Good Night.

Downward sinks the setting sun,
Soft the evening shadows fall;
Light is flying,
Day is dying,
Darkness stealth over all.
Good night.

Autumn garners in her stores,
Poison of the fading year;
Leaves are dying,
Winds are sighing,
Whispering of the Winter near.
Good night.

Youth is vanished, manhood wanes,
Age its forward shadows throws;
Day is dying,
Years are flying,
Life runs onward to its close.
Good night.

HOW A WAG TRICKED THE PARSONS.

—A late Frazer's Magazine contains an article about Scottish parsons of the writer's recollections, in the course of which he tells the following anecdote of a trick Judge Robertson played upon the Synod of Cleishmaclaver on their way to the General Assembly of the Scotch Kirk:

The brethren had started by coach at an early hour, and had traveled some twenty miles before they reached the inn where breakfast was prepared for them. The keen air of the Northern hills sharpens the appetite; and when the brethren drove up to the inn they were almost famished with hunger. "Now, gentlemen, just ten minutes for breakfast," said the coachman, as he entered the landlady's snug little parlor to have his own. Ten minutes! The time was short, so they must make the most of it. They rushed into the room where the breakfast was spread, and there, basking his ample person before the fire, stood a portly gentleman, dress somewhat like a dignitary of the Church of England. Their appetite was keener than their curiosity, so they scarcely looked at the stranger, but concentrated all their attention on the viands.

Half way in the air, before the morsel had reached their lips, their hands were arrested by the sudden cry of "Stop!" It was the supposed dean or bishop. "Good heavens, gentlemen!" he exclaimed, "have you so far forgotten your sacred profession as to partake of food without invoking a blessing?" The brethren looked like schoolboys detected in some flagrant fault; but before they had time to remonstrate or explain, the same voice exclaimed, in a voice which enforced obedience, "Let us pray." They instinctively sprang to their feet, and assumed the attitude of decorous devotion, while the stranger offered up a prayer which, they themselves admitted, was superior in unctious and expression to those of Dr. Drawlout himself. He had only one fault: he did not know when to stop. The minutes rolled rapidly away, but the stream of fervent supplication flowed on without a break. They had a terrible struggle, the brethren had, as they closed one eye in devotion, and ogled the savory viands with the other; but when a hand approached it drew back before the stern stranger, which seemed to comprehend them all.

The sufferings of Tantalus were nothing to the sufferings of the deputations from the Synod of Cleishmaclaver; but all things must have an end. "Time is up, gentlemen," said the coachman, opening the door and wiping his mouth with the air of one who had enjoyed his breakfast. The appearance of the coachman and the sound of his familiar voice broke the spell, but there was no time to be lost; the horses were shaking their heads and pawing the ground in their impatience to start; so they had to take their seats and turn breakfast and dinner into one. "Was that the Bishop of D—?" said one of the famished brethren. "That the Bishop of D—?" said the coachman, contemptuously; "Why, that was Lord P—, the maddest wag in all the kingdom." The brethren said nothing, but "chewed the cud of sweet but bitter fancy," till they reached the next halting place, where they got something more substantial to chew. Somehow the story oozed out, and the track played on the members of the synod of Cleishmaclaver called for many a hearty laugh at the Lord High Commissioner's levees, and seriously affected the gravity of the moderator himself.

STATE'S EVIDENCE.—A drunken lawyer going into church was observed by the minister, who addressed him thus: "I will bear witness against that sinner on the day of judgment." The lawyer, shaking his head with drunken gravity, replied—"I have practiced at the bar twenty years, and have always found that the greatest rascal is the first to turn State's evidence."

NEVER rejoice in the misfortunes of others—the clouds may be rising which will overwhelm your own prospects.

THE COTTON FAMINE.—We hear less now of the cotton famine and the 200,000 English operatives supported by charity; but their is a curious feature in the whole affair that is very remarkable. The stoppage in the supply of cotton does not create a dearth among the consumers but among the manufacturers. The consumption of cotton goods has not been sensibly diminished, both sexes wear about as much cotton goods as before, linen has not come into more general use, nor has wool taken the place of the Southern staple. The real fact is that England had been manufacturing too much cotton goods, and, had peace continued in this country, a few years would have produced the same result in England that we now perceive. This fact is patent, and yet English writers close their eyes to it. It is, and ever will be, dangerous beyond all peradventure, to have over a quarter of a million of the population dependent upon the manufacture of one article of foreign growth. They must employ a large mass of this population in other fields of labor. When the race of small farmers was extinguished gradually to make the population factory hands, the final result was inevitable, and many a warning voice was raised. Now we see the fatal consequence; but English statesmen look as the only cure to a large supply of cotton. This will not be a cure, but simply an anodyne, lulling the patient while the disease gains strength.

The hope now is that the cotton on its way to market will give four and a half days' work next year to English mills, and English Secessionists are prying for Union triumphs and cotton. They even indulge the hope that by 1865 or 1866 "the whole of Lancashire may be at full work without a bale of cotton being received from America." Here will be the rock. When cotton becomes plentiful the price will fall, many plantations that pay only under the present high prices of the staple will be put to other uses, and cotton be raised only where it can be most profitably, and they will thus be made again dependent on this country.

Like their own kings, they never learn by experience, and will then doubtless rush again into overmanufacturing, and be just as ready as ever to fan discontent in this country, in hopes of making a few hundred pounds by privateers and blockade runners, even if they have to support a quarter of a million extra of paupers.

India is a vast rich dependence of England, and she would find it far cheaper to send out 100,000 of these operatives and colonize them there, furnishing them for three years with supplies and necessary implements to cultivate the land. She might thus indeed make them raise cotton for those left in England to spin.

GAY TIMES ON THE RAILROAD.—Out on the Dubuque and Sioux City Railroad travelers and employees have the gayest possible times. The train is only about two hours making the first nine miles.

The other day, just this side of Peosta, a boy ran along side of the train for nearly half a mile, yelling, "Mr. Cawley! Mr. Cawley!" at the top of his voice. At length the conductor heard him and asked what was the matter.

"Why," said the boy, "father's big bull has jumped on to the hind car."

Cy ran back, and sure enough, on the platform of the hind car stood a big bovine leisurely chewing his cud, and contentedly enjoying a view of the country from his elevated position. The conductor had the brakes whistled down, and the noble critter was helped off. He had been seen standing on the side of the track for several days, and had probably deliberately come to the conclusion that he could wait till the train passed and then catch up to it, jump on the hind car and take a free ride. He tried it and won. Since then the conductor has placed the cow catcher on the rear end of his train, and has had no more trouble with animals on his hind car.

Out of Manchester, Independence, Waterloo and Cedar Falls, they send messenger boys on horseback to meet the train and get the Times—so anxious are they for news. The newsboy on the train throws them the papers, and they gallop back, thus enabling the people of those enterprising towns to read the latest intelligence from the seat of war from two to three hours sooner than they otherwise would.

The Dubuque and Sioux City is a great road for time. You can ride longer on it than any other road in the country for the same amount of fare.—D. Times.

The system of employing substitutes was practiced to some extent in the Revolutionary war. Mr. Elijah Gaylord, now or very recently a resident of the State of New York, and nearly 100 years of age, engaged as a substitute during the War of Independence at Hartford, Conn., where he was born, in consideration of a com, a suitable outfit of clothing, one blanket, a few farming utensils and 12 bushels of wheat per month.

A DOWN EAST JURYMEN.—"Ethan Spike" contributes to the Portland Transcript a sketch of his experience as a jurorman. The first cases he was called to try were capital ones, the criminals being a German and a "nigger" respectively.

"Have you formed any opinion for or against the prisoners?" said the judge.

"Not particular against the Jarmin," says I, "but I hate niggers as a general principle, and shall go for hanging this here old white-wooled cuss, whether he killed Mr. Coogor or not," says I.

"Do you know the nature of an oath," the clerk axed me.

"I orter," says I, "I've used enough of them; I began to swear when I was only about—"

"That'll do," says the clerk. "You can go hum," says he; you wont be wanted in this ere case," says the clerk, says he.

"What!" says I. "Ain't I to try this nigger at all?"

"No," says the clerk.

"But I'm a jewryman," says I, "and you can't hang the nigger unless I've sot on him," says I.

"Pass on," says the clerk, speaking rather cross.

"But," says I, "you mister, you don't hear what I say. I'm a jewryman, you know, drawed to the box by the seelick men," says I. "I've oellers had a hankering to hang a nigger, and now when a merciful dispensary seems to have provided one for me, you say I shan't sit on him? Ar this your free institutions? Is this the nineteenth century? And is this your boasted—"

Here somebody cried "Silence in Court!"

"The Court be—" I didn't finish the remark fore a couple of constable had hold of me, and in the twinkling of a bedpost I was hustled down stairs into street.

Now, Mr Editor, let me ask, what are we comin' to when jewrymen—legal lawful jewrymen—kin be tossed about in this way? Talk about cancers, Mormons, spiritualism, free-love and panics—what are they in comparison? Hero's the principle upot. As an individual, perhaps I'm of no great account; 'tain't for me to say; but when as an enlightened jewryman, I was tuck and carried down stairs by profain hands, just for asserting my right to sit on a nigger—why it seems to me the pillows of society were shook; that in my sacred person the whole stote itself was, figgeratively speaking, kicked down stairs! If thar's law ik the land, I'll have this kase brought up under a writ of habeas corpus or ioksey dickett.

HOW SAL DISGRACED THE FAMILY.—A traveler in the State of Illinois, some years ago, came to a log out in the prairie near Cairo, and there halted. He went into the house of logs. It was a wretched affair, with an empty packing ing box for a table, while two or three chairs and disabled stools graced the reception room, the dark walls of which were further ornamented by a display of dirty tinware and an article or two. A woman was crying in one corner, and a man, with tears in his eyes and a pipe in his mouth, sat on a stool, with his dirty arms resting on his knees, and his sorrowful looking head supported by the palms of his hands. Not a word greeted the intruder. "Well," he said, "you seem to be in a peak of trouble here; what's up?" "Oh, we are most crazed, neighbor," said the woman, and we ain't got no patience to talk to folks now." "That's all right," said the visitor, not much taken aback by this polite rebuff; "but can I be of any service to you in your trouble?" "Well, we've lost our gal; our Sal's gone off and left us," said the man, in a tone of despair. "Ah; do you know what induced her to leave you?" asked the new arrival. "We can't say, stranger, as how's she's so far lost as to be seduced; but, then, she's gone and disgraced us," remarked the afflicted father. "Who has she gone with?" asked the stranger. "Well, there's the very trouble. The gal might have done well, and could have married Martin Kehoe, a capital shoemaker, who, although he's got one eye, plays the flute in the liveliest manner, and earns a good living; then look what a home she's deserted. She was surrounded with every luxury in the country," said the father. "Yes, and who knows what Sal will have to eat, drink and wear now?" groaned the old woman. "And who is this man that has taken her from you and led her into such misery?" asked the stranger. "Why, Lord bless you, she's gone off and got married to a critter called an editor, and lives in the village; and how on earth do you 'spect he kin earn her a livin'?"

CONTENT is the richest of nature: he is richest who is contented with the least.

THE first law of gravity—never laugh at your own joke.

A BIG INCLINATION.—I was acquainted with a well-disposed young gentleman of large fortune, whose only fault was the habit of swearing—a habit that he often declared he would give half his fortune to be rid of. This desire came to the ears of a Quaker, who thereupon sought an interview with him and said:

"I can cure thee of that bad habit." Whereupon the youth caught bold of the Quaker's hand and gave it a hearty shake, saying:

"How can you perform this miracle?" "I will tell thee. I see that thou art about my size; nobody will know thee; thou shalt come to my house, put on the cocked hat, the coat without buttons, the knee-breeches, and the shoe-buckles, and thou shalt find the strangeness of thy attire will have such an effect upon thee when thou art going to speak, that it will restrain thee from swearing—as thou, my friend, undoubtedly knowest that we Quakers never swear."

The young man cheerfully assented to the proposal, and accompanied the Quaker to his house, whence, after changing his clothes, he took his departure in the garb of a Quaker, and went on his way rejoicing.

The period of the young man's tour elapsed and the Quaker, all anxiety, started to meet him, and asked:

"Well, friend, how hast thou got on?"

"Very well."

"Hast thou sworn so much with that dress on?"

The young man, rubbing the sleeve of his coat, replied:

"Certainly not; but I felt a big inclination to lie!"

AN INCIDENT IN THE EAST.—A lady of New York, who has recently been travelling in the East, has published a book entitled "Over the Ocean, or Glimpses of Travel in the East." Speaking of the Eastern custom, requiring ladies to conceal their faces from the eyes of men, she relates, with delightful naïveté, the following laughable incident:

A friend was sailing down the Nile with some companions, when they espied at some distance a group of females in the river, who were clad simply in their ceemises, without veils or other ordinary coverings of the head and face. Pleased with the opportunity—one rarely offered of seeing them unveiled—Mr. B directed the boatman to proceed as noiseless as possible, that they might approach them unperceived. They succeeded admirably, and were almost in the bathers' midst before being discovered. But no sooner were the intruders seen by the alarmed females, than anxious to hide themselves from the rude gaze of strangers, they threw over their faces the only covering they possessed, and stood blindfolded, like the ostrich, who thrusts her head into the sand, and fancies her whole body hidden.

A DUTCH farmer, just clad in the ermine of a justice of the peace, had his first marriage in this way. He first said to the man:

"Vell, you wants to be marrit, do you?"

"Yes," answered the man.

"Vell, you lovesth dis voman so good as any voman you have ever seen?"

"Yes."

Then to the woman:

"Vell, do you lovesth this man so better as any man you have ever seen?"

She hesitated a little, and he repeated:

"Vell, vell, do you like him so vell as to be his wife?"

"Yes, yes," she answered.

"Vell, dat is all any reasonable man can expect; so you are both marrit. I pronounce you man and wife."

The man drew out his pocketbook and asked the justice what was to pay.

"Nothing at all, nothing at all, you are velcum to it if it will do fou any good."

ARTEMUS Ward has been negotiating by telegraph with Manager Maguire, of San Francisco, for a professional tour in this State. The last telegram was, "What will you take for the first thirty nights?" To which Artemus replied, "Brandy and water."

HARD-UP-NES is a great incentive to heroism. Poor devils make the best fighters—Tell a soldier just before battle, that he is the heir to fifty thousand dollars yearly, and he will have religious care to preserve his carcass unperforated by stray bullets, in order to enjoy his good fortune.

AN Irishman on board a vessel when she was on the point of foundering, being desired to come on deck as she was going down, replied that he had no desire to go on deck to "see himself drowned."

THE Parisian ladies who don't like the emperor, have adopted a novel way of expressing their contempt. When he goes to the opera, they look at him through the wrong end of their glass, making him appear Napoleon the Little.

DARING BURGLARY.—Another daring burglary took place in this city at about three o'clock yesterday morning. The boarding house kept by Jacob Foster (colored), on Third street and the Alley between K and L streets, was entered through a window on the alley. The window was forced open by means of a chisel, and one of the party entered and opened the side door. A large iron safe, weighing about three hundred pounds was then carried off, two at least being required to perform that duty. It was taken to a vacant lot on the south side of the alley, where it was forced open by means of chisels and a large sledge hammer. A colored man named Hackett, living in an old house on the alley, heard the whole operation, but could not leave his house to give the alarm without passing the burglars. He was afraid to give the alarm for fear of being murdered, and hoped but in vain that the police would come to intercept the proceedings. Some six or seven men were engaged in the burglary, one of whom was stationed as a picket at the end of the alley to give word if anybody should approach. They occupied fifteen or twenty minutes in breaking open the safe, and the blows of the sledge hammer could be heard at a distance of two or three blocks. They were not interrupted, however, and succeeded in getting about $30 for their pains. The chest had the day before contained about $800, but fortunately the money had been removed just in time. —Sac. Union, 5th.

WOOL, CEREALS, MINERALS.—We wish every wool grower in the State to send us samples of their wool for our sample table, also, of cereals, and products of the grain fields. To our friends in the Mining Regions, we would solicit specimens of the different ores, for our Cabinet at our new office, and any other favors, especially subscriptions.—Cal. Wine, Wool, and Stock Journal.

COPPER EXCITEMENT IN COLUSA.—The Marysville Express of the 10th has the following:

We received a letter from Colusa last night, in which the writer says that a great copper excitement is raging in that county. We extract the following from the letter: "We are all laboring under a tremendous excitement, and our streets are filled with crazy people, suffering from 'copper on the brain.' A few days ago A. Duff Green came in with some specimens of almost pure copper, taken from the ground at Indian Valley, at a depth of about three feet below the surface, and sounded the alarm, and the people of all the surrounding country started off, some in buggies, some on horseback, and some two on a mule. The distance is about forty miles due west from here, or a little to the north. Hundreds of people got there, and soon eat the country out, and had no blankets to sleep on, but they found such rich copper that they did without food or shelter for a day or two. I saw J. Hop Woods this morning, who has just returned with some rich specimens, and he says you can find copper in chunks all over the surface, ranging from forty-five to ninety per cent., and the best in the State. Pieces of rock have been found weighing ten pounds containing nine pounds of copper. We have now got two crazy men in the county jail, and are daily looking for a number of others, if the excitement keeps up."

CHILD SMOTHERED TO DEATH.—Yesterday morning the residents of the vicinity of Fourteenth and R streets were called to a house occupied by a man named James Leary and his wife, by cries of murder. On reaching the ground the husband was found to be engaged in brutally beating his wife with a piece of board six inches wide and three feet long. Both were quite drunk, but especially the wife, who was lying on the ground in the yard. On further investigation, a child, four months old, was found dead in bed, having, as is supposed, been smothered to death in the night by its drunken parents. The beating did not appear to be administered by the husband on account of the death of the child but on general principles. Both parties were arrested and taken to the station house by special officer Childs. Some two years ago one of their children was scalded to death through the drunkenness of the parents. —Union, 9th.

GREENBACKS.—The correspondent of the Bulletin, writing from Portland, Oregon, says:

The Supreme Court of this State at its last September Session at Salem, decided that the act of Congress making Treasury Notes a legal Tender for all debts, public and private, was constitutional. The decision is without condition or restriction, and maintains that these notes are a valid tender for all debts, no difference whether contracted before or after the passage of the act. The Bench consists of five Judges—Boise, Chief Justice, and Shattuck, Wilson, Stratton and Prim, Associates. The latter two dissent from the opinion of the Court. So that question is settled so far as this State is concerned until it passes the ordeal of the Supreme Court of the United States.

On Saturday, November 1st, two ox teams, returning from Carson Valley over the Amador and Nevada roads, were overtaken by two men on horseback and one of them was robbed of $500 and a watch.

ABANDONED ESTATES.—The Secretary of War has issued general orders number 381, which begin thus: "All houses, tenements, lands and plantations, except such as may be required for military purposes, which have been or may be deserted and abandoned by insurgents within the lines of the military occupation of the United States forces, in States declared by proclamation of the President to be in insurrection, will hereafter be under the supervision and control of the supervising special agents of the Treasury Department."

NOT EXPECTED TO RECOVER.—Maria Louisa Nicira, the girl who was sleeping in the bedroom with the little boy, Wm. Joseph Silver, who was suffocated with gas on Sunday night, is so low this morning that no hopes are entertained of her recovery. Her mouth and nose have turned black from the effects of the deadly vapor, and her throat is so swollen as to make it impossible for her to swallow any medicine or food. The funeral of the little boy will take place this afternoon.—S. F. Press.

THE QUICKEST PASSAGE AROUND THE HORN.—The new steamer of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's line, the Golden City, arrived at Panama October 24th, 51 days out from New York. This, we believe, is the quickest passage around Cape Horn yet on record. She will bring the passengers who left New York on the 3d instant.

In the Treasury, on Saturday last, there was $327,451 01—$27,467 83 of which was in the General fund.

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.
Invigorate the System.
Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.
Strengthen the System.
The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wanted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthful invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged. In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females. Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances & derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the oppressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

Beware of Counterfeits. Purchase only of reliable dealers, Sold everywhere. HOSTETTER, SMITH & DEAN, Agents, 227 Montgomery street, (Rus Block,) San Francisco.

Dr. Guyssott's Improved Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla Will Cure without Fail

Scrofula or King's Evil, Cancers, Tumors, Eruptions of the skin, Erysipelas, Chronic Sore Eyes, Ringworm or Tetter, Scald Head, Rheumatism, Pains in the Bones and Joints, Old Sores and Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Diseases of the Kidneys, Loss of Appetite, Disease arising from the use of Mercury, Pain in the Side and Shoulder, General Debility, Dropsy, Jaundice, Lumbago, &c.

Dr. Guyssott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla put up in the largest sized bottles, contains more of the Honduras Sarsaparilla than any other preparation extant, which is combined with the extract of Yellow Dock, the extract of Wild Cherry and the Balsam of Fir, thus making the remedy more thoroughly efficient than any other Sarsaparilla before the public. At the same time it is perfectly free from ALL mineral poisons, which can not be said of any other of the Sarsaparilla compounds. The Invalid should beware of poisons. Mercury, Iron, Quinine, Potash, Iodine, Sulphur, Arsenic, and many other mineral and metallic poisons enter into and form the active basis of most of the Sarsaparilla and panacea of the day. Guyssott's Compound Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla does not contain a particle of the substances; as any one can ascertain by applying the necessary tests.

These poisons may occasionally remove disease, but they so vitiate the blood and impregnate the whole system with their baneful effects, that the first cold or the first attack of disease, prostrates the patient's strength and subjects him or her to the most excruciating torture, and renders another cure almost impossible and hopeless. Let all poisonous Sarsaparilla preparations alone, and use Guyssott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, which is thoroughly efficacious, perfectly harmless and purely vegetable. All kinds of diseases yield to its genial influence.

Caution.—Beware of counterfeits. All genuine Dr. Guyssott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has the name of JOHN D. PARK, Present Proprietor, Cincinnati, O., on the label.
Remember this fact when buying, all without the name of "JOHN D. PARK, Cincinnati, Ohio," on the label are counterfeits.

THE Knight's Landing News.

THE FORMATION OF ICEBERGS.—The snow which falls thickly on the Arctic islands and continents, being melted in summer, forms collections of fresh water, which soon freezes and increases yearly until the mass becomes mountainous and rises to the elevation of the surrounding cliffs. The melting of the snow deposited on these elevations adds to their growth, and by filling up the interstices renders the whole solid. When such a mass has reached the height of 1,000 or 1,200 feet, the accumulated weight, assisted by the action of the ocean at its base, plunges into the sea, and by winds and currents is carried southwards, and finally disappears before the influence of the Gulf Stream, which throws an isothermal line from Newfoundland to the coast of Iceland, deflecting it upwards very nearly through twenty degrees of north latitude. Frequently these ponderous crystals hide trices as much of their proportions below the water as they expose above it, and float, grinding the rocks of the sea bottom as they go, with a force that may perhaps be visible to some future geologist when they shall be exalted the proud promontories of a now nameless continent. They carry huge boulders from the Arctic rocks and disperse them over the bed of the North Atlantic, and for the whaler they bear rich provision of fresh water, of which he spoils them.

JEFF. Davis's life, if fully narrated, would fill a large volume, but its end will be told by a single line.

PATENT COMBINED GANG PLOW,

SEED SOWER AND HARROW.

We have purchased the right this great labor-saving implement for the State of California, and are having a number made in the Atlantic States for this market.

With this combined Machine one man, with six horses, can do the work of three twelve inch plows, besides sowing the grain, and harrowing it in as he proceeds, thus finishing his work in the best manner possible, without being obliged to travel over the plowed ground. This Machine was very thoroughly tested by the farmers of Santa Clara county, where some eighty are now in use; also, by the Messrs. Hensel & Kethley, of this county, and Messrs. Hoppin Brothers, near Cacheville, Yolo county. It is made very substantial; is not liable to get out of order, and being on large truck wheels, the Gang Plow, Seed Sower and Harrow, runs lighter than three plows would, cutting the same amount of land.

We are desirous of having these plows generally introduced throughout the State, and are therefore prepared to offer very favorable inducements to farmers and the trade. The following are some of the names of our customers who have used them for the past two seasons:

Sacramento county.—Hensel & Kethley.
Yolo county.—Hoppin Brothers, L M Curtis, Caleb Davis, C Travers, A J Scroggins.
Sutter county.—M Boulware, A L Chandler.

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY!!!

CALIFORNIA MARBLE.

HAVING been awarded the First Prizes at the different State Fairs for Monumental work, we would respectfully call Particular Attention to our specimens of California Marble, and Workmanship now on hand. It is the best Marble ever found in the United States, and is not excelled in Europe for general purposes. It is free from flint or iron, more compact, of finer texture, and susceptible of as high a polish as the best Italian. As we quarry our own Marble, and are practical workmen in it, we can furnish anything in our line Cheaper than the Cheapest.

And as Good as the Best! To satisfy yourselves of the fact, please call at our Premium Pioneer Marble Works,
