Brian Daniels

The body of Mr. Brian P. Daniels, of Meriden, Connecticut, was discovered this morning on the grounds of the California Institute of Technology campus. He had apparently fallen from his second story balcony some time during the night.

Mr. Daniels was last seen around 10:00pm leaving a party with Mr. Jane Seto after minor altercations with several other students. He was reportedly in an intoxicated state.

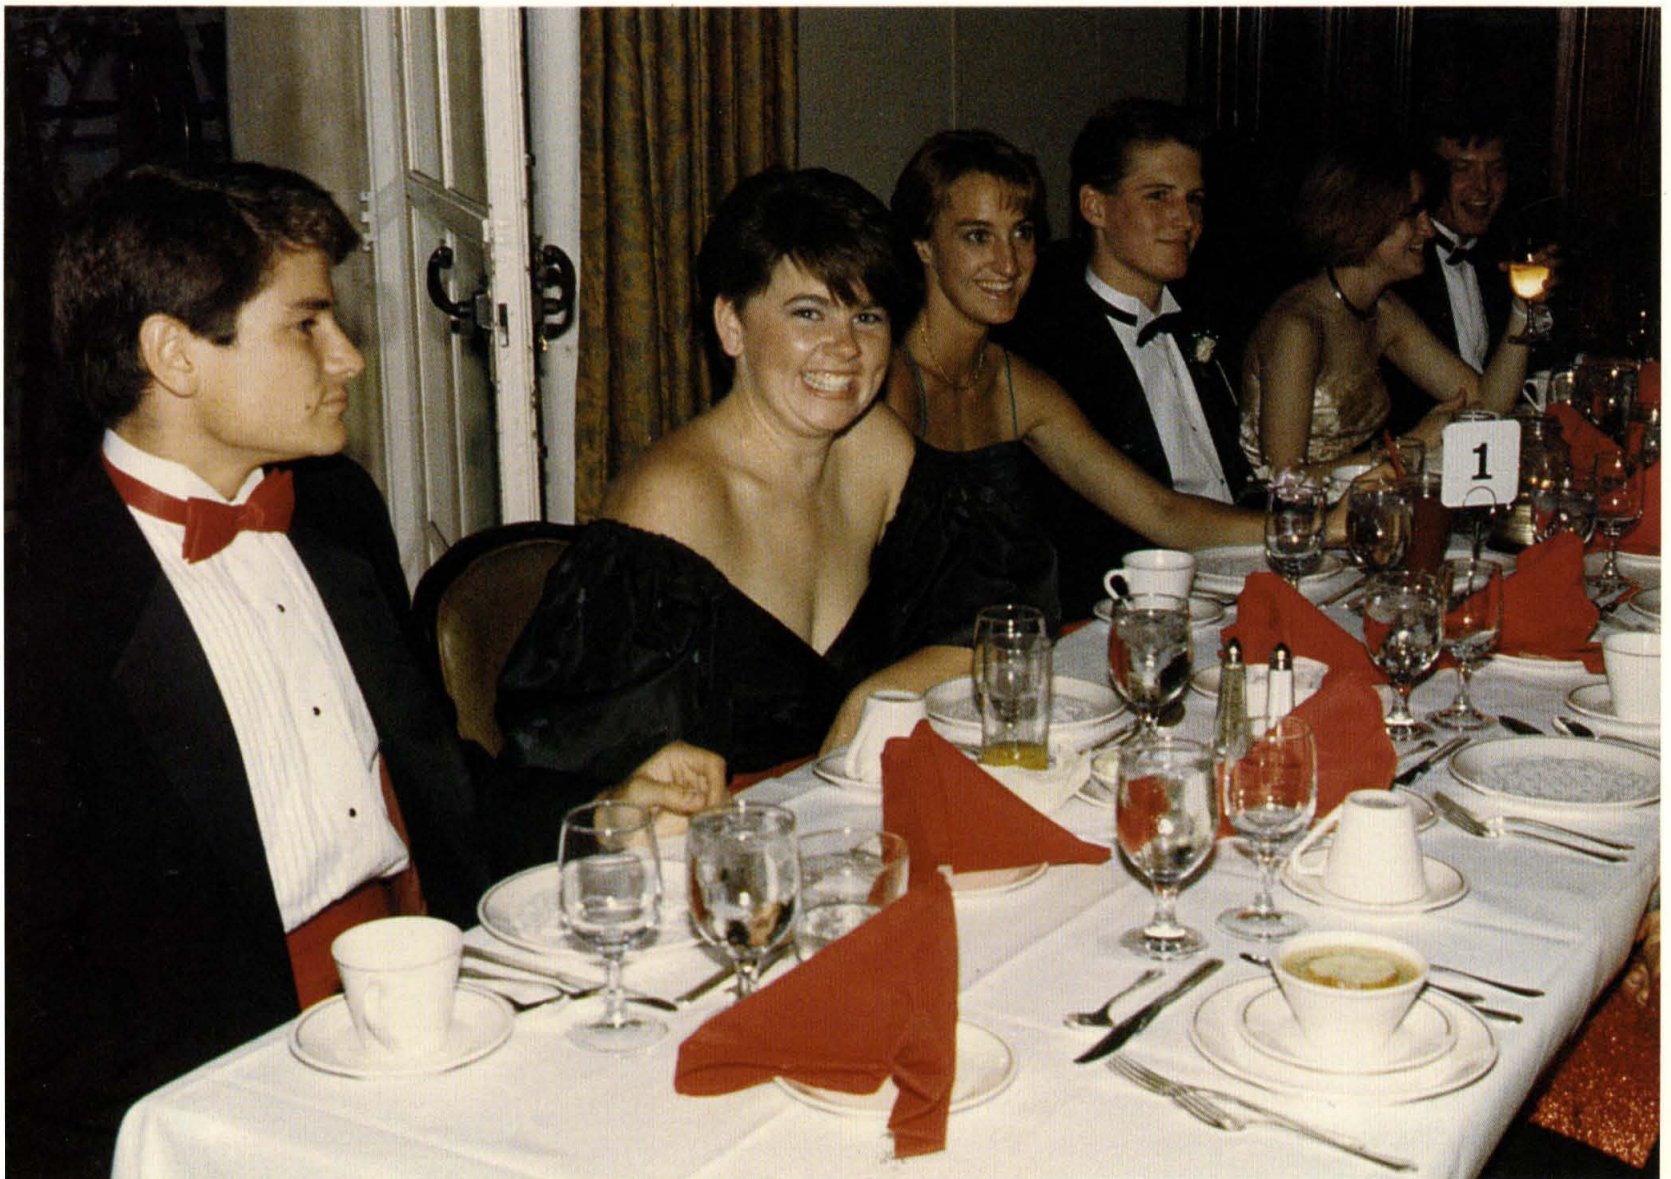

Police suspect foul play.

The Inside World

Blacker: 1987. Blacker welcomed 24 frosh. Fleming invaded our courtyard at the end of rotation, but spirited and clever moles contained the horde within our flooded domain and attacked from above. Alas, BTE took a shower and Ken Andrews spent the term repairing it.

Frosh grew anxious about the unknowable and upperclassmen thought about the six man lift. Rasputin's inflammatory announcements united the frosh class but even so there were no new saints this year. The Freshman weren't moved by the concept of a HellRide so a few traitorous sophomores had to do it for them. The Juniors tried to bail the Seniors out of 200 Days but only made it half way. Vatican challenged Tunnel to 'get it up' and so Tunnel Road returned.

The Interhouse Jungle was built on schedule. Amazingly enough, no one was killed on the infamous "DISCO'DEATH", a coupled pendulum that combined ninety degree swings horizontal motion to send some people olive picking. The Satanic swing was a hit, and the house play begat a jello pit that threatened a second Blacker rotation. Glenn made George of the Jungle a Ride equivalent.

Rob Fatland returned to Tech as Santa and gave all the boys and girls just what they deserved: a policeman for Irene, baklava for Fred the food rep, artillery for Matt T., Ben and Cliff, who gave "Oh no! It's the pigs!" new meaning, and a punching bag for Earl. There were happy endings for all, most especially Brad.

Second term RA Food Night climaxed with an evening of water-tasting, where Cola Berry gained a reputation and L.A. Water didn't lose. Bridge ousted Thumper as Erik corrupted many a frosh looking for a fourth. Old Cannes (Diana Ross & the Supremes w/ The Disco Dudes) made a strong effort in the lip sync contest, but Tunnel (Hart) prevailed with their skill, dry ice, and Beckman's lights. They still looked like guys in dresses, though. Jay visited dinner to announce that soon Irene would not be the littlest Mole. Meanwhile, we acquired Steve Bard and Miguel McDonald, Boy Scout Doug Cheney, and the down-and-dirty-strummin'-hummin' bad boy of Rock-and-Roll-guitar Mike Ricci.

Mild-mannered Ken Andrews became president, Montague became Veep, and Steve Lew took over the financial scraps of paper Tim Horiuchi left him. Cliff Kiser was elected secretary and took revenge via three days of long and harsh elections. Even now the house has not fully recovered from the Coming of The Evil -OR. Marc Abel, the definitive Mr. Rogers, became Librarian and tricked the rest of the house into dotting all the books in the Blacker Library. We are still awaiting his lemonade keg party, however.

The veep challenged the alleys to "bring something cool to dinner." In the end, Vatican won with Matt's New Shoe Shine Machine, despite a bicycle hanging from the ceiling and the RA's black eye. Not a single frosh escaped the sometimes arthritic but eventually insistent grip of the dread Black Hand, although Mr. Wong took a two week vacation in Coloumbia and wasn't seen until third term.

The third term roompick was a 4-hr carnival. The former first lady, Juanita Hart, left the President and fled to Dabney to avoid the political repercussions. After the roompick, the Easter Bunny swapped Doug's and Samantha's rooms without the secretary's consent. Since the MOSH wants us to make more space, a few people will move off next year. At least there will be real off-campus alleys next year.

The ever-dynamic Blacker Social Team staged, among other events, the F.*, providing confetti as clues. Ditch day showed how prone to error EE stacks are when Andy's, Curtis's, Tim's, and Scott's, stacks all at least partially failed. But it was worth it if only to hear the James Daniel Ditch Day Medley.

The year is done and some may wonder where it went. The seniors reflect, and maybe even miss Tech already. Freshmen look ahead and worry. Thankfully, we have a home here because we've all to at least some extent become a part of the house, much as it has changed and become a part of us. More importantly we've all found friends; good friends.

Farewell to those who are leaving us: Mormons Douglas Cheney, Jared Smith, and David Krider, who are going on missions this summer. Take care and don't forget to come back.

Thanks to our RA's, who have been patient, concerned, and helpful, watching us from time to time and being there, as calm voices in the maelstrom of undergraduate confusion or with food and company on Thursday nights. We're glad you're staying with us, and think some applause is in order.

Congrats to Jay and Marcie and best wishes for a healthy and happy family.

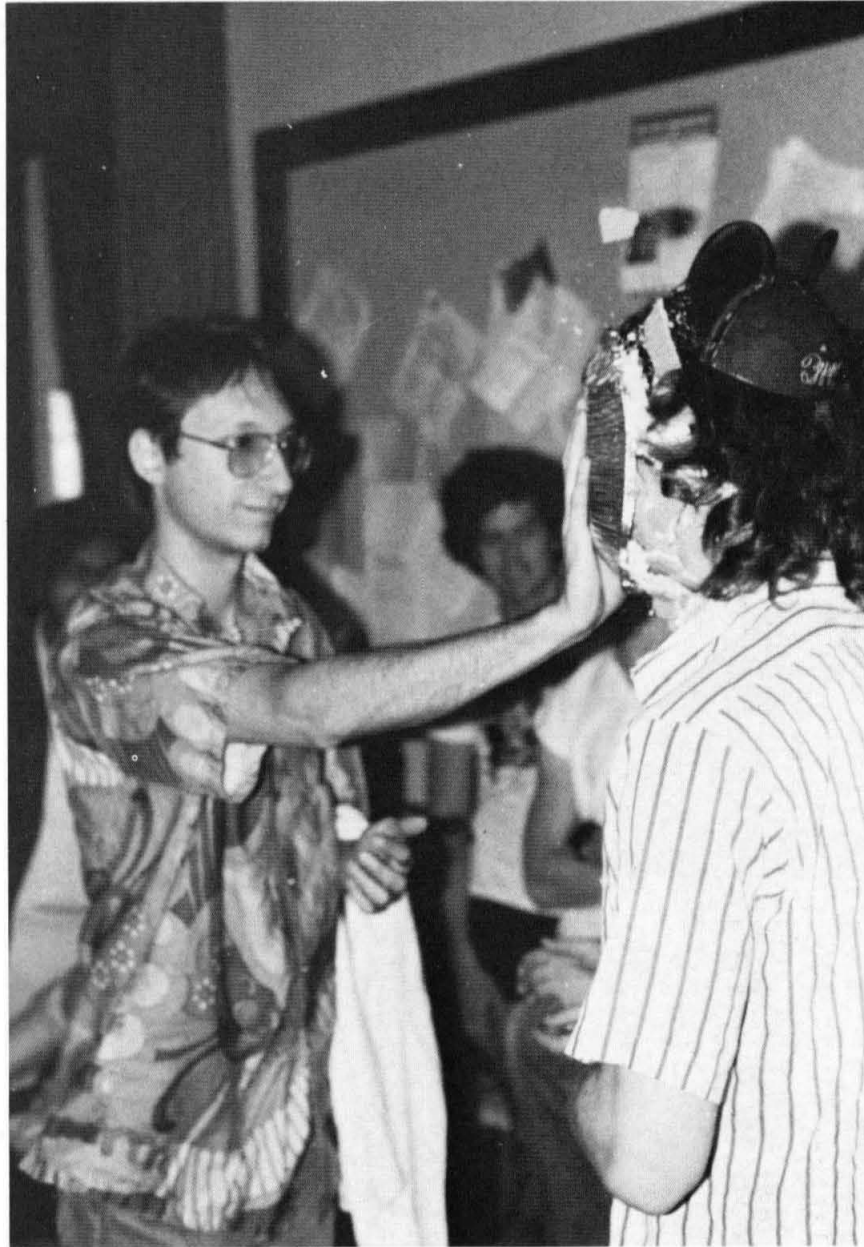

The Historian wishes to thank the Unseen Historians, Matt, Celina, and Slew, along with everyone else who made this work: Marc T., Miguel, Steve H., and all those who submitted photos.

Fond Memories!

Dabney Hovse

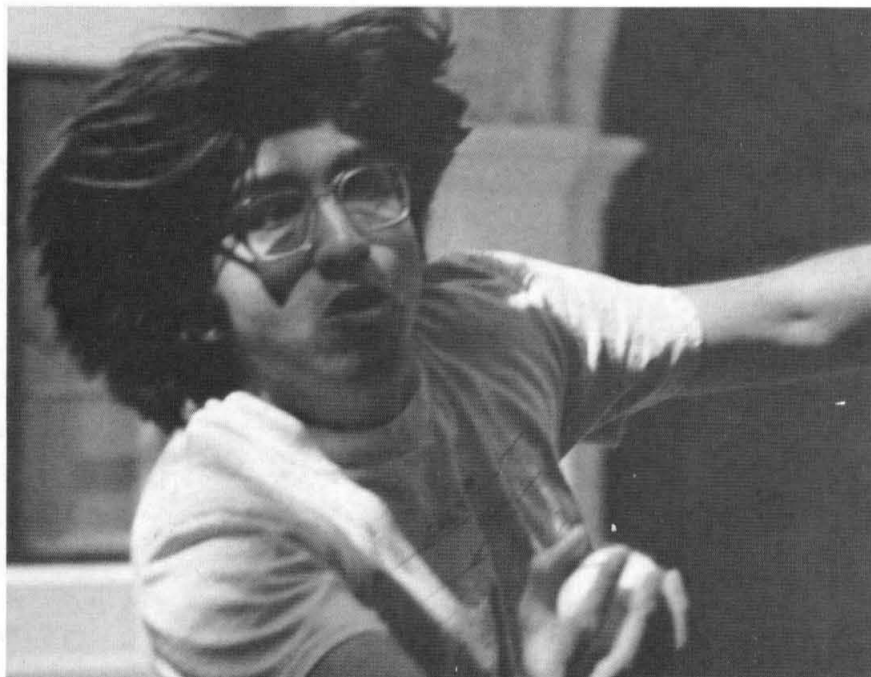

This year, the Renovation dream of wholesome, whitewashed walls became a nightmarish reality for Dabney. The Gods Of All Goodness And Light knew this was a bad thing, and in their anger, they inadvertently cracked the freshly done walls. Fortunately, they stopped in time to avoid injuring marker-wielding Darbs.

The Renovation caused other problems for Dabney. Hot became cold, and radiators were used for Ph 2c demonstrations of resonance. The poor froshlings were led to believe that Dabney was a normal House. Fortunately, most of them were able to adapt to their new surroundings, and although one escaped, they all survived.

Luckily, the renovation was not completely evil. The old, wise Darbs, when forced to select color schemes, brilliantly chose white, brown, and purple combinations for the rooms and green carpet for the halls. The green carpet inspired Dabney to choose the Interhouse theme of the DabniCorp Miniature Golf Missile Crisis, and the purple paint was responsible for making room 13 an extremely colorful nightmare.

DabniCorp also flexed its muscles in the market this year by purchasing nearly forty very expensive and rare pythons and boas. Analysts were puzzled by the new trend of reptile investments, but soon DabniCorp was praised (and investigated) for its insightful avoidance of the stock market crash. Dabney also tried to take control of the Democratic Party by sending Kevin "10%" Nelson to the Dukakis caucus. Kevin ran gamely for delegate to the Democratic National Convention, only to fail by six votes.

The year started off with a bang. Well, not exactly a bang, but a rumble. A 6.1 earthquake shook newly rehabbed Fleming House to its senses. Once again Fleming dominated rotation, and with our new look came a new sense of pride. The twin towers of death, the slamma-jamma brothers, Huck Seed and Bill Swanson made this painfully clear to the world by holding a slam dunk contest during a vicious discobolus trouncing of Lloyd. Seniors are gods, but frosh can slam.

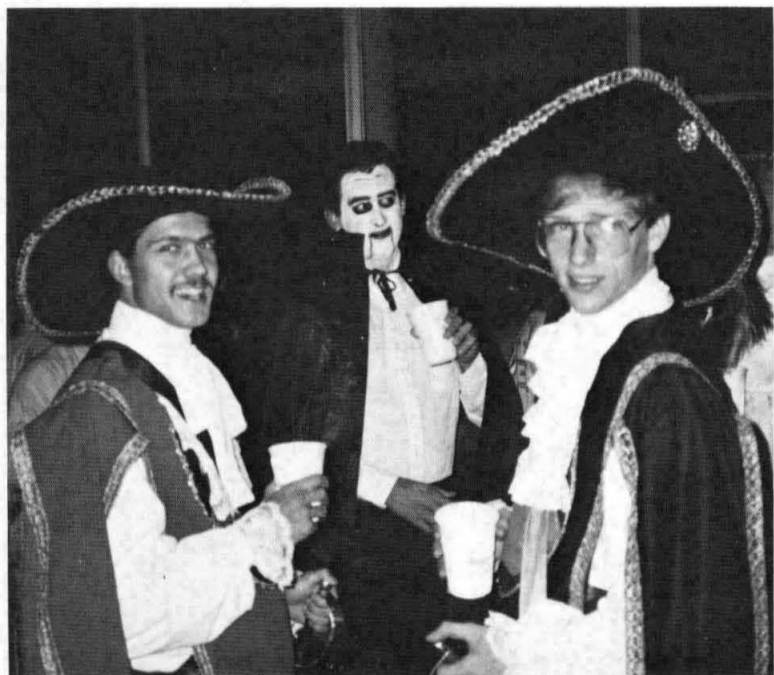

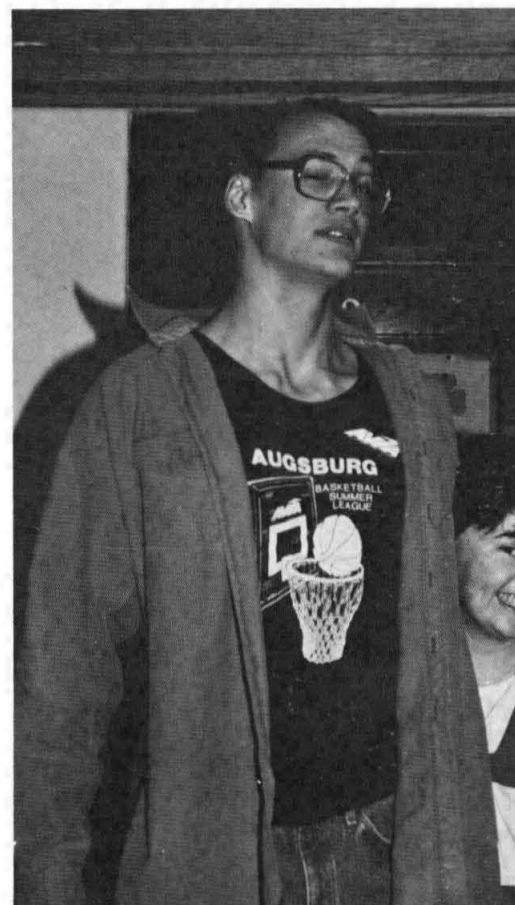

As a wise man once said, "If Fleming doesn't get the best women during rotation, they will transfer in." We welcomed the transfer of Emily Lo, Teri Englehard, Julie Sheridan, and Vicki Lane. Their charm made up for all the ugly frosh we got stuck with, like Amezcua.

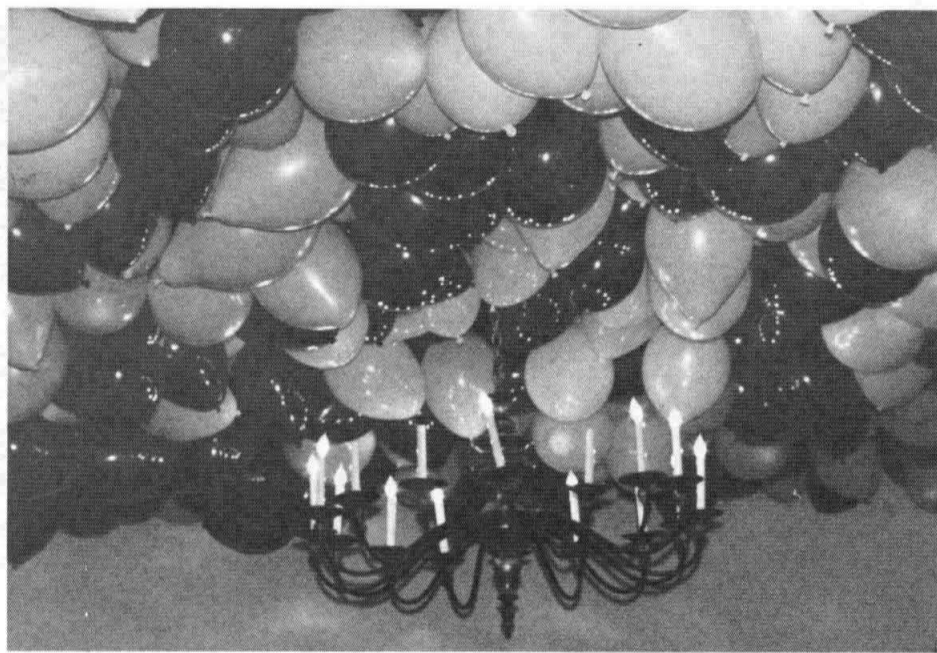

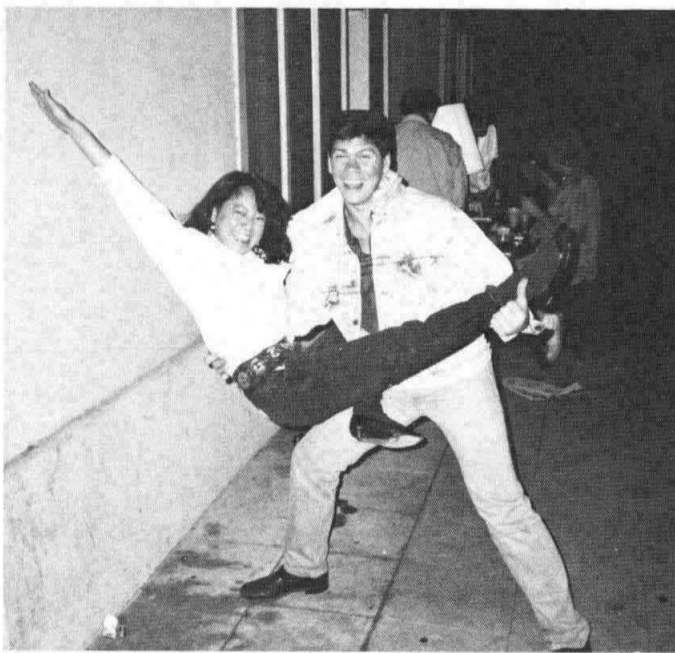

Time for the top three stupid human tricks of first term.

1. Take Ben "Yes, I have a $50 bill" Finley out in public.
2. Be like Daniels, piss off Bill the RA, and get floated 95 times.
3. Put the entire frosh class on napkins. Remember, Mr. Habecker, they know where you live.

Just as the swallows return to Capistrano, Fecathlon returned to the Fleming dining room. Pete "Grasshopper" Ying, using that far east technique of his, set a new record for condom inflation. It makes you wonder what he practices on. Overall, however, Alley 5 took the honors. We were all assured that having the IACCOFH living in Alley 5 at the time did not influence the outcome. Thanks for the words of assurance, Habecker.

Humphreys! Build Interhouse! Twelve hundred red and white balloons do not a bad lounge make. Add to that the Hell Clowns of the Damned, one dunk tank, and two hundred stuffed bananas, and what you have is the best Interhouse on campus.

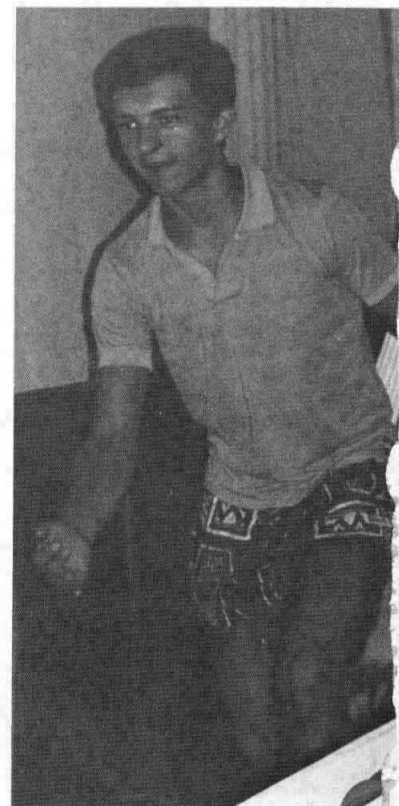

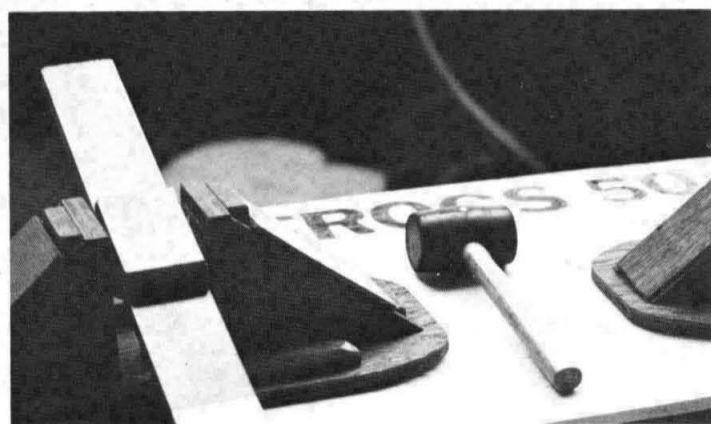

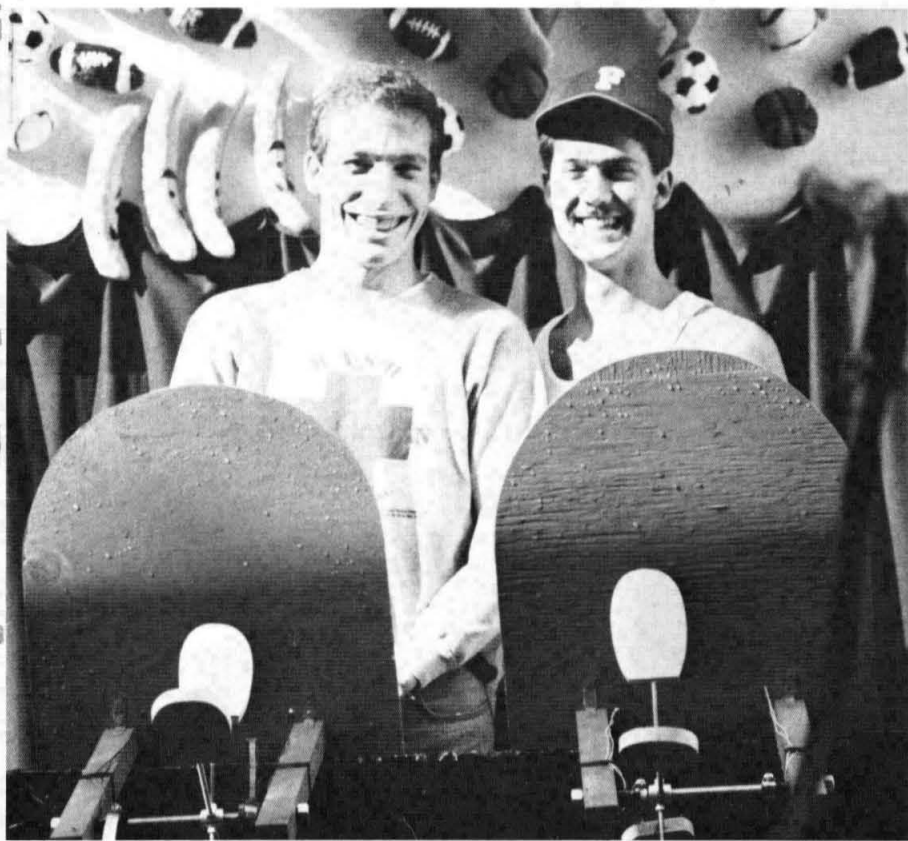

Speaking of the best, Fleming's bone-crushing, death-defying, awe-inspiring, pulse-pounding, senses-shattering, swimming juggernaut continued the tradition of Fleming Appreciation Day with a dominating aquatic victory. Poolside were beer and munchies, and there was much rejoicing. Congratulations also go out to Leslie McCaffree and Won Hong for claiming two of the top three spots in the Me72 competition.

So ended first term, with Fleming House the proud owner of the biggest Christmas tree, the two tallest frosh, the discobolus trophy, the interhouse trophy, and the studliest men on campus.

A new term meant new officers. Out went Catanzaro, Vasquez, Slovik, and Daniels; in came Burleigh, Hawley, McCaffree, and Ralph. Leslie spent the first few weeks of her term learning the proper bell-ringing techniques, but soon she was screaming, "Announcements!" like a pro. Unfortunately, we can't say the same of Vice-President Hawley. Dinner guests proved the best in years. Breaking into the athletic department, Roger Garcia and Jaye Tashima were invited to dinner. Jaye proved the lady as usual, but Burleigh incited Roger to riot, and soon there were sour cream napkins flying and milk-floats everywhere. A bottle of tequila and many bottles of beer before dinner certainly didn't help the situation any. But no sooner than Roger had left, the masses were demanding his return. Maybe someday.

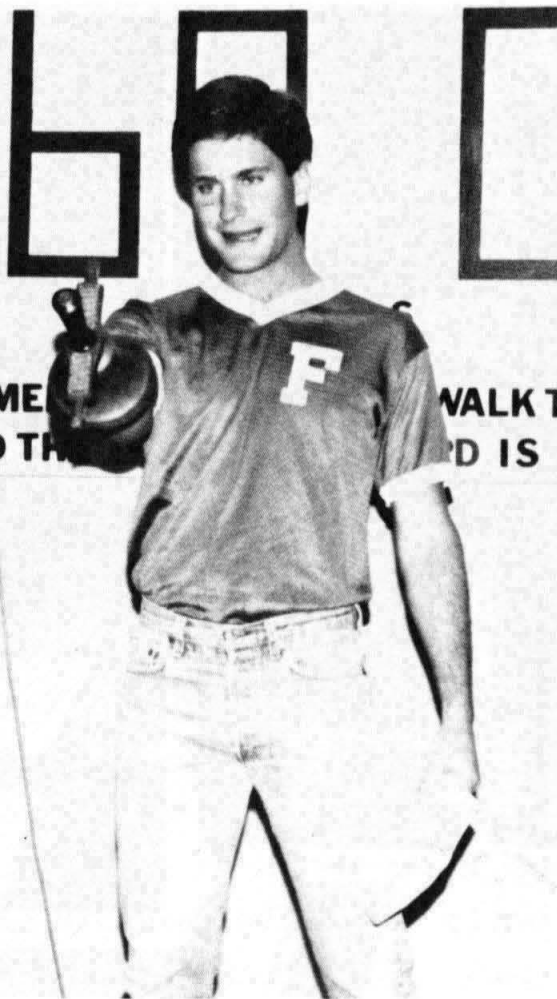

A stripper by any other name would still take her clothes off. This was the lesson taught to Prof. Phinney in Phys 1b by our sexually frustrated frosh. As she wasn't properly received in the lecture hall, this hard working young lass was brought to the Fleming dining room, where she was fully appreciated. This little adventure into debauchery created somewhat of an uproar throughout the rest of campus, but remember, Fleming House by any other name would still be as obnoxious.

Third term we raced toward the light at the end of the tunnel. "Ditch Day is tomorrow!," and tomorrow finally came (all over the underclassmen). With the flag at half mast, the search began for the ruthless murderer of Brian Daniels, while just next door the Blimp stack was also receiving plenty of attention with its nitroburning funnycar and maze of death. On the other side of the house, Gino's bribe rounded out a great day of drinking with a great night of eating.

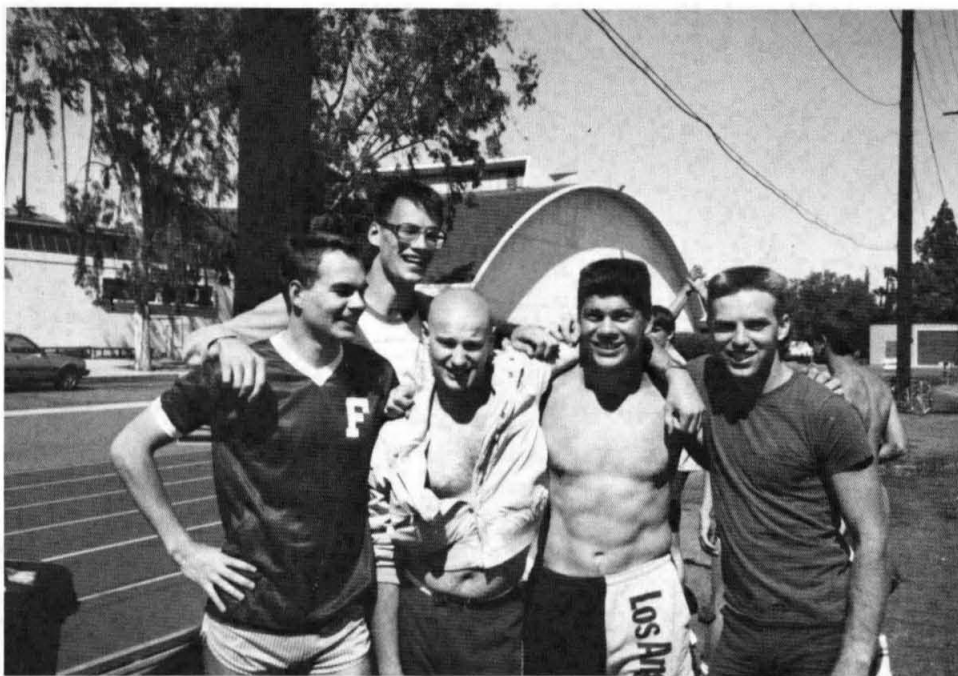

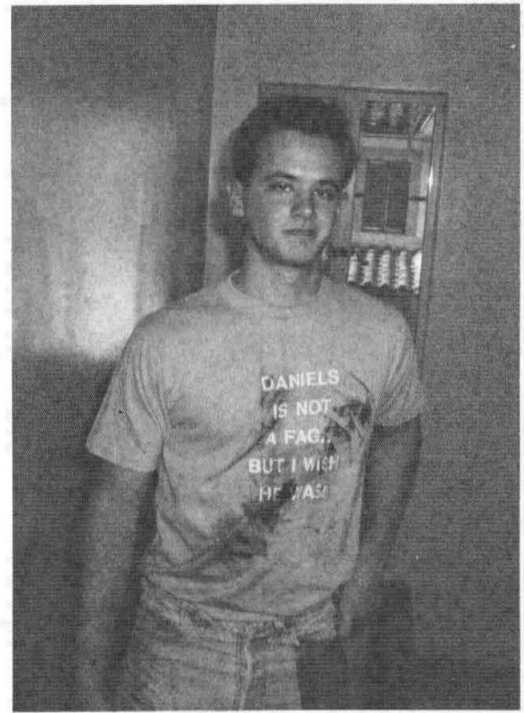

But Ditch Day is not important for the pure fun alone. Think of all the valuable lessons the underclassmen learned this year. For instance, things don't look the same close up as they do from an altitude of 400 miles. What goes up in a rocket must come down, but where it lands, nobody knows. Never use a jelly doughnut when attempting the famous "flying fuck."* Archer and Tetzlaff actually are siamese twins. And finally, just because the seniors let Lloyd Farnham into the Del Mar pool to retrieve an envelope doesn't necessarily mean that they are going to let him out.

*Kurt Vonnegut, Jr., Breakfast of Champions.

Speaking of seniors and parties, upper six parties were in fine form this year. Where else can one find three dozen bottles of champagne and six dozen doughnuts at 8:00 A.M.? Where else can one celebrate 169 days to graduation with two kegs of Heineken? And where else can minors get into the front row of an 8mm porn flick? NOWHERE! Word has it, though, that this is a trend likely to continue well into next year. Instead of 8mm, however, it is rumored that home movies will be shown. Clips such as "Fleming House, and the Bankruptcy thereof" starring Randy Ralph and "Nordstrom Does Wetter" are sure to be box office smashes so reserve your seats now!

The social team is apparently in love with the senior class; it just keeps holding events for the seniors to win. First was Road Rally, then the J.D. Treasure Hunt, and finally a Scavenger Hunt. Although Amezcua did bring in an impressive Union Jack, it was not enough to beat the Roman Pillars "borrowed" by the God team of Slovik, Daniels, Ross, and Seed.

Olympiads, gotta love them. As if Outdoor Olympiad wasn't gruelling enough, put a three-and-a-half hour ultimate game against Ruddock right in the middle. After dealing a crushing defeat to the Rudds, Outdoor continued on its merry way with the juniors emerging victorious in the end.

Indoor O"limp"iad was a different story. The seniors won four of five events, but due to the infinite mass, I mean wisdom, of Brian Biswell, the official mascot of the Republican Party, I mean the official IACCOFH, the seniors were disqualified in one event and dropped back a place in another. This allowed the juniors to slime into first place overall.

Too much of a good thing just doesn't apply to trophies. For the third year in a row, Fleming hosted Animal Meal. If it weren't for the necessary engraving, we could just have the Interhouse Trophy mounted on our mantelpiece. It never moves, and that's the way we like it. Winning both Interhouse and Discobolus is a habit Fleming won't break for many years to come. And who knows, if Fleming is lucky, the Class of '91 will be just like the Class of '88. We'll miss them all. (sob)

We were asked two weeks ago to write this section for the yearbook. We left it up to the last minute, but luckily enough, this is Sunday, and 60 Minutes had a feature on Lloyd House, of all places. Here it is in its entirety...

Potato Interhouse: What happened to it? A panel discussion on house elections. Hi, I'm Morley Safer, I'm Harry Reasoner, I'm Diane Sawyer, and I'm Mike Wallace. Ed Bradley moved to Ruddock. These stories and more, plus a few minutes with Andy Rooney, tonight on 60 Minutes.

First, a mystery. Potato Interhouse. What happened to it? Day 1: enthusiastic response. Day 2: everyone "changed their mind." Was this really the work of a hidden conspiracy? And what happened to Work Chairman Rhonda Stroud and the laundered money? Is this why Spudkank didn't show up on Bassoon Day? We first talked to Rob Jarecki, the man behind the plan.

Wallace: Why Potato Interhouse? What gave you such a bizarre idea?

Jarecki: Oh, I don't know. It's just such a beauty. We were thinking potato everything. Potato shakes, potato toss, a big potato in the courtyard, and there's just so much you could do with it. There could be this scientific ode to the potato, nature's energy pod, and I ...

Wallace [interrupting]: OK, we get the picture, Mr. Jarecki. But let me ask you: Do you have any idea why public opinion was turned around so quickly?

Jarecki [suddenly grave]: Get out of my house!

All of the evidence was covered up so well that perhaps we will never know what happened to Potato Interhouse. We, here at 60 Minutes, tried to contact all those who had originally voted for Potato Interhouse who later voted for Nazi Interhouse, but we could not get them to speak. Lloyd House, once a forum for new ideas, has become a nation of fear. Perhaps it had something to do with Eric Kassan and the tons of sand he placed in the alley. Was he a mere puppet of the masterminds, or was his gesture an individual cry for independence?

Our next story is a timely one: the election. What do the results of the election tell us about the house today? How is it different from the house in years past? We've asked the House's top political analysts here to discuss this very issue.

Safer: So, what do you think of the new officers?

Lev Nayvelt: I think there are serious problems with the Jeitner administration. For one thing, his mangling of the Constitution is a clear abuse of power.

Raif Majeed: No, you are mistaken. Dave gave the House what it needed, a return to good old-fashioned conservative values.

Carol Choy: I think Dave looks at his responsibilities too seriously. He should have a wild, fun side.

Ian Dutton: Boy, I certainly am a punker. Yup, I sure am. Just look at my hair.

Alan Golightly: Gee, it's hot in here. [laughs the laugh of the truly carefree, and rips his shirt off.]

Tom Capellari: Ever tried to fix a 455 with a cracked engine block?

Safer: I don't see how that relates to ...

Frank Kim: What was that thing about Potato Interhouse?

Bassem Mora [entering late]: The waiters are wimps! I can't believe how lame they are!

[chaos ensues]

We hope this gives you a clearer portrait of politics in Lloyd House.

Our third and final story tonight: a tribute to Jay and Nancy: two people who touched the lives of perhaps hundreds of people. We interviewed Lloyd House members and asked them to tell us a little something about these two.

Jeff "Chimey" Tseng: Jay was able to show me that life is not just a big party, and that there is a serious side to things.

Doug Peterson: Without Giezeball, my life would be empty. Bonus indoor sports action. And besides, if it wasn't for this game, we couldn't call Larry Ahle "The Commissioner".

Alecia Chen: Nancy and Jay were people you could really talk to. Besides, there aren't too many 200 pound men I can drink under the table...

Chandra Raman: I feel close to them, as we were connected by a balcony.

Ken Chaney: Explosive! Gripping! Dynamite! An accurate look into the British rock scene! A must see! I Oh, wait, I thought you said Sid and Nancy...

In all seriousness, I think we are all going to miss Jay and Nancy. Good luck!

Now time for some letters from our viewers. In response to our story Paul Socolow: Christ or Anti-Christ, readers had this to say: ...If Paul Socolow is the Messiah, I prefer the Apocalypse!...

Anh-Tuan Le

...I was perfectly healthy before watching this segment, and now I'm horribly sick. Please, for the safety of your viewers, do not air this piece again....

John Haba

...He is my roommate, and I now love him more than ever. Thank you for airing this touching piece.

Steve McLaughlin

And now, a few minutes with Andy Rooney.

Ever notice that this year wasn't like other years? Who the hell is Bob Oliver? They say he was our MOSH, but I certainly haven't seen him. Maybe he's dead. Doug Chang isn't dead, but how would we know? He doesn't sweat, and he doesn't even breathe. Come to think of it, neither does Kurt Storm. And what about Curt Hagenlocher? The only time he fit in really well was Nazi Interhouse. And what's a Kick Out? Does this mean Chris Cheung will "kick out" the shed door? Why didn't we go over to Chris Cheung's house and kick out windows at the Corona Party? My guess is that nobody was really sober enough to do it. And speaking of drinking, what could be better than the six pack of generic beer at the Halloween Party? Airband happened. Inferno won. Inferno always wins. By the way, do women really like it when Jack Prater tugs on their shirts? I don't remember things like this happening before. Maybe it's because it's a leap year.

That's all we have time for this week. I'm Diane Sawyer. For all of us at 60 Minutes, good night.

Frankly, we think this is the year we will remember the most, just because it came last.

"Truly, this must be the social Mecca of the Western World."

The Adventure Begins...

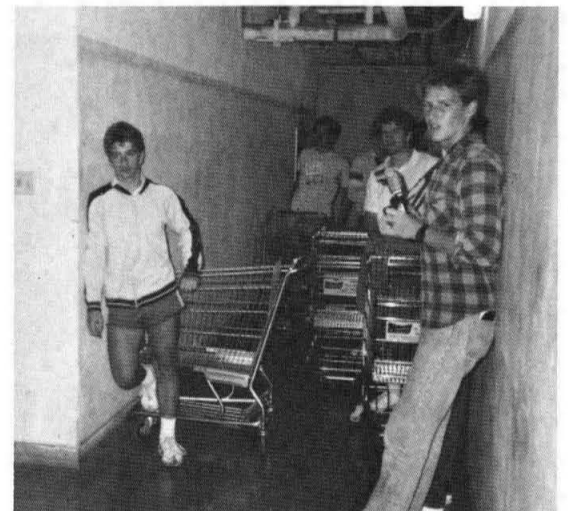

Once again, Page House is inflicted with the lamest bunch of Frosh anyone can remember. So how do you elevate a wimpy frosh from his low rung on the evolutionary ladder to the near demi-god status of your average Pageboy? Well, first, you give them the Standard Showering Safety Lecture (with compulsory demonstrations), to build endurance and upper body strength and insure proper hygiene. Then, you give them the house-bell and tell them to guard it with their lives, to teach them responsibility. Next, you let them take charge of Interhouse, to increase self-confidence and encourage class unity. Finally, you take them on a mountain jaunt. The new Pageboys are chosen from the survivors....

• INTERHOUSE •

The 1987 Page Interhouse was even more outrageous than usual. It's not often that the Pasadena Police show up at a party three days before the keg is tapped.

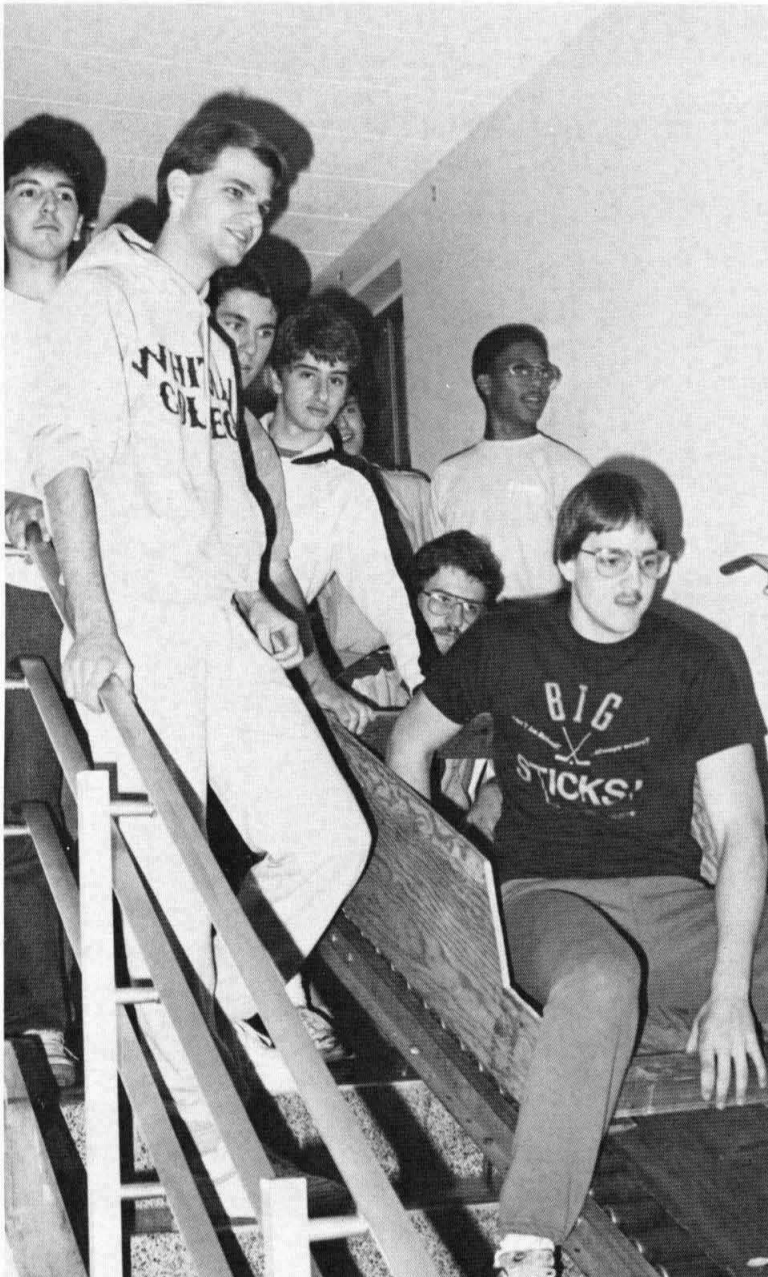

After the usual humorous suggestions and useless arguments we finally chose the old New Orleans Mardi Gras theme for our party. The best features of this theme were its originality and free structure, meaning no-one else had done this within the last few years and we could fit the ride into it. But best of all, we could really fake it because no one out here knows what Mardi Gras looks like anyway. The usual bunch of frosh jumped up and down and waved their arms in the air in their eagerness to be a part of this ambitious project, then promptly sat down and talked about it for a month.

For weeks before the main event, the unofficial house sport was Alley Roller-Surfing on the 200 feet of conveyor belt rollers filling the upper and lower long hallways. Day and night, the thunderous sound of hundreds of little ball-bearings rolling away drove the residents of the targeted alleys crazy. This was the birth of the infamously Awesome Gravity Free-Fall Roller-Coaster. Unfortunately, it failed a last minute safety check (as well as an inspection by the Pasadena Fire Marshal.)

Interhouse Saturday morning found the Ride Committee with the results of the fire inspection all over the courtyard and the Decorations Committee with little more than a paper-mache dragon's head and a few tons of rotting vegetation from the dumpsters of B & G. With a near Herculean effort by the frosh, we managed to slap together the Four-Man-Double-Width-Slide-For-Life (which deposited its victims mysteriously in front of the bar). This version of our earlier Ride withstood close inspection by excited joy-seekers and intoxicated safety inspectors. Add to that some nifty decor, and voilá, something that couldn't be passed up. Even Saint Gumby and a slightly lazy dragon also made a surprise guest appearance. But, before anyone could thank them for coming, Saint Gumby had left, reportedly in the company of several lovelorn high school teenagers.

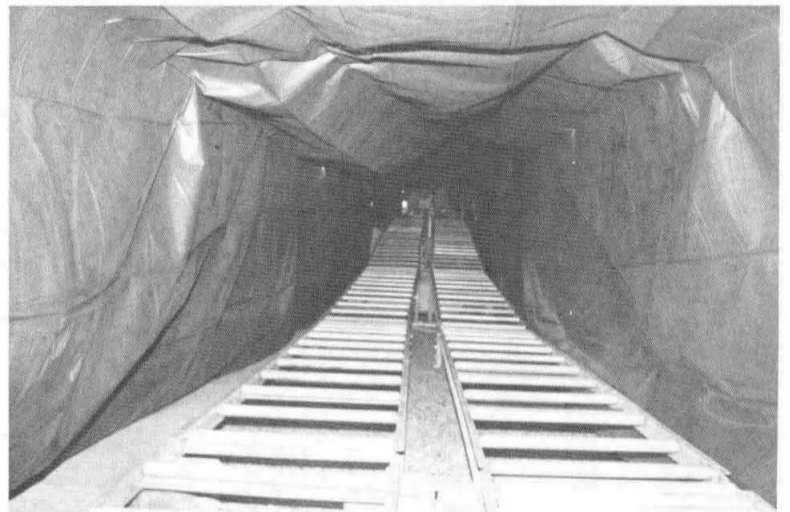

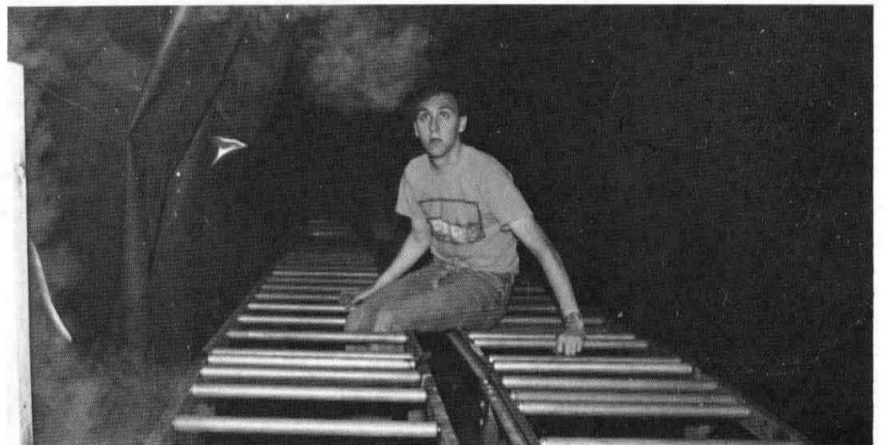

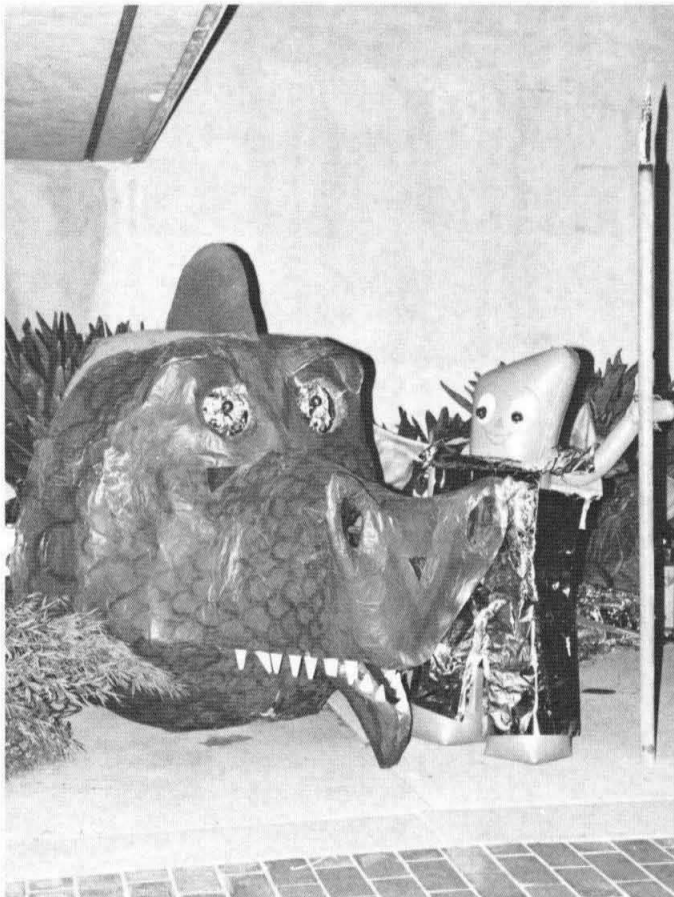

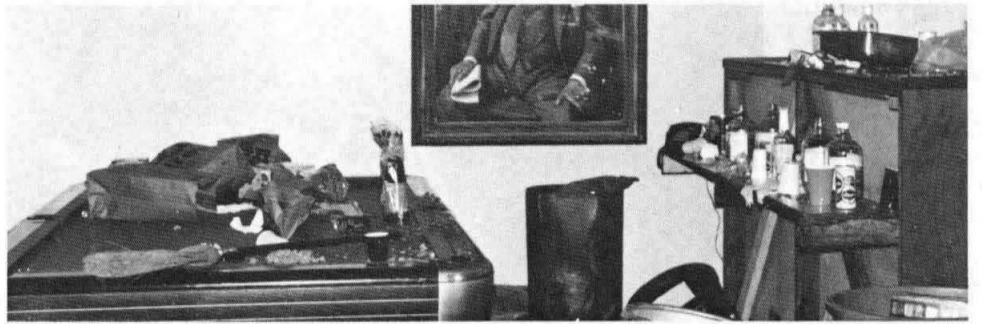

Oh well, you can't win them all.

Social Events

Page had a good number of social events this year, but it seems everyone was partying it up so much they forgot to take pictures. At least here we have a few snaps of "The Wet Napkin War" at Farrell's and A Day at the Santa Anita Racetrack. But let us not forget those 130 mph Tommy's Runs (Page mourns the loss of the Ascit Van), Saturday Night VCR Theatre, multi-house parties, trips to Golf n' Stuff, Westwood, the Icehouse and other random events. We'll have to "work" hard to top this year's fun-filled flicks.

RUDDOCK HOUSE

HOME OF GODS, WARRIORS...

THE TOP TEN THINGS THAT HAPPENED AT RUDDOCK HOUSE

10. The GAAC, or Grand Amalgamated Alley Challenge, was VP Joe Fierro's creation this year. Events included an obstacle course, picking pennies out of Millikan Pond blindfolded, and dodgeball. When the dust settled, Ruddock had a ranking for its alleys, and thus began the year's alley challenges.

9. First term ended with a Secret Santa/Satan party. Gifts were exchanged, to the delight of some and the disgust of others. Ron Rogge was Santa and Satan was played by none other than Milton Tinkoff.

8. Newly elected librarian Ted Mylnar began his term of office by organizing the annual Frosh Party. The theme this year was The Flintstones and decorations included a lifesize Dino the Dinosaur.

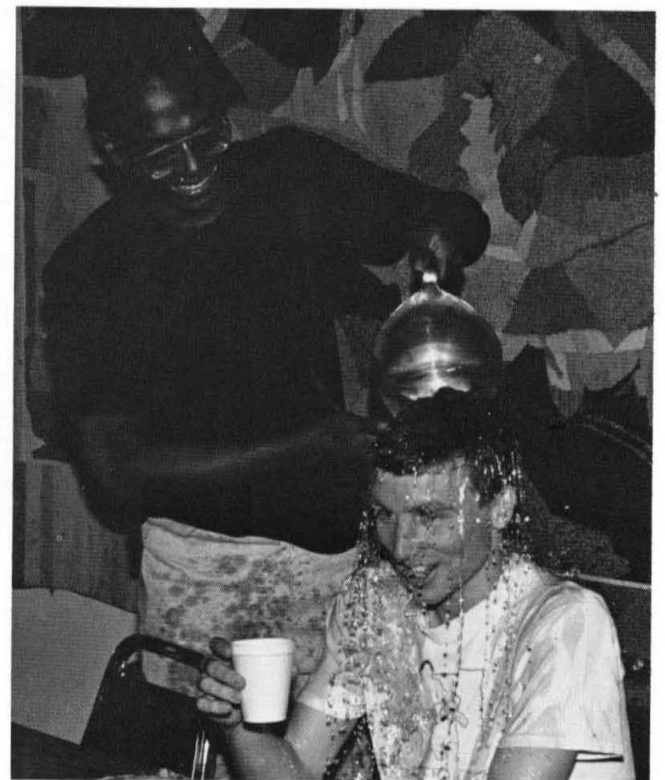

7. Discobulus was fun but the all important first place eluded us. The last chance we had was the ultimate game against the Flems, but due to some unknown conspiracy that game was lost. Just wait until next year.

6. Winter term started off, appropriately enough, with a ski trip to Big Bear. Although we stayed about fifty feet from Snow Summit, most people had to ski at the Goldmine. The jacuzzis were nice though.

5. Soon after the ski trip, Ruddock House had elections. The presidential race was tight and in the end Betsy replaced Wayne as the head honcho, also referred to as BOR. Joe Fierro collected many house offices, but not the ones he wanted. Wayne was duly oceaned at the conclusion of the evening, just after the election of Ted Mylnar as Librarian. Installations came two weeks later and everyone watched the RA's get drunk.

MEN WHO CAN TAKE IT...

AND WOMEN WHO CAN HANDLE IT.

4. The sports machine that Ruddock is took a commanding early lead in Inter-house, building on victories in softball, ultimate, and soccer. But second term saw the lead evaporate due to defeats in basketball, volleyball, track and later tennis. Perhaps the conspiracy was more widespread than previously suspected.

3. The year started with Rotation. Joe was in charge and the meetings were fun. After silacting a pretty good hand of frosh, we entered Hassle Week. The frosh began as lamely as could be expected and wore their hats and carried their catalogues until they finally figured out that they had to get the pledgemaster. By that time, however, Blake was snug in his hiding place (the Ath field) while about eighty freshmen and sophomores sat on Scot Wolfe at the Court of Mann.

2. Senior Ditch Day was pretty interesting. If you weren't around, here is what you missed:

- a. Betsy waking up Hungse.
- b. Ed Mao acting like Jane Fonda.
- c. Ed Mao acting like Boss Hog.
- d. Several immortals roaming around campus chopping people in half.
- e. Milton getting a taste of what the president is really like, and not liking it.
- f. Nik Joshi performing in his birthday suit for one John Joesephson.
- g. Earl Tom and Joe "Pepe" Fierro skiing down San Pasqual.
- h. Enraged guards at the Norton Simon Museum reminding us that fine art should not be climbed.

Other than that, Duppy and Munir almost picked up some babes with the FT, but didn't. Also, the Mike Warren/Geoffrey Fox stack kept a lot of people occupied in the Alley 4 computer room. All stacks were finally broken, though, except the

After the Monster of Neurobiology scared everyone by doing something involving noodle snorting and a lot of blood, however, we decided to let him in. All in all everyone had a pretty food time except Hungse, who had a ty day.

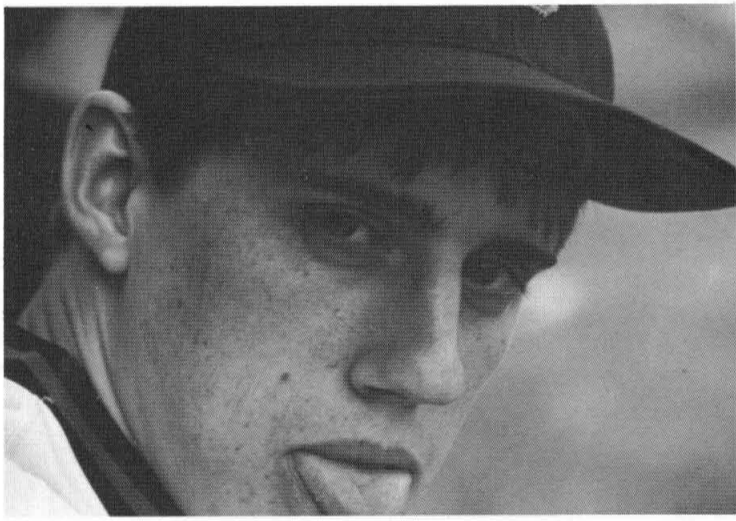

1. The creative genius of Ruddock was best seen at the Interhouse Party. Grand Dragon Betsy and her iguanas put together the awesome Hard Rudd Cafe, complete with pink Cad and T-shirts. Junior Mints and the Dukes of Soul alternated with Collector's Item in providing musical entertainment. If you weren't there, you don't deserve to live.

A lot of other stuff happened of course, all of it fun. Congrats to the Ruddock seniors, and we'll see just about everyone else next year.

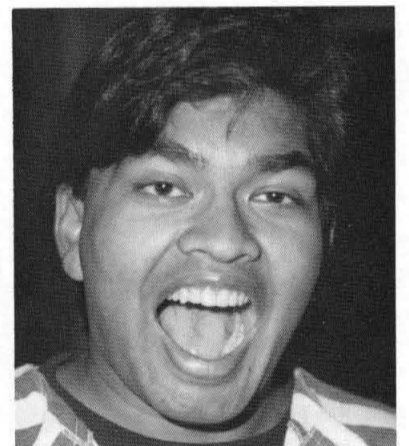

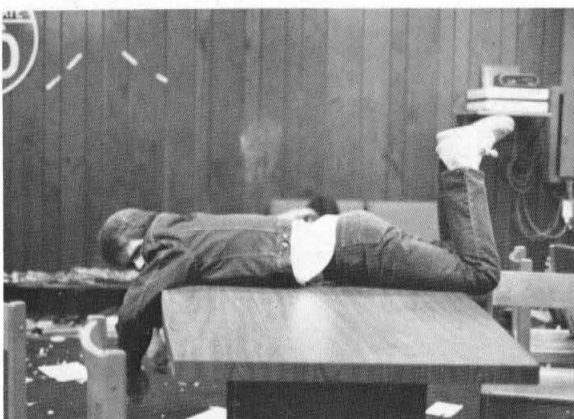

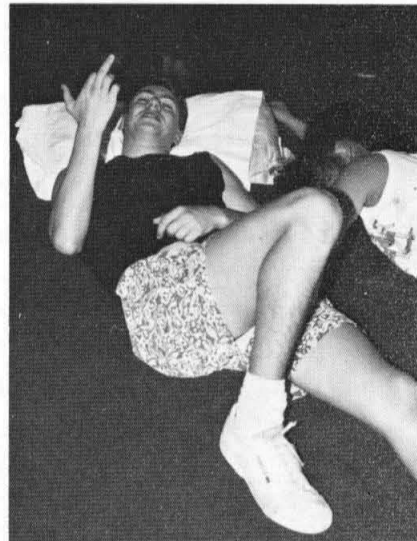

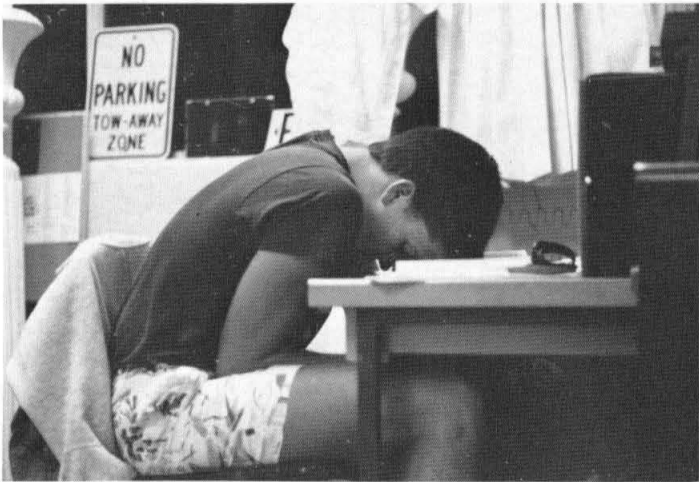

Thanks to Hung, Jeff and Munir, and to everyone else who helped.

RICKE IS

Welcome aboard the SS Ricketts, one of the many derelict properties acquired by Ricketts Hovse since our noted take over of South Ricketts last year. During our penultimate voyage in 1987, our fearless captain Wack-A-Doo Dave added Squeebinachi House and Gallililoopoulus House to the Ricketts Empire, and snuffed out two violent Rotation Week secession attempts by Snake Alley. The Battle of Snake House, as it has come to be called, unfortunately resulted in numerous injuries, which throughout the year have plagued Scurves Joltin' Jed Lengyel, Nicole Vogt, and Corbet Wilcox, and Snake inhabitants and sympathizers Laura Anderson, Laura Smith, and John Raguin with crutches.

Twenty-seven new Scurves boarded the SS Ricketts after Rotation. Though high on popularity from having put down the Snake rebellion, battle-weary Dave Lee's control over Ricketts began to crumble, as he allowed his power-hungry predecessor Sam Weaver to conduct the New Frosh Trivia Quiz. By November, he was forced to abandon the SS Ricketts and begin anew as captain of the Scurvy Princess.

In November, the Scurvy Princess began its maiden voyage down the Ol' Mississippi, as Ricketts Hovse tested its renovated courtyard drainage system for Interhouse. The drains worked so well that eighty foot high walls will be built around Ricketts Courtyard for next year's Interhouse theme, Tsunami. The maiden voyage of the Scurvy Princess was highly successful, and reaffirmed our faith in Dave Lee Pin's administration. A Dixieland band, gambling lounge, and cajun buffet provided entertainment and food on board.

After three long, grueling months at sea, the crew of the Scurvy Princess stole the closet doors from the rooms of all the first year crew members, and vacationed in France, where we saw Junior Mince and the Dukes of Soul. Wary of being seen not doing homework, we masqueraded as apache, but our leader David Lipin was caught anyway. He shortly thereafter retired as captain of the Scurvy Princess.

Elections to fill the vacant post were promptly held. Though Dave tried to run the elections, he was removed from the room, as his ruthless predecessor Sam Weaver cried "I want the gavel back." But Sam was no match for Tom Trome, whose platform "shorter dinners and fewer rules" spurred him into office. To calls of "Shroom! Shroom! Shroom! Shroom!" Tom took the gavel and appointed fellow Inside World writers and a few others to minor offices. Michael Meckler, disappointed at not having been appointed to an office, took off for Washington D.C., and returned as House Mac Freak.

Captain Shroom set sail for nowhere. Along the way, he found the long forgotten Ricketts Hovse Brakedrum, which he hid in hyperspace for the rest of the year. It was never heard from again. Senior crew members were not content with Shroom's rule for long, and abandoned ship for a day in May. To restore their confidence in Shroom's rule, they demanded that the rest of the crew kill their sworn enemy Wesley Crusher. Though Shroom protested "I'm a mushroom, not a warrior!" the crew successfully completed its task. With an iron fist, Shroom saw to it that the seniors would never rebel again by giving them one month to abandon the ship, or walk the plank.

CHEERS !!!

With its jumping, shouting, and flashing colors, the sport of cheerleading returned once again to Caltech. This small group of students carried their enthusiasm on and off court. Hours of practice and patience were spent drilling cheers, stunts, and pyramids in preparation for the unveiling of the "new and improved" version of Caltech cheer-leading. Further improving their skills, several team members attended a summer camp at UCLA. They showed all what spirit meant.

Captains David and Emily wow the audience with a death-defying stunt!

In a last minute huddle, Ellen reminds the squad to smile.

What We Do

Recreation

The Caltech Y produced a wide variety of relaxing programs, from the pre-finals "Decompression" parties, "Wednesday Night at the Y" Movies and periodic music concerts to picnic-dinner rock (and other) performances, special contests and even a spring fling to Mazatlán.

Outdoor Adventure

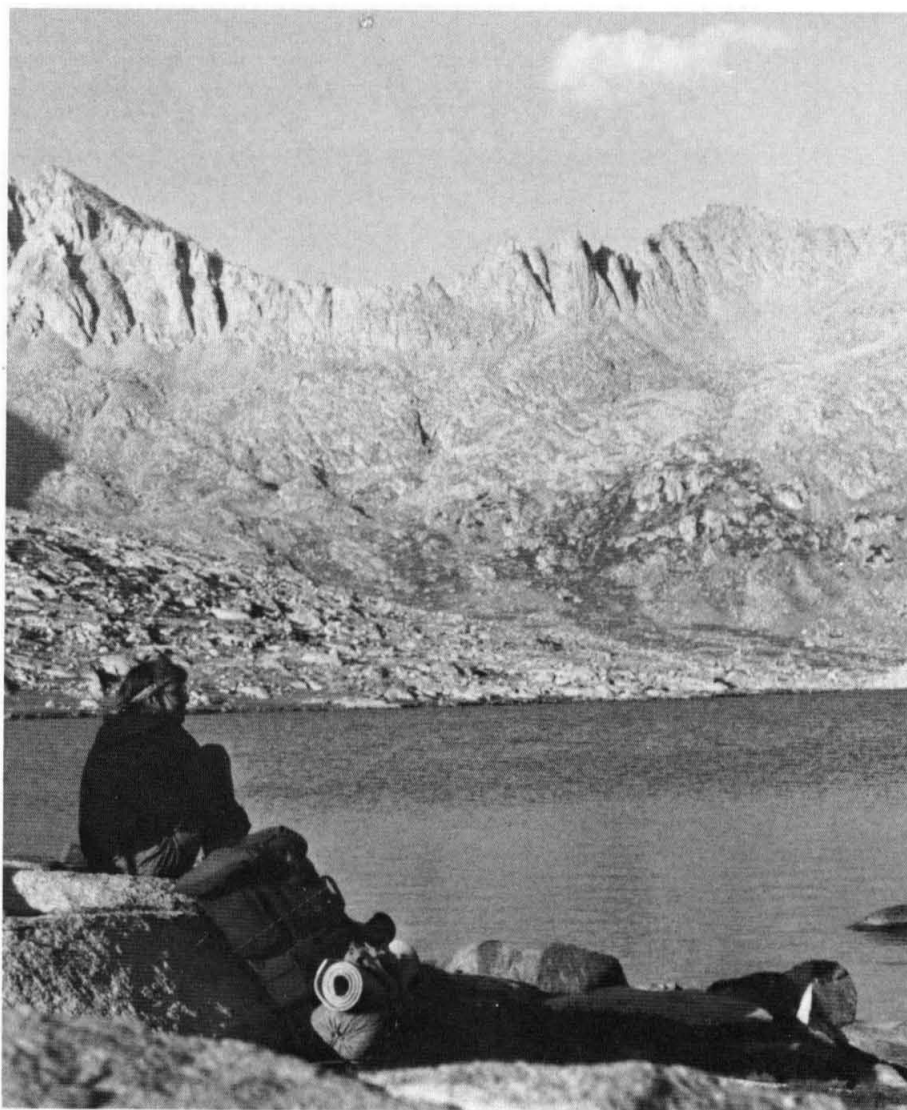

Between backpacks in the fall to the High Sierras and in the spring to the Grand Canyon and winter ski trips to mammoth mountain with its excellent alpine and backcountry skiing the wilderness adventurer was never bored with us! In addition to organized programs, information like maps and guides helped you plan your own adventure. Also, day sails on the Pacific and morning horseback rides at local ranches filled many empty weekends, while local hikes in the mountains kept you in good shape.

Leadership Development

Conversations with successful leaders in the business and academic communities provided deep insights into the real keys to success. The Caltech Y arranged roundtable discussions, lunches at the Athenaeum, a variety of programs on entrepreneurs in business and an annual Leadership Development Workshop where hands-on leadership skills were honed. The Excomm with its place on the Caltech Y Board of Directors provided an excellent forum for gaining practical leadership experience.

Explorations

Panels, presentations, discussions and dinners with noteworthy people who offered enlightening views on foreign policy, feminism, environmental conservation, racism, human sexuality, science in society, business and other topics of current interest to students added a new dimension to the Caltech education.

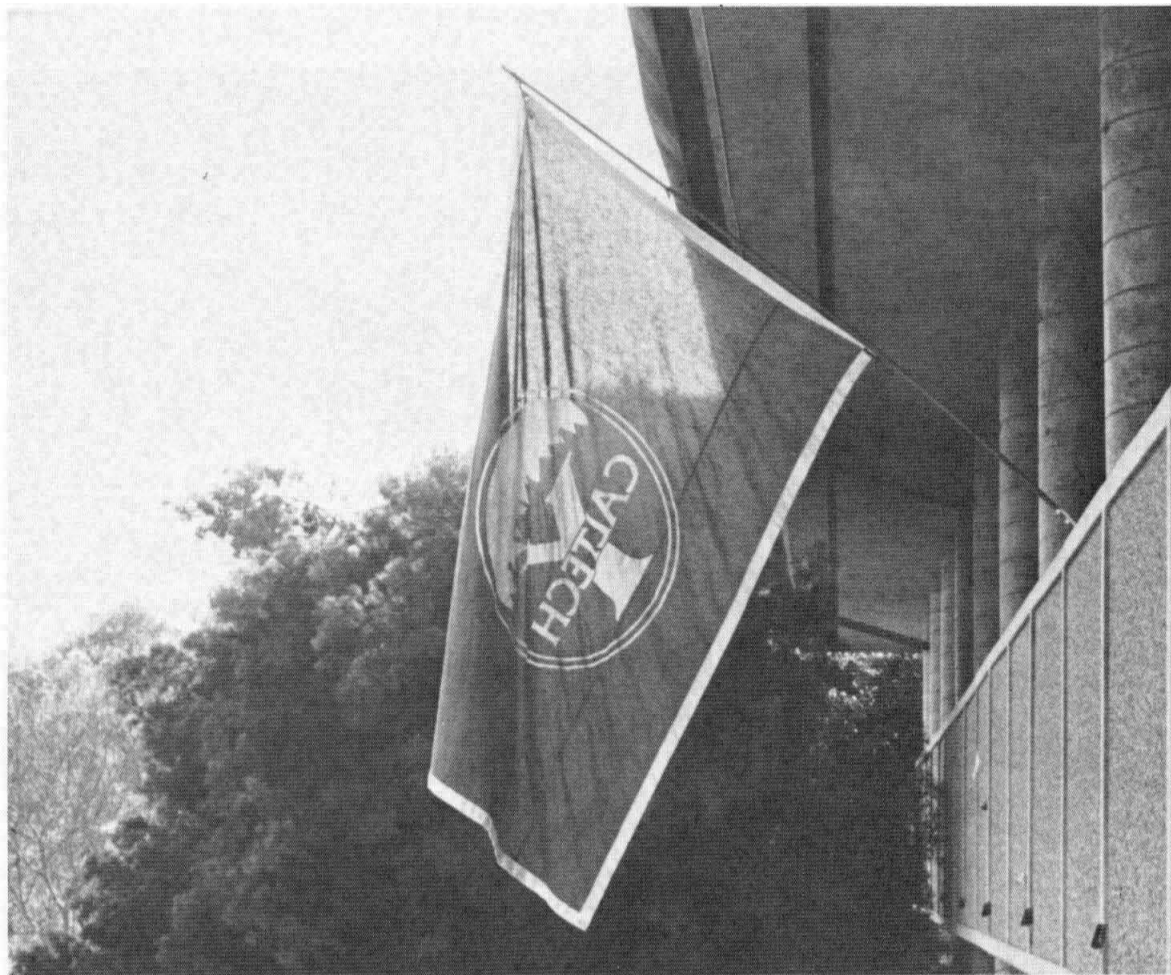

The Fall Backpack trip is growing in popularity. From thirty to forty to this year's crowd of over fifty hikers, there soon won't be enough trails for everyone to hike. Fortunately all fifty hikers found their way through the Sierras and had a great time continuing one of the oldest Y traditions.

Jelen, Excomm President.
Not pictured: Peter Capofreddi, John Cordes, Selena Forman, Robby Robb, Marty O'Brien, Mike Goedecke and Christina Garden and Raymond Moberly.

The Caltech Y has helped better student life since 1916. For many of those years the Y Flag has been a familiar sight, waving a friendly hello to passers by and reminding them of the wonderful opportunities available in the Y office. The Y produces exciting events for all tastes: backpacks to the Sierras, Ski trips to Mammoth Mtn. and an excursion to Mazatlán while providing interesting programs on a myriad of subjects here on campus.

AMETEK Leadership Luncheons, held every term at the Athenaeum, provide a special opportunity to explore leadership ideas before hitting the outside world.

The Vietnamese Student Association at Caltech, which met for the first time in early 1987, is little more than a group of friends getting together regularly for a few hours of songs and laughter. Occasionally, we all pitch in to do something serious like rolling eggrolls for International Day, putting out a neat publication, or tutoring students from nearby schools. But mostly, we celebrate each other's birthdays and graduations, go to picnics, eat junk food, and joke around. A Yosemite trip is planned for the summer, followed by a big picnic with VSA of nearby colleges.

The club basically provides a friendly, informal atmosphere where Vietnamese students can meet to talk, sing, play, and polish their Vietnamese. In short, the VSA allows us to maintain our cultural heritage as well as share it with the rest of the Caltech community.

A Life in the Theatre

A Play By David Mamet

T.A.C.I.T. Presents ... an alternative to the labs... a different sort of elegant solution... What is theater? It's two planks and a passion... a cast of two... a cast of thousands... It's a LIFE IN THE THEATER with Dave Stevens vis a vis Al Hibbs... Ross Sweeps... Dave Sonneborn pulls ropes... Vicky signs in... Don H. signs out... Dave Long provides suction... Glen provides light!... Roberta posts AIDS bulletins... Mike R. blares "La Marseillaise." Theater at Caltech, life in the trenches... The infamous lifeboat... the bare stage... It's pot luck... fight workshops with Berkeley Shakespeare and mime workshops with the S.F. Mime Troupe... it's workcalls... and our very own house! Will it ever have phones? heat? outdoor lights? a sprinkler system? Question: "Maneesh, how do you get girls in high heels and pink dresses to stand around upside-down with their hands in the mud?" Answer: "Very easily." Will the pool hold water? Will the swings hold kids?... more pot luck... It's OLIVER!... and sold-out houses... a new light board... cordless mics... the compressor!... Roberta recruiting... Mike bongs Big Ben as Simon bashes Diana... Amanda goes mad... terrific falls and fights courtesy Chris M.

Theatre Arts At The California Institute Of Technology Presents

... Blood! more blood... It's Jim T. in a plaid suit and Pamela with a parasol... Maureen, Jean, and Lisa pulling clothes together and making 'em fit... six-foot-six workhouse brats and girls dressed up as boys... Mike M. lives it up 'till Susan snags his ear... Mary Ann helps out in Makeup Alley... its Ernst and Rosemary and German meatballs... Mike P. engaged to Karen... Elizaberry flirting with Dean Lorden... Steve and Steve as Dodge and Charlie (come back, you two, and play again)... Ross, Katrin, and Maneesh in trio... Patty's choreograph... Dave Holcenberg's smile and great orchestra... It's Alan dancing... Heide's red roses.. Miwa's sweet strawberries... Fagin and his gang... up the catwalk, over the catwalk, hoorah! for the catwalk and that Dickens of a set... Simon swaggers... Doug staggers... Don H. begs... Gary F. snows... Alice simpers... Julie squints... Sarah scrubs... the loooooongest curtain call in history, and the best! champagne on stage opening night... and T.A.C.I.T. '88 toasts absent friends... and the future.

It's a few tears... a little honest sweat... and a lot of fun. Remember, theater is good for you.

We dedicate this show to our beloved

RICHARD P. FEYNMAN

The Caltech Service League was founded in 1947 for the purpose of promoting the welfare and happiness of Caltech students. Many of the members are parents of current or former Caltech students, or are families of staff members of Caltech or JPL, but any person sympathetic to students is cordially invited to join.

Some of the League's contributions to the Caltech community this last year includes:

Freshman Parents' Day

In cooperation with the Institute, the Service League sponsors a freshman parents' day, an orientation program to introduce freshman parents to the Caltech community. This all-day event features a panel discussion, lunch, a tour of the campus and a tea.

Student Activities

The League gives financial aid to student groups such as the Glee Club, various instrumental groups, the ASCIT drama production, the California Tech, the little t, the Big T, and the Caltech Y.

Decompression Evenings

In cooperation with the Caltech Y, the Service League has helped with "Decompression Evenings," an open house in Winnett Student Center during each of the final examination periods. All students are invited to take a break from study and drop in for conversation, music, games and a snack. Ther Service League gives a financial donation toward the supply of food, such as milk, fresh fruit and vegetables.

Thanksgiving Turkeys

During the Thanksgiving Holiday, a roasted turkey is delivered to each student house. Some financial donation is given toward a dinner in the co-op houses.

Health Center

To make a student's stay more pleasant, the Service League provides items such as juices, soups, robes, pajamas, newspapers and magazines, and occasionally, such things as heating pads. A microwave oven was donated in memory of Doris DuBridge. Members also assist the Health Center staff on occasions such as the flu clinic when volunteer workers are needed.

Christmas Boxes

The League places in each student house a large box of homemade cookies and other treats for the students who remain on campus during the Christmas holiday.

Well Baby Clinic

Children up to age two of students and research fellows may receive checkups and immunization free of charge at this clinic.

Baby Furniture

Students may borrow cribs, strollers and other equipment needed by their small children. If the supply is large enough, research fellows and visitors to the Institute may also use this equipment.

Plant and Bake Sale

To augment its income, the Service League holds Plant and Bake Sales throughout the year.

Those interested in joining the Caltech Service League or who have suggestions about how they can be of help to students can contact the Service League by writing to:

THE TIME
NEAR FUTURE
THE PLACE
MARS
JPL's

For three decades, JPL has led the world into deep space. We sent Rangers and Surveyors to the Moon, Mariners to Mercury, Venus and Mars, and Voyagers to Uranus and beyond.

Today, we're laying the groundwork for future history-making ventures. We are developing projects in automation and robotics to put smart machines on other planets — such as a rover sample return mission to Mars. In addition, we're pursuing technologies in a variety of disciplines, from optical spacecraft communication to microelectronics to support a host of other solar system missions.

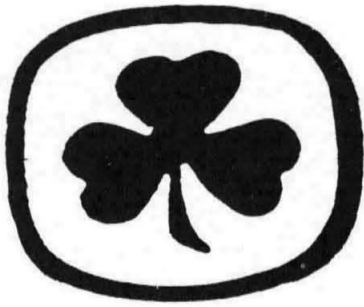

If you're a graduating engineer or scientist, find out if you belong among the history makers at JPL by sending your resume to:

Everyone knows that Caltech is without peer as an institution, a community, a way of doing things. Who's the best for audio? video? computers? GNP. Stores founded by Caltech students and grads. The connection makes a difference—and it's the way we do business, too. We continue to offer discounts to the Caltech community, past and present. Our eight years of service and support are unparalleled by others. And we have a most knowledgeable staff, ready to answer your questions in a comfortable and relaxed atmosphere.

Please come see us on the corners of Chester and Colorado. Our Audio/Video salon, GNPAudioVideo, at 1244 E. Colorado Boulevard—and our new expanded computer store, GNPComputers, three doors down at 1254 East Colorado. We won't burden you with high pressure sales, midterms, or useless stacks (of information).

Come see us. We look forward to serving you.

Sandia National Laboratories has career opportunities for outstanding MS & PhD candidates in engineering & the physical sciences. One of the nation's largest multi-program laboratories, Sandia is engaged in research & development, addressing important national security issues with emphasis on nuclear weapons, advanced energy systems & related technologies. Challenging assignments exist in such areas as the application of intense ion beams to inertial confinement fusion; use of lasers & other analytical tools to improve understanding of the combustion process; & development of special silicon & hybrid micro circuits for defense & energy programs. Supporting this work is a full complement of modern laboratory equipment & facilities, a large central network of mainline computers, including several CRAY-IS systems & a CRAY-X/MP together with a large number of smaller distributed systems of the VAX II/780 class.

Sandia National Laboratories
an equal opportunity employer

The labs' principal locations—Albuquerque, New Mexico & Livermore, California offer a complete range of cultural & recreational activities combined with the informal living style of the West.

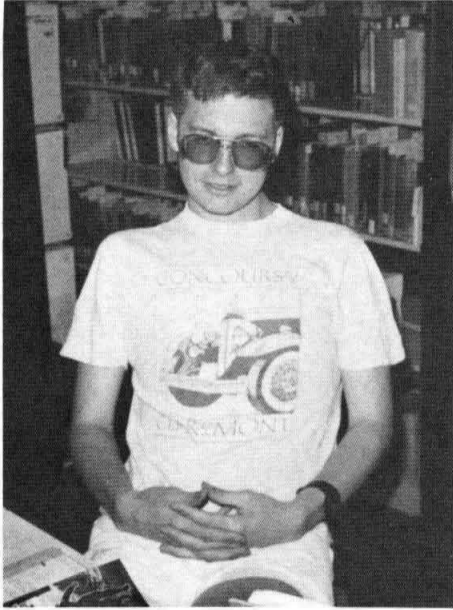

Sandia's benefit package includes paid health care, life insurance, retirement & 24 days vacation. US citizenship is required. Qualified candidates

The Big T is the yearbook of ASCIT, the Associated Students of the California Institute of Technology. Nine hundred copies of the 1988 Big T were printed on 80-pound paper stock by JOSTENS Printing and Publishing Division of Visalia, California. Scheduled date of shipment of the 256-page Big T is September 26, 1988. The Big T might even make it in time for Registration, a first in at least the last several years...

In addition, the 1988 Big T contains triple the number of color pages present in previous editions. In fact, many third-term campus events are in color for the first time, including the ASCIT Formal, Ditch Day, Alumni Day, International Day, Sports Day, and Commencement! This was made possible by a combination of a $5,000 surplus from last year's Big T, an excellent printing contract from JOSTENS, and an increased ad revenue. It is further projected that this year's edition will repeat back-to-back with another surplus, a first as far as we know...

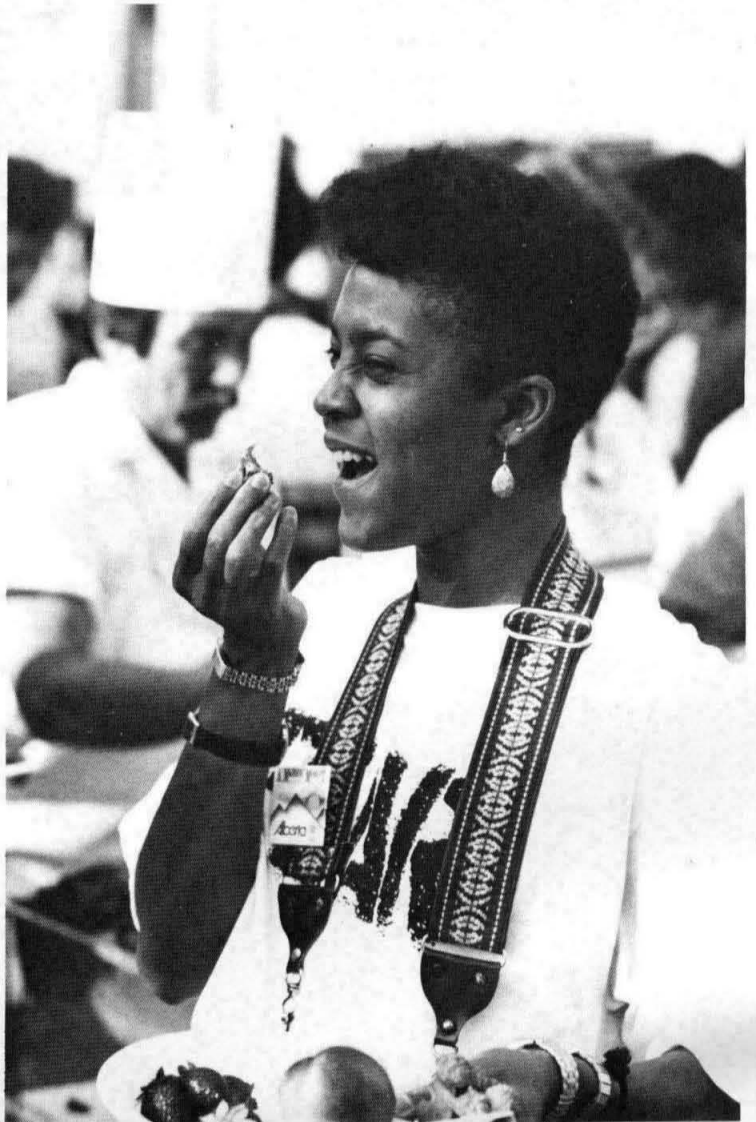

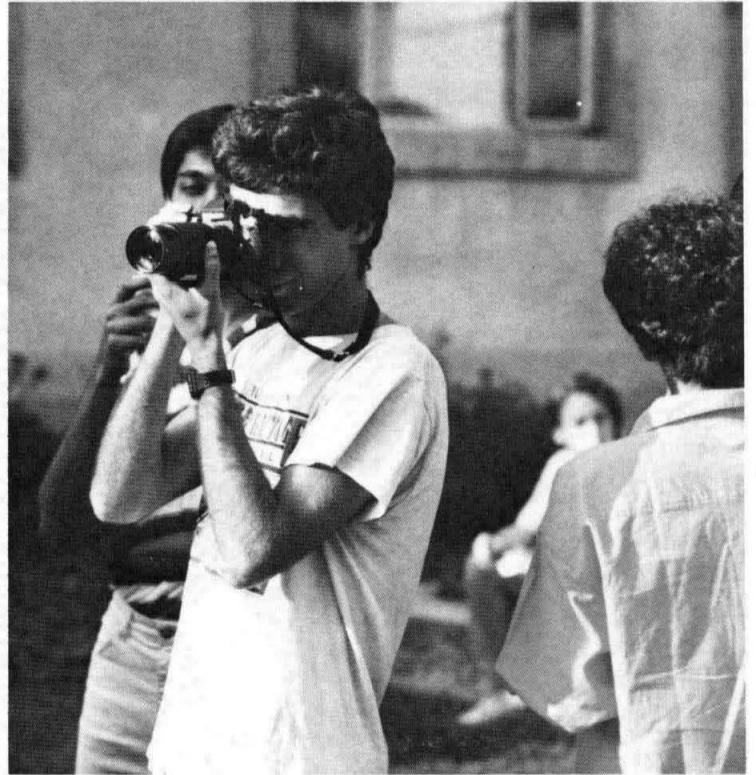

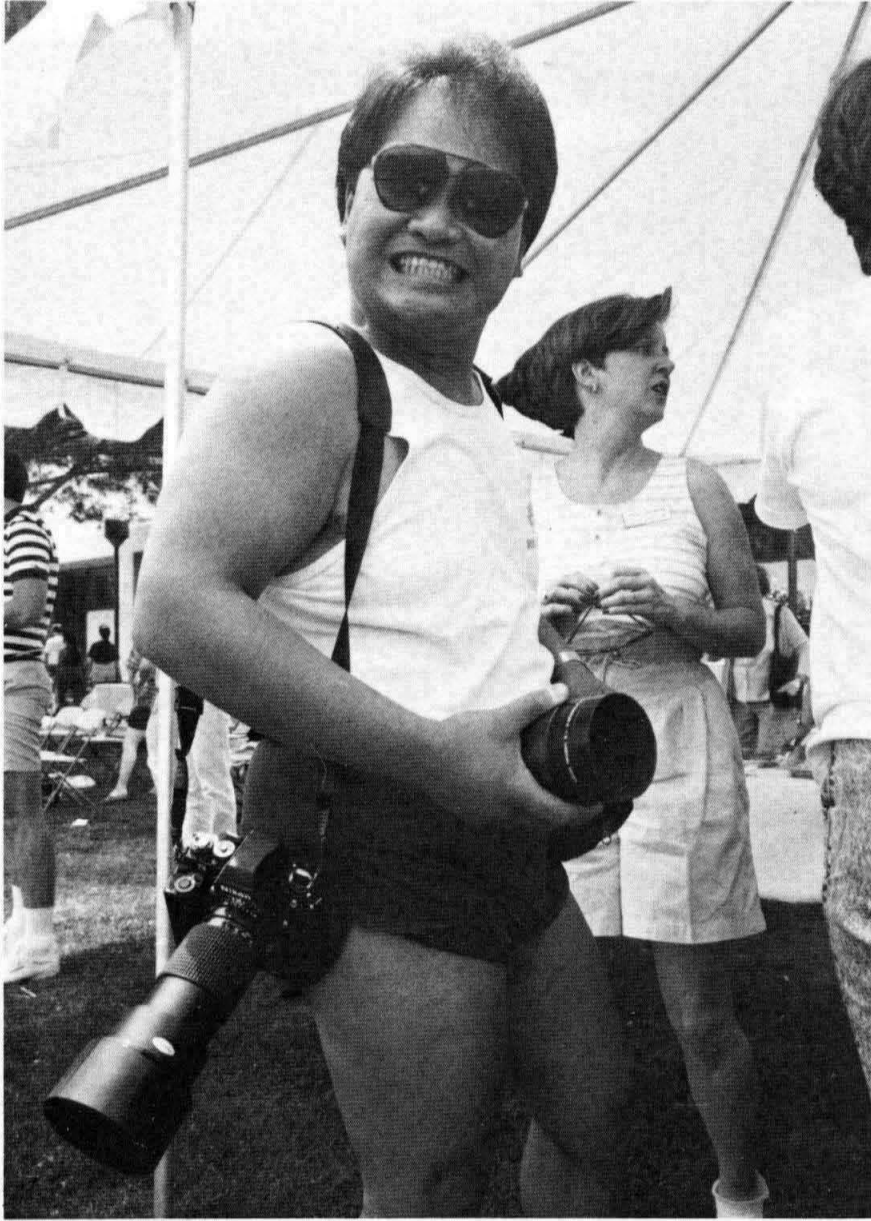

Furthermore, we would like to thank all our advertisers this year, both off- and on-campus. In fact, we would like to join with our campus advertisers in congratulating all of 1988's graduating Seniors, wishing them the best of luck in the years to come. We would also like to thank ASCIT and the President's Office for their continued support of the Big T. In addition, we would like to thank Jeff Rasmussen, the JOSTENS Representative, for his advice and help. Finally, we would like to thank our families for their encouragement and support throughout.

Before closing, we would like to remember two of our friends, Evan Bak and Peter Lindstrom, whose sudden passing away was a great shock to all of us. Evan and Peter will be remembered by all as two of the kindest, most sincere and humble people at Caltech. Even though they're gone, their memories will live with us throughout our lives. May they rest in peace...

We would like to thank everyone who donated pictures to the BIG T. In addition, we would like to thank all the people at Graphic Arts and Public Relations, without whose help and patience this book could not have been made. We would especially like to acknowledge Bob Paz, Susan Lee, and Barbara Wirick.
