DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 773 013

Example II (1)

Example showing the determination of the food expenses in case a part of staple food is obtainable through self-supply.

In case staple food is supplied by oneself, the ration of staple food is not to be made or suspended temporarily, so that the deduction of the staple food expenses should be made on the basis of the days in suspension. In case staple food is, therefore, self-supplied in such a small quantity that the ration may not be suspended, no deduction will not be made.

(1) In case the ration is, for example, suspended for twenty days of a month, the expenses for purchasing staple food will be decreased proportionally, namely, by $\frac{20}{30}$.

(2) In case five kan of sweet potatoes is yielded, the staple food ration will, as a rule, not be affected. In this case, accordingly, no deduction will not be made.

Example II (2)

Example showing the computation of deducting the non-rationed Subsidiaryfood expenses for 4 person household of man (aged 65), woman (35), boy (10), girl (6), raising a part of vegetables by themselves.

The aggregate quantity of vegetables, both rationed and non-rationed, to be consumed by the above household for a month is computed as 53 kan.

	Man (65)	Woman (35)	Boy (10)	Girl (6)	Total

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDC NO. 773013

(2) In case five kan of sweet potatoes is yielded, the staple food ration will, as a rule, not be affected. In this case, accordingly, no deduction will not be made.

Example II (2)

Example showing the computation of deducting the non-rationed Subsidiaryfood expenses for 4 person household of man (aged 65), woman (35), boy (10), girl (6), raising a part of vegetables by themselves.

The aggregate quantity of vegetables, both rationed and non-rationed, to be consumed by the above household for a month is computed as 53 kan.

	Man(65)	Woman(35)	Boy (10)	Girl (6)	Total
Rationed	40 momme	40 (")	40 (")	40 (")	160 momme
Non-rationed	605 momme	107 (")	650 (")	251 (")	1,613 momme

1,773 (momme) X 30 (days) = 53,190 (momme)

(2) Supposing that this household is able to raise 152 kan of vegetables by themselves for half a year, 25 kan, one-sixth of it is the self-sufficient quantity for a month.

$$152 \text{ kan} \times \frac{1}{6} = 25 \text{ kan } 300 \text{ (omiting fractions)}$$

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 77 013

Next, one-fourth of the monthly quantity of vegetable required for this household (53 kan) will be deducted from the monthly quantity by self-supply (25 kan).

53 kan $\times \frac{1}{4}$ = 13 kan ?? (omiting fractions)

25 kan - 13 kan = 12 kan

Consequently, the expenses for 12 kan of vegetables may be deducted from the non-rationed subsidiary food expenses (1,522 yen).

The amount to be deducted from the non-rationed subsidiary food expenses will be 377 yen 50 sen.

12 kan ÷ 48 kan 390 = 0.248

(Monthly weight of the subsidiary food required by the above household.

1,613 momme x 30 (days) = 48 kan 390.)

1,522 yen 20 sen x 0.248 = 377 yen 50 sen.

(Non-rationed subsidiary food expenses)

The food expenses to be provided to this household will be 3,039 yen 13 sen.

3,516 yen 63 sen - 377 yen 50 sen = 3,139 yen 13 sen

Example II (3)

Example showing the computation of deducting the rationed and non-rationed subsidiary food expenses for 4 person household consisting of man

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 773 013

(Monthly weight of the subsidiary food required by the above household.

1,613 momme x 30 (days) = 48 kan 390.)

1,522 yen 20 sen x 0.248 = 377 yen 50 sen.

(Non-rationed subsidiary food expenses)

The food expenses to be provided to this household will be 3,039 yen 63 sen.

3,516 yen 63 sen - 377 yen 50 sen = 3,139 yen 13 sen

Example II (3)

Example showing the computation of deducting the rationed and non-rationed subsidiary food expenses for 4 person household consisting of man (aged 65) woman (35), boy (10), and girl (6), partial self-supply of fish.

(1) According to Separate Table "Itemized Table of Calories and Weights Underlying the Determination of Food Sufficiency Rate", the quantity of fish to be consumed by this household is 164 calories, or 80 momme per day, accordingly, 2 kan 80 momme per month.

80 momme x 30 (days) = 2 kan 400.

(2) When the quantity by self-supply is more than that acquired by the foregoing calculation (1), the expenses for purchasing fish will entirely be eliminated from the rationed subsidiary food expenses, and furthermore, the non-rationed subsidiary expenses will be reduced in proportion to the excessive calories over the quantity specified above.

(3) For example, if the quantity of fish supplied by this household for half a year, is 20 kan, the average weight per month will be 3 kan 300.

$$20 \text{ kan} \times \frac{1}{6} = 3 \text{ kan } 300.$$

The self-sufficient quantity of calories and weight exceeding the ration standard, will be as follows:

3,300 momme - 2,400 momme = 900 momme

The equivalent quantity of calories is

$$900 \times \frac{25}{12} = 1{,}875 \text{ cal.}$$

(specific gravity of calorie & weight)

As the calorie quantity obtainable from the non-rationed subsidiary food for this household is 1,172 cal. x 30 (days) = 35,160 (according to Separate Table "Itemized Table of Calories and Weight Underlying Food Self-sufficiency Rate"), the rate of deduction will be 0.05.

1,875 cal. ÷ 35,160 cal. = 0.05

The sum to be deducted from the non-rationed subsidiary food will be 76 yen 11 sen.

1,522 yen 20 sen x 0.05 = 76 yen 11 sen.

Consequently, the subsidiary food expenses to be provided to this

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDC NO. 775 013

(specific gravity of calorie & weight)

As the calorie quantity obtainable from the non-rationed subsidiary food for this household is 1,172 cal. x 30 (days) = 35,160 (according to Separate Table "Itemized Table of Calories and Weight Underlying Food Self-sufficiency Rate"), the rate of deduction will be 0.05.

1,875 cal. ÷ 35,160 cal. = 0.05

The sum to be deducted from the non-rationed subsidiary food will be 76 yen 11 sen.

1,522 yen 20 sen x 0.05 = 76 yen 11 sen.

Consequently, the subsidiary food expenses to be provided to this household will be as follows:

1,522 yen 20 sen x 76 yen 11 sen = 1,446.09 sen

Next, the food expenses for this household will be 3,186 yen 56 sen.

3,583 yen 63 sen - (253 yen 96 sen + 76 yen 11 sen) = 3,186 yen 56 sen

↑ Rationed subsidiary food expenses to be deducted

↑ Non-rationed subsidiary food expenses to be deducted

Example III,

Example showing the computation of the rent for 4 person family in large city, whose rent exceeds the standard, and in which public water charge is not necessary because of using well water.

When 4 person family are living in the house, the rent of which is 80 yen per month, in a large city, the standard amount of rent for this household will be 40 yen 23 sen according to Separate Table II, (1), Standard Table for Determining the Minimum Living Cost, with the result that its rent will exceeds the standard by 40 yen. If this household is using well water, there will be no necessity of paying public water charge which can be diverted to make up for the excessive amount of rent, as indicated in the following.

Example IV.

Example showing the computation of the heating expenses for the family supplying a part of firewoods and charcoals by themselves.

(1) First, the quantity of firewood and charcoal by self-supply will be fixed by converting it into charcoal. For example, if this household can procure sixteen bundles of firewoods from the hill of their own, its quantity is computed as being convertible into 3.2 bales of charcoal.

(2) It is, in the next place, computed what proportion of the above quantity self-supplied is to the quantity of firewood and charcoal specified for that household in the standard.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 773013

For instance, if the proportion of the quantity self-supplied to the standard quantity for five-person family in a town or village is as 3 to 2, the amount of expenses to be deducted will be 50 yen 33 sen.

$$159 \text{ yen } 95 \text{ sen} \times \left(\frac{2}{3} \cdot \frac{1}{3} \right) = 50 \text{ yen } 33 \text{ sen.}$$

Standard amount of firewood & charcoal for five person family

Consequently, the firewood & charcoal expenses for this household will be 109 yen 62 sen.

159 yen 95 sen - 50 yen 33 sen = 109 yen 62 sen.

15th-Oct, 1947. Sha-Cisu-Hatsu No. 123.
Instruction to Prefectural Governor from Chief of Social Bureau, Welfare Ministry.

Epitome of the Nation-wide Investigation of the Condition of Protection of the Need, Individuals under the Daily Life Security Law.

1. Aim;

In dealing with the enforcement of the Daily Life Security Law, the living condition of the needy individuals must always be investigated. The change in protection (reduction, increase, change of the kind of protection), its suspension or its abolition must be executed appropriately on the basis of the actual condition in order to obtain pertinence of protection. But to our regret it seems that this principle is not thoroughly observed in practise. We hope that those in charge will do their best so that protection will be complete for those who really need it. We aim at the pertinent enforcement of this Law and at the same time the training of Welfare Committeemen. With this twofold object in view we wish to conduct a nation-wide investigation of the condition of protection of the needy individuals.

2. Subject of investigation.

Investigation will be made with the household of those persons who at present are receiving livelihood aid, medical treatment, aid in delivery, continued occupational aid, (in learning skills) under the Daily Life Security Law.

Note; 1. As for those who are living in institutions or are given temporary accommodation for livelihood protection, such as old people's home, children's home, or relief station, who have households elsewhere, investigation will be made at the place where the said households exist and those other than these are excepted from this investigation.

2. As for those who keep households in an institution providing accommodation, such as mothers and children's home or repatriates' home etc. They will be investigated at the place in which such an institution exists notwithstanding the fact whether they pay part of the protection expense

With this two-fold object in view we wish to conduct a nation-wide investigation of the condition of protection of the needy individuals.

2. Subject of investigation.

Investigation will be made with the household of those persons who at present are receiving livelihood aid, medical treatment, aid in delivery, continued occupational aid, (in learning skills) under the Daily Life Security Law.

Note; 1. As for those who are living in institutions or are given temporary accomodation for livelihood protection, such as old people's home, children's home, or relief station, who have households elsewhere, investigation will be made at the place where the said households exist and those other than these are excepted from this investigation.

2. As for those who keep households in an institution providing accommodation, such as mothers and children's home or repatriates' home etc. They will be investigated at the place in which such an institution exists notwithstanding the fact whether they pay part of the protection expense or not.

3. Time of investigation;

(a) Investigation will be instituted on and after 1 December, 1947 and will be completed by 20 January, 1948, [illegible], with all cities, towns and villages.

(b) The schedule of investigation in each city, town and village will be fixed by the prefectural governor.
