Rosemont's Select List of Old-Fashioned Tea Roses

The Tea Roses we have today are descendants of Rosa indica odoratissima, originally a native species of South China. They are nicknamed Tea Roses because they have the odor of crushed tea leaves. They succeed in Florida and the Gulf Coast sections where other kinds fail. For Rose satisfaction in these sections, plant more Tea Roses.

Price, $1.50 each; 3 for $3.75

Alexander Hill Gray (Yellow Maman Cochet). Large, very fragrant, deep lemon-yellow, becoming deeper as the blooms develop.

Baroness Henriette Snoy. Blooms large, double, flesh-color inside, carmine-pink outside. Very free bloom and vigorous.

Bon Silene. Bud well formed; flower large, double, fragrant deep rose or rosy crimson. Vigorous; profuse, constant bloom.

Devoniensis (Magnolia-Rose). Flower very large, full, double, moderately fragrant, creamy white; center sometimes tinged with blush. Growth very vigorous; profuse, continuous bloom.

Duchesse de Brabant. Soft rosy pink blooms that deepen to bright rose. Large, double, slightly fragrant.

Freiherr von Marschall. Medium-sized, long-pointed bud; flower large, full, double, very lasting, dark carmine-red. Foliage blood-red when young. Vigorous grower.

Lady Hillingdon. Clear golden yellow. A very thrifty grower and free bloomer.

Maman Cochet. Rich coral-pink, shading to rosy crimson. Very large, with thick, shell-like petals.

Marie van Houtte. Large, very double, high-centered flower of deep cream color, tinged carmine-pink, with bluff-yellow base. Vigorous, bushy, sprawling; rich green foliage.

Mme. Lombard. Large, very double, fragrant, rosy salmon, deepening toward center. Vigorous.

Mrs. Dudley Cross. Full, pale chamois-yellow, edged in autumn with rose and carmine. Good grower and bloomer.

Princesse de Sagan. Introduced 1887. Velvety crimson shaded purplish.

Safrano. Large, semi-double, fragrant, saffron and apricot-yellow.

Snowflake. Pure white; profuse and continuous bloom. Very vigorous.

White Maman Cochet. Creamy white, flushed rose on edges.

William R. Smith. Best of all Teas for cutting! Large double flowers of softly diffused blush pink on long stiff stems.

Hardy Climbers, Ramblers and Pillar Roses

A Climbing Rose is a plant that, if given support, grows higher and higher, starting each year from or near the top of the previous year's growth.

A Rambler, properly speaking, has long, thin, pliable branches which if not supported, take root where they touch the ground and thus "ramble."

A Pillar Rose does not climb or "ramble" for its canes are too stiff. Some are strong and self-supporting; others require some support.

Price, except as noted, best-grade, 2-yr. plants, $1.25 each; 3 for $3.15.

American Pillar. L. C. Immense clusters of single, carmine-pink, white-eyed flowers with prominent golden stamens. A solid mass of blooms in late June.

EVERBLOOMING POLYANTHA OR BABY ROSES

The origin of the Polyantha is not clear. It is believed to have come from the Multiflora ramblers; hence the misleading names sometimes applied to them "Baby Ramblers." They are not ramblers in any sense of the word, but very dwarf, bushy plants, blooming in large clusters of tiny flowers. Excellent for mass planting or dwarf, informal hedges and borders.

Price, except as noted, best-grade 2-yr. plants, $1.10 each; 3 for $2.85; $10.50 per doz.

Cecile Brunner. The true Sweetheart Rose. Sprays of rosy pink buds open into shell-pink flowers. $1.50 each; 3 for $3.75.

Chatillon Rose. Semi-double, fragrant, bright pink blooms in large clusters.

Eblouissant. Very double, dazzling deep red. Blooms in clusters.

Gartendirektor Otto Linne. Double, dark carmine-pink, yellowish base, blooms in clusters of 30 or more. Bushy and vigorous.

George Elger (Yellow Baby Rambler). Like famous yellow Sweetheart rose except color is coppery to clear yellow. Height to 15 inches. (See picture)

Gloria Mundi. The prettiest orange-scarlet Baby Rose we know. A deserving winner of medals.

Ideal. Velvety crimson trusses of fragrant flowers.

Katharina Zeimet. Large clusters of 25-50 small flowers. One of the best white Baby Roses.

Peach Blossom. Clusters of 6-12 orange-red buds open into semi-double 2-inch blooms of soft carmine-rose. Bush dwarf and vigorous.

Perle d'Or. Dainty, pointed, salmon-orange buds; double, lasting, intensely fragrant, salmon-pink flowers borne in large clusters. Like Cecile Brunner in form and growth.

Tip-Top (Baby Doll). Tyrian-rose at edge of dainty blooms, passing to white and pale yellow.

Floribunda or Hybrid Polyantha Roses

This is not any particular strain of Roses, but rather a new group derived from various sources. They are strong growers, more cold-resistant than Hybrid Teas; the flowers are single to very double, borne in huge clusters throughout the season. They are most effective planted all one color in mass plantings or as informal borders and hedges.

Price, except as noted, best-grade 2-yr. plants, $1.10 each; 3 for $2.85; $10.50 per doz.
