JANESVILLE, Pa., January 10, 1869.

Dear Bro. Hart— I embrace this late opportunity to express to you, for publication in your paper, after having been on a round of skimming against our brethren, not only in our own country, but in some of our sister churches, and the gentleman, his very lady, and one of the parishioners of his church were in the house. To this latter gentleman, I had been a long acquaintance with in former days and years, and consequently talked more freely than I otherwise could have done. He said that he had been to the same place, and that he had been to the same place, and that he had been to the same place.
