is water.¹
- 2. Inasmuch as you two are possessed of irresistible and Asura-subduing strength, therefore has holy sacrifice been established amongst men, as the sun (has been placed) in the sky.
- 3. We glorify you both, that your chariots may precede ours by a long distance; accepting the pious worship of RATAHAVYA with (his) praises.
- 4. Now, adorable and wonderful deities, (propitiated) by the former (praises) of (me, your) worshipper, do you, who are of pure vigour, consider with approving minds (the adoration) of these men.
- 5. Earth, in thee is abundant water for the necessities of the Rishis: the two active (deities) dispense by their movements sufficiently copious (rain)
- 6. We and the devout (invoke) you, MITRA and VARUNA, who are far-seeing: may we proceed to your spacious and much frequented kingdom.

Varga IV.

SUKTA XI. (LXVII.)

The deities and metre as before: the Rishi is YAJATA.

- 1. Divine sons of ADITI, MITRA, VARUNA, ARYA-MAN, verily you are possessed, at the present time, of perfect, adorable, vast, exceeding strength.
- 2. When you come, VARUNA and MITRA, to the delightful place of sacrifice, then, supporters of men, destroyers of foes, you bring felicity.
- 3. MITRA, VARUNA, ARYAMAN, who are possessed of omniscience, are all associated at our rites, as if in (their respective) stations, and protect the worshipper from the malignant.
- 4. They verily are observers of truth, distributers of water, protectors of holy rites amongst men: guides in the right way, liberal donors, and benefactors even of the sinner (who worships them).
- 5. Which of you, MITRA and VARUNA, has not been celebrated in (our) praise, for therefore do our thoughts tend towards you; the thoughts of the race of ATRI tend towards you.

SUKTA XII. (LXVIII.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre is Gáyatrí.

- 1. Sing loud with lusty praise to MITRA and to VARUNA: (come), mighty deities, to the great sacrifice.
- 2. The MITRA and VARUNA, who are both sovereign rulers, originators of the rain, eminent deities among the gods.

¹ Anhaschit, pápino api, even of the sinner: Sáyana adds swastotuh, of your own praiser, but it may be doubted if this qualification is necessary.

- 3. They two are able (to grant us) of great terrestrial and celestial riches: great is your might among the gods.
- 4. Rewarding with rain the holy rite, they favour the zealous worshipper: benevolent deities, may you prosper.
- 5. Senders of rain from heaven, granters of desires, lords of sustenance, suited to the liberal donors (of oblations), they ascend their spacious car.²

SURTA XIII. (LXIX.)

The deities are the same; the Rishi is CHAKRI; the metre Trishtubh.

- 1. MITRA and VARUNA, you uphold the three realms of light, the three heavens, the three regions (of the earth), augmenting the force of the vigorous (INDRA),³ and protecting the imperishable rite.
- 2. MITRA and VARUNA, the cows are full of milk through your (command), and the rivers yield through your (will) sweet water: through you the three ² All the verses of this Súhta occur in the Sáma-Veda, 11. 493, 494, 495, and 818, 819.

radiant receptacles and showerers of rain stand severally in their three spheres.¹

- 3. I invoke the divine and bright ADITI at dawn, and at mid-day, when the sun is high: I worship you, MITRA and VARUNA, at all seasons, for the sake of riches, for sons and grandsons, for prosperity and happiness.²
- 4. I worship you two, divine ADITYAS, who are upholders of the celestial and terrestrial worlds: the immortal gods impair not, MITRA and VARUŅA, your eternal works.

SÚRTA XIV. (LXX.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre is Gáyatri.

- 1. May I, MITRA and VARUNA, enjoy your favour, through which there is assuredly protection.
- 2. Benignant (deities), may we obtain from you, (who are) such (deities), food for our sustenance: may we, Rudras, be yours.
- 3. Protect us with your protections: preserve us with kind preservation: may we, with our descendants, overcome the Dasyus.³
- 4. Workers of wondrous deeds, let us not depend upon the bounty of any other (than you), either in our persons, or with our sons and grandsons.

SÚKTA XV. (LXXI.)

The deities and metre as before; the Rishi is BAHUVRIKTA.

1. MITRA and VARUNA, scatterers of foes, destroyers of enemies, come to this our accessible sacrifice.

³ Sáma-Veda, 11. 335-337.

- 2. Sagacious MITRA and VARUNA you reign over all: bestow fulness, lords, upon our ancient rites.
- 3. Come, MITRA and VARUNA, to our effused libation, to drink of the Soma of the offerer.

SÚKTA XVI. (LXXII.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre is Ushnih.

- 1. We invoke MITRA and VARUNA with hymns, like (our progenitor) ATRI: do you sit down upon the sacred grass to drink the Soma libation.
- 2. Steady are you in your functions, whom men animate by (their) devotion: come and sit down upon the sacred grass to drink the Soma libation.
- 3. May MITRA and VARUNA accept with satisfaction our sacrifice: come and sit down upon the sacred grass to drink the Soma libation.

ANUVAKA VI.

SÚKTA I. (LXXIII.)

The deides are the Aswins; the Rishi is PAURA; the metre Anushtubh.

- 1. Whether, Aswins, you are at present far off, whether you are nigh, whether you are (straying) in many places, or whether you are in mid-air, do you, who partake of many offerings, come hither.
- 2. I approach you (to invite you) hither, you who are the encouragers of many; (who are) the achievers of many (great) exploits, most excellent and irresistible: I invoke you, who are most mighty, for protection.
 - 3. You have arrested one luminous wheel of (your) car for illumining the form (of the sun), whilst with the other you traverse the spheres (to regulate) by your power the ages of mankind.

- 4. May the praise, universal (deities), wherewith I laud you, be agreeable to you, as offered by this (your worshipper); and do you, who are severally born, and free from blame bestow upon us food.
- 5. When Stara has ascended your ever easy-moving car, then bright-waving, resplendent rays (of light) encompass you.³
- 6. Leaders (of rites), ATRI recognised (your benevolence) with (a grateful) mind on account of the relief (you afforded him), when, NASATYAS, through his praise of you, he found the (fiery) heat innocuous.
- 7. Your strong, lofty, moving, ever-progressing (car) has been renowned at sacrifices ever since; Aswins, leaders (of rites), Atri was rescued by your acts.

¹ Irmá anyad vapushe vapus-chakram rathasya yemathuh: the passage is obscure, even with the aid of the scholiast: irmá he renders, rúpam, form, vapushe, ádityasya sobháyai, for the beauty or lustre of the sun; vapus, he considers equivalent to vapushmat, having light or lustre, luminous, as an epithet of chakram: the fixing of one wheel of the car of the Aswins has been alluded to before: see vol. 1. page 78, verse 19.

² Náhushá yugá is the derivative of nahusha, manushya, mæn; yugá for yugáni, is explained as used by metonymy for the divisions of time in general, as morning, noon, night, or the sacrifices offered at stated periods..

⁴ See vol. 1. p. 290, verse 7, and p. 308, verse 8.

- 8. Mixers of the Soma-juice, RUDRAS, (our) nutritious (adoration) bedews you well with the libation, when you traverse (the limits) of the firmament, and the prepared viands (of the sacrifice) support you.
- 9. Truly have they called you, Aswins, the bestowers of felicity: such may you be when earnestly invoked to our sacrifice; bountiful bestowers of felicity at our sacrifice.
- 10. May these praises exalting the Aswins be productive of happiness, the praises that we fabricate as (a wheelwright) a car: we proclaim aloud fervent adoration.

SUKTA II. (LXXIV.)

The deities, Rishi, and metre as before.

1. Divine ADITYAS, affluent in praise, descended Varga XIII this day from heaven upon the earth, hear that (laudation) which, liberal showerers (of benefits), ATRI ever addressess to you.

2. The divine NASATYAS, where are they? where are they heard of in heaven? to what worshipper do you come? who may be the associate of your praises?

- 3. To whom do you proceed? to whom do you repair? to (go to) whose presence do you harness your car? by whose prayers are you gratified? we are anxious for your arrival.
 - 4. PAURAS, send to PAURA³ the rain-shedding

- 5. You stripped off (his aged form) like a cuirass from the decrepid CHYAVANA, so that, when you had rendered him again a youth, he attracted the desires of women.²
- 6. A glorifier of you both is here: may we be (retained) in your sight for the sake of prosperity: hear to day (my invocation): come hither with your protections, you who are affluent in food.
- 7. Who among many mortals has this day (best) propitiated you? what wise man (has best propitiated you) who are reverenced by the wise? what (worshipper has best propitiated you) by sacrifice, you who are affluent in food?
- 8. May your car, Aswins, the swiftest of the cars (of the gods), come hither well-disposed towards us, the discomfiter of numerous (foes), glorified amongst men.³

applied, first to the Aswins, because they are in relation with Paura as the author of the Súhta; and although the text gives Paura in the vocative singular, it is to be understood in the dual, Paura, therefore, being Aswins: next it implies, as Pauram, a cloud, from its being solicited by the Rishi for the fall of rain, as implied by the last term, Pauráya, to me the Rishi so called.

³ Angúsho martyeshu, yajamaneshu, madhye stutyah, to be praised amongst worshippers, or ángúsha may be a substantive meaning stava or stoma, praise, may the praise of the car of the

- 9. May our repeated adoration of you two, who are desirous of the libation, be productive of felicity: descending to our presence, and exceeding in wisdom, travel with rapid (steeds), swift as two falcons.
- 10. Aswins, wherever you may be, hear this invocation: the excellent sacrificial offerings, longing for your proximity, reach you.1

SÚKTA III. (LXXV.)

- · The deities as before; the Rishi is AVASYU; the metre is Panhti.
 - 1. The Rishi, your worshipper, Aswins, graces your beloved chariot, the showerer (of benefits), the vehicle of wealth, with praises: masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.2
 - 2. Passing by (other worshippers), come, Aswins, hither, so that I may ever overcome all (adversaries): DASRAS, riding in a golden chariot, distributers of wealth, propellers of rivers, masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
 - 3. Come, Aswins, bring for us precious treasures:

Aswins amongst men, or by the priests, be beneficial to us, asmayuh.

Varga XV.

¹ Vasvír ú shu vám bhujah princhanti su vám pricha, is explained as in the text, vasvir bhujah being rendered by prasasyáni dhanáni havir lahshanáni, excellent riches, characterized by the oblation, that is, sacrificial offerings, and princhanti by prápnuvanti, obtain or reach being prichah, yuvám práptum hámayamánáh, desiring to reach you: Sáyana suggests also another explanation; the worshippers, su prichah, who enjoy vasvir-bhujah, wealth of sacrificial offerings, bring them into due contact with you, vám sushtu samparchayantí.

² Mádhrí mama srutam havam: the first is explained, madhuvidyá veditárau: see vol. 1. p. 310, note: the verse occurs twice in the Sáma-Veda, 1. 418, 11. 1093.

RUDRAS, riding in a golden chariot, propitiated (by sacrifice), affluent with food, masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.¹

- 4. Showerers of wealth, the praise of your worshipper is addressed to your chariot; (to it), as well as to you, does this distinguished, devoted, embodied (adorer)² offer sacrificial food: masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- 5. With mind attentive (to praise), riding in cars, swift-moving, listening to invocations, you hastened with your steeds to the single-purposed CHYAVANA: masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- 6. Aswins, leaders (of rites), may your horses, harnessed at will, of wondrous beauty, and of rapid course, bring you hither with good gifts to drink (of the proffered beverage): masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- 7. Aswins, come hither: Násatyas, be not unpropitious: invincible lords, come from hidden (regions) to our sacrificial hall: master of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- 8. Invincible Aswins, lords of water, favour Avasyu, glorifying you at this sacrifice: masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- 9. The dawn has come: the Agni of the season, blazing with the oblation,³ has been placed (upon the

SÚKTA IV. (LXXVI.)

The deities are the same; the Rishi is Bhaumya; the metre Trishtubh.

- 1. Agni lights up the face of the dawns: the devout praisers of the pious have risen up: therefore, Aswins, lords of the chariot, descending, come hither to-day to the splendid sacrifice, perfect (in all its parts).
- 2. Harm not, Aswins, the perfected (rite), but coming now most quickly, be glorified on this occasion: be present at the opening of the day, with protection against destitution, and be prompt to bestow happiness upon the donor (of the offering).
- 3. Whether you come at the (milking time) of the cattle, at the dawn of day, at noon, when the sun is high, or by day or by night, (come)⁴ with felicitous

¹ Ábháti agnir-ushasám ánikam; the latter is interpreted mukham, or the verse may be rendered, Agni, the face or begining of the dawns, shines.

³ Avasá ágamishthá pratyavarttim: vartti, it is said, means jívanam, living or livelihood; avartti, the contrary, the want of it.

⁴ The day is divisible into two, three, five, or fifteen parts:

protection: the drinking of the Soma has not now extended beyond the Aswins.1

- 4. This station, Aswins, is your ancient abode; these are your mansions, this your dwelling: come from the vast firmament, (overspread) by clouds (filled) with water, bringing to us food and strength.
- 5. May we be united with the Aswins by their special protection, which is the source of happiness and guide to good: bestow upon us, immortals, wealth and posterity, and all good things.

SÚKTA V. (LXXVII.)

Deities, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Worship the two who come first (of the gods) at dawn: let them drink before the greedy withholders (of the offering); for the Aswins verily claim the morning sacrifice: the ancient sages praised them (at dawn).²
 - 2. Worship the Aswins at early dawn; offer them here the five-fold distinction is alluded to: uditá súryasya is explained the afternoon, atyanta pravriddhasamayah aparáhna ityartha.

¹ Nedáním pítir aswina tatána: it is related that the other gods refused to admit the participation of the Aswins in the Soma libation at these hours, but on the present occasion they are not passed over: idaním api itaradevánám pánam na tanotyaswinau viháya, but now the drinking of the other gods does not extend, having omitted the two Aswins.

² Kavayah purrabhájah: havi is said to mean one learned in the Vedas, on the authority of the Aitareya Bráhmana, ye vá anúchánás-te havayah, those who are anúchánas are havis, and anúchána is explained in the commentary on the same work, shadangasahita redádhyayinah, students of the Vedas with the six supplements.

oblations: the evening is not for the gods;¹ it is unacceptable to them; and whether it be any other than ourselves who worships them or propitiates them, the worshipper who is foremost (in his devotion) is the most approved of.

- 3. Your car, Aswins, approaches, coated with gold, honey-tinted, water-shedding, laden with ambrosia, as quick as thought, as rapid as the wind, wherewith you pass over all obstacles.
- 4. He who, in the appointment (of the offerings), presents to the NÁSATYAS the most ample (share) of (the sacrificial) food, who gives (them) the largest portion of the viands, secures, by his acts, the welfare of his son, and ever has the advantage of those who light no sacred fires.
- 5. May we be united with the Aswins, by their special protection, which is the source of happiness, the guide to good: bestow upon us, immortals, wealth and all good things.

SÚKTA VI. (LXXVIII.)

The deities as before; the Rishi is SAPTAVADHRI; the metre of the three first stanzas is Ushnih, of the fourth Trishtubh, of the rest Anushtubh.

1. Aswins, come hither: Násatyas, be not ill-disposed; alight like two swans² upon the effused libations.

2. Like two deer, Aswins, like two wild cattle3 on

Varga XIX.

¹ Conformably to another text, púrváhno vai devánám, the forenoon verily is for the gods.

³ Like two Gauras, Bos Gorœus.

- (fresh) pasture; like two swans alight upon the effused libation.
- 3. Aswins, affluent in food, be propitiated at your pleasure by the sacrifice: alight like two swans upon the effused libation.
- 4. Inasmuch as ATRI, escaping by your aid from the fire of chaff, conciliates you, like a wife soliciting (the affection of a husband), therefore come with (your) propitious cars, with the new-born rapidity of the falcon.
- 5. Open, Vanaspatf, like the womb of a parturient female: hear, Aswins, my invocation: set Saptavadhri free.²
- 6. Aswins, by your devices sunder the wicker-work for (the liberation of the) terrified, imploring Rishi, Saptavadhri.
- 7. As the wind ruffles the lake on every side, so may thy womb be stimulated, and the conception of the months come forth.
 - 8. As the wind, as the wood, as the ocean are agitated, so do thou, gestation of ten months, invested with the uterine membranes, descend.

¹ See vol. 1. p. 308, verse 8: the fire is here called ribisam, tushágnim, a fire of chaff.

9. May¹ the boy who has reposed for ten months in the bosom of his mother come forth, alive, unharmed, living, from a living (parent).²

SÚKTA VII. (LXXIX.)

The deity is the DAWN; the Rishi SATYASRAVAS; the metre is Panhtí.

- 1. Radiant USHAS, wake us up to-day for (the acquisition of) ample riches, in like manner as thou hast awakened us (of old): bright-born, and praised sincerely for (the gift of) horses, shew favour to SATYASRAVAS, the son of VAYYA.³
- 2. Daughter of heaven, who hast dawned upon Sunitha, the son of Suchadratha, bright-born, and praised sincerely for (the gift of) horses, dawn upon the powerful son of Vayya, Satyasrayas.
- 3. Daughter of heaven, who art the bringer of opulence, dawn upon us to-day, as, bright-born, and praised for (the gift of) horses, thou hast dawned upon the powerful Satyaṣravas, the son of Vayya.⁴
- 4. The offerers of oblations who eulogise thee, lustrous Ushas, with sacred hymns, become prosperous with affluence, (through thy favour), bestower of

Varga XXI.

² This and the two stanzas preceding are termed by Sáyana the garbhasrávinyupanishad, the liturgy of child-birth.

³ Sáma-Veda I. 421, II. 1000; the concluding phrase is the burden of the following verses, sujáte, aswasúnrite: sujátá, well-born, is explained sobhanaprádur bhutá, becoming manifest with splendour or light: aswasunritá, she whose praise for the sake of horses is affectionate and true, aswárthá priyasatyátmihá stutivág-yasyáh sá.

wealth, bright-born goddess, (who art) sincerely praised 'for (the gift of) horses.

- 5. These, thy assembled (worshippers), who stand before thee to distribute wealth, entertain towards us kindly intentions, offering unlimited riches: brightborn goddess, (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.
- 6. Affluent Ushas, bestow upon these (thy) devout adorers food and posterity, so that, being opulent, they may, without stint, bestow riches upon us: brightborn goddess (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.
- 7. Affluent Ushas, bring wealth and abundant food to those who, liberal givers, bestow upon us riches with horses and cattle: bright-born goddess (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.
- 8. Daughter of heaven, bring to us food and cattle, together with the pure rays of the sun, and the radiant flames (of the kindled fires): bright-born goddess, (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.

¹ Yach chid hi te ganá ime chhadayanti maghattaye, parichid vashtayo dadhur dadato rádho ahrayam: Sáyana seems rather dubious as to the proper sense of several of these words: maghattaye may mean dhanadánáya or dhanavattwáya, for giving or for possessing wealth: pari chid vashtayo dadhih is explained, asmán era hámayamánah parito dhárayanti, desirous of or being kind to us, they support us every way, and dadato rádho ahrayam may mean giving wealth that is not to be wasted or taken away, or of which there is no need to be ashamed: the sum of the meaning, agreeably to the scholiast, is, all they who, offering oblations, worship the dawn, receive the reward for the benefit of us, or of me, that is, of the author of the hymn, ye twám havir-dadatuh stuvanti te sarve apy-asmadartham phalam dhárayantí.

- 9. Daughter of heaven, Dawn! delay not our (sacred) rite; let not the sun scorch thee with his ray, as (a prince punishes) a thief, or (subdues) an enemy: bright-born goddess, (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.
- 10. Thou, USHAS, art able to give (us) whatever, indeed, (has been solicited), and much (that has not been asked for); for, radiant (divinity), who art dawning upon thine adorers, thou art never cruel (to them): bright-born goddess (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.

SÚKTA VIII. (LXXX.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Trishtubh.

1. The wise priests celebrate with hymns the divine, bright-charioted, expanded Dawn; worshipped with holy worship, purple-tinted, radiant, leading on the sun.

Varga XXIII.

- 2. The lovely Dawn, arousing man, goes before (the sun) preparing practicable paths, riding in a spacious chariot; vast, expanding everywhere, she diffuses light at the commencement of the days.
- 3. Harnessing the purple oxen to her car, unwearied she renders riches perpetual: a goddess, praised of many, and cherished by all, she shines, manifesting the paths that lead to good.
- 4. Lucidly white is she, occupying the two (regions, the upper and middle firmament), and manifesting her person from the east: she traverses the path of the sun as if knowing (his course), and harms not the quarters of the horizon.
- 5. Exhibiting her person like a well-attired female, she stands before our eyes, (gracefully) inclining like

(a woman who has been) bathing: dispersing the hostile glooms, USHAS, the daughter of heaven, comes with radiance.

6. Ushas, the daughter of heaven, tending to the west, puts forth her beauty like a (well-dressed) woman, bestowing precious treasures upon the offerer of adoration: she, ever youthful, brings back the light as (she has done) of old.

SÚKTA IX. (I.XXXI.)

The deity is Savitri; the Rishi Syáváswa; the metre Jagatí.

- 1. The wise apply their minds; they perform sacred rites for the propitiation of the intelligent, great, adorable Savitri: he alone, knowing their functions, directs the priests: verily, great is the praise of the divine Satitri.
- 2. The wise Savitri comprehends all forms (in himself): he has engendered what is good for biped and quadruped: the adorable Savitri has illumed the heaven, and shines in sequence to the passage of the Dawn.

² Visvá rúpáni pratimunchate, he liberates, severally, all forms: that is, according to Sáyana, átmani badhnátí or dhárayati, he binds or holds in himself: Mahídhara, Yajur-Veda, 13. 3., explains it, he makes all forms manifest in their own substance, by removing darkness.

- 3. After the passage of which divine (being) the other deities proceed to (obtain) majesty with power; he who by his greatness has measured out the terrestrial regions, the divine SAVITRI, (is) resplendent.²
- 4. Either thou traversest, SAVITRI, the three regions, or combinest with the rays of Súrya; or thou passest between the night on either hand; or thou, divine SAVITRI, art MITRA, through thy (benevolent) functions.
- 5. Thou alone rulest over (the actions of) living beings: thou art Púshan, divine (Savitri), by thy movements; thou art sovereign over the whole world: Syáváswa offers praise, Savitri, to thee.

SÚKTA X. (LXXXII.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre of the first verse is Anushtubh, of the rest Gáyatrí.

1. We solicit of the divine SAVITRI enjoyable (wealth): may we receive from BHAGA that which is excellent, all-sustaining, destructive of foes.

Varga XXV.

¹ Náham vyahhyat, swargam prahásayati, he makes manifest Swarga as the reward of the Yajamána.

³ According to Sáyana, Savitri is especially the sun before rising; Súrya is the sun in general.

⁴ The text has bhojanam, most usually food, but it is here explained bhogyam, to be enjoyed, that is, dhanam wealth.

- 2. Nothing impairs the sovereignty of this SAVITRI, which is most especially renowned and beloved.
- 3. That SAVITRI, who is BHAGA, bestows precious treasure on the donor of the offering: we solicit (of him) a valuable portion.
- 4. Grant us to-day, divine SAVITRI, affluence with progeny, and drive away evil dreams.²
- 5. Remove from us, divine SAVITRI, all misfortunes: bestow upon us that which is good.³
- 6. Let us be void of offence towards ADITI, according to the will of the divine SAVITRI: 4 may we be possessed of all-desired (riches).
- 7. We glorify to-day with hymns SAVITRI, the protector of the good, the observer of truth, (identical with) all the gods;⁵
- 8. The divine object of meditation, SAVITRI, who, ever vigilant, precedes both night and day,
- 9. SAVITRI, who proclaims his glory to all these living beings, and gives them life.

¹ Sa Savitá Bhaga: or the latter may be an attributive, bhajaniya, to be worshipped, or shared, or desired.

³ Bhadram, progeny, cattle, dwelling, as by the text, prajá, vai, bhadram, paṣavo bhadram, griham bhadram iti.

SÚKTA XI. (LXXXIII.)

The deity is PARJANYA; the Rishi BHAUMA; the wetre of the first six verses is Trishtubh, of the ninth Anushtubh, of the rest Jagati.

- 1. I address the mighty Parjanya¹ who is present: praise him with these hymns; worship him with reverence, him who is the thunderer, the showever, the bountiful, who impregnates the plants with rain.
- 2. He strikes down the trees, he destroys the Rákshasas, he terrifies the whole world by his mighty weapon: even the innocent man flies from the sender of rain, when PARJANYA, thundering, slays the wicked.
- 3. As a charioteer, urging his horses with his whip, brings into view the messenger (of war),² so Parjanya, (driving the clouds before him), makes manifest the messengers of the rain; the roaring of the lion-(like cloud) proclaims from afar that Parjanya overspreads the sky with rainy clouds.
- 4. The winds blow strong, the lightnings flash, the plants spring up, the firmament dissolves: earth becomes (fit) for all creatures when PARJANYA fertilizes the soil with showers.
 - 5. Do thou, PARJANKA, through whose function the earth is bowed down; through whose function hoofed cattle thrive; through whose function plants assume all kinds of forms, grant us great felicity.

VargaXXVII

¹ Parjanya is Indra in his character of the sender of rain: Sáyana cites Yásha, Niruhta, 10. 10., for various fanciful etymologies, as par, derived from trip, to satisfy, by reversing the final consonant of the latter, and rejecting its initial, janya may imply either victor, jetá, or generator, janayitá, or impeller, prárjayitá, of fluids, rasánám; the usual Unúdi derivation is quite as probable, which refers it to vrish, to rain, p being substituted for v, ri becoming the guna, ar, and sh being changed to j, anya is the affix.

² The text has only dútán, which the scholiast interprets bhatán, warriors.

- 6. Send down for us, MARUTS the rain from heaven: drops of the rainy charger descend: come down Par-JANYA, sprinkling water by this thundering (cloud); thou who art the sender of rain, our protector.
- 7. Cry aloud over (the earth); thunder; impregnate the plants; traverse (the sky) with thy waterladen chariot, draw open the tight-fastened, downward-turned water bag, and may the high and low places be made level.
- 8. Raise on high the mighty sheath (of rain), pour down (its contents); let the rivers flow unimpeded to the east; saturate with water both heaven and earth, and let there be abundant beverage for the kine.
- 9. When, PARJANYA, sounding loud and thundering, thou destroyest the wicked (clouds),² this whole (world) rejoices, and all that is upon the earth.
- 10. Thou hast rained: now check well the rain: thou hast made the deserts capable of being crossed: thou hast given birth to plans for (man's) enjoyment: verily thou hast obtained laudation from the people.

SCKTA XII. (LXXXIV.)

The deity is PRITHIVÍ; the Rishi BHAUMA; the metre Anushtubh.

1. Verily thou sustainest here, PRITHIVÍ,3 the fracture of the mountains: mighty and most excellent,

² Hansi dushkritah, the wicked, here means, according to the scholiast, the clouds not yielding their water.

³ According to Sáyana, Prithiví may here admit a two-fold thou art she who delightest the earth by thy greatness.

- 2. Wanderer in various ways thy worshippers hymn thee with (sacred) songs; thee who, brighthued, tossest the swollen (cloud) like a neighing horse.
- 3. Thou who, with solid earth, sustainest by thy strength the forest lords, when the showers of thy cloud fall from the shining sky.

SÚKTA XIII. (LXXXV.)

The deity is VARUNA; the Rishi ATRI; the metre Trishtubh.

- 1. Offer a solemn, profound, and acceptable prayer to the imperial and renowned Varuna, who has spread the firmament as a bed for the sun, i as the immolator (spreads) the skin of the victim.
- 2. He has extended the firmament over the tops of the trees, has given strength to horses, milk to cows, determination to the heart: he has placed fire in the waters,² the sun in heaven, the Soma-plant in the mountain.³
- 3. VARUNA has set free the (water of the) downward opening cloud for the (benefit of the) heaven, the earth, and the firmament; thence is he monarch meaning, and apply also to the antariksham, or firmament, when the subsequent phrases, parvatánám khidram bibharshi, will mean, thou sustainest the fracture, or opening of the clouds, and mahná jinoshi bhúmim, thou delightest the earth with great or abundant rain.

Varga XXX.

² Either the lightning amidst the rain, or the submarine fire: the Yujush, 4. 31., reads vihshu for apsu, he placed in people, or human beings, digestive fire.

of all the world, watering the soil as the rain bedews the barley.1

- 4. VARUNA waters earth, mid-air, and heaven, when he pleases (to send forth) the milk (of the cloud): thereupon the mountains clothe (their summits) with the rain-cloud, and the hero, (MARUTS), exulting in their strength, compel (the clouds) to relax.
- 5. I proclaim this great device of the renowned VARUNA, the destroyer of the Asuras, who, abiding in the mid-heaven, has meted the firmament by the sun, as if by a measure.
- 6. No one has counteracted the device of the most sagacious divinity, whereby the lucid water-shedding rivers do not fill the ocean with water.²
- 7. If, VARUNA, we have ever committed an offence against a benefactor, a friend,³ a companion, a brother, a near neighbour, or VARUNA, a dumb man⁴ remove it from us.

¹ Yavam na vrishtir, vyunatti bhúma: Sáyana is disposed to render vrishti by sehtá, the sprinkler, the man, pumán, who waters the soil, but this does not seem necessary, and it is not so explained in the Niruhta, 10. 4.

² But these wonderful acts, according to Sáyana, are not the acts of Varuna, but of Parameswara, the Supreme Being, from his existing in the forms of Varuna and others, karma Parameswarasyaiva uchitam na Varunasya, tasya Varunádirúpávasthánát.

Varuna and Aranam: the Pada separates the word into Varuna and Aranam: the meaning of the latter is somewhat uncertain: Sayana explains it as asabdam, not having sound or speech, or as adátāram, not giving, niggardly; but neither is quite satisfactory.

8. If, like gamesters, who cheat at play, (we commit offences) knowingly, or (those) of which we know not, do thou, divine VARUNA, extricate us from them all, as if from loosened (bonds), so that we may be dear, VARUNA, to thee.

SUKTA XIV. (LXXXVI.)

The deities are Indra and Agni; the Rishi is Atri; the metre is Anushtubh, except in the last verse, in which it is Virát-púrvá.

- 1. Indra and Agni, the mortal whom you both protect scatters the substantial treasures (of his enemies), as Trita (confutes) the words (of his opponents).
- 2. We invoke the two, INDRA and AGNI, who are irresistible in conflicts, who are renowned in battles, who protect the five (classes of) men.²
- 3. Overpowering is the might of these two: the bright (lightning) is shining in the hands of MAGHA-VAN, as they go together in one chariot for the (recovery of the) cows, and the destruction of VRITRA.
- 4. We invoke you both, Indra and Agni, for (sending) your chariots to the combat, lords of moveable wealth, all-knowing, most deserving of praise.
- 5. I adore you, irresistible deities, for (the sake of obtaining) horses: you who are increasing day by day

Varga XXXI

¹ Vánír-iva Tritah: the comment explains this, Trita rishi prativádaváhyáni prabhinotti, as the Rishi Trita breaks or refutes controversial arguments; or Trita may mean Agni, who, in the three regions, disregards or dissipates reproaches.

³ Pancha charshanih: this precludes all allusion to mythological beings.

like mortals, who are worthy of worship, like two

Adityas.1

6. The invigorating oblation has been offered, like the Soma-juice expressed by the sounding stones:² do you bestow food upon the pious; great riches upon those who praise you; bestow food also upon those who praise you.

SÚRTA XV. (LXXXVII.)

The deities are the Maruts; the Rishi is Evayamarut, of the race of Atri; the metre is Atijagati.

- 1. May the voice-born praises of EVAYÁMARUT reach you, VISHŅU, attended by the MARUTS: (may they reach) the strong, the adorable, the brilliantly-adorned, the vigorous, praise-loving, cloud-scattering, quick-moving company of the MARUTS.
- 2. EVAYAMARUT glorifies those who are manifested with the great (INDRA), who appear spontaneously and speedily with the knowledge (that the sacrifice is prepared): your strength in action, MARUTS, is not to be resisted, (though qualified) by (your) infinite liberality: you are immoveable as mountains.
- 3. EVAYÁMARUT glorifies with praise those who, (coming) brilliant and happy from the vast heaven, hear (his invocation); in whose dwelling there is no one able to disturb them, and who, like self-radiant fires, are the impellers of the rivers.

² Ghritam na pútam adribhih: mention of the stones restricts the sense of ghritam to the Soma effusion.

³ Vishnave Marutvate: vishnave is considered by the scholiast as the adjective to the pervading, vyáptáya, that is, Indra, of whom Marutvat is a usual designation: he admits, however, as an alternative, Vishnave vá, or to Vishnu; also Sáma-Veda, 1. 462.

- 4. That wide-spreading troop (of MARUTS) has issued from a spacious common dwelling-place, (where) EVAYAMARUT (awaits them) when their car has been spontaneously harnessed with its rapid horses; and, emulous, vigorous, and conferring happiness, they sally forth.
- 5. Let not the sound (of your approach, Maruts), which is mighty, the announcer of rain, the shedder of light, diffusive, loud, alarm Evayamarut: that sound wherewith, overcoming (your foes), you who are self-irradiating, lasting-rayed, ornamented with golden ornaments, self-weaponed, bestowing food, accomplish your functions.
- 6. Possessors of vast strength, may your unbounded greatness, your brilliant vigour, protect EVAYÁMARUT; for you are regulators for overseeing (what is fit for) the limits of the sacrifice: preserve us from those who revile us, you, who are like blazing fires.
- 7. May those Rudras, the objects of worship, like resplendent fires, protect Evanameut: they, whose ethereal dwelling, extended and wide, has been made illustrious (by them), and of whom, exempt from blame, the mighty energies (are manifested) in their courses.
- 8. MARUTS, devoid of enmity, come to our proffered praise, hear the invocation of your adorer, EVAYÁ-

Varga XXXIII.

¹ Na yeshám irí sadhasthe íshte is explained by Sáyana, Marutám swahiye niváse tishtatám preritá na íshte na ísate chalayitum, there is no impeller who has power to cause the movement of the Maruts when abiding in their own abode.

² That is, the lightning, as associated with rain, may be considered as giving impulse to the rivers.

MARUT: do you, who are associated in the worship of Vishnu, drive away, as warriors (scatter their enemies), our secret foes.

9. Adorable Maruts come to our sacrifice, so that it may be prosperous: hear, undeterred by Rákshasas, the invocation of Evayámarut: abiding like lofty mountains in mid-heaven, do you, who are profoundly wise, be ever intolerant of the reviler.²

MANDALA VI.

ANUVÁKA I.

SURTA I. (1.)

The deity is AGNI; the Rishi is BHARADWAJA, son of BRI-HASPATI, who is the Rishi of nearly the entire Mandala; the metre is Trishtubh.

1. Thou, AGNI, art the first of the gods; a deity

¹ Indra, it is said, is here again meaut.

² This Súhta is more than ordinarily obscure, abounding in unusual words, and unconnected and ungrammatical constructions: thus the name of the Rishi, Kvuyámarut, remains unaltered in its case termination, whatever may be its syntactical connection with the rest of the sentence: this possibly has led Professor Benfey to regard it as an epithet of the Maruts in the vocative singular, and to translate it sturmvoll Marut, but this would not get quit of the grammatical incompatibility, as the Maruts are always designated in the plural, except when spoken of as a gana, a troop or company; moreover, there is no authority for giving to Evayá the sense of stormy: Sáyana is sufficiently to whom their minds are devoted; pleasing of aspect, thou art the invoker of the deities at this rite: showever (of benefits), bestow upon us unsurpassable strength, wherewith to sustain all (hostile) prowess.

- 2. Offerer of the oblation, frequent celebrator of sacrifice, now sit down on the foot-mark of ILA, accepting the (sacrificial) food, and being glorified: devout men, expectant of great riches, have recourse to thee as to the first (of the gods).
- 3. Those who are assiduous in (worshipping) thee for riches follow thee, going with many Vasus by the path (of the firmament); thee, the radiant Agni, of goodly aspect, mighty, fed with burnt-offerings, and blazing every day.
- 4. Men desirous of food obtain abundance unopposed when repairing to the station of the divinity with oblations; and when delighting, AGNI, in thy auspicious presence, they repeat those thy names which are to be uttered at sacrifices.²

explicit, and he only follows the Annhramani, Núhtam Evayámarudáhhyasya átreyasya muner-ársham, the Núhta has for its Rishi the muni of the race of Atri, who is named Evayámarut.

² Námúni chid dadhire yajnigáni, that is, such appellations as Játavedas, Vaisvánara, and the like; or námúni, it is said, may mean bymns, the materials or means of adoration, stotráni namanasúdhanáni.

- 5. Men exalt thee upon earth: they exalt thee for both kinds of affluence, (cattle and treasure, which thou bestowest upon) men: thou who extricatest (us from evil) art to be known as our preserver, as the unfailing father and mother of mankind.
- 6. Agni, who is adorable, affectionate, the offerer of oblations amongst men, the giver of delight, the celebrator of worship, has sat down (upon the altar): let us approach thee, kindled in our dwellings, on bended knees, with praise.
- 7. Intelligent, hoping for happiness, and devout, we glorify thee, adorable AGNI: do thou, shining with exceeding lustre, lead men to heaven.
- 8. (We glorify) the lord of men,² of ever-existing men; the wise, the destroyer (of foes), the showerer (of benefits) on mankind, the moving, the bestower of food, the purifier, the resplendent, AGNI, who is worshipped for (the sake of) riches.
- 9. The man, AGNI, who worships thee, who praises thee, who offers oblations to thee with kindled fuel, who presents burnt-offerings to thee with prostrations, he verily, protected by thee, obtains all desired wealth.
- 10. To thee, mighty AGNI, we offer exceeding adoration with prostrations, with fuel, with oblations: (we glorify thee) on the altar, son of strength, with hymns and with prayers: may we be successful in our efforts (to gain) thy auspicious favour.

¹ Janánám may also mean, for the gift of men, that is, of male posterity.

² Vispatim visám sasvatínám: the epithet is explained nityánám ritwiyyajamánalakshanánám, constant, characterizing priests and their employers, implying, perhaps, their regular and perpetual observance of religious institutes.

- 11. Do thou, AGNI, who hast spread heaven and earth with light, who art the preserver (of man), and (who art) to be glorified with praises, shine brightly upon us with abundant food, and with substantial riches.
- 12. Possessor of wealth, bestow upon us at all times opulence conjoined with dependants, and (grant) abundance of cattle to our sons and grandsons: may there be to us abundant food, satisfying our wishes, and free from blame; and may there be auspicious and reputable (means of subsistence).
- 13. Royal AGNI, may I obtain from thee thy many and various treasures whereby to be enriched; for, AGNI, who art the desired of multitudes, infinite are the riches (aggregated) in thee, fit, monarch, for thy worshipper.

FIFTH ADHYÁYA.

SÚKTA II. (II.)

The deity is Agn1; the Rishi is BHARADWAJA; the metre is Anushtubh, except in the last verse, in which it is Sahvari.

- 1. Thou alightest, AGNI, like MITRA, upon the oblation offered with the dry fuel: therefore, beholder of all, possessor of riches, thou cherishest us with food and nourishment.
- 2. Men verily worship thee with sacrifice and with praises: the inoffensive sun, the sender of rain, the beholder of the universe, proceeds to thee.¹

Varga I.

¹ The sun, it is said, at the evening enters into fire, whence it is that the latter is visible throughout the night: the term

- 3. The offerers of praise, sympathizing in satisfaction, kindle thee the banner of the sacrifice, when man, the descendant of MANU, desiring happiness, invokes thee to the rite.
- 4. May the mortal prosper who propitiates thee, (his) benefactor, by holy rites: through the protection of thee who art resplendent, he overcomes those who hate him, as if they were mortal sins.¹
- 5. The mortal who feeds thy consecrated burnt-offering with fuel enjoys, AGNI, a dwelling peopled with descendants, and a life of a hundred years.
- 6. The pure smoke of thee the resplendent spreads through the firmament, matures (in clouds), and thou, the purifier, shinest with radiance like the sun, when propitiated by praise.²
 - 7. Thou art now to be praised amongst the people, for sun, in the text, is vájin, he who goes swiftly, and it is an appellative also of fire and wind, as by another text, agnir-váyuh súryas te vai rájinah, fire, wind, the sun, they verily are vájins.

¹ Sáma-Veda, 1. 365, but the reading of the first line is a little different.

² Dyutá twam kripá rochase, thou shinest with light by praise; kripá is of rather doubtful import: it occurs subsequently in the unmistakeable sense of díptyá, with lustre, as if the word was properly in the nominative krip; Sáyana here explains it by stutyá, by praise, metaphorically, or literally, by that which is able to compel the presence of a deity, abhimuhhiharana samarthyá: it occurs in a passage quoted in the Niruhta, 6. 8., where it has apparently the sense of praise; but there is no explanation beyond its derivation from krip, to be able or capable: Mahídhara, Yajush, 17. 10., explains krípá, sámarthyena, díptyá vá, by ability, power, or by lustre.

for thou art our well beloved guest, venerated like an elder in a city, and to be cherished like a son.

- 8. Thou art manifested in the timber, AGNI, by the act of attrition: thou art the bearer (of the oblation), as a horse (is of his rider): thou art like the circumambient wind: thou art food and dwelling; thou art like a (new-born) babe, and variable (in movement) as a horse.
- 9. Thou consumest, AGNI, the unfallen (trees) as an animal (feeds) upon pasture, when, undecaying deity, the flames of thee who art resplendent shear the forests.
- 10. Thou enterest as the ministrant priest into the habitations of men who wish to perform sacrifice: render them prosperous, benefactor of mankind: be propitiated, Angiras, by the oblation.
- 11. Divine AGNI, reverenced as a friend, who art abiding in heaven and earth, communicate our praise to the gods: conduct the offerer of adoration to domestic felicity; and may we overcome our adversaries, our iniquities, our difficulties: may we overcome those³ (sins of a prior existence); may we overcome them by thy protection.

² Swadhá gayah are rendered annam griham cha: there is no verb, but the scholiast supplies bhavasi, thou art.

SÚKTA III. (III.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Trishtubh.

- 1. The offerer of sacrifice, born for religious rites, who lives devoted, AGNI, to thee, obtains abundant light, and is a man whom thou, sympathizing in satisfaction with MITRA and VARUNA, protectest by thy shield 1 from iniquity.
- 2. He who has presented (oblations) to AGNI, the possessor of desired (wealth), sacrifices with (all) sacrifices, and is sanctified by (all) holy acts: him, the want of excellent (posterity) does not afflict, nor does sin or pride affect such a mortal.
- 3. When the fearful flames of thee, whose appearance is (as) faultless as (that of) the sun, spread on every side as (if they were) the lowing heifers of the night,² then this Agni, the asylum of all, generated in the woods, is everywhere beautiful.
- 4. Sharp is his path, and his vast body shines like a horse champing fodder with his mouth, darting forth his tongue like a hatchet, and burning timber to ashes, like a goldsmith who fuses (metal).³

¹ Tyajasá, which is explained, tyájanasádhanena áyudhena, by a weapon which is the instrument of causing abandonment or escape.

³ Dravir na drávoyati dáru dhakshat, is, literally, as a

- 5. He casts (afar his flames) as an archer (his arrows), and sharpens when about to dart his radiance, as (a warrior whets) the edge of his iron (weapons), he who, variously moving, passes through the night, like the light-falling foot of a bird perched upon a tree.
- 6. Like the adorable sun, he clothes himself with brilliant (rays): diffusing friendly light, he crackles with (his flame): (he it is) who is luminous by night, and who lights men (to their work) by day; who is immortal and radiant; who lights men by day,
- 7. Of whom a sound is heard when scattering his rays like (that) of the sun: the brilliant showerer (of benefits) clamours among the (burning) plants: he who, moving not with a shifting, variable motion, but, humbling (our foes), fills the well-wedded earth and heaven with wealth.²
- 8. He who (goes) with sacred (rays), as if with self-harnessed, well-governed (steeds), who shines like lightning with his own scorching (flames), who immelter causes to melt, he burns the timber; or, as Sáyana explains it, yathá swarnahárah swarnádikam drávayati tathágnir vanam bhasmasát karotí, as a goldsmith fuses gold and the rest, so Agni reduces the wood to ashes: perhaps something more than simple fusion of metals is implied: the alchemical calcining or permutation of them would be more analogous to the burning of timber, or its reduction to ashes.

¹ Ayaso na dhárám: ayas has here the force of the Latin ferrum.

² Á rodasí vasuná supatní, sobhanapatike dyává prithivyau dhanena púrayati is the amplification of the comment, he fills with wealth heaven and earth, both having a brilliant husband or lord: who that is, is not specified, unless it be Agni or Indra.

pairs the vigour of the MARUTS, he glows radiant and rapid as the-wide-shining sun.¹

SÚKTA IV. (IV.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Son of strength, invoker (of the gods), in like manner as at the worship of the gods by Manu thou didst offer worship with sacrifices, so now, Agni, with willing mind, worship for us the assenting deities, regarding them as thy equals.
- 2. May that AGNI, who, like the illuminator of the day, is resplendent and cognisable (by all), grant us commendable food; he who is the life of all, immortal, who knows all that exists, who is our guest, waking amongst men at dawn.
- 3. Whose great deeds his worshippers now celebrate, who is clothed with light, radiant as the sun, exempt from decay, the purifier, he illumes (all things), and destroys the ancient cities of the dispersed (evil beings).²
- 4. Son of strength, thou art to be praised: AGNI, sitting upon the (sacrificial) viands, has given (to his worshippers), from their birth, habitation and food: giver of strength, bestow strength upon us: triumph like a prince, so that thou mayest abide in our unassailed (dwelling).
- 5. He who whets his (gloom)-dispersing (radiance), who eats the (offered) oblation, a sovereign like VAYU, overcomes the nights: may we prevail (over him) who is not a donor of the oblations that are due, (AGNI), to thee, and do thou, (swift) as a horse, be the destroyer of the foes assailing (us).

² Asnasya chid: from as to pervade, vyáponasílasya, of the pervader, that is, according to Sáyana, Ráhshasádeh, of the Ráhshasas, and the like it may possibly be intended for a proper name.

6. Thou overspreadest, AGNI, heaven and earth with radiance, like the sun with his lustrous rays: the wonderful AGNI disperses the glooms like the adored (sun) moving on his path, imbued with light.

- 7. We celebrate thee, who art most adorable, with sacred praises: hear, Agni, our laudation: the leaders (of rites) earnestly honour thee with offerings, thee who art divine like Indra, and like VAYU in strength.
- 8. Quickly conduct us, AGNI, by unmolested paths, to riches and prosperity: (convey us) beyond sin: those delights which thou givest to thine adorers (extend) to him who (now) glorifies thee, and may we, living for a hundred winters, and blessed with excellent posterity, be happy.

SUKTA V. (V.)

The Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

1. I invoke thee, AGNI, the son of strength, the youthful, the irreproachable, the very young; thee who art wise, the sought of many, the merciful, who bestowest treasures acceptable to all.

Varga VII.

Varga VI.

¹ Arkasokaih, prasasyair diptikaranaih stotraih, with excellent illustrating praises, or it may be an epithet of Agni with yuhta understood, endowed with, or possessed of, excellent radiance; prasasyair diptibhir yuhtam agnim: Mahidhara, Yajur-Veda, 33. 13., explains it arkavat suchante, which shine like the sun; and hence arhasokaih means, he says, mantraih, with prayers.

- 2. Bright-blazing AGNI, invoker of the gods, to thee the adorable deities have appropriated, by night and day, the riches (of the oblation): they have deposited in the purifier (AGNI) all good things, as they have placed all beings upon earth.
- 3. Thou abidest from of old in these people, and by thy deeds hast been (to them) the conveyer of good things; thence, sage JATAVEDAS, thou bestowest continually wealth upon the sacrificer.
- 4. Do thou, protector of (thy) friends, who art most resplendent, blazing with radiance, consume with thine own imperishable flames him who injures us abiding in secret, or when near to us designs us harm.
- 5. He who propitiates thee, son of strength, with sacrifice, with fuel, with prayers, with praises, shines immortal amongst men, eminent in wisdom and possessed of splendid opulence and (abundant) food.
- 6. Accomplish quickly, AGNI, that for which thou art solicited: endowed with strength, oppose by strength our adversaries: be pleased, thou who art anointed with radiance, by the loud vociferation of thy worshipper, by whom thou art adored with hymns.
- 7. May we obtain through thy protection, Agni, that which we desire: giver of riches, may we obtain of thee riches and descendants: desiring food, may we obtain food: may we obtain, imperishable Agni, imperishable fame (through thee).²

² Yajur-Veda, 18. 74.

SÚKTA VI. (VI.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. He who is desirous of food has recourse with a new sacrifice, approachable son of strength, (AGNI), to thee, the consumer of forests, the dark-pathed, the bright-shining, the ministrant (to the gods) of (sacrificial) food, the divine;
- 2. (Thee who art) white-hued, vociferous, abiding in the firmament, (associated) with the imperishable, resounding (winds), the youngest (of the gods), AGNI, who, purifying and most vast, proceeds, feeding upon numerous and substantial (forests).
- 3. Pure AGNI, thy bright flames, fanned by the wind, spread wide in every direction, consuming abundant (fuel); divine, fresh-rising, they play upon the woods, enveloping them in lustre.
- 4. Resplendent AGNI, thy bright rays, horses let loose (from the rein), shear the earth; thy (band of flame), mounting above the high-lands of the many-tinted (earth), blazes fiercely.
- 5. The flame of the showerer, (AGNI), repeatedly descends like the hurled thunderbolt of the rescuer of the cattle: like the prowess of a hero is the destroying (energy) of AGNI: irresistible and fearful, he consumes the forests.
 - 6. Thou overspreadest the accessible places of the earth with light by the energy of thy powerful, exciting (influence): do thou disperse all perils, and, baffling (our) adversaries by thy mighty (powers), destroy (our) foes.

7. Wonderful AGNI, of wonderful strength, bestower of delight, grant to us, and to him who praises thee with gratifying (praises), wonderful, most wonderful riches, conferring fame, supplying food, comprehending male descendants, delectable and infinite.¹

SÚKTA VII. (VII.)

AGNI as VAISWANARA is the deity; the Rishi is as before; the metre of the two last stanzas is Jagati, of the rest Trishtubh.

- 1. The gods have generated VAISWANABA, AGNI, as the brow of heaven, the unceasing pervader of earth, born for (the celebration of) sacrifice, wise, imperial, the guest of men, in whose mouth (is) the vessel (that conveys the oblation to the gods).
- 2. (The worshippers) glorify together, (AGNI), the bond of sacrifices, the abode of riches, the great

² Devá may also be applied to the priests who generate Agni by attrition: Vaiswánara is variously explained, but it most usually implies, what or who belongs to, or is beneficial to, all (visua) men (narah).

⁴ Nábhim yojnánám: nábhi is here explained nahanam, bandhakam, the connecting link or binding of different religious rites.

receptacle of burnt-offerings: the gods generate VAIS-WANARA, the conveyer of oblations, the emblem of sacrifice.¹

- 3. The offerer of (sacrificial) food becomes wise, AGNI, from thee: from thee heroes become the vanquishers of foes: therefore do thou, royal VAISWANARA, bestow upon us enviable riches.
- 4. All the worshippers together praise thee, immortal AGNI, when born like an infant: when thou shinest, VAISWÁNARA, between the parental (heaven and earth), they obtain immortality through thy (sacred) rites.
- 5. AGNI, VAISWÁNARA, these thy mighty deeds no one can resist: when born on the lap of thy parents,² thou hast stationed the banner of the days on the paths of the firmament.
- 6. The summits of the firmament are measured by the light of VAISWANARA, the manifester of ambrosial (rain): all the regions are overspread (by the vapour) on his brow,³ and the seven gliding (streams) spring from thence like branches.
- 7. VAISWANARA, the performer of sacred acts, is he 'who made the regions; foreseeing (he has made) the luminaries of heaven, and has spread throughout all worlds; the irresistible guardian (of all), the protector of ambrosial (rain).

² That is, according to the scholiast, in the antarihsha, or firmament.

^{3.} This idea has occurred before: the smoke that rises from sacrificial fires becomes clouds in the atmosphere, whence rain falls and rivers are filled.

SÚRTA VIII. (VIII.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre of the last verse is Trishtubh, of the rest Jagati.

- 1. I commemorate promptly at the holy ceremony the might of the all-pervading Játavedas, the showerer, the radiant: new, pure, and graceful praise issues (from me), like the Soma-juice (from the filter), to Agni Vaiswánara.
- 2. That AGNI who, as soon as born in the highest heaven, the protector of sacred rites, protects the pious acts (of men), he has made the manifold firmament: VAISWÁNARA, the performer of good deeds, has attained heaven by his greatness.
- 3. The friend (of all), the wonderful (AGNI), has upheld heaven and earth: he has hidden darkness within light: he has spread out the two sustaining (worlds, heaven and earth), like two skins: VAISWÁNARA comprehends all (creative) energy.
- 4. The mighty Maruts have seized upon him on the lap of the waters (in the firmament), and men have acknowledged him as their adorable sovereign: MATARISWAN, the messenger of the gods, has brought AGNI VAISWANARA (hither) from the distant (sphere of the) sun.
- 5. To those, Agni, who repeat new (praises) to thee, the object of their worship from age to age, grant riches and famous (posterity): strike down, undecaying sovereign, the sinner with thy blaze like the thunderbolt, as if he were a tree.
- 6. Grant, Agni, to us who are affluent in (offerings), wealth that cannot be taken away, that is exempt from decay, and that comprehends excellent male descendants: may we obtain, Agni Vaiswanaka, hundreds and thousands of viands through thy protection.

7. Adored AGNI, present in the three worlds, protect thy worshippers with thine irresistible protections, preserve the strength of us who offer (oblations): glorified (by us), AGNI VAISWANARA, transport us (beyond evil).

SÚKTA IX. (IX.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. The dark day and the light day revolve alternate, affecting (the world) by their recognisable (properties): ACNI VAISWÁNARA, manifested like a prince, dispels darkness by his lustre.
- 2. I understand not the threads (of the warp), nor the threads of the woof, nor that (cloth) which those who are assiduous in united exertion weave: of what (man) may the son declare the words that are to be spoken in the next world, (instructed) by a father abiding below.¹

Varga XI.

¹ The first half of the stanza reads náham tantum na vijánámy-otum, na yam vayanti samare atamánáh, and implies, according to those who know tradition, sampradáyavidah, says Sáyana, a figurative allusion to the mysteries of sacrifice: the threads of the warp, tantu, are the metres of the Vedas, those of the woof, otu, the liturgic prayers and ceremonial, the combination of which two is the cloth, or sacrifice: the átmavidah, or, Vedántis, understand it as alluding to the mysteries of creation, the threads of the warp being the subtile elements, those of the woof the gross, and their combination the universe: either interpretation is sufficiently intelligible, but the former harmonizes best with the character of the Veda: it is less easy to give intelligibility to the second half, hasya swit putra iha vahtwáni, paro vadáti avarena pitrá, and the scholiast does not materially help us: of whom (may) the son (say) in this world the words that are to be said, (which) the subsequent (may say) by the

- 3. He verily knows the threads of the warp and of the woof, he speaks in due season what is to be said, who comprehends all this (universe); who is the protector of ambrosial water, sojourning both above and below, and contemplating (the world) under a different (manifestation).
- 4. This VAISWANARA is the first offerer of burnt-offerings: behold him: this is the light immortal amongst mortals: he has been born in a bodily shape, immoveable, all-pervading, immortal, ever increasing.
- 5. A steady light, swifter than thought, stationed among moving beings to shew (the way) to happiness,² father being after or below, is, with a little assistance, the literal translation: Sáyana explains putra by manushya, a man, vaktwáni by vaktavyáni, para by parastát, or amushmin lohe varttamáno yah súryah, the sun who is abiding in the other or future world, he being instructed, anusishtah san, by the father abiding below, or in this world, pitrá avastát asmin loke varttamánena, that is, by Agni Vaiswánara, vaiswánarágnina. as it is elsewhere said, vaiswánarasya putro asau parastád-divi ya sthitah, he is the son of Vaiswanara, who is stationed above, or in heaven: all that may be intended is, that no human being can explain the mysteries of sacrifice, although the sun may be able to do so, having been instructed in them by Agni, his parent or source, the sun being no more than the Agni of heaven: as regards the mysteries of creation, Sáyana explains the passage, no man, however taught by a father born after creation, can rightly know any thing previous to his birth, either in this world or the next.

- 1 Or us' the sun, whilst upon earth Agni or Vaiswánara is manifest as fire.
- ² According to the Vedánti view of the text, the light is Brahma, seated spontaneously in the heart as the means of true knowledge, to which all the senses, together with the mind and consciousness, refer, as to the one cause of creation, or Paramátmá, supreme spirit.

all the gods being of one mind, and of like wisdom, proceed respectfully to the presence of the one (chief) agent, (VAISWANARA).

- 6. Mine ears are turned (to hear him), mine eyes (to behold him); this light that is placed in the heart (seeks to know him); my mind, the receptacle of distant (objects), hastens (towards him): what shall I declare (him)? how shall I comprehend him?
- 7. All the gods, alarmed, venerate thee, Agni, abiding in darkness: may VAISWANARA preserve us with his protection: may the immortal Agni preserve us with his protection.

SÚKTA X. (X.)

The deity is AGNI; the Rishi as before; the metre is Trishtubh, except in the last verse, in which it is Viráj.

- 1. Place before you at the progressive, uninterrupted sacrifice, the divine, adorable, perfect AGNI, with prayers; for he, the resplendent JATAVEDAS, makes us prosperous in sacred rites.
- 2. Brilliant, many-rayed AGNI, invoker of the gods, kindled with many fires, (hear) this (praise) of men; which delightful praise, pure as the clarified butter (that has been filtered), his worshippers offer unto him as MAMATA (formerly offered it).
- 3. He thrives in abundance amongst men, who, pious, presents to AGNI (oblations) with prayers: the wonderfully radiant AGNI places him with marvellous protection in the enjoyment of pasturage full of herds of cattle.
- 4. The dark-pathed, as soon as generated, filled with his afar-seen light the two spacious (worlds):

he, the purifier, is now beheld dispersing with his radiance the thick glooms of night.

- 5. Bestow quickly, AGNI, upon us who are affluent (in oblations), wondrous wealth, with abundant viands, and protections, such as enrich other men with wealth, with food, and with male descendants.
- 6. Agni, desirous (of the offering), accept this sacrifice, this food which the presenter (of the oblation), sitting down (before thee), offers unto thee: accept the blameless (praises) of the Bharadwaja (race), and favour them that they may obtain many sorts of food.
- 7. Scatter (our) enemies; augment our abundance; and may we, blessed with virtuous male descendants, enjoy happiness for a hundred winters.

SÚKTA XI. (XI.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. AGNI, invoker of the gods, do thou who art adorable, being instigated by us, worship at our present rite the foe-repelling (troop) of the MARUTS, and bring to our sacrifice MITRA and VARUNA, the NASATYAS, and Heaven and Earth.
- 2. Thou art amidst mortals at the celebration (of sacrifice), the invoker of the gods, (thou who art) most deserving of praise, a divinity doing us no harm: the bearer (of the oblation) offers (the gods), Agni, thine own body with purifying flame as if with their mouth.
- 3. Praise, solicitous of wealth, is ever addressed, Agni, to thee, inasmuch as thy manifestation (enables) the worshipper to sacrifice to the gods, when the pious sage, the most earnest adorer amongst the Angirasas, the reciter (of the hymn), repeats at the ceremony the gratifying measure.

- 4. The brilliant AGNI, mature in wisdom, has shone resplendently: offer worship to the wide-spread heaven and earth, thou whom, well-fed, the five races of men, bearing oblations, propitiate, with (sacrificial) food, as if thou wast a mortal guest.
- 5. When the holy grass has been cut, (to be presented) to AGNI, with the oblation; when the well-trimmed ladle, filled with butter, has been lifted up; then thy receptacle, (the altar), has been prepared on the surface of the earth, and the sacred rite is had recourse to, as light (concentrates) in the sun.
- 6. AGNI, many-rayed, invoker of the gods, blazing with brilliant fires, bestow upon us riches; and may we, Son of strength, clothing thee with oblations, overcome iniquity (like) a foe.

SUKTA XII. (XII.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before

- 1. Agni, the invoker of the gods, the lord of sacrifice, abides in the dwelling of the institutor of the rite, to offer sacrifice to heaven and earth: he, the Son of strength, the observer of truth, has overspread (the world) from afar, like the sun, with light.
- 2. Adorable and resplendent AGNI, to whom, mature in wisdom, the worshipper offers oblations at every sacred rite, do thou, who art present in the three (worlds), move with the speed of the traverser (of the sky, the sun), to convey the valuable oblations of men (to the gods).

- 3. He, whose pure and spreading flame blazes in the forest, shines with increasing intensity, like the sun¹ on his (celestial) path: rushing like the innoxious (wind)² amongst the plants, immortal, unimpeded, he lights up (all things) by his own (lustre).
- 4. Agni, who knows all that exists, is propitiated in our dwelling by our praises, like those gratifying (commendations which proceed) from one soliciting (a favour): feeder upon trees, consumer of forests, impetuous in act as the bull, the (progenitor of calves), he is glorified by the celebration of sacrifices.
- 5. They glorify his flames in this world: when, easily thinning the woods, they spread over the earth: he, who glides along unarrested, and rapid in movement as a fast flying thief, shines over the desert.
- 6. Quick-moving AGNI, kindled with all (thy) fires, (guard) us from reproach: thou bestowest riches, thou scatterest adversaries: may we, blessed with excellent male descendants, enjoy happiness for a hundred winters.

¹ Todo adhvan na: here toda is said to signify the sun as the sarvasya preraka, the urger, impeller, or animator of all.

² Adrogho na may also mean, according to Sáyana, as of one not liable to be oppressed or harmed, adrogdhavya, or it may imply the vital air, the non-injurer, the sustainer of all, prána rúpena sarveshám adrogdhá, that is, the wind, váyuh.

SÚKTA XIII. (XIII.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Auspicious AGNI, all good things proceed from thee, like branches (from the trunk) of a tree, renowned riches, vigour for the destruction of foes, the rain of heaven: thou art to be glorified, the sender of the waters.
- 2. Do thou, who art adorable, bestow upon us precious wealth: beautiful with radiance, thou passest (around) like the circumambient (wind): thou, divine AGNI, art like MITRA, the giver of abundant water and ample wealth.
- 3. That man, the protector of the virtuous, destroys, AGNI, his enemy by his strength, and baffles, intelligent, the might of (the Asura) PANI, whom thou, the wise, the parent of sacrifice, consentient with the grandson of the waters,² encouragest (in the hope) of riches.
- 4. The mortal who by praise, by prayers, by sacrifices, attracts, Son of strength, thy heightened (radiance) to the altar, enjoys all-sufficiency and corn, and abounds in wealth.
- 5. Grant, Son of strength, to men (who praise thee), those abundant viands and excellent descendants, (that may contribute) to their prosperity: grant also that copious sustenance from cattle, which by thy.

Varga XV.

¹ Twam Bhago na might be rendered, thou like Bhaga; but the scholiast makes the first an adjective, bhajaniya, to be worshipped or propitiated, and considers na as nas, us.

² Sajoshá naptrápám, the grandson of the waters is said here to mean the lightning, vidyutágniná sangatas-twam, thou associated with the lightning-fire.

strength thou takest away from a churlish and malignant adversary.

6. Agni, Son of strength, do thou who art mighty be our councillor: give us sons and grandsons, together with food: may I, by all my praises, obtain the fulfilment of my desires: may we, blessed with excellent male descendants, enjoy happiness for a hundred winters.

SÚKTA XIV. (XIV.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Anushtubh, except in the last verse, in which it is Sakvari.

- 1. May the mortal who propitiates AGNI by devotion and worship, together with praises, quickly become distinguished as first (amongst men), and acquire ample food for the support (of his children).
- 2. Agni verily is most wise; he is the chief performer of religious rites, a holy sage: the progeny of men glorify Agni as the invoker of the gods at sacrifices.
- 3. The manifold treasures of the enemy (detached from them) are emulous, AGNI, for the preservation (of thy worshippers): men who worship thee, triumphing over the spoiler, seek to shame him who celebrates no sacred rite by (their) observances.
- 4. Agni bestows (upon his worshippers) a male descendant, (the performer of good) works, the subduer of foes, the protector of the virtuous, at whose appearance his enemies tremble through fear of his prowess.
- 5. The mighty and divine AGNI, endowed with knowledge, protects the morta from reproach whose rich (offerings) are unobstructed (by evil spirits), and unshared by other (offerers) at sacrifices:

6. Divine AGNI, revered as a friend, who, abiding in heaven and earth, communicates our praise to the gods, conduct the offerer of adoration to domestic felicity, and may we overcome our adversaries, our iniquities, our difficulties: may we overcome them by thy protection.¹

SÚKTA XV. (XV.)

The deity is Agni; the Rishi either Vítahavya, of the family of Angiras, or Bharadwája, as before; the metre varies; that of the first, second, fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth, and ninth stanzas is Jagati; of the third and fifteenth, Sakvari; of the sixth, Atisakvari; of the seventeenth, Anushtubh; of the tenth and following four, and of the sixteenth and nine-teenth, Trishtubh.

1. Propitiate by praises this guest who wakes at dawn, the cherisher of all people, who on every occasion descends, pure of origin, from heaven, and, present as the embryo (in the wood of attrition), consumes immediately the offered (oblation).

2. Wonderful AGNI, whom, adorable and upward flaming, the BHRIGUS regard as a friend, deposited in the wood of (attrition), be pleased with Vítahavya, since thou art glorified by (his) praise every day.

3. Do thou, who art unresisted, become the benefactor of him who is skilled (in sacred rites), his defender against a near or distant enemy: Son of strength, who art ever renowned, grant wealth and a dwelling to Vítahavya, the offerer of the oblation.³

Varga XVII.

¹ This is the same passage as occurs in Súkta III. v. 11, see p. 385.

² If applied to Bharudwája this will be an appellative, he by whom oblations are offered.

³ Vitahavyáya bharadwájáya, either of these may be taken as the name or the epithet; to Vitahavya, the bearer, bharat, of

- 4. Propitiate with pious praises the radiant AGNI, your guest, the guide to heaven, the invoker of the gods (at the sacrifice) of MANU, the celebrator of holy rites, the speaker of brilliant words like a learned sage, the bearer of oblations (to the gods), the lord, the divine.
- 5. (Propitiate him) who shines upon the earth with purifying and enlightening lustre, as the dawns with light; him, who like (a warrior) discomfiting (his foes) quickly blazed forth in the contest in defence of ETASA; him, who is satiated (with food), exempt from deeay.
- 6. Worship repeatedly the adorable Agni with fuel; (him) who is ever your dear friend, your guest: approach the immortal Agni with praises, for he, a god among gods, accepts our homage.
- 7. I glorify with praise the kindled AGNI, pure, purifying, permanent, (placed) before (us) at the sacrifice: let us celebrate with pleasant (hymns) the wise AGNI, the invoker of the gods, the adored of many, the benevolent, the far-seeing, him who knows all that exists.
- 8. Thee, AGNI, have gods and men in every age retained as their messenger, immortal bearer of oblations, beneficent, adorable: they have placed him with reverence (upon the altar), vigilant, pervading, the protector of mankind.
 - 9. Showing grace, AGNI, to both (gods and men), the oblation, $v\acute{a}ja$, or to Bharadw $\acute{a}ja$, by whom is offered, $v\acute{a}t\~{a}$, the oblation, havya.

and at each sacred rite the messenger of the gods, thou traversest earth and heaven: inasmuch as we offer thee worship and praise, therefore do thou, who art the guardian of the three (regions), be auspicious to us.¹

- 10. We of little wisdom adore the most wise AGNI, the well-formed, the well-looking, the graceful-moving: may AGNI, who knows all things that are to be known, offer the sacrifice: may he announce the oblation to the immortals.
- 11. Thou cherishest, thou protectest, AGNI, that man who offers worship, hero, to thee, the far-seeing: thou rewardest with strength and with riches him (who undertakes) the institution, (who effects) the accomplishment, of the sacrifice.²
- 12. Protect us, AGNI, from the malignant, preserve us, mighty one, from wickedness: may the offering come to thee free from defects; may desirable riches, by thousands, (reach us).
- 13. Agni is the invoker of the gods, the lord of the house, the ruler, who knows all that is, knows all existing beings; he is the most assiduous worshipper amongst gods or men: let him who is observant of truth offer worship.
- 14. AGNI, minister of the sacrifice, bright with purifying lustre, approve of that (worship) which is

Varga XII

¹ This and the two preceding stanzas occur in the Sáma-Veda, 11. 917—919.

² Yajnasya vá nisitim vá uditím vá: the first is explained by Sáyana, sanskára, perfection, accomplishment; the second, udgamanam, going up or over, perhaps, finishing: the relation of either to yajna is questionable, as they are both separated from it by the disjunctive, vá, or.

this day celebrated by the institutor of the rite: thou verily art the sacrificer, therefore address the worship (to the gods); and since by thy greatness thou art all-pervading, therefore, youngest (of the gods), accept the oblations which are to-day (presented) to thee.

- 15. Look, AGNI, upon the (sacrificial) viands duly deposited (upon the altar): Heaven and Earth detain thee to sacrifice (to the gods): opulent AGNI, protect us in battle, whereby we may pass safe over all evils: may we pass over those of a prior existence; may we pass over them by thy protection.¹
- 16. Bright-rayed AGNI, sit down first with all the gods, upon the altar lined with wool, a nest (of perfumes) and suffused with ghi,² and rightly convey (to the deities) the sacrifice of the institutor of the rite, of the presenter of the oblation.³
- 17. The priests churn thee, Agni, as was done by Atharvan, and bring him from the glooms of night, wandering deviously, but not-bewildered.⁴

² Urnávantam, hutáyinam ghritavantam: the stanza is quoted in the Aitareya Bráhmana, with a partial explanation, which is amplified by Sáyana: the altar is built up like the nest of a bird, huláya, with circles, paridhayah, of the wood of the hhayar or devadáru, in which, avisambandah romaviseshah, sheep's wool; and fragrant resins, the materials of incense (guggulu dhúpasádhanam), are placed, etc uttaravedyám sthápitáh sóbbháráh, these appurtenances are placed in the northern altar.

⁴ Anhúyantam amúram: the first refers, according to the

- 18. Be born, Agni, at the sacrifice, for the welfare of the offerer (of the oblation) to the gods: bring hither the immortal deities, the augmenters of the (sacred) rite: present our sacrifice to the gods.
- 19. Lord of the house, AGNI, we, amongst men, promote thine increase by fuel: may our domestic fires be supplied with all that is essential: enliven us with brilliant radiance.

ANUVÁKA II.

SURTA I. (XVI.)

The deity is AGNI, the Rishi BHARADWAJA; the metre is Gáyatrí, modified in the first, sixth, seventh, and eighth verses as Va. ddhamáná Gáyatrí, and, with the exception of the twenty-seventh, forty-seventh, and forty-eighth verses, in which it is Anushtubh, and of the forty-sixth, in which it is Trishtubh: the Súkta is of unusual length in this part of the Veda.

1. Thou, AGNI, hast been appointed by the gods, the ministrant for men, the descendants of MANU, at all sacrifices.²

scholiust, to the legend of Agni's attempting at first to run away from the gods, decebhyah paláyamánam.

a one-horse car or waggon which brings either the Soma-plant or fuel: with the negative prefix asthuri it implies a non-one-horse cart, that is, a cart with a full team, and, metonymically, its contents, or a full supply of what is wanted for a perfect sacrifice, such as obtains children, cattle, riches, asthurini, putra pasudhanádibhih sampurnáni.

² Sáma-Veda, 1. 2., 11. 824.

- 2. Therefore do thou at our sacrifice offer oblations to the great deities with exhilarating flames: bring hither the gods: offer them worship.
- 3. Agni, doer of great deeds, creator, thou knowest (how to travel over) with speed (great) roads and (little) paths² at sacrifices.
- 4. BHARATA, with the presenters of the oblation, has joyfully praised thee in thy (twofold capacity), and has worshipped thee, the adorable, with sacrifices.
- 5. As thou hast conferred these many blessings upon DIVODÁSA when presenting libations, (so now grant them) to the (actual) offerer, BHARADWÁJA.
- 6. Hearing the adoration of the sage, do thou, who art the immortal messenger, bring hither the celestial people.
- 7. Pious mortals invoke thee, divine AGNI, at sacrifices, to convey their (sacrificial) food to the gods.
- 8. I glorify thy splendour, and the acts of thee the liberal giver: all who, (through thy favour) enjoy their desires, glorify thee.
 - 9. Thou hast been appointed by MANU, the invoker

² Adhvanah pathaṣcha are explained severally mahamárgán, great roads, kshudra márgán-scha, little roads or paths; that is, according to Sáyaṇa, put the sacrificer into the right way when he is going wrong in the ceremonial or sacrifice.

³ Sáyana considers Bharata here to be the Rájá, the son of Dushyanta.

of the gods, the most wise bearer of oblations (to them) by thy mouth: worship, AGNI, the people of heaven.

- 10. Come, AGNI, to the (sacrificial) food: being lauded, (come) to convey the oblation (to the gods): sit down as the ministrant priest upon the sacred grass.¹
- 11. We augment thee, Angiras, with fuel and with butter: blaze fiercely, youngest (of the gods).²
- 12. Divine AGNI, bestow upon us (wealth), excellent, great, and (comprehending) worthy male descendants.³
- 13. The sage, ATHARVAN, extracted thee from upon the lotus-leaf, the head, the support of the universe.

Varga XXIII.

² Sáma-Veda, II. 11., Yajur-Veda, 3. 3.

³ Sáma-Veda, II. 12.: suvira or suviryya always implies having male descendants, bonos viros habens, or bonorum virorum possessio.

⁴ Twám pushkarád adhi atharvo niramanthata, múrddhno viswasya vághatah: the verse occurs in the Sáma-Veda, 1.9, and the Yajush, 11. 32: according to Sáyana, pushkarádadhi means pushkaruparne, or the lotus-leaf, as by the text pushkara-parne Prajápatir bhúmim aprathayat, upon the lotus-leaf Prajápati made manifest the earth, which probably suggested one of the accounts of the creation in Manu 1.: hence, as it supported the earth it may be termed the head, murddhan, or the bearer, vághata for váhaka, of all things: Mahídhara cites a text to shew that atharvan means prána, vital air or life, and pushhara, water, and explains the passage, the vital air extracted fire or animal heat from the water, prana udahasakásád-agnim niseshena mathitaván: to vághata he assigns the usual import of ritvij, ministrant priest, and explains the last sentence, all the priests churned thee out of the head or top of the wood of attrition: he gives also another explanation, which agrees with that of Sayana.

- 14. The Rishi, DADHYANCH, the son of ATHARVAN, kindled the slayer of VRITRA, the destroyer of the cities of the Asuras.
- 15. (The Rishi) PATHYA, the showerer, kindled thee, the destroyer of the Dasyu, the winner of spoil in battle.
- 16. Come, AGNI, that I may address to thee other praises in this manner: augment with these libations.
- 17. Wheresoever, and upon whatsoever thy mind is directed, thou bestowest uncommon vigour, and there thou makest thine abode.
- 18. Let not thy full (blaze) be distressing to the eye,² giver of dwellings to thy humble votaries, and, therefore accept our worship.
- 19. AGNI, the bearer (of oblations), the destroyer of the enemies of DIVODÁSA, the cognisant of many, the protector of the good, has been brought hither (by our praises).
- 20. Surpassing all earthly things, may be bestew upon us riches, destroying his enemies by his greatness, unresisted, unassailed.
- 21. Thou hast overspread, AGNI, this vast (firmament) with radiant concentrated lustre, recent like that of old.

¹ Itthetará girah: ittha, anena prakárena, thus, in this manner: itará, other, may mean also, according to Sáyana, offered by others, or by the Asuras, asuraih kritá: in his commentary on the Aitareya Bráhmana, where the verse is cited, 3. 49., he understands it differently, or, other than those offered to the gods, or adverse to the gods, propitiatory of the Asuras, asurebhyah hitáh devaváhyádítará devavirodhinya ityarthah.

² The text has nahi púrttam akshipadbhuvat: akshi-pat, akshno pátakam vinásakam, the offender or destroyer of the

- 22. Sing praise and offer sacrifice, my friends, to the foe-discomfiting, the creator, AGNI.
- 23. May that AGNI indeed sit down (at our sacrifice), who in every age of man has been the invoker of the gods, the doer of wise deeds, the messenger of the gods, the bearer of oblations.
- 24. Giver of dwellings, worship on this occasion the two regal divinities, MITRA and VARUNA, whose acts are holy, the ÁDITYAS, the company of the MARUTS, and heaven and earth.
- 25. Son of strength, AGNI, the glorious radiance of thee who art immortal, bestows food upon (thy) mortal worshipper.
- 26. May the donor (of the oblation), propitiating thee by his acts to day, be exalted, and (rendered) very opulent: may (such) mortal be diligent in (thy) praise.
- 27. Those, AGNI, who are protected by thee, wishing for the whole (term of) life (obtain it), overcoming hostile assailants, destroying hostile assailants.
- 28. May Agni, with his sharp flame, demolish the devourer (of the oblation): may Agni grant us riches.
- 29. JATAVEDAS, all-beholder, bring us wealth with good posterity: doer of good deeds, destroy the Rákshasas.
- 30. Preserve us, JATAVEDAS, from sin: enunciator of prayer, protect us from the malevolent.

Veda, 26. 13., the preceding verse also occurs in the former 11. 56.

Varga XXV

¹ Brahmanashave is explained mantrasya sabdayitar, oh sounder or articulator of prayer; for Agni, it is said, generates articulate sound, and the Smriti is cited as authority; manah

- 31. The malevolent mortal who threatens us with murderous weapon, from him defend us, and also from sin.
- 32. Scatter, divine AGNI, by thy flame, that evildoer, the man who seeks to kill us.
- 33. Subduer of foes, grant to Bharadwája infinite happiness and desirable wealth.
- 34. May Agni, propitiated by praise, desirous of (sacrificial) affluence, kindled, bright, and fed with burnt-offerings, destroy all adversaries,¹
- 35. Radiant in the embryo of the maternal (earth), on the imperishable (altar); the cherisher of the paternal (heaven),² sitting on the seat of sacrifice.
- 36. Bring to us, JATAVEDAS, all-beholder, food with progeny; such (food) as is brilliant in heaven.³
- 37. Strength-begotten AGNI, we, offering (sacrificial) food, address praises to thee who art of pleasing aspect.⁴
 - 38. We have recourse, AGNI, to the shelter of thee, háyágnim áhanti, sa prerayati mánutam, marutas-tu urasi charan, mandram janayati swaram, mind excites the fire of the body, that excites the collective vital airs, and they, passing into the breast, engender agreeable, articulate sound.

¹ Sama-Veda, I. 4., II. 746.; Yajur-Veda, 33. 9.: Mahidhara interprets the first part somewhat differently, Agni entirely destroys all by manifold worship.

² Garbhe mátuh, pitushpitá: here, as before, the mother of Agni is the earth, the father is heaven: Agni is said to be the father or fosterer of his parent heaven, by transmitting to it the flame and smoke of burnt-offerings: also Sáma-Veda, 11. 747.

the lustrous, the golden-feathered, as to the shade (of a tree).1

- 39. Thou, Agni, who art like a fierce archer, or like a sharp-horned bull, hast destroyed the cities (of the Asuras).²
- 40. (Worship) that AGNI whom (the priests) bear in their hands like a new-born babe; the devourer (of the oblation), the (conveyer of the) holy sacrifices of men.
- 41. Conduct the divine (AGNI), the bestower of infinite wealth, to (receive charge of) the food of the gods: let him sit down on his appropriate seat.
- 42. (Welcome him) as soon as born, like a beloved guest, and place the lord of the mansion upon the sacred (altar) whence wisdom is derived.³
- 43. Harness, divine AGNI, thy well-trained horses, who bear thee quickly to the sacrifice.4

² The scholiast here identifies Agni with Rudra as the destroyer of the cities of Tripura: the identification is authorised by the Vaidik text, Rudro vá esho yad Agnih, also Sáman, 11. 1057.

³ This and the preceding verse are to be recited, it is said, when the fire that has been produced by attrition is applied to kindle the áhavaníya, or fire of burnt-offerings: they are both quoted in the Aitareya Bráhmana, 1. 16., and with Sáyana's gloss to this effect, but some of the terms are differently explained and applied; thus, Agni is to be considered as the guest, not of the sacrificer, but of the áhavaníya fire, and játavedasi is also applied to the latter, as knowing the birth of the churned fire, to whom it is a giver of delight, syona, suhhahara, by giving him a welcome reception.

⁴ Manyave, synonymous with yajnáya, as manyur, yágah: Mahídhara, Yajush, 13. 36., gives the same interpretation: it occurs also Sáma-Veda, 1. 25.

- 44. Come, AGNI, to our presence; bring hither the gods to partake of the (sacrificial) viands, to drink the Soma-juice.
- 45 Blaze up, AGNI, bearer of oblations: shine, undecaying AGNI, radiant with undecaying lustre.
- 46. Whatever mortal, offering oblations, worships a deity with (sacrificial) food, let him at the ceremony also worship Agni, the invoker of heaven and earth, the sacrificer with truth; let him adore (Agni) with uplifted hands.
- 47. We offer to thee, AGNI, the oblation sanctified by the heart, and (identified) with the sacred verse: may the vigorous bulls and the cows be (as such an oblation) to thee.¹
- 48. The gods kindle AGNI as the chief (of them); as the especial destroyer of VRITRA; by whom the treasures (of the Asuras) are carried off; by whom the Rákshasas are destroyed.

¹ Te te bhavantu uhshana rishabháso vasá uta, may these vigorous bulls or the cows be for thee: the scholiast intimates their being offered to Agni as victims, rishabhavasárúpena parinatam san twadbhakshanáya (havir) bhavatu, let the oblation, matured in the form of bulls or cows, be for thy food.

ADHYÁYA VI.

SUKTA II. (XVII.)

The deity is INDRA; the Rishi BHARADWAJA; the metre is Trishtubh

- 1. Fierce Indra, glorified by us, drink that Soma, (animated) by which thou hast discovered the vast herd of cattle (stolen by the Panis), and, overcomer of enemies, wielder of the thunderbolt, thou hast slain, by thy strength all opposing foes.
- 2. Drink it, INDRA, thou who enjoyest the flavourless Soma; thou who art the preserver, the handsomechinned, the showerer (of benefits) on those who praise thee; who art the breaker of mountains, the wielder of the thunderbolt, the curber of steeds, do thou bestow upon us various food.
- 3. Drink it as of old, and may it exhilarate thee: hear our prayer, and be exalted by our praises; make the sun visible, nourish us with food, destroy our enemies, rescue the cattle.
- 4. Abounding in food, INDRA, let these exhilarating draughts copiously bedew thee, the resplendent: let the inebriating juices delight thee who art mighty, deficient in no (excellence), powerful, manifold, the overcomer of foes.
- 5. By which (juices) being exhilarated thou hast appointed the sun and the dawn (to their offices), driving away the solid (glooms): thou hast penetrated, INDRA, the mountain, unmoved from its own seat, concealing the cattle.

Varga 1.

- 6. By thy wisdom, by thy deeds, through thy power, thou hast developed the mature (milk) in the immature (udders), thou hast opened the strong doors for the cattle (to come forth): associated with the Angirasas, thou hast liberated the cows from their fold.
- 7. Thou hast filled the wide earth, INDRA, with (the fame of) thy deeds: thou, the mighty one, hast propped up the vast heaven: thou hast sustained the heaven and earth, whose children are the gods, (and who are) the old and mighty parents of sacrifice.¹
- 8. All the gods then placed thee, INDRA, as their mighty chief in front for battle: when the impious (Asuras) assailed the deities: the MARUTS supported INDRA in the conflict.²
- 9. The heaven bowed down in the two-fold dread of thy thunderbolt, and thy individual wrath, when INDRA, the giver of food, struck to the sleep (of death) the assailing AHI.
- 10. Fierce INDRA, TWASHTRI constructed for thee, the mighty one, the thousand-edged, the hundred-angled thunderbolt, wherewith thou hast crushed the ambitious, audacious, loud-shouting AHI.
- 11. For thee, INDRA, whom all the MARUTS, alike pleased, exalt, may Púshan and Vishau dress for thee a hundred buffaloes,³ and to him may the three ¹ Pratne mátará yahvír ritasya, which may be also rendered, according to Sáyana, the ancient parents, the offspring of Brahmá: ritasya, brahmano, yahví putryau, yahu being a synonyme of Apatya, Nighantu, 2. 2.

- 12. Thou hast set free the greatly obstructed and arrested water of the rivers, the afflux of the waters: thou hast directed them, INDRA, upon their downward paths: thou hast sent them rapidly down to the ocean.
- 13. May our new prayer bring to our protection thee, INDRA, who art the maker of all these (things that exist): who art mighty, fierce, undecaying, the giver of strength, having excellent descendants, the MARUTS, well-armed, the bearer of the thunderbolt.
- 14. Do thou, resplendent Indra, uphold us who are devout, for (the obtaining of) food, of sustenance, of nourishment, of wealth: bestow upon Bharadwája pious posterity, with numerous attendants: be with us, Indra, every future day.
- 15. May we, by this (praise), obtain food granted by the deity: may we, blessed with excellent male descendants, be happy for a hundred winters.

- 2. He is ever the combatant, the donor, the engaged in battle, the sympathizer (with the sacrificer), the benefactor of many, the loud-sounding, the partaker of the stale libation, the stirrer up of dust (in strife), the chief protector of men the descendants of Manu, the endowed with strength.
- 3. Thou art he who has quickly humbled the Dasyus: thou art the chief one who has given posterity to the Arya: but, INDRA, is not verily thy power such? if it be not, then in due season confess.¹
- 4. Yet, most mighty one, I believe that power is verily always in thee, who art manifest at many rites, and art the enemy of (our) enemies: (the power) that is fierce in the fierce one, most mighty in the mighty one, most unassailable in the subduer (of foes).
- 5. May that our ancient friendship with thee ever endure; as when, along with the Angirasas, celebrating thy praises, thou, beautiful INDRA, caster down of the immoveable (rocks), didst verily slay Bala, hurling (his darts against thee), and force open his cities, and all his gates.
- 6. Fierce INDRA, maker of rulers, thou art he who is to be invoked with praises in a great conflict: thou art he (who is to be invoked) for sons and grandsons, he, the wielder of the thunderbolt, who is to be especially glorified in battles.

- 7. With immortal, foe-humiliating might, he has promoted the (multiplied) birth of mankind: he, the chief of leaders, dwells in the same dwelling with fame, with strength, with riches, with heroism
- 8. He who is never perplexed, who is no engenderer of that which is in vain, whose name is renowned, who promptly (exerts himself) for the overturning of the cities (of the Asuras), and for the destruction (of his foes): thou, (INDRA), hast indeed slain Chumuri, Dhuni, Pipru, Sambara, and Sushna.
- 9. (Endowed) with upward-rising, foe-thinning, and glorified (vigour), ascend thy car for the destruction of VRITRA: take the thunderbolt in thy right hand, and baffle, giver of wealth, the devices (of the Asuras).
- 10. In like manner as AGNI consumes the dry forest, so, INDRA, thy weapon (destroys thine enemies): as (formidable as thy) fearful shaft, consume the Rák-shasas: thou who hast crushed them with thy resistless and mighty (weapon), hast shouted aloud (in the combat) and demolished all evil things.
- 11. Opulent INDRA, Son of strength, the invoked of many, whose union (with energy) the impious is unable to disjoin, come down to us with thousands of riches by very powerful conveyances.²
- 12. The vastness of the affluent, ancient (INDRA), the demolisher (of foes), exceeds that of the heaven and the earth: there is no antagonist, no counterpart, no recipient of him abounding in wisdom, victorious (in war).

Varga VI.

¹ All these have been mentioned before, see vols. 1. and 11.

² Pathibhis-tuvi vájebhih: Sáyana renders the first by váhaih, vehicles, or sometimes horses, so considered: the epithet he translates bahubalaih, very strong or powerful.

13. That exploit is celebrated in the present day (which thou hast) achieved for Kutsa, for AYU, for ATITHIGVAN: to him thou hast given many thousands (of riches), and thou hast quickly elevated Turva-TANA over the earth by thy power.

14. Divine INDRA, all the gods have glorified thee, the wisest of the wise, for the destruction of AHI: when propitiated, thou hast given wealth to the distressed worshipper, and to his posterity.2

15. The heaven and earth, and the immortal gods, acknowledge thy might: doer of many deeds, do that which is yet undone by thee, give birth to a new hymn at (thy) sacrifices.

SÚKTA IV. (XIX.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. May the great INDRA, who is as a monarch, the fulfiller (of the desires) of men, come hither: may he who is mighty over the two (realms of space), uninjurable by (hostile) efforts, increase (in capacity) for heroism in our presence: may he who is great (in body), eminent (in qualities), be honoured by the performers (of pious acts).
 - 2. Our praise encourages INDRA to munificence, differently.

¹ The same as Divodás, to whom Indra gave the spoils of Sambara.

² Yatra varivo búdhitáya dive janáya tanve grinánah karah is explained yasmin hále píditaya stotre janáya, tat-tana-yáya cha dhanam stúyamáno adadáh, as translated in the text; but Sáyana admits another rendering, which he makes, when being praised, thou hast given ease to the celestial people through the relief, tanve, sobháyai, caused by the demolition of Ahi.

³ Yajur-Veda, 7. 39.: Mahidhara's explanation is to the same purport, although he renders some of the epithets rather the vast, quick-moving, undecaying, ever-youthful INDRA, mighty with unsurpassable strength, who rapidly grows to greatness.

- 3. Extend towards us thy long, active, and bountiful hands, (to bring us) food: be about us, lowly-minded INDRA, in battle, as a herdsman (tends) the herds of cattle.
- 4. Desiring sustenance, we invoke thee, the renowned INDRA, on this occasion, the destroyer (of enemies), together with his powerful allies (the MARUTS): as his ancient adorers have been, (may we be), exempt from blame, irreproachable, unharmed.
- 5. In him who is observant of pious rites, who is a giver of wealth, who is exalted by the Soma beverage, the (lord) of desirable riches, the distributer of food, (in him) the treasures fit (for his worshippers) congregate like rivers flowing into the ocean.
- 6. Bestow upon us, hero INDRA, most vigorous vigour: subduer (of enemies, bestow upon us) most energetic and fierce energy: grant, lord of steeds, all the bright and invigorating (treasures) fit for men, to make us happy.
- 7. Impart to us, INDRA, that thine invigorating exultation which overcomes enemies, and is irresistible, whereby, protected by thee, triumphant we may glorify thee for the sake of (obtaining) sons and grandsons.
- 8. Bestow upon us, INDRA, vigorous strength, the realizer of wealth, great and propitious, wherewith, through thy protection, we may destroy our enemies in battles, whether they be kinsmen or strangers.
- 9. May thine invigorating strength come from the west, from the north, from the south, from the east; may it come to us from every quarter: grant us riches combined with felicity.

Varga VIII.

- 10. We enjoy, INDRA, through thy guiding protection, desirable affluence along with descendants and reputation: grant us, sovereign, who rulest over (earthly and heavenly) riches, vast, desirable, and infinite treasure.
- 11. We invoke on this occasion for his present protection, that INDRA who is attended by the MARUTS; who is the showerer (of benefits); augmenting (in prowess); the unreviled of foes, radiant, ruling, all-subduing, fierce, the giver of strength.
- 12. Wielder of the thunderbolt, humble that man who looks upon himself as the greatest amongst those men of whom I am: we invoke thee now to (descend) upon the earth at the time of battle, and for (the sake of obtaining) sons and grandsons.
- 13. Invoked of many, may we, through these thy friendly (praises), ever be superior to successive foes, destroying, oh hero, both (classes of) enemies, (kindred or unallied); and may we, protected by thee, be happy with abundant riches.

SULTA V. (XX.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before; in the seventh stanza the latter is Viráj.

1. INDRA, Son of strength, grant us (a son), the possessor of thousands, the owner of cultivated lands, the subduer of foes, the riches that may overcome men in battles by strength, as the radiant (sun) overspreads the earth by his rays.

- 2. To thee, INDRA, as to the sun, all strength has verily been given by the gods; so that, drinker of the stale Soma, associated with VISHŅU, thou mightest slay the hostile AHI² obstructina the waters.
- 3. When INDRA, the destroyer, the most mighty, the strongest of the strong, the giver of food, the possessor of vast splendour, received (the thunderbolt), the shatterer of all the cities (of the Asuras), he became the lord of the sweet Soma beverage.
- 4. The Panis, Indra, fled, with hundreds (of Asuras), from the sage, thy worshipper³ (and ally) in battle: neither did he, (Indra), suffer the deceptions of the powerful Sushna to prevail over his weapons, nor did he (leave him) any of his sustenance.
- 5. When Sushna passed away upon the falling of the thunderbolt, then the universal strength of the great oppressor was annihilated; and INDRA enlarged their common car for (the use of) his charioteer Kutsa, for (the sake of) the worship of the sun.⁴

² Ahim vritram may be also rendered the destroyer, hantáram, Vritra.

³ Dasonaye havaye: the scholiast asserts that the dative is put for the ablative, and that the terms are equivalent to bahu havishkát medhávinah, from the wise man offering many oblations, that is, twatsahayahutsát, from hutsa, thy ally: in verse 8. of this Súhta, Dasoni occurs, as elsewhere, as the name of an Asura.

⁴ Súryasya sátau, bhajane nimittabhate is the explanation

- 6. And the hawk bore to Indra the exhilarating Soma, when, bruising the head of the oppressor Namachi, and protecting the slumbering Nami, the son of Saya, he provided, for the well-being (of the sage), riches and food.
- 7. Thou hast scattered by force, wielder of the thunderbolt, the strong cities of the deadly-deluding Pipru: thou hast given, bountiful Indra, uninjurable wealth to RIJISWAT, the donor of sacrificial gifts.
- 8. Indra, the granter of wished-for felicity, compelled the many-fraudulent Etasa and Dasoni, Tútuji, Tugra, and Ibha, always to come submissively to (the Raja) Dyotana, as a son (comes before a mother.
- 9. Bearing in his hand the foe-destroying thunderbolt, INDRA, unresisted, demolishing these his adversaries; he mounts his two-horse (car), as a warrior (ascends) his chariot; harnessed at a word, his steeds convey the mighty INDRA.
- 10. (Favoured) by thy protection, INDRA, we solicit new (wealth): by this adoration men² glorify thee at sacrifices, for that thou hast shattered with thy bolt the seven cities of SARAT,³ killing the opponents (of sacred rites), and giving (their spoils) to Purukutsa.

of Sáyana, and samánuratham vistírnam aharot is his interpretation of the uru sha saratham har of the text: Kutsa is the reputed author of the hymns to Súrya and Vshas: see vol. 1, pp. 296, 304.

² Puravah is the term of the text rendered manushyah in the comment.

Sarat is said to be the name of an Asura.

- 11. Desirous of opulence, thou, INDRA, hast been an ancient benefactor of USANAS, the son of KAVI: having slain NAVAVASTWA, thou hast given back his own grandson, who was (fit) to be restored to the grandfather.
- 12. Thou, Indra, who makest (thine enemies) tremble, hast caused the waters, detained by Dhuni, to flow like rushing rivers: so, hero, when, having crossed the ocean, thou hast reached the shore, thou hast brought over in safety Turvasa and Yadu.¹
- 13. All this, INDRA, has been thy work in war: thou hast put to sleep, (in death), the slumbering Dhuni and Chumuri; and thereupon Dabhíti, pouring the libation, preparing the oblation, and supplying the fuel, has glorified thee with Soma offerings.

SÚRTA VI. (XXI.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before; except in stanzas nine and eleven, where the Viswadevas take the place of Indra.

- 1. These earnest adorations of the much-desiring worshipper glorify thee, hero, INDRA, who art adorable: mounted on thy car, undecaying, ever new, and to whom the wealth (of sacrifice), the most excellent opulence, proceeds.
- 2. I glorify that INDRA who is propitiated by praises, exalted by sacrifices, who knows all things; the magnitude of whom, the possessor of various wisdom, exceeds in vastness (that of) heaven and earth.

Varga Xl

¹ Samudram atipraparshi, samudram atihramya pratúrno bhavasi, when thou art crossed, having traversed the ocean, thou hast brought across Turvasa and Yadu, both standing on the further shore, samudrapáre tishtantau apárayah.

- 3. He who made the indistinct, wide-spreading darkness distinct with the sun: whenever, possessor of strength, mortals are seeking to adore the dwelling of thee who art immortal, they harm not (any living being).¹
- 4. What is he, the INDRA who has done these deeds? what region does he frequent? among what people (does he abide)? what worship, INDRA, gives satisfaction to thy mind? what praise is able to gratify thee? which of thy invokers (is most acceptable to thee)?
- 5. Doer of many deeds, these elders, born in former times, engaged in sacred rites, have been, as they are now, thy friends; so have those of mediæval and those of recent (date): therefore, invoked of many, take notice of thy (present) humble (adorer).
- 6. Humble (worshippers), adoring him, commemorate, Indra, thy excellent, ancient, and glorious (deeds): so, hero, who art attracted by prayer,² we praise thee who art mighty, for those great actions with which we are acquainted.
- 7. The strength of the Rákshasas is concentrated against thee: bear up well against that mighty manifested (effort): scatter them, valiant (INDRA), with thy old associate, thy friend, the thunderbolt.
- 8. Supporter of (thy) worshippers, hero, INDRA, listen (to the praises) of thy present adorer, for thou hast always attended to invocations at sacrifices in ancient times, as the kinsman of our forefathers.³

¹ The text has only na minanti, na hinsanti: the scholiast supplies the object, him api pránijátum.

² Brahmaváhah is explained mantrairvahaníyah, to be borne or conveyed by prayers.

³ Pitrínám ápih, bandhuh: according to Sáyana the Angirasas are intended.

- 9. Propitiate to-day, for our protection and preservation, VARUNA, MITRA, INDRA, and the MARUTS, PÚSHAN, VISHNU, AGNI of many rites, SAVITRI, the herbs, the mountains.
- 10. INDRA, of great power, and to be devoutly worshipped, these thine adorers glorify thee with hymns: do thou, who art invoked, hear the invocation of (him) invoking thee, for there is no other divinity than thou, immortal (INDRA), such as thou art.
- 11. Come quickly, Son of strength, thou who knowest (all things), upon my prayer; together with all the adorable (divinities): they who, with the tongue of Agni, are partakers of the sacrifice, who rendered Manu (victorious) over his adversaries.¹
- 12. Constructor of paths, who art cognizant (of all things), be our preceder, whether in easy or difficult (ways): bring to us food, INDRA, with those thy (steeds), who are unwearied, large, and bearers of great burthens.

SÚKTA VII. (XXII.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. I glorify with these praises, INDRA, who alone is to be invoked by man: who comes (to his worshippers) the showerer (of benefits), the vigorous, the observer of truth, the subduer of foes, the possessor of manifold knowledge, the mighty.
- 2. To him the seven sages, our ancient progenitors, performing the nine days rite, were offerers of (sacrificial) food, celebrating with hymns the very strong (INDRA), the humiliator of foes, the traverser of the heavens, the dweller in the clouds, whose commands are not to be disobeyed.

- 3. We solicit that INDRA for wealth, comprehending numerous descendants, followers, and much cattle, and which is undisturbed, imperishable, and the source of felicity: such riches, lord of steeds, bestow upon us to make us happy.
- 4. If, INDRA, thy worshippers have formerly obtained felicity, confer that also upon us: irresistible INDRA, subduer of foes, invoked of many, abounding in wealth, what is the portion, what the offering (due) to thee who art the slayer of the Asuras?
- 5. He whose ceremonial and eulogistic hymn is commemorating INDRA, the holder of the thunderbolt, seated in his car, the accepter of many, the doer of many great deeds, the bestower of strength, proceeds promptly to acquire happiness, and encounters (with confidence) the malevolent.
- 6. Self-invigorated Indra, thou hast crushed by thy knotted (thunderbolt), quick as thought, that VRITRA, growing in strength by this cunning: very radiant and mighty (INDRA), thou hast demolished by (thine) irresistible (shaft) the unyielding, compact, and strong (cities of the Asuras).
- 7. (I have undertaken) to spread around with a new hymn, as it was done of old, (the glory of) thee, the ancient and most mighty (INDRA): may that INDRA, who is illimitable, and is a sure conveyance, bear us over all difficulties.

¹ Ayá máyayá vávridhánam, by this guile or deception, but what that was is not specified.

- 8. Make hot the regions of earth, of heaven, of mid air, for the oppressive race (of the Rákshasus): showerer (of benefits), consume them everywhere with thy radiance, make the heaven and the firmament (too) hot for the impious.¹
- 9. Bright-flaming INDRA, thou art the king of the people of heaven, and of the moving races of earth: grasp in thy right hand the thunderbolt, wherewith, INDRA, who art beyond all praise, thou bafflest all the devices (of the Asuras).
- 10. Bring to us, INDRA, concentrated, vast, and unassailable prosperity beyond the reach of enemies, and by which, wielder of the thunderbolt, thou hast rendered human enemies, whether Dásas or Áryas, easy to be overcome.
- 11. Invoked of many, creator, object of sacrifice, come to us with thy all-admired steeds, whom neither Asura nor deity arrests: come with them quickly to our presence.

SÚRTA VIII. (XXIII.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. When the Soma-juice, INDRA, is being effused, the sacred hymn chaunted, the prayer recited, be thou prepared (to harness thy horses), or, MAGHAVAN, with thy horses ready harnessed, come (hither), bearing the thunderbolt in thy hand.
- 2. Or as, although engaged in heaven in the heromimating conflict with foes, thou protectest the offerer of the libation, and humblest, undaunted INDRA, the Dasyus, the disturbers of the pious and terrified worshipper, (so do thou come when the Soma is effused).¹

- 3. May INDRA be the drinker of the effused Soma, he who is the fierce conductor of the worshipper to security: may he be the donor of the world to the presenter of the libation, the giver of wealth to the man who adores him.
- 4. May Indra, with his steeds, come to as many (daily) rites (as may be celebrated), bearing the thunderbolt, drinking the Soma, bestowing cattle, granting manly and multiplied posterity, hearing the invocation of his adorer, and being the accepter of (our) praises.
- 5. To that INDRA, who of old has rendered us good offices, we address (the praise) that he is pleased by: we celebrate him when the Soma is effused, repeating the prayer that the (sacrificial) food (offered) to INDRA may be for his augmentation.
- 6. Since, INDRA, thou hast made the (sacred) prayers (the means of) thy augmentation, we address such to thee, along with our praises: may we, drinker of the effused libation, offer gratifying and acceptable eulogies with (our) sacrifices.
- 7. Accept, Indra, who art condescending, our cakes and butter: drink the Soma mixed with curds: sit down upon this sacred grass (strewn by) the worshipper: grant ample possessions to him who depends upon thee.

¹ There is no verb in the text, but the commentator considers that 'come' is brought on from the preceding stanza, and adds, when the Soma is poured forth.

- 8. Rejoice, fierce INDRA, according to thy pleasure: let these libations reach thee: invoked of many, may these our invocations ascend to thee: may this praise influence thee for our protection.
- 9. Friends, when the libations are effused, do you satisfy that liberal INDRA with the Soma-juices: let there be plenty for him, that (he may provide) for our nourishment: INDRA never neglects the care of him who presents copious libations.
- 10. Thus has INDRA, the lord of the opulent, been glorified by the BHARADWÁJAS, upon the libation being effused, that he may be the director of his eulogist (to virtue), that INDRA may be the giver of all desirable riches.

ANUVÁKÁ III.

SÚKTA I. (XXIV.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

1. At the rites at which the Soma (is offered) the exhilaration (produced) in INDRA is a shower (of benefits to the offerer); so is the chaunted hymn with the (recited) prayer: therefore the drinker of the Soma, the partaker of the stale Soma, MAGHAVAN, is to be propitiated by men with praises: dweller in heaven, he is the lord of sacred songs, unwearied in the protection (of his votaries).

2. The surpasser (of foes), a hero, the friend of man, the discriminator, the hearer of the invocation, the great protector of his adorers, the giver of dwellings, the ruler of men. the cherisher of his worshippers, the bestower of food, grants us, when glorified at the sacrifice, (abundant) sustenance.

- 3. Mighty hero, by thy magnitude, (the extent) of heaven and earth is exceeded, as the axle by the (circumference of the) wheels: invoked of many, thy numerous benefits, INDRA, spread out like the branches of a tree.
- 4. Accomplisher of many acts, the energies of thee who art (ever) active (congregate from all directions), like the converging tracks of cattle: they are the bonds (of foes), themselves unfettered, munificent INDRA, like the tethers of (many) calves.
- 5. Indra achieves one act to-day, another to-morrow, evil and good repeatedly: may he, and MITRA, VARUNA, PÚSHAN, ARYA, be on this occasion promoters of the desired result.
- 6. By praises and by sacrifices, INDRA, (men) bring down (what they desire) from thee, as the waters (descend) from the top of the mountain: desirous of food, they approach thee, who art accessible by praise, with these their eulogies, as (eagerly as) coursers rush to battle.³
 - 7. May the person of that vast Indra, celebrated

- 8. Glorified by us, he bows not down to the robust, nor to the resolute, nor to the persevering (worshipper) who is instigated by the (irreligious) Dasyus: the lofty mountains are easy of access to INDRA; to him there is a bottom in the (lowest) deep.
- 9. Powerful INDRA, drinker of the Soma-juice, (actuated) by a profound and comprehensive (purpose), grant us food and strength: be ever diligent, benevolent INDRA, for our protection by day and by night.
- 10. Accompany, INDRA, the leader in battle for his protection; defend him against a near (or distant) foe; protect him from an enemy, whether in (his) house or in a forest, and may we, blessed with excellent male descendants, be happy for a hundred winters.

SÚKTA II. (XXV.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Powerful Indra, with these (thy protections), whether the protection be little, great, or middling, defend us for the destruction of our foes: supply us, fierce Indra, who art mighty, with those viands (that are needed).
- 2. (Induced) by these (praises), protecting our assailing host, baffle, Indra, the wrath of the enemy: (induced) by them, overthrow, on the part of the Arya, all the servile races everywhere abiding².

Varga XIX.

² Viswá abhiyujo víshúchír áryáya viso ava tárír-dásih:

- 3. Annihilate, Indra, the strength of those who, whether kinsmen or unrelated, present themselves before us, exerting themselves as adversaries: enfeeble their prowess, put them to flight.
- 4. The hero, (favoured by thee), assuredly slays the (hostile) hero by his bodily prowess, when, both excelling in personal strength, they strive together in conflict, or when, clamorous, they dispute for (the sake of) sons, of grandsons, of cattle, of water, of land.
- 5. But thee (no one) resists, neither the hero, nor the fleet runner, nor the resolute, nor the combatant confiding (in his valour); neither of these, INDRA, is a match for thee: thou art superior to all these persons.
- 6. Of both these (disputants), that one acquires wealth whose priests invoke (INDRA) at the sacrifice, whether they contend emulous for (the) overthrow of) a powerful enemy, or for a dwelling peopled with dependants.
- 7. Therefore, INDRA, when thy people tremble (with fear), protect them; be to them a defender: may those who are our chief leaders be enjoyers (of thy favour), as well as those (thy) worshippers who have placed us foremost (to perform the sacrifice).
- 8. All (power) has been successively conceded verily to thee, INDRA, who art mighty, for the destruction of the foe: suitable vigour, suitable strength in battle (has been given) to thee, adorable INDRA, by the gods.

STRTA III. (XXVI.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Hear us, INDRA, when, offering libations, we call upon thee for obtaining abundant food: grant us decided protection when on a future day men are assembling for battle.
- 2. The son of VAJINÍ, (BHARADWAJA), offering (sacrificial) viands, invokes thee for (the sake of) acquiring obtainable and abundant food: (he invokes) thee, INDRA, the preserver of the good, the defender (from the wicked), when enemies (assail him): he depends upon thee when, lifting up his fist, he is fighting for (his) cattle.
- 3. Thou hast animated the sage with (the hope of) obtaining food: thou hast cut to pieces Sushna for Kutsa, the donor of the oblation: thou hast struck off the head (of Sameara), imagining himself invulnerable, intending to give pleasure to Atithigvan.
- 4. Thou hast brought to VRISHABHA a great warchariot; thou hast protected him warring for ten days: thou hast slain Tugra along with Vetasu:² thou hast exalted Tuji glorifying thee.

³ Sachyá, which the scholiast renders prajnayá; but it may also import karmaná, by act or exploit: as to the number of slain, although probably Asuras are intended, yet the specification intimates familiarity with numerous armies and sanguinary conflicts.

SUKTA IV. (XXVII.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before, but in the last stanza, gift or generosity is considered to be the divinity.

- 1. What has INDRA done in the exhilaration of this (Soma)? what has he done on quaffing this (libation)? what has he done in friendship for this (Soma)? what have former, what have recent adorers obtained from thee in the chamber of this (libation)?
- 2. Verily, in the exhilaration of this (Soma) INDRA has done a good deed; on quaffing the libation (he has done) a good deed; (he has done) a good deed in friendship for this Soma: former as well as recent adorers have obtained good of thee in the chamber (of the libation).
- 3. We acknowledge no one, MAGHAVAN, of greatness equal to thine, nor one of like affluence, nor one of equally glorifiable riches, nor has (such as) thy power been ever seen (in any other).
- 4. Such as thy power (is) it has been comprehended (by us) as that wherewith thou hast slain the race of Varasikha, when the boldest (of them) was demolished by the noise of thy thunderbolt hurled with (all thy) force.

² Trinsach-chhatam varminah: Sáyana makes the number one hundred and thirty, trinsadadhihasatam, of havachabhritas, wearers of breastplates or armour.

³ The same as the Hariyúpíyá, according to Sáyana.

⁴ There are several princes of this name in the Puránas: one of them, the son of Haryaṣwa, was one of the five Panchála princes: the name is also that of a people probably in the same direction, the north-west of India, or towards the Panjab: Vishnu Puraṇa, pp. 193, 454: what is meant by the phrase he gave up, parádát, Turvasa to Srinjaya may be conjectured but is not explained.

nation of the descendant of PRITHU cannot be destroyed.

SÚRTA V. (XXVIII.)

The Rishi is as before, BHARADWAJA; the metre of the three first stanzas is Jagati, of the next four Trishtubh, of the last Anushtubh; the deities of the whole are the Cows, except in the second verse and part of the last, which may be applied to Indra.

- 1. May the cows come and bring good fortune; let them lie down in (our) stalls and be pleased with us: may the many-coloured kine here be prolific, and yield milk for INDRA on many dawns.
- 2. Index grants the desires of the man who offers to him sacrifice and praise; he ever bestows upon him wealth, and deprives him not of that which is his own: again and again increasing his riches, he places the devout man in an inaccessible fortress.²
- 3. Let not the Cows he lost: 3 let no thief carry them away: let no hostile weapon fall upon them:

1 Dúnáseyam dakshiná párthavánám: násayitum asakyá is the translation of the first: the last implies Abhyávarttín, as descended from Prithu, the plural being used honorifically: the name of this member of the race of Prithu does not occur apparently in the Puránas.

2 Abhinna khilye: the first is explained satrubhirabhetavye, not to be breached by enemies; and the second is considered the same as khila, commonly, waste land, but here said to mean apratihatasthánam, an unassailed or unassailable place, one which is unapproachable by others, anyair ga numasahye sthale.

³ Na tá nașanti: in this we have the third person plural of the present tense indicative mood, but Sáyana assigns it the force of the imperative, na nașyantu: in the following, na dubháti taskarah, na vyathir ádadharshati, we have the Vaidik imperative, Let.

Varga XXV.

may the master of the cattle be long possessed of those with which he sacrifices, and which he presents to the gods.

- 4. Let not the dust-spurning (war)-horse reach them; nor let them fall in the way of sacrificial consecration: let the cattle of the man who offers sacrifice wander about at large and without fear.
- 5. May the Cows be (for our) affluence: may INDRA grant me cattle: may the Cows yield the food of the first libation: these Cows, oh men, are the INDRA, the INDRA whom I desire with heart and mind.
- 6. Do you, Cows, give us nourishment: render the emaciated, the unlovely body the reverse: do you, whose lowing is auspicious, make my dwelling prosperous: great is the abundance that is attributed to you in religious assemblies.³

² A rather strong personation, and which the scholiast weakens by understanding it to mean that the cows may be considered as Indra, as they nourish him by their milk and butter presented in sacrifices: so, perhaps, the first phrase, gávo bhagah, which he renders mahyam dhanam bhavantu, may they be to me affluence, may mean the cows are Bhaga, the impersonations of the deity of good fortune and riches.

³ Brihad vo vaya uchyate sabhásu: great of you the food is said in assemblies: Sáyana understands it rather differently, great is the food given to you in assemblies, it is given by all, sarvair dívate ityartha.

- 7. May you, Cows, have many calves grazing upon good pasture, and drinking pure water at accessible ponds: may no thief be your master; no beast of prey (assail you), and may the (fatal) weapon of RUDRA¹ avoid you.
- 8. Let the nourishment of the Cows be solicited, let the vigour of the bull (be requested), INDRA, for thy invigoration.²

SÚRTA VI. (XXIX.)

The deity is INDRA; the Rishi BHARADWAJA; the metre is Trishtubh

1. Your priests, (oh worshippers), propitiate INDRA for his friendship, offering great (praise), and desirous of his favour; for the wielder of the thunderbolt is the giver of vast (wealth): worship him, therefore, who is mighty and benevolent, (to obtain) his protection.

2. In whose hand4 (riches) good for man are ac-

Varga I.

¹ Rudra is here said to be the Supreme Being, identical with time, kálátmakusya parameswarasya.

² That is, the milk and butter which are required for Indra's nutriment are dependent upon the cows bearing calves.

³ Maho yantah sumataye chahánáh, may also, according to Sáyana, be rendered mahat harmma anutishthantah, performing great worship, and stutim sabdayantah, sounding or uttering praise.

⁴ Yusmin haste may also be interpreted, according to a note cumulated, the chariot-mounted in a golden car; in whose arms the rays of light (are collected); whose vigorous horses, yoked (to his car, convey him) on the road (of the firmament).

- 3. They offer adoration at thy feet to acquire prosperity, for thou art the overthrower of enemies by (thy) strength, the wielder of the thunderbolt, the bestower of donations: leader (of rites), thou art like the rolling sun, wearing in the sight (of all) a graceful and ever moving form.¹
- 4. That libation is most perfectly mixed when, upon its being effused, the cakes are baked, and the barley is fried, and the priests, glorifying INDRA, offering the (sacrificial) food, and reciting holy prayers, are approaching most nigh to the gods.
- 5. No limit of thy strength has been assigned; heaven and earth are intimidated by its greatness: the pious worshipper, hastening (to sacrifice), and earnestly performing worship, gratifies thee with the offering,² as (the cowkeeper satisfies) the herds with water.
- 6. Thus may the mighty INDRA be successfully invoked; he, the azure-chinned,³ the giver of wealth, cited from Yásha, Nirúhta, 1.7, in whom, the slayer of foes, yasmin hantari.

² Uti for útyá, is here explained tarpakena havishá, with the satisfying oblation.

³ Harisipra, haritovarnah sipro yasya: he whose chin or nose is of a green colour, alluding possibly to the tint of the sky, considered as a feature of Indra.

whether by coming or not coming¹ (to the sacrifice); and may he who is of unequalled strength destroy, as soon as manifested, many opposing (evil spirits) and (hostile) Dasyus.

SÚKTA VII. (XXX.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before

- 1. Again has INDRA increased (in strength) for (the display of) heroism: he, the chief (of all), the undecayable, bestows riches (on his votaries): INDRA surpasses heaven and earth: a mere portion of him is equal to both earth and heaven.
- 2. I now glerify his vast and Asura-destroying (vigour): those exploits that he has determined (to achieve) no one can resist: (by him) the sun was made daily visible; and he, the doer of great deeds, spread out the spacious regions (of the universe).
- 3. At present, verily as of old, that act, (the liberation) of the rivers, is effective; whereby thou hast directed them on their course: the mountains have settled (at thy command) like (men) seated at their meals: doer of great deeds, by thee have the worlds been rendered stationary.
- 4. Verily it is the truth, INDRA, that there is no other such as thou, no god nor mortal is (thy) superior: thou hast slain AHI obstructing the waters, thou hast set them free (to flow) to the ocean.

Varga II.

² That is, by Indra's breaking asunder the clouds.

5. Thou hast set the obstructed waters free to flow in all directions: thou hast fractured the solid (barrier) of the cloud: thou art lord over the people of the world, making manifest together the sun, the sky, and the dawn.

SÚKTA VIII. (XXXI.)

The deity is Indra; the Rishi, Suhotra; the metre is Trishtubh, except in the fourth verse in which it is Sakwari.

- 1. Thou, lord of riches, art the chief (sovereign) over riches: thou holdest men in thy two hands, and men glorify thee with various praises for (the sake of obtaining) sons, and valiant grandsons, and rain.
- 3. Through fear of thee, INDRA, all the regions of the firmament cause the unfallen (rain) to descend: the heavens, the earth, the mountains, the forests, all the solid (universe) is alarmed at thy approach.
- 3. Thou, Indra, with Kutsa, hast warred against the inexhaustible Sushna: thou hast overthrown Kuyava in battle: in conflict thou hast carried off the wheel (of the chariot) of the sun: thou hast driven away the malignant (spirits).
- 4. Thou hast destroyed the hundred impregnable cities of the Dasyu,² Sambara, when, sagacious Indra, thou, who art brought by the libation, thou hast bestowed in thy liberality riches upon Divodása presenting to thee libations, and upon Bharadwája hymning thy praise.

² Sambara is more usually styled an Asura, and hence it would appear that Dasyu and Asura are synonymous, so that the latter is equally applied to the unbelieving or anti-Hindu mortal inhabitant of India.

5. Leader of true heroes, possessor of infinite wealth, mount thy formidable car for the arduous conflict: come to me, pursuer of a forward path, for my protection: do thou, who art renowned, proclaim (our renown) amongst men.

SÚKTA IX. (XXXII.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. I have fabricated with my mouth unprecedented, comprehensive, and gratifying praises to that mighty, heroic, powerful, rapid, adorable, and ancient wielder of the thunderbolt.¹
- 2. He has obtained the parent (worlds, heaven and earth), with the sun, for the sake of the sages, (the ANGIRASAS, and, glorified (by them), he has shattered the mountain: repeatedly wished for by his adorers intently meditating (upon him), he has cast off the fetters of the kine.
- 3. He, the achiever of many deeds, together with his worshippers ever offering oblations upon bended knees, has overcome (the Asuras) for (the rescue of) the cows: friendly with his friends (the ANGIRASAS), far-seeing with the far-seeing, the destroyer of cities has demolished the strong cities (of the Asuras).
- 4. Showerer (of benefits), propitiated by praise, come to him who glorifies thee, to make him happy amongst men with abundant food, with exceeding strength, and with young (mares) with numerous colts.²

Varga IV.

¹ This verse occurs Sama-Veda 1. 322, but the reading of the last portion somewhat varies in the printed edition: instead of vachánsi ásá sthaviráya tahsham, we have vachánsi asmai sthaviráya tahshuh, they have fabricated praises to that ancient, &c.

² Nivyábhih puruvíróbhih are translated by Sáyana, navata-

5. Endowed with natural force, possessed of (swift) horses, INDRA, the overcomer of adversaries, (sets free) the waters at the southern (declination): thus liberated the waters expand daily to the insatiable goal whence there is no returning.

Súkta X. (XXXIII.)

The deity and metre as before; the Rishi is SUNAHOTRA.

- 1. Showerer (of benefits), INDRA, grant us a son who shall be most vigorous, a delighter (of thee by praise), a pious sacrificer, a liberal giver, who, mounted on a good steed, shall overthrow numerous good steeds, and conquer opposing enemies in combats.
- 2. Men of various speech² invoke thee, Indra, for their defence in war: thou, with the sages, (the Angirassas), hast slain the Panis: protected by thee, the liberal (worshipper) obtains food.
- 3. Thou, hero, INDRA, destroyed both (classes of) enemies, (both) Dása and Árya, adversaries: chief leader of leaders, thou cuttest thy foes in pieces in battles with well-plied weapons, as (woodcutters fell) the forests.

rábhih bahúnám vírayitríbhir-radavábhih, with very new or young mares bearing male progeny of many.

¹ The text has only apo dakshinatah, the waters from or at the south: there is no verb: Sáyana considers the dakshinayana to be intended the sun's course south from the northern limit of the tropics, which, in India, is in fact the commencement of the rainy season.

² Viváchah the commentator renders vividhastutirúpá vácho yeshám, they of whom the speech has the form of many kinds of praise, which meaning he assigned to the same word in the first verse of Súhta xxxi.: he is probably right, although the more simple explanation would be, of various speech.

- 4. Do thou, INDRA, who art all-pervading, be a friend, and a protector with irreproachable protections for our prosperity; when warring in number-thinning conflicts, we invoke thee for the acquirement of wealth.²
- 5. Do thou, INDRA, now and at (all) other times be verily ours: be the bestower of happiness according to our condition: and in this manner, worshipping at dawn,³ and glorifying thee, may we abide in the brilliant and unbounded felicity of thee who art mighty.

SUKTA XI. (XXXIV.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

1. Many praises, INDRA, are concentrated in thee: from thee abundant commendations diversely proceed: to thee, formerly and at present, the praises of the sages, their prayers and hymns, vie (in glorifying) INDRA.

Varga VI.

² Swarshátá is explained sushtu araxiyam dhanam tasya sambhajanártham, very precious wealth for the sake of enjoying it, that is, by the spoils of the enemy.

⁴ Vi cha twad yunti manishah, twattah stotrinam matayo vividham nirgachchhanti: from thee the praises, or approbations of the praisers variously go forth, is the explanation of Sáyana,

- 2. May that Indra ever be propitiated by us who is the invoked of many, mighty and chief, especially honoured by sacrifices, and to whom, as to a conveyance, we are attached for (the attainment of) great strength.
- 3. All praises contributing to his exaltation proceed to INDRA, whom no acts, no words can harm, since hundreds and thousands of adorers glorify him who is entitled to praise, and so afford him gratification.
- 4. The mixed Soma-juice has been prepared for INDRA, (to be offered) on the day (of sacrifice), with reverence-like adoration, when praises, together with offerings, yield him increase, as when water (revives) a man in desert a waste.
- 5. To this Indra has this earnest eulogy been addressed by the devout, in order that the all-pervading Indra may be our defender and exalter in the great conflict with (our) foes.

SÚKTA XII. (XXXV.)

The deity and mette as before; the Rishi is NARA.

1. When may our prayers (be with thee) in thy chariot? when wilt thou grant to thine adorer the (means of) maintaining thousands? when wilt thou recompense my adoration with riches? when wilt thou render sacred rites productive of food?

- 2. When, INDRA, wilt thou bring together leaders with leaders, heroes with heroes, and give us victory in battles? when wilt thou conquer from the enemy the threefold-food-supplying cattle? (when wilt thou grant) us, INDRA, diffusive wealth?
- 3. When, most vigorous INDRA, wilt thou grant thy worshipper that food which is all-sufficing? when wilt thou combine (in thyself) worship and praises? when wilt thou render oblations productive of cattle?
- 4. Grant, INDRA, to thine adorer (abundant) food, productive of cattle, pleasant with horses, and renowned for vigour: multiply nourishment, and (cherish) the kine easily milked, and render them so that they may be resplendent.
- 5. Direct him who is actually our adversary into a different (course): mighty INDRA, who art a hero, the destroyer (of enemies), therefore art thou glorified: never may I desist from the praise of the giver of pure (gifts): satisfy, sage INDRA, the ANGI-RASAS with food.

¹ Tridhatu gáh: cows having three elements of nutriment, as milk, curds, and butter.

^{2.} That is, consign him to death, a course different from that of living beings.

³ Má niraram suhradughasya dhench is, literally, may I not cease from the cow the yielder of pure milk; but dhench is interpreted by the scholiast in this place váchas, stotrát, from praise; or he admits as an alternative, may I never depart from the milch cow given, Indra, by thee.

SCRTA XIII. (XXXVI.)

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Truly are thy exhilarations beneficial to all men: truly are the riches which exist on earth (beneficial to all men): truly art thou the distributor of food; wherefore thou maintainest vigour amongst the gods.
- 2. The worshipper praises especially the strength of that INDRA; verily they rely upon him for heroic deeds: they offer sacrifices to him as the seizer of an uninterrupted series of foes, their assailant, their subduer, and also for the destruction of VRITRA.
- 3. The associated MARUTS, heroic energies, virile strength, and the Niyut steeds, attend upon INDRA, and praises powerful in sacred song centre in him as rivers flow into the ocean.
- 4. Glorified by us, INDRA, let flow the stream of much-delighting, home-conferring affluence, for thou art the unequalled lord of men, the sole sovereign of all the world.
- 5. Hear, INDRA, (the praises) that may be heard (by thee), thou, who art gratified by our adoration, and, like the sun,² (prevailest) over the ample riches of the enemy: endowed with strength, being glorified in every age, rendered comprehensible by (sacrificial) food, be to us no other³ (than such as thou hast been).

¹ Syúmagribhe, syútán avichchhedena varttamánán satrún grihnate, to him who seizes enemies being lines or threads without interruption.

² Dyaur-na bhúmábhi rayo aryah; arer dhanáni bahutaráni súrya iva abhibhavasi: the prefix abhi, as is frequent in the Veda, being put for the compound verb abhibhú.

Varga IX.

SURTA XIV. (XXXVII.)

Deity and metre as before; the Rishi is BHARADWAJA.

- 1. Fierce INDRA, let thy harnessed steeds bring down thy all-desired chariot: thy devoted adorer verily invokes thee: may we to-day, partaking of thine exhilaration, increase to-day (in prosperity).
- 2. The green Soma-juices flow at our sacrifice, and, purified, proceed direct into the pitcher: may the ancient, illustrious INDRA, the sovereign of the exhibarating Soma libation, drink of this our offering.
- 3. May the everywhere-going, straight-proceeding, chariot-bearing steeds, bring the mighty INDRA in his strong-wheeled car to our rite: let not the ambrosial Soma waste in the wind.
- 4. The very strong INDRA, the performer of many great deeds instigates the donation of this (institutor of the ceremony) amongst the opulent, whereby, wielder of the thunderbolt, thou removest sin, and, firm of purpose, bestowest riches upon the worshippers.
- 5. Indra is the donor of substantial food: may the very illustrious Indra increase (in glory) through our praises: may Indra, the destroyer (of enemies), be the especial slayer of VRITRA: may he, the animator, the quick-mover, grant us those (riches which we desire).

SÚKTA XV. (XXXVIII.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

1. May the most marvellous INDRA drink from this sa tathá sah syáh, in what manner thou art especially or exclusively ours, so mayest thou be that, our property or friend.

¹ The Soma-juice, it is said, if allowed to remain some time in the vessel containing it, may be dried up by the air: Indra is therefore urged to drink it before it evaporates.

(our cup): may he acknowledge our earnest and brilliant invocation: may the munificent (INDRA) accept the offering and the praiseworthy adoration at the sacrifice of the devout worshipper.

- 2. Reciting (his praise, the worshipper) calls aloud, that by the sound he may reach the ears of INDRA, although abiding afar off: may this invocation of the deity, inducing him (to come), bring INDRA to my presence.
- 3. I glorify thee with hymns and with pious worship, the ancient undecaying INDRA, for in him are oblations and praises concentrated, and great adoration is enhanced (when addressed to him);
- 4. Indra, whom the sacrifice, whom the libation exalts, whom the oblation, the praises, the prayers, the adoration exalt, whom the course of day and night exalts, whom months, and years, and days exalt.
- 5. So, wise INDRA; may we to-day propitiate thee who art manifested, to overcome (our foes), thee who art greatly augmenting, mighty and free, for (the sake of) wealth, fame, and protection, and for the destruction of (our) enemies.

SÚRTA XVI. (XXXIX.) Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

1. Drink, INDRA, of that our sweet, exhilarating, inspiring, celestial, fruit-yielding Soma, commended by the wise, and entitled to praise and preparation:

bestow upon him who glorifies thee, divine (INDRA), food, the chiefest of which is cattle.1

- 2. Determined (to recover) the cattle hidden in the mountain, associated with the celebrators of pure rites, (the Angirasas), and animated by (their) veracious (praise), this (INDRA) fractured the infrangible rock of Bala, and overwhelmed the Panis with reproaches.
- 3. This Soma,² INDRA, (quaffed by thee), has lighted up the unlustrous nights, and days and nights, and years: (the gods) of old have established it as the ensign of days, and it has made the dawns generated in light.
- 4. This radiant (INDRA) has illumed the non-radiant (worlds): he has pervaded many dawns with true lustre: the benefactor of men moves in (a chariot) drawn by horses, harnessed by praise, laden with riches.
- 5. Sovereign of old, do thou, when glorified, bestow upon him who praises thee, and to whom affluence is due, abundant food: grant to the worshipper water, plants, innoxious woods, cattle, horses, and men.

Isho yuraswa grinate go agráh is explained annam sanyojaya, combine or supply food to the praiser: yásám ishám gávo ayre, of which viands, cows are in the first place: is this to be understood literally? and were cows, in the time of the Vedas, a principal article of food? of course a Brahman would interpret it metonymically, cows being put for their produce, milk and butter: Sáyana is silent, but there does not seem to be any thing in the Veda that militates against the literal interpretation.

² The text has ayam Induh, which, as a synonyme of Soma, implies both the moon and the Soma-juice: it is the former that is here held in view at the expense of consistency: according to Sáyana, Soma is here chandráumá nabhasi varttamánah, the same as the moon present in the sky, and as, chandragaty-

SÚKTA XVII. (XL.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Drink, INDRA, (the Soma) that is effused for thy exhilaration: stop thy friendly steeds: let them loose: sitting in our society, respond to our hymns: give food to him who lauds and worships thee.
- 2. Drink, INDRA, of this (libation), of which thou, mighty one, hast drunk as soon as born, for excitement to (great) deeds; that Soma-juice which the kine, the priests, the waters, the stones, combine to prepare for thy drinking.
- 3. The fire is kindled; the Soma, INDRA, is effused: let thy vigorous horses bring thee hither: I invoke thee, INDRA, with a mind wholly devoted to thee: come for our great prosperity;
- 4. Thou hast ever gone (to similar rites): come now with a great mind disposed to drink the Soma: hear these our praises: may the worshipper present to thee (sacrificial) food for (the nourishment of) thy person.
- 5. Whether, INDRA, thou abide in the distant heaven, in any other place, or in thine own abode, or adhinatwat tithivibhagah, the divisions of lunar days are dependent upon the motions of the moon, it may be said to be the cause of days, weeks, months, and years, the first term, ahtun, is said by the scholiast to imply fortnights, months, and years, or the longer periods of time: the phrase in the parenthesis is not in the text, but is supplied by the scholiast, twaya piyamanah, to be drunk by thee, but it is justified by the pronoun ayam, this, which could not apply, as something present to the moon.

¹ Uta pra yáya gane á nishadya: pragáya is explained asmábhih hritam stotram upaslokaya, return verses to the praise made by us.

wheresoever (thou mayst be), from thence do thou, who art propitiated by praise, putting to thy steeds. protect, together with the MARUTS, well pleased, our sacrifice, for our preservation.

SCRTA XVIII. (XLI.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Unirascible (INDRA), come to the sacrifice: the Varga XIII. effused juices are purified for thee: they flow, thunderer, (into the pitchers), as cows go to their stalls: come, INDRA, the first of those who are to be worshipped.
- 2. Drink, INDRA, with that well-formed and expanded tongue wherewith thou ever quaffest the juice of the sweet (Soma): before thee stands the ministrant priest: let thy bolt, INDRA, designed (to recover) the cattle, be hurled (against thy foes).
- 3. This dropping, omniform Soma, the showerer (of benefits), has been duly prepared for INDRA, the showerer (of rain): lord of steeds, ruler over all, mighty (INDRA), drink this over which thou hast of old presided, which is thy food.
- 4. The effused Soma, INDRA, is more excellent than that which is not effused: it is better (qualified) to give pleasure to thee, who art capable of judging: overcomer (of enemies), approach this sacrifice, and thereby perfect all thy powers.
- 5. We invoke thee, INDRA, come down: may the Soma be sufficient for (the satisfaction of) thy person: exult SATAKRATU with the libations, defend us combats, and against the people.1

SUKTA XIX. (XLIL)

Deity and Rishi as before; the metre of the first three stanzas is Anushtubh, of the last Brihati.

- 1. Offer, (priests), the libation to him who is desirous to drink; who knows all things; whose movements are all-sufficient; who goes readily (to sacrifices); the leader (of holy rites), following no one.
- 2. Proceed to the presence of that deep quaffer of the Soma, with the Soma-juices; to the vigorous INDRA with vessels (filled) with the effused libations.²
- 3. When, with the effused and flowing Soma-juices, you come into his presence, the sagacious (INDRA) knows your wish, and the suppresser (of enemies) assuredly grants it, whatever it may be.³
- 4. Offer, priest, to him, and him (only) this libation of (sacrificial) food, and may he ever defend us against the malignity of every superable adversary.

⁵ Sama-Veda, 1. 392.

- 2. This Soma, the exhilarating draught of which, when fresh effused (at dawn), or at noon, or at the last (or evening worship), thou cherishest, is poured out, INDRA, for thee: drink.
- 3. This Soma, in the exhibitantion of which thou hast liberated the cattle, firm (fastened) within the rock, is poured out, INDRA, for thee: drink.
- 4. This Soma, exhilarated (by drinking) of which (sacrificial) food thou possessest the might of Magha-van, is poured out, Indra, for thee: drink.

ANUVAKA IV.

SÚKTA I. (XLIV.)

The deity is INDRA; the Rishi is SAMYU, the son of BRIHAS-PATI; the metre of the first six stanzas is Anushtubh, of the next three Virái, of the rest Trishtubh.

1. Opulent INDRA, the Soma that abounds with riches, and is most resplendent with glories, is poured out: it is thy exhilaration INDRA, lord of the offering.²

- 2. The Soma, possessor of felicity, which gives thee delight, and which is the bestower of riches on thy votaries, is poured out: it is thy exhibitantion, INDRA, lord of the offering.
- 3. The Soma, whereby then art augmented in strength, and, together with thy defenders, (the Varga XVI.

¹ Måghonam savas, the rank or office of Indra, is engendered by the Soma, Somena Indratwam játam.

² Swadhápati may also mean the cherisher or protector of the Soma libation, swadháyá annasya somalakshanasya pálakát; also Sáma-Veda, 1. 351.

MARUTS), art victorious (over thy foes), is poured out: it is thy exhilaration, INDRA, lord of the offering.

- 4. (Worshippers), for you I glorify that INDRA who disappoints not (his adorers); the lord of strength, the all-subduing, the leader (of rites), the most beautiful, the beholder of the universe.
- 5. The divine heaven and earth adore that vigour of his, which our hymns augment, the appropriator of the riches of the foe.
- 6. (Worshippers), the efficacy of your eulogy is to be manifested to that INDRA, whose protections, like (those) of a sensible man, are displayed as abiding along with him.
- 7. Indra appreciates him who is skilled (in holy rites): a recent friend, quaffing (the libation), he heaps excellent (wealth) upon the devout: partaking of (the sacrificial) food, (and brought) by his robust agitators² (of the earth, his steeds), he, through his benevolence, is a protector to his friends.
- 8. The Soma, creator (of all), on the path of sacrifice, has been drunk: the worshippers have presented it to gratify the mind (of INDRA): may he, the humiliator (of his foes), possessing a vast body, propitiated by our praises, become manifest to our view.

² Sthaulábhir dhautaríbhih is explained sthúlábhih kampanakáriníbhih, with the stout causers of trembling: the scholiast supplies vadavábhih yuktah, joined with such mares; or the epithets, although feminine, the scholiast says may be applied to the Maruts.

- 9. Bestow upon us most brilliant vigour: oppose the numerous enemies of thy worshippers: grant us, for our pious acts, abundant food: secure us in the enjoyment of wealth.
- 10. INDRA, possessor of affluence, we have recourse to thee, the bountiful: lord of steeds, be not unfavourable to us: no other kinsman is beheld (by us) amongst men: why else have they called thee the bestower of wealth?
- 11. Give us not up, showerer (of benefits), to the obstructor (of our rites): relying upon the friendship of thee, the lord of riches, may we be unharmed: many are the hindrances (opposed) to thee amongst men: slay those who make no libations, root out those who present no offerings.
- 12. As INDRA, when thundering, raises the clouds, so he (heaps upon his worshippers) riches of horses and cattle: thou, INDRA, art the ancient upholder of the sacrificer: let not the opulent wrong thee, not presenting (oblations).
- 13. Ministrant priests offer libations to the mighty INDRA, for he is their king, he who has been exalted by the ancient and recent hymns of adoring sages.
- 14. In the exhilaration of this Soma, the wise INDRA, irresistible, has destroyed numerous opposing enemies: offer the sweet-flavoured beverage to that hero, the handsome-chinned, to drink.
- 15. May INDRA be the drinker of this effused Somajuice, and, exhilarated by it, become the destroyer of VRITRA by the thunderbolt: may be come, although from afar, to our sacrifice, (he who is) the giver of dwellings, the upholder of the celebrator (of religious rites).

Varga XVIII.

- 16. May this ambrosia, the appropriate beverage of INDRA, of which he is fond, be quaffed (by him), so that it may inspire the divinity with favourable feelings (towards us), and that he may remove from us our adversaries, and (all) iniquity.
- 17. Exhilarated by it, valiant MAGHAVAN, slay our unfriendly adversaries, whether kinsmen or unrelated (to us): put to flight, INDRA, hostile armies menacing us (with their weapons), and slay them.
- 13. Affluent INDRA, facilitate to us (the acquirement of) vast riches in these our battles: (enable us) to gain the victory: make us prosperous with rain, and with sons and grandsons.
- 19. Let thy vigorous steeds, harnessed of their own will, drawing thy wish-bestowing chariot, guided by shower-yielding reins, quick-moving, hastening towards us, youthful, thunder-bearing, well-yoked, bring thee to the bountiful, exhilarating (libation).
- 20. Showerer (of benefits), thy vigorous water-shedding steeds, like the waves (of the sea), exulting, are harnessed to thy car; for they, (the priests), offer to thee, the showerer (of benefits), ever youthful, the libation of the Soma-juices expressed by the stones.
- 21. Thou, INDRA, art the showerer of heaven, the bedewer of earth, the feeder of the rivers, the supplier of the aggregated (waters): for thee, showerer (of desires), who art the most excellent shedder of rain, the sweet Somo, the honey-flavoured juice, is ready to be quaffed.¹

¹ In this and the two preceding stanzas we have the usual abuse of the derivatives of Vrisha, to sprinkle, to rain; Indra's horses are vrishaná; they draw a vrisha ratha, and are guided

- 22. This divine Soma, with INDRA for its ally, crushed, as soon as generated, PANI by force: this Soma baffled the devices and the weapons of the malignant secreter of (the stolen) wealth, (the cattle).
- 23. This Soma made the dawns happily wedded to the sun: this Soma placed the light within the solar orb: this (Soma) has found the threefold ambrosia hidden in heaven in the three bright regions.
- 24. This (Soma) has fixed heaven and earth: this has harnessed the seven-rayed chariot (of the sun): this Soma has developed of its own will the mature deeply-organized secretion in the kine.

, SCKTA II. (XLV.)

INDRA is the deity of thirty stanzas, BRIHASPATI of three; the Rishi is SAMYU; the metre of the twenty-ninth verse is Atinichrid, of the thirty-third Anushtubh, of the rest Gayatri.

1. May that youthful INDRA, who, by good guidance, brought TURVASA and YADU from afar, (be) our friendby vrisha raşmayah: again, the steeds are vrishana, explained, nityaturunau, always young, and Indra is vrishan, vrish, and vrishabha, the showerer of rain or of benefits: in most of the instances a grosser sense is probably implied.

- 1 Ayam tridhatu divi rochaneshu, triteshu vindat amritam nigulham: according to the scholiast, this may merely mean that the Soma becomes as it were ambrosia when received or concealed in the vessels at the three diurnal ceremonies, which ambrosia is properly deposited with the gods abiding in the third bright sphere, or in heaven.
- ² These functions are ascribed to the Soma as being the source of the energies of Indra, who is the real agent, both in this and the preceding verse, this Indra has made the dawns, &c.
- ³ Daşayantram utsam is literally a well with ten machines: here utsa is explained by Sáyana, utsaranaşilam, having the

- 2. INDRA gives sustenance, even to the undevout: he is the conqueror of wealth accumulated (by enemies), through (going against) them with a slow-paced steed.
- 3. Vast are his designs, manifold are his praises, his protections are never withdrawn.
- 4. Offer worship and praises, friends, to him who is to be attracted by prayers; for he verily is our great intelligence.
- 5. Slayer of VRITRA, thou art the protector of one (adorer), or of two, and of such as we are.
- 6. Thou removest (far from us) those who hate us: thou prosperest those who repeat thy praise: bestower of excellent male descendants, thou art glorified by men.
 - 7. I invoke with hymns INDRA, our friend, who is property of flowing forth, payas, milk: the epithet dasayantram is of a less precise purport, and is somewhat mystified: in one sense it implies aggregated bodily existence, or organs and functions of the body, which are the result of the nutriment furnished to the child by the matured milk, agreeably to a khila, or supplementary verse quoted by the scholiast: chakshuscha protram-cha, manascha, vák-cha, pránápánau, deha, idam paríram, dwau pratyancháv-anulomau visargáv-etam tam manye dasayantram utsam, I consider the eye, the ear, the mind, the speech, the two vital airs, the form, the body, the two creations inverted and direct, as the tenfold utsa, or state of being: another explanation makes the phrase imply the Soma's being offered with nine texts to Indra and other deities at the morning sacrifice: Aitareya Bráhmana, Panchaha 3, Adhyáya 1.

1 Suvira is here explained sobhanair viraih putrapautrádibhir dátavyair-upetah, endowed with or possessed of sons, grandsons, and the like to be given.

BRAHMA, who is attracted by prayer and entitled to adoration, to milk him as a cow.

- 8. In the hands of whom, the heroic subduer of hostile armies, (the sages), have declared are all the treasures in both (heaven and earth).
- 9. Wielder of the thunderbolt, lord of Sachi, demolish the strong (cities) of men: (baffle), unbending (INDRA), their devices.
- 10. Veracious Indra, drinker of the Soma, provider of sustenance, we, desirous of food, invoke such as thou art.²
- 11. (We invoke) thee, such as thou art, thee who hast been invocable of old, and who art now to be invoked for the wealth held (by the foe): hear our invocation.

12. (Favoured) by thee. INDRA, (who art propitiated) by our hymns, (we overcome) with our steeds the steeds (of the enemy), and we conquer abundant food, and the wealth held (by the foe).³

- 13. Heroic and adorable INDRA, verily thou art mighty in battle, and victor of the wealth held (by the enemy).
- 14. Destroyer of enemies with that thy velocity, which is of exceeding swiftness, impel our chariots (against the foe).
- 15. Victorious INDRA, who art the chief of charioteers, conquer the wealth that is held (by the enemy) with our assailing car.

Varga XXIII.

² Tam twá ahúmahi, we invoke thee (who art) that, or such as has been described in the preceding verses.

³ The stanza is literally, with praises, by horses, horses, food, excellent Indra by thee, we conquer deposited wealth.

- 16. Praise that INDRA who alone has been born the supervisor (of all), the lord of men, the giver of rain.
- 17. Indra, who hast ever been the friend of those who praise thee, and the insurer of their happiness by thy protection, grant us felicity.
- 18. Wielder of the thunderbolt, take the bolt in thy hands for the destruction of the Rákshasus, and utterly overthrow those who defy thee.
- 19. I invoke the ancient INDRA, the giver of riches, (our) friend, the encourager of his adorers, who is to be propitiated by prayer.
- 20. He alone rules over all terrestrial riches, he who is entitled to especial praise, he who is irresistible.
- 21. Lord of cattle, (coming) with thy mares, satisfy our desires completely with (abundant) food, with horses, and with kine.
- 22. Sing praises, when your libation is poured out, to him who is the invoked of many, the subduer (of foes), giving him gratification, like (fresh pasture) to cattle.¹
- 23. The giver of dwellings verily withholds not the gift of food conjoined with cattle, when he hears our praises.
- 24. Then the destroyer of the Dasyus, proceeds to the cattle-crowded folds of Kuvitsa, and by his acts opens them for us.²
- 25. INDRA, performer of many exploits, these our praises repeatedly recur to thee as parent (cows) to their young.

Varga XXVI.

26. Thy friendship, INDRA, is not easily lost: thou, hero, art (the giver of) cattle to him who desires cattle, (of) horses to him who desires horses.

- 27. Delight thy person with the (beverage of the) libation (offered) for the sake of great treasure: subject not thy worshipper to his reviler.
- 28: These our praises tend, as the libations are repeatedly poured out, eagerly to thee who art gratified by praise, as the milch kine (hasten) to their calves.
- 29. May the praises of many worshippers offered at the sacrifice, (accompanied) by (sacrificial) viands, invigorate thee, destroyer of multitudes.
- 30. May our most elevating praise² be near, INDRA, to thee, and urge us to (the acquirement of) great riches.
- 31. Bribu presided over the high places of the Panis, like the elevated bank of the Ganges.4
- 32. Of whom, prompt as the wind, the liberal donation of thousands (of cattle) has been quickly given to (me) soliciting a gift.

¹ Viváchi, at the sacrifice called Vivách, because various praises and prayers are then repeated.

² Stomo váhishthah, vodhritama, most bearing, uplifting, elevating.

^{*} Uruh hahsho na gángyah is explained by the scholiast gangáyáh húle vistírne iva, as on the broad bank of the Ganges, that is, as the bank is high above the bed of the river.

33. Whom, therefore, we all, who are the profferers and bestowers of praise ever commend, as the pious Bribu, the donor of thousands (of cattle), the receiver of thousands (of laudations).

SÚKTA III. (XLVI.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre of the odd verses is Brihatí, of the even, Satobrihatí.

- 1. We worshippers invoke thee for the acquirement of food; thee, INDRA, the protector of the good, (do) men (invoke for aid) against enemies, and in places where horses (encounter).²
 - 2. Wonderful wielder of the thunderbolt, INDRA,

¹ This and the two preceding stanzas form a Tricha in praise of the liberality of a person named Bribu to Bharadwája, the Rishi of the hymn: Sáyana calls him the Takshá, the carpenter or artificer of the Paņis: the legend is preserved by Manu, 10. 107., Bharadwájah kshudhárttas-tu saputro nirjane vane, bahvír-gáh pratijagráha Bribos-takshno maháyasah, the illustrious Bharadwája. with his son, distressed by hunger in a lonely forest, accepted many cows from the carpenter Bribu: the Niti Manjari tells the same story, and attributes the Tricha to Sayu, the son of Bharadwája: the moral of the illustration in Manu and the Niti Manjari is, that Brahmans, in times of distress, may accept assistance from persons of low castes: the object of the Súhta. although it might be so understood, is rather that persons of inferior condition become eminent by liberality; in which sense Sáyana interprets it játito híno api dátritwát sarvatra sreshtho bhavati, a person inferior by caste becomes everywhere distinguished by generosity.

² Káshthásu arvatah, in the quarters or regions of the horse, where horses are engaged, or, according to Sáyana, the field of battle: Mahidhara, Yajur-Veda, 27. 37., separates the two words, and explains them, as men invoke thee for victory.

the lord of clouds,¹ mighty in resolution, being glorified by us, grant us cattle, and horses fit for chariots, as (thou grantest) abundant food to him who is victorious (in battle).²

- 3. We invoke that INDRA who is the destroyer of mighty foes, the supervisor (of all things): do thou, the many-organed, the protector of the good, the distributor of wealth, be unto us (the insurer of) success in combats.³
- 4. Such, INDRA, as thou art represented in holy texts,⁴ assail (our) adversaries with fierceness like (that of) a bull in close conflict: regard thyself as our defender in war, (that we may long enjoy) posterity, water, and the (sight of the) sun.⁵
- 5. INDRA, bring to us most excellent, most invigorating and nutritious food, wherewith, wonderful wielder of the thunderbolt, the handsome-chinned, thou sustainest both heaven and earth.

¹Adrivas is, more properly, wielder of the thunderbolt, but we have just had that epithet in vajrahasta.

² Ṣatrā vájam na jigyushe: the scholiast has satrá, prabhútam, abundant: Muhídhara, Yajush, 27. 38., makes it an epithet of vájam sa-tránam, together with protection: it pleases him also to understand jigyushe, valorous, not as applicable to a man, purusháya, but to a horse or elephant, aṣuáya hastine vá, which is quite gratuitous: see also Sáma-Veda, 11. 160.

⁵ The text has only tanúshu, apsu, súrye, in descendants, in waters, in the sun, but they may be connected with what precedes, asmákam bodhi avitá mahádhane, know thyself to be our

- 6. We invoke for protection thee, royal INDRA, who art mighty amongst the gods, the subduer of men; granter of dwellings, repel all evil spirits, and render our enemics easy of discomfiture.
- 7. Whatever strength and opulence (exist) amongst human beings, whatever be the sustenance of the five classes of men, bring INDRA to us, as well (as) all great manly energies.²
- 8. Whatever vigour, Maghavan, (existed) in T_R IKSHU, in DRUHYU, in Púru, bestow fully upon us in conflicts with foes, so that we may destroy our enemies in war.
- 9. Give, INDRA, to the affluent, and to me also, a sheltering and prosperous dwelling, combining three elements,³ and defending in three ways; and keep from them the blazing (weapon of our foes).
- 10. Affluent INDRA, propitiated by praise, be nigh to us, as the defender of our persons (against those) who assail (us as) enemies, with a mind bent upon carrying off (our) cattle, or who assault us with arrogance.

² Sáma-Veda, 1. 262.

³ Tridhátu saranam trivarútham, according to Sáyana, of three kinds, tripraháram tribhúniham, as if the houses were constructed of more than one material, or wood, brick, and stone: in his scholia on the Sáman, 1. 266, he explains it variously, as containing three kinds of beings, gods, men, and spirits; or three precious things, gold, silver, diamonds; or three states of being, desire, action, avarice: trivarútham is similarly explained in both his scholia as sheltering or protecting from three conditions of the atmosphere, cold, heat, rain.

11. Indra, be (favourable) at present to our success: protect our leader in battle when the feathered, sharp-pointed, shining shafts fall from the sky.

Varga X

- 12. When heroes rest their persons (until abandoning) the pleasant abodes of their progenitors: grant us, for ourselves and our posterity, an unsuspected defence, and scatter our enemies.
- 13. (At the time) when, in the effort (made) in an arduous conflict, thou urgest our horses over an uneven road, like falcons darting upon their food through the difficult path (of the firmament).
- 14. Rushing rapidly like rivers in their downward course, and although neighing loudly through terror, they yet, tight-girthed, return repeatedly (to the conflict) for cattle, like birds darting on their prey.

SÚKTA IV. (XLVII.)

The deities of this hymn are very various: that of the first five stanzas is the Soma-juice; of the first quarter of the twentieth the gods; of the second, the earth; of the third, BRIHASPATI;

² Chhardirachittam the commentator renders havacham satrubhir ajnátam, armour unknown by the enemies; the connexion of the sense runs through the two following verses: the unknown armour is solicited when a charge of horse takes place: it may possibly allude to the superiority of the arms of the Áryas, the mail worn by them being unknown to the Dasyus, or barbarians, like the steel helmets or cuirasses of the Spaniards to the Mexicans and Peruvians.

and of the fourth, Indra; the deity of the twenty-second and three following verses is Prastoka, the son of the Raja Srinjaya, whose liberality they celebrate; of the twenty-sixth and two succeeding verses, forming a Tricha, the Ratha or chariot is the deity; of the next three, another Tricha, the Dundubhi or drum; Indra is the deity of the rest; the Rishi is Garga, the son of Brihaspati; the metre of the nine-teenth stanza is Brihati, of the twenty-third Anushtubh, of the twenty-fourth Gáyatri, of the twenty-fifth Dwipadi, of the twenty-seventh Jagati, of the rest Trishtubh.

- 1. Savoury indeed is this (Soma); sweet is it, sharp, and full of flavour: no one is able to encounter INDRA in battles after he has been quaffing this (beverage).
- 2. This savoury Soma, drunk on this occasion, has been most exhilarating: by drinking of it INDRA has been elevated to the slaying of VRITRA, and it has destroyed the numerous hosts of SAMBARA and the ninety-nine cities.
- 3. This beverage inspires my speech; this developes the desired intelligence: this sagacious (Soma) has created the six vast conditions,² from which no creature is distinct.
- 4. This it is which has formed the expanse of the carth, the compactness of the heaven: This Soma has deposited the ambrosia in its three principal (receptacles),³ and has uplied the spacious firmament.⁴

Dehyah is the term in the text for dehih, explained by Sáyana, digdháh, the smeared or plastered, implying purih cities; as if they censisted of stuccoed or plastered houses: the ninety-nine cities of Sambara have frequently occurred: see vol. II. p. 256, &c.

² They are said to be heaven, earth, day, night, water, and plants.

⁴ See vol. t. p. 235: here, as in that Súhtu, there is an ob-

- 5. This makes known the wonderfully beautiful and inspiring (solar radiance) at the appearance of the dawns, whose dwelling is the firmament: this mighty (Soma) has sustained the heaven with a powerful support, the sender of rain, the leader of the winds.
- 6. Hero, INDRA, who art the slayer of foes in contests for (the acquirement of) treasures, drink boldly from the pitcher: drink copiously at the noon-day rite: receptacle of riches, bestow riches upon us.
- 7. Like one who goes before us, INDRA, (on the road), look out, bring before us infinite wealth; be our conductor beyond the bounds (of want), convey us safely over (peril); be our careful guide, our guide to desirable (affluence).
- 8. Do thou, INDRA, who art wise, conduct us to the spacious world (of heaven), to a blessed state of happiness, light, and safety: may we recline in the graceful, protecting, and mighty arms of thee the ancient one.
- 9. Place us, possessor of riches, in thy ample chariot, (behind) thy powerful horses: bring to us from among all viands the most excellent food: let not, MAGHAVAN, any opulent man surpass us in wealth.
- 10 Make me happy, INDRA; be pleased to prolong my life: sharpen my intellect like the edge of an iron sword: whatsoever desirous (of propitiating) thee, I viously designed confusion between the Soma plant, and Soma, the moon.

Varga XXXI.

may utter, be pleased by it: render me the object of divine protection.

- 11. I invoke, at repeated sacrifices, INDRA, the preserver, the protector, the hero, who is easily propitiated, INDRA the powerful, the invoked of many: may INDRA, the lord of affluence, bestow upon us prosperity.¹
- 12. May the protecting, opulent INDRA be the bestower of felicity by his protections: may he, who is all-knowing, foil our adversaries: may he keep us out of danger, and may we be the possessors of excellent posterity.
- 13. May we continue in the favour of that adorable (deity) even in his auspicious good-will: may that protecting and-opulent INDRA drive far from us, into extinction, all those who hate us.²
- 14. To thee the praises and prayers of the worshipper hasten like a torrent down a declivity; and thou, thunderer, aggregatest the immense wealth (of sacrificial offerings), copious libations, and milk, and the juices of the Soma.³
- 15. Who may (adequately) praise him? who may satisfy him? who offer worthy adoration? since MAG-HAVAN is daily conscious of his own terrible (power): by his acts he makes first one and then the other precede and follow, as (a man) throws out his feet (alternately in walking).1

² Yajur-Veda, 20. 51. 52.

³ Apo gáh yuvase samindún: the first is explained vasatívarí, which is said by Kátyáyana, Sutra, 8, 9, 7—10, to be portions of water taken from a running stream on the evening previous to the ceremony, and kept in jars in different parts of the sacricial chamber, to be mixed with the Soma: see Yajur-Veda, 6. 23., and the Taittiríya Yajush, Prapáthaku III. Anuváha XII.

- 16. The hero Indra is renowned; humiliating every formidable (foe), and repeatedly changing the place of one (worshipper) with that of another; Indra, the enemy of the arrogant, the sovereign of both (heaven and earth), calls again and again (to encourage) the men who are his worshippers.
- 17. INDRA rejects the friendship of those who are foremost (in pious acts), and, despoiling them, associates with (their) inferiors: or (again) shaking off those who neglect his worship, INDRA abides many years with those who serve him.
- 18. Indra, the prototype, has assumed various forms, and such is his form as that which (he adopts) for his manifestation: Indra, multiform by his illusions, proceeds (to his many worshippers), for the horses yoked to his car are a thousand.
- 19. Yoking his horses to his car, TWASHTRI shines in many places here in the three worlds: who (else), sojourning daily amongst his present worshippers, is their protector against adversaries?

¹ That is, Indra, at his pleasure, makes the first of his worshippers the last, and the last the first.

Varga XXXIII.

² Indra presents himself as Agni, Vishņu, or Rudra, or any other deity who is the actual object of worship, and is really the deity to be adored: he is identifiable with each.

^{*} Sáyana regards this name as, in this place, an appellative of Indra.

- 20. We have wandered, gods, into a desert where there is no track of cattle: the vast extant earth has become the protectress of murderers: direct us, BRIHASPATI, in our search for cattle: shew the path, INDRA, to thy votary being thus astray.
- 21. INDRA, becoming manifest from his abode (in the firmament), dissipates, day by day, the resembling glooms, (so that he may distinguish) the other portion, (or the day); and the showerer has slain the two wealth-seeking slaves, VARCHIN and SAMBARA, in (the country of) Udavraja.³
- 22. PR STOKA has given to thy worshipper, INDRA, ten purses of gold,⁴ and ten horses, and we have accepted this treasure from DIVODÁSA, the spoil won by ATITHIGWAN⁵ from SAMBARA.
- 23. I have received ten horses, ten purses, clothes, and ample food, and ten lumps of gold from DIVODÁSA.
- 24. Aşwattha has given to PAYU ten chariots⁶ with their horses, and a hundred cows to the priests.

² Garga, the author of the Súkta, having, it is said, lost his way in a desert, repeated this stanza to Brihaspati and Indra, who thereupon enabled him to regain his road.

⁶ Atharvabhyah is the term in the text which Sáyana explains, to the Rishis of the Atharvagotra: Páyu is the brother of Garga; Aswattha is the same as Prastoha.

- 25. The son of SRINJAYA has reverenced the BHA-RADWAJAS who have accepted such great wealth for the good of all men.
- 26. (Chariot made of the) forest lord, be strong of fabric; be our friend; be our protector, and be manned by warriors: thou art girt with cow-hides: keep us steady; and may he who rides in thee be victorious over conquered (foes).
- 27. Worship with oblations the chariot constructed of the substance of heaven and earth, the extracted essence of the forest lords; the velocity of the waters; the encompassed with the cow-hide; the thunderbolt (of INDRA).
- 28. Do thou, divine chariot, who art the thunderbolt of Indra, the precursor of the Maruts, the embryo of Mitra, the navel of Varuna, propitiated by this our sacrifice, accept the oblation.

Varga XXXV

² Gobhih sannadhosi: literally, thou art bound together by cows: but both Sáyana and Mahidhara, Yajur-Veda, 29. 52., explain this goviháraih, by what are formed from cattle: so, in the next verse, gobhir-ávritam is interpreted charmabhih parita áveshtitam, encompassed round with hides, as if the exterior of the war-chariot especially were so strengthened: Mahidhara gives us an alternative, encompassed with rays of light, or with splendours, gobhih, tejobhih.

³ Murutám aníkam, Mitrasya garbho, Varunasya nábhih: aníkam the scholiast interprets agrabhútam, being before, outstripping in speed; Mahídhara explains it mukhyam, principal or leader; the garbha of Mitra, Sáyana endeavours to make

- 29. War-drum, fill with your sound both heaven and earth; and let all things, fixed or moveable, be aware of it: do thou, who art associated with INDRA and the gods, drive away our foes to the remotest distance.
- 30. Sound loud against the (hostile) host: animate our prowess: thunder aloud, terrifying the evilminded: repel, drum, those whose delight it is to harm us: thou art the fist of INDRA; inspire us with fierceness.
- 31. Recover these our cattle, INDRA; bring them back: the drum sounds repeatedly as a signal: our leaders, mounted on their steeds, assemble: may our warriors, riding in their cars, INDRA, be victorious.¹

sense of, by saying, the car is to be considered as contained by Mitra, the ruler of the day, as moving by day, whilst by the nábhi of Varuna it is intimated to be a fixed point or centre for the deity ruling over the night, when the car of Indra or Súrya stands still: Mahídhara derives garbha from gri, to praise, and considers mitrasya garbha equivalent to súryena stúyamána, to be praised by the sun: nábhi he derives from nabh, to injure, and translates it, the weapon of Varuno: both scholiasts labour superfluously to attach meaning to what was never intended to have any.

¹ This and the two preceding verses occur in the Yajush, 29. 55-57.

ADHYÁYA VIII.

SÚKTA V. (XLVIII.)

This hymn presents an unusual variety of deities and metres; the deity of the first ten stanzas is Agni; the metre of the first, third, fifth, and ninth is Brihati; of the second, fourth, and tenth, Satobrihati; of the seventh, Mahábrihati; and of the eighth and tenth, Mahásatobrihati: the deities of the next five verses are the Maruts; the metre of the eleventh is Kahubh; of the tweltth, Satobrihati; of the thirteenth, Puru-ushnih; of the fourteenth, Brihati; and of the fifteenth, Atijagati; Púshan is the deity of the next four stanzas, and their metres are respectively Kahubh, Satabrihati, Puru-ushnih and Brihati: Prism is the divinity of the twentieth and twenty-first verses, as well as of the twenty-second, which, however, may be dedicated to Heaven and Earth: the metres of these last three stanzas are, severally, Brihati, Yavamadhyá-Mahábrihati, and Anushtubh.

- 1. At every sacrifice (honour) the mighty AGNI with your reiterated praise, whilst we glorify him, the immortal, who knows all things, our dear friend¹—
- 2. The son of strength, for he verily is propitious to us; to whom let us offer oblations as to the conveyer of them (to the gods): may he be our defender in battles: may he be our benefactor and the grand-sire of our offspring.
- 4. Agni, who art the showerer (of benefits), mighty, and exempt from decay, thou shinest with (great) splendour; thou are resplendent, brilliant (AGNI), with unfading lustre: shine forth with glorious rays.

- 4. Thou sacrificest to the mighty gods: sacrifice (for us) continually, for (sacrifice is perfected) by thy wisdom and thy acts: bring them down, AGNI, for our salvation: present (to them) the sacrificial food, partake of it thyself.
- 5. (Thou art he) whom the waters, the mountains, the woods, nourish as the embryo of sacrifice; who, churned with strength by the performers (of the rite), art generated in the highest place of the earth.
- 6. He who fills both heaven and earth with light, who mounts with smoke into the sky, this radiant showerer (of benefits) is beheld in the dark nights dispersing the gloom; this radiant showerer (of benefits) presides over the dark nights.
- 7. Divine, resplendent AGNI, youngest (of the gods), when kindled by BHARADWÁJA, shines with many flames, with pure lustre, (conferring) riches upon us; shine, resplendent purifier.
- 8. Thou, AGNI, art the lord of the dwelling,² and of all men the descendants of MANU: protect me, youngest (of the gods), when kindling thee, with a hundred defences against iniquity: (grant me) a hundred winters, (as well as to those) who bestow gifts upon thy worshippers.
- 9. Wonderful (AGNI), giver of dwellings, encourage us by (thy) protection, and (the gift of) riches, for thou art the conveyer, AGNI, of this wealth: quickly bestow permanence upon our progeny.1

- 10. Thou protectest with uninjurable, irremoveable defences (our) sons and grandsons: remove far from us celestial wrath and human malevolence.²
- 11. Approach, friends, the milk-yielding cow with a new song, and let her loose unharmed.³
- 12. She who yields immortal food to the powerful, self-irradiating band of the MARUTS, who (is anxious) for the gratification of the self-moving MARUTS, who traverses the sky with (the passing waters), shedding delight.⁴
- 13. Milk for BHARADWAJA the two-fold (blessing), the cow that gives milk to the universe, food that is sufficient for all.
- 14. I praise you, the (company of MARUTS), for the distribution of wealth; (the company that), like INDRA, is the achiever of great deeds; sagacious like VARUNA; adorable as ARYAMAN, and munificent as VISHNU.

1 Sáma-Veda, 1. 41, 11. 973.

Varga III.

² Sáma-Veda, 11. 974.

³ The milch cow, dhenu, is here introduced because this is the first of a series of stanzas of which the Maruts are the deities, either with reference to the milk which is their appropriate offering at sacrifices, or to Prisni, the mythological mother of the Maruts, in the form of a cow.

⁴ The text has only sumnair-evayávarí: the first is explained by the scholiast, being with the means of happiness, suhhahetu-bhútaih, the substantive being implied in the compound attributive of dhenu, or evayávarí, from eva, who or what goes, as a horse, or the water of mid-air, the rain, and yávarí, she who goes with, saha yáti yá, that is, who proceeds with rains, giving pleasure to others, anyeshám suhhártham vrishtijalaih saha gachchhantí.

- 15. I now (glorify) the brilliant vigour of the company of the MARUTS, loud-sounding, irresistible, cherishing, whereby hundreds and thousands (of treasures) are bestowed collectively upon men; may that (company) make hidden wealth manifest; may it render the wealth easily accessible to us.
- 16. Hasten, Púshan, to me: (repel), bright deity, (all) deadly assailing foes: close at thy side I repeat thy praise.
- 17. Uproot not, Púshan, the forest lord, with its progeny of crows: utterly destroy those who are my revilers: let not the adversary ensuare me, as (fowlers) set snares for birds.
- 18. May thy friendship be unbroken, like (the surface) of a skin without a flaw, containing curds.⁴
- 19. Supreme art thou above mortals: equal in glory art thou to the gods: therefore, Púshan, regard us (favourably) in battles: defend us at present as (thou hast defended) those of old.
- 20. MARUTS, agitators, especially to be adored, may your kind and true speech be our conductress; that pleasant (speech which is the guide) to desirable (wealth) for both gods and sacrificing mortals.

² Kákambíram vanaspatim: the first is said by the scholiast to imply metaphorically the author of the Súkta, with his children and dependents.

⁴ Such a skin of curds, Sáyana says, is always carried in Púshan's chariot.

- 21. Whose functions spread quickly round the heavens, like (the light of) the divine sun, since the MARUTS possess brilliant, foe-humiliating, and adorable foe-destroying strength, most excellent foe-destroying strength.
- 22. Once, indeed, was the heaven generated; once was the earth born; once was the milk of Prisni drawn: other than that was not similarly generated.

SÚKTA VI. (XLIX.)

The deities are the Viswadevas; Rijiswan, the son of Bha-RADWÁJA is the Rishi; the metre is Trishtubh, except in the last verse, in which is Sahmarí.

- 1. I commend with new hymns the man observant of his duty,³ and the beneficent MITRA and VARUŅA: may they, the mighty ones, VARUŅA, MITRA, AGNI, come to our rite, and listen (to our praises).
- 2. (I incite the worshipper) to offer worship to Acni, who is to be adored at the sacrifices of every man; whose acts are free from arrogance; the lord of two youthful (brides, heaven and earth); the child of heaven, the son of strength, the brilliant symbol of sacrifice.

Varga V.

¹ This is rather at variance with the doctrine of the succession of worldly existences, but the scholiast so understands it: sakria ha dyaur ajayata, utpudyate, and once born it is permanent, sakrid-utpanaiva sthitá bhavatí, or, being destroyed, no other similar heaven is born, na punas-tasyam nashtáyám anyá tat-sadrisí dyaur jáyate.

² Todanyo nánujáyate is similarly explained; tatah puram anyah padárthostutsadriso notpadyate, after that another object or thing like that (object or thing) is not producêd.

³ Stushe janum suvratum the scholiast interprets daivyan janam, the divine people, devasangham, the company of the gods, which is not incompatible with the purport of the hymn.

- 3. May the two daughters of the radiant (sun) of various form, of whom one glitters with stars, the other (is bright) with the sun, mutually opposed, proceeding diversely, purifying (all things), and entitled to our laudation, be pleased by the praise they hear (from us).
- 4. May our earnest praise proceed to the presence of VAYU, the possessor of vast riches, the desired of all, the filler of his chariot (with wealth for his worshippers): most adorable (VAYU), who art riding in a radiant car, and driving your Niyut (steeds), do thou, who art far-seeing, shew savour to the sage,² (thine adorer).
- 5. May that splendid car of the ASWINS, which is harnessed at a thought, clothe my form (with radiance): that (car) with which, NASATYAS, leaders (of rites), you go to the dwelling (of the worshipper) to fulfil his desires for his posterity and himself.
- 6. PARJANYA and VATA, showerers of rain, send from the firmament available waters: sage MARUTS, hearers of truth, establishers of the world, multiply the moveable³ (wealth of him) by whose praises (you are propitiated)
 - 7. May the purifying, amiable,4 graceful SARA-

² Kavim iyahshasi prayajyo: Mahidhara, Yajur-Veda, 33. 55., applies prayajyo to the priest, the Adhwaryu; worship, venerable priest, the wise Váyu, &c.

⁴ Kanyá, literally a maiden, is here explained kamaniya, to swarf, the bride of the hero, favour our pious rite: may she, together with the wives of the gods, well pleased, bestow upon him who praises her a habitation free from defects, and impenetrable (to wind and rain), and (grant him) felicity.

- 8. May (the worshipper), influenced by the hope (of reward), approach with praise the adorable (Púshan), protector of all paths: may he bestow upon us cows with golden horns: may Púshan bring to perfection our every rite.
- 9. May the illustricus AGNI, the invoker of the gods, worship (with this oblation), TWASHTRI, the first divider (of forms), the renowned, the giver of food, the well-handed, the vast, the adored of house-holders,³ the readily invoked.
- 10. Exalt RUDRA, the parent of the world, with these hymns by day; (exalt) RUDRA (with them) by night; animated by the far-seeing, we invoke him, mighty, of pleasing aspect, undecaying, endowed with felicity, (the source of) prosperity.
- 11. Ever youthful, wise, and adorable MARUTS, come to the praise of your adorer: thus augmenting, leaders (of rites), and spreading (through the firmament), like rays (of light), refresh the scanty woods (with rain).2

² Yajur-Veda, 34. 42.: Mahidhara's explanation differs in some respects from Sáyana's.

- 12. Offer adoration to the valiant, powerful, swift-moving (company of the MARUTS), as the herdsman (drives his) herd to their stall: may that (company) appropriate to its own body the praises of the pious worshipper, as the firmament (is studded) with stars.
- 13. May we be happy in a home, in riches, in person, in children, bestowed upon us by thee, VISHŅU, who with three (steps) made the terrestrial regions for MANU when harrassed (by the Asuras).
- 14. May AHIRBUDHNYA³ (propitiated) by (our) hymns, and PARVATA⁴ and SAVITRI give us food with water: may the bountiful (gods supply us), in addition, with vegetable (grains);⁵ and may the all-wise

² Achitram chid hi jinvatha: chitram is said to mean a place thick with shrubs and trees: with the negative prefix it implies the contrary, a place with little timber: the Maruts are solicited to satisfy such a place, with rain understood.

⁵ Tad oshadhíbhir-abhi; oshadhayas tilamáshádayah, the vegetables are sesamum, pulse, and the like.

BHAGA be propitious (to us) for (the acquirement of) riches.

15. Grant us, (universal gods), riches, comprehending chariots, numerous dependants, many male offspring, (wealth) the giver of efficiency to the solemn rite, and a dwelling free from decay, wherewith we may overcome malevolent men and unrighteous (spirits), and afford support to those people who are devoted to the gods.

ANUVÁKA V.

SÚKTA I. (L.)

The deities are various; the Rishi is RIJISWAN; the metre is Trishtubh.

- 1. I invoke with adorations, for the sake of felicity, the divine Aditi and Varuna, Mitra and Agni, Arraman, the overthrower of foes, worthy of devotion, Savitri and Bhaga, and (all) protecting divinities.
- 2. Radiant Súrya, render the luminous deities, who have Darsha for their progenitor, void of offence towards us; they who are twice born, desirous of sacrifice, observant of truth, possessors of wealth, deserving of worship, whose tongue is Agni.
 - 3. Or bestow, Heaven and Earth, vast strength:

heaven and earth.

¹ Dahshapitrín, dahshapitámaho yeshám, they of whom Dahsha is the grandfather: the grandchildren of Daksha, however, were sundry sentiments and passions: see Vishņu Puráṇa, 55., and pitri, therefore, must here be understood, according to Sáyana, only in the general sense of priority or seniority.

give us, Earth and Heaven, a spacious habitation for our comfort: so arrange, that infinite wealth may be ours; remove, beneficent deities, iniquity from our abode.

- 4. May the sons of RUDRA, givers of dwellings, the unsubdued, invoked on this occasion, stoop down to us, inasmuch as we call upon the divine MARUTS that they may be our helpers in difficulty, great or small.
- 5. With whom the divine Heaven and Earth are associated; whom Púshan, the rewarder (of his worshippers) with prosperity, honours: when, Maruts, having heard our invocation, you come hither, then on your several paths all beings tremble.
- 6. Praise, worshipper, with a new hymn, that hero, INDRA, who is deserving of praise: may he, so glorified, hear our invocation: may he, so lauded, bestow upon us abundant food.
- 7. Waters, friendly to mankind, grant uninterrupted (life)-preserving (food) for (the perpetuation of our) sons and grandsons; grant us security and the removal (of all evil), for you are more than maternal physicians; you are the parents of the stationary and moveable universe.
- 8. May the adorable, golden-handed SAVITRI, the preserver, come to us; he, the munificent, who, like the opening of the dawn, displays desirable (riches) to the offerer of the oblation.
- 9. And do thou, son of strength, bring back to day the deities to this our sacrifice: may I be ever in

- 10. Wise NASATYAS come quickly to my invocation (united) with holy acts: (extricate us) from thick darkness, as thou didst extricate ATRI: protect us, leaders (of rites), from danger in battle.
- 11. Be unto us, gods, the donors of splendid, invigorating riches, comprising male descendants, and celebrated by many: celestial Adityas, terrestrial Vasus, offspring of Prisni, children of the waters, granting our desires, make us happy,
- 12. May RUDRA and SARASWATÍ, alike well pleased, and VISHNU and VÁYU, make us happy, sending rain; and RIBHUKSHIN, and VÁJA, and the divine VIDHÁTRI: and may PARJANYA and VÁTA grant us abundant food.
- 13. And may the divine SAVITRI and BHAGA, and the grandson of the waters, (AGNI), the prodigal of gifts, preserve us; and may TWASHTRI with the gods, and Earth with the seas, (preserve us).
- 14. May AHIRBUDHNYA, AJA-EKAPÁD, and Earth and Ocean, hear us; may the universal gods, who are exalted by sacrifice, they who are invoked and praised (by us), to whom mystical prayers are addressed, and who have been glorified by (ancient) sages, preserve us.²
 - 15. Thus do my sons, of the race of BHARADWAJA,

SÚKTA II. (LI.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre of the thirteenth and two following verses is Ushnih, of the sixteenth Anushtubh, and of the rest Trishtubh.

- 1. The expansive, illuminating, anobstructive, pure, and beautiful radiance of the sun, grateful to MITRA and VARUNA, having risen, shines like the ornament of the sky.
- 2. He who knows the three cognisable (worlds); the sage (who knows) the mysterious birth of the divinities (abiding in them); he who is beholding the good and evil acts of mortals, he, the sun, the lord, makes manifest their intentions.
- 3. I praise you, protectors of the solemn sacrifice, the well-born ADITI, MITRA and VARUNA, and ARYAMAN and BHAGA: I celebrate the gods whose acts are unimpeded, the bestowers of wealth, the dispensers of purity;
- 4. The scatterers of the malevolent, the defenders of the virtuous, the irresistible, the mighty lords, the donors of good dwellings, ever young, very powerful, omnipresent, leaders of heaven. the sons of ADITI: I have recourse to ADITI, who is gratified by mine adoration.

6. Subject us not, adorable (deities), to the robber or his wife; nor to any one designing us harm; for you are the regulators of our persons, of our strength, of our speech.

- 7. Let us not suffer for the sin committed by another: let us not do that which, VASUS, you prohibit: you rule, universal gods, over the universe: (so provide that) mine enemy may inflict injury on his own person.
- 8. Reverence be to the potent (company of universal gods): I offer (them) reverence: reverence sustains both earth and heaven: reverence be to the gods: reverence is sovereign over them: I expiate by reverence whatever sin may have been committed.
- 9. Adorable (deities), I venerate with reverential salutations all you who are mighty, the regulators of your sacrifice,³ of pure vigour, dwellers in the chamber of worship, unsubdued, far-seeing, leaders (of rites).
- 10. May they, exceeding in splendour, so guide us, that all iniquities may disappear; they, the very powerful VARUNA, MITRA, AGNI, practisers of truth, and faithful to those who are prominent in (their) praise.

² The scholiast says that earth and heaven, by receiving the namas or namaskára, the reverential salutation or homage of mortals, continue throughout a long period for their enjoyment.

³ Ritasya rathyah, yajnasya ranhitrin, netrin, the leaders or conveyers of the sacrifice offered to them.

- 11. May they, Indra, Earth, Púshan, Bhaga, Aditi, and the five orders of beings, give increase to our habitations: may they be to us granters of happiness, bestowers of food, guides to good, our gracious defenders and preservers.
- 12. May the presenter of the oblation, BHARA-DWAJA quickly obtain, gods, a celestial abode, as he solicits your good-will: the institutor of the ceremony, together with pious associates, desirous of riches, glorifies the assembly of the gods.
- 13. Drive away, AGNI, to a distance the wicked, felonious, malignant enemy: grant us felicity, protector of the virtuous.¹
- 14. These our grinding stones are anxious, Soma, for thy friendship: destroy the voracious Paní, for verily he is a wolf.²
- 15. You are munificent and illustrious, gods, with INDRA for your chief: be with us, protectors, on the road, and grant us happiness.
- 16. We have travelled along the road prosperously traversed and free from evil, and by which (a man) avoids adversaries and acquires wealth.

SÚKTA III. (LII.)

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre of the first six, the thirteenth, and three last verses, is Trishtubh, of the second six Gáyatrí, and of the fourteenth Jagatí.

1. I do not regard it as worthy (of the gods) of heaven, or (of those) of earth, as (fit to be compared)

- 2. Maruts, may the energies of that man be enfeebled: may heaven consume that impious adversary who thinks himself superior to us, and who pretends to depreciate the worship that we offer.
- 3. Why have they called thee, Soma, the protector of pious prayer? why (have they called thee) our defender against calumny? why dost thou behold us subjected to reproach? cast thy destroying weapon upon the adversary of the Brahman.
- 4. May the opening dawns preserve me: may the swelling rivers preserve me: may the firm-set mountains preserve me: may the progenitors (present) at the invocation of the gods preserve me.
- 5. May we at all seasons be possessed of sound minds: may we ever behold the rising sun: such may the affluent lord of riches, (AGNI), render us, ever most ready to come (at our invocation), charged with our oblation to the gods.

a trader, a greedy trafficker, who gives no offerings to the gods, no presents to the priests: hence he is come to be identified with an asura, or enemy of the gods: vrika may be also rendered a robber, an extortioner, from the root vrik, to seize or take away, adding.

² Brahmadwisham, and again, in the next verse, brahmadwishe: the first is explained by Sáyana simply tam satrum, that enemy, with reference to the word brahma, which has gone before, religious act or praise, the enemy or obstructer of prayer or praise; in the second place he interprets it bráhmana dweshici, the hater or enemy of the Brahman.

- 6. May Indra be most prompt to come nigh for our protection, and Saraswarf dwelling with (tributary) rivers: may Parjanya, with the plants, be a giver of happiness; and may Agni, worthily praised and earnestly invoked, (be to us) like a father.
- 7. Come, universal gods, hear this my invocation: sit down upon this sacred grass.
- 8. Come, gods, to him who honours you with the butter-dripping oblation.
- 9. May the sons of the immortal hear our praises, and be to us the givers of felicity.
- 10. Universal gods, augmenters of sacrifice, listening to praises (uttered) at due seasons, accept your appropriate milk-offering.
- 11. Indra, with the company of the MARUTS, MITRA, with TWASHT'I and ARYAMAN, accept our praise and these our oblations.
- 12. Agni, invoker of the gods, cognizant (which of) the divine assembly (is to be honoured), offer this our sacrifice according to the proper order.
- 13. Universal gods, hear this my invocation, whether you be in the firmament or in the heaven: you who (receive oblations) by the tongue of AGNI, or are to be (otherwise) worshipped: seated on this sacred grass, be exhibitated (by the Soma).

- 15. May those mighty deities, having power to destroy, whether they have been manifested upon earth or in heaven, or in the abode of the waters, bestow upon us and our posterity abundant sustenance both by night and day.
- 16. AGNI and PARJANYA, prosper my pious acts: (accept), you who are reverently invoked, our praise at this sacrifice: one of you generates food, the other posterity: grant us, therefore, food productive of descendants.
- 17. When the sacred grass is strewn; when the fire is kindled, and when I worship (you) with a hymn, and with profound veneration, then, adorable universal gods, rejoice in the oblation (offered) to-day at this our sacrifice.

SCRTA IV. (LIII.)

The deity is Púshan; the Rishi Bharadwaja; the metre of the eighth verse is Anushtubh, of the rest Gayatri.

1. Púshan, lord of paths,4 we attach thee to us like

Varga XVII.

Ahimáyáh is explained áhantri-prajnáh, having the wisdom or knowledge that kills.

² Asmabhyam ishaye; the latter, ishi, is derived from ish, to wish, and is explained putrádi, sons and the rest, usmubhyam tasmai cha, to us and to it, that is, posterity, as the object of desire.

a chariot, for (the sake of) bringing feed, and of (accomplishing our) solemnity.

- 2. Conduct to us a gracious householder, friendly to men, liberal in (bestowing) wealth, the giver of pious donations.
- 3. Resplendent Púshan, instigate the niggard to liberality, soften the heart of the miser.
- 4. Fierce Púshan, select (fit) roads for the passage of provisions: drive away all obstructors, (thieves, or the like), so that our holy rites may be accomplished.
- 5. Pierce with a goad² the hearts of the avaricious, wise Púshan, and so render them complacent towards us.
- 6. Pierce with a goad, Púshan, the heart of the avaricious; generate generosity in his heart, and so render him complacent towards us.
- 7. Abrade, wise Púshan, the hearts of the avaricious; relax (their hardness), and so render them complacent towards us.
- 8. Resplendent Púshan, with that food-propelling goad which thou bearest, abrade the heart of every miser, and render it relaxed.
- 9. Resplendent Púshan, we ask of thee the service of that thy weapon, which is the guide of cows, the director of cattle.
- 10. Make our pious worship productive of cows, of horses, of food, of dependants, for our enjoyment.

² Paritrindhi árayá: árá is described as a stick with a slender point of iron; pratoda, a goad; the common vernacular derivative, árah, is a saw.

SUKTA V. (LIV.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Bring us, Púshan, into communication with a wise man who may rightly direct us, who may even say, this is so.¹
- 2. May we, by the favour of Púshan, come in communication with (the man) who may direct us to the houses (where our goods are secreted), and may say, verily these are they.
- 3. The discus of Púshan does not destroy; its sheath is not discarded, its edge harms not us.
- 4. Púshan inflicts not the least injury on the man who propitiates him by oblations: he is the first who acquires wealth
- 5. May Púshan come to (guard) our cattle, may Púshan protect our horses; may Púshan give us food.
- 6. Come, Púshan, to (guard) the cattle of the institutor of the rite presenting libations, and also of us repeating (thy) praises.
- 7. Let not, Púshan, our cattle perish; let them not be injured; let them not be hurt by falling into a well; come, therefore, along with them unharmed.
- 8. We solicit riches of Pússan, who hears (our eulogies); who is the averter (of poverty); the preserver of that which is not lost, the ruler (over all).

Varga XIX.

Varga XX.

¹ Ya evedam iti bravat: Sáyaṇa's explanation of this is curious, and is justified by what follows: by Vidushá, a wise man, he understands a cunning man, a conjurer: the last phrase he therefore interprets to mean, one who says, this, your property, has been lost, and the passage that precedes he explains as directing the way to the recovery of the lost or stolen goods: this is a new attribute of Púshan as the patron of fortune-tellers and recoverers of stolen property.

- 9. May we never suffer detriment when engaged, Púshan, in thy worship: we are at this time thine adorers.
- 10. May Púshan put forth his right hand (to restrain our cattle) from going astray: may he bring again to us that which has been lost.

SÚKTA VI. (LV.)

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- 1. Come illustrious grandson of PRAJÁRATI² to (me thy) worshipper: let us two be associated: become the conveyer of our sacrifice.
- 2. We solicit riches of our friend, (Púshan), the chief of charioteers, the wearer of a braid (of hair),⁴ the lord of infinite wealth.
- 3. Illustrious Púshan, thou art a torrent of riches: thou, who hast a goat for thy steed, art a heap of wealth; the friend of every worshipper.
- 4. We glorify Púshan, the rider of the goat, the giver of food, him who is called the gallant of his sister.⁵

^{*} Kaparddinam, hapardaschúdá tadvantam; but it is more usually an epithet of Siva, importing a braid of hair, not the chúdá, or lock left on the crown of the head at tonsure.

⁵ Swasur yo jūra uchyate, the sister of Púshan is the dawn, with whom he, as the sun, may be said to associate amorously.

- 5. I glorify Púshan, the husband of his mother: may the gallant of his sister hear us; may the brother of Indra² be our friend.
- 6. May the harnessed goats, drawing the deity in his ear, bring hither Púshan, the benefactor of man.

SÚKTA VII. (LVI.)

Deity and Rishi as before; the metre is the same, except in the last verse, in which it is Anushtubk.

- 1. No (other) deity is indicated by him who declares the offering of mixed meal and butter³ to be intended for Púshan.
- 2. He, the chief of charioteers, the protector of the virtuous, Indra, destroys his foes, with his friend Púshan for his ally.
- 3. He, the impeller, the chief of charioteers, (Pú-SHAN), ever arges on that golden wheel (of his car) for the radiant sun.⁴
- 4. Since, intelligent Púsnan, of goodly aspect, the praised of many, we celebrate thee to-day, therefore grant us the desired wealth.
- 5. Gratify this our assembly, desirous of cattle, by their acquisition: thou, Púshan, art renewned afar.
 - 6. We deserve of thee well-being remote from

Varga XXII.

¹ Matur didhishum, rátreh patim, the lord or husband of the night.

² As one of the Adityas, or sons of Aditi, he may be called the brother of Indra, who is also one of the number.

³ Karambhát iti: karambha is said to be a mixture of parched barley-meal and butter.

⁴ Parushe gavi: the first is explained parvavati, bháswati vá, the period-having, or the shining: the second is rendered Aditya, he who moves or revolves, gachchhatíti gaur-ádityah evil, approximate to wealth, both for the sake of general sacrifice to-day, for the sake of general sacrifice to-morrow.

SÚKTA VIII. (LVII.)

The deities are Indra and Púshan; the Rishi and metre as before.

- 1. We invoke you, Indra and Púshan, for your friendship, for our well-being, and for the obtaining of food.²
- 2. One (of you) approaches to drink the Soma poured out into ladles, the other desires the buttered meal.³
- 3. Goats are the bearers of the one, two well-fed horses of the other, and with them he destroys his foes.
- 4. When the showerer INDRA sends down the falling and mighty waters, there is Púshan along with him.
- 5. We depend upon the good-will of Púshan, and of Indra, as (we cling) to the branches of a tree.
- 6. We draw to us, for our great welfare, Púshan and Indra, 28 a charioteer (pulls tight) his reins.

SÚKTA IX. (LVIII.)

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre of the second verse is Jagati, of the rest Trishtubh.

1. One of thy forms, (Púshan), is luminous, one is venerable; so that the day is variously complexioned: for thou art like the sun: verily, bestower of food, thou protectest all intelligences: may thine auspicious liberality be manifested on this occasion.

- 2. The rider of the goat, the protector of animals, in whose dwelling food is abundant, the propitiated by sacred rites, who has been placed over the whole (world),³ the divine Púshan, brandishing his loosened goad, proceeds (in the sky), contemplating all beings.⁴
- 3. With those thy golden vessels, which navigate within the ocean-firmament, thou dischargest the office of messenger of the sun: 5 desirous of the sacrificial food, thou art propitiated by (that which is) willingly offered.
- 4. Púshan is the kind kinsman of heaven and earth, the lord of food, the possessor of opulence, of goodly form; whom the gods gave to Súrya, vigorous, well-moving, propitiated by (that which is) willingly offered.⁶

² Sáma-Veda, 1. 75., also Niruhta, 12. 17., Sáyaṇa follows Yásha.

⁴ As identical with the sun.

⁵ Yási dútyam súryasya: Sáyana relates a legend which says, that on one occasion, when Súrya, with the gods, had set out to fight the Asuras, he sent Púshan to his abode to console his wife, who was greatly afflicted by his going to the wars; for which office Púshan is here commended.

⁶ Kâmena kritah is the whole text; the scholiast fills it up with paşwâdivishayena stotribhir vaşîkritah asi, thou art subjected or propitiated by worshippers by means of the Paşu and other offerings,

SÚKTA' X. (LIX.)

INDRA and AGNI are the deities; the Rishi is BHARADWAJA the first six stanzas are in the Brihati metre, the four last in the Anushtubh.

- 1. When the libation is effused I celebrate, INDRA and AGNI, your heroic exploits: the Pitris,¹ the enemies of the gods, have been slain by you, and you survive.
- 2. Your greatness, INDRA and AGNI, is after this fashion, and is most deserving of praise: the same is your progenitor: twin brethren are you, having a mother everywhere present.²
- 3. You approach together, when the libation is effused, like two fleet coursers to their forage: we invoke to day INDRA and AGNI, deities armed with the thunderbolt, to this ceremony for our preservation.
- 4. Divine Indra and Agni, augmenters of sacrifice, by whom the acclamation (of praise) is received, you partake not of the (Soma) of him who, when the libation is effused, praises you (improperly),³ uttering unacceptable enlogies.⁴
 - 5. What mertal, divine INDRA and AGNI, is a judge

¹ By Pitris, in this place, the scholiast says Asuras are intended, as derived from the root pi to injure, piyatir-hinsá-harmme.

of that (your act), when one of you, harnessing his diversely-going horses, proceeds in the common car.¹

- 6. This footless (dawn), INDRA and AGNI, comes before the footed sleepers, animating the head² (of living beings with consciousness), causing them to utter loud sounds with their tongues, and passing onwards she traverses thirty steps.³
 - 7. INDRA and AGNI, men verily stretch their bows with the design of gaining affection, but of itself producing disaffection or dislike; so in the Niruhta, 5. 22., as quoted by Sáyana, ya Indrágní suteshu vám someshu stauti teshu na tasya asníthah, of him who praises you two, Agni and Indra, when the Soma-juices are effused you do not eat (the offering): the princed Niruhta has, you eat, omitting the negative: of joshaváham, it is first said, avijnútanámadheyam joshayitavyam bhavati, that being of unknown name is to be propitiated; and again, yo ayam joshavúham vadatí vijanjupah na tasya asníthah, this person who utters, joshavúham, repeating incessantly,

1 Vishucho aswan yuyujana iyate ehah samane rathe: the one is Indra, who, as identical with the sun, goes over the world in a car which is common to him and Agni, as being also identified with the sun: the same identity being kept in view, Indra yokes the multiform horses, months, weeks, days, to a monoform car, or the year.

or silently, propitiatory prayer of various object, of that man, you two do not eat the offering.

- ² Hitu's siras, literally, exciting the head, which is the whole of the text, is explained práninám siro prerayitr's, urging or animating the head of living beings: or it may apply to the dawn, as being headless, siras tyahtwá swayam asirashá sat's, she having abandoned the head, being of herself headless, though what they may mean is doubtful: so Sáma-Veda, 1. 281, and Yajush, 33. 93.: Mahidhara, after proposing the same interpretation as Sáyana, suggests another, in which he refers the epithets to vách, speech, apád, footless, meaning prose, gadyátmihá, and so on, but this is obviously fanciful.
 - 3 The thirty muhurttas, the divisions of the day and night.

Varga XXVI.

with their arms, but do not you desert us contending for cattle in the great combat.

- 8. Indra and Agni, murderous, aggressive enemies harass us: drive away mine adversaries: separate them from (sight of) the sun.
- 9. Indra and Agni, yours are both celestial and terrestrial treasures: bestow upon us, on this occasion, life-sustaining riches.
- 10. Indra and Agni, who are to be attracted by hymns; you, who hear our invocation (accompanied) by praises, and by all adorations, come hither to drink of this Soma-libation

SÚRTA XI. (LX.)

The deities and Rishi as before: the metre of the three first stanzas is Trishtubh, of the next nine Gáyatri, of the thirteenth Trishtubh, of the fourteenth Brihati, and of the last Anushtubh.

- 1. He overcomes his enemy, and acquires food, who worships the victorious INDRA and AGNI, the lords of infinite opulence, most powerful in strength, desirous of (sacrificial) food.
- 2. Indra and Agni, verily you have combated for (the recovery of) the cows, the waters, the sun, the dawns that had been carried away (by the Asuras): thou reunitest, Indra, (with the world), the quarters of the horizon, the sun, the wonderful waters, the dawns, the cattle, and so dost thou, Agni, who hast the Niyut steeds.
- 3. Slayers of VRITRA, INDRA and AGNI, come down with foe-subduing energies, (to be invigorated) by (our) offerings: be manifest to us, INDRA and AGNI, with unblameable and most excellent riches.

- 4. I invoke those two, the whole of whose deeds of old have been celebrated: INDRA and AGNI harm us not.¹
- 5. We invoke the fierce INDRA and AGNI, the slayers of enemies: may they give us success in similar warfare.²
- 6. Counteract all oppressions (committed) by the pious: counteract all oppressions (committed) by the impious: protectors of the virtuous, destroy all those who hate us.

7. INDRA and AGNI, these hymns glorify you both: drink, bestowers of happiness, the libation.

- 8. Indra and Agni, leaders (of rites), whose Niyut steeds are desired by many, come with them to the donor (of the libation).
- 9. Come with them, leaders (of rites), to the effused libation, to drink, INDRA and AGNI, of the Soma.⁴
- 10. Glorify that AGNI who envelopes all the forests with flame, who blackens them with (his) tongue.
- 11. The mortal who presents the gratifying (oblation) to INDRA in the kindled (fire), to him (INDRA grants) acceptable waters for his sustenance.
- 12. May those two grant us strengthening food, and swift horses to convey (our offerings).⁵

Varga XXVIII.

Varga XXIX.

² Sáma-Veda, 11. 204., Yajur-Veda, 33. 61.

³ Hato vritrany-áryá hato dásáni, vritráni and dásani, being neuter, can scarcely signify áryas and dásas themselves; therefore the scholiast interprets them áryaih and dásaih kritáni, things done by them severally, that is, upudra cajátáni, things generated by violence or oppression and the like: also Sáma-Veda, 11. 205.

⁵ Sáma-Veda, 11. 499-501.

- 13. I invoke you both, Indra and Agni, to be present at the sacrifice; and both together to be exhilarated by the (sacrificial) food; for you are both donors of food and riches, and therefore I invoke you both for the obtaining of sustenance.
- 14. Come to us with herds of cattle, with troops of horses, with ample treasures, divine friends, INDRA and AGNI: givers of happiness, we invoke you as such for your friendship.
- 15. Hear, Indra and Agni, the invocation of the institutor of the rite as he offers the libation: partake of the offering: come, quaff the sweet Soma beverage.

SÚKTA XII. (LXI.)

The deity is SARASWATI; the Rishi as before; the metre of the three first stanzas and of the thirteenth is Jugati, of the fourteenth Trishtubh, and of the rest Gáyatri.

- 1. She gave to the donor of the oblations, Vadu-RYASWA, a son. DIVODASA¹ endowed with speed, and acquitting the debt (due to gods and progenitors); she who destroyed the churlish niggard, (thinking) only of himself:² such are thy great bounties, SARA-SWATÍ
- 2. With impetuous and mighty waves³ she breaks down the precipices of the mountains, like a digger

² Pani as usual.

³ In the first stanza Saraswatí has been addressed as a goddess: nere she is praised as a river: the confusion pervades the entire Súhta.

for the lotus fibres: we adore for our protection, with praises and with sacred rites, SARASWATÍ the underminer of both her banks.

3. Destroy, SARASWATÍ, the revilers of the gods, the offspring of the universal deluder, VRISAYA: giver of sustenance, thou hast acquired for men the lands (seized by the Asuras), and hast showered water upon them.³

² Vrisaya is a name of Twashtri, whose son was Vritra: in Sáyana's introduction to the Bluck, or Taittiriya Yajush, a curious legend is related, intended to illustrate the importance of correctly accentuating the words of the Veda: Indra, it is said, had killed a son of Twashtri, named Viswarupa, in consequence of which there was enmity between them, and, upon the occasion of a Soma-sacrifice, celebrated by Twashtri, he omitted to include Indra in his invitations to the gods: Indra, however, came an uninvited guest, and by force took a part of the Soma-libation; with the remainder Twashtri performed a sacrifice for the birth of an individual who should avenge his quarrel and destroy his adversary, directing the priest to pray, now let a man be born and prosper, the killer of Indra: in uttering the Mantra, however, the officiating priest made a mistake in the accentuation of the term Indraghátaha, slayer of Indra, in which sense, as a Tut-purusha compound, the acute accent should have been placed upon the last syllable; instead of which the reciter of the Mantra placed the accent on the first syllable, whereby the compound became a Bahuvrihi epithet, signifying one of whom Indra is the slayer: consequently, when, by virtue of the rite, Vritra was produced, he was foredoomed by the wrong accentuation to be put to death by Indra, instead of becoming his destroyer: Taittiriya Yajush,

³ Kshitibhyo avaniravindo visham ebhyo asravah may also

- 4. May the divine Sakaswatí, the acceptress of (sacrificial) food, the protectress of her worshippers, sustain us with (abundant) viands.
- 5. Divine SARASWATÍ, protect him engaged in conflict for the sake of wealth, who glorifies thee like INDRA.
- 6. Divine SARASWATÍ, abounding in food, protect us in combat, and, like Púshan, give us gifts.
- 7. May the fierce Saraswatí, riding in a golden chariot, the destructress of enemies, be pleased by our earnest laudation.
- 8. May she whose might, infinite, undeviating, splendid, progressive, water-shedding, proceeds loud-sounding.
- 9. Overcome all our adversaries, and bring to us her other water-laden sisters, as the ever-rolling sun (leads on) the days.
- 10. May Saraswarf, who has seven sisters,² who is dearest amongst those dear to us, and is fully propitiated, be ever adorable.
- 11. May SARASWATÍ, filling (with radiance) the vast expanse of earth and heaven, defend us from the reviler.
- 12. Abiding in the three worlds, comprising seven elements,³ cherishing the five races (of beings), she is ever to be invoked in battle.

² Suptaswasá: either the seven metres of the Vedas, or the seven rivers.

³ Saptadhátu, as before, either the metres or the rivers.

- 13. She who is distinguished amongst them¹ as eminent in greatness and in her glories; she who is the most impetuous of all other streams; she who has been created vast in capacity as a chariot,² she, SARA-SWATÍ, is to be glorified by the discreet (worshipper).
- 14. Guide us, SARASWATÍ, to precious wealth; reduce us not to insignificance; overwhelm us not with (excess of) water; be pleased by our friendly (services) and access to our habitations, and let us not repair to places unacceptable to thee.

END OF THE FOURTH ASHTAKA.

² Ratha iva brihatí vibhwane kritá: made great in vastness, like a chariot created by Prajápati, so created, vibhwane, vibhutwáya, for greatness or vastness.

³ Má apa spharíh: sphara, it is said, means increase, greatness, prosperity; with the prefix, it implies the reverse, apravriddhán má hárshíh, do not make us unimportant or abject.
