Irish Agreement Reached Virtually on Every Point

Negotiations Reported to Be Complete Success; Draft of Irish Constitution Completed in Manner Regarded As Satisfactory to All Parties.

London, June 14.—The Central News says this evening it has learned authoritatively that to-day's Irish negotiations resulted in agreement on virtually all points.

Draft Completed. The draft of the Irish constitution has now been completed in a manner generally regarded as satisfactory to all the parties concerned in the London negotiations.

There will be a full meeting of the British signatories of the treaty under the presidency of Premier Lloyd George to-morrow morning to give the draft final consideration.

Election Surprises. Dublin, June 14.—Leaders of the pro-treaty party manifest increasing confidence in the outcome of Friday's parliamentary elections and predict some surprises for the anti-treaty party.

Many complaints are being circulated of intimidation in districts where independent candidates are standing for election. The Farmers' Union continues to protest alleged interferences with its candidates.

The raid on Darrell Figgis's whiskey, notwithstanding the committee's indignation, and it is maintained that this alone will bring many of his political opponents to his side and thus secure his election.

Uneventful. The Freeman's Journal, which favors the treaty, writes: "To all outward appearances the general election of 1922 bids fair to be the most uneventful in the political history of Ireland."

The Labor party organizers show a pretty good reason for claiming they will retain all their candidates in Dublin. Among the other independent candidates, the Lord Mayor of Dublin is said to be a likely easy winner in Dublin, the supporters claiming he will head the poll.

On the whole it is regarded as certain that several of the panel candidates will be displaced. The general view is that the anti-treaty candidates will suffer such losses as the panel may sustain.

Mayor Brown said he was going after "the man behind the man behind the gun." "The tong leaders," he added, "appear to have made agreements with each other and broken them. Now they are going to make an agreement with me and keep it."

TO PREVENT SPREAD OF SUNDAY TRADING

Police Board to See That City Does Not Open Wider on Sabbath

If Sunday Business Spreads Prosecutions Will Follow, Says Staneland

While it will make no further efforts to close stores which have done business on Sundays here during the past few years, the police commission will take vigorous steps, if necessary, to prevent the spread of Sunday trading, Police Commissioner W. E. Staneland announced to-day.

As a result of Magistrate Jay's decision, dismissing prosecutions under the Lord's Day Act, the Sunday closing issue is now closed so far as the police establishment is concerned.

Mr. Staneland declared: "At the same time we shall take steps to see that there is no relaxation in Sunday trading. If Sunday trading should show signs of spreading we shall certainly launch further prosecutions. Should any establishments be found to be open, however, we shall do nothing and will not appeal the present cases, which were dismissed yesterday."

No Papers on Streets. Sale of papers on the streets on Sunday will be stopped by the Commission, Mr. Staneland declared. "Newstands, of course, will be able to remain open and sell papers, but they shall not be allowed to sell papers, either those printed in Victoria or elsewhere, on the streets."

Mr. Staneland did not think that second-hand stores, auction rooms and pawnbrokers' shops, which Magistrate Jay ruled could remain open, would take advantage of this ruling. "If such establishments did open, however, proceedings would be launched against them, Mr. Staneland intimated.

Mayor Shares Views. "This is my attitude on the whole question and, from my conversations with Mayor Marchant before he left for his vacation, I believe that is his attitude," Staneland said. "I understand, when the Mayor left the city, that no further action would be taken if the first prosecutions failed."

Police Commissioner J. C. North, of course, has opposed the Commission's Sunday closing efforts from the start, so that the Board appears to be unanimous in its decision to drop the issue now.

Harvey to Do Nothing. Acting-Mayor John Harvey said to-day that he certainly would not attempt to appeal the Sunday prosecution, following out a custom inaugurated in 1912.

JESUIT TREASURE HAS BEEN LOCATED Buried for 300 Years in River Wye

Discovered by Needle of Magnetic Diving Rod

Penetanculshene, Ont.—June 14.—Buried beneath the waters of the river Wye for more than 300 years, the long lost treasure box of the Jesuit Mission to Huron has been located at last by the needle of a magnetic diving rod.

It lies beneath 20 feet of water and mud and divers are starting to raise it. Just what the box will show when it is brought to light is at present a matter of conjecture, but the needle shows that it contains gold in great quantities. This finding of the treasure is verified by the records of the Society of Jesuits which shows that one of the seven gold boxes brought into New France in the year 1650 and laboriously carried to Fort-Sainte Marie by canoe, was lost and never recovered.

IS HONORED BY GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

Chief Engineer of Department of Public Works Speaks

Good Roads Men Hear Opinions on Construction

The steady progress of Highway Development in British Columbia formed the principal theme at the meeting of the Good Roads Convention here to-day, Patrick Philip, Chief Engineer of the Department of Public Works, said in his address.

Conditions of road construction in Eastern Canada and the United States were also given attention during the morning session. The head of the British Columbia was explained to the delegates by Patrick Philip, Public Works Engineer, who said that his experience had convinced him that it was too early to talk of hard-surfacing roads of the interior.

"Contracts will be in the hands of the Government this week for improvement of about-thirteen miles of the North Thompson River road," he explained.

The progressive system of road building is steadily making it more and more possible to reach the various sections of the Province and link them up with the main trunk roads and which will ultimately lead to the completion of an inter-Provincial route which will form part of the all-Canada transcontinental highway, he explained.

The Government classification of highways and the system of super-

Papers have been served on the Taylor Engineering Company, the Dolly Varden Mining Company, the Taylor Mining Company, C. M. Rolston, trustee for the bondholders and H. C. Chiens, trustee for the creditors, but none of these offered opposition to the proposed action.

Ottawa, June 14.—Under the caption "Germany's Six Points," the Alienation Zeitung in an editorial, evidently inspired by Hugo Stinnes, designated half a dozen specific conditions on which the Entente must yield before Germany is enabled to fulfill her reparations obligations. The six points, the fulfillment of which the Allgemeine Zeitung declares would be essential to enable Germany to regain her feet, and "become solvent" are as follows: "First—Evacuation of Duisburg, Dusseldorf and Ruhrort, and abolition of the 26 per cent export levy. "Second—Evacuation of the left bank of the Rhine. "Third—Evacuation of the Saar Basin. "Fourth—Free trade for Germany with Danzig and throughout the corridor specified in the Versailles Treaty. "Fifth—Boundary regulation in Upper Silesia, in accordance with the Versailles Treaty. "Sixth—Elimination of the most-favored-nation clause. "The newspaper likens the German industrial system to a body which to-day is merely a torso, and is daily subjected to further "white" bleedings. Despite this it says, such a body is expected to work and lift its burdens, which is impossible.

Safe Majority on Budget Averted Appeal to People

Tense Interest Marked Endorsement of Government's Tariff Proposals By Majority of Eighteen Votes Following Division in Progressive Ranks.

Ottawa, June 14.—(Canadian Press)—Amid scenes of great excitement the Government at an early hour this morning carried its budget proposals by a safe majority of eighteen and thereby dispelled the likelihood of an early election. Throughout the day the debate had proceeded almost listlessly, but to crowded galleries and with an undercurrent of tense interest. Every gallery was packed from early in the afternoon until the House divided on the main motion at 1.30 in the morning.

The Government majority was the result of a division in the Progressive ranks. It was expected that three or perhaps four of the Progressives would vote with the Government. As a matter of fact, from the Opposition side of the House the Government was supported by nine Progressives and one Independent, the vote being 119 for the budget, 118 against, 101 Majority for the Government, 18 Progressive Aid.

The nine Progressives were: Reid, Frontenac; Hodgins, Middlesex East; Elliott, Dundas; Elliott, Waterloo South; Sexsmith, Lennox; Hammell, Muskoka; Binette, Prescott; McBride, Cariboo; Humphrey, West Kootenay. Thus seven of the nine Progressives represent Ontario constituencies and two British Columbia constituencies.

The Independent who supported the Government was Nell, of Comox-Alberni.

Crerar in Opposition. Hon. T. A. Crerar and the remaining Progressive, the two Labor men, Woodworth of Winnipeg and Irvine of Calgary, and Right Hon. Arthur Meighen with all his Conservative followers present voted against the budget. Laborers, as was expected, all voted for it. In neither the Liberal nor the Conservative ranks were there any switches.

The vote on the main motion came after a division on the Drayton amendment, which sought to censure the Government for flagrant violation of pledges amounting to disregard of political honor leading to "lower the standard of public life." This was defeated by a majority of 118, namely, against 169, for 51.

The amendment had the solid support of Conservatives. Liberals voted solidly against it. Five Progressives, among them being Miss MacPhail, voted for the amendment, the remainder against it. The two Labor men, Woodworth and Irvine, voted for the amendment.

And this result was attained only after a remarkable occurrence. It was noticed that when the vote was first called, seven Progressives and the two Labor men did not vote, and the result of the division was announced as: For 44; against, 167—a majority against of 123.

Meighen's Protest. Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, protested. He called the attention of the Speaker to the fact that the Progressives mentioned had not voted, although they were in their seats, and were not paired. The Speaker ruled with Mr. Meighen and the two Labor men were called upon for their decision.

Of the seven Progressives, five, including Miss Macphail, voted for the amendment and two against. The two Labor men voted for the amendment.

Resolutions in Detail. Following adoption of the budget motion, the House formally resolved itself into committee on ways and means, but almost immediately afterward the attention of the Speaker turned. The budget resolutions will now be considered in committee in detail.

GERMAN PAPERS ARE ENVIRED Berlin Newspaper Editorial Inspired by Stinnes

Berlin, June 14.—Under the caption "Germany's Six Points," the Alienation Zeitung in an editorial, evidently inspired by Hugo Stinnes, designated half a dozen specific conditions on which the Entente must yield before Germany is enabled to fulfill her reparations obligations. SAYS VANDALISM OF LOGGERS RUINS ISLAND'S SCENERY. Present Methods Will Spoil Highways, Lieutenant-Governor Warns. Urges Motorists to Fight for Timber Borders Along Roads. Logging methods in vogue among the magnificent forests of Vancouver Island are an absolute disgrace, and unless they are curbed the timber which makes the Island a veritable Scenic Paradise soon will have disappeared. Lieutenant-Governor Walter C. Nichol told the Automobile Association of Canada at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel this afternoon. "My heart aches at seeing the vandalism that is going on in connection with the timber on the Island Highway," said Mr. Nichol, who has just returned from a tour of the island. "Logging operations that are proceeding now are ruining one of the most beautiful roads in the world—the Island Highway through that great cathedral of timber which has made it so justly famous. This timber is being hacked and cut and burned and all with a ruthlessness and carelessness that is deplorable. We should strive to retain the natural beauties of the Island," the Lieutenant-Governor urged. "You men should join in efforts to have logging carried on at a distance back from the highway so that the present beautiful roads are not spoiled for the tourist and the motorist. At present you find acres of burning stumps, sparks flying into your car, the ditches are burning. It is absolutely disgraceful that it is deplorable. I am not saying this from a political standpoint. I am not a politician but I want to see the natural beauties of this Province conserved so that we can attract people from all over the world to see our scenery. I hope that no logging company will be allowed to log in the country north of Campbell River, among the fine timber there, in the ruthless way prevailing to the south of that point. It is an absolute disgrace, when such simple means to prevent this sort of thing are available, that we find logging spoiling the scenery." "A tree by the road side, chopped down and carried off to the mill means so much in dollars and cents for the present but a tree left and cultivated is practically for all time," remarked Dr. P. E. Doolittle, President of the Automobile Association, who presided. "In his plea for the Island, Mr. Nichol has not spoken for Vancouver Island alone but for British Columbia and for Canada." Mr. Doolittle explained that the objects of the Automobile Association of Canada are to secure the construction of roads, and to bring about uniformity of laws governing motorists. He emphasized the importance of road-building in the Dominion of Canada, and stressed the need of a trans-Canada Highway.

EX-NAVAL SURGEON DIES AT MAPLE BAY. Late Dr. P. W. Rolston Was Ninety Years of Age. Dr. Peter Williams Rolston, Fleet Surgeon, R. N., retired, died at the advanced age of ninety years at the residence of his son, Dr. C. M. Rolston at Maple Bay yesterday morning. The late Dr. Rolston was born in Devonshire in 1831, and had a long and adventurous career in the Royal Navy, serving in many campaigns. He is survived by three sons, Dr. C. M. Rolston of Antigonish, now residing at Maple Bay, W. G. M. Rolston of Victoria, and Col. J. M. Rolston of Vancouver, and one daughter, Mrs. C. W. Skelton of Quinchuan. The funeral was held this afternoon, services being conducted at 2:15 at St. Peter's Church, Quinchuan, the remains being buried in the churchyard beside those of his wife.

URGES SALE OF WILLOWS GROUNDS. Harvey Would Turn Them Over to Private Concern for Races and Other Sports. Sale of the Willows exhibition grounds to a private company which would arrange horse races and frequent attractions of various sorts is being urged by Acting Mayor John Harvey upon the council. "The exhibition grounds should be sold, or falling that, leased to the B. C. Agricultural Association," Alderman Harvey asserted to-day. "The city gets no revenue from the grounds and has to pay out interest on the bonds floated to buy them. It would be far better to sell the grounds to a private company which, by spending some money on them, could make them a centre of constant attractions, including frequent horse races. It is not just that the City Council should have to face the racing issue all the time. Under present conditions, I foresee that we shall have this question before us all the time. If the grounds were sold then we would not be faced with the racing question. It would be a private company's business, that is all. If municipal regulation were involved it would concern the city in any way as the grounds are in Oak Bay Municipality."

PATERSON HERE TO TAKE PART IN RITHET FARM SALE. A. D. Paterson, M.P.P. for Delta, has arrived in Victoria to meet Premier Drury of Ontario and to attend the sale of stock and implements at the Rithet Farm, Royal Oak, on Thursday afternoon. Paterson will be accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Paterson, and his daughter, Miss Paterson. The Rithet Farm, Royal Oak, is one of the finest farms in the province. It is situated on the shore of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, and is one of the most beautiful spots in the world. The farm is owned by the late Mr. Rithet, and is now being sold by the Government. The sale will take place on Thursday afternoon, June 15, at 10 o'clock. The property to be sold includes 100 acres of land, a large house, and a number of outbuildings. The sale is expected to attract a large number of buyers from all over the province.

NEELANDS HERE, SAYS S. VANCOUVER MAKING BEST OF A BAD JOB. R. H. Neelands, M.P.P. for South Vancouver, arrived in Victoria to-day to attend the Oddfellows' Convention. "We are still having a hard time of it in South Vancouver," he said. "There is sometimes a lot of antagonism between the elective and non-elective parts of our municipal government. Harvey asserted to-day. 'The city gets no revenue from the grounds and has to pay out interest on the bonds floated to buy them. It would be far better to sell the grounds to a private company which, by spending some money on them, could make them a centre of constant attractions, including frequent horse races. It is not just that the City Council should have to face the racing issue all the time. Under present conditions, I foresee that we shall have this question before us all the time. If the grounds were sold then we would not be faced with the racing question. It would be a private company's business, that is all. If municipal regulation were involved it would concern the city in any way as the grounds are in Oak Bay Municipality.'"

CHAMPION BIRD LAYS 114 EGGS IN FIVE MONTHS. Average, However, Was Less Than Half of That. White Wyandottes were to-day declared the champion breed of chickens when it comes to producing eggs at the least cost in Coast cities. The announcement of the victory of this breed was made by J. R. Terry, Chief Poultry Instructor of the British Columbia Department of Agriculture. "The average egg yield of various breeds, carried out during months at the Willows, Oak Bay, have just been completed. The average egg yield per bird in the Wyandotte section was 66 1/2 eggs. Mottled Anconas produced average 62 eggs each. The Anconas averaged 60 eggs each. Barred Rocks came third with an average production of 54 1/2 eggs per bird, costing over 19 cents more than the Wyandottes to produce. White Leghorns came fourth averaging 53 1/2 eggs per bird, costing nearly 2 1/2 cents a dozen more than the Wyandottes. "The returns disclose the fact that it cost 96 cents each to feed hens during the five winter months, or an average of 19 cents over 19 cents per bird per month," said Mr. Terry. "The average price of eggs for the period was 43.5 cents wholesale. The eight birds competing laid 4,498 eggs, averaging 54.2 eggs per bird. "During the five months one of the White Wyandottes laid 114 eggs. The poorest layer was a White Leghorn with 5 eggs to her credit, or an average of one egg per month. Mr. Terry is issuing a leaflet summarizing the results of the tests. Average yields were considered smaller than they should have been because of the hard ground on the Coast, as had weather decreases egg output.

WATKINS MILLS GETS TORONTO POST. He Will Be Choirmaster at Knox Church; His Wife to Be Organist. His wife has been appointed organist. They came on September 1 from Winnipeg, the present home. Mr. Mills was born in Paiswick, near Gloucester, England, in 1855, and "he himself has said, "I believe I could sing before I could walk." His voice never "broke," but first dropped to an alto and then, almost unexpectedly, "up" at nineteen he was singing baritone. He studied at Milan, Italy, and, rejecting his instructor's desire that he devote himself to an operatic career, returned to England and on January 1, 1886, sang in "The Messiah" at Royal Albert Hall, London. He made his first visit to America in 1894. Mrs. Mills is a Licentiate of the Royal Academy of Music and a gold medalist. She studied the organ for some years with Dr. Alfred King, F.R.C.O. and later with Dr. Chas. Macpherson, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

CONFIDENCE PREVAILS IRISH QUESTION

Hopelulness Expressed Following Yesterday's Conferences

London, June 14.—At the close of the Irish negotiations yesterday, Colonial Secretary Churchill, on behalf of the British signatories of the treaty, expressed complete satisfaction at the progress made. The negotiations continued throughout the day, concluding with a conference this afternoon at which Mr. Churchill, Michael Collins, Arthur Griffith and the Southern Unionists headed by Lord Middleton were present.

Yesterday's proceedings chiefly concerned the devising of a means whereby the interests of the Irish minorities will be adequately safeguarded under the new constitution. There are still a number of technical details to be settled, and the conferences will be continued to-morrow. The calmness with which both Parliament and press received the postponement until Thursday of Colonial Secretary Churchill's statement on this Irish situation taken as an indication of general confidence that, after the successive crises practically all difficulties have been smoothed away, and the draft of the Irish constitution has been brought into harmony with the Anglo-Irish treaty.

Michael Collins's arrival in London was expected to mark the sealing of a final understanding. His presence is necessary in such an event as he is the head of the provisional Free State Government, Arthur Griffith, who has been conducting the negotiations here, being merely president of the Daff Eireann, and not empowered to complete an agreement.

Upon his arrival Mr. Collins declined to discuss the situation or to express an opinion other than it was "very hopeful."

Mr. Collins had an hour's conversation with Mr. Churchill at the Colonial Office this morning. The latter afterward went to the Cabinet meeting at which Mr. Lloyd George presided.

Mr. Collins would not talk regarding what passed between him and Mr. Churchill, but said he would return there this morning and continue the negotiations. From this the deduction was drawn that Mr. Churchill would not make his full statement in the House of Commons until Thursday.

CROP CONDITIONS ARE FAVORABLE

Winnipeg, June 14 (Canadian Press)—The Canadian National Railway crop report for the week ended June 10 shows continued favorable conditions in all parts of the West. During this week there were rains everywhere, which furnished moisture where it was needed and benefited the young crops generally. The hot spell in the early part of the week was succeeded by cool weather, which checked the rapid growth and caused better stooling.

Throughout the Calgary-Edmonton division there were heavy rains, which were times when winds had caused rapid evaporation. Past of Edmonton to North Battleford there was frost on the night of the 12th, but as a general thing, severely in few localities but did no permanent damage to wheat. This frost apparently was not general and was not as serious in some places as others, low lying land being hit worst. Rains would be welcome in Southern Manitoba. A similar condition exists at a few points in Central Alberta, but as a general thing in this province wheat and later sown grains are thriving nicely and are in splendid shape. In Saskatchewan it is estimated there will be a reduction of from 15 to 20 per cent. in the wheat acreage owing to wet weather during the seeding period, but this will be more than compensated for by increased production of fall rye, oats and barley. The area under rye this year is fully eighteen per cent greater than was the case last season. During the week considerable flax, barley and grain for green feed was planted in the backward districts, practically winding up seeding operations.

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise all women with female trouble to give it a fair trial and I am sure they will feel as I do about it.—Mrs. FRED P. HANSEN, 562 Symmonds St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.

If you are suffering from troubles that sometimes follow child-birth bear in mind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

The letters we publish ought to convince you; ask some of your neighbors—they know its worth. You will, too, if you give it a fair trial.

BOARD OF TRADE WILL BE FORMED AT CHEMINUS

Decision Reached to Break Away from Duncan

Duncan, June 13.—The Duncan Board of Trade met to-day to consider a resolution regarding the proposed Board of Trade to be formed at Cheminus. The board would remain with the Duncan Board or form a new one.

Mr. Cheeke, president of Duncan Board, took the chair and opened the meeting promptly at 8:15. Mr. Neel then spoke, setting forth the reasons why Cheminus should stay with Duncan.

Mr. Lang, of Cheminus, replied ably, pointing out why Cheminus thought it better to sever connection with Duncan and have their own Board of Trade.

A general discussion followed and finally a motion was put to the meeting that Cheminus should have a Board of Trade of their own and this was carried unanimously.

The B. C. Telephone Co.'s cable splicers from Nanaimo, who have been working in Cheminus for the past two weeks, finished this morning. They have installed a new service and enlarged the board to twice its former capacity. The new cable wiring will do away with a number of the old wires and add considerably to the appearance of the telephone lines.

Baseball.—The Cumberland nine came to Cheminus on Sunday and walked away with the honors in another of the league games. They are a fast and steady aggregation of ball players and are blessed with a real pitcher in St. Clair, who for the first six of the nine innings pitched shut-out ball. In the seventh he weakened and Robinson reached first on a hit.

Horton brought Robinson in with a three bagger and was himself helped round by H. Brown, who lined out a nice two base hit. Then Rice came up and secured a three bagger, bringing in Brown behind him. Cumberland twister settled down to his old form and retired Cheminus, who registered no more in the game.

For Cheminus E. Brown pitched the first five innings and allowed fifteen runs. He was replaced by Emery when one man was out and bases full. Emery retired the side, fanning the next two who came up, and only let in two more runs, the rest of the game, but a pitcher cannot do it all himself and must receive the support of the others, by the failed to come up with the exception of Horton, who did play real ball.

The Cheminus fans know that their nine can do better and hope for stronger form displayed in next game.

The line-up was as follows:
Cumberland C H. Brown
St. Clair P E. Brown
Bannerman S.S. Rice
Horton I.B. Gardener
Pump 2.B. Robinson
Munch 3.B. McEwan
James R.F. McBride
Conti C.F. Howe
King L.F. Horton

STATES HAVE RIGHT TO FIX MINIMUM WAGE

Olympia, Wash., June 14.—A state or municipality has the right to fix a minimum wage upon public work without interference from the courts, the supreme court held in sustaining a demurrer to an action brought by N. Y. Fahn and Vincent Bress, contractors, to enjoin the City of Seattle from prosecuting for failure to pay a certain wage to employees.

A city ordinance providing that contractors on local improvement work shall pay wages not less than the current wage paid by the city for like work. Certain departments of the city were paying $4.75 a day for common labor in 1921 and the contractors were arrested for paying less. The complaint filed in the King county superior court alleged unconstitutionality of the ordinance and unreasonableness of the wage, which was declared to be in excess of the going wage.

The court in its opinion upheld the constitutionality of the ordinance and refused to consider the reasonableness of the wage, declaring the exercise of the police power by a city is the only matter in which a court has jurisdiction to determine unreasonableness.

SHRINERS SETTLE DOWN TO BUSINESS AT SAN FRANCISCO

Imperial Council Busy After Grand Opening Parade

Caravans and Sheiks Provide Riot of Color

San Francisco, June 14.—The Imperial Council of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, got down to business sessions yesterday after the grand opening parade to escort the Imperial Divan to the Council Chamber.

Reading of the report of Imperial Potentate Ernest Allen Curtis of Savannah, Ga., occupied most of the afternoon session, the morning being largely given over to speeches of welcome. To-day will come the election of officers when Deputy Imperial Potentate James McCandless, of Honolulu is to be elevated to the highest office.

By custom the only contest for office is in that of Grand Outer Guard, the lowest position in the Imperial Divan. The race is generally considered to be between John Pouch, of Alhambra, Wisniam, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Earl Miles, of Za Ga Zig temple of Des Moines, Iowa. They are past potentates of their temples.

Washington so far is the chief applicant for the privilege of having the Imperial Council meet within its gates. The selection of the next meeting place will be made Thursday.

Shriners in nine cities have applied for charters for temples. They are Topeka and Kansas City, Kansas; Fort Dodge, Ottuma and Council Bluffs, Iowa; Paris and Danville, Illinois; Sacramento, Calif., and Covington, Ky. Decision on their petitions will be made to-day or Thursday.

Official Banquets.—Last night several official banquets were held. The Imperial Divan members were the guests of honor at one, their wives at another, the Association of Recorders of Shrine Temples at a third and Canadian temples at a fourth.

The Imperial Potentate's ball followed the banquet. So that all could have an opportunity to dance two other large halls were used besides the civic auditorium, where the Democratic National Convention met in 1920. Decked with gay banners, bunting and green boughs, and lighted by Oriental lamps and with the floor crowded with brightly costumed shriners, the auditorium was a picturesque sight.

California's climate, its best advertised attraction, was slightly off schedule yesterday, but a heavy mist put no damper on the enthusiasm of three miles of resplendent Shriners nor in crowds that packed the sidewalks, the downtown windows, the grandstands and electric light poles to which the strange spectacle of a transplanted Arabia swung by to the most modern of tunes.

The weather bureau stood ready to swear to an affidavit that the weather was "unusual." The last real rain in June in San Francisco was in 1910 when .63 inches fell. In June, 1919 and 1920, a trace was recorded.

Caravans headed by sheiks in red and yellow automobiles and patrolled by Arab nobles riding in the sidewalks of spattering motor cycles instead of on the traditional blooded stallions, are very modernized versions of early Levantine history, but so are brass bands, airplanes, soaring overhead and the tunes "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," said "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town To-night" for that matter.

For numbers in the parade, Madinah Temple of Chicago, which boasts 22,000 members, easily stood first. It had two bands as well as a patrol. Moslem Temple of Detroit came next with many musicians and patrol members.

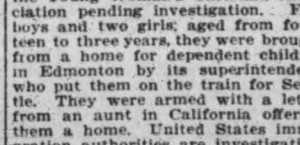

ORPHANS DETAINED.—Seven orphaned children, named Poston, of Edmonton, have been refused admittance to the United States and are held in Vancouver in the custody of the Young Woman's Christian Association pending investigation. Five boys and two girls, aged from fourteen to three years, they were brought from a home for dependent children in Edmonton by its superintendent, who put them on the train for Seattle. They were armed with a letter from an aunt in California offering them a home. United States immigration authorities are investigating.

RAIN IN ONTARIO.—Toronto, June 14.—The weekly report issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, states that great benefit has been derived from the rains that have fallen throughout the province during the last few days. Reports are unanimous in good crops of orchard fruits, except perhaps late apples and sour cherries.

HEATED ARGUMENT FEATURE OF SECOND OBENCHAIN TRIAL

Los Angeles, June 14.—A heated tilt between a defence attorney and the father of the slain man and the disappearance of documentary evidence were features yesterday of the second trial of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy. J. D. Kennedy, his father, while on the witness stand, characterized as a "deliberate falsehood" a question in which he had been asked whether his wife had undergone treatment "to make her look ghastly" when she testified in previous trials of the case.

Mr. Kennedy was called to the stand to identify his son's handwriting in letters and telegrams the prosecution had offered for identification. On cross-examination, J. D. Kennedy, chief attorney for Mrs. Obenchain, asked him if it were true he had been particularly active in endeavoring to secure a conviction of Mrs. Obenchain. Mr. Kennedy replied he had been very active in trying to secure the conviction of his son's slayers.

The attorney then asked if he had gone to a customer to secure a witness cross-examined he went to secure a veil for Mrs. Kennedy.

"Did you not go to the customer to have Mrs. Kennedy's face marked with lines and treated to make her look ghastly when she went on the stand?" the attorney continued.

"That is a deliberate falsehood. Nothing of the kind was done," shodded Mr. Kennedy. The point was not pressed further.

THE BUDGET PASSES.

While the Government at Ottawa had good reason to expect a majority in the main division on the Budget yesterday evening, we doubt if its most sanguine supporter expected as favorable an outcome as was disclosed when the ayes and noes were counted.

The nine Progressives and the lone independent will be commended for the good sense they showed. The country does not want another election this year. It wants the Government to be given a chance, realizing that the product of its first session necessarily must be limited and that it takes time to develop such policies as the seriousness of Canada's present problems demands.

The budget division probably is the most critical test the Government will have to meet and the result promises safe sailing for the remainder of the Session. This is not to say that constant vigilance will not be needed. The nine Progressives who voted with the Government yesterday might absent-mindedly forget to do so on some much less important issue.

There is always this danger where group representation exists and it will continue at Ottawa until the Government absorbs some strength from one or other of its opponents in the House. At the same time it is reasonably safe to consider that to sacrifice an annual indemnity of $4,000, even to vindicate a wrench so terrific to some members that the bare thought of it to them weakens the ties of party allegiance.

WILL NOT SUCCEED.

Ever since Messrs. Lenin and Trotzky established themselves in authority at Moscow many and various devices have been employed with the object of obtaining some sort of representation in the inner councils of the British Labor Party.

fontaine and is well known as an authority and lecturer on legal subjects. Incidentally, the fact that so busy a man is willing to assume the presidency of the Good Roads Association is a tribute to the importance of the work which is being carried on by that body.

FRIDAY'S ELECTION.

Whatever else happens it can be safely said that there will be intimidation on all sides while Friday's election in Southern Ireland is in progress. The Collins-de Valera pact was obviously designed to fetter the electors' freedom of choice and the advent of so many non-panel candidates will encourage the straight pro-treaty and anti-treaty forces to greater efforts.

Whether it is good for the settler to be spoon-fed by governments or not is a matter upon which opinions will always differ. At the same time the Province appears to have made a fairly good investment in the Okanagan by the purchase of the Osoyoos tract. Twelve months after placing the property on the market the town of Oliver has sprung up and settlement has gone ahead at a sufficient pace to warrant the establishment of most of the conveniences that one does not often associate with rural life.

CHANCE OR INTELLIGENCE?

To the Editor:—In my last letter the question as to whether or not intelligence was possessed by some of the highest animals, exclusive of man, was in no way at issue, as the Bishop of Victoria seems inclined to make out. I am not particularly concerned with that point at present. My stand, however, was that taken by a number of modern animal psychologists, whose findings give no reason to doubt. Granting, for argument's sake, the Bishop's point that in the animal kingdom man is the only creature possessed of intelligence, my arguments in favor of not attributing the will to the First Cause remain unshaken. I am surprised at my learned friend's avoidance of the true matter in issue and his attempted refutation of my arguments by what, to a careful observer, was an obvious case of "ignorantis clientis."

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

The Times congratulates the Canadian Good Roads Association upon its selection of the Hon. J. L. Perron as President for the year 1922-23. Mr. Perron is well known throughout the East as an efficient Minister of Highways in the Government of Quebec, and his active connection with the Association is bound to prove of the highest value to the good roads movement.

ations have continued since the last rebuff, only to end in the decision of the Labor Party to deny any affiliation with Communism until such of its representatives as would be otherwise associated with the moderate elements have consented to renounce domination from Moscow. Last year's committee which undertook to discuss the question with the Communists failed to discover any basis upon which the two forces could get together. On that account it can be taken for granted that the final effort which will be made at the next meeting of the Labor Party will produce no different result.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Southern Ireland's elections on Friday will furnish at least one novel example of how self-determination works in this year of grace, 1922.

THE ORIENTAL LABOR QUESTION.

To the Editor:—Who would not appreciate the attitude taken by Mr. Manson in the unemployment question? It is evidently very important for those who are out of work to find the Attorney-General actively on their side.

CAPITOL

The world's two greatest writers of passionate, throbbing, super-romantic love-stories met at the Lasky studio, Hollywood, when Elinor Glyn and Mrs. A. M. Williamson renewed an acquaintance started ten years ago at the latter's villa near Monte Carlo. Elinor Glyn, author of "Three Weeks" and "The Great Moment," was on hand to assist in the filming of her novel, "Beyond the Rocks," a Paramount picture starring Gloria Swanson and showing this week at the Capitol Theatre. Mrs. Williamson is the "A. M." of the famous "C. N. and A. M. Williamson" who are joint authors of such successful romances as "The Lightning Conductor," "Lord Loveland Visits America," "The Princess Passes" and "Lady Betty Across the Water." Following the death of her husband some months ago, Mrs. Williamson came to America on a sight-seeing tour.

DOMINION

Did you ever hear of people who walked as if they had wings on their feet? Agnes Ayres doesn't precisely do this in "The Ordeal," which comes to the Dominion Theatre this week, but she does wear feather shoes, an interesting sartorial novelty which is a feature of this new Paramount picture from a Little Theatre W. Somerset Marham. Conrad Nagel plays opposite the star.

ROYAL VICTORIA

A big double bill is being presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre this week when Peter B. Kyne's great story from the Saturday Evening Post entitled "The Ten Dollar Raise" will be shown, the other being a new side-splitting comedy featuring Buster Keaton in "Cops." This is one of the best bills that have been shown at this theatre for some time, and should be the medium of attracting good audiences at all performances.

What would you do if you were suddenly given "The Ten Dollar Raise" Wilkins waited for twenty years—and didn't get? In "The Ten Dollar Raise," a J. L. Frothingham production for Associated Producers, now showing at the Royal Victoria Theatre, you will find something to think about that will make you a better man or woman.

Miss Van and Miss May are close friends. Indeed, they worked the story out together.

LITTLE THEATRE

A thoroughly enjoyable evening is promised all patrons of the Little Theatre, Oak Bay Avenue, this week, where the Victoria Dramatic and Operatic Society is producing the laughable three-act farce "Jane." When first produced in London this play had a run equalled only by "Charley's Aunt" and "The Private Secretary," and it is doubtful which of these three famous farces is the more mirth-provoking. The plot of "Jane" concerns a young bachelor of somewhat extravagant habits who, in order to obtain money to pay his debts, is obliged to pass himself off as a married man. All goes well for a time, but there comes a day of reckoning, and the complications that ensue are many and various. The fact that his housemaid, Jane (a part played by Miss Eva Hart), consents for a consideration to allow herself to be proclaimed as the wife, notwithstanding the fact that she has that very day been secretly married to the valet, William (Mr. R. N. Hines), does not seem to be a very serious matter, as called upon unexpectedly to produce a family as well as a wife the climax is reached. It is safe to predict that all those who see this play will return home satisfied that they have had full value for their money, for in addition to the fact that the play is in itself a classic, the cast presenting it is an exceptionally strong one.

For the first time a French magazine has representatives to Hollywood, California, for the special purpose of writing news stories and features on the film industry as it obtains in the greatest picture-making centre in the world. Credit for this "pioneering" work to the Cinemagazine of Paris, and the man they chose for the important assignment is M. Robert Florey, one of the best known writers of France. Soon after arriving in Southern California, he met Douglas Fairbanks, with whom he had become well acquainted abroad, and, as the entire time of the journalist was not required for his magazine work, he accepted an offer to do some special writings for the foreign department of the Pickford-Fairbanks publicity staff. Later M. Florey will write elaborate biographies of both Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks for a French publishing concern, which plans on issuing these works in de luxe bound book form.

Now Jack is being directed by Arthur H. Ross in an elaborate pictorialization of "Garrison's Finish," which will be a United Artists special release.

PREMIER DRURY ARRIVES ON FIRST VISIT TO COAST

It is the first time Premier Drury has been west of the Prairies. Although he has been making arrangements for some time to come to British Columbia and to attend this convention, it was not until last Thursday night that he was able to get away from Toronto. He was held there by the long session of the Ontario Legislature, which came to an end only on Tuesday.

Although there had been whisperings that Ernest Drury was being groomed to enter the Dominion House of Commons as a man independent of either of the old political parties when the proper time came, it was not until the Ontario farmers in the Provincial election of October, 1919, returned as many Farmer and Labor members as there were representatives of the two old parties in the House, that Mr. Drury was talked of for prominence in the Provincial field.

SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL EVENING HELD BY ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY

The Royal Society of St. George held its last social of the season last evening in the rooms of the Victoria Club, Campbell Building. There was a very large gathering of members and friends present, who enjoyed and participated in the music, dancing and refreshments, the arrangements for these being in the hands of the president, Mrs. T. K. Leach and committee of the ladies' auxiliary. During the evening vocal numbers were contributed by Messrs. Moss, Harrison, Bryant, tenor, and Mrs. Corlett and Mrs. Nixon, the accompaniments being played by Stanley Deaville and Miss Connie Moore. Dean Quinlan acted as chairman, and in some happily chosen remarks congratulated the ladies of the society on their constant, diligent and successful efforts in providing and arranging such excellent gatherings throughout the winter months. In reply Mrs. Leach, on behalf of the ladies' auxiliary and other committees, thanked the Dean for his uplifting and courteous assistance to the society.

BOURNEMOUTH AGAIN LEADS.

Again Bournemouth, England, comes to the fore. Last April was held a great festival of music under the well-known and popular conductor, Dan Godfrey, whose orchestral programmes for many years have been quite famous. The success achieved was most notable. Additional interest was lent the festival by the presence of some of the biggest men in English music, who in many cases conducted their own works. Among the British writers represented were Sir Alexander MacKenzie, Sir Edward Elgar, Grenville Bantock, Villiers Stanford, Vaughan Williams, Arthur Sullivan, Dr. Arthur Somervell, Dr. Walford Davies, Arnold Bax, Percy Fletcher, Eugene Goossens, H. Holloway, Julian Clifford, Sir Frederic Cowan, Roger Quilter, Ernest Farrar, Joseph Holbrooke, Martin Shaw, Henry Purcell, Dame Ethel Smyth, Edward German, Wallace Armstrong, Gibbs, Cyril Jenkins, Gerald Phillips, Sir Hubert Parry, F. H. Holst, Learmonth Drysdale, W. H. Reed and John B. McEwen. A wonderfully formidable array of names, and is a manifest of the musical activity of modern England. It has surely added to the laurels of Mr. Godfrey, whose enthusiasm, organization powers and careful rehearsing are always recognized and supported by the whole community of Bournemouth.

Gasoline Bill High

Like other progressive farmers, he bought an automobile. The first year so much travelling was there that his gasoline bill amounted to more than the price of the car. Even on Sunday he was kept on the go. On certain Sundays in the month he had to get up a little earlier to prepare the sermon that he had to give at some rural church, as he was a lay minister in the Methodist Church.

City Fears Unfounded

In the cities there were heart throbbings at first for fear of what the radical farmers would do. But when the first session of the Legislature showed that the farmers were even more conservative in the handling of public affairs and getting value for money spent than the voters had hoped for from either of the old political organizations in the Province, financial and anti-commercial leaders in Toronto showed no hesitation in publicly, as well as privately, expressing their confidence and complete satisfaction in the manner in which public affairs were being conducted.

Strong Man Physically

The change from an outdoor, fresh air life on the farm to a confined office existence in the Parliament Buildings in Toronto has not affected Premier Drury's health, as many feared. "He looks so much healthier than he did when he was merely a farmer working out of doors," said a friend who recently observed the Ontario Legislature in session. "His appearance to-day is a hard blow to all theories about the healthfulness of farm life. Drury never looked as well as he does to-day."

Farmers Get Together

He took advantage of every occasion to preach along these lines. The younger generation on the farms began to show an interest and sympathy in the course being pursued by the young group of active and public-spirited agriculturists of which he was the most prominent. For years members of the older generation of Ontario farmers shook their heads and adopted a what's-the-use attitude, that it was useless to try to get the farmers to stick together, any more.

Another Cincinnati.

For years before he was called from the plough to assume charge of the affairs of the premier, Mr. Drury had been looking over the list of possible candidates for the position of premier of Ontario. He had always taken in every movement that would stimulate the farmer to improve his own condition and take a greater interest in the affairs of his country. Besides the meetings in various parts of the Province to discuss marketing and growing problems, there were always social and church gatherings and Mr. Drury was always in demand and always in attendance as long as there was an evening in his crowded week which he could spare. Younger members of his family came to think that life consisted chiefly of one long series of "meetings."

Earle Williams will be seen in a new picture entitled "Restless Souls," which is scheduled for release at the end of May. In all his long career on the screen, the star has never appeared to better advantage than in the role of Jimmy Parkington, the man who pretends to be dead so that his wife may marry another man. The tangle which results from his well meant scheme provides abundant comedy.

AUTHRESS OF BOOK ON LONDON HERE

Miss Elizabeth Montzambert Has Written Successful Book
Miss Elizabeth Montzambert, of London, England, author of a delightful little book, "Unnoticed London," has arrived in the city, and is visiting her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Montzambert, "Hochelega," Rockland Avenue, for a few days.
Miss Montzambert is a Canadian who has lived in England for many years, and she herself expressed it yesterday, she quickly realized that to many Canadians London consists of a comparatively small area, bounded on one side by the Savoy or Ritz Hotels on the other by Bond Street, and on the other by the route to Euston Station. In order to encourage, in a small way, a greater interest on the part of her compatriots in the many charming old-world and historic spots in the great metropolis, Miss Montzambert set out to write her book and her success in London may be judged by the fact that it is now in its fourth edition, three thousand copies having been sold in England. The book is also meeting with much success in Eastern Canada.
During her brief stay in the East Miss Montzambert tasted the experience of "homing," many functions having been arranged in her honor by leading Victoria and V.I.C. associations and press organizations.

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. MATTHIAS
Miss Eileen Exham Married to Saskatchewan Mar
One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at St. Matthias Church, Fowl Bay, at noon to-day when Eileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Exham, of 161 Beechwood Avenue, Victoria, became the bride of Frederick Ernest, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Lee, of Marchwell, Sask. The Bishop of Columbia performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. A. W. Collins, rector of St. Matthias, in the presence of a large congregation of friends and relatives. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father during the singing of "Lead Us Heavenly Father, Lead Us," looking girlishly lovely in her gown of white crepe de chine and artistically arranged veil held in place by orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and white carnations. Miss Eileen Exham, sister of the bride, attended as bridesmaid, looking very sweet in shell pink organdie with hat to match and carrying an "early Victorian" bouquet of cream roses and pink sweet peas. Mr. Arthur Exham supported the groom. The little Misses Betty Thomas, Margaret Leighton and Valentine Harlock made dainty little flower girls in pastel-colored frocks of organdie, each carrying a basket of rose petals, which they scattered in the path of the bride, on leaving the church. The bride's mother looked charming in her handsome gown of grey baronette satin with mauve picture hat, wearing a corsage bouquet of violets. During the ceremony the hymn "Oh Perfect Love" was sung, and during the signing of the register, Mr. Ashdown sang "Oh Promise Me." The bridal party left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, beautifully rendered by Mrs. E. J. Harris, who presided at the organ. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which had been most artistically decorated for the occasion by Mrs. Harlock and Miss Hitchcock, friends of the bride. The happy couple stood beneath a flower decked wedding bell and receive the hearty good wishes of their many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Lee left amid a shower of rice and confetti on the 3.15 boat for Vancouver, where they will make an extended visit; they will also visit Banff, Lake Louise and Winnipeg before taking up their residence in their new home at Marchwell, Sask. The bride's traveling costume was a smart model in navy blue gaberdine with hat en suite. The happy couple were the recipients of many gifts in packages. The groom's gift consisted of a gold brooch with pearls and to the best man a silver cigarette case and to each of the little flower girls gold pendants.

An interesting wedding took place in Snohomish, Washington, recently, when Miss Hazel Frances London, of Snohomish, became the bride of William P. Young, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Vout, of Victoria. Rev. Mr. Killian performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Vout will make their home in Westport.
The following marriage notice from The London Times of May 17 will be of much interest to the many local friends of the bride. "On the 11th May, at the Church of Ascension, New York, Humphrey Charles, second son of the Rev. R. A. C. Bevan, of the English Consulate, West-Isle, to Mary Francis, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie, of Scotsburn, Ross-shire, and Victoria, B.C."

Miss Arnoldi at Charming Ceremony at "Molton Combe" Yesterday
A charming little ceremony took place at "Molton Combe," Oak Bay, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sampson, yesterday afternoon, when Miss Joan Arnoldi presented four new members of the youngest Junior Chapter of the I. O. D. E. in British Columbia, the Royal Bride Chapter, with badges of membership. The children who are of an average age of about seven years were assembled in the Summer house with their regent, Miss Bertha Morley when Miss Arnoldi with the badges and in a charming little ceremony pointed out to the kiddies that they were not only members of their own Chapter but were also members of an organization which includes many of the thousands of women in Canada. At the conclusion of the ceremony Miss Arnoldi presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses and little Miss Arnoldi recited a poem in "My Garden."

The One Unwanted

By RUBY M. AYRES

INSTALMENT No. 16

I kissed every one of its rather ordinary words, and I slept that night with it under my pillow.

I was jealous of the business that was so urgent he could put it before me, but comforted myself with thoughts of to-morrow and how wonderful our meeting would be.

I awoke in the morning to the steady sound of pouring rain on the roof of the farm, and to big drops chasing one another down the window.

I sat up in bed and stared lugubriously at the wet world. What a dismal day when one was so happy! But the weather, which had any power to affect my spirits and I made an extra special toilet that morning, being confident that we should go to Langton, no matter how hard it rained.

I put on my thickest boots and got out my big mackintosh, and hurried through breakfast at top speed; but Mark did not come.

About ten o'clock the rain stopped, and a watery sun struggled out from behind a cloudy sky. It sounded colder, and its words gave us less comfort.

At lunch time the postman came and brought a letter from mother. She had written hurriedly, she said, as she had heard from Mrs. Albery that I had done a foolish thing, and with my usual impetuosity had engaged myself to a young man whom I had met only half a dozen times in my life.

I do not want to be hard on you, Sally, so she wrote, "but my dear child, you must know what a rash proceeding this is. A strange man whom neither your father nor I have ever seen. However, we are quite willing to see him, and hear what he has to say, etc., so if he adopts any other course, and writes to us, the matter shall be considered."

I laughed as I read it. As if it mattered what my mother wrote! I was going to marry Mark if the whole world objected, so their opinion counted but little. I am afraid it was very unkind, but they had never meant anything to me, and now when a chance of happiness came, it seemed unfair that they should step in and try to spoil it.

But I was very surprised at the bold tone in which mother wrote. I had expected kinder words. A hurried recall home, or perhaps a flying visit from either her or my father. To tell the truth, I was relieved when she saw him, I was sure.

Mark would write to them, of course. Go and see them, too, if they wished it. She would be agreeably surprised when she saw him, I was sure.

It was raining again. The watery sun had vanished; the world was once more an unbroken grey. Why did not Mark come? A dozen times I was on the point of putting on my hat and going in search of him, but never did I do so.

He lived so near. If he wished to see me it was no trouble just to walk across the field path and up the lane.

Tea-time came, but no Mark. "You're not eating, miss," Mr. Albery said, kindly and anxiously. I started; I had been straining my ears for the sound of a step on the road outside. "I said, 'You haven't got a chill?' his wife asked, her shrewd eyes scanning my face. 'You look flushed, Miss Sally.'"

I felt flushed. My face was burning, but not for any reason that she understood, and there was a gnawing anxiety at the back of my mind. I went up to my room and stared out into the darkness. I could see the light from a window in Mark's house and I wondered what he was doing for myself what he was doing.

Was it Nina who was keeping him? I felt I hated her. I went downstairs and out to the wood house, where the boy Ned seemed to spend his life chopping wood.

But he was not there to-night, and I was just turning away when I heard his voice in the dark yard outside and the heavy sound of his step.

I waited, and presently he came into the shed. He had an old sack over his head and shoulders, and was wet through with the steadily falling rain. When he saw me he grinned and produced a note from an inside pocket.

"Mr. Anderson," he said, "I feel snatched if from him. The feeling of relief was too great for words; I sat down on the old chopping bench with the absurd desire to burst into tears."

Presently I found my voice. "Ned, who gave it to you?" He shook his head and solemnly looked the rain from it before he answered. "Mr. Anderson himself, for sure." "Mr. Anderson," I gasped. "Has he been here, then? When did he come? Why didn't you tell me?" He stared at me with owl eyes. "It was only just this minute," he objected. "He was in the yard there talking to me a minute afore I came in here. He gave me the note to give yer, miss. 'Give it her yourself,' he says. 'And here's two shilling for you.'" cannot ask you to forgive me, neither can I explain what is inexplicable. The kindest thing you can wish for either of us is that we may never meet again.

"MARK ANDERSON."

I don't know how long I sat there in the old chopping shed, the letter clutched in my hand.

I felt icy cold from head to foot, even my lips seemed to be frozen.

One of the farm dogs came and looked round the open door at me, and I trotted shyly forward, thrusting the muzzle of his soft nose against my hands asking for notice.

I pushed him away. I think in my madness I struck him, for he crept off with a little whine of reproach.

The lantern which Ned had left on the bench flickered and went out in a sudden gust of wind, but I did not care. I sat on in the chilly darkness, praying that I might soon wake up and find it all a dream; although, in my heart I knew it was truth, horrid, staring truth, which had got to face me.

He did not love me! The only kind thing that I could wish for either of us was that we might never meet again.

The time crept on, and presently I heard Mrs. Albery calling that supper was ready.

Supper! This, then, was the end of the wonderful day to which I had looked forward so passionately.

The sluggish blood stirred in my veins, and a sudden flood of anger swept through me. I would not accept of this. I would see him once again or die! If he thought he could throw my love aside so easily he was mistaken! And presently I found myself out in the cold night, running through the mud and pouring rain, hatless and coatless as I was, saying over and over again in my heart: "I hate him! I hate him!"

I stood still then, wet through, and shaking in every limb, the letter clutched in my hand.

There was a light in the parlor window, where we had had tea that first afternoon, and I crept along the front of the house, trying to get the door open, which was not quite drawn down.

But beyond an edge of white tablecloth and the glow of the fire I could see nothing in the parlor.

Was he there? If he was not, I made up my mind that I would wait till he came home, even if I had to wait all night.

I think I must have been a little out of my head, for presently I raised my hand to knock at the door.

It seemed a long time before my knock was answered, and then it was by Nina herself.

She looked so pretty and composed that I felt the contrast between us painfully. I knew that my face was a tragedy, but I did not care.

"Oh, how wet you are! Won't you come in?" she asked, in concern. "I heard what she said, but I did not answer."

"I want to see Mr. Anderson. Is he at home?" A voice, which, of course, was mine, asked a question, but it sounded like a stranger's.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

THE VAIN MERMAID—Part III.

As they walked the youth told Greta his story. "I am a Prince," he said. "One day while I was sitting by the sea a Mermaid came out of the water.

"She was very beautiful, as you could see, and I exclaimed that she was the most beautiful creature I had ever seen, but then I had never seen you."

"Whether she threw over me a spell I do not know, but when she held out her hand I took it and she drew me into the water and under it until I was at the bottom of the sea.

"Then she called to the Sea-witch to change me into a fish, that I might each day I might tell her she was the most beautiful creature I had ever seen, but I should have power to say this only to her and to no other mermaid."

"This the Sea-witch said she would do, but there must be one chance for me to regain my own form and the mermaid could choose what she should be. 'What would you like to possess?' asked the Sea-witch.

"The mermaid replied that she would like to have a silver comb to comb out her long golden hair, and so the witch changed me into a fish and said that when I should get the mermaid by hook or crook the silver comb then I could have my own shape again."

"You loved me to get it, but I had fallen in love with you before you did that. The day I first saw you on the rocks I knew that the mermaid was not the most beautiful of all creatures."

"If you will marry me you shall become a Prince and your father and mother shall become a Duke and a Duchess and live at court and we will all live far away from the sea, though I must make one more visit here before I leave the sea forever."

By this time they had come to Greta's home, where her father and mother stood, wondering where the youth who was with her had come from and who he was.

Greta told them then why she made the strange purchase the day before an Earl, mother," said Greta, "but I am to be a Princess instead."

"I told you so, wife," said the fisherman laughing. "I said a Prince might come for Greta and you might some day live a court, and my words have come true. You see now how wise a husband you have."

"But wise as you are, I fear you cannot make a Duke of yourself or a Duchess of me. Poor fisherfolk had best live where they belong by the sea," replied his wife.

But the Prince said this must not be, that Greta must be happy and she would not be happy unless her parents were both with her and so they all left the home by the sea for the home of the Prince and as soon as he had told his father and mother what had happened during his long absence the wedding took place.

As soon as they were married Greta asked the Prince why he had said that once more he must visit the rocks by the sea where they had first met.

"Not to see the mermaid," said the Prince. "I must go to carry a bushel of silver combs and these will not be for the mermaid, but for the others who lived in the sea, for well I know that the poor Sea-witch will lead a miserable life until every other mermaid has a silver comb."

"The one to whom you gave the comb has combed her golden hair until all the others are green with envy and the poor Sea-witch is blamed for it."

So one day Princess Greta and her husband drove in their coach drawn by two white horses back to the rocks by the shore and dropped into the sea a bushel of silver combs and from that day the mermaids have all been so busy combing their hair with the silver combs they have not had time to charm mortals.

PRESIDENT THANKS GOOD ROADS MEN

Appreciates Honor to French Canadians; Papers Are Read

A high tribute to the Canadian Good Roads Association was expressed yesterday afternoon by Hon. J. L. Perron, Minister of Roads for the Province of Quebec, upon assuming the office of president of the association.

"I accept the honor paid not only to me personally, but to the Province of Quebec and I thank you. I am and always have been convinced of the importance of the association and the good it can do for our Dominion. It is one of the best organizations in Canada and it helps us to forget differences of race, religion and creed and to build up one united country."

The coming year should be spent in co-ordinating all interests toward further Federal aid. The provinces, municipalities, associations and individuals, should be marshalled in support of this sentiment, the nothing will be able to withstand its influence.

We should moreover discourage experimenting in road building, should emphasize the need of economy and haste to complete the roads of Canada should be made slowly.

The importance of the work of the Association should be appreciated by its members and emphasized on every occasion. The field is wide, the national features should be presented, national ties established, national sentiment strengthened and national misunderstanding banished. Recognizing this, the day's work accomplished will be worth while, and your Association will continue to occupy the high place which it has earned and holds in the hearts of all road builders.

Praises British Columbia
Canada wants and must have more people, and to get them good roads are the primary consideration. So stated A. P. Sandles, of Columbus, Ohio, to the delegates, who lauded the Dominion a high compliment, and said in British Columbia he saw every where evidences of prestige and that Premier Oliver was a fitting trade-mark.

Mr. Sandles said he believed the association was laying the foundation corner upon which would be built a greater Dominion. He asserted that agriculture was the cornerstone upon which a nation was built and the industry that good roads through the provision of good highways. He thought perhaps too much attention had been given to roads for the joy riding of the country's meal ticket.

"Good roads are a safety-first factor," said Mr. Sandles. "We have a transportation trinity, waterways, railways and highways, and the last named is the more important. Freight rates on the coast are too high, so that in the United States we find motor trucks everywhere, and they are doing a great deal of freighting that would otherwise be done by rail."

Mr. Sandles advised co-operation among the provinces and between the people and their government officials. The dollar value of goods shipped would mean national security, contentment and prosperity.

Hon. J. L. Perron, Minister of Highways for Quebec, reviewed the road situation in his province, particularly dealing with the question of finance. Next year Quebec will spend $8,000,000 on highways, he said, and by the end of this year, there will not be a foot of road in Quebec that is not in first class shape.

He explained that his province had adopted the plan of dividing the highways into three classes, the first branches, one attending to construction and the other to maintenance. This was found to work admirably.

Hon. Mr. Perron said that he did not permit the use of trucks carrying more than two and a half tons, and during the thawing season many roads were closed.

He said that the sale of liquor by the government in Quebec had resulted in the visit of 25,000 or 30,000 American cars in the year, and the government gave a share of the liquor profits to the municipalities for road purposes. He said there were 60,000 automobiles in Quebec and 500 miles of roads improved. In granting aid for roads the Minister said the plan was to give about three times as much to municipalities as was spent on provincial roads.

Cement Concrete Roads.
"Cement Concrete Roads" was the subject of a paper read yesterday afternoon by James Allen, Superintendent of state highways, Olympia, Washington. He said that the selection of a suitable type of pavement was a comparatively modern problem. Twenty years ago there were few rapid-moving vehicles and these were largely confined to the cities. Now the automobile is a necessity and large stretches of country roads must be hard-surfaced in order to stand the traffic.

After experimenting for years, Mr. Allen said that with hardly an exception highway engineers have adopted Portland cement and concrete pavements as the standard. Four-fifths of all paved highways in the United States during the past five years were of this type. In ten years, he said, over 300 miles of cement concrete pavement has been laid in Washington State and no other form of hard-surfacing is used by the Government.

The speaker said that the first costs of cement concrete pavements is less than for brick and about the same as the best type of bituminous pavements. But the service rendered by the smooth, non-slippery surface of a concrete road was superior to all other types and the cost of upkeep far less.

Mr. Allen counselled the greatest care in selecting highway routes. This should be given as much attention and study, he said, as the location of a railway and no pavement could last, he pointed out, unless the surface and ground waters were removed.

Attention must be given to the matter of loads, said the speaker.

that Association may be obtained for Canada.

The number of contributing members has grown, and the assistance obtained from these will assist us naturally in functioning fully.

The convention to be held at Victoria in the fulfillment of the desire of your Association that same might be national in character, scope and usefulness. This has been demonstrated in that our conventions have now been held from ocean to ocean.

The coming year should be spent in co-ordinating all interests toward further Federal aid. The provinces, municipalities, associations and individuals, should be marshalled in support of this sentiment, the nothing will be able to withstand its influence.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN
QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash, or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store. (Adv.)

of all the visitors. It accompanied the Canadian delegates from Montreal and was delighted with the scenery in the Canadian Rockies. He was particularly struck with the beauty of Victoria and the water voyage from the mainland. He says that all along the line the Canadian people turned out to greet the delegates and extend a welcome.

MAJOR NEY ON PILGRIMAGE OF TEACHERS

Has Gone Ahead to Prepare for European Trip

Montreal, June 14.—I am often asked what is the real motive of the "pilgrimage" of Canadian teachers abroad, said Major F. J. Ney, of Winnipeg, the founder and honorary organizer of the Overseas Education League and General Secretary of the National Council of Education of Canada...

at Arras and other places they can see how France has suffered from enemy aggression; they are impressed with the extreme cordiality of the French people for Canada as a nation, and the teachers will come to regard other countries as by no means as "foreign" as they imagined.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ask Minority Report.—The Tillicum Voters' League, at Tillicum School last night after discussing Health Centre affairs, decided to ask the Saanich Council to secure, through the Victorian Order, a minority report of the committee inquiring into the practicality of admitting maternity cases.

Dr. Poynts Goes East.—Dr. L. K. Poynts left for Eastern Canada today to attend a number of radiologists' conventions and clinics and to secure new apparatus for the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital here. He will visit a number of Eastern American cities before returning to Victoria.

Entry Date Extended.—The entry date for acceptance of photographs taken at the May 24 celebrations has been extended until June 28 when judging will take place. The Amateur Photographic Society will judge the pictures. There are three prizes up for competition, and some hundred pictures have been sent in so far.

Change of Officers.—Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan was last night elected vice-president of the Tillicum Voters' League, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Sutton. Chairman Ridgway-Wilson and Secretary Booth were authorized to act in their respective offices until the next meeting, which will be held to discuss Greater Victoria proposals but were specifically denied authority to speak for the Association.

Col. Davies to Lecture.—At the regular monthly meeting of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute in the Temperance Hall, lecturing to-morrow evening next at 8.30 (day-light saving time), Col. Davies, of the Land Settlement Board, will give a lantern lecture on land settlement in British Columbia. C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, of the Advisory Board, will give a talk also. The prizes will be awarded to the winners of the strawberry crop competition. The newly-formed Boys' and Girls' Club will be explained.

Canadian Legion W. A.—At the general meeting of the W. A. to the Canadian Legion, 1406 Douglas Street, Mrs. Ricketts presiding, a great deal of business was transacted and there was also a good attendance of members. It was decided at the next meeting to hold a free social evening, June 26 and a good time will be assured all who attend. Mrs. Hunt was appointed secretary to the meeting. Mrs. White, whose resignation was accepted with regret.

Described Everest Expedition.—An interesting description of the trials to be encountered in the present attempted ascent of Mount Everest was given to the local branch of the Alpine Club of Canada in a lecture by Major E. Oliver Wheeler, M.C., a member of the Mount Everest Expedition last year. The address took place at a reception held in his honor at the Empress Hotel. Excellent lantern slides proved a graphic illustration of the speaker's remarks. R. D. McCaig presided.

Pianoforte Recital.—Algernon H. Lindo, a well known English music composer and writer of text-books, will give a recital at the studio of Madame Webb, corner of Fort and Cook Streets, on Friday night at 8 o'clock. Madame Webb, who personally knows Mr. Lindo, assures those who attend an evening of entertaining and instructive pianoforte recital. Selections will be played from many of the noted composers of music, including Beethoven, Schumann, Scriabine, Scarlatti, Schubert, Liszt, Debussy, Brahms and Chopin.

To Get Tourists' Suggestions.—The Kiwanis Club is about to put into effect a unique plan for making tourists feel at home here and at the same time securing valuable suggestions from them concerning improvements in the city. Members of the club will distribute to visitors a unique card which bears on the front a space for the name of the Victorian introducing himself. The card is folded and on one half there is a space where visitors can write suggestions for the improvement of the city from a tourist's point of view and mail it to Secretary Walker of the Kiwanis Club. The card carries this inscription: "Our experience has been that the most helpful suggestions have come from our visitors. Will you fill in below what, in your opinion, might have made your sojourn in our city more enjoyable."

Girls' Corner Club.—A supper for business girls will be served on Thursday, in the clubrooms, Liberal Hall, Government Street, at 8:15 o'clock. This will be the closing meeting of the club, until October, when it will reopen after the Summer holidays. Mr. R. C. Owen, Jr. will address the girls this week. Mr. Owen has just returned from Chicago, where he has been attending the Moody Bible Institute with a view to offering his services for foreign mission work. The annual C.C. picnic will be held June 21st. All members and their friends to meet at the clubrooms at 2 p.m., where tally-ho will be in readiness to take the party to Deep Bay, one of the island's most beautiful resorts. Tickets can be obtained after the meeting on Thursday. Each girl attending the picnic is requested to bring a package of sandwiches and a cup and saucer.

Police Seek Deserters.—The city police were requested to locate two alleged deserters from the S. S. Cardiganshire of the R. M. S. line, which called here recently. L. Brook, assistant cook, and John L. Morse, a steward's boy, it is said, are the men wanted.

Canadian Legion.—A meeting of the Canadian Legion, Victoria branch, will be held at the club at 8 o'clock to-night, when important business will be discussed. The local branch has received its charter from the Ottawa headquarters.

Saanich Police Court.—One of the longest dockets heard in a Saanich court will come before Magistrate Jay in the court this afternoon, when over twenty-two persons will be called on varying charges, mainly for alleged offences under the Motor Act. Speeding cases take up a majority of the list, it is understood.

Will Present Picture.—At the Victoria High School on Friday morning at 9 o'clock, the chapter of the Young People's Society of Emmanuel, O. D. E., will formally present to the school a framed copy of Matania's famous picture "The Burial of the Unknown Warrior." All members of the chapter are urged to make a special effort to attend this ceremony.

Thieves Use Hack Saw.—That thieves, with hack saw, had succeeded in cutting the lock on the rear door of premises at 1150 Wharf Street, known as the Victoria Exporters, Ltd., Wholesale Liquor Company, but had failed to gain entry was reported to the police to-day by Harry J. Stump, proprietor of the premises. The lock was partially sawn through but the thieves, it is thought were disturbed in their work.

Fined For Drugs.—Before J. Maitland-Douglas, J. P., in the Provincial police court at Duncan on Monday, Wah Sing, a laundryman of Shawigan Lake, was fined on two counts. The accused paid $200 for being in possession of opium, and an additional $50 for being in possession of unsealed liquor. Costs were imposed in both cases. Orlay Wood and other officers of the Provincial police here gave evidence, following a raid made over the week-end.

Presented Pageant.—At the First Congregational Church last evening members of the Luther League of the Grace Lutheran Church again presented the "very successful" pageant "The Striking of Canada's Hour," illustrative of the value and responsibility of missionary work. Assisting in the programme were Miss Scovroff and Mrs. Patterson, pianoforte duet; Mrs. Williams, solo; Miss Lorine Gibson, reading; Master Lawrence King, piano; and Mrs. Patterson, solo.

APPEAL TAKEN FROM SUMMARY JUDGMENT

Judgment for $17,151.37 in Dispute in Appeal Court Hearing

Opened in the Court of Appeal yesterday afternoon, just prior to adjournment, the hearing of Baskin and others versus Lindsay (appellant) continued to-day. The appeal is one from a summary judgment of Judge Forin, in the County Court at Nelson, in favor of the plaintiffs—respondent, E. C. Mayers, for the appellant, stated that the learned trial judge had held that the defence appeared to be one for delay only, and gave judgment for the plaintiffs, in the sum of $17,151.37. Since that time affidavits setting forth grounds of defence had been filed by the appellant, and the onus, contended Mr. Mayers, rested with the respondent to show why the appeal should not be heard.

C. R. Hamilton, K. C., for the plaintiffs—respondent, held that the affidavits filed by the defence were not sufficient grounds for an action, and that no right of appeal could lie. The hearing continues, with submission of legal authorities by the respective counsel. The hearing has reference to a contract, alleged to have been made by verbal agreement in which logs and plims were to be cut by the appellants for the respondents. This agreement, it was alleged, was violated.

At the close of the hearing of Johnson versus Munsha Farm yesterday afternoon the appeal was allowed by an unanimous decision of the Court. The appeal restores to William S. Johnson a charge order by Judge Grant, which had been set aside by Judge Ruggles in the County Court.

The appellant, William S. Johnson, in a judgment creditor of Munsha Farm, E. C. Mayers appeared for the plaintiff-appellant, and L. B. McLellan for the respondent. The peremptory list includes Old versus The World Ltd., Donovan versus Burton; and the Corporation of North Vancouver versus Carlisle.

MAYOR PARNELL BURIED TO-DAY

Large Attendance and Beautiful Flowers Mark Obsequies

Representatives of the city who had died united with those from the city Mayor Edward Parnell so well served in honoring his memory at the funeral this afternoon. A full choral service was held at St. John's Church, Archdeacon McEhleran, of Winnipeg officiating, assisted by Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, the rector of the parish. The handsome church was filled with mourners, largely owing to the fact that many former Winnipeg men are now resident in Victoria, some of whom were business associates of the late Mayor.

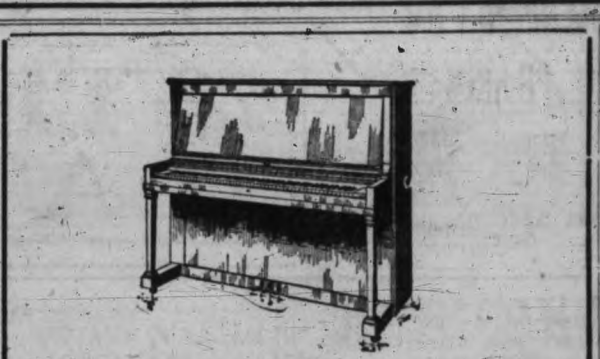

Representative of the city of Winnipeg was Alderman William Douglas, and J. M. Spier represented the bakery firm with which Mr. Parnell was associated there. The Sons of England, in which order Mr. Parnell had held the highest office, took a prominent part in the funeral. The service being conducted at Ross Bay Cemetery by Brother G. H. Pledger, President of Alexandra Lodge, and L. G. Grey, of Pride of the Island Lodge assisted him. The Sons of England were represented by Magistrate George Jay, a past president, and the Manitoba body by Past District Deputy W. A. Carpenter.

The pallbearers included Acting Mayor Harvey and Alderman R. W. Perry, of Victoria, Arthur Lee and Ex-Alderman Dinsdale, on behalf of the Sons of England, Alderman Barrie and Alderman Blumberg. Magnificent wreaths were sent, specially beautiful emblems coming from the City of Winnipeg, a shield with the city coat of arms, and from the Winnipeg Master Bakers' Association, the Government of Manitoba, the Ogilvy Flour Mills, Grand Lodge Sons of England, Manitoba; Benefit Society of the Grand Lodge, S. O. E.; Victoria Lodge, S. O. E.; Fleischman Co., City of Victoria; St. Mary's Church, Victoria; Employers' Association of Manitoba. In addition to the flowers from England, many were tributes from Toronto, London, Ontario and Winnipeg from personal friends.

Make Your Garden A Wonder Garden

It's easy. Market growers know the secret. Follow it and have the largest crops of fruits and vegetables, an abundance of the biggest and sweetest scented flowers of the most intense and vivid colors.

Here is the secret! The better grades of commercial fertilizers contain only 2 to 5 per cent. nitrogen; 4 to 10 per cent. phosphoric acid; and 5 to 15 per cent. potash, combined in material that has no fertilizer value. Fast fertilizers are far below this average. Science has produced a tablet, rich in plant food, containing 10 per cent. nitrogen; 12 per cent. phosphoric acid and 15 per cent. potash, in a soluble form. For crops in rows, set the tablets a foot apart, along the row. Three tablets, one every ten days, in the hills make Cucumbers, Squash, Melons and Climbing Onions, better results than any other fertilizer. In Flower Beds and Borders, place tablets a foot apart. For Bush Fruits and Shrubs, use three to five tablets, placed in the soil about each plant. Fruit or Ornamental Trees, place tablets two feet apart, extending from the trunk as far as the limbs branch. Pine also for greenhouses benches and pot plants. Four tablets dissolved in a gallon of water, used in place of liquid manure, is less trouble and gives better results than objectionable manure water. Makes thick, velvety lawn. Each tablet is just the right size, containing highly concentrated, immediately available plant food. They increase production, heighten color and improve quality. Their use is highly profitable. The name of the tablet is NIM-ET-PLAN-T. No matter how small the soil, NIM-ET-PLAN-T is effective in feeding and fertilizing crops. Market Gardeners use them in large quantities. Order by name—NIM-ET-PLAN-T—there is no substitute. Be sure to get the size tablets on the wrapper. Price delivered: 5c. $1.00, $4.25. Order from your seed dealer or UNITED DISTRIBUTING CO., 258 Pemberton Bldg., Victoria, B. C.

PLAID FOR AMATEUR GOLF TITLES MONDAY

Golfers from Various Parts of Canada and U. S. to Play at Hamilton

Hamilton, June 14.—(Canadian Press)—The amateur golf championships of Canada to be decided this year on the links of the Hamilton Golf Club at Ancaster during the week beginning June 19 are expected to attract a field of competitors thoroughly representative of the best talent in Canada and the United States and to have more of the international flavor than any of the contests that have preceded it. Canada will no doubt contribute Frank Thompson, who won the championship last year at Winnipeg, and probably C. W. Hague, Calgary, the runner-up. There will also be the veteran George St. Lyons, who has won the ribbon eight times, his first victory being as far back as 1908, and his son, Seymour, from Toronto. Hamilton will enter another distinguished veteran, F. R. Martin, champion in 1907 and 1910, and runner-up in 1907 and 1908.

MAINLAND AMATEUR OFFICIALS TO BE HERE ON SATURDAY

A special meeting of the Victoria branch of the B. C. A. A. U. will be held on Saturday evening at 8.30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. C. delegate to the last convention of the A. A. U. of C. and western representative of the Canadian Olympic Games Committee.

New Links Will Be Among Best in Land

By A. M. D. Fairbairn.

When a golfer has played for the first time over a course that is new to him and later on, in an arid chair, is contemplating his round over a final pipe, it is not perhaps so much individual holes that rise up before his mental vision, as in his mind's eye he sees in broad perspective the larger characteristics, not necessarily topographical, which lumped together and set into a biased suggestion of the whole give that course a special significance, differentiating it in a general way from other courses he has played and upon which he has just played completely around the new Uplands course for the first time and, although the nature and character of each of the individual holes have been known to me in detail for many months and I have seen them, one by one, emerge from the wilderness of forest and scrub and meadow, it has not been until now, within a few hours of my having played around the completed course, that I have been able to get yet into which I could put when I came to the greens and no teeing grounds upon which I might see my driver's (that is, the driver's) superiority of a golfer who plays in a "big" way, would treat with a kind of silent contempt the player who is content to pick a hole, and it must be a well-hit drive that will reach the ridge that marks this half-way distance. Thence the fairway, the grass, the mowing, the green, separated from the veranda of the clubhouse by a group of ancient oaks of gnarled grandeur.

BRAVES MAY REPEAT 1914 ACHIEVEMENT

Boston Staging Drive Reminiscent of That Feat and Upsets Contenders

New York, June 14.—The Boston Braves may not duplicate this year their remarkable achievement of 1914, when they fought their way from last place to the top, won the pennant and trimmed the Athletics four straight in the world's series, but right now they are staging a drive reminiscent of that feat and upsetting championship contenders right and left.

KNIGHTS TO FIGHT OUT WITH EAGLES

Amateur Ball Teams in Critical Game To-night; Both Have Strong Teams

The Knights of Columbus and the Eagles will meet at the Stadium to-night at 6.30 o'clock, and in so far as these clubs are concerned, this game will be the most vital of any these teams have played this season. With the first half of the season finishing next Wednesday, a win for the Knights will give them a chance to finish on the top end of the ladder. A win for the Eagles will pull them into second place while a loss will drive them down deep into the cellar and their chances of getting out before the second half of the schedule begins will depend on the way things turn out.

AMATEUR BALL TEAMS IN CRITICAL GAME TONIGHT; BOTH HAVE STRONG TEAMS

Mr. Martin holds the amateur record for the Ancaster course, seventy, jointly with Charles Evans, Jr., of the United States. The record of sixty-six, was made by the ex-Canadian open champion, the late Douglas Edgar, in 1915. The course has been greatly changed and completed since then, and a chance to finish on the top end of the ladder. A win for the Eagles will pull them into second place while a loss will drive them down deep into the cellar and their chances of getting out before the second half of the schedule begins will depend on the way things turn out.

ODD FELLOWS FAIL TO PLEASE GUESTS

It's going to take more than a convention to make these Odd Fellows win a ball game. They swaggered down to the Stadium last evening for the purpose of disporting themselves before the visiting brethren and hitting the C. P. R. for a goal. After the game had finished they ducked out the back gate so that they wouldn't have to make alibis to their guests. The reason for the knot-hole exit was the score, 18 to 2.

MOTHER'S DAY OFF—By Amy Carr

MOTHER woke up shivering and sneezing and with a pain in every individual bone in her body, the feeling that she would like to be cast off on a nice warm desert island and just left there indefinitely was strong in her.

But duty, in the shape of a husky husband, two boys and a girl, called her, and she tried to rise, but instead emitted a deep groan! Friend Husband raised himself on his elbow and looked at her anxiously. "What's the matter, mother? You're not sick, are you? You just stay in bed and take a good rest; we'll get along all right."

Mother: "Can you really, John? I feel so miserable; I just want to be still and keep warm."

Dad: "Sure. I'll just go down and make the porridge and coffee and shave after." (Calls.) "Willie! George! Bessie! Get right up. Mother's sick; she's going to stay in bed to-day." (Goes down to kitchen.)

Voice from below: "Mary, where's the rolled oats?"

Mother: "In the red tin on the table. Are you up, children?"

Two Voices: "Yes, ma!"

Mother: "Bessie—Bessie! Get up; I want you to help father."

Bessie, in bed (with a loud yawn): "Yes, mommie, all right."

Voice from below: "Mother, where's the coffee kept?"

Mother (sneezing): "On the second shelf in the pantry."

Pleading yell from below: "Somebody bring the peroxide and the witch hazel and some sticking plaster. Mother, why in thunder didn't you tell me the mouse-trap was on that shelf?"

Mother (hysterically): "Hurry, children; take those things to your father."

Willie (rummaging on the medicine shelf and knocking down bottle after bottle): "Mother! I don't know which is which."

Mother (dreadfully): "Never mind; I'll get up and get them myself. Bessie—are you up?"

Bessie (putting one toe on the floor): "Yes, mommie, dear."

(Loud tumult from the bathroom.)

Willie: "I got in here first."

George: "You didn't, neither; I did. Ma! Ma! Willie kicked me!"

Mother: "Children, please be quiet; my head is bursting."

Voice from below: "How many teaspoons of coffee do you put in the pot?"

Mother (sneezing violently): "S-S-S-Sis!"

Family cat twining itself gracefully around dad's legs as he brings in the milk: "Me-ow! Me-ow!"

Dad (testily): "Get away from me, you beast! Is everything yelling in the house this morning? Boys, come down here at once or you'll not get any breakfast."

Bessie: "Mother, will you please tie my hair ribbon? I can't make it look nice."

Willie: "Say, dad, there's no salt in this porridge."

Dad (wrathfully): "Well, put it in yourself! I'll never get to the office in time this morning!"

George: "Dad, the toast is burning!"

Dad (who has been trying to read the paper and eat at the same time): "Dash it all! A man can't do two things at once!"

Bessie (giving mother a cup of weak coffee and a piece of burnt toast): "Do you think you'll soon be well, mommie?"

Mother: "Yes, dear, if I can only get a little rest. Tell the boys not to forget to brush their teeth."

It's Husband Who Has Right To Carve All the Meats

IN 1919, the Earl of Cathcart, about sixty years of age, married a young widow, Vera Grey-Warner, who was in her twenties. The marriage caused a sensation in English society, not so much because Vera was beautiful, although she emphatically was, but because the earl had been a principal member of the Bachelors' Club.

In 1921, there were rumors of unhappiness arising from this May-October wedding, and now the earl has secured a divorce from his wife.

This sort of story in itself is common enough, but added features have given it unusual publicity. It wasn't so much that the countess was said to be eloping with another earl, but that she ordered a number of gowns charged to her husband, about which Mr. Justice McCardie said, "I believe the countess really desired those gowns with a view to her elopement to Deauville with Lord Craven."

No wonder the first earl objected. He refused to pay the account and the company that supplied the gowns, a firm of court dressmakers, sued him.

The trial has aroused the keenest interest, reflected not only in popular papers of wide circulation, but also in journals that are constantly seeking a background and a setting for their stories.

The London Nation is one weekly that has based its treatment of the story on the legal and human relationship of husband and wife.

The judge in the case, who finally decided that the earl was not responsible for this particular debt, said that it was for the husband to fix the scale and standard of married life, but that he was obliged to keep the wife in such necessities as meat, drink, clothes and physic.

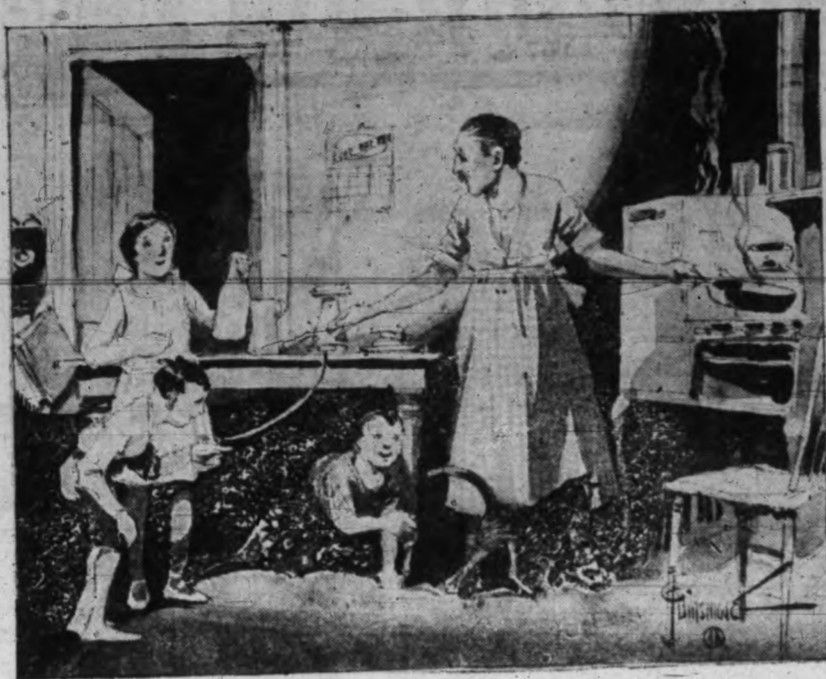

This was in accordance with ancient law, as explained by Bacon, where, however, there is a significant proviso that the wife "is not to be her own carver."

The husband must supply the meat, but he has the right to carve and serve it.

From the age of cave-dwellers onwards the male has enjoyed the privilege of cutting up the beast. It was so in Homeric banquets; it is so in most modern Sunday dinners, where the husband sharpens the steel and plunges the carving knife into the sirloin of an ox or the leg of a sheep.

In those cases where, at the husband's own request, the meat is carved by the wife in the kitchen, the normal role is reversed and the wife is proved automatically to be the head of the household.

Besides the necessary amount of meat carved for her by her husband, the wife is also entitled by law to the necessary amount of clothes, and the question arises whether she may carve those

"Get away—is everything yelling in the house this morning!"

Chorus: "All right, mother!"

Dad (shaving): "Say, Mary! Where do you suppose you got that cold?"

Mother: "Oh, getting out of the bath to answer the phone or letting you in past midnight when you forgot your key or—At-choo!—any old time!"

Dad: "Well, don't you get out of bed for anything to-day!" (Pecks her on cheek and goes downstairs.) "So-long!"

Mother: "Children, have you brushed your teeth?" (Wild scurry to the bathroom.) "Jest doin' it, mother! Gimme the tooth paste, George. Ma! He's squirting it all over the place!"

Mother: "Please hurry; you'll be late. Don't forget your rubbers; watch the puddles. By, by!"

Chorus: "G'by!" (Front door slams.)

Mother cuddles down comfortably, but is roused by the postman.

Postman: "Registered letter, ma'am!"

She puts on her kimono and goes down to sign. Three wrong phone numbers and the baker bring that many more trips, and at eleven o'clock George comes crying home with the toothache. When that is attended to mother crawls back to bed.

for herself or must the husband cut the clothes as well as the joint? Obviously not; the law is not such a fool as all that. She may choose her own clothes, and her husband's credit may be assumed up to a reasonable limit.

The husband, explains the Nation, "may expressly refuse authority for any credit, but even in that case, if he has neglected to supply the wife with the actual necessities of life in food or clothing or medicine, she may pledge his credit for obtaining such necessities. For it is evident that a husband may not starve or freeze his wife to death. On the other hand, if a wife deprived her husband of clothes so that he died of cold or shame, her crime, by the old law of England, was petty treason, and she was burnt alive, as befits that offense. That extreme penalty, however, has been mitigated within the last century."

A wife, therefore (where there is no fixed allowance for dress or other necessities), may pledge her husband's credit up to a certain point. The difficulty is to fix the point. It must be according to the condition in which the people live, but the condition varies almost beyond computation. Charwomen, milkmaids (if there are any still), cooks, governesses, teachers, women doctors, countesses, duchesses, princesses, wives of the American presidents, and queens are all women, but the point up to which they may pledge their husbands' credit in accordance with the condition in which they live is obviously as variable as the barometer.

This was established in evidence. In answer to the judge, the plaintiff's saleswoman said that a countess for one season would require between thirty and forty day and evening gowns, a dozen sports suits, and perhaps a few extra gowns for special occasions. The wife, she said, of a baronet would probably require the same. We may suppose from this evidence that the wife of an ordinary knight would not require so many.

As Mr. Justice McCardie remarked in his judgment, "the burdens on a man increase with his social position."

"And we might, perhaps, remind him of Solomon's similar observation: 'When goods increase, they are increased that eat them.' The number of people that eat the goods of an earl and countess seems 'perfectly appalling,' to use the appropriate phrase. In the present case, after deducting taxes (which the war eats), Lord Cathcart had about £4,000 a year. For many humble people, like miners or engineers, it would seem sufficient. But what a crowd were eating at the sum! The landlord and the ratee ate about £525; the countess with her necessary dresses ate nearly £1,000; there were a butler and seven or eight maids all eating hard; there were the earl's own tailors, hatters, grocers, chauffeurs, friends, and goodness knows who! All necessary for the condition of life, and all eating into that £4,000 a year! Compared with a coal-miner's or an engineer's, the lot of an earl is not invariably a happy one."

According to evidence Lady Cathcart regarded £960 as "hopelessly inadequate" for dress, traveling, and the salary of a governess. The chairman of the plaintiff company said £500 or £600 was quite an ordinary account for a lady's dresses in one season, and he had known bills of £1,000. Discussing the question in the Times, one lady said £500 would go nowhere for her dresses, and another thought she could not possibly do with less than £1,300. The judge regarded Lady Cathcart as rather extravagant, and certainly she spent £1,500 in ten days, which does not look like the thrift of the "godly matrons" commended in the marriage service.

At the end of his judgment, Mr. Justice McCardie delivered himself of a brief homily against

In a few minutes loud wails from the front mean a hurried trip to the window and George is seen having a hand-to-hand encounter with the boy next door, who is home from school with the measles.

Mother: "Come in the house at once, George!" (Phone rings.)

Answer it, George!

George: "Don't wanna answer it, got an awful toothache." (Phone rings again.)

Mother: "Hello! Hello!"

Dad: "Oh, Mary! Look in my other coat pocket and see if that coal receipt is there."

Mother (looks): "Yes, it is."

Dad: "All right. So-long!"

Mother goes into the kitchen and finds the gas burning merrily under the porridge pot, the cat is on the dining room table licking off its whiskers after finishing both milk and cream burnt by overturning them. The coffee pot has burnt a hole on the pretty table-cloth, and the mouse-trap and bottle of peroxide make an interesting centrepiece.

The odor of burnt toast starts mother coughing again, and she goes wearily upstairs, climbs nimbly into her clothes and, fastening her apron firmly about her, calls it a day in bed at half-past eleven o'clock!

"M E son Mickey is a fine bright lad. He takes after his mother," Mrs. O'Dare said, with complacency. There was a slightly challenging note in her voice.

"I wish he'd put a little of his brightness into his lessons, then," returned the harassed Miss Marks. "His report last month was—"

"Sure ye can't tell anything from them reports!" Mickey's mother broke in, scornfully. "It's meself niver has anny confidence in thim at all."

"And besides, Mrs. O'Dare," the teacher went steadily on, "Mickey is absolutely the worst boy in my class! Why, almost every day I must send him up to the principal! If it isn't fighting at recess, it's teasing the little girls or stoning birds, or breaking a window or talking in school. I stood it as long as I could before sending for you. I wish you would speak to him, if you were to talk to him very sternly, I'm sure—"

"Talk to him is it? And how? I talked to him many's the time, wjd a bed-lat or whatever else lay handy! It's an age he's passing through, belike," Mrs. O'Dare added, indulgently.

Miss Marks sighed and picked up a sheet of foolscap, plentifully adorned with blue-pencilling, that lay on her desk.

"Now here," she said, "is Mickey's latest composition. Mickey's worst subject is composition, Mrs. O'Dare. He doesn't appear to have a spark of imagination, and as you see I've given him 20 marks out of a possible 100—and that's what some teachers would call a liberal estimate. I asked the class to write an essay on: 'How I Spent My Last Summer Holidays.' This is what Mickey turned in: 'I had a good time on my holidays. I went fishing. I went on picnics. I got a wasp's nest. I went in swimming. The water was grate. I saw some birds. I was sorry when the holidays was over.'" Miss Marks looked at Mickey's mother. "What do you think of it?" she asked, and paused eloquently.

"It's this I'm thinkin'," declared Mickey's mother, "that little did meself know he went in swimmin', the spalpeen, or he'd got the left-o'-me shipper where it'd done the most good!"

The bell for afternoon school rang.

"You'll not forget to speak to Mickey?" Miss Marks asked, pleadingly.

"Oh, I'll spake to him," promised Mrs. O'Dare, grimly, adding: "But faith, it's over-hasty ye are in judgment. The lad can compose himself that fine if'd surprise ye!"

"Composed himself?"

"Sure he's composing himself at home all the time!"

"Well," said Miss Marks, skeptically, "I wish he'd compose himself at school, particularly in the Friday study-period!"

"Very well. I'll be afther tellin' him what ye said," Mrs. O'Dare assured and thereupon took her departure.

"Wait here," said Miss Marks crisply, as she took up the papers.

Routine is abhorrent to the artistic mind. Miss Marks always welcomed the Friday study-period for it set her free to dream, dreams, or read, or write letters. She never had it wholly free. Interruptions occurred at intervals of every five minutes, yet the half hour was a blessed oasis in the desert of toil and she made the most of it.

It was a study-period, again, and she was engrossed in a book. The class, having borrowed rulers and gotten drinks and sharpened pencils, had settled down at last. Even Mickey was quiet and absorbed. Miss Marks could just see the top of his auburn head over his geography.

A few more minutes of perfect tranquility—then suddenly whispering, an answering snicker, and more whispering.

"Who was that talking?" asked the teacher.

"Nobody answered, and Miss Marks insisting on a reply, Tillie, the truth-teller, aljas tattletale, held up her hand.

"Please," she said, with faked reluctance, "It's Mickey O'Dare talking to himself again."

"Mickey, stand up."

Mickey peered round the geography with the look of one who has just let go the vanishing skirts of a dream. He got to his feet slowly.

"Were you talking?"

"No'm—yea'm—I dunno," he said, dazedly. "You don't know! Then, what were you doin'?"

"Just—just reading."

"Reading what?" she demanded suspiciously.

"Something I wrote."

"Was it your theme for next week?"

"No'm."

"Bring it up here."

"All of it?" asked Mickey, hesitatingly.

"Certainly. Every bit of it!"

He advanced and laid on her desk a sheaf of papers torn from his satchel, each covered with his sturdy round spawl.

"Wait here," said Miss Marks, crisply, as she took up the papers. She glanced at the top sheet and her lips tightened. It was going to punish you by reading this to the class. Without further ceremony she began: "Dearest Gwendolyn—Fly with me—"

An uproar of merriment drowned her.

"It's a love letter to Gwennie! Oh Gwennie, oh Gwennie! Gwennie is Mickey's girl!"

All eyes had turned on a prim little girl with curls like blonde-wieners around her head. The class sang on:

"Oh Gwennie! Gwennie is Mickey's girl! Gwennie is—"

"I ain't!" cried Gwennie shrilly.

"Quiet, class!" interposed the teacher. "Fly with me and we will begin life afresh. No longer shall a cruel world keep us apart. With the dawn shall come a fair newday and we will find our lives again in seeds far removed from—"

"Wheel!" cut in little Tay Simon. "Git onto de movie dope!"

Miss Marks laid the paper down and looked at Mickey who stood nonchalantly by, his hands in his pockets, his eyes on a wall-map. A slight flush had risen through his freckles, but otherwise he displayed the utmost composure. She looked down at Gwennie, also pink, and decidedly embarrassed. The class sat in hushed expectancy.

"Well, Mickey," she said in the tone of one whose patience has come to its final end, "this is positively the worst yet. Love notes! So Gwennie," she added, ironically, "is your 'girl'!"

"I ain't—I am not!" cried Gwennie with emphasis.

"Couldn't you be fond of little girl, and play with her and be nice, jolly friends, without—"

"Aw, I ain't fond of her, interjected Mickey, in the deepest disgust. "And I wouldn't play with her on a bet!"

"Carrot-head—carrot-head!" chanted Gwennie, with equal scorn. The class tittered.

"She's stuck on herself, declared the boy. "And her nose is pug," he added, as an afterthought.

"Lop ears—lop ears!" returned Gwennie, putting out her tongue at him.

"That will do, Gwendolyn," said Miss Marks, checking this interchange of amenities by bringing her hand sharply down on the bell. "Now Mickey, before I send you upstairs—"

"Aw, Miss Marks, you told me mother I could do it!" cried Mickey, in injured tones.

"What!" exclaimed the scandalized teacher. "Read on—it's better further on."

"I've read enough."

"No you haven't! If you'd kept on you'd come to where the old mistakes after them and there's an aeroplane chase. What you read was just the letter getting her to elope. See? And the old man thinks this fellow's only a bum because he works round a garage, and when they give him the slip he gets mad as hops and says never darken his door again. See? And later on the gal saves his life. There's Injuns and a lotta shooting and the mounted police come along and arrest the old man for rustling and he shoots a mounite. Mickey rushes on breathlessly, "and at the last the guy and th girl—"

"Wait! Stop! What in the world are you—talking about!"

"I'm telling you. It's movie," said Mickey. "And this fellow turns out to be a rich man, and the old man says all right for fooling me this way, but he don't man it and he says I owe you my life, here's my datter, be good to her, she's all I got, my boy. You told me mother I could do it!" Mickey added, righteously.

"The lad can compose himself that fine if'd surprise ye!" came reminiscently to Miss Marks.

"But Mickey," she said after a bewildered pause, "why did you get Gwendolyn's name into it? This letter—"

"Aw, that's the girl's name," he explained, casually. "I had to have fancy one, didn't I? It was the fanciest one I could think of. But now, I s'pose," he said, with a blend of long-suffering and disgust, "it hafta change it to Jane or something!"

"Cash and Kisses."

"I AM sending you a thousand kisses," a young married man wrote to his young wife, who was spending a month away from him.

Two days later he received the following telegram: "Kisses received. Landlord refuses to accept any of them on account!" Then he forwarded a check.—Pearson's Weekly.

A THACKERY CRITIQUE

(How the great humorist "reviewed" Goethe's sentimental "Sorrows of Werther")

WERTHER had love for Charlotte

Such as words could never utter; Would you know her first he met her? She was cuttingbread and butter.

Charlotte was a married lady, And a moral man was Werther, And for all the wealth of Indies, Would do noth'g for to hurt her.

So he sigh'd and pined and ogled, And his passionbolled and bubbled, Till he blew his sill brains out, And no more was by it troubled.

Charlotte, having seen his body Borne before he on a shutter, Like a well-conducted person, Went on cuttin bread and butter.

Hats for the Smart Dressing Girl and a Sweater for Vacation Days

Smart, Yet Practical Business Hat

A CANNY business woman puts good money into the very smart yet very simple hat which will go through the season in various sorts of weather, retaining its smartness and style. The hat pictured is admirable. It is of fine, supple black milan and the brim facing is of rich black fallie silk strapped over with bands of black and silver straw braid. A soft bow and long loop of the fallie trim the hat effectively. With a lined topcoat or a tailored suit this hat will be correct and distinctive, yet it may be worn on a damp day without quailing should possible disaster to its trimming.

extravagance, maintaining it was not the mark of a gentleman, nor was profusion a necessity of honorable rank; whereas simplicity, he said, was an essential feature of useful and beneficent female citizenship.

"No doubt," says the Nation, "that is all true, but the very last thing these society women wish to be thought is useful and beneficent female-citizens. As little attention will they pay to the judge's solemn warning that extravagance was not to be commended when the stress of life was ever growing, when the social structure was being tested, and the standard of a simple and laborious life was urgently needed for the national welfare. They care nothing for the national welfare. For such people there is only one cure, and it is poverty."

The Cunning Cuckoo

THERE is no more cunning bird in the feathered world than our friend the cuckoo. It hates the idea of rearing a family, and does all in its power to get out of the job.

So Mr. Cuckoo and his wife get someone else to take over their duties for them. They start by seeking out a nest where the gentle mother bird is already sitting on her own batch of eggs, and Mr. Cuckoo sets to work to attract her attention by hovering over her nest, until she rises to fight with him.

This is just what the cunning couple want, and while Mr. Cuckoo keeps the other bird occupied, Mrs. Cuckoo leaves her egg in the nest along with the others.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Chic Hat From Paris

A NEW satin toque of dawn grey trimmed with leghorn straw stitched in a spiral effect. A large bunch of cherries is attached to the brim with a finishing effect.

The Vacation Sweater

AT luncheon hours—and sometimes at other hours—in business offices you see knitting needles flying now. The business girl is planning for her vacation and occupying spare moments in turning out her vacation sweater. A particularly pretty and vacation sort of sweater is pictured, of silk floss, partly knitted and partly crocheted—or all crocheted if one prefers. The slashed sleeve is a new feature and the panel-trimming in front is especially graceful.

Nothing Less

THE new teacher was having a bad time of it. The class was very dull—or pretended to be—and seemed incapable of answering the easiest questions.

"What is a person called who steals?" asked the teacher persuasively.

There was no answer.

"Now, Herbert," said the teacher, "suppose I was to put my hand in your pocket and take out a penny, what would you call me?"

"A bloomin conjurer," replied Herbert, with conviction.—Answers.
