GERMAN PAPERS ENGAGED IN BITTER ATTACK ON STATES BECAUSE GERMAN NAVY HAS TO HIDE IN KIEL CANAL

Death of Kiffen Rockwell, American Aviator Who Served France, Seized as Occasion to Declare Republic Not Neutral Because Its People Sell Munitions to Entente Powers

Berlin, Sept. 29, via London, Sept. 30.—Immediately on the heels of the utterances of the Imperial chancellor in the Reichstag, concerning the submarine campaign, the afternoon newspapers in general print a criticism of the neutrality of the United States, based on the news of the death of the American aviator Kiffen Rockwell, and the presence of other American aviators with the Anglo-French forces on the western front.

They connect this evidence of American sympathy for the entente powers and the supplying of war materials by firms in the United States as an indication of the futility of concessions to the American standpoint with regard to submarine warfare. They declare that these facts show how American respect for neutrality is vanishing and how the United States is misusing the present form of submarine warfare to cover the active participation of American concerns in the war on the side of the entente powers.

The Lokai Anzeiger, under the heading "American neutrality," prints the following:

"With a navette which must appear astonishing even in a war which overturns ordinary conceptions of international law and neutrality, the Paris Matin announces that Aviator Rockwell, one of the best known American aviators, has fallen in aerial battle. The Matin does not attempt to dispute the fact, long known to us, that at Verdun an aeroplane (freely known under the name of the American Aviation Squadron) participated in the fighting.

"We all know that, impelled by love of peace and chary of human sacrifices, we made concessions to the United States, and now we see with astonishment that the concessions have resulted only in the further supplying of the entente forces with ammunition and guns. We now see further how our conciliatory attitude directly has been misused on the American side, and Americans therefore reach the enemy and fill important positions.

Love of Adventure.

"We are acquainted, naturally, with the love of adventure in the American blood, and we do not condemn it. We also would have no occasion whatever to pay attention to the exercise of this passion if we had not believed that the concessions to the United States would be sufficient for honorable men to bridle the strongest inclinations to ignore the most natural obligations of neutrality.

"If, however, as the aforementioned facts seem to show, we have erred in this assumption, we naturally must regret to have made concessions which are misused and which show us to what degree the feeling and respect for the conception of neutrality have been lost by Americans and by the entente powers. We will believe it will be possible for the American government to take measures to make sure that the concessions made to it shall not undergo usages to which under no circumstances we can submit, on the part of American citizens."

The Vossische Zeitung, in an article written by its military critic on the American Aviation Squadron, points out that the entente powers have an immense advantage in being supplied from the "neutral" United States with war materials to a degree with which Germany can compete only by her utmost efforts. The newspaper argues that the war long since would have been over if it had not been for American supplies.

It says the longer the war lasts the attempts of the United States to throw a mantle over its so-called neutrality and the appearance of American aviators in the ranks of Germany's enemies betray the degree of neutrality which the United States in the future intends to maintain.

The Berliner Tageblatt says:

"The American conduct may be regarded as proof of how American feeling and respect for the principles of neutrality are vanishing."

Turn to Submarine.

Such statements organs as the Tagliche Rundschau, the Tages Zeitung and the Die Post all connect the news of the submarine issue as a basis for the argument that moderation in the use of Germany's undersea weapons merely serves to further American assistance to the entente powers in men and munitions.

The Tages Zeitung devotes a leading article, which does not need the signature to betray its origin in Count von Reventlow's brain, to the late Earl Kitchener's alleged statement to W. Cameron Forbes, former governor general of the Philippines, that the entente powers would never be able to conquer Germany without the assistance

BRITAIN, AROUSED, FLANKED BY HER HEROIC ALLIES, WILL DRIVE ON TO HER GOAL, DECLARES LLOYD GEORGE

BRITISH HAVE SENT TANKS TO RUSSIA

100 for Use Against Austro-Germans, Says Bishop of Worcester

HIS SON WENT WITH WEAPONS, HE STATES

New York, Sept. 30.—The British government has sent 100 "tanks" to Russia for use against the armies of the central powers.

This information was disclosed here by the Right Rev. Dr. Huzaba Wolcott, Yeatman-Biggs, Lord Bishop of Worcester, who arrived from England today. The bishop said one of his sons, who is a lieutenant in the British navy, went to Russia with the consignment. How long ago the armored caterpillar motor cars have been sent the bishop did not say, but news of their use on the eastern front may be expected in the near future, he indicated.

According to a British naval officer who also arrived today, the tanks on the western front are being manned by officers and men from the naval dockyards where the machines were fitted up. The size has been much exaggerated, the officer says. He declared they were not more than 25 feet long, 10 feet wide and 12 feet high.

"The weight of these tanks," he continued, "is from 60,000 to 69,000 pounds, including guns and ammunition. There is nothing so wonderful in their crawling across the German trenches, because the latter are nearly all narrow, the purpose in constructing them being to protect the men from shell fire as much as possible.

"The body is strengthened by the finest steel springs, which keep the machine well poised and prevent the shock from jarring the machinery when the tank goes over holes or ditches."

American Consul Reports No Americans Aboard Two Italian Ships Sunk

London, Sept. 30.—Lloyd's Agency reports that the British steamer Ballus has been sunk.

The Ballus was a steamer of 31 tons, built in 1914. She was owned by the Cork Steamship Company. Her recent movements have not been reported.

No Americans.

Washington, Sept. 30.—American Consul Hurst, at Barcelona, Spain, reporting to-day to the state department the sinking of the Italian steamship Benark and the Italian steamship Nitolo, said that no Americans were aboard either ship. The Benark, from Philadelphia for Genoa with a general cargo, was sunk by a submarine about forty miles off Barcelona on September 25, and the Nitolo, from Norfolk, was torpedoed off Dragoneo, Balearic Islands, on September 24.

BRITAIN, AROUSED, FLANKED BY HER HEROIC ALLIES, WILL DRIVE ON TO HER GOAL, DECLARES LLOYD GEORGE

London, Sept. 30.—Any step at this time by the United States, the Vatican or any other neutral nation or agency in the direction of peace would be construed by Britain as an un-neutral, pro-German move.

This statement came yesterday from no less an authority than the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, secretary of state for war, in a press interview.

"Britain has only begun to fight. The British empire has invested thousands of its best lives to purchase future immunity for civilization. This investment is too great to be thrown away," he declared.

"More than at any time since the beginning of the war, there is evidenced throughout Britain a popular suspicion toward the United States, a suspicion that did not exist a year ago.

"This feeling appears directly attributable to the notion generally entertained by the man on the street that President Wilson might be induced to intervene for the purpose of stopping the European war. Similar suspicion of Spain and the Vatican also is manifest.

For Fair Play.

"The British soldier is a good sportsman. He enlisted in this war in the sporting spirit—the best sense of that term. He went in to see fair play to a small nation trampled upon by a bully.

"He is fighting for fair play in international dealing. He has fought as a good sportsman by the thousands. He has died like a sportsman. He has never asked anything more than a sporting chance, and has not always had that. When he could not get it, he did not quit. He played the game. He did not squeal, and certainly he never asked anyone to squeal for him.

"For two years the British soldier had a bad time—no one knows as well as he what a bad time it was. He was sadly inferior in equipment. On the average he was inferior in training. He saw the cause of the entente beaten all about the ring, but he did not appeal to either the spectators or the ground that it was brutal nor did he ask to have the rules changed. He took his punishment. Even when beaten like a dog he was a game dog. When forced to take refuge in a trench, when too badly used up to carry the fight to the enemy, he hung on without whining, fought off every attack, bided his time, endured without wincing, worked without flagging.

To a Finish.

"And at this time, under these conditions, what was the winning German going to do?" asked the minister. "Was he worrying over the terrible slaughter? No. He was talking of annexing Belgium and Poland as a result of his victory.

"Germany elected to make it a finish fight with Britain. The British soldier was ridiculed, held in contempt. Now we intend to see that Germany has her way. The fight must be to the finish—to a knockout. Dropping his colloquialisms, the half-smile fading from his face, Mr. Lloyd George continued in a more serious vein:

No Interference.

"The whole world, including neutrals of the highest purposes and humanitarians with the best motives, must know that there can be no outside interference at this stage. Britain asked no intervention when she was not prepared to fight. She will tolerate none now that she is prepared, until Prussian military despotism is broken beyond repair.

There was no regret voiced in Germany over the useless slaughter. There were no tears shed by German sympathizers when the few thousand British citizens who never expected to be soldiers, whose military education started only a few months previously, went out to be battered, bombed and gassed, to receive ten shells for every one they could fire—went out and fought like sportsmen, without even a grumble.

Must Be Victory.

"I repeat that there was no whimpering then, and the people who are now moved to tears at the thought of what is to come, watched the early

London, Sept. 30.—(By F. A. McKenzie).—London is taking the week of the greatest British triumphs since the war began with the greatest calm. The zeppelin failures are more discussed than the fall of Thiepval and Combes. Everyone expected repeated air raids on London this week, when the weather and lighting conditions were the most favorable of the whole year, and the public, after bracing itself for the ordeal, feels half disappointed at the loss of the opportunity to witness a spectacular air battle and half delighted with the efficiency of the improved air defenses, which warned the enemy off. The attitude of the public here towards the raiders is one of curiosity rather than alarm.

Even the victory at Combes caused no public demonstrations. The people apparently failed to realize the tremendous significance of this victory, which assures the success of the great push.

Wonderfully Improved.

"The operations of the British forces during the past fortnight have revealed great improvement over even those of August. The co-operation and coordination of the artillery, infantry and aircraft have been brought to a still greater pitch of perfection, greatly minimizing the losses. The advance of this development of methods affords the best proof of the vitality and actuality of the newer British staff work.

The situation on the Somme front justifies sustained optimism. Every day brings fresh evidences of the break-down of the morale of a large section of the German troops, largely due to the overwhelming artillery fire of the British and the inability of the Germans to stand cold-steel. This does not apply, however, to all sections of the German forces. Some, particularly those strengthened by the older troops, are showing great resolution. The present position in the Somme region might be summed up as one of which the experts are more hopeful than the general public. The latter is pathetically incredulous concerning the great possibilities ahead. The experts maintain that the allies lie upon the edge of what may prove the greatest event of the war, and alter the whole aspect of the western campaign.

London, Sept. 30.—(By F. A. McKenzie).—Nothing in the vast national preparations now reaching a climax indicates any expectation on the part of the authorities of an early termination of the war. All the preparations are based on the supposition that there will be two years more of the struggle.

The problems to-day are those of men rather than munitions. The excessive kindness of the local enlistment tribunals is being remedied, and the process now proceeding possibly will enable the national to maintain its strength in the field for a year ahead without raising the age limit, particularly with the aid of the Dominions. The question of raising the age limit to 55 still is freely discussed, but on account of the vast domestic and business disturbances which it would involve, the limit will not be raised unless it becomes absolutely essential. The nation is ready, however, for any sacrifice necessary to win the war.

The question of applying conscription to Ireland is under discussion once more, particularly as part of a bargain for an early settlement of the Home Rule question.

Lloyd George Pays a Warm Tribute to Troops From Canada

London, Sept. 30.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, speaking to the correspondent here of the Canadian Associated Press, remarked:

"At Courcellette the Canadians were in advance of the British. Thank God we have more of them coming."

Opportunity for Floating Issue Successfully in Republic Never Better

New York, Sept. 30.—J. P. Morgan, financial agent of the British government in the United States, has engaged passage on the American Line steamship New York, sailing to-day. It is said Mr. Morgan is going to London to arrange for the flotation of another British loan of $250,000,000 to be backed by American securities.

Bankers who were questioned to-day about the opportunity for floating another British loan said that never in the history of the country has there been such a demand for bonds.

Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador to Great Britain, and Mrs. Page also are passengers on the New York.

UNITS OF BRITAIN'S NEW ARMY BEAT OFF ENEMY NEAR SOMME

Fresh Division Fought With Resolution Near Stuff Redoubt and Hessian Trench; Position in Thiepval Area Was Improved, London Reports; French Troops Made Progress North of Rancourt

London, Sept. 30.—Heavy fighting occurred yesterday north of the Somme in consequence of German counter-attacks. A division of the new British army was engaged. The following official account of these operations was issued to-day:

"During the night the enemy shelled heavily our battle-front south of the Ancre. We consolidated the ground won yesterday morning at the Destremont farm, northwest of Le Sars, and improved our positions in the Thiepval area.

"Enemy counter-attacks were beaten off in the neighborhood of the Stuff redoubt and the Hessian trench. The fighting in this sector yesterday was severe, and our troops showed great endurance and resolution.

"A successful raid was made by a London territorial battalion south of Neuville St. Vaast, where enemy trenches were entered and prisoners were taken.

French Gained.

Paris, Sept. 30.—French troops made further progress north of Rancourt, north of the Somme, by grenade attacks, according to a statement issued by the war office this afternoon, the text of which follows:

"On the Somme front we made some progress north of Rancourt by means of grenades. There was intermittent artillery fighting in different sectors north and south of the Somme.

"Everywhere else the night was calm.

"Bad weather continues."

CHANCELLOR KNOWS GERMANY IS BEATEN

Aware Talk of Annexation Pure Nonsense, Says London Chronicle

London, Sept. 30.—The Daily Chronicle says that the failure of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg to refer in his speech in the German Reichstag on Thursday to proposals of annexations by Germany is significant, and adds that it must be remembered that his enemies are attacking him on that point. They have been clamoring for a re-assertion of Germany's need of annexation and her intentions to annex.

"The chancellor knows that Germany's hopes of annexation are dead," continues the Chronicle. "He sees that she is beaten, and he is anxious to prepare his countrymen for the time when the question will be, not how much Germany is to get, but how much she can save."

Becoming Graver.

The Times draws attention to what it calls the unmistakable contrast in which the chancellor's speech stands to his earlier addresses, and adds:

"The chief interest to the outside world is in its revelation of Germany's growing consciousness that her plight already is serious and is destined to become graver. The speech, in the main, is an appeal to the hesitating public to subscribe to the new war loan."

His Admission.

The Daily Mail says:

"The German charge that Great Britain is waging the war with the blood of others and sparing herself is answered by the chancellor's own words when he said: 'Great Britain is fighting with an expenditure of strength unequalled in her history.'"

INTERNAL SITUATION WORRYING CHANCELLOR

Bethmann-Hollweg's Speech Moulded by It, Says London News

London, Sept. 30.—All the morning newspapers to-day devoted a major portion of their editorial space to a discussion of the speech of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg in the German Reichstag on Thursday, contrasting its mild tone with former utterance of his. The editorials all assert that, aside from the violent attack on Britain, the chancellor said little that was new, and perhaps disappointed those who expected him to make more extended peace overtures.

"It is perfectly clear," said the Daily News, "that the chancellor's speech was dictated far more by the exigencies of the political situation in Germany than by anything that is happening outside. What the chancellor was concerned about throughout the speech was, primarily, to re-establish his own shaken authority, and, secondarily, to raise the spirit of the nation to meet the storm that is breaking over it."

The Graphic says that the dominating note was the old story of hatred for Britain, and continues:

"This is the only possible comfort for the disillusioned German people. For ourselves, we only have to note with interest the declaration that Germany is ready for peace. We are not."

BRITISH MADE GAIN EAST OF LESBOEUF

Captured More Than 525 Prisoners in the Thiepval Area

London, Sept. 30.—East of Lesbœufs, north of the Somme, British troops yesterday occupied 500 yards of German trenches, it was announced in an official statement issued last night, the text of which follows:

"Rain fell heavily to-day, and except for intermittent shelling there was little activity on our centre and right wing of the battle front. Some slight progress was made east of Lesbœufs, where we occupied 50 yards of enemy trenches.

"In the Thiepval area there was heavy fighting around the Staff redoubt. Having taken an important section of the Heugny trench, we were forced out by a counter-attack, but regained it later in the day. In this section during the last twenty-four hours we have taken prisoner 8 officers and 525 men.

"In spite of the weather our aeroplanes have done useful work, attacking enemy reinforcements on the march. Yesterday enemy aircraft patrolled behind their own lines, but showed little desire for combat. An enemy machine was destroyed. One of our own machines has not returned."

Weather Bad.

Paris, Sept. 30.—The following official communication was issued last night:

"The day was comparatively quiet on the whole front. Bad weather is hampering our operations."

BLACK PICTURES FOR THE GERMANS

Accounts by German Correspondent on Somme Front Depressing Them

Amsterdam, Sept. 30.—A correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt on the Somme front sends his paper an interesting account of recent fighting from which it is evident that the Anglo-French offensive has made a very serious impression on him. The following paragraphs are extracted from his report:

"We do not know anything for certain as to the events of this night. All the telephone wires again have been shot to pieces, and rumor is the only thing we have to depend on.

"One company of the Guards had to withstand a severe attack of the French after losing their machine-guns. They must have suffered badly in the mud, but at last they got into a tunnel. Wounded men brought back confused accounts."

The correspondent goes on in his staccato style:

"Evil and hard, and one can only grind one's teeth and choke down curses. The divisional general must steel his heart, and keep the working room in his head free from all the anguish of these days. Outside there the patient ones, the heroes! All day long the enemy worked with heavy mines. Three and four guns he played on one point. It was like the Day of Judgment, and indeed graves were burst forth in all directions. Even in these open graves it was almost impossible to obtain shelter from shell splinters. The missiles whistled and gurgled and hailed. The enemy flying men boldly descended and swept the positions with machine-guns. There were no guns with which to reply to them."

Dog's Life.

"The soldiers must have been dull and tired, hiding there in holes and holding out. Any one of them would have gladly exchanged this dog's life for a visible danger where he could defend himself. They were hungry, but for food of all kinds they had a longing. They suddenly experienced an indescribable thirst. Water! No water was not a drop of water. No water could be fetched, for the brave fellows behind, between Death and the Devil, could not get through with the water-bottles.

"The bitter necessity of waiting! No support could come to them. Behind them rattled the hall of the curtain fire. The German artillery replied with its quickest words. They did their best. If only those others would come, those over there! And they come. Our men curse their rifles, coated with mud, and take to the bayonet and the hand grenades. And then the murder begins."

These reports of the fighting on the Somme front, of which there have been several lately, pitched pretty much in the same key, are hardly calculated to give the German public the assurance that all goes well in the west. It is difficult to understand, in fact, why the German field censor permits such reports to pass, as it is clear that they must exercise a very depressing effect. And what a world of difference between such letters, descriptive of the calamities to which the German soldier is now exposed, and those reports of the early months of the war when the war correspondent tickled his readers with amusing stories of British and French unpreparedness and caution, and with chatty descriptions of the easy task before the Kaiser's armies!

CHANCELLOR'S TONE NOT THE SAME NOW

Lord Robert Cecil Speaks of Effort of Bethmann-Hollweg

London, Sept. 30.—The address of the German chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, in the Reichstag on Thursday was more remarkable for what it omitted than for what it said, according to Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, who, in discussing the speech with a representative of the Associated Press, declared the most significant fact in connection with the chancellor's speech was his failure to mention Belgium. Lord Robert said:

"There was a very marked change in the tone of the speech from the previous efforts of the chancellor. The tone of complete German victory is entirely absent.

"Another remarkable thing was that there was not a word regarding Belgium. The significance of this is probably that he was unable to say anything regarding Belgium, as his hearers can be assumed to be the whole world, and he was bound to offend a section of it if Belgium had been mentioned. If he had attempted to justify German occupation he would have offended the best of all neutral opinion, and equally he would have offended his own people if he expressed a determination to give up that country.

"Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg's denunciation of Britain, while violent, contained nothing really new. It was merely the old trick of attempting to convince our allies that we are trading on their efforts and bleeding them to death in the process, but recent events on the Somme front ought to convince him of his error. The idea that we want world supremacy is fantastic."

Seeking Truce.

"I note in the portion of the speech devoted to the efforts for peace that my name is used, but I cannot understand his complaint. That Germany once was ready for peace means nothing, as naturally everybody is ready for peace on his own terms. The Germans are not ready for peace, but for a truce to enable them to prepare again to enforce their own terms on the world. There will be no peace as long as Germany is content to be ruled by a military caste."

Lord Robert stated that he believed the German chancellor was sincere in his declaration that Germany was waging war with every possible instrument at her command, adding:

"The hull in submarine warfare is due to the shortage of submarines, and it is always increased with instruments that are at hand. The only change I note is that no British passenger liners have been sunk since the Sussex. The number of submarine victims has been increasing steadily in the last three months, and our allies and neutrals have suffered virtually as much as we have. In June the British lost two ships without warning, the other allies lost one without warning, and neutrals lost five, including three without warning. The figures for July show the British lost two that were not warned and neutrals lost nine. In August the British lost one without warning, our allies lost one without warning, and neutrals twenty-six. Up to September 24 the British lost five vessels without warning and neutrals twenty-six; the same as in August.

"Eighty-one British lives were lost during the period covered. During August and September, Norway lost thirty-three ships, with a tonnage of 47,000. Sweden lost eleven, Denmark seven, Holland three, Spain five and Greece six."

MEXICANS GOT INTO STATES AND OUT AGAIN

Washington, Sept. 30.—Maj. Gen. Funston has advised the war department that a band of 30 armed Mexicans crossed into American territory on Thursday near Yataca, Texas, but retreated across the Rio Grande without firing immediately after their presence was discovered. The Mexicans belonged to the command of Colonel Revel, a Carranza officer, who with other officials of the defacto government has assured Brig. Gen. Bell that the incident will not be repeated.

The Mexicans left so hurriedly that one left a Mauser carbine with a garrison marked "K. Tenth Cavalry," the command attacked by Carranza troops at Carrisal.

HANDLING DESERTERS.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Two orders-in-council have been promulgated, stiffening the law with regard to dealing with deserters from the expeditionary forces and with regard to seamen who refuse to obey orders on ships requisitioned for his majesty's service.

In the case of soldiers who desert or are absent without leave, it is provided that they may be summarily tried by any justice of the peace or police or stipendiary magistrate without regard to territorial jurisdiction and sentenced on conviction to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years. The production of a service roll or attestation papers purporting to be signed by the accused and a written statement from the officer commanding the military district showing that the accused was absent from his corps shall be deemed sufficient proof of desertion.

FIGHTING ALONG WHOLE TRANSYLVANIAN FRONT

Bucharest, Sept. 30.—The following official communication was issued last evening:

"Fighting has occurred along the whole northern and northwestern front and was especially severe northwest of Boddar and north of Stena. The enemy retreated westward, leaving two officers and 200 men in our hands. South of Sibia (Hermannstadt) active fighting continues."

"Southern front.—Our artillery sank an enemy warship in the canal south of the island of Pepsina, in the Danube river, southwest of Giurgewo. In Dobruja there were patrol engagements."

"Hostile aeroplanes bombed Tzer-navodi, Alexandria and villages south of Bucharest. An enemy aeroplane was shot down near Padova. An enemy aeroplane arrived at Ballesta (in southwestern Roumania) from the direction of Salonica."

NORWEGIAN S.S. SUNK.

London, Sept. 30.—The Norwegian steamship Vindeken, of 1,428 tons gross, was sunk by an Austrian submarine, according to a Reuter dispatch from Madrid. Twenty-four of the crew have been landed at Las Palmas, Canary Islands.

ROBBERS GOT $8,000 AT SASKATCHEWAN BANK

Moose Jaw, Sept. 30.—Six masked and heavily armed bandits gained entrance to the Caron branch of the Bank of Hamilton, and after binding and gagging the night watchman and his bedfellow, blew the two inner safes and made away in a stolen automobile at 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning with $8,000 in currency.

Before commencing their work the bandits cut off Caron from the outside world by cutting all the telegraph and telephone wires with tools taken from the C. P. R. section shed, which they broke open. They then pried up the rear window of the bank building, and at the point of a .45 made W. A. Mitchell, keeper of the general store, who was sleeping with George Muhle, night watchman, admitted them to the rear room and forced Muhle to open the vault door. As Muhle did not know the combination of the time lock of the safe or of the inner cash box, they used tools taken from section shed to blow both locks, after binding and gagging Muhle.

Approximately $8,000, all the cash in the safe, was secured by the bandits, who quickly made off in a stolen automobile which later was found outside Moose Jaw. According to the Mounted Police, who are at work on the case there were six men in the gang.

CHILDREN BURNED IN HOUSE IN SASKATCHEWAN

Richard, Sask., Sept. 30.—Fire destroyed the home of Mr. Odegard, three miles from Parkside, yesterday, burning three children. AN "OVERSEAS" TALE.

Berlin, Sept. 30.—Neither the British steamship Kelvinia nor the British steamship Stratway was attacked by a German submarine, it is said by competent authorities, the Overseas News Agency announces to-day. "Consequently reports in foreign newspapers alleging that these steamships were torpedoed by German submarines without warning are untrue."

ALL GREEK ISLANDS ARE WITH VENIZELOS

London, Sept. 30.—Telegraphing from Salonica, Reuter's correspondent there says:

"The island of Chios has declared in favor of the National Defence movement. Thus all the islands have gone over to the movement."

"The town of Kozani, in western Macedonia, has joined the movement and sequestered 250,000 drachmas of state funds which were being transferred to Athens."

Former Premier Venizelos and Admiral Comdouriotis have telegraphed local followers that the Cretans, at an armed meeting, proclaimed a provisional government, composed of Venizelos and Comdouriotis, with power to add a third member, and that the new government was given power to join the entente."

BETHMANN-HOLLWEG NOT VERY DEFINITE

Speech in Reichstag Meets With Mixed Reception in German Press

Berlin, Sept. 29, via London, Sept. 30.—The speech of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, in the Reichstag on Thursday, has met with a mixed reception in the newspapers, the feeling being variously expressed that he placed such restraint upon himself that his utterances lacked definiteness.

The Conservative newspapers, for example, ask pointedly whether his sharp words against England and his declaration that those statements should be hanged who omit adopting every means to defeat Great Britain signifies that the chancellor is willing to resume unrestricted submarine warfare, though they, themselves, assume that the contrary is the case.

stag began in the ways and means committee of the Reichstag at 1 o'clock to-day. Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg and Foreign Minister von Jagow both attended the meeting to give the necessary explanations and also information regarding the situation, while other members of the cabinet and a staff of the chancellor's aides were present to support their chief.

The discussion is being conducted behind closed doors and under special instructions to the participants in it to regard the proceedings as confidential. Groups in Caucus.

The various political parties have spent most of the time since the adjournment of the Reichstag yesterday in party caucuses, discussing tactics. Meetings of party groups were held yesterday afternoon and this forenoon to determine their attitude.

The Roman Catholic organ Germania, discussing the chancellor's speech, demands emphatically full confidence in the chancellor. It declares that the chancellor's words against England "should sweep away the noxious atmosphere."

The Conservative papers also observe that a number of points were not touched upon by the chancellor which many of them desired to hear discussed.

All the newspapers except Vorwaerts, the Socialist organ, are gratified that the chancellor made no peace overtures, in view of the utterances of members of the British and French cabinets.

General approval is given of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's emphatic statement that England is Germany's principal foe.

It is significant that the Conservative press treats coldly what the chancellor said about the intrigues against himself, also, his outline of the future internal policy of the nation meets with the rejoinder that hitherto it has been a case of Germany and Prussia.

Vorwaerts, voicing the feelings of the Socialists, expresses distinct disappointment over the speech, which, it says, opens no prospect for shortening the war, but leaves everything obscured and foggy.

BIG DEVELOPMENTS EXPECTED.

According to dispatches from London and Paris the latest drive of the allies on the Somme has caused more satisfaction than any previous phase of the great offensive which began three months ago.

NAVAL SHIPBUILDING.

Yesterday we published a report from London that a number of prominent shipbuilding firms were contemplating the establishment of plants in Canada.

Speaking on this subject before he left for home the other day, the Hon. Mr. Glynn said that it was Australia's ambition to join with New Zealand and this Dominion in the formation of a strong Pacific fleet.

SIR WILFRID'S SPEECH.

The morning paper is trying to make political capital out of the reference to militarism in the very brief report of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech at Montreal which came over the wire.

But what the morning paper did not mention was Sir Wilfrid Laurier's stirring appeal to the young men of Quebec to enlist, and his reminder that when Britain was at war Canada was at war.

NO HOPE FROM THE MINISTER.

The Minister of Customs yesterday failed to give a solitary valid reason for the refusal of the government to comply with the request of the commercial interests of British Columbia for the appointment of a Canadian customs officer at New York.

that Canada was so heavily involved in the transcontinental railway systems that it would be inadvisable to do anything which might detrimentally affect them.

But the establishment of a new channel of trade between eastern and western Canada by water would not injure the railways. It would enable British Columbians to buy from the eastern provinces goods they now must purchase in the eastern states owing to tariff restrictions and high freight rates.

Mr. Eberts is quoted as saying that British Columbia had had a Conservative government since 1871, with the exception of a brief interim in which Mr. Martin was in charge of affairs.

A large quantity of Canadian nickel has gone to Germany during the last few years. Without nickel our country could not build a solitary warship or complete heavy armament of any kind.

Hon. J. D. Reid may not set the world on fire as a minister of customs, but he certainly is an excellent humorist, as the following extract from his remarks the other night shows:

"The minister concluded by stating that the Conservative party had more brains and better brains than the other party, and would use them in the building up of the country.

The pay of all German soldiers, from the minister of war to the private, has been substantially reduced. Seems to indicate failure of the war loan.

The emperor of Abyssinia has been deposed. Constantine of Greece is understood to be annoyed at the prospect of the deposition idea spreading.

Holloway speaks bitterly of British ambitions. Well, it is not so very long since the Huns were talking exultingly of world domination and boasting that already their sphere of influence extended "from Arras to Bagdad."

That fleet of tugs chartered by Germans in the United States to tow the submarine Bremen into a port of Rhode Island seems to be having difficulties in picking up the ship. Perhaps if they were to go right across the ocean their chances would be brighter.

WAS SENIOR CLERIC OF ANGLICAN CHURCH Rev. Canon R. H. Bullock, D. C. L., Passes Away in Halifax at Ripe Age

Probably the oldest clergyman of the Church of England in Canada has recently passed away at Halifax, where he had been living in not inactive retirement for some years past. He was within a few months of his eighty-eighth birthday when he went to his reward.

Rev. Reginald Heber Bullock, D. C. L., honorary canon of All Saints cathedral, Halifax, was born at Trinity Bay, Newfoundland, on December 13, 1828. He was the eldest son of the late very Rev. William Bullock, dean of Nova Scotia. From Windsor Academy he proceeded to King's College, taking his B. A. in 1850 and his master's degree the year following. In 1873 his alma mater honored him with the degree of D. C. L. He was ordained deacon in 1852 and priest in 1853, and acted as curate to his father in St. Paul's, St. Luke's and Falkland, with charge of the penitentiary chapel, until 1861.

During part of the time he was resident in Halifax in those years he acted as private secretary to two of the lieutenants governor of the colony, Sir Gaspar Le Marchand and the Earl of Mulgrave. In 1861 he received a commission as chaplain to her majesty's forces, remaining in the service for twenty-five years. In that time he served as chaplain at Aldershot, York, Bermuda, Winchester, Colchester, Shoeburyness, Dover, Woolwich and Malta, and was resident chaplain of Hubert hospital, Woolwich. He was also for some time chaplain to the forces in Canada. On his retirement under the age limit he was appointed an honorary chaplain to Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and this honor was continued by his reappointment as honorary chaplain to His Majesty King Edward VII. and later, to His Majesty King George V.

Canon Bullock was a member of the Church of England Temperance Society, and did splendid work in that line among soldiers and sailors, for which he had the Star of Merit conferred upon him by the National Temperance League. He also wore the Queen's Jubilee and the King's Coronation medals. During his service in the Mediterranean he became grand master of Malta of the Masonic order. He resided in Halifax after his retirement and often preached in the churches there, his sermons being stout, earnest and deeply spiritual in tone. He represented the synod of Nova Scotia on the board of governors of King's College, Windsor, and was an ardent advocate of college federation. About fifteen years ago he published a biography of his father.

A younger brother survives, Rev. W. H. E. Bullock, now living in retirement at Haddock, N. S., while a nephew, Rev. O. W. Bullock, of Sydney, N. S., is serving as a chaplain at the front. Beaumont Boggs, of this city, is another nephew.

VOTERS' REGISTRATION Monday is Last Day for Filing Applications to Be Dealt With at the November Revision. The last day to file applications to be placed on the list of voters for the city, as well as all other constituencies, is Monday. The Liberal rooms in the Arcade building will be open this evening for the convenience of anyone who wishes to make application and who has not yet done so. A great number of applications have already been taken there and filed with the registrar of voters. Harvest comes before whom they will come at the court of revision to open on November 20. At the coming revision there will be a great many changes of address to be made from the information contained in the registers signed by voters at the recent election. Few people think of having the change made when they move, and the result is that it is very difficult to find them when an election comes on or to ascertain whether or not they are still in the city. This has added to the difficulty

AT THE THEATRES

DOMINION THEATRE.

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne will be seen in the famous Metro wonderplay, "Man and His Soul," at the Dominion theatre next week.

Mr. Bushman concedes that the role affords the greatest opportunity of his career, as the strong contrast in the moods and deeds of the character he portrays gives him a wide scope to display his wonderful gifts. Miss Bayne, too, has a role well suited to her distinctive talents. As in many other previous productions, she makes an excellent foil for the crowned king of motion pictures, and at all times each serves to bring out the best in the other in the highest degree.

In everyday life Mr. Bushman is as popular of the screen as he is when acting in the silent drama. He has been star in more than twenty contests, and only last fall captured the honors in two notable competitions, when he was declared the king of motion pictures on days arranged in his honor at the exposition in San Francisco and San Diego. He is in constant demand at social functions, and if he filled half the invitations extended to him, he would lead a grand march at some big ball three or four times a week.

The nation-wide popularity of Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne was attested in Chicago recently, which was typical of many instances. They were invited there to lead the grand march at a big ball, and their reception in that city equalled, if it did not surpass, any ever tendered any man or woman who ever visited the Windy City. They were driven through the streets in triumph, and scores of extra police were called out to clear the way for them.

PANTAGES THEATRE.

Long Tack Sam and his own company of Chinese wonders come to Pantages theatre as the headline attraction on the new bill which opens at the Monday matinee. There are many Oriental acts in America, but without doubt Long Tack Sam's aggregation are the leaders. Their unsurpassed magic, juggling, acrobatics and tumbling place this troupe in a class by itself, as the greatest combination Chinese act on the American stage. From the opening scene of Long Tack Sam's act to the final descent of the curtain when one of the troupe slides, suspended by his hair, from the roof of the theatre to the stage, the offering is complete with interesting and exciting novelties. Long Tack Sam, himself, is the recognized peck of all Oriental magicians; and his performances in Chinese magic are the cause of much wonder and amazement. Still another feature of this offering is the elaborate stage setting and beautiful costumes worn by the members of the troupe, all of which are hand-worked by the most skillful Chinese labor.

Joe Keno and Rosie Greene will occupy the next-to-closing position on the bill with an act that is as entertaining as it is unusual, called "All Life and Action." This versatile couple present a variety of novel entertainments, which includes an abundance of comedy, singing, dancing and acrobatics. Keno and Greene have just completed a most successful tour of the big time vaudeville theatres of the east and middle west.

Eva Shirley is "Vaudeville's most versatile prima donna." She is a pretty, graceful and attractive young woman, together with a decidedly pleasing personality which mark her as one of the shining lights of the vaudeville. Bonnie Gaylord and Iva Lancon are "Two Coking Girls" who offer an original skit in both black-face and white face. Their dressing room novelty has won for them a permanent position in the best vaudeville. Willis, Gilbert and Company will present a distinct silent symphony of cleverness, entitled "The Masked Frolic," which is novel, classy, new and original. Another Chaplin comedy will open the new bill.

Italy's irrevocable break with Germany revived the memory of Crispien's rebuff in 1895 to the kaiser, and the retaliation which the latter took. The great Italian statesman in his desire to secure better relations with Great Britain in Africa had notified the German government that at the proper time he should denounce the Triple Alliance. The emperor immediately advised the king of Italy that "Crispien was becoming impudent and must be got rid of." This sinister action of the kaiser is believed to have brought about the crippling of Crispien's plans in Africa against Menelik, and the ultimate re-establishment of a government less partial to friendship with England.—London Chronicle.

"How long did your last cook stay with you?" "Oh, about five hours." "How did that happen?" "The afternoon train back to town has been discontinued."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A wedding place in Christ church, Vancouver, on Wednesday evening when Miss Ethel Mary Hobson, only daughter of Mrs. J. W. Hobson, 1847 Third avenue west, was married to Mr. Thomas Arthur Tudor, of Vancouver. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. S. McGaffin. The bride, who was given away by Mr. B. J. She was attended by Miss Olive Owen as bridesmaid, who wore a pretty white embroidered frock with a white satin hat, and Mrs. Harry Fisher, as matron of honor, who wore a suit of Belgian blue moire silk, and a black velvet hat, both carrying bouquets of pink carnations. "The Gift Centre" INCREASING DIAMOND VALUES

We have received word from our London Agents that a pronounced increase in diamond prices this Fall is certain. A 50 per cent rise is thought probable. Many influences tend to bring this about. Greatly reduced output, export tax in South Africa, War Tax, depletion of Belgian stocks, discontinuance of cutting when Germany occupied Belgium, and heavy buying of American interests. This misfortune which left us heavily overstocked when the depression came has turned into good fortune, as our large stock was in our hands before the increases commenced. SEEK SALARY INCREASE

Committee of Vancouver Teachers Will Present Claims to School Board.

At a meeting of the Vancouver Teachers' Association the question of requesting the school board to restore teachers' salaries to the rates which prevailed before the war, was considered.

Considerable discussion took place and it was felt that in view of the increasing prosperity of the city and the province, taken in conjunction with the higher cost of living, the time had come when the school board might be reasonably approached with a view to restoring teachers' salaries to the rates which prevailed before the war.

A committee was appointed to bring this matter to the attention of the school board and Municipal Inspector J. S. Gordon, and to report later to the association.

PARIS FAVORS DRESS OF TWO MATERIALS

Continuations of Velvet and Cloth or Satin and Serge Considered Smart

New York, Sept. 30.—Women of fashion are, to-day, greatly interested in the "two material" dresses. Has not Paris sanctioned them and put forth some of her best efforts in the fashioning of new versions of them for the coming season? No, it is not only the economical woman with an eye to making over her last winter's dress who looks with approval on this style. To be sure, she may take advantage of it, for this fashion holds great possibilities for her; but, needless to say, it was not originally planned for her. Combinations of materials are used in dresses of widely different character, quite as often in the one-piece frock for street as in the dress required for more formal wear. Of the first type is the smart dress of cloth and satin illustrated here. There is a suggestion of the military influence in this dress, too, which accounts for a part of its charm, as things military are still a source of inspiration to fashion designers. Perhaps it is the orderly row of buttons placed straight down the front, perhaps it is the four pockets with rounded laps, or yet it may be the shoulder cape, or all of these together, that give the soldierly tinge to this dress. One can readily imagine the design developed in satin and serge, velvet and cloth, velvet and satin, or any one of these materials in two tones. A light and a dark shade of grey silk have been used very successfully by Parisian designers in such a dress as this. They have even combined two different colors, such as tan and brown, dark green and grey, and mahogany and grey. But the amateur should beware of combining two colors unless they are in perfect harmony, for the result may be vastly different from what the hands of an experienced combiner of colors would produce. In dresses for formal wear, one sees other combinations. A white Georgette crepe blouse in Russian style was combined with a black satin skirt and the blouse was edged with a wide band of black satin. There was a shoulder cape of white Georgette edged with fur, which trimming also finished the long sleeves. Another dress seen had a blouse of Copenhagen-blue-chiffon, also in Russian style, worn over a skirt of blue velvet the same shade. Fur edged the blouse. Another detail of fashion which is

WILL SELL CHURCH

Vancouver Pastor Granted Permission to Dispose of Property to Discharge Debts.

The granting by the Presbytery of Westminster at an adjourned meeting at St. John's Presbyterian church in Vancouver, yesterday, of permission to Rev. H. W. Fraser, D.D., minister of the First Presbyterian church, Hastings and Gore streets, to sell all the church property in order that the demands of creditors may be satisfied, means the passing of one of the oldest places of worship in Vancouver, and the disbandment, temporarily at least, of the congregation. Other property owned by the church in the same vicinity will also be sold.

Rev. Dr. Fraser also presented his resignation as pastor of the church. The resignation was tabled and the congregation cited to appear in its own interests at the regular meeting of the Presbytery in November.

Rev. Dr. Fraser has been minister of the First Presbyterian church for 13 years. He has also placed his resignation with the church board.

IN THE ARMY AND NAVY

John R. Denholme, city stable superintendent, has not only a son and two brothers in the king's uniform, but also five nephews in the service. In the picture published above Mr. Denholme's brother, Alexander, is on the left. He was formerly in the employ of the city, and since the outbreak of the war has been serving in the Canadian navy. Next to him is J. R. Denholme's son, Alexander, who is sergeant in the Cadets. On the right is another son, James, who was rejected several times because he was too young to go to the front, but is now with the artillery ammunition column which arrived in the Old Country a few days ago. Another brother, who is a member of the A. and S. Highlanders, has been wounded three times, and has been offered a high promotion, but prefers to fight as a private and has returned to the firing line. One nephew has been discharged after his foot had been amputated as the result of wounds.

THROTTLING TRADE OF PACIFIC COAST

Minister of Customs Reiterates Refusal to Place Customs Officer in New York

BOARD OF TRADE PUTS FACTS TO HIM VAINLY

Dominion Government Also Urged to Encourage Building of Ships in Canada

It was a disgusted lot of members of the board of trade which listened to Hon. E. G. Prior, minister of customs, yesterday afternoon repeat his refusal to have a Canadian customs officer placed at New York in order to facilitate the shipment of eastern Canadian manufactures through that port to Victoria and Vancouver by way of the Panama canal. The feeling was veiled under the courtesy due to a minister of the crown, and a visitor at that, but it was there none the less.

The minister has some scheme, in which British Columbia members coincide, apparently, for the establishment of a line of steamers to run from Montreal in summer and from St. John or Halifax in winter to this coast, and both he and Hon. Martin Burrell affirm to think that to appoint a customs officer in New York would spoil this. Dr. Reid has to admit that the Maple Leaf Line, which has been operating a line from New York to British Columbia coast, refuses to fall in with the suggestion, but he has some vague idea that some other line will.

It was made quite plain to him by C. W. P. Schwengers, of E. G. Prior & Company, who was the board's chief spokesman in this matter, that the railways, backed up by the railway commission, refuse to give the export rate on shipments to the Canadian Atlantic ports destined for this province on the score that they are not export shipments but are intended for domestic consumption. This makes it imperative on importers in this province, however much they would welcome an all-Canadian route, to ship by way of New York.

The minister politely questioned the statement that a steamer would be sent out from New York within three weeks of the granting of the concession asked for, and that the fifty-cent rate which was in force under normal conditions would be given. He was asked if he would recommend the grant of this concession if he could be assured that these statements were facts, pending the inauguration of such a service as he talked of, but he would not do so even when it was demonstrated to him that as a result of the lack of such facilities Canadian manufacturers are losing business and the railways would not only lose nothing by the concession but would get the business that would be created by the shipping of goods to New York for shipment and the greater tonnage of raw materials that would be carried to the factories.

The board got very little ground on the subject of the Dominion take up actively an investigation into the matter of aid to shipbuilding generally, and that meanwhile a repulsion of duties should be granted upon the materials which have to be brought into the country in connection with the shipbuilding operations which are in progress in British Columbia. Dr. Reid thought the first suggestion was a splendid one and on right lines, but he did not say so until it was put up to him in plain terms by the very pertinent question of Colonel the Hon. E. G. Prior. Previous to this he had said the whole thing was in the hands of Sir George Foster, and he promised to urge his colleague to deal with it.

On the other point he said that practically the only things that were not free of duty for shipbuilding were engines and rivets, both of which were made in Canada, and supplies. He suggested that engines and rivets might be made here. He ignored the matter of cordage and sails, and other things mentioned as required for the ships now under construction. These matters were brought up by H. P. Thompson, superintendent of the Shipping Credit Commission, and were taken up by J. O. Cameron, Norman Yarrow and H. F. Bullen, all of whom are concerned in shipbuilding.

Present Claims. Mr. Schwengers read a carefully prepared memorandum on the subject of the need for a custom officer at New York, giving a number of first-hand instances from the hardware business in proof of his assertions. The memorandum pointed out that as a result of inability to ship from Canada to New York, and of the exorbitant freight rates by rail, the hardware business of this coast is falling into the hands of United States manufacturers. It was absolutely necessary to enable the eastern Canadian manufacturer to meet American competition in this market that this concession be granted, at any rate until such time as shipments through a Canadian Atlantic port could be made at the same freights to the seaboard as to New York and by water as from that port.

Answering the argument that the railways would be injured and that they had met the rate situation, Mr. Schwengers, as already stated, pointed out that they would not lose any business they now had, because they did not have it. The general result of the alleged meeting of the situation was that shippers were really penalized 15 per cent. more than before the rates were professionally reduced. On a list of some 400 articles, the aggregate rates under the old tariff came to $767.83, or an average of $1.72 per item. Under the "reduced" tariff the aggregate was $865.28, or an average of $1.95 per item. Mr. Schwengers spoke not only of the trade feature of the matter, but of the economic and political features of an arrangement, which was month by month, year by year, hardening the bad feeling which had been created, and which was a most undesirable thing to exist between the various provinces of the Dominion. He assured the minister that if a custom officer was placed in New York a steamer could be loaded and started on her voyage three weeks later, and the 50 cent rate to this coast obtained. As an instance of the manner in which trade is being hampered, he mentioned shipments which his firm has made by the water route, paying the United States duty going into New York and then paying the Canadian duty on these goods, manufactured in this country, on arrival here, and yet laying them down at a lesser cost than if they had been shipped by rail.

James Forman, A. E. McLean, J. O. Cameron, Col. the Hon. E. G. Prior and J. J. Shallcross supported the request strongly. Mr. Forman reminded the minister that a company which last year had net earnings of 16.67 per cent. on a capitalization of two hundred and sixty millions was not likely to suffer from any loss of traffic through this reason, even if there was any truth in the reason.

"We have been placing this matter before the government for a long time," said Col. Prior. "No one can tell when there will be a steamship established from an eastern port to this coast, and it is not right that we should suffer meanwhile when the government can obviate it by appointing an officer in New York. Why Dr. Reid cannot see his way to fall in with our suggestions I cannot see. If what has been said here and in Vancouver does not move him I give it up as a bad job."

C. H. Barnard, M. P., informed the board that Dr. Reid and he had not always seen eye to eye on this matter, but the new proposals of the minister as stated at the meeting of the Conservative Club the night before struck him as an excellent idea.

R. F. Green, M. P., excused himself on the ground that he had come to listen. Dr. Reid got off some more or less glittering generalities and then remarked that he had come to the conclusion the people of this province felt he was antagonistic to doing anything in their interests; that, on the contrary, any he had been doing was in the interests of the railways. He assured them that the whole government was anxious to benefit the people and not the railways, and in a rather disappointed and involved sentence the minister conveyed his belief that it was subject to doubt if a steamer could sail for here in three weeks after the request of the board was complied with. He said "this agitation" had been started by the Maple Leaf line, and he went on to tell of his attempts to get a line in operation from Montreal, St. John or Halifax. The same railway rate could be got to these ports as to New York.

Col. Prior challenged this statement. The minister of customs said that if a line was established as he had suggested the government would see that the shippers got fair rates, the same rate as to New York. He pleaded for time and patience; if the merchants of British Columbia pressed the government now on this customs officer business it might upset the whole apple cart on an all-Canadian route by water.

"There is no better friend of British Columbia than your humble servant," he told the board. Mr. Schwengers remarked that while everyone would agree with the sentiment as to the establishment of a steamer line as spoken of by Dr. Reid, there was none now, the minister held out no promise of relief, and meanwhile British Columbia had no water connection with eastern Canada, got no benefit from the Panama canal and eastern manufacturers were losing the trade of this portion of the Dominion. If the board could show Dr. Reid that both the steamer and the rate would be forthcoming if the concession was granted would he promise that the request of the coast should be granted?

Put up against what he admitted was a fair question, Dr. Reid replied that if any line could show that it would run a steamer and give the rate of fifty cents this should be placed in writing before the government, which would give the matter its serious consideration. At this there was an involuntary smile.

As the minister reiterated his doubt that under war conditions a steamer could be got to sail for this coast within three weeks, Mr. Schwengers repeated his statement, and added that the Maple Leaf Line would have the Boscawen ready to sail within two or three weeks, with a full cargo of timber. "I doubt very much if Dr. Reid and the other members of the government appreciate the extent to which this is taking the trade away from eastern Canada," said Mr. Schwengers. "I can speak with absolute knowledge about the hardware trade, and I can tell him that in very few months more of this sort of handicap against the eastern manufacturer and the western importer ninety per cent. of the trade will have left Canada and we will be importing from American manufacturers."

In reply to the minister's remark that the railways would give the same rate to the Canadian seaboard as to New York for export, he was informed that the railways took the stand that exports destined for British Columbia were not exports but for home consumption, and the railway commission had ruled that the export rates were not to apply.

Dr. Reid said the Inter-colonial did not come under the railway commission and could give the export rate. "But it never did it," was Mr. Schwengers' comment on this. He added that the railways had put up the rates westward, and it meant that the manufacturers were steadily losing business.

"That was years ago," said Dr. Reid, "and I am saying what we can do and will do." Dr. Reid sat down with perfunctory applause, quite plainly accorded him as a matter of courtesy and not at all testifying to any sense of a satisfactory nature.

Shipbuilding Matters. Mr. Thompson put the shipbuilding matter before the minister in the form of a memorandum, from the two aspects of urging the Dominion government to consider the whole question of encouragement and assistance for shipbuilding and of asking that where ships are built in Canada there should be a remission of the duty on the articles which have to be imported in connection with it. The minister reminded that a vessel can be built elsewhere and can come in to engage in coasting or deep-sea trade without ever paying a cent of duty on anything, materials or stores, and that a vessel can be built here and a remission of 99 per cent. of the duties obtained, but that if a vessel is built here for Canadian trade the full duty has to be paid on everything of foreign origin that goes into it. The people of the coast, Mr. Thompson said, had for some time been looking to the Dominion government to encourage shipbuilding. The provincial efforts were small and meagre, but had met with a certain amount of result.

J. O. Cameron told the minister that in building ships his company found it had to go outside Canada for a good many things required, and pay duty on them. Rigging and sails were among these, and on the cotton cloth there would be a duty of probably 400 a ship. Mr. Cameron mentioned that the firm had had inquiries from Swedish, Norwegian, Japanese and American quarters as to whether they were in a position to build.

Norman Yarrow instanced a few anomalies of the customs duties on ship materials. Plates and angle-iron are free, but rivets are dutiable at about 40 per cent. When the Mariposa came over to the Esquimalt yards for repair she carried in her hold the asbestos for covering the steam pipes. This was never taken off the vessel, leaving again wrapped in place, and yet a couple of hundred dollars of duty had to be paid on it.

Dr. Reid promised to urge Sir George Foster to deal with the matter of shipbuilding encouragement promptly and said he would submit the other matter to the minister of finance. He maintained that nearly everything that went into a ship came in duty free except rivets, engines and ship's stores, but plainly what he had in mind was steel ships, and he made no reference to the wooden ships being built here. Colonel Prior, seeing that the minister had no comment on the matter of encouragement to shipbuilding as a principle, put the question to him bluntly and plain.

Dr. Reid then replied that the suggestion was a splendid one and on the right lines, but he hastened to explain that Sir George Foster had the matter in hand and he would urge him to deal with it.

Hon. Martin Burrell spoke briefly in the direction of smoothing things over for his colleague. He assured the board that extraordinary difficulties existed in the way whenever matters of trade and commerce were approached. Every part of the country had some problems on which other parts found themselves at variance. In 1911 the country had been swept against reciprocity and yet there was no doubt that reciprocity in one thing or another would be a very good thing for portions of the Dominion. He pleaded with the board not to force the government's hands in the matter of the appointment of a customs officer

By sheer ability he rose from cashier to actuary, and has been Managing Director of the Mutual since 1896. Mr. Weggenast tall hair to a glorious inheritance, and has proven a faithful trustee.

A "Safety First" Man

Mr. Weggenast is known as one of the safest investors in Canada. So successful has his investment policy been that the Company has never lost one dollar of its assets. During Mr. Weggenast's tenure of office the assets have grown from $4,126,132 to $26,894,524. During the war now raging important problems are being met, but the voyage of the "Mutual" continues prosperously.

Forty-Six Years of Progress

The following figures indicate the continuous healthy development of The Mutual Life of Canada. It has not been "showy," but it has been constant—and has made possible the payment of extraordinary dividends from the beginning:

Table with columns: YEAR, ASSURANCE, ASSETS, SURPLUS. Rows from 1870 to 1915 showing increasing values.

The Company was organized on a purely mutual basis, forty-six years ago—the only Canadian institution issuing old line, legal reserve life insurance without shareholders—the only Canadian Policyholders' Company.

But what has this Company done? It has distributed eighteen millions of dollars to members and their beneficiaries. These insurance monies have educated orphans, paid off mortgages, saved many from the necessity of accepting charity, and kept sacred many a home that otherwise would have been broken up.

These are only a few of the things The Mutual of Canada has done and continues to do. But does this institution mean anything to you and to your family?

Is there a Mutual Policy in your home?

WANT TWO THOUSAND NAVAL VOLUNTEERS

Esquimalt to Be Headquarters for Recruiting in British Columbia

Naval volunteers are wanted and a determined effort is to be made to recruit two thousand before the end of the year. This is indicated in a memorandum issued from the headquarters at Work Point yesterday. It is not intended that this work shall interfere with the recruiting for overseas service in the military units, but shall have a different appeal. The following is the order: It is notified that, 2000 men, if possible, are to be enlisted for Royal Naval Canadian Volunteer Reserve before the end of the current year. With this object in view it is proposed to establish recruiting areas in the various provinces in the Dominion, with headquarters at Esquimalt in British Columbia at Esquimalt, B. C. A naval officer will be in charge of each recruiting area, assisted by a staff, including a medical officer. Naval recruits will be collected and equipped at the headquarters of the recruiting areas. Naval recruiting officers, each in his own recruiting area, will furnish military recruiting officers with pamphlets, etc., explaining the conditions of enlistment and service in the R. N. C. V. R. Military recruiting officers will furnish applicants for enlistment with information to be obtained; and they will forward to naval recruiting officers the names of applicants, provided their names are up to the required physical standard and within the prescribed age limits. Military recruiting officers will exhibit in their offices such notices, etc., as may be supplied them for that purpose by naval recruiting officers; and the latter have permission to utilize military recruiting offices for the purposes of interviewing applicants and of conducting medical examinations. When a naval medical officer happens not to be available, the services of a military officer may be employed. Naval recruiting officers are not allowed to enlist in the R. N. C. V. R. men serving in the Canadian Expeditionary Force. Should a man serving in the Canadian Expeditionary Force seek to transfer to the R. N. C. V. R., he must apply to his commanding officer; and when his application reaches militia headquarters, the matter will be taken up with the Department of the Naval Service.

VICTORIA BOY SCOUTS

The following report has been received from Troop 11, Boy Scouts:

Last Friday the Eleventh Troop welcomed back a returned soldier in the person of Scout William Smith, of the Buffalo Patrol, who, having joined the 122nd about nine months ago, went to England with that unit, only to be sent back again on account of being too young. The boys are very sorry for him that he could not go to the front.

Pte. Ralph Henderson, of the 3rd Battalion, C.E.F., who is recuperating from the effects of gas and wounds, spoke a few words to the boys on the subject of honor as applied to the Scouts. He also told how in England Scouts are entrusted by the military authorities with duties of great responsibility and how well they carry out these duties. He added that he was sure if the Scouts in British Columbia were similarly called upon that they would act in the same manner.

In a very short time now the troop will be changing headquarters, but before leaving the old school house on Fowl Bay road we wish to thank A. Robertson for so kindly allowing us to hold our meetings in the building ever since the troops were started.

At the last Patrol Scouts' council an election of officers was held, the result being: Chairman, F. W. Y. Wootton; secretary, F. Price. Final arrangements were made for the basketball matches and several smaller matters were discussed. Next Tuesday another meeting will be held and all patrol leaders are requested to do their best to attend.

The scribe of Troop 15 reports as follows: On Monday, September 18, Troop 15 assembled for the purpose of electing a scribe and treasurer. P. L. Heggie and Fraser were chosen as scribe and treasurer respectively. After the election the Bear Patrol, under P. L. Heggie, went out to leave road signs. Ten minutes later the remainder of the troops followed the trail. It turned out a success. At a subsequent meeting the programme for the present term was planned. The roll at present is 36.

WOUNDED IN ACTION

Pte. H. B. Clark Left Victoria With Draft of Royal Canadian Regiment.

A telegram has been received from Ottawa by Miss Myra A. Clark, assistant to Dr. Hare, dentist, telling her that her brother, Pte. Henry Hough Clark, has been wounded in the thigh and scalp.

Pte. Clark left Victoria on February 25 with a draft from the Royal Canadian Regiment at Work Point, and after training for some time in England went to France with the R.C.R. on June 5. He was born at Carleton Place, Ontario, and came here three years ago and was employed as an electrician. In October, 1914, he joined the Royal Canadian Regiment and did duty at Work Point up to the time of leaving for England. He made a number of friends in the city during the few years he was here who will be anxious to hear further news concerning him.

"I've lost my heart," he whispered, and gazed into her eyes; she handed him the paper and murmured "Advertise."

STEAM WHALERS BACK FROM NADEN HARBOR

Catch at All Stations to Date Estimated at Over 400 Mammals

Although several weeks have to elapse before the whaling operations on the west coast of Vancouver Island and the Queen Charlottes are brought to a close, the steam-whalers of the Victoria Whaling Company are beginning to slip into port from the hunting grounds.

The Blue and White left Naden harbor last Sunday, and reached Victoria about 2 p.m. yesterday. On the average the present season has been a most successful one, and although of shorter duration, compares well with other years.

The record catch will go to Kyquott, where already 177 whales have been taken, and it is expected that this total will be augmented some during the next week or two.

The whaling tender Gray, Capt. Hawes, is now on the west coast loading whale oil, and is expected to arrive here about October 12. She will make one more trip to the stations for oil and will then be loaded with fertilizer for San Pedro.

The company's vessels operating on the American side out of Bay City have had a very successful season, the total catch being estimated at about 270 whales.

SPLENDID PROGRAMME AT CRICKET SMOKER

Entertainment in Schoolroom of Christ Church Was an Unqualified Success

To say that the smoker held in the Christ Church Cathedral schoolroom last night by the Victoria and District Cricket Association was a success would be putting it mildly. The entertainment from beginning to end was thoroughly enjoyed by all present and the league officials are to be congratulated upon arranging such a fitting climax to a successful season. All the clubs in the league were well represented and most of the cricket enthusiasts in the city were also present.

John Virtue, the donor of the Virtue cup, emblematic of the championship of the Victoria and District Cricket Association, and the medals which are presented to the individual members of the winning team each year, was accorded a rousing reception. Before presenting the cup he made a neat little speech in which he congratulated the members of the winning team on their success and expressed his satisfaction at the result of the efforts of the players to keep the game going in the face of such abnormal conditions. Mr. Virtue regretted that the medals had not yet been finished and expressed the hope that the Dean of Columbia would present them when they were ready.

On presenting the cup to P. C. Payne he complimented the captain of the Five C's on the success of his untiring efforts in behalf of his club and the league.

In replying Mr. Payne refused to accept the credit for what had been accomplished, and stated that it was due to the fact that the team and the league officials worked together so harmoniously.

Mr. Ward, vice-president of the association, in a stirring speech exhorted all cricketers to join together and assist in making the league stronger than ever next season.

William Blakemore gave some interesting reminiscences of the first visit of the Australian cricketers to England and also told of some notable feats of the Nottingham county teams. The Dean of Columbia presented the special prizes to the winners and after congratulating them on their prowess, told of the first occasion upon which he had seen Mr. Blakemore play the grand old game.

A fine musical programme was rendered during the evening by the following: Messrs. E. Locke, C. H. Munton, S. Dean, J. J. Bradford, J. Lea and Stanley Davies, while Mr. Campbell gave an interesting reading. C. Q. M. S. Askey was suffering from a severe cold and was not able to sing. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Following are the winners of the special prizes:
Batting prize, donated by the Hon. Justice Wetmore—J. H. Ackroyd, with an average of 51.6.
Bowling prize, donated by Lieut. Robertson—H. S. Radcliffe, with an average of 7.5.
Fielding prize, donated by R. B. Paten—H. S. May.

ARE IN FAVOR OF NEW WINDSOR TRACK

Thoroughbred Assn., However, Disapproves of Any More Tracks Being Built

Toronto, Sept. 30.—An emphatic denance was thrown Thursday night to the Ontario racing associations by the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Association, when, at an overcrowded meeting at the King Edward hotel, a resolution was adopted expressing the association's approval of the action of the Ontario racing associations in their proposed new track at Windsor, Ontario. The opinion of the horsemen was that there are enough tracks in operation to meet the requirements of the thoroughbred association and that should any more be built it would be a menace.

In addition to the Canadian members there were present members from Kentucky and Maryland. A resolution adopted reads: "This association regrets the action taken by some of the Ontario racing clubs and desires to recognize the same and declines to the privilege and right of each and every member of this association to nominate any race horses at Devonshire Park should he so desire."

The meeting was generally agreed that the ban of other Ontario tracks on the Devonshire Park should have been expressed or given notice of before the track was built, instead of waiting until three days before the meeting opens. Some of the members are expected to make up a committee which will endeavor to have the ban of the Ontario clubs against participants in the Devonshire Park lifted.

JOHN LAVAN NOT WORST THIS YEAR

Diminutive Shortstop of the St. Louis Browns is Playing Good Ball

John Lavan, of the St. Louis Browns, was called the worst shortstop in the American league last year, and he was all of that and more. In fact, as far as value to his team was concerned, he was about the worst player in the league, with his 75 errors as a fielder, and his .218 hitting average and his 53 strikeouts. Johnny, who drew down a world's series share the year before as a member of the Athletics, would have been run off most any class D league team in 1915 for the work he did for Branch Rickey, but Rickey kept him, though admitting that Johnny might be as good as he was pictured, but predicting that when he got set right he would prove his worth.

Rickey must have guessed the secrets of Lavan's bad work and known he would overcome them, for this year the little shortstop has been a sensation. He is not only keeping his eyes open and his head up when at bat—and he had them shut tight to signals last year—but he also is performing in a fielding way that is as different from his work the season previous as day is to night. He is credited by the experts with being the best man in the league on a double play, and the best at taking a throw from the catcher and tagging a runner at second.

Lavan is modest enough to give much of the credit to two of his teammates. He says a man who can't take a throw from Severid and tag a runner is not ought to be in ball, and that the shortstop who can't make outs at first with George Sisler on the bag has no business in baseball.

"I never look at first base when I make a throw," says Lavan, "because I know that Sisler will get the throw somehow and make the out. He is the peer of all first basemen that I have seen, and there's no such thing as a bad throw by an infielder with him on the bag."

Lavan might never have been a shortstop if he hadn't been given a good beating as a pitcher. Little as he is, he thought he could pitch, and he tried for the Hoke college nine up in Michigan. He was beaten, 16 to 4, and his team manager, disgust told him he could play short if he wanted to try it, otherwise he could get off the team. So the next game found Lavan short-stopping, and he has been at it ever since. He advanced to the university of Michigan, slipped in a few games as a professional under an assumed name, and then went to the Browns at the request of Branch Rickey. It so happened George Stovall was managing the Browns on the field at that time, though, and he kicked Lavan off the team. Rickey got Connie Mack to take him, and he finished that season with the Athletics and came back to the Browns when Rickey succeeded Stovall.

GIBBONS-DILLON CONTEST IS OFF

St. Paul, Sept. 30.—Negotiations for a Gibbons-Dillon fight in the Twin Cities, which have been carried on by Harry Sherman, are at an end, at least for the time being, and it does not look now as though the Twin Cities, or any other city, would have a chance to see this boxing treat this winter.

CHASE STILL LEADS NATIONAL BATTERS

Wheat, of Brooklyn, the Closest Regular, is 14 Points Behind

Chicago, Sept. 30.—It looks as though Hal Chase would carry off the National League batting championships this year. With the season to end next week, Chase is four points ahead of his nearest competitor, now Lou McCarty of New York, in the National League's base-stealing honors scored destined again to go to Carey Pittsburger, who is leading with 58. Flack, Chicago, is ahead in sacrifice hits with 36; Williams, Chicago, in home runs with 12; Burks, New York, in runs scored with 59, and Brooklyn in team hitting with 261.

Leading batters: Chase, Cincinnati, .334; McCarty, Brooklyn-New York, .330; Wheat, Brooklyn, .329; Daubert, Brooklyn, .326; Hineman, Pittsburgh, .313; Hornsby, St. Louis, .299; Robertson, New York, .292; Stock, Philadelphia, .291; Long, St. Louis, .285; Zimmerman, Chicago-New York, .282.

Leading pitchers for twenty-five games:

W.	L.	Pct.	Runs
Hughes, Boston	16	3	842-223
Schupp, New York	9	2	818-116
Alexander, Phila.	11	1	778-751
Pfeffer, Brooklyn	21	10	766-192
Rixey, Phila.	21	9	750-212
Marquard, Brooklyn	13	8	684-170
Boston, New York	14	7	667-285
Cheney, Brooklyn	19	10	655-190
Perritt, New York	19	10	655-254
Rudolph, Boston	18	10	643-226

Cobb will retain the American League base stealing championship, even though he loses the batting title, for his record is now 65 thefts, far ahead of anybody else's though way behind his 96 for the season of 1915.

SIXTEEN YEARS SINCE DODGERS WON FLAG

Captured Pennant in National in 1900 With a Notable Crew of Players

If, and mark well the "if," Brooklyn wins the National League pennant this year, it will be the first time in 16 years that a gonfalon has gone to the Flatbush team. But when it did win in what might be considered the dim baseball past, there was a team to talk about. Mighty Tim Lincecum, who descended to Toronto and then went to Buffalo, was the first big-guardian for the Trolley Dodgers in that season. Tom Halley played second base. John Hummel, now with Buffalo, was the Brooklyn shortstop. Casey, not the mighty Casey De Wolf Hopper-made famous, was on the red light station, and Willie Keeler, the original pinch hitter, was sojourning in right field. Sheekard, who has since figured largely in high-up baseball, was in left field, and Joe Kelley, subsequently manager of Toronto in the International League, and now scout for the New York Americans, was the centre fielder. Wild Bill Donovan, now manager of the Yanks, with the Kelley as his "out," was one of the twirlers, and so was Kitson, who subsequently went to Detroit. It was a notable bunch of ballplayers.

STAR SHORT FIELDER

The great Phillie shortstop, who is said by President Tener, of the National League to be the best man at his position in the league.

FAMOUS FOOTBALLER HELD IN GERMANY

Derby County Forward May Be Exchanged With Next Batch of Prisoners

Apropos the negotiations that are going on between the British and German governments for the exchange of interned civilian prisoners, it will be interesting to footballers to know that one of the most popular returns will be Steve Bloomer, the famous Derby County forward and English Internationalist, who since the war began has been interned in Germany, where he was employed as coach for one of the local football clubs in that country. What a reception "Steve" will get when he arrives at Derby. Every "Ram" will be out to greet the hero, for such he was in football circles.

It may not be out of place to take this opportunity of stating a few facts regarding him: Every football enthusiast knows there was only one Steve Bloomer. Commencing his career at a very early age, he rapidly developed into a player of great ability. In the season of 1886 and 1887, while at the tender age of thirteen, he played in the finals of the Derbyshire Shield and became the special possessor of his first football medal, and of his large collection he thinks as highly of that as any he has in his possession.

It is not generally known that "Steve" was connected with another club than Derby. But such is the fact, for having signed a league form for Burton before signing for Derby County? His signing for Derby caused an inquiry into the manner in which his signature was secured. "Steve" on the field was a great opportunist, and a strong advocate for pot shots, and many of the goal he has scored by letting drive and not dallying with the ball. His control of the ball was wonderful and good to see. One of his tactics was to draw all the defence to meet his rushes and then to completely deceiving them by driving over to the opposite wing.

His greatest score in one match was against Sheffield Wednesday on January 21, 1899, when he scored six goals, Derby winning that match by nine goals to nothing. Bloomer has also an international record to be proud of. His first appearance in international company was in 1896, when he received his Scottish and Irish caps. In all, he has played in twenty-three internationals. He has also taken part in inter-league games, and is also one of the few who possess a Belgian and German badge.

The question has often been asked which was England's fastest international right wing and some claim that Atherton was a past master. Billy Bassett, of West Bromwich Albion, was the fastest partner he ever had. While recognizing the virtues that Stephen had he was at times a cause of worry to the management of his club, and many's the little story that could be told of "Steve's" little holidays.

These little worries and small exchequer was the direct cause of Derby transferring him to Middleboro'. It was the directors told him that he was to be transferred. His career with Middleboro' was never a happy one, he always pining for his old love, until eventually he was transferred back to Derby at a time when they most needed him. His re-inclusion in the team acted like magic. It infused new life into the whole of the players, and if ever Bloomer did Derby greater service it was at that time when they were struggling to regain their position in the first division. Bloomer put his whole energies into the play, and played as he never did before.

Giving advice here and encouragement there, he at the close of a strenuous season was rewarded by seeing his old club once more promoted to the coveted position; and here are "Steve's" own words when victory was secured: "I have got my club back into the first division. I am satisfied! Let those who take my place do their best to keep them there." This was the close of the career of one of the greatest and best players first class football ever knew.

BROOKLYN DEFEATS PHILLIES IN FIRST

Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Sept. 30.—The Philadelphia's captured the lead in the National League here to-day by defeating the Brooklyn by a score of 7 to 2. Manager Robinson sent his star pitcher, Pfeffer, to the mound to check the Philadelphia's advance, but he was hammered hard and consistently and his service failed to baffle the bats of the visitors. Luders helped himself to two doubles and a home run. Brooklyn could do little with Rixey's delivery. The game was played on a wind-swept field. The score:

R. H. E.	W.	L.	P.C.
Philadelphia	7	10	3
Brooklyn	2	5	1

Batteries: Rixey and Killifer; Pfeffer and Miller.

LOUISVILLE'S PENNANT.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30.—Louisville win from Toledo yesterday and clinched the American Association pennant. Indianapolis is the nearest contender. Louisville has won 100 games and lost 54. Defeat in the three remaining games would make its percentage .598. Should Indianapolis win all of its remaining four games, it would give that club a percentage of .592.

BOXING GAME HAS IMPROVED GREATLY

Jack McAuliffe, However, Grieves at Passing of "The Good Old Days"

Low moans heard in the direction of Brooklyn were identified as issuing from Jack McAuliffe, formerly lightweight champion of America, who was grieving over the passing of "the good old days" of pugilism. This member of the Three Jacks bewailed in anguished tones the changed conditions in boxing.

"No more," he murmured, "the bare fist fights in which two men pounded each other till one or the other was left senseless on the grass. No more the small glove fights with the fingers cut off kid gloves."

McAuliffe adds that all the excitement has been taken out of boxing by modern methods and that the sport has been commercialized to death. He points out that there were no purses in his day, that it took the principals three months to prepare for a battle, and they fought for a side stake, the winner taking all.

McAuliffe most decidedly does not like the present day methods and expresses the fear that the boxers and managers will kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

Let McAuliffe dry his tears. The boxing game at present is by no means perfect, but it is steadily improving and will doubtless take its place in a few years with the leading rough sports of the world. One of the surest indications of improvement is the almost complete obliteration of all the atrocities that marred the game in the "good old days" when McAuliffe was in his prime.

No more do fighters enter the ring with bare hands or skin tight gloves and mangle each other so they are unrecognizable.

No more do the partisans of a favored fighter cut the ring ropes and, entering the enclosure, beat a victorious boxer with clubs till he is glad to beat a retreat.

No more are drugs introduced into the water bottle of a winning boxer, a practice that was common in "the good old days."

In fact, the old slogan of "the good old days," which was "win, tie or wrangle," has been thrown into the discard, and fully 90 per cent. of modern bouts are decided strictly on the merits of the contestants.

It is true that boxing has changed, but all for the better, and there is not the slightest occasion for any of the old London rule fighters to indulge in grief over the present conditions.

BILLY WEEKS WINS BY THE K. O. ROUTE

At Calgary Thursday night Billy Weeks and his manager "Biddy" Bishop got away to a flying start with their Eastern itinerary when Frank Mantell, who hails from Butte, Mont., fell to the canvas after only three rounds of boxing. Weeks outclassed his opponent from the start and it was only a question of time how long the bout would last. A heavy punch to the kidneys put all thought of fight out of Mantell's head.

A number of Vancouver boxing fans figured that Weeks had stopped a real middleweight when he "kayped" Frank Mantell, for over two years ago another fighter who boxes under a similar name, won a fifteen-round decision over the Northwest champion, at the old Stevens Arena. The Mantell who lost Weeks at Stevens is back in the Eastern states somewhere.

HOLD UP PAYMENT OF SCHOOL SUBSIDY

Officials of Department of Education Have Taken Drastic Step

The per capita subvention by the government towards the cost of teaching in the public schools, which is paid quarterly, has been held up in the department of education and the city of Victoria is without the customary cheque.

On the basis of the estimate presented by the board early in the year the amount would be about $18,000, and of course the city officials will make a fight for it.

The reason the amount has been withheld, it is stated, is due to a conflict of opinion between the department of education officials, headed by the superintendent of education, and the city school board about the payment of August salaries to three or four teachers. Practice has made it the custom to pay salaries for the period of the summer vacation. Although city authorities have long clashed with their school trustees on this principle, the custom has become well settled with regard to permanent teachers. Thus they are treated as having an appointment for all the year round. However, some three junior teachers and a manual training instructor, who had held another appointment, were taken on the staff at the beginning of the present term, August 25, giving only one week's teaching. The board, so it is stated in the city hall, refused to pay for the whole of August, during which time the manual training instructor was paid for work elsewhere.

The department has put it up plainly that the salaries for August must be paid in full, but the board is equally resolute that it will not and takes the stand that there is no provision of the school act justifying the department officials to adopt the present drastic step. Meanwhile Dr. Robinson is away from the city and it has been impossible to obtain any satisfaction on the matter. While not in his department, it is understood the office of the mayor, as member of the government, will be invoked to break the deadlock.

WARNING TO BOOTLEGGERS

White Man Caught in Downtown Alley Gets Sharp Sentence.

Indians who require a taste of the "fire water" will have to evade the sharp eyes of Constable Gates, whose vigilance was responsible for the appearance of the one white man and two aborigines in the dock to-day at police court.

In the shadow of an alley off Store street yesterday afternoon a man gave Lemie Williams, an Indian from the Kootenay reserve, a flask of whisky. The constable was on the other side of the street and saw the movement of some glassware. When he accosted Williams, the white man, James Walsh, who had since been booked on a charge of supplying, began to walk the opposite way and escaped. After Williams was caught Sgt. Fry found Walsh outside the Tourist hotel, and asked him to go for a stroll till they met Constable Gates, who identified him as the man seen in the alley with the Indian. Meanwhile Williams had been taken to the police station, but on the way he managed to drop the flask, which was broken to pieces in the street.

Gates also caught Paul James, another Indian, with a bottle of rye whisky in his hip pocket.

Walsh stoutly maintained an alibi, declaring that he "had not been on Store street at all yesterday, and said that from the Strangers' Rest he went to the Longshoremen's hall and was never near the scene during the time alleged. He, however, produced no witnesses in support of his statement.

The magistrate said he was satisfied of the identification by the policeman and the Indian, and sent Walsh down for three months. Each of the Indians was fined $25 and costs, or one month.

COUNCIL BUSINESS

Some of the Items for Attention on Monday: Efficiency Committee Met To-day.

A claim for substantial compensation for damage in connection with depreciation of property by the Gorge road improvement by-laws will be read to city council on Monday.

The council will be asked to amend the Market by-law and a notice of motion to this effect has been posted by Alderman Johns.

It is not expected much progress will be made with the by-laws, as the principal one, dealing with food regulation, that embracing the baking industry, is not yet ready for the attention of the aldermen.

The efficiency committee held a meeting this morning, having before it the payrolls of 1909 and 1910 for comparison with the present year. Further meetings will be necessary before a report can be prepared.

EVENING CLASSES COMMENCE MONDAY

Third Session Will Open With Numerous Registrations; Some Features

The evening classes of the Victoria School Board commence at the High school on Monday for the third session. The Times is asked to explain that the $3 fee covers the entire session, a point upon which some misunderstanding has arisen. Those students whose classes begin on Tuesday will not be required to attend for registration on Monday, but will be dealt with when their individual classes commence.

Students wishing to improve their knowledge of arithmetic, English, penmanship, etc., should join the preparatory or continuation class, and aim to complete in one session the equivalent of an elementary or common school education. This is absolutely essential before attempting to specialize in trade instruction. This class is free to all and meets on Monday and Wednesday.

Those boys who have in recent years passed the High school entrance examination and have not entered the High school are specially recommended to join the preliminary technical class. The calculations taken up in this course will be connected with the trades and industries of Victoria, and the drawing will include sketching and dimensioning details from machines, buildings, furniture, etc. The workshop practice will consist of advanced projects in woodwork. The knowledge to be obtained in this class forms the foundation of all technical work. An effort will be made to treat each student's special requirements.

There are many young people in Victoria who wish to commence a commercial career, and for these a first year course is provided. Commercial arithmetic and office routine will be taught on Wednesday only, and students may take book-keeping or shorthand and typewriting on some other evening. The fee for the combined course is $4.

Another new departure consists of providing instruction in cooking and dressmaking during the afternoons, from 2 to 4. Cooking and dressmaking classes will be held at Victoria West and dressmaking only at Quadra St. and Margaret Jenkins schools. For these classes ladies should enroll at the school board office, or phone 528.

The course in chemistry should be a very popular one, since a knowledge of its branches, inorganic and organic, permeates many trades and professions. The High school laboratory, which is one of the best of its kind in the Dominion, will be used in connection with this course.

The students taking pharmacy are specially requested to meet Director Binnis at the High school next Tuesday evening at 7.30. Last year three students sat for the Pharmaceutical Association Examination and 2 passed, a splendid record for the first year.

FRIENDLY HELP ASSOCIATION

The Friendly Help Association will hold the monthly meeting on Tuesday morning, October 3, at 11 o'clock in the rooms, Market building, Corner street.

GERMANY'S ALLIES ARE MEREST TOOLS

Speech by Count Karolyi in Hungarian Diet Indicates That

London, Sept. 30.—According to the correspondent of the Morning Post at Budapest, the speech of Count Michael Karolyi, leader of the opposition in the Hungarian parliament, on September 29 was a vigorous protest against the ascendancy of Kaiser Wilhelm over the governments of all the Teutonic powers, and especially, of course, Austria-Hungary.

"Should the war end indecisively," the correspondent says Count Karolyi asserted, "and should the struggle of the belligerent groups be continued in fields political, our foreign minister and statesmen give us no guarantee that they can cope with the problem."

WINNIPEG EDITORS NEXT FRIDAY AGAIN

Further Argument Then on Application for Release on Habeas Corpus

Winnipeg, Sept. 30.—After a brief hearing this forenoon, Mr. Justice Haggart deferred until Friday next further argument on the application to have discharged from custody Edward Beck, editor, B. R. Deacon, news editor, and Stanley Beck, a reporter, of the Winnipeg Telegram, and Knox Magee, editor of the Winnipeg Saturday Post, who were committed to jail on grounds of contempt of court by Mr. Justice Galt, the commissioner who is investigating the contracts for the construction of the buildings of the Manitoba Agricultural College.

"You have got to put these men in custody and then liberate them on bail before I will go on with the case," said Mr. Wilson. "You cannot liberate men on habeas corpus unless they are under bail bonds."

CANADIAN KILLED MACHINE GUN CREW GERARD COMING TO TALK OF SUBMARINES

Brave Lieut. Pringle, Montreal, Afterwards Was Killed by Bullet

Montreal, Sept. 30.—Details which have just reached London of the death in action of Lieut. Pringle, son of the chaplain of the Canadian Highland Brigade, prove that he made a heroic stand before he fell a victim to a German bullet, the Montreal Gazette's correspondent in London cables. As his battalion, composed mainly of Montreal men, was advancing toward the German trenches, Lieut. Pringle discovered a concealed machine gun, and, single-handed, charged and killed the whole crew with his revolver. After he had accomplished this he was killed instantly by a German bullet.

Mr. Gerard's friend is quoted as saying that if the ambassador had not been forced by the circumstances he never would have left Berlin, where his position is very difficult, because the German press is not amicable toward President Wilson. Mr. Gerard's friend states furthermore that the ambassador did imposing work in Berlin as a middleman between Britain and Germany.

GERMANS CAN NOT MOVE IN DAYLIGHT

British Gunners Now Look Down on Field to Bapaume

With the British army north of the Somme, Sept. 28, via London, Sept. 30.—(By Philip Gibbs)—To-day there have been gusts of rain and masses of clouds about, but the visibility for sighting artillery and calculating the range is extraordinary—that is, good for the British, but not for the Germans. Now that the British have the command of the high ground and look down on the landscape over to Bapaume (a wide stretch of country dotted with bombarded villages), the Germans can not move about in daylight without infantry, guns or transport, lest they be seen by British observers, searching through glasses from high positions.

WILSON'S CAMPAIGN.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 30.—President Wilson, launching into a political speech here today before a New York delegation of young Democrats, wanted to know what the Republican party would do if the Republican party controlled the government. He declared he had found nothing to interest him in the campaign of the Republicans.

FOUR-CENT DROP IN SEPT. WHEAT AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Finner cables and absence of rain in the Argentine gave the local wheat market a firm tone in the early trading and prices were advanced about a cent and a half. Weakness developed in late trading, however, under the influence of a sharp break in the September option, which sold down to 191, a net loss of four cents. Closing prices for this option were a little better than the lowest and December and May were steady at a fractional decline from yesterday's close.

METAL MARKET.

New York, Sept. 30.—The copper market has continued firm during the past week with a fair volume of business reported. Quotations at first hand were firmly held at 28-29 for December delivery of electrolytic, ranging down from 23 to 27 for first quarter. Very little copper is offered for nearby and quotations are nominal. Iron was unchanged.

TRAINMEN KILLED.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 30.—When a piston rod on the first engine of train 1231 on the Pennsylvania line, New York to Cincinnati, broke to-day, the train left the track and partially overturned. The engineer and fireman on the first engine were killed and the crew of the second engine were injured. Five passengers were hurt.

BRITISH MUNITIONS WORKERS HOLIDAYING

London, Sept. 30.—(By F. A. McKenzie)—The munitions workers' long delayed holiday began on Thursday, calling attention to the magnificent work of this section of the nation. Outside opinion has been somewhat confused by isolated examples of munitions workers' troubles, like the Clyde strike. However, these workers, who include large numbers of gentlemen and the average professional man who is unable to help with the war in other ways, almost universally labor with devotion beyond all praise. Many have been working at high pressure for nine months together, twice a week, without a break.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 30.—As she lay in bed with her sleeping mother, Mrs. Ella Graven pressed a revolver against the elder woman's breast and killed her, and then, turning the weapon on herself, committed suicide. This was the conclusion of the police and coroner who went to the scene to-day, in response to a telephone call from R. L. Graven, husband of Mrs. Minnie Graven, and stepfather of Mrs. Graven. It was believed that Mrs. Graven was temporarily insane as a result of troubles with her husband, from whom she was separated. Before entering her mother's bed, Mrs. Graven left this note on a bureau: "Rather than the asylum. Use insurance for expenses."

TORONTO BANK CLEARINGS.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—The bank clearings here for the month of September were $196,413,725. For the corresponding month last year the clearings were $138,247,494, and $147,910,702 in September, 1914.

GERMANS CAN NOT MOVE IN DAYLIGHT

One German battalion was caught like this to-day and the British scattered it. It puts the Germans in the same plight as the British were in under the brow of the Mesdames and Westschate ridges and other high ground from which the Germans could see the slightest movement of British troops and would snipe even a solitary wagon with shell fire.

GERMANS CAN NOT MOVE IN DAYLIGHT

The tables are turned down here by the Somme and the Ancre. The German soldiers well know the torture of living always under hostile observation and under great guns. Already they are beginning to stick it as the British stuck to it in salients when they had hardly any guns to answer back.

LT. COL. LORNE ROSS

WRITES FROM FRONT

Tells of Splendid Work Being Done by the Western Scots

A letter written in France by Lieut. Col. Lorne Ross, of the 67th Western Scot, Pioneer Battalion, has been received by W. H. Wilkerson, the Government street jeweler, in which the colonel says:

"Your old battalion is getting on famously. The officers and men are all working in the spirit and making a name for themselves. The general is so exceedingly pleased with our work that he is coming over this week to thank the men personally for the way in which they have taken hold of the trenches.

"Our work of course is very dangerous, as we go out at night in the open under shell, machine-gun and rifle fire to dig trenches and build parapets, and although we have men hit every night it is splendid the way the rest carry on and finish the work given them.

"So far, unfortunately, we have lost Lieuts. Hall and MacKintosh, 12 men killed with 25 wounded.

"Handmaster Turner and the brass band are still maintaining their excellent reputation, and as they are divisional band, they are stationed at headquarters and play for the general and his distinguished guests.

"I hope you receive the Western Scot regularly, and are thus able to keep in touch with what we are doing over here.

"We often think of you and our other good friends in Victoria. Please remember me to any of my good friends around town, and with kind regards and best wishes to yourself."

Little Charlie had been spanked by his father for stealing cookies. His cousin, who was present, wishing to comfort him, said: "Poor Charlie! You have my sympathy." Looking up through his tears, he protested: "I have not. I didn't touch it." Boston Transcript.

REVELSTOKE'S MEMBER

Dr. W. H. Sutherland Pays Visit to the City in Course of a Holiday Trip.

Dr. W. H. Sutherland, M.P.P. for Revelstoke, was in the city this morning and left again for the mainland this afternoon. He is on the coast for a short holiday after the campaign, and took advantage of the occasion to come over to the capital and congratulate the leader personally on the victory of September 14.

The election of Dr. Sutherland was very popular in the city where he has lived for many years. He had a majority of 232 over the minister of public works, and the expectation is that this will be materially increased by the soldier vote.

Dr. Sutherland expressed warm appreciation of the volunteer work done in his behalf by the Liberals and the independent men of other parties during the campaign. Like all other members-elect he realizes the stress of the work which will be cast upon the shoulders of the new premier and whoever his ministers will be, but he is quite confident that they will be found equal to the task. He says the leader and Mr. Macdonald made a profound impression on their recent visit to Revelstoke.

That city prides itself on being the scene of the choice of Mr. Brewster as leader of the party and thus, in a sense, of his succession to the premiership of the province. It was at the Liberal convention held in Revelstoke in May, 1914, that the present leader was chosen unanimously by the Liberals of the province.

Dr. Sutherland was accompanied over to the city by W. B. Farris and Arthur Johnson, editor of the Revelstoke Review.

NOTED VISITOR COMING

Moderator of General Assembly Will Conclude Jubilee Celebration.

A noted visitor is expected to arrive in the city early to-morrow morning in the person of Dr. Baird, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, and acting principal for the last three years of Manitoba College. Dr. Baird was one of the early

THE KAISER'S EPITAPH

Germany, says Mr. Archibald Hurd in "The Fortnightly Review," owes the misfortunes which are crowding on her, in the main, to the vanity and ignorance of the Emperor. He read Mahan's works and convinced himself that he knew the secret of sea power. He studied the life of his great-grandfather, and assured himself there was no one who could teach him anything of armies. In spare moments, he toyed with international politics and believed himself to be an all-wise dictator. He dabbled in art, played with literature, and trifled with music. He loved to hear his own voice. Germany, when she comes to her senses, will trace her misfortunes to the day when the German Emperor began to read "The Influence of Sea Power upon History." From that moment he determined that Germany must be a great world power, no longer dependent on the goodwill of British sanny. The Emperor remained, however, a child in naval affairs, in spite of all his reading, a child also in military affairs, and a madman so far as international politics were concerned. He failed to realize that there has never been and can never be one Power supreme, both by land and by sea.

The German historian of the future will describe the German Emperor as a man who endeavored to be supreme both by land and sea. The emperor thought that he could ride two horses at one and the same time. He aspired to a world dictatorship, trusting to force. The course which this war has taken constitutes the epitaph on his vanity and folly.

The world has an admiration for Napoleon—dead; will it have any respect for William II.? He led his people to a world war, and when his errors rose against him he encouraged the naval and military agents, which he had fashioned to his purposes, to ignore not merely the laws of nations, but the dictates of our common humanity. Germany, as a result of his loud-voiced Hun-land of brutal thoughts and brutal acts which we know to-day. When the short, sharp and decisive victory evaded her grasp Germany believed that she had only one road of escape from the doom overshadowing her; by deeds of ruthlessness she thought to frighten the world into granting her what she could regard "as an honorable peace." That policy was the inevitable sequel to the emperor's speeches—his glorification of militarism—"protecting and extending Deutschland all the world over."

When "The Day" of the allies comes, the one man on whom and whose house retribution must fall is the emperor, whose major crime it has been that he made his people drunk with militarism, and then, to save himself, gave his countenance to a series of atrocities happily unique in human experience.

Mrs. Aytoun wanted some new shoes, so she went into a shop, when an obliging assistant brought out a selection for her to try on. "That's curious, madam," said he, after many vain attempts to fit her. "One of your feet is larger than the other." Bristling with rage, the lady left that shop and sought another. Here, again, the assistant failed to find a pair which would do. "That's curious, madam," he said. "One of your feet is smaller than the other." And, with a beaming smile, Mrs. Aytoun bought two pairs.

ANOTHER REPORT BREMEN CAPTURED

Washington, Sept. 30.—Another report of the capture of the German merchant submarine Bremen reached official circles here to-day from unofficial but usually reliable sources. According to this account, which is given credence by some high military officials, the Bremen was seen three weeks ago at the big naval station at Rosyth, on the east coast of Scotland, having been captured in one of the steel nets recently used with such success by Great Britain against German underwater craft. More than 70 submarines are said to have been taken or destroyed by these nets.

In spite of persistent reports of the capture of the Bremen her agents in this country apparently still are confident that she is safe on the high seas and will appear at New London, Conn., in due time.

The British Association, whose annual meetings are being held at Newcastle this week, has twice in its history had a leading statesman for president. Curiously, too, they were both on the same side of politics, they were uncle and nephew, and one was at the time and the other had been a first minister of the crown. In 1864 Mr. Balfour, when he was prime minister, presided at the Cambridge meeting of the association, and ten years previously Lord Salisbury had been president of the Oxford meeting. It was at the Oxford meeting in 1869 that the famous battle took place over the Origin of Species. One of the papers at the Newcastle meeting is on "The Origin of the Actor." Sir James Barrie thinks actors belong to a third sex. Does the writer of the paper think they belong to a different species?—London Chronicle.

All the Balkan states are rich in folk-song, though Roumania would seem to be the richest, at any rate so far as it is available in print. But was the folk-song of Roumania due to any "educational system"? True folk-song has usually been made by people who had small, if any, knowledge of reading or writing. The instrument of the folk-song maker was simple speech, either spoken or sung. It is in such work that the "wild civility" appears. "Folk poetry," a somewhat different thing, may be written by the educated on folk themes, but it does not spring from the people and live on the lips of the people.—London Chronicle.

Dr. Baird will preach to-morrow at the concluding services in connection with the jubilee celebration at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Dr. Wilson was the special preacher last night and Mrs. Wm. Grant was the soloist.

WERE FOUR JAPANESE FISHERMEN DROWNED

Vancouver, Sept. 30.—Last night's storm, which shook houses in Vancouver, smashed the late season fishing fleet off Steveston. Forty boats were out, all manned by Japanese. They were badly scattered by the blow. Three boats were overturned. Before 2 o'clock this afternoon the bodies of four men had been found. One more man may have lost his life. All the other boats and men have been accounted for.

Two boats from the Terra Nova cannery were overturned. No. 131 and No. 145 were swamped and their occupants, Y. Yakagama and K. Adolph, were drowned. Both bodies have been found. Boat No. 1086, of the Phoenix Cannery, was found filled with water. A Takagaki, the fisherman, had lashed himself along the gunwale, but had perished in the night of exposure. He was 22 years of age.

TELLS OF INFLUENCE OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Lecturer From Australia Addresses Members of Victoria Club

A valuable and interesting address was given yesterday afternoon at the Victoria Club by W. C. Harper, of Australia, on the "Working and Benefit Derived from Women Suffrage in Australia and New Zealand."

Mr. Harper, who was introduced by Mrs. Goff, vice-president of the club, opened his remarks by congratulating the suffragists of the province on their recent overwhelming majority in favor of the referendum. New Zealand in 1882 had led the way by being the first British country to grant its women political enfranchisement. They had been sufficiently democratic also, he stated, to give the Maori women representation, with the result that four Maori members to-day held seats in the lower House of the legislature. Women, however, could not sit as members of the legislature, but were eligible for all elective offices.

Returning the claim so often made by anti-suffragists that women would not trouble to cast their ballots, Mr. Harper stated that in 1892, when the measure first went into effect, 85 per cent. of the qualified women voted, as against 69 per cent. of the men. The percentage of votes cast had increased with each election, and at no time had the women's vote fallen below 74 per cent.

In dealing with the influence of the women's vote in New Zealand, Mr. Harper said:

"The New Zealand methods of caring for the health of women and children are cited as models for the whole world. The infant death rate in this little Dominion is 51 per thousand, and less than half that of the United States of America. It may also be noted that since women secured the vote legislative measures have been enacted making women eligible to practice at the bar; giving equal educational opportunities and honors to both sexes in the common schools, high schools and universities; establishing old age pensions; providing for the licensing of seamen's employment bureaus for the protection of girls; providing measures for the protection of adopted and boarded-out children; providing for the maintenance of destitute persons by their relatives; regulating property succession so as to insure provision for testator's wife, husband, or family (a fair division, regardless of sex), and the maintenance of defective and invalid children of family upon prisoners for the support of wife and family; creating and regulating industrial and technical schools; providing state aid for mothers; providing humane and reformatory methods of dealing with prisoners; instituting the probation system; suppressing indecent pictures and immoral literature and plays; creating a juvenile court; making conditions of divorce equal for both sexes; providing for compensation to women for slander; providing equal pay for equal work; insuring healthy conditions and a minimum wage for working women; instituting temperance regulations, and very many other measures of social and economic value."

Since the outbreak of the war, out of a population of a little under a million, of which several thousand were Maoris, New Zealand had sent to the front over 60,000 men, and was still supplying a monthly contingent of some 4,000. As a consequence the women of the Dominion had had to take upon their own shoulders a great deal of the work previously done by their men-kind, and in this respect had far exceeded all expectations.

Australia followed New Zealand by granting its women political rights in 1902, but extended their privileges by making them eligible to sit in either the Senate or House of Representatives of the Commonwealth parliament. Up to the present no woman member had been returned, though in 1903 and in 1910 Miss Vida Goldstein, the well-known suffragette, standing for the Federal Senate as an independent candidate, had polled 123,000 votes, being next on the list to the last man returned. In 1910 both Houses of the federal parliament passed a resolution testifying: "(1) That after 16 years' experience of woman's suffrage in various parts of Australia, and nine years' experience in the Commonwealth, the reform has justified the hopes of its supporters and falsified all the fears and prophecies of disaster voiced by its opponents. (2) That as foreseen by its advocates, its effects have been: (a) gradually to educate women to a sense of their responsibility in public affairs; (b) to give more prominence to social and domestic legislation."

Among important measures secured by the help of the women's vote in Australia were those providing for the regulation of food and milk supplies; juvenile courts and the appointment of police matrons; protection of juvenile immigrants; raising of the age of consent; old age pensions and maternity grants; and a law enabling women with foreign husbands to retain their own nationality. A fact worthy of consideration was that revealed by the recent wealth census, showing that wealth was more equally distributed in Australia than in any other country in the world.

There was no sign that the judgment of either sex had pre-eminently out-clasped the other. There had been no division of sex interests, and the balance of political parties had been scarcely disturbed. If the Labor vote had appeared to gain rather more proportionately than any other party it was chiefly because the women of the working class were, generally speaking, more vitally interested in and less easily deterred from exercising their franchise. Households appeared to think in unison in most cases, and this fact did not necessarily imply any lack of independent judgment, but the natural sequence of identical interests. This was strikingly evidenced in the case of women of position and their servants, who often showed a similarity of thought and political judgment. This closer understanding and sympathy between the wealthy and the working classes was one of the most significant signs of democratic progress.

The women of the Antipodes had shown that they fully appreciated their responsibilities, and the women of British Columbia, entering upon their new privileges might be fully trusted to show sound common-sense and wisdom in the exercise of the franchise.

At the close of his address a hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Harper on behalf of the Victoria Club by Miss Kathleen Oldfield, seconded by Mrs. Gordon Grant, after which the audience adjourned for tea, which was deftly served in the club dining-room.

TELLS OF FILM-MAKING

J. A. Nelson Gives Reasons Why Victoria Would Be Suitable Centre for Industry

The proposal to establish a motion picture factory and studio in Victoria is still being discussed. Yesterday afternoon there was a meeting of a few people interested in the matter at the rooms of the Victoria and Island Development Association where they met the organizer, J. Arthur Nelson, and discussed the whole matter with him. Alderman Porter, president, and those present were Alderman Johns, Frank Higgins and Commissioner Cutburt.

Two special reasons were given by Mr. Nelson why the company should be organized and operated here. These were that the making of films here would be one of the best advertisements the city could possibly have, and the other was that it would make money for those engaged in the business, and also it would be the establishment of an industry that would bring highly paid artists who were good spenders and who would help to bring money here from the outside.

On account of the small precipitation, the city was admirably well suited for the moving picture business, Mr. Nelson said. It had practically the same rainfall as Los Angeles and was every way suited on account of there being no extremes of temperature.

Films could be made just as cheaply here as anywhere in the world and the new settings would differentiate them from films made in California and other parts of the country. A set of educational films might be made here which would prove invaluable. If the profit made only equaled the amount which duty and country before people in other parts of the world. Many of the films were witnessed by millions of people. He prophesied that much of the advertising of the future would be done by means of films, and Victoria would be leading if she secured a studio here.

In conclusion Mr. Nelson said that from $20,000 to $25,000 was needed to start operations.

That exchange with Russia which gave the Dobrudja to Roumania and Bessarabia to Russia was not accepted in 1878 by Roumania with any other feeling than resignation. It was the best of a bad business. Roumania had done much for Russia. A Bessarabia and Bessarabia had been part of the Moldavian principality. Its very name told the story of an illustrious Roumanian family, and its loss in 1812 had been deeply deplored. And so the Dobrudja came into the new Roumanian kingdom, as a relative indeed, but at the sacrifice of a still more dearly-loved and lost one—London Chronicle.

ELECTROLYSIS AFFECTS HILLSIDE AVE. MAIN

Claim Has Been Lodged With Street Railway Company for Damage

As recently stated in the Times, electrolytic action has done considerable damage to the 24-inch steel water main at Hillside avenue, and the city engineer reported to the streets and sewers committee yesterday afternoon that the department was negotiating with the B. C. Electric Railway Co. to take the necessary steps to remedy this trouble, and further, the company had been requested to recompense the city for the amount of money expended in making these repairs. "If this trouble," he said, "is not stopped, very serious damage may result, so much so that in a few years it may become necessary to lay a new main."

The course taken by the engineer was approved, and when the answer of the company is received further attention will be given to the subject.

Authority was given the engineer to spend up to $200 to make Summit avenue, from Quadra street to Grahame street, passable. The engineer had reported that the expense of an 18-foot macadamized roadway would cost approximately $1,700, and to make a 12-foot trail, and place some macadam upon it, so as to afford access to Mr. Waring's premises, would entail an expenditure of $200. Alderman Johns suggested the use of cinders, as the work is to be temporary, and the proposal will be considered.

A petition of 21 residents of Blackwood street was supported by a delegation to protest against the erection of a stable on Blackwood street by Shelly brothers. The claim was made that the area is residential and property would depreciate by the location of a stable for 20 horses in the vicinity. Several speakers took this standpoint. It was stated that the by-law prevented the erection of a stable in residential districts.

Frank Higgins, on behalf of Shelly brothers, pointed out that in the Richards case the court had held on appeal that the by-law was ultra vires, except in so far as regulation of a nuisance was concerned. The firm had taken over an old stable, which had to be replaced, and the plans of the new building had been approved by the health department.

Alderman Porter said the by-law expressly prohibited stables for more than two horses in residential districts.

Alderman Porter's remarks were taken up by Mr. Higgins, who said the issue had been raised in the Richards case and rejected.

Council went on to argue that the stable had been already in existence, and therefore the people did not have a just grievance in having it replaced. Alderman Fullerton deprecated any official having given encouragement to such a proposal.

Alderman Peden said the sanitary inspector had merely offered an opinion on the health situation, but nothing else. The principle must eventually be decided by the council, not by the officials of the health department, as stated.

Richard Hall, for the petitioners, pointed out that the present stable was in an obscure position, and not an offence as would the new one be as proposed.

Alderman Peden suggested a reference to the solicitor for an opinion on the by-law.

"If you allow a nuisance, and it is a nuisance, these people have a right to their recompense," observed Alderman Johns, "and I am very loath to deal with the matter."

Mr. Shelly strongly opposed the attitude of the deputation. The protest had been started by a man who had tried to sell the firm a lot, he was informed, and was disappointed when the project failed. He promised recourse to the court to determine their position. As a matter of fact, the stable would be 45 feet from Blackwood street line. The firm must have facilities for transferring the bread to consumers.

The matter was left over for a report from the solicitor on the legal status.

Before the matter closed, Alderman Cameron said the time had come in Victoria when the claims of manufacturers and residents conflicted. He did not like the idea of the bakers, or the manufacturers, forcing themselves on a residential district. His sympathy was very much with the residents.

ROSS BAY SEAWALL

Proposal to Divert Funds to Provide Necessary Rock.

The city engineer recommended to the streets and sewers committee of the council yesterday afternoon that the finance committee should be asked to divert $10,000, voted in the estimates for repairs to the sewer on Cook street, to place more rock in front of Ross Bay seawall before the winter sets in.

Alderman Fullerton thought a small amount of work would be sufficient this year, as a protective measure.

Alderman Johns said the change of tide affected the sand deposit, which was forming. He thought some protection, however, should be given, of a limited extent.

Alderman Walker considered the best policy would be to use rock from May and Eberts streets and make an experiment. Some of the repairs put in would stand without a rock rip-rap.

The subject was referred back for a report, Alderman Fullerton thinking that while it was not possible to use rock from May street on account of
