END OF HEAT WAVE IN CENTRAL STATES

Fifth Day of Spell at Chicago
Brought Death Roll
Up to Forty

TEN DEATHS WERE REPORTED SUNDAY

Thousands Sleep on Roofs and in Gardens During Hottest Night of Summer

FATALITIES REPORTED
FROM SEVERAL CITIES

Washington, D. C., June 30.—An end in sight to the hot wave that has held sway over the central states for several days. In its weekly bulletins last night the weather bureau predicts that the extreme heat would be broken in the plains states to-day or to-morrow, and that a cool wave then would move slowly eastward. The forecast says: "Over the Rocky Mountain region and on the Pacific slope temperatures will average below the normal. The rainfall during the week will be generally light and local."

Chicago, June 30.—Yesterday, the fifth day of unmitigated heat, brought the death roll from the hot spell here to above 40. Ten deaths during the day were reported by the police, and there were hundreds of prostrations, taxing the capacity of public and private hospitals.

To-day the heat wave is still unabated, the thermometer being in the nineties. Last night was the hottest of the summer, and thousands of persons slept on roofs, porches, in backyards and on sidewalks. Every public park was crowded with people unable to sleep in their homes.

There have been 42 deaths and more than 200 prostrations from the heat in three days. The weather forecaster predicts that thunder showers will bring relief to-morrow. Because of the extreme heat most of the gymnastic drills were postponed until to-night, and the time for playing the exhibition polo period was set for late to-day.

A light breeze stayed the mercury's flight, and at 2:30 o'clock the weather bureau reported a temperature of 98 degrees. At 3 o'clock it had reached the highest mark for June on record—98.3 (correct). The temperature at that hour was announced as 99, the error being due to a faulty thermometer.

Lacrosse, Wis., June 30.—Four deaths due indirectly to the heat occurred at Lacrosse yesterday. Peter Stein, 22 years old, and Fred Pierce, 7, his nephew, who had come from California to visit him, were drowned in the west channel of the Mississippi when they slipped off a sandbar whither they had gone to cool off.

John Smith, 12, unable to swim, drowned when, in seeking a cool place, he got beyond his depth in the Mississippi.

Wenzel Briedel, 45, insane from the heat, hanged himself.

St. Paul, Minn., June 30.—More than 20 heat prostrations were reported yesterday.

Juliet, Ill., June 30.—Four persons died from the heat and seven more were reported near death yesterday.

St. Louis, Mo., June 30.—Heat caused two prostrations and a suicide here yesterday.

Peoria, Ill., June 30.—Heat yesterday caused the death of six persons. Ten prostrations were reported.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS HOLDING CONVENTION

Ex-Vice-President Fairbanks Speaks
From Portland Pulpit on Missionary Movement.

Portland, Ore., June 30.—In the presence of 10,000 people the second world's Christian Science conference opened yesterday afternoon in Multnomah stadium. The sessions will continue for eight days. A thin drizzle of rain which started at the opening hour failed to daunt either participants or audience, and the out-of-door exercises were carried out as scheduled. Addresses of welcome were made by Governor West; Charles R. Wolverton, judge of the United States District Court; T. J. Cleeton, county and probate judge of Multnomah county, and H. R. Albee, mayor-elect of Portland. Response was made by the presiding officer of the conference, Dr. James S. Martin, of Pittsburg.

Ministerial and lay delegates to the conference spoke in various churches morning and evening. Ex-Vice-President Fairbanks, at the First Methodist church, took as his morning subject, "The Foreign Missionary Movement." In the evening he spoke on "William McKinley."

DISCLOSURES WAITED IN LOBBY ENQUIRY

Martin M. Mulhall Signs Article
Appearing in Papers
Giving Facts

SUBPOENA IS ORDERED FOR HIS ATTENDANCE

Washington, June 30.—Further sensations in the senate's lobby investigation were foreshadowed to-day when it became known that a subpoena had been served upon Martin M. Mulhall, of Baltimore, reported to have been for many years the active "field agent" and lobbyist of the National Association of Manufacturers.

The subpoena was ordered by Chairman Overman, of the lobby committee, after representations had been made to him that Mr. Mulhall was willing and able to give the committee important facts regarding attempts to influence legislation, to elect or defeat candidates for congress, and to control the make-up of committees in congress. A sergeant-at-arms of the senate served the subpoena upon Mr. Mulhall late last night in Washington.

The nature and extent of the disclosures that are expected were outlined in an article published under the sworn signature of Mr. Mulhall, in the New York World and the Chicago Tribune yesterday. The statement purports to be Mr. Mulhall's personal history of the report from 1903 to 1912 of the National Association of Manufacturers, and bristles with the names of congressmen whom he alleges were "subservient" or who were punished for their opposition to legislation favored by the association.

The allegations that he had helped to defeat congressmen who opposed the interests of the manufacturers, that this organization had spent thousands of dollars to elect congressmen expected to be sympathetic to their influence, and that he had aided in securing favorable members on committees that handled lobby legislation, and that his associates had used great efforts to secure the establishment of a federal tariff commission in 1908, as a means of delaying tariff revision, are contained in the long article.

The facts alleged in the story of legislative lobbying were not laid before Chairman Overman prior to the publication. He declared to-day, however, that the story was so circumstantial in detail that he expected the committee to go to the bottom of the allegations, and to uncover any new and incriminating political campaigning that might be disclosed.

The Mulhall article named many former and present members of congress who were alleged to have been active agents in support of legislation desired by the National Association of Manufacturers. It specified employees of congressmen who had been retained to secure information and alleged that even the page boys of the house of representatives were used to pick up information about proposed legislation.

The writer said he had spent over $200,000 in his lobbying work; that he had conducted state and congressional campaigns; helped to break up labor unions; and had personal knowledge of the extent to which influence exerted by his associates had swayed legislators and legislation.

Senator Overman declared to-night subpoenas would also be issued for James A. Ethier, representative of the National Manufacturers' Association, at Washington, whom the Mulhall article designates as "chief lobbyist" for the association at Washington; and for former Congressman James E. Watson, of Indiana, referred to in the Mulhall statement as an "insidous lobbyist" for members of the Manufacturers' Association who were leading the fight for a tariff commission in 1908.

CHICAGO SUFFRAGETTES CELEBRATE TO-MORROW

Mass Meeting Held to Be Political So
Women Will Hold Large Parade.

Chicago, June 30.—Suffragettes have been refused the use of Grants Park to-morrow for a celebration of their recent enfranchisement, but instead of being hurt at the refusal, the women are elated because the South Park commissioners decided that the intended mass meeting would be political in character.

"The action of the park commissioners places us on a political level with men, and we are proud of it," said Mrs. Harriet Taylor Treadwell, president of the Chicago Political League. "We have no desire to be accorded treatment that is not right of every voter. We do not want the rules broken for us."

Instead of the mass meeting the women will hold a monster parade.

REPLYING TO JAPAN.
Washington, D. C., June 30.—The reply to Japan's latest note of protest against the California anti-alien laws is practically finished and will go forward to the Tokio government in a few days. President Wilson told this to callers to-day and declined to intimate what the answer contained.

PARKER WILLIAMS ON PROVINCIAL TORYISM

Band of Pirates and Freebooters
Now in Control of British Columbia

WARNS THE WORKERS OF FOREIGN LABOR

Says Salvation Army Means of Dumping Under Agreement
With Government

NO LIMIT PLACED ON ASIATIC LABOR

Vancouver, June 30.—"There are affairs transpiring in the province of British Columbia it is easy to see we should take a more lively interest in. Toryism in this province to-day is not Toryism at all. It is a band of pirates or freebooters who have got into control, and are content to remain in control regardless of the cost to the people of this province, or the consequences to the future," said Parker Williams, addressing a meeting at East Collingwood last evening.

Continuing, the speaker said the C. P. R. had for a long time past dominated matters in Canada, and it was about time the people dealt with things as they are. "When, he asked, did the fault lie? With the present government, which came into power with so small a majority that they had to adopt certain lines of legislative action that would secure them support."

After the first three years of Toryism in British Columbia that Toryism was of such a character that they came back to the people and said: "That is our record," but made no promises as to the future. Now everything was tinged with the reptile they called Toryism. A new corporation, the Canadian Northern, was brought into existence, and he asked why did the C. P. R. do it? He still and allow this to come in and supplant it? Even the member for Richmond had never shown any inclination to fight this thing in the open. But there was something more than a lack of competition between the C. P. R. and the C. N. R.

The worker was in exactly the same position as any other man who had anything to sell, continued Mr. Williams. He had the power and ability to sell so much labor and he went out to sell that, and if he missed the sale of it he never could catch up the loss, and therefore labor should be entitled to greater consideration than the ordinary commodity. But what did they do? Instead of being allowed the field of the market, the government and other big combinations were working against him, and a million and a half was put down by the government in dumping foreign labor into the markets. The Dominion government was proceeding along exactly the same lines.

He asserted that the Salvation Army was one of the most unscrupulous groups between labor and religion that had ever cursed this country. They dumped down hundreds of men under an agreement with the government and flung into the city of Vancouver and collected a bonus from the government for so doing.

"What we have to do," he said in conclusion, "is to break the workingmen's confidence in Toryism. Then we can talk facts and bring along better men from amongst Socialists; if ever we get control of the party now as Victoria several quite prominent people in connection with the Conservative press will find themselves in jail. Is there one man present who can place his finger on a single piece of good legislative work the government has ever done? Messrs. Bower and McBride talk like sabermongers about a white British Columbia, but to-day British Columbia is a seething horde of Mongoloids. Nothing has been done to limit the number of Asiatics who are competing against white labor."

PREMIER OF VICTORIA ON ASIATIC DANGER

Theatre of Controversy May Change
From Northern to the Southern Hemisphere.

London, June 30.—Hon. W. A. Watt, Premier of Victoria, says: "We are not likely to sacrifice our social and public ideals in the mad haste to gather people. It is not likely that Australia will be filled up by the leavings of the white people of Europe. 'It appears to me to be impossible that we should enjoy perpetual peace in that portion of the southern hemisphere. The yellow men of China, when they wake up, may want to spread, and the nations near them that bar their gates against their entrance, will need to be courageous and strong enough to ensure the observance of their decrees. The present generation may see little of this anticipated development, but it will come sooner or later. The theatre of the controversy and struggle may change from the north to the southern hemisphere.'

BULGARIANS ATTACK SERBIAN TROOPS ALONG MACEDONIA LINE THIS MORNING AS PREMIER SPEAKS ON ARBITRATION

Scene of Excitement at Belgrade When News is Handed to Patchitch; Sitting of House Adjourned and Fate of Cabinet Remains in Doubt; Greeks Are Active
Near Salonica Against Bulgaria

Belgrade, June 30.—Fighting of a decided character broke out this morning along the whole of the line in Macedonia. The attack was made by the Bulgarians on the Serbian troops and the fighting is said to be of a serious character. The news is official being contained in a dispatch from the Serbian headquarters.

When the news was brought in the Serbian premier N. P. Patchitch was in the act of addressing the Serbian parliament in support of accepting his policy of arbitration as offered by the Russian emperor. M. Patchitch received the news from an official of the foreign office, and then hurriedly left the chamber and went direct to his office.

There was intense excitement in the house over the sudden break in the plans which the premier was putting forward. The sitting had to be suspended until to-morrow because of the inability to continue on anything like a quiet footing. Because of the sudden break in the debate the fate of the Patchitch cabinet is at present undecided.

The opposition members in the house demanded guarantees that territory in Macedonia now held by the Serbian troops shall be annexed.

The Bulgarian troops opened their attack at 2 o'clock this morning on the Serbian advance posts before Jasp and a couple of hours later their artillery was brought into action.

The Bulgarian attack gradually spread until there was fighting at Retina Boukva, Seltevo, Neogassa and Valandovo. The Bulgarians appeared intent upon setting the railroad.

Sofia, June 30.—More fighting occurred between the Greek and Bulgarian troops to-day some distance east of Salonica. According to the Bulgarian account the Greek soldiers tried to cut the Bulgarian communications along the railroad from Serres to Drama, but were driven off by the Bulgarians after they had burned the village.

The attack was made along the whole front of the Greek line by Bulgaria and large masses of troops participated. The casualties are reported as large and the fighting extremely vigorous.

Athens, June 30.—The Greek fleet was instructed to-day to sail forthwith to Zagosa, a small port near the Gulf of Salonica.

King Constantine of Greece started to-day for Salonica.

GAIN ARMY INCREASE AT PRICE OF REFORM

Socialists Make Demand for Alteration in German Military
Code of Justice

Berlin, June 30.—The German government obtained to-day from the imperial parliament the entire army increase it had demanded, including the six new cavalry regiments. Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg purchased this consent from the House by his acceptance of a proposal to reform the military code of justice, introduced by the Socialists on Saturday, having the severe sentences pronounced by a court martial at Erfurt on Friday modified. Five reservists were then condemned to five years' imprisonment, another to one year and a seventh to seven months for participating in a dispute in a saloon and fighting two policemen after the annual muster of the reserves.

Only the Socialists, the Poles and the Aleutians in parliament voted against the final reading of the armament bill, which increases the peace strength of the German army by approximately 4,000 officers, 15,900 non-commissioned officers and 117,000 privates, bringing the total of the permanent force to nearly 870,000 men.

The third feature of the exciting closing sitting of the imperial parliament before its adjournment for the summer vacation was the vote on a clause in one of the bills for raising the necessary money to cover the new military expenditure. This vote definitely extended the tax provisions of the bill to the federal provinces.

MYSTERY IN EXPLOSION AT DOUKHOBOV'S HOUSE

Nelson, B. C., June 29.—While five Doukhobors, two women and three men, were sleeping last night, a sudden explosion blew the house to fragments and injured all the occupants, three of whom have been taken to the Nelson hospital. One of the women was blown out of the house.

The Doukhobors are not members of the community. They declare there was no explosive of any kind in the house or nearby, and the origin of the explosion is a mystery which the police are endeavoring to untangle. It is believed a large quantity of stumping powder was used.

COUNT THE NICKLES PAID PICTURE SHOWS

New York, June 30.—Statisticians have just completed counting the nickles that have been spent the last year to see the moving picture shows. The grand total, said to be the first official count ever prepared in this country, is $3,380,000,000 nickles, or $33,800,000,000 paid by 3,800,000,000 spectators. It is also shown that over $80,000,000 is invested in the moving picture industry, that more than 250,000 persons are employed, and that 10,000,000 feet of picture films is produced weekly.

TREMENDOUS BLIZZARDS PREVAIL IN ANTARCTIC

Sydney, N. S. W., June 30.—A wireless message from Dr. Douglas Mawson, the explorer, sent from his Antarctic base, and dated June 15, says tremendous blizzards are prevailing. The wind often blows at a greater velocity than 100 miles an hour, and the gusts exceed 200 miles an hour. The observatories had not been damaged at the time the dispatch was sent, and the aerograph mast was still intact. Low temperatures and snow-drifts caused the temporary suspension of the wireless service.

Dr. Mawson says it is believed that a certain amount of damping of the other waves was due to the Aurora Australis.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

GOVERNOR-GENERAL RETURNS TO CANADA

Ottawa, June 29.—His excellency, the administrator, has received a cable from the secretary of state for the colonies, Right Hon. Lewis Harcourt, informing him that Field Marshal, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, has accepted an extension of his term of office as Governor-General of Canada for one year. The cable also informs him that the Duke of Connaught, on his return to Canada during the autumn, when it is hoped that Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught, will be well enough to accompany him.

HUDSON'S BAY WILL START LOAN BRANCH

Lord Strathcona Speaks of Help for Farmers and of Prosperous Year's Business

London, June 30.—Presiding to-day at the annual meeting of the Hudson's Bay Co. Lord Strathcona said that the profits from trade were the highest in the company's history. The sum to the credit of the land department also constituted a record. The conservative policy of the directors in not forcing land sales at low prices in the past, and the energetic measures taken to retain the good will of the people of Canada by affording them modern shipping facilities are being justified.

Land was at present, the shareholders' greatest asset, but it was a diminishing one as the directors felt that a portion of the land sales should be treated as capital, and invested in the trading side. Total sales showed a marked increase. Furs gathered slightly exceeded previous numbers.

Lord Strathcona went on to speak of the proposed establishment by the company of a loan and mortgage business. It is proposed to assist farmers on approved applications by converting their sale agreements into loan agreements, for it is felt that by relieving the farmer of the necessity of meeting instalments year by year he would be able to put his earnings into building and stock, and thus follow a mixed farming rather than be so dependent, as at present, on wheat growing.

It is to the advantage of Canada, said his lordship, that farmers should not depend entirely upon cereal crops, but go in for stock raising, horse breeding and growing of crops for their use. This fund should be a good dividend earner, and secure the perpetual continuation of the company, and also prove advantageous to Canada and the empire.

As a whole the year must be taken as a period of general activity in the land market, while the sales recorded and prices realized furnished ample evidence that the company had participated in a marked degree in the prevailing prosperity. The financial stringency throughout the world which set in a few months ago, has, however, aided in bringing about a period of comparative inactivity which was especially noticeable towards the close of the fiscal year under review.

ADD KOREAN RAILWAY TO TRANS-SIBERIAN

St. Petersburg, June 30.—At the international railway conference, held here on Saturday, a proposal was made by the Canadian Pacific railway representatives to the effect that the Korean railway be added to the regular trans-Siberian service, and also that the North China railways participate in the same service. The proposal was adopted, with the result that Seoul and Peking may now be reached on regular round-the-world route via Russia and Canada.

TRIED TO IMPRISON CABINET MINISTERS

Sylvia Pankhurst Incites Militant Women and Dockers to Assault

POLICE THROW STRONG
CORDON ROUND BLOCK

Officers of Law Thrashed and Vote Seekers Severely Handled in Disturbance

CLUBS USED BEFORE
RIOT IS SUPPRESSED

London, June 30.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst the suffragette leader left an attacking party to Downing street yesterday afternoon for the purpose of imprisoning the cabinet minister. The expedition was unsuccessful. The attempt to capture Downing street failed but the police victory was not won without fierce skirmishes. Both policemen and women were injured.

Miss Pankhurst appeared at a demonstration in Trafalgar Square in favor of free speech. She denounced the Right Hon. Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, for "killing my mother." Then she invited the crowd to go to Downing street and imprison the ministers in their own houses. She then jumped from the wagon, organized a large body of sympathizers, many of whom were dockworkers, and marched at their head down Whitehall, with the flag of the Women's Social and Political Union surmounted by a liberty cap.

The police, however, had been apprised of the intention of the demonstrators and had thrown a strong cordon around Downing street. The dockers tried to break through and some of the women went to their aid but were severely handled. In the fighting women were thrown to the ground and the dockers were clubbed. Many of them were arrested.

Meanwhile some of the husky dockers had thrashed policemen here and there. Finally mounted police came to the rescue and dispersed the crowd.

The incident which led to the march to Downing street was Miss Pankhurst's objection to a resolution put to the meeting, because it contained no direct reference to votes for women. "The men on this platform," she said, "have refused to put the question of women's vote in the resolution. That just shows you what democrats they are."

Then, pointing toward Downing street, she continued: "The ministers are just a handful of votes for women. Don't all go for week-ends and we could imprison them in their own houses even this afternoon, if we went down there. What are you going to do?"

Cheers greeted this speech and there was a general movement toward getting into line. Miss Pankhurst headed the march. Between 1,000 and 2,000 persons followed her banner, singing the Marseillaise.

Having started the rampage, the suffragette leader left the actual direction of affairs to her supporters. The police hastily gathered reinforcements and cordoned both ends of Downing street.

Finding they were unable to enter Downing street from Whitehall a large contingent started through St. James park with the intention of forcing their way to the ministerial residences through the park entrance to the street. This manoeuvre was successfully resisted. The police seized the banner and cap of liberty and other trophies.

The disturbances lasted half an hour. Finding themselves repulsed, Miss Pankhurst and her supporters marched back to Trafalgar Square.

In the course of her speech she declared that her mother was slowly dying; that her hair had gone nearly white in the past week.

Miss Laura Geraldine Lennox, a sub-editor of the Suffragette, who was released from prison, June 21, owing to ill-health, brought about by hunger strike, was arrested to-day.

Miss Lennox is undergoing a term of six months at hard labor having been convicted of conspiracy to commit malicious damage to property.

Leuchars, Scotland, June 30.—The important railway junction here connecting Edinburgh with Dundee and Aberdeen, and within a few miles of St. Andrew's golf links, was burned to-day.

The authorities believe the fire was started by militant suffragettes.

CABINET MINISTERS RETURN.

Ottawa, Ont., June 30.—Hon. Frank Cochrane and Hon. J. Hasen returned to-day from an extensive trip through the maritime provinces and both immediately took up arrears of work. Mr. Hasen will leave on July 14 for a trip to the coast to welcome the battleship New Zealand at Vancouver. He will stay off at Winnipeg and Calgary. Mr. Cochrane later on will inspect certain sections of the transcontinental railway.

RADICALS OF NORWAY NOT YET DEMOCRATIC

Abolition of Orders Promised in 1905 Not Effected After Gaining Office

Christiania, Norway, June 29. — The Radical newspaper, Radbladet, maintains that it is the duty of the present Radical government to abolish the distribution of orders to Norwegians. When the general elections of 1905 took place, the nation was assured that Norway was to become an exceptionally democratic kingdom, without any tinsel or fancy. None of the various governments, however, which have since been at the helm of the state, have done anything to abolish the distribution of orders. But now, since the democratic parties have a four-fifths majority in the Storting, they are expected to fulfil the promise made in 1905.

Dr. Sigurd Ibsen, the former minister, who during his short term of office introduced a new Norwegian order, writing to one of the newspapers, describes himself as antagonist to the abolition of orders. He considers the proposals to limit the distribution of orders to foreigners only as senseless, and proposes the introduction of several reforms, among which he advocates women being made eligible for decoration. When Dr. Ibsen was a chancellor of the order, he tried in vain to persuade King Oscar II. to decorate women. There are, of course, some people who consider that the abolition of orders would be a slight to the king.

ADVANCE OF CHURCH UNION IN SCOTLAND

Alteration of Feeling in Last Years and Progress Made Towards Desired End

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 29. — One of the most striking features of religious life in Great Britain in recent times is the remarkable advance towards union on the part of the great Scottish churches, the United Free church, and the Established church. Three years ago, when the conferences between the two churches on the question of union were initiated, it is quite fair to say that the attitude of the two churches was one of mutual suspicion, if not antagonism. Each church was ready to accept concessions on the part of the other, but not to make any itself.

The alteration of feeling and attitude particularly within the past year, was shown at the general assemblies of the two churches, when the reports of the respective committees on the negotiations which have been in progress during the past year were unanimously adopted. Motions to proceed with the drafting of a constitution to be considered as a basis of union were also carried without a single dissentient.

It would not of course be correct to assume that union is practically accomplished. A great deal has to be taken in hand, and all that the recent assemblies showed was a disposition to go forward eagerly to the consideration of such a basis, and to examine it in a friendly spirit. Anyone, however, who is acquainted with religious life in Scotland will recognize what a remarkable alteration of thought has taken place, and it cannot be doubted that, even if the negotiations ultimately break down, the church will benefit through the new spirit of mutual understanding and friendship which has arisen.

On the subjects of spiritual freedom, and national recognition of religion, agreement seems to be almost in sight, and it is recognized that if those two questions can be settled, the problem of religious endowments will be quickly disposed of. This only question to be settled, in fact, is how to secure national recognition without interfering with the spiritual freedom of the church. With such a degree of agreement Scotland may fairly look forward to a reunited church, knowing as the moderator of the general assembly of the Established church said in concluding an eloquent speech, that a power not themselves is working for unity, that the work is not theirs, but God's.

VESUVIUS SHOOTING FLAMES AND SMOKE

Panic at Cosenza, Where Severe Earth Shocks Drive People to Fields

Naples, June 30. — For the first time since 1906, flames were observed Saturday shooting from Mount Vesuvius. Three slight earthquakes occurred previously, and the uppermost crater of Vesuvius emitted a dense column of smoke which frequently showed striking reflections of flames lower down, with an occasional eruption of fire.

Prof. Mercalli, director of the observatory, reports that the lava streams which recently were observed are becoming continuous. He expresses the opinion that the seismic movement on Mount Vesuvius had no connection with the earthquake in the Calabria district, although he considered the coincidence surprising. He said the Vesuvius eruption is due to the recent heavy rains filtering through cracks in the crater.

Earthquake Cause Panic.
Cosenza, Calabria, Italy, June 30. — The great disaster in Sicily and Calabria in 1908 was brought forcibly to mind Saturday by a series of earth shocks, which appeared graver than they really were owing to the panic they caused.

The people rushed out of their houses terror-stricken at the first shock and ran, screaming and imploring mercy. They are now camping in the open fields or in underground grottoes.

Troops and a detachment of Red Cross workers, were dispatched to points where the greatest damage was reported. The villages most seriously affected are Poggiano, Gravina, Montegrassano and San Benedetto.

Shocks Exaggerated.
Rome, June 30. — Extensive earthquake shocks occurred in the southern part of Italy, with the result that exaggerated reports were circulated describing the disturbances as a grave disaster, with a large number of victims.

Official information was received by the minister of the interior last night that the earthquake caused no damage in the province of Catanzaro, and was scarcely felt at Messina.

Some houses were damaged in the villages of Paola, Rossano-Marina, San Marco and other small places near Cosenza.

Some of the inhabitants of these villages are reported to have been slightly injured.

TALLEST POLICEMAN DIES VERY SUDDENLY
Constable Johnston Came From Londonderry and Was 6 Feet 8 1/2 Inches in Height.

Regina, Sask., June 29. — Constable John Johnston, the tallest policeman in Canada, was found dead on his beat at an early hour this morning. Brain trouble was evidently the cause of death. There is no suspicion of foul play.

The deceased stood 6 feet, 8 1/2 inches in his stockings, and was 21 years old. He had been in Regina one month, and came from Londonderry, Ireland. For the past three weeks he had been a member of the local force, and had become a favorite with his comrades.

Sergeant Roche, in the course of his rounds, met the deceased at 2:30 Sunday morning. Johnston was then in the best of spirits, and made the remark to the sergeant that he had gained nine pounds since coming to Regina.

One hour later Constable Clew, whose beat adjoined that of Johnston, stumbled across the body of his comrade just outside the ball park on the north side.

OIL TRUST SUCCEEDS IN HIGHEST COURT

Standard Combine is Allowed to Continue Doing Business in Missouri.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 30. — The Missouri supreme court announced Saturday a decision allowing the Standard Oil Company, of Indiana, which had been ousted from the state, to continue business in Missouri.

This decision does not revoke the order of ouster, issued some time ago as a result of proceedings instituted by the state under the anti-trust law, but merely suspends the order for so long a time as the company complies with the laws of the state.

The suspension of the ouster was made after evidence had been taken before a special commissioner to sustain the contention of the company that it no longer had a monopoly of the oil business of the state.

The decision suspending the ouster provides that the supreme court shall retain jurisdiction of the case; that the attorney-general, if the company violates the anti-trust law, may move to vacate the suspension of the ouster and that independent of the attorney-general the court may order evidence to be taken to ascertain whether the company is complying with the laws.

BANK CLERK IS SHOT AT WINNIPEG SUNDAY

Accidental Discharge of Revolver Follows Careless Handling of Firearm.

Winnipeg, Man., June 29.—R. W. Waldo Webster, aged 20, clerk in the Union Bank branch at Sargent and Sherbrooke streets here, was fatally shot on the bank premises yesterday morning by a bullet from a revolver in the hands of his fellow clerk, Walter E. Carr, aged 19. An inquest will be held to-morrow, and meanwhile Carr, who comes from Virden, Man., is under arrest, but there is no question of the accidental character of the fatality.

The two had just got up, still in their pajamas, when Webster started to play with the revolver. Carr took it from him and the revolver exploded. Webster died before he could be taken to the hospital.

He is the son of Henry B. Webster, of 175 Nornie street, and a year ago was moved here from Regina, Sask.

LOWER GATUN GATES GIVEN ACTUAL TEST

Panama, June 30.—The large lower gates at Gatun are being put to the actual test of full pressure for the first time. The Atlantic waters have been allowed to flow in gradually against the gates and they reached the sea level yesterday afternoon.

The engineers are watching the test with interest and they report the gates are firm and watertight. The water is now at the fifty-foot stage.

BRAZIL IS WATCHING PROGRESS OF MINISTER

Appreciation Shown of Entertainment Provided Official; Trade Growth Prominent

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, June 30.—As the Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, Dr. Lauro Severiano Muller is the guest of the American people, diplomatic, commercial and other links in the relations between the two governments are commanding general attention.

The United States now maintains consular officers at Bahia, Para, Pernambuco and Rio de Janeiro and agencies at Manaus, Maranhao, Ceara, Maceio, Victoria and Sao Paulo. Business between the United States and Brazil is growing to an amazing degree. Immigration from Europe has continued. More manufactured goods are constantly required and the tendency is steadily in the direction of encouraging imports from the United States, all other conditions being equally satisfactory.

Work done by the American ambassador at the capital has been invaluable to his government. From the day when Edwin Morgan, the present incumbent, reached Rio de Janeiro, his method has been conciliatory, especially at times when trade matters threatened to become complicated. At Washington, as is well known here both in government and commercial circles, the Brazilian ambassador, Sr. De Gama, is doing for his country no less than Mr. Morgan is accomplishing here. All this has helped to facilitate diplomatic transactions. Dr. Muller's visit and the entertainments provided for him in the United States are thoroughly appreciated by the entire Brazilian nation.

Regarding a force of international influence outside of and yet closely related to government affairs, the presence in the United States of Dr. J. Carlos Rodriguez, one of the most distinguished editors of Brazil, in connection with Dr. Muller's visit, is expected to have a very excellent effect in bringing the journalism of the two countries closer together. Dr. Rodriguez is no stranger to American institutions, and as editor of the Journal de Comercio he has wielded a powerful influence for maintaining the best relations with the United States. News from Washington, New York, Boston and other places to be visited by the Brazilians is awaited with keen interest.

TO PRODUCE GRAND CANYON FOR FAIR

Exposition, Patrons Will See Facsimile of Nature's Masterpiece in 1915.

San Francisco, June 30.—W. F. Fraser, manager of the Santa Fe exhibits, and who will have charge of the $300,000 reproduction of the Grand Canyon, at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, in an interview, gives some interesting information about the construction of the exhibit.

"In the production of this work," said Fraser, "I have had with me the canyon Walter W. Burridge, one of America's greatest painters; Charles R. Fisher, J. C. Schwerdt and a full equipment of guides and helpers. Captain John Hance, the hermit of the canyon, has been with us all the time. We have made studies at ten of the principal points of the canyon that will embrace in the exhibit, we are to make the most grand and magnificent portions of the canyon.

"We are gathering rocks, trees, cactus and shrubbery of all kinds from the rim of the canyon, which we will use in constructing the facsimile rim at the Grand Canyon exhibit. We will build a portion of Hornet trail, showing a trail party in motion, actual figures being constructed in correct position to accomplish this effect. In one section we will reproduce a storm in the canyon. We will also, in another section, have the effect of moonlight and sunset, with beautiful El Tovar hotel illuminated at night on the rim.

"We are forwarding to San Francisco the first consignment of our studies in oil, pastel and water color, with color keps, color tenses, dimensions, positions and the data necessary for the carrying out of the scheme.

"I am going into the Indian villages, accompanied by Burridge and the rest of the party, for the purpose of making careful notes and studies of the Pueblo life, as this will be an important feature, occupying the second floor of our front construction. In this part of the exhibit will be housed Hopi and Navajo Indian villages. Here the Indians will be engaged in their daily occupations, the same as in their original villages."

RENO ENDS ITS SIX MONTHS' DIVORCE LAW

Change Brought About by Mothers in Community Who Bombarded Legislature

Reno, Nev., June 30.—Midnight will mark the close of the Reno divorce colony, as by the new law to-day will be the last day on which persons seeking residence qualifications for divorce can comply with the old conditions before the new law comes into force. After midnight to-night it will no longer be possible for the divorce-seeker to take advantage of the six months' residence clause which for years has been in effect in Nevada.

The amended divorce law, passed by the last state legislature, goes into effect January 1, 1914, requiring a year's residence before application for divorce may be made. After to-day it will be impossible to come within the six months' provision of the law. Reno divorce lawyers who asserted they would fight the new amendment, declaring it unconstitutional, have thrown up their hands in despair and no attempt will be made to fight the reform.

Reno for years has been held up to scorn. The city became the butt of every jokester. To register in any city from Reno caused a smile and a joke to follow. After actual residents of Reno had stood this treatment for some time they resolved to remove the stigma from the name of the city, and when the last state legislature met in Carson City a delegation of mothers chartered a special train and descended in a body upon the lawmakers and demanded that the statute be amended.

There were many beautiful and lovely women who came to Reno for marital relief. Mrs. Margaret Emerson McKim, the beautiful daughter of Isaac Emerson, the bromo seltzer king, was one of these. She endeared herself to the people of Reno and took a prominent part in the welfare of the city. After her divorce from Scott Hollis McKim, the New York society man, she took a trip around the world and was married in a suburb of London to Alfred Vanderbilt.

Edna Goodrich, the actress, obtained her divorce in Reno and immediately married Nat Goodwin, Virginia Harner Southern, the actress, also obtained her divorce in Reno and was immediately married again. Mrs. Florence Jennings, considered the most beautiful woman in Baltimore, was divorced in Reno. Her marriage followed immediately.

Mrs. Henry Hutt, wife of the artist, was recently divorced in Reno. Hutt once said that his wife was more beautiful than the Venus of Milo.

Corey, the steel magnate, secured his divorce in Reno, so that he might wed Mabel Gilman, the actress. Corey built a home at Reno as a guarantee that he intended living permanently in that city. However, the divorce was granted before the structure was completed and Corey left immediately.

Phillip Dodge, president of the Merchants Linotype Company, divorced his wife in Reno. Scores of others fully as prominent might be mentioned, among them being: Mrs. Hugh Corby Fox, of New York; Mrs. Elsie A. Harrison, of New York; Mrs. Hilda Sampson, of London; Elizabeth Powell Stoddard, of New York; Emma Wright Mendels, Millo Egan Brown, Frieda Peet, Dorothy Case, James Gayley, Arundel Smith, Thomas Rives, Jack Richardson, Courtland Maasie, Florence Cullen, Fanny Lampe, Edna Hudson and R. M. Buddington, known as the father of the divorce colony, who, although a millionaire, got a job selling tickets in a motion picture house in order to testify that he really was in Reno in good faith and had regular employment.

PROSECUTE INDIANS TO STOP LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Spokane, June 30.—The federal grand jury that adjourned to-day, memorialized congress to pass a law making it possible to prosecute Indians for buying intoxicating liquors. The greater part of the time of the district attorney for eastern Washington is taken up in prosecuting white men for selling liquors to Indians and the grand jurors are of the belief that the traffic in liquors can be diminished if the Indian who buys can be prosecuted.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Vancouver, June 30.—The following officers were elected on Saturday at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Society of Architects: President, Hout Horton, Victoria; vice-president, J. L. Cullen, Wilson, Jameson, R. Wilson and Keith, of Victoria.

GIFT TO MCGILL.

Ottawa, June 30.—Lord Strathcona has given McGill University $100,000 for the purchase of a site for a students' drill hall. It will be on Lorne Crescent, adjoining the McGill gymnasium.

Intentions are that the drill hall will be erected next year. It will be used for the training of university students to form an officers' training corps, as exists in Oxford and Cambridge.

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE.

It will be forty-six years ago to-morrow since the British North America Act was proclaimed in operation, and the Dominion of Canada began its existence. The perspective of time presents the occasion in its true proportions, and enables us adequately to gauge its immense significance and the measure of the faith, foresight and courage which made confederation possible. It was largely an experiment in colonial progress; a radical departure so striking as to arrest the attention of statesmen and students of political development and provoke much speculation and no inconsiderable prophecy as to what the upshot would be. It was freely contended that a serious mistake had been made, and those timid souls on both sides of the Atlantic, whose teeth had chattered with every extension of liberty to the people, freely predicted that the new Dominion would soon cut the painter and gravitate into the American republic. It was the first time in the history of the world that the power of self-government had been attained by a Dominion unaccompanied by the harsh clankers of war, and it was inconceivable to the shrill-tongued prophets of war that the thing that had come to pass had forged an Imperial bond which, unless it is interfered with, will last for all time. We have but to recall the events which pre-empted the organization of the new Commonwealth to appreciate what a wonder-working evolution it was.

Twenty years previously the repeal of the corn laws and the loss of a profitable market in England aroused in the Canadas a strong agitation in favor of annexation to the United States, and a manifesto was issued, containing among the signatures that of a public man who was subsequently a Conservative prime minister of the Dominion. Great Britain, then, to compensate the colony for the loss of its market, negotiated on its behalf a reciprocity treaty with the United States, which was found so profitable that the annexation agitation soon passed away. In its place, however, arose a national spirit, a desire in the colonists to govern themselves in their own way consistent with entire loyalty and devotion to the British crown, and gradually from the first hint of confederation in 1847 was evolved the project which reached a practical stage at the Quebec Conference of 1864. The refusal of the United States government to extend the reciprocity treaty accelerated the movement and the splendidly cordial reception of the proposal by the British ministry of the day opened the way for the epoch event which Canada will celebrate to-morrow.

Thus a new British nation came into being. Faced with a grave responsibility and obligations, the statesmen who founded it at once grappled with them. The Intercolonial Railway was built, the gigantic Canadian-Pacific Transcontinental was undertaken, and other great works of development carried out. On the advice of the British government, Canada organized her own militia, and British troops were withdrawn. Gradually her powers of self-government were extended, especially in regard to treaty negotiations with foreign nations, and every forward step in economic, social and administrative development strengthened the national spirit and nourished the sentiment which bound the young nation to the throne. And yet, with these facts before them, there are people in Britain and Canada to-day fatuous enough to scheme for an abandonment of the great project begun in 1867; people who would reduce this country to its provincial status of seventy years ago, and forever frustrate the high purpose underlying the whole statesmanship of Sir John Macdonald and the other Fathers of Confederation. For their history has no leaders. Like the croakers who wrung their hands when the young Dominion was established, they still declare that unless we hark back to the halcyon days of Imperial centralization in London the Canadian people will drift into independence. The shortest route to that outcome is the very arrangement these reactionaries advocate with such pseudo-patriotic frenzy.

The great experiment proved a remarkable success, and it was repeated in Australia, New Zealand, and under even more striking circumstances in South Africa. So it can be truthfully said that Canada is a constitutional gem in the parent of the younger dominions, whose success, like hers, has triumphantly vindicated the system. Wisely indeed has Britain learned the lesson of empire. She has succeeded where Greece, Rome and Spain failed. They carved out their empires with the sword, and tried to hold them by curbing the aspirations and restricting the rights of their conquered colonies. Britain made one false step on the Roman model, and met disaster. It was a blessing in disguise, because it taught her the other alternative exemplified in an autonomous Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

Of the Fathers of Confederation only one, Sir Chas. Tupper, lives to behold the fulfillment of the hopes and the justification of the faith of those early days. The Fathers were real Empire builders, who were not concerned with the plaudits of the world. They had no time to venture on a sea of glory. They strove to create and promote the growth of a nation that would endure. They were first and foremost Canadians, and consequently practical Imperialists. Had they been less Canadian the history of Imperialism would be without one of its most glorious chapters—a chapter in which the pride, pomp and circumstance of war have no place.

WAR IS ON.

"And in these confines with a monarch's voice, Cry 'Havoc,' and let slip the dogs of war."

Yesterday the general officer commanding on this side of dreams received the dire intelligence that the puissant Reds had obtained command of the sea, and their torpedo flotilla was recouping off Sidney preliminary to the debarkation of an army of invasion some time to-day. The news was heard with unrestrained rejoicing by the gallant Blues, to whom our defence is entrusted. They have been spoiling for a fight. The piping times of peace have not on their nerves. They have been restless ever since their sensitive ears first heard the glorious din in the distant Balkans and their nostrils scented the powder of Adrianople. Even the youthful countenances of the University School cadets are flushed with eager expectation. They have already exchanged fond farewells with the fair objects of their boyish fancy, and await with impatience the rude shock of war. The 88th Fusiliers will undergo their baptism of fire, while the 6th and 10th, veterans of many a sanguinary manoeuvre, will do or die to preserve this fair city and safeguard the symmetry of its surrounding subdivisions from the fell operations of the predaacious invaders under that ferocious huzzat, Colonel Leckie.

The instructional nature of these manoeuvres cannot be overestimated. They teach officers and men how to meet unexpected conditions in the field, and it is this very training that makes the volunteer soldier worth three conscripts when occasion arises. As long as we must maintain a militia force we should see that it is brought to the highest state of efficiency. This cannot be accomplished alone by parades in the armories and the manning of forts. The militia warfare now in progress rounds out the course. It is as near the real thing as we have, so we shall ever approach, but if we do have to fight we want to feel that our soldiers will not be led like lambs to slaughter.

MORE POWDER.

Certain elements in California seem bent upon provoking a conflict between the United States and Japan. The expulsion of a band of Korean fruit pickers from Hemet on Thursday will not help in the peaceful solution of the delicate international situation which has arisen in consequence of the recent alien land ownership legislation. The incident no doubt has been exaggerated, and in itself would be no cause for friction, but if it is followed by others serious trouble is likely to ensue. The Koreans are not Japanese, but they are from a country under the protection of Japan, and the Tokio authorities naturally are bound to safeguard their interests. The incident is a significant example of the intensity of the anti-Asiatic sentiment which exists in the state. The view of many publicists in the republic, particularly in the eastern states, is that California's alarm is unnecessary and abnormal. Japanese immigration is limited by an arrangement similar to the Lemieux agreement, while the influx from other Asiatic countries is not serious enough to rouse apprehension. The area of land owned by Japanese in the state is insignificant in proportion to the total. There is no doubt that to a large extent politics plays an important part in the agitation. We know that in this province the question became a political football, but Canada had an international safety valve in the right of disallowance vested in the federal government. Washington enjoys no such power, and can do more than piously apologize for whatever legislation California may see fit to place upon its statute books. Notwithstanding this, the federal government is in duty bound to protect the state against any threatening situation to which such legislation may give rise. This, surely, is a one-sided arrangement, and sooner or later Washington will have to adopt the Canadian plan of exercising some power of disallowance. The question concerns not alone the state of California. It concerns the nation at large.

A London newspaper, and a prominent newspaper at that, says Joe Martin is a dull and uninteresting speaker. If that is the case, then there surely is something in what certain critics say of our Canadian public men who have engrained themselves on the tree of British politics. But if Joe is a dull and uninteresting speaker, what would the British newspapers say if some of the men who are highly eulogised by the Tory press of British Columbia were to become changed of the idea that they had a call to enter the Imperial Parliament? We sincerely hope Sir Richard McBride will take warning.

The morning paper says: "An unusual planetary event will culminate a little before midnight on July 3. This is the combination of the new moon in conjunction with the maximum declination of the moon north of the equator." Quite so, and on July 4th there will be a combination of rights and lefts in conjunction with the solar plexus above the equatorial waist line when Joe Bayley fights Clarence Rothus.

It is rather tough on the unfortunates who are trying to locate the money market just now to describe the financial stringency as "alleged." It is no trick of the imagination, but the real thing. We have seen it before, but it passed away, just as the present embarrassment will pass away. The sooner we recognize its existence the sooner we will recover from it.

S. Perry Mills, K. C., who died on Saturday, was for many years a prominent figure at the bar and in the public life of Victoria. General sympathy is felt, particularly among the older members of the community, for the deceased barrister's family.

The official statistician has settled it. Married people do actually live longer than those who choose a life of single blessedness. The old crusties who have cynically declared that married life only seemed longer thus have been finally put to confusion.

BITS OF WISDOM.

Suffering becomes beautiful when anyone bears great calamities with cheerfulness, not through insensibility, but through greatness of mind.—Aristotle.

TO THE MAPLE TREE.

Thou canopy of living green,
 Whose golden fanlies flakey waves
 Round branches brown, that scarce are seen
 For all their garlanded leaves,
 Hall! queen of all the forest host,
 This feast of Canada's pride and boast,
 Thy brow, broad-spreading to the blue,
 A land of liberty declares;
 Thy myriad wings of emerald hue,
 That softly sway in clattering pairs,
 Portray the pair-ot and reveal
 This people's glorious ideal.

Broad is thy leaf by thousands blest;
 That ample palm, to lift who roars
 Far from their fatherland in quest
 Of Freedom's hearty and happy home,
 Warm welcome, gives, and vager pours
 Within their lap their boundless stores.
 O'er Canada the glory sings
 Of thy proud leaf, her emblem dear,
 Oh! may she not forget thy wings
 That with the leaf entwined here!
 Those wings that point from fertile sod,
 From mountain peak and plain to God!
 That point afar to things divine,
 That are of Heaven's a blessed ray,
 A prophesy of good and sign
 Of greatness, if she but obey!
 Grant her the upward step and gaze,
 The heart of prayer, the soul of praise!
 DUDLEY H. ANDERSON.

HAS HE GOT ONE?

As good a way as any out of the present difficulty would be for Premier Borden to get busy and bring forward his permanent naval policy and present it to parliament and the country. Why not? What is he waiting for? It is as easy to-day as it will be any other day for him to draft a permanent policy that will please the Nationalists of Quebec and the Conservatives of Ontario.

THE PRESS' INFLUENCE.

In a late speech as a guest of the Foreign Press Association in London, Premier Asquith told the assembled representatives of the press that they were "the official ambassadors of the nations." He further declared: "There is no body of men who can do more either to create or to destroy the atmosphere in which the plant of international good-will can alone thrive and flower." Premier Asquith knows whereof he speaks. A newspaper without a conscience in these days of wire and wireless communication is the most Salenic instrumentality of the age.

STILL A CAUSE FOR WORRY.

The Mail and Empire refers to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir George W. Ross as "spent politicians." For politicians that can abuse thrive and flower." Premier Asquith knows whereof he speaks. A newspaper without a conscience in these days of wire and wireless communication is the most Salenic instrumentality of the age.

HIS CHANCE FOR FAME.

Mr. Cockshott, of Brantford, should give out the secret by which a family of reasonable size can live in affluence on $100 a week. It's a secret he should not keep to himself.

CHAMPION HOAXER HOAXED.

Retribution has overtaken Wilhelm Voigt, the famous shoemaker, of Koenigsberg, who was duped at Goslar somewhat after the manner of his own exploits (says the Daily Express Hamburg correspondent). While he was straddling along the market square he was held up by two men whom he took to be officials of justice. They demanded the instant payment of $148. in fines for an offence alleged to have been committed by him a year ago, threatening him, in default, with imprisonment. Voigt, who resides in Luxembourg, and who was merely on a brief visit to Germany, happened to have only $10 on him at the time. The "officials" thereupon compelled him to telegraph to his home for the balance, keeping guard over him at the telegraph office for three hours.

COUNT ME MONEY FIRST.

A representative of the Daily Citizen has been interviewing Harry Lauder, who is now making his first appearance at the palace. "And when do you take up the part of Clydeside squire, in riding-breeches and leggings?" the comedian was asked. "No, no," was the reply, "the kilts for me, I'm sure, and as for when I'll retire—I'll have to let me count my money first!"

THE PUTUMAYO A DEVIL'S PARADISE

CENSURE FOR DIRECTORS OF AMAZON COMPANY

England's Good Name at Stake; Horrible Stories of Cruelty Well Founded

As a result of their protracted inquiry the Select Committee of the House of Commons appointed to investigate the alleged atrocities in the Putumayo district have passed severe censure upon the British directors of the Peruvian Amazon Company.

They had no evidence that the British directors made themselves individually parties to any overt act which would expose them to a charge under the Slave Trade Acts. But they cannot absolve them from the charge of culpable negligence.

As to Señor Arana, the committee report that he, together with other partners in the vendor firm, had knowledge of and was responsible for the atrocities perpetrated by his agents and employees in the Putumayo, but he did not communicate his knowledge of the atrocities to the British directors before the "Truth" revelations.

The directors (the report proceeds) wrote to the Foreign Office that "the board have taken and will continue to take all the steps open to them to ensure that the company's business shall be carried on in a proper manner, and with all possible consideration towards the natives."

No care at all was taken, and the employees were, in fact, a gang of ruffians and murderers, who shot apparently from sheer lust of blood, or from avarice, and violated in a spirit of wanton desecration.

The directors who merely attend board meetings and sign cheques, or limit themselves to a special branch of the business, cannot escape their collective moral responsibility when gross abuses under their company are revealed.

The directors assumed positions to which are inseparably attached responsibilities they failed to discharge, and their conduct on this head is deserving of severe censure. They should not lightly have exposed to risk, the good name of England.

It is hard to believe that Mr. Gubbins, with thirty-eight years of business life in Peru, or that Mr. Read, with his knowledge of Peruvian conditions, had not had warning of an attitude towards the Indians too common in Peru, and the responsibility of these directors, on that account is proportionately great.

him unfeared control over affairs in the Putumayo? The committee note "an increasing tendency for tropical regions to be developed by absentee and international capital through the use of colored labor. Two points suggest themselves to the committee:— (1) The existing law as to slave dealing and using persons as slaves in foreign countries needs to be re-stated, consolidated, and made clear. (2) That the existing provisions of the law might be somewhat extended so as to cover the gravest offences against the person and any practices of forced labor which are akin to slavery. If British subjects made themselves parties to overt acts to offences of these kinds in foreign countries they should be liable in British courts of law. The committee further press for the strengthening of the consular service, and refer to Sir Harry Johnston's scheme for scheduling special districts in Africa and South America "as areas of special precaution."

Matter of Accounts.—Although the fact did not come out in the police court proceedings in the case of Charles Sheppard, released on suspended sentence, on Saturday on a charge of retaining monies paid him on account of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, it appears that account are outstanding matters of account and he was asked to recover what he claims to be owing him that he held back the monies in question.

WEDDINGS SOLEMNIZED

Number of Happy Events Take Place as June Draws to Close.

The marriage took place at New Westminster on Saturday of Miss Dolie D. Lang, second daughter of Mrs. William James, 513 Avalon road, of this city, to Mr. Noel A. Menard, well known Victorian of the Empress hotel staff. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. A. Vert, of Westminster. Mrs. A. B. Van Deyar, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor. The couple returned to the city yesterday and will take up their residence here.

Brown-Elliott.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Esquimalt, last Thursday, when Sarah Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, and Mr. Frederick S. Elliott, of Vancouver, were united in matrimony. The bride, who was supported by her father, looked charming in a beautiful lace gown of white lily design trimmed with pearls, with which the young lady wore a veil. Miss F. Brown, a sister, attended the bride and looked pretty in a pink voile, trimmed with silver beads and carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations. Mr. A. B. Brown, of Vancouver, acted as best man. The happy couple were the recipients of many lovely and useful presents. After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott will take up their residence in Vancouver.

Haddock-McMahon.

The wedding took place on last Friday evening at 1014 Fendlergast street, of Mr. George McMahon and Miss Kate Wood Peat Haddock. Rev. W. Leslie Clay officiated. The bride has only recently reached the city from Karluke, Scotland. After a very pleasant evening had been spent at the above residence, a motor trip was enjoyed which concluded at their new home, 1762 First street.

TO BUY CAMP SITE

Government Will Probably Pay $75,000 to John Erthoum, Sidney, for 61 Acres.

During the recent visit to this city of Col. the Hon. Sam. Hughes, it has been learned that he approached John Erthoum, of Sidney, to purchase 61 acres of his property as a permanent camp for the British Columbia forces, and it is probable that the deal will be consummated. The price asked for the property ranges around the $75,000 mark.

The troops are at present occupying 45 acres of the land for such a camp and it has met with such approval by the officers and men that it was thought to be an ideal spot for a permanent camp. It is pointed out that every province has a regular place of encampment every year and that this province should have the same.

Mr. Erthoum was first approached to rent his property to the government for the camp, but refused to do so, stating that he would lend it gladly, but not take any money. However, in order that a deal be made, as such was necessary, he agreed to take the sum of one dollar for the rental of the land.

TO FORM NEW REGIMENT

Col. Roy Tells Sidney Deputation of Plans When They Suggest Organization.

A committee of prominent Sidney citizens waited on Col. Roy, district commanding officer of the troops at present encamped at the peninsula city, on Saturday with a view to getting his co-operation in establishing a regiment there, and they met with much encouragement.

Col. Roy announced that he had had in mind the organizing of an island regiment with at least one or two companies in Sidney and others all along the island such as Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Chemainus, etc.

There are many eager and athletically inclined young men who have overcome by the military atmosphere of their home during the last week, and are anxious to get into the ranks of their country. That the island rural regiment idea will meet with the greatest of satisfaction the island over, is expected, and if it develops as anticipated early success is looked for.

TO CONSIDER FINANCES

City Council Will Also Look Into Appointment of Weights Inspector.

Principal among the items of business before the city council this evening will be that of the finance committee's report presented to the council on June 20 and left over for further consideration. There is opposition likely to develop to the adoption of the report on a part of some of the alterations who are not in accordance with its provisions, chief of which are the retention of the fiscal agents and the renewal of treasury notes as they fall due this October.

Tenders for sewer plant and for other materials are due to the purchasing agent to-day. The mayor will bring up the question of the appointment of an inspector of weights, and will watch cases of alleged short weight, but otherwise the order paper is largely one of routine. As the holiday spirit is over the city hall there is not much probability of controversial business being brought up.

It will not be possible for a very definite answer to be given to Alderman Cuthbert's query about the preparations for the reception of the New Zealand, as both the government and the city authorities await further information.

This afternoon another effort will be made to secure the support of the city finance committee to the proposal to guarantee the cost of construction of the Made-in-Victoria buildings at the provincial exhibition. The council will be asked to meet the cost of putting up the necessary utilities when money is available, the funds being temporarily rendered available through Mr. Merron. The subject will be reported upon to-night.

DOLPHIN CRASHES ON NORTHERN ISLE

Seattle Steamer, Well Known Here, Hit Piercy Island, Early Yesterday Morning.

PRINCESS MAY TAKES OFF PASSENGERS; NONE INJURED

Vessel, Badly Damaged, Floats Off and Limp into Alert Bay; Salvor is Dispatched

Crashing on the cruel, jagged rocks of Piercy Island, Johnstone Strait, shortly after midnight Saturday, the Alaska Steamship Company's steamer Dolphin, well known in Victoria, ripped her wooden hull badly and is seriously damaged. The vessel floated off on a high tide and returned to Alert Bay in a crippled condition. All the passengers on the Dolphin were transferred to the C. P. R. steamer Princess May, Capt. McLeod, yesterday, and she is steaming north with them to Skagway. The steamer Salvor, Capt. Stratford, of the B. C. Salvage Company, has left here to attend to the damaged vessel. It was at 12:40 o'clock yesterday morning that the bow of the Dolphin struck the rocks of Piercy Island. She struck at full speed and many passengers, who were aboard, especially the Chinese cannery hands, were greatly alarmed by the violent jar which was felt. Some of the travellers were thrown out of their bunks, but according to the latest advice no one has suffered any injuries as a result of the mishap.

Princess May to Rescue

At the time of the accident the Dolphin was northbound from Seattle and had 110 first-class passengers aboard and 43 second-class. Of the latter, 29 were Chinese cannery hands. A number of tourists were on the Dolphin bound for different Alaska points. Shortly after the steamer crashed on the rocks her wireless operator flashed S. O. S. signals. They were picked up by the Princess May and she hurried to the rescue. The passengers were transferred in boat to the May and arrangements were made, when it was found that the Dolphin would be unable to proceed to the north, to have the C. P. R. vessel carry the travellers to their destination. Last night the Princess May was spoken off Pine Island on her way north. The Dolphin took much water after striking, but her pumps were able to look after the bulk of it. With the appearance of daylight yesterday morning the officers and crew commenced salvage operations and late in the day the steamer was released from under her keels and she proceeded under her own steam to make Alert Bay. A wireless report received here this morning stated that she is now anchored there. The Salvor is expected to reach Alert Bay late to-night and she will at once start to patch up the Dolphin preparatory to bringing her south for repairs.

Second Mishap in Week

The mishap to the Dolphin is the second which has been met by the American fleet of steamships operating up the inside passage to Alaska within the past week. The Pacific Coast steamer Curacoa came to grief on Prince of Wales Island a few days ago and is now a total loss. The Dolphin is a fine little steamer and once operated between Victoria and Seattle. It is not likely that she will be a total loss.

150 TONS OF SILVER ORE BROUGHT SOUTH

Prince Rupert Has Record Shipment From New Hazelton Mines; Foggy Weather

One of the largest shipments of silver ore to be brought from the North arrived on the G. T. F. steamer Prince George, Capt. Donald, which came into port yesterday morning from Stewart and Prince Rupert. One hundred and fifty tons, shipped from the mines at New Hazelton, was stowed in the steamer's fore hold, and it is to be delivered to the smelter at Trail. The mines at New Hazelton are proving a successful enterprise. Owing to much other freight the George was unable to handle all the ore, and she left another 150 tons on the dock at Rupert, which is being brought south by the Prince Rupert. The silver mines are being extensively worked, and large gangs of men are engaged in tunnelling. All the boats are expected to bring big shipments of this ore south. The silver runs so high that despite the long haul of 175 miles from New Hazelton to the coast, thence by steamer to Vancouver and over the rail again to Trail, good profits are made.

Fog is Setting In. Capt. Donald, master of the Rupert, reports considerable foggy weather in northern waters. A great deal of wet was also experienced. The Rupert

Many of Victoria's shipping men and merchants are to be entertained by W. R. Grace & Co. to-morrow afternoon at luncheon on board their new liner Colusa. Capt. The intention is to serve luncheon in the splendid dining-room of this new steamship at 1:45 o'clock.

The arrival of the Colusa in the morning will not only mark the inauguration of the Grace service between New York and Victoria, but will also be the commencement of a new passenger and freight route between San Francisco and this port. Arthur Black, head of Balfour, Guthrie's steamship department, will come across from Vancouver to preside at the reception and with him as toast-master there is little doubt but that the guests will have a most pleasant time on board the Colusa.

FEAR SCHOONER AMERICANA FOUNDED IN HURRICANE

Seattle, June 30.—Recent advices from South Sea ports make it almost a certainty that the schooner Americana was lost in the storm which swept the southern Pacific about April 26 last, somewhere in the vicinity of the Tonga island group. The lumber schooner Lyman B. Foster, which left Bellingham about the same time that the Americana sailed from the Columbia river, was wrecked in the same storm, and abandoned by her captain and crew. The Americans left the Columbia March 3, with a cargo of lumber for the Lyman B. Foster. She was in company with the schooner, and crossed the line at 17 degrees west on the twenty-third day, a record of remarkably fast sailing. Some days after crossing the equator the two ships parted company, and the Lyman B. Foster was caught in the hurricane with a number of other vessels which ply between the islands and were either destroyed or disabled. It is reported in shipping circles that the Americana should have been near the Tonga group as well about the time of the storm, and if so it is believed that she could not have stood up under the blow, for she is a steel vessel and not as well suited to a hard storm as the Lyman B. Foster. The Americana was a four-masted schooner, and was built in Glasgow. Capt. Johnson was master of the vessel on her recent trip and she was manned by a crew of fourteen men.

AMERICANS FINE LINER FALLS OF ORCHY, $5,000

A dispatch received by the Times from Port Townsend, Wash., states that a fine of $5,000 has been laid against the Royal Mail liner Falls of Orchy, which has been in port here for the past few days discharging cargo. The dispatch reads as follows: "For failure to have a consular bill of health when she arrived on the Sound, the British steamer Falls of Orchy has been fined $5,000 by the customs authorities. When she sailed from London she failed to provide herself with such a document, but before sailing from Hongkong the vessel secured a bill of health, but as Hongkong was a port of call it did not comply with the requirements of the United States government. An appeal to the department at Washington for relief will be taken by her master."

ABOUT TWO JAP LINERS COMPLETES ROUND TRIP.

New York, June 30.—The American steamship Santa Cruz, in from Seattle and Pacific and Atlantic ports en route, docked yesterday, thus creating the impression that the Yankee merchant marine might be coming back on the installment plan. Captain Crowsley said that he had had a fine voyage, and that finally he hoped to take his ship through the Panama canal pretty regularly to and from the Pacific. The Santa Cruz is one of the four oil-burning steamships that W. R. Grace & Company will use in the coastwise service by way of the Panama canal. The other three are build-ama canal. VANCOUVER PROTESTS GAME

TEAM ASSURED FOR NEXT YEAR

League Will Investigate Saturday's Row; Owner Virtue Talks on Local Twelve

Because Penalty Times J. McMurphy rang his gong when Mickey Ions ran on the field before Grumpy Spring scored the winning goal for the Salmon Bellies, President Con. Jones, of the Vancouver Lacrosse Club, has protested the match and the matter will be referred to a meeting of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association, Jones asserts that he will have any number of witnesses to prove that the gong was sounded, thereby stopping the game, and that the goal which Grumpy Spring scored should not be allowed. Timmer McMurphy called Ions back to the bench after the ball was in the net and the Vancouver coverpoint had to serve the rest of his penalty. It was immediately following this that the row started in the grandstand, and the league will be asked to look into the matter. President Jones will also ask that the appointment of Saturday's officials be investigated.

Local Prospects Bright

Victoria's chances for a team in the coast league next year look exceptionally bright. Owner John Virtue, of the Victoria Club, stated on Saturday night that he was immensely pleased with the crowd, and he looks for an even bigger turnout for the next game which will take place next month. For this game it is probable that bleacher seats will be erected and other improvements made in the grounds. Mr. Virtue already has wires out for a team to represent the Capital next season, and he will probably engage a playing manager from one of the Big Four clubs to take charge of the team here. Boss Johnson will be released to the Victoria club, while New Westminster and Vancouver may also contribute a couple of players each. Mr. Virtue, however, will dicker with the Big Four clubs for a few men, whom he hopes to build the Victoria team around.

Endorsement

Sir Richard McBride, in his speech to the players, before he faced the ball, spoke of Victoria having a team on the field next season, and stated that he looked for a club that would give both of the present teams an interesting argument for the championship. Sir Richard himself is a lacrosse enthusiast, and is keenly interested in the proposition to finance a team in this city. The entry of the Vancouver amateur league into the present season means that there will be plenty of players available on the coast, and when the Canadian National Lacrosse commission goes into effect next fall, it will give the Capital City an even better chance of securing a winning aggregation. At this gathering a universal set of rules will be adopted, and one of the new innovations looked for on the coast next year is the substitution of players during a game. This helps to break in the young players and at the same time helps to keep the game fast and does away with loafing, which at present slows up lacrosse. The present system of penalizing, without end, will in all likelihood be adopted also, by the eastern clubs.

Bob Dewar and Fred Cullin will be the officials in next Tuesday's game at Hastings park between Vancouver and New Westminster.

WESTMINSTER WINS OVER TERMINALS

Exciting Struggle at Oak Bay Marred by Row Near Finish; Score 5 to 4

Scoring the winning goal with two Vancouver defence players on the penalty bench, Westminster strengthened its hold on the Minto cup at Oak Bay on Saturday when it defeated Vancouver 5 goals to 4, before a crowd of over five thousand spectators. The teams gave a fine exhibition of Canada's national pastime up to within ten minutes of the end. A fight then started in the timekeepers' box that made it necessary for the police to interfere and clear the grounds. This marred the contest, but the match itself was sensational. Westminster led at the end of the first period, while Vancouver had a one goal advantage at half time. In the third session the Royals evened the score and the winning goal was the only tally notched in the final period. It was a good exhibition of lacrosse, with very little rough work.

Johnson Makes Good. There was very little to choose between the teams on Saturday, the addition of Boss Johnson and changes in the Vancouver team having strengthened the Green Shirts wonderfully. Westminster trotted out the same team that had won three straight games in the coast series, and the Salmon Bellies were very confident of their ability to win. The crowd was about the largest that had ever viewed a sporting contest in the Capital, and with perfect weather the teams could wish for no more. Oak Bay has seldom drawn such a gathering, and while both clubs had their own coterie of supporters, the Capital City enthusiasts applauded both teams whenever the occasion presented itself. There was not the same feeling that lends itself to a match in which the home team is participating, but the play of the professionals made a big hit, and the crowd justifies a pro club in Victoria for 1914.

Little Difference in Teams.

Westminster relies chiefly upon its goal getting ability to win games, and there were many who freely predicted that the Royals would win by a large margin. The wonderful defence of the Terminals, however, held the Salmon Bellies safe for three-quarters of the distance. More than that, the sturdy defence leaders of the Vancouver team ripped the Westminster attack on the bench after the Royals struck on their own goal. It was a game in which the fielding abilities of both teams were brought to the fore, and to the credit of the Green Shirts it must be said that they held the much vaunted champion fencers safe. Westminster did not get a goal by using the odds until the second session, however, though to have two defence men on the bench at once, when the score was tied, was surely a death blow to Vancouver's chances.

Carter Opened Scoring.

Sir Richard McBride faced the ball and play was started with the champions defending the north goal. Vancouver scored the ball from the face and opened up an attack upon the Westminster nets. The teams soon warmed up to the game and Carter scored the first goal for Vancouver on a pretty play, taking a pass from West and dropping the ball over Clarke's shoulders. The Royals rushed from the face off, Grumpy Spring scoring from the face on a combined rush and shot. Len Turnbull put the champions in the lead a minute later with an underhand shot that fooled Johnson completely, and for the remainder of the period the teams battled without a score. Newey Lalonde tallied the goal that placed the teams on an even footing in the second quarter on a nice side shot, while Bones Allan rushed through alone for the goal that put the Terminals ahead, his long shot taking Clarke off his guard. Long Bill Turner scored for the Royals on a snappy side shot, but Clarke was sent to the fence a moment later for holding Mick Carter, and with Buck Marley in the bag, Lalonde drove one into the net that gave Vancouver the lead. Westminster evened the count in the third period when G. Spring took a pass with Pickering leaning on him and scored, and the teams started the fourth quarter even up.

The Final Mix-up.

Both Clarke and Johnson were called upon the save their sets repeatedly in the final stages, and play was very even until both Ions and Griffiths were sent to the fence. Vancouver started to "rig" the ball until the duo came back, but Referred Dewar stopped this and gave Westminster a free throw. This brought President Con. Jones, of the Terminals, on the field, and for several minutes he argued with the officials while play was going on, but no change was made. Mickey Ions catered onto the field before his time was up and Timmer McMurphy rang the gong. It was immediately following this that Grumpy Spring scored, and a fight was then started between McMurphy, the Westminster timer, and Capt. Griffiths, of the Vancouver club, who was on the bench. Play was stopped until the grounds were cleared, but the goal was allowed. Mickey Ions and Grumpy Spring clashed in the last few minutes of play, and with Tom Rennie were chased for the balance of the game. The game ended with the Royals on the long end of a five to four score. Vancouver supporters were incensed at the refereeing of Messrs. Cullen and Dewar; but both of these gentlemen endeavored to do their best. A few penalties earlier in the game would have probably averted the row at the close, but the teams were certainly not responsible for what took place in

AUSTRALIANS WON.
Philadelphia, Pa., June 30.—The Australian cricket team won the first match from the all-Philadelphia eleven at Haverford, Pa., Saturday by ten wickets. In their innings Friday the Philadelphians made 115 runs, and in the second—67. The Australians in their first innings scored 105 runs, and Saturday they made 75 runs, the number necessary to win, without the loss of a wicket.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Lacrosse Prospects for Victoria Next Year.
According to Owner John Virtue, Victoria is a certainty for the Coast Lacrosse League next season. Sir Richard McBride voiced the same sentiments in his speech to the teams before the game began and the general opinion prevails that Victoria will be represented by a club in 1914. Yesterday's game drew a crowd of nearly five thousand spectators which ought to satisfy the backers of the club that the Capital sport lovers will support the game, and the match itself was all that could be expected of two of the greatest lacrosse clubs in the world, battling for a championship. However, if Canada's national game is to secure a foothold in Victoria, such incipient riots as marked Saturday's struggle must be eliminated. Nothing will harm the game more than a crowd of fighting players. On Saturday there was no cause for such an ending. Timekeeper McMurphy, of the Westminster club, should be censured by the league for his conduct, and if necessary President Kellington should appoint the timekeepers himself in order that there shall be no misunderstandings as to the time a player has served on the bench. The B. C. L. A. can make quite a few changes to its constitution which would benefit the clubs concerned and at the same time place the game on a higher footing.

Better Accommodation Needed at Oak Bay Park.
Before Owner Virtue, of the Victoria Lacrosse Club, asks Victoria enthusiasts to turn out for another match at Oak Bay, he should make arrangements for the proper handling of the crowd. Scores were unable to reach their seats Saturday because the ushers were unfamiliar with the seating plan. Then again, the present stand will never do. A temporary bleacher would serve the purpose for this year, but when the Victoria club gets into action next year, a proper grand stand is what will be needed. Another entrance for the boxes, together with a second exit, would facilitate the removal of the crowd from the grounds and would be greatly appreciated. Of course Saturday's game, being the first of the season, could not have been perfect, but the above are faults that can easily be remedied and which will greatly help towards popularizing lacrosse in the Capital.

Bees Secure Toner for Slim Smith.
Experience was what Mike Lynch figured he needed on his twirling stand when he traded Slim Smith for Red Foner, and from the present gait at which Smith is travelling the trade looks a good one. Smith started off the season like a world-beater and downed Seattle twice in the opening week. He ran into a lot of hard luck lately, and could not win a game, but at that was rated a really good slab artist. Toner has been with the Spokane club for some time, and while never particularly effective against the Bees, is the possessor of a lot of stuff, and what is more, can go out and work three games a week without feeling the effects of such hard work. Kandlehner came back strong yesterday against Spokane and with Boatman also on the job, the Bees look a lot better than when they took the road. A suggestion to switch Charlie Swain to first base and leave Albert in right field looks good, for Swain should make a fine first sacker. However, Brooks will be back in a couple of weeks, which will enable the Bees to send out their strongest team of the year, one that should soon climb to the top.

CONDON ACCEPTS WELSH'S TERMS

Bayley Has Two Bouts on His Hands This Week; Meets Vaise To-morrow

According to a wire from Vancouver, Morris Condon has accepted Freddie Welsh's latest proposition for a bout with the Canadian champion the last week in August at the Brighouse Station Arena. Welsh is willing to split the purse sixty per cent. to the winner, and forty per cent. to the loser. He is also willing to back himself to the extent of $2,500 against $1,500 of Bayley's coin. All that now remains is for the principals to sign articles as Welsh is willing to make 133 ringide for the Canadian champion.

Quite a number of Victoria fans will go over to Vancouver for Bayley's bout with Freddie Vaise to-morrow at the Brighouse Arena. The champion is looked to win inside the limit, but the articles call for a fifteen round bout, with two splendid preliminaries in which the Barrieau boys will appear. This match is the sequel to the four round draw which Bayley and Vaise boxed at Seattle last March. Bayley is confident that he can defeat Vaise, but the Ontario product looks a tough customer, and the champion will have to hustle all the way to win. Bayley meets Clarence Rothus over the fifteen round route on July 4 at Port Angeles, and a special bout will be run from Victoria for the event.

Rothus is the self same boy who put Scotty McKay away in one of the J. B. A. A. tournaments here last winter, and Bayley will have to show his best form to win. Coming three days after the Bayley bout with Vaise, many of the dopsters give Rothus a chance to win. Cyclone Scott and Bob Brackett will appear in a six round preliminary.

Peddie Welsh will be tackled later in the month, and Morris Condon calls his protegee to win all three bouts. Should Bayley score a clean-up, steps will then be taken to secure a match between the Canadian champion and Bud Anderson, the Bedford light-weight, who is seeking Willie Ritchie's scalp.

HIGH SCORES BY OLD COUNTRY CLUBS

London, June 30.—Following are the results of county cricket matches started Thursday. At Worcester, the home team scored an easy victory over Somersetshire by eight wickets. Somersetshire, played a magnificent innings, of 257—not out. This is the highest individual score of the season. The best performances for Worcestershire, were made by Chester and Pearson (F.), who contributed 115 and 71, not out, respectively. Kent are still going strongly, defeating Hampshire by an innings and 75 runs at Portsmouth. Three fine innings were made for Kent, by Harding, Seymour (James) and Woolley (F. E.), who contributed 163, 124 and 106, respectively. The other three matches were drawn. In their match with Northampton, Yorkshire made 110, and for Northampton W. H. Denton, 52, and S. G. Smith, 102, were the principal scorers. Hayward (T.), Surrey, is the second batsman to have completed his hundredth century, he having made 129 against Lancashire at the Oval. The only other cricketer to have achieved this feat is Dr. W. G. Grace. "The grand old man of cricket," who made less than 128 centuries.

For Lancashire, the Tydesley Brothers played notable innings. J. T. Tydesley scored 210, and E. Tydesley, 110. At Brighton, in the Sussex-Nottinghamshire match, Gunn (J.) scored 110, and Lee (C. M.), 180 for the latter.

EXCELLENT SCORES IN SATURDAY'S CRICKET

Saturday was a big day for the local cricketers. The exceptionally fine weather was a big change from the previous week and nearly all of the local clubs had teams in action. Some splendid scores were run up and the bowling was also of the highest order. Cricket is enjoying a big boom in the capital since the visit of the Australian eleven and the Old Country game appears due for increased interest. Saturday's team scores were as follows:

Victoria "A," 4 wickets, 184; University School, all out, 140.
Oak Bay, 177; Albion, 112.
Men's Own, first innings, 105; Garrison, first innings, 69; Garrison, second innings, 44.
Oak Bay "B," 188; Saanich, 119.
Rainbow, first innings, 84; Rainbow, second innings, 39; Dockyard, first innings, 47; Dockyard, second innings, 45.
Notes of the Omease.

In the Victoria "A" vs. University School match, the Victoria team lost but four wickets. Scott, with 79 being high bat for the day, Tallow and Findlayson scored well for the scholars.

Scarfe, of the Men's Own Club, hit for 54 in the match with the Garrison team at Work Point grounds. Scarfe's bowling was also a feature of this contest.

Sales was the chief obstacle that the Dockyard eleven could not overcome in their match with the Rainbow team on Saturday, their player hitting for 34 while he took 11 wickets for a total of 40 runs, an average of slightly over four to a wicket. This is a remarkable performance in any company.

Gregson, of Oak Bay, put on 55 against the Albions, as well as making a couple of catches in the field. Gardner and Spain also batted well for the Oak Bay eleven.

Three Lea brothers played for the Men's Own club which defeated the Garrison team on Saturday. All three are splendid cricketers and can take their turn at bowling.

Schwengers hit the half century for Oak Bay "B" on Saturday, his hitting and that of Grant, of the Saanich eleven, featuring this match. The rest of the scores, with the exception of Orr's 22, were very low.

AMATEURS BEATEN BY V. A. C. TWELVE

Vancouver, June 30.—Even the presence of the veteran Sam Lorimer on the Victoria attack could not prevent the Vancouver Athletic Club twelve from walking all over the Islanders in Saturday's amateur game here. The final score being eighteen to two. Better combination, together with a machine-like goal-getting system tells the tale of the downfall of the blue and white club. Crookall and Davis starred for the locals, while Petticrew was the pick of the visitors.

Goal summary—First quarter: 1, Vancouver, Crookall, 1.59; 2, Vancouver, McLaren, 19.30; 3, Vancouver, Crookall, 26.2. Second quarter: 4, Vancouver, Davis, 2.05; 5, Vancouver, Davis, 2.33; 6, Victoria, Petticrew, 1.23; 7, Vancouver, Crookall, 12.24; 8, Vancouver, Crookall, 14.4. Third quarter: 9, Vancouver, Crookall, 6.50; 10, Vancouver, Davis, 3.40; 11, Vancouver, Gunn, 15; 12, Vancouver, Crookall, 3.53; 13, Vancouver, Peacock, 40; 14, Vancouver, Crookall, 2.37; 15, Vancouver, McLaren, 27; 16, Victoria, Petticrew, 40. BREAKS WORLD'S MARK.

Cardiff, Wales, June 30.—W. F. Applegarth, of the Polytechnic Harriers, made a world's record by running 150 yards in 14.2-5 seconds at the Shorts here. He also tied the British record of 9.4-5 seconds for the 100 yards. Applegarth ran third in the final of 200 metres at the Olympic games. The 150-yard world's record of 14.4-5 seconds made by C. G. Wood, of England, has stood since July 21, 1887.

Henley-on-the-Thames, June 30.—At the regatta draw Saturday afternoon the Argonaut Rowing Club eight were drawn against Leander in the first heat of the Grand Challenge cup. The Argonaut four will meet the Mainfron four of Germany in the first heat of the Stewards' cup. Butler is drawn against Wise, of London, in the first heat of the Diamond Sculls.

JOHNSON TO FIGHT.

Paris, June 30.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, who plans to sail from Montreal for Havana a fugitive from justice, has signed for a fight here next Saturday. The negro has attacked his signature to an agreement to meet the winner of the bout between Bombardier Wells and George Carpenter.

GOOD SCORING BY CIVILIAN MARKSMEN

Despite the high winds, some excellent scores were made by the civilian Rifle Club at Clover Point range on Saturday afternoon. R. W. Fox and S. Williams made the remarkably high scores of 101 and 100 respectively out of the possible 105. This is considered a most excellent performance, and showed splendid judgment in figuring out the changeable winds. Mr. Williams getting the possible at 500 yards. In Mr. Fox's last six shoots over the short ranges, his aggregate has been 622 points out of a possible 630, a record unequalled in this province.

In B class H. Hicks won the silver button with a score of 88, and C class G. Leslie took the bronze button with a well made score of 90.

AS SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

Toner says that he will prove a consistent winner for the Bees.

Vancouver is having a hard time winning a couple of games from Nick Williams' Club.

Fullerton hurried a grand article of ball for the Seattle Club when he held Tacoma to five singles on Saturday.

Slim Smith ought to do well for the Indians, but he will not have the same healthy batting behind him from now on.

Narveon and Kantlehner are the only ones of the original Bee pitching staff to remain with the club.

Jimmy Clarke is having a lot of tough luck. He heaved a four hit contest on Saturday, and was beaten by Martini, who allowed but five hits.

Mike Lynch is sending the Bees out to run the bases at every opportunity and incidentally is grabbing off a couple of steals himself.

Johnny Rawlings is just about the best little second sacker in the league right now.

Bert Lamb's return to third base will strengthen the Bees' defence, though Alberts has been doing pretty well for a pitcher.

Some of the local fans would like to see Charlie Swain given a try at first base. He should make good at that station, being fast and a fair infielder.

Toner has been beaten about five times by the Bees this season, yet Mike Lynch sincerely believes that he will bolster up the Bees' hurling staff.

Bob Ingersoll is Bob Brown's best bet as a winner, though Hall and Schmutz have better percentages to date.

Tacoma made a good start against the Bees, only to fall away badly. With Portland winning, Vancouver dropped far behind.

Danny Shea had four hits on Saturday, and is again climbing towards the 300 column, though he is working every day behind the bat.

Joe McGinnity wants to get Mike Donlin and put the ex-Giant in charge of the Spokane Club.

Cy Neighbors will not be able to get in the game for a while, but when he is back Tacoma's outfield will be O. K.

Silva is having as much trouble filling short acceptably as Spokane is. Now that Waffel is back in Spokane, Tacoma might get Harblson.

SPORTS AT SIDNEY.

To-morrow, Dominion Day, a good programme of sports have been arranged for Sidney. A baseball game between Sidney and North Ward of this city will be held at 2 o'clock, and a lacrosse game between the Sidney twelve and Sam Lorimer's local Victoria team has been arranged to take place. It is expected that a large crowd will turn out in the little city, and a good crowd is expected out from Victoria.

STOPPED BOAT.

Tacoma, June 28.—The Pierce County authorities have put the ban on the ten-round lightweight boxing match scheduled for July 4 between Joe Bonds, Tacoma, and Frank Farmer.

See Cuming's Window for Free Hats, 727 Yates Street.

TIGERS HERE FOR A SPLIT SERIES

Game Will Start at 6.10 To- night; How the Bees Are Batting

Victoria and Tacoma clash to-night at 6.10 at the Royal Athletic park, and from the present clip that the Bees are travelling at the local pace to clean up the series with the McKinstry clan. The Victoria team arrived on the Seattle boat and Mike Lynch is highly pleased with the showing they made on the road. They lost a couple of games at Vancouver, but beat Seattle a week ago and won four out of six games at Spokane. Lynch expects Red Toner to prove a consistent winner, while in Boston he thinks he has a prize youngster. There will be two games to-morrow, starting at 10.55 a. m. and 2.30 p. m., and on Wednesday the teams will play at 6.10.

Great Slugging.

That the Bees are the greatest slugging aggregation ever gathered together in the Northwestern may be judged by a glimpse over the league batting averages, just compiled. Harry Meek leads with .401, while no less than seven of the Victoria team are hitting over the .300 mark. The averages are as follows:

	A. B.	R.	H.	Ave.
McVoy, Seattle	24	4	10	.416
Meek, Victoria	182	34	72	.401

Bobby Steele twirled a one-hit game at Edmonton last Tuesday, winning his ninth straight and fourteenth of the season.

MANY ATHLETIC MEETS TO-MORROW

Chas. E. Holway, coach of the Olympic Club track team has written Hal Beasley, asking for information concerning the track meets to be held in Victoria and Vancouver next month. Holway is willing to bring a team north, provided their expenses are paid, and says that he can secure the following track stars: Geo. Horine, Ralph Ross, Nelson, Ylught, Benson, Millard, Rice, Smediga, and Morris. The matter will be placed in the hands of the Summer Carnival sports committee.

To-morrow will be a big day for local athletes. The Scotch sports at the Willows will attract a grand gathering of sprinters and hurdlers, while the Catholic picnic at the Uplands will also draw a crowd.

TENNIS FINALS.

Messrs. Pollok and McCallum meet this afternoon at the Victoria Tennis Club's courts in the finals for the singles, in the handicap tournament. Several semi-final matches will be played, the draw being:

5 o'clock—Pollok vs. McCallum.
5 o'clock—Seattle vs. winner of Milligan and Robertson; Harrison and Miss McDiarmid vs. Mr. and Mrs. Bridgewater.

ARGOS CHANGE CREW.

Henley-on-Thames, June 30.—The Argonaut eight, who meet Leander next Thursday in the first heat of the Grand Challenge event, will row Wikson in place of Rice. If the Argonauts win from the Leander Rowing Club, their next race will be with the Thames Rowing Club. This morning Wright gave his men detail work, the eight having short bursts, rowing with the Kingston eight. Butler went over the course at a strong clip, and the four had a brief outburst for practicing shortly.

MAY COND RIVERS.

San Francisco, June 30.—A repetition of the famous Jim Jeffries-Billy Delaney quarrel, which led to the appearance in Jack Johnson's corner at Reno as much to do with Jeffries' defeat as anything else, is likely to result from the split between Billy Nolan and Willie Ritchie. Nolan has received a handsome offer to second Joe Rivers and probably will accept.

BOXERS BARRED.

Edmonton, Alta., June 29.—There will be no more professional boxing contests in Alberta, according to the order that was handed out by the attorney-general's department yesterday. A 15-round contest for Dominion Day was scheduled between Eddie Frank, of Edmonton, and Joe Harris, late of England, and it has been extensively advertised, but it will not take place.

BROOMSTICK WINS.

New York, N. Y., June 30.—Whisk-broom II, the big chestnut son of Broomstick-Audience, is the most talked-of horse in America. Carrying the crushing impost of 139 pounds, Harry Payne Whitney's six-year-old horse, piloted by Jockey Notter, won the Suburban Handicap at one mile and a quarter over the Belmont Park track Saturday afternoon and established a new world's record of 2 minutes for the distance. A length away, John Talbot's Clahor was second, five lengths in front of R. F. Carman's Meridian, which finished third.

CANADIAN WINS.

London, June 30.—Miss Mona Dunn, the juvenile horsewoman from Canada, won the Ottawa cup yesterday at the International horse show at the Olympia.

THE SEASIDE NOVEL.

At the seaside circulating library: The Lady (graciously): "I am afraid the book is a little damaged. My little boy dropped it into a pool of seawater."

The Library Proprietor: "Oh, that doesn't matter, madam. The ladies all cry over it, and one man more or less does not signify."—Manchester Guardian.

A BELL FOR THE AUCTIONEER.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian tells of an incident which came under his notice lately in a Manchester auction room. "The piece was an antique cabinet. Bidding was brisk until eleven and a half guineas had been reached. Then there was a long pause during which the auctioneer could not notice another bid. At last a wiry little man near me, who all along had been keenly interested in the sale, said '12'. The cabinet was knocked down to him. I wonder whether it was guile on the wiry one's part, or

POLYGLOT CABBIERS OF PARIS.

At the Hotel de Ville the other day was held the annual examination of drivers of taxis and fiacres who have taken a course in foreign languages. Of twelve examinees, seven passed, and received the authorization to wear the badge which indicates their ability to speak one or more of these four languages—English, German, Italian and Spanish. Policemen also of late years have the right to take a course in modern languages, but few of them now avail themselves of it, as they have discovered that he who increases knowledge does not thereby increase his pay.

One of the successful candidates in M. Husnat, a cabbie of over sixty, who obtained diplomas both in English and German. When reminded that he had now the qualifications which are demanded of the candidate for the "baccalaureat," M. Husnat replied that he was already a bachelor of letters, having taken his degree in classics forty years before, with the intention, since abandoned, of entering the priesthood. "What a quantity!" said his interviewer, "and more especially what a quantity of fares you ought to have!" But M. Husnat shook his head sorrowfully. "On the contrary," he said, "it is rather a disadvantage than otherwise. Foreigners, as soon as they find out you speak their language dismiss you; for their Baedeker warns them to beware of those who speak your language in Paris."

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By RUTH CAMERON

"A place for everything and everything in its place," is such a familiar proverb that any suggestion along that line ought to be superfluous.

And yet, although we all know and approve that sentiment, is it in any average household, the average business, the average life carried on in accordance with it? In answer to my plea to my reader friends to form a household efficiency club and send in descriptions of any particular short cut which they followed, one woman wrote me that she found it saved a great deal of time and trouble to have a special place in which to put wrapping paper, paper bags and wire. Of course I was grateful to the lady for sending in that suggestion, but what does it mean? Does it mean that in the home with which she is familiar, there is no such system? Apparently it must, or else she would not contribute it as a short cut.

It sounds like an axiom to say that everyone ought to keep an address book, and yet I have good reason to know that many people do not. Having won a reputation for being systematic in that particular, I do not have in other matters, I am continually besieged by my friends, by letter and telephone, to supply the address of this or that mutual friend.

How many people have a file for unanswered letters, in which letters are placed in the order of their reception and kept until answered? Surely everyone could and should have some simple device for this purpose. And yet it is evident that a great many people do not.

Again, a small drawer or cupboard of some sort, in which all such paraphernalia as stamps, post cards, muddled paste, rubber bands, clips, etc., are kept, is a great time saver, and ought to be a matter of course in every home, but I doubt if it is.

Moreover, it is frequently the case that in homes where such systematic arrangements do exist they are observed by the grown-ups but continually set at naught by the children; and this is accepted as a matter of course by their parents, who rebuke their children when they, themselves, are seriously inconvenienced, but do not definitely and absolutely insist on habits of order.

This is unfair, both to those who have to suffer from the carelessness, and to the children themselves, for there will surely come a day when they will wish they had been made to acquire habits of order at the time when habits are most easily acquired.

For the household, the business or the life in which to have a place for everything and everything in its place has become a fixed and facile habit, will always be more efficient and valuable—other things being equal—than that in which system has no part.

Ruth Cameron WINDOW VENTILATOR

Admits Fresh Air to Room, but Does Not Cause a Draft.

A window ventilator that a handy boy can make for his mother has recently been put on the market. A piece of board about four or five inches wide and as long as the inside of the window is wide, has a rectangular space cut out of its center and this space covered with a wire screen. A tin shield, or roof, is nailed above this screened opening to keep out the rain. This side of the board is turned outward. On the inner side the opening leads into a trough-like attachment that has a lid hinged to it. The air enters through the screen and the trough deflects it toward the ceiling, whence, being colder than the air in the room and therefore heavier, it gently descends, keeping the atmosphere pure and of a pleasant temperature. There is no draft and no obstruction of the light, as the device fits under the window sash.

SPILLED MILK

By GEORGE MATHEW ADAMS

You who read this paper and have stumbled into this little talk, here is a question: Do you believe in Spilled Milk? Spilled milk has come to mean accidents that you couldn't help. It is the unavoidable. Make your spilled milk a source of strength. For if it is spilled—it is spilled. That is the end of the milk. The next move is to hunt up some more milk. There

An Announcement

With the rapid growth of our business and the impossibility to expand at our Government street store we have opened handsome new premises known as the

Bon Ton Bakery and Confectionery

AT 640 YATES STREET, OPPOSITE KING EDWARD HOTEL and FORMERLY KNOWN AS THE CENTRAL BAKERY.

Our new store will be devoted exclusively to bakery goods and confectionery as well as have a thoroughly modern Soda Fountain.

While the words "home-made" are much abused they may be correctly applied to the BON TON for everything will be made by ourselves.

We work under a system of perfect sanitation. None but the very best ingredients are used. We might also mention that OUR Ice Cream is better because it is the purest that is possible to be made.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

High quality of suspense characterizes the society drama "Red and White Roses" at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday, it exhibits the gradual evolution and revelation of dual personality in the leading character. "Red Rose" is an adventuress, who is employed by a villainous politician to entangle a rival candidate in a scandal that shall cause the rival's wife, the "White Rose" to leave him on the verge of election. The adventuress does her work for pay and succeeds so well that the vacillating husband of White Rose falls into the net she spreads for him and loses the election. "Wanted

ARTILLERY MEN SHOW PROWESS IN SHOOTING

Fifth Regiment Instructional Firing on Saturday; Competitions To-day and To-morrow

As artillerymen with a record throughout the Dominion, the Fifth Regiment had no intention of losing its high laurels at camp this year, and those who were present at Macaulay camp on Saturday afternoon were well rewarded for their visit. Civilians were not admitted to the purview of the fort proper, but in the field gun exercises of No. 2 company they could be near enough to appreciate every movement, and to see the splash and puff of smoke as the shots found their grave at the target.

No. 2 company's instructional practice at the fort with the six-inch guns was remarkably successful in spite of the rough sea which caused the target to afford a very variable mark for the gunners. Upwards from 4,200 yards the marksmen recorded 29 hits for the 30 rounds fired, which is a splendid result when conditions of sea and wind are considered. The firing of No. 2 company with shrapnel first, under Major Harris' direction and subsequently under Capt Stern and Lieut. J. G. Smith, was also exceptionally useful to the men. They were firing from 2,500 yards upwards, and for rapid and prompt action merited considerable praise. Three series were fired, No. 1 company also fired a series at Esquimalt.

Yesterday there was a muster parade at 11.30. It has been arranged that the annual competitive firing practice shall take place to-day and Tuesday. To-night No. 2 company will put in its test on the 12-pound field guns at 8.30 p.m. and at 7 o'clock No. 1 company will test out the 12 pounders, while on Tuesday morning at 9 No. 2 company will utilize the six-inch guns.

As soon as No. 3 company has completed the test, it will be dispatched forward to take part in the manoeuvres, and it is hoped that parts of the other companies will be sufficiently advanced with their work to take part in the field events during part of Tuesday. They will report to Lieut. Colonel Hall, and with the field guns take part in the defence with the Blue force.

Lieut. Col. Currie has been the recipient of many warm expressions on the showing in camp this year, and the excellent marksmanship of the company with their respective branches, and while circumstances were against No. 2 company during the general's visit, there is no doubt that General Hamilton carried away a high opinion of the local corps.

Probably the postponed sports will take place on Tuesday, although no final arrangements to that end have been made. As, however, the time in camp is short, business must come before pleasure, particularly as the circumstances which delayed events last week have further cut down the available time at the disposal of the officers for the necessary routine.

OPEN NEW HOME.

Young Women's Christian Association Has Quarters Ready for Public To-morrow.

The new home of the Young Women's Christian Association in the former quarters of the Union club, Douglas street, will be opened to the public to-morrow, Dominion Day. The furnishings are not complete but are sufficient to allow for the opening of the building. Mrs. R. T. Elliott, Mrs. Luke Plither, Mrs. Henry Croft, Mrs. O. F. Bailey, Mrs. David Spencer, Mrs. Otto Weller, and Mrs. Horace Knott have decided to furnish bedrooms for the association. The Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter has agreed to have the library in readiness for to-morrow's opening, while Mr. Waterman, of Weller Brothers, has furnished the secretary's room. Many applications for rooms in the re-modelled building have been received, principally from young lady school teachers who intend coming to this city in connection with the Strathcona Trust. A recital of the music pupils of Miss Ada Saunders is being held in the Assembly room to-day.

RECEIVED VISITORS IN CAMP YESTERDAY

Sunday Was Quiet Day at Sidney; Church Parade in Morning

Yesterday was a light day in camp at Sidney. Except for the divine service at headquarters, the men were allowed to put in the day much as they chose. There were special trains and other means of reaching the camp and a great many visitors attended to witness the events of the day, particularly a baseball game between the Sidney nine and a regimental team from the 104th Fusiliers. This exciting encounter took place on the athletic grounds and was watched by numerous representatives of the various regiments and friends.

At the morning service, at which Rev. J. S. Henderson, chaplain of the 104th regiment officiated, the men were assembled in a hollow square around the headquarters flag, and the chaplain delivered a brief address.

The location of the camp being close to the beach, the chilly waters did not deter a number of the men from swimming, and bathing in the surf. Although rain fell in the afternoon, it did not prevent the men enjoying themselves, and the little town had quite a military air with the blue, red and khaki uniforms of the officers and men. The men were seated as much as possible for the events to follow, in which heavy marching would be required during the two days' manoeuvres.

On Saturday afternoon a miscellaneous programme of camp sports was carried through after the morning had been spent in regimental drills. Jack Hout, of the 104th regiment, a famous athlete on the mainland, was prominent among the prizewinners. During the morning Capt. C. F. de Salls completed the final part of his examination for promotion to a majority, by handling a battalion in the field, while Capt. Godson Godson, Adj. of Seaforth Highlanders, and Capt. W. V. Longstaffe, of the Corps of Guides, were also examined for similar promotion. Another board also sat for the examination of non-commissioned officers.

THREATEN BOYCOTT OF CANADIAN GOODS

Hindus Pass Resolutions at Sunday Mass Meeting; Object to Humphrey Bill

Feeling that stronger measures are required to call the attention of the Canadian people to the discrimination under which they labor—the passage of resolutions which reach the waste paper baskets of government bureaus, and the chilly reception given 15 delegations at Ottawa by ministers, the Hindus in this country, have decided to recommend a boycott of Canadian goods and institutions to their fellow-countrymen in India.

At a mass meeting held at the Sikh Temple yesterday afternoon, which was attended by the Hindus and by a number of white sympathizers, a resolution embodying the idea of a commercial boycott against Canadian imports was adopted, speakers making reference to the Canadian missionaries, life and other insurance offices, and similar Dominion institutions enjoying the benefit of protection by the Indian government in the operation of their undertakings. Copies of the resolution will be forwarded to official and other quarters to notify the authorities of the attitude adopted.

Another very important subject engaged the attention of the Hindus that being the Humphrey bill to exclude Hindu settlers from the United States.

Representative Humphrey, one of the members of congress from Washington state has moved for the passage of a measure designed to be an exclusive act that operating against Chinese in the republic. He claims they are as objectionable as the Celestials. This bill has stirred the Hindus to action, and the resolution was adopted at the meeting to ask the British ambassador at Washington through the secretary of state for India to oppose through diplomatic channels the passage of the measure.

The principal speakers were Bhagwan Singh of Vancouver and Bharat Singh Akali of Victoria while Dr. Sunda Singh and R. W. Clark were among others who addressed the gathering.

In order that the resolution may have the full force of support from the Hindus in British Columbia a meeting is to be held in Vancouver to-night to adopt a similar course in approaching the British Ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring Rice. The resolution adopted on this subject yesterday will be sent also to the viceroy of India for consideration by the Indian government.

YUAN SHI KAI TALKS.

Declares That Washington, Not Napoleon, is His Model.

Peking, June 28.—T. P. Millard, editor of The China Press, has with great dispatch secured a long interview with President Yuan Shih Kai, in his residence in the imperial city beyond the Lotus Pond. Some of the things which the Chinaman imparted to the journalist are set forth below, fresh from Mr. Millard's questions and characterizations.

"Now that the people have decided upon a republic, we should give it a fair trial. It would be foolish to think of reverting to another form of government before doing our utmost to make the republic a success.

"Since I embraced the republic I have worked to make it a success. It has been in danger of disruption, the danger, I repeat, springing from me, but from those who would plunge the nation into civil war.

"I have taken Washington, not Napoleon, as my model. Who is the most admired figure in history? Is it Napoleon or any king or emperor? No. It is Washington. What did Napoleon leave? A torn and exhausted country. What did Washington create? A great and free nation. Why should I want to be a Napoleon when I might become another Washington?

"It is necessary to reorganize the revenue system and the methods of taxation; also the currency. These reforms are necessary to make others feasible. Productive enterprises should be encouraged, and the resources of the country developed, so that the people may become prosperous. Prosperity of the people is the true foundation of stable government.

"The dissatisfied politicians are of two classes; those who are dissatisfied with the rewards and offices they have received under the Government, and those who so far have had no rewards and offices, and hope to get them by a change. Their efforts are entirely destructive.

"Until it is capable of giving intelligent help, the government must continue to function without it. The republic has now been recognized by the United States and other republican nations as a stable government, and it cannot fail to fulfill its position. I, as president, would not do my duty if I would permit the government to become the sport of rebellious factions. I hope the assembly will settle down and assist me in establishing the government on a firm constitutional basis. It is one thing to criticise officials at long range and quite another to deal with the actual problems of government.

"There are really no serious differences between North and South. These differences are the inventions of designing politicians. The interests of all parts of the country are one, and all sectional jealousy should be sunk in the effort to consolidate the nation. Opinions may differ, but the will of the majority should be respected; and until the will of the majority has been ascertained and a way to express it in legislation has been put into effect, the government has no course but to act as seems to it wise and just. The government cannot accept the lurid fulminations of politicians as the will of the people. To do so would lead to chaos.

GROOVES OF RELIGION.

Bishop of London Says They Are Too Set and Common.

London, June 28.—The Bishop of London hit off what many persons are thinking at his recent Diocesan Conference when he maintained that the Church of England was too much in a groove with regard to her services. He said, among other things: "We get tied down too much to day is a blessed rule, and binds us by gold links about the feet of God; but in our evangelistic efforts to win a great population to God we were never meant to be confined to Matins and Evensong."

"The great majority of the four millions in the diocese are not ready for them, and we must bring home to them the old historic faith with the inventive genius which the Holy Spirit will give us in a thousand ways."

"Every clergyman who visits much among the poor must be familiar with one reason for chapel-going—I can't understand the Prayer-book," writes a curate to The Guardian. "It may seem strange, but I venture to say that the Church's explanations of her service are largely the cause of this difficulty."

The greatest battle of modern times, judged by the number of lives lost, was the battle of Mukden in the Russo-Japanese war. It lasted from February 24th to March 10th, 1905. Fully 250,000 Russians and 400,000 Japanese took part. Approximately 125,000 of the former and 50,000 of the latter were killed.

A Comparison

Is all you need to reach a decision. Lots of good folks say they don't like Soda Water. That's before they try Ivel's. There's a difference not apparent until you compare the ordinary with ours. Then you know why you thought you didn't care for Soda.

Our famous Ice Cream helps to make our Sundaes delicious. Nut Salad-Sundae is new and getting very popular. Mexican Special Sundae is a decided difference. Fancy and long, cool drinks that touch the spot.

NOXIOUS WEEDS.

To the Editor:—I would be obliged if you would kindly allow me, through the medium of your paper, to call the attention of farmers throughout the province to the necessity of conducting a vigorous campaign against the spread of noxious weeds in the province. This constitutes a grave menace to the development of agriculture, and it is very essential that a determined effort be made at the present time to combat the evil before it gets too big to handle.

The following course of treatment which should be pursued for the eradication of Canada thistle is recommended by the weed commissioner's branch of the federal department of agriculture:—Remedy.—Being a deep rooted perennial, Canada thistle should be ploughed deep in summer just as the flowers open, or the flowering stems may be moved down and the land ploughed as soon as the new growth appears. As new stems are thrown up they must be cut off with a broad sheared cultivator, at intervals during the summer and autumn. Deep ploughing in the autumn has been found useful in suppressing thistles in Manitoba.

The chief safeguard against Canada thistle and similar deep-rooted perennials, is undoubtedly a regular short rotation of crops with thorough cultivation. A three year rotation including two cuttings of early red clover for the first year, followed by deep fall ploughing for hood crops, with clean cultivation and a cereal crop for the third will suppress it. For permanent pastures and wild lands where this course of treatment is not feasible, a plan which is followed by many with great success is to keep the plants cut off right at the crown and never allow them to flower. This course, if pursued faithfully, will in a few years' time destroy this pest.

ROAD BOSSES AND SETTLERS.

To the Editor:—I am writing in behalf of some of the settlers in this community who, it seems to me, are unjustly dealt with. In fact there is gross discrimination on the part of the district bosses against any person or persons who happen to differ as to political opinions with those who at present hold the balance of power.

To make the situation more clear, this district, as is probably well known, was thrown open a few years ago to pre-emption settlers under very reasonable terms from the Dominion government, and against which there would be very little room for complaint were the government policy allowed to be carried out. One of the conditions, as I understand them, is that a settler must live on a pre-emption two years if a British subject, and that he is allowed to be absent two consecutive months at any time without any permission, and an additional grant of four months is to be had by getting permission from the district and office.

hearted ask you this:—How is a man or any number of men, who are ordinary, every-day, peaceable men, to maintain themselves and acquire papers of citizenship and crown-grant their pre-emptions and otherwise live up to the Dominion laws? How are they to accomplish this almost impossible feat if this petty political persecution is allowed to be carried on against them? One man, who happens to have a difference of political opinion, was dismissed from his labors here in face of the fact that the man who dismissed him admitted before witnesses that he had no fault to find with the way the man did his work, but that he took exception to the way this man managed his affairs, which were undoubtedly private affairs and therefore concerned no one but himself.

This man, who supported it seems by his political godfathers, dares anything from open discrimination and nationality job-hogging to defamations of women in order to serve his own ends, that of making secure his seat on the neck of a long-suffering people, and the ends of his masters; that of subserving Dominion laws and making of "British fair play" a jest and by-word. The man in question who was unjustly dismissed belongs to one of the oldest families in eastern Canada.

Now there is a maxim which says very truthfully that "a little authority is a dangerous thing," and another not very ancient saying which tells us that "all politicians die of one disease—being found out," and I beg you give this thing publicity through your columns as a lover of fair play, and as a just man, or just a man, which amounts to the same thing, use your influence and turn the white light of publicity on this dark political hell-broth and stir it to its slimy bottom; that the ends of justice may be served and this yoke of petty tyranny be lifted from the neck of a hard-working, peaceable and long-suffering community, and they be allowed to live their lives in peace and not in pieces.

GEAR WENT WRONG.

Motorist Thrown Out When Car Swerves—Is Doing Well at Hospital.

George Redknapp was seriously injured on Saturday evening when his motor car dashed into the curb on Finlayson avenue and threw him out. He was rendered unconscious and lay for some time until another motor car came along, the driver of which took him to St. Joseph's hospital.

It was found that he had been cut about the head and had lost a great deal of blood, but no bones were broken. This morning at the hospital it was reported that he was doing well and would be out in a day or two.

Mr. Redknapp was proceeding west on Finlayson avenue at a good speed when something went wrong with the steering gear of his car and it swerved sharply. It turned over completely and Mr. Redknapp was thrown out, but fortunately was clear of the car when it came down. The car suffered considerable damage.

BOTH GAINED.

Man and Wife Fatten on Grape-Nuts.

The notion that meat is necessary for real strength and the foundation of solid flesh is now no longer as prevalent as formerly.

Excessive meat eaters are usually sluggish a part of the time because they are not able to fully digest their food, and the undigested portion is changed into what is practically a kind of poison that acts upon the blood and nerves, thus getting all through the system.

"I was a heavy meat eater," writes a Western man, "and up to two years ago, was in very poor health. I suffered with indigestion so that I only weighed 95 pounds.

"Then I heard about Grape-Nuts food and decided to try it. My wife laughed at me at first, but when I gained to 125 pounds and felt so fine, she thought she would eat Grape-Nuts too. Now she is fat and well and has gained 40 pounds. We never have indigestion any more and seldom feel the desire for meat.

"A neighbor of ours, 63 years old, was troubled with indigestion for years, and was a heavy meat eater. Now since he has been eating Grape-Nuts regularly, he says he is well and never has indigestion.

I could name a lot of persons who have rid themselves of indigestion by changing from a heavy meat diet to Grape-Nuts. There's a Reason. Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pages.

Corner Government and Broughton Streets
VICTORIA, B. C., June 20, 1913.

Mr. Maybe A. Buyer,
Victoria, B. C.

Dear Mr. Buyer:

Another trip up to the property has gone and come back with the same old tale of pleased investors, delighted prospects and enthusiastic appreciation. One of our excursionists this time was a Mr. Sarvis, of Manitoba. He was so greatly pleased with the place that he put in his application for four lots, and intends to make it his home in the future, with a number of his friends. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Martin, of Calgary, were also on this trip. They had already bought, but after visiting the property, they put in their application for another lot. With us also on this trip was Mr. A. Francis Nichol, of 525 Pender Street West, Vancouver. Mr. Nichol is a well-known Vancouver real estate man, and a brother of the head of the C. P. R. Land Department, of Vancouver. Mr. Nichol had put in his application for a lot some time ago. His faith in the proposition had become shaken through the ignorant remarks of prejudiced people. He comes back one of the wildest enthusiasts the writer has yet seen, and he authorizes us to refer anybody to him on any aspect of the proposition. He is for it from start to finish, first, last and all the time.

The party again went up Nitinat Lake, and everybody agreed that it is one of the most valuable adjuncts of the proposition.

The weather was glorious; the sun shining all the time, and it being so calm that the Enilada anchored off the property day and night. She did not even take the trouble to run into Clo-oose Harbor.

Everybody went in swimming, and voted the experience of surf bathing off those wonderful beaches and in that clear, crystal, salty water of the Pacific, as a most exhilarating experience. Mr. Theodore M. Knappen testifies that he never took a bath that had the beneficial reactive effects that were experienced in the surf of "Canada's Greatest Pleasure Resort."

Incidentally, it may interest you to know that, after thorough investigation of our proposition, which included a very careful study of the property and a thorough examination of the whole subject of Summer Resorts, Mr. Theodore M. Knappen has decided to associate himself with the West Coast Development Company, and will become actively interested in the management of the Company from this time forward. Undoubtedly, his connection with the Company will add a great deal of strength and prestige to its management.

Mr. Knappen made his debut into the immigration and development field of Western Canada in 1903, as Secretary, Manager and Organizer of the Western Canada Immigration Association, which was so largely instrumental in turning the American Immigration movement into Canada. After resigning from that association, Mr. Knappen devoted himself exclusively to the land and colonization business, chiefly in Canada, and the natural evolution of his career brought him to British Columbia two years ago to become Manager of the Coquitlam Terminal Company, Limited, of Vancouver, from which he recently resigned. When Mr. Knappen entered the employ of the Coquitlam Terminal Company, he evoked a great deal of adverse criticism from his friends by staking his personal reputation on that then new and unknown undertaking. Coquitlam has justified Mr. Knappen's confidence, and stands to-day as one of the most solid and genuine developmental enterprises undertaken in British Columbia in recent years. It has earned a reputation for making good.

Mr. Knappen expresses absolute confidence that the West Coast Development Company will similarly justify itself and its ambitious plan for the building up of a seaside Summer residence city on the South Coast of Vancouver Island.

What particularly roused Mr. Knappen's interest in this work of giving Canada a seaside community, comparable—though, perhaps, on a smaller scale—to some of the great seaside communities in the States, was the solid constructive phase of the plan. He believes that the time has gone by in Canada when people can be interested in mere lot-selling schemes that depend for their financial success, very largely, upon the appeal to the gambling instinct of the average man, rather than to the investing and building instinct. It appealed to his conservative ideas to find that the West Coast Development Company was devoting by far the greater part of its revenue to the installation of improvements on the property, every dollar of which so spent tends to give solid and lasting value and utility, so that in a sense, the enterprise is a co-operation between the Company and its patrons.

Mr. Knappen believes that within a few years the new seaside community will have become one of the famous places of Canada, and that no tourist coming to the North Pacific Coast will think of returning to his home without a visit to it, and that it will be the regular or transient home of thousands of people.

We would also mention that the opportunity to buy at the PRESENT prices will not last much longer. Prices are: $100, $150 and $250, upon terms of 10 per cent. with application, $15 upon delivery of contract, and $15 per month thereafter until paid for.

Yours faithfully,

Pillory Was Abolished 75 Years Ago To-day.

There are aged people now living who can recall the "good old times" when the pillory, as a mode of punishment, was still in use, for that barbarous device was abolished in England by an act of parliament that became effective 75 years ago to-day, June 30, 1837. In the United States the pillory was cast into the discard at about the same time, except in the state of Delaware.

Although long used by most of the countries of Europe, and in America, the pillory is supposed to have been an invention of the Anglo-Saxons. The pillory consisted of a wooden frame or scaffold, furnished with movable boards, resembling those of the stocks, and holes through which the offender's head and hands were put. In this ignominious position he was exposed for a specified time to public view and insult. In some cases the nose was slit, the face branded with one or more letters, and one or both ears were cut off. Many victims died in the pillory by being struck with stones by the mob, and it was the pleasant custom to pelt all persons in the pillory with putrid offal, rotten eggs and stale vegetables.

The punishment of the pillory was inflicted for a wide variety of crimes, including perjury, forgery, libel and the use of unjust weights. Women who departed from the conventional standards of morals were almost universally pilloried, and were subjected to the grossest of insults. In 1815 the pillory was abolished in England except as a punishment for perjury, and in 1837 the inhuman instrument was finally sent to the scrap heap. The last who suffered this punishment was Peter James Bossy, who, on the occasion of perjury, was placed in the pillory at Old Bailey in June, 1839.

In the same year that witnessed the abolition of the pillory, 1837, England put into effect many amendments to the criminal code, by which the death penalty was abolished for all crimes except murder, treason, burglary and complicity with violence to any person, robbery accompanied by any injury done by a weapon, crimes against nature, exhibiting false signals calculated to bring a vessel into danger, burning an inhabited dwelling house and casting away a vessel. This seemed an extraordinarily long list, but it marked a great advance over the former statutes, under which no less than 160 offences were punishable by death. Among crimes that were considered to merit capital punishment at the beginning of the last century were larceny of any amount above two shillings; embezzlement of a master's goods by a servant; burning stacks of hay or corn in the night time; killing domestic animals; breaking away the banks of fish ponds; cutting down bearing trees in an orchard; the malicious tearing or defacing of the garments of a person passing in the streets, all of which, and various other acts of no greater degree of criminality, were punishable by the extreme penalty.

Until within the last century criminal laws in all countries provided penalties that were frankly vengeful as well as designed to be preventive. The death penalty for trivial crimes was usually imposed because of the great prevalence of particular offences in some locality, and, according to the mode of reasoning then in vogue, the frequency of an evil called for increased severity of punishment. Perhaps the same method of reasoning may be responsible for the fact that a Georgia lad of ten years was sent to the reformatory for eleven years on the conviction of stealing a five-cent bottle of soda water—a case that has lately excited comment in the press.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

Joseph Bruce Ismay, survivor of the Titanic disaster, will retire to-day from the position of managing director and chairman of the White Star Line and president of the International Mercantile Marine Company. Actually the change in management took place some time ago, as Ismay, bowed beneath the weight of criticism heaped upon him following the wreck of the Titanic, has for months taken little part in the active direction of the great transatlantic line.

The man who was called upon to choose between life and death, and whose choice of life brought down upon him the execration of millions, including, in all probability, many who would have acted exactly as he did, is fifty years old. He comes of a family long prominent in shipping circles. He married an American woman, Julia Schieffelin, about twenty-five years ago, and has two sons and two daughters. It is stated that he intended to retire to-day, and had announced his intention some months before the Titanic disaster.

During the last year of Ismay's management the dividends paid by the White Star line amounted to only 20 per cent. In 1911 the company paid a dividend of sixty per cent, but the loss of the Titanic and the withdrawal of the Olympic for repairs, together with labor troubles reduced the profits to a mere thirty per cent. on the share capital. At their last meeting the directors passed a resolution in which they referred with regret to Mr. Ismay's impending retirement.

Cardinal James Gibbons, of Baltimore, will celebrate to-day the fifty-second anniversary of his ordination to the Roman Catholic priesthood. The venerable churchman will enter on his eightieth year next month. He was invested with the princely insignia of the Sacred College just twenty-seven years ago to-day, June 20, 1886.

The Cardinal, despite his age, retains a lively interest in all the great problems that confront humanity. He is outspoken in his opposition to socialism and woman suffrage, and equal preference to the advocates of equal political rights as "noisy, clamorous and spectacular."

"When I deprecate female suffrage I am pleading for the dignity of woman," said Cardinal Gibbons not long ago. "I am contending for her honor. I am striving to perpetuate those peerless prerogatives inherent in her sex, those charms and graces which exalt womankind and make her the ornament and coveted companion of man. We must remember that, though woman does not personally vote, she exercises the right of suffrage by proxy. So powerful is the influence which a sensible matron exercises over her husband and sons that they rarely fail to follow her counsel, which comes from inspired rather than labored reasoning."

Viscount Esher, who was one of the principal advisers to Queen Victoria during the latter years of her reign, and later to King Edward VII, was born sixty-one years ago to-day. He was consulted by the late King on nearly every matter of moment, and his advice was usually followed. Lady Esher, who was usually followed. Lady Esher, who was usually followed. Lady Esher, who was usually followed.

in the Moroccan soup without any aid from us."

In the second letter, dated Berlin, July 15, 1911—that is, after the dispatch of the warship to Agadir—the Foreign Secretary writes:—

"Things are fairly lively. I am receiving heaps of cards and letters, sent anonymously or signed by persons unknown to me, accusing me as greatly as Agadir. These amuse me as greatly as Agadir. The lamentations and abuse afterward will be all the greater. I am already looking forward to them. It has never occurred to me to occupy Southern Morocco, for if we did that we should have not only the French but also the English at our throats, and should also be compelled to maintain a considerable force of open arms. Yes, now, when they can use us as a bogey against the French. But the situation would at once change if we wished to occupy the country ourselves. Then we should have the same difficulties as the French, and even greater, for we are further away, and the Berbers in the south are much more warlike than the Arabs in the north."

STUPENDOUS LOCKS.

It is impossible to convey in words anything approaching an adequate conception of the picture which the series of locks, with their massive, towering walls, and their equipment of colossal gates, presents. It defies description, as it does the camera, even in its wonderful modern development, and can be portrayed only by the inspired pencil of a Pennell. It is stupendous, prodigious, overwhelming—even these adjectives are inadequate. As I stood above them recently, I had a strenuous advocate of a sea-level canal. I asked him if he could conceive of a safer plan in which to put a great ship than inside one of the locks, and he replied without hesitation or equivocation that he could not.

When the time comes to operate the canal, this fact will be demonstrated so clearly that all the world will recognize it. Every device that human ingenuity can conceive has been adopted to secure safety for the vessels using the locks. In the first place, no vessel will be permitted to enter or pass through them under its own power. The worst accidents which have occurred in locks hitherto have been due to an engineer in the engine-room misinterpreting a signal from the bridge, either going ahead when he should have gone back, or vice versa, and ramming a gate. When a vessel arrives at a lock at Gatun or Miraflores, it will be tied up to the approach wall and turned over to the absolute control of the canal authorities. These will place a representative of their own on the bridge and another in the engine-room. They will then connect the towing locomotives, "electric mules," with the ship, two on either side and in advance of the bow, and two on either side and in the rear of the stern, and proceed to tow her into the lock.—From "Panama's Bridge of Water," by Joseph Bucklin Bishop, in the July Scribner (Panama Number).

AGADIR MYSTERY ENDS.

Proof That Germany Did Not Want Land There.

It will be recalled that the prime cause of Anglo-French distrust of Germany during the period of hostile diplomatic conversations in the summer of 1911 was the fear that Germany desired territory at Agadir. It is now shown for the first time by some post-humous letters written by Herr von Kinderlen-Wachter, the late Secretary for Foreign Affairs, to George Clemenceau, that Germany never once thought of acquiring territory in Morocco, but simply played upon this fear until she could get compensation elsewhere.

The letters clearly show that had France and England called Germany's bluff at the time France to-day would not be minus some of her West African possessions. In the first letter, dated Berlin, May 8, 1911—that is to say, about seven weeks before the dispatch of the German gunboat Panther to Agadir—Herr von Kinderlen-Wachter says:—

"The Reichstag will evidently not permit me to have a holiday while it is perspiring for me. I was asked on behalf of it to-day if an interpellation on the subject of German interests and the furtherance of our policy. You can imagine that I gave an unmistakable refusal. I am quietly watching the development of the Moroccan affair. The French, meanwhile, are becoming very uneasy, and the more silent we are the more uncomfortable they are. It would be folly on my part if we were to say now that we do not intend to draw our swords for the sake of Morocco, or as we have hitherto done, to indulge in threats which we shall not carry into effect later. They will find hair

THE INFLUENCE OF THE CINEMA.

In the somewhat dry or— to speak in a more modern mode—"drech" speeches delivered during the ten days' seclusion of the Scotch General Assemblies of the Scotch Presbyterian churches there some very interesting stories were told. One of these was a good story. This year, says the Manchester Guardian, the Home Mission Deputy told this one to illustrate the part the picture theatre plays in a child's life. A little girl, being taken to church by her mother, viewed a stained-glass window for a minute or two. "Ma," she asked, "when are they going to change the picture?"

UNPACKING THE KING.

The following stories concerning the two children of a prominent statesman were related by the politician himself to a "Man of Kent" who tells them in the "British Weekly." His parents took the younger child to an exhibition of pictures. Wishing to pass into another room, they asked the boy to remain a little. They had not been long away when they heard a howl, and came back to find the child weeping. "Mother," said he, "those pictures won't move." The little lad had requested cinematographs. The oldest child was at the funeral of King Edward. That evening his mother came in and asked him if he had said his prayers. He answered firmly, "No." "But why?" said his mother. "Because," said the boy, "it would be of no use. God can't attend to me to-night. He is busy unpacking the king."

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

A terrible railroad accident, one of the worst in Canadian history, occurred forty-nine years ago, when a train ran off a bridge at St. Hubert. Eighty-three persons were killed and about 300 more or less seriously injured.

Yesterday was the birthday of John Yeo, long a member of the Dominion Senate, at Port Hill, Prince Edward Island, 1837.

Thousands of Canadians assembled at points of vantage on the Niagara River, just below the falls, fifty-four years ago to-day, to witness the feats of Charles Blondin, greatest of tight-rope performers. The rope which stretched across the river was about three inches thick, nearly 1300 feet long, and was suspended about 150 feet above the water. Blondin crossed it on stilts, walked across it, enveloped in a sack, wheeled a barrow across it, carried a man across, turned somersaults on the rope, was photographed while standing in the centre, and performed other daring feats. Blondin's real name was Emile Gravelle, and he was a native of St. Omer, France. Early in life he adopted the perilous profession in which he excelled. The most famous of his feats, the crossing of the Niagara River on a rope, was several times repeated, and never failed to attract large crowds from all over Eastern Canada, as well as from the States.

An editorial tribute to Canadian ability, wisdom and foresight that was all the more appreciated because so long delayed, was published in the London Times twenty-seven years ago to-day. The opening of the Canadian Pacific Railway was the Thunderer's theme, and the completion of the mighty project was called "a magnificent act of faith on the part of the Canadian Dominion," while the promoters and builders were praised as having completed "within a few years a work which a generation ago might well have appalled the wealthiest and most powerful of nations."

This is the birthday of Frederick Charles Gordon, noted artist, at Coburg, Ont., 1856.

This day in the year 1665 must have been long remembered at Quebec, for upon it there arrived, in the rude little fur-trading station, the Marquis de Tracy as "Lieutenant-General" of the King of France, witnessing to the fact that the colony in the wilderness was no longer the possession of a mere trading company; but was accepted as a part of the royal domains of one of the proudest monarchs of Europe. The Marquis was remarkable for his zeal and his humility in religious matters, but this did not prevent his coming being attended with all possible pomp and circumstance. In his train he brought a large number of pages and young noblemen, dressed out with lace and ribbons and huge flowing wigs. With him came, too, the first regular soldiers ever seen in Canada—the notable Carignan regiment—and to the colonists (living in mortal fear of the Iroquois) the sight of these veterans must have been an even more welcome one than that of the gay retinue of pages. Nor were they meant only for show—De Tracy, himself, though too old to walk, and led them into the Iroquois country; so striking terror into the hearts of the savages.

FIRST THINGS

The first attempt to suppress the fanatical and suicidal features of the Juggernaut car procession, or Rath Jatra, in India, was made sixty-two years ago, when the Indian government suspended the state allowance to the temple of Juggernaut, and prohibited the annual procession unless the car was adequately protected so that fanatics could not throw themselves beneath the wheels. For some years this order was obeyed, but in 1864, a number of pilgrims were crushed by the wheels, and in 1879 a dozen fanatics were "accidentally" killed. Since then the Juggernaut car has claimed no victims, and the festival has declined in importance. Juggernaut, or "Lord of the World," is an idol, and the main seat of his worship is at Puri, in Orissa. Juggernaut's car, in which the idol is placed during the festival parade, is forty-four feet high, has sixteen wheels, each over six feet in diameter, and is so heavy as to instantly crush the life out of those who seek martyrdom beneath its wheels. Formerly over a million pilgrims annually visited the god, and for a distance of Muster Parade.—There were many visitors to the Macaulay camp during yesterday morning and afternoon, and numerous motor parties went out from the city to see the Fifth Regiment under canvas. Arrangements had been made for a twilight concert by the band, which played in the afternoon in Beacon Hill park, but unfortunately the rain spoiled these plans. Munroe claimed that he was seeing the man to his room when the latter dropped behind and was arrested. He offered to go to the station with the constable to arrange for bail, but found he was put under arrest as well. The constable denied using an expression attributed to him by Munroe but admitted having threatened to slap his face. The defendant was fined $5.

STOLE BOAT FOR FISHING.

J. Bailey Sent to Jail for Four Months.—E. Leatherbarrow Acquitted on Same Charge.

Edward Leatherbarrow and James Bailey were tried before Judge Lampman this forenoon on charges of stealing a boat belonging to James M. Iambister, Esquimalt. J. H. Austin appeared for the crown and W. H. Bullock-Webster defended Leatherbarrow. The other youth was not defended.

The evidence showed that the former defendant had been fishing while out of work, and that Bailey had offered him a boat which he said was his. Bailey's story was that he had a boat "identically the same" at the same landing and that he had taken the wrong one, but there was nothing to support his claim in any way.

Judge Lampman considered that the crown had made out its case against Bailey, and sent him to jail for four months. Leatherbarrow, he thought, had been quite ignorant of the fact that the boat was stolen and was entitled to his discharge. He left the court without any reflection whatever on his character.

PRESIDENT ENJOINED FROM CASTING VOTES

Injunction Against D. C. Reid, of Island Investment Company, is Continued a Month

The injunction which has been in force for some time, restraining D. C. Reid, president and manager of the Island Investment Company, Limited, from voting at meetings of the company on the shares which he holds, was this morning continued by Mr. Justice Gregory for one month, and in the meantime the shareholders who gave Mr. Reid proxies will have an opportunity to be represented by some one else at the meeting which was called for to-day, but which is to be postponed.

It was explained to-day by H. B. Robertson, acting for J. W. Givens, who applied on behalf of himself and other shareholders for the continuance of the injunction, that Mr. Reid holds a large number of shares which are fully paid up, but he had others which were not. These latter he had transferred on June 10 to his wife, but a by-law of the company forbade any shareholder who was delinquent on any of his shares to vote at any of its meetings on the shares in question to the extent of $7,000, and it was desired by the petitioner that he be restrained from voting by reason of this fact.

His lordship said he would restrain Mr. Reid if he could be satisfied that the interests of the proxyes would not be affected, and he asked Mr. Robertson if his clients would consent to support an adjournment of the meeting to-day for a month in order to enable the proxies to make other arrangements.

This promise counsel, after consultation with his clients, gave.

W. J. Taylor, K. C., who appeared with D. S. Tall for Mr. Reid and in the interests of his supporters in the company, argued that there was no authority to restrain a shareholder from exercising his franchise as a holder of shares, no matter what his relations with the company were. In this case Mr. Reid held shares about which there could be no question, and the others had been transferred with the consent of the directors. The by-law only dealt with shares actually held by a person, and Mr. Reid now held no shares on which he owed anything.

"I am satisfied that I would be doing wrong if I allowed this meeting to go on," said his lordship, "and Mr. Reid to go in there and control it, and I would also be wrong to allow it to go on without these proxies that he holds being represented here. I will continue the injunction for a month."

CLEARER SKIES FOR DOMINION DAY

Weather Bureau Promises Cheery Holiday; Many Attractions Offer

With the wind changing round to the west, the meteorological office promises that to-morrow will be forth good weather. For to-night and to-morrow morning showers are predicted but it is expected that clear skies will follow.

To-morrow's events as the chief Dominion Day sports are the Highland games, baseball, and regatta, military manoeuvres, and picnics galore, together with the attractions at the theatres, Stadacona and George parks, the most exciting will find some means for spending a pleasant holiday.

In town the baseball games, with the Highland exercises at the exhibition grounds, will afford the principal attractions, while of out-of-town events at other points, the Cowichan Bay regatta is the chief item, a special steamer leaving at 8.30 for the Bay. Many will go from Victoria to this event. A programme of attractions is also being provided at Sidney with local teams taking part.

The military manoeuvres will be close enough to town for many to witness them, and doubtless numbers will watch the tactical movements.

Chief among the shipping attractions will be the arrival on her maiden voyage of the Atlantic-Pacific steamship, Columbia, which is to re-open the Mexican and West Coast route, and a function has been arranged in connection with this matter on board.

There are many picnics arranged, including the United Methodist picnic at Metchoin. Fireworks will take place at George park in the evening. By launch, steamer, train, and motor there will be numerous private parties leaving town for the holiday, which given only fine weather will be memorable in the long story of loyal holidays maintained in the city, commemorating in fitting fashion the forty-sixth anniversary of Confederation.

BATTLE COMMENCES TROOPS LEAVE SIDNEY

Skirmishing Will Take Place Between Royal Oak and Elk Lake; End To-morrow

Although it had been decided to postpone to-day's start of the big military battle for a day, the sudden change of weather conditions at Sidney led to a reversed decision by the officers in command, and it was decided that plans would go ahead and a start towards Royal Oak and Elk Lake, the attacking and defending parties respectively camping places was made at 6 o'clock. It is expected that camp will be made about 6 o'clock in each instance. The distance to Royal Oak is about 9 1/2 miles.

The order for the commencement of war will be given shortly after arrival at the new camp, and skirmishing will take place throughout the night. The troops will get under way by 9 o'clock in the morning on their way to the city.

The unfavorable weather of last night and this morning on the Saanich peninsula lead the officers to the conclusion that it would not be advisable to subject the men to the wet weather, when it was figured that under no consideration could a dry change be obtained for them under two days. However the sudden change of the wind-puff altogether a different light on the question, and the batteries went forth over a quickly drying country.

To Join Defenders.

An effort is being made to have the Fifth Regiment join the defending forces early in the morning, in fact much earlier than had been the first plan, in order that the 104th and 88th Regiments may be reinforced by the start of the battle. The Victoria cadets will join the defenders in the morning.

This morning was spent in regimental drill. Band concerts were also held in order that the restlessness of the men might be eased as much as possible. The majority of the men were willing to leave this morning, but the officers overruled this idea.

When the troops leave camp, the present tent lodgings will be left standing until warmer weather will dry the drenched canvas. A detachment of men from the Work Point barracks will be commissioned to Sidney to take care of the raising of the tented city.

The paymaster visited the camp this morning and left the money with the officers, it being decided not to distribute the remuneration until the city is ready.

SCHOLARS ARE FREE

Play Commences in Sunshine After Rain—Many Changes to Come.

To-day being the first real holiday of the summer vacation the change in the crowded condition of the streets, the street cars, and at the pleasure grounds around the city called notice to the release from the desk and copy-book of the children of the city public and private schools. When it is considered that the average attendance at the city schools is about 4,200, and that there are several hundred more in private schools of the city, it may be seen that the change is noticeable.

The beaches around Victoria are being rendered more accessible every year, and with the opening of the west side of the Saanich peninsula by the Interurban railway, there can be no doubt that the new resorts now to be exploited will receive their full mead of attention in the next two months.

When the children return they will see great alterations, as new schools will be in operation, and the great change which the new High school is to bring into operation will be growing nearer, although it will not be actually occupied till January next, according to present prospects.

Except for the High school examinations, the tests are now over, and all the Junior grades are already taking advantage of the holidays. So far as the teachers are concerned, this is the time of year when the greatest change takes place, and teachers seek pastures new. With the increasing number of teachers required in the city schools, there must necessarily follow greater variation in the staffs, and several more have yet to be appointed in the city alone.

Makes your family happy. Get them a Tent or Home Lot at Shawinigan, $100.

ARCHITECTS WILL COMPETE

New System of Inviting School Designs Proves Very Popular.

In addition to the ten teachers appointed by the school board on Saturday, there are seven others to be appointed before the next term begins. They will be selected at an early meeting of the board.

The secretary is in receipt of a number of communications from architects who desire to bid on the plans for the Hollywood school. This will be the first school for some time which has been designed in open competition, and is a concession to the application of the Victoria Chapter of the Society of Architects.

Tenders were invited till 4 p. m. to-day for the school site on Oswego street. The school board bought this site months ago for the new school in James Bay, but the dock improvements made it unsuitable and special legislation was got whereby the property might be sold for other more convenient land.

A commencement will be made at once with the repair work on the schools, which is always executed during the long vacation.

LONG VACATION.

Chambers will be held weekly in Supreme and County Courts during July and August.

The long vacation in the law courts begins to-morrow, and for two months there will be nothing handed outside of urgent applications.

Supreme court chambers will be held every Friday morning during July and August. For the first half of the term Mr. Justice Murphy will be the vacation judge.

County court chambers will be held before Judge Lampman every Tuesday forenoon at half past ten.

SHOW STEADY PROGRESS

Figures for Building Indicate Confidence in Future of City and Municipalities.

The building permits for the month show the steady advance in the city as a result of many structures being added, and while the value is not as great as last year, the figures prove that the community has steadied down and is building for occupation.

The permits issued this month in the city totalled $360,000 as against $682,168 last June, or $2,758,840 for the six months as against $4,647,590 in the first six months of 1912. The total this month includes many fine and substantial buildings, which prove the steady and substantial growth of Victoria.

In the suburban municipalities there is little falling off. Esquimalt reports satisfactory returns, although the details are not yet made up. In Saanich, thanks to the Normal school permit for $300,000, the total is $978,840 for the six months, which includes the provincial jail permit. Of the total $369,000 was issued in June, to-day.

The permits issued in Oak Bay also show a great increase, and in the month just closing there was a noticeable increase in activity. For the month the permits issued at the municipal office amounted in value to $50,000, and for the six months of the year so far the amount is $668,782.

During the first half of last year the permits aggregated in value $450,900, and for the month of June they were $1,125.

At the cost of $20,000 the Colostat Printing and Publishing Company is to add four stories at the rear of the present building for printing office accommodation, for which a permit was issued this morning. The addition will be of steel frame construction. J. A. Wilson, of Clawthorpe street, is building a garage and chicken house on his property.

Mrs. Jack C. Roach (nee Miss Mae Jennings) will receive on Thursday, July 24, from 5 to 8 in the afternoon, and from 8 to 10 in the evening, at her home, 5104 Albar street.

RED AND GREEN

WILL PREDOMINATE

City Will Be Specially Illuminated at Carnival Week

While Victoria is known far and wide for its beautiful street light illumination, it is the aim of the Victoria Citizens' Committee, in charge of Victoria Carnival Week, to make the city the best illuminated metropolis on the coast during Carnival Week. Special prizes are being given for the most artistic window displays and all stores will be asked to use extra electric light, and to keep those lights in evidence as late as possible, using red and green, the official carnival colors, in various forms. The British Columbia Electric Railway Company has been asked to light all street cars during Carnival Week with red and green electric light making a jewel light display of moving color. The city council has been requested to make the two lowest of all cluster lights red and green. The electricians and electrical supply houses of Victoria have been asked to use special efforts in decorating their stores with an electric display.

The principal business blocks have been asked to outline their buildings with all the lights possible, so that the visitors may be appalled with the brilliancy of the city by night. The Carnival Committee is requesting the citizens to co-operate in this "light at night" movement. A huge maypole has been suggested for the burnt areas, strings of colored red and green lights depending from a high arc light at its top. Searchlights on the main streets, brilliant illuminations in the harbor, Gorge and Beacon Hill park, and illumination of all boats and yachts are expected to make a night fairytale of the city. The assistance already given by the government, the city, the British Columbia Electric Railway and other corporations, has encouraged the committee in charge to ask Victoria to do well in illumination of the business section. On Saturday night, August 2 the fancy dress carnival only needs the brilliancy of co-operative lighting and illumination to leave a lasting and pleasurable impression. The street illumination sub-committee has arranged for the stringing of 28 blocks with bunting. Cool Rhodes having the details in hand. The streets projected are Government from Superior to Cormorant; Douglas, Humboldt to Cormorant; Fort, Government to Vancouver; Yates, Government to Vancouver.

The floral committee is appealing to every grower of flowers to do something to help to swell the volume of exhibits at the flower show to be held during Carnival Week. The prize list has been so arranged that every one can compete. There are quantities of decorative classes in which taste and arrangement carry more weight than the excellence of the flowers. The committee is also asking the schools to assist, and is especially calling attention to the floral Union Jack for which very valuable prizes are offered. Assurance is given to all intending exhibitors that the task of staging and looking after exhibits will be made as easy as is possible. The committee realizes that the comfort of exhibitors is the first principle in a successful annual show. Prize lists and entry forms can be obtained from any of the florist's stores, or from the honorary secretary.

ST. LOUIS COLLEGE

CLOSES ITS YEAR

Bishop McDonald Presents Prizes to Successful Students

The closing exercises were held at St. Louis college on Friday at 10:30 a.m. Rt. Rev. Bishop McDonald presided, and with him on the platform, were the Revs. J. Leterme, J. F. Silver, D. A. McDonald, and the members of the teaching staff.

His Lordship briefly addressed the boys, telling them that the closing of the school year was simply a reminder of that day which must come for all—the final closing day—and just as they had worked faithfully throughout the year in the hope of receiving a reward for their labor, so also must they labor in this life in expectation of the greater and higher reward which will await them hereafter.

Successful labor was worthy of reward, and hence those who had been successful were about to be rewarded according to their labor. The standing of the pupils indicated a very successful year, the most probably in the history of the school.

Then followed brief addresses by each of the reverend fathers present, after which his lordship presented certificates of promotion.

The following is a list of the prize winners:

- English Literature—Gold medal, donated by the Rt. Rev. Bishop McDonald; awarded to Albert MacDougall.
Christian Doctrine—Gold medal, donated by Victoria Council, Knights of Columbus; awarded to Alex. Gourigny.
General Proficiency—Gold medal, donated by Seghers' Council, Y. M. C.; awarded to Frank McStay.
Mathematics—Gold medal, donated by Messrs. Shortt, Hill & Duncan; awarded to William J. Mellor.
Drawing—Gold medal, donated by Messrs. Fitzpatrick & O'Connell; awarded to Michael Francis Lawless.
Department—Gold medal, donated by Mr. Arthur Lineham; awarded to Clement O'Leary.
General Proficiency, Junior Department—Silver medal, donated by Principal L. J. Shanahan; awarded to Vivian Domine.
Education—Five dollars in gold, donated by Rev. J. F. Silver, St. Andrew's cathedral; awarded to Eugene Lineham.
