

Documenting your original sport reporting

Wikinews loves original sport reporting. It also loves verifiable. If you do not document your reporting efforts to make it verifiable, your original sport reporting we want to be published will not be published.

All English Wikinews stories require verification. How do you verify your story? By posting the documentation to the talk page.

If you take hand written notes, either transcribe them on the talk page and say the notes are transcriptions of those notes OR scan and embed the hand written notes.

Have a team list? Explain on the talk page where it came from. Was it on a web page? Was it transcribed from a scoreboard? Was it from hearing the announcer? Explain on the talk page where this came from.

Have a quote from a player? Explain how and when you got the quote. Provide the full quote on the talk page either in audio form with embedded audio or in writing.

Have a pictures on the article or as notes? Explain how and when you took them.

Please provide all documentation for your original sport reporting on the talk page of the article prior to submitting it for review! More info is better!
