USER STORY

When I notice an error while reading an article on mobile, I want a way to flag that it needs a review or update so that I can help without having to make the immediate leap to editing articles.

CORE INTERACTION FLOW

1. Reading an article and seeing an error (either in copy or a display bug).
2. Highlight the area with an issue and tap on the call to action to report an issue.
3. Completes a short reporting form (which gets posted to the article's Talk page). [Optionally able to login to track the report/suggestion]
4. Receive confirmation that the report was successfully posted.
