Large Vote Expected; Primary Election in Washington State To-morrow

Augusta, Maine, Sept. 8.—This nation watched to-day as Maine voters went to the polls in the biennial state election. Years ago Maine separated the state and national affairs and decided local issues without confusing them with national affairs. Since then in presidential election years Maine has been regarded as a political barometer. A Republican slogan has been "As Maine goes, so goes the nation."

The latest military gesture in China's internal complications will make the territory between Mukden, principal city of Manchuria, and Peking, in Chihli Province, an armed camp, 1,000 miles away from the Shanghai line of warfare.

companionship of young men and on several occasions believed herself to be in love with one of them. CHERISHES MEMORY The intimate thoughts of the little nursemaid were read to Miss Jones, who stoutly stood up for the memory of her friend.

WENT TO CHURCH On Sunday, December 9, Janet recalled that she went to church and sat in an automobile with a nice man until the church doors opened. SAID GOOD-BYE Such are the different entries from day to day until Carl evidently did something that shook her faith.

NERVOUS HERSELF "I was nervous myself and answered only the questions asked me," said witness. "You are just a little nervous or very nervous," asked Mr. Senkler.

KITCHEN WORK There was another reference to the Chinese in the diary, to the effect that Janet had helped him prepare fifty pounds of berries for preserving.

MRS. BAKER TESTIFIED Mrs. P. L. Baker was recalled to the witness stand. She said Janet had never said anything to her that would suggest that she was afraid of the Chinese. Janet had made no complaints to this effect.

HAD CONVERSATION Mrs. Reginald Hamilton was called and she swore she had talked with Mrs. Baker downtown on the morning of the tragedy, as stated by Mrs. Baker in her previous evidence.

kiang troops on their advance west of the lake yesterday. He said they have advanced toward the lake for miles yesterday last night. At 2 p.m. today they were only seven miles from Hing, he declared.

TWO SIDES' CLAIMS A competent eyewitness returning from the Lieuhou front at 10 o'clock this afternoon reported that the Chekiang forces had advanced half a mile south of Lieuhou near the town of Hing.

MADE NEW ATTACK Fighting on the Lieuhou front was suspended for a few hours last night, but started again at 3 a.m. today, continuing two hours.

NO DECISIVE BATTLE Although the invading armies of Chi Shieh-Yuan, Military Governor of Kiangsi Province, have been battling for four days against the defending forces of Lu Yung Hsiang, Military Governor of Chekiang Province, for possession of Shanghai, no decisive battle has been fought.

PROMPTED CHANG'S MOVE Belated official permission of the Peking Government to the invading forces of the Kiangsu Governor to proceed, announced yesterday, was said to have prompted the move on the part of Chang Tao Lin, an ally of Lu Yung Hsiang.

SUN TO JOIN FIGHT From South China reports were received that Dr. Sun Yat Sen was preparing to lend military support to his friend Lu Yung Hsiang in defending Shanghai, and a new army was therefore expected to bob up in the field from the south to-day.

WAITED FOR OPPORTUNITY Stung by his humiliating defeat at the hands of Wu Pei-fu about two years ago when he attempted to invade Chihli Province, in which Peking is located, Chang Tao Lin is known to have been awaiting the present opportunity to bring the old rival in battle again.

SUNDAY'S BATTLES Engagements were reported yesterday on all sectors of the fronts north-west, west and south of Shanghai, including Chang Hsin, in Chekiang Province, about 100 miles west of Shanghai, and Huchuan, in Kiangsu Province, on the west shore of Taihu Lake, 100 miles southwest of Shanghai.

FEW CASUALTIES The Chekiang dead and wounded in Shanghai numbered perhaps 200. The number of Chekiang troops killed out of proportion to the tremendous amount of firing, the eyewitnesses described the haphazard methods on the front line.

CHANGE-OVER REPORTED The Chekiang Lungwha headquarters had not confirmed reports that two whole battalions of Kiangsu troops had deserted and joined the enemy by going with their arms and equipment.

TO SEND POLICE NORTH A Japanese news agency reported that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the Canton Government, and reputed ally of Chang Tao-Lin, because of their common desire to overthrow the Peking regime, was interviewed and declared his intention of starting a northern expedition, leaving Canton for the Kiangsu border to-day to aid the Chekiang army.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—As arrangements stand at present, the Prince of Wales will pay a visit to Montreal before he returns to England. The date is uncertain, but it will be some time in October.

WENT TO SEE FLIERS Syosset, Sept. 8.—The Prince of Wales went to Mitchell Field to-day to witness the arrival of the United States world fliers.

SAW HOUNDS AND HORSES At midday yesterday the Prince went to the Meadowbrook Hunt Club to look at the hounds and the hunters. He saw English hounds, American hound and a pack representing both strains.

EXPRESSED PLEASURE The Prince, whom crowds have surrounded on one or two occasions recently, was said to have been particularly pleased when the band played "Leave Me Alone" just before he left.

QUICK DEPARTURE The get-away from the airport here was accomplished quickly. Returning from a box luncheon, Lieut. Smith and his fellow fliers clambered into their machines, got the word from General Patrick that all was ready and were off.

WHEELS WERE FITTED The work of removing the pontoons and putting on wheels on the planes for sailing on land was completed last evening.

A GREAT RECEPTION The fliers were so much impressed by the reception they were given at Boston Saturday when 40,000 persons massed on the airport field to meet them that they cried, "Major Dargue said three of the men went as he escorted them to a speaking stand."

DISCUSSING LIQUOR VOTE IN ONTARIO

Government and Members of Legislature Debate Form of Ballot

Toronto, Sept. 8.—According to the Toronto Globe to-day, restriction of the Ontario Temperance Act plebiscite questions to one, or the most two questions on the ballot are predicted as the result of the Government's polling of Toronto members' opinions as to what form the vote should take.

Most of the Toronto M.P.'s, it is stated, have intimated to the Government that their districts would be satisfied with one question only.

"Are you in favor of the continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act?"

Others, particularly those in the "wetter" sections, strongly favored the addition of one more question: "Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous liquors under Government control and on Government premises in municipalities asking such sale?"

FAIRLY BEFORE ELECTORS

The Globe says advocates of the one-question plebiscite are impressing upon the Government that the single question would place the issue in fairly and squarely before the electorate, that the "wet" or "dry" issue would stand or fall by the vote upon it, and that in the event of the majority declaring itself opposed to continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act the responsibility of making the necessary change to government control or whatever it deems wisest would be placed upon the Government, where it belongs. Not only Toronto members and not only Conservatives are being queried by the Government as to opinions on the form of ballot, but outside members are also making known their conceptions as to the proper course as well as prominent Liberals throughout the Province and outstanding men in various walks of life.

FOUND TORONTO FAIR A SURPRISE

Sir H. Rew, British Visitor, Speaks of Large Attendance; Commends Exhibits

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The wide scope of the Canadian National Exhibition impressed Sir Henry Rew, noted economist and authority on world food problems, who visited the fair at the conclusion of his tour of the western provinces with the British Association for the Advancement of Science. The livestock on exhibition is equal in excellence to anything I have seen in the Old Country," said Sir Henry. "The fair itself is not the least remarkable of Canadian products. We were struck by the extent to which it portrays national activity, industrially, intellectually and socially. I am amazed by the extent to which it attracts the public."

The economist will visit Government bureaux at Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec before his return to Great Britain.

THINKING THINGS OVER

The scientist spoke for the other members of the British Association when he said: "It is difficult to generalize on what we have seen. We must return and think things over before making pronouncements."

Few of the members from Great Britain who attended last month's meeting are left in Toronto. The bulk of the visitors sailed for England last week, and nearly all who were able to remain are visiting lecturing at universities in the United States. Those who toured the West with the association are unanimous in expressing amazement at the development which has taken place, and in returning thanks for the hospitality extended en route.

M.P.'s of Empire Visited Pretoria

Pretoria, South Africa, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's)—At a luncheon given by the Mayor of Pretoria in honor of the touring Empire Parliamentary Delegation representing Great Britain and the various Dominions except Newfoundland, J. H. Thomas, Colonial Secretary, and Sir Douglas Hogg, Conservative member in the British House of Commons for St. Marylebone, were the speakers for the visiting M.P.'s.

Both Mr. Thomas and Sir Douglas made reference to the elimination of racial feeling in South Africa, which they commended, of course, and Sir Douglas Hogg smilingly referred to the days when he and the Mayor of Johannesburg were chasing each other with rifles. "That was twenty-five years ago," Sir Douglas remarked.

Colonial Secretary Thomas took the Johannesburg Labor organization to task for a resolution which it had passed censuring him because he had dined with millionaires, and because in a speech he had praised General J. C. Smuts, former Premier, for General Smuts's public services.

Mr. Crowe, who was one of the founders of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, came West in 1879 and retired from active business in 1920. He was born at Old Barnes, N.S. He was an outstanding member of the Presbyterian Church and served as chairman of various boards, while he was also a member of the city council for several terms and president of the Canadian Club.

URGES CONFERENCE ON NATAL PROBLEM

In Pietermaritzburg Colonial Secretary Thomas States Views on Indian Question

Says it Should be Solved Outside of Party Politics; Empire Delegation

Pietermaritzburg, South Africa, Sept. 8.—In a speech delivered at a civic reception tendered to the Empire parliamentary delegation after its tour of Zululand, J. H. Thomas, British Colonial Secretary, said the delegates had been greatly impressed by the future possibilities and potentialities of Natal. He urged Natal not to make the Indian question a political one. It should be solved outside of party politics. The leaders of all parties ought, he said, to be brought together to consider the matter. He would suggest leaders not only representing South Africa, but representatives from India and the British Government.

"I plead for tolerance in this great difficulty," he said. "It is so important that it should be looked upon as something that the whole citizenship should ultimately determine. We are going back convinced that you are determined to do the right thing."

A resolution was moved in the Union House of Assembly on August 19 asking that segregation of Asiatics in the urban areas of Natal and the Transvaal and the passing of legislation to enforce a cessation of the issuance of trading licenses to Asiatics. Dr. D. F. Malan, Minister of the Interior, in accepting the motion in principle, forecast legislation at the next session. He indicated that South Africa, with a complicated native problem, had a Asiatic population far outnumbering the combined Asiatic Dominions. It was the Government's intention, he said, to double the present bonus of £10 payable to Indians voluntarily returning to India.

It was the first time in twenty-five years that a consecration had taken place in this Province and those in attendance at St. Matthew's Church included nine bishops of the Anglican Church, parishioners and lay and civic dignitaries. Archbishop Matheson of Rupertland, Primate of All Canada, was the consecrator.

Lone Migrant Becomes Famous

Special to The Times

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 8.—A clergyman's son with £200 in his pockets found himself famous on his arrival here the other day. He came to settle on the land after learning farming. There was nothing to differentiate him from any other type of migrant, but to his astonishment he was interviewed and photographed at every port the ship called at, and he even figured in moving pictures when he disembarked at Sydney. He could not understand it. Then someone explained that he was the very first of a party of 6,000 that Sir George Fuller, New South Wales Premier, had sought to bring out from Britain in furtherance of a great scheme of getting men with capital for settlement. Sir George's opponents described his scheme as unworkable and unlikely to attract migrants. Hence the interest shown in the first arrival under its provisions. So far he has had no imitators.

VANCOUVER CHURCH NEW RADIO STATION

Broadcasting Was Done From First Congregational Church There Yesterday

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—The new radio broadcasting station of the First Congregational Church here was formally dedicated on Sunday morning by Rev. A. E. Cooke, pastor. Officials of the church, the choir and the congregation joined in the dedication ceremony.

"Through the radio we are able to bring the church to the isolated homes of the Province," declared Mr. Cooke in speaking of the installation of the broadcasting station. "We shall try to build up a radio congregation in addition to those attending the church services. People in isolated places, such as loggers, farmers in remote districts and others, will be able to join in the order of service. They will be able to sing the hymns with us and take part in the Scriptural reading."

HOME BANK TRIALS ARE ABOUT TO START

First Hearing Will Take Place in Toronto Court Tomorrow

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Nearly 100 witnesses, about eighty of which are from Western Canada, have been subpoenaed to attend the trial of the former Home Bank directors, which is to open before Judge "Coatsworth" here tomorrow afternoon. Ocean G. Smith, former accountant, will be called at once face trial on charges under the Bank Act. The eight defendants are to be tried separately on the Bank Act charges and an imposing array of counsel will attend the proceedings.

D. L. McCarthy, K.C., the special prosecuting officer for the Crown, will be assisted by MacGregor Young, K.C., and James McTear. The trial will be long drawn out, one of the counsel for the defendant giving it as his opinion that it will take a month for each of the expenses of the witnesses will be extremely heavy, it being estimated that the traveling expenses of each witness will be $400 and the cost of maintenance about $500 a day.

TO REDUCE COST OF ADMINISTRATION

Mayor of Seattle Advocates Consolidation of Services in City and County

Seattle, Sept. 8.—Mayor E. J. Brown has announced that he will immediately inaugurate a campaign for a constitutional amendment to pave the way for consolidation of city, county and port and school districts. The Mayor said: "There is no way to reduce the burden of taxation in Seattle without abandoning our antiquated forms of municipal government." "We must employ new methods to meet new conditions."

The Mayor said he would be glad to accept invitations to address civic clubs and other organizations on the consolidation proposal and that he already had engineers and other advisers at work compiling data for the talk.

"I think it would be well," the Mayor said, "for a commission of competent persons to make a survey of the field and work out the most feasible plan of consolidation. One of the first steps, of course, would be to get the legislature to submit a constitutional amendment to permit enactment of the necessary legislation."

"Seattle is a growing city and King County is keeping pace in development. The interests of the two municipalities are identical in virtually all respects. The same is true of the port and school districts."

"Consolidation would make it possible to give country and city children equal educational advantages. This, in my opinion, is one of the best arguments in favor of the proposal."

DUPPLICATION OF OFFICES

Mayor Brown called attention to the duplication in the present municipal governments, pointing out that the city, county, port and school districts each have engineers, legal advisers and other officials whose duties could well be consolidated.

The same situation is to be found in regard to police officers, the Mayor said, the county maintaining a sheriff's office and constables and the city a police department.

The present forms of government, the Mayor contended, are based on old standards and have not been amended from time to time, fall short of the exacting demands of the present day. Only through consolidation and the attendant efficiency of centralization can the desired results be obtained, he believes.

LOS ANGELES MAN WILL BE HONORED

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 8.—In recognition of his part in the upbuilding of the Southwest through the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, which organization he has served as secretary for over thirty years, a bronze bust of Frank Wiggins is to be placed in the entrance of the new Chamber home, now nearing completion, it was announced to-day.

Several sculptors of reputation are being considered by the board of directors to model the bust of the veteran secretary. It is also announced by the committee appointed to select the sculptor that a public ceremony will be arranged to accompany the unveiling of the bust after it has been placed in its niche in the entrance to the new building.

ONE BIG UNION IN AUSTRALIA FAILS

Special to The Times

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 8.—The One Big Union, which if it had come into existence would have included over 250,000 workers in the Commonwealth, has definitely failed through the objection of certain craft unions to inclusion in its ranks.

When it was mooted after the war it caused a sensation in the industrial world and was eagerly taken up by trade unionists who saw in it a means of increasing their economic power as well as their political strength, weakened by the split over the conscription issue. However, less than a year ago the climax of

Ontario Man Says It Put Him In Such Fine Condition 2 Years Ago, He Hasn't Needed Any Medicine Since

"Well, sir, it looked like I was going to have to give up my job, but Tanlac kept me on the payroll and, of course, I'm strong for it," is the striking statement of Wm. Cranker, 84 Louis Street, Brockville, Ont., who for thirty years past has been employed by the Canadian National Railroad.

"My stomach went wrong ten years ago and then I gradually got out of fix in lots of ways. I couldn't eat or sleep to do any good for nervousness and indigestion, and had got to where I simply had to drag myself to the railroad yards in the mornings. "I could feel the good effects of my very first few doses of Tanlac clean to my fingertips. This was two years ago, and three bottles put me in such good shape that I have not had to spend a cent for medicine since. I eat and sleep fine, never miss a day's work any more and feel fine. You just can't beat Tanlac." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40,000,000 bottles sold.

THE NEW MINISTER

IN taking Dr. K. C. MacDonald into the Cabinet the Oliver Government has recognized the growing interests of an exceedingly important section of the Province.

Dr. MacDonald himself has been a very useful member of the Legislature and a tireless worker for his riding. As chairman of the Committee on Agriculture ever since the present Government took office, and again as chairman of the Liberal Caucus for the last four years, he has revealed a very marked capacity of an all round character.

The office of Provincial Secretary, especially in a Province which has set a mark for progressive legislation, is by no means a sinecure. There are many departments within the Department and a wide knowledge of a varied public demand is the prime essential to successful administration.

Dr. MacDonald's elevation will, of course, necessitate a bye-election in the riding of North Okanagan. In all probability the Minister will not have to meet the electorate so soon after receiving its third complete endorsement in the last eight years.

IMPROVED CIVIC FINANCES

THAT the Inspector of Municipalities can find occasion to praise the financial policy of the Victoria City Council is a matter of satisfaction to the citizens.

Those Councils that entered into large obligations in 1912 and 1913 looked for the occupation by the taxpaying public of the areas which they were providing with all the privileges of civilized service, and perhaps had never been gifted with prophecy, they would never have undertaken them on so lavish a scale.

It is noted that the prices secured for the refunding issues in January and July have been considered satisfactory, and in spite of a great advance in fixed charges, the maintenance of the tax rate at substantially the same figure as 1923 has encouraged investors.

However, the fact that notwithstanding extensive development works like the Johnson Street Bridge, together with a large contribution to the Royal Jubilee Hospital building fund, the city has paid off a substantial portion of its capital debt, and thereby done much to encourage investors, a fact showing in the improved price paid for the last refunding issue of about $660,000 only six weeks ago.

NEXT YEAR'S BUSINESS

BY reason of the close touch which his official position as director of the publicity bureau of the Portland Chamber of Commerce enables him to maintain with the great transportation companies and traveling public of this continent, particular importance attaches to the encouraging prediction which Mr. Herbert Cuthbert makes in respect of next year's tourist business in the Pacific Northwest.

It is pointed out that conventions in 1925 alone will be responsible for bringing no fewer than 300,000 visitors to various points on the Pacific Coast, most of whom, of course, will arrange for their journey to the West to embrace the annual holiday jaunt. Taking this as the certain basis for next year's business, not to mention the fact that the European drawing cards as represented by the British Empire Exhibition, the Bar Association and Advertising Club conventions, will not be a factor in attracting tourists Eastward over the Atlantic, and it is easy to understand why publicity directors and transportation officials in this part of the world are expecting the year 1925 to break all this part of the continent's records for profitable travel.

From all this movement, business which will be in excess of the natural increase as this neighborhood becomes still better known, Victoria and the Island should reap a rich harvest. It only remains for this community to support the very necessary policy of advertising and more advertising. By so doing it should mean that while the business of 1924 was double that of 1923, 1925 should insure a turnover four times as much as this year.

AN IMPORTANT PROPOSAL

SEVERAL French newspapers are extremely angry at Mr. Ramsay MacDonald because he has been so bold as to try to find a cure for war by urging international respect for one reliable diagnosis.

Editorial outbursts against Britain and British statesmanship in the French press are not new. There have been many since the Treaty of Versailles was signed and more since Downing Street has endeavored to convince the Quai d'Orsay that what was believed the right process to secure peace in 1919 has become more or less obsolete among changed and changing conditions in 1924.

What Premier MacDonald proposed and what Premier Herriot agreed to is the consideration of a simple plan to remove one cause of war—to limit armaments and eventually cut them down to a harmless minimum. The other issues which have angered the French press and encourage sceptics the world over really matter little. Most civilized individuals would put up both hands in support of any plan which will help to relieve them of an oppressive burden of taxation and remove their fears that it may be added to every time a Balkan prince calls his neighbor a nasty name over the back fence.

Those tourists who left Victoria in the belief that Summer ends with August have missed many pleasant days in September already.

Among the authoritative works which the public now demands is one which will provide a lucid explanation of what the war in China is all about.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been "dead" many times; but the diversion which two or three military governors are now creating has once more confirmed the fact that he is still very much in the land of the living.

A German in Alberta got up on his feet in the presence of a Canadian ex-soldier and said his native land was a much better country than Canada. The German acted with characteristic stupidity; the Canadian was his natural self under the circumstances—he promptly knocked Fritz down.

Germany's declaration retracting her acknowledgment that she was responsible for starting the war will no doubt provoke some feeling in France; but the fact remains that Europe's most important job is to do the things which are necessary at the moment and not waste time in recriminations over something which has been done and can not be undone.

LADY THOUGH SO SEEMING SAD

Tell me, mantis, why you weep In the starry grain? Is it vigil that you keep For your vanished swain?

Mantis, on your bended knees, Pouring out your woe, Will you tell me, if you please, Where your husbands go?

Lady, though so seeming sad, Hardly need you tell, For you are the one you had, Head and legs and shell.

Widow mantis, at your prayers, In the shining wheat, You have turned your load of cares Into pleasant meat.

Hypocrite beyond compare, Fagan of the mead, When the green toad hunts you there Who will intercede? —W. B. Gough.

THE SIN OF LYING

From E. W. Howe's Monthly The sin of telling a lie is not great. When a man returns from fishing, it is not a very serious matter if he adds a fish or two to his string; everyone who has fished and knows the probabilities, so no one is harmed. . . . The real sin of telling lies is the waste of time; it isn't the shortest, easiest or best way.

THE ONE THING REQUIRED

From The Boston Transcript A colored preacher was comparing the church to a ship. "Now, brethren," he went on, "when you have de ship ready and de sails all up, what does yo' need fer to make de sails fill out and scoot de ship right along into de hebenly harbor? Huh?" "Wind," said old Deacon Simpson in a low tone. "Jesso! Perackly!" continued the pastor. "Budder Simpson will please circulate wid his high hat an' raise de wind."

ELECTORS WILL DECIDE

From The Brantford Expositor Frank criticism is always in place, but prophets of gloom and disaster do little good. If Mackenzie King's policy works harm to Canada, the electors will hold him to strict account when the day of reckoning comes. In the meantime courage and confidence ought to be the watchword of Canadians.

Dr. Frank Crane on "A Little Politeness"

(Copyright)

THERE is a man in London who, although he is very busy and prominent personage, is making a great success, says Ella Hepworth Dixon, by a little politeness.

If he has enjoyed a party he actually writes a few charming phrases to his hostess and tells her so. It is a proceeding so unusual as to make social history.

It is just one of the little things which most of us forget. We do not realize how much it means to the jaded host and hostess, the day after a big party in the reaction which inevitably sets in, to get a few thanks for the tumult they have undergone. This gratitude is so rare as to give real pleasure.

The English are curiously remiss in these amenities. Most people are so accustomed to the routine of the season, to accepting unending hospitality, in town as well as in the country, that only after a visit of several days is a letter of thanks considered obligatory. Beyond that they do not go, except that women often make each other little presents in return for country-house hospitality. It is difficult to recall any man who has sent a cigarette case or stick to his host as thanks for hospitality received. But, perhaps men, do this in that queer way of theirs and we do not hear of it. On the whole women are more grateful than men for being entertained. They know the infinite pains that have to be taken, not only to secure the right company, but to organize all the details of a successful gathering.

After all, asks Miss Dixon, why not a little politeness? It costs nothing but the price of a stamp and has an effect which is cumulative.

A little politeness goes a long way and makes an impression perhaps far beyond its intrinsic value.

If we realized how much politeness meant we would be more liberal with it and it would do more toward helping everything along a little.

HILLTOP DREAMER

Maybe you think I'm lonesome, Sitting up on the hill; Maybe you think I'm tired, Because I sit so still.

But you are of the valley, So you can never know That I'm a hilltop dreamer Who dreams where breezes blow.

And when I'm sitting still, I'm dreaming of a night I kissed a little girl good-bye In fluttering candlelight.

White little face, trembling tear, Hint of a hidden pain, Fragile bit of cameo, Pure as the Summer sky.

And so I seek the hilltop, To make this dream endure, Way up from valley houses, Where all the air is pure.

After the Great Battle

AFTER the battle of the Plains of Abraham and the fall of Quebec in 1759, the brilliant Chevalier de Levis carried gallantly on the hopeless struggle under the interfering, incompetent command of the Governor, the Marquis de Vaudreuil. In the Spring of 1760 he marched down from Montreal, defeated General Murray in the very bloody battle of Ste. Foye, and almost retook Quebec. The arrival of the British fleet was all that saved the garrison. De Levis then retreated perforce to Montreal where he spent the Summer isolated from the world, and growing more and more desperate as, one by one, the outlying detachments of French troops were driven in before the advancing ring of the British army. For General Murray was moving up the St. Lawrence from Quebec, accompanied by Lord Colville's squadron of the British Navy; Colonel Haviland was breaking through Bougainville's lines on Lake Champlain; and General Amherst was moving down from Lake Ontario. Moreover, the French world in 1759 and swept from the seas of the world in 1759 and hope of relief there was none.

At last Amherst arrived on the Island of Montreal, marched down through Lachine, and camped close to the western walls of the city. Then Murray landed on the eastern end of the Island and made his camp on the site of Montreal. Then came Haviland and took up his position across the river opposite the city. The red British band was now complete with 17,000 men. Amherst at once proclaimed amnesty and protection to those of the French Canadian militia who went peaceably home. The proclamation had its effect, for the militia, ever ready and anxious to get back to their farms, deserted by wholesale, until there were only the regulars left and these were utterly dispirited. The French army's last parade state showed a total of only 2,132 men. Resistance was impossible, and although at first De Levis protested bitterly and talked wildly of French blood, finally he acquiesced and De Vaudreuil capitulated, surrendering not only the fort and the town of Montreal but all Canada as well. The end of French dominion had come, caused mainly by the terrible grinding pressure of the British Navy and the irresistible leadership of Pitt and the men he placed in command of fleets and armies—Anson and Hawke, Saunders and Wolfe, Amherst and Boscawen.

ON September 8, 1760, the articles of capitulation were signed by both sides and the British troops marched in. Amherst issued at once a proclamation to the French Canadian citizens, informing them that they were now British subjects and therefore protected in all rights, personal and religious and of property. The French soldiers were sent to France and not to bear arms against Great Britain for the remainder of the war. General Murray became the first Governor of Canada.

In the articles of capitulation it was agreed that the regimental colors of the French should be surrendered. When the time came for this both De Vaudreuil and De Levis gave their word that there were no colors to deliver inasmuch as they had been destroyed by each regiment individually long before for the reason that they were too difficult to carry amid the rigors of a Canadian bush campaign. The story persists, however, that De Levis, in a passion of bitter patriotism, had the colors burned before him on St. Helen's Island the evening before the surrender. M. Roy, the distinguished French Canadian historian, has examined what evidence he can find and has come to the conclusion that in all probability De Vaudreuil and De Levis spoke the truth. But the British Army, at that time nor since, could never be persuaded to believe that.

His aunt was cross examining him in the usual impertinent way. "And do you say your prayers, Robert?" Robert smiled. "Oh, yes! I say, 'Heaven bless and protect me' every night." "And every morning?" "No," said Robert. "I can look after myself during the day."—Tit-Bits.

ROTARY CONFERENCE AT HOQUIAM WAS A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Three Local Delegates Return From Fine Assembly; Next Conference in Portland

J. H. Reatty, president of Victoria Rotary Club, T. J. Goodlake, secretary, and Rosinaid Colbert have just returned from the annual conference of the officers of the districts held recently at Hoquiam, Washington. Over one hundred presidents and secretaries of Rotary Clubs in the first district of Rotary International were in attendance, and the gathering was the most successful held for some time.

Frank Riggs of Portland was nominated as governor of the district. He is a former vice-president of Rotary International and a veteran in the Rotary movement in the Northwest. His nomination is practically equivalent to election, the choice of the district conference merely awaiting confirmation by the international board of governors. The 12th conference will be held March 22, 23 and 24 at Portland, and William Munsell, president of the Portland club, detailed plans of the Rose City group for entertaining the conference.

NO WAR, GREAT OBJECTIVE Attainment of world peace through promotion of clean business methods and removal of attempts to gain unfair commercial advantage, was the dominating discussion topic of a time talk, and Alex. MacFarlane of Vancouver expressed the same thought in his address at the annual banquet when he said: "The day that Rotary International has seen her aims achieved will be the day when wars can no longer exist. An eloquent tribute to the spirit of service which is the Rotary watchword, was given by James Cope, president of the Astoria club, who told of the part played by four Rotarians who had dedicated themselves to the rebuilding of the city after thirty-four blocks in the centre of its business district had been laid in ashes about one-and-a-half years ago. The city had been practically rebuilt on a newer and greater scale, streets, sewers, public service utilities and city of Astoria was still doing business buildings have been replaced, and the mass at the old stand.

YOUR HEALTH THIS DAY IS APPROPRIATE TO DECIDE YOU'LL EXERCISE. By Royal S. Copeland, M.D. We are approaching the season when you should be doing your work—summer time does not conduce to efficiency and large output. Hot weather materially reduces man's usefulness.

Dr. Donald A. Laird of Colgate University took occasion during his hot summer to give publicity to his observations on the effects of heat on the body and mind. He concludes that in the hot and sultry days of Summer physical and mental efficiency is reduced sixty per cent.

Dr. Laird believes, too, that when the temperature reaches 90 degrees or more, the chance of error in your work is about twice as great as it is in moderate weather. Tests were made in several large banks in Fall and Spring the number of errors was small, it was greatest in Summer. In the cold of Winter the number of errors increased, but they were not as numerous as those that occurred in Summer.

One explanation of the low efficiency during Summer is made on chemical grounds. In hot weather it is probable the chemical action is retarded, and the result is that the waste products accumulate faster than the body can dispose of them. This gives the effect of fatigue, and is said to account for the "tired feeling" of Summer.

There can be no doubt that the body craves changes. On account of this, variable weather is helpful and stimulating. The monotony of uniform weather is known to everybody. How common it is to hear someone say of steady dry and hot weather, "It gets on my nerves!"

One trouble about hot weather or rainy weather is that you forget to exercise. You loiter around and give your muscles no play.

Every body should exercise in every sort of weather. It is not well to loaf in any season. You cannot feel well or be well unless you give your muscles exercise. Real work is good for everybody.

Maya's Thousand-Column Temple Yields Its Secrets of Centuries

By ALMA REED
Special Dispatch to The Victoria Times.

CHICHEN-ITZA, Yucatan, Sept. 8.—The wand of science has aroused Chichen-Itza from her sleep of centuries.

Strange echoes break the long silence in the ancient city, where the Carnegie Institution formally has launched its excavations under a fifteen year contract with the Mexican government.

The work centres about the ruins of a vast, complicated structure known as the "Temple of a Thousand Columns." To-day, hundreds of Indian "machetes" are hacking at the dense growth that covers the shattered and fallen pillars.

Groups of brown-legged Maya laborers hammer vigorously on the construction of runways, administration buildings and dwellings. In a colonnaded expanse at the northeastern corner of the temple, a trained crew of thirty men dig carefully into the soil that has been left undisturbed for over 500 years.

There is a tense, almost reverent expectancy in each thrust of the spade, for somewhere in this crumbling capital of the vanished tribes lie buried the last records of the greatest American race.

And any clod of upturned earth may fling its challenge to history! But the Carnegie scientists are not lost in a maze of potentialities. Nor are they depending upon chance discovery for a solution to the age-old Maya mystery. In their search for a key to the hieroglyphs, they have divided the city into units. A mass of archaeological material will be gathered for intensive study from each zone in consecutive order.

They are following a simple trail to a single goal. This year's excavations will merely aim to rescue the story of the so-called "Temple of a Thousand Columns."

Some archaeologists contend that it was a place of worship. Others are of the opinion that it was the renowned emporium of the Maya metropolis through which filtered the arts and crafts and produce of the empire.

According to Dr. Auguste Le Plongeon, it was here that the pilgrims from distant lands gathered to pray and to sacrifice, and to consult with the "Hymenes," or learned priests. The noted French scholar also claims that one section of the temple was reserved for the purification of the prisoners of war before they were flung as offerings into the sacred well from which Chichen-Itza takes its name.

Dr. Sylvanus Griswold Morley, director of the Carnegie work, inclines towards the market theory. "The industrious and extremely artistic population of Chichen-Itza," he explains, "must have had some place for the exchange of products. Logically, such a place would be of large proportions and be located near the heart of the city."

The enormous structure occupies an area of twenty acres and is built upon a "macadam" platform averaging seven feet in height. This is fifteen feet higher than the forest level, since the city itself rests upon an artificial base of equal elevation. Rows of limestone columns cover the entire platform. Although the earth conceals many of them almost up to their capitals, hundreds still range in height from six to nine feet above the surface. Their average diameter is about two and one-half feet.

The central court presents a scene of terrible devastation. As though pushed over in fury by some giant hand, most of the columns have fallen towards the centre. Their position in broken heaps suggests sudden disaster unknown in other ruins of Yucatan. Don Eduardo Thompson, the veteran archaeologist, who has lived among the monuments of Chichen-Itza for thirty-five years, attributes the destruction to a mighty cyclone, born off the coast near the island of Cozumel. He recalls several that have cut wide paths through the woods in the last decade.

But whatever the nature of the catastrophe, it seems closely linked with the abandonment of Chichen-Itza in 630 A. D. for a period of three centuries. Dr. Morley places the date at 463 A. D. and the building of the "Temple of a Thousand Columns" at about 620 A. D., only a few years before it was destroyed.

To the east of the structure, is a deep depression known as "Dead cenote." This seemingly artificial cavity serves as the receptacle for the excavated material. In the undermining of the limestone surface—the process which formed the sacrificial well and the other huge water-works of Yucatan—its crust has not yet collapsed to the depth of the subterranean river.

Eventually, the baffling stretch of masonry will be transformed into a stone forest. Skilled artisans follow in the wake of the excavators to repair and replace the fallen columns. The same plan of reconstruction will be carried out in all of the excavator buildings.

And when archaeology has completed its labors, Chichen-Itza will reflect some of its ancient splendor. "So potent is the wand of science!

WITH THE WEASEL HOUNDS

There are a few enthusiasts who hunt even in summer. Their quarry is the stoat, which, surprising as it may seem, offers excellent sport. Beagles are used for the work; the hunting is done afoot, and always early in the morning. Early, because in hot summer weather it is only while the dew is still on the grass that scent lies strong. This sport has the advantage of being the cheapest known form of hunting.

Cumberland is the usual meet, and if a stoat is not found above ground it is usually easy enough to discover where the little beast has laid up, and to smoke it out. Ireland has a pack of real stoat or weasel hounds specially bred for the work. They are the property of a Kerry sportsman, and are no larger than small fox terriers.

The hunting is done over a mountainous country amid mazes of dry stone walls. The master or whip invariably carries a packet of squibs in his pocket, and if the weasel goes to ground in a wall the squibs are used to bolt him.

Cumberland is the one English county where the stoat is still hunted regularly. In all days the great sport on the Cumberland moors was hunting the "four-foot" or "polecats." At one time there were as many as five different packs of four-foot hounds, and the sport went on all the year round.

WE ARE THE SOLE AGENTS FOR THE

Cantilever Shoe

Many shoes distort the foot because they are wrongly shaped. They bind the muscles, retard circulation and frequently cause fallen arches, corns and bunions. Many physical ills and nervous disorders are directly traceable to incorrectly shaped and fitted shoes.

Without departing from harmony in line the Cantilever Shoe conforms to the natural contour of the foot—gives correct space for each portion of the foot—distributes the body weight without strain over the heel and ball, and outside the foot—flexed with the instep, sustains the arch without use of appliances, gives form, restful support to the small bones of the feet.

Because the foot is correctly fitted in Cantilever Shoes one walks with an easy swinging carriage—a natural charm of movement.

Come and see how good looking a correct shoe can be.

Victoria Times, September 8, 1899

Mr. William Arthur Ward has retired from Ward & Co. Thomas R. Smith and John C. McClure (joint managers) will retain the management at Victoria and Vancouver.

Dr. C. M. Jones, of Victoria, was elected vice-president for British Columbia of the Dominion Medical Association at the annual meeting held last week at Toronto.

Alderman J. L. Beckwith, who has just returned from Dawson, says Victoria is losing a vast amount of trade which rightly belongs to her, by failing to take advantage of the opportunities opening there.

Canadian Scottish Riflemen Capture Team Match Honor

Garrison Marksmen Second, And Fifth Regiment Third in Annual Competition

Sgt. Beaumont Shoots Well Being Only Seven Points Short of Possible 150

Marksmen from the 18th Canadian Scottish carried off the fine trophy presented some years ago by the 50th Gordon Highlanders in the inter-regiment shoot at Clover Point on Saturday afternoon.

Two marksmen who were at Blaisy this year and a number who journeyed to Ottawa to take part in the annual shoot of the Dominion Rifle Association participated in the match on Saturday.

New York Increases Lead in National League; Pirates Suffer Two Defeats

Detroit Again in Running, Winning Two Games While Yanks and Senators Lose

New York, Sept. 8.—There is no joy in Flatbush to-day for the mighty Robins, prey to the Giants. Thirty-five thousand fans, 10,000 of them who don't know a turnstile click, saw the employees of John McGraw invade the sanctum of Charlie Ebbetts yesterday, wrapping up a crucial game, slapping a 5-7 tag on it and took it back to Manhattan with them, incidentally grabbing off a few more points in the percentage column.

But over in Pittsburgh where the boys have been studying world's series songs for the past month, they are gloomier than ever and all on account of the Reds. Griffiths, star centre forward of the Seattle Veterans' team, scored the deciding goal in Saturday's match at the Royal Athletic Park with only three minutes to go, and as a result the victors walked off the field with a 3-2 victory over the local Veterans' eleven.

After the Seattle team notched their first goal the locals came to life and as the result of a neat piece of work Clarkson shot into the goal mouth and Herb Cummings headed the ball into the net, tying up the score. It was a very pretty goal.

VICTORIA GOES AHEAD Just after the second half had commenced the locals jumped into the lead when Campbell drove a fast one past the Seattle goal. For the next twenty minutes Seattle's best players were busy with the ball.

After the game the American Legion trophy was presented to the Victoria veterans by W. G. Stone, president of the Victoria Veterans' Football Club.

CONFERENCE MAY DISCUSS WEDNESDAY HALF-HOLIDAY ACT
On the ground that no one section of the community can suitably legislate for all, the Retail Executive of the Chamber of Commerce recommended to the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day that it appoint a committee of three to form the nucleus of a large committee to solve difficulties created by the Wednesday half holiday.
'It has been found,' the report stated, 'that with the increasing development of the tourist business thousands of visitors are prevented from making purchases in our stores on the half day in which the Weekly Half Holiday Act is in operation, thereby causing a considerable loss of revenue to the city and to the retail merchants in particular. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ADOPTS REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE OPPOSING FORMATION
With the adoption of the committee's report against the establishment of a Harbor Commission at the present time, the Chamber of Commerce directors placed their views on record this afternoon.
The committee's report opposed the establishment of a Harbor Commission in Victoria at the present time and suggested the formation of a committee for the exploitation of harbor facilities here and the development of the traffic of the port.
Ald. A. E. Todd moved a resolution stating "That in the opinion of this board the appointment of a Harbor Board would be imprudent at the present time and therefore that this board go on record as being opposed to any such suggestion at the present time."
In moving the resolution Ald. A. E. Todd said he had read the committee's report and found it interesting and instructive. He moved the committee be thanked for its report and then presented his resolution. There was no doubt they had an organization which could take in hand the matter of developing traffic, and that was the publicity bureau.
President C. P. W. Schwengers drew attention to the clause in the committee's report suggesting a committee of the Chamber of Commerce be appointed to work for the development of the port's traffic. He doubted if the chamber would care to delegate those powers to the Publicity Bureau. The development of business was really a matter for the Chamber of Commerce, the premier organization in this regard. Mr. Tomlin, in seconding the resolution, claimed that a harbor board would mean higher charges and would be a "black eye for the port."

JEWISH LEADER VISITS CITY TO-DAY
The Jewish cause in the West is actively being developed by Rabbi Jonah Wise of Portland, Oregon, who left here this afternoon after a visit in the interests of the B'nai B'rith Order, of which he is grand president of No. 4 district which embraces the Pacific seaboard.
While the order does not take sides in the Zionist controversy, he said, it is glad to give every assistance it can to the settlement of Jews in Palestine from a standpoint of colonization, apart from the great appeal the mandated territory makes on the grounds of sentiment and history.
The order devotes itself to subjects of benefit to modern Judaism, and of loyalty to the constitutions of the many states under which Jews are enrolled. Wherever there are large settlements of Hebrews, the order has its organization, which is a very important factor in social and economic welfare. Later this year the order is participating in a constitutional week in the United States.
Dr. Wise stated that it was not usual for the rabbis to hold office of the character which he possessed in the order, but he believed he could be of considerable service, and his friends had pressed him to hold it.
Good feeling with the Jews was a beneficial sign through the Pacific Northwest, he stated, and they, on their part, were only too glad to do all they could to live at peace with their neighbors.

QUALICUM YOUNG WOMAN SHOT AND WOUNDED HERSELF
Nanaimo, Sept. 8.—Using a .22 rifle, which had been sawed-off to revolver length, Florence May Turner, aged twenty-four, on Sunday afternoon attempted suicide. According to the police, the gun was held against the right ear when discharged. The shooting took place at the home of the girl's parents at Qualicum. She was brought to-day to the Nanaimo Hospital, where her condition is considered critical.
As an amendment to the resolution J. O. Cameron moved that the report be adopted and the committee be discharged. A. J. Watson seconded the amendment.
The amendment carried.

WILLOWS PARK PURCHASE ISSUE
To the finance committee of the City Council was referred for report the question of the proposed sale of the Willows Park to H. M. Fullerton and associates. At noon to-day it was not known whether the committee would be ready to make a report at the meeting this evening.
A considerable amount of data has been obtained on the subject by the officials, whose duties were lightened by the fact that much of it was already available from the information gathered in January, when the Colwood Park Association was negotiating for the property.
The Council has pledged itself this evening to deal with the condemned buildings, of which a list was before the Council at the meeting of August 29, but on which there could not be definite action owing to the failure to be a quorum on that occasion.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL TAKES NEW MASTERS
Dr. A. O. Macrae, headmaster of the University School, announced last night that three new teachers had been appointed to the staff of the institution at Mount Tomlie. These are J. I. Simpson, M.A., honor graduate in mathematics and science of Glasgow University, who will be in charge of the mathematics and science classes here; A. Mundie, M.A., honor graduate in English at St. Andrew's University, who will act as instructor in literature, and B. B. Henson, Trinity College, the famous Dublin university, master of languages.
The new term for the boarders opened at the school to-day, and the regular opening for day boys will be to-morrow. From that time onwards the school will settle into the Christmas term's work.
The additions to the staff are considered to be advantageous in the highest degree, for they lend assistance in the preparation of students in advanced work in all their subjects, more than ever before. The new men are all experts in their lines. There is no doubt but that the classes which come under their instruction will benefit materially through their coming to the staff, and the masters will enjoy popularity with their classes because of this fact.

PROMINENT REALTOR WILL SPEAK HERE
H. R. Ennis, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards of the United States and Canada will visit Victoria to-morrow, arriving from Bellingham about 6:30 p.m.
Mr. Ennis is a prominent realtor of Kansas City, Mo., and will be accompanied by F. S. Barrett of Spokane, president of the Northwest Real Estate Association, F. W. Zimmerman, secretary, and Messrs. Bonnar and Bahson of Seattle.
F. B. Pemberton will entertain the visitors, members of the local real estate board and friends at dinner to-morrow evening. Mr. Ennis will speak on business conditions in the Northwest, and also on the work and objects of the national association.

ASSOCIATED BOARDS MEET WEDNESDAY
A preliminary notice of the Association of Boards of Trade Convention at Kamloops, Nov. 13, 14 and 15 was placed before the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day. It has been decided the notice should be taken up in time for a 1924 convention will confine its activities to the discussion of the larger problems with which the province is faced, a strict observance that all Boards in the Association must have an opportunity to submit resolutions before they are finally submitted to the convention. Only questions which have a bearing upon the welfare, and development of the Province will be received for consideration.

CONFERENCE MAY DISCUSS WEDNESDAY HALF-HOLIDAY ACT
On the ground that no one section of the community can suitably legislate for all, the Retail Executive of the Chamber of Commerce recommended to the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day that it appoint a committee of three to form the nucleus of a large committee to solve difficulties created by the Wednesday half holiday.
'It has been found,' the report stated, 'that with the increasing development of the tourist business thousands of visitors are prevented from making purchases in our stores on the half day in which the Weekly Half Holiday Act is in operation, thereby causing a considerable loss of revenue to the city and to the retail merchants in particular. On the other hand the report states "the half holiday act has proved of benefit and value to the retail clerks, their friends, and also to the merchants, and therefore if any change is contemplated consideration must be given to those now being benefited."

Marie Prevost and Monte Blue Appear In Glyn Picture

"How to Educate a Wife" is Showing at Columbia

Marie Prevost and Monte Blue, whose names have become imbedded in the mind of every film fan by reason of their work in "The Marriage Circle," will be seen this week in another outstanding photoplay. This is no less a picture than Elinor Glyn's "How to Educate a Wife," made into a Warner Brothers classic of the screen.

It comes to the Columbia Theatre for three days.

"That Elinor Glyn was 'the greatest woman psychologist in Europe' was the opinion held of her by the late Jack London.

Others in the cast of this picture are Claude Gillingwater, Vera Lewis, Betty Francisco, Creighton Hale, Edward Earle and Nellie Bly Baker.

Despite its title, "How to Educate a Wife" does not offer a post-graduate course tending to instruct the beholder into the intricacies of conjugal felicity. Neither does it solve any of the perplexing problems that continually arise in every household in the State of Matrimony, but it does provide a merry, mirthful evening's entertainment interspersed with a little sound philosophy from a woman whose name has become a household word.

Elinor Glyn's pungent satire and shrewd discernment have been visualized in this photoplay in such a manner that it will appeal alike to men and women of all ages and stations.

"Open All Night" Stars Adolph Menjou And Viola Dana

Capitol This Week Offers Brilliant Comedy Drama of Social Life

The Capitol Theatre is presenting this week a unique photoplay under the title "Open All Night." Adolph Menjou and Viola Dana take the leading roles. The picture has something new in the way of plot, subtlety and charm, intermingled with physical action and punch, fine humor and highly entertaining story. The six-day bike ride offers a distinct novelty. The play was suggested by Willis Goldbeck from a story of Paul Morand's. A screamingly funny comedy entitled "Pain as You Enter" and a very interesting news reel comprise this week's picture attractions.

Baby Peggy is Beloved by All People in Filmdom

All-star Cast in Her New Picture "The Law Forbids" at Pantages

Baby Peggy, known to filmdom as "The Baby Bernhardt," stands today as perhaps one of the most important factors in box office success in the motion picture theatres of the world. This of course is greatly due to the fact that she is surrounded by a group of stars ranking high in the industry. The diminutive comedienne—who is just as clever as a tragedienne—is literally everybody's little girl. The whole world loves her. Her second big production, "The Law Forbids," a Jewel de Luxe, equally well cast, Monday at the Pantages Theatre.

Little Peggy Montgomery has been before the public ever since she was a very small tot—and even now her age can be counted on the fingers of one hand. Her picture possibilities were first discovered by Abs and Julius Stern of the Century Comedies; then followed series of Baby Peggy comedies that made her name the byword of the Century Comedies; then followed a series of Baby Peggy comedies that made her name the by-word of the picture houses. "Jack the Giant Killer" showed her in a fanciful fairy tale, adorned by the charm of the most famous of burlesque elders roared at Baby Peggy's versatility made every picture a new idea in screen art. Then Universal obtained her services for Jewel productions; the first one, "The Darling of New York," established her for all time as one of the big bets of the screen. "The Law Forbids," her latest, shows the all-inclusive artist as the central motive of a dramatic, gripping problem play.

Jess Robbins directed. He is known for his successful big productions. In "The Law Forbids," he has such favorites as stellar artist like Winifred Bryson of "Thundering Dawn," who repeats her vamp role here; Elinor Fair of "Kismet" and "Driven"; Robert Ellis, William E. Lawrence, James Corrigan, Eva Thatcher, Joseph Dowling and many others.

Orchestra to Play at Capitol Theatre To-night

Harmony, syncopation, musical precision, the Capitol Symphony Orchestra will have all the qualifications needed to produce the high standard of music presented by them at the popular Monday evening concert given at the Capitol Theatre weekly. The enchanting variations and tone shadings resulting from the special musical arrangement for which they are so popular, produces a most fascinating and alluring programme. Director Prescott's superb orchestral arrangement makes them most especially adapted to the playing of high-class programmes for the picture presentations. Among the many beautiful conceptions to be given to-night will be: Overture, "To-night's the Night," Rubens; fox-trot, "A Night in the Woods"; "June," "L'Amour de L'Apache" Offenbach; "Mon Homme," Yvain.

Sawdust Nuisance QUESTION RAISED

Fire Chief to Draw Attention of Council to Situation

The disposal of the cinder nuisance in the mill district, a subject which formerly occupied much attention in the City Council, is likely to be raised again as the result of a communication which Fire Chief Stewart has forwarded to the council.

Three mills are complained of as emitting cinders, dust and ash, which are carried by the wind over the city. The fire chief has discovered, two of the mill owners appealed to the provincial fire marshal, and Mr. Thomas sustained them. Mr. Stewart mentions the steps taken by the mill companies to prevent distribution of the waste.

The fire marshal has now advised the fire chief that the new type of burner used by the Portage Lumber Company at Vancouver is the best variety known.

It will be recalled that before the present by-law was passed, and the fire chief made the executive officer to administer it, there was a long negotiation with the aldermen, as a consequence of which the city was sent to neighboring Sound cities, and that deputations then recommended a type of burner to be installed similar to that used by the Robinson mill at Esquimalt, details of which were described in the report.

In the last few months Vancouver has been engaged in a lengthy fight about the mill owners' scheme to install a type of burner to be installed similar to that used by the Robinson mill at Esquimalt, details of which were described in the report.

That the extent of participation by the Treadgold interests in the Yukon is largely the key to its future is the statement by Frank T. Way, of Dawson, who is making a brief stay at the Dominion Hotel.

YUKON WANTS TO SEE HYDRO-ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENT BEGIN

Mr. Way stated that the possibilities of a railway into the Maya area, electrically operated, were being freely canvassed, and it was expected that some feasible scheme to develop the water powers of the country, to provide power for industrial operations, and for the railway, would be one of the salvations of the country. People had become discouraged in the Yukon, and unless some large development took place the inhabitants would not stay there. Dawson had lost considerably in population, and could not afford to lose more. The Yukon had become more and more a rich man's country, and it was essential that the large mining companies should go in and develop the rich ore-bearing districts. The visitor, who represents several local wholesale firms, has just come out for the winter.

B.C. School Trustees' Association Has Important Agenda at Kamloops

The keynote of the B. C. School Trustees' Association convention which will meet at Kamloops tomorrow is the educational survey issue, to which Tuesday evening's session has been given over. The position last year in favor of a survey, and now that the commission is functioning, its attitude will be expressed with considerable interest. This will be the twenty-first annual meeting, and that it will be a busy one is indicated by the fact that no less than thirty-two resolutions are down for discussion.

The programme is as follows: Tuesday morning, 9.30 o'clock—Prayer by Rev. H. R. McGill; address of welcome, Mayor J. R. Colquhoun; appointment of committees; announcements; president's address, Mrs. H. Ross of Nelson.

Tuesday afternoon, 2.30 o'clock—Report of executive committee; secretary's report and financial statement; report on branch associations; report on resolutions committee.

Tuesday evening 8 o'clock—Discussion on educational survey.

Wednesday morning, 9.30 o'clock—Report of credentials committee; report on resolutions submitted to the Minister of Education from 1923 convention; report of resolutions committee; 11 o'clock—address by Dean H. T. J. Coleman.

Wednesday afternoon, 1.30 o'clock—Automobile outing, arranged by Rotary Club.

Wednesday evening, 8 o'clock—Election of officers; special evening.

Thursday morning, 9.30 o'clock—Report of resolutions committee; 1.30 o'clock—Final report of resolutions committee; committee reports; notices of motion; unfinished business.

GARDENERS ENJOY PLEASANT OUTING

Successful Picnic is Held at Sidney Experimental Farm

A very successful and enjoyable picnic was held by the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association on Saturday last, members again visiting the Experimental Farm for the occasion. The superintendent of the farm, E. M. Straight, kindly arranged demonstrations in the various departments there. It was evident that not only were many members interested in the various phases of gardening, but also greatly interested in poultry. Special arrangements had been made by the association whereby the children should have an enjoyable time in the way of sports, ice cream and delicacies. W. J. Edwards, George Strawford and the secretary, F. E. Boulter, were responsible for the entertaining of them.

The following were the result of the races:

Girls, 5' to 7-1, Ena Goward; 2, Joan Boulter; 3, Margaret Leighton. Boys 5' to 7-1, Angus McKay; 2, R. Marshall; 3, V. Little. Children under 5-1, Jimmy Saunders; 2, M. Little; 3, Kenneth Robinson. Girls 7' to 9-1, Dorothy Little; 2, Marie Little; 3, Jennie Christie. Boys 7' to 9-1, Bert Saunders; 2, Frank Chamberlain; 3, Freddy Leighton. Girls 9' to 12-1, Jean Stewart; 2, Marie Little; 3, Dorothy Little. Boys 9' to 12-1, Fred Saunders; 2, Norman Whitten; 3, Bert Saunders. Mixed shoe race—1, Jean Stewart; 2, Dorothy Little. Wheelbarrow race—1, Bert Saunders and Marie Little; 2, Mr. and Mrs. A. McKay. Three-legged race—Lillian Collet and Mira Williams; 2, Marie Little and Dorothy Little. Final of egg and spoon race after six heats—1, Mr. Chamberlain; 2, Mrs. F. E. Boulter. The annual tug-of-war between teams captained by the president, W. J. Edwards, and the secretary, F. E. Boulter, proved very exciting and evenly matched, premier honors

Mary Browne Fails To Win U.S. Title; Mrs. Hurd is Queen

Nyatt, N.Y., Sept. 8—Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, on Saturday became queen of the American links for the third time, defeating Miss Mary K. Browne, of Santa Monica, Cal., former tennis champion, whose progress in her first national golf tournament has been amazing.

The score in the thirty-six-hole final round was 7 and 6, yet this the woman of the Pacific Coast. She progressed farther in her first effort to win the golf title than many competitors have in years of effort. Experience of a veteran of the links, who earlier in life held three national championships in one year—American, Canadian and British—told against the novice, who learned golf only a few years ago after winning many tennis titles. Outdriving the heavy-hitting Mrs. Hurd frequently, and usually putting as well, Miss Browne could not play well enough through the green.

"Neighbor, your windmill screeches." "I might make some remark about your daughter's singing voice." "I know, but be a good fellow and oil the windmill. I'd oil the voice if I could."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

'Empty Hands' Is Strong Story of Outdoor Life

Jack Holt Featured in Paramount Film at Dominion

Every youth, in his romantic moments has dreamed of being shipwrecked on a desert island, or lost in the wilderness, with a beautiful maiden showing at the Dominion this week.

Every desert tale is plentifully stocked with bananas and coconuts; any hiatus in the regular diet of the stranded couple is bridged with a liberal serving of tropical love and kisses!

But the actuality is vastly different in Paramount's "Empty Hands," featuring Jack Holt. He and a girl are cast adrift in the Northern wilderness, empty handed except for penknife. They not only lack the most elementary tools and weapons, but also find themselves practically devoid of clothing.

Then begins a bare-handed struggle with nature to wrest from it the necessities of life. They are both highly civilized persons, but the advantage lies with the man, who has spent his life in the great outdoors, while the girl is the soft product of the cities.

The most romantic youth could ask for no finer thrill than this primeval struggle to live. The man wins the fight, as he has always done, but in saving the life of the woman, risks his own honor. With the fear of starvation removed, love comes to them, and the man finds himself with another fight on his hands which pales the other by comparison.

The picture is a screen adaptation of Arthur Stringer's great novel which created a sensation when it appeared in Harper's Bazaar and is now a best-seller in book form. Carey Wilson prepared the scenario.

It has been produced by Victor Fleming, whose handling of such pictures, as "Code of the Sea," "To the Last Man," and "Call of the Canyon," has placed him in the front rank of directors.

Balzac's Novels Lend Themselves To Screen Use

Great French Novelist Worked Hard to Attain Fame; Now Screened

Honore de Balzac is regarded by the most learned and astute critics of literature throughout the world as the world's greatest novelist. He won that rank through his ability as a thinker, student, philosopher and analyst of the human heart and the human mind.

Balzac wrote and had published under assume names a number of voluminous novels. He glued himself to his chair and worked from ten to sixteen hours a day—a course that would have killed an ordinary writer in less than a year. Balzac continued it for a score of years. His first success was with "The Chouans," published under his own name. This was followed by "Le Peau de Chagrin," known in English as "The Magic Skin" or "The Wild Ass's Skin," which remains one of his best and one of his most popular novels. It made secure his fame as a writer, to be reckoned with. This novel has now been made into a motion picture under the title of "Slave of Desire," by Gilbert E. Gable, for distribution by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan.

It was directed by the veteran actor and director of both stage and screen, George D. Baker, with a cast including George Walsh, Bessie Love, Carmel Myers, Edward Connelly, George Periolat, William Ormond, Walley Van and others. It will be the attraction at the Playhouse this week. The underlying theme of this story—that every one pays for what he wants and gets out of life—is told in such a fascinating way, through characters so human, and understandable, that it is one of the world's immortal classics. Mr. Gable's screen version is faithful to the spirit of the author and gives some veracious glimpses of Parisian life in the early years of the nineteenth century. There are several spectacular episodes which add to the making "Slave of Desire" one of the year's big photoplays.

Hincks to Stage Comedy at Royal

'To-night's the Night' Will be Revue Offered for Week Commencing September 15

The many theatrical patrons who have in the past enjoyed the spectacular productions at the Royal Theatre, staged under the direction of Reginald Hincks, have learned with interest that Mr. Hincks's company has entered into an arrangement with the owners of the Royal whereby up-to-date musical entertainments on a lavish scale will be produced at the big house at regular intervals. The first of these productions opens on Monday, September 15, with an adaptation of the revue "To-night's the Night."

For this production Reginald Hincks has assembled an aggregation of talent that has never been surpassed in this city. In addition to a chorus of some score of dainty dancers has been rehearsing for some weeks, while a small army of workmen has been busy with the preparation of costumes and special scenic effects. As well as the best numbers of the original production, many up-to-the-minute songs and dances have been introduced, and it is safe to say that "To-night's the Night" will prove one of the most popular attractions of the season.

Musical Notes

By George J. Dyke

Both Mascagni and Puccini, the famous Italian composers have been made senators of their country.

A delightful trio for violin, cello, and piano, is Sterndale Bennett's "Allegro-Fernando." Sterndale Bennett was one of the great composers of the Victorian era.

One of the theatrical sights of London, and well worth a visit of inspection, is the newly-installed and immense soda fountain at the well-remembered and popular Alhambra. The fountain has been especially besieged by big numbers of American visitors to London.

George Robey, the "Prime Minister of Mirth," in his spare moments makes violins. Many of his instruments are to be seen in his dressing room, and his skill and varnish are alike excellent. "Strads" are to-day priceless, and who knows but in years to come, a "Robey" violin may not be worth thousands of dollars.

It is a pleasure to record the enthusiasm of our local and well-known teachers, who still happily consider herself a student in the branch of her art. Miss Kate McGregor, principal of the B. C. Academy of Music, has just returned from a visit to San Francisco, where she went with the express purpose of attending the Summer Classes held there by Layzer S. Samoiloff, a vocal teacher of high reputation in New York, one of the leading baritone in the grand opera house of Charkoff, Odessa, Moscow and other Russian cities, and pupil of Chevalier Augustus Brodski, Milan, Italy, one of the greatest singer and teacher of his time. Over a hundred teachers and vocal students were in attendance at these classes, which occupied a period of six weeks. Miss McGregor was the only resident of British Columbia present and the great master paid her a high compliment when he said, "You are the first one attending these classes who of music is given here, and the Pacific Coast has the most wonderful voices of his vast experience. Mr. Samoiloff, opened his first singing school in Carnegie Hall, New York, in 1908, where he has since been teaching and conducting personality in that city's music circles. There is a possibility he will give an audition here early next year on his way again to San Francisco. The classes were under the management of Miss Alice Seckles, of San Francisco.

GRAND PRESIDENT VISITS VICTORIA

Officials of Independent Order of B'nai B'rith Inspecting Lodges

Rabbi Jonah H. Wise of Portland, Oregon, grand president of district 4 of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, comprising Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Montana, California and Arizona, as well as British Columbia, accompanied by the new executive director, Richard Gutstadt, of San Francisco, met local members here yesterday and proceeded by the afternoon boat to-day to Vancouver.

Their itinerary is as follows: Bellingham, September 7; Seattle, September 10; Tacoma, September 11; Aberdeen, September 12; Spokane, September 14; Butte, September 15; Billings, September 16. In November the grand president and the executive director will visit the Southern California lodges, especially devoting their attention to the Los Angeles lodge, which is to dedicate its new $200,000 lodge building.

The order proposes to institute a speaker's bureau, for which the grand lodge has provided a fund; to be supplemented by individual lodges. It is expected that three speakers of national and international prominence in Jewish life will be brought to the West to address audiences of Jews and non-Jews on subjects of interest in connection with Jewish life, literature and experience, the members were informed.

The lodges will also be provided with programmes toward which they are expected to work. The B'nai B'rith grand lodge especially asks its lodges to acquaint themselves with the proposed Child Labor Amendment to the United States Constitution, and to urge upon their state legislatures the support of this change.

The grand lodge officers visiting here report that the B'nai B'rith is now approaching a membership of 10,000 in this district. This district was founded in 1863, and in its sixty years of existence has steadily gained in membership and influence, and is now in a position to be of great service in all matters pertaining to the benefit of the state and Judaism.

BON STEIN BEATEN

Everett, Wash., Sept. 8.—Jack Westland of Everett, after losing the morning round of eighteen-holes one up to Bon Stein, Everett and Seattle amateur state golf champion for two years, won the state title on Saturday by defeating Stein two up and one to play, in the finals of a tournament here on the Everett Golf and Country Club links.

many lovers who pine for the delight of "Patience," "Pinafore," "Iolanthe" and "Mikado," not to mention all the rest of the heavenly list. Would it not sweeten the bitterness of living if we could hear these pieces really sung, etc." The Savoy tradition is as definite as that of Wagner and of Shakespeare. There are not many left who know it, but there are still some. America spends an unthinkable number of millions a year on music. Why not some of this for Gilbert and Sullivan? This makes pleasant reading, and it is no wonder that even America cries aloud for these beautiful operas, for they are as fresh and beloved to-day as they were in the old Savoy days. Come, Mr. Hincks, here is a field well worthy of attention and work. Can you not include a Gilbert and Sullivan opera during the Winter season and include one at least in your future series of music productions at the "Royal Vic"?

In all the talk about Mars, there has not been one word said about Martian music. One wonders if the Martians have a scale of their own, or any musical instruments. Perhaps the jazz is even played there. Two hundred years ago we might radio the "William Tell" overture, or the divine song "Home, Sweet Home" to the delight of the people of Mars. Victor Hubert's music scores and personal efforts resulted at an auction sale last August a total of $25,000.

The Aeolian building in New York has recently been acquired by the Aeolian Company with a capitalization of $3,500,000. This marks another interesting event in this—one of New York's chief music centres, home of music, which for the past twelve years has been associated with many brilliant music triumphs by the world's greatest artists. The Aeolian Hall occupies a most historic site; formerly in the years preceding the Civil War the former Lattin Tower stood on this ground, which was one of the "wonders" of America's big metropolis. The Aeolian will still be used for concert purposes. It seats about two hundred less than our own Royal Victoria Theatre, which has a seating capacity of 1,550.

The famous Bayreuth Festival, one of the most artistic of all festivals in the past, was again held in the historic Festspielhaus, beloved by the whole German people. The festival, which takes place in the Summer time, opened this year with Wagner's "Die Meistersinger."

It must not be forgotten that George Eastman spent over nine million dollars on the Rochester School of Music. Mr. Eastman's first job was in a bank.

Without the amateur music could not flourish. A community's musical standard can be judged by the number of its amateur organizations. In this respect it can be again repeated here that the capital city's standard is a high one and her music traditions have been glorious. Yet, with all that has been accomplished here in music's realm, and knowing nine people out of ten are fond of music, and recognize its artistic side in the daily lives of their fellow citizens, not a single word regarding all this has been written in any of the new publications recently issued by the Victoria Bureau of Information. It must not be forgotten that saw mills, steel works, scenic beauties and wonderful climatic conditions do not wholly—and altogether build up a community. It is therefore suggested to the Bureau's management that in connection with their future advertising publications something be said of the artistic and cultured side of Vancouver Island's largest city—Victoria. It would make excellent reading and a good story.

First Pictures of Prince of Wales' Activities Since Arrival at Long Island

Pictures of the heir to the British throne taken upon his arrival off Long Island, New York, are shown above. Left, the Prince is seen holding a sextant in his hand, after he and Captain Irvine had been "shooting" the sun from the Berengaria's bridge. In the upper circle Wales is aboard the converted submarine chaser, the Black Watch, which carried him from the liner to the landing stage. Right is a view of the towering side of the liner, together with the Michigan, which was used in effecting the transfer of the royal party from the Berengaria to the Black Watch, which is the smaller boat alongside the white steamer. Lower circle, the Prince is again talking to the captain of the Black Watch while the speedy craft is rushing from the liner to the shore.

Upper right, the huge crowd which lined the streets in Washington to greet the royal guest. The documents were signed Tuesday. McCaffery's signature has been on a St. Pats' contract long enough for the ink to get good and dry.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Month's News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

SHORTS COVER CAUSING RALLY

New York, Sept. 8 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—There was a renewal of the declining tendency in values during the forenoon. Heaviness in the closing dealings of last week and some doubts over the Maine election results were the factors primarily responsible for the forenoon selling movement. Around the lower levels a rather good demand for many of the Standard issues made its appearance particularly in stocks like Baldwin, Can and Steel. The absence of weakness in special issues in to-day's market and for the present it looks as though sufficient correction has been brought about in the value of certain issues where specific reasons have been at work for much of recent sessions. In p.m. dealings a definite upward tendency got under way with the result that the early losses were fully recovered and in the majority of instances price appreciation for the day was registered. In the decline that has taken place in the stock market in the last few weeks some fair-sized price declines have been recorded and there is little doubt but that in the process of price revision downward quite a little liquidation had taken place which of itself has without doubt done much to correct the technical foundation. The oil stocks again acted in a very impressive fashion and if forecasts of prominent ones in trade is to be taken seriously it is becoming rather evident that the turn for the better has arrived in oil industry. Car loadings are increasing in a rather pronounced way and the reflection of improvement in general business is apparent. We are rather inclined to think it may be more conservative just now to engage in buying opportunities on the minor recessions.

GRAINS STRENGTHEN NEAR CLOSE TO-DAY

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 8 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat: Commission houses buying on the stocks with sufficient to clear the market out of the market, and with Winnipeg strong in the late trade and with a sharp advance in corn, the tone was rather firm at the finish. Foreign news on wheat is bullish, although the trade are inclined to lose sight of this owing to the temporarily bearish features. Visible stocks increased 4,155,000 bushels and primary arrivals were 4,629,000 vs. 2,305,000 a year ago, with a tremendous run of Spring wheat in the Northwest. Late Canadian reports, however, indicate that the crop is becoming a little more favorable. Present prices are high, but the trade expects a bullish government report, and for this reason there is much evening up, which is probably a wise proceeding. Oats: Firm early, but declined, and only rallied when other grains turned strong. A visible increase of 7,534,000 bushels and primary receipts of 4,450,000 vs. 1,653,000 a year ago. Cash sales were 235,000 bushels and the cash basis was steady. The big movement lacks buyers temporarily, at least would have to carry a big load and therefore would not care to buy except on good breaks for quick turns. Rye: Profit taking took the edge off the market for the time being, and there was less outside demand. The seaboard reported 400,000 bushels taken for export and the foreign news is bullish. We believe a rise will sell much higher on its merits.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—The wheat market was fairly strong at the opening this morning and with the exception of some hedging activity in the session there was no pressure in evidence, closing prices being 1 1/2 higher for October and 1 1/2 higher for November future. Wheat was quoted for the first time to-day, at 11 1/2 and 11 1/2 cents higher.

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—The Royal Financial Corporation, a local concern, was the successful tenderer for the $735,000 debenture issue of the City of Vancouver awarded to-day. For a fifteen-year issue of $320,000 the successful bid was 97.482, bringing the city $311,942 and for a forty-year issue of $415,000 the successful bid was 95.191, bringing the city $407,492.

$500,000 FIRE IN CITY OF BUFFALO

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 8.—Fire which followed an explosion in the cupola of the Exchange Elevator on the Erie Basin domed the structure this afternoon. Practically every available piece of fire apparatus in the city and two fireboats were battling the flames in an effort to save surrounding property. Three men caught on the top floor when the explosion occurred slid 150 feet to safety on a belt in the canal tower, a brick structure on the side of the elevator. The explosion had a capacity of 750,000 bushels and was stated to be about one-third full with wheat and some oats. Early estimates placed the loss at $500,000. Flames from the explosion, believed to have been caused by dust and the breaking of a belt in the cupola, spread rapidly.

STOCK MARKET RISE INDICATES BETTER TRADE IN CANADA

Revival of Demand For Goods Bringing Healthy Business Boom

Montreal, Sept. 8.—A clear note of confidence in the future of Canada has been struck by the stock market so far this season, according to its statement. Notwithstanding issues to-day by Craig Luther & Irvine of the Montreal Stock Exchange. There has been much complaint about poor business in recent months from trade circles and these have not yet been eliminated, the firm says in its statement. Notwithstanding there has been a distinct revival of interest in the stock market and there has been good buying of leading issues. The only conclusion which can be reached from this situation is that men of vision see better times coming, and are anticipating their arrival by acquiring stocks which will improve in value when earnings become better. Meantime there has been an excellent market for a number of issues which represent prosperous concerns. These have served to keep the market interesting to a certain degree for some time back, but they have served largely as individual barometers. In view of the fact that the barometer is pointing to more general prosperity. MERCHANTS MORE OPTIMISTIC. Retail merchants recently sounded an optimistic note at their annual convention and it is evident they are anticipating an early improvement in trade. As stocks in merchants hands are believed to be small a revival of demand would be quickly reflected in the manufacturing business. Ever since the period of war deflation in commodities the bulk of merchants have bought from hand to mouth. One of the interesting aspects of Canada's foreign trade is the decrease of our current purchases abroad while at the same time our exports have continued to show increases. While the total external trade is lower the conditions ought to work to the advantage of home producers. No doubt the settlement between France and Germany has a tendency to create more settled conditions throughout Europe which will soon be reflected by increased buying power. Some of our industries have been suffering through the loss of their European trade so that the outlook is better in that respect and the restoration of general confidence will exert a widespread influence for good. Widely speaking the general outlook is constructive and along the lines which the world has been waiting for ever since the armistice of 1918. Harvesting has commenced in our western wheat fields and while it is admitted that the crop will be smaller than last year, the current and broad prices afford the encouragement that the financial results may be as good as they were a year ago when the crop was a bountiful, but low priced one. With all these points in favor of Canada it would be logical to expect that the stock market will pursue more diligently its opportunity of discounting the future and that the return of confidence will bring into the market a larger volume of money for both investment and speculation, a movement which will be materially aided by the plentiful supply of funds awaiting employment.

Uncle Wiggily. "You wouldn't do that, would you?"
"No, perhaps not," snarled the Bob Cat, flapping his sly little tail. "But be quick—take your bath!"
"I can't take a bath until I fix the wobbly tub," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "You got in, Mr. Bob Cat, and jiggle yourself around. Then I can see which leg of the tub is shorter, thus making it wobble. I can easily make the leg longer, let in the water and take a bath, and then—"
"Yes, then I'll nibble you!" cried the Bob Cat. He jumped into the tub, so Uncle Wiggily could see where it wobbled. But no sooner was the Bob Cat in the tub than Uncle Wiggily poured in the salt water from his hat and suddenly opened the faucets.
"The salt water got in the Bob Cat's eyes. The water from the faucets filled the tub and nearly drowned the Bob Cat. Out he jumped, howling: 'You played a trick on me! You played a trick!'"
"Of course I did!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as the Bob Cat, dripping wet, ran downstairs. "Ha! ha! Of course I did."
Then the bunny fixed the wobbly tub and took a bath and all was well. And if the spelling book doesn't throw a lot of hard words at the blackboard and make the clock tick upside down, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily at school.

The Surprising Sex

By MILDRED BARBOUR—Author of "Love Stakes," Etc.

Ah, that was best of all! To be Blake's constant companion, to look after his Washington menage as she had done after the home in Cranston, to cook and mend for him, perhaps to read to him when he was tired as he had read to her father. They were blissful thoughts, but not unmixing with dismay.

Could she ever qualify for such an exalted position?

On her knees that night by her bedside she prayed that she might and thanked God for the opportunity to try.

In the library downstairs Blake was writing a letter to Anna explaining why he had failed to meet her.

Uncle Wiggily's Wobbly Tub

Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"This is our last day at the seashore, Nurse Jane," said Uncle Wiggily to his misanthropic lady housekeeper one morning. "To-morrow we shall go back to the hollow stump bungalow and watch the animal boys and girls start for school—vacations are over!"

"And I am rather sorry," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "We have spent a very happy time at the shore, even with the Sea Urchin, the Sand Flipper and the Walrus bothering you now and then."

"Oh, I didn't mind them so much!" laughed the bunny. "But as this is our last day at the shore, I think I shall have something to remember when we get back to Woodland."

However, when Uncle Wiggily hopped down to the beach, he found the salty waves so high and rough that he dared not go in.

"They would wash away over my ears," he said. "I shall take a little salt water with me back to the driftwood bungalow, put it in the bath tub there and bathe in that."

Filling his tall silk hat with sea water Uncle Wiggily hopped back up the sand, and when Nurse Jane saw him coming she couldn't help laughing.

"It looks so funny seeing a rabbit gentleman carrying a tall silk hat filled with sea water," she chuckled. "Uncle Wiggily didn't mind that, though, and soon he was pouring the salt water from his hat into the bath tub in the driftwood bungalow, where he had been boarding for the Summer with Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy."

Of course Uncle Wiggily couldn't carry up from the beach, in his hat, enough salt water for an active bath. He only brought a little salt water, and he intended to open the faucets of the tub and fill it with other water. But before he did this he thought he would try the tub.

Now Uncle Wiggily had done all of his bathing in the ocean, up to this time—not having used the bungalow. And when he started to get in, to try the tub, on account of the ocean being so rough, he found that the tub was wobbly—very wobbly indeed. One of the legs was longer than the other, and the tub tilted from side to side when Uncle Wiggily stepped in. Oh, how wobbly it was! "I must fix this before I pour the salt water in, and turn the faucets," thought the bunny. "I must fix this wobbly tub."

"And I must fix your ears so they will be easy to nibble!" shouted a voice at the door, and into the bath room slipped the Bob Cat. He had been waiting for a chance to catch the bunny rabbit.

"Oh, Mr. Bob Cat! Don't nibble my ears until I have a bath!" begged

She couldn't help laughing

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Wobbly Tub

Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

When a voice answered at the other end of the line, Anna bit her lip in vexation. She recognized it as that of a certain Miss Ellen Darcy, spinster and gossip extraordinary, in response to her query:

"Yes, he's at home. It's Anna Dennington, isn't it? How's your ma this morning, Anna?"

There was no use in trying to deceive those sharp ears, Anna concluded. "The same, thank you."

"That's good. I was just talking about her to John Blake. I'm staying here, you know, till Sarah Ames gets back. Blake said it wouldn't be just right for him and Julie to stay here by themselves—this town's so full of gossip."

Anna could cheerfully have throttled her.

"I'll call him," Miss Darcy went on

Do Film Stars Earn Fat Salaries? Ask Gloria—She Knows!

Sun and Lights and Make-up Conspire to Keep Aspiring Players Perspiring

Ice to the Front of Her, Ice to the Right of Her, Ice to the Left—and even to the Back of Her as Gloria Swanson rests between sweltering scenes.

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The title of this tale might be "How to Keep Cool on Five Thousand a Week."

Here is the exotic and gorgeous Gloria Swanson, envy of millions, with spending money enough of her own to warrant a Summer at Newport, Southampton, Deauville or Biarritz or any playground in the world, snatching a moment from work to apply ice to her wrists and neck.

She's spending her Summer on Long Island, all right, but not at any of the fashionable resorts. These are screens made of solid rows of high-powered mercury lights. All over the ceiling are cunningly concealed spotlights that can shoot down enough electricity to do all but electrocute the victim whenever advisable.

As a feeble counter-irritant cakes of ice are placed in tubs and batteries of electric fans behind them are supposed to suggest polar breezes, but the suggestion is lost unless you actually touch the ice.

Of course, you may not earn Gloria Swanson's income, and you may not have her figure or her lure, you have it all over her when it comes to comfort these days.

And if you don't believe she earns her salary these days, you have only to watch her melt away to be convinced.

MAKING YOUR LAWN

One of the Most Important Features of Your Garden; How to Lay it Out and Sow it; Some Dangers to be Avoided

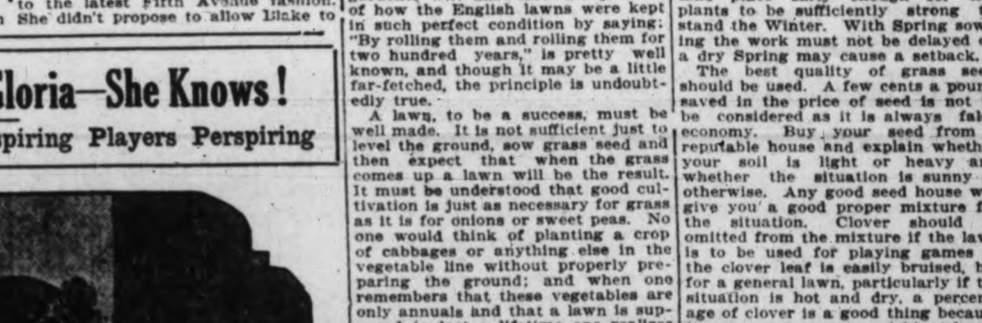

By JOHN HUTCHISON, F.R.H.S.

In England, where gardening has been brought to a higher state of perfection than in any other part of the world, the lawn is an essential feature. The old story of the English gardener who answered the question of how the English lawns were kept in such perfect condition by saying: "By rolling them and sowing them two hundred years ago" is pretty well known, and though it may be a little far-fetched, the principle is undoubtedly true.

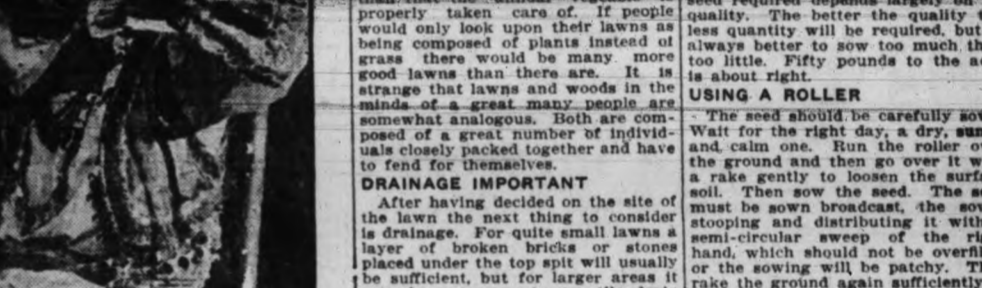

A lawn, to be a success, must be well laid. It is not sufficient just to level the ground, sow grass seed and then expect that when the grass comes up a lawn will be the result. It must be understood that good cultivation is just as necessary for grass as it is for onions or peas. No one would think of planting a crop of cabbages or anything else in the vegetable line without properly preparing the ground; and the same applies to the lawn. The soil must be well worked, and the grass seed must be sown in a way that will insure its germination.

The best quality of grass seed should be used. A few cents a pound saved in the price of seed is not to be considered as it is always false economy. Buy your seed from a reputable house and explain whether your soil is light or heavy and comes up a lawn will be the result. It must be understood that good cultivation is just as necessary for grass as it is for onions or peas. No one would think of planting a crop of cabbages or anything else in the vegetable line without properly preparing the ground; and the same applies to the lawn. The soil must be well worked, and the grass seed must be sown in a way that will insure its germination.

JEFFERS ARRIVED WITH RAW SILK REPUTED TO BE VALUED AT $16,000,000

Shipment Comprised 8,200 Bales and 600 Cases of Finished Silk; Ship Brought in 450 Passengers Including Party of Chinese and Filipino Students.

Bringing in the most valuable silk cargo that has ever been shipped across the Pacific by one vessel, the Admiral-Oriental liner President Jefferson, Capt. Francis R. Nichols, reached here Sunday morning from the Orient.

In the liner's hold was a $16,000,000 silk cargo represented by 8,200 bales of raw silk and 600 cases of manufactured silk.

In the ship's cabins were 230 first class passengers and 228 in the stowage accommodation.

The Jefferson was twenty-four hours ahead of her schedule, after encountering considerable rough weather, and at the end of the voyage sixteen hours of heavy fog.

The vessel was expected to make quarantine just after sunrise, but owing to the fog which lay in the Straits, did not secure pratique until after 7 a.m.

With fog still hanging over the water the President Jefferson docked in this port at about 9:30 o'clock, and immediately proceeded to unload what cargo she had for Victoria.

On board were 146 Chinese and Filipino university students.

Capt. F. R. Nichols, commander of the ship, stated that the voyage had been a pleasant one, barring fog, which was encountered between Cape Flattery and William Head. At that the steamer was about twenty hours ahead of time, he said.

There were only a few passengers who disembarked here, and these were as follows: Mrs. Mary G. Petterson, Miss Galina Petroff, H. E. Punnett, A. J. MacMillan, Mrs. T. S. Ross, Miss V. Ross, G. A. Tisdall, P. L. Wold and Mrs. Mary Wold.

The immense cargo of silk which the Jefferson carried, for besides her own that which would have been brought by the manufacturer had she not been damaged in the China Seas, warranted the waiting of three special trains in Seattle to carry it eastward to the manufacturer and silk merchants of New York and other Atlantic coast cities.

There were only a few passengers who disembarked here, and these were as follows: Mrs. Mary G. Petterson, Miss Galina Petroff, H. E. Punnett, A. J. MacMillan, Mrs. T. S. Ross, Miss V. Ross, G. A. Tisdall, P. L. Wold and Mrs. Mary Wold.

The Great Northern railway has broken the transcontinental train record with its new "silk special," according to G.N.R. office reports received here to-day.

A. H. Hebb, local agent for the Great Northern here, stated this morning that his company had established a time for freight trains which had surpassed all previous records of American lines.

The train from Seattle to St. Paul, a distance of 1,795 miles, the latest silk train over the G.N.R. road took 27 hours 15 minutes. This time makes the average speed of the train something like 65 miles per hour.

The New York record, Mr. Hebb says, is even greater than that to St. Paul. It took the Great Northern train just 70 hours and 58 minutes to travel from Seattle to the great Eastern metropolis.

Four cars, divided into three separate trains, took the President Jefferson's $16,000,000 silk consignment from Seattle to the East yesterday. The trains travel over Union Pacific lines.

TWO JAPANESE SHIPS NEAR PORT

Shidzuoka Maru and Manila Maru Both Due Here Tomorrow

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Shidzuoka Maru, Capt. N. Narui, will arrive in quarantine at daybreak tomorrow, according to the latest wireless dispatches from her commander.

The Shidzuoka Maru left Yokohama on August 27, one day ahead of the Manila Maru. The ship is now approximately 200 miles ahead of the O.R.K. steamer Manila Maru.

Both vessels have considerable cargo for this port, the Shidzuoka carrying 100 tons for Victoria, and the Manila seven bales of mail. She has no passengers for Victoria, however, and only ten first-class for Seattle.

PRINCE JOHN HITS ROCK IN FOG BUT ESCAPES DAMAGE

Was Bound For Prince Rupert When Accident Occurred Yesterday Morning

The Canadian National Railway's steamer Prince John, operated by the Grand Trunk Pacific, from Prince Rupert, struck a rock early yesterday morning. Fog still continues to hang heavily over the water between here and Prince Rupert, and in fact the Prince John was steaming very slowly at the time the accident occurred and was just going through Beaver Passage, near Pitt and Banks islands, and was at the time about forty miles out of Prince Rupert.

The accident occurred early yesterday morning, the agents for the steamer announced to-day from their offices in the northern city. There was no difficulty experienced after she struck.

Prince Rupert, Sept. 8.—The passenger steamer Prince John struck a rock and was slightly damaged yesterday morning when it was steaming very slowly in a heavy fog through Beaver Passage, forty miles from here, it was announced here to-day. The vessel arrived here leaking slightly, but it will be repaired sufficiently to enable the boat to resume her voyage to-night, a report from the owners states.

The Prince John is not seriously injured, and the fact that she will resume her schedule to-night indicates that her owners do not think she was more than slightly scratched.

George E. Wilkerson Died Suddenly While Tending Flowers in Greenhouse

Inquest into the sudden death of George Edward Wilkerson will be held at the B.C. Funeral Establishment at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Mr. Wilkerson was found dead in his greenhouse on Douglas Street on Saturday. The late Mr. Wilkerson was a pioneer florist of Victoria, who for the past thirty-five years had been engaged in the cultivation of flowers in this district.

For twenty-five years he held the post of Dominion inspector of fruits at this port, and was a well-known figure at the docks on the arrival of vessels.

Mr. Wilkerson, who was fifty-nine years of age, came to Victoria in 1889, and until he decided to give up the retail trade and devote his time to the greenhouse industry, was connected with the firm of Wilkerson & Brown, on Fort Street.

His birthplace was Surrey, England, where he was born June 27, 1866. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Miss Flossie Wilkerson, at the family home at 1118 Yates Street; two other daughters, Mrs. J. P. Lins, of San Francisco; and Mrs. W. N. Kennedy, of Toronto; one son, W. H. Wilkerson, of Victoria; and a sister, Miss E. L. Wilkerson, of 442 Superior Street.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.
