

Declaration of consent in accordance with the European General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) for collection and processing personal data for "Ways into the World of Free Knowledge"

A: Subject of the research project and basis of the declaration of consent

1. Research project:

"Paths to the World of Free Knowledge"

Description of the research project:

The aim is to learn from personal experiences of participation in the Wikimedia projects. What motivates volunteers and gives them pleasure in their work? What problems do they experience and what would they like to see changed. The research team thus wants to understand how better access routes for new volunteers can be designed.

Implementing institution:

Mandalah Europe GmbH on behalf of Wikimedia Deutschland e.V.

Project management:

Anna Papadopoulos

Interviewer:

XXXX

Interview date:

XXXX

1. Type of personal data, of the data subject (the person interviewed), which are collected / special categories of personal data:

Personal data, in particular:

name or user name, e-mail, age group, marital status, perceived gender, affiliation, origin, profession, education, number of children.

Recordings, namely in particular:

- Video recordings of the online interview
- Photos if necessary (preliminary reflection exercise)
- digital, written tasks or queries (preliminary reflection)

B. Declaration of consent and information on the collection of personal data.

1. Declaration of consent

I hereby agree that the personal data of my person collected within the scope of the research project described under A., in the form of the survey (for the selection of the research participants*), original recordings of the interview and their transcript(s), as well as of a written/digital homework in advance,

- By Mandalah Europe GmbH - for a better understanding of the volunteers and their needs and preferences, which may be processed for the better design of access routes for new volunteers - according to paragraph 2. If I provide or have provided special categories of personal data, these are covered by the declaration of consent.
- The Wikimedia Deutschland e.V. team accompanying the project (Merle von Wittich, Christine Domgörgen) will have access to the video recordings and transcript(s), as well as to the written/digital homework.
- You can separately object to the transfer of the video recordings to Wikimedia Deutschland e.V. at any time. Wikimedia Deutschland e.V. will delete all personal data after completion of the research work.

Your consent is voluntary. You can refuse to give your consent without this resulting in any disadvantages for you. In this case your participation in the research project will be terminated.

You can revoke your consent at any time to Mandalah Europe GmbH (contact the Mandalah Europe GmbH team: hallo@mandalah.com), with the result that the processing of your personal data, in accordance with your declaration of revocation, will be deleted.

Relevant definitions of the data protection terms used are contained in the Appendix Definitions.

1. Purpose of data processing / Aim of the project

On behalf of Wikimedia Germany e.V., Mandalah Europe GmbH, in collaboration with its clients and the participating research participants, aims to learn from personal experiences in participating in Wikimedia projects, about the motivations and difficulties volunteers experience in activities related to their chosen project(s). In addition, the research team wants to understand what respondents would like to see changed in this context. The findings will be used to design better access routes for new volunteers.

1. Legal basis

Mandalah Europe GmbH processes the personal data collected by it on the basis of your consent in accordance with Art. 6 para. 1 sentence 1 lit. a GDPR. Insofar as special categories of personal data are affected, Mandalah Europe GmbH processes the personal data collected by it on the basis of your consent in accordance with Art. 9 Para. 2 lit. a GDPR.

Recipients or categories of recipients / transfer to third parties

All data collected during the study (including those from the survey, for selecting the research participants) will be anonymised and freely accessible to the public online.

To the following recipients or categories of recipients, your personal data will or may be transmitted by Mandalah Europe GmbH:

- For the submission of the book or photo voucher, your email address will be forwarded to Wikimedia Deutschland e. V.
- No further data will be transmitted to third parties except to Wikimedia Deutschland e.V.

Duration for which the personal data are stored / criteria for determining the duration

Until the completion of the analysis work, but for a maximum of six months.

Your rights

Within the framework of the legal requirements, you have a fundamental claim against Mandalah Europe GmbH:

- Confirmation whether personal data concerning you will be processed by Mandalah Europe GmbH,
- Information about these data and the circumstances of the processing,
- Correction where these data are incorrect,
- Deletion, insofar as there is no justification for the processing and no obligation to retain (any longer),
- Limitation of processing in specific cases determined by law; and
- Transmission of your personal data - if you have provided it - to you or a third party in a structured, common and machine-readable format.

In addition, you have the right to revoke your consent at any time to Mandalah Europe GmbH, with the result that the processing of your personal data, in accordance with your declaration of revocation, by this for the future is inadmissible. However, this does not affect the legality of the processing that has taken place on the basis of your consent up to the point of revocation.

Finally, we would like to point out to your right of appeal to the supervisory authority:

Signature (see attached of definition list below)

"Personalized data" are defined as any natural person who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that natural person. This can be, for example, information on where a person is insured, lives or earns money. The mention of the name is not important. It is sufficient to be able to find out which person it is.

According to Art. 9 para. 1 GDPR, "special categories" of personal data are data revealing racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs or trade union membership, as well as the processing of genetic data, biometric data uniquely identifying a natural person, health data or data concerning the sexual life or sexual orientation of a natural person.

According to Art. 4 No. 15 GDPR, "health data" are personal data relating to the physical or mental health of a natural person, including the provision of health services, and from which information on his or her state of health can be deduced.

According to Art. 4 No. 2 GDPR, "processing" is defined in Art. 4 No. 2 GDPR as any operation or set of operations, whether or not automated, which is performed upon personal data, such as collection, recording, organisation, organisation, filing, storage, adaptation or alteration, retrieval, consultation, use, disclosure by transmission, dissemination or otherwise making available, alignment or combination, restriction, erasure or destruction.
