For the military buildup preceding the invasion, see 2021–2022 Russo-Ukrainian crisis.

This article documents a current military offensive. Information may change rapidly as the event progresses, and initial news reports may be unreliable. The latest updates to this article may not reflect the most current information. Feel free to improve this article or discuss changes on the talk page, but please note that updates without valid and reliable references will be removed. (February 2022) \(Learn how and when to remove this template message\)

On 24 February 2022, Russia launched an invasion of Ukraine. The campaign started after a prolonged military buildup, the Russian recognition of the self-proclaimed Donetsk People's Republic and Luhansk People's Republic in the days prior to the invasion, followed by the entrance of the Russian Armed Forces to the Donbas region of Eastern Ukraine on 21 February 2022.

At about 06:00 Moscow time (UTC+3), President Vladimir Putin announced a military operation with the goal of "demilitarization and de-Nazification of Ukraine"; minutes later, missile strikes began at locations across the country, including near the capital Kyiv. Russian forces were confirmed to have invaded Ukraine near Kharkiv, Odessa, and Mariupol, entering from Russia, Belarus, and Crimea.
