ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
ADJUTANT GENERAL.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT,
RALEIGH, December 31, 1909.

THE GOVERNOR AND COMMANDER IN CHIEF.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the following report of the operations of the North Carolina National Guard for the year 1909.

NORTH CAROLINA NATIONAL GUARD.

The National Guard consists of the different staff departments, one brigade of infantry, three regiments of twelve companies and a band each, one battery field artillery attached; four companies Coast Artillery Corps, two Hospital Corps detachments, six divisions Naval Militia.

The strength as shown by the last returns is as follows:

Land Forces:	Commissioned officers	221
	Enlisted men	2,174
	Total	2,395
 Naval Militia:	Commissioned officers	40
	Enlisted men	280
	Total	320
	Total all arms.....	2,715
	Aggregate strength exceeding preceding year	261

NEW ORGANIZATIONS.

A company of infantry was organized at Dallas, Thomasville, and Rocky Mount, respectively, and mustered into service to fill the vacancies occasioned by the transfer of Company B, Salisbury; Company C, Wilmington, and Company L, Greensboro, to the Coast Artillery Corps.

ARMAMENT AND EQUIPMENT.

Being appointed Adjutant General, and assuming the duties of the office on the 1st of April, 1909, immediately thereafter action was taken to find out the necessary articles and quantity of ordnance, quartermaster's and other stores needed to equip the Guard for field service. After an examination of the inspection reports of serviceable property held by company and detachment commanders and other responsible officers, and an inventory taken of all other property in the storehouses, it was shown that more than $90,000 worth of equipage and equipment was necessary to thoroughly equip the Guard for field service. This estimate was based on 58 men per company, the number of enlisted men for whom the War Department requires the State to keep on hand equipment for field service. The following gives the number of articles required, the actual number of articles on hand, and the number to be secured:

While inspection reports indicated clothing sufficient, a great many companies had not enough khaki clothing, and others enough, but considerably worn, and nearly all needed several uniforms to complete their equipment in this respect. A requisition was made on the War Department for 959 khaki uniforms, and which were issued to the troops, completing this summer service uniform. The blue or winter service uniform is to a great extent old, and the blouses obsolete. Requisition has been made on the War Department for the complete olive drab winter service uniform for all enlisted men, and will soon be issued. Arms and appurtenances, entrenching tools, and other ordnance equipment have been secured sufficient to fully arm and equip the Guard; 600 overcoats, some additional tentage, cooking outfits, etc., have also been secured. Every cent of money available has been expended during the past year to secure this needed equipment; $65,500 has been applied to this purpose.

The War Department contemplates equipping the Coast Artillery Corps armories (contingent upon the passage of an appropriation bill for the purpose, now before Congress) with dummy guns and carriages, ammunition service appliances, range-finding apparatus, and sub-caliber attachments, which when installed will enable these troops to conduct such practice in their armories as will enable them to take up the same applications with service guns in the forts, when called upon. Data has been furnished to the War Department of the different armories of the Coast Artillery Corps companies with a view to installing the above-mentioned apparatus therein.

The Navy Department advises that armories of each division of the naval militia will be equipped with a sub-target gun, and a 4-inch gun, the latter to be complete as to training gear, telescopic sight, morris tube, etc. In addition to this equipment for the armories, each vessel on which it is possible to make the installation will be fitted uniformly with 4-in. 6-pdr., or such other gun as the style and size of the vessel will permit.

The Navy Department has loaned to the State the ship Elfrida, a seaworthy ship, finely suited for practice cruises of the naval militia. This vessel was transferred to the State at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Captain Daniels, commanding the naval militia, with a picked crew, brought the vessel to New Bern, where she is now stationed.

DETAIL OF A NONCOMMISSIONED OFFICER TO THE STATE.

In accordance with section 20 of the Military Law, application was made to the War Department for the detail of a noncommissioned officer. The request was granted and Sergeant John Wadington, Second Infantry, U. S. A., was detailed, and reported for duty October 26, 1909. He has been assigned to different companies since, instructing the enlisted men of the same. From reports and observation of the result of his work, the instruction given by him is most beneficial.

FIELD INSTRUCTION.

All troops performed duty at a camp of instruction during the year. The First, Second, and Third Infantry, the two Hospital Corps detachments and Battery A, for eight days each, at Camp Glenn, Morehead. Good and faithful work was done at this encampment on the part of both officers and men, and a decided improvement in drill was the result. These troops also performed rifle practice, and a substantial improvement in the figure of merit over the previous year was noted. In 1908 there were 20 marksmen, and no experts; this year's practice developed 165 marksmen and 2 experts, with a corresponding increase in the other classes. While this is a low grade compared with some other States, it is a fine advancement, under the circumstances. Pins for marksmen and badges for experts were procured on requisition.

tion, from the War Department, and issued to all those qualifying in these classes; also telescopic musket sights were procured and issued those qualifying as experts.

To enable the men to qualify in the higher classes in rifle practice, ranges accessible to the companies will have to be established, to afford the men an opportunity to practice all the year round. With this end in view, target and frames and all paraphernalia have been required for and will be furnished to companies establishing ranges at home stations.

No team from the State was sent to the National Rifle Shoot at Camp Perry this year, there being no funds available for the purpose. For the same reason, the surgeons were not detailed to the National encampment held in Maryland for purposes of instruction, as it was thought best to devote what funds were available to practicing all the men over the course at the State camp. The Medical and Hospital Corps performed duty at the camp the past summer. This organization is imperfectly equipped, but, with the means at hand, met every requirement in attending to the sick. Additional equipment will be secured for this organization as soon as funds are available for the purpose.

Capt. Frank W. Rowell, Fifteenth Infantry, U. S. A., was detailed by the War Department as instructor for the troops while in camp. He was also detailed to inspect the troops. Owing to the dual capacity in which he was acting, he was kept very busy constantly throughout all the encampments. The instruction which he imparted to the officers and men was invaluable, and greatly appreciated by all.

Capt. M. C. Kerth, Twenty-third Infantry, U. S. A., the assistant to the Chief, Division of Militia Affairs, visited Camp Glenn July 28th, for the purpose of conferring with the military authorities of the State in regard to matters affecting the instruction of the National Guard of the State, and spent three days therein, in conference with the military authorities in reference to the establishment of a system of instruction for the officers of the Guard. Captain Kerth made a very instructive talk to the officers, which was greatly appreciated. The War Department, through the Chief, Division of Militia Affairs, has inaugurated a movement to furnish instruction to the National Guard, which, if taken advantage of by the officers, will be of vast benefit. This Department was advised that if it was desired, and a list of all combatant officers furnished the War Department, certain text-books and pamphlets for instruction would be issued those officers, from time to time, from the War Department. This list was furnished, and the War Department advised that this plan would be most acceptable. These books are now being furnished to officers.

INSPECTIONS.

The different organizations of the Guard were inspected by the Inspector General in February and March, and the report of these inspections show a varying state of efficiency among the different companies, but, in general, prove to be in fair condition.

The Division of Naval Militia at Beaufort having proved by inspection to be deficient, according to the standard desired, both in the number of enlisted men and discipline, was mustered out of the service. The United States inspecting officer, Capt. A. H. Huget, inspected the different organizations in March. Extracts from inspection reports indicating deficiencies in each organization, were published in Circular No. 5, and a copy of same furnished each officer, with instructions to remedy the deficiency indicated as far as practicable, and as soon as possible.

APPROPRIATIONS.

The allotment of funds appropriated by Congress in accordance with section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended (an act approved June 22, 1906), to North Carolina for the year 1909, is as follows:

Arms, equipment and camp purposes.....	$ 35,210.14
Promotion of rifle practice.....	11,736.71
	$ 46,946.85
And under authority granted in section 13 of the Militia
Law, as amended, for purposes of procuring supplies....	17,087.86
Ammunition	10,368.85
	$ 27,726.71
Appropriation by the State.....	27,000.00

All the General Government appropriation must be used solely for purposes above stated. The State appropriation is expended for maintenance, and pay to enlisted men for drills. This State appropriation is insufficient, and the strength should be reduced at least a battalion or the appropriation increased. The allowance of $250 to each company commander a year for armory rent, insurance on property, lights, and care of the armory, and Government property, is insufficient for the purpose. Rents have advanced since this apportionment to the company commanders ten years ago. The Government is now furnishing vastly more equipment of a costly nature than heretofore, for which the State is responsible and required to carefully preserve, and this is done by the company commanders, to a great extent.

The present law gives each regimental commander and brigade commander $150 per year for expenses, the company commander nothing. This should be remedied, giving each at least $300 to $500 a year.

PAY TO ENLISTED MEN FOR DRILLS.

The new law, providing pay to enlisted men for twenty-four drills per year, became operative in March, and seems to be of help to the company commanders, especially to those who promptly make up their pay-rolls. An increased attendance at drills is noted, which is obliged to be beneficial to the service.

ACTIVE DUTY.

In only one instance were troops requested by the civil authorities for aid during the year. Company H, Second Infantry, at Clinton, on January 19, 1909, was called on to assist the sheriff to prevent the lynching of a prisoner. This company responded promptly and performed this duty in a satisfactory manner.

The work in this office has doubled in volume during the year and is constantly growing. The procurement and issue of text-books to officers and men; the distribution of orders; getting up orders and circulars and various kinds of data and information for the War Department, the Navy Department, and the Department of the Gulf; annual reports to the War Department, examining pay-rolls; making up requisitions on the War Department for supplies; the entering of discharges and enlistments and changes in the personnel on the roster, in addition to the necessary daily correspondence required in answering communications, to keep up this work properly, will require an assistant and a clerk on duty all the time.

All indebtedness contracted during the year for camps of instruction and supplies, from whatever sources, have been settled in full. There is outstanding now an indebtedness contracted in 1908, in connection with the Chickamauga Camp, and other bills, amounting to $3,667.18. There have been no funds available up to the present time with which these debts could be paid.

The general condition of the troops is fair, and, compared with any previous time, is more efficient, and improving. There are fewer resignations of officers and fewer changes in the personnel of the ranks. This indicates a better condition. Constant changes in officers and men heretofore have tended to keep the troops in an inefficient state.

This Department is indebted to Lieut. Col. R. L. Leinster, Col. Alfred Williams, Assistant Adjutant Generals, and Miss Annie Travis for assistance in the work in this office.

Very respectfully,

J. F. ARMPFIELD,
Adjutant General.

REPORT OF QUARTERMASTER GENERAL.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
OFFICE OF QUARTERMASTER GENERAL,
HENDERSON, January 27, 1910.

ADJUTANT GENERAL, STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the annual report of the operations of the Quartermaster's Department for the year ending November 30, 1909.

For convenience, the report is divided into the following abstracts: A, Statement of all property, both serviceable and unserviceable, for the three regiments, military supply depot, coast artillery and field artillery organizations. B, Property stored at warehouse at Camp Glenn.

PROPERTY RETURNS.

The Department is in possession of property returns from all officers who are required to make them. The returns are not correct in every instance, but the errors noted are not of the kind to materially affect the totals herein reported. The report from regimental, field and staff officers is not complete, but this is now being adjusted, so that all the property in the possession of these officers will be properly accounted for at an early date.

In this connection the businesslike manner in which these returns were made up, which are of necessity complicated, does great credit to the many officers of the Guard who are inexperienced in this line of work.

CAMP GLENN.

The report of Capt. J. L. Currin on the work at Camp Glenn during the year is forwarded herewith. The changes made in the sewerage and water system were upon the recommendation of the Chief of Engineers. The new buildings are to be painted without further delay; and with this exception the prospects are not very good for other improvements in the near future.

INSURANCE.

Only a few companies carry insurance on property in their possession. In view of this, together with the fact that insurance seems not to be a necessity, I recommend that the order requiring the companies to carry insurance be revoked, so that the money used in paying premiums may be more usefully applied.

I respectfully recommend that the unserviceable property reported on returns be disposed of in the regular way.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS A. MACON,
Quartermaster General.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR GENERAL.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL,
WAYNESVILLE, December 1, 1909.

GENERAL JOSEPH F. ARMFIELD,
Adjutant General, N. C. N. G.,
Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—In compliance with the law and regulations governing the North Carolina National Guard, I have the honor to submit my report of inspection of the Guard for the year ending December 1, 1909.

In obedience to General Orders, No. 2, dated office of Adjutant General, Raleigh, February 1, 1909, the inspection of the National Guard of North Carolina for the year 1909 was made during the months of February and March at the stations and on the dates indicated in said orders.

I proceeded with the inspection, beginning with Company B, Second Infantry, Raleigh, North Carolina, February 15th, finishing with Company H, First Infantry, Waynesville, North Carolina, March 25th. This inspection was made alone and prior to the inspection made by Capt. A. H. Huguett, Seventeenth Infantry, for the United States Government.

Detailed report of the inspection, together with recommendations in each particular case, has already been forwarded to your department.

COMPANY BOOKS.

Nearly all the companies keep their records and books in good condition and have improved much over former inspection. It is very important that the books and records should be kept in first-class and correct manner.

ARMORIES.

With one or two exceptions, the armories are sufficient in size, and are well located, with plenty of room for the care of all the property, and are kept in a creditable condition.

I was very glad that I did not find it necessary to recommend the disbandment of a single organization, which I think speaks well for the Guard as a whole.

Three new companies have been organized since last inspection: one at Dallas, one at Thomasville and one at Rocky Mount.

THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

The medical department is very much improved, and all the Hospital Corps can make a good show in the litter drills and first-aid assistance to the wounded. I noticed marked improvement over former inspections.

UNIFORMS AND EQUIPMENTS.

I note the most improvement in the care of uniforms and equipments. The company commanders have at last seemed to realize the importance of taking care of their property. With the exception of three companies, the property is well cared for and in fair condition.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

That the State inspection and that of the United States Army be made at the same time, as it would, in my opinion, be more satisfactory to the company commanders, and a more thorough inspection could be made. Since my inspection last year the gallery target guns have been issued, and I feel that it will stimulate the companies to pay more attention to rifle practice, and the soldiers can learn in the armory what is necessary to make them first-class marksmen.

I was glad to see that steps were being taken to get into a new arsenal, for the old one was not safe—not fit for the proper care of the property.

Thanking the officers of the National Guard of North Carolina for the many kindnesses and courtesies shown me on my tour of inspection, I am,

Very respectfully,

THOS. STRINGFIELD,
Inspector General, N. C. N. G.

REPORT OF CHIEF OF ORDNANCE.

RALEIGH, N. C., December 1, 1909.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL, STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit herewith my report as Chief of Ordnance for the period ending November 30, 1909.

As you are aware, by an act passed at the last session of the General Assembly, the offices of Quartermaster General and Chief of Ordnance were separated, which resulted in the establishment of the Ordnance Department, with its head as a member of the General Staff of the Commander in Chief, and holding office by virtue of Executive appointment.

On the 1st day of April I was duly commissioned Chief of Ordnance, and in addition to entering upon the regular duties incident to that position, in obedience to Special Order, No. 25, I assumed command of the State's Military Supply Depot in the city of Raleigh, which devolved upon me the care and custody of all State military property of every description stored in that depot.

In this latter capacity I am practically on duty with the Quartermaster Department, and from time to time have been engaged in receiving and issuing quartermaster stores furnished the State by the United States Government on proper requisitions. Statements showing the kinds and quantities of such stores received, as well as the names of officers and organizations to whom issued, have been rendered to Gen. Francis A. Macon, Quartermaster General. Books of record have been kept showing in detail exactly what supplies have been issued to individuals and organizations, and I have on file receipts for every article issued. In this connection, I regret to have to say that in a few instances I encountered trouble in securing the required receipts, but eventually the missing ones came to hand. Evidently, there is a disposition on the part of a few company commanders to either overlook or ignore the regulations governing the forwarding of receipts.

Attached to this report, and designated, respectively, Exhibits A and B, are statements of ordnance stores received and issued from April 1, 1909, to November 30, 1909.

Sufficient supplies are now on hand for present purposes, and all requisitions for actual necessities have been filled. Every organization of the land forces is fully armed and equipped, and all ordnance property of the State is in good condition and available for immediate use. The State Rifle Range, adjoining Camp Glenn, is well preserved, and is provided with the equipment required for rifle target practice. For the first time since the establishment of the range, the competition and practice at the encampments last July and August were conducted under the general supervision of officers detailed from this Department, and it is very gratifying to know that the duty was well and faithfully performed, and productive of satisfactory results. It will expedite the work on the range during the encampments to have the storehouse located at the southern end of the backstop nearest the railroad, and I recommend that the same be moved accordingly, and such additions made to the building as will double its present storage capacity. I have the honor to recommend, also, that the proper targets be installed at the range to enable officers to engage in pistol practice, there being now no facilities at hand for this all-important work.

From what came under my own observation at the encampments the past summer, I do not doubt that the Guard has made the best possible progress in the "game" of target practice with the rifle during the last twelve months, both in acquiring increased knowledge of the elementary principles, as well as in learning how to shoot straight. A comparison of the scores of 1909 with those of 1908 shows what has already been accomplished, and offers great encouragement for the future.

Very respectfully,

THOMAS R. ROBERTSON,
Chief of Ordnance.

REPORT OF SURGEON GENERAL.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL, STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the annual report of this office for 1909.

Having but recently been appointed to the office of Surgeon General, I express the hope that any want of knowledge of the actual conditions and requirements of the Medical Department, as well as faulty suggestions I may make along this line, may be attributed to the limited time which has been permitted me as the head of this Department to acquaint myself with the operations thereof.

Under instructions from my esteemed and able predecessor, Col. Robert S. Young, Surgeon General, I was present during the tour of duty of the First and Second Regiments at Camp Glenn, Morehead City, N. C. I inspected the camp on both occasions and discussed matters in connection with the Medical Department with Major Glenn, surgeon of the First Regiment, and with Captain Boyette, acting surgeon in the absence of Major Harris of the Second Regiment.

With Major Glenn was Capt. B. J. Witherspoon, who had come down with the Charlotte detachment of the Hospital Corps, and it gives me pleasure to say that these officers were most earnest and performed well their duty; the small sick list itself bearing silent testimony to the efficiency of these officers in the discharge of their official duties. To Capt. E. C. Boyette, who was continuously on duty during the two encampments and acting surgeon of the Second Regiment, this Department is indebted for the cheerful and conscientious performance of the duties. I regret not to be able to make special mention of the work of the medical officers and the detachment of the Hospital Corps assigned to the Third Regiment, as I was not present at any time during the encampment of the same; but I think I may safely say from report that the same praise should be extended the conduct of the Medical Department, officer and man, of the Third Regiment during their tour of duty at Camp Glenn.

The hospital was well placed eastward from the regimental tents, the site being well chosen as regards natural drainage.

The sanitary condition of the camp generally was good and the health of the regiments was excellent. Looking back over the reports of Maj. E. B. Glenn, for three years—the only reports I have available at this writing, extending over any length of time—I note that the daily average of the patients in the hospital was two, a showing well to be proud of, and of those reporting at daily sick call, for the most part their complaints were of a trivial nature, such as minor cuts while bathing and temporary disorders of the digestive tract, etc.

While the food was of good quality, well cooked and abundant, the medical supplies were exceedingly poor. I found these, upon examination, much deteriorated from age and shopworn, so to speak, from handling; and I asked for a board of survey so that the worthless part of the hospital equipment might be replaced by new and serviceable outfit, and that the used-up stores and supplies might be condemned and disposed of. The recommendation for survey was promptly approved and the matter placed in the hands of the surveying officer.

From the small opportunity had for familiarizing myself with the actual conditions existing in the Medical Department, it is my opinion at the start that all the medical supplies of the several detachments of the Hospital Corps should be carefully gone over and that portion of them deteriorated by age or which have become useless from any cause be condemned and destroyed and replaced by a new outfit. It is all well and good as long as the health of the camp is good, but "Semper paratus" applies with as much force to this department as any other, from the personnel of its organization, the quality and suitability of supplies, down to the arms and equipment of the enlisted men of the corps. The man behind the gun has still a man behind him, and that man is the medical man, whose duty it is to keep the combatant in as perfect fighting condition as possible, and to put him back as speedily as possible, should he be knocked out. It behooves us not to be unmindful of the fact that disease kills many times more men than bullets, and preventive medicine never held a more important place in military operations than to-day. Along this line I do not believe it is too early to express the opinion that typhoid fever, that scourge of the military camp, has had its day, and the mortality therefrom will be in the near future all but a negligible factor. The idea of immunizing from typhoid came from the mind of Dr. E. A. Wright, one time professor in the Army Medical School at Netley, England, the father of what is now known as the opsonic theory of preventive or protective medicine. The practice of immunizing against typhoid has become a regular authorized procedure in the armies of Great Britain and Germany. It has been stated that about 35,000 soldiers have been inoculated up to the present time. Maj. Frederick R. Russell is the pioneer of this work in our United States Army, and the outlook of this new protective treatment is said to be most encouraging, several hundred American soldiers having already been inoculated or vaccinated. When we recall that it has also been stated that over one-half of all the deaths in the German Army during the war with France was laid at the door of typhoid, and that there were 1,500 deaths from that cause alone during our own little war with Spain, while our actual losses from bullet wounds were hardly worth mentioning, we cannot but be rejoiced at the prospects of immunity ahead. With an up-to-date sanitary camp and a reliable immunizing product to ward off a typhoid visitation, what a difference there will be between military life in the field to-day and ten years ago!

I cannot pass over the importance to military life of a brief mention of the hookworm disease. How time flies, and how history is made! Yesterday the hookworm disease, uncinariasis, was a wonder. To-day it is a common, every-day old hookworm, along with other members of the worm genus, having its special habitat in the intestinal canal. Far be it from the aim of the writer, however, to belittle the discovery. The existence of the hookworm has been known since 1843, when Dubini recorded the discovery from subjects in Egypt. Later a German-American, Blickhahn, in 1893 noted the finding of this intestinal parasite in subjects in Missouri. Still later the presence and disastrous results of the hookworm and the remedy were made known by Dr. Bailey K. Ashford, of the United States Army, while serving in Porto Rico in 1899. To Dr. C. Wardell Stiles of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, however, should go the credit of the research work which has established the vast economic importance of this disease to the Southern States.

Referring to an examination of the Southern recruits at Fort Slocum and Jackson Barracks by Major Chamberlain and Captain Siler, where 139 infections were found in 168 men examined, Surgeon General Torney of the United States Army in a recent report says:

Captain Siler and Major Chamberlain agree that the physique of the Southern recruits is less vigorous and robust than is the case with those from other parts of the country, and they attribute this to the injurious influence of this infection in childhood and adolescence. The latter shows that the absolute weight of Southern recruits is less than those from the North, although the former are taller, and that the weight of the infected individuals is less than those not infected.

Yet, he concludes that the disease is not greatly affecting the health and efficiency of the Army—perhaps, I infer, because of the small contingent from our Southern country. In any case, the Medical Department of the North Carolina National Guard has an opportunity to make interesting investigations along this line, and I commend this matter to the favorable consideration of the medical staff, and express the hope that at future encampments it may be able to add statistics valuable in the study of this disease, regarding the percentage of infection and the effect on the efficiency of the soldier.

Turning back to medical equipment and supplies, I have before me a recent brochure on this very subject by Maj. C. R. Darnall, Medical Corps, U. S. A., the same being a reprint from the Military Surgeon, the official organ of the Association of Military Surgeons. This able and instructive article is on "Medical Equipment and Supplies for the Organized Militia," and has received the stamp of approval of the War Department and is being sent out from the office of the Surgeon General to the medical officers of the National Guard. I commend this article to the medical staff for thoughtful consideration and study, and earnestly hope that these medical gentlemen, my comrades, of whom I have the honor to be chief, will help me in keeping up the organization of the corps and make it comport, as near as may be, with the regular establishment, of which in reality they are now a part, and should be ready to enter the regular service without having to unlearn what they have acquired in the Guard. Let me express the hope that they will get together and consult with each other to the betterment and the better understanding of one another, and of a department in which every citizen of North Carolina, in and out of the Guard, should take tremendous pride. I want to learn, and I want the staff to join the class; and permit me to interject here, that it appears to me that in no way can we begin better than by taking advantage of the opportunities offered by the National Guard Association of North Carolina.

Major Darnall summarizes his article (and I regret that it is impossible to embody the entire thesis in my report) as follows:

1. Each regiment and separate battalion should have a regimental hospital complete in all details. This hospital should be the same in every particular as that used in the regular establishment.

2. Each State should have one field hospital for every 2,500 men, or fraction thereof, of its Guard.

3. One ambulance company should be provided for each field hospital assembled.

4. Each State should have a depot for the medical equipment and supplies of its Guard. This should be under the control of the Surgeon General of the Guard, and a medical officer of the Guard with aptitude for such work should be in direct charge. All medical equipment other than that required with the troops should be stored at the supply depot. All medical supplies should be procured by the supply officer and issued by him to organizations on requisitions.

5. The personnel of the field hospitals and ambulance companies should, if practicable, be recruited and organized in the vicinity of the supply depot, preferably in the same town or city.

6. Blank forms for requisitions, invoices and receipts, returns, purchases, etc., should be substantially like those used in the Regular Army.

It may not be practicable to carry out Major Darnall's suggestions to the letter, but it is my opinion that they form a good working basis, and I entertain the hope that I may be permitted to formulate some scheme along this line.

WATER SUPPLY.

But to return to our camp. The water supply seems abundant—at least, for one full regiment—of good quality, moderately soft and, I am told, free from organic matter and the chlorides. It is pumped from four driven wells to a tank and thence distributed by gravity through pipes to the various hydrants throughout the camp-grounds. This water should be examined at least once a year, in order to secure its continued purity, water taken from near the sea being liable to become impregnated with the chlorides from sea water and dangerous organic matter may find its way to the source of supply.

My attention was called to the desirability of having a hydrant nearer the site of the hospital for the convenience and comfort of the sick and the well. I respectfully recommend that a pipe line be laid down to this end, with hydrant attached.

THE SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

The sewerage system, as planned by Colonel Ludlow, Chief of Engineers, and carried out satisfactorily in accordance with such plans, has added wonderfully to the health and comfort of the camp. Indeed, it would be difficult to estimate what an abundant supply of good water, suitable for all purposes, distributed throughout the camp, and a complete sewerage system are doing for the health and esprit of the Guard.

I am not advised as to whether a tide-gate, contemplated to be placed at the outlet of the sewage-collecting basin, in order that the sewage may be discharged in the bay with the ebbing tide, has been installed or not, but I believe as a sanitary measure it should be done, said gate to be open on the receding and closed on the incoming tide, to avoid polluting the water of the bay in the neighborhood of the bathing grounds of the camp. The latrines for the officers and enlisted men seem to be satisfactory in every particular, except in this connection: I have to recommend that for night emergencies only a small latrine, not necessarily connected with the sewerage system, be placed at the western boundary of the camp, under sentry surveillance, to guard against the abuse of this convenience. While in camp in July and August last, my attention was called to the fact that the men farthest away from the latrine, upon sudden calls to go to the "Rear," and especially at night, found it difficult to make the goal and would not attempt it, and that a number of irregularities were reported along this line, that is, of the men using the open campus at night on account of the distance to the enlisted men's latrine.

The grading and sodding of the camp-grounds and improvement in the company streets would add greatly to the attractiveness of the camp and the comfort of the soldier, giving him better heart for the performance of his duty and a constant spur of pride, as it were, to keep himself in harmony with his surroundings. Again, such leveling and grading would do away with the low, wet areas, now the breeding places of the always pesky and often disease-bearing mosquito.

If it is feasible to carry out the plans of the Chief of Engineers, covering the erection of a hospital building and hospital mess-hall, I earnestly recommend that it be done, the hospital mess-hall being of vital importance, touching the care of the sick; and the latter, with small kitchen, could be erected at trifling cost.

I learn that the wooded bluff, or fringe of trees along the water front, has been the subject of much comment and, at times, unfavorable criticism. It has been claimed that it deprived the camp of the refreshing sea breeze, which was one of the important factors, as I understand it, entering into the choice of the region about Morehead City as a place of permanent encampment of the National Guard of the State. It would indeed seem a pity to disturb this attractive feature of Camp Glenn even to the extent, as has been suggested, of thinning out the trees, which are now none too umbrageous; although, at the same time, I am not unmindful of the fact that the men and their well-being should be the first consideration. It is also claimed that the mosquitoes are much more in evidence in camp than at general headquarters, by reason of the camp being in lee of the trees. The latter must cut off an appreciable percentage of the breeze, when it is from a southerly direction; but, in looking over the situation, this obstruction seems to me much more apparent than real, as the trees are not dense and there is no undergrowth. It seems to me that headquarters' tents must bear a proportionate share in obstructing breezes from the southward, as much as the trees, and it would seem that this might be obviated largely by stretching out headquarters' tents, thereby giving a freer circulation of air to regimental headquarters and the entire camp. Again, if I mistake not, the prevailing winds in the summer are southeasterly from Camp Glenn, under which conditions neither the trees nor tents at headquarters are responsible for lack of circulation in camp. No, the wooded bluff should not be touched. Besides, it is the redeeming feature in the landscape of the camp, and here, again, I say, and I trust it is not without my province in saying, that something should be done each year, on a general working plan, for the betterment of the camp in the way of planting in grass or sodding, constructing a roadway for heavy hauling in and out of camp, as well as improving the company streets. This would prove a sanitary as well as an esthetic measure.

I am indebted to Major Glenn for many suggestions, and a recommendation of Captain Witherspoon's, in his report of the encampment of the Coast Artillery Corps at Fort Caswell in June, 1909, appeals to me very strongly, viz., that flannel shirts be issued to the men for use during the encampment at the seacoast. My experience in the subtropics, and it has been considerable, teaches that woolen undergarments are best for all seasons in preventing too rapid changes of the surface, and so inviting diseases dependent upon chilling of the body. Intestinal disorders, mainly diarrheas, are notable examples of the causative relation between those diseases and the proper clothing of the body to prevent too rapid chilling of the surface.

In concluding, my dear General, I desire to assure you, who have given so much time and splendid effort to the upbuilding of the Guard and having it conform as nearly as may be with the regular military organization of our country in its several departments, that it shall be my aim to be able to point with pride to the Medical Corps as filling its place commendably in the State unit of the organized militia. Along this line I am sure I have your hearty co-operation, and it is hoped that during the coming summer this department may be represented at one of the summer schools of instruction for medical officers of the National Guard. One of these schools was held at Antietam in 1909. I have heard only praise of this school as the best means of familiarizing the officers of the Medical Corps with the duties they are expected to perform in the State organization. I am told that the attendance was good and the work instructive and that the officers attending were unanimous in expressing their appreciation of the benefits derived. It would be specially desirable, for example, for the officers in charge of the hospital detachments of the three regiments to attend such a camp school, and I take it they would be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity for the short space of time covering the period of instruction. I do not mean, however, that attendance should be confined to officers detailed in charge of the hospital detachments, but such attendance would be specially helpful to the Hospital Corps. In any case, I shall respectfully recommend that any available fund for such purposes be used in a detail of officers to represent the State at one of these schools of instruction.

Very respectfully yours,

S. WESTRAY BATTLE,
Surgeon General.

REPORT OF BRIGADE COMMANDER.

HEADQUARTERS OF FIRST BRIGADE,
NORTH CAROLINA NATIONAL GUARD,
OXFORD, December 15, 1909.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL, STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the following report of the First Brigade since I assumed command thereof on April 20, 1909.

STRENGTH OF BRIGADE.

First Infantry, 51 officers, 610 men; Second Infantry, 51 officers, 636 men; Third Infantry, 52 officers, 623 men; Battery A, 4 officers, 65 men; brigade, field and staff, 9, a total of 165 officers and 1,934 men; a grand total of 2,101.

In addition to the drills prescribed by regulations by the companies of the three regiments and Battery A, Field Artillery, at their home stations, and a limited amount of gallery practice, and, in a few instances, practices on company ranges, the three regiments and Battery A engaged in field instructions and rifle and pistol practice at Camp Glenn, on the following dates:

Second Infantry, July 8-14; Third Infantry and Battery A, July 19-25; First Infantry, July 28-August 3, 1909.

In obedience to orders, I was in camp for three days during the tour of duty of each regiment, and made thorough inspections of the camp and quarters from 8 to 10 A. M. each day, and I also devoted a portion of each day to the work being done on the range.

By these inspections I was enabled to learn the needs of the troops, not only as to equipment, but also as to proper instructions.

While there was a lack of that discipline so necessary to the best results in camp, I am pleased to report that there was a very marked improvement on the part of the officers and the enlisted men. The officers seemed anxious to correct any deficiencies and the men showed a commendable interest in being properly instructed.

After the first inspection made by me in each regiment, I was pleased to note a very decided improvement in the deportment of the men and in the cleanliness of the camp and quarters. This applies to all three regiments.

While the sanitary conditions were not such as were desired, still, as a whole, these conditions were fairly satisfactory.

Capt. F. W. Rowell, Fifteenth Infantry, U. S. A., was on duty with each regiment as instructor, and his lectures at officers' schools on field service were very valuable, and much good to the regiments will follow his faithful and efficient work.

Captain Rowell also made a most thorough inspection as to field equipment, drill and discipline of each of the companies and bands of the regiments. These inspections and his suggestions to the company commanders resulted in an unusual interest on the part of officers and men.

Capt. M. C. Kerth, Twenty-third Infantry, U. S. A., assistant to the Chief, Division of Militia Affairs, War Department, visited camp during the tour of duty of the First Infantry, for the purpose of observing the work, and in order that the officers might know of the readiness of the War Department to do everything possible for the promotion of the best interests of the militia of the State.

The value of the services of Captain Rowell cannot be too highly estimated, and I take this occasion to tender to him my thanks for his most valuable and efficient work.

To Captain Kerth I beg to make acknowledgment of my appreciation of the very kindly interest manifested by him in the National Guard of North Carolina.

This was the first year of the Second Infantry at the rifle range, the second year of the Third Infantry, and the third year of the First Infantry, and, taking into consideration the inexperience of the men of the Second Infantry in work on the range, the results were most gratifying.

The Third Infantry and First Infantry both showed marked improvement over the work heretofore done on the range.

The Second Infantry qualified 52 marksmen and 2 expert riflemen; the Third Infantry qualified 53 marksmen; the First Infantry qualified 56 marksmen; and Battery A qualified 2 pistol marksmen.

It was gratifying to note that the men of each regiment entered into the work of rifle practice with interest and enthusiasm, and I believe that with proper training in aiming and sighting drills and in gallery practices and on company ranges, the above records, which I regard as good under all the circumstances, can be greatly improved before the next practice on the State range.

During the year a large number of the companies of the several regiments have participated in ceremonial occasions, and my information is that on all such occasions their deportment and soldierly bearing was commendable.

In connection with the work of the brigade for the next year I beg to make the following recommendations:

1. That great stress be laid on the importance of gallery practice, the proper care and preservation of public property and the instruction of the men in soldierly deportment and military courtesies.

2. That all officers who are careless or inefficient be gotten rid of by examination or otherwise. It is impossible to maintain that degree of discipline and efficiency on the part of the men if the officers are not thoroughly competent and interested.

3. That officers and enlisted men be prohibited from allowing their wives to use and occupy quarters in camp. It can be readily seen that such a practice is subversive of discipline and well calculated to create a lack of interest in the work of the troops.

4. That the advisory board be called together for the purpose of considering such improvements as are necessary at Camp Glenn for the comfort and convenience of the troops and for the better prosecution of the work of instruction.

In conclusion, I wish to thank your Department for many courtesies and valuable suggestions.

To Lieut. Col. R. L. Leinster, Assistant Adjutant General, and Adjutant General of my brigade, I tender thanks for his valuable services.

Maj. Raleigh T. Daniel, Brigade Paymaster, and Lieutenants Scott and Lewellyn, aides, were on duty with me at Camp Glenn, and I have pleasure in commending their faithful and efficient work.

Respectfully submitted,

B. S. ROYSTER,

Brigadier General, Commanding First Brigade, N. C. N. G.

REPORT OF COMMANDER OF NAVAL MILITIA.

NEW BERN, N. C., December 15, 1909.

SIR:—I have the honor to herewith submit my annual report, as commanding officer of Naval Brigade, N. C. N. G., for the year 1909.

All orders have been promptly transmitted during the year. No part of the brigade has been called out to the aid of the civil authorities.

On account of lack of funds it was deemed inexpedient for the brigade during the past summer to participate in the formulated maneuvers of the Navy Department of the various State militia, as under the plan formulated it was necessary for the brigade to disembark from the vessels of the Atlantic battleships squadron at Providencetown, Mass. In lieu of this, a detail was taken from each of the divisions of the brigade who had satisfactorily passed their annual inspection, and transported to the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where the U. S. S. Elfrida was taken over and a cruise down the coast and through the inland waterways of North Carolina, to the home port of the ship at New Bern. A detail report of this cruise was made you at the time, copy of which is hereby appended and made a part of this report.

Through the efforts of the commander in chief, yourself, and the very active assistance of Senator Simmons and Congressman Thomas, the U. S. S. Elfrida was assigned by the Bureau of Navigation to the State of North Carolina as a training ship for its naval militia. The ship is ideal for the purposes intended, namely, week-end cruises by the various divisions of the brigade, where the various drills of the Navy, together with sub-target and general target practice may be carried on, thus teaching to both officers and men of the brigade the habits of the naval service.

It is earnestly hoped that an appropriation for maintaining the ship may be secured from the Legislature at its next session.

Weed-end cruises have been taken on the Elfrida, under my immediate command, by the Second and Sixth Divisions, since the arrival of the ship in our waters. These cruises have covered about six hundred miles, the actual working of the ship being maintained by its officers and men, both on deck and in the engine-room, all the drills of the service having been maintained.

The First and Second Divisions of the First Battalion of the brigade participated in the celebration incident to the visit of President Taft at Wilmington, October 9th, under the command of Lieut. Comdr. H. M. Chase, of the First Battery, and report of the duties performed incident to the occasion are herewith attached and made part of this report.

I would recommend that the summer exercises of the brigade for the coming summer be either cruises of two divisions at a time on the Elfrida, or that the brigade be mobilized at some point on the sounds of North Carolina, where details may be taken out each day aboard the Elfrida for ship drill and target practice.

Respectfully,

TOM C. DANIELS,

Commanding Naval Brigade, N. C. N. G.

GEN. J. F. ARMFIELD,

Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to report in reference to the "Taft Day" celebration at Wilmington, N. C., November 9, 1909, as follows:

The Wilmington Division reported for duty at the armory at 7:15 A. M. and first formation was at 7:30 A. M. for guard duty around Mr. James Sprunt's residence. Company arrived there at 7:45 A. M. and stood guard during the President's breakfast, reporting back to the armory at 9:30 A. M. Division fell in at 2:30 P. M. for the military parade, and again at 5:30 P. M. for guard duty at Masonic Temple while the President was at supper, and reported back at the armory at 8 P. M. A detachment from the company fired a salute of twenty-one guns from the foot of Market Street as the President's automobile passed Market, going down Front Street, on the way to Mr. Sprunt's residence. The company turned out 45 men and 3 officers, the excess over numerical strength being reserve corps men who turned out with the company. The men did their duty in a military manner and were complimented by Mr. George B. Elliott, chairman of the automobile committee, who called upon them several times to clear the street for the Presidential party.

The New Bern Division arrived here about 9:30 A. M. and reported to the "mess-hall" for breakfast. They were then dismissed until 2:30 P. M., when they fell in to participate in the military parade, and returned home about 9 P. M. They made a very fine showing and were well spoken of by all who saw them, for their military bearing, etc. They made a most creditable showing. The Naval Brigade in the military parade was under the command of Lieut. Comdr. H. M. Chase.

Respectfully, J. EDWIN BUNTING,
Lieutenant and Adjutant, First Battalion, N. C. N. B.

Approved:

REPORT OF COMMANDER COAST ARTILLERY CORPS.

HEADQUARTERS COAST ARTILLERY CORPS,
NORTH CAROLINA NATIONAL GUARD,
SALISBURY, December 15, 1909.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL,

Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit below annual report of the Coast Artillery Corps, as follows:

The corps was organized in General Orders, No. 1, A. G. O., 1909, by the assignment of the company of coast artillery at New Bern and the transfer of Company B, First Infantry, Salisbury; Company C, Second Infantry, Wilmington, and Company L, Third Infantry, Greensboro. In G. O. 3, A. G. O., 1909, the headquarters of the corps were established at Salisbury, with the undersigned in command.

On assuming command, I recommended the following staff appointments, which were made: Adjutant, Capt. L. M. Dodamead, High Point; Artillery Engineer, Capt. W. D. Marrow, Greensboro; Quartermaster, Capt. W. R. Cox, Salisbury, and Ordnance Officer, First Lieut. J. Holmes Davis, Wilmington.

The companies were designated numerically in G. O. 3, A. G. O., as follows:

First Company, New Bern,
Second Company, Wilmington,
Third Company, Greensboro,
Fourth Company, Salisbury.

The commanding officer, Artillery District of the Cape Fear, Fort Caswell, N. C., assigned the companies of this organization to batteries as follows:

First Company, Battery Swift (8-in. B. L. Rifles).
Second Company, Battery Swift (8-in. B. L. Rifles).

Third Company, Battery Bagley (12-in. B. L. Mortars).

Fourth Company, Battery Bagley (12-in. B. L. Mortars).

At the joint coast defense exercises in this district the companies served as per the above assignment. Upon completion of the exercises detailed report of same was forwarded your office, and copy is embodied herein.

ARMS.

This organization is armed with the United States magazine rifle, cal. 30, as are the other troops of the Guard of this State. Arms, generally, are in splendid condition, but I recommend that a recipe for a good powder solvent be secured, the recipes printed and issued to the troops.

UNIFORM.

Our uniform came in for very severe criticism at our last tour of duty at Fort Caswell, but the uniform question will be happily solved when the issue of the new olive drab is made.

ORGANIZATION.

The organization of the field and staff, noncommissioned staff and the several companies comprising the corps conforms to that of the Coast Artillery Corps, United States Army.

DISCIPLINE (INSTRUCTION).

The instruction received at home stations by our troops has been confined almost entirely to infantry drill, but after the first of the New Year each company will take up the study of Coast Artillery Drill Regulations, they having been issued to the companies recently. The instruction received at the exercises is the most thorough I have ever seen, each militia company being camped with and linked with a company of regular coast artillery during the entire exercises. The officers at Fort Caswell have been very painstaking with our officers and men, not expecting too much proficiency at first, and I think our men have developed very creditable efficiency, especially in view of the fact that many of them had never even so much as visited a coast fortification before the exercises last June.

The issue of the new olive drab uniform will be cordially welcomed in this organization, as will the range-finding equipment for installation in our armories, requisitions for which have been approved and which is now being issued by the Ordnance Department.

In conclusion, I desire to thank the Commander in Chief and yourself for the interest displayed in our organization, and to express the hope that it may so conduct itself as to merit, always, your co-operation.

Very respectfully,

MAX L. BARKER,

Major, Coast Artillery Corps, N. C. N. G., Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS COAST ARTILLERY CORPS,
NORTH CAROLINA NATIONAL GUARD,
SALISBURY, June 19, 1909.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL,

Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—In compliance with General Orders, No. 11, A. G. O., 1909, I have the honor to submit* the following report of the Joint Coast Defense Exercises in the Artillery District of the Cape Fear at Fort Caswell, N. C., June 7th to 17th, in which the Coast Artillery Corps, N. C. N. G., participated:

The several companies composing the corps left their respective home stations on June 7th, in accordance with schedule prepared by these headquarters, and arrived at Fort Caswell during the afternoon and night of the same day. Following is tabulated report of attendance by company:

	Present.		Absent.		Total Present and Absent.
	Officers.	Enlisted Men.	Officers.	Men.	Officers.	Men.
Field and Staff.....	5	1	---	---	5	1
First Company.....	3	50	---	5	3	55
Second Company....	2	34	1	10	3	44
Third Company.....	3	41	---	7	3	48
Fourth Company....	3	45	---	12	3	57
	16	171	1	34	17	205
Hospital Corps.....	1	4	---	---	---	---
Totals.....	17	175	1	34	17	205

The corps quartermaster was ordered to Fort Caswell one day in advance of the movement with advance details from the third and fourth companies, by S. O. S, these headquarters, my authority being G. O. 44, W. D., 1908, and upon arrival at Fort Caswell, accompanied by the above details, Captain Cox proceeded to lay out tentage for the different companies, and that his work was conscientiously performed was evidenced by the fact that within one hour after the arrival of the last company the camp had been pitched and the men were issued a hot ration.

Captain Witherspoon, Medical Corps, N. C. N. G., with four enlisted hospital corpsmen, reported for duty immediately upon my arrival. There had been provided two hospital tents with two additional flies, four common wall tents for enlisted men's quarters and one 4-foot wall tent for the medical officer.

Upon arrival the commanding officer, C. A. C., N. C. N. G., reported to the commanding officer, Artillery District of the Cape Fear, and was very cordially received. At my suggestion, the post commander provided in the program of the exercises a two-hour drill for the range sections of each battery, in a part of the program allowing from 1 P. M. to 4:30 P. M. leisure.

Below I give the program in its entirety, which was carried out to the letter:

- June 7. Pitching camp; drawing rations; visiting fortifications, and in general, instructions in administrative matters.
- June 8. Formation of militia companies into sections in accordance with Coast Artillery Drill Regulations; assignment to position and preparation of manning tables; individual instruction in taking positions; nomenclature of material; theoretical instruction in Coast Artillery Drill Regulations; evening parade; lecture on camp sanitation.

- June 9. Battery drill, regular troops and militia alternating; evening parade; lecture on Organization and Administration of Coast Artillery Personnel.
- June 10. Elementary drills by militia, with regular officers and enlisted men assigned to coach; evening parade; lecture on Individual Hygiene of Soldier.
- June 11. Battery drill; evening parade; lecture on Coast Guns and Carriages, Projectiles, Fuses and Explosives.
- June 12. Complete battery drill by militia, regular officers and enlisted men coaching; evening parade; night drill.
- June 13. Sunday.
- June 14. Subcaliber practice by militia; muster; lecture on Position Finders and Their Uses in Coast Defense.
- June 15. Completion of subcaliber practice; service practice; payment of troops; lecture on Power, Light and Communications and Their Use in Coast Defense.
- June 16. Completion of service practice; simulated attacks; call to arms; evening parade; lecture on Submarine Mines and Their Use in Coast Defense.
- June 17. Breaking camp.

In addition to the above, the two-hour range-finding drill was held each day by a range section from each National Guard company; on June 10th I tendered the post commander a review of the corps, which was held; we furnished our own camp guard each day, which was mounted with the regular post guard, a militia officer detailed each day as adjutant, one as officer of the day and one as officer of the guard.

Our officers and men were enthused over the work from the beginning, but I noted a lack of promptness in responding to calls when compared to the alacrity with which the regulars responded. Discipline improved daily, as did military courtesy and promptness.

During the progress of the exercises the corps underwent a field inspection by Capt. Samuel W. Kephart, C. A. C., U. S. A. This was not the usual cut and dried ceremony of inspection which we are accustomed to, but his report will embody his observations of the men and methods for the entire period of ten days. On account of the condition of the uniforms in use by the corps we may expect a scathing criticism. In one company the company commander purchased from his own private funds quartermaster's stores to at least give his men one complete outfit of uniforms. The mess equipment of several of the companies was criticised and that of the Fourth Company, Salisbury, was condemned, as were the uniforms worn by that company.

The organization, with the exception of the First Company, New Bern, were actually shabby, and comparison with the neatness of the regular made the shabbiness more apparent. It is the height of patriotism, in my opinion, when a man will voluntarily enlist in our organizations and go into camp with only one change of clothing for ten days, and the enlisted men deserve quite a lot of credit.

The organizations were issued the regulation garrison ration, which was wholesome and, when properly handled, ample. One organization reported at camp with negro cooks, the other three having enlisted white cooks only. Since we must learn to do without negroes in our company kitchens in the future, it follows that we should begin now. They have no place with us, and although the ones mentioned above were not transported at the expense of the Government, and were paid by the company and not from Federal funds, the bringing of negroes to camp in this organization will be discouraged in future.

One captain (Second Company) did not report for duty. If he was on leave, these headquarters were not advised.

The instruction by the officers and men of the Regular Army was thorough and given in a way by which the militiamen could grasp it, and I believe that the efficiency, discipline and worth of the corps has been increased an hundredfold.

I respectfully submit the following recommendations:

1. That the Coast Artillery Corps, N. C. N. G., be given an entire new equipment of uniforms, to include khaki, olive drab and the brown canvas fatigue uniform. Since we have constant contact with the regulars, this is considered important.

2. That the exercises at Fort Caswell for the next fiscal year beginning July 1st be held in August of the current year, and in August of each succeeding year. The officers at Fort Caswell are willing to recommend a repetition of the exercises in August if the State will request same.

3. (On the recommendation of the Commanding Officer, Artillery District of the Cape Fear). That the commanding officer, C. A. Corps of North Carolina, be sent by the State to Fort Caswell for instruction at each quarterly target practice and for the night practices there by the Artillery Board, U. S. A.

4. That the strength of the Coast Artillery Corps, N. C. N. G., be increased by two additional companies to bring the strength up to the number allotted by the Secretary of War (Report 1908), to this State, 317.

With this report I have the honor to furnish copy of my personal report to the commanding officer, Artillery District of the Cape Fear, embodying my deductions and recommendations for future exercises in this district, all of which, I hope, meet with your approval.

Very respectfully,

MAX L. BARKER,

Major, C. A. C., N. C. N. G., Commanding.

REPORT OF COMMANDING OFFICER FIRST INFANTRY.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST INFANTRY, N. C. N. G.,

SHELBY, N. C., December 10, 1909.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL, STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,

Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor of submitting my annual report as commander of the First Regiment for the year 1909.

The regiment was inspected twice this year: first by Inspector General Thomas Stringfield, and a month later by Captain Huggett, U. S. Army.

I did not accompany the Inspector General, but was with Captain Huggett, the United States inspecting officer, at all points except two, and would have made these if the schedule had been properly arranged for my convenience in getting to these points. I would be glad if the schedule were changed another year so that I could go along and inspect the whole regiment without a break, with probably one exception. I am well pleased with the idea of two inspections, as it tends to get things in better shape for the United States officer.

The companies were found in better condition as to drill and knowledge of their guns. The indoor target outfit is a fine suggestion, and if the officers will only give some time to teaching the men the use of their sights and wind gauge great good will be accomplished. Owing to the changing of the sights on the target rifle this year, the companies did not get the full benefit of the target outfit that they should get another year.

In obedience to orders from the Adjutant General, the First Regiment, with Band and Hospital Corps, went into camp at Morehead City, July 24th to August 2d, for rifle practice and field instruction. During the encampment, six companies were on duty at the range. At one time, four were shooting, one attending to the targets, the other looking after the scoring. This left one company for guard duty and five for drill. Drills were carried on under the supervision of the Lieutenant Colonel and the Majors, twice a day, morning and afternoon. The principal movements executed were the extended order and firing manual. All the companies showed improvement on the range. Col. Thomas R. Robertson had the range in good condition, and he, with his assistants, Major Bristol, Lieut. Col. Leinster and Capt. J. A. Parker, Inspector of Small-arms Practice of the First Regiment, assisted the men materially; Major Foil and Major Cohen were also of much assistance on the range.

Captains Kerth and Rowell of the Regular Army were in camp with the regiment, the former for two days and the latter for the entire camp. Captain Kerth made a talk to the officers of the regiment and informed them that he came to find out their needs and to assure them that the officers of the Regular Army were ready to assist in any way possible, and to call on them for assistance at any time.

Captain Rowell instructed the officers by several lectures, which were of great value, and very much enjoyed. I trust much benefit will come from them.

No disturbance of any kind was reported this year while in camp or en route to and from the same, and for this I wish to thank the officers and enlisted men, both, personally. It is my earnest desire that it may always be so reported. The Y. M. C. A. tent is a great convenience for the men in camp, and I think the State should buy a large tent to be used by this organization. One tent would do for all three regiments, whether they went into camp together or separately. I trust that the next Legislature will make an appropriation of $300 for this purpose.

There were present at camp this year, 34 officers of the line and 555 enlisted men; absent, 2 officers, 33 enlisted men.

All the field and staff were present and all the regimental noncoms. except Color Sergeant Maxwell, who was absent on account of sickness.

There was the least sickness in camp this year that we have ever had during my service of thirty-odd years. For this, much credit is due Gen. Francis Macon, as the water was excellent this year and the closets were never out of commission during the entire camp. So, while the Hospital Corps under Major Glenn was always ready, they only had a few sunburns to look after. General Armfield was on the ground all the time during the camp and General Royster was with us a part of the time. Governor Kitchin came down and reviewed the regiment and commended it for its personal appearance and drill during the review. The time at camp was well spent; but ten days is needed in camp to give the proper time at the range for the sharpshooters and expert riflemen. I trust that we will be able to have that before many years.

Respectfully submitted,

J. T. GARDNER,

Colonel, Commanding First North Carolina Infantry.

REPORT OF COMMANDING OFFICER SECOND INFANTRY.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND INFANTRY, N. C. N. G.,

WASHINGTON, N. C., January 13, 1910.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL,

Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit my annual report for 1909.

All orders received have been promptly forwarded.

A detailed report of encampment work was made your office of date of September 20, 1909, which I would respectfully ask you make a part of this report.

No part of the regiment has been called in aid of the civil authority.

The progress of the command has been satisfactory in the main.

Respectfully,

H. C. BRAGAW,
Colonel, Second Infantry.

WASHINGTON, N. C., September 20, 1909.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF NORTH CAROLINA,

Raleigh.

SIR:—Pursuant to G. O. No. 14, C. S., A. G. O., dated June 14, 1909, the companies and band of the Second Infantry, N. C. N. G., and Reidsville Hospital Corps Detachment, with Capt. E. C. Boyette and Lieut. C. L. Pridgen, reported at Camp Glenn the morning of July 8th.

Upon arrival there I found Col. T. R. Robertson in charge of preparation of range, Lieut. Col. W. E. Gary and Capt. J. L. Currin in charge of Quartermaster and Commissary Department.

Lieut. Col. R. L. Leinster, A. A. G., and Lieut. Col. William F. Robertson, Ordnance Department, reported as Statistical Officer and Range Officer, respectively.

Capt. Frank W. Rowell, U. S. A., had arrived the day before.

It was contemplated that firing would begin at 1 P. M., but owing to filthy condition of cooking utensils, dinner was not served all the companies till late in the afternoon, and, too, the pits were not quite ready for use.

Work began promptly Friday morning at 7 o'clock. One battalion being detailed each day for firing, one battalion engaging in drill, the remainder furnishing pit details, scorers and camp guard, alternating each day.

Appended hereto, marked Exhibit A, is detailed report of Inspector of Small-arms Practice.

Through affiliation with the National Rifle Association a medal was awarded for the highest score. This was won by Sergt. S. E. Malone of Company D, and presented to him at parade by the Commander in Chief.

It is interesting to note that this regiment, while never before appearing on the range, and with but limited opportunity for gallery practice—due to return of sights for gallery rifles, by order of the War Department, for exchange—qualified two expert riflemen, Lieut. E. C. Prince, Company E, and Sergt. S. A. Malone, Company D, and 52 marksmen. Reference to Exhibit A above referred to showing qualification by company.

The value of gallery practice is evidenced by the fact that those making highest score had enjoyed the advantage of more indoor instruction than others. The importance of this work (gallery practice) cannot be too greatly emphasized, and every effort should be made during the year to increase number qualifying at the range. Familiarity with the rifle and its use in the armories will eliminate in large measure the nervousness attendant upon use of the service rifle at the range.

The inspection of the command by Captain Rowell of the U. S. Army was made by him at such times as would least interfere with the work on the range. It would not be out of order at this juncture to mention the very great assistance he gave through his instruction and the pleasure afforded us in having him with us, both in his official capacity and personally. The work upon the proper performance of his duty must prove rather wearing to him, and it is recommended that in future a larger detail be asked for. This recommendation is not meant as any reflection upon his performance of that duty, for he had no idle time, but to draw attention to the fact that the work is more than should be expected of one man.

On Sunday, after parade, as a matter of drill, "Call to Arms" was sounded. Part of the men were bathing and two or more companies were at supper, yet the battalions reported ready for duty in nine minutes. Again on Tuesday night at 12.45 A. M. the call was sounded. In four minutes and thirty-two seconds the battalions reported ready for duty. On neither occasion was any previous hint given of the expected call.

The strength of the regiment, as shown by July report, is given in first column below, and attendance at camp is given in second column:

The return journey was made on the 15th of July, without incident, except at Goldsboro, where I regret to report some enlisted men of Company M carried off a lot of watermelons and other stuff belonging to a huckster; this in spite of positive orders prohibiting the men leaving the cars. The matter is now in course of adjustment, and this company will be required to make reimbursement.

From the standpoint of sanitation the encampment was a distinct improvement over previous years.

The very valuable experience gained in the use of the service rifle, an experience not hitherto enjoyed by this regiment, together with the renewed interest which must naturally follow in target practice in the armories, will enable us to make an even greater record on the range next year.

One day's close-order movement, by battalions, is absolutely essential for satisfactory field service. By this we secure confidence on the part of all participants and a concentration of thought and a degree of unity of action which would not obtain if the troops were exercised in battalion extended from the start.

The improvement in all lines is most gratifying and the earnestness of endeavor promises continued gains for the future.

The pride the Guard takes in being looked upon by the War Department as worthy of consideration and helpful assistance is a great incentive to those who have given their time and talent to the working out of the problems embodied in preparation of the "second line of defense."

Respectfully,

H. C. BRAGAW,
Colonel, Second Infantry, N. C. N. G.

REPORT OF COMMANDING OFFICER THIRD INFANTRY.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
HEADQUARTERS THIRD INFANTRY, N. C. N. G.,
REIDSVILLE, December 1, 1909.

To the ADJUTANT GENERAL OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor of submitting the following report for the year ending November 30, 1909:

STRENGTH OF REGIMENT.

At present the strength of the regiment is as follows:

Commissioned officers	51
Noncommissioned officers	131
Privates	482
Total strength of regiment.....	664

I think the general condition of the regiment is decidedly better than it has been at the close of any year since I have been in command. As an evidence of this, there has been fewer resignations and discharges than during any previous year.

ENCAMPMENT.

In obedience to General Orders, No. 14, issued from your headquarters June 14, 1909, I went into camp at Camp Glenn, near Morehead City, from July 19 to 25, inclusive. We found the camp in good condition. The weather was fine, consequently we lost no time, and tried to utilize the time to the best advantage possible.

The main purpose of this encampment being rifle practice, we endeavored to make everything work to that end. We left our home stations on Sunday evening, July 18th, and arrived at Camp Glenn on Monday morning, July 19th, about 10 o'clock. It consumed most of the day after our arrival in having guard mount, having the necessary arrangements made about the camp and target range. The following order was observed in regard to the practice: One battalion was put on the range, one battalion furnished the guards and details and did all camp duties, and the other one put into the pits as markers; and this order was observed, alternating each day.

Our battalion each morning did close-order and extended-order drills. We had an evening parade each day and three reviews.

The brigade commander, Gen. B. S. Royster, inspected the camp, and each company was inspected by Capt. Frank W. Rowell, Fifteenth Infantry, who rendered us valuable service and information all the time. He held an Officers' School each day, and the patient, painstaking manner in which he instructed us was greatly appreciated and I am sure we were very much benefited.

The total strength, commissioned and enlisted, was..	647
Number qualified as marksmen.....	53
Number qualified as first classmen.....	65
Number qualified as second classmen.....	96
Number qualified as third classmen.....	316
Number qualified as fourth classmen.....	32
<hr/>
Total number firing.....	530

The figure of merit was almost double that of last year.

Battery A was attached to the regiment during the encampment. They were dismounted and did pistol firing. Capt. J. C. Byrd was in command. Their work was separated from the regiment. Their discipline was good. They had regular drills each day.

The Reidsville Hospital Corps was attached to the regiment during the encampment and under the command of Capt. E. C. Boyette.

There was very little sickness, and nothing at all serious. The general deportment and behavior of the officers and men was very good, though there was some drinking in camp that was unnecessary, uncalled for, and out of place. I hope the time will soon come when all officers and men will realize that it is positively against orders to drink intoxicating liquors when on duty and a disgrace to their regiment and uniform to get drunk anywhere. To every officer and enlisted man who obeyed orders and strictly performed their duties, I want to express my heartfelt thanks, and I am proud to say that this will apply to almost the entire regiment.

TRAIN SERVICE.

Two of the companies—Company G of Reidsville and Company L of Thomasville—reported that they were furnished coaches that were unsanitary and unsuitable to travel in. After communicating with the traveling passenger agent, they were exchanged for better ones. The Southern Railway made up a train at Greensboro, with a Pullman attached for the officers who wished to pay the extra fare and take advantage of it. The Seaboard train was made up and left Raleigh about 2 o'clock Monday morning, July 19th. No accidents happened on any train and the behavior of the men was good, except on Monday morning, just as the Southern train was pulling out of New Bern, some one threw a piece of watermelon and broke a window in a merchant's store. So far I have not been able to locate the guilty party, but hope to do so yet, that they may be dealt with according to law.

We broke camp on the evening of July 24th. On the 23d I received a telegram from Mr. C. D. LeGrand, stating that the Seaboard train would leave Camp Glenn at 7 P. M. on the 24th, which it did, and the Southern special would leave at 8 P. M., but it did not leave until 9:30. The next morning we got into Greensboro less than five minutes after No. 8 for Reidsville had left. The conductor told me that he had telegraphed ahead and the train would wait for us. On arriving at Greensboro we found there would be no train for Reidsville until after 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The train dispatcher informed me that there was no chance to get away any sooner. So Company G, the Hospital Corps, myself and staff, had to wait until 1:15, and arrived at Reidsville about 2 o'clock, when we should have gotten home at 8 o'clock in the morning. I feel that this delay was unnecessary for several reasons, and very annoying, especially on account of it being Sunday and having to spend the day around a depot.

I am glad to report that there has been no occasion to call out any of the troops this year on account of riots or anything of that kind.

INSPECTIONS.

We were inspected during the latter part of February and the first of March by the Inspector General, Colonel Stringfield. The latter part of March by Captain Huguett of the Regular Army, and also by Captain Rowell during the encampment.

REMARKS.

Since the enlisted men have been receiving a small amount of pay, it has been a stimulus to them to do better work. They appreciate it, not merely for its intrinsic worth or value, but for the fact that their services are recognized. The captains should not be expected to do the work that they are called to do and shoulder the responsibilities they have to bear without at least receiving $100 per annum, as was recommended and adopted at our last meeting of the State Association.

To the Adjutant General I am under many obligations for the instruction, information and kindness shown to me and to the regiment during the past year. To the Commander in Chief and to all my superior officers I wish to express my thanks, together with a pledge of my hearty support and co-operation.

To the commissioned officers and enlisted men of the Third Regiment I would say that for the progress that has been made or the good that has been done you deserve the credit; the regiment is just what you make it.

Very respectfully submitted,

J. N. CRAIG,
Colonel, Third Infantry.

REPORT OF COMMANDING OFFICER COMPANY H, SECOND INFANTRY, IN AID OF CIVIL AUTHORITY.

ARMORY, SAMPSON LIGHT INFANTRY,
CO. H, 2D INFANTRY, N. C. N. G.,
CLINTON, N. C., March 3, 1909.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to report as follows: Pursuant to telegraphic order received on night of January 19, 1909, issued by his Excellency, Hon. W. W. Kitchin, Commander in Chief of the North Carolina National Guard, I reported at once to Sheriff D. C. McPhail of Sampson County, for the purpose of aiding with my company in the protection of the county jail and the life of one Will Ward, alias Jackson Palmer, therein imprisoned, from mob violence, the said prisoner being held upon a charge of rape committed upon a highly respectable white lady of the county.

At the time of receiving this order feeling was manifestly high against the prisoner, but no organization had materialized among any would-be lynchers, and within ten minutes from the time of receiving the said orders at least ten men of the company had been uniformed, armed and equipped, and had formed a complete guard line around the jail, these holding back all unauthorized persons from the vicinity of the jail, and being reinforced as fast as other members could arrive and go to their aid, until within the space of two hours from the receipt of the order the jail and prisoner were in complete possession of 45 members of the company, fully armed with ball cartridges and under orders to protect the said jail and prisoner at all hazards, and fully determined to do so; the said 45 members being all that were summoned for this tour of duty.

The said order was received about 7 o'clock P. M. and by the hour of 11 o'clock P. M. a considerable gathering of armed men had assembled about a mile from the jail, but learning that the company was on guard they dispersed without further demonstration, all remaining quiet from then until 3 P. M. on the following day, when Sheriff McPhail, being fully assured by many members of the family of the outraged lady, and by others who had manifested high feeling, that there would not and should not be any demonstration of mob violence further, but that the law should take its orderly course in the matter, discharged the company unconditionally, whereupon the company was promptly dismissed.

On the Sunday night following, at a time when it was known that it would be difficult to summon the company promptly, owing to the fact that the phones were not in operation, a mob of about three hundred or four hundred masked men appeared at or near the place of the previous gathering, the purpose of this gathering being unquestionably the lynching of the prisoner. Sheriff McPhail had previously been warned of the fact that this mob would appear, by Corporal W. A. Herring of the company, who had, in some way, discovered the plans of the mob, and knowing the difficulty of quickly assembling the company at a time when there was no phone service, the prisoner was taken from the jail under cover of darkness in the early hours of the night and cleverly passed within a few feet of a number of scouts and spies of the mob, without being observed, and hurried safely through the country to Fayetteville, and thence to the State Prison at Raleigh for safe-keeping, and was brought back under a special guard of one officer and 10 men of the company on February 2, 1909, this special guard with the prisoner being met at Warsaw by a platoon of 16 men under command of Lieut. P. F. Lewis, and with this force the prisoner was brought back through the community of the crime, and where trouble was most expected, and were met at the depot in Clinton by another platoon of the company under the command of Lieut. J. K. Tew, who with his platoon had kept guard over the armory and by an effective guard line held the vicinity of the depot clear from all unauthorized persons.

With the entire company thus assembled, the prisoner was conducted to the courthouse, where he was turned over to the civil authorities for trial. The company was still held under orders, and conducted the prisoner back and forth between the courthouse and jail when so required during the progress of the trial. About 7 o'clock P. M. of February 2, 1909, the prisoner was found guilty and sentenced to death, and was immediately conducted back to the jail, where he was all night guarded by the company in full force, and until 9:40 A. M. next day, when he was conducted to the depot for return to the State Prison for safe-keeping, being conducted on this return under guard of 6 men and 1 officer of the company. Immediately upon departure of this special detail for Raleigh in charge of the prisoner the remainder of the company was discharged. During the bringing of the prisoner from Raleigh and his return there after trial, and during the trial there was no demonstration of violence whatever, though during the trial the courthouse was filled with quiet but determined men, and a large concourse of people were in town at the time, and it was evident on every hand that a guard was necessary to prevent an outbreak of the feeling which was manifestly high. During this tour of duty the company was heavily armed with ball cartridges and under orders to protect the prisoner and uphold the law at all hazards.

Proper pay-rolls for the service rendered were presented to the county commissioners and promptly paid.

After the trial, the feeling having subsided, it was not deemed necessary to bring the prisoner back from Raleigh under military guard, and he was brought back under civil guard only, and was hanged in Clinton, N. C., on March 3, 1909, the company being on guard around the vicinity of the execution, but not under strict orders and not armed with cartridges, the company having volunteered for this duty out of regard for and complimentary to Sheriff McPhail. The execution having passed off orderly and there being no demonstration, the company was withdrawn, and after regular monthly parade and inspection, was again dismissed. Thus ended and passed all tours of duty of this company in aid of the civil authorities in regard to the protection of the said prisoner. On the first tour there were present 3 officers and 42 men, these being all that were summoned. On the second tour there were present 3 officers and 56 men, the entire strength of the company. On the last tour there were 2 officers and men.

Respectfully submitted,

C. M. FAIRCLOTH,
Captain, Company H, Second Infantry.

REPORT OF LIEUT. COL. METTS AND SUBORDINATES ON SPECIAL DUTY.

WILMINGTON, N. C., December 15, 1909.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL, N. C. NATIONAL GUARD,
Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to report special duty November 9, 1909, in compliance with Special Order, No. 87, Adjutant General's Office.

After consultation with the mayor, and receiving his instructions as to the duty to be performed, I issued orders (copy of which is herewith enclosed), followed by such verbal orders as necessary for the protection and comfort of President Taft, to Second Company, Coast Artillery Corps, and Sixth Division, Naval Reserves, North Carolina National Guard.

These companies were on duty practically all day, doing guard duty at the several places at which the President stopped, namely, union station, Mr. James Sprunt's residence, U. S. revenue cutter wharf, and Masonic Temple, performing such duty quietly and firmly and with credit to the Guard.

There were no troubles of a serious nature during the entire day, and after the President left for his car, which was placed on the outskirts of the city, being advised by Mr. L. C. Wheeler, of the President's party and representing the President, that it was not deemed necessary to send troops with him, each organization was marched to respective armory and dismissed.

Reports of Capt. E. A. Metts, commanding Second Company, Coast Artillery Corps, and Lieut. Cuthbert Martin, commanding Sixth Division, Naval Reserves, are submitted herewith.

Respectfully,

J. VAN B. METTS,

Lieut. Col., Second Infantry, N. C. N. G., Post Commander.

SECOND COMPANY, C. A. C.,
WILMINGTON, N. C., November 22, 1909.

THE POST COMMANDER, N. C. N. G.,
Wilmington, N. C.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit herewith my report of services of Second Company, Coast Artillery Corps, N. C. N. G., November 9, 1909, on the occasion of the visit of the President of the United States to this city.

Yours truly,

E. A. METTS,
Captain, Second Company, C. A. C., N. C. N. G.

ARMORY, WILMINGTON LIGHT INFANTRY,
SECOND COMPANY, C. A. C.,
WILMINGTON, N. C., November 22, 1909.

THE POST COMMANDER, N. C. N. G.,
Wilmington, N. C.

SIR:—In compliance with Special Order, No. 87, Adjutant General's office, I have the honor to advise that Second Company, C. A. C., was ordered to the armory at 7 o'clock A. M. the morning of November 9th, and proceeded to the union station with about 50 men, and there posted guards around the entire depot, extending from Red Cross Street to the end of the shed and railroad yards. At 9 o'clock we proceeded from there to the military mess-hall, and, after breakfasting, to the wharf of the U. S. Revenue Cutter Seminole, where we placed guards from Princess and Water to Market and Water, and blocked off same, as per verbal orders from you. About 11 o'clock, after the Seminole had left her wharf, we returned to the armory and there dismissed the men until 1:30 o'clock, when they reported for the parade. At 1:30 the company was reformed, and after parading, did special guard duty at the City Hall, throwing lines around the automobile in which the President was to be conveyed to other points. After which we proceeded to the Masonic Temple, where, in conjunction with Wilmington Division, Naval Reserves, we threw guards around the front of the building, blockading the same to public traffic from 5:30 until 8 P. M., while the President was at supper in said building. On his departure at 8 o'clock we returned to the armory, where the men were dismissed.

Beg to call your attention to the general discipline of the men during that day, which was remarkable, considering the amount of marching and guard duty which was done, thereby practically keeping them on their feet the entire day, in which duty every man seemed more than anxious to share his part. Am glad to report that during said duty there were no mishaps or arrests required. One of my men engaged in a little affair with a civilian during the day, which I am investigating and will take what action I deem necessary.

Respectfully,

E. A. METTS,

Captain, Second Company, C. A. C., N. C. N. G.

FIRST DIVISION, NAVAL BRIGADE,
WILMINGTON, N. C., December 2, 1909.

LIEUT. COL. J. VAN B. METTS,

Second Infantry, N. C. N. G.,

Post Commander, City.

SIR:—I beg leave to submit the following report of the duties performed by the Wilmington Division, Naval Brigade, November 9, 1909.

The division assembled at its armory at 7:30 A. M., and reported for duty around Mr. James Sprunt's residence, for guard duty during the breakfast of President Taft. A detachment of 4 men under Lieut. (Junior Grade) J. M. Murphy fired a salute of twenty-one guns from Market Street dock, as the President passed. At 9:30 A. M. this detachment joined the division in front of Mr. Sprunt's, and Lieutenant Murphy with 15 men reported to Third and Market streets for guard duty there. The division assembled at the armory at 10:30 A. M. and were dismissed until 2 P. M., when they again fell in for the parade, reporting at the battalion headquarters. They participated in the parade, reporting back at the armory about 4:30 P. M.

At 5:30 P. M. the division assembled for duty at the Masonic Temple, for guard duty during the Taft entertainment there, remaining on duty until 8:05 P. M. They were then drilled back to the armory and dismissed.

The command turned out practically its entire strength, there being about 40 men in ranks, and performed the duties required of them in a very creditable manner.

Respectfully,

CUTHBERT MARTIN,

Lieutenant, Commanding First Division, Naval Brigade.

4922. Battalion commander to appoint staff. The commanding officer of the battalion, as now organized, shall have power to nominate a staff, to consist of a surgeon, paymaster and a chaplain, each with the rank of lieutenant, and an adjutant, with the rank of lieutenant junior grade, and the following petty officers: One master-at-arms, one chief boatswain's mate, one chief gunner's mate, one yeoman, one apothecary, one chief bugler. 4924. Governor may apply for instructors. The Governor is authorized to apply to the President of the United States for the detail of commissioned and petty officers of the navy to act as inspectors and instructors.

XIII. INACTIVE.

4925. May be ordered out. The commander in chief may at any time, in order to execute the law, suppress riots or insurrection, or repel invasion, in addition to the active militia, order out the whole or any part of the inactive militia. When the militia of this State or a part thereof is called forth, under the Constitution and laws of the United States, the Governor shall order out for service the active militia or such part thereof as may be necessary, and if the number available be insufficient he shall order out such part of the reserve militia as he may deem necessary. During the absence of organizations of the National Guard in the service of the United States their State designations shall not be given to new organizations.

4926. How ordered out. The commander in chief shall, when ordering out the inactive militia, designate the number ordered out. He may order them out either by calling for volunteers or by draft. He may attach them to the several organizations of the active militia or organize them into separate brigades, regiments, battalions or companies, as may be best for the service.

4927. How drafted. If the inactive militia is ordered out by draft the commander in chief shall designate the persons in each county to make the draft and prescribe rules and regulations for conducting the same.

4928. Roll of inactive militia. The register of deeds of each county shall, on the first Monday in October of the year one thousand nine hundred and six, and quadrennially thereafter, make out from the tax list of his county an alphabetical list of all able-bodied male persons between the ages of twenty-one and forty years, resident in his county and who are not enrolled in the active militia, and shall forward the same on or before the fifteenth of the month to the Adjutant General. The whites and negroes shall be enrolled separately and shall be designated. These rolls shall constitute the rolls of the inactive militia. For this service the register of deeds shall receive one cent for every ten names, to be paid by the county. The rolls so made up shall be used in making all drafts from the inactive militia.

4929. Subject to same regulations as active. Whenever any part of the inactive militia is ordered out, it shall be governed by the same rules and regulations and subject to the same penalties as the active militia.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

4930. Pay and care when injured or disabled in service. An active member of the National Guard who shall, when on duty or assembled therefor, in case of riot, tumult, breach of the peace, insurrection or invasion, or whenever ordered by the Governor, commanding officer of the National Guard, or called in aid of the civil authorities, receive any injury or incur or contract any disability or disease by reason of such duty or assembly therefor, or who shall, without fault or neglect on his part, be wounded or disabled while performing any lawfully ordered duty which shall temporarily incapacitate him from pursuing his usual business or occupation, shall, during the period of such incapacity, receive the actual necessary expenses for care and medical attendance, to be paid out of the State Treasury from funds not otherwise appropriated.

339. In order that the National Guard may be at all times sufficiently armed, uniformed and equipped in accordance with the provisions of the United States Statutes, the Adjutant General will ascertain from the inspection reports the needs in uniforms, arms and equipments of each company and detachment for the ensuing year.

340. The property required to supply the deficiencies and needs will be issued on properly approved requisitions and by the chief of the department to which it pertains.

341. The Adjutant General will notify the commanding officer of the organizations to which property should be issued to supply the deficiencies reported by the inspectors, and direct that requisitions be made immediately for the articles needed. These requisitions will have priority over all others.

342. The clothing issued under section 340 will be charged to the allowance prescribed by the War Department for the militia.

343. The organizations of the North Carolina National Guard will be credited upon the books of the Quartermaster General by the money value of the clothing allowance for the amounts and in the manner prescribed by the Secretary of War for the organized militia, and the unexpended balance remaining to the credit of an organization from former allowances will be carried forward on the books of the Quartermaster General to the credit of that organization.

347. Issues of public property to troops are made upon approved requisitions, signed by the officer requiring the property for his organization.

348. Should an officer fail to receipt within a reasonable time for property issued to him, the issuing officer will report the delinquent to the Adjutant General, who will direct that further issues of supplies upon the requisitions of said officer be declined until the matter is satisfactorily adjusted.

349. Requisitions for property will be forwarded through the regular channels to the Adjutant General. For the purpose of reference, officers forwarding requisitions should retain a duplicate copy.

349a. When property is issued by the State, duplicate invoices, signed by the issuing officers, accompanied by the receipts, each on the prescribed forms, shall be forwarded to the officer to whom the issue is made, who, after verifying the issue, will date and sign two receipts and return them promptly to the issuing officer, the two invoices being retained by the receiving officer to be vouchers to his next semiannual return, showing his authority for taking up the property. One copy of the invoice should be forwarded with the return; the other copy filed with the retained copy of return. WAR DEPARTMENT,
DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,

The accompanying "Practical Hints and Suggestions for the Safe-keeping and Preservation of Supplies Issued to the Militia," which have been prepared in the office of the Quartermaster General of the Army, are published for the information and guidance of the Organized Militia.

By order of the Secretary of War:

E. M. WEAVER,
Lieut. Col., General Staff Corps, Chief of Division.

THE SAFE-KEEPING AND PRESERVATION OF SUPPLIES.

1. Field ranges and utensils.—When in use care should be taken to preserve an even temperature and prevent any over-heating, which softens the parts exposed to the fire and causes them to warp. The fire should be kept clean, and the bed of coals should not extend above the level of the top oven plate. Slight raking at frequent intervals serves to keep the fire in good condition. Keep the ash pit free from ashes, which, if allowed to accumulate, will check the draft and cause the grate to fuse and become useless. Keep draft flues clean by tipping the range on end and slightly tapping the plates and bottom with a piece of wood. Remove soot at opening provided for that purpose. Pipe should also be cleaned frequently.

When putting range away for the season see that all ashes and soot are removed and all spare parts thoroughly dried and nested in oven as when received from depot. As an extra precaution the range should be coated with asphaltum, now procurable by the trade, to prevent rust.

2. Tinware and sheet-iron ware.—After thoroughly washing same place upon the range for a few moments only to dry. This prevents rust. Always keep dry when not in use.

3. Field desk.—The rod for supporting the drop lid should be kept in the transverse groove on the back of the desk. Care should be taken to see that the supporting rod for the lid is in place when the desk is open. This is to prevent tearing off the hinges. The desk should receive an occasional coat of paint for its preservation.

4. Ambulances.—Keep under cover as much as possible. See that nuts and bolts are carefully set up, that the necessary tools are in their proper places, and that litters and water kegs are in good condition. Before going into use see that the spindles and fifth wheel are properly lubricated and that the axle nuts are screwed up tightly. After use wash thoroughly to remove mud from the wheels and running gear, and remove dust from cushions and cover. Paint when needed. Examine frequently to discover any need for repairs.

5. Harness.—Always keep clean. Never allow muddy harness to be stored away. Wash thoroughly with castile soap and sponge. When dry apply neat's-foot oil with a little lampblack. Store in a dry place. Examine occasionally, and should mold appear rub it off with cloth and then oil the harness slightly. Give immediate attention to any repairs needed.

6. Clothing.—Clothing issued by company commanders should be left at the respective armories in lockers, if provided. The clothing should not be kept at the homes of the men.

7. Lockers.—Each locker to be provided with a key, to be kept by each individual soldier, a duplicate to be in possession of the commanding officer so that he may have access to the property at any time. Clothing thus kept stored in the lockers must be carefully brushed at least once a month so that every trace of moth or moth eggs will be removed.

All rooms in armories in which lockers or other public property are contained must be carefully locked at all times when not in use.

8. Issues of clothing.—Clothing should be drawn by a company commander only when actually required for issue by him.

9. Storing clothing.—Clothing turned in must be carefully placed in boxes and constantly kept under lock and key. Naphthaline should be used in packing this clothing, which must be carefully examined from time to time and brushed, so as to keep it free from moths.

10. Original packages.—All clothing received from the United States must be kept in the original packages, unopened, until required for issue.

11. Storing United States property.—All property received from the United States must be kept in a suitable building, carefully locked, and protected from the action of the elements, and free from dampness.

12. Protection from moths.—Every possible precaution must be taken to guard against the injury of the woolen garments by moths. No property will be left loose on tables, boxes, or otherwise exposed to dust.

13. Inventory of property.—An inventory of the property not contained in original packages or boxes must be taken frequently, at least every three months.

14. Camp equipage.—Tentage or other fabrics must be exposed to the air and sun from time to time so as to keep the same free from mildew. After an encampment, whenever circumstances will permit, the tents should be left standing until thoroughly dry. Tentage rolled while wet or damp will mildew and become unfit for service.

If not possible to dry tentage immediately after an encampment, this should be done at the very first opportunity. It should be carefully inspected and put in thorough repair and all missing parts supplied. All unserviceable tents should be put aside for the action of an inspector.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
OFFICE ADJUTANT GENERAL,

CIRCULAR, No. 7.

RALEIGH, October 14, 1909.

Officers of the North Carolina National Guard are advised that, carrying out the desires of the Division of Militia Affairs, War Department, to be of use to the Organized Militia in matters pertaining to the instruction of the personnel thereof, the Chief, Division of Militia

Affairs, advises this Department that distribution of the studies in "Minor Tactics" and "Sherrill's Map Reading" will be made during the present month, direct from the War Department, to all combatant officers of the North Carolina National Guard.

The six copies sent to each Regimental Commander are for the Colonel, Lieutenant Colonel, the Regimental Adjutant, the Regimental Quartermaster, the Regimental Commissary and the Inspector of Small-arms Practice; the three copies sent to each Major are for the Major, the Battalion Adjutant, and the Battalion Quartermaster and Commissary. All officers are urged to devote as much time as possible to the study of the subject submitted to them, with a view to better preparation for active service in the field, and to be ready when called upon by this office, or that of regimental headquarters, for answers to military problems submitted to them.

By order of the Commander in Chief:

J. F. ARMFIELD,

Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
 OFFICE ADJUTANT GENERAL,

CIRCULAR, No. 8.

RALEIGH, October 26, 1909.

Sergeant John Wadington, Company C, Second Infantry, U. S. Army, detailed by the War Department to duty with the National Guard of North Carolina for the purpose of instructing the same, will, upon the application of a company or separate detachment commander, be assigned to the station of same for a limited time to give instruction to the command. Applications for this service should be forwarded the Adjutant General. No cost to the company will be attached for this service.

By order of the Commander in Chief:

J. F. ARMFIELD,

Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
 ADJUTANT GENERAL DEPARTMENT,

CIRCULAR, No. 9.

RALEIGH, November 16, 1909.

For the information of the Guard:

Referring to Paragraph 28, Regulations of the War Department governing the Organized Militia, in which it is prescribed that the minimum strength in the different grades for a company of infantry shall be 58 enlisted men and three officers. By authority of the War Department, you are advised that it was not the intention of that Department to prescribe the minimum number for organizations of the militia, while under State control, but to require such minimum when called into service of the United States. It is to be understood, however, that in order to be considered as conforming to the organization of the Regular Army, all of the units must have the organization prescribed for like units of the regular service, so far as regards the grades of rank therein. The fact that vacancies exist in any or all of the grades temporarily does not constitute a condition of non-conformity in organization.

The present minimum—40 enlisted men, 3 officers, maximum 65 enlisted men and 3 officers for an infantry company—will be maintained, and a company will be considered as complying with the Army organization with the minimum as above stated: Provided, also, that in either event, whether the company has 40 or 65 enlisted men, the following grades will be established and maintained: One first sergeant; one quartermaster sergeant; four sergeants; six corporals; two cooks, and two musicians, other enlisted men, privates.

J. F. ARMFIELD,

Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL DEPARTMENT,

CIRCULAR, No. 10.

RALEIGH, November 26, 1909.

For the information of those concerned, attention is called specially to the North Carolina National Guard Regulations, as follows:

PAR. 458. In all cases where the civil authorities call upon commanding officers to aid them with troops, the commanding officer should at once apply to the Governor for orders. Until orders from the Governor are received, the commanding officer places his command under the direction of civil authorities (judge, sheriff, or mayor) as a part of a posse comitatus.

PAR. 459. Commanding officers, when called upon by the civil authorities, will require the call to be made in writing and signed officially.

PAR. 460. When any civil officer, vested with authority to call for the services of the troops, shall make such call, the post commander to whom such request shall be addressed will forthwith comply with the same, and report his action immediately to the Commander in Chief or the Adjutant General, by telegraph, to be followed as soon as possible by full report. When this request, by inadvertence or otherwise, is made of any subordinate officer of the post, he shall immediately order the troops to assemble, and he shall then report to the post commander with such request, and in the enforcement of the civil law all subordinate military officers shall be subject to the orders of the post commander, acting under the orders of the civil authorities.

By order of the Commander in Chief:

J. F. ARMFIELD,

Adjutant General.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL DEPARTMENT,

CIRCULAR, No. 11.

RALEIGH, December 10, 1909.

Referring to Circular No. 7, A. G. O., N. C., October 14, 1909, pertaining to the instruction of the personnel of the National Guard by the War Department, you are advised that the War Department will forward direct to all combatant officers of the North Carolina National Guard, at an early date, one copy each of Problems 1 to 7, inclusive, part I, Course in Tactics, Army School of the Line.

For instruction in military map reading, the two-inch map herewith mentioned will be found even better than the four-inch map which accompanies the Studies in Minor Tactics, and as the former includes the territory represented by the latter a comparison of the two will be of great assistance to the student officers.

The six copies sent to each Regimental Commander are for the Colonels, Lieutenant Colonels, the Regimental Adjutant, the Regimental Quartermaster, the Regimental Commissary, and the Inspector of Small-arms Practice. The three copies sent to each Major are for the Major, the Battalion Adjutant, and the Battalion Quartermaster and Commissary. The three copies to the Captain and Lieutenants, and as early as received will be distributed as above.

By order of the Commander in Chief:

Adjutant General.
