COUNCIL GETS SEWER SYSTEM REPORT

DEATH LURKS IN STORMS AS AUTOS STALL

Severe Blizzards Sweep on New Mexico and Rocky Mountain District

BULLETIN
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 13.—More than 200 automobiles, most of them containing tourists en route to California, are stalled in deep snow drifts today. The nearest town is San Marcial. Tourists need food. Their suffering is reported to be severe.

BULLETIN
SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 13.—A man said to be D. M. Blackmore, of Los Angeles, came into San Marcial today, according to reports received here, seeking help for 300 stranded automobiles in Nogal canyon, twenty-five miles west of here. Blackmore and a companion are said to have walked the distance from the canyon and reported many of the motorists were suffering from exposure and that little food was available. Huge snow drifts made passage out of the canyon impossible, the report said.

DENVER, Dec. 13.—With the official temperature at four above zero in Denver and many thermometers in the high mountain region showing below zero weather, the southern Rock mountain district today was in the grip of the most severe weather of the winter.

Reports from New Mexico told of the deaths of nine persons in a blizzard that swept that state, and several others missing are believed to be dead from exposure in the bitter cold. Three women and two children were found frozen to death near Albuquerque; a man and two boys suffered similar deaths near Clovis, and a sheep herder was discovered frozen stiff near Vaughn.

Searching parties are scouring the hills for other victims of the storm. Snow fell to the depth of two feet in some mountain passes of New Mexico, and hundreds of automobile tourists are marooned because of snow-blocked roads. Heavy damage to live stock on the ranges is feared. Low temperatures were experienced in northern Colorado and Wyoming, but no snow fell.

North Pacific Ports Receive Storm Warnings

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 13.—Warnings were posted at all North Pacific ports this morning for a storm of considerable proportions that is expected to break some time today. The district weather office reported that the storm had arisen suddenly off the Oregon and Washington coasts and was moving in rapidly. At Marshfield (Continued on page 8)

Greek-Albanian War Threatens to Flame

ATHENS, Dec. 13.—The Greek government has sent a 48-hour ultimatum to Albania and recalled its minister as a means of enforcing demands that Albania retract charges reflecting on Greece, it was announced today.

GIVEN TO PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The correspondence that passed between France, Germany and the United States, leading up to American consent to take part in the forthcoming international inquiry into Germany's economic condition was made public by the state department today. It added but little to what already has been announced about the undertaking.

SETS CENSORSHIP

TAMPICO, Dec. 13.—A military censorship was established here today. Federal troops operating between the Panuco river and Tuxpan in the heart of the Tampico oil fields, have captured Colonel Porras, who, with part of the 71st regiment, mutinied and attempted to join the rebels.

LATEST NEWS

MEXICAN REBELS SEEK OIL TAXES
TAMPICO, Mex., Dec. 13.—Petroleum terminal companies operating along the Panuco river revealed today that demands have been levied upon them not to pay taxes to the federal government, but to pay money to men who are believed to be agents of the revolutionaries. The men making these demands traveled in motor boats along the Panuco river. So far, the companies have all ignored the demands. Officials of several companies are certain that General Benecio Lopez will be unable to afford the companies' property and employes ample protection.

SWISS BOYCOTT ORDERED BY SOVIET
MOSCOW, Dec. 13.—The Russian soviet government today ordered a boycott of Switzerland, Russia and Switzerland have been at loggerheads ever since the Lausanne conference when certain officials from Moscow were not allowed to enter Switzerland. The hostility was intensified by the acquittal of the assassin of M. Vorovsky, former Russian envoy to Italy, at Lausanne.

DEMAND RELIEF FOR UNEMPLOYED
LONDON, Dec. 13.—The Laborites and Trade Unionists in joint session today adopted a resolution demanding that the government immediately announce its plans to relieve unemployment. The resolution indicated the Laborites are going to try to turn the Tories out of power upon the unemployment issue.

PICK MEMBERS OF DEBT COMMITTEE

Charles G. Dawes is Urged As U. S. Member in Probe Of German Funds

PARIS, Dec. 13.—The inter-allied reparations commission met today, when the personnel of members of the committee which will study Germany's capacity for reparations payment, was discussed. It was learned that the commission had practically decided to suggest the name of Charles G. Dawes, former director of the budget in the United States government, as one of the American members.

There are to be three Americans on the various committees, but so far as known only Dawes' name was discussed today. Herbert Hoover is prominently mentioned.

All the members of the committee will have an equal voice. It is regarded as certain now that Germany will not have membership in any of the committees. France also insists that neutrals be barred.

German witnesses will be called before the committees from time to time to give testimony and to produce documents. The inquiry is expected to last about two months.

Admiral Takes Charge In Chinese Imbroglia

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The seriousness of the situation in China where Dr. Sun Yat Sen has threatened to seize the custom house at Hong Kong was recognized today by the navy department in ordering Admiral Thomas Washington, commanding American naval forces in Asiatic waters, to proceed at once to Hong Kong to personally direct the protection of American property.

Six American destroyers have already sailed from Manila for Hong Kong, and Admiral Washington will follow them in the destroyer.

Street Car and Auto Crashes; Injure Three

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—W. Draper was reported dying and Mrs. Conway Tearle and her chauffeur were in a serious condition today as the result of traffic accidents during the last twenty-four hours. Draper was struck by a street car.

PLEA FROM GERMANY

BERLIN, Dec. 13.—Germany will ask the inter-allied reparations commission to resume negotiations regarding payments, meantime asserting that passive resistance in the Ruhr has been completely abandoned, it was announced today.

LABORITES PLAN BALDWIN DEFEAT

Bitter Political Fight Looms As Labor Party Seeks To Rule Britain

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Premier Stanley Baldwin was again received in audience today by King George at Buckingham palace. It was understood they discussed the political situation.

Members of the Labor party already have taken steps to prepare for the political war which they expect will follow soon after Parliament convenes. A campaign has been started to secure funds for the next election which the Laborites anticipate must follow their taking over the government.

May Defer Defeat

It is probable the Laborites will attempt to overthrow the Tories after King George makes his address opening Parliament. If the king, with Premier Stanley Baldwin co-operating, can frame a non-contentious speech, the defeat of the Tories may be deferred, but King George has not yet shown any disposition to attempt to save the Tory government.

Some Tory "die hards" are now openly maneuvering for a coalition but it is believed their task will prove fruitless.

Victims of Shipwreck Rescued From Island

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—Forced to live on goat meat and fish for five days was the story told today by eight shipwrecked victims rescued from San Clemente island where their 30 foot craft was beached and destroyed during the recent gale.

The party, among whom were six naval men, was discovered by the naval tug King Fisher and the men, who were in a state bordering an exhaustion from exposure, were given first aid and returned to Los Angeles harbor.

According to the story told by the survivors, the party had started for the island, 60 miles from the harbor, during the first day of the wind storm. The ship crashed on a jagged rock along the shore and the men were forced to swim for their lives.

In the party were R. E. Bacon, C. L. Watson, F. E. Keegan, B. W. Russell, C. E. Schneider and F. A. Oberg from the U. S. S. Procyon and L. M. King and his 14 year old son Charles.

MAYOR CRYER IS ILL

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—Mayor George E. Cryer was in a critical condition today, it is reported from his home, where he is confined with an attack of intestinal influenza. Reports from his bedside this morning were that he had passed a bad night, being unable to sleep, except for brief periods.

CABINET RESIGNS

LONDON, Dec. 13.—The Portuguese cabinet has resigned, said a despatch from Lisbon this afternoon.

CONTEST FOR DELEGATES IS KEEN

Managers for Coolidge and Johnson Battle Over Southern Block

By GEO. R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—

Contests from the south, such as have featured every Republican national convention in recent years, will again be present when the 1924 convention meets at Cleveland six months hence, it was conceded today by Republican leaders, as a result of the national committee's action in slightly increasing the number of southern delegates.

The block of delegates from the ten solid southern states number 151, mostly chosen in state conventions. North Carolina with 22 delegates is the only southern state choosing its delegates in a state-wide preferential primary.

Battle for Control

This block of 151 delegates is the prize for which campaign managers for President Coolidge and Senator Hiram Johnson are already laying plans, and the prospect of the convention having to decide whether to seat Coolidge delegates or Johnson delegates from the south already is worrying Republican leaders.

President Coolidge's campaign for southern delegates will be directed by Frank H. Hitchcock, his secretary, who is a Virginian, and by James B. Reynolds, former secretary of the national committee, both of whom are long experienced in Republican politics in the south.

Expect Contests

Senator Johnson's quest of southern delegates will be conducted by Frank H. Hitchcock, who was Taft's manager in 1912, and one of the foremost figures in the famous split of that year.

The national committee itself recognized the probability of contests by appointing in the closing minutes of its two-day session here "a committee on contests," composed of six men and six women, all from north of the Mason and Dixon line.

This committee will be headed by Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania, who successfully led the fight for larger (Continued on page 8)

PROMISE CUT IN PRICE OF MEATS

Co-operative Marketing Plan To Effect Huge Economy, Cattlemen Claim

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—Tremendous saving to meat consumers will be possible through a co-operative marketing plan to be adopted at a meeting here tomorrow of the California Cattlemen's association. Under the plan housewives in southwestern states will be able to purchase beef roasts and steaks at prices representing big slashes under meat costs of the past few years, according to R. M. Hagen, secretary of the association.

Centralization of buying and selling forces in California, Arizona, Oregon, Utah and Nevada, and regulation of the flow of cattle to markets, going away with fluctuating prices, will be the principal means of reducing beef prices.

More than a million dollars is spent annually in California alone by various concerns in maintaining field agents to purchase cattle. Secretary Hagen pointed out today, "Eighty per cent of this sum will be saved under the co-operative marketing plan, and the consumer will be directly benefited, as a stabilized price for beef on the hoof means a stabilized price for dressed beef."

Do Your Christmas Shopping Now and Do It In Glendale

CHRISTMAS never comes but what the shop windows herald its approach with Yuletide pageantry, in which Santa Claus is always the central character, "gaily bedight in red and white," with the stage set around a conical pine whose bright green boughs hang heavy with multi-hued bulbs and globes, festooned in ropes of silver and gold tinsel and gleaming with candles, while dusted snow-flakes mingling with the rich coloratura hint of the wintry east.

Who is there, either grown-up or child, who does not love to stroll through the shopping district, pausing by the windows, one by one to view the multiple scenes of this historic pageant?

Remarkably beautiful are the Glendale shop windows this year. The merchants have outdone themselves to pay homage to the Infant King of the World, who will be born again, in memory, on December 25, for the nineteen-hundred and twenty-third time.

One need not go outside the city, this year, to supply every Christmas need. Glendale merchants have gone to great expense to lay in the most complete and varied stocks in every line. From a holiday card to a motor car or a house or lot, every gift requirement of the season can be met in Glendale.

A city of nearly 50,000 population should be self-supporting, and deserves to be self-supported. When a Glendalean buys Christmas gifts outside, the city is directly injured. Local merchants have invested their capital and energy here, and are in every way contributing to the growth of the city. They have, moreover, met all competition both as to price and quality. They, therefore, deserve the fullest support.

To prosper, a community must live up to its name and be communal.

START DRIVE ON JALISCO REBELS

Clear State of Insurrectos Is Obregon's Order to Federal Troops

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 13.—Federal troops, acting upon orders from President Obregon, today began an offensive against De La Huerta-Sanchez rebels in the state of Jalisco. The rebels in Jalisco are under command of General Enrique Estrada, who seized Guadalajara several days ago. There are about 8,000 loyal federal soldiers in Jalisco. The bulk of them are on the move to give battle to the insurgents.

The advanced positions of the rebels, lie between Ocotlan and La Barca where fighting is expected. The federals are under stern orders from Mexico City to clear the entire state of rebel troops.

To Relieve Vera Cruz

Orders have been sent to the mobilized troops at Esperanza to reinforce the federals in the state of Vera Cruz for a concerted effort to relieve the city of Vera Cruz, now held by Guadalupe Sanchez forces.

General Flores sent word to President Obregon that he has temporarily withdrawn his candidacy for the Mexican presidency in order to give his full attention to his duties as governor of the state of Sinaloa.

Ignore Plea of Wife To Test Kels' Sanity

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 13.—It was believed here today that no official cognizance will be given the appeal issued by Mrs. Alex Kels, wife of the Lodi butcher, condemned to die for the murder of an itinerant worker whose body he burned in an effort to perpetrate a huge insurance hoax.

In this appeal Mrs. Kels asked that a spinal test be made to determine Kels' sanity, declaring that had she known of his predicament she could have testified to his queer actions for a year and a half before the murder. She was kept in ignorance because of the fact that she was about to become a mother at the time Kels was arrested and confessed. Warden Smith at Folsom revealed that such a test had been made by prison physicians and declared that it showed Kels to be sane.

COUNCIL HOLDS DAYLIGHT MEET

Central Avenue Widening to Be Taken Up Tonight, It Is Announced

The first daylight meeting of the city council was held this morning at 10 o'clock, and after transacting business for two hours, was adjourned to meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight, when the matter of widening Central avenue will be taken up.

Many residents of Central avenue were present this morning and petitions both for and against this proposed improvement were handed to the council. These will be checked by City Engineer Ben S. Dupuy this afternoon and will be brought before the council as advisory petitions tonight.

Score Slot Machines

The ordinance recently passed, permitting the licensing of so-called "slot" machines, providing that full value be given for money received, came in for strong censure at the hands of Councilman Kimlin. He was supported by Councilman Horn. He stated that the gambling instinct, if present, in the young people of the city, and they should not be allowed to operate.

After considerable discussion, the matter was referred to City Attorney Morrow, who was instructed to get in touch with representatives of the company owning the machines in an endeavor to get them to remove them from the city. Later, Councilman Asa Hall made a motion, which was carried, instructing the city attorney to prepare an ordinance keeping these machines from coming in, whether by legislation or by placing the license so high that it would be prohibitive. This latter method has been adopted in various California cities.

Exit Is Blocked

Attorney Eugene J. Wix appeared on behalf of a client operating a stone quarry in Sycamore canyon, whose business will be closed if he is prohibited from using the newly paved Sycamore canyon road for a period of 90 days after the completion of the work, as the law provides. He stated that his client had no other way to get into his quarry and he had large contracts to fulfill.

The councilmen apparently were not in favor of granting permission for the heavy trucks to use this road. Attorney Wix was instructed to go over the matter (Continued on page 8)

ENGINEERS FURNISH MAPS, FACTS AND FIGURES FOR GREAT GLENDALE PROJECT

Experts Go Into Every Phase of Big Problem and Point Out Grave Necessity for Quick Action Upon Part of Municipality

The complete preliminary report on Glendale's proposed new $1,600,000 sewer system was presented to the City Council this morning by the Burns & McDonnell Engineering company of Los Angeles. Chester A. Smith was in charge of the work, and every phase of the vast problem is covered to the minutest detail, city officials said.

The report states that the total area within the present corporate limits of the city is approximately 7,000 acres, of which 7,000 acres has been sub-divided into residence and building lots. The present population is estimated by engineers at 45,000 gives a density of population of 4.5 for the entire area, or 6.5 for the sub-divided area.

"This condition, a city of over 45,000 population without a sanitary sewer system, has no parallel in this country. As the density of population increases, hence a larger volume of sewage, the less efficiency, the shorter life and more expense, will necessarily require the elimination of the cess-pools. This limit has been reached in the business district already," the report says.

"The constant discharge of sewage wastes into the loose porous soil overlying the water stratum will eventually carry this pollution into the underground water table from which the city of Glendale derives its water supply. The city wells are now fairly well isolated from this danger, but with the sub-dividing of the territory near the waterworks location, this danger will become more imminent."

Prepare for Future

"The remarkable rapid growth of Glendale in the past two years and the favorable prospects for its continued growth, make past records of time valueless. It is reasonable to assume that growth will continue at a rapid rate until the practical limits of density of population per acre for the entire area has been reached, and the sewer main lines should be designed to carry the ultimate flow when this condition of maximum population density is reached.

"In general, the intercepting mains within the city have been designed on a population density per acre of from 9 to 40, depending upon the character of the territory served and a general average of 17 per acre over the entire area now within the city limits, and with an allowance of about 22 per cent additional area that will eventually necessarily have to be served by the mains. These capacities will serve a future population of over 240,000 on a basis (Continued on page 8)

COOLIDGE CLUBS TO NAME TICKET

Johnson Facing Stiff Fight In Primaries Scheduled For Next May

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—A conference of delegates in January on a date to be selected by Marshall Hale, president of the newly organized League of Coolidge Republican Clubs of California, will select the ticket of delegates pledged to support President Coolidge, which will contest with those favorable to Senator Hiram Johnson in the primaries to be held next May.

The organization meeting here also authorized Hale to appoint finance, executive and campaign committees to conduct the Coolidge campaign. Charles C. Teague, Santa Paula, Cal.; Mrs. D. E. F. Easton, San Francisco, and Helen Mathewson Laughlin, of Los Angeles, were named vice-presidents. Franklin Lowmyer of Fresno was selected as secretary. Fifty-five vice-presidents from the eleven congressional districts and a county vice-president from each of the 58 counties of the state were also provided for.

POLICE HUNTING RICH ABSCONDER

$3,000,000 Sunk in Non-Existent Oil and Timber Lands, Officers Claim

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Masters of trans-Atlantic liners clearing from New York in the last few days and police of principal ports of the seven seas today were in possession of radio information asking their aid in the search for Leo Koretz, wealthy patron of the arts and social figure.

Investments which State's Attorney Herbert Crowe stated would total $3,000,000 have been made on Koretz' word by Chicago friends, who seek an accounting after a fruitless visit to Panama and a vain effort to locate the timber and oil holdings of the "Bayano River Trust."

The last traces of Koretz ends with his leaving the St. Regis hotel in New York, where members of the Panama expedition sought to find him when they could not locate his Panama holdings.

When it was learned that he had checked out of the St. Regis December 6, State's Attorney Crowe led officers in raids on Koretz' magnificent offices, occupying a whole floor in the majestic building here, and on his branch offices at the exclusive Drake hotel. Books of his investment projects were seized, and an attempt will be made to compile the total investments made on Koretz' advice.

CONVICT SCORES PRISON CRUELTY

Charges Folsom Inmates Are Beaten, Improperly Fed, Held In Dungeons

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 13.—Charges that men confined in Folsom state prison are "beaten, thrown into dungeons and improperly fed," were made by William R. Searey today following his release from the prison in a letter addressed to Governor Richardson.

The ex-convict advised the governor to "visit the prison yourself and get Tommy Dunn to tell you, while the warden and guards are not present, why he has to walk on crutches."

"Folsom prison is a hell hole that should be wiped off the face of the earth," the former convict asserted. "Your warden and your prison board do not keep you informed of the horrible conditions and the frightful cruelties that are part of the day's routine at the prison you are supposed to supervise."

Searey admits he is a "five-term loser" in the letter and adds: "Please accept this as the truth from a man who knows enough about prisons so that he doesn't have to lie about them."

PREDICT BATTLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—A decisive battle between the Mexican revolutionary forces and the federal troops will be fought in the next few days in the vicinity of Guadalajara, according to an official report received at the Mexican embassy here today.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nisle, 803 North Central avenue, have as their house guests Dr. and Mrs. John B. Manning of Baltimore, formerly of Seattle.

George E. Byram, who has been visiting his mother and sister, Mrs. E. T. Byram and Miss Ruth Byram, of 228 North Glendale avenue, since last Saturday, returned last night to his home in Watsonville. Mr. Byram was a former resident of Glendale and has many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lampman have come from Williston, N. D., to winter in Glendale. They have been guests of their relatives, Mrs. Mary A. Everett and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Loucks, of 308 East California avenue, but are now located at 117 North Orange street.

Miss Carrie M. Noble, principal of the Wilson Intermediate School who is on leave of absence this fall, was a visitor in Glendale Wednesday, when she was a guest at Wilson Avenue and Glendale Avenue schools.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter of the Carpenter Apartments, 115 South Orange street is convalescing from a severe attack of influenza that kept her confined to her home for two weeks. Her sister, Mrs. Wm. Hunter is now confined to her bed with the same prevailing malady.

Francis J. Wilkinson of 1141 Stanley avenue is enjoying a most interesting business trip to the City of Mexico, where he has been sojourning for the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Maxwell of 375 West Harvard street, left yesterday morning for Washington, Pa. with their nephew, M. L. Maxwell, passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Company, who has been visiting here for several days.

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue were saddened this morning to receive the news of the death of their friend, Rev. J. W. Lambert of Monterey Park. Rev. Norton and Rev. Lambert were old-time friends in Iowa. Like Rev. Norton, Rev. Lambert was a retired minister and a member of their organization in California.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Couple Honored
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Borden, whose marriage was a recent social event, entertained at their home in Van Nuys a number of friends from Glendale, Los Angeles and Van Nuys, with a daintily appointed dinner.

The Glendale guests presented Mr. and Mrs. Borden with a beautiful china tea set. They were the recipients of many other beautiful gifts also.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Luchford, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilde, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Harrison, Miss Evelyn Harrison, Miss Viola Luchford of Van Nuys, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nellis, Mr. and Mrs. Cripp and Mrs. L. C. Morgan of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. E. Rich, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Pease and H. D. Stevens of Glendale. On account of the inclement weather Mrs. Borden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kaiser, were unable to be present.

Children's Frolic
The annual Christmas party of the Philaetha class of the First Methodist Episcopal church will be held on Tuesday night, December 18, at the home of Miss Agnes Brown, 830 East Harvard street. "Kids' costumes" will be the fashionable dress for the occasion, which is for the members and their girl friends, announces Miss Marie Oliver, chairman of the social committee.

A large Christmas tree laden with children's toys will be a feature of the evening, and to be presented with other gifts to a needy family of Glendale who would not otherwise have a Christmas tree. Complete details relative to the party will be announced during the study hour at the church on Sunday morning.

Entertains Club
Mrs. E. P. Hayward of 513 North Isabel street was hostess yesterday to the members of the Auction Science Bridge club with a daintily appointed luncheon and card party at the Rose Tree house in Pasadena.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock followed by the playing of bridge, at which Mrs. Hayward won the prize for high score and Mrs. Donald Baxter second prize. Those present included Mesdames William MacPherson, Heloise Bondeau, Darwin Chesney, Gerald Blue, Hugh Blue, Ernest East, Thomas Meddick, Forest Rogers, Albert Draper, Charles Meadows, Frank Everington, Harry Powers, John Moore, Donald Baxter, Samuel Davis and Miss Ann Morgan.

DEATHS--FUNERALS

MARGARET M. OGLE
Mrs. Margaret M. Ogle, aged 62, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Blumenthal, 722 North Central avenue, Wednesday, December 12, 1923.

Mrs. Ogle, who was born in Salem, Highland county, Ohio, had been a resident of Glendale for only five weeks, coming here with two sons with a view of entering into business.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by seven sons, Fletcher, M. and George of Springfield, Ohio; Warren of Cleveland, Mahlon of Dayton, James C. of Washington C. H., Ohio; Lawrence E. and Walter of Glendale; also a sister, Mrs. J. C. Carter, of Escor, Michigan.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, pending the receipt of word from the estate relative to the disposition of the remains. Kiefer & Eyerick are in charge of the body.

MRS. SARAH ALICE CAMP
Funeral services were held this morning for Mrs. Sarah Alice Camp, who passed away December 10, 1923, at Fresno, in the chapel of the L. G. Scovern Undertaking company.

The deceased is survived by her husband, David J. Camp, and other relatives. She was a resident of Burbank for many years. Interment was made in the Grand View cemetery.

MRS. NETTIE J. WEBBER
Mrs. Nettie J. Webber passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. A. Jacobson, 2771 Lytle street, Los Angeles, December 12, 1923.

Funeral services will be announced later by the L. G. Scovern Undertaking company.

FOR DIRECT ELECTIONS
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Direct elections of the president and vice-president of the United States was proposed in a constitutional amendment introduced in the senate by Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska. The amendment would move ahead the convening of Congress to the first Monday in January and the inauguration of the president to the third Monday in January following November elections.

Acacia P-T. A.
Mrs. Anna Torrey, president, will preside Friday afternoon at the meeting of the Acacia Avenue Parent-Teachers association at the school. The meeting will begin at 2:30 o'clock and plans will be made for the "Fathers' Night," Monday, December 17.

Postpone Meeting
Mrs. A. W. Beach, president of Chapter A. H. P. E. O., announces that the meeting of the chapter which was announced for Friday afternoon, December 14, has been indefinitely postponed.

Hold Election
An election is to occupy the time at the meeting of the Royal Neighbors Friday night in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard and Park avenue. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock and Mrs. Estelle Hoek, orator, will preside. Because of the importance of the meeting Mrs. Hoek is urging a full attendance.

Tea Hostess
A benefit silver tea will be held tomorrow at the home of Mrs. John Robert White, 347 North Orange street, from 2:45 to 5 o'clock by the members of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate Parent-Teacher association.

Some of the assisting hostesses include Mesdames W. L. Truitt, Hugh Blue, J. Eckles, W. A. Gage, R. Gulick, R. in Roberts and L. H. Thompson. Mrs. L. W. Sonntag, chairman of the program committee, has arranged a very interesting program for the afternoon.

Banquet Tonight
The Glendale Y. L. I. are entertaining with a banquet this evening at 7 o'clock at the Egyptian Village in honor of the grand president from San Francisco, Miss Katherine Kelley and Mrs. Marie Lobe, district deputy of Los Angeles, will also be special guests.

Immediately after the banquet the regular business meeting will be held at the Knights of Columbus hall at 8:15 o'clock. Several matters of importance are to be discussed at this time and all members are urged to be present.

Canadian Club
Canadian club members are called to a meeting tonight at 406 South Brand boulevard to make plans for the dance and card party December 20, and the big Christmas party for the children, December 24.

Both of these affairs are to take place in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard and Park avenue.

At the dance the Kelly Shrine club orchestra will furnish the music. Al Western is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Pupils' Program
H. E. Cavanah of the Cavanah studio announces that pupils of the school will give a program tomorrow night in the lower auditorium of the First Congregational church. The program will begin at 8 o'clock and will include musical and dramatic numbers. All Glendaleans interested are invited to attend.

Tells of Trip
Members of the teachers' round table of the Glendale Music club, meeting yesterday at the Harriett Mae tea room, heard a most interesting talk by Wesley Kuhnle on his recent trip abroad.

Mr. Kuhnle told of the changes of currency in Germany; of interesting operas and concerts and the Bach festival at Leipzig; of attending services at St. Paul's and Westminster Abbey; of the teaching conditions in Germany.

One interesting part of his talk was about renting a grand piano in Germany for $2 the first month and $1 the second, including cartage. When he reached New York he was able to get a reduction from the regular price of renting a Steinway from $45 to

For Year's Brides
To the very great surprise of two members of Chapter L. P. E. O., which was entertained yesterday by Mrs. Warren Roberts, at her home, 612 East Elk avenue, when luncheon was announced, the march to the dining-room was to the strains of the famous Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. "Here Comes the Bride," the occasion being honoring by the chapter of the brides of the year.

The table was beautiful in its appointments, carrying out the P. E. O. colors in an elaborate decoration of white and pale yellow tulle. The chandeliers were capped with fluffy "head dresses" with bridal streamers falling gracefully over the basket of flowers in the center of the table, which was further adorned with tall psychrome candles of green and gold. The two brides of the year, Mrs. Norman Hunt (Miss Myra Bartlett) and Mrs. Garfield Jones (Miss Lillian Shropshire) were given places of honor.

Just before taking their seats, Miss Ruth Byram, in a very gracious way, in behalf of Chapter L, extended congratulations and best wishes and presented Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Jones each with a set of solid silver spoons. Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Jones responded with words of appreciation.

Two beautiful brides cakes which had further adorned the table, one at each end, were cut by the brides and served the guests after the elaborate luncheon.

In the absence of Mrs. H. D. Goss, the president of Chapter L, who is spending the holidays with her parents in Windham, Minn., Mrs. C. D. Lusby, the vice-president, presided over the business meeting.

The program of the day, "American Inventions," in charge of Mrs. A. L. Bryan, was handled with great cleverness and originality. In answer to roll call members and guests were requested to tell of their first automobile ride, or their first talk over a telephone. Most amusing were the experiences related with the "horseless carriage" as they were first called.

The wealth of invention in what is accepted as a matter of course in these modern days was brought out by Mrs. Bryant.

Previous to the program, Miss Isabel Isgrig of Chapter L, brought the Christmas message in a vocal solo, "The Birthday of a King" (Naidinger), accompanied by Mrs. Bryant.

Plans for bringing cheer to those less fortunate also were revealed. Mrs. P. E. Maxwell, the philanthropic chairman, had asked for a soap donation for the Salvation Army's Truelove Home and the response by the members was most generous.

Chapter L was very happy to welcome as their guests Mrs. Frank Arnold, president of Chapter BA; Mesdames A. D. Cross, Chas. B. Guthrie, R. M. Brown, also of Chapter BA; Mrs. H. V. Brown, Chapter CJ; Mrs. W. W. Worley, Chapter AH; Mrs. Harold Latter of Chapter CW, Berkeley; Mrs. Kyle Palmer, Chapter AD, Eagle Rock, and Mrs. Clara Gardner, of Chapter E, Los Angeles, and also to welcome two of their own members, Mrs. William Ramsay, who has been on a world's tour for the past two years and Mrs. Frank Campbell, of Laverne.

The hostesses of the day assisting Mrs. Roberts were Mesdames J. Neel, M. Dickman and C. W. McFadden.

Mah Jongg Lunch
A delightful pre-Christmas affair was the luncheon and Mah Jongg party given Tuesday by Mrs. Edith Hitchcock of 1229 South Glendale avenue. Her guests were members of a Mah Jongg club composed of Glendale and Los Angeles women.

Yellow chrysanthemums were used for decoration. Mrs. Harry Cary was awarded the first prize. Mrs. Hitchcock's guests were Mesdames Frank Webber, Oliver Spradling and Oldham of Glendale, and Mesdames Harry Cary, Clarence Riley, Wallace Stanford and T. D. Larrond of Los Angeles.

Final Article In Series Relative to Agreement Between Cities on Sewer

This is the last of a series of articles discussing the agreement between Glendale and Los Angeles relative to the disposal of sewage from Glendale through the sewers of Los Angeles.

"IX. That in consideration of this agreement said party of the second part does hereby give and grant to said party of the first part the right to lay and construct any and all mains, sewers and lateral sewers, in, under and along any and all of the streets of the said party of the second part, city of Glendale, necessary to connect any and all territory which is now or may hereafter be included within the boundaries of the party of the first part, city of Los Angeles, and such other territory outside of the present boundaries of the party of the first part that may desire to construct main sewers or laterals to said sewer so to be constructed under the terms of this agreement, with any and all requirements, rules and regulations which the said party of the first part, city of Los Angeles, shall or may by ordinance or resolution place upon and apply to persons, firms or corporations using said sewer within the boundaries of said city of Los Angeles, or within any territory which may hereafter be annexed to or consolidated with said city."

"In witness whereof the said city of Los Angeles has, by resolution of its City Council, caused this agreement to be executed by its mayor and city clerk, and the said city of Glendale has, by resolution of its Council, caused this agreement to be executed by its mayor and its city clerk, the day and year first above written."

"CITY OF LOS ANGELES. By Geo. E. Cryer, Mayor. Robt. Dominguez, City Clerk. CITY OF GLENDALE. By Spencer Robinson, Mayor. A. J. Van Wie, City Clerk."

Section IX of this agreement permits Los Angeles to lay sewers in Glendale to serve parts of Los Angeles that are tributary to the sewer to be constructed under the terms of this agreement. This provision was incorporated in order that Los Angeles might sewer parts of Eagle Rock and possibly Burbank. This same privilege is, however, now granted to all California cities by state law, where they find it necessary to use the streets of another city to lay sewers, water mains, etc.

The city of Glendale will exercise her rights in this respect in laying 6,500 feet of intercepting main in the streets of Los Angeles and approximately 1,800 feet on Dryden avenue, Casa Verdugo.

Section X of the agreement requires Glendale to abide by all the rules and regulations which Los Angeles applies to its own citizens or institutions using the sewers of Los Angeles. These requirements include the use of grease traps and other devices looking to the proper operation of the sewers and are an advantage to Glendale as well as Los Angeles.

Section IX of this agreement permits Los Angeles to lay sewers in Glendale to serve parts of Los Angeles that are tributary to the sewer to be constructed under the terms of this agreement.

O. E. S. TO INSTALL LODGE OFFICERS

Mrs. J. A. Phillips is Elected As Worthy Matron of Glen Eyrle Chapter

Mrs. Jennie A. Phillips of 202 North Brand boulevard, well-known Glendalean, is to become worthy matron of Glen Eyrle chapter, Order of Eastern Star, on Friday night, when she and other elective officers and a group of appointive officers will be formally installed at an impressive ceremony in the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard.

The installing officer will be Miss Mildred Irene Lyons, retiring worthy matron. She will be assisted by Harry L. Redd, retiring worthy patron; Russell La Fontaine, associate grand patron; Lillian Holman, grand organist, and Maude May Hazen, deputy grand matron; Mrs. Orna Vesper Naudain, installing chaplain, Mrs. Martha Dibbern, installing marshal.

Officers to be installed are Jennie A. Phillips, worthy matron; Arthur C. Kase, worthy patron; Mae Warrick, associate matron; Nellie Parker Holbrook, secretary; Josephine Woolsey, treasurer; Sadie McPherson, conductress; Bertha Wyvell, associate conductress; Alvina Jurgensen, chaplain; Ella Hickman, marshal; Frank Londo, organist; Esther E. Burke, Ada, Valencia Watson, Ruth; Dollie H. Kase, Esther; Frances Harriet Cline, Martha; Anna Humphreys Clark, Electa; Gertrude McMillan, warden; Frank Bekett, sentinel.

Fast Patron Speaks. An address of welcome will be given by Robert M. Grumbling, past patron of the chapter. Following this a group of grand officers will present "The Quest," read by Mrs. Pembroke. She will be assisted by Mr. La Fontaine, Lillian Holman and others.

Later a program will be given and gifts will be presented. Included in the program will be guitar and piano duets and mando-cello duets by Mr. and Mrs. Zaher Bickford; reading by Miss Doris Packer; dance, "The Dance of the Powder Puff," by Marie Louise Brown of the Pearl Keller school.

COMMANDERY TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Knights Templar Ceremonies To Follow Turkey Dinner At Masonic Temple

Beginning of another year in the history and growth of Glendale commandery No. 52, Knights Templar, will be marked next Monday night at the Masonic temple by installation of officers recently elected and appointed. It will be semi-public, for Knights, their families and special guests.

The installation will be preceded by a sumptuous turkey dinner, a special shipment of fine turkeys being ordered from Imperial valley for the affair.

Later, the installation will take place, with Charles L. Peckham, past commander of the commandery, serving as installing officer; Clem L. V. Moore as installing marshal; and Ben Hagen as installing prolate.

List of Officers. Officers who have been elected are: Robert M. Grumbling, eminent commander; William W. Worley, generalissimo; J. Hartley Taylor, captain general; Sidney S. Ghahly, senior warden; William MacMillan, junior warden; Oscar E. Von Oven, prelate; Frank H. Vesper, treasurer; Charles C. Rittenhouse, recorder; Riley Lyons, sentinel; Dr. Roy V. Liogue, trustee for three years.

GOLDEN WEDDING DAY CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. B. Head Are Showered With Gifts On 50th Anniversary

Artistic arrangements of large yellow chrysanthemums, fall foliage, gifts of gold, chinaware, messages from friends in all parts of the United States and greetings from relatives and friends formed the setting for the celebration today of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Head's fiftieth wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Henry F. Vierich, 645 North Kenwood street, when she entertained with a 1 o'clock dinner and informal reception in her honor.

The anniversary dinner was served only to relatives, covers being laid for Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Head, the nonores, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Head of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert F. Head of Inglewood, Mrs. Florence Head Riley of Los Angeles, Roland Lackey of Oak Park, Ill., Mrs. Harry Simpson of Montrose.

Many Friends Call. In the afternoon and evening from 3 to 9 o'clock the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Head called, showering them with congratulations. They also received telegrams from their children who were unable to be present at the celebration. The Head's children are: Mrs. George P. Pennock of Oak Park, Ill., Allan H. Head of Waterloo, Ia., Frank W. Head of Rock Island, Ill., and Mrs. Henry F. Vierich of 645 North Kenwood street.

Mr. and Mrs. Head have only been residents of Glendale since last June and are making their home at 639 North Kenwood. They were married fifty years ago in Odin, Ill., in the First Congregational church. Mrs. Head's father, who was pastor of that church, was the officiant. She wore her wedding gown of fifty years ago, at the celebration today, made exactly as it was when she was a blushing bride so many years ago. It is of a wonderful heavy rich quality of grey satin.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Head have only been residents of Glendale for a short time, they have already made a host of friends here who called during the afternoon and evening to bestow their good wishes. Mayor Spencer Robinson was a boyhood chum of Mr. Head's and was one of the many friends to have a part in the happy celebration.

Motorist Injured as Car Hits Tree Trunk

As a result of crashing into a tree at Belmont and Harvard streets yesterday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, C. F. Skellinger of 119 North Glendale avenue was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital suffering from severe cuts on the head and body bruises.

A broken steering gear was the cause of the accident. His sister, riding in the machine at the time, was not injured. After receiving medical attention Mr. Skellinger was able to proceed to his home.

BASEBALL'S CZAR SCORES VICTORY

Landis Nails Ban Johnson's Hide to Fence in Hot Tilt at Meeting

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—As the Pacific Coast league and the American association went into session today, baseball tongues were still waiting in an impatient chorus over the thoroughly conclusive manner in which Judge Landis excoriated Ban Johnson in forever defeating the latter's plans to regain prestige and power in the major leagues. The victory of Landis was complete, and he made it even more memorable to Johnson by probing deep under Ban's hide with a series of mental darts that cut, stung and rankled.

It was said by men who attended the joint meeting that Landis' arraignment was as severe a piece of tongue-lashing as it was their desire to see and hear. For reasons best known to himself, Johnson, who usually knows something about taking care of his end of such a duel, made no attempt to reply to Landis, it is said. He accepted the defeat and his gratuitous dressing down without comment.

May Restore Draft
Meanwhile, reports were wafted from behind the closed doors of the two minor league meetings that the draft would be restored in one way or another. It is understood that the Pacific Coast league and the American association favor the return of the draft, under what is known as the Western league plan. The International league, however, is unable to reckon itself superior to such a proposition.

The matter may be brought to brass thumbscrews later in the day, when Clark Griffith of Washington and Barney Dreyfus of Pittsburgh, acting as a special committee, are due for a conference with the minors on the draft question.

Barney also expects to put in a reasonably active day disposing of Rabbit Maranville, the non-refillable shortstop. One report had it that Maranville is to find himself back with the Boston Braves before tomorrow. Just how the Braves feel about it has not been divulged.

Charley Hollocher, the Cubs' shortstop, was at one time reckoned as a trading companion to the effectual Babe Ruth, but that tie has developed along, this, largely because the tip has been taken off that Hollocher's health is not what it used to be, and a very sick man may not identify himself with baseball in any way next season.

The Yankees were inclined to follow the example the Giants set them in the Groves business by lifting an austere eyebrow at Jake May and the Vernon club. The Yanks want May, but not at the price demanded. However, it is possible that Bill Essick may moderate his figures a trifle just to see what will happen. Probably nothing will.

Wilson Ave. Athletes Win Touchball Game

Wilson Avenue's Intermediate's fifteen weight touchball team ran up a score of 37 to 0 in their tangle with Glendale Avenue on the Wilson grounds Wednesday. Waldo Forester, Wilson's quarter, and Lloyd Morgan, fullback, kept the ball on the move and it seldom left Glendale's hands. The game was well played; Glendale Avenue was minus several of her best athletes, but put up a good fight.

In The Spotlight Of Sport

By K.O'ing FLOYD JOHNSON

IN 15 ROUNDS AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN THE OTHER NIGHT RENALTA, PROVED THAT HE IS A LEADING CONTENDER AS DEMPSEY'S SUCCESSOR

JACK HAS DEVELOPED A MIGHTY SOCK BELIEVE US, MEN

It begins to look like our friend Canada, to the north, has a prospective heavyweight contender of the first order in Jack Renault.

Jack has improved so fast in the last year and a half that he doesn't look, act or fight like the novice of some two years back. "The big thing about Jack is his ability to 'give and take,'" he has developed a mighty sock, it is an ideal size and weight, is fast and shifty, but not so fast that he sacrifices hitting power. He fights on his heels rather than on his toes and he has the boxer's instinct to do the right thing at the right time. Then his crowning feature is a calm, cool temperament. This fellow is all business when he faces an opponent. Nothing ruffles him.

With all this is coupled youth, for Renault is only 24 years old. He is far from ready to meet Dempsey and we think that Firpo would smother him with his tremendous hitting, while Willis would be too crafty a ring man for the youngster. But give him another year and he'll make any of them step and hit to win over him.

In his fight with the clever Floyd Johnson, whom he flattened in fifteen rounds of the fastest heavyweight scrapping we ever witnessed, Renault took everything Johnson had, and for ten rounds was out-pointed. But he wasn't licked. He came back and had the big, clever Iowa punched drunk in every round,

K. O.'d him in the fifteenth, and left the ring fresh and strong.

Renault is a tough customer, and if he gets good, careful handling should go a long way. He stands six feet one inch tall, weighs 195, and is thin limbed, with a fine pair of muscled shoulders.

His wins the past few months, over Joe Downey, Tiny Herman, Fred Fulton, Lohman and Johnson, certainly stamp him as a top-notch heavyweight.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM
A week or so ago we had a paragraph in this column reporting that a baseball team composed of San Francisco policemen were billed to play one of the San Quentin league teams in the near future. That was a bum steer, the product of some ambitious but misguided reporter who has small knowledge of human nature. Suspecting as much, we investigated that rumor and got a flat denial. We suspect it would have been a profane denial, but for a wholesome respect for Uncle Sam's postal laws.

Authority for the denial is No. 34675, a young man taking a ten-year course in discipline under Warden Johnston at California's finishing seminar. He got put away for trying to collect unearned dividends from the Standard Oil company via the end of a gun, thereby becoming one of the famous "dollar-a-year" men. He got ten dollars for his trouble and when the smoke blew away he had also collected ten years in which to think it over.

No. 34675 has served some four years of the ten now and says they haven't seemed a bit longer than 110. He is a dyed-in-the-factory ball fan and likes most other sports, especially the pie-eating contests held every Thanksgiving. Picture a four-square chin, muscle-bulging jaws, a head topped with hair the color of faded brick dust and fists similar to Dempsey's. Mike, and try to reconcile the picture with Cecil Mae. His name doesn't matter here, but the first two prove that there is nothing in a name. And for some unaccountable reason the other inmates have nicknamed this husky son of Ireland the "Deacon."

Here is what he said in answer to the question about Cops vs. Convicts: "About the San Francisco Cops coming here next spring to play the All-Stars, I am afraid that can't be as this place is filled to overflowing with sentimental souls. I'll show you."

"On Sundays when we have a picture show that even as much as shows a policeman crossing the street the inmates set up a howl and that way calling the cops, the world war sound like smooth rippling water. Also when the cop is arresting anyone (in the picture) then the disturbance is enough to make a person wish to be outside. You should hear these fellows calling the cops (still in the picture) bad names and giving advice to the man that is getting arrested. You would think all the burglars in town were being killed without a trial. "So, you see, the finest of San Francisco would be completely out of luck. Why, man,

Sport Snap Shots

Jim Jeffries says it's the short snappy punch that gets 'em. May be. But we've seen some of these roundhouse swings bring terrible destruction.

Is Walter Camp sounding a great truth when he says that the boy of the annual Big Game is "that there it too much athletics and too few athletes." He gives one something to ponder over when he points out that the rule for the selection of persons crowd into stadiums to watch twenty-two men in action. Thousands of dollars are spent yearly to perfect these twenty-two athletes and the other students derive no benefit from this expenditure. He says, in "The World's Work" the boy of today certainly needs the development of "courage and strength and wits and skill as athletics do develop them." Why deny these splendid opportunities to the great majority of boys for the sake of the annual Big Game and the annual Regatta, he asks.

In these words is food for thought on the part of college officials and graduate bodies.

The Earl of Derby, British minister of war, is said to have won 40,000 pounds in bets during the past racing season abroad. He always gives five per cent of his winnings to the British legion for the benefit of Lancashire ex-soldiers.

America is to be the dumping ground for British boxing hopefuls for a time, it would seem. Among the glove wearers booked to try to make the American pugilist stand for their wares are Rolland Todd, middleweight champ; Fred Archer, welterweight champ; Ted Moore, a middleweight; Ted Marchant, a lightweight; and Francis Rossi, a featherweight.

Two fighters who preceded this army have met with some success. They are Billy Wells and George West, both welterweights.

Frank (Doc) Bagley, the man whose name is on the front of the new Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital building, where it was reported that Gerber's injuries were nothing more than a severe shock from the impact and fall. He remained at the hospital last night, planning to continue his bicycle trip to San Francisco today. Gerber told the police last night that he has no relatives living and that he had just arrived from New York where he has been making his home.

Auto Strikes Youth, Delays Bicycle Trip

William Gerber, 19, who recently arrived at San Pedro from New York aboard the S. S. Friedland, had his journey to San Francisco which he was continuing on a bicycle, temporarily delayed last night when he was struck by an automobile driven by J. B. Marchand of 2865 West Avenue, 35, Los Angeles. The accident occurred at 8:30 o'clock on San Fernando road.

The youth was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital by Marchand, where it was reported that Gerber's injuries were nothing more than a severe shock from the impact and fall. He remained at the hospital last night, planning to continue his bicycle trip to San Francisco today.

GASABA TOSSERS CONTEST TONIGHT

Basketball Season Will Be Formally Opened Tonight By Legion Squads

The 1923-24 basketball season will be officially opened tonight when the American Legion Post No. 127, Glendale, quintet meets the Victory Post of Los Angeles. Huntington Park will journey to Santa Monica and Inglewood and Pasadena tangle on the former's floor. Metropolitan and Post No. 8 will not get started until the following week.

With most of the veterans of last year's team back, and several new men added to the roster, Glendale has an excellent chance of winning the championship this year. They missed out last year through losing the first two games, but fully expect to start off tonight with a win. There will be no admission charge, and it is hoped that a large crowd will turn out.

Get Good Coach
The squad has finally been weeded out until but eight men remain fighting for places on the regular team. They are Wheeler, Brown, Beach, Bunker, Dick, Austin (Capt.), Leggett and Hibbard, manager. Several practice games will be held with other local teams and the tossers are working together very smoothly.

They have been very fortunate in obtaining the services of "Bill" Baker, professional basketball coach from the east, who will direct the play of the team this year. He is not eligible to play or would undoubtedly be in the line up. He has coached several of the leading hoop teams in New York city, and is considered one of the best posted basketball authorities in the state.

The final signal practice was held last night against a picked opposition five, and everything will be in readiness for the referee's whistle tonight at 8 o'clock.

Boxer Bites, Gets Good Smack on Jaw

OAKLAND, Dec. 13.—"Wild Man" Gould, who would claim that wild citizen of Borneo seem tame, is the latest scream in the weekly four round fights here. After a freakish two rounds in which he bewildered Teddy Tatta last night with weird fight tactics, he bit O'Hara on the neck, the latter claims. O'Hara didn't crave being free lunch for Gould, so, after the bell had rung, he smacked Gould on the jaw.

Gould leaped like a wild cat and probably would have sunk his fangs into O'Hara again, but an Oakland policeman interfered. Both men were disqualified.

Teddy Silva came back and won from Johnny Barr, the Pacific coast bantam champion. Sammy Baker, Doug Fairbanks' colored actor, stopped Tommy Gardner of San Francisco in the third round.

Store Gives Service In Dry Goods, Drugs

The Lyon Dry Goods store and the Eastman pharmacy of 407 West Doran street meet the needs of the community and, according to the proprietors, offer a real service to residents of that district, solving for them the problems of merchandising by offering up-to-date stores several blocks nearer than the central shopping district.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Lyon, proprietors of the Lyon Dry Goods store, live at 706 West Doran street. Miss S. J. Cochran, in their establishment, does hem-stitching, they state.

Multiple Listing Adopted by Realtors

Rules governing the operation of the Multiple Listing system were unanimously adopted at the weekly meeting yesterday of the Glendale Realty board, and were made a part of the constitution and by-laws.

The amendments were submitted in a committee report a week ago and have been carefully considered by the members of the organization. As soon as the proper forms can be prepared by the committee the service will be put into effect in the offices of the board's members.

Rehearse Music for Community Christmas

At the Community band rehearsal last night the director, Arthur Balou, gave special attention to numbers that would be used at the Community Christmas celebration, which is being sponsored by the Exchange club, is growing, and the members are very enthusiastic. There is, however, still opportunity for experienced players to come in. Anyone desiring information inquire at Community Service office, 150 South Brand.

ENGINEERS REPORT ON SEWER ISSUE

Experts Submit Facts and Figures at Meeting of City Councilmen

of sixty gallons per day per capita connected to the system.

"The capacity of this sewer at its lower end, Sixth and Utah streets, is 52,000 gallons per 24 hours when flowing three-quarters full. The capacity at Tyburn avenue and Hollydale Drive, which is the discharge point of the lowest of the four mains designed to serve Glendale, is 41,000,000 gallons. This capacity is sufficient to serve 700,000 people.

At Aviation Drive, the point of discharge of the highest of the mains planned to serve Glendale, the capacity of this outfall sewer is 36,000,000 gallons. This is ample to provide service for more than one half million people.

"As pointed out above, the section of the sewer above Tyburn avenue has a capacity of 41,000,000 gallons. The probable ultimate flow from the city of Glendale is estimated at from ten to twelve million gallons. Deducing this amount from that stated above, leaves twenty nine to thirty million gallons capacity available for Burbank, Van Nuys or other towns that might later develop in the valley above Glendale.

No Overload Danger

"Inasmuch as Glendale is already an established community close to Los Angeles, and the fastest growing of all the valley cities, there is little cause to fear that the territory above Glendale will load the sewer to its capacity before Glendale has had an opportunity to make practically all its connections both for the present and future up to thirty or forty years hence.

"Three types of construction have been designed and tentatively approved by the sewer division of the city engineering department of Los Angeles. Preliminary estimates indicate that the segment block-concrete type sewer is the cheapest, with the brick-concrete type second, and the reinforced concrete pipe with clay liners highest. It is proposed to take bids on all three types of construction and select the design which proves the most economical and best.

Estimated Cost

"Glendale is required by section VIII of the agreement with Los Angeles to pay a part of the operating cost of the disposal plant being erected at Hyperion, as well as maintenance on the Los Angeles outfall sewer and the Glendale outfall sewer. There are no actual costs of operation available on the Hyperion plant inasmuch as it is not yet operating. However, actual operating costs on similar plants indicate that the cost of treating one-million gallons of sewage at Hyperion will be in the neighborhood of $1.50.

"The maintenance of the Los Angeles and Glendale outfall sewers should be very small for a number of years. The velocity of flow in both sewers is high enough to make them self-cleaning even when the discharge is very small. The types of construction are such as will withstand acid action and reduce repairs to a minimum.

Annual Cost

"Assuming Glendale will discharge two million gallons of sewage per twenty four hours during the first year the sewer is in operation, the annual cost should be approximately:

"Pro-rata cost of treatment $1,095.

"Pro-rata cost of maintenance $1,500.

"Total annual cost, first year $2,595.

In conclusion the report states: "The intercepting mains should be laid essentially as planned and every effort should be made to arouse interest in the proposed lateral system in order that the entire investment may be put to its maximum use as soon as possible."

The report covers thirty-six typewritten pages and contains a number of maps of the entire system as recommended, and cross sections of the proposed types of construction. The estimated future growth of the city is well gone into, and the engineers believe that the capacity as recommended is absolutely essential and necessary when this project is undertaken.

Verdugo Hills Post Of Legion Is Formed

Verdugo Hills post is the newest American Legion organization in the San Fernando valley, and its organization was definitely decided upon last night at a meeting of ex-service men living in Montrose and La Crescenta at the community center in Sparr Heights.

Captain Green served as temporary chairman, and Major Wimple is one of the chief organizers. It is planned to meet every Wednesday night at the community center. Further plans are for securing as members all eligible men in the district, and the slogan adopted is "100 Members by Christmas."

A big meeting is scheduled for next Wednesday night, when officers from posts in all parts of Los Angeles county will be present.

At a later date the commander of the state will be entertained by the new post and will formally present the charter.

Accomplishments of P.-T. A. Revealed In Reports As Federation Leaders Meet

Conclusive proof that the Parent-Teacher associations of Glendale have accomplished many things toward development of the children of Glendale, was evinced by the reports given at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Parent-Teacher Association Federation in the Chamber of Commerce hall, by the presidents of the various Parent-Teacher associations of Glendale.

A marked increase in membership in all the associations was particularly stressed in each report given. Most of the associations are serving milk during the day, either free or at a nominal charge to all the undernourished pupils of the school and to those wishing it.

Membership drives are at a close, with the exception of those of one or two associations, with the following results: Columbus avenue, 325 members; Central avenue, 343 members; Acacia school, 200 members; Colorado school, 147 members; Doran street, 90 members; Pacific avenue, 264 members; Broadway, 236 members; Glendale avenue Inter-medite, 179 members; Wilson avenue, 205 members; Grand View, 150 members. The associations not mentioned have not yet completed their drives.

Reports were given by Mrs. W. Alexander, chairman of emblems and magazines, urging the various associations to subscribe for more magazines and to purchase more emblems. Mrs. B. L. Cline, chairman of the scholarship committee of the federation, gave a short talk relative to her department.

High School Opening

Professor George U. Moyses, of the high school, was present and extended an invitation to all association members and parents to attend the opening Thursday and Friday nights of this week of the new high school auditorium. He also announced that, on account of the inability of securing the tables for the high school department, the moving into the new school would be postponed until after the holidays and that everything would be in readiness for removal on January 25.

The opening and operating of the new high school cafeteria is to be maintained for the convenience and assistance of the students in order that it will not be necessary for any student of the high school to leave the school grounds during the lunch hour, stated Mr. Moyses. He also pointed out several reasons why this would be of help and benefit to the students as well as the faculty.

Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the federation, who presided over the meeting, announced the conference to be held January 19 at Monrovia, when all association members would have the pleasure of greeting and becoming better acquainted with the state president, Mrs. Hugh K. Bradley. She urged all members to make a special effort to attend this conference.

Former Glendalian Killed in Accident

Word has been received of the sudden death yesterday, December 12, 1923, of Eddy Wood, of Long Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wood who for several years made their home on West Colorado street.

Complete details of Mr. Wood's death has not been received, but it is stated that he was instantly killed in an accident in the oil fields at Signal Hill, where he was employed.

Announcement of the funeral services will be made later by Mottel funeral directors of Long Beach.

Kiwanis Members Act As Santa's Deputies

Glendale Kiwanis members were composite Santa Claus last night for the boys at the Strickland home at Anandale, in a big Christmas entertainment at the home.

Rex C. Kelley, Ole Andresen and Dr. John Anderson were members of the committee arranging affairs and they were assisted by other club members who accompanied them to the home to share in the Christmas cheer and happiness of the boys.

THE GLENDALE THEATRE

THE GLENDALE

In "Long Live the King," the Metro photodrama now showing at the Glendale Theatre with Jackie Coogan in the lead, this boy actor finds himself wearing twenty-four different costumes during the progress of the story, quite a change from his customary outfits of rags and tatters.

THE GATEWAY

"The Bad Man" brings to the screen of the Gateway Theatre, where it is now showing, all the irresistible, delicious flavor of the big New York stage success. It even brings Holbrook Blinn, who played the part of Pancho Lopez on Broadway and now plays it along Main street in ten thousand towns and cities of America.

Edwin Carewe, director of "The Bad Man," a First National picture, made "Mighty Lak" a Rose" and "The Girl of the Golden West" and in the present instance has surpassed all his former successes.

PLAN TO REPEAT MUSICAL COMEDY

Exchange Club Sponsors Move to Furnish Xmas Cheer for Kiddies

"Oh-Ho" will be given again. This announcement will be received with much satisfaction by all Glendale, for "Oh-Ho," when given here last week, ranked as the greatest show ever staged in Glendale.

"Oh-Ho" is going to be more than just given again, for its repetition is to be made a city-wide event in its appeal. The show is to be staged to play the role of "Santa Claus."

Glendale's live-wire Exchange club is fostering the "Oh-Ho" show. D. Ripley Jackson, president of the Exchange club, Glendale postmaster, has found so many Santa Claus letters at the Glendale postoffice that, at yesterday's meeting of the Exchange club, that organization determined to see that the letters and hundreds of appeals of these children would not be in vain. So the Exchange club determined to impersonate Santa Claus, and use the "Oh-Ho" show as their means of getting the funds together for this purpose.

Tell Dates Tomorrow

The exact dates for the repetition of the show will be announced tomorrow, as well as the place for holding the production. The Exchange club desires to secure a theatre at which the enormous patronage they expect to answer their call can be accommodated.

The show is going to be staged at popular prices that will hit the purses of everyone. The idea is to give everyone a chance to see the best show that has ever been staged in Glendale, and, through their evening of keen enjoyment, to have the money made go toward the purchase of the gifts these child Santa Claus letters call for.

Burdette's Boost

When "Oh-Ho" had its premiere at Pasadena, Robert Burdette, famous humorist-philosopher-preacher, was "master of ceremonies" of the production. Robert Burdette, in his role of "master of ceremonies," during his famous witty addresses between acts of the show, of the "Oh-Ho" show, Dr. Burdette said: "It is the best amateur show I have ever seen. It entertains from beginning to end. And the best part of it is, it is a musical show that anyone can enjoy, for it is as plain as a whistle."

The plans the Exchange club are making for the repetition of "Oh-Ho" here will undoubtedly cause this production to take rank as the greatest Christmas festivity ever inaugurated in Glendale. Every organization and every Glendalian is going to be solicited to do his bit toward putting this thing over with a whoop that will bring cheer to hundreds and hundreds of children Christmas morning, children who would otherwise have disappointments from their Santa Claus pleas.

Realtors Pass Resolution of Regret and Condolence To Verdugos' Poet

Sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. John Steven McGroarty in the loss of their beautiful new home at Tulunga last Sunday was expressed yesterday by the Glendale Realty board in the following resolution, introduced by L. H. Myers of the advertising committee and passed unanimously by the members:

Whereas, the destruction of the beautiful new home of our respected friend, John Steven McGroarty, nature's great interpreter of the spirit of the Verdugo Valley and "Green Verdugo Hills," famous both in verse and story through the writings of one who has won universal admiration and love;

Whereas, it has been a community, as well as a personal loss, to be therefore

Resolved, that the Glendale Realty board extend the sincere sympathy of the board collectively and individually, as well as any aid within its power, to one who is held in such high esteem.

JURY IS SOON SECURED

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 13.—Selection of the jury which will deal out justice to Phil E. Fox, Klan editor facing trial for his life, after shooting Attorney W. S. Cobern to death on November 5 last, was completed in swift fashion here late yesterday. Only five hours and a half were required in impaneling the twelve men. Court adjourned for the day.

Meet at Club

A program of special interest was given yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the American Citizenship and Legislation Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the clubhouse.

Miss Ida M. Myers is curator of the section, and yesterday she asked each member to respond to the roll call, with clippings she had made on governmental subjects.

Mrs. Chester Williams presented a paper on Alexander Hamilton, and Mrs. S. C. Leppelman one on Benjamin Franklin.

A most valuable study hour on the Constitution was conducted by Miss Myers.

The next meeting of the section will be on the second Wednesday in January.

Reading Circle

"Immortelles" is the title of the quotation book compiled by the members of the Tuesday Afternoon Reading circle, which met yesterday at the Public Library.

Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman, directed the meeting, during which Mrs. A. H. Brown gave a review of an article on "High School Boys and Girls of Today" by Grace E. Inman.

In the afternoon Mrs. Henry read from the book, "Play and Education" by Lee.

ROTARIANS WILL AID XMAS SAINT 'SMILIN' THROUGH'

Holiday Spirit Animates Club Members as Plans are Made at Luncheon

Rotarians will act as Santa Claus to a number of children of Glendale who might not otherwise have much to brighten their lives at the holiday season, according to plans that were formed today at the Rotary Club luncheon in the Egyptian Village, when Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, drew the names of seven of his fellow-Rotarians and deputized them to look after the children whose names he gave them. Each of the men selected picked another Rotarian to act as his aide, and the two men teams will make a personal visit to the children whose names were given them between now and Christmas and take with them some token appropriate to the Yuletide season.

Manager Wm. A. Howe of the Glendale Theatre stated today that he will give a yearly pass to Mrs. Flora H. Fitzpatrick, the teacher who has charge of the crippled children in whom the Rotary club is interested, to admit herself and one child to the theatre, so that all of the unfortunate little tots may have a chance to witness some of the screen masterpieces that are shown at the Glendale.

Football Dinner

President George B. Karr urged the members to turn out in force to the dinner that is to be given to the football team of the Glendale Union High school on Thursday, December 20, and appointed Herbert Smith and Harry Webb to represent the Rotary club on the committee asked for by the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the dinner.

An invitation was received from the Los Angeles Rotary club to attend the party which is to be held in the Biltmore hotel on January 5, and in which twenty-five clubs will participate. Women are also invited to attend this function.

Roy L. Kent reported on the progress that has been made toward securing a camp site for the Boy Scouts in Haines canyon and urges the Rotarians to motor up there and inspect the proposed site.

Enlarge Chorus For Music at Christmas

The musical part of this year's Christmas program promises to be one that will be a treat to the big crowd which is looking forward to the celebration. The Glendale Choral club, under the direction of J. Arthur Myers, is preparing numbers from "The Messiah," "The Oratorio society, which is directed by John Smallman, is planning to come in with the Choral club at its rehearsal next Monday and help swell its chorus to 100 voices for the Christmas program.

All singers in the city are invited and urged to come out to the high school next Monday and help out in this worthwhile project.

All over the country, cities are planning to have Christmas carol singings throughout the residential districts. This feature is not to be neglected in Glendale. Chorus from the various churches are planning to go out Christmas morning and carry the message of Christmas in song to the people of the city.

Yuletide Traditions Are Widely Varied Throughout Nations of Christendom

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Tradition, handed down through many centuries and interpreted according to individual and national tastes in far-flung lands of Christendom, has developed widely varying customs for celebrating the anniversary of the birth of the Christ child.

Between now and the end of the year Christmas bells will peal from many church towers and carols will be sung in hundreds of tongues, but their manner of chiming and caroling are likely to be in striking contrast to the yuletide melodies to which we are accustomed in America.

There is considerable difference also, in the feasting, or lack of it, the gift-making, and the superstitions that charge the atmosphere at this time of the year with that vague, indescribable element which we call "the Christmas spirit."

While Britain gorges itself on plum pudding that wouldn't float in a mercury bath, and America favours flocks of turkeys and mountains of dressing, Sweden kneels in deepest humility and the Lapps bow meek heads in solemn homage.

While little children in Italy throng the streets reciting Godly verses, the Russians chant the myths of the Goddess of the Sun, and most anything might happen in New York—from special theatrical attractions to Bacchanalian revels that seem never to have heard of Mr. Volstead nor the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Lamb's Wool"

As inevitable as England's plum pudding, famed for its specific gravity, is Ireland's "Lamb's Wool," a drink made by bruising roasted apples and mixing them with ale or milk. Long draughts of this concoction usually are served with liberal slices of English plum pudding, for Ireland is addicted to the dish also.

In England, and in fact through the British Isles, the groaning board and the brimming bowl are the chief characteristics of Christmas celebrations. And if mirth and jollity may be measured by one's physical fullness there can be no doubt of the applicability of "Merrie England" during the Yuletide.

There are no distant echoes of century of century of Christmas tradition in Germany, yet despite that country's present unhappy economic plight it is safe to assume that the Christmas spirit will roll like a tidal wave over the land—even this year—and banish for the moment the cares and sorrows of the saddest period in German annals.

Normally there are no merrier yuletides than those of Germany. A week before Christmas the Germans bring into the towns and cities loads of pines and hemlocks until the communities are veritable forests of evergreens. Each family must have at least two trees, and if a family is too poor his neighbor usually comes to the rescue and provides a tree or two.

Begins December 6
The German Christmas festival actually begins on December 6, the eve of St. Nicholas day. It is then that German youngsters watch their "ny's and o's" for retribution goes hand in hand with reward. An impersonator of St. Nicholas makes the rounds and makes inquiries regarding the conduct of the youth during the preceding twelve-month. Woe betide those who have chafed and

FINAL DRIVE TO CAPTURE PRIZES

Six Working Days Left in Big Campaign; Closing Date Is Dec. 20

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

With but six more working days the club members are working with might and main to bring their totals up so that they will be right at the top of the list when the final hour arrives for the grand counting of the ballots. One week from tonight the campaign will be brought to a close at the Federal Commercial and Savings bank, corner of North Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue, and all club members and their friends are invited to be present and witness the final counting.

It has been proven that this bunch of hustlers do not stand back on formalities, but pitch right into the fray and get what is coming to them. The race thus far has been a remarkably close one, hence the struggle for supremacy will be fought out during the coming six days, terminating Thursday, December 20, at 8 p. m., at which time the campaign will come to a close.

Interest in the campaign runs high and strong. This is no idle boast. Not only are the relatives and friends of the club members interested, but many new and old subscribers of The Glendale Evening News have picked their favorites and are pulling for them strong and are waiting the final outcome with bated breath.

Last Effort Needed

Now is the time for those who want to win to make the dust fly. It is better to win by a hundred thousand than to lose by a single credit. With such a short time remaining in the campaign it is to the interest of every one of the club members, and especially the leaders, to put forth every effort possible to secure the subscriptions that will place them where others cannot reach them.

All indications point to a whirlwind finish. Sensations and surprises will follow one upon another. The gameness of the individual club member will be put to a test during the remaining days of the campaign. This is the time that will either place them in a class where they will be sure of one of the grand prizes or leave them trailing behind where they will receive one of the smaller prizes.

If you are in the lead or anywhere near it, it will be to your advantage to make a game fight right up to the last minute, for if you don't you will be sorry, for every single subscription counts and very few subscriptions might make a lot of difference in the prize that you would receive. The matter rests with you and what you do between now and Thursday night, December 20.

Do not place any subscriptions in the ballot box until you have received the subscription blanks from the campaign department, for by doing this you will help the judges the last night and insure a quick and correct count. With the special blanks you will, in a way, make your own count, for the final night the judges simply will correct any mistakes that you may make in adding.

'Resolutions Won't Pass Bond Issue,' Davis Warns Members of Realty Board

BY RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff

"You can't win elections by eating at banquets nor by passing resolutions. You have got to get out and gather in the voters that are working at their duties in their homes, in the backyards, and elsewhere, and you've got to lean over the backyard fences and get in your work for the sewer bonds before you can get the people out to vote."

So declared Councilman Sam Davis in a speech before the members of the Glendale Realty Board at their weekly luncheon in the Glendale Tavern yesterday. Mr. Davis quoted in detail from the official source, showing that Glendale, in the event of annexation to Los Angeles, would be compelled to assume its share of the bonds that Los Angeles has issued, amounting to $71,155,550, or $35.81 per capita, as against the assumption of $26.67 per capita that would be assessed in the event that the city of Glendale builds its own sewers through the bond issue of $1,600,000. These figures are based on an estimated population of 60,000 people in Glendale by the time the sewer is completed.

Mr. Davis quoted from a copy of the minutes of the Los Angeles City Council of November 15 and of November 17, showing, by direct answers to persons here who favor consolidation, that, in the event of annexation, Glendale would have to float bonds to pay for whatever sewers would be necessary and to bear the cost of connecting with the outfall sewer, or that it would have to form a local bond district and assess such district or issue bonds to build sewers in the business section of the city. "And even then," the minutes state "that it would be at least twelve months after annexation had been decided upon before such a sewer system could be installed," Mr. Davis declared.

Will Boost Value
"It would pay the people of Glendale to build these sewers if they never ran a drop of water down them," asserted Mr. Davis. "The sight of constructive work being done in the streets of the city would be the greatest inducement to newcomers to settle here that could be devised, and the advance in property values would more than take care of the cost of the entire system."

In introducing the men who were to speak on the sewer proposition President Peter Hanson paid a tribute to Mayor Spencer Robinson and the members of the council who have worked so hard to secure the contract between Glendale and Los Angeles, pledging the support of the Glendale Realty Board to pass the bonds at the coming election.

Declaring that Glendale will have a population of 50,000 people by the first of 1924, Manager W. H. Reeves stated that, during the past year, $101,650 had been expended in Glendale to build 2033 cesspools, money which, he asserted, had been practically wasted. And septic tanks that were built cost an immense amount in addition to the cost of the cesspools, he declared.

Praise Agreement
"The sewer system as planned now, will be big enough to take care of Glendale for the next fifty years," Mr. Reeves asserted, "and if this city is annexed to Los Angeles, the system will cost double what it will cost if built from the proceeds of our own bond issue. The agreement Glendale has made with Los Angeles gives us what we want, and we should go ahead and pass these bonds by a sweeping majority."

Chester A. Smith, representing Burns & McDonnell, the engineers who have made the survey and drawn the plans for the sewer system, showed on his maps just where the various mains and lateral sewers would run, stating that the sewers had been planned on a 12-foot sewer, under the care of the requirements of the entire San Fernando Valley up to a population of 1,000,000 people.

In answer to a question Mr. Smith stated that Burbank could not connect with the sewer system as planned at this time without first being annexed to Los Angeles as the contract provides that only such territory as now is included in Los Angeles or that may later be annexed to it can discharge its sewage into this sewer; and it cannot hook on to Glendale's sewer without paying for that privilege and, in the event of its annexation to Los Angeles, also paying its share of the cost of the sewer connection through Los Angeles to the ocean.

G. M. Newby, member of the Glendale Realty Board, declared that he has been and is now an avowed annexationist, but he added that he is strongly in favor of the sewers and will work for them by every method that tends to insure the passage of the bonds because he realizes the vital necessity that exists for such a system in Glendale.

The date of the annual banquet of the board was fixed for January 15, following the report of S. S. Gilhuly.

PROMISES LOWER TAX ON INCOMES

Chairman of Ways, Means Committee Says Bill Will Be Drafted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The definite promise that the American people will be paying lower income taxes by 1925 at least, was made by Representative Green, Republican of Iowa, chairman of the powerful ways and means committee of the House, which has charge of all tax reduction measures.

"I expect to call the full committee together next Monday to take up revision of revenue laws," said Green, "and thereafter to proceed with the work of revision as rapidly as is consistent with accuracy and thorough consideration."

At the same time, Green served notice that the committee "is going to frame its own bill" and not simply accept the bill which has been written and is ready for submission by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Favorites Missing Years And Many New Toys Here For Delight of Children

Introducing a variety of new toys along with the return of a number of older designs familiar to the children of a decade ago, Christmas of 1923 in Glendale will usher in an extensive and complete assortment of playthings for the kiddies. Already stores of Glendale are stocked with innumerable toys, toys that would have made the "young'n's" of a generation ago gasp with bewilderment.

Efforts of the local merchants to provide things of amusement for the kiddies have never been more pronounced than at the present time, for never has Glendale had such a host of children for Santa Claus to provide with gifts.

Unique designs in mechanical and animal toys—made popular because of their exaggeration of character—are replacing some of the older toys that the grown-ups of today played with when children.

There are also velocipedes of all kinds, including a variety of "pudle jumpers" or kiddie cars, and skate-mobiles. These appeal more particularly to the boys, while the little girls find delight in the elaborate displays of household furniture, with miniature bedroom, dining room and kitchen suites—all made substantially and in duplicate of the furnishings to be found in their own homes.

A departure of bygone days is seen in the new designs of toy furniture, which is made for service and may be used by the little folks to keep their clothing and toys in.

For educational purposes as well as amusement, the boy who aspires to be an engineer or a machinist, there will be found this year several varieties of mechanical and electrically propelled toys. These include trains, automobiles, airships, trolley cars and busses.

Improvements on practically all the toys are noticeable in the displays. Of course, there are "nobby toys" of all varieties, but the older ones have returned and will reclaim their once popular place. (Continued on page 4)

TODAY—Putting Beavers to Work; Save Uncle Sam Big Sum.
By MICHAEL F. DACEY
For International News Service.

DENVER, Dec. 13.—Because of its dam-building proclivities, which provide much farm land of Colorado with thousands of acre feet of water, the beaver has been officially accorded high rank as a "conservator of water" by the United States Forest Service. The busy beaver has won official recognition for his industry and has been given a place as a major economic factor in the state's farming.

Formerly the beaver got little credit for his painstaking and thorough efforts in constructing the strong and well-built water holders.

Lately, however, through research carried on by the United States Forestry Service, definite status has been given the little animal as a conservator of water that can be used in the normally dry period of late summer and early fall to irrigate farm land which otherwise might be non-productive.

A scheme has been worked out and is actually in operation whereby beavers are transferred from parts of the state where they abound to other sections where they are unknown and need is felt for their work as dam builders.

In order to obtain definite data a survey of the beaver's activities was conducted in the Cochetopa National Forest, in the San Luis valley, Western Colorado.

Fred Agee, national forest supervisor, under whose direction the survey was carried on, declared it was established that beaver dams in the Cochetopa Forest impounded a total of $27.34 acre feet of water capable of irrigating 30,000 acres of land.

"This survey was carried out on Silver Creek," Agee said, "where, in a distance of five and three-quarter miles, a total of 46 beaver dams were discovered. The 46 dams impounded from one-fourth to five and one-half feet of water each. We did not

MAJ. GEN. JOHN P. O'RYAN
As general counsel for the special senate committee investigating the conduct of the veteran's bureau under Col. Charles R. Forbes' regime, Major General O'Ryan is directing work of unearthing the facts connected with the bureau.

O'Ryan, who retired from active service in the U. S. army a few months ago, was the outstanding figure of the national guard during the World War.

Among national guard generals he was distinguished as the only one who retained command of his unit from the beginning to the end of the war.

General O'Ryan commanded the New York Guard on the Mexican border in 1916, when war with Mexico was imminent, and established a reputation as a capable officer.

He took the Twenty-seventh, "New York's Own," to Camp Wadsworth, Sparta, N. C., trained it and led it overseas in the spring of 1918. The division was sent to the British front, and helped to break the Hindenburg line in the last great offensive.

From the end of the war until his retirement, he commanded the New York national guard. In 1921 he was named New York state transit commissioner. While he is best known as a soldier, he has had wide experience as a lawyer.

General O'Ryan was born in New York city, August 21, 1874. He was educated in the public schools and City college, from which he was graduated in 1893.

He began his military career as a private in the Seventh regiment, national guard, rising rapidly. In 1901 General O'Ryan married Miss Janet Holmes of New York. He has three daughters, and a son. His home is at Salem Center, Putnam county, N. Y.

FRANK B. KELLOGG
With the selection of Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota, former Senator, to succeed Col. George Harvey at London, a "mild reservationist" friend of the League of Nations and a supporter of the world court will succeed an irreplaceable at the most important ambassadorial post in Europe.

From Colonel Harvey to Senator Kellogg is a transition in the diplomatic service from one type to another, as far apart as the north pole from the south. The retiring ambassador was famed for boldness, outspoken independence of thought and positive views on everybody and everything. Mr. Kellogg is of the type of extreme caution.

Frank Billings Kellogg was born at Potsdam, N. Y., December 22, 1856. When nine years old, he went to Minnesota with his parents, where he was educated in the common schools and was admitted to the bar in 1877.

Mr. Kellogg first hung out his shingle in Rochester, Minn., but removed to St. Paul in 1887, where he has since lived and practiced law. He first won national prominence as special counsel for the United States in cases against the paper and Standard Oil trusts. He was elected to the U. S. Senate as a Republican for the term 1917-23, and was defeated for the Farmer-Labor candidate, a year ago.

Timely Views on World Topics

"WAR THREATENS U. S.: NATION IS UNPREPARED," SAYS GENERAL

Declaring that war threatens the United States, Maj. Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, commanding the Second Corps Area, pleaded for preparedness in two recent New York speeches.

"The regular army has been decreased as has the National Guard and the reserves," said General Bullard. "We are no more prepared for the contingency of war than we were when we started in the World War. And those who read the newspapers can see that there is a threat of war, almost as serious now as when General Wood started the Plattburg camp two years before the great war."

"People, churches, Governments all over the civilized world are exercising every effort to prevent war, and they are not able to do it. For that reason it is especially necessary that the young men take training that they might become good regular soldiers by being citizen soldiers now."

"Some people say nothing threatens us. There was nothing threatening when war broke out in the Balkans, or when the Russian-Japanese war began. And I believe our President just a year before we were in the World War said it was an academic question; it didn't affect us."

AMERICA'S FOREIGN TRADE HAS DOUBLED IN TEN YEARS, SAYS RECORD

Although the foreign business of the United States is generally regarded at the present as being slack, figures for the last ten years show that in the fiscal year of 1923 the United States nearly doubled the amount of business it did in the year preceding the war. Sight of this remarkable gain is lost owing to the abnormally high import and export business done during and immediately after the war. Foreign trade of this country in 1923 exceeded that of 1922 by $1,000,000,000. In many quarters this gain is accepted as an indication that world-wide conditions are not so bad as frequently painted. The striking gain of manufacturing in the United States accounts primarily for this big increase. An interesting picture of this gain is shown in figures compiled by the Trade Record of the National City Bank, New York, covering the last 134 days of American industry.

"The foreign trade of the United States in the nine years since the beginning of the war is three-fourths as much as in the 125 years preceding the war," according to the Trade Record. "Statements compiled by the Trade Record show that the foreign trade of the United States in the nine years from the close of the fiscal year 1914 to the end of the fiscal year 1923 was $77,000,000,000, against $109,000,000,000 in 125 years from the adoption of the constitution to the end of 1914."

"Imports in the nine years since the beginning of the war to the end of the fiscal year 1923 are $28,000,000,000, against $50,000,000,000 in the 125 years preceding the war, and exports since 1914 are $49,000,000,000, against $59,000,000,000 in the pre-war period. The excess of exports over imports in the nine years since the beginning of the war is $21,000,000,000, against an excess of but $9,000,000,000 in the 125 years prior to the war."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE APPLE PIE
"Don't be late for supper tonight, Uncle Wiggily!" called Nurse Jane one afternoon, as the bunny gentleman was hopping away from the hollow stump bungalow.

"Is there any special reason why you don't wish me to be late this evening?" asked the bunny gentleman, as he stopped at the corner of the fence a moment to twinkle his pink nose.

"Why, yes, there is," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I am going to make an apple pie this afternoon and knowing how fond you are of apple pie, with a bit of cheese and some powdered sugar sprinkled on your pie, why—"

"Say no more! Not another word, I beg of you!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, holding up one paw. "You have said enough now to make me very hungry, indeed. I am very fond of apple pie and you may be sure I shall not be late for supper. I'll just hop along, look for a little adventure and hop back again. Now don't forget about the apple pie, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy."

"I'll remember," answered the muskrat lady. So Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods looking for his adventure. He wished to have one very day, for when he had adventures he forgot about his rheumatism hurting him.

Uncle Wiggily did not have much of an adventure that afternoon. His big one happened a little later, as I shall tell you when the time comes. But as the bunny was hopping along he saw Mr. Caw Caw, the crow gentleman, standing sadly on the low limb of a tree.

"What is the matter, Mr. Caw Caw?" asked the bunny gentleman. "Why are you so sad?" "Because I have caught one of my claws in a crack in this tree branch, and I can't get loose," croaked the crow gentleman.

"I will help you," offered Uncle Wiggily. And with the end of his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch the bunny gentleman opened the tree crack wider, so Mr. Caw Caw could pull out his leg.

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily!" croaked the black crow. "You did me a great favor." "Pray do not mention it," spoke the bunny politely. "But I see you are a bit lame. Suppose you come home to my bungalow with me and I'll give you a piece of apple pie."

"Did you make the apple pie?" asked the crow, suspiciously like. "No, but Nurse Jane will have it ready when we get there," said the bunny. But, alas, when he had hopped and the crow had flown to the hollow stump bungalow, Nurse Jane wasn't there, and Uncle Wiggily could see no apple pie.

"Well, I suppose Nurse Jane had to go out somewhere," perhaps to the moving pictures," said Uncle Wiggily, "and she hasn't had time to come home. So of course, she could't make the apple pie. But, no matter, I'll make the pie myself," Mr. Caw Caw, doubtful like.

"I never have, but I often have watched Nurse Jane doing it," the bunny answered. "It looks easy. I'll make the apple pie myself."

Uncle Wiggily took some flour and water and lard and butter and salt and a few other things and mixed them up into a pie dough. This dough he rolled out with the rolling pin, as he had seen the muskrat lady do, until it was thin, like paper. Next Uncle Wiggily spread the dough over a tin pan, cutting off what stuck over the edge.

"Now I must cut up some apples, put them on the lower dough, spread a piece of top dough over them and put the pie in the oven to bake," said the bunny.

"It looks easy," cawed the crow as Uncle Wiggily sliced the pie in anything else. "Oh, yes, you do! The cinnamon! I almost forgot that!" said the bunny. "I'm glad you spoke of it. Just hand me the cinnamon from the pantry and the pie will be finished."

Uncle Wiggily put in the pie some brown stuff the crow handed him from the pantry and soon the pie was baking in the oven.

"Ah, this is most delicious!" cawed the crow when, a little later, Uncle Wiggily took out the pie and set it on the window sill to cool.

"Yes, and your ears look most delicious!" suddenly howled the voice of the Woozie Wolf, as he burst into the bungalow. "I'm enough from the oven to burn him, for it had cooled. There must have been something wrong inside.

"It looks easy," cawed the crow.

"I should say there was!" laughed Nurse Jane when she came home a little later and looked at the pie. "You put mustard in instead of cinnamon, Mr. Crow. Ha! Ha!"

"That's what I say! Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "And it's a good thing you made the mistake, Mr. Crow!"

Then Nurse Jane baked an apple pie with cinnamon in, and the bunny and crow ate it and liked it very much. But it was a week before the Wolf's mouth stopped burning from the mustard.

So if the condensed milk doesn't jump off the table to see the goldfish slide over the oilcloth, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Sammie's stocking.

Four thousand persons gathered at Carmelita Saturday afternoon at the exercises marking the opening of the new $2,000,000 concrete bridge across the Arroyo Seco, joining Pasadena and the country east with Eagle Rock, Glendale and the territory extending to the sea on the west.

Mrs. McPherson, guardian of the local Campfire Girls, announces that the proceeds on the recent tag day totaled $53.46.

Dr. A. L. Bryant ordered a map of California for his sons. When the map was received the boys couldn't find the name of Glendale. Two reasons are assigned to this omission. One is the city has not an independent postoffice, and the other is there is no railroad station of significance in Glendale.

Dinner Stories

A strapping woman boarded a trolley car in Rye, New York, settled into a seat and paid her fare, according to Everybody's. The car had not traveled more than five blocks when she rose and rang up a cash fare. Whereupon the conductor strode up to her.

"Madam," he demanded, "do you know that I must turn in every fare rung up upon that register?"

"Certainly," the woman replied, throwing open her coat and showing a badge. "Meet the new inspector."

The following conversation took place the other day between two farmers, according to The Washington Star.

"I see you have put lightning rods on your new barn."

"Had to do it," answered Farmer Cottoswell.

"You said years ago that lightning rods were useless."

"Yep. Science has been mighty busy since then. If they kin prove that the old law of gravitation ain't workin' any more there's no

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mrs. E. H.:—About the best exercises for the shoulders and upper arms are the exercises on a hanging bar, and swimming. Swimming is an exceedingly fine exercise for all parts of the body. It is one of the best reducing exercises known, for the reasons that there is an increased production of heat and therefore an increased consumption of food and excess fat, because of the demands created by the prolonged contact of the cold water on the skin.

Mrs. MacN.:—It is found in animals that diets deficient in vitamins will produce sterility. It is possible that many cases of unknown sterility in the human family are due to the same reason. To get your vitamins you should include in your diet, milk, many green leaf vegetables, a liberal supply of fruit, whole grain cereals, and egg yolks. Tomatoes, cabbage and spinach are high in all the vitamins. I suggest that you include at least a quart of milk a day in your diet for its high grade, complete protein and its mineral elements.

Mrs. B.:—No, the gonorrhea germ does not turn to a tubercular germ in the kidney and bladder, nor anywhere else. They are two different microscopic plants. Yes, gonorrhea might be contracted from a toilet seat if there were any pus deposited on it and that pus were to get on you.

Mrs. H.:—No, I would not advise apples or any other food except warm milk, necessary, just before bedtime for children. They are apt to cause restless sleep and distressing dreams.

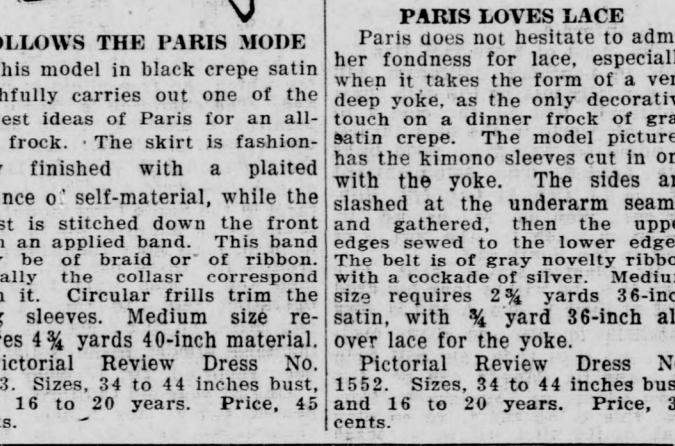

Dear Doctor: I am 14 years of age and weigh 90 pounds. I am awfully skinny. My hands are always cold and sometimes they sweat. I am in the ninth grade in high school. Oh, how I hate to be skinny! but what can I do? I eat as much as anybody else.

Dear B. M.: you not only have to eat as much as anybody else but you should eat twice as much "as anybody else," in order to gain weight! You should include in your diet at least a quart of milk a day, lots of whole wheat bread and butter, at least one cupful of greens, at least one cupful of fruit, some nuts and eggs (especially egg yolks).

Have you had an examination to see if there is not some physical trouble that might be the cause

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a stenographer in a medium-sized town. I work for just about the sweetest man in the whole world. He is married and has two little kids. His wife is mean and they don't get along at all together. He tells me everything that happens, so I know all about how mean she is.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am all answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable care, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. VARIOUS SKIN TREATMENTS
It is necessary to treat the complexion differently at different times. No doubt a lot of my readers who have been keeping their skins pretty all summer and fall wonder now what the trouble is, since they are using methods identical to those used in July. That is the trouble! In the summer the skin is oily, it readily throws off dirt, one's worst task, aside from avoiding sunburn or curing it, is to make powder stay on. Now it's hard to get powder on at all, the skin is so rough and dry.

PARIS LOVES LACE

Paris does not hesitate to admit her fondness for lace, especially when it takes the form of a very deep yoke, as the only decorative touch on a dinner frock of gray satin crepe. The model picture has the kimono sleeves cut in one with the yoke. The sides are slashed at the underarm seams, and gathered, then the upper edges sewed to the lower edges. The belt is of gray novelty ribbon with a coccade of silver. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 36-inch satin, with 3/4 yard 36-inch all-over lace for the yoke.

Christmas Shopping—The hostess gives secretly to each of her guests the name of some article she is supposed to have bought on a shopping tour. In turn each guest stands before the others and describes the article in pantomime, while the others try to guess what she is describing. For instance, if the hostess whispers to Miss B. the word "baby carriage," Miss B. must go through the pantomime of wheeling an imaginary carriage, tucking imaginary blankets around an imaginary infant, etc. (No prize is given in this game.)

CHRISTMAS TREE MEMORY TEST—Unveil a small, brightly-trimmed Christmas tree which stands on a table. Give each guest pencil and paper, and ask them to look at the tree for five minutes, after which it will be covered again and they will write down on their papers the name of all trimmings they can remember. To make this hard, be sure to have no two articles on the tree alike. (A lolly-pop, a small horn, a ball, a star, a paper angel, and other easily described articles of this kind are good to use as trimmings.) The winner receives, as a prize, a box of candy. A memorandum book would make a good hokey prize.

TOMORROW—Dishes in Tomorrow's Menu.

CHEMICAL SAVES LIVES OF TREES

Burbank Firm's Product Is Credited with Striking Results in Tests

Reports from Anaheim indicate that the Plant-Pep Chemical company of Burbank has scored another success, restoring numerous trees and shrubs to healthy life by its method of treatment, among them a fern, rose bushes and an orange tree at the home of G. W. Sandilands, manager of the Anaheim Orange and Lemon association; and an orange tree on the Fritz Yungbluth ranch, affected with a gum disease.

In the Anaheim Plain Dealer of December 5 the following is found:

"Next, two trees in the adjacent orchards were looked at. Both, particularly one of them, showed new life, including a few new shoots.

"When a third tree, suffering from scaly bark was inspected, Sandilands admitted that the treatment had done some good. The bark when cut away, was shown to have green beneath it, and the disease to have shown a change in condition, unlike its habit at this time of year.

"Green also was seen beneath another tree in Yungbluth's grove, from which the bark had been cut away."

Bach Tells of Limes

W. H. Bach, one of the leading authorities on limes in Southern California, and a man actively engaged in the industry, with a fine ranch in Orange-Cove, Burbank, states that the limes he is growing commercially came originally from the French insular possession of Tahiti.

Of the 250 imported trees he started with, Mr. Bach states that 100 are still good producers. "We make a practice of picking the limes when they will not pass through a two-inch ring," he says. "The trees are dwarf, rarely growing over eight or nine feet high and when allowed to grow larger the fruit is said to be inferior. The fruit natures similar to a lemon and is not left on the tree till it colors.

"The lime is indigenous to the tropics and is found in varying forms in nearly all tropical countries. We in this country have been made familiar with the Mexican type which is from 3/4 to 1 1/4 inch in diameter, is full of seeds and has a slightly musty flavor. A somewhat better quality comes from the West Indies, particularly from the Isle of Pines, and these are the variety which find their way into the eastern markets. Australia has several common varieties, but most of the native citrus fruits of Australia have failed to produce up to standard with other varieties and have been replaced with budded stock from more favored countries."

CLUB WILL HEAR VARIED PROGRAM

Carl Gantvoort Covers Wide Variety in Selection of Concert Numbers

Carl Gantvoort, baritone, has announced a most interesting program for his concert tomorrow night before the Glendale Music club at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. He will be assisted by William Tyroler, pianist, another favorite with Glendale music lovers.

The program will include in the first group, aria "Adamastor, Roi Des Vagues" from "L'Africain" (Meyerbeer); "Sapphic Ode" (Brahms); "Songs My Mother Taught Me" (Dvorak); "Crepuscule" ("Twilight") Massenet; "Le Vent" ("The Wind") (Rene). In the next group he will sing songs from Eliland Clyde-Von Felitz, "Silent Woe", "Moonlight", "Dreams", "Anathema" and "Resignation."

Mr. Gantvoort's final presentation will be songs from "Song-ah-tah" (Homer Grunn), four American Indian songs from poems by Charles Roos.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president, states that the Christmas gift tickets will be on sale at the door and emphasized the fact that one of these $4 tickets will give one the privilege of hearing five artistic concerts.

GIRL ENDS OWN LIFE

SEATTLE, Dec. 13.—Miss Winifred Gemmel, 22-year-old University of Washington junior, found late Monday night with a bullet wound in her head, died without regaining consciousness. Miss Gemmel had been playing cards with her sister and a friend, when she excused herself and went upstairs. A few minutes later a shot was heard and the girl was found lying on the floor with a revolver by her side. Ill health and worry over studies were believed by friends to have been responsible for her act.

ALL SCHOOLS TO CLOSE DEC. 14TH

Christmas Holidays Bring Joy to Students As Period of Freedom Looms

News of infinite satisfaction to the "young idea" is that from the Los Angeles board of education, to the effect that all city schools will close for the holidays on Friday, December 14, not to reopen until Monday, December 31, and closing again on January 1, reconvening again on January 2.

Teachers, however, will not share with the pupils in the jubilation this news evokes, as they will be required to attend the Institute the week beginning Monday, December 17.

B. and P. Club Notes

The charter of the Business and Professional Women's club will not close until after the first of the year, the executive board has voted, thus any who wish to join the club may still do so on an even footing with other charter members.

The Spanish section will meet the second and fourth Tuesdays, at the public library, reports Mrs. E. D. Snow, president of the club. Miss Gardner is in charge of this section.

The monthly meetings of the Business and Professional Women's club will henceforth be held in the kindergarten room of the Eagle Rock school, Mrs. Snow states. There will be a "White Elephant" sale at the next meeting, she reports, the idea being for every member to bring some article which she has never been able to use, then sell it and buy someone's else white elephant. The proceeds of this sale will be diverted into the fund of the physical training section.

Accidents Continue

The automobile of W. S. McCurdy of 1315 West Twelfth street, Los Angeles, went over the embankment on the curve of Colorado boulevard one block east of Annandale boulevard, on the night of December 5, dropped twenty-five feet, turned over and caught fire.

Mr. McCurdy and another occupant of the car were both seriously injured and the fire department was called out to extinguish the brush fire resulting from the blaze.

Mrs. G. A. Brize, mother of Mrs. K. Hunt of this community, suffered what might have been a fatal automobile accident, when near Montrose on the afternoon of December 8 the machine in which she was riding with some friends backed over an embankment and dropped ten feet to the bottom of a ditch.

As the machine, fortunately, did not turn over, no one was seriously injured, though all were more or less shaken up.

M'ADOO IS SILENT UPON CANDIDACY

Democratic Leader Speaks to Clubs on Issues But Not About Himself

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—Terminating President Coolidge's message to Congress as "largely a counsel of dormancy," and claiming that "nowhere is there a stimulating call for progress," William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, and prominently mentioned as a Democratic candidate for president, in an address before a joint luncheon of the Men's and Women's Democratic clubs of Los Angeles declared what the nation wants today is "action and not a policy of procrastination."

The some 400 Democrats who attended the luncheon had hoped Mr. McAdoo would announce or refer to his possible candidacy for the presidency, but his address was general and he made no reference to it.

"The most affirmative part of the president's message is the recommendation of tax reduction," Mr. McAdoo declared. "The whole country favors tax reduction. The Democratic party has stood for it since the signing of the armistice, and should co-operate, without regard to partisan considerations, to any honest effort to ease the tax burdens."

Comments President

"This effort should be directed not alone to a reduction in the gross sum of taxation, but to an equitable distribution. The president's endorsement of the proposal to put a lighter tax on earned incomes, namely those produced by the sweat of the brow and toil of the brain, upon unearned incomes, and from investments, is commendable."

Mr. McAdoo claimed that as secretary of the treasury in 1918 this proposition was first made and an amendment to the bill was offered by Senator Harris of Georgia. However, it was defeated, he explained, by a vote of thirty-six Republicans against twenty-one Democrats on the ground, as stated by Senator Penrose, then chairman of the senate finance committee, because it was the "opinion of the committee that the provision was impossible of administration."

LA CANADA WILL HAVE GOLF CLUB

Course at Country Club Will Rank Among Finest in Southland, Claim

Roy N. Clayton, of 205 West Broadway, local manager for O. B. Thomday Company, owners and subdividers of Salisbury Manor, La Canada's exclusive residential and business district, reports that La Canada is to have one of the finest golf courses in the country.

Within the next few weeks, work will commence on what promises to be the finest golf course in Southern California, when the La Canada Country Club links will be laid out. Last night thirty of the representative golfers of this section of the country gathered at the Jonathan Club at the invitation of Willie Hunter and Martin Leach to hear the announcement of plans for a golf course which will be the equal of any in the world.

The new La Canada Country Club will be located just off Verdugo road near Flintridge, overlooking the La Canada valley. One hundred and twenty-five acres have been set aside for a golf course and further John J. Dunn, internationally known golf architect, E. S. Armstrong, Dr. A. P. Moulton, George Cline and Wally Lohman have all looked over the property and declare it is ideal for golf.

Decomposed granite makes up soil especially favorable for the cultivation of turf, while an unlimited water supply assures a course which promises to be the best in the vicinity. The enthusiasm with which the project is greeted by all who have seen the site is contagious, and before the gathering had broken up last night, all present were heartily in favor of the establishment of one or more golf clubs in Southern California.

The need of more facilities for golf in Southern California will be partially met by the club. That California will be the center of the golf world in the near future, is admitted, and more golf links are needed. The establishment of the La Canada Country Club, by such men as are behind it, promises much for the future of golf in the Southland.

Mr. Clayton states that this club is to be within four hundred feet of their property, and is very enthusiastic over the above project, and says that this will help to make La Canada one of the show places of Southern California, this being the third country club in the city within a radius of a mile of Salisbury Manor, La Canada's center.

COOLIDGE ACTION PLEASES EUROPE

President's Decision Upon Reparations Question Meets Approval

BY DAVID M. CHURCH For International News Service LONDON, Dec. 13.—President Coolidge's decision to have American representation upon the two proposed international commissions to study the reparations question represents a forward step towards a definite settlement, according to opinion in official circles.

Foreign office officials said they were pleased with the Washington developments but at the same time they pointed out that the United States was not committed to any definite policy.

The Daily Chronicle, personal organ of former Premier David Lloyd George, commented: "The whole thing is due to the efforts of Lloyd George. It is a great forward step. It should do much to disentangle European finances if we only had a foreign secretary who knew how to take advantage of such an opportunity."

Praises Decision

"The United States has come more than half way in her effort to help settle the European problem."

The Daily News warned against the non-committal nature of the American decision. The Manchester Guardian, leading Liberal newspaper outside of London, expressed belief that the American decision is proof that Premier Poincare has given assurance to the United States that he would make concessions from his original unbending attitude.

The two committees are to be appointed by the inter-allied reparations committee to investigate the following angles of the indemnity situation.

- One—Germany's capacity for payment.
- Two—The best means of stabilizing German currency.
- Three—Advisability of a foreign loan for Germany and German resources for pledging such loan.
- Four—German wealth held abroad.
- Five—Means of increasing German industrial and mining production.

OPPOSE APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Senate Progressives, headed by Senator Howell of Nebraska, have announced they would oppose the confirmation of appointment of Louis J. Pettijohn of Dodge City, Kan., as a member of the Federal Farm Loan Board until a complete investigation has been made of the board's action in increasing salaries of officials. The board was instructed in a resolution passed by the Senate to give a strict accounting of its action in authorizing salary increases.

OLD FOLK PLEAD FOR FREE GLANDS

All Sorts of Aged People Seek New Life and Chance to Work

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—"To return to the payroll aged persons, who are forced to work." That is the purpose of the world's first free gland clinic according to Dr. Clayton Wheeler, associate of Dr. L. L. Stanley of San Quentin prison in an extensive gland operation experiments, who has already performed fifty operations, and who found more than 500 applicants for treatment when yesterday ushered in the second week of the nation's first gland clinic.

A concert singer, seven down and out physicians, a sailor and a chemist were among the men and women, ranging in years from 35 to 87, who stormed the clinic doors in a desire to turn back the calendar from two to four decades. Pharmacy, law, painting, taxicab driving, library indexing, nursing, blacksmithing, journalism, bookkeeping and printing were among the professions and trades represented by the beary-eyed and decrepit who pleaded for a chance to return to their former roles in industry.

All Sorts of Diseases

Carpenters head the list, more than 100 former workers with saws and hammer registering for treatment. Running the gamut of all man's aches and pains are the disorders listed at the clinic. Rheumatism, insomnia, constipation, asthma, stomach disorders, neuritis, neuralgia, tuberculosis, atherosclerosis, general debility and poor vision of muscular origin, were complained of by patients.

Fifty operations have been performed, 500 are on the waiting list and thousands are expected to be treated in the year's time for which the free clinic is planned. The operation is simple and painless, consisting of the injection of goat gland secretion under the abdominal muscles by means of a hypodermic needle. A goat farm in the Santa Cruz mountains is supplying material for the clinic here, each goat furnishing secretion for three persons. Aged men and women walk from the operating table to their homes and suffer no ill effects. In some instances almost instant relief has been reported. Dr. Wheeler said that an 87 year old Californian appealed today for relief from rheumatism and this is the most general complaint reported.

Cripples, suffering from paralysis and "twisted" joints, are numerous. Only in special instances will treatments be given persons under 50. A 35 year old woman, with bobbed hair and rouged cheeks, was informed that weight reduction would remove the "tired feeling" she complained of. "I just feel run down generally" an old sea captain, past 80, told Dr. Wheeler. "I want to smell the tang of salt air a few more times. If you can set me back over twenty years I'll make good at my old business."

A faded sealskin wrap revealed a woman of 50. The concert singer, lost her voice ten years ago. She said she believed the gland treatment would return her to her former profession. "Just to be doing something to be useful, to earn and to spend and not to be a burden on relatives" were reasons commonly given by applicants.

"I'm confident of success" said Dr. Wheeler. "Even in the most discouraging cases a general toning up of the entire system will be noted, of that I'm sure."

Lower Taxes Are Promised on Incomes

(Continued From Page 1) tee is now and has always been," Green said, "desirous of reducing taxes to the lowest point consistent with proper government. The committee will draft its own bill."

Green, Hawley of Oregon, and Treadway of Massachusetts, formed a committee which called upon Secretary Mellon today to discuss measures of co-operation between the treasury and congress in the matter of tax reductions. The revision board of the treasury, in five months' work, has re-written the present law and embodied in the draft the recommendations of the so-called Mellon program. This will be studied by the committee in framing its own bill, but how far the committee is prepared to go in following out its provisions, none of the members were prepared to say today.

Many New Toys Here To Delight Children

(Continued From Page 1) Mooing cows, barking dogs, meowing cats and crying dolls—all once popular toys with the little tots, but seldom seen on toy counters since the late war disrupted the toy industry in Germany, where a large portion of toys sold in America was made—have made their reappearance this Christmas.

Miniature musical instruments among the new offerings, a number of new ones having been created since the last Christmas holidays.

Games and picture puzzle books have not lost their place in toyland and, of course, will hold an important place in Santa Claus' deliveries this year. Decorations of all kinds, like the toys, show a decided trend toward better materials and workmanship than for the past few years.

Yuletide Traditions Are Widely Varied

The Swedish housewife's portion in the Christmas festivities.
Fish For Christmas.
Christmas fish is to Sweden what turkey is to America. Four days are celebrated in Sweden. Christmas itself is a day of quiet and prayer, but on the second day the real fun begins and continues until the end of the period. Gay parties, in long sleighs, ride to church to the accompaniment of jingling bells.
The goose is the "national bird" of Denmark at Christmastide. The "Christmas tree" remains standing for it is in the orchard. At an appointed hour the head of the house goes into the orchard with a stick and strikes the tree three times, speaking the words, "Rejoice and be fruitful." Virtually the whole of Denmark goes on holiday from Christmas to New Year. No one does any work that can be avoided.
Besides actually celebrating the birth of Christ, the Russians have a traditional fete in honor of the Goddess of the Sun. In the old Russia this ceremonial was observed in most of the villages throughout the nation. With the advent of the present regime the tradition may have partly perished along with other customs of the church. The conventional Russian greeting of Christmas day literally translated was "Greetings for the Lord's birth, to which the person addressed responded, "God be with you."
Quiet in France
In France the Christmas season probably is quieter than in any other country, although remnants of age-old tradition still endure among the peasant classes. It is chiefly a season in which the storekeepers gaily decorate their stalls and display their gift wares, while the old folks sit about and recite to the younger generation tales of other days.
Christmas in Italy is primarily for the benefit of the children. The youngsters pass through the streets gaily singing and reciting bits of verse.
In Spain it is a period of unrestrained hilarity and festivity.
In America Christmas seems to be a combination of many traditions handed down through the centuries from old world customs and covered with a purely American veneer.

Says Liquor His But Denies Manufacture

FRESNO, Dec. 13.—Charged with conducting a still and grape crusher in a stalactite-bedecked cave in the Sierras, John Kovacevic, today declined to plead guilty but admitted the possession of illicit liquor. He was released from custody on $1,000 bond.
Deputy Sheriff Albert Blasingame said that when he raided the cave in the side of the mountain, the grape crusher was in operation.

When Christmas Comes

...Christmas Calls...

By Marjorie Howe Dixon

Oh, thousands of calls come to Santa
In his generous heart there is place
For wee ones, and young 'ones and old ones

It is writ in his jolly old face.

He listens to each, though he's busy
A-packing the toys he will take
All over the world to the children
Over mountain and valley and lake.

The telephone rings, "Oh, Santa,
. This is Jimmy that lives by the Mill,
I've four little brothers and sisters,
There are five of our stockings to fill;

"Say, Santa, you fill all their stockings,
And mine—well, I really don't care
Just so they get each what they've wanted
If you miss me, I'll still call it square."

"Good bye, Sir" and Santa is sighing
For brave little Jimmy-boy's sake
I think he will make a great effort
And something to Jimmy will take.

Ting-a-ling,—again the phone's ringing
They call and they call and they call!
If he weren't so darling and patient
He never could answer them all.

At last he must start on his journey
Ting-a-ling,—it's the bells on his sleigh
Oh, hurry! the reindeer are waiting!
It's time to be off and away!

When Santa arrives with his presents
He is chuckling,—the fun he will give!
And his jolly old heart is a-glowing
Spreading joy wherever folks live.

SANTA CLAUS' TOY SHOP

Characters: Six tin soldiers in bright red coats, two circus clowns, donkey and elephant, black mammy with doll, gingham dog and calico cat, two teddy bears, six baby dolls with lighted candles. All parts to be taken by children except doll carried by mammy. Donkey and elephant can be omitted and live dogs substituted if available.

Scene: Toy shop, shelves large enough for children to sit on them. Tin soldiers very erect and stiff stand either side of door center stage. Santa enters and the tin soldiers salute stiffly.

Santa: Are you already to be packed tonight? Each one must be in place by Christmas morning. (Teddy Bear ambles over to him).

Teddy Bear: Can't we have our play time? You said we could.

Santa: Why certainly. Only wait for a little while. Two children, very good children, have begged to see you perform before I pack you away. I shall be very busy with my lists of good children; so they will watch here alone. Of course, they will go to bed early and then you may all play till the clock strikes twelve. Remember! goes to door and calls) Oh Sally, Oh Pat! (Two children run and hug him and stare round the room).

Sally: Why, Santa! Oh, aren't they lovely! Look at the mammy doll, Pat!

Pat: Gee Whiz! Look at those soldiers and the clowns and everything. Whee! (Santa exits).

Mammy Doll: If you all will sit down, we'll do our part to afford you a magnificent entertainment. (Sally and Pat express surprise at hearing the doll speak and sit down at the left of stage).

Mammy: Step out, now you tin soldiers! (Music starts and Mammy beats time with her feet. Tin soldiers march and countermarch to any good march music, finish in former place).

Mammy: Now comes de grand wrestling match 'twixt T. R. Bear and Theodore, the well known rappers. Come forward you! (Teddy Bears tumble each other about until one sneaks off, licked).

Mammy: Next comes the sleepy time dance by all the baby dolls. (Baby dolls parade with lighted candles, soft music, and finally yawning come back to former places).

Mammy: Now comes the biggest and best and funniest clowns in captivity. (Clowns come forward turning hand-springs. Animals if any, perform. Clowns end by dragging forward Gingham Dog and Calico Cat. Cat suits and Dog growls).

Sally: O Pat, don't you remember? They're from Eugene Field's poem. Can you say it? How did it start? (Pat starts poem and stops as if remembering, then finishes. Dog and cat follows in pantomime until they fight, when clowns rush forward and separate them).

Mammy: Shush now. I'm gonna sing dis yere lamb chile to sleep. Sing lullaby "Sweet and Low" (or any other available). At and children are asleep, Santa comes in, sees them, chuckles.

Santa: Well, you've done your part; now play till twelve, then I'll come for you. (exit). Child-dren stay in places asleep.

A Tin Soldier: Say, Baby Doll, let me have a candle, will you? (All take candles and solemnly do Baby Dolls' march to same music).

Mammy: Well I've always wanted to march, now I'm a going to, so there! An' all you lil fellows follow me. (Puts down doll for Gingham Dog to guard, assumes command of Baby Dolls and they all go through Tin Soldiers' march. This should be made very funny).

Gifts for Children You can make

Quite naturally the children will want to make gifts for each other. Undoubtedly there is more love and affection tucked into the made gift than any other. Among the gifts that a child can make are those done with "tied dyeing." This process comes from the Orient, where the bandana handkerchief first got its name.

A true bandana handkerchief was tied expertly by a Hindoo girl, who was called a Bandhani, and then dipped in red dye. When the string was untied a pattern in white on red was found to have been wrought.

Squares of muslin or linen are the first requirement. If a child does not like to hem, white handkerchiefs already hemmed may be used. Two or three colors of dyes should be made up, each a strong color. Pint Mason jars will do to keep the dyes in. Dilute the dye in small bowls, a bowl for each color.

The process of tying the handkerchief may be done in one or two ways. Fold the square and pick up a portion in the fingers. Wind string tightly around this "point" of cloth, and tie and cut the string. Several points can be tied in one square. Each time all four thicknesses are caught, the little pattern thus formed will be repeated four times. After experimenting you will find out how to pick up the cloth so as to produce a square, a circle, or an oblong shape.

The other method suggested is to wind the point and, without tying and cutting the string, proceed to the next point. This is the method used in the Orient, the unwinding, when one comes to that, being greatly facilitated. This part, the winding, takes the most patience on the part of the children.

The dyeing is more thrilling. Dip the entire handkerchief in clean water and wring it out until almost dry. Then dip the tied points in different colors, in such combinations that you think will be pleasing. From experience the writer suggests a few color schemes. Red, orange and yellow, will be gay. Pinks and lavenders combine nicely. Blue and blue greens, and green will be effective. Remember that except where tied, one color will "run" into another sometimes resulting in a muddy or unpleasant color. Now wring out all the liquid you can and untie the knots taking great care not to let one point touch another. Your pattern made by the points is often amusing and surprising. Be sure to hold the square until dry, over heat if it is available, as for instance the radiator, the oven or the register. If hung on a line while wet or laid on a radiator, streaks will result, spalling nice work. When quite dry press out. When working with dyes, other gifts suggest themselves. A half dozen handkerchiefs, each a different color in pastel tints, makes a dainty present. A large silk handkerchief can be tied and dyed for a scarf. Picot the edges of a yard and a half of crepe de chine and tie and dye it. A very stunning scarf will result.

Children can make cunning Christmas seals on correspondence cards, and lettering a simple greeting beside or under the seal. Of course if they want to draw or paint the necessary decoration, so much the better. The result, though not perhaps perfect in execution, will please the recipient none the less.

Scrap books on stiff muslin, pink or blue with "nicked" edges are pretty gifts for children and can be made by children. Color pictures from magazines and ads, pictures of animals, or of children playing games, all these are interesting and can be prettily arranged on the pages.

For the kiddies who are fond of dolls, or animals, the mother who has imagination can make several unusual gifts, by making characters from story books. Using the illustration of that old favorite as a guide, Peter Rabbit himself can step out of the pages, stuffed with cotton and wearing his little jacket of blue. Also there's "Erer Rabbit," Joe Chandler Harris has so kindly created for us.

Among the characters for dolls for wee maids, are many, many well-known girlies. Little Red Riding Hood seems to come first. Then there is Alice in Wonderland, and Little Miss Muffet, and the Queen of Hearts, and Old Mother Goose, and ever so many others to be found in the Mother Goose rhymes.

And, lest we forget, there's Puss in Boots and the Little Pig who went to market, and Old Mother Hubbard and her dog. For several of these characters an ordinary doll can be used, and properly costumed. Some young folks will enjoy crepe paper dolls, especially if they can be dressed and undressed. And don't let's forget a Rabbit slumber dolly for the littlest fellow. It is made of a woolly scarf. Fold the scarf double, fringes together. At the other end pull out two long pieces for ears and tie with string. Make a nose of thread, and shoe buttons for eyes. Stuff the head with cotton, tie again for the neck. Short pieces for paws are tied next. Then the long sides are sewed up, stuffed with cotton and sewed up under the fringe. A gingham apron is a good dress for this rabbit. What could be nicer to cuddle, hug and sleep on?

SANTA CLAUS TO VISIT CHILDREN

Christmas Spirit Pervades Homes as Little Ones Ask For Gifts

With their little ears attune to the faint tinkle of sleigh bells, which grows louder and sweeter as Christmas draws nearer, Glendale children, like those of other cities and other lands, are impatiently awaiting the coming of this great event—and Santa Claus. Hearts gladdened at the thought of Old Chris Kringle as he steals into their bedroom, or the living-room, and fills their stockings with toys, candies, clothing and other pretty things, these kiddies, rich and poor, are ready to receive Christmas with "open arms."

That all may not be remembered alike by Old Santa, there is no doubt. In fact, many little eyes will shine with immeasurable delight at the Christmas presents which others more fortunate, but not more deserving, would only frown upon.

It is for these less fortunate kiddies that a special messenger will be dispatched to Old Santa in his mysterious shode, to ask him to bring an extra supply of (Continued on page 8)

Decorating the House and Gifts

One grows tired of the sameness of Christmas decorations. Holly wreaths tied with red sashes grow to be a sacred tradition from which we dare not depart. Of course there's a special Christmas flavor to holly wreaths, just as there is to the fragrance of pine branches. For older folks, vague memories of childhood joys are awakened by the associations of scents and the Christmas festival is hallowed by old happinesses.

Wouldn't it be a pleasant change to decorate an entire room in one color scheme and the next room in a different scheme, keeping in mind the old favorites red and green and white and adding tinsel as a fourth, to the possible combinations?

A red and white living room will be friendly and gay. An old white mantel will make a wonderful centerpiece, as the hearth is ever the center of the home. White cotton snow covering the mantel shelf with a pair of great tall thin red candles flanking both sides of a miniature tree in the middle is suggested as an attractive setting. The green of the would be subordinate, making red the principal part of the story. Red and white decorations hanging from chandeliers, or wall brackets, and placed over picture frames will add to the effect. Beaded fringes, made of cranberries and popcorn will add wonderfully to one of the big white globes usually in the center of the room.

Green and white will be cool and quiet for the library, or for the dining room. In the latter one might want a special note of emphasis in four tall red candles on the table. In the library the soft green of bayberry candles will seem fitting.

Tinsel can be combined effectively with either red or green. The use of long lines of tinsel or of tinsel ornaments will give an unusual touch to your decorations. You know it doesn't have to be used exclusively for the Christmas tree.

Tinsel can be used for tying Christmas gifts, combined with red or green ribbon, or tied into the bow knot on the packages. Brilliant colors for tying make attractive all sorts of gifts and the combination can be chosen from colors that clash slightly. Bright blue and green tied together will attract attention as will two shades of red,—like cherry and crimson for instance. Little flat paper flowers of gay colors can be cut out by the children and with a little paste can be used as seals. These will be effective on a background of white tissue paper.

Table decorations give one abundant opportunity for the use of the imagination. A large snow ball containing tiny wrapped gifts each with a ribbon attached is not an entirely new idea but it can be decorated in a new way by having each string lead to a place card, on which resides a gum drop man with clove eyes.

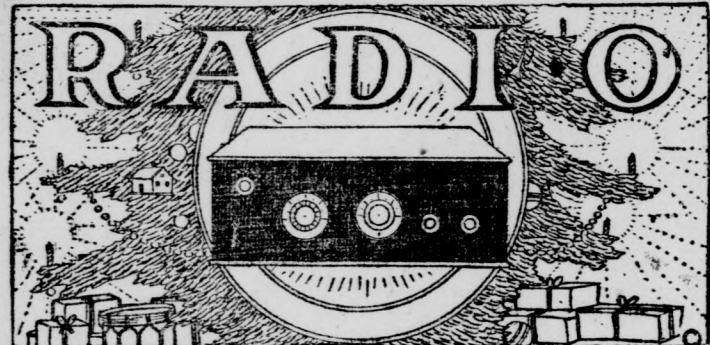

Gum drops can be used in so many ways for decorations. Christmas trees, eight inches high, can be constructed of them. Four of these set on the table with fat gum drop men on sleds here and there will make a quaint and unusual table treatment.

In all our decorations either for the home, our gifts or our table, joyous gaiety is the keynote for Christmas. With the proper spirit and care the familiar rooms and objects of our everyday living can be suddenly transformed from the humdrum to the romantic, from dullness to sparkling gaiety adding zest and buoyancy not only to our friends and relatives but to ourselves, making the close of the old year and the entrance of the new a happiness to be long cherished.

How Would These Do For Christmas Pies?

CHAUNCEY, Ohio, Dec. 13.—At a corn and pumpkin show R. L. Gardner displayed 810 pounds of pumpkin which he grew upon a single vine. One of the big globes weighed 110 pounds. The next largest tipped the scales at 104 pounds.

An American Colonial Christmas

If you must have the whole truth, there really was no Christmas in the very early Colonial Days—at least among the Puritans. And when you go back to the history of those days and of those exceedingly brave old fellows that built the town of Plymouth, you can understand how there would be a strong feeling against Christmas.

Time was then reckoned according to the old style. So that January 2nd was December 25th to the Colonists. That particular day found them busy constructing their first buildings and having to guard against Indians, as well.

Bradford's note in his famous "Log Book" records the first Christmas Day as follows: "The day call'd Christmas Day, ye Gov call't them out to worke (as was used) but ye moste of this new company excused them selves, and saide yt went against their consciences to work on yt Day. So ye Gov. tould them that if they made it mater of conscience he could spare them till they were better informed. So he led away ye rest and left them; but when they came home at noon from their worke he found them in ye street at play openly, some pitching ye bar, and some at stool ball and such like sports. So he went to them and took away their implements and tould them it was against his conscience that they should play and others worke." (Stool ball was a game where balls are driven from stool to stool).

There is another brief note concerning the first Christmas among the Puritans. Twenty men were left on shore as guard and the rest returned to the ship, the celebrated Mayflower. Jones, the captain, had his mind on the return voyage and the necessary supplies for it. That very morning he had refused to give out beer, lest the supply should not last. Beer took the place of tea, coffee, milk or chocolate to the Puritans and meant much to them. However, the captain relented at night and as Bradford and his men were resting about the fire in the cabin, he gave out beer in abundance, in remembrance of the festivities at home. The poor Pilgrims were still confined to the ship's provisions, and so continued until summer, when their crops came in.

A year later when seven houses and four public buildings stood in the little town of Plymouth, their crops were in, furs and lumber were stored for export to England. A peace treaty had been signed with the Indians, there came a season of great rejoicing. It was then that Thanksgiving was instituted. For two centuries its celebration was confined to New England, then later the day became general, to be observed by our entire country.

The Pilgrims felt that the observance of Christmas was anti-Christ—the day having been selected by the Pope. In addition, in England there was on that day much license and excess which was another reason for opposing the celebration of that special day. For at least fifty years the Pilgrims used to display great simplicity on that day to show their complete disregard for it.

In 1659 Massachusetts Bay made a law forbidding the celebration of Christmas under penalty of five shillings. Plymouth, however, never had such a law. Gradually, the prejudice melted away and Christmas came to be celebrated everywhere.

In old New York, New Amsterdam then, the celebration of New Year's Day was similar to our present celebration of Christmas. Since the time of Stuyvesant, the Dutch and English observed New Year's Day by exchanging presents, receiving calls and with much noise, somewhat like our old noisy "Fourth of July." The young men went from house to house firing guns as salutes, until a crowd had collected at some outlying home or farm and all would fire at a mark. This noisy activity was prohibited by statute later on, on account of the damage done.

Stage coaches (with four or six horses) all piled full of people visited gaily from house to house. Substantial food was served with wine, bowls of milk punch, pitchers of egg-nogg. Cakes, special New Year's cakes, were baked and delivered by the baker's apprentice singing a carol.

Washington Irving gives us a faint idea of an old Dutch tea party, such as might have happened at New Year's in his History of New York. "The company assembled at three and went away at six. The tea table was crowned by a huge earthen dish well stored with slices of fat pork, fried brown, cut up into morsels and swimming in gravy. Sometimes the table was graced with immense apple pies, but it was always sure to boast an immense dish of balls of sweetened dough, fried in hog's fat and called dough nuts, or oly kocks.

"The tea was served out of a majestic Delft tea pot, ornamented with paintings of fat little Dutch shepherds and shepherdesses tending pigs. To sweeten the beverage a lump of sugar was laid beside the cup and the company alternately nibbled and sipped with great decorum until an improvement was introduced by a shrewd and economic old lady which was to suspend a large lump directly over the tea table, by a string from the ceiling so that it could be swung from mouth to mouth, an ingenious expedient, which is still kept up by some families in Albany."

We think Mr. Irving grew a bit satirical toward the end, but then he was apt to do that.

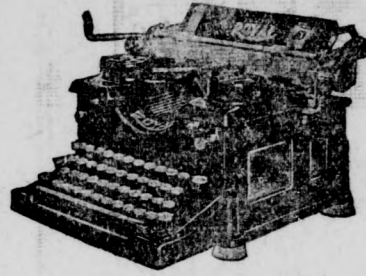

The general observance of New Year's Day was celebrated in endless recams of poetry printed in the newspapers and delivered by carrier. The following sample continued on indefinitely and may as well conclude our story: "The day devoted is to Mirth And now around the social hearth Friendship unlocks her genial springs And Harmony her lyre now strings While Plenty spreads her copious hoard And piles and crowns the festive board."

Old Santa to Visit Over 10,000 Orphans

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 13.—Santa Claus will visit more than 10,000 orphan children in California on Christmas eve through the efforts of civic organizations co-operating with the State Bureau of Children's Aid, it was announced by Miss Amy Steinhart, head of the bureau.

GIFT CERTIFICATES

Any Gift Will Be Laid Away Open Saturday Evenings

Charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up." At Christmas one's thoughts turn toward giving and that generously, — not only to our dear ones but to those especially in need, those to whom otherwise Christmas would mean a sad time—a time when Santa had apparently forgotten them.

Charity has such an unpleasant sound, if it is translated into love and good fellowship it will work out the greatest happiness, to all. One woman who for three years had charge of the Christmas Baskets given by a women's club said she had always regarded this work as a very great privilege.

"We fix up our baskets as if we were giving them to our friends," she said. "First we find families who are worthy and to whom baskets will be acceptable. There are always the 'proud poor' who would only feel hurt if offered gifts. Then if we know the age of the children in the family we supply stockings and mittens of the right size.

"A call for donations from the club members gives us varied supplies. Home-made preserves or canned goods, we always receive. Then each basket has a chicken, there is in it candy and dates, or some special Christmas dainty. We try to see that each child receives a little gift.

"As to packing the baskets," she continued, "we make a special effort to make them look attractive. The baskets are decorated with colored paper, the gifts are wrapped with tissue paper and tied with ribbons, in other words, just as we would send to our dearest friends. Each basket has its Christmas card with a merry rhyme. Our grocer kindly loaned their truck and delivered the baskets for us, this last year.

"Besides the work the club does for the individuals, we try to help the settlement house in which we are interested. For them we send out a call to our club members for soap, and for all sizes of stockings. These two articles seem to be the most needed. As to clothing, our effort has been to supply that, both before and after Christmas. If we know of some special need, we ask our members for the size and kind of garment, and it is always forthcoming."

Another branch of this club's Christmas fellowship work is handled by a committee to work among the ex-soldiers in a near-by hospital. Different organizations take up the various needs, so as to not conflict with each other. One group gives handkerchiefs to each one of the soldiers, another group gives socks, and so on. This particular club gave each boy a Christmas box, besides decorating trees for the different wards in the hospitals.

In order that the boxes might be nearly uniform, club members were asked to buy their gifts, with the box, to amount to a dollar. Cigarettes, stamps, stationery, toilet soap, shaving soap, tooth paste, toilet water, decks of cards, were suggested as possible gifts.

At the meeting in which the gifts most acceptable were discussed, there was some amusement felt over the toilet water. But it was explained that the soldiers did really regard it as a luxury and were very fond of it, —and at Christmas they surely ought to receive the things they like.

It was further suggested that a little note accompany each box, so that the recipient would feel it more of a personal present and so that if he wished, he might write and thank the giver. Not that the giver wants to be thanked, — but the boy's self-respect has been considered. An incident is called to mind, of the days of the war. One Sunday afternoon, a young couple invited a stray sailor lad from a near-by training station to their home for the afternoon. He seemed so appreciative of the effort to entertain him that he could hardly wait until he might "return the favor." He invited them to visit his training station, and later when the young folks were able to accept the invitation, he took great pleasure in showing them around and explaining all he could. They, in turn were grateful to him for a pleasant afternoon in one of those enormous and marvelous schools the war developed.

A last little hint for Christmas fellowship, left over from war days, concerns the subject of mittens. One dear lady always carried four or five pairs of mittens with her when in the city. Whenever she saw a newsboy (or any other child) with red, cold little hands, she gave him a pair of mittens. Seems rather a nice idea, doesn't it?

Watch Our Windows

Mrs. Honeywell drew aside the hanging curtains to place the gaily wreath with its red silk bow in the window. Suddenly her front door blew open with a whirl of snow and Edith tumbled in, her arms filled with her Christmas bundles.

Edith, tall and rosy cheeked, looked in the "big store." She had been taken on as an extra for the holiday rush. The excitement, the crowding of insistent customers, the continuous demand for cheerful service had been her first business experience.

"Hello, Mother bunch!" cried Edith, as she closed the door and dropped her bundles, her tur piece and her great coat.

"Are you tired, dear?" asked Mrs. Honeywell, for she knew that this was the last shopping day and she imagined a day of exasperation for her daughter in serving the numberless last minute folks.

"Not a bit," promptly rejoined Edith. "I do believe that people are following—some what the muchly advocated saying of doing their Christmas shopping early. Of course there were a lot who had to get something for their cousin or a friend or a wife whom they had forgotten but they seemed to appreciate the fact and were the nicest customers I ever had."

"You know, mother," she went on, "you sort of lose the idea of Christmas when you are in the center of so much buying and selling. But today I met several customers who were the loveliest I have met."

Edith strolled on out into the kitchen with her mother and helped her with the preparations for supper. Mother and daughter had been "batching it" together for some years, living on the income from Mr. Honeywell's insurance which had provided for Edith's education as well as a fair living for both of them. Now, however, Edith felt she should make her own way at least. They needed pretty clothes; she and her mother liked the theatre and some day they were going to get "that car."

"I have a little surprise for you, Mother, or rather the surprise is for me," murmured Edith while she stirred the gravy.

"I thought so," answered her mother, "you've been looking quite mysterious. Look out, you're burning the gravy. I suppose you are going to tell me that Fred will be here tonight?"

"Oh, Fred will be here all right. He'd be here day and night if I let him. But that is not my special surprise," said Edith, as she and Mrs. Honeywell sat down to their gatelegged table.

"I am going to be kept on at the store," Edith continued, "and it all came about on account of a certain Mrs. Worthington. She came into the china and glassware section and she seemed to be quite put out and annoyed and told me how she had purchased a nice tea set as a gift for her daughter and the set had been delivered broken.

and here it was the last day with no gift. I sympathized with her and helped her make a new selection and arranged with the floor-man to have the set delivered by a special messenger. I wasn't much for me to do, since it had happened before many times, especially this time of the year, but it seemed to impress Mrs. Worthington. I have since found out that she is one of the most important customers the store has. As soon as I finished with her she went to the buyer of the section and reported to him how I had handled the matter for her, and told him that he ought to keep me after the rush. The buyer said he agreed with her and would arrange for me to be employed permanently, and he notified me before I left this evening. So, mother, that settles the job question. And it must have been the Christmas spirit that got into Mrs. Worthington. The other girls told me she had never been known to have a kind word for any one."

The door bell gave a sharp ring and Edith rose hastily with an eager look in her blue eyes. The next instant Mrs. Honeywell heard a soft murmur.

"Oh, Fred, how cold your nose is!" Whereupon Mrs. Honeywell demanded to know how Edith knew. There was a series of repressed giggles and chuckles as Fred entered and greeted a much loved mother-in-law-to-be.

time to do just as we please me and Jim here, we're going to sing a lullaby and rock those Teddy Bears to sleep!

Teddy Bears: What do ya wanta pick on us for anyway? (Clowns pursue Teddy Bears around stage, catch them, holding them awkwardly, sing the same lullaby as Mammy sang, going off key worse and worse. Toward end Gingham Dog howls and Cat mews, making an awful noise. Santa rushes in.)

Santa: Great Scott! Is this the way you enjoy yourselves? It's a wonder you didn't wake those two kiddies. All this noise and howling! Come, hurry, you're way past the time. The sleigh is waiting. (All go off stage, sleigh bells ring, off stage. Curtain.)

Scene 2

Children awake before fireplace where stockings are hanging filled with presents. Pat rubbing eyes and yawning.

Pat: Sally, did you hear sleigh bells?

Sally: (sleepily). Seems as if I did, had such a funny dream. All the toys were cutting up and Santa packed them off.

Pat: So did I dream that! Isn't it funny? Oh look, he's been here. Look at our stockings! Oh, Merry Christmas, Merry Christmas. (Grabs stocking and hugging it to him dashes around the stage, Sally follows with her stocking. (Curtain.)

Candy, Lots of It, Is Aged Plea to Santa

YUBA CITY, Dec. 13.—Twenty-five inmates of the Sutter county hospital, all over 70 years of age, when asked by the superintendent what luxury they preferred for Christmas, endorsed their younger associates by unanimously exclaiming, "Candy, and lots of it."

The members of the Parent-Teacher association have agreed to donate a bountiful supply of sugar and the Hi-Y club members, with the assistance of S. C. Russell, a candy maker, have undertaken the task of making the candy.

Santa Claus and Lorain are preparing for you an Old-fashioned Christmas Dinner. Santa Claus brings the cheer, Lorain the delightful flavors of the one perfect dinner that memory holds, enjoyed in the past

No Oven-Watching, No Bad Luck, No Failures

Every cook knows what it means to have to stand watch over her oven. Every cook, even the best cook, knows the meaning of "unlucky" results. Every cook knows how hard it is to duplicate each time the best bread or cake or pie she ever baked, or the best dinner she ever served. Fancy, then, owning a magic wheel that forever ends gas oven-watching, forever banishes "unlucky" days from the kitchen, and gives you such accuracy in cooking that you equal your very best results every time—perhaps even excel them.

The magic wheel does all this—the magic red wheel whose name is Lorain.

Good Cooking Made Easy

Lorain measures and controls gas oven heats. All you do is to put food into the gas oven and then when it is deliciously ready to serve, take it out.

Bread, cake, pie—or an entire meal of meat, vegetables and dessert at one time—even canning of fruits and vegetables—all these are easy successes for the Lorain. And you need never look into your oven a single time while the food is cooking.

Wonderful—Yet Simple

Cooking experts praise Lorain as the greatest cooking discovery in many years, yet Lorain does not take an expert to use it. Anybody who cooks can understand a Lorain in two minutes.

But the time and the work Lorain saves and the joy it brings in better food and happier homes, why, that takes a book to tell the facts. We want you to have a copy of the book about this magic red wheel. It's here waiting for you.

An Old-Fashioned Christmas Dinner

"An old-time Christmas" is an expression that can be used in a relative sense only, when speaking of the celebration of this holiday in the United States. It was not until the very late '50s that keeping Christmas as it is understood today could be called a custom of the country. Among the influences that brought about this change were English and German novels, by this time being widely distributed, and the keeping of their old home holiday customs by newly arrived families from Great Britain and Germany. Puritan prejudice was compelled to yield in the manner of the celebration but refused to give up the place of honor at the Christmas feast to the foreign goose. Turkey, the King of Thanksgiving birds, became the Christmas bird as well.

Fancy plays joyfully with the thought of those by-gone days, filling them at will with songs and laughter—the thin tinkle of sleigh bells with the new keen fragrance of pine and fir. There was leisure then for the great gatherings of kinfolks and old friends, plenty of time for story telling, singing and dancing, and the playing of games, the very names of which we know no more.

Those slow moving days had a flavor, an atmosphere, surely that shall no more return than the games or the odors of the Christmas feasts over which fancy loves best of all to linger.

It is to be led astray by story-book stuff to picture the days just before Christmas as full of the hurry of cooking, to believe the December air laden with the scents of vinegar, fruit, spices. Such things belong to Thanksgiving times. Not a self respecting housekeeper of 1859 or '60 but had her pound cake and her spice cake packed away in tight boxes, her doughnuts mellowing in huge jars, her cranberry "jell" in moulds ready to serve. If a son home from college or a married daughter returned for the holiday wished to recall childhood's memories, he or she must visit the cool dusky cellar, lift the stone covers from certain brown deep jars and inhale the perfume of mince meat packed away for winter's use. Odors of the East were there.

In an outer room, as the returned one well knew, where the air was like that of a refrigerator, were hanging shelves heavily laden with mince pies, baked and frozen, ready to be reheated for Christmas guests, and chance visitors. The shelves held besides perfect apples, polished until they shone, and baskets of the finest nuts selected from autumn stores.

The call for dinner comes at last and excited fancy dashes wildly about trying to paint the scene. Such huge tables as were set and such meals as were spread! In those days they often spoke of their tables as "groaning boards." No wonder. That phrase did not grow out of "thin clear soup" and "crisp head-lettuce" and "iced grape fruit." Ah no. Such like make no boards groan. Christmas tables in those days bore monster turkeys, stuffed with bread, sage and onions or with crackers and oysters, baked hams, huge and juicy. There were chicken pies of the kind today known only in dreams. Dishes and dishes and dishes of mashed potatoes, dishes of mashed turkeys, baked squash and boiled onions and there were sweet and sour spiced pickles and purple and ruby and gold jellies and jams and preserves. An unbelievable list.

Benevolent host wielded grandfather's Sheffield carvers and urged more helpings and choice "stuffings." Gracious hostess sat behind grandmother's silver service and poured coffee and added cream and urged the merits of the chicken pie. Sons and daughters and cousins passed everything between whiles of their own eating. Thus they ate and ate, those incredible forefathers of ours, and they talked and talked and laughed and laughed and planned other dinners and lived to eat them.

There at last came the pies—mince and pumpkin and apple and cherry—and the cakes—pound cake, cream cake, spice cake, and the plum pudding and the doughnuts and finally the nuts and apples. There is documentary evidence otherwise no one would believe such dinners ever were.

Women then indulged in the practice not unknown today, of exchanging favorite recipes. From a cook book of those days of old, quaint enough to satisfy the most exacting story-writer, and full of written-in recipes in dim brown ink, is taken the appended brief gifts for the poor children of Glendale.

 Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson is receiving letters from the children who wish to be remembered by Santa Claus on Christmas, and when this messenger leaves on that important mission, he will carry a list of all the children in Glendale who have been thoughtful enough to write the postmaster and give him their addresses.

Already Mr. Jackson has received scores of letters from deserving little boys and girls, and he is keeping them until the time comes to send them on their way to Santa Claus. And of all the pretty things these children have asked for! There are requests for books, clothing, bicycles, skates, watches, balls, fruit, candies, nuts, knives, dolls and many, many other things too numerous to mention.

When Santa reaches Glendale, he is going to be loaded down with beautiful gifts of every description. Christmas morning will find hundreds of little boys and girls thankful that they have been good; that they wrote to Santa and that they did not forget to give him their full names and addresses. It's going to be a great day, and one that will be long

Boy Graduates From School Exceed Girls

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 13.—Boy graduates from the high schools of California in 1923, increased 1256 or 20.1 per cent, according to Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction.
 The total number of graduates was 16,939 in a senior enrollment of 19,250.
 Los Angeles county leads with 5,316 high school graduates; Alameda county is second with 1,735 and San Francisco follows with 1,172.
 Superintendent Wood said the records indicate that the high school has much greater holding power for boys than it had ten years ago, when the criticism was frequently made that boys left before completing the high school course.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The registration of Howard University, which is maintained here by the government for Negro students, has passed the 2,000 mark for the first time in its history, the Interior Department announced in making public the school's annual report.
 Thirty-seven states and thirteen foreign countries are now represented among the 2,123 students of the university.
 The total assets of the university on June 30, 1923, were placed at $2,180,577.

Bernard Shaw Admits He May Become Saint

LONDON, Dec. 13.—George Bernard Shaw is quite confident that before long he will have a halo.
 "Sages and saints and a few others, recoil from eating meat. I myself, am a sage, and probably after a decent interval, will be made a saint," Shaw said recently, addressing the University of London Vegetarian Society.
 "Many people have the idea that vegetarians are effeminate and gentle, but they are the most ferocious people in the country."

Teachers of Foreign Languages Increase

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 13.—During the past six months, foreign language school teachers numbering ninety-three Japanese, sixty-three Chinese and two Germans have received certificates to practice their profession from the State Board of Education, said Sam H. Cohn, in charge of the foreign language school department of the State Board of Education.
 These teachers, while not paid by the state, are under the supervision of the State Board of Education and are required to demonstrate a thorough knowledge of American institutions and form of government.

FERBER STORE OPENS WITH BIG FASHION REVUE

GRAND OPENING AT NEW LOCATION PROMISES TO BE EVENT OF SPLENDOR

Building Has Modern Facilities For Every Department Advantageously Displaying Wares In Most Attractive Manner

Glendale and all points of the San Fernando valley will join tomorrow, December 14, in offering congratulations to the A. Ferber Company, Inc., upon the occasion of the Grand Opening of their new department store occupying the basement, first and second floors and mezzanine of the recently completed Burn-Davis building at the northeast corner of Broadway and Maryland avenue.

In order to fittingly entertain the thousands of people it is estimated will gather at the new store that afternoon and evening, social receptions have been arranged, announces A. Ferber, executive head of the company that bears his name. Fashion revues will be staged at both matinee and night programs, with music by A. M. Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra, while gifts aggregating $50 will be distributed to those holding the lucky numbers, each visitor receiving a card with number.

"In opening this new and greatly enlarged Glendale store," said Mr. Ferber this morning, outlining his policies in connection with the new store, "we continue a comprehensive program of extending the progressive cities of Southern California, a chain of department stores, of which this one of the pioneer links, where the same superior service and the same high quality and great variety of merchandise is offered as can be found in the larger and older cities, at even greater money-saving values.

Fine Equipment "This beautiful new store, with its ultra-modern equipment, is logical—one might almost say necessary—development of the Ferber business, which has been very successfully conducted at the South Brand boulevard location. This may be interpreted to mean that the Ferber institution is anything but a stranger to Glendale, and its large and healthy contiguous territory. "Although established a comparatively short time, the original Ferber store very rapidly outgrew its quarters, and had the new building been complete at the October date, as planned, it could well have been occupied at full capacity at that time. "Arrangements for the new store will rival in every detail those of the other leading department stores in Southern California. Stocks of merchandise will be unusually large, selections will be in such variety that the most fastidious taste can be pleased, and under the economical methods of distribution by which the Ferber stores are governed, prices will be extraordinarily attractive.

Another Opening "Almost simultaneously with the opening of the Glendale store, A. Ferber Company, Inc., will open their new store in Fullerton, which is of a capacity similar to the local institution.

"These two stores are the first links in what is intended to be a chain of stores located in the better cities of the southwest. All stores in the Ferber chain will be conducted under the same general plan of merchandise distribution, acknowledged as being the most modern and economical way of bringing the product from the manufacturer to the consumer.

"Convenience for the shopper is now recognized as one of the fundamentals of good store-keeping. This has been one of the most essential points in the mind of the Ferber organization in planning and developing this Glendale store. While the stocks of merchandise will be unusually large, they will be so arranged as to be most easily accessible to the public, so facilitating shopping that all of the inconveniences that sometimes accompany buying in the busy department store, will be eliminated.

"The first floor is devoted to those sections which usually are so located in the more modern type of stores. On this floor will be found an unusually extensive assortment of silks, woolen yard goods, linens, cottons, bedding and allied lines.

Varied Stocks "The hosiery section, which particularly interests the feminine population, has been given very large space, with stocks of extraordinary diversity. Knit underwear is located adjacent to the hosiery department. The wants of men also will be unusually well cared for by a furnishing department complete with those accessories which most interest the well-dressed man, and easily accessible to the men's furnishings department, is a complete stock in a boys' department.

"On this floor also the shopper will find toilet goods in wide variety, notions, sewing-room needs, and all items of merchandise that contribute to the well regulated home and family. At the rear of the main floor is located a very elaborate soda fountain with a complete equipment for serving lunches. The plans of the company involve the addition of several other departments for the main floor, which plans will be announced from time to time as progress warrants.

"The second floor of the new Ferber store is one of great attractiveness. Beautiful fixtures, worthy of the kind of merchandise they contain, are located at the greatest vantage points. On the west half of this beautiful floor, are found items of apparel which most lure the feminine heart. Continuing toward the center and rear of this extensive floor are those other essentials to woman's grooming—corsets, lingerie, silk underwear, and the like.

"Under the stairway entrance on the second floor is located the infants' wear department, completely provided with things so important to the happiness and welfare of the babies. Also on this floor is located a millinery department, fitted in most magnificent fixtures, and finished in ivory and mahogany. A long stretch of mirrors fronting this entire department, bespeak joy for milady, as she tries the various modes of the hour.

"On this floor too, are found the many elements of the wardrobe which charm femininity and really make the store a place of delight for those who love the beautiful in apparel. So extensive are the assortments that it is inadvisable to attempt to detail them all.

Toys for Children "For the moment, because of its timeliness, and the season's demand, a great section of the basement store is devoted to the showing of Christmas toys. To the child's mind, Santa Claus has been most kind in his lavishness. This department will be a place of untold joy to the little boy and girl, as well as to the grown-up, who has not yet lost the happy faculty of relishing those things which contribute to the delight of the young.

"The physical equipment of the new Ferber store is probably as complete as modern ingenuity can make it. The lighting system, very wide in scope, makes the interior as brilliant as one of California's most sunny days. The cash carrier system connecting with the various sections of the store, bespeak a highly gratifying service for the hurried shopper.

"All of the other essentials to good service are a part of this institution, and the shopper at Ferber's will find when all equipment is installed, that every one of the annoying little inconveniences that frequently accompany shopping, have been obviated.

"The floors are made commodious, with high ceilings, assuring the best in light. A wide sweep of display windows and large show cases with most beautiful and artistic background, brilliantly illuminated at night, make the Ferber corner one of the outstanding sections of central Glendale. These windows, worked out according to the ideas of the best designers, will display merchandise to the very best advantage, giving shoppers exceptional opportunity.

BURN-DAVIS BUILDING'S ARCHITECTURE IS EQUAL OF FINEST STRUCTURES

Provision Is Made For Adding Third Story When Growth of Ferber's Department Store Warrants This Improvement

The Burn-Davis building at the northeast corner of Broadway and Maryland avenue, new home of the Glendale department store of the A. Ferber company, Inc., of Los Angeles and elsewhere, stands complete today, seven months after ground was broken last April, as one of the finest structures in the city.

Of steel, brick and terra cotta construction, erected at a cost of $90,000 exclusive of the 50x133 foot lot, all of which it occupies, it represents the very pinnacle of the builders' art. At present two stories above the street, with a full-sized basement and a mezzanine balcony, it has been so built by Elmer Elliott, general contractor, that another story may be added at any time.

The terra cotta for this additional story is at present stored in the basement, states H. S. Burn, who with S. P. Davis and F. W. Meckfessel own the building, this precaution being taken so as to ensure a perfect match when the third story goes up.

Ten Years' Lease

The entire building, with the exception of a small section at the rear, comprising one or two rooms and a flight of stairs, is leased for ten years to the Ferber company, Mr. Burn states. The additional floor will be put on at any time they desire further expansion.

The small annex, one story in height, at the rear of the building on North Maryland avenue, will be retained by Messrs. Burn and Davis as an investment, insurance and brokerage office.

Passenger and freight elevators serve the building and a modern motor-driven ventilating system in the basement with twelve large registers, will keep the air at all times sweet and fresh, while the fifty-nine electric lights in the basement alone and the hundreds of others located throughout the building will create a flood of illumination unsurpassed in any structure of similar size in Southern California, the builders state.

building on the coast, with the exception of one large Los Angeles department store.

The interior finish is in ivory and mahogany, the architectural employment of lines being pleasing. A total of approximately 25,000 square feet of floor space will be utilized by the Ferber department store under the terms of their lease, which gave them the building on December 1.

The two weeks prior to the Grand Opening have been employed in fitting out the store and transferring their stocks of goods from the crowded quarters at 108 South Brand boulevard, in addition to shipping in large quantities of new stocks from Los Angeles.

The plans of the Ferber company in connection with the policy of operating their fine new store, together with an account of the personnel and management of the organization, will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Sub-Contractors Following is a list of sub-contractors who cooperated with Elmer Elliott in erecting the Burn-Davis building:

Baker Iron works, Los Angeles, structural steel; Tropco potteries, Glendale, ornamental terra cotta, said to be the best lots ever turned out of this plant; Glendale Hardwood Flooring company, maple floors and oak window-sashes; T. S. Brown, Glendale, painting; Glendale Hardware company, finish hardware and paints; California Plate Glass company, Los Angeles, glass; Harry Betz, Glendale, laying brick and setting terra cotta; Coker & Taylor, Glendale, plumbing fixtures; J. W. Morrison, Glendale, architect, plans for the building; Lounsberry & Harris, Los Angeles, lumber.

Interior of New Burn-
Davis Building

The new Burn-Davis building, the home of the Ferber Department store, includes among its many modern and interesting features a water-proof interior made possible by Minwax, a product sold in Glendale by the Wilson-Bell Hardware company. This composition has met with great favor in Glendale, and was used in finishing a number of large buildings in the city, including the new Presbyterian church, Tuesday Afternoon club building, Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, Webb-Emery building, Broadway Court, Forest Lawn Mausoleum, all city schools, and many smaller buildings in the city. Minwax is adapted to several uses, being made in the following grades: For concrete floor filler and finish; flat wood finish; colorless waterproofing for outside walls; damp roofing and plaster walls; brick and cement coating.

Burn-Davis Building Has Maple Flooring

The Glendale Hardwood Flooring company of 304 East Broadway, who laid the maple floors and put in the white oak show windows of the Burn-Davis building, have just finished laying maple floors at the Broadway school, reports H. E. Wilson, who with Sam Wilson conducts the business. This company has also recently completed flooring jobs for Dick and Henry Michel on North Pacific avenue and has a reputation for laying the best hardwood floors in Glendale, states Mr. Wilson. Other recent jobs this company has done include hardwood floors in a four-family flat on East Lomita avenue, and flooring work on additions to the Doran street and Columbus avenue schools.

Radio Shop Features Exclusive Apparatus

Starting four months ago, the proprietors of the Glendale Radio service, located in the Court Shops arcade, 211 East Broadway, H. C. Bates and Leo Lowman, have built up a thriving business, whose feature is the fact that it is exclusively radio. Specializing in the Neutrodyne five-tube hook-up, which combines long distance with local range, the proprietors state that they have been able to equip many homes to hear KPO (San Francisco) as well as KHJ and KFI, the popular Los Angeles stations, while Chicago has been received over this hook-up strong enough to be heard 150 feet away, with the giant diaphragm-amplifier they are featuring.

Contractor Extends Ferber Good Wishes

Elmer Elliott, general contractor for the Burn-Davis building, who resides at 612 East Elk avenue, has built many of the prominent structures of the city, among them the H. S. Webb building, the Lawson building and a number of the Glendale schools.

Mr. Elliott is at present putting up the new home for the local Buick agency of Tanner & Hall, on South Brand boulevard, and has a number of other large and small jobs under way. He joins with others who have had part in bringing the Burn-Davis building to completion in wishing for the Ferber department store a prosperous future in their new and greatly enlarged quarters.

New Yorker Designs Burn-Davis Building

J. W. Morrison of 702 Orange avenue, architect who designed the Burn-Davis building, comes originally from Buffalo, N. Y., but has lived in Glendale for some time.

Among other prominent local buildings he has designed are the Castle apartments at 225 North Brand boulevard and the Federal Commercial and Savings bank, the latter at the southwest corner of Brand boulevard and Palmer avenue.

Mr. Morrison's work is marked by a solidity of structure combined with a pleasing employment of lines.

GOOD FINISH IS BUILDING ASSET

Burn-Davis Accessories are Supplied By Glendale Hardware Co.

All finish hardware and practically all paints entering into the construction and outfitting of the new department store of A. Ferber Company, Inc., at the north-east corner of Broadway and Maryland avenue, in the new Burn-Davis building, were supplied by the Glendale Hardware company of 601 East Broadway, states H. J. Cox, of this firm, known as "Washer" Cox because of his phenomenal success as manager of the good housekeeping department.

During the month of September, Mr. Cox sold a total of forty-seven washing machines, or a total of two each week day. And his record was nearly as good in October and November, he states.

"On November 1 we took over the agency for the Maytag washing machine," says "Washer" Cox, "and it has proved to be an instantaneous success. It is the only machine I have not had to sell in all my twenty-five years in business. It sells itself, on its own merits. During the coming months I expect to pile up new sales records with this machine."

"To introduce the Maytag washer, we are going to give away absolutely free a brand new all-white enamel Wedgewood gas range to one of the next ten purchasers of this machine. We honestly believe the Maytag aluminum washer stands supreme today among washing machines, and we want to see them in Glendale homes, for we know they will make Mondays happy days and drive away the 'laundry blues'."

"For the last month we have had a demonstrator outside our store, washing clothes eight hours a day without any wear and tear either on the clothes or the washer. This is sufficient proof that the Maytag is the washer to buy. I would appreciate the privilege of personally demonstrating its superiority to every woman of Glendale who will come to the store."

Good Plumbing Among Building's Features

Coker & Taylor, plumbers, of 209 South Brand boulevard, who installed plumbing fixtures in the Burn-Davis building, have earned the reputation by their many big and small jobs in this vicinity as leading plumbers of the San Fernando valley, and according to Edgar Coker and Raymond L. Taylor, proprietors, take a special pride in their work in this newest addition to Glendale's fast growing list of fine buildings.

"We congratulate the A. Ferber Company, Inc., on their removal to their new quarters," the proprietors of Coker & Taylor join in stating, "and wish for them a prosperous future."

"We, ourselves, have unbounded faith in Glendale and are always glad to see others share this confidence. The importance of a city as a merchandising center is further emphasized by the opening of another three-floor department store."

Bentley Lumber Used To Finish Structure

The Bentley Lumber company, 460 West Los Feliz road, extends to the A. Ferber Company, Inc., hearty congratulations upon the occasion of their removal to their new quarters in the Burn-Davis building.

This company, a pioneer organization of Glendale and of material aid in bringing the city to its present stage of development, furnished roofing, cement, lath and plaster for the Burn-Davis building, in addition to much of the rough lumber employed.

The officers of the Bentley Lumber company—John Bentley, president; J. Roger Bentley, vice-president; George H. Bentley, secretary-treasurer; and J. Ray Bentley, general manager—join in wishing the Ferber department store a success commensurate with that which the future holds for Glendale.

Tile and Marble Are Great Building Aid

The Glendale Tile & Mantel company, 107 East Doran street, who put in the tile, marble and mosaic work at the Burn-Davis building, enjoys through its proprietor, Joseph Fortunato, a high reputation in Glendale and surrounding points for this type of contracting.

Among the many large tile and marble jobs done by this company in Glendale, states Mr. Fortunato, are the Lawson building, Jensen's Palace Grand arcade, Tuesday Afternoon club and Monarch building, in each of which the work was of such a high character as to win commendation by builders not only in Glendale but elsewhere.

The result is that the Glendale Tile & Mantel company is known throughout the San Fernando valley.

FRANCE CHANGES PART OF POLICY

Concessions to Viewpoint of United States Helps to New Agreement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—France has made material concessions to the American viewpoint in agreeing to the new international inquiry into the German reparations controversy, it was learned authoritatively here today.

It was this change of attitude on the part of Premier Poincare that moved President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes to give their consent to American experts sitting on the commission.

As a result of the more tractable French attitude, President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes feel confident that good will come out of the renewed effort to reach a settlement. Another favorable factor, they believe, is the fact that American co-operation was earnestly sought by all the major parties to the controversy, including Germany herself. This insures considerable weight to American influence.

Some May Protest
Considerable opposition to this new move by the administration is anticipated from the "irreconcilables" in Congress. Senator Hiram Johnson issued a statement criticizing "secret diplomacy," and declared that "the people are entitled to all the facts" of what the administration is proposing to do abroad.

The next step in the furtherance of the project will be for the reparations commission to invite such American experts as are suggested by Secretary Hughes.

HUNT FOR MISSING MEN

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Dec. 13.—Alarmed by the failure of eight chief petty officers of the Pacific fleet to return here from a hunting trip to San Clemente island, near Santa Barbara, naval authorities are dispatching a naval tug to search for the missing men. They left Friday and were expected to return Sunday. In addition to the eight naval men, two others, Captain Charles King in charge of the launch Hiwaitha, carrying the party, and George Michaels, guide, are missing.

HOLIDAY FOR POSTMEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—There will be no rural mail deliveries on Christmas day, the postoffice department has announced. City carriers will carry mail until 12 noon, and then stop for the day, regardless of whether they have completed their routes, according to orders of the postmaster-general.

COMMENT That's All

Don't Wait For Last Minute Do Christmas Shopping Now Help Out Postoffice Force Why Do They Try To Do It?

By Gil A. Gowen

Of course, you are doing your Christmas shopping. If not, why not? The best selections will soon be gone and the last minute shopping is very unsatisfactory. Glance through the columns of The Glendale Evening News tonight and tomorrow and see the many suggestions the local merchants have to offer. Then act on that impulse and use Friday and Saturday to good advantage.

It is fortunate for Glendale people that they can purchase practically everything at home this year. It is no longer necessary to go to Los Angeles to find a representative assortment of gifts. Great changes have been wrought in local mercantile lines in the last few years.

Home people should be proud of their stores—and patronage reflects this pride. Every dollar spent in Glendale makes this city bigger and better. Buy in Glendale for savings and satisfaction.

Another Christmas hint—mail all those Christmas cards today. Do not delay over the week end for the rush at the postoffice is amazing. The able clerks under Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson's direction are doing everything in their power to accommodate the seasonal increase in business, but remember as you take your place in line that Glendale is growing faster than departmental chiefs can realize.

When one thinks of the cramped quarters of the Glendale branch of the Los Angeles postoffice three years ago, there is reason for a shout of joy at the greatly improved service now rendered in Glendale by the independent office.

Within the last three months California has had three instances of insurance frauds, only one of which was perpetrated in this state, but all showing a queer psychology on the part of some individuals toward the underwriters.

A seemingly prosperous butcher of Lodi by the name of Kels killed an itinerant man named Meservey to provide a competence for his wife and enable him to get away from his creditors.

A Wisconsin manufacturer robbed the grave of a friend and burned the body in his summer cottage to make it appear that he had gone West. And then in company with a cabaret entertainer he did "go west" only to be haunted by stricken conscience which is taking his paragon to an early grave while he himself will likely spend the rest of his natural life behind prison walls.

And then there is the story of a World war veteran who killed his double in Tennessee to gain insurance money to clear his parents of debt. He was discovered last week in Santa Barbara. His is the most unusual story of the three, but all bear the earmarks of certain lack of honesty which is regrettable.

Why men will do such things is altogether beyond human comprehension. All had their loved ones whom they thought sufficiently worthy of recompense. All had a certain moral code, perhaps alienists would likely hold them insane. But such insanity is not to be countenanced. Otherwise half of our insurance companies would go bankrupt paying these illegitimate claims.

ATTEMPT TO GET MOVIES FROM L. A.

San Francisco Delegation in Southland to Confer on Rumored Changes

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—A San Francisco committee of four men, representing the city and county government, Chamber of Commerce and allied organizations, arrived here yesterday with the avowed purpose of securing for the bay district a number of motion picture studios which, they declared, were about to be moved from Los Angeles.

F. T. Litchfield of the industries committee of the San Francisco chamber of Commerce, was spokesman for the group, which included C. E. Healy, L. V. Riddle and John Daniel.

"We have no interest in your blue laws, but we are reliably informed that a number of motion picture studios plan to leave this section," Litchfield said. "San Francisco has no desire to take from Los Angeles what rightfully belongs to the city, but if these studios are going to leave your section we want them located in San Francisco territory if possible."

Litchfield declared conferences with several motion picture producers had been arranged for the near future. No producer or motion picture manager could be found who would admit that his studio contemplated leaving Southern California.

The San Franciscans arrived here hard on the heels of the Wampus committee, which visited San Francisco to arrange to hold their 1924 frolic in that city.

Committee Submits Platform of Farmers

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—The resolutions committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation submitted its platform to the convention here yesterday for a vote. The committee recommended:

Co-ordinated transportation with approval of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence and Chicago to Gulf waterway projects; investigation of railroad revenues; approval of the Grey-Silver report on European conditions, which advocates fixed reparations as necessary to provide an outlet for American products; increase of the national defense under an act of 1920 at minimum expense; Indorsement of the grain futures act; opposition to government price-fixing; approval of the Ford-Muscle Shoals offer and a request to congress for an early vote on it; opposition to ship subsidies; a commission to study the tariff and make needed changes; limited immigration.

IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE

BEMIDJI, Minn., Dec. 13.—Leonard Portano, slayer of four who stood in the way of his abduction of the girl he loved, pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree and was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Stanton, in district court here. Capital punishment was abolished in Minnesota some years ago. Portano killed his rival for the hand of Myrtle Sanders, Oscar Timmey; the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sanders, and James A. Wilson, deputy sheriff who went to arrest him. The murders were committed November 15.

APPEALS BOARD GROWS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The personnel of the central board of appeals of the United States Veterans' Bureau was increased from seven to seventeen members yesterday by Brigadier-General Frank T. Hines. Hines announced veterans could appear in person before the board to present appeals and would be furnished counsel by the bureau. Captain Charles O. Shaw, of Maryland, was selected chairman of the board.

PLAN JOHNSON CLUB

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—Signed by twenty-one Los Angeles Republicans, a call has been issued for a meeting Friday, at which a Johnson-for-President club for Los Angeles county will be formed. Temporary offices will be chosen at the meeting and a permanent organization effected at a larger meeting in about ten days.

LARGEST COMMON BRICK PLANT IN THE WORLD

Total daily capacity 750,000 brick—in addition to large run of Roofing Tile and Hollow Building Tile.

The plant is located at Simons (1500 population; 273 houses) on the A. T. & S. F. railroad. The monthly payroll totals $70,000, 600 men being employed.

We Congratulate Ferber's —

On the wonderful progress they have made in Glendale since their opening in this city just eight months ago, and we wish to congratulate the citizens of Glendale on having a new department store of this size and character.

During our past year's dealings with Mr. Ferber we have found him a most capable and thorough business man. It is our belief, judging from the excellent reputation of his eastern operations, that he will give Glendale an institution which will make a valuable addition to Glendale's business life.

In constructing this building—occupied by Ferber's—we have spared no effort or expense to erect a building that would be substantial and modern in every way—a fitting home for the fastest growing store in the "Fastest Growing City of America."

We sincerely wish Ferber's success commensurate with their Progressiveness and Spirit of Service, and feel that we will have to add another story to the building in the near future.
