A CITY REVIEW.

In an article under this title the Bee has pointed out the various reasons why a city should be governed by a commission. It is now a well-known fact that the commission form of government is being adopted by a large number of cities throughout the United States. This is because it is a more efficient and economical form of government than the city council form. It is also a more democratic form of government, as it allows the people to elect their city officers directly.

The commission form of government is a system in which the city is governed by a small group of elected commissioners. These commissioners are responsible for the day-to-day operations of the city. They are also responsible for the budget and the general administration of the city. This system is often contrasted with the city council form, in which the city is governed by a larger group of elected council members. In the city council form, the council is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the city, as well as for the budget and the general administration. This can lead to inefficiency and waste, as the council members are often not directly involved in the day-to-day operations of the city.

The commission form of government is a more efficient and economical form of government because it allows for a more direct and efficient system of administration. The commissioners are directly responsible to the people, and they are able to make decisions more quickly and effectively than a city council. This is because the commissioners are not subject to the same political pressures and influences as the council members. They are also able to focus their attention on the day-to-day operations of the city, rather than on political maneuvering.

The commission form of government is also a more democratic form of government, as it allows the people to elect their city officers directly. This is a more direct and efficient way of electing city officers than the city council form, in which the council members are elected by the people. This system also allows for a more direct and efficient system of administration, as the commissioners are directly responsible to the people.
