MINING ON DESERT

OATMAN, ARIZONA, IS NOW FLOURISHING TOWN OF 2500 INHABITANTS

Returning from a sojourn of ten days in the new mining town of Oatman, Mr. F. W. Shepard, of 438 N. Louise street, has quite a good deal to tell about that flourishing city. "I left Glendale Saturday, Jan. 8," said Mr. Shepard, "and reached Oatman without mishap. I found the camp very much what it has been described to be with the exception that, since first it was described, the camp has grown to a very considerable extent. It is now a town of 2500 regular inhabitants, with a floating population of 500 more.

"Oatman has two stores for general merchandise. It has one butcher shop. There are two newspapers; but it need hardly be said to those who have seen them that they are not printed in Oatman but in Los Angeles. There are eighteen restaurants in the town and they all seem to be doing well.

"Mickey Forch, a character well known in all the mining towns of Arizona, who made a reputation for himself in Goldfield as a shrewd business man of a kind, is running a poolroom in Oatman and is credited with taking in $600 a week. He sells soft drinks for 15 cents a drink and two for a quarter.

"I noticed while I was in Oatman several people from Glendale whom I knew personally, and a few whom I only knew by sight. They are all trying to get into the business end of the camp or speculating in real estate.

"There is a moving picture show in the camp which is well patronized by the mining population. In the show one can see the number of women in the camp. As usual the men outnumber them two to one.

"The first religious body to come into Oatman is the Episcopalian. The enterprise shown by this body is commendable and in future days will undoubtedly bring forth fruit. Meanwhile it is not any exaggeration to say that the picture show has ten times the attendance of the church.

Another reason for the poor attendance is that in Oatman as in all other mining camps the men are supposed to work seven days in the week. The usual argument for this arrangement prevails here, although there are no saloons. They say, "Oh, it keeps them out of mischief." The men, however, are just as anxious to work the seven days as the employers are to have them do so.

"Frank Yeager, who runs the largest restaurant in Oatman, is making a good thing out of it. He is planning to build a new home for his business. This will be a three-story affair and one of the most pretentious buildings in the camp. The Citizens Bank of Kingman is also erecting a 3-story building. This of itself is an indication of the growing importance of the camp. There are very few camps of this size in California that can boast of three-story buildings.

"It will interest Glendale to learn that the week I left the camp the people had instituted a Chamber of Commerce. This promises to be a very important body there. It has influential members and an ambitious program.

"Among other interesting things about Oatman is a portable bungalow. It is interesting not because it is in any way different from a million other portable bungalows; but because it is the only thing of its kind here. The Union now forbids the erection of any such "take-down" affairs.

"Carpenters' wages in Oatman are $6.00 a day; but it costs most of them nearly $4 a day to live counting merely board and room, without reckoning other expenses. This leaves them $2 a week to support their families on the outside. Electricians get $4.00 a day and the ordinary mucker $3.50.

"Mail is difficult to obtain in the camp. It takes about three days to sort it out and distribute it. Promptly at 6 p. m. the window and doors are shut and the unsuccessful applicants stand outside, like the foolish virgins in the parable.

"Outside the famous Tom Reed mine, which has been producing for ten years and will probably produce for ten years more, there are the new properties, the United Eastern, the Big Jim, the Ivanhoe and the Lucky Boy. The four latter mines are merely prospects as yet, but they are good prospects. They have to be put down much deeper, however, before one can say much about them.

"Coming home the train ran into a washout and we were all put off at Barstow, where we were treated royally by the Southern Pacific. The company gave every passenger meals during the time of delay and made up in the best manner possible for our inconvenience."

MEXICANS IN DISPUTE

Joe Campos and his wife Michelle had a dispute last night that brought them before the police court this morning. The two got into a hot dispute last night at their home at Broadway and Belmont. From words the couple came to blows and Campos hit Michelle with a club of some sort. She was not backward in replying with a sugar bowl which proved an effective missile, though costly. Mutual exchanges of this kind were likely to silence one side or the other when the police interfered. This morning, with the aid of Joe Olivas, the court interpreter, the affair was explained and the couple dismissed with an admonition.

COMET CIRCLES SUN ON JAN. 28

According to Prof. A. O. Leuschner, director of the Students' Observatory at Berkeley, Cal., Taylor's comet will pass around the sun on Jan. 28. This comet is now visible in the northwestern skies if one looks through a telescope. The comet's orbit is a short one, as it takes only five and one third years to make the journey to and from the sun. The light of the comet is said to be decreasing, hence it is faint and will never be visible to the naked eye. Taylor's comet never comes very near the sun. It is a periodic comet and is in the Jupiter family, near the belt of Orion.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair with cloudiness tonight; increased cloudiness Sunday; west and south-west winds.

LOSE TWO GAMES

GLENDALE BOYS GO DOWN TO DEFEAT IN CLOSELY CONTESTED GAMES

Luck deserted the Glendale basketball teams Friday night. The Orange Athletic club unlimiteds defeated the Glendale unlimiteds by a score of 33 to 23. The game was fast and clever, but Glendale lost out on the basket throwing. At half time the score was 15 to 13 in favor of the Orange visitors.

The 140-lb. team of the Whittier Crescents defeated the Glendale Athletic 140-lb. team at Whittier by a score of 30 to 17. The game was closely contested throughout, but the Glendale boys just lacked the shade of excellence necessary for winning.

Glendale Union High School 115-lb. team played the Whittier 115-lb. team last night at the Glendale Athletic club's gymnasium, First and Glendale. The game was hotly contested and ended in a tie, 29 to 29. Four of the scorekeepers, however, said the result was 30-29 in favor of Glendale. The tie was played under protest by Glendale High School and resulted in the victory of Whittier, 31-30. The protest will be prosecuted.

Anybody who desires to attend the basketball game next Tuesday at the University of Southern California can obtain a ticket by calling Dr. Stone, Glendale 1158W, or Frank Littell, who is to be found at the Ford agency.

PREACHER IN VAUDEVILLE

The Rev. Frank Walter Gorman, former pastor of the Atkinson Memorial church of Portland, Ore., is now singing in vaudeville. He has accepted a position on the Keith circuit in New York at a salary of $250 a week. Mr. Gorman was secretary of the Ministerial Society of Portland when he began singing in one of the theaters of that city to get money to pay his debts. This caused a split in his congregation and he resigned and went east to adopt the stage as a profession. He is now visiting his relatives in Brooklyn. His father resides in Glendale. Some months ago Mr. Gorman preached and sang in the Glendale Congregational church with much acceptance.

The Glendale public will certainly enjoy this musical treat, and all club members and their friends are invited to be present on Tuesday afternoon. The program: Romance J. Svensen Intermezzo H. Mrs. Albert Jordan of Los Angeles arrived today and will spend a week or ten days in the H. J. Cornelius home at 1413 West Broadway.

WIN SCHOOL DEBATE

GLENDALE UNION HIGH SCHOOL TEAM BEATS HUNTINGTON BEACH

Glendale Union High School sent a strong debating team to Huntington Beach Friday night, to uphold the credit of the school in debate with the High School there. The team consisted of Joseph Maier and Frank Bridgeford, and was under the direction of Prof. W. D. Root of the English department of Glendale High School. In each case the schools had two teams—the visiting teams taking the affirmative and the home teams the negative.

The subject of debate was: "Resolved that in the United States military training should be made a part of the High School course, it being conceded that the country stands in need of better defense against foreign aggression."

Charles Decker and Frank Lynn constituted the team for Huntington Beach. The judges were Mr. Blalock of the University of Southern California Law School, Prof. Howe of the English Department of Los Angeles Normal School and Mr. Fenwick of the English Department of Manual Arts High School.

In the course of a warm debate the Huntington Beach people took the position that non-resistance was the proper attitude for the United States to assume in the face of foreign aggression. The Glendale boys put up a strong argument and won the decision of all three judges. The trip to Huntington Beach was made by auto and it was necessary to make a journey of 80 miles going out in order to find a road. Several bridges on the regular road have been swept away by the storm. In all the team traveled 125 miles to and from the debate.

At Glendale Howard Stickney and Samuel Durand represented the High School on the negative side of the debate. Their opponents were the team from Huntington Park High School consisting of Martha Bare and Jasper Lacy. The judges were the Hon. Vincent Hannon, of Los Angeles; Principal W. H. Hensley of Monte Bello High School, and Prof. E. E. Chandler of Occidental College.

In this case the Glendale High School team lost with one-judge voting in its favor. Thus far in the debates Glendale has won three and has had also nine judges' decisions. The schools in the League are Pasadena, Pomona, Santa Ana, Huntington Park, Huntington Beach, Santa Monica, Venice, Manual Arts Los Angeles, Lincoln High Los Angeles and Glendale. Representatives of all the schools in the League meet today at the Law School in Los Angeles to make arrangements for the next series of debates. Prof. Root and Samuel Durand will represent Glendale High School at this meeting.

PIANOS NEED TUNING

Mr. L. B. Matthews, 142 Orange street, who is an expert piano tuner, says that every piano needs tuning once a year and some of them should be tuned oftener. "Pianos differ largely and the conditions under which they are kept differ widely. Naturally one would expect to find widely different conditions existing. The first-class piano needs tuning just as often as the second-grade instrument. The amount of use a piano gets and the kind of usage to which it is subjected determines the amount of attention it must receive.

"Under these conditions, in a city like Glendale, where there is a large educated and educational community, there is a great deal of piano-tuning to do. Living in Glendale I am able to do tuning at more reasonable rates than those who have to come out here from the city. There is a great deal of competition, but I am able to get along fairly well and am confident that I will do better so rapidly is the work growing. I have steadily advertised my business in the Glendale Evening News and have benefited largely by that publicity. I believe in advertising. When one has something worth selling it is the best way to get it before the public.

"I learned my profession in Lincoln, Neb., where my father had a similar business for many years. I have been ten years in the business myself and flatter myself that I am up-to-date in everything pertaining to it. I have been eight months in Glendale and have learned to like this city and its people."

JAPAN'S NEW PROSPERITY

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good" is an old proverb and a very apt one under many circumstances. It is amply borne out by the present condition in Japan. The European war has brought undreamed-of prosperity to that country. Evidence of this is found not only in the enormous increase in the gold reserve; but in the fact that the Japanese newspapers are busy chronicling the rise of many new-made millionaires.

These men saw their opportunity and took advantage of it. They entered early into the struggle for the profit to be obtained in the manufacture of munitions and got the very cream of the money paid by the different nations for the articles they wanted.

It is interesting to the United States shipyards to know that Japan has obtained orders that will keep her shipyards working for three years to come. Thanks to the withdrawal of German vessels from the Pacific Japan is enjoying the greatest shipping prosperity that she has ever had. The shipping men of Japan are prophesying that Japan will in a few years have the greatest mercantile marine in the world, next to that of England. Shipbuilding is undoubtedly bound to become a great domestic industry in Japan.

When one reflects that 60 years ago Japan was a nation shut in from other nations; that she knew nothing of the great world outside of herself; that she was laboring under an ancient feudal system that was so antiquated that nothing remained but to get rid of it and that could only be done by a great civil war, it is marvelous to find the Japanese taking the lead over a score of nations that would have some time ago thought themselves superior to it.

It is told as an incident of what the war has done for individuals in Japan, that a Japanese named Noboye Uchida, at the outbreak of the war was a clerk. He saw that a naval war meant a golden harvest for shipping. He left his desk and started a shipping business, chartering small vessels. Now he owns four steamers and has cleared more than $1,000,000.

In Tokyo the Yamachita Shipping company controlled by a business man of that name, has netted $2,500,000. Japan's gold reserve has increased by $100,000,000. She has now in reserve $250,000,000.

This is all an example of what the war has meant to Japan. It has meant just as much to the United States. Indeed, it has meant a great deal more. There are three or four firms in the United States whose transactions in munitions would aggregate a sum double that of the gold reserve in the treasury of Japan. All through the east of the United States the mills are running merrily and the spindles are turning. The forges are sounding and the molten steel is pouring out into the molds. All this means wealth that must be distributed and all this the war has brought us.

AN UNCROWNED KING

King Ross of the Cocos Islands is dead. It should be in order to shout "Long live the king," as his successor is now in office. The original Ross lived long amid the luxuries of the palm trees of the Cocos islands and was an adventurer of the old style. The land of the Cocos islands lies on the edge of the South Seas. It is a diminutive emerald world in a setting of pink coral reef.

After a roving and adventurous youth Ross discovered the Cocos islands and decided to cast his lot with its easy-going inhabitants. He gained a kingdom that combined all the elements of the old romances and would have rejoiced the soul of Robert Louis Stevenson. Ross owned the whole island. He owned their people, their wealth, their lives. There are twenty islands in all and they have never figured in war until the present European conflict, when the German cruiser Emden was destroyed by the Australian battleship Sydney off the Cocos coast. The Germans had established a sort of depot among the islands and had resorted there for provisioning purposes.

King Ross was the third of his line. His ancestor discovered the islands in 1823 and his descendants have held it ever since. In 1856 the British government extended protection to the Cocos islands. The Germans of the Emden had set a few of their men ashore on the islands just before their cruiser was destroyed and they commandeered the royal yacht and embarked for Sumatra.

The world is getting too sophisticated for the existence of independent rulers of the Ross type and it is likely that the successor of the deceased monarch will find difficulties in his way. Fortunately for him the big European nations are too busy slaughtering each other at present to pay much heed to what is going on in the Cocos islands.

SHEEP AND CATTLE MEN

Few people who have lived in the western States are unaware of the feud that has for a long number of years existed between sheep men and cattlemen. The cattle man considered himself lord of the ranges and deeply resented the advent of the sheepman who turned his flocks on to the best pastures, spoiled the grass and ruined the water. The encounters between the two different sets has been made the subject of many a novel and many a story.

That is all changed now and the ancient feud is at rest. It has been declared officially off. The American Live Stock association and the National Sheep Growers' association began their annual conventions together the other day at El Paso. There were about 10,000 present representing every feeding district west of Chicago.

The cattle men are making a fight for an open market and against light competition by the packers. Practically every State organization is pledged to back this campaign. The entertainment program is to include all the usual cowboy sports. Excursions into Mexico are planned; but may be called off in view of the disturbed state of the border. This meeting shows the passing of one of the old phases of the western world. The modern cowboy now rounds up his cattle in an automobile. Thus the world does really move.

HOW TO COVER DOLL FURNITURE

One little girl who was given a present of a doll's house was much disappointed when she discovered that only two of its rooms were furnished; it was a big house and the other rooms looked very empty. It was soon explained to her that the house was to be furnished gradually—that in this way the furniture could be better made and chosen. Finally, the house was entirely furnished, says a writer in the Detroit Free Press, after it had already given much pleasure and pride. Everything was perfected, even electric lights being installed in the house. But, after a time, the sofas and chairs began to look a little shabby and it was decided to recover them with cretonne.

Just the right sort of covering must be found, not a heavy cretonne or one with big flowers or figures. Choose a thin quality, with a small pattern. It is impossible to describe exactly how to cover doll's furniture because it is of so many different shapes. An important point is to make all the seams on the wrong side and another is to cut the covers too large rather than too small. Cover some tiny sofa cushions to match the doll's sofa. Dainty curtains may also be made to hang at the windows and when once begun there are many ways in which a doll's house may be improved and freshened.

A FUNNY BOOK

You can make this book yourself, and the surprising results you get should prove fun for yourself and your friends.

Take a scrapbook—not too large—and inside of the front cover paste the picture of a man or woman. Then take your scissors and cut off all the leaves of the book just to the point where the person's neck comes. On all the left-hand pages paste the bodies of different figures so that each body will fit the head of the picture on the cover.

Now turn the leaves and the most ridiculous effects will appear. If a woman's head has been pasted on the cover and, say, the body of a tall thin man in evening dress on the left-hand page, you can imagine what a funny picture will be made. If a man's head is used and you have pasted in some little girls in short dresses you can see how funny that would look and so on.

Every child should have a surprise book of this sort because there is so much fun in it.

HOUSEKEEPING A PROFESSION

Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the National Housewives League, believes that housekeeping could and should be put on business basis. Recently a lady belonging to the league said to Mrs. Heath: "My husband could run my home better than I can." And when asked why, she answered: "Because he would run it just as he runs his own business." Surely there is no reason why women cannot be just as businesslike as men.

The first requirement is the systematizing of the day's work; there should be regular hours for certain duties. Make a list of everything that you wish to accomplish during the day, putting the more important at the head. Study this list carefully; then start out to work, checking off each duty as it is finished. If at the end of the day there are still items unchecked they should merely be allowed to wait over until the following morning. Women should drop their work at the close of the day just as a business man should leave his behind him when he closes his desk. "Women are people," and they need not heed the old saying: "Women's work is never done." Since it rests with women to administer the funds for the family—since it is their duty to see that the family are clothed, housed, fed and educated—women owe it to themselves to look upon their housekeeping as a business, and to systematize each department of it for the better economy of time and funds.

BOB WHITE

There's a plump little chap in a speckled coat,
And he sings on the zigzag rails remote,
Where he whistles at breezy, bracing morn,
When the buckwheat is ripe, and stacked is the corn,
"Bob White! Bob White! Bob White!"
Is he hailing some comrade as blithe as he?
Now I wonder where Robert White can be!
O'er the billows of gold and amber grain
There is no one in sight—but, hark again:
"Bob White! Bob White! Bob White!"
Ah! I see why he calls; in the stubble there
Hide his plump little wife and babies fair!
So contented is he, and so proud of the same,
That he wants all the world to know his name:
"Bob White! Bob White! Bob White!"

P. T. A. THIS MONDAY

A large attendance is desired as matters of importance are under consideration.

BIRDS AND THE RAILROADS

The crow gathers many a meal from the grain that is dropped from passing cars and has been strewn along railroad tracks. Owls in the long winter nights have been known to seek as favorite feeding places empty grain cars that have been placed on sidings.

Bluejays, pigeons and sparrows all obtain a goodly supply of winter rations from grain elevators that are stationed all along the railroads throughout the country, and the doughty English sparrow even enters grain cars whenever opportunity offers.—Detroit Free Press.

PINK PREDOMINATES

In an attractive setting of all pink, hearts, Enchantress carnations, bows of crisp tulle and feathery garlands of fern, Mrs. H. V. Everly and Mrs. Blake Franklin entertained on Friday afternoon in the home of the former at 1645 Oak street at an extremely beautiful miscellaneous shower—a pretty pre-nuptial courtesy extended Miss Alice Patterson, a bride of this month.

A clever game occupied the afternoon hours in the writing of a proposal, each word beginning consecutively with the letters in the bride's-to-be name, Alice; the answer composed of letters from the prospective groom's name, George. Following this the guests listed the trousseau, arranged a wedding trip, drew floor or exterior plans of the new home and planned a menu for the first meal.

The prize was awarded Mrs. Franklin Ocker for the collection of most clever answers. The large oval supper table was exquisite in pink hearts, tulle and ferns, which formed a symphony of dainty coloring, accentuating the occasion.

Dainty conceits in place cards were tulle bags filled with rice and hearts attached embossed with the names of those seated.

From each arranged cover to the table center were pink satin streamers held in place by a huge pink heart. After the delicious repast the guests were invited to pull the end of their ribbon, Miss Patterson drawing the center arrangement, which proved to be a pink heart-shaped box containing the beautiful gifts.

Guests bidden by Mrs. Everly and Mrs. Franklin in honor of the gracious bride-to-be numbered Mrs. Minnie Patterson, mother of Miss Alice Patterson, the honoree; Mrs. John Lyons, Mrs. W. D. McRae, Mrs. Franklin Ocker, Mrs. Earl Schuyler, Mrs. E. H. Willisford, Mrs. E. D. Yard, Mrs. A. R. Chappell, Mrs. S. L. Frazee, Mrs. A. S. Chase, Mrs. H. W. Yareick and Mrs. E. O. Von Oven.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Samuel Parker, while quietly observing his 85th birthday yesterday, the 21st, was very generously assisted by numerous relatives and friends in many localities and several states, who by postal card, letter and wire, forwarded their congratulations.

Especially pleasing was a telegram letter from Chicago, signed by a dozen of the veteran employees of the City Election office, with whom Mr. Parker had served nearly 25 years previous to coming to the coast 5 years ago. In this message the signers suggest that inasmuch as it is no crime to cheat Old Father Time, just keep right on doing so.

We yesterday published the annual birthday poem, with which Mr. Parker for many years has marked these anniversaries. This latest seems the equal of its predecessors, and the ability of the author to write shows no diminution from the oncoming years.

The Broadway and Columbus avenue grammar school basketball league teams met on the Intermediate court Friday afternoon. The score resulted 24 to 5 in favor of the Broadway team.

He was a candidate for congress on the Prohibition ticket in Wisconsin in 1882; for attorney-general of Wisconsin in 1888; for governor of Wisconsin in 1898; for attorney-general of Illinois in 1904, and for president in 1908 and 1912. Mr. Chaffin is now a resident of Tucson, Arizona.

The musical entertainment given under the auspices of the Epworth League society of the Casa Verdugo M. E. church on Friday night was from every view point a decided success. The local talent who contributed to the evening's entertainment were thoroughly appreciated by the large audience that greeted them.

Friends of Mrs. William Alston of Valley View road will be very glad to hear that she is reported to be able to sit up a portion of each day, after being confined to the bed for several weeks with la grippe.

LA CRESCENTA

Boys' Club Formed

Boys of Rev. Hopping's Sunday School class have formed a club. They held their first meeting Friday, Jan. 7, at the church, and the following officers were elected: Athletic leader, Ted Hopping; Orville Rogers, president; Grant Leenhouts, vice-president; Leland Wise, secretary, and Bruce Thompson, treasurer. Others present were: John Leenhouts, Rodney Rogers, George Foster, Rudolf Rhineschild, Andrew Peddie, Francis Foy and Judson Thompson.

Rev. Hopping and Mr. Bruce chaperoned the youngsters and their first program included athletic stunts and a wiener roast. Dues are to be collected and athletic equipment bought. It is expected that the majority of boys in the community will be members of this lively club ere long.

The Crescent Ladies' club met at the home of Mrs. A. C. Cobb, whose newly completed home, showed individuality throughout.

California laws affecting women were read and discussed, followed by a social hour.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Cobb, colored gentlemen waiters assisting in the serving.

Work has commenced on the drilling of another well for Mr. Walton. The well is situated just west of the Allen place on some brush land owned by Mrs. Hershey.

The covering of dirt has been removed from the pavement on Michigan avenue as far as Rosemont avenue and road is open to travel east from there.

Mr. H. S. Bissel had the misfortune to lose one of his work horses by sickness, the first of the week. His loss will be considerable.

Willis Wise of Los Angeles street went the first of the week to the Crocker Street hospital in Los Angeles, to obtain relief from an old hurt he received some years ago. It came as a surprise to his friends in the valley, as but few knew of his ailment. He expects to be gone about three weeks.

Terrorized Neighborhood

George Gastonado, a Mexican, who resides on Los Angeles street, La Crescenta, terrorized his whole neighborhood Wednesday. George, who has been in trouble many times, owing to his fondness for liquor, had filled himself full with some of the liquid poison that is sold under the title of "whiskey." His susceptible brain immediately became afire and he armed himself with a formidable machete and shotgun and proceeded to demonstrate his valor by chasing his wife and family from the house with desperate threats, informing them that he would defy the whole police power of La Crescenta and Glendale, ay, even Los Angeles, to capture him.

Constable Purrier called for the assistance of Glendale and Patrolman Hollenbeck went out to his aid. They found Gastonado had barricaded himself in his house and had gone to bed with his shotgun and machete ready for action. Finally Captain Laurence of the Glendale night force went out and managed to arrest the "fire eating" Mexican, who is now lodged in Glendale jail, clothed and in his right mind. Gastonado, when asked this morning what the trouble had been shrugged his shoulders and answered, "Quien sabe?"

MONTROSE NOTES

Damage done by the recent rain-storm did not amount to fifty dollars either to streets or property, reports Mr. J. W. M. Burton. "Montrose fared exceedingly well in comparison to other tracts," he said. "We have had a crew of men and several mule teams busy clearing up all highways belonging to Mr. Walton's subdivision. All Montrose roads are now in as good condition as ever."

Mr. Walton's men also took care of several stretches of highway belonging to the county, knowing full well that this would be the only timely cleaning that would be done on the roads.

Mr. Burton also reported that the site for the proposed clubhouse had been set with trees and shrubs and the grounds were leveled and ready for construction.

LA CANADA

High School students attending Glendale Union High enjoyed a rainy day vacation the first of the week, while the grammar grades at the local school had to attend. Needless to say that attendance was small. Only three of the primary class were present the first day that it rained.

Mr. and Mrs. Witham were Los Angeles visitor during the week.

Mr. Metcalf's auto truck was stuck in the mud near S. P. Durand's place one of the rainy days of the past week. It remained there Tuesday night and was pulled out by Harry Hayman, Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Cooper will be hostess to the Woman's Missionary society, Wednesday of next week. This week's meeting was postponed on account of the rain.

PAPER WHICH COULD SOAR

Boy—I want to buy some paper. Dealer—What kind of paper?
 Boy—You'd better give me fly paper. I want to make a kite.—The Sun, Vancouver, B. C.

TELLING HIMSELF A STORY

In his new book, "On the Trail of Stevenson," Clayton Hamilton gives an anecdote of Robert Louis Stevenson which he heard from Stevenson's nurse, "Cummy." When the boy was about five years old, he did something which he had been forbidden to do and, as punishment, "Cummy" told him he must stand in a certain corner of the room for 10 minutes. When she returned to the nursery later, she said:

"Time's up, Master Lou; you may come out now."

But the little boy did not move; his face was to the wall.

"That's enough; time's up," repeated "Cummy."

Then the child "mystically raised his hand and, with a strange light in his eyes, 'Hush,' he said, 'I'm telling myself a story.'"

A JABOT FROM A COLLAR

Another use for the flat Dutch collar of value is to make it into a jabot. This will require no cutting at all. The collar should be gathered or pleated at the center of the back and the two pointed ends turned directly underneath. It is then hung from the front of a stock collar. Of course, a soft collar of lace or lace-trimmed batiste will fill in this purpose best. — Philadelphia North-American.

PIONEER CLOTHING

In the early days of the United States those residing in the West had to put up with all sorts of queer makeshifts, for there were no factories and shops where clothing, furniture and the like could be made. The Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, in her new book, tells us about the funniest kind of home-made clothes imaginable. She says that she herself was quite delighted and felt very grown up indeed when she received her first formal call from a very tall young fellow of the neighborhood, who was also lanky and awkward in his movements. Two other boys were there, friends of her elder sisters. She says that the visitor's costume, like himself, left much to be desired.

"He wore a blue flannel shirt and a pair of trousers made of flour bags. Such trousers were not uncommon in our region," she continues, "and the boy's mother, who had made them for him, had thoughtfully selected a nice clean pair of sacks. But on one leg was the name of the firm that made the flour—A. and G. W. Green—and by a charming coincidence A. and G. W. Green happened to be the two young men who were calling on my sisters! On the back of the bags, directly in the rear of the wearer, was the simple legend, '96 pounds'; and the striking effect of the young man's costume was completed by a bright yellow sash which held his trousers in place."

THE FLOWERS OF JAPAN

It is often said the Japanese flowers have no scent; but this is incorrect, for among them we find the wild rose and many sweet-smelling lilies and orchids. Flowers are associated with national holiday makings at different seasons of the year. The plum, which flowers about the end of January and lasts till March; the cherry blossom, in the first half of April; the tree peony, end of April till beginning of May; the iris, early in June; convolvulus, end of July and beginning of August; the chrysanthemum, first three weeks of November, and the maple, all November, the brilliantly colored leaves of the last-named being accounted as flowers.

Strangely enough, with all their love of flowers, the Japanese take very little interest in the wild flowers with which their hills and valleys are covered.

Chrysanthemums, of course, are their favorite flowers, and the variety is wonderful. The blossoms are not only of every shade of color, but of every imaginable shape as well.

Some are flat and larger across than a man's hand can stretch; others are like balls, the petals smooth and curved. Some have long filaments stretched out like jellyfish, and others have their petals thinned off into mere drooping hairs.

But the strangest thing of all is to set five or six different varieties—or various colors and sizes—growing together on the same plant, the result of judicious grafting.

One plant has been known to bear as many as 1320 blossoms in a season. On the other hand the whole energies of a plant are made to concentrate on the production of a single blossom—a huge disheveled looking monster.

Landscape gardening is a fine art in Japan, and is carried out in miniature to perfection. Within the limits of a single dish or flowerpot there can be seen paths, bridges, mountains, stone lanterns, all complete and perfect. Strangely enough, many gardens are entirely destitute of flowers, the object of their owners being to produce something park-like or to remind one of the famous scene in which no flowers appear.

When the gardens do contain flowers, they are generally grouped together in beds or under shelter, and are removed as soon as their season of blossom is over.—Farm and Ranch.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH

Professor A. L. Miller, tenor soloist, with his harp, will assist in the services at the Methodist church, Sunday evening. He is well known as a sweet gospel singer, and, with his harp accompaniment, is always in demand. All should hear him. The pastor will speak on the subject "Miracles of Apprenticeship." Were you ever an apprentice? A message with a grip. The large chorus will render special music.

At the morning hour of worship the pastor will speak on "Halo or Hello—Growing a Soul." Which do you prefer, "Hello Bill?" or a "halo?" You should hear this message. Join the crowd.

Bible School, 9:40 a. m. Epworth League and Class meeting at 6:30 p. m. All are welcome and always welcome.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

There was a splendid audience, notwithstanding the rain, present at worship last Sunday morning, when the pastor spoke on "The Great Lutheran Church." Among the many helpful facts brought out was as to the numerical strength of the Lutheran Church in the world, which is more than all the other Protestant churches of the world combined. For 16 consecutive years in this country 8 churches were built every day in the year. During 1905 it increased in this country 466 per cent. In the United States there are 13,000,000 of baptized Lutherans. As to communicant membership as reported she stands third among Protestant churches in this country.

Sunday morning, Jan. 23, the pastor will speak on "Is It Worthwhile To Be Religious?" In the evening at 6:30 Mr. St. Clair will lead the C. E., speaking on the topic, "Amusement That Is Worth While." At 7:30 the "Story of Queen Esther" will be given in unusually fine, clear and beautiful pictures. With this will be the illustration of some soul-stirring hymns. This is the place for the children where they will come under religious influences. The movies aim is to "amuse" while that of the church is to instruct in the truths of religion. Life is entirely too serious to spend the hours of God's holy day in "amusement." Religion is the necessary balance wheel in the turnings of life, and it behooves all to watch well all its bearings. You are most gladly welcome to all the services of the Lutheran Church.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Meetings every evening this coming week, 7:30. Wednesday an all-day meeting for prayer. At 2:30 Dr. Pratt will give an address on "Prayer." Those who have heard this say it is the most complete setting forth of this subject. All should hear it, and every one is freely invited.

Communion service and reception of members will occur Sunday morning, Jan. 30th, 11:00 o'clock.

Three points were emphasized by the speaker: "Bearing Fruit," "Bearing Much Fruit" and "The Power to Bear Fruit." The Rev. Mr. Ryder of Tropico assisted in the service by reading the Scripture. The Rev. Dr. Edmonds assisted in prayer. At the close of the service an opportunity was given for testimony and many gave short, helpful words. The special music for the evening was a duet by Mrs. Neighbors and Mrs. Maxwell and a vocal solo by Miss Irwin.
