CHIEF LANKFORD THANKS FRIENDS FOR THEIR AID; PLANS FOR BETTER FORCE

Executive Urges Everybody to 'Forget' About Recent Trouble; Captain E. C. Fairfield Receives His Discharge 'For Good'

With Fire Chief A. H. Lankford back at his desk and the members of the fire department assured of their status as city employees, an air of serenity pervaded Fire Station No. 1 this morning for the first time since the announcement was made that the chief had been removed by the City Council.

The only men who appeared to be discomfited by the findings of the "jury" and the subsequent passage of the resolution re-instating Chief Lankford were the men who had been expecting employment when the old men on the department vacated their positions, scheduled for this morning at 8 o'clock. These men congregated in small groups about the City Hall and discussed the latest developments in the situation which had deprived them of their promised positions.

Plan for Removals

Chief Lankford spent the morning with J. W. Stevens, state fire marshal, in going over the roster of the fire department, with a view to "weeding out" all the men whose names had been brought up in the recent investigation as drinking on duty.

"I was satisfied," said Chief Lankford this morning, "that once I brought the correct facts before the members of the City Council, I would be cleared of all charges against me."

"Naturally, I am delighted with the result of the hearing. But it is a source of greater satisfaction to me to know that the best citizens of Glendale were behind me and the members of the department, practically to a man."

Seeks Co-operation

"When I asked for the hearing, on the suggestion of A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Evening News, and others, I only wanted the facts to be brought out for the good of the department and the protection of the city."

"Now that the whole thing is done we want every one in Glendale to forget all about it. That is what the fire department is going to do. The places of the men who are dismissed will be filled by the most competent men among those secured by Chief Fraser, and we will have a 100 per cent efficient fire-fighting force."

"I have no animosity against any one. I think the council acted according to their belief, and that they had been misinformed as to the actual state of affairs in the department."

Fire Chief Reinstated

Result of Council Hearing

A. H. Lankford, chief of the Glendale fire department, removed February 7 by the city council, was reinstated in his former position yesterday by the same body, following his "hearing" at the city hall.

The action was not unlooked for by those who attended the session, for from the very first it appeared that sentiment was strongly in favor of the ousted chief, and after hearing part of the testimony, and opinions openly expressed by W. E. Hewitt,

George Bentley, Urged By Many Friends, Agrees To Run For High School Board

After strong pressure was brought by many of his friends, George H. Bentley, secretary-treasurer of the Bentley Lumber company, today consented to permit his name to be used as a candidate for one of two vacancies on the Board of Trustees of the Glendale Union High school.

Two vacancies will occur next month on the Board of Trustees of the Glendale Union High school. The term of Dr. H. V. Brown is one of those to expire.

Dr. Brown to Run

However, Dr. Brown has been requested by friends and committees to stand for re-election and today, when questioned by the Glendale Evening News, stated that in view of the requests of many people in the district he continue on the board, he had definitely decided to be a candidate for re-election.

So, with George Bentley a candidate and with Dr. Brown a candidate for re-election, there are two vacancies on the board that will occur. It is pointed out that both candidates have a host of friends in the district, that they are well equipped to serve the school system and that

Williams House Is Sold Once More, and to Williams

There's a little California bungalow at 1139 East Maple street that might well be called "The Home of the Williamses," for in the last three years it has not been out of the possession of a person named Williams.

In 1921 Ben O. Williams bought the property, and in 1923 sold it to Mrs. Nettie Williams, who yesterday sold it to Mrs. Laura Williams. The funny part of these transactions is that none of the three persons are related, although named Williams.

CURRENT ISSUES COOLIDGE TOPIC

President in Gotham Talk to Give Accounting of Stewardship

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Having rebuked the Senate and served notice that he was not to be rushed off his feet in dealing with the Teapot Dome scandal, President Coolidge laid down his executive knitting today and departed from the capital on a speech making trip—his first as president.

Tonight in New York, the president will deliver an address that is being eagerly awaited in political quarters, as he will express his ideas on current issues and future policies before a partisan organization, the National Republican club.

Will Render Account

Today's trip is the first Mr. Coolidge has made away from Washington since he entered the White House, and only once in the six months of his presidency has he outlined any detail of his policies and beliefs. This was two months ago upon the convening of the sixty-eighth Congress.

Since then Teapot Dome has developed into a national scandal; the Democrats and insurgents within his own party have combined in congress to defeat the Mellon tax program; and the movement for his succession has become nation-wide.

GREEN CAR CLUE IN GIRL'S DEATH

Owner of Luxurious Sedan Is Sought in Mystery of Strangled Dancer

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—"Find the man in the green car." Fifty picked detectives today sought to obey that command of Detective Inspector Coughlin, seeking to solve the latest tragedy of the beautiful girl found strangled to death in her apartment.

Louise Lawson had many wealthy men friends. Police say they have found all of these "friends" but one—the "man in the green car."

Hunt Car's Owner

From one of these two extremes of the social scale—"the post" with his pleas of marriage; his promises of love; and the "man in the green car," with his gifts of jewels, lavish entertainment and his wife, police believe they may learn at least something which would aid in the solution of the crime.

"Police found Louise's little blue book." In it were the names of many of New York's social leaders—their clubs; their silent telephones. Police interviewed all of these—quietly, tactfully, pledging "no publicity."

SCHOOL BOY TO JAIL

FRESNO, Feb. 12.—Edward Arkelian, 18-year-old Fresno school boy, was sentenced to serve five days in the county jail here today by Police Judge James G. Crichton, after the youth had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of reckless driving.

BURBANK BETTER

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Feb. 12.—Luther Burbank, world-famous plant wizard, who soon will celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday, was reported slightly improved today by his physician, Dr. Joseph H. Shaw.

MACDONALD WILL OUTLINE POLICY

British Parliament Convenes Under Labor Leaders for First Time

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Parliament reconvened today for the first session since the Labor government was formed.

The program was for Premier Ramsay MacDonald to outline his future policy and to announce the achievements of the cabinet during the recess of parliament.

The accomplishments of the Labor government so far were grouped roughly: First—Recognition of soviet Russia. Second—More cordial relations established with France and settlement of the Rhineland palatinate question.

Third—Appointment of committees to deal with unemployment and the housing shortage. Fourth—Settlement of the railway strike.

Government Popular

It is generally admitted that the Labor government has proved more popular than was believed possible at the time of the election. It has not tried to put into force any of the policies demanded by the radical element.

Bitter debate upon the government policies will be forthcoming in the next few days.

There was an early rush for seats in commons, Lady Astor arriving at 6:40 o'clock. Lady Terrington and Mrs. Thomas Winttingham were on hand twenty minutes later. More than 100 members were in their seats before 8 o'clock.

Small Panic Results at Penitentiary Fire

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 12.—A small panic was precipitated in the Western penitentiary at Riverside, near here, this morning, when fire broke out in the prison laundry and smoke curled among the cells. Warden John Egan took personal supervision of the fire and denied that it was another attempt of prisoners to escape similar to the plan frustrated yesterday. Prison attaches said the fire had been caused by crossed wires.

KLAN CHIEF SELLS

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 12.—Colonel William Joseph Simmons, emperor and founder of the Ku Klux Klan, has sold his interest in that organization to Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans, according to an official announcement made by Klan leaders here this afternoon.

Irish Soldiers Make Attacks on Bandits

DUBLIN, Feb. 12.—Armed soldiers of the Irish Free State government opened a drive against criminals today, arresting more than a dozen highwaymen.

A violent battle in the center of Dublin attended the capture of Christopher Brophy, an alleged bandit. Brophy barricaded himself in his home and defied the soldiers until wounded three times.

HARRY SINCLAIR SAILS FOR HOME

Oil Magnate Leaves Europe for U. S., Ready to Talk Before Committee

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire American oil producer, who is involved in the Teapot Dome oil leasing scandal at Washington, departed for the United States today.

Sinclair refused to make any comment, but had previously announced his willingness to appear before the senate investigating committee.

The oil magnate dashed up to the railway station at the last moment, just catching the train for Southampton to take the American liner President Harding.

Mason Day, an official of the Sinclair company, who accompanied Sinclair to Europe, gave International News Service the following statement in behalf of his chief.

"Mr. Sinclair has done what he said he would do. He has expedited his business affairs in Europe so as to be able to return home as soon as possible to answer any questions that may be asked him in regard to the Teapot Dome oil leases.

COURTS INVESTIGATION

"With regard to the cancellation of the Teapot Dome oil leases, Mr. Sinclair would be glad to have the whole matter brought to court for legal adjudication. Furthermore, you can deny that Mr. Sinclair allied himself with Hugo Stinnes for exploitation of the Sakhalin oil fields.

"Reports that Persia has cancelled the oil concessions obtained there by Mr. Sinclair are untrue. Sinclair appeared to be in the best of health and not worried over disclosures at Washington.

EXCAVATORS END TUT'S LONG REST

Lid of Granite Sarcophagus Lifted in Presence of Few Scientists

LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 12.—Tut-Ankh-Amen's thirty centuries of death sleep amidst the splendors of his silent tomb in the valley of the kings was broken today.

In the presence of a handful of officials, Howard Carter, noted Egyptologist, lifted the lid of the ancient granite sarcophagus which had been replaced by workmen a thousand years before the birth of Christ.

Inside the sepulchre the watchers saw painted mummy cases and it was understood that the embalmed body of the one-time Pharaoh, wrapped in its fine linen, still faintly fragrant with spices and myrrh, reposed within.

The opening of the 3000-year-old grave marked an epoch in the annals of Egyptology and opens the way to fresh discoveries which will throw much light upon the history of Egypt in the reign of the Pharaohs.

SPECTATORS LIMITED

Carter had issued numerous invitations to archaeologists to be present, but the Egyptian minister of public works intervened, ruling that only officials should be present.

Carter and his immediate staff, accompanied by Professor Breasted, Professor Newberry, Dr. David of the Philadelphia Museum, Dr. Lythgoe of the Metropolitan Museum of New York and a few officials entered the tomb at 5 minutes after 3 o'clock. The lid of the sarcophagus was raised 35 minutes later.

When the heavy granite lid of the sarcophagus was raised, the rays of the electric lights glittered upon a magnificent gilded mummy case—a casket fit for a king. It is three metres in length and bears a portrait of Tut-Ankh-Amen. Carter said it would be impossible to open the mummy case this afternoon, owing to the extreme care which must be taken to keep the contents of the sepulchre intact.

POLICE CHIEF'S ILLNESS DELAYS CANDLER CASE

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 12.—The case of Mrs. Asa G. Candler, pretty young wife of the aged multi-millionaire Coca Cola king, charged with "occupancy of a dive" after being arrested with two male companions, today was postponed indefinitely because of Chief of Police James L. Beaver's illness. Beaver is a material witness.

LEADERS SAY PRESIDENT ACTS WISELY, ONLY WAY UNDER AUTHORITY OF LAW

Enemies of Navy Secretary Continue to Press Charges; Democrats Oppose Appointment of Silas H. Strawn as Special Counsel

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—President Coolidge's ringing reply not to permit Secretary Denby to resign "under fire" drew warm commendation and bitter attacks in the Senate today. Administration leaders praised the president's statement saying he acted wisely and in the only way open to him under authority of law.

Denby's enemies, however, reiterated their demand that the secretary retire from the cabinet immediately, renewing charges that he acted in defiance of Congress policy in leasing the naval reserves to private interests.

Praises President

Senator Ladd, Republican, of North Dakota, who opposed the resolution, said:

"If President Coolidge has faith in Secretary Denby, he did precisely what he should have done under the circumstances."

Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah:

"President Coolidge did the right thing. He could not have done anything else. I am sure that every American citizen will heartily approve of his action."

Democrats Oppose

Opposition of Democrats to the appointment of Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, Republican, as one of President Coolidge's special counsel to conduct the oil lease litigation, today prevented the Senate public lands committee from taking action on the nominations of Strawn and Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, Democratic counsel.

After inquiring further into the financial transactions of former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall of New Mexico, the committee went into an executive session to consider the nominations, but found that a decision was impossible. It was announced that another meeting would be held later in the day.

Handles Oil Funds

Strawn is a director of both the First Trust & Savings bank, and the First National bank of Chicago, in which the Standard Oil company of Indiana is a heavy depositor, it was developed today.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the Trust bank, Edward E. Brown, vice-president of the First National bank, both testified to this at the public lands committee's hearing today.

Brown said the Standard's financial transactions with his bank runs "into millions daily."

Impeachment Proceedings

Recourse of Denby Enemies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—President Coolidge and the Progressive-Democratic controlled Senate were at sword-point today as a result of the chief executive's defiant refusal to accede to the demand of the Robinson resolution, passed by a 47 to 34 vote, that Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby be removed from the cabinet.

Assuming full responsibility for the retention of Denby, the president, basing his refusal on his constitutional authority, declared he had to answer "only to the people for his conduct relative to the retention or dismissal of public officials."

The only recourse left to Mr. Denby's enemies in the Senate is impeachment proceedings to oust Denby from the cabinet, and few today believed that this will be tried or that it would be successful if attempted.

Called "Incompetent"

Impeachment proceedings must originate in the House for one thing, with the Senate sitting as a trial court. The House indicts for high crimes or malfeasance in office. Denby's enemies in the Senate are impeaching proceedings to oust Denby from the cabinet, and few today believed that this will be tried or that it would be successful if attempted.

The membership drive party has been postponed until March 14.

P. E. O. Hostess
Chapter L. P. E. O., will meet all day tomorrow with Mrs. Ed M. Lee at 345 North Belmont street. Mrs. H. L. Goss, president, will have charge of the meeting, and urges all members to bring jelly and jam for welfare work.

Sorority Luncheon
Mrs. F. Stearns is to open her home at the corner of Verdugo road and Wabasso way, Verdugo roads, tomorrow for a 12 o'clock luncheon of the local alumnae chapter of the Pi Beta Phi sorority. All Pi Phis are invited to attend.

Wortham Shows Swell Legion Building Fund
After a nine day stand at San Fernando road and Brand boulevard under the auspices of the Glendale Post, No. 127, of the American Legion, the show at the Wortham shows will terminate a very successful engagement to-night, and tomorrow will leave for the Orange Show at San Bernardino.
The show has enjoyed a very good patronage, and the building fund of the local post will be materially increased as a result of the undertaking. There have been no complaints made to the police as to the character of the show presented, and under the strict surveillance of Chief of Police John D. Fraser and the executive committee of the Legion, everything has been conducted in a first class manner.
"We desire to thank everyone who helped in this undertaking," said Adjutant E. E. McWain yesterday. "It has been a success and we are grateful to the people of Glendale for their support. In no instance did the property owners refuse us the use of their lots for the location of the show."
Astronomers by observation of a star can determine time to one-tenth of a second.

GLENDALE WOMAN TO HEAD BUREAU

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson Appointed Information Chief at Club Convention

It is a distinct recognition not only of the Tuesday Afternoon club but of the intelligence and executive ability of Glendale women in general that Mrs. Chas. E. Hutchinson, past president of the Tuesday Afternoon club and chairman of the building committee, has been chosen to head so important a committee as the Bureau of Information for the General Federation of Women's Clubs convention which will be held in Los Angeles in June.
The Biennial board is to be congratulated on securing a woman of Mrs. Hutchinson's well known ability for this important position, which involves an immense amount of preparation.
"We live from day to day and we can only make careful preparation and then meet the emergencies as they arise from day to day" is the way Mrs. Hutchinson regards the stupendous amount of work involved to prepare for the convention.
Committee of Fifty
Mrs. Hutchinson is at the head of a committee of fifty among whom are the following from Glendale: Miss Madames Andrew J. Findlay, John Robert White, Chas. B. Guthrie, R. E. Chase, J. P. Huntley, Oliver O. Clark, F. P. Prince, Lillian Dow, Max Lynn Green; all members of the Tuesday Afternoon club and all of whom have shown marked executive ability in the club offices.
On Thursday of last week Mrs. Hutchinson and her committee attended the meeting of the general committees in the ballroom of the Alexandria. The room was crowded with the various committees, chairmen and members both in attendance.
In the afternoon Mrs. Hutchinson met the members of her own committee, the information bureau, in the conference room of the biennial headquarters in the Bank of Italy.
In stating the requirements of the committee in order that it may function properly, Mrs. Hutchinson announced that the members must familiarize themselves with the history of the state of California and of the city of Los Angeles, population, landmarks, with local guide books, location and time tables of local and interurban cars, location of stations, hotels, theatres, committee headquarters and a hundred other things which visiting delegates may ask.
Two members of the committee will be in attendance at all programs to note any changes. The committee will also be in charge of the Lost and Found department.
It was really a school of instruction and the members will meet again the first of March. The fifty members will study a list of fifty of the above problems and at the next meeting will exchange with each other and take up different ones.

Talks to Girls
A very fine lecture on the East Relief work was given last night by Mr. Miller of Los Angeles, at the meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society of St. Mark's Episcopal church. Mr. Miller illustrated his talk with two reels of motion pictures, which gave a vivid description of the life of the people. After the lecture he displayed some exquisite pieces of embroidery made by the children.
Preceding the lecture by Mr. Miller, dinner was served in the Guild hall at 6:30 o'clock, and at the conclusion of the lecture a short business session was held with the president, Miss Grace Crampton, in charge. At this time several new members were taken in and plans discussed relative to a dance to be given in the very near future.

Dietrich Realty Co. Reports Big Turnover
A sales total of $95,550 has been registered during the past fortnight by the Dietrich Realty company, 133 1/2 South Brand boulevard, reports Mrs. E. R. Gaskill, who predicts that with the Glendale avenue car line in actual operation now, the streets running east from Glendale avenue will be built up solidly with good homes in the near future.
Mid-winter sales of property show a steady growth, in keeping with the gains in the city's building permits, Mrs. Gaskill states. There is a great deal of activity near the Broadway High school, she says.
Below is a list of sales reported closed during the past two weeks by the Dietrich Realty company:
527 Palm drive, sold to H. C. Wileman of Los Angeles, price $7300; 1721 Camulos Ave., Verdugo Woodlands, to L. A. Brown, price $8000; 240 N. Belmont to Wm. A. Hartman, Illinois, price $7500; 2 lots Randolph St., to Lehigh Investment Co., Glendale, price $5500; 129 Harvard court to Chas. H. Andrew of Glendale, price $8500; 1125 E. Presbyterian Church Members to Meet in Auditorium of New Building

Glendale Presbyterian church members and friends are to gather at the church Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock for the first week-night service in the beautiful auditorium of the new church building.
 Rev. W. E. Edmonds, the pastor, will preside, and brief addresses will be made by Mrs. J. A. Newton, representing the women's department of the church; Mrs. G. D. McDill, the young men; H. L. Finlay, the Sabbath school; W. A. Horn, the brotherhood Bible class, and H. L. Brown, the Christian Endeavor societies. There will be vocal numbers by Mrs. F. L. Arnold.

Lincoln Anniversary Observed in Schools

Lincoln's birthday was observed by the Glendale Union High school this afternoon with appropriate ceremonies. At the Broadway High school auditorium Professor Anthony Blanks of the University of Southern California gave a 1:20 o'clock interpretative reading from the John Drinkwater play, "Abraham Lincoln."
 A similar interpretation of the

Cargo Of Liquor And Eight Men Captured

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 12.—Prohibition and police officers early today seized the motorboat Erni off the coast from here and confiscated $50,000 worth of liquor and arrested eight men, it was revealed later today. Charles Gailling, chief prohibition officer here, led the raid personally. Pilot John Yuribini was shot in the arm and chest during a pitched battle between the rum runners and officers. Several members of the motor boat crew attempted to escape in a row boat but surrendered when the officers' fire halted them. The Erni cleared from Mazatlan, Mexico, several days ago.

celebrated Drinkwater play was given at the same hour in the auditorium of the Harvard High school by Mrs. Harold Brewster, for the A-9 class, while at 2:20 o'clock Rev. J. C. Livingston of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church gave a talk on "Lincoln, the Emancipator," for the B-9 class.

Elsewhere in the class rooms of both plants, throughout the day, reports Principal George U. Moyle, appropriate observance was made of that great American, Abraham Lincoln, born February 12, 1809, near Hodgenville, Laue county, Kentucky, who rose to become the sixteenth president of the United States, was assassinated April 15, 1865, dying at the age of 56 years, and now stands as a monumental world figure.

More than 75 per cent of the people of Missouri are native born.

CHRISTIANITY IS WORLD RELIGION

Only Faith That Cannot Be Separated From Founder, Says Rev. Cole

The largest attendance at the Sunday School and morning church services in the history of the Central Christian Church at regular services was Sunday's experience. A large audience was also present at night when the Triple Chimes company of musicians gave the prelude to the sermon by the use of sacred songs and instrumental numbers. This is a quartette made up of P. Waldo Davis and Mrs. Davis, with their two children, and Herschel Davis, pianist and accompanist. Mrs. Davis has been for years a concert player and violinist of note. Mr. Davis made his first achievement while playing at the San Francisco exposition and is an artist with the triple chimes. Rev. Clifford A. Cole spoke on the question "What is Christianity?" He said, "Christianity is not to be considered on a par with other religions. It is the world's religion and the only religion for the world because it alone has come from God. It was not 'gotten up' but 'came down.' In other religions, man is the seeker. In this, God is the seeker. He sent His Son that he might make it possible for His children to 'come home.' He is the source of Christianity. It differs from other religions in its substance. It is a religion of a person.

Christ Central Factor
 Christianity is Christ. It is the only religion that cannot be separated from its founder. And you cannot separate Christianity from the facts connected with the career of Jesus. This is not so with other religions. Ours is a religion of an arisen Lord, a living Redeemer. While the adherents of other religions think of their founders as dead and gone, we think of Christ as living and reigning. The Japanese woman had it right when she exclaimed on hearing of the gospel of a risen Christ, "Sure enough, our Buddhist gods are all dead. Sure enough, a living God. That is a God!"

Christianity is the religion of doctrines based upon these facts: that man is a sinner, that God incarnate in Christ has made provision for his redemption and that Christ's power to redeem is attested through his death and resurrection from the dead. Christianity is different from other religions in that it has power to transform the lives of men. From heathen superstition and sin, from worldliness and waywardness, from drunkenness and woe, it has power to save. Other religions may teach men how to be good, but only Christianity gives men the power to be good.

POLICE HUNTING FOR STOLEN CAR

Burglary Epidemic Suffers Striking Falling Off Since Week End

Officer J. J. Claxton reported at police headquarters last night the theft of a Ford touring car, carrying license No. 472-933, belonging to LeRoy A. Perkins, 1009 East Elk street.

The car was taken some time early in the evening from Eulalia street, between Brand and San Fernando road.

Fewer Burglaries
 As a sort of anti-climax to the eleven burglaries reported over the week-end, only one was brought to the attention of the police yesterday, when Mrs. Wye-koff of 536 West Milford street reported that her home had been entered.

Captain W. A. Loving and Lieut. W. H. Royle were detailed to investigate.

Find Motorcycle
 Lieut. Louis Nunn and Officer W. W. Hendrick brought into police headquarters last night a motorcycle with a suitcase strapped on it, that had been standing on San Fernando road in front of the Community bank since early Sunday.

They have no clue as to the identity of the owner.

DR. ASHCROFT TO HEAD CAT CLUB
 Returns From Recent Show to Be Heard at Regular March Meeting
 Dr. Libbie Ashcroft was unanimously re-elected president of the Glendale Cat club last night at the meeting held with Miss Charibel Grim at 1650 Grand View avenue.
 Other officers chosen are Mrs. D. W. Cunningham, first vice-president; Mrs. Fred Hendrickson, second vice-president; Mrs. Walter M. Ross, treasurer.
 Complete returns are not in from the recent cat show so that the report on the show could not be given last night, but will be presented at the March meeting of the club with Mrs. Ross.
 Five new members were voted into the club last night.

Rickenbacker
 A CAR WORTHY OF ITS NAME

$2,035

There Won't Be Enough To Go Around

It may seem a little early to issue the seasonal warning, to buy your Car now, pay a deposit, and secure a definite delivery date.

But if you would have a Rickenbacker Six for early delivery:

If you covet the same car that tens of thousands of other well-informed persons have determined upon for their next:—

Then we assure you, there isn't an hour to lose.

Factory issues almost daily, warnings that orders are coming in at an unprecedented rate from all distributing points.

This means that we cannot hope to get one Rickenbacker more than our monthly quota.

This is a wonderful condition of course, but it has its disadvantages.

We'd like to be able to deliver every customer in our territory, a Rickenbacker Six of whatever model he prefers and on the day he would like to receive it.

But that is manifestly impossible.

Rickenbacker is a quality Car—even though the price is that of an ordinary car of same size and power.

Output is limited—intentionally so. Rickenbacker is more interested in building them right than in turning them out fast.

Here it is early February—"dull" season east of the coast range—and yet the factory tells us they are 1,000 cars behind orders.

What will Spring with its deluge of orders from Middle and Eastern States bring?

We can only guess by comparing with last year.

Demand in the height of the season was easily four times the possible supply.

And you know that Rickenbacker has gained in popularity at a tremendous rate from month to month.

We have said this car is first choice of the cognoscenti.

That's a big word, but it means those who are best informed on motor cars and who are the most intelligent buyers.

To be seen in a Rickenbacker Six is to be classed with the Elect—those who appreciate the most advanced engineering, and a car that, as it comes to you, leaves "Nothing Else To Buy."

There is no other to compare with this famous car—for in none other do you find all these superiorities:—

Vibrationless Motor, with two fly wheels; Air Cleaner; Double Depth Frame; "Cradle Springs," Ball Bearing steering; and internal expanding, mechanically actuated 4-Wheel Brakes.

Some of these you find in late models of other cars—but all of them you find only in the car where they originated—this Rickenbacker Six.

But you already know that, doubtless.

This ad is to warn you, as forcibly as we possibly can, that your order must be placed soon if you would hope for an early spring delivery.

May we suggest that—today won't be a minute too soon!

PLANS TO ERECT CABINS IN HILLS

Phelps Will Build Homes at Clear Lake Highlands for Investors

G. H. Phelps, 535 North Kenwood, plans to leave today for Clear Lake Highlands, where he contemplates building a number of cabins. A party of friends and other owners of lots overlooking Clear Lake will accompany him. Mr. Phelps said that the district around Clear Lake, which is the largest lake in California, has often been termed the Switzerland of America. Although mountainous and rugged, the district is easy to reach, as a 7 per cent grade is the steepest on the whole trip.

One of the finest clubhouses of its kind has just been completed at Clear Lake Highlands—the Clear Lake Rod and Gun club quarters. Special furniture, built for the club, has arrived for installation, and the building is now ready for occupancy. A commodious three-room house for the caretaker will be constructed. The caretaker will be at the service of members of the club at all times, and will be in active charge of the building and watchman of the many cabins of members.

Build Golf Course
A crew now is working on the golf course under the direction of William Watson, famous designer of golf courses. It is expected the course will be ready for play by June at the latest.

Furnishings of the clubhouse will be very complete, according to present plans. There will be an armory for the hunters and a place to keep fishing tackle. The establishment of a comprehensive library on hunting and fishing is now being considered, it is stated.

The Clear Lake Highlands Hotel company recently filed application with the secretary of state for a charter for a $75,000 hotel to be erected at Clear Lake Highlands. Property owners of the district are starting a program of growth and expansion which will be permanent. Values are going to increase steadily, especially in the Clear Lake Highlands district.

Clear Lake Highlands contains the largest specimens of laurel and manzanita in the world, as well as stately oaks and pines.

Lots On Easy Terms
Lots are 25x100 and sell for $75, $100, $125, on very easy terms, Mr. Phelps said. With the purchase of two lots a membership is given in the Clear Lake Rod and Gun club, entitling to all privileges, including golf course, tennis courts, etc.

Many lots have been sold to Glendale people, and a number more are contemplating purchasing.

Mr. Phelps says that in the same manner that Glendale is the ideal city of the world in which to live today, so is Clear Lake Highland in its offering to the sportsman, for summer or winter camper, or vacationist, and that a man with a home in Glendale and a cabin in Clear Lake Highlands is certainly enjoying paradise on earth.

LA CRESCENTA CAMPFIRE MARKS SCOUT BIRTHDAY

La Crescenta Troop Stages Stirring Anniversary Celebration

By MARY B. DARROW
Of The Evening News Staff.

Nowhere in the United States could a Boy Scout patrol have staged the Campfire celebration of their anniversary under the conditions the local Scouts staged their's last night, at this time of the year—a balmy evening, a glorious star-studded moonlit sky with the all-encircling mountains sheltering the valley a bright glowing campfire, and such a setting was the local celebration held last evening.

On the hillside slope just below Michigan avenue off Los Angeles avenue the patrol, with Scoutmaster Angier and Assistant, Arthur Cox, entertained the parents and friends who were interested enough to turn out and a goodly number were there.

Scoutmaster Angier opened the affair by requesting Reverend Kelso to read an invocation, which he did with his usual solemnity of spirit. Benjamin Robison Sr., was the first speaker on the program and he, speaking of the tremendous growth in the valley, said "not one patrol but three, should be here in your midst," which is truly a thought to digest that we have grown so, in the past two years, we need two more patrols. Mr. Robison also suggested that an effort be made to bring all boys to all the meetings. Mr. Robison is chairman of the Council committee and was Scoutmaster in the best troop in California for some time, Troop No. 2, of Glendale.

H. Benjamin Robison Jr., too well known in Glendale and here to need any introduction, was presented by Scoutmaster Angier as the district Scout commissioner, and as far as merit badges go, in this part of Southern California. Repeating very modestly to this introduction, Mr. Robison Jr. said, "You might think I was a fashion plate, but I'm not however, I am proud of every one of my merit badges and I'm in the work to help any Scout over the hard places."

Most people, to quote Mr. Robison, think a boy is only attracted to scouting for the camping and any fun he may think it holds for him; however this is a wrong impression, as most of the boys enjoy the work for the deep constructive work it contains and best of all for the wonderful spirit of loyalty fostered by the Scouts.

Harry R. Cheeseman, Scout executive, was next called on to tell a story, and we'll say he's there on telling creepy crawly hair-raising, but the Scouts, both girls and boys, evidently enjoyed them. That kind is just right if told around the camp fire. Mr. Cheeseman, who used to be a forest ranger, told the crowd how, twelve years ago, he used to ride trail through where our streets are now, that Los Angeles avenue was a dusty hill trail, but oh! the pleasure of riding through the hills in those days.

H. Benjamin Robison also had a chance to show his ability in the story telling line and his was some story too, but didn't the kiddies like it? Imagine a story named the "Seven Sharks," another ideal campfire story. Mark Collins had the pleasure of introducing his old friend Ex-Governor Plaisted of Maine, as the chief speaker of the evening. Mr. Plaisted, is an accomplished orator of the first water, and as such gave a splendid talk which he began by telling a true state of Maine bear story and to quote the boys it was "a bear."

Getting down to serious facts, Mr. Plaisted complimented the boys on belonging to such a wonderful organization whose boast is that it is one-half a million strong, and in almost all countries of the world. Commenting on Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday we have celebrated today, Mr. Plaisted said: "The greatest of all Americans but he didn't have your chance, therefore how much greater chance is there for you to do well, if you will but be as brave as he, and dare to do right."

In the past twelve months the number of merit badges given equaled the number in the whole of the preceding years and thirty-four gold medals were awarded for bravery, which means thirty-four Scouts risked their own lives to help save a fellow man. According to Mr. Plaisted, the La Crescenta-Montrose district has a wonderful body of Boy Scouts and we should be proud of them. At the conclusion of his speech the boys, led by Cheer-leader Swanson, gave three cheers and a tiger for the gentleman from Maine.

Announces Contest
Scoutmaster Angier spoke of the contest which will open shortly. For the winners there will be prizes given; these will be announced later. Mark Collins, who is a fairy god-father to the local patrol, asked permission to donate $10 to the prize fund, and this generous offer was received with three wild cheers, which showed how Mr. Collins stands with the Scouts.

The beautiful flag which every one has been waiting to see, was received yesterday and the patrol had the pleasure of showing it to the present the silken "Old Glory" purchased by the Scoutmaster for them. The Scouts raised half the cost of the flag, $25.00 of the price being donated by Mark S. Collins. It was a most impressive moment when with everyone standing, Mr. Cheeseman led the salute to the flag, which was followed by singing, and three cheers when ex-Governor Plaisted toasted the flag in most appropriate verse.

Scoutmaster Angier announced the new neck scarfs had arrived and Mr. Cheeseman informed the boys that Webb's had a new full line of uniforms for those who needed them.

Mondt Uses His Fist and Loses Decision

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 12.—"Toots" Mondt, the Colorado cowboy, lost his match with Joe Stecher here last night because he forgot he was wrestling and took a healthy punch at the Nebraskan with such force that the latter took the count. Stecher was awarded the match on a foul. Mondt had won the first fall in one hour and 24 minutes and the men had been wrestling 32 minutes for the second fall when the incident which ended the bout occurred. Mondt became enraged when Stecher's knee struck him in the region of the abdomen and he swung his fist to connect with Stecher's head. Stecher fell like a log to the floor. Mondt left the ring as though in great pain from being "kneed," but the referee did not think it was intentional and gave the match to Stecher. The crowd was with the decision and booed Mondt as he went to the dressing room.

M'GROARTY TELLS PLAYHOUSE PLAN

Golden Scroll to Carry Names of $5 Subscribers to Mission Theatre

Several hundred citizens of Glendale gathered last night in the new Broadway High school auditorium to hear John Steven McGroarty, author of the Mission Play and sage of the Verdugo hills, tell the story of the Golden Scroll. He had with him a trio of singers from the San Gabriel troupe as well as D. A. Johnston, his personal representative.

Admirers of the poet philosopher eagerly learned of the program to complete the building of his million dollar playhouse. Every subscriber of $5 or more to the Mission Play foundation will have his or her name inscribed on the Golden Scroll which is to be placed in the walls of the new structure to replace "the old barn" at San Gabriel.

Numerous checks were received after the session and more are expected to be sent to Mr. McGroarty in care of the Mission Playhouse, San Gabriel, Calif.

Talks at Elks' Meet

But for Junipero Serra and his faithful band of padres, the west coast of this continent would today be peopled with the Mongolian instead of the Caucasian race. John Steven McGroarty later last night told some 250 Elks gathered at the East Colorado street lodge.

The address followed the regular Monday session, which had been devoted entirely to business, reports Secretary W. M. Kimball. Mr. McGroarty was introduced by his personal representative, D. A. Johnston a member of the local lodge and delivered substantially the same address on "The Golden Scroll" that had characterized his appearance at the Broadway High school auditorium, earlier in the evening.

Will Restore Missions

The great California poet and dramatist, author of the world renowned "Mission Play," told how the magnificent $1,000,000 theatre they are building at San Gabriel, to replace the present playhouse, will, when completed, be conducted by a board of trustees who will see that the profits go toward restoring the old missions up and down the coast, that they may be preserved so posterity may see how Junipero Serra turned the Mongolian into the eighteenth century and saved California for Christianity.

The Golden Scroll, theme of Mr. McGroarty's remarks, is in the poet's own words: "a great parchment of the finest texture and manufacture, and the names of all those who help to build the new playhouse and all that goes with it, and to pay off the debt that already exists upon it, will have their names written with imperishable ink on this great parchment, which will be put into the wall of the playhouse and encased in glass, to remain there while time shall last."

Templar Drill Team Makes Good Showing

The temple degree was conferred last night on Homer Miller at the meeting of Glendale commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, in the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard.

Preceding the commandery meeting, drill practice was held at 6 o'clock and dinner served to fifty Knights at 6:30 o'clock.

The work of the drill team is progressing most enthusiastically and the Knights are urged to join in this part of the commandery activity. There is to be a meeting of the drill team at 7 o'clock to-

Endicott Arms Will Have Artistic, Homelike Note That Appeals to Buyers

The architecture of the Endicott Arms, fourteen story class "A" steel and concrete "own your own" apartment building to be erected at the southwest corner of North Brand boulevard and Lexington drive, will be Italian renaissance, according to the initial plans and specifications now completed by Alfred F. Priest, prominent Los Angeles architect and resident of Glendale.

The building will be fireproof and soundproof, declares J. A. Endicott, Glendale realtor, who sold the Endicott Arms Apartment Company, Inc., the corner upon which the big building is to be erected. The structure will be faced with Bedford stone, brick and terra cotta, he states.

The syndicate purchasing the site, which is 104x150 feet, comprises C. N. Coverdale, eastern capitalist; M. H. Dodd, president of Dodd Realty company; and the well-known Southern California business man, W. W. Plumb, president of W. Wallace Plumb company and prominent Glendale realtor.

To Cost $1,500,000

The consideration for the lot sets a new high mark for Glendale realty values, and the erection of this building, to be built at a cost of $1,500,000 will tend to give realty values in Glendale a real boost.

Construction will start as soon as final architects' plans and specifications are completed which will be on or before May 1st.

The project is being handled along conservative lines by experienced and successful business men who are well qualified to erect in Glendale "The Fastest Growing City in America," the building to contain California's finest apartment homes.

There will be 180 apartments ranging in price from $5,000 for large singles up to $25,000 for larger suites. Apartments may be arranged, finished and decorated to suit individual tastes, subject only to the architect's approval.

The terms will call for a small down payment and balance like rent. On the purchase of a $5,000 apartment, for example, the buyer pays $2,500 cash and the balance of $2,500 over a period of fifteen years at $16.67 a month. Upkeep costs, including maid service, porter and janitor service, heating and refrigeration, gas, electricity, telephone and other community conveniences are prorated monthly, and experience has shown will not exceed 3 per cent of the purchase price per year or $12.50 per month on a $5,000 apartment. "Where could you even rent such an apartment or house for a sum like the above and include the upkeep at so low a figure? And in addition, finally you "Own Your Own," says Mr. Endicott.

Plan Proven Success

The "Own Your Own" or co-operative idea in apartment ownership is not new, having been used for forty years in the east, notably New York City, Washington, D. C., Chicago and Detroit, as well as many now in successful operation in Southern California.

Sales and reservations may be made starting Wednesday, February 13, at 10 a. m., office on the property at 347 North Brand boulevard, Glendale. A floor and a half have already been reserved by friends of the syndicate and from present indications the choice locations will be reserved for the first few days of the opening sale.

The low average selling price of $7,500 for such a high-class apartment home which is so ideally situated between the hills of Griffith park and the Verdugo mountains, and closer to Los Angeles civic center than either Hollywood, Los Angeles High, or Huntington Park, makes this an night in the hall at 323 North Brand boulevard.

COMMENT That's All

Two Issues Settled Politics and Promotion Scenery Here and There William Allen White

By Gil A. Cowan

Two issues settled yesterday afternoon, each equally important.

For Glendale folks the announcement that Fire Chief A. H. Lankford has been reinstated and the old and experienced firemen will remain on the job will be generally satisfactory. It will put an end to a controversy in which good citizens would not care to further participate.

Nationally speaking the vote in the United States senate asking that Edwin Denby be dismissed from the Coolidge cabinet, is of utmost political importance. Also, it is unusual in that the president's hand is being forced, perhaps against his will, although it is doubtful if the Senate has power to direct the dismissal of a cabinet officer.

It must be rather embarrassing these days to hold public office.

Some weeks ago William Gibbs McAdoo was a likely contender for the Democratic presidential nomination. Today his chances are small. Another week or two of Teapot Dome activity in the senate and President Coolidge will likely learn whether or not he will be chosen as a candidate to succeed himself. Upon his decision in the Denby matter, it would appear, the answer rests.

Party organization assures us it can carry Mr. Coolidge through this crisis. It is to be hoped that it succeeds, for he is likely not to blame for conditions which was his heritage in the highest office of his land. At the same time the vote of the senate, if it is representative of the people, is not a vote of confidence for certain members of the cabinet.

Attorney General Daugherty now is asking for a hearing. No doubt he would like to do as Secretaries Hoover, Hughes and others have done, clean his hands of the oily mess which has been poured on political waters to no avail. Indeed, it is a dangerous scum around the piers of governmental affairs, one would judge from reading the reports of the senatorial investigations.

Promotion is the most successful thing ever in southern California. Thousands of doubters believed the great interests would ruin Mr. Julian. They failed to reckon with the potential power of 43,000 investors. At a critical moment public spirited Los Angeles men jump into action and recognize Mr. Julian by giving him moral support, free advice and seeing to it that his day dreams will not have been in vain.

Other dreamers, who have confidence, as well as rare good judgment, have succeeded here in the southland. When you see some scheme advertised, do not scoff. At the same time, do not place "all the eggs" in one basket, if you are an investor. Take a chance, yes. But do not risk everything in oil, real estate, business or stocks. Keep a savings account, plenty of life insurance, a home, a car, and continue to enjoy life.

Speaking of dreamers, look at the vision of John Steven McGroarty and his Mission Play. Last night he was present with his company at the Glendale Broadway High school auditorium to explain the perpetuation of this bit of historical California pageantry through a Golden Scroll foundation.

The Mission Play is worthy of the support of all who can afford to contribute $5. It is one of the real attractions in southern California. The Pacific Electric and its Mount Lowe, Pasadena and its playgrounds, William Wrigley and his Catalina island, Hollywood and its films, all are to be appreciated by the person who profits from the sale of real estate, the rental of homes to tourists, or the conduct of hotels and apartments.

Recently we read in the Santa Barbara papers of the Arlington manager complaining about a lack of tourists at his hotel. Today we hear of a hotel—not the Arlington—in Santa Barbara which gets $2500 a month for a five-room furnished bungalow.

No objections need be made to the price, if people want to pay it. But we see no reason why hotel managers should complain if business is slack at such prices as that.

In the meantime Glendale would do well to have a half dozen medium priced tourist hotels. Certainly they should pay out well, built on the most valuable ground in this city it needs be.

En route from San Diego to El Centro Sunday on a stage line, on one of our little jaunts into the healthful Imperial Valley, we met a pleasant Salt Lake City newspaper woman, who was taking in the scenery of southern California.

PICK CANDIDATE FOR CONVENTION

Mrs. Marie A. Larkey Is Indorsed by Democratic Club as Delegate

The Democratic club of Glendale last night, at a meeting held at 224 1/2 South Brand boulevard, Col. Thos. E. Hornon presiding, unanimously indorsed Mrs. Marie A. Larkey, 305 North Central avenue, as candidate for delegate from the ninth congressional district to the Democratic national convention to be held in New York this summer. The decision of the club will be communicated to the state central committee and to the committee of fifteen that has been appointed to recommend the names of candidates to be placed on the ballot in the May primary.

Mrs. Larkey, who is vice-president of the state central committee, has already been endorsed by the women of the Los Angeles county organization. It was pointed out that signers of nominating petitions must be voters who have registered since January 1, 1924, and all Democrats will be urged to register immediately, in order that they may be able to place their names on Mrs. Larkey's petition and those of any other Democratic candidates.

A campaign will be carried out to enlist all local Democrats as members of the club, in preparation for the campaign which is to be waged this year.

FURNITURE FIRM TO SLASH PRICES

De Moss & Holloman Announce Special Sale Starting Tomorrow

DeMoss & Holloman, leading Burbank furniture dealers, whose big establishment, said to contain the largest furniture stock in the San Fernando valley, is located at 220-222 West San Fernando road, announce a huge price-reducing overstocked furniture sale to start tomorrow, Wednesday, at 9 o'clock in the morning and to continue throughout the rest of the month. Startling values are promised during this sale, and the company officials earnestly advise all buyers to visit the store and see the offerings.

H. L. Stein of Glendale, who has had thirty years' experience as salesman and has also been owner of high-class furniture houses in Wisconsin, has been appointed sales manager of the store, and will more than ever feature the company's policy of small profits and quick turnover. The company sells for either cash or credit.

OLDEST TOLL

England's oldest remaining toll-gate is claimed to be on the road between Whitney and Oxford; by the gate stands a notice-board dating from the time of Charles II.

News Want Ads bring results. in southern California should not forget—or envy.

Read what William Allen White in the Emporia, Kans., Gazette, has to say about us—a little essay P. C. Brown thought other real estate men in Glendale would like to read.

"California seems to be the half way house to heaven. Just before a man dies he goes to California.

"So California enthusiasts in Emporia are year by year becoming a larger minority. Like all minorities they are noisy and annoying to an alarming degree. Every season some member of another family which has been for ten, twenty or thirty years a pillar of the town, takes a trip to the state of sunshine, moonshine and undertaking establishments. The family falls so in love with the 'company' climate the first two days of the visit that they ignore the fleas and damp, chilly evenings that follow. They come home effervescing with enthusiasm and give the rest of the family no peace. Several months later a short item will appear in the paper to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. Will B. Sorry have gone to California for an extended visit with a view to permanent location.

"When the Sorrys once get out to California they are ashamed to come back, and the only thing they can do is write home pages of California propaganda and urge their friends to come out to the land of Christmas roses and the leaping flea, and die within walking distance of the home of Douglas Fairbanks and America's sweetheart.

"Every summer that saddest of Emporia celebrations—Emporia's picnic in California—gets larger and every winter more people move out to make it larger the next year, and so it is going on indefinitely until Emporia is depopulated unless the townspeople come to their senses and realize that some must stay here so that their grandchildren can brag that their grandparents attended the opening of the old Broadview hotel, way back when the town was first beginning to boom. Emporia must hold her own identity. Why not die in Emporia? It is an easy jump to heaven. The halfway house out on the coast has a heavenly climate. But the society is better here without so many liars.

SOUTHLAND TEEMS WITH LURID TALES

Rambling 'Bout Countryside One Learns Lot of Facts and Fancies

By GIL A. COWAN
 Of The Evening News Staff.
 Traveling around southern California one learns a deal of history, misinformation, fact and fancy. For instance, down along the Mexican border, in San Diego county, a costly experiment was made in the last year on the Janani ranch. The former owners endeavored to grow tobacco.

Flair tobacco, likely, was never grown, but the cost of production and competition in the southern markets was such as to make it impractical, the writer was informed by a landed proprietor. This year you only see a volunteer crop of the "filthy weed." And, in its stead, cattle feed is being raised.

What a wonderful cud the cows will have to chew!

Plan New Resort
 With the success of Tia Juana and Mexicali as resorts, another border town is to be established at Jacumba, we are told. It is to be the most exclusive American Monte Carlo, having a climate, medicinal springs and seclusive location for the wealthier guests of such resorts. It is on the San Diego & Arizona railroad line.

Many newcomers do not know of this international railway, which was completed during war times, from San Diego to El Centro, in the Imperial valley. It is strategically routed from a military standpoint, and it provides the Southern Pacific with an outlet to San Diego harbor.

Carriazo gorge, in daylight, on the San Diego & Arizona line is one of the most inspiring sights to be found in the west. High bridges, tunnels and mountains of rounded boulders, combined with a view of the Imperial valley, and a panorama of the Imperial valley, awe the traveler, particularly the "tenderfoot" in California.

Thrill to Every Mile
 Murders, banditry and dope running tales abound on the border, every mile having its thrill at the tip of the tongue of a competent guide. "Here is the spot where Bluebeard Watson buried his last wife," says the man who knows. "The writer of success stories lives here in this rock-bound canyon with his two children," he continues, as the party trundles over the Mountain Springs grade, east of the Imperial valley.

"You remember the boy who killed his father? Well, he lived here, and saved his mother's life by the deed. He's in the navy

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

FEB. 12, 1809—APRIL 15, 1865

Costly Sacrifice to Nation

Concluding paragraphs of the famous funeral oration on Lincoln given by George Bancroft in Union Square, New York City.

The country may have needed an imperishable grief to touch its inmost feeling. The grave that receives the remains of Lincoln receives the costly sacrifice to the Union; the monument which will rise over his body will bear witness to the Union; his enduring memory will assist during countless ages to bind the States together and to incite to the love of our one undivided, indivisible country.

Peace to the ashes of our departed friend, the friend of his country and his race. He was happy in his life, for he was the restorer of the Republic; he was happy in his death, for his martyrdom will plead forever for the Union of the States and the freedom of man.

now—a mighty good boy, too, over the highways just this side of the American boundary line. And it was in front of this custom officer's home that dope smugglers killed a man last year. They take great delight in capturing smuggled Chinese, it seems. One night, border guards were informed a contraband alien was somewhere on the road to San Diego. He was found seated between two crates of lettuce, looking every person as they whisk along

PRIZES PICTURE OF EMANCIPATOR

Brother of Glendalian Painted Most Telling Portrait of Lincoln

Many artists painted the portrait of Abraham Lincoln during his lifetime, but it remained for Charles W. Nickum, brother of George S. Nickum of the Brand hotel, 223 1/2 South Brand boulevard, to paint what the verdict of the years has adjudged the most lifelike of all.

That portrait is now in the possession of the artist's widow, Mrs. Charles W. Nickum of Dayton, Ohio. Twice she has been offered $10,000 to sell it, according to her brother-in-law, but has refused, counting it the dearest possession of her declining years.

There is a story back of the picture that adds another chapter to Lincoln history. The great emancipator spoke in Dayton September 20, 1859. That afternoon he was brought into Charles W. Nickum's studio over Edgar's grocery store on North Main street by Samuel Craighead, a local attorney.

"Here is a man I want you to paint," said Attorney Craighead, without introducing the tall, gaunt stranger at his side.

Lincoln's Jest
 Artist Nickum looked up and saw in the singular personality a rare subject for portraiture. While he studied the now historic countenance Lincoln remarked, in jovial mood:

"You may get a good picture, but not a pretty picture!" Then, while they jested, the artist quickly put down a likeness of that face on canvas, still unaware of whom it was he painted.

When the work was over he bade good day to the stranger, completed the picture and put it away among the other specimens of his work. That night Lincoln made one of the great addresses of his campaign.

A year later Attorney Craighead, encountering the artist, informed him that the man whose picture he had so hastily painted that day had become president of the United States.

Such is the story told by George S. Nickum of Glendale, brother of the celebrated Charles W. Nickum of Dayton, who painted the picture that critics agree is the masterpiece of all Lincoln portraits.

Mrs. Charles W. Nickum was a high school girl in Dayton at the time, says her brother-in-law, and did not see the martyred president on his campaign there, though she remembers hearing of the address she made.

Declared Authentic
 Authorities on Abraham Lincoln have conducted a rigid investigation into the origin of the Nickum picture, declares the dead artist's brother, and have pronounced it authentic beyond the question of a doubt. The Philadelphia Public Ledger is said to have offered a high price for the portrait some years ago and many other bidders have sought to obtain it. To all Mrs. Nickum's answer is the same. She will not sell.

The picture gives Abraham Lincoln an even more gaunt and raw-boned look than any other of the celebrated likenesses. The forehead is high and heavily furrowed, the eyes are sunk deep within the skull and peer forth sorrowfully from below bushy and uneven brows; the ears are large and heavy-lobed, the cheeks hollow, the cheek-bones high, the nose long and slightly aquiline, the lips large and the chin small and sensitive, lending to the whole a combination of characteristics that form the face of a type never since duplicated—a primitive American aesthetic.

WEBB OPENS NEW STORE ON WILSON

Branch Establishment Will Be Devoted Entirely to Draperies

One good proof that Glendale is a home city is found in the steadily-increasing trade in the drapery department at the H. S. Webb store, 139 North Brand boulevard, which has resulted in Mr. Webb's opening a third store in the Tate building on West Wilson avenue just around the corner from his main store.

In this new store, which will be the third store owned by Mr. Webb in Glendale, will be located all kinds of draperies for California homes.

It was just nine months ago that Mr. Webb moved from his original location on South Brand into the new building at 139 North Brand boulevard. At that time he thought he had adequate room for his drapery department but business has grown to such an extent that he has found it necessary to open a new store.

Mr. Hutchinson, who has so efficiently served as head of this department, is to be in charge of the new store, where there will be an extensive stock of attractive draperies, facilities for artistic displays and courteous information given the home owner.

Mr. Webb's third store is the men's shop located at 105 South Brand boulevard.

Mrs. Butterly Books Passage to England

Mrs. Walter Butterly of 1713 South San Fernando road has booked a passage to Southampton, England, through the Union Pacific ticket office at 129 South Brand boulevard and will sail from New York March 8, on the Cunard steamship Berengaria, a vessel of 52,600 tons register and one of the largest in the world.

Mrs. Butterly will visit her mother and other relatives in England, leaving that country on May 3, on the same steamer. She expects to arrive back in Glendale about the first of June.

Public Hearing Is Asked by Daugherty

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Attorney-General Daugherty today demanded a public hearing on charges brought in the senate by Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, in a resolution requesting him to resign from the cabinet.

The demand was made in a letter to Senator Willis, Republican of Ohio. Daugherty said the whole resolution, which is similar to the Denby ouster resolution, should be submitted to the same senate committee, so that a public inquiry could be held, and all facts placed on record.

VIENNA, Feb. 12.—Austria will officially recognize Russia this week, it has been announced. Great Britain and Italy have already recognized the soviet.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody can Tell when you Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea
 Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Advertisement.

NATION'S HERO IS HONORED TODAY

Abraham Lincoln Surmounted Difficulties to Become Leader

From the birth of a son 115 years ago in the humble home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lincoln near Hodgenville, Laue county, Ky., there has radiated a great American personality, Abraham Lincoln, whose memory is being honored today by the people of these United States, of which he said "Divided we fall, united we stand."

Beginning with the birth in that humble Kentucky home, the biography of Abraham Lincoln is written in the language of the masses, for his was an unassuming life. His vocation in early life was being a farm hand, and history tells of his going to school in a log cabin, studying by candlelight and working hard on the farm before and after school hours.

It was this indomitable desire for learning that led him into the profession of law and made him the sixteenth president of the United States.

Lincoln Was Inspiration
 His inauguration took place in 1861 and during the great Civil War he stood as an inspiration for the preservation of the "government of the people, by the people and for the people."

He was a gaunt, homely man, those who saw him tell us, but his great heart beat alone for his country and an immortal personality shone forth from his true American soul.

When he was shot down by a crazed assassin in Washington, D. C., in 1865, and his body was buried with ceremony in Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield, Ill., "Fins" was not written after his name and career, for through the years that have been and the centuries to come Abraham Lincoln will stand alone among the nation's great.

OUT OF DEBT

Some people are plunged into debt; others drift into it. Sudden misfortune—sickness; an accident, helping a friend or relative, may get you there very suddenly. Self-indulgence—the purchase of just a little more than your income will pay for—may get you into it a few dollars at a time.

But, whatever the cause; if you are in debt, get out of it. Don't walk with a hobble. Don't risk embarrassment at every first of the month. Don't invite mortification. Get out of debt.

Go about it systematically. Set the amount of each month's earnings which you can spare, and put it away at interest. Then, don't let a pay day go by without adding that much to your freedom-from-debt-fund.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By W. B. BROWN For International News Service

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 8.—Pennsylvania is trying a new experiment in the enforcement of the laws which govern operation of automobiles. A state highway patrol whose sole duties are enforcement of automobile laws has been organized and is now receiving its initial tryout.

for 272 arrests. A large majority of the arrests were based on information made against motorists who were found to be without the two lights front and one rear which the state law requires, and for carrying obscured plates. Good lights, properly focused, and plates that can be read are two of the provisions which the patrol insists upon. It also makes hundreds of tests on brakes. While the charge "reckless driving," which covers a multitude of sins, contributes a large share of the causes for arrest, passing other cars on dangerous curves or near the crest of a hill also contribute a full share. In case of minor violations the patrolmen punch the card of the car's operator, the position of the punch indicating the nature of the offense. If that operator is again caught for the same minor infringement prosecution follows. Immediately after that system came into vogue the Highway Department was flooded with requests for new operators' cards by persons who claimed they had lost the originals. New cards were issued bearing punch marks exactly as the original cards. The patrolman who punches a card makes a record, which is forwarded to the Highway Department at once, and a notation is made which makes it possible for an operator to "lose" his card without "losing" his violation record.

Like most new forces of law enforcers, the highway patrolmen at first were a bit more zealous than their officials desired. The patrolmen enforced provisions not in the motor code. Although there is no law forbidding three persons on the front seat of an automobile, complaints were made where they had compelled the extra person to get out and walk. Other owners who were operating their cars without the required lights were compelled to walk to the nearest garage and get the necessary globes. Now the department issues a weekly bulletin, in which is included mention of every mistake which the patrolmen make and which outlines clearly their powers of law enforcement.

The patrolmen wear uniforms similar to the state police and use sidecar motorcycles in patrolling the roads. They travel only in pairs, so that in case of necessity for making an allegation of "reckless driving" there is a witness for the one who makes the information. At present only seventy men have been appointed, but it is intended to bring the force up to several hundred.

In the first month of operation the patrolmen were responsible

We are surprised to note by the foreign dispatches that the late Barne Rothschild "had the finest collection of fleas in the world. He had been collecting them for a good many years and had every variety known to science." We believe we may safely say that this collection will stand as the best of its kind for several centuries. At least, even though we are fond of collecting things, we will never attempt to beat it. We will stick to canceled postage stamps and vacuum cleaners.

We have just received the following sentiment from Mr. Chester W. Shafter, which speaks for itself:

"Last year I wished a happy new year to sixty-three (63) persons representing our two most important sexes." (14) of this number are now out on parole. "Thirteen (13) have made application for transfer to another

Timely Views on World Topics

SIR A. GEDDES

"Many a European has cast longing glances across the Atlantic and has said, 'What is America doing?'" said Sir Auckland Geddes, retiring British ambassador to the U. S. in a recent address. "When the opportunity has been offered me I have answered that only ignorance asked 'What is America doing?'"

"America is playing her part in restoring the world, but she has her own internal problems of development, of immigration and of industry to wrestle with. There is more ignorance of America in Europe than it is thought. There is no country much more ignorant of your United States than my own England and Scotland. On the other hand, I do not know all about England and Scotland."

Sir Auckland then said he thought a grave danger lay in the fact that the people of the English-speaking nations labored under the misapprehension that they were all alike. While at bottom they have the same ideals, he went on, there were many small differences of view that prevented full and mutual understanding.

"These superficial differences," he continued, "often times prove stumblingblocks to international amity. I believe that there is nothing so important as frank cooperation between the English-speaking people, not in their own interests, but to provide the nucleus for the world to arise from the ashes of the war. I believe that the only real danger left is ignorance between the nations. The removal of that ignorance is not a matter for the diplomat or for the Government, but for the people themselves."

The theory that the increase in crime, insanity and dependency in the United States is due to recent immigration from southern Europe is attacked in a survey prepared by Joseph M. Gillman, professor of statistics at the University of Pittsburgh.

Prof. Gillman's report has been submitted to Congressman Charles A. Mooney. It was prepared in answer to a report prepared by Dr. Harry H. Laughlin, who last year was appointed expert on eugenics by the committee on immigration and naturalization of the house of representatives.

Prof. Gillman challenges Dr. Laughlin's method of handling statistics, declaring the same statistics have been used to prove opposite conclusions, namely, that recent immigration has not caused an increase in crime, pauperism and insanity in the United States.

Prof. Gillman finds an "unexpected" variation in the ratio of undesirable qualities among different races.

"Ireland, for instance," his report says, "has the lowest ratio of all people in feeble mindedness, 8.16 per cent, but the highest in dependency, 65.53 per cent. Mexico is lowest in tuberculosis, with a quota of only 6.25 per cent, but is highest in criminality, her quota for that inadequacy being 54.9 per cent."

In conclusion, Prof. Gillman's report says:

"The attempt to vilify the present and recent immigrant is not a new venture in the history of American immigration. From the earliest days of American history the recent immigrant has been proclaimed by his immediate predecessor as inferior and undesirable.

"Thus, the English despised the German; the Germans the Irish, and these together, since 1880, have been declared as inferior to themselves the new immigration of Slavs, Hungarians and Italians.

It is a matter of recorded history that in 1727 the colonial governor of Pennsylvania caused the enactment of a special anti-immigration law because he feared that the peace and security of the province was endangered by so many foreigners coming in; ignorant of the language, etc."

"I'll take that, too," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "If salt is good to melt ice, as I know it is, a little hot pepper will help. I'll sprinkle salt and pepper on the ice of my steps."

First Uncle Wiggily put some salt on, and, almost at once, the top ice began to melt.

"Ah, that's the trick!" cried the bunny. But, no sooner had he spoken than a rough voice cried:

"Yes, and now it is time for me to play a trick! I am going to play a trick on your ears!" And up rushed the Bob Cat.

"Oh, please don't nibble my ears!" begged the bunny.

"Yes, I shall! I am a wild Bob Cat and I must nibble ears!" howled the bad chap.

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily, "I have heard that sprinkling salt on a wild bird's tail will tame it. I'll put some salt on your tail and tame you." And the bunny

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SLIPPERY STEPS

"Dear me! What a dreadful day to be out!" exclaimed Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one afternoon, as Uncle Wiggily hopped into the hollow stump bungalow.

"You may well say that," spoke the bunny rabbit gentleman to his muskrat lady housekeeper, as he shook out some water which had run down inside one of his ears.

"It is raining hard and now it is freezing up. Dreadful weather, indeed!"

"Why did you go out?" asked Nurse Jane, as she put the rabbit gentleman's dry slippers where he could slip his paws into them.

"I went out to look for an adventure," he answered. "But I think it must have been too wet for them. Not an adventure did I find. And when the rain began freezing as fast as it fell, I started home."

"I am glad you came back," spoke Nurse Jane. "It certainly is very unpleasant out," and she looked from the window, watching the rain splash down, freezing as it fell, on the trees, on the ground, on the fences and on the steps of the hollow stump bungalow.

Soon a coating of ice had formed over everything out of doors, making the tree branches look like crystal candy in the toy shop. Each twig grew to twice its size because of the coating of ice on the outside.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane were sitting in their warm, cozy hollow stump bungalow, there was a bumping, banging sound at the front steps.

"Oh, what can that be?" cried Nurse Jane. "I hope that isn't the Fuzzy Fox or the Woosie Wolf trying to come in!"

"I'll go see who it was," spoke the bunny.

Nurse Jane heard him open the front door, and then Uncle Wiggily said:

"Oh! I am so sorry! Yes, indeed, I'll do something about it. Right away!"

"I wonder what could have happened?" thought the muskrat lady.

On tiptoe she went in the front hall. She saw Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman, limping off down the path.

"What was the matter, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Oh, Mr. Whitewash came to bring me the mail," said the bunny, "and he slipped on the ice-covered steps. They must be very slippery when a polar bear, who is used to ice and snow, can't stand up."

"Yes, indeed, our steps are very slippery," agreed Nurse Jane as she looked at them. "There is a thick coating of frozen rain on the front porch and steps. Whoever else comes up them will fall. You ought to do something about it, Uncle Wiggily."

"I am going to," answered the bunny.

"If we had some ashes or sawdust, or something like that to sprinkle on the ice, the steps wouldn't be so slippery," went on Nurse Jane.

"I know something better than ashes or sawdust," said Uncle Wiggily.

"What?" Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy wanted to know.

"Salt!" said the bunny.

"Salt!" cried Nurse Jane.

"Salt," said the bunny again.

"If I sprinkle salt on the ice of the steps the salt will melt the ice and then it will be slippery no more. I shall scatter some salt on my slippery steps."

No sooner said than done, Uncle Wiggily went to the pantry to get the salt shaker. And while he was there he saw the pepper caster.

"I'll take that, too," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "If salt is good to melt ice, as I know it is, a little hot pepper will help. I'll sprinkle salt and pepper on the ice of my steps."

First Uncle Wiggily put some salt on, and, almost at once, the top ice began to melt.

"Ah, that's the trick!" cried the bunny. But, no sooner had he spoken than a rough voice cried:

PREVENTS COLD Scientists have come upon the fact that men and women who work in factories where there are irritating gases rarely if ever suffer from colds. This is due to the gases acting as an irritant, keeping the membrane inside the nasal passages moist so that the germs do not lodge. For this reason elderly persons once used snuff, it is said.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

CORRECTIVE TREATMENT FOR IRREGULAR TEETH

Not long ago I had an article on the importance of diet for the proper development of the teeth. I will review it briefly:

The mother's diet during pregnancy and while nursing the baby and the child's diet after weaning are the chief factors in the development of the child's first teeth, and not inheritance as we use that term.

Whether the permanent teeth are good or bad depends upon the child's diet while its teeth are developing, as well as the dental and cleaning care they receive, but largely the diet. In the examination of the teeth of school children it is found that by far the greater proportion of decayed and irregular teeth are found among the malnourished children.

Naturally, if the child is not getting sufficient elements to build his tissues, the teeth are going to suffer along with the other organs.

A child should have every day at least three glasses of milk, at least one cup of vegetables, especially the green leaf vegetables, and about one cup of fruit, part fresh if possible—the "protective" foods for their minerals and vitamins and for the complete protein in the milk. For the energy foods he should have cereals, especially whole grain cereals, and whole grain breads; fats should be taken in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks and nuts.

If he has these foods as a daily foundation for his diet he will be pretty sure of having sufficient minerals and vitamins for proper functioning and for proper development, and the right kind of energy foods.

With each meal he should have some hard food to chew on. Giving too much mushy food is a common error. Excess candy and sweets act in two ways to cause tooth decay—by cloying the appetite for the growth foods, and by direct fermentation. Pacifier and thumb sucking and obstructive tonsils and adenoids are other causes of deformed teeth and jaws.

Today we are going to consider the child who perhaps has not had this correct diet, and whose teeth have not had proper attention and have come in irregularly.

It used to be thought that corrective treatment for irregular teeth should not be started until practically all the permanent teeth were in, at about 12 to 15 years of age. Now we know that the earlier the corrective treatment is started, the better chance we have to get good results.

In fact, treatment is now begun on irregular teeth as soon as the irregularity is noticed. This is usually about the age of four years, and sometimes earlier. It is much easier to assist Nature to develop normally than it is to make a change after the deformity has been set, because it is always easier to prevent than to cure. Orthodontia, the science which, broadly speaking, has for its object the correction of irregular teeth, has become a specialized department of dentistry. And the orthodontists are doing a great deal towards making happier lives, for deformed teeth often cause deformed features and deformed features may seriously handicap a life.

Not a few have been failures because of self-consciousness and sensitiveness because of these deformities, so we cannot over-estimate the importance of preventing and correcting them. Especially since, aside from the aesthetic phase of the treatment for irregular teeth, there is the general health to be considered, for poorly and irregularly developed teeth are more prone to decay and pyorrhea.

The teeth, assisted by the jaw muscles, bones and glands, perform the first function of digestion—that is, mastication. If the teeth are irregular or are not all developed, digestion is affected; and while the effects may not be immediately noticed, sooner or later there may be serious injury.

So, mothers, if your children's teeth are not coming in properly and are irregular, do not wait until they are all in but visit the orthodontist at once and have the deformities corrected as soon as possible. Meanwhile be sure that the child is getting a correct diet.

Even though the children's teeth are coming in regularly and are developing normally, you should take them to a dentist at frequent and regular intervals, at least every six months. They cavities can then be filled with practically no pain so that the children will not suffer, and they will not fear the visit. This is just as important for the temporary teeth as it is for the permanent teeth.

Your children must be taught the importance of thoroughly brushing the teeth at least twice a day. By the time the child has all his first teeth, usually at two and a half years, he should be able to wash his own teeth.

Tomorrow: Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing fat gain is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to the care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, and if possible, write on the reverse or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the 8¢ if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

DAILY FASHION HINT

Prepared Especially for The Glendale Evening News

DISCLOSING THE NEW MODE
The coat frock lends itself to endless variety, but here one sees it in a model that is generally becoming and flatteringly adaptable. It is developed in dark blue twill and is draped slightly at the side. The decorative scheme is novel and colorful, consisting of three rows of braid—one gold, one silver and one turquoise blue—stitched along the collar and edge of the turn-back cuffs. Medium size requires 3 1-4 yards 54-inch material.

HANDSOME SLIP-ON BLOUSE
Paris has added to the slip-on blouse several new features—gatherings at the sides, greater length and a more elaborate note of decoration. Its simplicity is not destroyed, however, as this model illustrates. The blouse is worn with a two-piece gathered skirt of self-material and is suited to development in the crepes, satins or satin-finished materials. Medium size requires 6 1-2 yards 40-inch crepe.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1897. Sizes, 34 to 46 inches bust and 16 to 20 years. Price, 45 cents.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

TROUBLED ADOLESCENCE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 17 years old and have been going steady with a fellow four years my senior for nearly two years. I always loved him dearly and I know he loved me and still does. But somehow I don't love him any more. When I am with him he gets on my nerves and I just can't stand him.

Not very long ago he went out with another girl and I heard about it and so I asked him if it was true. He admitted it and I told him that I wouldn't go steady with him, but I would let him call once in a while. We left that way and he went home that night, but the very next night he came back and begged me to take him back and go steady with him. He promised me faithfully that he would be true. He said he had thought it over and he couldn't possibly give me up. He even said that he would kill any man that would take me from the street with him. He said he loved me too much to let any one take me away from him.

I told him I would go steady with him again and he has been out to see me every night since and he is just wonderful to me. He is forever telling me how much he loves me and how he couldn't do without me. He is just as good to me as any one could possibly be but I just can't stand him.

I keep telling him that I am never going to get married because that is all I can think of to tell him. I can't seem to tell him that I don't love him. I have tried, but I am afraid he might carry out his threats if I should go out with some one else.

There is another fellow that I have met recently and he loves me very much too, but I really don't know whether I love him or not. Please tell me what to do.

BABE.

Tell the man first that you do not love him. Killing is a very serious offense and you may be sure he will not resort to such measures. It is better that you should tell the truth since you feel as you do and give him a chance to find another sweetheart who will return his love. To go on pretending would be hard for you and it would not make him happy in the end. Do not try to love every man who interests you. At the age of seventeen it is most unfortunate that you should feel it necessary to be tied to young men by the bonds of love. Assert

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. ## BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

Micky:—Red hands come from various causes; exposure, bad circulation, or from a form of eczema. If the trouble comes from any cause except eczema, in which case it will require a doctor, massage with cream will effect a cure.

Begin at the finger tips and work backwards using a rotary motion, and massage each, then palms and back of hands, continuing the motions into the forearms. If you do this before retiring, leave the surplus cream on hands and wear loose cotton gloves overnight. Regular manicuring helps the nails in growing because of the improved circulation around the nail. If your eyes are weak, bathing them with tepid water in which there is a little salt will help them. Consult the doctor about the hard lump in upper lip.

Blonde:—Instead of bleaching your hair, which is always a harsh shade and unbecoming, why not use henna on it, to the extent of giving life to your present drab shade? This should mean about three minutes only for the applications, and as henna is a tonic for the hair you will be benefited in that way also.

Baldy:—The Pilocarpine tonic recommended in the "Chats" is not a trade preparation. I will be glad to send you the formula for it, if you request it and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

Mrs. O. E. B.:—There is nothing so helpful in gaining weight at this season of the year as cod liver oil. A pint of hot milk enriched with extra cream, sipped slowly before going to sleep at night, is also helpful.

Dorchester:—I shall be glad to send you any of the formulas, if you include a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing with your request.

J.G.:—For a girl of 16 years to have gone from 118 to that of 145 pounds in four weeks' time, I should feel that she should consult a doctor before attempting to reduce.

Agnes S., Dissatisfied:—I will be glad to mail you formulas for lashes and for the scalp, if you send a self-addressed, stamped envelope repeating your requests.

Grateful:—As you appear to know which foods fatten, the thing to do is to avoid these to lose this extra weight. A list of foods for reduction would take too much space, but I will be glad to mail you all this information you request, and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope in which to forward it.

Elsie M.:—Laughing lines are not considered disfiguring, and even these at 25 years of age may easily be removed, by massaging with a nourishing cream. I will mail you the formulas but there is not space to publish them at this time.

Tomorrow:—The Attractive Nurse.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Mary V. King, Boston nurse, feels that it is about time Boston had a woman mayor so has announced herself as a candidate for the 1925 election. She promises that if elected she will close the dance halls at 10:30 p. m. do away with graft, and she also favors a censor at all movie houses during performances.

Testimony was given recently before the New York State Child Welfare Commission that women and children in tenement rooms embroider silk dresses and "clock" silk hosiery that is later sold in Fifth Ave., and other exclusive establishments.

An open meeting of the commission was recently held in New York city hall to determine whether changes should be made in the present laws relating to manufacture in tenement houses. Nearly all the witnesses favored the complete abolition of home manufacturing on the ground that the employers who depend on tenement dwellers are incompetent and engaged in "beggar" industries.

Unsanitary conditions and communicable disease prevailed in many of the tenement homes where work was being done for manufacturers, according to Dr. Annie S. Daniels of the New York Infirmary for women, whose work for thirty years has brought her into contact with the poor on New York's East Side.

Two visiting teachers employed by the board of education said that children as young as three years old were put to work on artificial flowers. They also testified that the pay of these tenement workers was deplorable.

Kentucky has a woman Secretary of State for the first time in history. Mrs. Emma Guy Cromwell took office January 1.

Blonds generally have more hair than brunettes, but that of the dark-haired beauties is stronger and more enduring, according to German beauty scientists who have been studying the subject.

The average brunette in Germany has 70 kilometers, or about 46 miles of hair on the average while the average light-complexioned woman has 135 kilometers, or about 90 miles.

But the threads of gold are much frailer than the black. A blonde hair will support a weight of only 68 grams, while one from the head of a brunette will carry a weight of 113 grams.

WHAT WOMEN SAY:
Lady Angelita Hartley, actress wife of Sir John Martin Harvey, prominent English actor, who recently visited America: "After all the old idea of the man as the bread winner is the true one. Being a wife is a career in itself. Although most young women do not realize it, I have been urged to stand for Parliament, but I have a definite belief that that is wholly a man's job. In spite of what the feminists say there is a masculine type of mind and a feminine type. Not just brains. In certain things a woman can only supplant a man's brains."

A RELIABLE COUGH REMEDY
Why experiment with unknown remedies for that cough or cold when you can secure FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND? It is a safe and reliable remedy for the relief of coughs, colds, hoarseness. Equally beneficial for young and old. Mrs. Anna Cornell, Bridgeton, N. J., states: "I bought FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND for my cold and find it great." Insist upon the genuine. Refuse substitutes. Glendale Pharmacy, 638 East Broadway; Hub Pharmacy, Glendale and Colorado; Acacia Pharmacy, 922 South Glendale avenue.—Advertisement.

DOUBTFUL.
Since your mother approves of the young man, it is all right for you to go with him. Of course there is quite a difference in your ages, but if he is the right kind of person, you may have no reason to drop him as a friend.

Dam Plan Abandoned

SANTA ANA, Feb. 12.—The dream of a great dam to store the winter rains in Trabuco canyon, held for twenty-five years by farmers of the El Toro region, has been blasted by the report of J. E. Brown, representing the U. of C. extension department, and Harold E. Wahlberg, local farm adviser, who have stated that assured water each year would not warrant a dam greater than sufficient to irrigate 500 acres. The farmers had dreamed of a dam huge enough to irrigate 13,000 acres. This is the second year Mr. Brown has made a survey of the Trabuco canyon, which lies at the base of the Saddleback mountains.

Mule Honored in Death

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 12.—"Faithful Sam," the pride of Fort McArthur, is no more. He faced an army firing squad after he had slipped and sustained injuries said to be beyond repair. For many years the old mule, possessed of more than mulish intelligence, sounded reveille with his genial hee-haw. The soldiers dug a deep grave for their old pal and after the rattle of the final volley and the quavering "taps" of a bugler with moist eyes, Sam was laid to his last rest.

Plan Reciprocity Day

SIERRA MADRE, Feb. 12.—"Reciprocity Day" will be celebrated tomorrow at the parish house, Church of the Ascension, when many scores of out-of-town guests will assemble for the unique ceremonies. Mrs. Robert J. Burdette will open the symposium. As the general topic, "Conservation" includes "The Redwoods," "The Colorado River," "Liberty" and "Child Life," and the day will be an illuminating one.

Players to Build Home

PASADENA, Feb. 12.—The Community Players may have a beautiful new home, if the project to build on their South El Monte avenue site materializes. Twenty prominent Pasadena men have incorporated the Community guild, to finance the project.

Bank Plans Building

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12.—The Bank of Italy will build a height limit building at the southeast corner of Hollywood boulevard and Vermont avenue, to cost $1,000,000, following the announcement that the remaining twenty-five acres of the "Mount of Olives" has been sold by Miss Aline Barnsdall to an eastern hotel syndicate for $2,000,000.

Capture Lone Wolf

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 12.—The "Lone Wolf" has been captured, it is believed by local police, who are holding Arthur Lippie on a charge of burglary. Chief Desgrandchamps and Captain Kelly of the police department made the arrest and state that circumstantial evidence from a dozen sources tends to convict the man, who stoutly maintains his innocence, though "caught with the goods." The Lone Wolf is said to be the mysterious and clever thief who in the past few months has entered more than twenty Santa Barbara and Montecito homes.

Children Start Fire

LOMPOC, Feb. 12.—Children playing with matches started a fire that was not extinguished until it had consumed twenty-five tons of hay belonging to the Celite company.

W. R. C. Installs Officers

SANTA MARIA, Feb. 12.—Installing officers from San Luis Obispo and Arroyo Grande put on the work for the Women's Relief corps, Miss Cora Eastman of the former city acting as chief installing officer, assisted by the Colonel Harper corps of the latter place.

Plan Three Inquests on Accident Victims

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—Three inquests were planned yesterday to fix responsibility for deaths in automobile accidents, while a baby was expected to die as the result of another crash, in which one of the drivers was arrested, and police sought to identify another victim reported to be dying at the receiving hospital. As an inquest was expected to be held over the body of Miss Susie Hooper, M. S. Rochelle, driver of the machine which struck Miss Hooper, was held by the police. Coroner Brown of Orange county was to hold an inquest at Santa Ana today to determine B. J. Brooks' responsibility, if any, in the death of Mrs. William Duncan. John Eisenbart's death may be probed by Coroner Nance. Eisenbart died from injuries received in an automobile accident. The baby reported dying is Richard Ivan Garnier.

VALLEY NEWS

FOUR TOWNS JOIN BOOST CAMPAIGN

Advertising Fund Sought to Bring Newcomers into Valley Cities

A gigantic advertising campaign calling for the expenditure of between $25,000 and $50,000 during the remainder of 1924 has been undertaken by the towns of San Fernando, Van Nuys, Lankershim and Girard. The advertising will be placed in the metropolitan papers and will exploit the San Fernando valley as a whole and not any particular town, according to Fred Prince, president of the Southwest bank at San Fernando, who with Fred Weddington of Lankershim and C. T. Wardlaw of Van Nuys, has the handling of the fund.

"Perhaps a map will accompany each ad," says Mr. Prince, "but this will be merely to show the location of the towns while the reading matter will all be of the valley as a whole. It would be impossible for the towns singly to do much advertising, but by uniting many buyers can be brought to the valley and they can decide for themselves where they desire to locate.

"It is not a real estate proposition in the true sense of the word as the campaign is to assist in developing the entire valley and get new families. It is planned to use the Los Angeles daily papers in this campaign in like manner as that done by Alhambra and Santa Monica and a number of other towns. These towns are quoted because they have now entered into another year's contract after seeing the wonderful results of the past year. These towns are using full-page ads arranged in a very catchy and attractive manner and the development has been far beyond expectations."

C. of C. Banquet Tonight The regular monthly banquet of the Lankershim Chamber of Commerce will be held tonight, February 12, at the Community church, it is announced, the program being patriotic in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

Over 200 were present at the last meeting and it is planned to have 300 present tonight. Many Lankershim songs will be sung and the Ladies' Aid society has guaranteed to put on a dinner that will be without regrets. The banquet is open to all residents, whether or not they are members of the C. of C., states the secretary.

A new $30,000 sand and gravel plant has opened in the Tujunga wash, being operated by the National Rock & Gravel company, whose officers are as follows: W. J. Hahn, president; Gordon Lewis, vice-president; H. C. Richardson, secretary; H. H. Babcock, treasurer. These, with G. M. Crawford and M. R. Ebersole, comprise the board of directors.

Well Shows Oil Van Nuys is mildly interested in its community well, which has 2,565 feet is said to show positive indications of oil. A core made last week and subjected to analysis revealed, so the report goes, a high oil content and other evidences taken by oil men to be of bright augury.

It is declared that none of the several wells sunk around the valley in the past have shown such definite signs of the "black gold."

Explorers Ready to Open King Tut's Tomb

LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 12.—An air of intense excitement hangs over the valley of the kings, on the eve of the opening of the thirty century old sarcophagus of Tut-Ankh-Amen, who ruled in Egypt many centuries before the coming of Christ. Two guards spent the night beside the tomb to prevent vandalism or any attempt by outsiders to peek into the sarcophagus before the official opening.

The explorers expect to find a series of wooden mummy cases when the lid of the sarcophagus is opened, covered with inscriptions and paintings. These will have to be lifted out with the greatest care before the mummy is revealed. It is unlikely that the mummy itself will be reached before Wednesday.

Would Change Dates of Congress' Meeting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—A bill changing the meeting dates of congress was proposed in the senate yesterday afternoon by Senator King, Democrat of Utah. The bill would authorize each session to convene for its first session on the sixth day of April, following its election, with its second session to start on January 2 of the following year. This change would bring congress into session a month after it came into office instead of the thirteen months' wait as exists under the present law. The second session would be the "short session."

Romance at Home

Yet why travel away from Glendale, when Old Timer and others here remember similar escapades in the early days, of bandits roaming the Verdugo hills, which afford equally inspiring vistas to the newcomer?

Our barber was telling us this morning of climbing Mount Verdugo on Sunday morning. He traipsed by the place where the barber, Larsen, killed his wife; he followed Dead Horse gulch trail, near where prospectors sought gold; and he tramped through the old Verdugo park which, twenty-five to thirty years ago, was the Sunday resort of Los Angeles people.

And so the story might go for chapters. But what's the use of living in the past? Another day, another story.

EAGLE ROCK KIWANIS CLUB TO ASSIST STUDENTS

Start Revolving Loan Fund To Aid Boys Working Way in College

The Eagle Rock Kiwanis club has established a revolving loan fund for students who are endeavoring to be self-supporting. Over $500 has already been paid in and it is anticipated that this fund will ultimately exceed $1,000.

Arthur S. Wilson, local realtor, introduced the plan. The trustees appointed to operate it are G. A. Hege, Charles F. Lindsley and W. R. Johnston.

It is believed that such a fund will be a decided urge to students to go on and achieve a higher education. The club is also finding work for students and has already placed several in profitable part-time positions, it is reported.

Repair Colorado
The Los Angeles street maintenance department is concentrating on Colorado boulevard, as it passes through the Eagle Rock operations, and the result is a thorough repair job. Particularly the dangerous stretch of bad road circling the turn at College View avenue has been entirely resurfaced.

According to the department, the plan is to continue this work until the whole boulevard, as it passes through this community, will be put back into excellent condition, "a consummation devoutly to be wished" by motorists.

The Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce calls upon the citizens of this and surrounding communities to visualize Colorado boulevard by, say, 1926, when it will constitute a thoroughfare from the mountains to the sea, fed by the traffic from a dozen foothill cities, pouring into San Fernando boulevard, Glendale, and thence to Los Angeles.

10,000 People Here
The Los Angeles water department has estimated the population of Eagle Rock at 10,000, having 2,500 meters listed. They even go so far as to say the district might have 11,250 population, as eight or ten people are often getting service from one meter.

In 1920 the United States census set the population at 2,250. Thus in three years, according to these figures, the community has gained 7,750 people.

Real estate men of the community claim for Eagle Rock a population of 20,000 by 1930. The ten local realtors who attended the last luncheon of the Los Angeles Realty board constituted the largest representation of the three new divisions, exceeding the numbers present from Hollywood and Wilmington.

The next meeting of the local realtors will be at the Mountain View lodge, when on February 15 they will partake of a noon luncheon, served promptly at 12 o'clock.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Advertisement.

Classes in Glendale to Be Started Within Year, Is Prediction

Glendale will probably have University of California classes given in this locality before another year has passed. Instruction in the many interesting courses offered by the state university are now given in eighty-four California cities, and in the past year extension classes have been increased 33 per cent. Over 75,000 people throughout the state are now taking courses out of business hours. Any subject offered by the university will be given in Glendale if a sufficiently large local class is organized. Information about the organization of such classes will be given if applicants address the University of California, 815 South Hill street, Los Angeles.

List of Subjects
Following are some of the interesting courses offered by the university: Accounting, radio, the telephone, electrical meter testing, short story writing, French, German, Spanish, elementary economics, business and protective law for women, gasoline automobile, commercial law, advertising, money and banking, training of the speaking voice, public speaking, petroleum field technology, engineering mechanics, modern drama, history of American literature, Shakespeare, the renaissance and other culture courses of value to club women. Many other courses, too numerous to mention in detail, are offered by the university. These classes are not only designed for younger students, but have been particularly prepared for business people who wish to take up a course of study during evening hours.

Information about any of these courses now offered in Los Angeles may be obtained at 815 South Hill street, Los Angeles.

Presbyterian Pastor Takes Text From Malachi In Sunday Sermon

The church services of the Glendale Presbyterian church were conducted for the last time Sunday in the Glendale theatre. Next Sunday the congregation will worship in the auditorium of the new church, located at the corner of Harvard and Louise streets.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the church, chose as the theme of his sermon, "Heaven Opened," the text being taken from Malachi 3:10.

The pastor delivered a forceful sermon, saying: "The prophet lived in a day when selfishness and greed were on the increase, and no change in social order seemed possible except through the coming of the promised Messiah. This, together with the vision of His second coming, was the inspiration of his wonderful message. God required absolute surrender. 'Bring ye all the tithes, that there may be meat in mine house. Every true believer asks, 'Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?' Every gift of time in service is returned by God in boundless blessing."

Christ Opens Heaven
"The prophet sets forth the great fact that heaven has been closed through all the ages till Christ came. He alone has opened heaven and poured out blessing beyond all expectation. The overflow is emphasized in that there should not be room enough to receive God's matchless blessings."

"In order to make room for God's gifts there must be a recognition of need. 'My God shall supply all your need.' In the face of apparent failure, success shall come through faith which says, 'I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me.'"

"The prophet reaches the climax through the appeal of God, 'Prove me.' He will make all things work together for good. 'He will open a dry path through every Red Sea of difficulty. Every stormy wind shall be made favorable through the riches of His grace. He has said, 'Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end.'"

MOTORISTS HALT AT SCHOOL STOP

Safety System Inaugurated By City Officials to Guard Children

Burbank has followed the lead of Los Angeles and like Eagle Rock now has a "school stop" system in operation along the highways between the hours of 8 and 4 o'clock. Motorists encountering the words "school" and "stop" in big white letters just before the safety lanes must therefore come to a complete stop, which, with few exceptions, they are reported to be doing, although in perhaps a majority of cases "under protest," judging from the expressions on their faces as they shove on the brakes and sizzle their rubber on the pavement.

The system is said to be under fire both from traffic officers and motorists, the former claiming it slows up traffic and aggravates rather than relieves congestion, while the latter claim it complicates motoring without providing any appreciable added protection to school children.

To Expedite Drive
A committee has been formed to look after Burbank's end of the proposed Riverside drive, Los Angeles, and push forward the project, which for one reason or another seems to be lagging.

Dr. V. M. Crause is chairman of the committee, which numbers R. W. Colburn, Charles B. Wood, A. B. Tom, W. D. Miller, John T. Comber, Frederick G. Beckner, Walter C. Fisher and J. Applewhite.

The committee will call a public meeting in the near future, Dr. Crause states, when all interested in this new artery to connect the San Fernando valley with Los Angeles are invited to be present and hear a report of work accomplished and planned.

Sponsor Entertainments
The Women's club will see that the Girls' league, made up of high school students, is given two entertainments a month, states Mrs. Walter C. Fisher, president, declaring that the girls have well-

Constipation can ruin your health— get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

When clean and clear, the intestine is converting wholesome food into vigorous health. But when clogged by constipation, it generates poisons from the obstructed food that can lead to many serious diseases.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It has a natural, healthy action. It works exactly as nature acts. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

Results with Kellogg's Bran are sure, for Kellogg's is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is endorsed by doctors everywhere. Eat it and you need never take another habit-forming drug or pill.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, should be eaten regularly—at least two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will enjoy eating it. Kellogg's Bran has a wonderful flavor, a delicious nut-like flavor. And this flavor is an exclusive Kellogg achievement.

There are many ways to enjoy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Eat it with milk or cream as a cereal. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Look for the recipes on every package and try it in muffins, griddle cakes, bran bread, etc.

Bring back your health with Kellogg's Bran. Start to-day! Every member of your family should eat it. The leading hotels and clubs serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. It is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.
